Farmers Answer Milo Surplus

One of the biggest projects undertaken by area farmers in industrial expansion is the grain sorghum processing plant to be located in Dimmitt.

Aaron T. Isaacs, general manager of Dimmitt Wheat Growers, Inc., outlined the group's plans to Hereford Kiwanians at their regular Thursday luncheon meeting.

GRAIN SORGHUM cutbacks due to government controls forced area farmers to step back and size up their situation, Isaacs said, "particularly since we consider grain sorghum our bread and butter crop."

To be built by Dimmitt wheat growers, Inc., the mill is being financed entirely by the association members, some 700 strong, Isaacs said. These farmers will be stockholders and the mill will consume their grain production.

The venture, cost estimated at about 20 million, was undertaken only after long and scientific study. Professional products experts, plant construction experts and marketing specialists were hired by the growers.

Isaacs explained that the same products can be processed from grain sorghums as are being processed from corn. These include starch, dextrose, glucose, vegetable oil and high protein feed. He said that about the only difference of any consequence is that the vegetable oil from grain sorghum contains a waxy substance that must be removed.

A CORN PRODUCTS plant similar in purpose to the proposed Dimmitt plant was built by H. D. Ferguson company, the company that constructed Holly Sugar. The plant, located in Corpus Christi, employees over 400 people while the Dimmitt plant will be much more efficient, with greater production possible, but requiring only about 100 workers, he stated.

After the decision was made by the growers to pursue the subject, a carefully outlined plan was put into effect. First See FARMERS Page 4

Earl Phillips
former fire chief honored

Phillips Named State Fire Prexy

A man who has served as a Hereford Volunteer Fireman since 1926 took office Thursday as President of the Texas Firemen's and Fire Marshal's Association.

Earl Phillips, local filling station operator, fought his first fire as a Hereford Volunteer Fireman back in the days "when you could outrun our only fire truck down the street."

Thursday, he was chosen as "a fireman's fireman" by the delegates from more than 400 fire departments throughout the state on hand for the 90th Annual Convention of the association, held Tuesday through Friday in Fort Worth.

Phillips was elected fourth vice president of the statewide firemen's group in 1962, and was voted promotions by firemen each year since then. AS PRESIDENT of the statewide association — which serves fire departments in cities of all size throughout the state — Phillips will represent the state's fire departments on numerous fronts.

One of the key duties will be to work with the State Board of Insurance commissioners as it considers fire insurance rates in the state.

Another will be participation in planning the annual Texas A&M Firemen's Training school accredited as one of the most advanced in the nation in the field of training firemen how to reduce life and property losses when fire alarms sound.

ONLY FOUR delegates from each fire department, regardless of size, participate in the state convention.

School Costs Up As Needs Expand

The establishment of a vocational school — favorably discussed by an interested group of Hereford citizens in a "public forum" Friday night — would be an addition to an already "better" school system compared with other Texas schools as evaluated by school officials.

A $2.4 million bond election two years ago quickly drew attention to the fact that Hereford and the surrounding area have a lot of young people to educate. A vocational school would add to this spreading system even more, possibly attracting adults, students considered to be potential dropouts, and of course the students particularly interested in learning a trade before their graduation from high school.

Every addition to the school system naturally takes money — and this year the schools had to spend over $3 million.

Conditions will ease somewhat for the junior high this year, as La Plata helps carry the load of students in the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades; the freshmen have been in high school now for the past three years and this fall marks the return to the 4-3-3 distribution used previously.

Funds to run this burgeoning system throughout the year are from two sources, local school taxes and state funds. The federal government furnishes part of the funds, by indirectly channeling money into the schools here through the Texas Education Agency.

Local taxes made up $1,048,988 of the districts revenue when counts were made at the end of May, Business Manager Dille Kelley said. The bulk of the schools' revenue came into the office during the months of September, October and November.

The money not immediately needed by the school is not allowed to lay in a local checking account — rather it is invested locally with returns furnishing another part of the total required to run the Hereford schools. Earnings from bank time accounts, as of See SCHOOL Page 3

Gymnastic Team Sets Exhibition Here Thursday

An exhibition featuring a nationally known gymnastic team will be held in the Bull Barn Thursday night to promote interest in the weekly recreation program sponsored by the Hereford Paisano Lions Club.

Presenting exhibition performances in gymnastics and trampolines will be the Maverick Boys Club of Amarillo, under the direction of Ralph Dykeman.

No admission will be charged for the program which gets underway at 7:30 p. m. in the Bull Barn.

Anyone interested is invited to attend, and particularly boys between eight and 18, who will see a preview of the type of recreation available through the program for local boys each Thursday night in the Bull Barn.

Joe Parker, VISTA volunteer who directs the program sponsored by the Paisano Lions, said the exhibition is to call attention to the expansion of the Paisano Recreation Program to include boys from throughout the community.

Boys interested in joining the program are invited to be at the Bull Barn, any Thursday night at 7 p. m.

Erratic Weather Brings Rain

FORUM FAVORABLE

Area Vocational School Given Token Approval

By WAIN MILLER
Staff Writer

Officials cited facts concerning possibilities for things to come for the Hereford school district during a public meeting Friday night and then received indication that the majority of those present favor establishment of an area vocational school here.

The more than 75 persons appearing at the 2½-hour session in the high school cafeteria saw school officials describe in detail the things warranting consideration when thinking of expanding the local school district services.

THEN CAME the first of several questions posed to citizens present for the "democracy in action" session which had been called by the Hereford school board to determine public opinion on the proposal to establish an area vocational school at Hereford High.

Asked for a show of hands from those favoring the establishment of an area vocational school here, a clear-cut majority of those present responded to the affirmative.

Friday night's meeting was arranged by the school board in conjunction with the education committee of the chamber of commerce.

Here, all but a few hands went up in favor of a special bond election to decide the fate of the vocational school proposal.

Later came another question, who would favor establishment of the facility if a tax increase is necessitated by the move?

RESPONSE APPEARED little more than 50 percent on this, one of several "straw votes" during the night.

After further discussion, citizens were asked whether they preferred to finance construction of vocational school facilities

Wet Fields Slow Area Harvest

Weather has played a major factor in the schedule of area farmers in both onion and wheat harvest.

Wheat began to flow into graineries early this week but some areas have been halted because of rains.

Onions should begin to come in as soon as fields dry enough for equipment to be moved in. Before the rains, vegetable processing sheds had anticipated onion digging to begin by the middle of this next week.

Rains Dubbed Mostly Beneficial; Little Damage

Texas Panhandle weather staged its main event of the almost-gone spring last week, leaving the Hereford area applauding "a million dollar rain" despite some breathtaking misques.

Cloudbursts, hail, winds and record heat combined in the performance for the Hereford area while some residents elsewhere in the Panhandle saw funnel clouds skip across widespread sectors.

Thermometers in Hereford surged to the 101-degree mark Wednesday, then cloudbursts moved in Thursday night and staged an encore Friday.

A torrential deluge dropped up to four and a half inches of rain in a 90-minute period near Hereford Thursday night, with measurement in the city registering 2.25 from a 45-minute downpour skirting midnight Thursday.

Additional showers Friday deposited another .15 on downtown Hereford.

The Thursday midnight cloudburst — accompanied by a treacherous lightning display — sent water over curb-deep on most Hereford streets.

Tierra Blanca Creek climbed over its banks in Jaycee Park following the deluge, and Dameron Park took its traditional after-the-rain dunking.

The noisy storm with blinding rainfall brought out Hereford's "weatherwatch" vanguard, but, as one observer put it, "All you could see was the rain and you couldn't see more than 20 feet through that."

The cloudburst was longer in duration to the south of Hereford, opening up for a 4½-inch downpour.

Run-off from the cloudbursts swelled a playa lake to within a few feet from homes near the Hereford Labor Camp which were flooded by the lake last year.

Wednesday afternoon, a freak hailstorm pummeled the south half of Hereford with stones of up to one and a half inches in diameter. No rain accompanied the hail in downtown Hereford and the storm lasted only a few minutes.

No damage of consequence was reported from the storm, which only briefly interrupted the afternoon's sweltering heat.

Rainfall amounts during the series of thunderstorms were widely varied, but most portions of the county saw better than half an inch of moisture. To the north of Hereford, amounts slacked off, however.

Visitors Have Full REC Week

REC officials said that the seven were particularly impressed with power tools and grain moving equipment used on the Bill Gentry farm.

Feedlots attracted their interest particularly since the visitors said that cattle are not finished in operations like this in most South American countries.

Hereford cattle made an impression on them since most cattle in their home countries are mixed breed.

Various groups and individuals hosted the men through the week.

Thursday night, they met their largest cross-section of Hereford citizens when they were guests at the annual REC employe picnic at the Community Center.

Go-Ahead Given On Grazing Land

Deaf Smith County farmers and ranchers received the go-ahead on grazing land under soil bank contract and acreage diverted from other annual programs, according to Congressman Walter Rogers.

Deaf Smith County, along with Oldham and Randall counties had asked for emergency grazing permits. On Friday, official notice had not been received by the local ASCS.

Faust Collier, county office manager for the ASCS said that particularly farmers and ranchers in the northwestern part of the county would benefit, as a large percent of the county's 71,000 acres in soil bank or diverted acres is located in that part of the county.

Grazing fees, based on a per acre per month basis, will be established by the county committee of the ASCS office, Collier said.

Water, Fertilizer Time Vital To Milo

HALFWAY — "Proper timing of irrigation in balance with the correct fertilizer level, appears to be one of the answers to maintaining and increasing income from grain sorghum with reduced amounts of irrigation water in the High and South Plains of Texas" according to James Valliant, Water Engineer at the High Plains Research Foundation.

STAGE OF MOISTURE NEEDS

The more definite periods of moisture need are fairly easily seen at different stages of plant growth. They are pre-boot, (about 7 leafstage), boot, flower, milk and in some cases soft dough stage. The approximate twenty-day period beginning with pre-boot and ending with head emergence is the most critical growth stage. During this period, the producer should watch soil moisture and signs of plant wilting, closely, to determine when to irrigate. The flowering period is also of great importance.

FERTILIZER APPLICATION

The amount of fertilizer to be applied to grain sorghum is definitely dependent upon the method of irrigation used. Forty to eighty pounds of nitrogen are usually sufficient when irrigating only twice during the summer. Three summer irrigations require eighty to one hundred twenty pounds of nitrogen per acre. Phosphate showed response in the tests at the Foundation under high nitrogen and high irrigation. In rotation with cotton there is quite often a phosphate carry-over. Valliant stated that phosphate may be required on farms which have not had an application of phosphate during the past few years and do not have a residue built up. Testing the needs for trace elements in the fertilization of grain sorghum are underway at the Foundation.

COMBINATION RESEARCH

The Grain Sorghum Irrigation-fertilizer test is designed to determine the combination of timing of irrigation and the fertilizer level that will produce the greatest net return and highest irrigation efficiency in grain sorghum production.

RESULTS

Yields have tended to be higher with three summer irrigations in the past years. However, when considering profit, the pre-plant, pre-boot and flower irrigation gave the greatest "practical efficiency."

TEST LOCATION

The test was conducted on the Triplett Research and Demonstration Farm of the High Plains Research Foundation which is eight miles west of Hale center and five miles north of Cotton Center, Texas.

COMPLETE INFORMATION

Complete details of the irrigation-fertilizer tests on grain sorghum are in report no. 165 of the 1965 Research Report of the High Plains Research Foundation. The tests were conducted by James Valliant, Water Engineer, Loyd Langford, Associate Agronomist and Dean Howard, Assistant Agronomist, respectively of the Foundation staff.

School...

 May 31, amounted to $31,384.
 Today the schools here employ more than 350 persons. Last year found 3,959 students in Hereford classrooms on the last day of school; that figure will be considerably larger when the schools open their doors again in the late summer, officials predict.

State money is sent to schools to provide a minimum foundation program. This year, officials expect to receive some $924,436 from state sources. Of this amount, $342,229 has been doled out by the state government on a per capita basis, and $517,211 is tagged for salaries and operations. Travel allowance for vocational teachers brought $1,581 from the state, and $63,415 was allowed for transportation of children to and from school. This figure is determined by the number of children riding buses, the number of paved routes and the number of dirt routes. Twenty-five buses carried 1,421 children daily during the last school year, covering some 1,941 miles daily.

Several acts of congress have placed money in the hands of the local school officials. Acts directly or indirectly affecting this district include the Economic Opportunity Act, which will probably channel $22,514 into this district; $31,800 was allocated for the special project here, but the schools expect to be eligible for only part of the money.

Funds for counselors amount to $2624 under the Title 5 act. Under the National Defense Education Act, $30,447.50 has been applied for; $129,000 has been received as a part of Title 1, the Elementary-Secondary Education Act. Not all these funds are included in the general budget at the present, but will be included in the August revision of the budget.

In the checking account, salaries make up the largest amount of the expenditures, totaling almost $1½ million for the entire system; of this amount, teachers received $1,353,821.

Some $1,179,000 made up the capital outlay from the building funds, the second biggest item in the budget. Some $306,750 was budgeted this year for the retirement of bonded indebtedness.

Operations took $115,905, transportation, $79,940, and administration required $66,707 of the budget's money. Maintenance cost the district $29,165.

Other expenses included the capital outlay from local funds, $14,496; student body activity (inclusive of athletics), $11,000; health service, $7,254; fixed charges (mostly insurance), $3,421; and attendance, $1,200. Add everything up, and total expenses cost taxpayers $3,168,661.

Business Manager Dillie Kelley explains that the schools anticipate receiving $2,634,888 — which does not include funds on hand at the close of the 64-65 school year, balancing income and expense.

Increased valuations and taxes in the Hereford school district reflect the growing pattern of the schools as expenses climb along with enrollment.

Since 1957, the local tax levy has more than doubled, going from $424,000 to about $964,000 in 1964. In 1946, the assessed valuation was some $7 million, compared to $52 million in 1964.

Of the $1.85 tax rate, about $1.29 goes into operation of the schools, with 56 cents being utilized in the interest and sinking fund, used for the retirement of the system's indebtedness.

Area...

 the outset of the session, said that "for quite some time the school board has been looking at the need for expanding school curriculum to provide the maximum service to all students in the school system."

"The board is of one mind... that the improvement of the vocational program will help the school reach this goal."

"BUT THE BOARD is obligated to do what you in the community wish to have done... and what you wish to pay for to have done."

These remarks set the tone for the meeting as one fact after another was cited concerning the benefits which could be derived from the establishment of an area vocational school — stressing at all times that this expansion, if undertaken, will eventually cost taxpayers dollars.

Prior to taking the show-of-hands polls, school officials opened the meeting for a lengthy question-and-answer period in which citizens questioned details presented.

IN ADDITION to the vocational school issues, another subject arose as some citizens asked the board to consider expanding recreational athletic offerings in local schools.

Recently the chamber of commerce recreation committee voted to recommend to the board that the school consider providing an indoor swimming pool and outdoor tennis courts, saying that such facilities would provide students a chance to develop individually and thereby serve a wider number of participants.

This subject had also been planned for airing at the meeting Friday night, but discussion was limited due to the extensive deliberations on the vocational school matter.

DEFINING THE TERM area vocational school and how such a program would operate here was Superintendent Johnny Clark Jr.

He explained that the vocational school has been approved for Hereford by the Texas Education Agency, which would pay half of the cost of constructing an addition to the present high school vocational building, as well as half of the cost of furnishing and equipping the area school.

Initial courses for the vocational school would be cosmetology, building trades, auto mechanics, and Industrial Cooperative Training (in which students can receive training in any one of 2,000 approved vocations), as well as vocational courses already included in the school curriculum.

STUDENTS COMPLETING courses in the area vocational school "will have a salable skill" upon graduation from high school and would — ac-ording to state requirements — be qualified to enter the labor market in their field, Clark said.

The term "area vocational school" stems from the fact that the facility would accept students not only from the local district, but also from surrounding areas.

However, Clark continued only a few students from outside the district would be anticipated.

THE AREA vocational school would eventually offer courses to "dropouts," and also to adults.

Officials anticipate that additional vocational courses would be approved by the state as the need appears.

High school students would, with the approval of their parents after counseling by school personnel, choose between an "academic" or a "vocational" curriculum, with the vocational curriculum meeting all state high school graduation requirements but being designed mainly for students not planning college study.

COST OF ESTABLISHING the vocational school would be no more than $250,000 — with the state paying half of this cost.

Clark estimated that the program would cost no more than $5,000 annually to operate after the first year and that as many as 300 students would utilize the vocational curriculum.

THE BIG QUESTION facing the school board, however, is how to finance establishment of the vocational school.

This subject occupied much of the agenda for the meeting, as Clark pointed out first, that — even without the vocational school addition — Hereford school taxes will increase some 23 cents from the present $1.85 rate this fall.

The increase stems from growth of the school, as evidenced by expenses for increased bond payments along with the addition of Bluebonnet Elementary last year and the opening of La Plata Junior High this fall.

Roughly, the cost of establishing the vocational school would take another five to seven cents to that, Clark estimated.

ALSO TO BE DECIDED by the board is whether to use money remaining from the 1962 school bond election or to call a special election for bonds for the vocational school.

Officials pointed out that $3,317,000 remains unspent from the $2.4 million approved by voters in 1962. However, at the time the election was held, voters were told two elementary schools would be constructed from the bond money.

Only one elementary school has been built, that being Bluebonnet, with other items included in the issue all completed with the opening of La Plata Junior High this fall.

Some unexpected expenditures, plus a sizeable increase in building costs during recent years, leave the till more than $100,000 short of enough to build an elementary school similar to Bluebonnet.

Three other Hereford firemen — Bill Patton, Terry Hodges, and Chuck Laing — flew to Fort Worth to be on hand for the installation of their former chief.

As Phillips was installed to the presidency, members of the Hereford Fire Department presented him a watch in commemoration of his service to the local department.

Next year, Phillips will preside at the 91st Annual Convention for the state's firemen. This convention will be held in Lubbock, one of the few times the group has met in the Texas Panhandle.

Action on the future of the vocational school proposal is expected to come at the board's next meeting. Regular board meeting date is July 12, but spokesmen told the Brand a special meeting may be called earlier.

Earnest Langley, chairman of the chamber of commerce education committee and moderator for the program, emphasized that the school board asked that the meeting be held in order that board members might better know how the community felt regarding the proposal.

Third factor was actual possibility of marketing. This was established as being feasible only through a marketing organization that had national and even international connections.

SUCH A COMPANY was located — Union Starch and Refining Co., Inc., of Columbus, Ind.

This company will manage the operation of the mill and will be responsible for marketing the products.

Plans call for year-round operations. Design of housing should allow for capacity to double as production demand.

Beginning with about 20 thousand bushels a day, the plant should ultimately process 40 thousand bushels a day, the manager said.

July 1 is the deadline to make application for "new farm" wheat allotments.

To be eligible, the producer must not have an interest in any other farm in the United States which already has a wheat allotment. He must derive at least 50 percent or more of his living from the farm from which he is making application, Faust Collier, manager of the local ASC office, said.

They do hope to visit in London, Paris, shop for knits in Italy and visit Spain and Switzerland.

Rain . . .

Fresh-planted grain sorghum in dryland farming areas of the county, as well as crops throughout the area, drank the moisture to farmers' delight.

Herb Schmidt, who farms three miles west of Westway, termed the moisture "a million dollar rain . . . milo needed a life-saver."

Although most dryland wheat in the county failed to survive the dry spell which began in October and continued until just a few weeks ago, dryland grain sorghum in most sectors appears to be off to a good start.

The week's rains brought the rainfall total at radio station KPAN studios to 3.37 for the month of June, and 5.99 for the year.

Last year at this time, the total for the year was 16.29 and for the first half of June, 8.44

June last year brought a record-breaking rainy spell to the area to relieve a similar spring-time drought.

Here and There

with Mrs. Merlin Kaul

Visitors the past two weeks in the home of H. T. Wedel and Henry have been Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Richardson, Slater, Ia. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Schneider, Luverne, Ia. and Mr. and Mrs. Ralley Wedel, Amarillo.

The group came to help Mr. Wedel celebrate his 90th birthday on June 1. All the children were present but only one grandchild was able to come. Carl Wedel, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Louie Wedel, was graduated from the University of Houston on June 4 and could not be present. He plans to continue his education at the University for four more years.

Miss Idelles Ann Richardson is a beautician in Des Moines and Don Neil Richardson, graduate of Slater, Ia. High School this spring, is working in a nearby Ford Plant and will soon be entering the Navy. These are children of Inez Wedel Richardson. The children of Ann Wedel Schneider live in California and of these Mr. and Mrs. Larry Sutton and Kirsten Sue, Santa Monica Calif. were present.

Henry T. Wedel, his wife and four children Ann, Inez, Henry Jr. and Ralley moved to Hereford from Fairmont, Minn. in 1913 to a farm in the Progressive Community. They lived there until 1917 then moved to an acreage in the southwest edge of Hereford. They continued farming and ranching until only a few years ago, and this spring sold the acreage and moved to their present location at 504 Avenue J.

A son, Louie, was born here. He married Inez Miller of Dawn and Carl Wedel was their son. Louie was in World War II and never returned. His widow became a teacher in the Amarillo schools and passed away a few years ago. Mrs. Wedel passed away three years ago. The family are members of the Lutheran Church here.

Henry and Elmer Richardson took a couple days to go fishing at Ute Lake near Logan, New Mex. before the Richardsons and Schneiders left Friday to return to their homes in Iowa.

Ross Joe Landers, who teaches art in El Paso, called his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Landers, last week to tell of his return home after a trip to Florida. He flew to New Orleans, and met a friend, Louis Cummings and they went on to Panama City, Fla. where they spent several days with relatives of Cummings. Joe Landers is teaching art in El Paso this summer. He is a graduate of Hereford High School.

Mr. and Mrs. David Johnson and family, Dalhart, were guests Sunday in the home of her sister Mrs. Fred Mercer. They brought the news that John Sue Higgins, 14 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Higgins of Texline was hospitalized at Dalhart with a broken pelvis as the result of a horse falling with her. John Sue's mother is the former Ira Jean Ricketts, well known in Deaf Smith County before her marriage for her many 4-H activities.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McDonald, Bloomfield, N. M. were guests last weekend of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Crawford, and Kee McDonald is attending school this summer at ENMU at Portales.

Mrs. Mary Ella Ricketts, Portales, N. M., had her children and their families with her last week end. They included Mr. and Mrs. Jay Ricketts and family who are in the process of moving from Denver to Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ricketts and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Ricketts and family, Hereford, Mr. and Mrs. Mason Costin and children and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ricketts who live in Portales. Only Fred Ricketts was absent from the family group as he is with a harvest crew in Texas. He called his mother last week to say he would be taking tetanus shots as the result of bites received from some baby swift foxes which some of the boys in the crew had captured.

Mrs. Betty Rice went to Canyon Friday for a visit in the home of her son, Don Rice. The family will be moving from Canyon soon to Columbia, Mo. where Don has received a fellowship in industrial education at the University of Missouri. He will complete work on his master's degree and his degree as doctor of philosophy while there.

Mrs. Rice will go to Oklahoma City Saturday to attend the wedding reception of the former Lois Garman. The reception will be held at Chamdelle United Founders Tower on Saturday afternoon. Lois was a guest here last spring in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Solomon and Mrs. W. E. Dameron.

From Oklahoma Mrs. Rice will go to Marshfield, Mo. to spend several days with her son William and his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Cawthon Bryant and John David went to Clarendon Saturday where they were guests of Mrs. Bryant's sister, Mrs. Mike West, Mr. West and Gary. Mrs. Mattie Smith and Juanita Ralls were also guests in the West home. They all attended Gary West's piano recital on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Margaret Aven left by jet plane from Amarillo at 1 p. m. Wednesday to begin a tour which will last until Aug. 2 and include a number of countries in the Far East. She was to arrive in Los Angeles at 1 p. m. then board another plane immediately and arrive in Honolulu at 8:20 p. m. In Honolulu she will join the Howard Tour, a course sponsored by San Francisco State College. College credit of the tour is given in social studies and humanities. Points to be visited include Thailand, Japan, the Philippines, Taiwan, Singapore and Hong Kong. The group will visit Kyoto in Japan and when they arrive Michyo Wakai, exchange student who lived with the Don T. Martins last year, and her mother will meet Mrs. Aven and they will go to Mich-ko's town for a visit. A former student of Mrs. Aven's is stationed in Viet Nam and she will try to contact him for a visit when they get to that area. His mother, Mrs. Rose Powell, who is a teacher in Amarillo, was a guest of Mrs. Aven Tuesday night before she left Wednesday.

Meeting people can be fun. We are attending the Reading Course at Canyon and the other day we met Mrs. Judy LaFon, third grade teacher at Western Plateau School in Amarillo. She asked if we knew the Jack Bradleys in Hereford. This led to news of the Bradley children. The LaFons are close friend of Judy (Bradley) and Wade Douglas. She informed me that

Judy and Wade now live in Paris, Ark. where Wade is president of The First National Bank. They have a two year old son Brad. Wade's sister Sue Ellen, who started her school days here when her father, Townsend Douglas, was here with the First State Bank, graduated from Amarillo High School this spring and plans to attend college this fall at the University of Arkansas. Checking on the other Bradley children, Jimmy is working at the First National Bank in Dallas where they have bought a home and Bob and Bonnie (Lewis) Bradley and two sons are on the Bradley Ranch on the Cimarron River and live in New Mexico. Letter To The Editor

Editor's Note: The following is a copy of a letter sent to the President by a group of Hereford citizens.

Dear Mr. President:

We the people are restless and becoming very disturbed about the moral and spiritual decay of our beloved country. As a result of many things we do not understand, we feel compelled to at least present these questions to you and we will be waiting prayerfully for an answer.

Listed below, not necessarily in order of importance, are a few of the things we feel we have a right to know your views on. First the war in Vietnam. We are in a war and we are in no mood for compromise or negotiations or any other trite ideas. We are angry at being involved in a war we are capable of winning and we are not allowed to. Now Mr. President this information is from those who are there, or have been there. We are not so naive as to depend any longer on our news media or our government officials to give us the truth. We are in a position of having to judge for ourselves on what information is available. Any fool can read a newspaper or listen to a televised news conference but we are fed so much false information so much of the time that we still feel like fools even after we have listened. One more thing pertaining to our wars; why do we feed our young teenage men to the mills of war? They are sent to fight to the death many times for a country where they are not even allowed to vote. There seems to be a contradiction here, they do not have enough maturity in their thinking to vote intelligently, yet are not too young to die like lost young brothers and sons in the so called "Police Action" in Korea. We are worried about this kind of "Brush Fire" war literally bleeding us to death. We resent it bitterly, either get in and win or get out, that's the way we feel Mr. President.

We are wondering why we can't staff our home bases with these young men and use mature, professional soldiers to win the war in Vietnam and anywhere else they might be needed; under the control of our own country (no UN forces for us thank you).

There is an election coming up in 1968, we would like to be able to vote a democratic ticket, but we are confused Mr. President. Why wasn't Bobby Baker ever prosecuted? Is it the usual procedure to just drop a case? What about income tax evasion? Call girls in the Senate? What about Estes? What about Fred Black? You need to clarify some things for us Mr. President. This is not meant to be ugly in any sense of the word, but this is the mood of everyone we come in contact with and we believe as President of the United States you should be made aware of this. We are deeply worried about the morals of or the seeming lack of them among our highest government officials — we resent hard liquor being served in our White House — we do not approve of the lack of dignity in the all night Watutis — we are afraid that our nation is losing its image of dignity and sound judgement. We have already lost the influence we might have had as a Christian nation — it has become a mockery. What we do shout so much louder than what we say that we are no longer listened to with any real respect. We feel we are being used by the whole world.

We live in a society when a woman with four or five illegitimate children, living with a man she can't marry for fear of losing her welfare check, lives on a better financial scale than the widow who takes in ironing to support her five or the man who must hold two jobs to support his. We believe in caring for the widows and orphans, we know that the scriptures teach this, but it is becoming more and more difficult to support a family and take care of the needy because of our own heavy tax burden. We resent being taxed so heavily for these programs. There was a time in the building of this country when a man who didn't work didn't eat. No job was unworthy if it was honest. The Children of Israel divided a kingdom over this very problem. The Roman Empire fell for two reasons—moral corruption and over taxed people. We are deeply concerned over these and many other problems that we the people must face. We need and want some answers.

We have been led to believe that we are the most powerful nation in the world and we would prefer to act as such. We may never be popular but we must defend and without question the helpless and dependent countries of our world — many have died to defend what we say we believe in — God forgive us if they have died in vain.

Once again, we believe in these things; men must be used to fight our wars — wars which we must win as quickly as possible (that alone would be a deterrent to war). We must burn out the filth and obscenity in our lives and thereby in our country. We must restore the honor and respect due our men who try to enforce our laws. This lack of respect is especially prevalent during the demonstrations and riots in our own streets. We are unhappy when in our own country our flag is ripped from its pole and stomped. There also was a time when that man would have been taken care of by the crowd. We also would like to see given and enforced in all of our public offices and public schools the oath of loyalty to our democracy. We feel that laws in their entirety should be the same for all people — whether page boys in the Senate or workers in the streets.

There was a man named John Fitzgerald Kennedy who for

H.D. CHATTER Shortcourse Tips Relayed

By Mrs. Argen Draper Home Demonstration Agent

Miss Elton Tinsley of Dallas gave two programs for the Clothing Shortcourse. She stressed two points — Rule Number One: The professional look in home sewing is very dependent on well-formed seams, Tension, pressure, needle and thread are very important in getting proper seams.

Rule Number Two: Handle garment as little as possible. During construction, never let the garment hold its own weight. In using a portable machine or a console with a narrow leaf, have a card table near the machine to hold the garment. Handle the garment very, very carefully.

The fit of a garment depends on fashion and the body figure. A fit can be snug, easy or full according to personal preference. When the pattern is properly fitted, sewing is such a pleasure and the garment looks just a little while gave us a glimpse of what our beloved country could have been and we have not forgotten. Our cry is and always will be a "government for the people and by the people that this country shall not perish from the earth" and Mr. President we intend to see that it does not. Thank you sincerely, better if no seams or stitching have to be taken out.

Sewing books and pattern guide sheets give helpful instructions in pattern alteration. It is a goal of the Clothing Committee for each person attending to have a well-fitting pattern when this course is finished. Miss Tinsley said, "The woman who sews well, sews slowly."

PEOPLE WHO TEACH clothing construction usually have worked out their own method which is usually a combination of all the instructions they have received. There are very fine instructions offered by commercial companies. Extension Service has discontinued most of the clothing construction bulletins and leaflets.

DAMAGE TO FABRICS during drycleaning can't always be blamed on the drycleaners. Often the fault lies in failing to tell the drycleaner about the fabric and special stains.

It's your responsibility to inform the drycleaner of the type of fiber and to locate spots that will need special treatment. It is also your responsibility to choose a reliable cleaner and give him enough time to do a good job.

Before the drycleaner can satisfactorily press a garment, he needs to know the fiber content. Fabrics of 100 percent man-made fibers and blends of fibers are heat sensitive. They may become crinkly, shiny, glazed or scorched when pressed with too hot an iron.

The drycleaner also needs to know when something has been spilled on the garment so that he can treat it before drycleaning. This is especially important when the stain is not actually visible.

Cold wave solutions and sugar stains are hard to remove. The chemicals in a cold wave solution, once in a fabric, are not visible. Sometimes a color change will take place after pressing and sometimes it may appear for weeks or months after drycleaning. Sometimes a stain rather than a color change develops. The only way to solve this problem is to keep cold wave solutions from getting on clothing.

Sugar stains may not be visible either, but after pressing or aging they appear as permanent brown stains. Be sure to point out sugar stains to your dry cleaner for spotting before cleaning.

SOME INTERESTING information has been received at the office on a vacation cabin or "second" house. A "second" home in the form of a lakeside cabin, hill county retreat, or vacation hide-away may soon become as popular as the second car is to most families.

The development of recreational areas, the construction of new dams forming lake-side areas and many other conditions combined together make the construction of a vacation home a "whole family project."

There are a variety of small homes and cabin plans for those who wish to build their own. Types of plans available range from small one-bedroom cabins to the popular A-frame type cabins. Most of the cabins may be built by a crew of two or three people who have some knowledge of construction methods.

Plans are also available for vacation cabins with second story bedrooms as well as conventional plans that are complete on one level. All plans contain storage space along with details on plumbing, electric service and heating requirements. Several plans make provisions for fireplaces.

Whether you like these particular plans "as is" or not, they will offer excellent planning guides for development of other plans to fit your own particular requirements.

Complete working drawings for 12 different types of cabins are available through the Extension Office and they are free of charge. Come by and see these and if you like them, they can be ordered.

Amateur Radio Operator Calls During Storm

On June 5th, immediately following reports of the tornado which struck Enid, Oklahoma, amateur radio operator Berl Lunsford, K5FZQ, received a visit from Leo Neil of Hereford. Neil's two daughters were visiting their grandparents in Enid. He had been unable to get through on the telephone to determine if they were safe.

Lunsford was able to contact K5MB in Lawton, Emergency coordinator for that city and through him find W5MFX in Enid operating on .850 kilocycles. From the time the request was made by Neil until the time an answer was received that the tornado had passed within a block and a half and that all were safe and unharmed took just a little over ten minutes.

Lunsford is a member of the Radio Amateur Civil Emergency Services, the Amateur Radio Emergency Corps and has applied for membership in the Ar-Lunsford, an employee of PEI Corporation of Amarillo, services commercial two way radio equipment. He resides with his family at 434 Avenue G in Hereford.

By MELVIN YOUNG

Irving Alexander is walking on "Cloud 9" this week.

He and Mrs. Alexander have just returned from a buying trip to New York City where the local ready-to-wear shop owner won an all expense paid trip to Europe, compliments of the B. H. Wragge Company. The trip was awarded as the prize in an advertising and sales promotion in which the local store participated. The window display, which can still be seen at Gaston's, was included in the contest as well as a two color ad published in the Hereford Brand. The trip can be taken any time within one year.

Actually, Irving has been so excited about winning the trip that it has been almost impossible to get him "back down to earth." However, he did stop smiling when we candidly suggested that we might be willing to take the trip for him, particularly since we put in so much time and effort with the advertising. However, this didn't go over so big with Irving.

Gaston Baer, Irving's father-in-law, also suggested that he and Mrs. Baer might be able to make the trip — in the event Irving couldn't go, and Max Leon, owner of Leon's Shoes, came up with the suggestion that the Alexander's send their son Sheldon — since he obviously is the hardest working member of the family. This wasn't a popular suggestion either — with any one except Sheldon who naturally was eager for the big adventure.

We've about come to the conclusion that Irving just isn't interested in any helpful suggestions from his friends.

The Friday evening rain caught us in the back yard trying to barbecue hamburgers, and needless to say, we came in second best after rescuing the "burgers" from the fire.

Our barbecue grill is stationary and cannot be moved under the porch or into the garage when weather hits, so we just have to make the best of the situation — and hope the rains will wait until we finish.

But everytime we get started barbecuing, we remember an incident that happened several years ago when the Kiwanis Club was sponsoring the Harvest Festival Barbecue, importing "Flip" Breedlove from Clarendon to do the honors.

During one of these sessions, Dr. H. A. "Hap" Cavness, decided (from his sickbed by the way), that he wanted to send a goose down to the boys and let them barbecue the critter.

Gladys thought it was a good idea too, so she promptly got the bird out of the freezer and took it by the park where the Kiwanians and Mr. Breedlove were busy preparing the barbecue for the following day.

The Kiwanians obligingly accepted the goose and assured Gladys that it would be ready by the following morning.

Of course, "Hap" Cavness is always ready to pull a practical job — and this seemed to be the obvious time, and perfect opportunity for some of his friends to "repay" brother Cavness for some that he had pulled in years past. They promptly went to the store and purchased a Rock Cornish hen and put it over the fire to be barbecued.

When Gladys returned the following morning to recover the goose for "Hap," she was told that the bird had shrunk slightly and was presented the Cornish hen. Of course, she knew something was amiss, but was too polite to tell the boys she knew they were lying.

"Hap" was not as courteous however. He smelled a goose burning just as soon as Gladys walked into the room with the little Cornish hen on that great big platter. That was enough to get him out of bed — and start the hunt for one "lost goose."

But all turned out well. The boys confessed, "Hap" got his goose back — all barbecued to perfection — and came out on top with a little extra — the Rock Cornish hen.

We seemed to remember too, a little deal that the Kiwanians pulled on Lloyd Sharp at one of the big pancake suppers hosted annually by the club.

Lloyd was mixing the pancake batter it seems, and probably doing a pretty good job of it. But about the time he would get things going right, someone and perhaps "Hap" Cavness was in on this too would come by and say, "The batter is too thick." Lloyd, being very conscientious about his batter, would add a little milk. Shortly after he had added the milk, another Kiwanian would come by with a comment: "The batter is too thin." Lloyd would then add a little flour. This continued all evening — and at the conclusion of the pancake supper, Lloyd was about ready to turn the batter mixing over to some "better batter mixers" and get the heck out of there.

Lloyd is a pretty good sport however, and didn't get too upset when the boys told him what had been going on.

And while we're picking on the Kiwanians, we might as well tell the story about another of its illustrious members. This one being also an ex-student of the little college down south of Plainview, known generally as

Texas Tech. To be sure, he is a past president of the ex-student association.

Of course we're talking about none other than Clint Formby, manager of the local radio station.

Clint had invited a friend to attend one of the Red Raiders football games being held at Jones Stadium in Lubbock, and was busy extolling the virtues of this fine college to his visitor, (who we assume was an ex-student of A&M) when the famous Red Raider came riding onto the field atop his stallion—and promptly fell off. Right in the middle of the field.

Well, that was a rather embarrassing day for Formby. And he has been careful not to tell this story around any of his Aggie friends.

Service Award Is Given Mrs. Plank At Luncheon

An award recognizing six years of service with the Red Cross Gray Ladies of Hereford was presented at the group's luncheon Thursday in the Red Rooster Cafe to Mrs. Earl Plank, who has transferred her membership to the chapter at Monte Vista, Colo.

Mrs. C. A. Saulcy, president, gave the citation to Mrs. Plank, who is now living at a ranch in Colorado, and who was a guest at the luncheon while she is visiting in Hereford.

Members heard Mrs. Genevieve Miller, executive secretary of Red Smith County Red Cross Chapter, explain a need for participation in a national project of providing layettes to be distributed to Viet Nam civilians in combat areas, through military hospitals there.

Plans were discussed for asking the cooperation of women's clubs, church organizations and individuals to meet the request for layettes from this county.

Announcement was made that new officers will be installed at the next Gray Ladies luncheon, July 21. Mrs. Marvin Southward was recently-elected president for the coming year.

Taylor, Craig and Kenney remained to visit the Brooks and do some cotton hoeing this week.

Rain Thursday night amounted to about three quarters of an inch at the Joe Autrys, inch or more at the county line on Road 1055, about 1 1/4 inch at Carlton Dobbins and over two inches at the O. G. Hill place on the Dimmitt highway. In the southern and western parts of this area much of the ground was still wet from last Friday night's storm and rain.

Dawn H.D. Club Hears Program On Traffic Law

Observance of traffic laws as a key to safe driving was stressed by Joe Waggoner, highway patrolman stationed in Hereford, who was guest speaker to Dawn Home Demonstration Club Friday in the home of Mrs. J. B. Caraway.

He spoke of driver responsibility for enforcement of laws, and discussed attitude of drivers to law enforcement officers. Traffic problems were illustrated by diagrams, and booklets on Texas traffic laws were given to club members.

This meeting of the club was the last until September. Eight members were present with six visitors; Mrs. Virgie Cornett, Misses Diane Golden, Alice Ann Caraway, Linda Stewart, Rosemary Stewart and Jeanene Suttle.

Lunch Precedes North Hereford Club Vacation

Last meeting of North Hereford Home Demonstration Club before a summer recess was a salad luncheon Thursday in Mrs. A. E. Hodges' home. Mrs. O. L. Williams was in charge of a business period in which members voted to give three books of trading stamps toward purchase of a bus for St. Joseph's Mission.

Mrs. Paul Hoff directed the program on Wise Shopping Practices. A skit, Will the Real Economy-Sized Package Stand Up? was given by a group of members.

Mrs. F. A. Baca and Mrs. Dick Bell were guests. Other members present were Mmes. Otto Olson, C. L. Whitehead, Roger Williams, W. J. Lueb, Mary Bodkin, R. A. Fullwood, Otto Massie, O. C. Williams and Clinton Ward.

Cedar-Rustic Western Red Cedar fencing blends well with today's modern home exteriors plus giving complete privacy and protection.

The low initial cost, simple construction method, and minimum maintenance qualities are just a few of the many wonderful features of this Western Red Cedar Fencing.

Because of the precision-cut lengths and uniform machine-cut edge, Cedar-Rustic is ideal for the "do-it-yourselfer". Each piling of approximately 2" in width goes up fast. No trimming is necessary.

When galvanized or aluminum nails are used, Cedar-Rustic will weather to a delightful natural color without showing nail stains. This is in contrast with other wood fencing which turns dark with age. Cedar-Rustic never needs paint, stain, or sealer of any kind.

Imagine . . . a permanent fence with no upkeep!

HIGHLIGHTS AT AUSTIN

Auto Insurance Debate Active

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, Tex. — State Board of Insurance is disturbed over the "growing tendency" of some insurance companies to cancel out or refuse to renew auto coverage on certain classes of drivers.

At its mid-week (June 15) rate hearing, Board debated whether it should ask for new legislation or put into effect new administrative regulations to deal with the situation.

Board Chairman Wm. Hunter McLean said more and more drivers are being forced into higher-cost "assigned risk plan" coverage because of "unwillingness of companies to voluntarily issue insurance to young drivers, older drivers and drivers with poor driving records."

Another insurance rate boost is anticipated due to increasing accidents, injuries and traffic deaths, and higher repair and hospital costs. Rates were boosted 13.4 per cent in 1965.

McLean placed these among items for consideration at the mid-week meeting:

Revival of a "penalty system" based on number of accidents and serious traffic violations in figuring rates. A version of the system was abandoned four years ago after a brief trial and strong public opposition.

Alteration of the assigned risk plan to force all companies to take a proportionate share of "sub-standard" risk coverage.

Action to curb mass cancellation due to class, age, territory or agency and individual cancellations of policies of those who have no record of accidents or moving traffic violations.

Request for more uniform traffic regulations and enforcement procedures from county to county.

Modifications in methods of classifying drivers.

Board wants to find a way to "avoid further 'drying up' of the insurance market," emphasized McLean.

Companies writing auto insurance in Texas lost $13,000,000 last year on the coverage. McLean calculated earned premiums at $417,200,000, net premiums at $338,000,000 losses at $233,200,000, loss settlement, adjustment and litigation expenses at $42,600,000 and company "expenses" at $125,000,000. He termed "an all-out, effective traffic accident prevention program" the state's "single greatest need."

McLean said he would urge the insurance industry to take the lead in "bringing safety to our streets and highways."

NEW TAXES?

A state tax rate boost next year is inevitable, according to House Speaker Ben Barnes.

He predicted the 60th Legislature will "definitely face tax legislation."

Barnes declared that increasing cost of education alone will "require additional monies raised by taxes." Forty-eight per cent of every tax dollar paid to the state goes to education, he noted.

In a brief preview of his own ideas for legislative action, Barnes said he will ask an increase in juvenile parole officers to help curb teenage crime. He noted a study committee is exploring possible need of legislation dealing with obscene and pornographic publications.

STATE PAY BOOST FAVORED

Three state officials with most influence over the Legislature are united in pledging high priority backing for a "substantial" state employees' pay boost in 1967.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and House Speaker Barnes made strong public commitments to that effect last week. Gov. John Connally earlier had stated that a salary boost for the 44,900 state workers will be "one of (his) strongest recommendations to the next Legislature."

Texas Public Employees' Association has agreed generally on a revision plan which would cost about $70,000,000 overall for the next biennium — $21,000,000 would mean something like eight per cent more for lower bracket employees up to 25 per cent more for higher echelons.

School teachers are pushing hard for a "national average" pay level, but Connally and Barnes indicate they think the state employees are in greater need.

Waggoner Carr said in an official opinion.

In other opinions, Carr concluded that:

Investment of state employee retirement funds in corporate securities is subject to discretion of Employees Retirement System Board of Trustees and not that of University Board of Regents. Boards have right to exercise independent judgment in investing their respective trust funds.

State can pay the expenses of replacing an employee's eyeglasses destroyed in an on-the-job accident.

Control of building and grounds purchased with Texas Employees Retirement System Trust funds is within jurisdiction of Board of Trustees of Texas Retirement System.

A report on its views on state-supported restoration will be made to the 1967 Legislature.

Deaf Smith 4-H Entry Places In State Contest

Cynthia Beene, winner in county and district 4-H Club Favorite Food Show, placed in the blue ribbon group at the state show in College Station last week. She is eligible now to submit her foods record for judging in selecting a Texas delegate to the National 4-H Congress.

The 4-H Congress is held annually in November. Miss Beene is a member of Happy Workers 4-H Club and has been in 4-H work in this county for five years.

At the state contest, as in preceding shows, she prepared Beef Parmesan for entry in the meat group, displayed it on a table which she arranged in an Italian theme, and discussed the nutritive value of the food group of her choice.

Ex-WT Student Trio Reunited

First Lt. Jim Dawson, on emergency leave from army service in Viet Nam, and Capt. and Mrs. Jerry Bell, just returned from 20 months in Germany, visited John David Bryant 12 Star, this week.

The two servicemen frequently visited in the Bryant home when all three men were students at West Texas State University. Capt. Bell was a varsity basketball player, the other two were on the Buffalo varsity football squad.

Lt. Dawson will return to Viet Nam Aug. 22 to finish his tour of duty. He has flown over 500 hours in 10 months there, and received the fourth Oak Leaf cluster on his Army Air Medal. His home is in Borger.

Capt. Bell, of Vernon, is on his way to Ft. Lewis, Wash., to become a company commander of a basic training unit after serving in Baumholder, Germany.

TRADITION OF JUNE as a month of weddings is nothing new, so it is also a month of marriage anniversaries. As starry-eyed couples repeat their "I Do's" and look forward to a rosy future, older couples who know that sorrows are blended with the joys of a worthwhile marriage glance back through the years as they celebrate golden anniversaries.

CONGRATULATIONS ARE DUE Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Baird, far left, as they hold open house from 3 to 5 p.m. this afternoon in their home, 111 Douglas. Monday will be the actual 50th anniversary of their marriage in Dimmitt. Their daughter and son will be here to serve as hosts for the reception to which they invite all their friends.

EARLY CELEBRATION of their 50th anniversary was arranged by Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Harlin, center photo, so that relatives here for a family reunion could be present. Their children entertained in their honor with a reception Friday afternoon, although their wedding anniversary will not occur until in November.

. . . And Future

ENGAGEMENT AND WEDDING PLANS for Miss Janet Reinart and Lee George are announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Reinart, Route 3. A July wedding is to be solemnized in St. Anthony's Catholic Church. George is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim George, 125 Mile Ave. The bride-elect is a 1965 graduate of Hereford High School and her fiance of Denver City High School. The couple will reside in Hereford. Stamp Donations Continue For Mission Bus

Stamp donations continue to come into the Labor Camp. Brother Chrys said this week that he had received 50 books of trading stamps from an Elks Club in Lubbock.

He pointed out that many people are still confused over the kinds of stamps that can be used in purchase of the school

Laurence Saulcy and Ira Ott were taking fruit to men in the wards who were unable to take part in games.

Mrs. Ott, department hospital representative, announced the names of 22 patients who have birthdays in June. Each of these men was presented a birthday card and gift. Ice cream, cake and coffee were served to 45 patients.

bus to be used for the Labor Camp school this fall.

Any kind of trading stamp — Buccanner, S&H, Gunn Bros., Frontier — any type stamp can be accepted by the parochial school because they can be traded, Brother Chrys said.

He stated that he had received only 400 books of the $200 needed. He hopes to have 1000 by the middle of August because that number will enable him to make the order for a September delivery.

—Small Talk—

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Courteous driving is a big actor in highway safety, they tell us, but it's sometimes hard to practice, especially at intersections.

WE ARE ADVISED to be nice and yield our right of way, but have you noticed how often the driver who has the right of way, trying to be helpful and wait for the other fellow, is reglare or an impatient motion denoting "Go ahead and get out of the way."

Sometimes the one who is hesitant to claim his right of way is not especially courteous; he's only scared. Because you never can tell whether the other guy knows that you do have the right to go ahead, and you suspect that he may feel the same way about you.

Even when he's signaling a turn, you're not sure whether he means it, or just has a turn signal left over from the previous corner.

THE SITUATION is especially risky when a traffic light turns green, and there is a car waiting to go and signaling a left turn, while another car is driving up from the opposite direction prepared to go straight through.

Will the later-comer courteously wait for the left turn to be made? Will the left-turner courteously wait for the through car to go ahead? Will both of them claim the intersection at the same time? Does the turn signal really mean a turn at all? Or does the guy coming without a signal really intend to turn left?

With all these questions in the air, it isn't easy to know what to do. You may know the correct move to make and be prepared to make it, but does the guy you're meeting know as much, so he's prepared for whatever you do? When courtesy and ignorance meet at an intersection, who's going to win?

VISIBLE FROM West Third and Fourth and Bennett Streets, handsome back-to-back gardens of the houses at 508 Third and 507 W. Fourth are showing a fine display of daylilies now. A few weeks ago it was iris in a riot of color.

The city directory says those are the addresses of James E. Black and Jesse Stanford, respectively. Not often do two backyards join for such an attractive expanse of blooms.

JUNE WEDDINGS are nothing new so June anniversaries are only to be expected. Some call for special celebration, others are noted only in the families concerned. One of the latter was the silver wedding anniversary of the Jim Burwicks on June 7.

Daughter Linda came over from Amarillo to join her younger brother and sister, Bob and Sherry, for dinner with the parents, who were married 25 years ago in Sweetwater. Mrs. Burwick was Edna Stevens; she and her husband both grew up in Blackwell. They moved to Hereford within the past year from Amarillo.

TYPOGRAPHICAL errors, the bugaboo of newspaper writers, can crop up to cause trouble years later. I've found. An old clipping gave me some wrong information about the A. H. Owen family which had its reunion here this week.

Some misplaced lines put members of the Stagner, Lawrence and Clark families among the Owens and as too much of a newcomer to know better, I listed them where the families of Tom Hargreaves, Gerald Wil-

Brumley-Duggan Vows Are Recited In Church

Wedding vows for Miss Jani Sue Brumley and Dorman Duggan were repeated Saturday evening in First Baptist Church when the Rev. B. L. Davis pastor officiating for the double ring ceremony.

A fan of green foliage backed the kneeling bench, with more greenery and basket arrangements of white gladiolus and mums on either side. White satin bows marked pews on the bridal aisle to complete the wedding scene.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Roger Brumley, 303 Sunset, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Duggan of Guyton, Okla., formerly of Hereford.

Mr. Brumley gave his daughter in marriage. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Roger Munn of Lubbock, matron of honor; Miss Connie Watson, maid of honor; Mmes. Robert Duggan, Paul Larson of Littlefield and Eddie Black of Lubbock, bridesmaids.

Gary Duggan of Guyton was best man for his brother. Groomsmen were Robert and Leland Duggan, also brothers Paul Larson and Eddie Black. Janis Duggan of Guyton and Mike Brumley lighted the candles; Debbie Throckmorton of Amarillo was the flower girl; Keith Larson of Littlefield and Brian Duggan were ring bearers.

As wedding guests were seated, Mrs. Lowell Sharp played a prelude of wedding music. She accompanied Zack Pannell as he sang Because (D'Hardlot), Whither Thou Goest (Singer) and the Malotte arrangement of the Lord's Prayer, and played the traditional wagner and Mendelssohn marches.

The bride's gown was of Chantilly lace and tulle over tulle, all white, with iridescent sequins and seed pearls outlining the portrait neckline and tracing deep points of the lace on the bouffant tulle skirt. A triple back pouf of bridal satin cascaded to the floor to suggest a train.

Her waist-length veil of silk illusion was held to her blonde hair by a coronet of pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of French mums and white cymbidium orchids.

Attendants' satin dresses were made identically, the matron of honor's in pink and others in American Beauty rose, with long dome skirts and brief jackets. Their elbow-length gloves were pink and their bouquets of dark and light pink carnations. Each wore an American Beauty rose headpiece with circular veil.

For the wedding and the reception afterward, the bride's mother was dressed in pink with matching accessories and the bridegroom's mother in a blue costume, both with carnation corsages.

They received guests with the newly married couple in the Conkright Building of the church, where Mr. and Mrs. Brumley were reception hosts. Misses Rundy Hopson and Donna Olson, cousins of the bride, were at the registry.

Table appointments were in crystal and silver, and the cloth was of pink tiered net, floor length over deeper pink taffeta. White and pink roses, stephanotis and smilax twined the central candelabra and circled the base of the three-tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature bridal couple.

Miss Janet Fryar of Dimmitt poured punch and Mrs. Urban Brown of Tahoka, aunt of the bride, served the cake.

When the couple left for a honeymoon trip to New Mexico, Mrs. Duggan wore an off-white suit with accessories in deep pink and the corsage of orchids from her bridal bouquet.

They will return to a home here, where both are graduates of Hereford High School.

Out-of-city wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. Urban Brown, Mrs. Stella Gryder, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Munn of Tahoka; Mr. and Mrs. Butch Engle, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Mosley of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hagins of Post; Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Hall and Mrs. Mattie Hyatt of Abernathy.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Glen Throckmorton, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Chaney, Mr. and Mrs. Veri Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Libura Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. George Robertson of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Wilson, Mickey Wilson, Darlene and Diana of Friona.

JUST TIP YOUR HELMET —

A polite gentlemen nowadays tips his hat to a lady. When the custom got started back in the Middle Ages, that gesture was a real necessity, forsooth, according to historical records. The custom began with those famous knights in shining armor, and although they didn't wear hats, their metal plating covered them from head to foot. Thus, when a knight showed up at a court gathering, he was completely incognito unless he raised the visor of his helmet. This gave the ladies a chance to recognize and converse with him.

Pete Progress

speaking for the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce

The long lost Pete Progress finally made another appearance at the Chamber of Commerce office. With him he brought an editorial which appeared in the NEWSLETTER, a publication of the Local Chamber of Commerce Service Department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. The editorial was addressed primarily to Chamber managers but its content is of importance to the whole Chamber of Commerce movement and to the membership of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. The article was written by Charles W. Harbaugh, General Manager of the Membership Department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

"If chamber leaders are to meet the competitive challenges of the last third of the 20th century, they must discard the antiquated idea that business has a moral obligation to support the chamber. Chambers of commerce should be 'hired' — not supported.

"Businessmen should hire the chamber of Commerce much the same as they hire a lawyer, an engineer, a plumber or a teacher. They should hire the chamber to do what the individual can't do himself, but which — in its accomplishment — will benefit the business.

"The late Jack Lacy, famous sales trainer, referred to these individual ends as the 'hot button.' To sell a businessman on making a financial investment in the Chamber means showing that man that he should hire the chamber to help him achieve his chief ambition.

"Each businessman or professional person has his own goals. His decision to become a chamber member must be based on his goals — not the chamber's needs.

"If a businessman opens a new enterprise, risks his capital, works hard and builds a thriving business, what does this mean to the community? It means a great deal. Having succeeded in this act, the entrepreneur is hardly under a moral obligation to the chamber. He may wish, however, to hire the chamber — if the chamber's productivity is saleable.

"Chambers of Commerce should be immersed in an unshakable faith in freedom and the principles of a free market economy.

"Only as this philosophy of vails will we escape the drag of 'housekeeping budgets.' A chamber without a solid program of work should go broke because it isn't putting out a product or service worth hiring.

"The staff executive who want to move to another town because 'the local businessmen won't cooperate' had better re-examine what he has to sell. He's probably been begging for support. No businessman is morally obligated to give it.

Chile Seen In Travels As Land Of Contrasts

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Curving approach of their plane to a landing at the Santiago airport, which they were told was necessary because the highest peak in the Andes is near the airfield, made their entry to Chile impressive to Mrs. Leo Forrest and Mrs. Lee Benefield, who recently returned from a South American trip.

THEY ACCOMPANIED Forrest, manager of Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative who was acting as advisor to electric co-op officials in a series of meetings in Chile, and spent about a month traveling in that country. A side trip took them into Bolivia to visit friends of Mrs. Benefield.

The Hereford women became accustomed to traveling in a land where high mountains were always in sight on either side of the long central valley which is the agricultural region of Chile.

They became accustomed to three-hour lunches at which Forrest's party was entertained by conferees from the Chilean cooperatives, and which usually included wives of some of the hosts. They learned to expect words of amazement from the Chilean women that American women do their own housework.

THEY NEVER ceased to be impressed, however, at the wide contrasts they encountered — extremes of climate which varies from tropical in the north to frigid in the south of the elongated country.

They learned that northern sections are arid, with mining as the principal industry, while in some southern areas as much as 200 inches of rainfall a year have been recorded.

They went as far south as Osorno, 700 miles south of Santiago, where annual rainfall may reach 125 inches but irrigation is necessary because the rainy season is not the crop-growing season.

In a pattern common to Latin America, wealth is generally in the hands of a few people and poverty is the lot of most. However, they found that Chile is making more progress in the development of a middle class than any other of the west coast countries.

STILL, FARMERS work with either the most modern mechanized equipment or with primitive ox-drawn plows and hand tools.

"On the highways you meet many large new trucks with farm produce, and many more ox-carts and loaded donkeys," Mrs. Forrest says.

She and Mrs. Benefield were happy to be able to discuss farming with the people they met, most of whom were interested in farm operations and industry through their association with co-ops.

They enjoyed visiting sugar beet fields where harvesting was being done by hand, also a sugar plant. They saw wheat, cattle and much fruit, some citrus fruit. One of their pleasant experiences was a visit to a Spanish family in the grape-growing region south of Santiago.

THIS HOME was not elaborate, but apparently belonged to a family of means which preferred a comfortable farm life. Buildings and furnishings were substantial and old; the wife's family had owned the place many years.

This family grew grapes and operated a winery, and showed their guests how the wine is made in time-honored style and stored in huge cedar casks.

European influence in the country is strong with English, Irish and German settlers most numerous next to the Spanish.

Native Indians occupy some parts of the country, not much changed from the days of the first white men came. The Araucanos in the south were never conquered and retain many old customs; the Hereford women noticed resemblance of their weaving, pottery and other crafts to those of the Navajos.

TWO WEEKS of their stay were spent in Santiago, with trips over to the coast to Valparaiso and Vina del Mar. Shops of the cities were attractive to the visitors, but air luggage limits confined their purchases to small items. Copper pieces, made of the principal metal of Chile, were their choice as the finest souvenirs.

On their way south they spent a night at Lake Villarrica, one of the beautiful mountain resorts in a section of Chile of ten compared to Switzerland. Green valleys, lush vegetation and mountain lakes made striking views, which included a volcano.

Live volcanos are not uncommon, and the Chileans talk casually about earthquakes. Destructive quakes have occurred in recent years. One of the southern cities, Valdivia, shows where land levels dropped as designs, as are the small pottery pieces on the table. The plate with its swirled pattern is of a hammered copper, the miniature tea sets of copper and polished wood. Traveling by plane, the Hereford women limited purchases of souvenirs to small pieces they could pack in their luggage.

SOUVENIRS OF SOUTH AMERICA — Mrs. Lee Benefield and Mrs. Leo Forrest show examples of the crafts of Chile in articles they brought back from a recent trip to that country. Mrs. Benefield holds a box made of copper, principal mining product of Chile, and Mrs. Forrest a poncho woven with a border suggestive of Navajo Indian

much as six feet in a 1960 quake, with resultant flooding which covered whole farms.

THE HEREFORD travelers met a U. S. exchange student from Denver at Linares, who had heard that Americans were to visit there and arranged a meeting. He was living with a family which had a daughter in New Jersey as a student.

At the close of their trip Forrest flew back to Washington and the two women went to Santa Cruz, Bolivia, for a visit. Flying across the Andes to Lima, they crossed vast arid mountains and passed over a smoking volcano. Side trips took them to La Paz, Cocha Bomba and the old capital city of Sucre.

Santa Cruz is located on a plain on the edge of the Amazon Valley forests, and has a semi-tropical climate. Sugar cane and rice are important crops there.

BOLIVIA IS A less-developed country than Chile in spite of its oil production, they noted. It was there they saw the most men wearing bowler hats or tall white hats, wide colorful skirts and shawls in which they carried packages or babies.

One group of men in Sucre wore baggy short trousers with bright cummerbunds, light hats with colored cords and very thick sandals. Each carried a bag of coco leaves, which most of the Indians chew as a mild narcotic.

On their way back to Hereford, Mrs. Benefield and Mrs. Forrest visited briefly in Miami.

ONE MINUTE, PLEASE
THE CHURCH I LOVE IS NOT QUARRELSOME

"Have nothing to do with stupid, senseless controversies; you know that they breed quarrels. And the Lord's servant must not be quarrelsome, but kindly to everyone, and apt teacher forbearing, correcting his opponents with gentleness." (2 Timothy 2:33-25a.)

Paul warned Timothy of some who are "puffed up with conceit" and have "a morbid craving for controversy and for disputes about words, which produce envy, dissension, slander, base suspicions and wrangling among men who are depraved in mind and bereft of the truth, imagining that godliness is a means of gain." (1 Timothy 6:4-5).

The person who is of this disposition and attitude lacks this much at least being the Christian God wants him to be. If a congregation is of this disposition or attitude it lacks this much being the church God wants it to be. "For the kingdom of God (which I believe to be the church) does not mean food and drink but righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit; he who thus serves Christ is acceptable to God and approved by men. Let us then pursue what makes for peace and for mutual upbuilding." (Romans 14:17-19).

Brides Father Conducts Wedding By Candlelight

The bride's father, assisted by her brother, read the marriage service in which Miss Marilyn Jo Armpriester and Jimmy Dean Bell exchanged vows Saturday evening at Wesley Methodist Church.

She is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Noah Armpriester, 409 Brevard, and he the son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Bell, 506 McKinley. Her father, who gave her in marriage, is pastor of Wesley Church and her brother, the Rev. Marvin Armpriester, of the Sagerton-Guthrie Methodist Charge.

Mrs. Archie Echols of Avoca was her sister's matron of honor and Paul Armpriester the best man. Mrs. Earl Keese was bridesmatron, Randy Tooley of Dawn groomsmen, Charles Brownlow and Mike Solomon ushers. Rings were carried by the bride's small sister, Teresa Armpriester.

Wedding music was by Archie Echols, who sang as a prelude, O Perfect Love, When He Gave Me You and Bless This Hour, accompanied by Miss Rachel Armpriester, pianist who also played the marches. Songs during the ceremony were Whither Thou Goest and Wedding Prayer.

Candles were lighted by David Armpriester and Bobby Alexander before entrance of the wedding party. Seven-branched candelabra twined with green leaves flanked baskets of yellow gladiolas at the altar and the aisle was marked with tapers.

Three tall candles were set on a table at the front, the center one left unlighted until after the wedding vows when the bride and groom lighted it.

Miss Armpriester was gowned in slipper satin and her veil was one made and worn by Mrs. Echols as a bride. Falling from a heart-shaped crown of seed pearls, it extended cathedral length and was fashioned with scalloped edge trimmed with Chantilly lace. Arlene Armpriester was the train bearer.

The sleeveless fitted bodice of the dress, with low round neckline, was covered by a lace jacket with sleeves pointed at the wrist. Soft pleats held skirt fullness at the waistline. The bridal bouquet, a carnation nosegay, was carried on a Bible covered with white satin and Venice lace.

Attendants' dresses were alike, of blue peau de soie styled like that of the bride, but without jackets. Each carried three long-stemmed carnations.

Miss Cheryl Solomon registered guests in the church foyer.

At the reception in the fellowship hall afterward, house party members were Misses Rachel Armpriester, Linda Merrill and Karen Bell.

Mrs. Robert Alexander was assisted by Mrs. Jack Funk in serving the wedding cake while Miss Lois Armpriester poured punch at a table covered with lace over a yellow cloth. The three candles from the altar table formed the centerpiece.

Leaving for a wedding trip, Mrs. Bell wore a blue linen suit with blue dotted blouse, accessorized in white. Her corsage was from her wedding bouquet. The couple will be at home after the trip at Apartment B, 302 Ave. B.

Both are graduates of Hereford High School and have attended West Texas State University. The bride is employed by Sears Roebuck Co. and the bridegroom by Western Auto Co.

markets by pipeline. Railroads also developed the unit train—a tailor-made service particularly useful to coal producers.

Coal has also benefited from a rising export market, aided by a government program to boost exports. Last year tonnage shipped overseas set a new record for a non-emergency period. Bureau of Mines estimates foresee a 40 percent increase in coal exports by 1980.

The coal industry still has its problems but its comeback and bright prospects make an exciting story of local importance to many communities.

... nee Miss Billie Gonzales

Home Ceremony Read For Couple

Miss Billie Gonzales became the bride of Richard Gene Layman in an early evening ceremony Saturday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Gonzales, Rt. 5. The Rev. Eugene Brink conducted the double ring service at an improvised altar marked by baskets of white carnations.

best man. Her father gave Miss Gonzales in marriage. Tiers of lace made the waist-length skirt of her gown, which was styled with figurine bodice and long sleeves. Scallops of the lace outlined the squared neckline and the pattern on the bodice was reembroidered with sequins.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Layman Sr., Rt. 1. The couple will be at home at 306 Ave. I after a short wedding trip.

Lace edged the illusion veil which fell to her waistline from a tall crown of crystal beads. Her bridal bouquet was of white carnations.

Attendants for the simple ceremony were Mrs. Don Cherry, matron of honor, and Ruben Gonzales, the bride's brother, Mrs. Cherry's dress was peach colored silk with white lace and she carried a long-stemmed white carnation.

The bride's parents were hosts for the wedding supper, served at a lace-covered table centered with the decorated cake and a triple-branched candelabrum. Assisting were Mrs. S. A. Fangman, Mrs. R. V. Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Raul Gutierrez.

The bride's younger sister, Rosie Gonzales, was at the book where guests registered. Out-of-city wedding guests included the bride's brother, Oden Gonzales, and Mrs. Gonzales of Chicago.

For travel Mrs. Layman changed to a long-sleeved dress of forget-me-not blue lace with white accessories and the corsage from her bouquet.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Layman attended Hereford High School and she was a student later in an Amarillo beauty college. She is on the staff of Continental Coiffures and he is employed by Holly Sugar Corp.

Two Piano Pupils Play In Recital

A joint piano recital was presented by Angela Grubbs and Joy McCathern, pupils of Mrs. Joe Hacker, in Mrs. D. W. Palmer's home Thursday evening. Parents and friends of the soloists were invited guests.

Both the girls will be seventh grade students at La Plata School next term and will further their musical interest as band members. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McCathern Jr., Joy has participated in Piano Festival and Guild Auditions six years and earned a Schumann award last spring for playing a ten-piece program each year.

Angela, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Roy Grubbs, has played in Festival and Guild Auditions and many recitals. She was a runner-up in the county spelling bee the past year.

She opened the recital program with two Bach numbers, Sicilliana and Sogno, and the Beethoven Sonata in G Major.

In a later group she played a Beethoven Scherzo, a Clementi Waltz, Elfenfant (Grieg) and Little Negro (Debussy). Joy's first solo was also by Bach, Allegro, followed by the Scarlatti Sonata in D minor and Haydn's Sonata in D Major. In final recital numbers she presented Schumann's Knecht Rupert, Grieg's Puck and two MacDowell compositions, Alla Tarantella and Will O' the Wisp.

Punch and cookies were served to the recital guests.

Pampa Show Set Saturday

PAMPA - An official American Quarter Horse Show will be held in Pampa Saturday, June 25, beginning at 9 a. m. in the main arena of the Top o' Texas Rodeo Grounds at Recreation Park.

The one-day show will feature thirteen halter classes with a 10 cash prize for first place in each class and appropriate ribbons. Eight performance classes will also carry $10 first place cash prizes for the winners and appropriate ribbons. There will be five open youth classes and three 4-H club classes, with appropriate ribbons and an all-around trophy for the winner.

Judging the show will be Cotton Marriott, of Dallas, Texas, one of the nation's most outstanding quarter horse judges.

Approximately 200 horses are expected in Pampa for the one-day show, which will be free to the public. Elmer Fisher and Ed Vincent, co-chairman of the quarter horse show, have extended invitations to all breeders of quarter horses in the southwestern area to be present, along with the

Accident Toll For May Told

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated eight accidents in Deaf Smith County during the month of May according to Sergeant W. E. Wells Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area. The crashes resulted in two persons injured and an estimated property damage $3,480.00. The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first five months of 1966 shows a total of 41 accidents resulting in one person killed, 18 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $37,520.00. The number of traffic deaths in Texas has risen steadily since 1960 with 2254 deaths to 3028 deaths in 1965. "For the first five months of 1966, 1137 persons have died in traffic compared to 1032 deaths for the same period of 1965," the Sergeant stated. This 10 percent increase is very alarming, and when you realize our heavy volume months are still ahead, we must anticipate increasing problems in the accident picture. The Sergeant appealed to the motoring public to assist in the reduction of this trend, otherwise, the death count at the end of the year will far exceed the record number of 3028 deaths in Texas during 1965.
