CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WORKING ON NORTH-SOUTH ROAD EXTENSION

Rehabilitation and Relief Committee Opens Offices In Court House Basement

With the appointment of Mrs. C. B. Bentley, former secretary of the Hereford Chamber of Commerce as secretary of the local branch of the State Rehabilitation and Relief Committee, the launching of the new relief work for Deaf Smith county began this week. A committee will work Mrs. Bentley in this new field.

The object of this new relief work is about the same as stated in last week's Brand, when it was announced that aid will be extended to those who need funds for the purchase of feed for their present herds of milk cows, hogs or chickens. It is the objective of this new aid to extend just enough to their livestock from which they have been making their livelihood and not to attempt to aid those who are milking large herds of cows or feeding hogs for the market on a commercial scale.

The relief work of which Mrs. Bentley is now secretary will be entirely separate from the former R. F. C. aid activities, and she will occupy a room in the basement of the court house, on the north side, for her office.

Mr. Elrod of Amarillo, a state appointee on the State Rehabilitation and Relief committee, was here the latter part of last week conferring with the R. F. C. committee. Judge Humble, the county commissioner and citizens relative to the further advancement of this new relief work.

This masterpiece of workmanship was made by Leslie Culwell, 19-year-old son of O. L. Culwell of this city. It has been sent to Memphis, Tennessee, where it is to be displayed in the General Motors Automobile Show in that city.

Lions Install New Set Officers; Fete Ladies, Friends

The Lions club met Wednesday night at 8:00 o'clock at the Presbyterian church, the occasion being ladies' night, and the newly elected officers were installed. The solemn and impressive oath being administered by L. H. Foster.

The welcome address was delivered by Homer Grizzle, who also was the clown for the occasion. He kept the Lions and their ladies well entertained. Stren had the pleasure of introducing Harold Close, official tall twister. All officers were introduced in turn.

The new president in his speech of acceptance favored in the new Lion platform the adoption of ladies' night at least twice a month on occasions like this. Amarillo Men Here On Business Wednesday

P. C. Bennett, county agent of Potter county; Garford Wilkinson, farm editor of the Amarillo News-Globe; Bill Beecher, manager of the Cunningham Flower Shop, and Don Hunsaker, district manager of the Southwestern Telephone Co., were in Hereford Wednesday afternoon.

The Amarillo visitors were here on a good will trip. Messrs Bennett and Wilkinson coming down in interest of the Balanced Farming contest, which is judged just prior to the Tri-State Fair September 15. Mr. Hunsaker while here conferred with the local office force of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., and Mr. Beecher spent the time renewing business relations with Cunningham Flower Shop customers.

Condition of Seth B. Holman Still Grave

The Brand has many inquiries in connection with the condition of Seth B. Holman, owner and editor of the paper, who has been bedfast the past thirty days. According to his physicians, he has not made the improvement that his many friends would like to see, but the fact that he does seem to have an unseen power to rally from under depressing conditions gives the faith and hope that he will be restored to his former usefulness in this community.

Temperature Up To 110 Thursday Of Last Week

New records of the heat wave last week registered 110 degrees by a thermometer located just east of the Santa Fe station. This thermometer, a standard instrument was near the pavement platform of the depot but was in the shade.

According to L. Baskin, his thermometer registered 104 all Thursday afternoon of last week. At the Moore filling station east of town their instrument registered 106 in the afternoon of the same day. The United States Weather Bureau reported the hottest and driest June since 1920.

In many places where the fields have been kept free of weeds the prospect for a fair crop is evident. What little cotton was planted and came up is standing the drought best. Scattering showers around Hereford have helped but little.

Public Asked to Use Ovens In City Park

City Park, on South Main Street, is growing in popularity so much that the Park Board recently erecting signs informing the public that campers are not allowed to park in the park, and reminding those desiring to build fires for the purpose of cooking to use the new brick ovens erected along the creek bank.

The park board is especially requesting the public to cooperate in keeping the park in a sanitary condition. Children are also cautioned not to climb the trees and to be sure to wear bathing suits when in swimming.

Lowly Firemen Finally Win Ball Game By Walloping Stuffin' Out of Odd Fellows

BY HOMER FOX
It just had to happen, folks; so this old Firemen's outfit stepped across the tracks Wednesday afternoon and smoked the Odd Fellows out of their first game of the season in the City League, 6-1.

The Firemen just plain went out to win a ball game and when they got that way they are hard to beat. In the second inning the Speegle popped to first base, ending the scoring and we might say the ball game.

It really was a pitchers' battle, the Odd Fellows getting six hits and the Firemen seven, but Ted's support fell down on him in the pinches, and the Firemen hit when it counted. The Firemen made one error the Odd Fellows six. It was just their day to lose.

Pack London, in left field, was the outstanding fielder of the day, with four chances handled perfectly, three of them coming in the third inning.

Carroll led the busting for the Firemen, three for four, and the only man to get over one hit off Ted, but one was a triple and two were doubles. Carroll cracked two singles for three times up, and can you imagine, it was all over before seven o'clock—the fastest game that has been played this year.

Lenwood Hallum Saves Drowning Clovis Girl

A rescue by 11-year-old Lenwood Hallum, son of Mrs. F. S. Smith of South Hereford, was told to the Brand by Mr. Smith, step-father of Lenwood Hallum, of the near drowning of Miss Maxine Osborne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Osborne, of Clovis New Mexico, Wednesday morning of last week.

Maxine and a chum, Evangeline Hicks, of Clovis were wading in the Tierra Blanca creek near the golf course and stepped off into a deep pool. Mr. Smith said. The Hicks girl managed to get back to shore safely, but Maxine went under. Just as she was going down the third time, young Hallum dived in after her and brought her safely to shore, then went back to help Mrs. Osborne who had plunged into the deep water in an effort to save her daughter.

Young Hallum was one of several boys who were swimming in the creek, and when the girls stepped into the deeper water his quick thinking and fearlessness under water saved the life of the Osborne girl. Word from Mr. Osborne Wednesday stated that his daughter had almost recovered from her experience.

Sheriff Recovers 'Stolen' Car On Hereford Street

Sheriff John B. Miller is a vigilant peace officer, in fact he is at times almost too much so. R. A. Walls of the Western Union office phoned Sheriff Miller one day this week that an out-of-town car had been parked in front of his office all day and that he had seen two "suspicious" looking characters get out of it that morning. Sheriff Miller investigated and discovered from the license plate that the car was from Randall county. Whereupon he had the car stored with the Hereford Motor Co. and phoned the sheriff at Canyon to come and get it.

The car belonged to H. D. Foster of Canyon who is working this summer with his brother, Paul Foster. Rufus Sewell of the Hereford Motor Co., showed the car to Mrs. Paul Foster and told her it was a stolen car. "No, that is not a stolen car. It belongs to my brother-in-law, and he is looking for it right now!"

Trade Wheat for Flour; No Federal Tax Here

Farmers will be glad to know there will be no Federal tax on exchange of wheat for the finished product, flour. This information was given the Brand by H. E. Danforth, manager of the Packard Milling Company, located on South Main Street in Hereford.

This will be good news to farmers who make it a practice to exchange the raw product for the finished. Mr. Danforth states that there is a tax of thirty cents on each bushel of raw wheat converted into flour for direct sale.

Judge Humble Makes Effort to Get Road Work

Judge C. W. Humble informs the Brand that application has again been made to the State Highway Department that it take into consideration the construction of approved highways 60 and 25-Mile Avenues. State Congressman Maurice Jones has made an appeal to the National Highway Department that highways in the drought-stricken West Texas counties should first be taken under consideration whereby many farmers who have so far been unable to plant a crop for this year would be given employment when it is most needed.

Considerable preliminary work has already been done on highway No. 60 as to procuring the right-of-way, location of culch pits, surveying, etc. It is thought by Judge Humble and the county commissioners that more definite knowledge will soon be forthcoming.

Local Automobile Firm Reports Trade Increase

E. S. Ireland, of Ireland Beavers Motor Company, reports that the firm has sold six new cars in approximately one month. J. H. Trimble has been connected with the business during this period. Two Dodges and three Plymouths have been sold.

Messrs. Ireland and Beavers have announced that they expect a car load of Plymouths to arrive within the next few days.

Tom Welsh of the Bellview community was a shopper in Hereford Saturday.

Exploding Boiler Causes Celebration Postponment

What came near being a serious fire loss at the Reed Williams home last Fourth of July morning terminated in only a bursted hot water heater—and a basement full of water.

About seven o'clock, while the heater was in operation, a gas explosion occurred, bursting the boiler and immediately extinguishing the flames caused by the gas exploding. All the damage done was to the bursted boiler, which kept Mr. Williams busy for the rest of the day celebrating Independence Day. Mr. and Mrs. Williams had planned to go to Amarillo to visit friends over the Fourth.

Irrigation Pays J. J. Paetzold Good Profit

"Does it pay to irrigate?" was the question asked by John J. Paetzold, southeast of town about six miles on the former Henry Schuetz farm.

Mr. Paetzold emphasized his reply in three words, "Yes, it does!" then began to tell his visitors the story of irrigating his half section with a 20-year-old irrigation well, which is still producing in the neighborhood of 1200 gallons of pure water per minute.

Abundance of Water.
Mr. Paetzold purchased the farm where he and his family now live about four years ago, and has continuously pumped water for irrigation purposes during the growing season from the time they first moved to the new home. With the aid of a 70 horsepower Bessemer oil-burning engine, the Paetzold well will produce from 1000 to 1500 gallons per minute continuously throughout the growing season and all it takes, Mr. Paetzold said, is hard work, 24 hours per day, and with the help of his three sons, George, Raymond and Edward, he manages to take care of the water and get it where it does the most good.

Bountiful Crops.
Mr. Paetzold raises all varieties of crops acceptable to this section of the Southwest. His principal crop is alfalfa which he waters every week throughout the growing season with an average yield of a ton to the acre this year for the first two cuttings. A wheat field of 70 acres made a gain of about ten bushels to the acre from only one watering and the cost of fuel being about 75 cents per acre. Mr. Paetzold stated that there is considerable expense to the general overhead of farming when the well is started, but he has managed to meet these expenses and make a little money during the time when every crop raised on the farms had but little cash value. Indian corn is also being raised this year and the long green—clean rows, with a growth of about three feet makes one think corn will some day be the principal crop, especially when grown under irrigation. Irrigation of corn does away with the corn-borer so prevalent when raised by dry land farming methods, and the yield of 55 bushels to the acre of kafir and maize under one irrigation last year in comparison to a yield of 18 bushels by dry farming in a field adjoining is definite proof that irrigation is the best bet on the Plains. If one expects to carry out a definite farming plan, according to Mr. Paetzold, a patch of cotton containing six acres is also being irrigated with good results up to this time.

Reforestation Boys Spend Fourth Here

Arthur Tiefel and Richard Jowell, reforestation boys who recently enlisted for forestry work were here over the Fourth visiting in their homes. They arrived here on a leave of absence last Sunday and are due to report to their headquarters at Turner State Park, near Davis, Oklahoma, Wednesday morning.

Mr. Tiefel states that the work at this time consists of felling dead trees, chipping and burning underbrush, and road construction. He also stated that the boys were making their homes in large army hospital tents, in groups of 20 boys each, the tents having wood floors, lighted with electricity, and equipped with running water. Dress uniform, when off duty, is the ordinary khaki trousers, shirt and cap; work uniforms are of blue denim in jumper style, with trousers. Two hundred workers are included in his detachment, and they are under command of eight army officers.

It is locally reported that Weldon Boone, William (Babe) Russell, W. J. Fellers and Carl Howard are located 20 miles from Walden, Colorado, which is 52 miles from a railroad. Charlie (Sandy) Jowell was here the latter part of last week visiting his mother.

Livestock.

Mr. Paetzold believes in and raises the short-horn cattle for milk production, has a large herd of hogs on a 25-acre hog-tite alfalfa pasture; raises a nice flock of chickens every year; a few head of horses, and maintains a large garden from which the surplus of vegetables are canned for family winter consumption. All told, Mr. Paetzold believes in irrigation and would not think of farming in the panhandle without it.

Before the depression, every town of any size at all boasted its chamber of commerce which was bending every effort to bring new enterprises, outside capital, additional trade and people to their own particular town or city. For the past two or three years these efforts have been lessened in most towns, but Hereford's chamber of commerce has continued to carry on and has been working constantly for needed roads leading into and through Hereford and Deaf Smith county.

A state highway has been designated from Channing to Vega, Hereford, Dimmitt, Littlefield, Loveland and Brownfield and given State No. 143. In the Lubbock district a part of the route has been surveyed and the road located by State Engineer Johnson, but nothing has been done on the north end from Channing to Dimmitt. Our chamber of commerce has now secured the cooperation of all towns along the line, chambers of commerce and county judges in an effort to have this road surveyed and located. It is believed that R. F. C. funds can and will be used to grade and turn this road to the state, if our highway commission will order its survey and location, without expense to the counties except for the right of way. This is important.

Hereford chamber of commerce is also making an effort to have Harrison Highway designated as a state highway from Hereford to the New Mexico line and to connect with New Mexico's highway No. 18. No more important things could be accomplished for Hereford and Deaf Smith county.

Wheat Shipments Curtailed When Grain Is Stored

Shipments of car loads of wheat have been very light so far this year. Farmers are storing their grain in their own granaries and in local elevators, hence the wheat shipments are light.

Harvest is about half over according to one elevator operator. Some wheat has tested as high as 43 pounds to the bushel. The price Thursday morning was 87 cents per bushel in Hereford.

Telephone Directories Distributed This Week

The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company is distributing new directories this week to phone patrons in Hereford and the rural districts served by this exchange.

The directories look a little thin, but Mrs. Leo Coconaugher, chief operator, said that business is steadily increasing and that the outlook for more business is most encouraging.

The butcher offered him only $15 per head for eight beef calves but he had been watching his 4-11 Gub girl feed out a calf in a demonstration, so Hutch Fraser of Cottle county put the calves in a pen and fed them the county agent way. After 63 days he sold one of the calves to the same butcher for $30.00.

PANAMA CANAL HAS FEW INTERRUPTIONS

High Flood Cause of Recent Traffic Suspension.

Washington.—Too much water, where engineers had feared there might sometime be too little, made necessary the closing of the Panama canal to traffic for the better part of a day a few weeks ago. The reason for the suspension was an unusually high flood in the Chagres river which discharged into the canal, makes possible Gatun lake through which ships pass, and is the chief source of water for operating the locks. A special dam to cost $15,500,000, is under construction now, designed to prevent a "overabundance of water in the canal in the future, and to hold an additional supply in reserve for the dry season. The chief damage wrought by the flood, probably not over $50,000, was to the uncompleted dam.

12 Ships a Day for 18 Years.

"On December 1, 1932, exactly 6,682 days had passed since the canal was opened to the commerce of the world; and on only a little handful of these days had there been no procession of ships passing from Atlantic to Pacific or from Pacific to Atlantic. The few and brief occasions when traffic was suspended were for the most part during the early days of the canal's service, when landslides had to be cleared from one or another of the deep cuts.

"Up to July 1 last, when the canal had been open just 45 days short of 18 years, an average of just 12 ships had passed through the waterway every day—almost 'half a ship an hour.' If one takes his statistical averages that seriously," says a bulletin from the National Geographic society.

"The Panama canal is a gateway of the seas. Merchants send their products through it, as medieval traders sent their caravans through guarded gates of fortified cities. One can see the traffic coming through the Panama 'gate' and tell much of the countries from which the goods come.

"From Argentina's plains come meat, bone, fertilizer, and tankers with blood; from Brazil, coffee; from Mexico, crude oil; from the West Indies, sugar; from the Far-East, bamboo, tea, peanuts, fireworks, gallstones, hemp, coconut oil and rice; from Australia, cold storage products, beef, caseln, cheese, mutton, pork, tallow; from California, fruit, oil, apricot seeds, borax, onions, walnuts; from Washington and Oregon, lumber and salmon; from Vancouver, wheat; from Chile, nitrates and iodine; from Peru, guano; and from the South seas, copra.

A Bridge of Water.

"In the language of engineers the Panama canal is not a canal at all; it is a 'water bridge.' It is said to be the first great 'water bridge' in history. The engineers' term does describe the canal more accurately than its popular title. From the Colon entrance, guarded from 'northers' by breakwaters, it is about seven miles to Gatun locks. At the lock gate to the right of an incoming steamer is the great Gatun dam—more than a mile and a half long. It is this dam which raises the Chagres river to the dignity of a 'water bridge.'

"Through vast artificial Gatun lake, so formed, steamers plow 24 miles until they reach the Culebra or Gaillard cut, severing the mountainous backbone of North, Central and South America. In the eight-mile Gaillard cut, the most dramatic excavation work occurred.

"At the Pedro Miguel locks, called 'Peter Magill' locks by the Americans, the ships step down from their 'water bridge.' Crossing the mile-long Miraflores lake they reach the two Miraflores locks and sea level. Eight miles from here to deep water in the Pacific, Gatun dam raises the 'water bridge' to the height of a seven-story building."

Bandit, on Parole, Pays Bank $4,500 He Stole

Fresno, Calif.—Dean Sears, manager of a branch of the Bank of America, and Sydney S. Clark, field inspector, were conversing in the bank's Lone Pine office when C. H. Cochran, former cowboy, stepped in, shook hands with Sears, and handed him $4,500 in currency. Cochran said:

"I guess you don't remember me. I came here three years ago with guns and held up your bank. I was arrested and sent to San Quentin penitentiary, and I just got out on parole.

"While in prison I inherited money, and I came here immediately to pay back what I stole and let my friends know I'm square with the world."

Boy, Unaware of Broken Neck, Continues School

Grand Island, Neb.—A broken neck was so slight a matter to thirteen-year-old Gene Smith, that he did not even know when he had it. There was a slight soreness, so Gene's parents took him to a doctor. An X-ray showed a fracture of two vertebra. The boy had attended school for a week. He was unable to explain the break.

IOWA MAN HERE; SAYS HIS COUNTRY NEEDS RAIN

B. F. Kunkle, of Stuart, Iowa, has been in the Hereford country the past several days, leaving for his home Wednesday. Mr. Kunkle has owned a farm six miles out in the Summerfield area for the past twenty years. Four years ago it was plowed up and put in cultivation, and this year is all in wheat, which has been harvested and is now stored in the Black elevator. This crop, Mr. Kunkle said, averaged around 18 bushels per acre, which at an offered price of 88 cents a bushel Tuesday, he believes is doing mighty well for a dry year.

Mr. Kunkle states that since coming to Hereford he has been advised by home folks that his region is badly in need of rain. Corn, he said, was looking fine when he left Iowa, and if needed moisture comes in time the crop will be good.

Mr. Kunkle has been a reader of the Brand for several years.

EX-BRAND PRINTER ARRIVES IN YUMA

A letter from Ira Connell, formerly a printer on the Brand, states the Connell family arrived safely in Yuma, Arizona, where he has employment on a daily paper. The trip was made without a hitch, except for the usual run of blow-outs and other matters of like nature pertaining to such a trip. He is well pleased with his work and the country in general.

Make Quick Flight.

Dr. J. W. Hendrix, Dave McCurdy and Burrow Kirby flew out to the latter's home 45 miles northwest of Hereford in Dr. Hendrix's Eagle Rock plane.

Observation from the air showed that most of the land over the route taken had been plowed up. The greater part of it was planted to sorghum grains but some had been given a first plowing in a summer fallow program. The territory flown over was that in which the January-June high winds and sand storms ruined the wheat. Most interesting was the effect of scattered rains which the county has received. Grass on some pastures appeared green, others were as innocent of verdant growth as a paved street.

Jack Wright made a business trip to Elton last Monday morning.

The Brand wants rag-good clean cotton rags, with old knit underwear, stockings, linen collars, etc., absolutely barred. Good prices paid.

Stinkwood Tree Source of Much-Prized Lumber

In a forest of South Africa there grows a tree with a hard fine wood but a very ugly name.

Stinkwood it was called by the early Dutch settlers, who made wagons from it, and later found that a stinkwood log was so hard that it would burn for three days. Now we make furniture of it.

Unfortunately the number of these trees will not last for many more years, for every time a stinkwood tree is cut down two or three hundred years must pass before another can take its place.

It seems, too, that there is no stinkwood in any other part of the world, though the tree is thought not to have belonged originally to South Africa, as the natives have no name for it. In cases of this sort it is usually found that the tree has been brought from some other country, but if this is so the place from which the stinkwood really came is still a mystery.

JOBLESS PROFESSORS TO INSTRUCT NEEDY

Offer College Course to the Youths Out of Work.

Port Royal, Va.—Twenty-five students and six professors gathered in a high-ceiled room under the slated sloping roof of an old building here have brought into existence Dr. A. C. Hill's depression days college for financially harassed young men.

The purpose of Port Royal college, Doctor Hill explained, is to bring together college teachers who are without appointments because of the depression and students who, owing to financial stringency, are unable to continue in existing institutions.

Instruction will be available in the classics, modern languages, English literature, art, philosophy, history, government, economics and sociology.

No degrees will be given, but Doctor Hill believes that when the personnel of his faculty becomes known and the methods of the college explained, other institutions will accept its credits. He plans to have one full-time professor to every six students.

No time will be devoted to athletics and no money spent in this direction. There will, in fact, be no athletics other than such as the students improvise for themselves.

Cost About $250 a Year.

The total cost to each student will be $250 annually, which will cover tuition, board, lodging and laundry. Students will not be permitted to work for wages when not engaged in classroom or study, which appears to be an unnecessary rule, if the appearance of Port Royal is any indication of the opportunity to work, but they must care for their own rooms and take turns in waiting on tables and washing dishes.

Professors in the college, Doctor Hill went on to explain, will get nothing in return for their services except their board, which the $250 paid by each student will care for. Classrooms and dormitories will be in old houses and halls in Port Royal, long out of use, which have been leased by their owners at fees that are said to be below the deadline of moderation.

Just how Doctor Hill was led to select Port Royal has not been revealed, but "the eternal fitness of things" may have been a factor. The depression hit the town long before the depression college was thought of.

Once Important Port.

Nestling close to the turbid waters of the Rappahannock in a setting of ancient, spreading trees, Port Royal still retains something of the grace and elegance, and all of the leisurely atmosphere of early Colonial days, when it was a place of importance and a busy port.

Just across the Rappahannock and within sight is a crumbling pile, overgrown with rambling vines, all that is left of the house in which President James Monroe was born, and but a little way farther is the site of Washington's birthplace.

According to tradition, Port Royal was once thought of as the permanent site of the capital of the United States and came within two votes of being selected.

But as the years went by things happened to Port Royal. Railroads took away its river trade and presently a modern highway, cut through a mile to the west, left it in virtual isolation.

The president of the new institution (Doctor Hill calls it Port Royal college, but the natives speak of it as Depression or Hard Times college) is a graduate of Dartmouth and formerly was instructor of economics at Springfield college. He is a staff member of the Brookings institute.

Blind War Veteran Says His Dog Is Real Master

San Francisco.—A dog's life is something that can be full of purpose and accomplishment.

If you don't believe it, ask Reginald D. White, blind war veteran, and he will provide the proof in his dog, Wickie.

For two years, Wickie, trained by the Seeing Eye, has been the aid and companion of White.

"It is Wickie, really, who is the master," White said. "I do as he orders."

White insists that the dog has the intelligence of a man of forty-five and the curiosity of a child of six. Commands spoken to him in ordinary language meet instant response.

Students Inaugurate Safe Driving Campaign

Hanover, N. H.—Automobile accidents in which many students were injured last year over football game week-ends has caused Palaeoptus, student-governing body at Dartmouth, to inaugurate a safety drive to promote safe driving.

Windshield stickers, bearing the caption "Dartmouth College Safety Drive," have been issued. On the back of the stickers each driver will sign the following pledge: "I will drive to promote safety and the welfare and good name of the college."

CALEB
Joshua 14:6-14

6. Then the children of Judah drew nigh unto Joshua in Gilgal; and Caleb the son of Jephunneh the Kenizite said unto him, Thou knowest the thing that Jehovah spake unto Moses the man of God concerning me and concerning thee in Kadeshbarnea.

7. Forty years old was I when Moses the servant of Jehovah sent me from Dadesbarnew to spy out the land; and I brought him word again as it was in my heart.

8. Nevertheless my brethren that went up with me made the heart of the people melt; but I wholly followed Jehovah my God.

9. And Moses sware on that day saying, Surely the land whereon thy foot hath trodden shall be an inheritance to thee and to thy children for ever, because thou hast wholly followed Jehovah my God.

10. And now, behold, Jehovah hath kept me alive, as he spake, these forty and five years, from the time that Jehovah spake this word unto Moses, while Israel walked in the wilderness: and lo, I am this day fourscore and five years old.

11. As yet I am as strong this day as I was in the day that Moses sent me: as my strength was then, even so is my strength now, for war, and to go out and to come in.

12. Now, therefore, give me this hill-country, whereof Jehovah spake in that day; for thou hearest in that day how the Anakim were there, and cities great and fortified; it may be that Jehovah will be with me, and I shall drive them out, as Jehovah spake.

13. And Joshua blessed him; and he gave Hebron unto Caleb the son of Jephunneh for an inheritance.

14. Therefore Hebron became the inheritance of Caleb the son of Jephunneh the Kenizite unto this day; because that he wholly followed Jehovah the God of Israel.

Golden Text: Blessed is the man that maketh Jehovah his trust.
—Ps. 40:4.

Time: The reports of the twelve spies, B. C. 1497. Assignment of Hebron to Caleb B. C. 1454. (Becher.)

Place: Kadesh-Barnea, Gilgal.

Introduction.

After spending a year at Sinai immediately after leaving Egypt, the Hebrew host journeyed northward until they reached Kadesh-Barnea, near the southern border of Palestine and within one miles of Jerusalem. From Kadesh-Barnea the twelve spies were sent into Canaan to obtain accurate data concerning the country and its inhabitants. They spent forty days traversing the land full length. On their return they reported unanimously upon the vast resources of the country and the strength of the people, among whom were five warlike tribes and the sons of Anak the giant; but the immediate invasion of Canaan was opposed by ten and favored by the immortal two, Caleb and Joshua. "A shiver of dread shot through the Hebrew multitudes who cried and complained, yearned for Egypt, and wanted to kill their leaders. But God spoke, penalty was pronounced, the faithless spies fell by plague, the people mourned their blundering sin, and in presumption suffered defeat only to fall back into the wilderness for 38 more years of wandering."

Conquest of Canaan.

The invasion of Canaan by Joshua as recounted in our lesson for last Sunday, was followed by the triumph of Israel. After the siege and fall of Jericho and Ai, the united kings of the South were met at Beth-horon and exterminated, the confederacy of the North met an equal fate near the Waters of Merom; and after a war of about seven years Joshua was conqueror of Canaan, although the Canaanites were left here and there in the land. The various tribes were then allotted their portions of the territory. Upon his special request and in recognition of his fidelity, Caleb was awarded the yet unconquered hill country of Hebron and with its historic association as the home of Abraham.

Caleb's Request.

Caleb is celebrating his 80th birthday, and he is doing it with the longest speech of his life so far as the records go. He comes before his leader and friends with a specific request. He wants an exception made in his case in the allotment of land. With the enthusiasm of reflecting age, he recalls the promise that God made through Moses to Joshua and to him that day 45 years ago that the land on which his feet should be his inheritance, and his children's forever; he reviews the evidence of God's continued favor upon him as witnessed by his advanced but very vigorous years; he insists upon his fitness for war, even as he was when together they began their exploration of Canaan. With this preliminary background, he asks Joshua to give him Hebron for his inheritance, and promises with the help of the Lord to keep it clear of infesting Anakim. It is particularly worthy of notice that Caleb was really asking for a chance to perform an important service to the nation by becoming responsible for a hazardous undertaking.

Caleb and Joshua.

The Book says Joshua blessed Caleb when he had finished his speech. Fine old Joshua! Some one should do justice to the Joshua-Caleb friendship one of these days. Joshua listened with warming heart to the review of experiences that he had shared with his lifelong comrade. He remembered particularly Moses' solemn oath on that day on which the people rejected his and Caleb's report, Num. 13, and immediately ratified Moses' promise by designating Hebron as Caleb's inheritance. Thus Caleb came into possession of the famous territory 19 miles from Jerusalem and 13 miles from Bethlehem, Hebron, the seat of Machpelah, sacred forever because of association with Abraham and Sarah, Isaac and Rebekah and Jacob and Leah, and later to be distinguished as the royal residence of David, as the place where he was anointed king over all Israel.

The Study of Biography.

The beauty of the study of biography lies in the fact that most any life contains qualities that will inspire to higher living or warn against a wasted life. It is therefore both pleasurable and profitable to contemplate some Caleb qualities. Courage is certainly outstanding in his career; courage to accept appointment as scout, courage to face facts, courage to trust God against great odds, courage to champion his convictions against a bitterly hostile assembly to wait for his opportunity to keep resolute in the hour of defeat, courage to wait for his opportunity, courage to request a difficult task even in old age. Courage, as the name would indicate, is a heart quality; it cannot be put on it springs from within. Another quality, of which courage is one expression, is loyalty. Caleb was loyal to his superiors in authority, carefully and efficiently executing every commission given him; he was loyal to his God, following him scrupulously at every turn in his life. Hear his own words: "I wholly followed the Lord my God." (Joshua 14:8.) Hear Jehovah's testimony, "He hath wholly followed the Lord." (Deut. 1:36.) "My servant Caleb hath followed me fully." (Num. 14:24.)

Caleb an Inspiring Example.

We are not told much about Caleb, but what we are told is enough to give him a secure place among Bible immortals, and make him forever an inspiration to the world. For he was that glorious sight—a gallant and indomitable old man, 85 years of age, fighting to the last in the most magnificent of causes. We rejoice when a young man does heroic deeds, but we grieve deeply when he dies in the midst of them. Such a life is like a splendid statue, left incomplete. But when an old man carries through a long life consistently brave, and ends it at last as noble as when he started, we have the satisfaction of the finished statue, with no sense of vague regret but with a feeling of superb triumph. Such a life was Caleb's, bravely begun, bravely ended youth and old age one inspiring whole.

Check vs. Cash

If a check is lost, mislaid or stolen, its payment can be promptly stopped at the bank on which it has been drawn; whereas, if currency goes astray or falls into improper hands, there is no method of "stopping payment".

This is one of the most potent arguments in favor of a checking account and is so obvious that we should hesitate to mention it were it not for the fact that the obvious is frequently lost sight of.

Andorra Self Governed

but Not Real Republic Andorra is not exactly a republic because it is compelled to pay annual dues to the government of France and the Spanish bishop of Urgel. The little country is an autonomous, semi-independent state.
It consists of six parishes in the diocese of the Spanish bishop of Urgel. It is in the valleys of the Pyrenees between France and Spain. Within its 191 square miles of territory, 5,000 people live, one-fifth of them in the capital city, Andorra. The altitude of the country varies from about 6,000 feet to about 10,000 feet. The chief occupation is the cultivation of tobacco.
The story is told that Charlemagne rewarded the country for its help during his campaigns against the Moors by declaring it independent. In those days, similar independence was enjoyed by a number of groups in the Pyrenees.
Andorra is self-governed. France and the Spanish bishop appoint two civil judges to work together. Catalan is the language spoken. French and Spanish currency are both in use. French influence dominates the state.

Man's Small Wants

"Man wants but little here below." In a very real sense this declaration of the poet is true. Every literary worker and every scholar tries to have a library close at hand. He gathers many books, which seem to him to be virtually indispensable to the prosecution of his professional work. And yet the mainstay of such students consists of a few books. When we come to sift our wants, we find that they center on very few things.
Our discontent and dissatisfaction come largely from our imagination.
We imagine that we have many obstacles and difficulties which have no existence in reality. Could we realize how little we absolutely need, and do, in fact, voluntarily get along with, we should save ourselves a vast amount of harmful worry.—Exchange.

Wrong Ideas

A lot of our common ideas are wrong. It is quite true that iron is really white, and only turns black on exposure to the air.
In the same way, gold doesn't glitter till it's polished; diamonds have no sparkle until they have been cut; and opals when first found in their natural clay setting are so soft that they can be picked with the fingernail.
But one of the commonest fallacies of this sort is to describe the pig as a dirty animal. In their natural mode of life pigs are very clean, finding food by rummaging in woodland. But their feet are so formed for digging that when they are kept in a confined space they cut up the earth and churn it into mud.—Exchange.

Lytleton Ghost Story

Ghost-story lovers may be interested by an incident of which the details are claimed to be perfectly authentic.
On the night of November 25,
1779, the second Lord Lytleton dreamed that a bird flew into his room, changed to a woman, and bade him prepare for death within three days.
He told the dream to his family at breakfast next morning, but made light of it, being to all appearances in excellent health.
He joked about it again just before going to bed, a few minutes before midnight on the third day.
While he was undressing he suddenly fell dead.—London Times.

BALL GAMES

ners started running bases in the wrong direction. J. M. Posey came to bat with a brassie and made a biddle; the score keeper had to go home to milk and caught the next freight out. Jim Robinson had Red drive in with the butcher wagon and stole all the base balls and the game was called on account of rain with the sun shining, and it was 110 in the shade. But really we don't know whether there was a ball game or not. In fact we were not even there, because we were in the mountains with Luther Beck and Uncle Charley Mosley cat-fishing with hog liver, and never caught but one tom cat and he was a spotted one.

J. M. Posey "Shoots Another 30." J. M. Posey got hot as a fire cracker Tuesday afternoon and thod his own low score for the Hereford golf course. With a par on one, he shot a four on two for a birdie, whammed a three on three for an eagle, sang a long put on four for a three for another birdie, pitched out on five for another birdie 2, chipped out of the trap on six for another birdie 2, parred seven, missed a short put for an easy birdie on eight, and parred nine. On the first six holes Posey was just six under and if that is not shooting golf we don't want a conf. Posey had three other lars that say this is the honest truth, Doug Fox, John Patton, and Harry Rice, are the boys and they all say as long as it doesn't cost anything, they saw him shoot it.

Monday afternoon the Lions slipped across the track with their old scratchers all sharpened up, and clawed their way to a win over the Midgets, to go into a tie for second place in the City League, and what a battle this old ball game was—had to go two extra frames before the winner could be decided, and by that time it was dark, believe it or not, but it was just 8:25 across-the-track-time when the game ended.

The Midgets scored one run in the first when P. Baker tripled and scored on an error by short. The Lions drew first blood in the second when they made four tallies with three licks and two errors, and in the fifth Speegle was safe on an error. Baker walked Witherspoon was hit by Pitch, with the bases full and no one out. Curt-singer walked up and knocked the cover off the old apple for three bases. Boy, oh boy, this baby can hit a base ball. With two more singles by Seed and Wombie, the kids wound up with five runs to take a two-run lead, but in the same inning those fighting sons-of-buns came back and made three runs taking the lead again. Once more, in the sixth, Curt-singer socked the old apple for a double, cleaning the bases and putting the kids ahead one run. In the seventh the kids tallied again, but in the same inning the Lions, two runs behind, came back and tied the score. A home run by Sowell, a double by Hopkins and Allison netted two runs, and the old game went into extra innings. No scores in the eighth. Then it was dark, but they hung the moon out and we went on with the battle. Speegle hit the first one into right field and Doc rushed to grab it, but it wasn't there, and it went for a home run. That put the kids one run ahead again. Close came up first for the Lions, singled, Carroll popped one to second and Potos saw something in the dark and grabbed it, and it was the ball, but Buddy rushed over trying to locate the ball and it was so dark that he didn't see Dennis (imagine that) and they had a headon the the ball was dropped. Sowell flew out to catcher; someone juggled Hop's lick and the bases were loaded. Allison struck out and that was a relief, because Bob is always dangerous—he hits 'em hard and far, but it was just too dark to see.

Then it did happen. Up steps this smart-alec Doc Withshire two men out, three men on, and one run behind in the last half that could possibly be played that day. Old Doc was still sick because he had let Speegle's ball get away. Here comes the wind-up; here comes the pitch, (remember we were really feeling good because we had Bob out), and about the time Baker turned this pitch loose the Lady in the Moon (wasn't any man there at all) turned a big long smile at Doc, one of those sweet beams reflecting from some fans bald head struck the plate about the time the ball did and Doc ruined the second ball game this year by dropping a sinker into right field to score two runs, and it was all over.

Didn't make any difference where it went as long as the ball was hit, no one could see it. Hopkins led the hitting for the Lions with four for five, P. Baker and Sowell three for five. P. Baker led the Midgets with two for three, and Speegle three for six. Allison struck out ten men, making a remarkable total for four games of 34 strike-outs. Speegle and Wombie did some of the nicest fielding of the season, both making two beautiful catches each.
