Walcott School Loses Gym Roof In High Winds

High winds which may have stemmed from a half-hearted tornado ripped the roof from a portion of the Walcott School Wednesday night and caused some other damage to the community located 25 miles west and seven miles north of Hereford.

Migrant Farm Worker Total Here Reduced

Late arrival of rains to the county has brought a marked decrease in the number of migrant workers in the county this spring, it was pointed out here this week.

Many Latin American and other migrant farm workers who usually find jobs here during the spring and summer have found no work for them, due to lack of rains which resulted in lack of field work.

The dry spring, coupled with ever-increasing mechanization of area farms, results in many workers by-passing Hereford in favor of other areas of the South west, officials said.

Mechanical means were used to thin some 90 percent of the sugar beets in the region, and the lack of rainfall made chemical and mechanical weed control sufficient for most other crops.

The local office of the Texas Employment Commission said Friday that "plenty of crews are available," however, although the number here at the present time is far less than usual for this time of year.

Last month, the T. E. C. office placed 1,000 farm workers, as compared to 2,500 in May, 1965, a spokesman said.

Officials at the Hereford Labor Camp pointed out that population of the camp at the present time is considerably less than 30 days ago, and much less than in most past years, although facilities have been rented to capacity for the upcoming vegetable harvests.

Witnesses said no actual tornado funnel was visible as winds destroyed the roof of the school's gym, but an ominous, low-hanging dark cloud moved over the school and nearby buildings as damage occurred.

ESTIMATE of damage to the school had not been made as of Saturday, but cost to repair the building was expected to be in the neighborhood of $20,000. Cliff Johnson, whose home is less than 300 yards from the school, witnessed the destruction and told a Brand reporter of the windstorm:

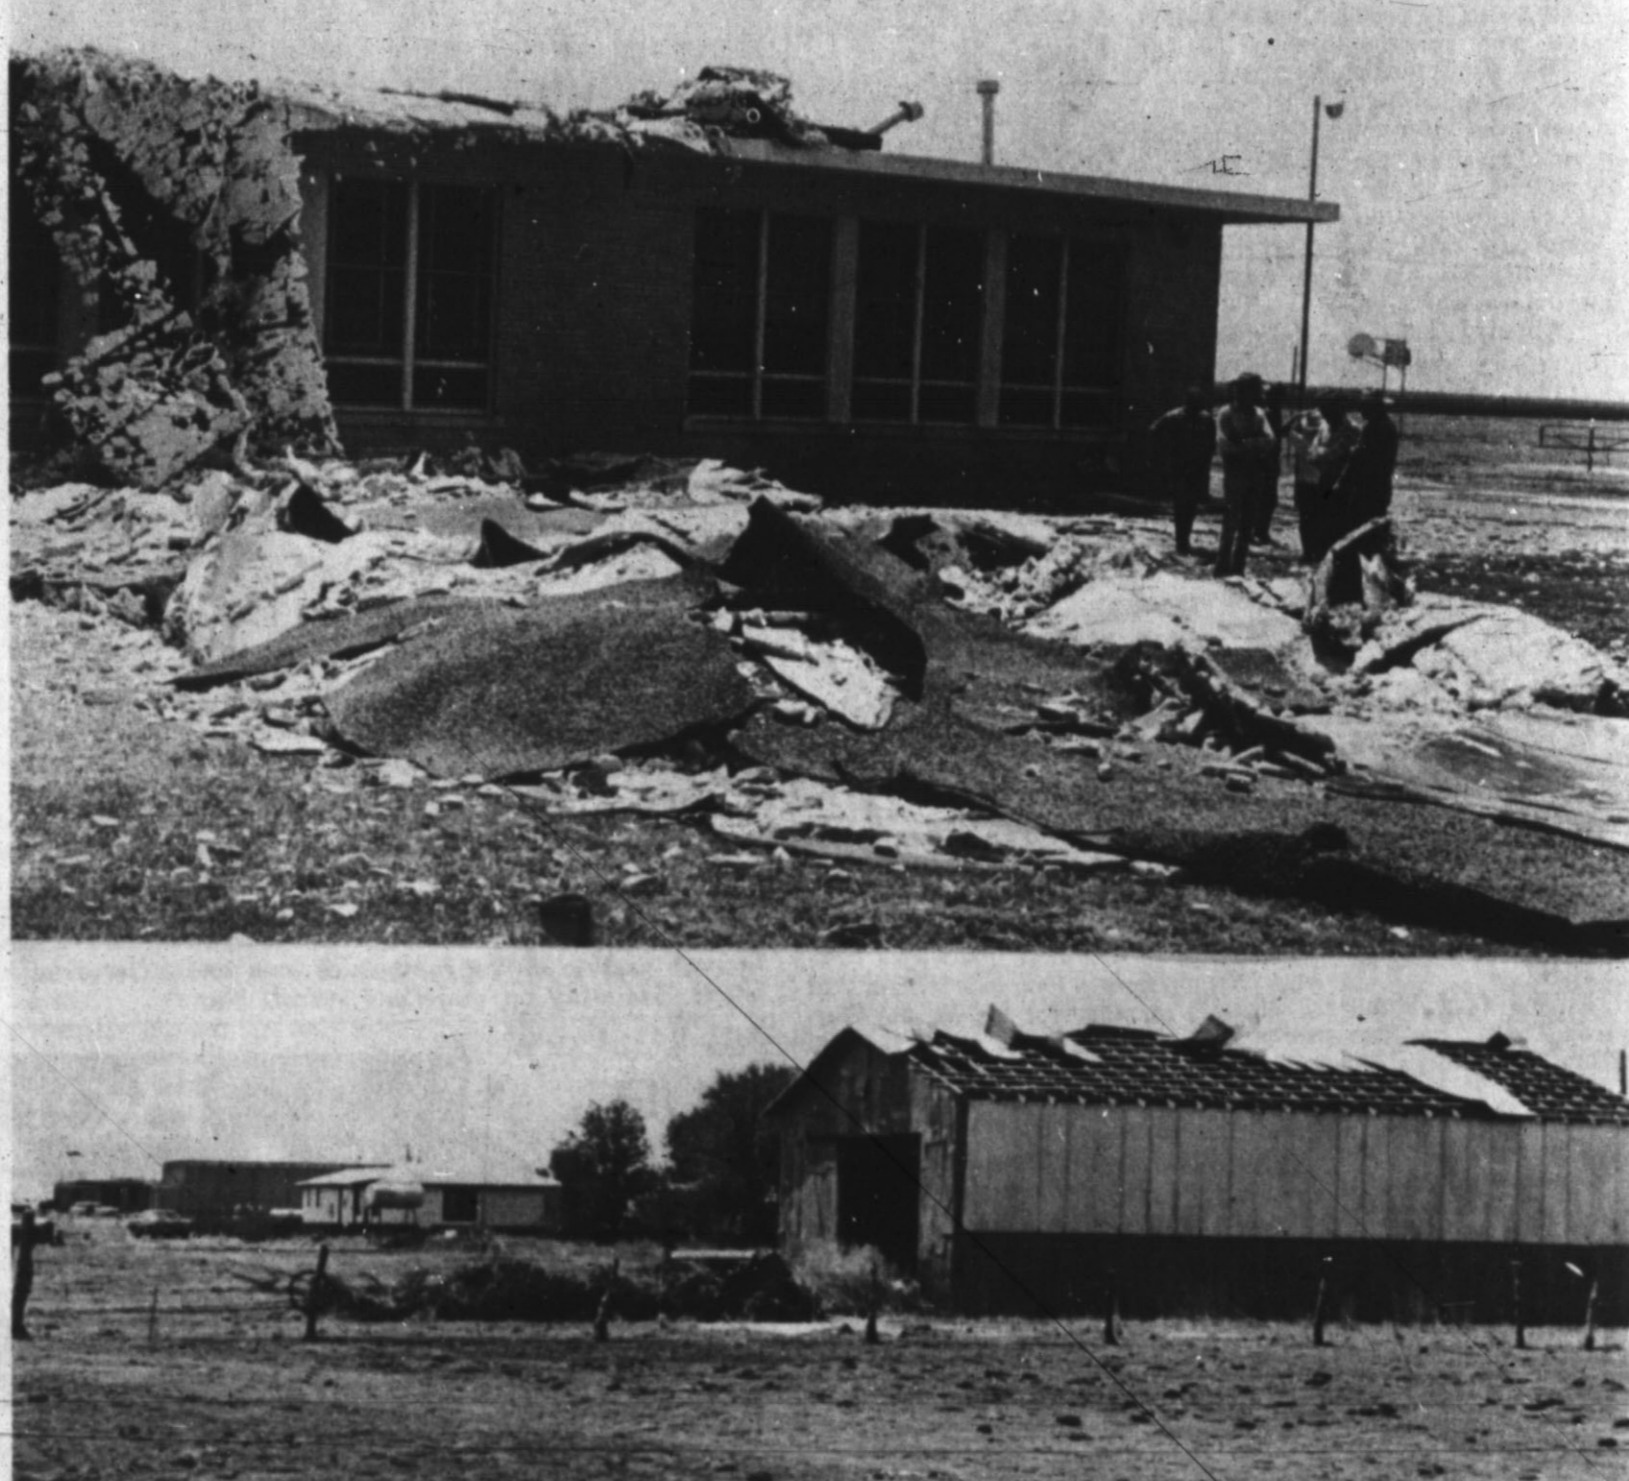

He said severe storms moved into the area about 7 p. m. Wednesday, accompanied by heavy rain, much lightning, and high winds.

"WE WERE watching this low cloud north of the house as it moved east, then it turned towards us and seemed to be coming real fast.

"I saw it blow the tin off part of the roof of my barn, then it took down a short wave radio antenna at the back of the house and took the roof off the school," said Johnson, who was standing on the front porch of his home as the storm passed over.

"I DON'T THINK it was a cyclone. It looked like the wind caught under the eaves of the school and lifted the roof up and scooted it over," Johnson said.

The flat roof, topped with asphalt and gravel reinforced with wire mesh, landed atop the classroom wing of the school.

WIND DAMAGE — Aftermath of a windstorm in the Walcott community, 25 miles west of Hereford, is shown in above photos. At top is the asphalt and gravel roof of the Walcott School gym after it was picked up and laid across the classroom portion of the building and adjoining grounds some 50 feet away. At bottom is wind-ripped barn, with the school building shown at bottom left. The house shown, belonging to Cliff Johnson, was virtually undamaged. (Staff Photos)

Voters Go For Wade And Martin

The small percentage of Deaf Smith County citizens who went to the polls Saturday elected former Hereford businessman Ernest Wade to replace incumbent C. B. (Berry) Miles as Justice of the Peace and favored Crawford Martin for Texas Attorney General.

Only 840 of the county's more than 3,800 qualified voters participated in the second primary, as compared to a total of 2,400 balloters in last month's initial Democratic Primary.

Group Studies Foundation For Local Industry

Members of the Industrial committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce agreed Thursday to continue their efforts towards drawing up a plan whereby an industrial foundation might be established here.

The committee, after hearing a description of the formation and operation of an industrial foundation at Brenham, said it would work towards a similar foundation here.

DESCRIBING the Brenham Industrial Foundation were committee members Dean House, Dale Young, and Melvin Jayroe, who recently went to Brenham for the purpose of studying the details of that foundation.

The Brenham foundation, it was pointed out, is accredited for curbing the decline of population in that city by being successful in attracting numerous industries to the city, which is located near Houston.

A similar non-profit industrial foundation has been discussed for several years in the Hereford area and the chamber industrial committee has the proposal listed as its prime objective of work this year.

The committee will continue to look into the possibilities for such a foundation for Hereford and is expected to prepare a detailed recommendation to the chamber board regarding the industrial foundation possibilities in a few months.

Wade was elected to the post held for the past ten years by Miles by a majority of 55 votes with a total of 447 for Wade and 392 for Miles.

IN THE ONLY statewide runoff, Martin was favored by a 533-258 voters' decision over Franklin Spears.

Early reports indicated Martin winning the majority on the state level, as had been anticipated by pollsters.

Martin carried all 11 boxes in Deaf Smith County, as well as the absentee poll.

BALLOTING for the justice of the peace was fairly close throughout the county with Miles carrying five of the smaller boxes and splitting four votes with Wade in another.

Wade, who will take office Jan. 1, 1967, has resided in Hereford since 1918. He operated a drycleaning business here for some 30 years and served for four years as a dispatcher in the sheriff's office.

Miles was appointed to the office in 1958 and had been elected twice since that time.

There is no Republican opponent for the office of JP in the general election, but the GOP will field a full slate of nominees for statewide offices, including that of attorney general.

In the November general election, contested races will be highlighted by senatorial and 18th Congressional District campaigns.

FORMER attorney general Waggoner Carr challenges Republican Senator John Tower in the statewide center-ring performance.

CHAMBER COMMITTEE PUSHES PLAN

Eye Weed Control District

A movement to establish a local weed control district appears to be gaining momentum as the agriculture committee of the chamber of commerce voted Thursday to seek public support for the proposal.

The action came after committee members heard formation and operation procedures outlined.

PASSED UNANIMOUSLY was a motion that the committee recommend to the directors of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce that the chamber, in cooperation with other agencies, distribute information and develop support for the formation of a weed control district in this area.

Consideration has been given to forming such a district here for quite some time, but apparent lack of interest had killed the proposal in the past.

However, it was pointed out, the problem of weed control is a constant one in the county and many farmers have taken a second look at the idea this year.

The Deaf Smith County Program Building Committee has recently renewed discussion of the matter but has taken no official action.

ASKED to inform the committee concerning the provisions for weed control districts, county Agent Juston McBride presented the committee with reprints from an article entitled "An Effective Tool for Weed Regulation," originally published in 1961 in "Texas Agricultural Progress."

Following is a summary of the article. Authorized in the Texas Legislature in 1955, districts for control of noxious weeds may vary in size from 2,000 acres up to five counties.

STEPS REQUIRED for setting up such a district include a petition requesting the formation of a district signed by 50 landowners in the area proposed for the district; presentation of the petition to the county commission; a public hearing called by the hearing to determine if the district would be of public benefit; and, if the commission so orders, an election to determine the fate of the proposal.

A majority approval of landowners voting in such an election would be sufficient to establish a weed control district.

DIRECTORS of the district would be selected from various areas in the district, and would have legal authority to enforce weed control regulations and collect up to three cents per acre tax to finance weed district operations.

By 1961, weed control districts were operating in Hale, Floyd, and Swisher counties. In each district, the board of directors employs a weed district supervisor, purchases weed control equipment for applying herbicide.

ABSENTEE VOTING LIGHT

Describe Road Route Plans For County Bond Election

By WAIN MILLER
News Editor

Only 15 absentee votes had been cast through Friday for this week's bond election to decide the fate of a proposed $450,000 paving program for the county.

Deadline for absentee balloting comes Tuesday for the county tax bond election scheduled Saturday.

ALTHOUGH BALLOTING at the absentee poll in the county clerk's office shows a slow count thus far, observers predict a moderate turnout in the election which proposes issuance of bonds to construct some 30 miles of Farm-to-Market pavement.

Meanwhile, the problem of where to locate one of the four proposed paving projects, appears to be heading towards solution.

PAVING WOULD be completed in each of the county's four precincts if voters give a "yes" majority at Saturday's election.

But to date the exact route of a proposed project in precinct one remains to be determined.

Precinct one commissioner Earl Holt told the Brand Saturday that a committee of farmers who met with the commission recently appears to be making headway towards obtaining easements for the required 100-foot right-of-way on which an FM road could be constructed.

Holt said residents of an area located north of U. S. Hwy. 60 between Dawn and Hereford had told him they believed they would be able to obtain promise of easements for paving in the area.

"I THINK if we get the easements, we will be able to put some paving in that area," Holt said, regarding plans for utilizing funds which would come from the bond issue.

The final decision regarding where to locate paving resulting from the bond election had been in question due to difficulty in locating a right-of-way for the road in the area to which Holt referred.

Farmers from the area met with the county commission on May 23 to request that the commission allow them to see if they could obtain such a right-of-way before the commission made a final decision on the matter, and the commission advised the group to see what they could do along this line.

REGARDING PLANS for paving in Precinct One, Holt also emphasized, however, that the alternate proposal, to pave a road from the east edge of the city south to U. S. Highway 365 "is not being overlooked."

He explained that to pave that road in compliance with state FM specifications would prove

Post Office Now In New Location

Hereford Post Office moved Saturday to its temporary location — for a year — at 13 Main St. to clear the way for remodeling and expansion of the federal building at Fourth and Main.

Although doors were closed for a brief spell during the move, operation of the Post Office will be back to normal Monday morning, Postmaster Nolan Grady said.

THE TEMPORARY headquarters, formerly the J. C. Penny Co. building, will be used by the post office for about a year while the Post Office building receives a $218,132 interior remodeling and major expansion.

Concerning the move, it was pointed out that all services and

Post Office business hours will remain the same, and that the building will be open 24 hours daily to serve boxholders.

Woman Injured In City Mishap

A 26-year-old Hereford woman, Mrs. Aralia Mora, was injured in a car-pickup collision at Second and Roosevelt about 2 p. m. Saturday.

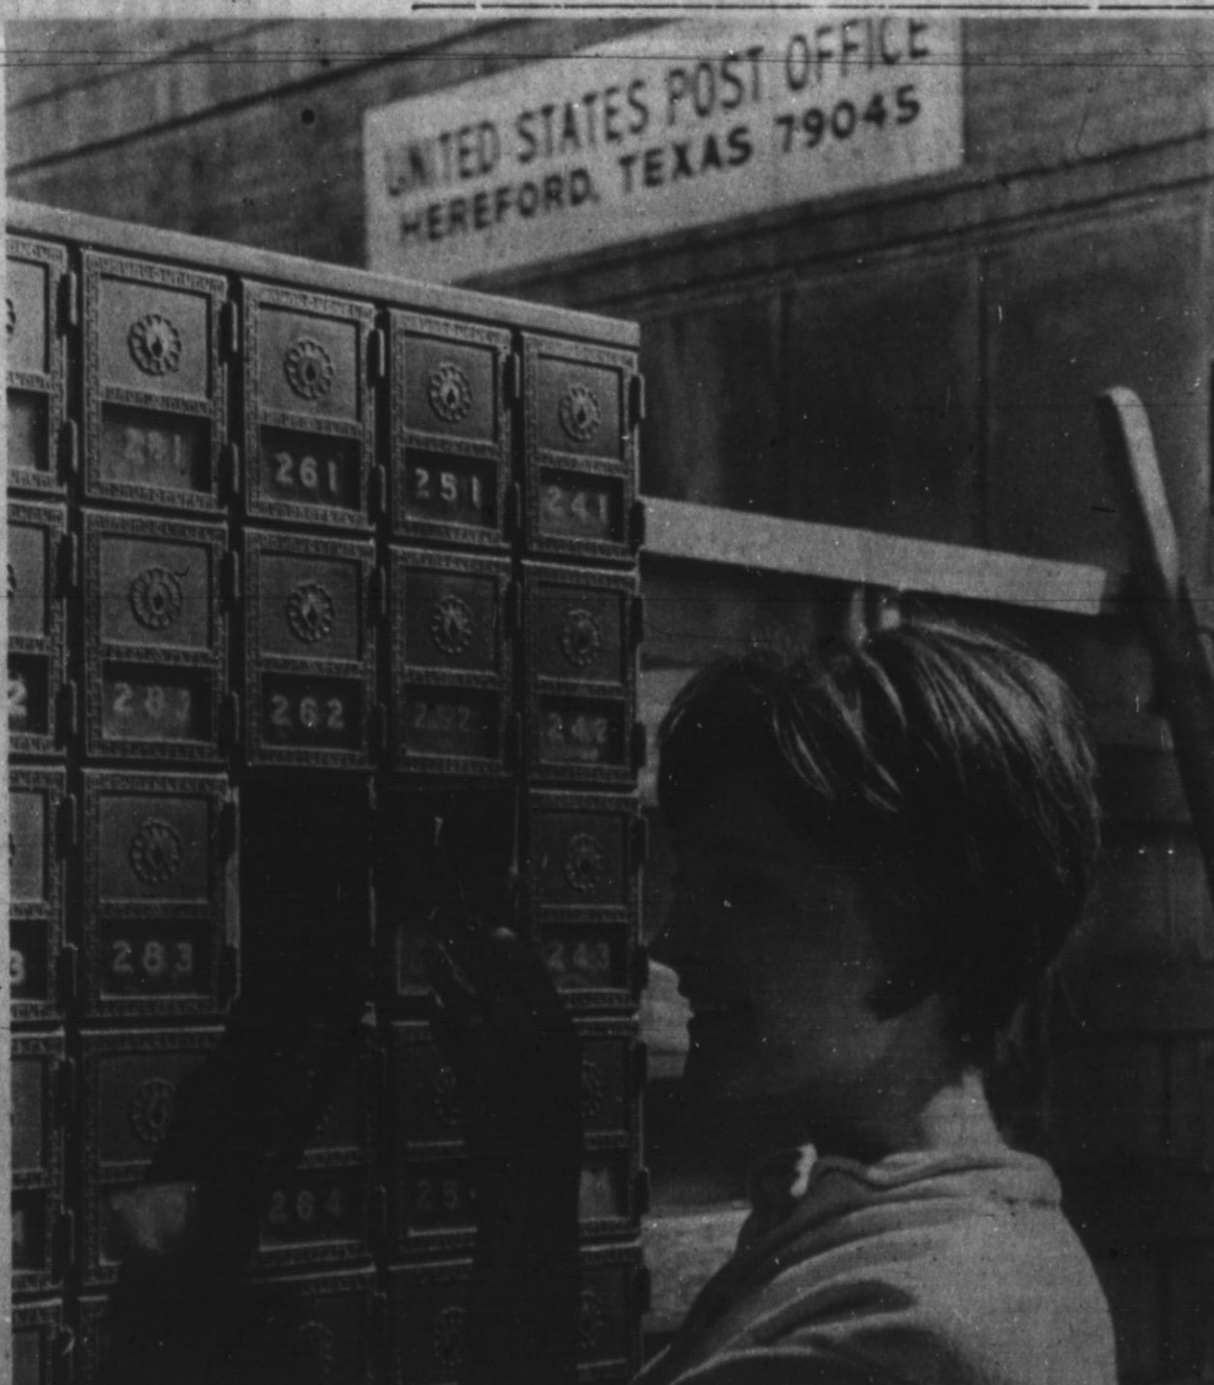

Taken to Deaf Smith County Hospital by a Gililand Funeral Home ambulance, Mrs. Mora was treated for bruises and abrasions after she had been thrown from the pickup she was driving when it collided with an auto driven by David McDonald of 1601 Blevins.

Police said the mishap occurred when the pickup driven by Mrs. Mora failed to stop at a yield right-of-way sign at the intersection.

Her two sons, Tom, 12 and Richard, 7, were also checked at the hospital following the mishap.

Investigators said both vehicles involved were demolished. The pickup spun around twice and came to rest straddling a curb after being hit in the left side by the auto.

Mrs. Mora was thrown out of the window of the pickup, witnesses said.

This equipment and its operators are available to the landowners at no additional cost.

Herbicides are made available to farmers at reduced prices, with the only cost to farmers for weed control on their farm through the district coming in the price paid for the chemicals, plus the weed control district tax of three cents per acre or less.

IN ADDITION, weed control districts contract with railroads and the state highway department to control weeds on their respective right-of-ways.

The district could also enforce a rigid inspection program re-undertaken by the General Services Administration, will carry out the Post Office Department's objective of more efficient postal service, better working conditions, and a pleasant atmosphere for the public," said Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien in a statement released Saturday.

The remodeling and improvement contract was awarded to Everett Mitchell Construction Co. of Sherman on May 3 by the G. S. A.

"President Johnson has asked us to exercise frugality in conducting our governmental operations, and we are doing so. New construction, therefore, is being authorized only when it is demonstrated that the need is urgent and no other alternative is available," he added.

The project at Hereford is part of the Department's program to modernize and improve existing government-owned facilities, and General Services Administration will be reimbursed from the Post Office Department's appropriated funds.

IN THAT race, incumbent Walter Rogers of Pampa meets GOP hopeful Bob Price, also of Pampa.

some 50 feet from the edge of the gym, and spilled over onto the school playground.

Virtually the entire roof of the sizeable gym was removed. (See photos at right.)

Impact of the gym roof on the classroom portion of the building damaged the roof on that wing.

Otherwise, damages from the storm were relatively light.

TWO WINDOWS of the school were broken, apparently by vacuum action from the winds and a metal pole near the school was unexplainably bent.

At Johnson's house, a small pump house was blown off its foundation with sufficient force to rupture water pipes.

DEBRIS FROM the tin roof of the barn was scattered along a fairly straight line to the southeast for almost half a mile.

The line of thunderstorms which created the winds at Walcott dumped varying amounts of rainfall throughout the county, along with some small hail.

HEAVY WINDS were reported all along the line of storms, but no sizeable wind damage was reported elsewhere.

At Walcott, rainfall measured an inch, but some three miles west, the total from showers Wednesday night was 1.55.

In Hereford, Wednesday night storms dropped .72 inch of rainfall, to bring the year's total moisture to 3.34 at radio station KPAN.

At the Carl Wimberly farm near Dawn, the measurement from Wednesday's rain was also .72.

Reports indicated most of the county received at least a quarter-inch downpour.

ST. LOUIS — The Progressive National Baptist Convention, a Negro body, charged at a meeting here that more Negro than white soldiers were being sent to fight in Viet Nam.

"A discriminatory policy," the denominational board said in a resolution.

Buying Habits Discussed On Club's Program

Shopping policies to assure economy in buying, were discussed on the program of Dawn Home Demonstration Club Friday afternoon at Mrs. H. D. Fowler's home. Importance of checking weight and other information on packages was stressed.

The entire group participated in a skit titled "Will the Real Economy-Size Package Please Stand?"

A proposed community project was discussed during a business session. Club members tentatively planned a recreation program for youth of the community.

The next club meeting will be with Mrs. J. B. Caraway on June 17, when the program will be on highway safety.

Mrs. Ray Stewart won the prize in the game which preceded the program Friday. Miss Diane Golden was a guest and seven members were present.

extremely costly, due to the fact that the state recommends expenditure of some $50,000 on one bridge alone for the road.

IN RECENT discussion, commissioners have pointed out that a useable crossing for the Tierra Blanca Creek could be built at a fraction of the cost and commented that the county would be able "to get more paving for the dollar" to handle this project through doing the work itself.

Holt said that he felt the county could probably improve the latter road "to everybody's satisfaction" from the precinct's regular operating fund, instead of constructing an FM road meeting all the specifications of the state.

This approach was used last year to pave two miles of road just south of Hereford in precincts one and two.

"I think the county as a whole will see more and more of this for short roads with heavy traffic which would probably not be paved by the state," Holt said.

DEVIL'S WEAPON

LONDON — The devil's latest weapon for disarming the Church may be the Church's current preoccupation with meetings and conferences, suggests an article in the Church of England's "Essex Churchman."

"Once Christians were tortured, burnt and crucified; but very often the more the Church was persecuted the stronger it grew. The enemy's latest weapon is much more effective. Don't destroy Christians but isolate them.

"Keep them so busy talking to each other that they have no time to speak to the unbelieving world outside. The keener the Christian, the more he or she should be loaded with committees.

"If you cannot burn them with fire, then burden them with meetings, says the devil."

Riots Described At Kiwanis Club

Members of the Kiwanis Club were presented a film strip Thursday in their regular meeting showing the Communist plot in the University of California riots in 1964.

THE STRIP pointed out numerous non-student persons who spurred the students into rioting on the campus, who were admitted Communists.

San Francisco is the west coast headquarters for the Communist party in the United States, making the University of California easy prey at Berkeley.

The program pointed out how a number of students had formed clubs who sympathized with the Viet Cong, many of them have sent money and blood to those soldiers.

THESE RIOTS were called, by the Communists, the Salami method of taking over.

Small demands are made, one at a time, slowly cutting away at the total power of a group — such as the administration of the University of California.

The first riots started after the administration prohibited the collecting of money on state property.

Students protested forcing the administration to give in to their demands.

SLOWLY, BUT slowly the students completely took over the campus — taking all student activities out of the hands of the administration.

Taxpayers' money was used in a number of occasions to build rostrums for pro Communists to speak to a group of students on state property.

Faculty members took the side of the students and only three dissenting votes were cast when the question came up whether or not the students should be arrested and punished for their rioting.

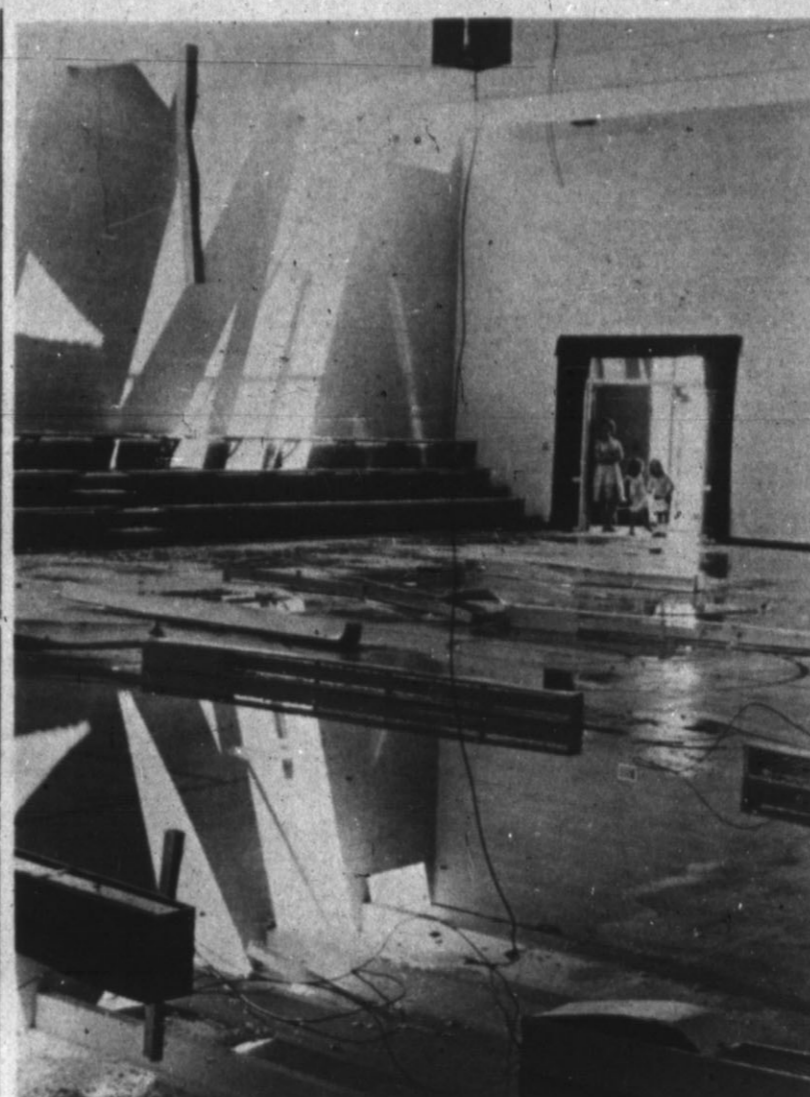

MANY OF THE faculty members were known to have had association with Communist-front organizations.

A number of the students were also members of the Communist-front organizations.

One of the students, who was a known Communist, wore a Viet Cong uniform during the demonstrations.

The Communists did not stop with the University of California, but have begun organizing in colleges all over the country, and recently have started a stepped-up campaign to organize clubs in high schools.

Kansas' state song, "Home On The Range," speaks of deer and antelope, yet the state is importing antelope and only this year had enough deer to permit hunting.

DAMAGED GYM — Florescent light fixtures were more prevalent on the floor than in the ceiling following a windsform at the Walcott School Wednesday night. Winds which ripped off the roof of the gymnasium also tore down the majority of the light fixtures on the ceiling, although leaving intact most of the acoustical tile ceiling. Shadows on wall at upper left are from sun shining through portion of the roof which was totally removed by winds. See story on page one. (Staff Photo)

Also introduced was Mrs. J. H. Sears, chairman of the Deaf Smith County Survey Committee.

A. J. Schroeter was master of ceremonies for the dedication at the marker site on the present Hereford High School campus. Mrs. Alex Thompson, a graduate of the college with the class of 1908, was the speaker and the invocation was by the Rev. Eugene Naugle.

Former students of the college, which was in operation here from 1903 to 1912, were among the crowd attending the dedication.

The Texas Historical Marker, fourth to be erected in this county, is based on stone taken from the college building, which was later used as the local high school building from 1915 to 1926.

Hereford Man Faces Charge On Car Theft

A 46-year-old Hereford man was arrested in Amarillo Saturday morning on a charge of auto theft after being located in a station wagon taken from Warren Bros. Motor Co. here Thursday afternoon.

Arrested on the charge was William N. Mowery, 46, of 208 Avenue I.

Hereford police said a man took the car "on a test drive" from the auto dealer Thursday afternoon and failed to return with the 1964 model stationwagon in which Mowery was found Saturday.

Texas Golf Tour Nearly Finished--Make-Up Left

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Associated Press Sports Writer

The golf tour has been finished in Texas except for a makeup — the Houston tournament will be played off in November because it had to be cancelled when they tried in May. The weather was to blame.

Houston was the only tournament in which Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus planned to play in Texas.

MUCH WAS made of the fact that Palmer and Nicklaus never had better than ever although having two rounds rained out and bad weather on the rounds that were played.

And the Texas Open, which not only didn't have Palmer and Nicklaus but had the biggest collection of comparative unknowns and lesser lights in its attendance yet.

What Houston would have done with Nicklaus and Palmer in the field never will be known but Houston has always done alright anyway.

WHEN Nicklaus passed up Colonial at Fort Worth because he just didn't want to play (they say he doesn't think he can score well there) and Palmer took out when he hurt his back playing at New Orleans, dire things were predicted for the fine tournament that was going on for the 20th time at Fort Worth.

Know what happened? Colonial drew its largest attendance in history and on its final day packed in 25,000 which was the largest for one day it ever drew by about 6,000. The previous record was in the third round when 19,000 turned out.

Consider the fact that of the top four finishers only one could be considered a "name" golfer — Tony Lema. Bruce Devlin of Australia won it, comparative newcomer Bob Sikes was second and a seldom winner, Al Geiberger, tied Lema for third place.

ALSO, THE weather was so hot and the humidity so punishing that Devlin staggered in with a five-over-par 75 and won the thing by a stroke. The crowd didn't give the uncomfortable conditions a thought.

Which all leads up to the conclusion that Palmer and Nicklaus aren't necessary to a successful golf tournament. The PGA has been trying to convince the sponsors of this but there had to be a real test of the thing before they would consider it.

THE TEST came in Texas where there has probably been more griping about the name players skipping tournaments than anywhere else.

But other tournaments over the nation have also demonstrated this fact. Consider the Azalea Open at Wilmington, N. C. It is held the same week as the Tournament of Champions and can't get any of the big shots since the tournament champions of the year are committed to Las Vegas.

Yet the Azalea did all right, because it is the smallest in purse of the tournaments.

ALL THEY had to raise there was $22,800. They didn't need a big purse in an effort to attract the stars since they couldn't get them anyway.

San Diego and Tucson didn't have Palmer and Nicklaus but were successful.

It is said that the main reason the big names skip so many tournaments is the fact that golf pays so much money a fellow can compete in a half-dozen and make all the money he needs for the year.

THIS undoubtedly is true. There are 41 tournaments this year.

The minimum has to be $20,000 but none are that small. They average $75,000 per tournament. There are 23 that pay at least $100,000.

Which means the big names will go on missing tournaments but it won't matter. The tournaments would like to have them all right but they can do without them.

Apparently there won't be any big falloff at the gate and their presence would be valuable only for publicity purposes and to make the sponsors think they were more important.

Local 4-H Club Members Leave For Contests

Eight Deaf Smith County 4-H Club members — five girls and three boys — compete this week in the Texas 4-H Round-Up at College Station.

The 4-H'ers, winners of district method demonstration contests, will leave for College Station at 10 a. m. Monday and will return Friday.

DRAMATIZED THE PROBLEM

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio — Glenn R. Spellman, 22, pulled his car into a service station to have the automobile's brakes worked on. But he was a little late.

The brakes failed completely and the car collided with tool cabinets in the station's lubrication room.

Senator Offers Rebuttal Facts On Draft Charge

Senator John Tower, a member of the Armed Services Committee, made a statement Wednesday in rebuttal of allegations that Texas does not contribute its share to the armed services. The charge was made by a group of House members.

"The totally false allegation by a small group of House members that Texas is not contributing its fair share of young men to the nation's defense is incorrect. It is most unfortunate that the utilization of year-old statistics has led — quite unintentionally I'm sure — to the casting of aspersions on the patriotism and dedication of Texans in a time of war.

"THE FACTS of the matter are that draft calls from the several states are determined by law based on the number of 1-A men available and on the number of men from each state already on active duty in the Armed Services. Naturally, if a man has enlisted and is already serving, he is no longer in the 1-A draft-eligible pool.

"The further fact of the matter is that in the comparison of Texas with Michigan, which the House members used, they neglected to mention that today 9.7 percent of American active and reserve servicemen are Texans; whereas only 8.8 percent are from Michigan. Thus, according to Selective Service national officials, Michigan has more men remaining available for 1-A status and has, quite correctly, a larger number drafted.

"Texas is providing the nation today some 300,000 military personnel and Michigan some 270,000 — figures that are wholly consistent with the population difference of the states.

"Texans always have been quick to volunteer to serve their nation. During the 40 days I have spent in Southeast Asia in recent months as a member of the Armed Services Committee, I have seen hundreds of Texans among the officers and men fighting there. They are doing their part — be they volunteers or draftees. Every other American man I saw, from every other state, was doing his part, too."

EARN'S AWARD — Benny Cooper of Hereford has won a tape recorder and a radio for exceeding his sales quota during the S.I.C. Insurance Group's President's Cup Sales Contest, according to W. D. By MELVIN YOUNG

Plans are now being formulated for a big patriotic type 4th of July program, to culminate with the ringing of bells all over the city. Plans now call for "a flag for every home" to be flown on the 4th, plus a 1 hour program of music and excerpts from some of the more famous speeches of famous patriots.

A group of Hereford's leading citizens, headed by Gene Fooks and Mayor Ray Cowser met at the Calson House Saturday morning to get things started. It should be a great program. We'll have more on this later as plans begin to jell.

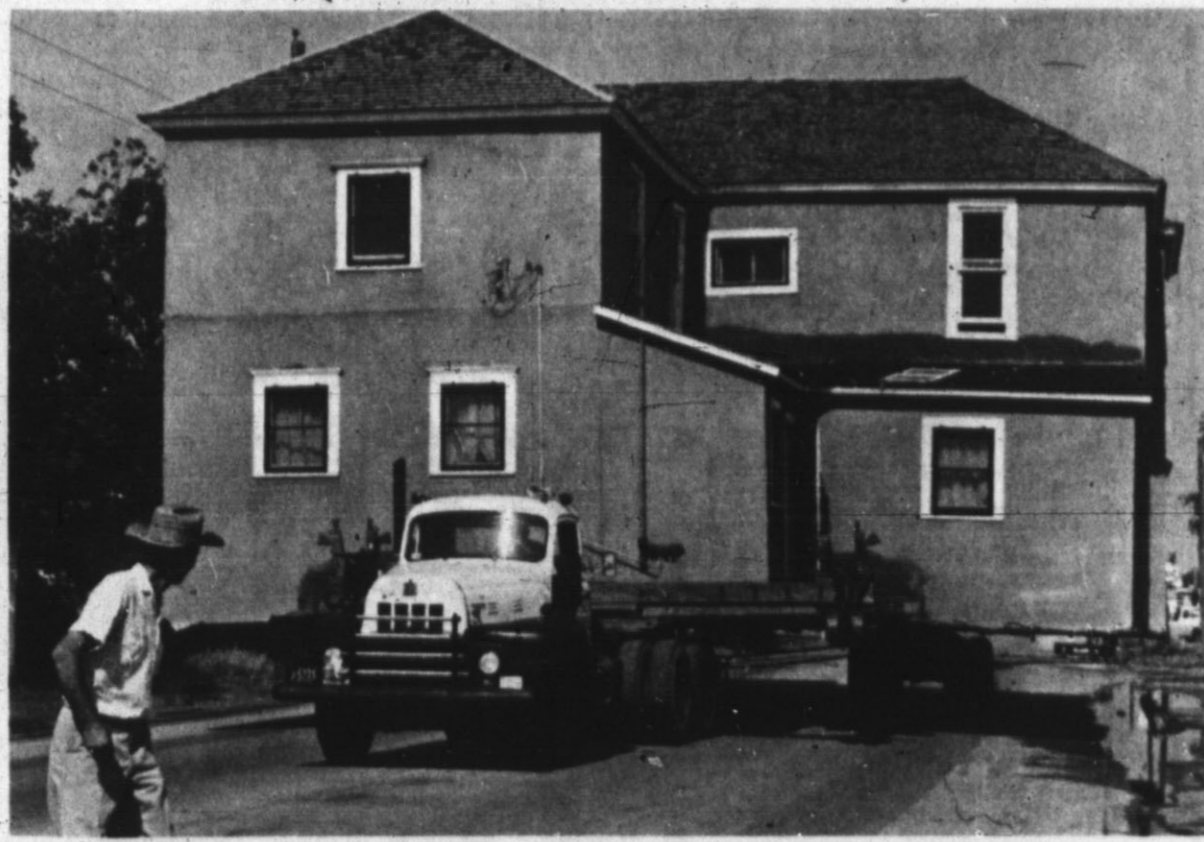

We understand that there are now 248 boys from Deaf Smith County on active military duty. This figure was brought out at a United Fund meeting held this past week at Amarillo, and it came as somewhat of a surprise to all present. We wouldn't have guessed half that number.

We might mention too, that we know of no Deaf Smith County youngster who has ever participated in a protest demonstration or committed an act of draft card burning. Can't say that these figures mean very much, except that it makes us mighty proud to live in Deaf Smith County.

And speaking of "draft card burnings," we understand that the troops in Viet Nam get quite a kick out of their own mock draft card burning meetings. It seems this has become quite a pastime for the men in the field.

Secretary of Labor Willard

CLOSE FIT — Housemovers had their truck at Park Ave. and Avenue G, was moved full when they undertook to move this large two-story house across town here by the Hereford schools. (Staff Photo)

Wirtz may need to review this farm labor situation — and pretty soon too. We understand that turkey growers in the south-east may not be able to get all their birds to market in time cause of the labor shortage for their growing farms. Also, from California, asparagus growers for the fall holiday season because of the labor shortage for their growing farms. Also, from California, asparagus growers say that unless Wirtz relents even more than his recent modification of the rule against farm labor from Mexico and off-shore islands, the asparagus will ruin in the fields. They want several hundred more Mexicans to be allowed to enter California to help with the harvesting.

The situation has also hit the Wisconsin cheese companies. Last year of course, the Florida citrus growers begged for imported labor to pick oranges and grapefruit and Georgia peach growers let peaches stay on trees because they had no other choice. Cucumber growers likewise had troubles, as did growers of foodstuffs throughout the country.

In our own area, machines and chemical are taking the place of hand labor — in almost every field. Many potatoes are now being harvested by "potato diggers," and we have been told by an authoritative source, that approximately 90 percent of the thinning of sugar beets this year has been done by mechanical means rather than with hand labor.

The South Plains and other areas in Texas that once used thousands of laborers each year to harvest cotton, now rely on the mechanical cotton harvesters almost entirely. Hoe hands are fast becoming a thing of the past too. Chemicals and flame cultivation is fast replacing hand labor in this particular phase of farming — doing a better job, cheaper.

But there are still some segments of farming that must rely on hand laborers, and it is with these particular crops that the squeeze is on. It has been amply shown we believe, that getting labor within our own boundaries is unlikely, at any reasonable price, therefore we must rely on temporary labor from other countries. Mexico has been the prime supplier of this labor for a number of years. Not only has this been good for our agricultural community, it has also put dollars in the cash registers up and down main street in almost all the agricultural areas of the south and southwest — besides the fact that it has been a profitable arrangement for the folks from south of the border.

It would seem to us that providing jobs would be the best "economic aid" that we could give to any country. But, then, we're old fashioned. We still believe that one who is gainfully employed, is happier than is the man living off the dole.

Commissioner Earl Holt is plugging for some landscaping at the county's Bull Barn. Holt has proposed that a row of shrubs be placed along the north side of the building, a few feet from the wall, not only to beautify the place, but also to allow for a protected walk-way into the barn. We think he has an excellent idea.

We understand also, that the Chamber of Commerce Beautification Committee is doing some work along this line, to be presented to the Commissioners Court as a recommendation.

The Bull Barn is becoming the center of community activities, due primarily to the size of the building and to the remodeling that has been done in the past year. We believe that we should take full advantage of this facility — and we believe too, that we should continue doing those things that will enhance the property and make it more useful as a convention center.

Monday is Dollar Day in Hereford. Come on out. There will be bargains galore throughout our city.

Civil Air Patrol Slates Meetings

Meetings of the Hereford Composite Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol will resume Monday evening at 7:30 p. m. at Northwest Elementary School, according to Captain Milton Adams, unit Commander. The unit has not met for the past two weeks because of final examinations and the Memorial Day holiday.

Boys and girls ages 13 through 17 are invited to attend the meeting Monday night and view the Civil Air Patrol training program. A new group of cadets is being enrolled now but a group of six is required to carry out the training program effectively.

MEMBERSHIP in the Civil Air Patrol, an auxiliary of the United States Air Force, carries no military obligation. It is a civilian organization dedicated to the furtherance of aviation and aerospace science among the youth of the nation. The program for the senior members is one of public service dedication as the air search and rescue civilian extension of the Air Force.

Cadets undergo three phases of training, the first phase being an orientation program to acquaint the cadet with the objectives of the program and the advantages to be gained through application to the training. In the second phase detailed instruction in various aspects of aviation and aerospace science are given. In phase three the advanced cadets are trained in and may receive flight training.

Each cadet is taught basic military drill, discipline and pride in the uniform along with the subject matter training. Moral training is a basic part of the program with unit Chaplain Gene Fooks discussing with the cadets their responsibilities in this area. Physical training, too, is an important part of the Civil Air Patrol Cadets advancement.

With the successful completion of each achievement in Phase Two the cadet advances through the non-commissioned ranks to the rank of cadet master Sergeant.

UPON completion of the first achievement in Phase three the cadet becomes a cadet second lieutenant and then proceeds on through the commissioned ranks to the rank of cadet colonel.

Many scholarships of great value as well as opportunities to fly, to spend a week on an air base, to undergo jet orientation with actual flying experience in a jet fighter and many other interesting experiences become available to the cadet as he progresses in his training.

Parents or interested young people are invited to make further inquiry of Dr. Adams or Bill Thompson at the Chamber of Commerce office.

SINGERS TO MEET

The Hereford Singers and other area residents who enjoy gospel singing will meet at Grace Gospel Church, on Avenue K, for singing from 2 to 4 p. m. Sunday. Everyone is welcome to attend, Mrs. Annie Springer, secretary announces. The Hereford Singers expect several out-of-town singers to be present.

DAY CAMP FOR BLUEBIRDS — Girls of the Bluebird groups in Hereford's Camp Fire program held their annual day camp Thursday through Saturday at the Camp Fire Hut and Dameron Park. Craft work, indoor and outdoor games, flag-raising ceremonies and song sessions were on the camp schedule, and at noon Saturday they had a police escort for a hike from the hut to Jaycees Park, where a picnic lunch ended the summer event. Bluebirds are the younger girls in the Camp Fire program. Their leaders were assisted in the day camp by members of Horizon Clubs, organization for girls of high school age. A group of girls in the top picture prepares for a craft lesson while those in the lower picture are intently watching a leader, following her movements in a motion story on the lawn of the hut.

130 MPH IN AN OUTBOARD

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Gerry E. Wain, 26, a student at the University of Washington, set a new world speed record for outboard boats this spring. He took his Evinrude Starflite IV at a speed of 130.929 mph on Lake Havasu on the Arizona-California border.

The 17-foot hydroplane with a 100 hp motor broke the former record of 122.9 mph set in 1960.

CARMELS FOR FALSE TEETH
PLAINFIELD, N. J. (AP) — Caramels don't have to stick to your teeth like glue, say researchers for National Starch and Chemical Corporation.

The company has produced a food starch which when added to a caramel recipe allows candy makers to control the texture and bite of their confections without altering flavor. Result: tasty caramels that are easy to chew.

REP. ROGERS REPORTS

Admittance Fees Out For Meredith

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special) — Congressman Walter Rogers announced today that no entry fees will be charged this summer to recreation areas at Lake Meredith. The lake will be one of the few major Federal recreation areas to which access will be free of charge in 1966.

"After consultation with officials of the Department of the Interior and the National Park Service, I have been assured that fees will not be charged this year," Congressman Rogers said.

"IT HAS BEEN my conviction that fees for admission to Federal recreation areas should not be charged anywhere in the Federal system. I opposed fees when the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act of 1965 was before the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, and I opposed admission fee charges when the bill was before the House," Congressman Rogers said.

The Congressman added, "I am continuing efforts to amend the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act to exempt Federal recreation areas from admission fee charges because I believe that the people should have the right of free access to what is, in fact, the property of the people."

Congressman Rogers continued, "I am strongly opposed to the idea that a man taking his family for a Sunday drive should have to pay merely to enter an area set aside for all the people under public ownership."

RECREATION facilities at Lake Meredith are being developed under appropriations authorized by legislation introduced and pushed to enactment by Congressman Rogers. Approximately $500,000 is to be spent in the continuing development program during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

"Because the work has not been completed it is only proper that Lake Meredith should be exempt from the provisions of the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act which requires charging admission and facilities' use fees," Congressman Rogers said.

"It is my hope that before another recreation season comes it will have been possible to amend the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act to exempt admission charges," he said.

Red Cross Swim Lessons To Begin

The Red Cross summer swimming program will get underway this week with a special class for water safety aides and the registration of those who plan to take swimming lessons.

WATER SAFETY Aid instruction will be given Monday through Saturday at 9 a. m. til 12 noon each day.

Mrs. Doris Rush, Water Safety Co-Ordinator will be the instructor for the course open to all boys and girls ages 14-17 holding the equivalent of a Red Cross swimmers certificate and a Junior or Senior Life Saving certificate.

Red Cross life saving swimming classes will begin Monday, June 13, with registration and class instruction getting underway at 7 a. m.

Junior Life Saving will be offered from 7-8 a. m. and is open to boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 15.

CLASSES will be held each morning from 9-10 a. m. and 10-11 a. m. for beginners.

This class will be under the direction of Mrs. Doris Rush, Water Safety Co-Ordinator.

Classes will be open to anyone having finished the first grade in school. This first session of classes will be available for all beginner and intermediate swimmers and will run for two weeks.

Registration for those wanting to enter the 9 a. m. group of classes will be held Wednesday 9-11 a. m.

THOSE WANTING to swim at the 10 a. m. class are to register Thursday, also between 9-11 a. m.

All registration will be at the Municipal Pool on a first come, first served basis, since facilities are limited.

There will be further Red Cross classes during the summer, with the second session being held July 4 through July 15 and the third session will be held from July 25 til Aug. 5, at 6 p. m. during all three sessions.

A CITY POOL fee of $2.25 per person is charged for each course. Plans have also been set for a Senior Life Saving course to be held during the summer. The date will be announced later by the Red Cross.

Thomas E. McEwan of Silver Spring, Md., will captain Yale's 1966-67 freshman wrestling team. He is a native of Los Angeles.

Hear complete details on a free vacation trip to be given away Thursday, June 9 by the Manager for a Day contest winners. Anyone can win, but not everyone will take it!

Callaway-Latham Vows Spoken At Church Altar

The marriage this afternoon of Miss Alice June Callaway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Callaway, and James Hugh Latham, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Latham of Friona, will be solemnized in Temple Baptist Church.

An altar setting of green foliage with baskets of pink gladiolus, flanked by spiral candelabra holding white tapers, will be the background for the double ring ceremony solemnized by the Rev. Tommy Phelps.

The bride will be escorted to the altar by her father as Mrs. Albert Ricketts, organist, plays the march following a medley of wedding music. Miss Jo Ellen Hamilton will sing The Wedding Prayer and Because, with organ accompaniment.

Miss Callaway has chosen a gown of snowwhite peau de sole with hourglass bodice and skirt fullness spreading from an inverted front pleat. Flowers of Alencon lace are scattered over the skirt, and form a band just above the hemline and a narrower border around the bateau neckline.

Her shoulder veil of tiered illusion will be held by an inverted crown finished with a crystal teardrop on the forehead. Her flowers, dainty white stock blossoms, will be carried on a white ribbon and she will wear a single strand of pearls.

Miss Sheryl Maddox will be her maid of honor, Miss Myrtle Latham, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Rita Miss the bridesmaids. They will dress alike in street-length frocks of pale pink voile trimmed in white smoking. Each will carry a colonial nosegay of white stock with satin streamers.

Best man will be Howard Rhodes, the groomsmen Phillip Johnson and Joe Mabry, the ushers Eldon Long, Travis Graves, Jesse Shirley and Kim Buske, all of Friona.

A reception in the church fellowship hall will follow the wedding, with Mmes. Davis Sawyer, W. B. Dutton, Norma Curtisinger, Dub Curtisinger and Clarence Strange in the house-party.

The bride's table will be laid with white lace over petal pink and a basket of pink and white roses will offset the tiered wedding cake, iced in the same colors and topped with bride-and-groom figurines.

Mrs. Callaway will wear a pink suit, and the bridegroom's mother a beige ensemble, each with matching accessories and white corsage, for the wedding and reception.

After a honeymoon trip to Colorado, the couple will be at home on the Dameron Ranch, Route 4. For travel, Mrs. Latham will change to a pink brocade two-piece dress with silk lace blouse and pink and white accessories, pinning a corsage from her bridal bouquet at the shoulder.

She was graduated from Hereford High School last week and the bridegroom is a 1966 graduate of Friona High School.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

Congressman Joins In LBJ's Plea To Continue 'Mohole'

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's plea to Congress for 19.7 million to continue work on Project Mohole came a couple of days after Rep. Olin Teague, D-Tex., urged the House to reverse its earlier action in rejecting funds for the program. As second ranking Democrat on the House Space Committee, Teague's role in rocketry development is well known. Not so well known is his interest in deep sea and earth explorations. But, he comes by it naturally. Texas A&M University, his alma mater, has a well-regarded oceanography department. Many of the nation's top geologists are A&M graduates.

Teague took his associates to task for refusing to grant Johnson's request for funds to carry on the project.

IT INVOLVES drilling a hole through the earth's inner crust in the Pacific Ocean near Hawaii.

"The action of the House in disapproving a budget request of 19.7 million for Project Mohole is inviting Russia to sputnik the United States in its efforts to explore the earth's interior," Teague told his colleagues.

"Unless the Senate restores this money, the project will be terminated and I am reliably informed that termination costs could run as much as 45 million.

"Completion of Project Mohole surely enhance the prestige of the United States and has already resulted in numerous engineering and scientific discoveries of value to the military and to industry. It has the backing of the entire scientific community."

Johnson, following up his fellow Texan's plea, sent a letter to Capitol Hill reviewing the project — which is named after a German scientist who did early research on the earth's inner structure.

"The Mohole project will provide the answer to many basic questions about the earth's crust and the origin of ocean basins," said Teague.

ABOUT 25 MILLION has been spent to date on the estimated 110 million project. The National Science Foundation is administering the project, but the Brown and Root Co., Houston, is the prime contractor. NSF has completed work on the design of an ocean platform from which the drilling would take place.

Johnson's request is still to be acted upon, but his personal plea for the funds makes it likely they eventually will be provided.

AROUND THE CAPITAL:

The Rio Grande Valley's distinguished judge Oscar Dancy is recognized in a statement Sen. Ralph Yarborough placed in the Congressional Record.

"Mr. President," the senator said, "one of the most devoted conservationists, most respected county judges, and a staunch Democrat, has announced for re-election as county judge of Brownsville.

"This man is Judge Oscar

Dancy, now 87 and the oldest county judge in the United States.

"Running without opposition in either primary or general election, Judge Dancy will continue his record of accomplishment at the same record pace that astounds men half his age. No greater record has been made by any county judge in America."

Miss Judy Wiltshire Bride Of Michael Watts

Miss Judy Kay Wiltshire and Don Michael Watts exchanged marriage vows in an afternoon ceremony at First Methodist Church Saturday, with the Rev. Herschel L. Thurston, pastor, reading the double ring service before a bank of greenery and white chrysanthemums.

The bride's parents are Dr. and Mrs. B. M. Wiltshire, 510 Star, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Verdon Watts, 117 Elm.

Before the ceremony Charles Whitehead, cousin of the bridegroom, sang One Hand, One Heart, accompanied by Robert Bell, organist who also played the wedding marches. The soloist sang The Lord's Prayer later in the service.

Attending the bride were Miss Janet Fryar, maid of honor, Mrs. Bill Forbus of Dumas and Mrs. Jimmy Fowlkes, bridesmaids. Her niece, Pam Forbus, was the flower girl and her nephew, Bill Forbus, carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Bill Watts served as best man, Dr. Bill Forbus and Ricky Roberts as ushers, Jesse Cash and Fred Mulkey as groomsmen.

Miss Wiltshire, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in silk organza over bridal taffeta, the empire bodice overlaid with Chantilly lace embroidered with seed pearls and crystals. Motifs of the lace were appliqued-down the front of the A-line skirt and a wide lace border was scalloped to the Watteau train.

Triple layers of illusion fell to her shoulders from a half-hat of Alencon lace topped with tulle petals edged with pearls. She wore a strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom.

Dresses of her attendants were in similar empire style, of dawn pink whip-cream crepe. They wore matching headpieces and carried pale pink feathered mums.

For the wedding and reception afterward in the church fellowship hall, the bride's mother was attired in a blue knit suit with white accessories and orchid corsage. Mrs. Verdon Watts chose an off-white suit, her gold orchid corsage matching accessories.

A candelabra with pink roses and tapers decorated the white-covered table where wedding cake and punch were served. Mrs. J.C. McCracken, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Edd Johnson were assisted in serving by Mrs. Jack McCracken of Bovina Mrs. Jimmie Gillentine, Misses Linda Rickman, Nancy Mulkey and Judy Summers.

Leaving for a trip to downstate cities, Mrs. Watts was wearing a pink linen suit with white costume accents. After June 11 the couple will be at home at 308 W. Fifth.

The bride was one of this year's graduates of Hereford High School. Watts, who completed high school studies here

Offices Filled By Dental Aides

Officers were installed at a salad supper for Caprock Dental Assistants Society recently in First State Bank building at Dimmitt. Mrs. David Hamblen conducted the installation, using colors of the rainbow to symbolize duties of the officers.

White, a combination of all colors, signified the president's, Dorothy Turner's, task of blending work of all officers into a unit of service. Nell Kenmore took office as president-elect, Jeane Dowell as secretary-treasurer, Sandra Naylor as reporter, Jerrie Loerwald and the retiring president, Clorene Holladay, as board members.

Willie Mae Fulton attended the refreshment table. Members were present from Hereford, Floydada, Lockney and Plainview.

—Small Talk—

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Nothing could be much more exhilarating than a freshly-rained-on world, especially at this time of year when June is really bustin' out.

USUALLY, WE get the "rare as a day in June" days in April or early May, and fogas are not June flowers in Texas — their peak is already past.

But the cold snaps this year that nipped early buds and had many rose-growers fearing that there wouldn't be any spring blooms, only delayed the season until it fits in with the poetical idea of the month and the flowers.

Not only are roses bustin' out, especially the scarlet climbers, but peonies and columbines and pink primroses and a lot of other blooms are splashing color here and there. And the fine rains will keep gardeners busier than ever with their lawn mowers and spray units.

NEARLY EVERY lawn is decorated at some time of day now with gardeners, either owners or hirelings. In the early hours it is usually women you see at work; in the evenings, men at home from a hard day of business to spade or mow for relaxation.

It might be cruel and unusual, but I'd like to take a camera around and snap pictures of some of the costumes the yard workers wear — only it would be awful if somebody did the same to me. Clothes most convenient to wear for lawn tending just aren't likely to be the most attractive.

That must be the reason for an outfit one woman had on, plaid pants, in all the primary colors, a flowered blouse in different shades of the same vivid colors topped with a man's jacket, bright red. And green rubber boots.

Another weed-pulling housewife had a checked gingham apron tied over a housecoat, and her hair swathed in a filmy scarf printed in pastels. Sunbonnets are far from passe for the woman with the hoe, and gloves vary from cotton duck to formal black kid, well worn. Men needn't snicker, either; most of them aren't fashion plates as they follow lawn mowers.

ON A RECENT bright morning, residents outdoors on Star Street included Mrs. Francis Hardwick escorted by a handsome poodle, and up in the next block little Paula Terry romping with a frisky dachshund which seemed to belong to all the children in the neighborhood, because a few minutes later it was playing with two other small girls.

THE FRANK BEZNERs expected their daughter and her family to arrive soon from Highstown, N. J., but were pleasantly surprised when the arrival was sooner than they anticipated. Daughter Laverne and her son will be here for the summer while her husband, Charles Schaff, goes on a field trip near Powell Wyo. with a group from Princeton University geology department. He will rejoin his family in September.

THE FATHER of the bride has been the subject of a best-selling book, but her mother is the one who has the biggest share of the wedding preparations and the most details on her mind. So she can be forgiven a slip Mrs. Wesley High made when she jotted down notes about daughter Shirley's wedding plans. She wrote that the wedding would be Aug. 18; Shirley says it's June 18. Perhaps the error was a subconscious parental effort to keep her daughter a little longer.

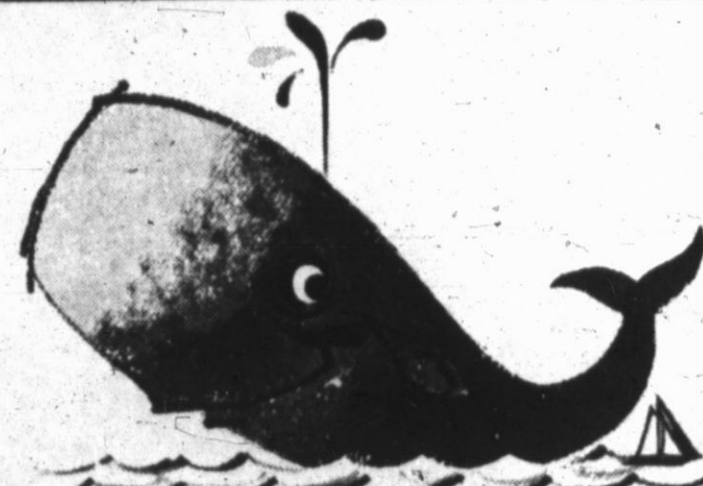

MRS. MARGARET HAYES of Phoenix, Ariz., who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Alex Thompson, several days, left Wednesday for Paris, Tex., to spend the summer. She had accompanied Mrs. Thompson home after they were in Paris and Bonham during the illness and at the death of a brother.

State Water Plan To Be Described

A two-pronged meeting of the Texas Water Development Board will be devoted to West Texas while the second portion will be an official meeting of the Board. Both meetings will be open to the public.

Executive director of the TWDB, will be devoted to West Texas in the Texas Water Plan while the second portion will be an official meeting of the Board.

A TEAM from the Texas Water Development Board, headed by Moore and John Vandertulip, chief engineer for the TWDB will discuss the Texas Water Plan, keying their remarks largely to West Texas, the High Plains, El Paso, and the Trans-Pecos section of the State.

Also taking part will be Dr. Hebert Grubb, assistant professor of agriculture economics at Texas Technological College, and Edward G. Weber of Amarillo, a member of the 2020 Water Study Committee for the High Plains. Mills Cox of Gay Hill (Washington County), chairman of the Texas Water Development Board, will preside at the Board meeting.

Also attending the meetings will be the Texas Water Rights Commission and several TWRC staff members.

THE OPENING session of the day-long meeting will be held in the auditorium at Texas Technological College, beginning at 9 a. m. The TWDB meeting will begin at 1:30 p. m. in the In-Town Inn in Lubbock.

The Lubbock meeting will be the first scheduled following release of the Texas Water Plan in Austin Monday and will open a round of meetings throughout the State during June, July, and August.

The Texas Water Plan has been developed at the request of Gov. John Connally "in the public interest and to aid the economic growth and general welfare of the State."

The Plan is a flexible guide for the development and conservation of the State's water resources until the year 2020 when the State's population is expected to pass the 30.5 million figure.

ONE MINUTE, PLEASE THE CHURCH I LOVE

HAS BECOME OBEDIENT FROM THE HEART (38th in a series)
"But thanks be to God, that you who were once slaves of sin, have become obedient from the heart to the standard of teaching to which you were committed, and, having been set free from sin, have become slaves of righteousness." (Romans 6:17, 18). One may think he is free to do what he wants to do. And, he is. But his choice is very limited. He may choose to be a servant or slave to sin, following Satan; or he may choose to be a servant of righteousness, following Christ the Savior.
Christ Jesus "emptied himself, taking the form of a servant, being born in the likeness of men. And being found in human form he humbled himself and became obedient unto death, even death on the cross." (Philippians 2:7, 8). Our Lord assures us, "Be faithful unto death, and I will give you the crown of life." (Revelation 2:10b).
"Although he (Christ) was a Son, he learned obedience through what he suffered; and being made perfect he became the source of eternal salvation to all who obey him." (Hebrews 5:8, 9). The Savior said, "If you love me, you will keep my commandment." (John 14:15).

It is our faith in God and his word, that came through Christ, that causes us to obey from the heart. "By faith Noah, being warned by God concerning events as yet unseen, took heed (obeyed) and constructed an ark for the saving of his household;" (Hebrews 11:7). "By faith Abraham obeyed when he was called to go out to a place which he was to receive as an inheritance; and he went out, not knowing where he was to go." (Hebrews 11:8). It is by faith that we obey by repenting and being baptized "in the name of Jesus Christ" believing that by this means we have "forgiveness of sins." (Acts 2:38). "We were buried therefore with him by baptism into death, so that as Christ was raised from the dead by the glory of the Father, we too might walk in newness of life." (Romans 6:4).

A WEEK OR TWO WILL LIGHTEN THE LOAD...

Panhandle Paragraphs

For Sale: "True Equality"

Next week 2,400 delegates to a special White House Conference on Civil Rights will discuss a sweeping program its drafters say will at last give the self-respecting Negro "true equality" in American life. What it ought to give him is a wave of nausea.

The proposals were put forward by a 29-member council appointed by the President in February. The panel's members indicated that they consider the 100 pages of recommendations a dramatic basis for the ultimate solution of all the social ills still vexing the Negro. Instead the program is simply a breathless rehash of the weary liberal doctrine that enough money and Federal enthusiasm will solve any problem.

For example, some major familiar features of the proposal are a heavy dose of make-work projects; a Federally guaranteed minimum income for those the make-work program misses; a higher level of direct welfare payments; a Federally guaranteed universal "right" to college education regardless of ability, achievement or interest; increased Federal spending on schools to make them more uniform; and publicly built "low-cost" housing. The list runs on so far that it even makes the "Great Society" look a little cheap.

Cheap it wouldn't be, however. Apparently cost wasn't of serious concern to the drafters. The best the chairman of the council could come up with, when asked by a reporter, was "billions of dollars." In the same vein, no part of the program was given priority over any other part. What the council has in mind, it appears, is to do everything at once with a sweep.

Yet, incredibly enough, the council then blandly says that the scheme doesn't rely on Federal pervasiveness but is dependent instead on the individual.

"In our diverse society," declaims the report, "it is the citizen who leads. It is his mobilization of spirit, commitment and resources that we must address ourselves." Despite that, almost every council proposal calls for some kind of enlargement of the Federal machine, some further crushing of the individual's spirit, commitment and resources. As a tiny instance, the proposal suggests improving community relations with the local police force by having the Federal Government establish "assistance programs in the areas of recruitment, testing, selection, training, organization and pay." It wouldn't be going much further to recommend putting a Federal agent in every police car and squadhouse.

What few concrete proposals aren't directed at the Federal Government are directed at other governmental levels. Business, labor and voluntary organizations are given the same passing lip-service as the individual; this is clearly a government plan.

But set aside, for the moment, the staggering cost and the spread of Federal power. Would this program enable the Negro to "move beyond opportunity to achievement," as the conference hopes? What kind of equality, not to mention self-respect, would a man have who had been given a job by the Government, to do work he knew full well the economy would never support except as a welfare measure? What kind of equality would be to have living in a Government-built house, his mortgage or rent paid by his neighbors?

How long would it be before the Government realized that what it had put together was in fact a rigid caste system? How long until this nation had created a separate class of citizens, alienated from their fellow men by their ever greater dependence on Governmental largess and whim?

Pretending to offer "true equality" is, in itself, almost dishonest. True equality to whom or what? Beyond guaranteeing equal protection and equal opportunity under the law, there is little the Government can realistically accomplish. Promising a vague "true equality" seems not only impossible but unwise.

What is possible and wise, and understandable as well, is the idea that in this nation any individual is free to better his own life up to the limits of his own capabilities. Notably lacking from the 100 pages of discussion on improving the Negro's life is the notion that each individual can accomplish far more for himself than all the visionary Governmental programs put together.

Why Not Now?

Even in this day of consensus, any point on which Adam Clayton Powell, Secretary Robert McNamara, Bobby Kennedy and a platoon of Republican congressmen agree must be counted as unusual. The point is this:

The present system of selective service is unsatisfactory and should be changed.

A long-range study by the Pentagon, in process for more than a year, makes the same point and offers two suggestions for improvement. Though these were only touched on briefly in the preliminary report released to the press, they appear to have merit.

One suggestion would limit conscription to 19-year-olds in peacetime. The other would rely on a lottery system, presumably replacing the present arrangement of deferments for students and other special classifications.

As the draft now operates, draft board policy is to call the oldest single registrants on the list and work downward. As a result the average age of inductees is usually over 21.

Neither the armed services nor the youths facing induction are happy with this arrangement. The services consider 19 to be the best age for a recruit, for younger men can better adjust to military life. From the standpoint of the draft-eligible, drafting at the upper end of the age scale often keeps the younger men on tenterhooks until they have been drafted or passed the age limit.

Not knowing whether or not they will be called for service prevents them from planning and beginning their civilian careers. Many employers are unwilling to hire young men who are facing possible conscription.

By calling 19-year-olds, the draft board will eliminate this problem.

Most 19-year-olds have completed secondary education, but have not yet married and started families. Those who are called, with their military service behind them, can then take up their civilian careers at 21 with no further suspense about military interruptions.

The lottery system, which would presumably choose from the 19-year-olds by chance, would eliminate the most serious objection to the present operation of selective service — the charge that it discriminates in favor of the more well-to-do.

The present deferment of college students allows those youngsters who can afford college or who can win scholarships to avoid military service while others lacking the money or good grades are put into uniform.

The size of our youthful population, compared with the small relative number required by the services, means that only a minority of young men will be needed for military service except in all-out war. The choosing of the minority who will serve without regard to economic class or scholastic standing would help to eliminate present inequity.

The chief drawback to the Pentagon proposals is that they are not to be put into effect until after the Viet Nam war is over. Unfortunately, that may be years from now. If popular support for the President's policy of resistance to communism is to be maintained, the better course would be to do everything possible to make the draft more equitable now.

MAIN STREET, USA

296 Federal Programs Coddles Nations Buyers

By Bert Mills

Washington, D. C. — Consumer protection is hot stuff these days in government. At last count there were 296 Federal programs designed to help the consumer, plus large numbers of others at the state, county and local level. Congress is sure to pass several more consumer protection laws before adjourning.

A consumer, broadly speaking, is any person, from a baby to a great-grandmother. The obvious fact that the vast majority of consumers are potential voters has not escaped our elected representatives, from the President on down to the newest Congressman. Being pro-consumer is good politics.

The current emphasis on protecting the consumer probably dates back to the 1960 Presidential election campaign. John F. Kennedy made a campaign issue out of his solicitude for consumers, declaring they are largely unrepresented in Washington and that "I will be the lobbyist for consumers."

After reaching the White House, President Kennedy sent a special message to Congress on consumer problems — a first which endeared him to professionals in the consumer movement, many of them from the academic community. However, it remained for his successor to get the consumer protection ball really rolling in Washington.

Lyndon B. Johnson had been President less than six weeks when he appointed an old friend and experienced Capitol Hill lobbyist for labor unions, Mrs. Foster Peterson, as his Special Assistant for Consumer Affairs. She was the perfect choice for the new post.

She was wise in the ways of government, having been named by President Kennedy as head of the Women's Bureau and later Assistant Secretary of Labor. She plays a dual role for LBJ, splitting her time between the Labor Department and the consumer office. She has had her ups and downs in her personal relationships with the key men around the President but she still holds both her jobs.

3 Bills Make Headway

Hundreds of bills to protect consumers are pending in Congress and three important ones have made headway recently, all in the Senate. At least two, on tire standards and highway safety, seem sure to become law this year. A third, regulating packaging, will probably pass the Senate.

Oddly enough, all three originated in Congress and not at the White House or elsewhere in the Executive Branch. All are now a part of the Administration program but it was a case of the White House climbing aboard a bandwagon already in motion. These three examples tend to support the claim of Congressional leaders that all major legislation does not originate downtown instead of on the hill.

The tire bill, already passed by the Senate, will benefit motorists shopping for replacement tires but it is debatable whether it will save lives. Few accidents are caused by new tires on new cars, which is the major area regulated by the bill. Most tire failures are caused by careless motorists who abuse their tires. No law can protect consumers against their own carelessness.

The final form of auto safety legislation is still unknown but manufacturers will be required to meet certain standards. Consumers will be benefited to the extent that if they have a highway accident, their chance of survival will improve.

But accidents are caused more by unsafe roads, bad weather, reckless drivers than by new cars which are not safe enough when delivered from the factory. It is doubtful that pending legislation will cover used cars — certainly a greater safety risk than current models.

The packaging controls bill is the darling of consumer leaders and all who profess to speak for housewives. If it becomes law in the form reported by a Senate committee, it will benefit

First Load Of Wheat Harvested In Hereford

The first Hereford area wheat of the season was delivered at 1:15 p.m. Tuesday by Wilburn P. Axe to Pitman Grain Co. Two weeks earlier than the normal first delivery, Axe's 60-bushel load weighed 56.2 pounds per bushel, tested 15.8 per cent moisture.

Ownership of the First National Bank of Hereford changed hands Tuesday afternoon, when V. P. Patterson, Amarillo banker and associate, purchased the stock of E. B. Hedrick, president of the local bank since 1943.

Landowners and sportsmen of Deaf Smith County are invited to attend the annual game regulation meeting scheduled Monday at 8 p.m. in the County Court House.

The earliest harvest of recent years is foreseen by many wheat growers and observers in the Hereford area.

Austin-bound this week are three delegates to state meetings who will spend their convention time learning what makes democracy function.

Sen. Price Daniel will meet with members of the Grain Sorghum Producers Assn. Thursday night in Amarillo. Future needs for legislation regarding the feed grain will be discussed.

Last weekend was Give-Away Time in Hereford, as cooperating merchants handed out free gifts totaling more than $4000 Friday and Saturday.

Alliance For Progress

Despite AID's lip service in support of private business, U. S. aid subsidizes state-owned enterprise. By excessive taxation and restrictive regulation Latin American states have put the squeeze on private investment. The next step is state expropriation; aid dollars frequently finance the take-over. Directors of state enterprises, usually inexperienced political appointees, are replaced as each administration changes. Thus, contrary to U.S. and Latin American interests, aid dollars are socializing industry and driving out private capital.

Our foreign aid has pumped $9.2 billion into Latin America. Yet the impact of these billions has failed to establish the political stability essential for a sound, expanding economy.

Little Willy wanted to have a birthday party, and his mother gave her consent provided that Willy would invite Jimmy, a boy with whom Willy had been having trouble. Willy agreed, reluctantly.

Came the day of the party and the guests arrived but no Jimmy. Willy's mother sought him out.

"Look here, did you invite Jimmy as I told you?" she asked.

"Yes, mother," said Willy virtuously.

"And did he say he couldn't come?"

"No, mother. I invited him, all right, but I dared him to come."

Chief Park Ranger Hugh Beattie early today said that while he believed visitor attendance at Lake Meredith Sunday may have set an all-time record he had not been able to compile an official count. It is believed the turnout may have well exceeded 20,000 persons, however.

Beattie explained that pressing duties Sunday had precluded time to prepare the attendance report.

Thunderstorms ripping into Denver City Thursday brought a total of 1.05 inches of precipitation to the city.

First thunderstorm blew in from the west at about 6:30 a.m. Thursday. Skies darkened, lightning flashed, thunder rolled, and the city got .75 of an inch of rainfall. The thunderstorm continued for about an hour before abating. Then the sun shone.

Sunny skies continued through Thursday's daylight hours but clouds began to form over the area as night-fall came.

At about 9:30 p.m., another thunderstorm began moving into Denver City. There was more thunder and lightning and an additional .30 of an inch of precipitation before the storm moved out of the area at about 11:30 p.m.

Here is a shocking bit of news. One out of every 14 persons needs treatment for mental illness. Some authorities place it as high as 1 out of 10. More persons are in hospitals for mental illness today than for cancer, heart trouble, TV, Polio and virtually everything else combined. It is by far the nation's No. 1 ailment.

The causes of mental illness are complex. Yet after 30 years of practice one distinguished psychiatrist told an assembly of his colleagues: "Eighty per cent of the mental illness I have faced could have been prevented by simply kindness." What a devastating commentary on the mores and manners of our times!

Terry County farmers voted 287 for and 405 against the transfer of upland cotton acreage allotments to other counties within the state, by sale or lease.

This means that for the 1967 crop, cotton allotments may not be transferred out of the county by sale or lease. This does not prohibit the transfer of cotton allotments into the county from other counties that approved the transfer, nor does it prohibit the transfer of cotton acreage allotments by an owner to another farm owned by him.

Following a special meeting of the South Plains College Board of Regents Thursday night, Dr. Marvin L. Baker has announced that bids will be taken June 16 on a new men's dormitory.

The new dorm is due for completion by the time the college begins its fall semester this September, 1966.

The new structure will house 72 men students and will be in units of four boys with each two having private rooms. Each four will have a small lounge. There will be no central lounge in the new building, and, according to Dr. Baker, each unit will be self contained. This will be a two-story structure with no inside corridors.

THE BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Bindweed grass farm takes a look at the traffic problem this week.

Dear editor:

According to an article in a newspaper which I found caught on a corner post where my pasture makes a right angle and which I pulled off as that post has enough to do to hold up the fence without any extra weight being added, there are so many cars in this country now, 90 million at the moment and multiplying faster than people, that city people are having more and more difficulty getting anywhere.

A survey showed that at peak traffic periods in big cities cars travel about 6 to 8 miles an hour, which is no faster than you could go with a horse and buggy.

I was discussing this with a neighbor and he said, "See there, that's what I've been arguing. We're no better off with cars than we were with buggies. It was a mistake to ever start building them. They ought to be outlawed."

I didn't argue with him, but I got to thinking, maybe he has a point; then I thought some more.

Ninety million cars, I'll admit, is a lot of cars, but have you ever stopped to think how many buggies 90 million would be?

Can you image New York City at 5 p.m. with 350,000 horses and buggies jammed up in Times Square?

Trying to find places to park that many cars during the working day is impossible enough, but what kind of a problem would you have trying to tie up and feed that many horses? Just getting them up into the ten-decker storage garages would stagger the imagination. There are other problems too which I won't go into, but the flies would be terrible.

As for the traffic jams with cars, it's one thing to have a woman driver hold up traffic for ten blocks back, but you think it'd be any better with a few balky horses scattered up and down the line?

I tell you, people who want to go back to the good old days are welcome to try, but they'll never make it. Ninety million horses lined up on the roads bumper to bumper... I'll stay at home.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Wedding Vows Repeated In Lubbock Ceremony

Married at Forrest Heights Methodist Church in Lubbock Friday, the Rev. and Mrs. Marvin D. Arnpriester will live in Kansas City, Mo., where he will be assistant to the minister at Linwood Methodist Church.

Mrs. Arnpriester is the former Carolyn Adele Herald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rollin T. Herald of Lubbock. His parents are the Rev. Noah Arnpriester, pastor of Wesley Methodist Church here, and Mrs. Arnpriester.

The Rev. O. A. McBrayer officiated for the double ring ceremony. An altar arrangement of yellow and white roses between arched candelabra twined with greenery formed the background.

Miss Susan Herald was her sister's maid of honor and Glendall Smith of Matador acted as best man. Misses Janice Pruett of Dallas and Carol Garrett of Englewood, Colo. were bridesmaids. The bridegroom's brother, Paul Arnpriester, and his brother-in-law, the Rev. Archie Echols of Avoca, were groomsmen; Robert Darden of Clyde, George Arpin of Midland and the Rev. Gary Kendrick of Hereford the ushers.

Wedding music was by Mrs. Dortha Barrett, organist, and Wayne Hood, vocal soloist. Her father gave the bride in marriage. She was dressed in Falling from a seed pearl crown, her illusion veil with wide lace border, extending into a chapel train, was the one worn by the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Echols, at her wedding. She carried Mrs. Echols' bridal Bible with a cascade of white orchids and stephanotis.

Attendants wore floor-length frocks of turquoise Italian silk and matching lace, belted with gold velvet. Their headpieces were of the velvet and their flowers gold pompon mums.

The same flowers made the centerpiece for the table at the reception in the church fellowship hall. Mrs. Echols cut and served the wedding cake; house-party members included Misses Marilyn, Rachel, Lois, Arlene and Teresa Arnpriester of Hereford.

Housewives Can't Be Bothered

Surveys have shown that while home economists and bureaucrats may deplore the impossibility of the average shopper making price and weight calculations involving fractions, Mrs. Average Housewife simply can't be bothered. A study by Progressive Grocer magazine showed that the average shopper buys 32 items from 50 locations in a food store, in between 20 and 24 minutes. A quick trip to the store is just that.

This does not allow much time for reading of labels, no matter how informative they may be.

One study showed that the typical housewife spends 10 seconds deciding which detergent to buy. That is just one line of products of scores available in every store. The average supermarket stocks 6,000 items.

So "truth-in-packaging," as the bill's backers have labeled their bill, may be a desirable reform but unless human nature changes it is not going to be too meaningful to the lady with too many other things to worry about, without saving a penny.

Well-Dressed Area Is Goal

By Mrs. Argen Droper
Home Demonstration Agent

"Every person in the area develop poise by being well-dressed," is the objective of the clothing committee. Because of this objective, the committee has spent much time and effort to present the Shortcourse this month.

Providing people's clothing is a major industry around the world. Jane Witkowski, in her demonstration, says "Handling fabrics is older than recorded history."

BEING WELL-DRESSED has a bearing on personal success and satisfactory day-by-day living. People do love (should I use the word love?) clothes. Clothes give a lift and are associated with a sense of well-being, having good times, going places with the people we like and other intangibles that give us a glow.

Managing the clothing dollars has much to do with the family financial success or failure. Every dollar in the clothing budget should be spent well for the most personal satisfaction and the development of poise for the family members.

Our goal in living is for each family member to reach his or her potential. When we learn wise consumer buying and good management in clothing, we can use the same principles in other areas of household arts.

LESSONS IN a good basic clothing course will help you in being a good consumer whether you construct clothing or buy everything ready-made. Do I think all persons should sew? No, but I think every person should know basic sewing principles so she can be a better consumer of ready-made clothing.

The committee has planned the Shortcourse to appeal to all and to benefit all. So, the committee is prepared for a crowd on June 7, 9, 13, 14, 16, 21 and 23. The lessons are from 2 to 4 in the afternoon with a recess for an iced tea break.

A nominal price for a glass of cold tea. Why am I, an ardent coffee drinker, getting so appreciative of iced tea? Anyway, an iced drink will be available. During recess, the exhibits can be visited. There will be exhibits at each program.

TO AID IN ATTAINING poise through being well-dressed, a sane and efficient philosophy of dress requires that we:

1. Think of clothes not only as assets to sophistication but contributions to maintaining and broadening one's sense of life values.

2. Have a well-considered personal clothing plan not overly influenced by impulse, vanity or outside pressures.

3. Wear attractive clothing rather than appear dowdy.

4. Select what we need rather than what fashion decrees.

5. Prepare and succeed in our chosen field. I mean, homemaking, which is the most important of all careers.

6. Develop skill in making wise choices in clothing.

IT IS HOPED THAT each person attending the Shortcourse will study this suggested philosophy of dress, put it in your words and make it a part of your life. Clothing is important in many ways. Why not analyze yourself and see where you stand? How do you feel? What can you do to improve?

Studio Song Recital Is Presented

Kerri Dameron, voice pupil of Mrs. D. W. Palmer the past year, was presented in recital Friday evening in Mrs. Palmer's home, 149 Liveoak. The 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Dameron, she was given a solo ranking of "1" in a music contest at Pampa this spring.

For the recital, heard by family members and friends, she wore a formal white gown embroidered in pink flowers, with pink satin streamers flowing from a pink basque waist.

Her solos were My Task (Ashford), How Far to Bethlehem? (Rowley), Seek Ye the Lord (Roberts), Es Hat die Rose Sich Beklagt (Franz) Voi Che Sapete (Mozart), Obelasons Quad Leur Voix Appelle (Massenet) and Joy of Morning (Ware).

Miss Dameron is a member of a pioneer Hereford family, granddaughter of Mrs. W. E. Dameron and the late Mayor Dameron. She recently gave a private song recital for her maternal grandparents, Col. and Mrs. Karl E. Wallace, who were here for a visit before beginning a tour of Europe.

Marriage Is Solemnized In Candelight Service

In a candelight service conducted by the bridegroom's father, Miss Lucile Self and Billy Bolinger were married Thursday evening in Avenue Baptist Church. W. L. Bolinger, of the Primitive Baptist Church at Lubbock, was the officiant for the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Self, Rt. 5, and the Bolinger family lives on Rt. 2. Mr. Self gave his daughter in marriage. Candelabra holding white tapers were set in greenery at the altar, with baskets of summer garden flowers on either side.

Miss Self was attended by her sister, Mrs. Don Howard, and the best man was Ray Bolinger. Misses Kathy Bolinger and Rene Self lighted candles before the wedding party entered the church.

Preceding the bride down the aisle was Denise Smith, flower girl. Ushers were the bride's brothers, A. W., Charles, David and Joe Self.

Mrs. Bill Wall, organist, played the marches and accompanied Miss Carolyn Parmer as she sang "I Love You Truly, With Thee Thou Goest and Wedding Prayer."

A period gown of lace over snowwhite taffeta was worn by the petite bride. Lace was scalloped around the sweetheart neckline and the figurine bodice was cut to a point above the bouffant skirt. Sleeve fullness was gathered to a narrow band at the wrist.

A rhinestone-studded crown held her waistlength veil. Her bouquet was a white orchid circled with feathered carnations tipped in blue.

The matron of honor wore a two-piece dress, with white lace top over a pleated blue skirt. Candelighters were dressed alike in the same forget-me-not blue, accented with white.

White lace over blue covered the table at the wedding reception in the church fellowship hall. Misses Janice Head and Janice Smith served punch and cake to guests who registered in a book where Mrs. Marti Mason presided. Out-of-city guests were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Betts of Keyes, Okla.

Mrs. Bolinger wore a three-piece blue knit suit as the couple left on a short trip. They will be at home on Rt. 2, where the bridegroom is a farmer.

Ford Club Sees Result Of Work On Project

Floor covering recently laid in the assembly room of Ford Community Building through efforts of Ford Home Demonstration Club, was inspected as members met there Wednesday with Mrs. Frank Brorman as hostess.

Draperies are planned for this room as the next step in the club's project of improving the building for community use. The kitchen-dining room area previously had draperies and floor covering installed.

The club voted to give a book of trading stamps toward purchase of a school bus for St. Joseph's Mission. Mrs. A. L. Hollingsworth was in charge of the business session.

An informative program on economical shopping was presented by members who appeared in a skit titled "Will the Real Economy-Size Package Please Stand Up?". The hostess served lemon fluff, tea and coffee.

Mrs. Calton McKnight was a visitor. Other members present were Mmes. Leroy Edwards, C. G. Heard, John A. Smith, Raymond Smith, Brace Hicks and Troy Waller.

College News About Students From This Area

Eight students have been selected for 1966 Homecoming duties next November 5 at Texas Lutheran College.

Chairman of the annual celebration is Harvey Renger of Hallettsville. He is assisted by Audni Miller of Dawn for the Queen's Reception.

TLC's football team will be pitted against Midwestern College of Iowa in a night tussle at Matador Stadium.

GOAL POSTS FAVOR GOGO
NEW YORK (AP) — Charley Gogolak, the No. 1 draft choice of the Washington Redskins, ought to have it made in the National Football League next season.

The kicking specialist from Princeton will have the goal posts on the goal line which is 10-yards closer than the uprights are in college ball.

About the change, Gogo says: "I won't have the tee to help me, which means I'll have to adjust to the short grass and long grass and to baseball and football fields."

Most of the parks he will play in are used by major league baseball teams.

Research Shows Value Of Weed Control Efforts

A combination of Ramrod-65, a short residual herbicide, and two flame weedings, kept grain sorghum plots free from careless weeds (pigweeds) without residual limitations on succeeding crops in 1965. CHEMICAL CONTROL of careless weeds in grain sorghum has been studied at the High Plains Research Foundation for several years. Studies during the last two years have been with the Monsanto Chemical Company's Ramrod-65 herbicide. This herbicide should give weed control for four to six weeks and the late weeds being controlled by other means such as flame weeding. The 1965 experimental area was reasonably free of weeds so that the check plot, receiving no herbicide application, had very few weeds and therefore no large difference in early weed growth due to treatment occurred. Weathermaster 66 grain sorghum was used in this test on Olton clay loam soil that was previously planted to cotton. Immediately following seeding, Ramrod-65 was sprayed in a twenty inch band over the seed row using zero, three, four and five pounds active ingredient per sprayed acre in forty gallons of water. FLOTS received two summer irrigations and were sidedressed with eighty pounds of nitrogen from anhydrous ammonia. In addition to plowing water furrows prior to the first irrigation, the plots were flame weeded on August 11 and again on September 2. Full details on careless weed control tests on grain sorghum can be found in report no. 167, by Dr. Arthur F. Gohlke, in the 1965 Research Report issued by the High Plains Research Foundation to all of its members and professional agricultural leaders in the High Plains and South Plains of Texas.

YARBOROUGH CO-SPONSORS BILL

Measure Would Provide Means Of Financing Rural Electricity

WASHINGTON, — Senator Ralph W. Yarborough of Texas has co-sponsored legislation that would bring non-government money into the rural electrification program for the first time.

The bill (S.3337) would create a bank for the nearly 1,000 rural electric systems across the nation, with money being supplied jointly by the Federal Government, rural electric systems, and private investors. As the bank grows in maturity, Government stock would become completely repaid, and ownership and control turned over to the rural electric systems.

PROPOSED legislation would not, however, affect the present Rural Electrification Administration low-cost loan program, but merely supplement it. Rural electric systems unable to pay the higher interest rates of the bank would remain eligible for the conventional REA loans, according to the proposal.

Two interest rates are being considered for the bank. The first would reflect the cost of money to the Government, while the second would be a rate related to the open money market. The REA administrator would determine which rural electric systems are eligible to borrow from the bank, and the appropriate interest rate.

AT THE PRESENT time, rural electric systems are growing at a rate faster than the electric utility industry as a whole.

and Congressional appropriation are not sufficient to meet their needs. Future electric demands are expected to be even greater.

The proposed bank would assure the rural electric systems an adequate source of growth capital and, at the same time, eventual independence from total reliance on the Federal Government. Approximately 20 million Americans are served by these systems.

Much of the world's chicle for chewing gum comes from the dense jungle and mahogany forest of El Peten in Guatemala.

Americans Are Earning More, Getting Less

American business, American workers and their families are finding that even when they are earning more they are getting less, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Today it costs $1.33 to buy what sold for $1 in 1950. One dollar saved in 1950 has lost 25 per cent of its purchasing power. It is now worth only 75 cents.

Food prices are up 32 per cent rent, up 39 per cent; public transportation, up 89 per cent; and clothing, up 12 per cent. The Government can curb inflation by eliminating all low priority spending, keeping the supply of money and credit in line with the quantity of goods and services, and balancing the budget, with a surplus in times of prosperity.

Some 128 species of fish inhabit Antarctic waters. Their trademark is large heads and small bodies.

CUT INCREASES HUNT BOUNTY

BLONDIE

DAGWOOD, HERE'S A LITTLE LIST OF JOBS THAT MUST BE DONE AROUND THE HOUSE TODAY

THIS LITTLE LIST SHE GAVE ME IS GOING TO SHOOT THE WHOLE AFTERNOON

HEY, DAGWOOD... WE'RE GETTING UP A GAME IN EDDIE'S GARAGE

SORRY, HERB... I CAN'T... I HAVE TO WORK

IF WE ALL PITCH IN AND HELP YOU, WE CAN CLEAN UP YOUR WORK IN NO TIME

YEAH

CLEM, YOU FINISH CUTTING THE GRASS-- EDDIE, YOU CLEAN THE SCREENS

HERB, TAKE THE CELLAR, AND I'LL DO THE PAINTING

WE'RE OFF

THIS SHOWS WHAT TEAMWORK CAN DO

YOU'RE OUR PAL, DAGWOOD

OUR DEAREST FRIEND... BUDDY-BOY, OLD PAL

THRU THICK AND THIN

WE'RE ALL PALS TOGETHER

WE'VE FINISHED

WE'RE FREE, FREE, FREE TO GET THE GAME GOING

BLONDIE, EVERY JOB ON THE LIST IS COMPLETED... NOW I'M FREE AS THE BREEZE TO DO WHATEVER I CHOOSE... RIGHT?

DID YOU FORGET THAT WE'RE INVITED TO THE DITHERS' THIS AFTERNOON? NOW COME IN AND GET CLEANED UP TO GO

IT'S THE OLD DOUBLE CROSS!

BUT I'M YOUR PAL

WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO WITH ME, BOYS?

MANDRAKE THE MAGICIAN

BY LEE FALK

THAT BIG GUY PRACTICALLY PULLED THE MOTOR APART. WE'LL HAVE TO WALK.

WHAT WILL WE TELL MUGGS & THE TRUTH?

"ABOUT THE BIG HAND AND ALL THAT?"

TELL HIM NOTHING. HE'D THINK WE WERE CRAZY!

OK... WE SAW IT. MAYBE WE'RE ARE!

WE GOT RID OF THE MEN, JED. WE'RE ON OUR WAY TO HEADQUARTERS.

ALL CLEAR HERE. USE THE USUAL ENTRANCE.

INSIDE THE CAR-WASH GARAGE-- A SECRET ENTRANCE TO INTER-INTEL.

UP A HUGE ESCALATOR-- THEN A SWIFT ELEVATOR-- AND INTER-INTEL!

GLAD YOU ARE HERE! WE WERE WORRIED!

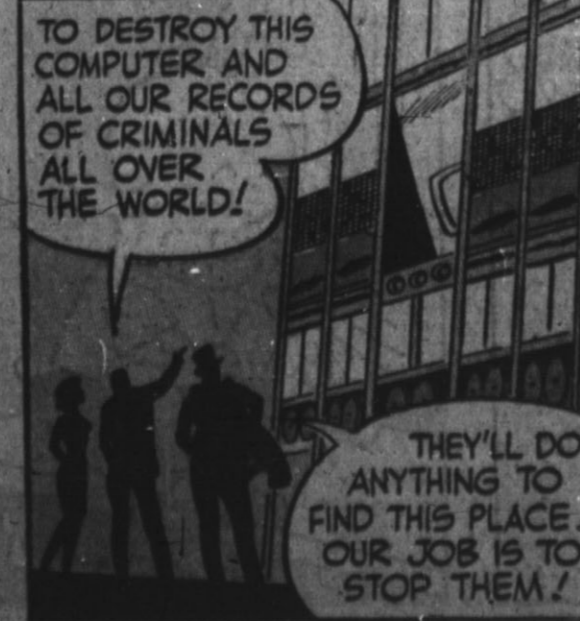

SO WERE WE.

I QUESTIONED THOSE MEN. THEY'RE WORKING FOR MUGGS.

OUR HUNCH WAS RIGHT. THE GANGS ARE GETTING TOO CLOSE FOR COMFORT!

WHAT DO THEY WANT?

TO DESTROY THIS COMPUTER AND ALL OUR RECORDS OF CRIMINALS ALL OVER THE WORLD!

THEY'LL DO ANYTHING TO FIND THIS PLACE. OUR JOB IS TO STOP THEM!

SKINNY, OUR HUNCH WAS CORRECT. MUGGS' GANG IS GETTING TOO CLOSE. KEEP AN EYE ON THEM, OVER.

I GOT YOU, JED. I'M ON THE JOB, OVER.

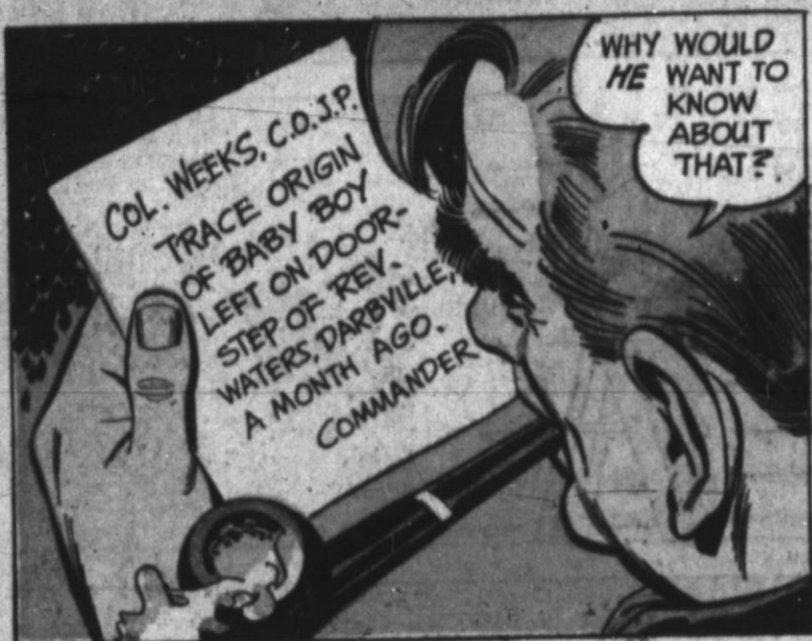

THAT GUY WITH THE SUN GLASSES. THE BOYS THINK HE'S TAILING US, MUGGS.

FOLLOW HIM. MAYBE HE'S OUR LEAD TO INTER-INTEL, AT LAST!
