AT WATER MEET

West Texans Say Fight For Rights

By LARRY FUHRMANN
Staff Writer

The day was long, the seats uncomfortable for members of the Texas Water Development Board as they listened to testimony in the last preliminary hearing on the Texas Water Plan in Lubbock Friday.

West Texans, though speaking to board members in friendly personal terms, let it be known that this area west of the 98th meridian would be included in the 'All-Texas' Plan, or face much opposition, perhaps even failure, when the time comes for approval of a final Texas Water Plan. There was no 'beating around the bush' at the final hearing of the Water Board.

Included among witnesses was a large number of State congressmen who are a part of the West Texas delegation. Also making an appearance was U. S. Representative Graham Purcell.

A long slate of speakers kept the meeting in session until late Friday afternoon, with hopes for inclusion of West Texas in the state water plan sparked by some off-the-record statements made by the state legislators who spoke to the group in the afternoon.

Perhaps most eloquent part of the testimony was that from John Ben Sheppard, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, whose statement was endorsed by a sizeable number of West Texas representatives attending the final hearing.

Another statement in the afternoon, made by this district's own representative Bill Clayton also received endorsement by a delegation of state congressmen in attendance.

"Water is serious business in West Texas, and West Texans are deadly serious when they talk about water," Sheppard said. "We realize and appreciate the difficulties that our geography and terrain present, but Texas, and particularly West Texas, was built by overcoming difficulties... historically, it is the land that 'was never to be!'"

"Neither West Texas nor the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has or will adopt a dog-in-the-manger attitude because we believe in a water plan, but we cannot and will not stand idly by and be left out, shut out or treated like a stepchild. We will fight by every means at our command unless West Texas is included in a practical, farsighted and courageous manner."

Citizens Form Council To Promote Fine Arts

Formation of a Fine Arts Council for Hereford was begun Thursday night when Ted Swindle, acting as fine arts chairman of the Chamber of Commerce, presided at an organizational meeting.

At the conclusion of a lengthy discussion, defining the purposes of the council, aspects of council responsibility, and possible project for the council, the group chose Swindle to serve as president.

Swindle named Richard Jackson, Mrs. Evelyn Hacker, Mrs. John Douglas Pittman and Horace McGuffin to serve as a planning committee. Duties of the committee will be to investigate possibilities of bringing the Amarillo Symphony to Hereford in November, the only open date available, and to formulate structural plans for the council.

Mrs. Dale Young in a statement reflecting the general consensus of the group's feeling said that in theory the formation of such a council was very good and that if the objectives outlined could be put into practice, the community would most certainly benefit.

Objectives outlined for the group include: cataloging and publicizing organizations and individuals engaged in fine arts, determining opportunities for public participation and appreciation, and encouraging and coordinating efforts of groups both old and new in fine art activities.

Possibly, a board of directors, to serve several years, will be augmented by an extensive council made up of any citizen interested in working on this phase of community life. The group suggested that the various clubs and service organizations in the county might want representatives on the council.

Freeman Says Farmers' Income Still Below Par

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, speaking before a crowd of several thousand at the annual field day of High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway, told farmers that prices received for farm commodities had never been high enough in years past except during periods of national crisis.

But this year is different, he told the crowd, claiming that Viet Nam is not a national crisis, and has had no part in boosting farm prices during the Johnson administration.

"I was speaking once before in West Texas," he told the crowd, "when it started raining." The country had been suffering from a severe drought, he said, and as the rain poured down the people stopped listening. But that didn't stop him from finishing his speech. "No one was listening, but I thought I'd go ahead and talk. You needed the rain."

Speaking on farm income, the Secretary commented, "Any way you look at it, it's dramatically, significantly, encouragingly up. Net farm income is up nationwide an estimated $4 billion over 1965. It is expected to reach a total of $15.7 billion this year."

"Since 1960, realized net income per farm, on a nationwide average, has climbed 60 per cent, rising from $2,956 to an estimated $4,785 this year... and per capita farm income has risen from $1,108 in 1960 to $1,670 this year. In Texas, farm income in 1965, as compared with 1960, was up $371 million gross, $77 million net, over $1,000 net per farm on a statewide average basis."

Applause came from the thousands gathered when Freeman asserted, "It won't be good enough until the farmers of America get what they rightfully deserve — full parity of income (hopefully by 1970) with their city cousins."

"Despite the fact that the income gap has been narrowed by 16 per cent since 1960, farmers today still earn only two-thirds of what non-farmers earn."

Freeman said that most of the income gain was achieved through cooperation of farmers with Federal farm programs to reduce surpluses, and through increased production efficiency.

After speaking specifically on different aspects of cotton production and grain sorghum production, Freeman said the Democratic administration in 1961 set out to do three things:

- 1) Reduce surpluses.
- 2) Establish a food budget which would gear production to domestic, export and overseas aid requirements, and
- 3) Increase farm income.

"In five and a half years price-depressing surpluses have all but been eliminated," Freeman said. "Surpluses of grain, milk, vegetable oil, and rice are nearly gone. In 1961 we had 1.4 billion bushels of wheat on hand. Today carryovers are down to a prudent level of less than 540 million bushels."

"The five major farm bills passed in the six years of this administration, culminating in the far reaching Food and Agriculture Act of 1965, played key roles in successfully encouraging farmers to take unneeded acres out of production, to stimulate increased export trade, to create the first balanced agriculture in half a century, and to increase farm income."

The act is flexible, Freeman continued, saying that with carryovers down to manageable proportions, the department of agriculture is calling more acreage into the production of needed commodities. To meet new domestic and overseas demands, half of the U. S. reserve acres may be brought back into production by next year, he forecast.

"In the 11 years of Food for Peace we shipped overseas 150 million tons of food valued at more than $15 billion. This year alone we will provide drought-stricken India with a fourth of our total wheat production to save the lives of an estimated 21 million people in that beleaguered nation."

"Those who suggest that farm programs can be dropped and the regulation of production left to the 'free market' ignore the fact that effective commercial demand does not always reflect real human need," he charged.

"The millions of protein starved babies in the hungry nations have no buying power in the marketplace."

Freeman told the group that he knows three "very good" reasons why farm programs cannot yet be done away with:

- 1) American farmers still have a productive capacity for

Annual Ag Tour Set

A tour of Deaf Smith County farms will be conducted Thursday afternoon at one. The tour is the annual Conservation and Crops Tour conducted under the direction of the County Agent Justin McBride.

The public is invited to register at the Bull Barn. James Gouddy will have registration open for 15 minutes. Hugh Clearman will introduce guests before the tour leaves for the airport.

At the airport, Wilton Green and Ed Parton will explain rangeland conservation.

Next stop is the E. C. Reinarter farm where Paul Scott of Holly Sugar will discuss sugar beet test plots.

James Valentine will discuss fertilizer time for milo at the Bill Walden place.

At the Jess Robinson farm north of Hereford, Ben Spears and Dr. Lee Coffee will show row spacing and rate of seeding in a discussion of milo plant population. Bill Lyle, Green and Spears will show how tail water return is used in irrigating milo and Dr. Allen Wiese will discuss chemical weed control in milo. Layton Sawyer and Leo Witkowski will give an equipment demonstration.

Moving on up highway 385, the group will stop at the Carl See ANNUAL Page 2

Voters Turn Down Elementary School

Voters said 'No' to a bond proposal slated for an elementary school building and by a slim margin of 60 votes. 'Yes' to a proposed vocational school.

Considered a heavy vote for a school election, 750 voted at the tax office in Hereford and 43 voted at the box at the Dawn Community Center.

In the Hereford box, 380 voted for the vocational school and 317 against it. On the elementary school issue, 199 voted for and 497 voted against it.

In the Dawn box were 20 votes for the vocational school and 23 against it. The elementary issue had only 9 votes for and had 34 against.

Ten absentee votes were included in the 750 counted at the Hereford box. Eleven ballots were cast absentee, but one was mutilated, giving only ten valid votes.

Total tabulations show 400 for the vocational school; 340 against; 208 were for the elementary school and 531 voted against it.

The two issues were presented to the voting public after school board members had heard discussions in a public meeting last spring.

Funds remaining from a $2.4 million bond issue voted several years ago had been estimated as being short the amount necessary for an additional elementary school.

The board felt that they had an obligation to ask the public if they could use existing funds to build the addition to the high school campus that would house the vocational school, they told the public meeting.

Originally, a citizen's committee had suggested that two elementary schools be built, one junior high building and various additions and remodeling projects undertaken. All of the proposed plan has been completed but the last elementary school.

Added building costs, the bus barn, etc. used enough of the funds to make it necessary for additional bonds to be voted if an elementary building is to be built. Cost is estimated at $450,000 with an additional $100,000 for furnishings as figured by Herb Brasher, architect.

The members of the school board had said that the building is not needed immediately but that the building would not be built until needed, stressing the fact that the intervening time would be used in planning the building.

The vocational school building is necessary to maintain classes begun this year if the Hereford schools are to obtain state vocational aid. Estimated at a cost of $300,000, the Hereford district had to supply only $150,000 since the state will meet the local district half-way on vocational facilities.

Classes are being held in temporary quarters and the state would not contribute to the program if these conditions last more than this year.

Considered to be an area vocational school, the facility could conceivably include adult education in the future. Students from surrounding towns will be permitted to enroll in classes when the complete program is initiated.

Students will train in practical trades, choosing an area of interest to them, with the help of school counselors. Being taught this year are cosmetology, auto mechanics and building trades.

Weed Plan Advanced

An early morning meeting of the Agriculture Committee of the Chamber of Commerce was devoted to a discussion of establishing a weed control district.

Cited as examples of districts that are operating successfully were Hale and Floyd Counties. Floyd County was discussed as having a spray program that is considered successful.

The committee said that an agency for weed control would be a policing and enforcing agent; that farmers would consent. See WEED Page 2

Leaf Lettuce Newest Crop

A little field of lettuce becoming big news this week in Deaf Smith County because it chucks up another first.

Not having been grown commercially in this area before, leaf lettuce beats the head lettuce to market, insuring better prices.

Grown northeast of town on land owned by White Farms and Cattle Co., the lettuce is being packed and marketed by Veg-Pak, a vegetable company operating with home offices in San Antonio.

The White brothers, Joe and Murphy, heard that leaf lettuce in other areas had had some problems this year and that the market would probably be strong, so they decided to try several acres. They drilled 25 acres in the leaf lettuce adjoining 10 acres of head lettuce.

Side by side, the two fields offer quite a contrast. A rain a few days after the head lettuce was planted created a problem with stand.

"We've got a good stand down yonder in the fence row," Joe remarked.

The leaf lettuce was planted early enough to catch rain that did mostly good. A few skips in the field are attributed to the early rain, but later rains amounting to almost 6 inches cut the number of waterings to three.

Planted on July 18, it was first watered on July 20. Being harvested less than two months later, profit is bound to be more because of the short growing season required.

Drilled into beds as other lettuce is, the leaf variety, Grand Rapids, Waldeman's Strain, had to be thinned, sprayed and watered as other lettuce.

They said that over-all growing costs for the leaf lettuce would be some less.

Dell Smith, representative for Veg-Pak said that the crop was a good fill-in and that by adding different vegetables for marketing from this area, that the market for existing crops would be better. In explaining this, he mentioned that some companies are buying carrots from Michigan because they can get their shipments filled out with celery from that area.

Smith said that if the farmers in this area would be willing to experiment with different crops on a small basis, that his company would be more than willing to work with them.

By planting several new vegetables for the area, he pointed out that farmers would not be risking any great amount of money and that one vegetable serves as insurance against another in the event of adverse circumstances for any one crop.

"If farmers with lots of land, like the Whites, could divert a few acres to a new crop, they could be almost assured of hitting top market, good growing conditions with at least one of their crops," Smith said.

Smith said that in his opinion, that this area could be good. See LEAF Page 2 outstripping current demands.

2) Farm programs set production to the needs of the hungry countries who are being aided, and

3) Unless the individual farmer can cooperate with his government, he is without a broadly effective means of advancing his objectives in the supply-demand arena.

"The farmer has very little of the 'muscle in the marketplace' that industry for the most part enjoys," he claimed.

"Perhaps the best thing I can say about our system, and I can assure you I recognize that our farm commodity programs are controversial, is that it has worked," he said. "American agriculture is without a peer — and all the world knows it. In science, in space, education, it sometimes is debated whether the United States or some other country is superior. But in agriculture, 'no.' The superiority of American agriculture is acknowledged all over the world.

"We should draw a lesson from this. If we want to keep that 'best diet at the lowest real cost in the world,' as I'm sure we do, we've got to see to it that our farmers are kept on the land producing that abundance for us.

"Since 1960, farm prices have increased 14 per cent. But farm cost rates have risen 12 per cent during the same period.

"We must, as a very practical measure, meet the competition of the good job opportunities open to American farmers by giving them a fair return for what they give to all of us... in order to keep them on the land."

were various questions brought to the attention of Swindle and the local chamber by a recent meeting of West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

At this meeting it was pointed out that industry and business consider the Panhandle of Texas to be in a cultural vacuum. The group meeting Thursday night said that if it helped business and industry to develop fine arts, that was fine, but that the main purpose of the fine arts council should be to develop areas of interest in the community — that any side results to business should be secondary. Meeting Thursday night and agreeing to form a nucleus for a council were Swindle, Jackson, Mrs. Pitman, Mrs. Hacker, Mrs. Dick Godwin, Mrs. Henry Sears, Mrs. Eunice Petersen, Robert Renfro, Mrs. Bess Werner, Mrs. Dale Young, Mrs. Carl Perrin, Mrs. Ernest McGee, Mrs. Albert Farris, Mrs. Wayne Thomas, Horace McGuffin, and Mrs. Wm. trict 2 of the Texas Farm Bureau, backed up Sheppard's position in predicting a "fight at the water hole" if West Texas is excluded in the water plan. H. A. Tuck, managing editor of the Morton Tribune and representing that city, stated that "if we're going to pay part of the bill, we want to have our share of the benefit."

"We feel that the position taken by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has been one of fairness and of understanding. We know that the search for adequate water in West Texas is a never-ending task demanding imagination, perception hard work and a willingness to consider any alternative," Sheppard asserted.

"This organization pledges cooperation in any plan that encompasses the whole state and we further pledge active participation and leadership in the absolute necessity of eliminating all waste of water, to utilize all water presently available through reuse, recycling and modification," he said. George W. McCleskey, a member of the steering committee of the water committee of the West Texas Chamber, made the official policy statement of the organization. The West Texas C of C requests that studies, or restudies, be made of:

1) "The amount of surplus water available in Texas; opinions with some apparent validity vary from 4.5 million acre feet to double that amount with the Water Development Board making the lower estimate;

2) "Engineering and economic feasibility of delivery on this and other water to West Texas;

3) "Importation of water to Texas, whether from the east, west, north or south, with or without displacement between these areas;

4) "Diversion at the highest possible elevation or equivalent studies to the same result; and

5) "Release of downstream water rights for upstream use on a priority basis both as required by the proposed constitutional amendment and as a general principle where water is available in the basin or from transbasin transfer."

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce also openly doubted the word of the water development board in its predictions of future population figures for major West Texas cities; the board's projection of 434,000 for Amarillo in 2020 was cited in grave error according to all past growth records. The city's own projection estimates 845,493 persons in 2020.

"In view of its treatment of West Texas, it is our request that you delay the adoption of a Texas Water Plan until a plan for ALL the State of Texas can be adopted in accordance with your charge by the Governor," the chamber policy continued.

"Specifically, we request the following studies of Texas water by you or through your cooperation with others:

1) "Availability of additional water from the Red and Arkansas Rivers,

2) "Availability of additional water by use of our Colorado River, and

3) "Availability of additional water by high elevation diversion from Northeast Texas.

"It is our purpose to obtain these studies," McCleskey continued. "Through you, we hope. If not, it is our intention to obtain them by private contract, by legislation or by other available means.

"Yet, we do not intend to trade studies for water. We completely understand the need for a Texas Water Plan, as much as any area. If, however, it does not include water for West Texas, we are, at best, neutral, and we do not intend to be idle while water which might be available here is committed elsewhere."

Addressing the group later in the afternoon, State Representative Bill Clayton asserted, "West Texas has been led to believe there is much in the plan for us. All I find in the plan is to try to get West Texas in the Colorado River Basin study bill now pending in Congress, modify a few play lakes, and set up an office of the Water Development Board in West Texas. These ideas are good, but in reality do not furnish West Texas a single drop of water.

"As you must realize by now, this 14 per cent of the nation's agricultural food and fiber products and if America is to feed the world, we cannot afford to decrease in productivity. In fact, we must increase production to meet the ever increasing demands and to keep Texas economy booming. To meet the demands of increased production, we must have water. If we only had the 2,000,000 plus acre feet of East Texas surplus water not allocated by the Texas Water Plan, we could maintain the present level of irrigation."

Clayton addressed these questions to the development board:

1) "Why not continue a study on the cost of transporting East Texas Water to West Texas?"

2) "Why not help an area continue its agriculture production instead of creating new areas by providing them water for irrigation of thousands of new acres?" (He cited plans of the board for diverting East Texas water into now unirrigated lands in the Rio Grande Valley region.)

3) "Why not import water from Arkansas, Missouri, or Mississippi Rivers into the East Texas complex, thereby making available water for all the state?"

4) "Why not consider a transportation system to West Texas as a dual purpose system in the event Northwest water is ever imported to this area?"

Clayton cited statements by Governor John Connally which pointed out that Texas has enough water within its own boundaries to satisfy all its water needs. "We in State government have a constitutional duty to conserve, develop, and distribute the water resources of Texas," the governor was quoted as saying. "The effective performance of this duty requires the preparation of a state water plan, flexible enough to meet evolving long-range needs but specific enough to solve immediate water supply problems" tribute the water resources of Texas," the governor was quoted as saying. "The effective performance of this duty requires the preparation of a state water plan, flexible enough to meet evolving long-range needs but specific enough to solve immediate water supply problems"

In closing the hearing, Executive Director of the Texas Water Development Board Joe G. Moore made these suggestions to those gathered:

1) "Recognize that West Texas irrigation water supply conditions are facts of geography and climate, not the product of actions by the Texas Water Development Board in preparing the Texas Water Plan;

2) "Understand the Texas Water Plan for what it is, a 'flexible guide' to future water development in Texas.

3) "Stress the contribution of irrigated agriculture to the State's total economy. The Board has consistently recognized that the major contribution of West Texas irrigated agriculture to the viability of the State's economy makes its continuation essential.

"Economic studies of the West Texas area demonstrate conclusively that the secondary and tertiary benefits from your agricultural production, as well as the direct dollar value of the crops, have a profound impact, not only on the economic health of this region, but also upon the state as a whole.

"Unfortunately, this conclusion is not accepted by all Texans. There are those who have seriously suggested that the Board delete from its projections of water requirements any reference to water for irrigation.

"Too many citizens have the impression that irrigated agriculture merely compounds the accumulation of surplus products for which Federal subsidies are paid at the expense of Federal taxpayers. The Board has attempted to dispel this impression, but it persists.

4) "Conserve existing surface and ground water supplies through elimination of waste, utilization of improved irrigation methods, improved plant strains, playa lake modifications and consideration of ground water controls at the local level.

5) "Continue analysis of agricultural economics to determine what price West Texas irrigators will pay under water supply contracts.

6) "Determine the organizational structure and financing necessary to assure sustained yield water management of existing and imported supplemental water supplies.

7) "Suggest a priority sequence for delivery of water to various areas and volumes to be delivered, and determine the methods and procedures of the distributing agency.

8) "Assist the Texas Water Development Board in securing funds to implement the action program announced at its meeting in Lubbock on June 17, 1966, and funds for continued refinement and modification of the Texas Water Plan in the years ahead.

9) "Support the constitutional amendment increasing the Texas Water Development Fund from $200 to $400 million, and expanding the purposes for which it can be used. The people of Texas should be aware that the proposed amendment gives the first constitutional recognition to protecting water users in every river basin from the planned diversion of water which could be required to meet each basin's reasonably foreseeable future water requirements for the next 50 years. Its language prohibits the use of any State funds for such diversions 'except on a temporary or interim basis.'

10) "Weigh the urgency of securing a supplemental surface water supply for irrigation against the time and money required for study of alternatives and agreement upon a course of action.

"I would ask you here today not to abandon a course of objective and critical appraisal of the Texas Water Plan. I would ask you rather to join us in the continuing review of that plan as it is implemented, and as it undergoes the inevitable modifications which changing conditions will impress upon it. I ask you to look at all the facts clearly, and to think and speak of the Plan and of continuing water resource planning, not as West Texans, but as Texans."

for celery, turnips, turnip green other 'garden' type vegetables. Besides having fertile soil, he said that the usually cool nights and mornings made for good healthy vegetables.

The Whites farm eight sections, owning 5 1/2 in Deaf Smith County. They figured they didn't have much to lose since they had raised lettuce before.

"A few acres in a vegetable crop is as important as a section or so in a grain crop, economically," Smith said.

Leaf lettuce is packed in stalks. The Whites are getting about $1 a crate and are estimating that the field will produce 400 crates per acre after all cuttings are in.

The Veg-Pak people think that the field could make 500 crates per acre.

This yield is comparable to that of head lettuce and the price is quite acceptable the Whites said.

The Whites live in Canyon but have farmed in this area for many years, having moved to this area when small boys. They are sons of the late Jim White.

Whitefaces Take Wind Out Of Whirlwind's Sail

By TYLER VANCE
Staff Writer

A high spirited Whiteface football squad moved out from a slow start Friday evening, to bring home a 14-7 victory over the Floydada Whirlwinds.

Although 9 penalties and 7 fumbles slowed their advance, the Herd managed to take the lead before half-time, and hold Floydada scoreless for the next two quarters.

Bill Watts and Tony Malouf each scored 6 points. Ernie Williams scored 2 points.

The Whitefaces had 13 first downs, as compared to the Whirlwind's 6, and had a net gain of 192 yards while Floydada managed only 5 yards.

Floydada took to the air as the Herd defense put on the pressure, completing 5 of 15 passes attempted. The Herd attempted 4 passes, completing 2 of them, and gaining 28 yards. The Whirlwinds gained 33 yards in their passing attempts.

As Floydada's defense began to wear down, the Herd offensive attack reached full strength and racked up a total of 220 yards gained before the final whistle. Principal offensive men in the game were quarterbacks Phillip Cain and Jim Childress, also half backs Gary Tucker and Ernie Williams. The Herd's defense held the Whirlwinds to a total of 38 yards gained.

Nine penalties slowed the increasing advance of the Herd team. Hereford lost a total of 82 yards after fumbling on the wet gridiron. The Floydada twelve lost 11 yards from their 2 fumbles.

Hereford was able to latch on to 4 Whirlwind passes, but Floydada was unable to bag a Whiteface toss.

The Whitefaces totaled 73 offensive plays to the Whirlwind's 49, and also led in rushing plays, 62-28.

Charlie Brewton, Wayne Miller and Ricky Fangman led the Herd's defensive attack in tackles and assists. Donnie Fangman and Bill Watts each had spectacular un-assisted tackles. Seventeen gang tackles were credited to the team. Gary Tucker held Whirlwind pass completions to a minimum, intercepting 3 Floydada passes. Watt and Williams also knocked away Whirlwind tosses.

In the first quarter, Floydada received the ball on their 31 yard line and made two first downs. They were then forced to kick to the Herford 26. Bill Watts and Billy Frank picked up 1 first down, but a fumble lost 9 yards for the Herd. The 'faces kicked to the Floydada 32. The Whirlwinds failed to gain any yardage against the Herford defense, and kicked to the Herford 6. The Herd picked up 4 yards but again fumbled on the 9 yard line. The fumble was recovered by Floydada, putting them in scoring position. Hereford was off-sides which moved the ball to the Herford

5. On the third down, the Whirlwinds scored from the one yard line with 2:46 left in the quarter. The kick for extra points was good, making the score 7-0, in favor of Floydada.

Gary Tucker returned the Whirlwind kick to the Herford 41, a 21 yard run. On the second down, Tucker was again moving, to pick up a first down on the Floydada 35, after a 20 yard run. Three plays gained 9 yards as the first quarter ended.

On third down and 13 to go Tucker passed to Watts for 21 yards and Hereford's first TD. Williams ran over for a 2 point conversion, making the score 8-7 Whitefaces leading.

The Herd again took possession of the ball as Ernie Williams intercepted a Whirlwind pass at the Whiteface 34. Hereford moved to the Floydada 15, but were held there. With Floydada in possession, Tucker stole the ball at Floydada's 29, and Gary Goodin picked up 11 yards. Williams and Goodin picked up a first on the Floydada 3, and Malouf scored from the one yard line, with 3:17 left in the second quarter. The drive for extra points was fouled by the Floydada defense.

The Whirlwind's were again held and forced to kick, this time to the Herford 23. Tucker picked up 39 yards to the Floydada 38, but a motion penalty nullified a completed pass near the goal line, and Hereford kicked. The Whirlwind twelve returned the punt to mid-field. Pass interference was called on Hereford at the 21, but Tucker picked off a Floydada pass and returned it 36 yards to mid-field as the half ended.

Frank returned the second half kick-off 22 yards to the Herd 42, and Williams and Frank picked up a first down at Floydada's 40. A 15 yard holding penalty stopped the drive and Tucker's punt was good for only 11 yards. Floydada and Hereford traded fumbles near the 35 yard line, and the Whirlwinds were set back to their own 8 when a passer was tackled before launching the ball. They then punted to the Herford 43.

Frank returned it to a first down and Cain to Davis passes netted another first. But Hereford again fumbled the wet and slippery pigskin at the Floydada 30 yard line. Three plays later, the Herd regained the ball on another fumble.

Hereford got a first on the Floydada 11 after piling on penalty. The third quarter ended with the score still 14-7, Hereford.

The Herd was met with stiff Whirlwind defense, as they lost 23 yards in 4 plays. Then Floydada lost a net of 14 yards before they fumbled. The fumble, recovered by Hereford on the 20 yard line. Four plays later, Hereford failed to get a first down, but still controlled the ball after recovering a fumble on the Floydada 10. Again four plays failed to get a first. The Whirlwinds took possession, and got a first down on a penalty for roughing the kicker, a 15 yard penalty. Floydada got still another first down when a pass to a Whirlwind receiver changed hands in the air several times, and finally landed in the arm of the intended receiver. On the next play, Tucker got his third pass interception of the evening.

Once again, the Herd had problems getting the ball down field. They kicked to the Floydada 29. With one minute to go, the Whirlwinds tried three long passes, which the Herd defense batted away. They did complete one screen pass, good for a 5 yard loss. Hereford then killed the ball to run out the clock.

Next Friday, the Herd will take on the Olton Mustangs of class 3-A-A, on Whiteface field, which will be their first home game of the season. The new football programs will be on sale at the gates for Fridays game, set to begin at 8 p. m.

The Mustangs tromped over the Morton Indians in their season opener, 28-0. The Mustangs completed 6 passes out of 11 attempted. Olton counted 77 yards gained, and 365 yards on the ground. Quarter backs Charles McClain and Bobby Turner alternated signal-calling duties during the game.

FEATURED SPEAKER — Head coach Jack Meredith was the featured speaker at the Hereford Kiwanis Club. Pictured with him is Jim Arney, program chairman for the Kiwanis Club.

Meredith Speaks To Kiwanis Club

Jack Meredith said Thursday at Kiwanis that with only 22 boys on the team, that several would get to play "all they want to."

Originally the varsity string had 26, but with Ken Stark out due to a summer accident, along with other drop outs, the strength dwindled until those remaining really have a responsibility, Meredith said.

"We have the best group of hitters we've ever had," he told the service club at their luncheon meeting. "These kids only want to get there — they DO get there."

Meredith mentioned several boys that have real drive, but added that lots of polishing needed to be done as evidenced in scrimmages with Clovis and Palo Duro.

Meredith said that he has eight two-way players, and that he has quite a bit of inexperience on the line.

After the B team completes a round with varsity teams from Ralls, Hart and Hale Center, Meredith said that he could pull some of those players into varsity play.

Considered heavy enough, but not heavy enough to brag about, Meredith said that the average weight of players was below 200.

Newsoms Ready For Bureau Trip

By SHERRIN BETTS
Staff Writer

Final preparations are being made by Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Newsom, 219 Ranger, for their Farm Bureau Market Builder Tour of Europe which will begin next week.

With 83 other Texas farmers, ranchers and their wives, the Newsoms will make the trip through seven countries — England, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, Germany, Switzerland and France.

Never having toured Europe before, the Newsoms are anticipating a marvelous time. They are planning to lunch with Helga Thome, 1956 exchange student from Germany who lived with Newsom's parents while in Hereford.

Of the 85 Texans taking the tour, there are seven from the Panhandle — one from Amarillo, two from Darrouzet and two from Booker. The Newsoms say they "don't know a one" but that they plan to get acquainted.

The Newsoms feel that the highlight of their tour will be the Berlin excursion. One entire day will be spent sightseeing in Berlin and going behind the wall. They are also especially anxious to see Germany and Switzerland.

Marketing of fruits and vegetables will be stressed in England, and market potential for dairy products will be highlighted in Holland, Smithfield meat market and Covent Garden produce market in London and the Grossmark in Frankfurt, Germany, three of the world's most famous markets, will be given close observation by the tourists.

The main purpose of the tour is to locate the marketing areas to eventually import and move Texas agricultural commodities. Emphasis will also be placed upon European regulations pertaining to the importation of foreign products.

The tour members will learn of European commerce, government and agriculture through visits to the Farm Bureau Trade Development Corporation in Rotterdam, the European common market in Brussels and United States embassies. Briefings will be conducted by some of the top American and European marketing experts as well as the agricultural staffs assigned to the various U. S. embassies.

Highlight of the tour is expected to occur in Wiesbaden, Germany where a market development program will be held featuring several top marketing people. The day will wind up with a Texas style cookout at a Rhine River castle.

The first Farm Bureau Market Builder tour conducted in the spring of 1965 resulted in development of an export market in West Germany for fresh chilled Texas beef. A market was found and a series of successful shipments paved the way for a more extensive and aggressive program. Planning for export programs for Texas vegetable and citrus commodities also resulted from that first tour. Walter Meyer, Farm Bureau director of trade development said these areas will be re-examined with Texans getting a first hand look at what has been accomplished and what will have to be done in the future.

Meyer has termed the trip a "working tour" first and a "sight seeing tour" second. The Newsoms will have plenty of time available, however, for a look at some of Europe's greatest tourist attractions. Included are guided tours of all of the major tourist attractions. Included are guided tours of all of the major cities visited by the group as well as scenic trips through rural areas. In London, Paris, and Brussels and other cities there will be many opportunities to shop and view the main plants of history, cab and cultural interests.

Leaving at 10:40 a. m. Thursday, the Newsoms will arrive in London at 6:40 a. m. Friday (11:30 p. m. Thursday our time). Time is being allowed on the schedule for the members of the tour to spend Friday afternoon resting if they so desire.

Newsom is not directly connected with agriculture, working with Gifford-Hill Western. He was formerly a farmer, however, and much of his work at Gifford-Hill is done with farmers.

Newsom, who moved to Hereford when he was ten was transferred by Gifford-Hill in 1955 to Garden City, Kansas. Two

Gault's Cattle Entered In Show

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oklahoma September 7, 1966 — Special — The registered horned Hereford herd of Gaults Diamond Hereford Ranch, Hereford, Texas, has entered eight of their top animals in competition at the State Fair of Oklahoma's Register of Merit Hereford Show to be held in Oklahoma City September 24 through October 2.

The Sooner State's Register of Merit Show will be the first show to have ROM designation in Oklahoma in several years. The Register of Merit designation adds emphasis to the show since there are only ten such shows held in the nation each year. The animals competing are vying for ROM points for their sires and dams in addition to $15,000 in prize money. The added emphasis of the show will bring together most of the outstanding herds from throughout the Midwest and the Southwest. Judging of the Register of Merit Hereford breeding will be on Tuesday, September 27 and Wednesday, September 28.

THREE LEADS PICKED
NEW YORK — Three of the leading ladies picked for four overseas production of "Sweet Charity" are familiar Broadway performers.

Heading the Australian company is to be Elizabeth Sea, who appeared in "Irma La Douce;" in Paris the star will be Jeanmarie, a frequent visitor; and in London, New York's own Chita Rivera will perform. The Vienna version is to star Johanna Vonkoscian, a favorite performer there.

BAPTIST FIGHT LIQUOR

JACKSON, Miss. — Editorials in the Baptist Record, weekly newspaper of the Mississippi Baptist convention, have strongly urged votes to defeat sale of alcoholic beverages in county local-option liquor elections.

Declaring that it is "against liquor... all liquor... legal and illegal, bond or bootleg," the Southern Baptist newspaper also included a four-page tabloid supplement devoted to the matter. Mississippi, the last state to end prohibition, left it up to each county to ban or authorize liquor sales.

Lions Sponsor Youth Contest

The youth of Easter, Hereford and surrounding communities have been given a challenge to develop a plan for world peace by their local Lions Clubs — a challenge that could earn one of them a $25,000 educational and/or career assistance grant.

The Hereford and Easter Lions Clubs together with Lions Clubs throughout the world are sponsoring a world-wide essay contest for the world's youth on the most important world subject today — Peace. The contests offers $50,000 in total awards, including the $25,000 first prize, eight semi-final world regional awards of $1,000 each and travel expenses for the eight winners to Chicago in July, 1967. At that time, the first prize winner will be chosen from the list. Also, more than 20,000 local, district and multiple district awards will be made.

Both Bill Struve and Bill Gentry, presidents of Easter and Hereford Lions Clubs respectively, have expressed the hope that one of the young people in our area will win this world-wide prestige award.

The contest, open to young people who will be 14 but less than 22 years of age as of January 15, 1967, was announced by the President of Lions International, Edward M. Lindsey, of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., during the Association's Annual International Convention in New York.

"The Peace Essay Contest is divided into eight world divisions for the $1,000 prizes," stated the presidents.

The Club winner will advance to Lions District 271 competition in his (her) effort to qualify for the multiple district contest, informed the Presidents of the local clubs.

The contest sponsored by more than 20,000 Lions Clubs in more than 130 countries in the free world will be the largest Peace Essay Contest in the world today.

It was said by one of the club presidents that "the purpose of the contest is to develop a formula for world peace because we feel peace is attainable." "We want to alert our youth to the need for world peace and focus attention on that important goal," he said.

In announcing the contest internationally, President Lindsey said that Lions International the world's largest service club, is well qualified to sponsor such a contest.

He said the world-wide representation of Lions, the attention given to international relations and friendship between different nationalities and their participation in international humanitarian programs were their credentials for the patronage of the contest.

Contestants should submit their entry in essay form, not to exceed 5,000 words.

It was announced by the club presidents that judging will fall into four categories; 75 per cent of the essay's points will be devoted to content, ten per cent organization, ten per cent to style, and five per cent to mechanics. (The mechanics segment will be used to appraise the grammatical construction of the essay.)

The winner who advances through the judging stages up to the world finals will receive an expense paid trip to Chicago to attend the Lions International 50th Annual Convention for the final judging of his essay in addition to the $1,000 award.

Struve and Gentry expressed their hope that local young people would accept the challenge and enter his club's section of the contest. Closing date for the club's contest is December 10, 1966.

Students wishing to enter the contest may contact one of the local Lions to get full details of the contest.

The age limit for the contest includes all youth 14 but less than 22 years of age as of January 15, 1967.

Both men announced that each applicant would be limited to one entry, with one winner's essay eligible to compete in the Lions District 271 contest. Winners of district contest will be entered in state or country contest. Each country or multiple district winner will be entered in one of the eight world divisions.

Swindle Gets Satisfaction Out Of Poetry Writing

When culture is mentioned, one instinctively thinks of Van Cliburn's music, or Da Vinci's paintings, or the famous ballets and operas. Poetry and philosophy also deserve prominent places in our American culture because one Hereford man.

Ted Swindle — poet, teacher, father, husband, expresses his belief that "knowledge of poetic idealism is necessary for survival of mankind because poetry is that which lifts us above human level and causes us to strive for that which is noble and good." He feels that a knowledge of this type is necessary for an individual to "obtain personal fulfillment."

Rearred in Pampa, Texas, Swindle was graduated from Pampa High School. He was a 1965 recipient of a BS degree in English from West Texas State University.

Before completing his college work, Swindle spent three years in the United States Armed Forces. Stationed in West Berlin two years, he traveled extensively, touring West Germany, Holland and England. Of all the countries he visited, Swindle preferred the people of Holland. He says they are "open-minded, industrious and receptive to Americans."

Swindle, who has been writing since his high school days, did not begin any serious writing until college. With an amused grin he admits that while in high school he saw "no value in poetry" and believed there was no "connection between poetry and poems." I have since learned that good poetry is far more than a group of words that rhymes, but whether it "conveys life's secrets to those who understand."

Swindle sees no great cultural feat in memorizing poems, for he feels that merely knowing the poem will not "add greatly to the person," but that it is the "knowledge between poetry and the connection to life which adds personal fulfillment."

He does not consider poetry a "storehouse of solutions to problems," but rather as an "arena of noble thoughts where people can improve themselves through contact with the best in others as revealed in individual poems."

Swindle feels that the creative effort in all areas — painting, music, sculpting, drama, poetry — is basically the same. The only change is the "manifestation of the creative effort," he says. He declares that though some people are capable in one area and not in another, they all "share a common bond of inspiration."

Swindle says that when he became aware that he wanted to become a teacher, he also realized his desire to make a career of writing; fully aware that it would take a number of years to reach his goal.

Though still unable to devote all of his time to writing, Swindle has done a considerable amount of writing since coming to that realization. While in Berlin two of his poems, "Summer Rain" and "The Wall," were published in Stars and Stripes, a military newspaper for servicemen. Last summer he entered twenty-five poems in a contest at Piney Woods Writers' Conference which is held each summer at Stephen F. Austin College in Nacodoches. He won 2nd place in the lyric poetry contest.

Most of Swindle's poetry leads toward philosophy and nature, and the interaction of the two areas. Swindle was appointed counselor of the Poetry Society of Texas in June, through the efforts of William E. Bard, President. He is currently trying to organize a local chapter of the poetry society.

The society is established for those who write and those who are interested. Its purpose is to further the cause of poetry by providing an opportunity to Texas poets and to further the appreciation of poetry through encouraging activities which attract public awareness.

The club will invite speakers to their meetings and will discuss and interpret the poetry of club members or other poets, operating on a similar program to that of the state meetings held in Dallas each month. At each state meeting, the contest winners poems are read and discussed by those present.

At present the local society has four members: Swindle, Mrs. Carl Perrin, Mrs. Leroy Aven and Mrs. Naomi Hcpson and they are anxious to obtain new members.

Swindle teaches creative arts and English in Hereford High School and his wife, Marilyn, teaches 4th grade at Aikman. They have a daughter, Stephanie Ann, aged 5 months.

Auto Inspection Time Has Begun

AUSTIN — Colonel Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, announced today that the 1967 vehicle inspection period has begun.

Garrison said that the new inspection period began on September 1 and will end on April 15, 1967 as prescribed by the Public Safety Commission. The inspection period is the same as in previous years.

"This means that between now and April 15, 1967, each of the five and one half million Texas registered vehicles will have to secure the new green and white 1967 inspection sticker from one of the 550 official inspection stations," he said.

Garrison pointed out that Texas inspection stations can be identified by the official vehicle inspection station sign displayed at each station.

Garrison suggested that if motorists have their vehicles inspected during the routine visits to garages for ordinary maintenance, the necessity of having to wait in line at a later date for an inspection will be eliminated.

In announcing the new inspection period, the Public Safety Director pointed out that vehicle defects contributing to traffic accidents in Texas during 1965 were the fewest yet experienced since the inspection program began in 1951.

Texas Cops Intersectional Games Second Year Straight

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

The biggest football race in the world opens this week and appropriately enough, it will be in the state that can claim national schoolboy supremacy.

Texas for the second straight year won the major intersectional games in the nation, beating Pennsylvania in the Big 33 at Hershey, Pa., 34-2, and whipping Oklahoma 14-0 in the Oil Bowl at Wichita Falls.

Of course, it's a mythical thing since Texas can't play all of the other states, but Pennsylvania had laid claim to the title and upheld its contention against all comers until Texas stepped into the picture.

Texas was invited and found Pennsylvania a tough host the first year. Then Texas beat Pennsylvania 26-10 in 1965 to shake up those Coal Crackers. And now has come the worst beating of all and probably an end to the Big 33 game.

Pennsylvania isn't expected to ask Texas back next year but apparently is favorable to a Texas visit, so it might do the Lone Star boys what they did to it — beat them on their own field.

However, there is an NCAA rule that will prevent a Pennsylvania-Texas clash in Texas, according to L. W. McConachie, executive vice-president of the Texas High School Coaches Association.

The NCAA has a rule that only adjoining states can put on an all-star game. McConachie explained, "This was passed after the Pennsylvania-Texas game was started and the NCAA isn't going to make it retroactive, so the Big 33 game could go on."

"But if it is transferred to Texas it will not be permitted because the NCAA will look upon it as a new game and the rule on adjoining states would apply."

But that will not be a big blow to Texas since it has established its place in the national picture to everybody's satisfaction.

The Big 33 was quite an attraction, gave a flock of Texas boys a nice trip each year and contributed substantially to charity. Al Clark, the man from

ISRAELIS AND FRIENDLY AFRICANS

TEL AVI VIB — The Kameri Theater group is premiering "Black Man's Burden," a satiric comedy about the awkwardness of Israelis in dealing with friendly Africans.

The play is by Joseph Lapid, a Tel Aviv news correspondent based in London. It is to be directed by Shmuel Bunim. The Kameri company takes part next year in the World Theater season festival at London's Aldwych playhouse.

The Harrisburg Patriot-News, who created the game, should be lauded for his efforts and accomplishments. And Texas should be grateful to him for making it tops in the country.

One last thing about the Big 33 game; Bobby Layne, the Texas coach, was criticized for a blinding defense against Pennsylvania. But Fred Cervelli, who selected the Texas team and helped promote the game, said Coach Bill Murray of Pennsylvania called Layne three times asking him to let the linebackers crash.

Murray said "there is so much pressure on me to win this year to make up for Bradley's show (Bill Bradley, who carried Texas to victory last year) that we'd sure like to give the linebackers more freedom. Pennsylvania fans felt like Bradley had too much time last year."

Layne finally agreed and Texas used the blitz to help beat Pennsylvania.

And so, as Texas high school football starts its annual race Sept. 9, it can feel it is the best in the land — its graduates made that possible with smashing victories against two good football states two years in a row.

There will be 937 school in this season's race — the largest in 47 years of Texas Interscholastic League football. Which is a good reason why it should take its national standing in stride. With many more football players than any other state, Texas should be the best.

BUFF SCRIMMAGE

Pete Pedro Trait Seen In Morris

Shades of Pete Pedro were recalled here in Buffalo Bowl Saturday afternoon as Sophomore halfback Eugene (Mercury) Morris jitterbugged his way through defenders for 158 yards in a performance that brought the fans to their feet and a smile to the face of West Texas State Coach Joe Kerbel.

The occasion was the Buffaloes first scrimmage of the Fall, and if there were any pre-season doubts about the sophomore speedster's ability to fly they were readily erased.

Morris, a darting runner who starts like a jackrabbit and stops on a dime, left defenders clutching air on numerous occasions. He raced 60 yards to score on a screen pass the first time he touched the ball, then later streaked 72 yards to score on a sweep. The 180-pounder from Pittsburg, Pa. also proved capable of getting the tough yardage as he cracked across the goal line from one and four yards away.

As impressive as Morris' statistics were, they were overshadowed by those of senior quarterback Hank Washington, a leading candidate for All-American honors this season. Washington, the nation's 12th leading passer last year, hit on 33 of 48 pass attempts for 485 yards. What's more he also led the ground attack by stepping off 162 yards on 13 carries.

Line-blasting sophomore fullback Albie (00) Owens also impressed as he rambled for 112 yards on seven carries and scored on a 65 yard burst through the middle. Freshman halfback Duane Thomas, working behind the number two and three offensive lines, rushed for 113 yards on 10 carries and scored on a 75 yard gallop. Other leading carriers were Ronnie Mankin, who gained 46 yards on 11 carries and Curley Watters, who picked up 40 yards on 10 rushing attempts.

Particularly impressive to Coach Kerbel was the work of the first offensive line that opened wide holes for ball carriers and gave quarterbacks Washington and Roy Winters ample time for their passes. Washington directed the offense to 11 touchdowns and Winters piloted five scoring marches. Kicking specialist Tommy Fambrough also hit on four, 35-yard field goals and all but one extra point attempt to run the score to 123.

"Our line gave me marvelous protection," said Washington. "I had plenty of time to find an open receiver." The first team interior line consists of tackles Doug Kriewald and Bobby Duncum, guards Eddie Golecki and Percy Green and center Phil Hampton. Green is the only returning starter from last season's offensive line and he also received a high grade of 94 for his performance.

Providing excellent targets for the passes of Washington and Winters were Dave Szymakowski, Mike Bailey, Dick Flynn, Ronnie Mankin, James Cowell, Morris and Dan Andrews. Szymakowski caught 14 passes for 160 yards to lead all receivers. Bailey, a sophomore flanker, snared nine passes for 99 yards and Flynn pulled in three tosses for 98 yards.

The scrimmage, which pitted the Buffalo offensive teams against the defensive units, was conducted in 10, eight minute quarters.

Commenting on the scrimmage Kerbel said "I think the score was indicative of one of our major weaknesses — lack of depth at a number of positions. We should not be able to score that easily against our reserves. We are worried to death because we won't know anything about our team until the night of Sept. 17 when we play Arlington State."

Mexican Supper Given Tri-Hi-Y

A Mexican supper was served to Tri-Hi-Y members of Hereford High School at the first social meeting of this term, held Thursday evening in La Hacienda Cafe.

Charlotte Hill, president, was in charge of the business meeting in which plans were discussed for a new year in the organization, a high school affiliate of the Young Women's Christian Association. Laura Higgins, devotional chairman, presented a brief meditation. Mrs. Fred Mercer is sponsor of the Tri-Hi-Y. Officers include Cathy Young, vice president, Carolyn Cowley, secretary, and Cynthia McMinn, historian-reporter. Daytime meetings are held on second Tuesdays of the month, evening meetings on third Thursdays.

Preceding the supper Thursday, songs by the Windjammers, a girls' singing group, entertained members.

BAPTISM FOR ADULTS ONLY

BIRMINGHAM, England — A group of clergy, concerned about the general practice of infant baptism in the Church of England, has come out for what is broadly the Baptist position — that baptism be administered only to adult believers. Nineteen out of 24 clergy attending the meeting, demanded immediate reform so that baptism would normally coincide with confirmation and entry into church communicant life. Such reform has little chance of being adopted, Anglican sources say.

Dean Rusk Will Speak At Hardin-Simmons Next

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Dean Rusk is to speak at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene early next year.

Dr. Edwin Skiles, acting president of Hardin-Simmons, is to be installed formally later this year. When officials of the university began their search for a speaker of national stature, they sought the help of Rep. Omar Burleson of Anson-the-third ranking Democrat among 34 on the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Burleson was asked to sound out Rusk on whether he would consider an appearance at Hardin-Simmons. Burleson, who is well acquainted with Rusk because of the latter's frequent appearances before the Foreign Affairs Committee, agreed.

Awaiting a favorable opportunity, Burleson found it when he and Rusk among many other were invited by President Johnson to a cruise to Mount Vernon aboard the presidential yacht, Sequoia, in honor of the ambassadors assigned to Washington.

Burleson said he first related to Rusk the extent of Hardin-Simmons' excellence-how it had been founded 75 years ago and how it had grown.

He then extended the invitation, adding:

"And, so far as I know, we have never had a Cabinet member speak in the Abilene area. They've been to some of the larger cities, but not to Abilene."

Rusk, probably mindful of his future appearances before the Foreign Affairs Committee-and sometimes the subcommittees over which Burleson presides cheerfully accepted the invitation subject to prior engagements regarding dates.

As it turned out he was unable to go to Abilene this year to participate in the installation of Dr. Skiles. Presumably the reason for the visit early next year will be to help the university mark its 75th anniversary.

And will Rusk choose the occasion to make an important policy making speech?

"I don't think even he knows at this time what he may discuss," commented Burleson. "The turn of world events in the interim may determine that. And, of course, he doesn't even have to speak on international relations if he doesn't want to."

Around the Capital: The retirement of Fred Lucas, 67, from the organized labor movement in Texas prompted Rep. Bob Casey, D. Houston, to tell colleagues of the Texan's distinguished career.

"Mr. Speaker," said Casey, "Texas through the years has developed a special breed of union leaders."

"Generally, they are hard and aggressive in selling unionism to the workers and in seeking to implement labor's goals. They run a tight ship, and while many of us have had disagreements from time to time, all take pride in the fact that the labor movement in Texas has largely been free of the acrimonious charges and scandals that have rocked other areas.

"One of the toughest and yet fairest-leaders of the labor movement in Texas is my long time friend and constituent, Fred Lucas."

He noted that Lucas is retiring after a career as president of the state council of carpenters, as executive secretary of the carpenters district council, as recording secretary of the carpenters Local 213, chairman of an apprenticeship training committee, and as an official of two other small locals.

During his long career," adding Casey, "he has contributed heavily to our own community by establishing churches, serving on civic committees and giving unselfishly of his time and talent for the betterment of his fellow man."

CHURCH GIVEN TO ENGLAND

LONDON — Brinkburn Priory Church, Northumberland, one of the best examples of late 12th century architecture in England has been given to the nation by the Fenwick family, which owned it. The priory lies in a loop of the river Coquet. It was founded in 1135 for canons of the Augustinian order. It has been in private hands since the dissolution of the monasteries in 1536. After repairs the church will be re-opened to the public.

Color In Spring Bloom Is Garden Club Topic

Patterns in Color was the program topic which began a year of study on the base subject, Patterns in Landscaping and Gardening, for members of Hereford Garden Club Friday afternoon.

The meeting was in the home of Mrs. O. G. Hill Sr., with Mrs. J. H. Carver and Mrs. Alfred Smith as other hostesses. Mrs. R. L. Wilson presented new yearbooks planned by the committee of which she is chairman and Mrs. W. C. Hromas, E. T. Hale and Craver members.

Plans and planting for spring bloom were discussed on the day's program. Mrs. J. N. Jacobsen Jr. spoke of Peonies, the Perfect Perennial. Mrs. Wilson told of new spring-flowering bulbs and Mrs. Hale gave five minutes of gardening news from the magazine, Lone Star Gardener.

Mrs. Ray L. Johnson presided for business, asking for reports from all club committees. Mrs. A. L. Manjeot reminded members of the rose show to be held at Sugarland Mall Oct. 8 and Mrs. C. D. Kelton announced the fall luncheon of the County Federation of Women's Clubs set for Sept. 30 in Community Center.

For the next meeting, Oct. 7, a workshop is scheduled preceding a placement show and tour of homes the following week.

Members present for the season's first meeting included Mrs. Glenn Burrus and Merlin Weber, new in the club, and Mrs. D. K. Brook, R. E. Lance, G. W. Newsom, S. S. Williams, R. L. Ethridge, R. W. Mitchell, A. O. Thompson, Arthur Stoy, Jeff Gilbreath and J. V. Pickens

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

If you were a pretty blonde high school drum majorette, vivacious and an expert baton twirler, looking forward to the first football game of the season for which you had faithfully been practicing, wouldn't you hate to have a sore toe?

THAT'S THE TERRIBLE fate which has befallen Debi Walden, and it's no laughing matter. She didn't just stub a toe; it's sore because the nail had to be removed, right here at the time for twirlers to be on their toes for sure.

She feels pretty certain the toe will be well enough for her to march with the band in the first home game next week; she is taking good care of it in the meantime — and my sympathy is sincerely extended.

OPEN HOUSE to celebrate the Wood Vaughns Golden Wedding anniversary is scheduled this afternoon from 3 to 5 in the home of the J. D. Gilberts, 1209 Park, long-time neighbors of the Vaughns. The couple's friends here are all invited to call.

MRS. JOHN TOWER'S visit here Wednesday afternoon will be something different in political events. Of course her trip over the Panhandle is political and she isn't pretending anything else. She is campaigning, in her fashion, in parts of Texas as her husband is not likely to reach before election day.

Women interested in politics, issues and candidates — and that should include all of us — are invited to meet her at the reception in the Cason House from 3:30 to 4:30 Wednesday.

Work Of Patterning Center Shown On Film To Parish Council, Guests

A film concerning the patterning treatment of children handicapped by brain damage, titled "Whatever Happened to Eight?", was shown to 87 persons, members and guests of St. Anthony's Parish Council, Thursday evening in St. Anthony's School Auditorium.

Information about the patterning center recently started here, and about the treatment which was introduced by a group of physical therapists at Philadelphia and has spread over the nation, was given as part of the program.

Several Hereford area children are under treatment at the center here, by volunteer adults who conduct the patterning exercises three times daily, at 9 a. m., 4 and 7 p. m. on weekdays; 8:15 a. m., 4 and 8 p. m. on Sundays. A room at First Methodist Church is used and Mrs. Charles Bell is chairman of the local organization.

The film is the story of a boy who suffered paralysis and loss of sight because of an accident in his eighth year, who was helped back to a normal life by by two members. Iva McWilliams' paintings feature old houses, even a log cabin, and Barbara Schaffner's include scenes from her former home, Wyoming, which she likes to put on canvas.

AND PROUD NEW grandparents: Dr. and Mrs. John H. Channer. Their daughter Sue, Mrs. Dan Williams, now of St. Louis, is the mother of a 6 pound, 14 ounce girl, Dawn Sherree, who was born Sept. 9.

Outdoor Exhibit To Be Unusual Showing Of Art

An outdoor art exhibit which is an unusual event in the cultural climate of this area will be conducted this afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock at the High Plains Galleries, 4535 Canyon Expressway, Amarillo.

Several Hereford artists have been invited to exhibit, including Jeanne McGee, Eunice Petersen, Ruth McBride and Mary Helen Askew.

The exhibit will be presented in 36 booths. Artists will be at work in some, while others will display finished paintings. Some of the paintings will be for sale, some for exhibit only.

Work of artists over Texas, New Mexico and other nearby states will be shown, with that from painters of other countries as far away as Australia. Style of the art show will be similar to outdoor exhibitions familiar in such art centers as Santa Fe, San Francisco and Cape Cod, but unusual in West Texas.

An invitation was given those present to visit and observe sessions at the center. It was announced that baby-sitters to care for the adult workers' children were needed, as well as more workers to be trained.

Hostesses Thursday were Mrs. Charles Schlabs, Mark Koenig, Charles Carney, Gene Loerwald, and F. A. Marnell.

In the business session, delegates were elected to a diocesan convention of the Council of Catholic Women at Borger Oct. 26 and 27. Mrs. Ed Loerwald will attend as president of Diocesan Council. Mrs. Werner Koelzer and Mrs. Ed Bezner were named delegates. Mrs. Morris Hacker and Mrs. Lou Orleans alternates.

STICKY SITUATION — MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Janette Arnott, 14, is recovering from the year's stickiest accident.

Janette was on her way to a convent when the school bus carrying her and 13 other children collided with a truckload of 2,500 gallons of glue.

The collision burst the container and hundreds of gallons of glue poured into the back of the bus.

Said Janette's father, Len Arnott: "Janette got glue stuck in her hair, in her eyes, and her pockets and her schoolcase were filled with it."

Water was used to hose the highway clear of the sticky mess.

Fall Color Used As Tea Motif

A tea in Hereford Country Club was a courtesy this week for Miss Sara Gillentine, whose marriage to James Durham of Paris is to take place October 22. Mrs. J. A. Pitman, Mrs. H. L. Benefield and Mrs. Don Taylor of Amarillo entertained Thursday afternoon.

Regal fall colors of deep green and gold, chosen for Miss Gillentine's wedding, were used in room decor. Two semicircular tables were lined up in scallop effect, each covered in green fabric with skirts of matching net extending to the floor.

At the central point of the scallops, a four-branched silver candelabra held lighted tapers, its base marked by a cluster of gold-hued Fuji mums from which tendrils of ivy trailed across the cloth.

Mrs. Wayne Thomas and Mrs. Jack Gilliland presided in turn at the mint-wreathed silver punch bowl at one end of the double table, Mrs. Ansel McDowell and Mrs. J. C. McCracken at the coffee service opposite.

Callers registered at a small table, also covered in green and brightened with yellow blossoms in a compote. Mrs. C. E. Leasure Jr. and Mrs. Dennis Lomas were at the guest book.

As she greeted friends with her mother, Mrs. Jimmie Gillentine, and the hostesses, the dark-eyed honoree was wearing an off-white empire frock accented by multi-colored brocade opera pumps. Her corsage and those of houseparty members were of small gold mums.

The Area Advisory Council will work with Kenneth Laycock of West Texas State University, the Northwest Texas area coordinator for the Laboratory, and other members of the Laboratory staff in identifying future needs and problems of education in Northwest Texas as well as assessing the current educational practices of the area. Members of the council also will cooperate with the Laboratory staff in deciding priorities for research or demonstration projects to be home-based in Northwest Texas.

An entirely new kind of educational institution, the Laboratory is financed by a development with the U. S. Office of Education. Action research projects and demonstration programs of exemplary educational practices are planned for the Texas and Louisiana region, all with the single objective of improving educational opportunity for all the region's students.

Friona Masonic Workshop Set

Two Masonic Lodges in this area will be honored during a Workshop to be held at 8:00 p. m., Tuesday, September 20, in the Masonic Hall in Friona. Vega Lodge 899 and Castro Lodge 879 in Dimmitt will receive Honor Roll Awards, which are given by the Grand Lodge of Texas in recognition of outstanding attendance at the Spring series of Masonic Workshop programs.

The awards will be presented by James W. Cabe of Canyon, who is chairman of the eight-county Masonic Workshop Area E-6. He will also conduct the meeting.

Cabe said that Hereford, Bovina and Friona Lodges are also invited to attend the Workshop. Nearly 200 such meetings are held twice a year for officers and members of over 970 Masonic Lodges in Texas. The Masonic Fraternity is the state's largest fraternal group with nearly 250,000 members.

Lt. Col. Edward H. White II, the first American to step outside a spaceship, recalled that on June 3, 1965, "I was taking some big steps, the first on Hawaii, then California, Texas — lightly in deference to the President — Florida, and the last on the Bahamas and Bermuda."

The Great Southwest will supply program material for another season in the Calliopean Club, which had its initial fall meeting at a dinner in the Hickory Log Restaurant Thursday evening.

The program series, continued from last year, is outlined in yearbooks presented and reviewed by Mrs. George Warner.

She is chairman of the yearbook committee, comprising Mrs. Hazen Woods, Miss Clara Beth Holt and Mrs. B. F. Cain, which chose as program topics such phases of southwestern life as opera, drama, art, architecture, banking and personal allies.

Mrs. Clyde Cave, project committee chairman, described the project chosen for this year, preparing a case of antique jewelry and related accessories such as fans, for the Deaf Smith County Museum. Members hope to locate authentic material and complete this work by November.

NAME CHANGED FOR EXPORT

WELLINGTON — Juicy berries, labelled "kiwi fruit," are being exported to the west coast of the United States. Here in New Zealand, where they are grown, they are known as Chinese gooseberries.

The name was changed, explains the New Zealand Information Service, because it was felt Americans were not familiar with Chinese gooseberries, or might think they came from China.

PORTABLE BIKE

BUDAPEST — The Budapest Csepel steel works have developed a new type of bicycle for campers. It is delivered with a zippered bag, into which it can be stacked after dismantling so it can easily be carried. Furthermore, it can grow with the user, as it can be extended from child-size to adult size, the news agency MTI reported.

PLAINVIEW FARMER

Portrait Of One High Plains Man

PLAINVIEW — W. E. Burnett's farming operation was almost crippled back in the 1930's when someone stole two of his mules.

He was farming in Hall County in 1943.

Burnett left his Arkansas home when he was 16 and "just knocked around here and yonder" until 1922, when he married.

The couple took over a Hall County tenant farm the same year.

Times were lean as a rule, and the great depression of the early 1930s spelled really hard times on the farm.

"It was about that time that I bought a washing machine on credit," he said. "Someone stole it, and we never did get it back. I paid off the note when it came due."

Modern farming methods have radically brightened the outlook for the Burnetts, as well as for farmers everywhere.

Recalling the hard work and long hours she put in bringing up her family and doing chores about the farm, Mrs. Burnett said: "If we'd had electric dishwashers then, we would have just worked longer at something else."

The family is active in church work, and Burnett is a deacon in the First Baptist Church of Plainview.

Four of the five sons are World War II veterans.

Burnett never did find those two stolen mules, although he hitchhiked to Oklahoma City, Memphis, Tenn. and New Orleans looking for them.

Citizenship Day Develops Meaning

Saturday, Sept. 17, is Citizenship Day.

For many citizens, the reaction is, "So what?"

Which means that you never miss the water till the well runs dry.

Even if you were born an American citizen, you are descended from people who were not. They became citizens through the difficult processes of immigration and naturalization, except for some who became citizens of the United States by establishing the United States by means of a war.

For those people, citizenship was not a "so-what" proposition. It was one of the most important things in their lives.

"Citizenship means full membership in a country," says World Book Encyclopedia. "A country and its citizens are not really separate."

"Citizenship involves both civic and political rights, as well as civic and political duties. Bills of rights in the United States Constitution and in state constitutions guarantee civic rights to all Americans. A child possesses civic rights, such as the right to worship as he pleases, from the moment he is born.

"In turn, each citizen owes allegiance to his country. It is his civic duty to support his government, obey its laws, and defend his country.

"Democratic government fails unless citizens show the same eagerness to serve their country that they expect the country to show in serving them," World Book adds.

Citizenship Day — first proclaimed by President Truman in 1952 — falls on a Saturday this year, a day for golf, for football, for closing the summer cottage, for raking up the first leaves of fall.

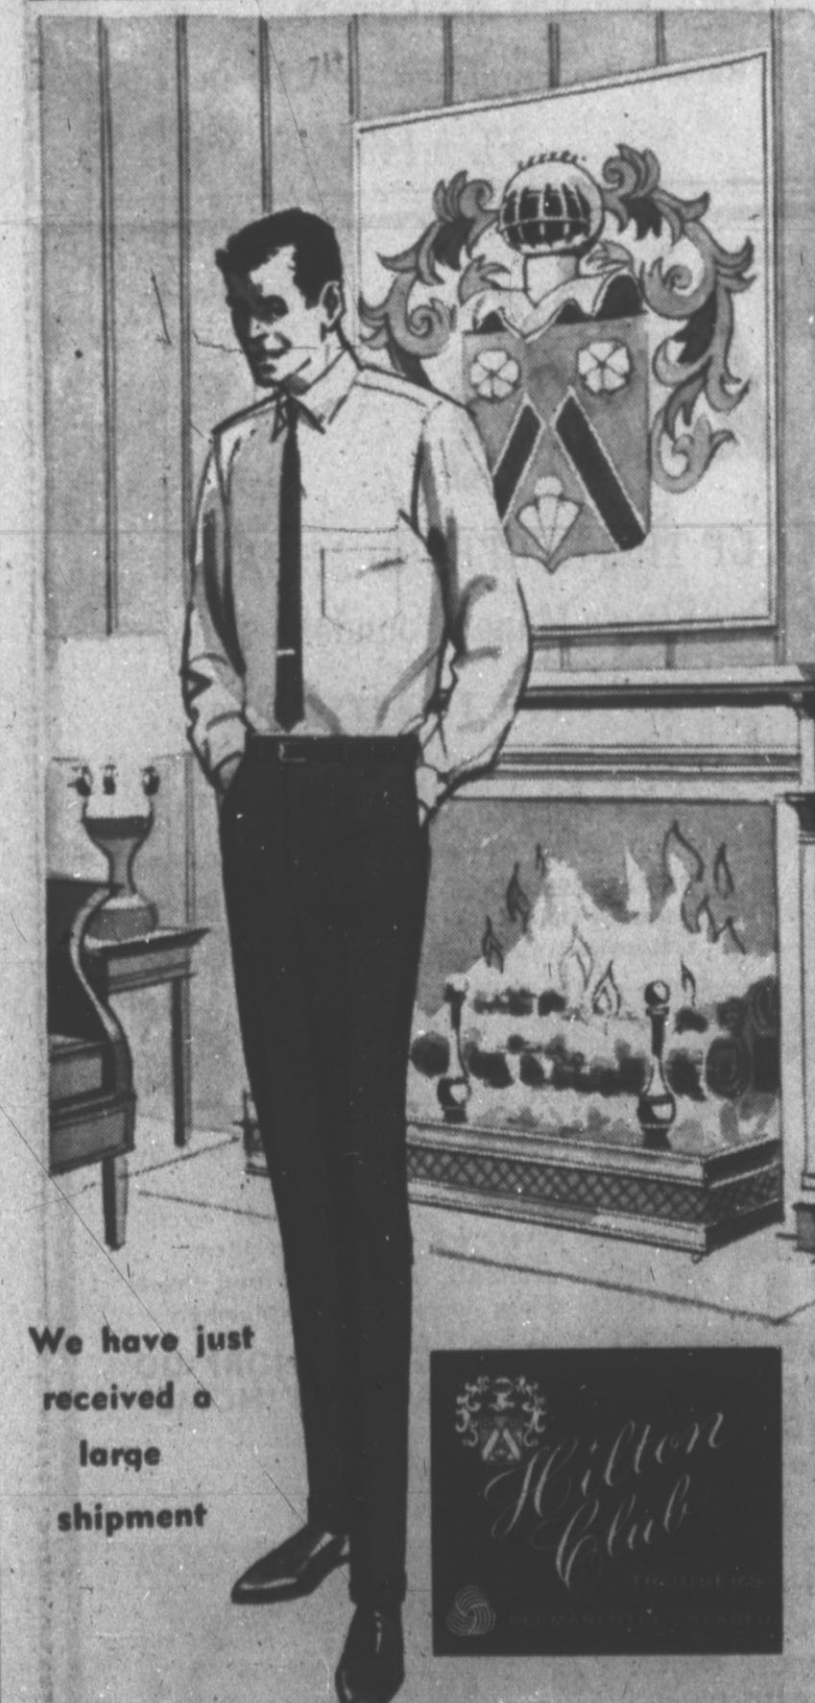

But it might be well to stop a moment and think of the people who won for your citizenship in this "nation of immigrants" — whether they won it with musket and bayonet nearly 200 years ago, or by crossing the Atlantic in a reeking steerage in the 1840's, or by riding on a DC-6 in 1948.

And think, too, of the people who will raise their right hands this Citizenship Day and take the oath of allegiance to the United States — the final step in becoming a naturalized citizen — the oath that begins:

"I hereby declare, an oath, that I absolutely and entirely renounce and abjure all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty, of whom or which I have heretofore been a subject or citizen; that I will support and defend the Constitution and laws of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance."

In fact, you might even murmur that oath to yourself this Citizenship Day.

Texas Boasts Outstanding Number Of Small Museums

ODESSA — The eyes of the nation are upon Texas, watching the growth of Texas' record-breaking number of museums — 243 — and waiting to see how their vast educational and cultural potentialities will be developed to preserve history and attract tourists.

"No other state has so many museums as Texas, and only one other state — New York — has organized on a statewide basis to coordinate the work and goals of its museums," says John Ben Shepperd of Odessa, president of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee.

TSHSC is the agency that has spearheaded the development of county historical museums. There were 82 museums in Texas in 1964; today there are 243, with about two dozen in the planning stage.

It also is the agency that will sponsor the first official Texas Institute for Small Museums at Woodville, Sept. 30-Oct. 1.

"This institute will cover all phases of museum development and operation based on the needs of the small museum," said Shepperd. "There is a nationwide trend to recognize the value of small museums because they make an invaluable contribution to culture, education and tourist industry."

"A museum's purpose is to preserve and interpret the cultural, technological and natural history of American life."

"Consequently, museums offer an entertaining, effective way of teaching Texas history, by showing picturesque, tangible evidences of the past. They enrich the educational and cultural life of their neighborhoods."

"History and tourism are inseparable — this is why museums are excellent tourist attractions," Shepperd continued. "Last year more than 15,561, 700 persons visited Texas museums. Out-of-state tourists are especially fascinated by Texas history. And the U. S. Travel Service reports that museums are a top attraction to tourists from other countries."

"People in the museum profession realize that small museums are beginning to dominate the profession — they have set the pace, and large museums are using their innovations," said Shepperd.

"For example, consider the development of interpretive exhibits. Large museums had such a wealth of items that often they simply displayed them in cases. But the little museums had a limited number of objects, so they had to use every item to its utmost, and the result was creative, interpretive exhibits."

"The small museums also originated the concept of museum education programs for children and adults."

Shepperd concedes that the museum boom in Texas has brought problems, and that small museums need professional guidance before they can serve the desired purposes as historical and archival repositories.

There is a lack of financial support, standardization, trained personnel, and reference sources for small museums. Many people involved in museum operation don't know how to properly display, preserve and identify their articles," he said.

"This is why Texas is expanding its program to offer professional counseling to small museums. The large museums have helped a great deal, but still more assistance is needed."

"The Texas State Historical Survey Committee started the action by encouraging and assisting in the development of individual county history museums."

"Now the museum institute will initiate statewide coordination. If the personnel of small museums can meet and counsel with experts in the museum profession, they will overcome their problems. . . and the contributions they can make to the state are boundless."

1966 Cars Good Buys This Month

Prospective new car buyers have an excellent opportunity to buy safe cars and save money by purchasing within the next few weeks, H. C. Pittman, Executive Vice President of the Texas Automobile Dealers Association announced today in Austin.

Pitman stated that new models will be slightly higher than the popular 1966 vehicles because of added safety equipment and finance charges. He stated that new car dealers in Texas reported sales during August just about equaled sales a year ago.

In spite of all the publicity about new safety equipment, Pitman reported that drivers continued to be the basic cause of accidents and the 1966 vehicles have proven to be exceptionally safe. Dealers report no problems in financing new cars and their stocks contain excellent selections.

New car showing dates for 1967 models will be: September 29th — Chevrolet, Buick, Dodge, Oldsmobile, Chrysler, Plymouth, Pontiac; September 30th — Ford, Lincoln, Mercury; October 6th — Cadillac, Rambler.

Pitman reported that 1967 models will contain as added safety features: dual brake systems, collapsible steering wheel columns, a simultaneous turn flash system, stronger door latches and hinges, recessed instrument panel knobs, larger outside rear-view mirrors and better windshield wipers. By 1968, models will contain headrests on front seats, "breakoff" window and door handles, padded backs for front seats, and rear-window defoggers.

Messenger Club Slates Special Fall Programs

Special meetings to be held next month, a tour of Hereford industries and a visit to King's Manor, were planned at the initial fall session of Messenger Home Demonstration Club Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. S. N. Thweatt.

Mrs. H. D. Buse, Mrs. N. A. Brown and Mrs. Bill Page were chosen as a nominating committee to present a slate of officers for the annual election, for a term which will begin Jan. 1.

The program was given by Mrs. Argen Draper, County H. D. Agent, on Cotton Fabrics. She spoke of new fabrics, especially the permanent press materials which have been introduced on the market the past year, and told how to select and care for garments made of them.

Mrs. Brown presided for business. The next meeting was announced for Sept. 23 in the home of Mrs. J. E. Sorrells. Mrs. Thweatt directed a recreation period. The floating prize, an apron, was given to Mrs. Loyd Sevier. Seven members were present.

BELLEVILLE, Ill. — Drillers have confirmed that a seam of coal underlying the site of a new county highway building is still there.

Test holes showed the seven-foot seam of coal 175 feet deep shown on maps has not been extracted.

Belated misgivings about the ground stability of the site of the new $300,000 building prompted the drilling.

Miss Askew Is Bride As Vows Said At Church

A sunburst of greenery with gold chrysanthemums decorated the parlor of First Methodist Church for the Friday morning wedding of Miss LaReece Askew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Askew, and Larry Dean Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Miller of Darrouzett.

The Rev. Clifford Trotter, pastor, read the double ring ceremony. Mr. Askew gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Sue Yauck was maid of honor and Raymond Miller, brother of the bridegroom, his best man. Eldon Koch and Max Stabel of Darrouzett were ushers. Tapers which lighted the wedding setting were lighted by Miss Pam Bell of Amarillo.

The bride wore a semi-fitted A-line dress of white silk dupioni, with bateau neckline and long tapered sleeves. Her bou-fant illusion veil was held by a white silk pillbox.

She carried a bouquet of white roses, orchids and stephanotis on a bridal Bible and her costume included a white lace handkerchief belonging to her maternal grandmother and her sister's pearl necklace.

Wedding music was played by Miss Roxi Rush and the vocal soloist was Miss Ruth Ann Allison.

A reception in the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. After a honeymoon trip Mr. and Mrs. Miller will be at home at 2710 Eighth Ave., Canyon. Both are students in West Texas State University.

Dee Miller Speaks Out On Building

"This week's homebuyer will be paying through the nose for twenty-five years, even if the money shortage is solved next week. For this reason tight money depresses the homebuilding market first of all."

Dee Miller, former District Attorney and candidate for Congress told the Panhandle Home Builders Association at a luncheon Wednesday that the home building industry is watched by all businessmen as an economic indicator.

"If new additions are being opened, and new houses being built all over the Panhandle, as they have been in the past, then we know our area is growing and progressing. If not, then the entire business community feels an uncontrollable urge to sneak another look at their hole card."

Miller praised the Home Builders for their efforts which have resulted in better and cheaper methods of construction, and for their developments in the area of housing for low-income families.

"My experience in the District Attorney's office absolutely proved to me the value of adequate housing in a society, especially in the area of the juvenile offender."

Miller told the Home Builders that a sound and sensible pace of homebuilding must be maintained in the Panhandle, and that steps must be taken immediately to alleviate the money shortage.

Miller pointed out that cheap money alone will not solve the homebuilders' problems unless there also exists a market for the homes. "This will depend entirely upon all-out imaginative efforts to keep our area growing and progressing. New industry must be found and our potential as a recreational area must be fully developed."

"If this is accomplished, then our District's economy will continue to be among the leaders in the State of Texas."

Miller, a native of Borger, holds a degree in Banking and Finance from the University of Texas as well as a law degree from Southern Methodist University. He lives at 5315 Berget in Amarillo, with his wife, Joan, and their two daughters.

Russian Gasoline Sales Complex

NEW YORK — Cash has gone out of style at gasoline stations in the Soviet Union.

The American Petroleum Institute publication Oil Facts reports that Russian motorists have to fill out a questionnaire, go to a government office to buy a coupon booklet, then go to a government-owned station to trade the coupons for gasoline.

At the stations, which are hard to find even in large Russian cities, the motorist may have to wait in line for a long time. Then he has to guess how much his tank will hold, check his coupons, and handle the hose himself. All the attendant does is to collect the coupons and set the pump dial. For oil, antifreeze or repairs, the driver has to go elsewhere.

By contrast, Oil Facts points out that United States motorists are free to choose among an estimated 214,500 privately owned stations, each competing to supply the best possible goods and services.

HE CAN'T SEE PGA TOUR

QUINCY, Ill. — John Marshall Quincy Country Club golf professional who spent seven weeks on the PGA tour, says he would rather "sell a set of clubs or slacks than play golf for a living."

"You meet a lot of nice guys including many club pros on the tour, but a lot of touring pros do more harm to golf than good."

He charges that the Professional Golfers' association "caters to the big money winners." A field of between 200 and 300 golfers must compete in a qualifying round on a Monday to gain the 48 to 52 spots open in major tournament usually beginning on Thursday, he says.

But the 50 top money winners are not required to participate in the qualifying round.

Madre Mia Picks Service Project

Aid to a Hereford High School girl during the current year will be the main project for Madre Mia Study Club this season, members decided at their first fall meeting, a breakfast Thursday morning in the home of Mrs. Bobby Owen.

The girl was chosen with advice from the school counselor, and will receive some financial aid with school expenses, clothing and other gifts from the club. Members agreed they preferred to make their gifts on a personal basis rather than to an institution.

Exchange of gifts to reveal secret club pals of the past year was a special event at the breakfast, at which Mrs. Ed Parten was welcomed as a new member and Mrs. Carl Carlile was voted to membership.

Yearbooks were distributed by the committee of which Mrs. Owen is chairman and Mrs. L. Gerald Marin and Mrs. Bill Nelson members. Mrs. John Smith, president, also assisted the committee, which served as breakfast hostesses.

Twenty members were present. The next meeting was announced for Sept. 22 in the home of Mrs. Lee Drake.

Coffee Is Introductory Event Of Club Season

Reconvened after the summer vacation, Simms Study-Craft Club was entertained with a coffee Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Robert Lloyd. Three new members and two guests were present to add interest.

Mrs. F. L. Eicke, Mrs. Arliss Edwards and Mrs. Lawrence Jackson are the new club members; Mrs. Ted Hale and Mrs. Eddie Rohrbach were visitors. Flowers from Mrs. Lloyd's yard were arranged for the party, with one striking bouquet of dahlias, gladiolas and leaves from cherry trees.

In the business session with Mrs. J. M. Boothe presiding, Mrs. James Bullard was elected assistant secretary-treasurer and reporter to replace Mrs. Allen Ehresman, who is teaching this year and so is inactive in the club.

Regular club meeting time was changed to 2 p. m. each first and third Wednesday through next May. New yearbooks were distributed, listing a program with subjects ranging from upholstery technique to Remedial Reading to bridge lessons.

A book review at Community Center is slated for Oct. 5, a Thanksgiving luncheon in Mrs. Jim Perrin's home Nov. 16, Christmas party with Mrs. E. L. Young hostess Dec. 14, a field trip to a greenhouse at Canyon May 3 and the final luncheon May 17.

THE CHURCH I LOVE IS NOT KNOWN BY THE WORLD

"The reason why the world does not know us (the church) is that it did not know him (God the Father)." (1 John 3:1b).

To his disciples the Lord said, "And I will pray the Father, and he will give you another Counselor, to be with you for ever, even the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, because it neither sees him or knows him; you know him, for he dwells with you, and will be in you." (John 14:16, 17). "Remember the word that I said to you, 'A servant is not greater than his master.' If they persecuted me, they will persecute you; if they kept my word, they will keep yours also. But all this they will do to you on my account, because they do not know him who sent me." (John 15:20, 21). "They will put you out of the synagogues; indeed, the hour is coming when whoever kills you will think he is offering service to God. And they will do this because they have not known the Father, nor me." (John 16:2, 3).

It is true that many claim to be Christians, members of Christ's church, and "They profess to know God, but they deny him by their deeds; they are detestable, disobedient, unfit for any good deed." (Titus 1:16). "He who says 'I know him' but disobeys his commandments is a liar, and the truth is not in him; but whoever keeps his word, in him truly love for God is perfected." (1 John 2:3-5).

The Apostle Paul freely admits that at one time he blasphemed and persecuted and insulted him (Christ); but I received mercy because I had acted ignorantly in unbelief. (1 Timothy 1:13). But Paul, as he taught others, had "become obedient from the heart" (Romans 6:17). He wrote, "Indeed I count everything as loss because of the surpassing worth of knowing Christ Jesus my Lord." (Philippians 3:8). Facing death, this Christian soldier wrote, "I know whom I have believed, and I am sure that he is able to guard until that Day what has been entrusted to me." (1 Timothy 1:12).

Mrs. Delmar Sigle does own yard work

BEAUTY SPOT OF THE MONTH

Sigle's Built Lovely Yard Over A Period Of 12 Years

Mrs. Delmar Sigle does most of the yard work at the Sigle home, 135 Star. When she is not working on the farm helping her husband, she is working in the yard of her home, chosen the Beauty Spot of the Month.

A project sponsored by the Beautification Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, a group of judges selects two spots each month to be recognized. A traveling enameled plaque is placed at the winning residential and the winning commercial beauty spot.

The Sigle house faces east and the front yard is stone, bordered with flowers and shrubs. A rather large Japanese golden rain tree and small evergreen are surrounded by pink magic petunias, bordered by white alyssum.

Against their modern brick home, the Sigles have planted salmon pink geraniums as a color accent. Shrubs against the house include large evergreens green barberry, 2 small mugho pines, one red barberry, nandinas and one pyracantha.

Most of the shrubs are larger this year than Mrs. Sigle likes them to be, but she said that she does her own pruning and that she let them get ahead of her. Consoling is the fact that next spring will give her a chance to prune back the excess growth.

While traveling, the Sigles had noticed that many attractive homes had stones replacing grass. They decided that the stone yard might be easier to keep, cut water usage and also solve a problem they were experiencing with wild bermuda infesting their bent grass lawn.

They have lived in Hereford since 1949, having built this home on Star 12 years ago. Sigle farms in the Hereford area and Mrs. Sigle helps out during harvest by driving a grain truck. Their yard maintenance is worked in around farming responsibilities.

Landscaping for the Sigle home has been a process of addition, a few changes, such as the lawn to stone, but never a major tearing out of shrubs. The backyard is grass with a large variety of flowers in perimeter borders.

Mrs. Sigle is president of Pioneer Study Club and the Sigles attend First Methodist Church.

Actually the Sigles consider traveling their hobby but, "I don't consider gardening exacty work," she says.

REP. ROGERS REPORTS

Congress Not Competing For Attention Of Public

Dear Fellow Texan:

The House of Representatives has long maintained a rule against permitting live television and radio broadcast coverage of committee hearings or sessions of the full House. The Senate rules do permit live broadcast coverage of Senate hearings although broadcasting is not permitted from the Senate chamber. Broadcast news reporters have the same rights and privileges in covering Congress as do reporters for newspapers and magazines; like press reporters, they can attend hearings and sessions and then report what they've learned and observed. In addition, the broadcast men often, set up their equipment outside of hearing rooms and on the steps of the Capitol to interview participants in events making news.

Some broadcasters would like to see House and Senate rules relaxed to permit greater freedom of coverage, to move "live" cameras and microphones into the hearing rooms and chambers. It is an understandable feeling on their part, and I'm sure their desires are shared by many Americans who would like to attend, through the broadcast media, sessions of Congress as important legislation is developed. Some argue that by denying the right of direct coverage to radio and TV, Congress suffers from what is termed a "public relations" gap in relation to the White House and Executive departments, where broadcasting is widely employed to report events. The fact that Senate hearings may be televised and House hearings cannot be covered on TV undoubtedly has created among some persons the thought that Senate hearings are, therefore, more important than House hearings. By this mistaken standard, House "public relations" possibly may have suffered.

News About Area Men On Duty

U. S. ARMY, VIETNAM (AHTNC) — An Army unit that took part in the Philippine Insurrection of 1899 — 1903 has again arrived in the Far East for combat service. The 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment landed this week.

The highly mobile regiment was last stationed at Fort George G. Meade, Md.

Private First Class Enrique G. Galvan Jr., 20, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fellmon Valdez, live at 123 N. Main st., Hereford, Tex., was scheduled to accompany the unit as a mechanic in Headquarters Troop of the regiment's 2d Reconnaissance Squadron.

He entered the Army in October 1965 and completed basic training at Fort Hood, Tex.

Before entering the Army, he was employed as a truck driver by Ichiro Konishi, Moses Lake, Wash.

The job is to make the best law possible, not to become performers in what could evolve into self-serving broadcast circuses or to outshout others in the pursuit of publicity.

The best public relations in which Congress can engage is to do its job as well as possible, to end unwise delegations of authority to Executive departments to assert through wise action — not the clamor of publicity — its positions as the people's branch in our tripartite system in which legislative, executive, and judicial branches perform separate but equal functions. No amount of publicity, in the end, can substitute for good performance.

The presence of "live" cameras in hearings or in sessions of Congress would bring out in some the very human inclination to pose and posture, to demagogue, to overstate issues. Judged purely as a performance the result might be an interesting spectacle, but it would be bad law-making.

Sincerely,
Walter Rogers
Your Congressman

Music In School Is Subject Of Auxiliary Guest

Ben Gollehon, Hereford High School band director, was guest speaker to the American Legion Auxiliary at its recent meeting in Legion Hall, when new committee chairmen were appointed for the coming year.

The speaker discussed the music program in Hereford schools, explaining the steps in teaching music from the fourth grade through high school. Many contest awards have been received, he said, but the primary purpose is to give the student satisfaction in achievement.

Mrs. Bill Gilleland, president, named Mrs. Grant Hanna chairman of membership, Mrs. Hazel Sparks of Americanism, Mrs. Leroy Williamson of civil defense, Mrs. I. E. Young of poppy sales, Mrs. Fred Higgins of child welfare, Mrs. F. S. Smith of cheer, Mrs. Ira Ott of Girl's State plans, Mrs. R. O. Stark of foreign relations.

Mrs. Williamson was program chairman and introduced the speaker. A message was read from the 19th district president, Mrs. E. T. Rafferty, announcing that the district project of the year will be a nursing scholarship for a worthy girl.

Plans were made for acting as hostess Sept. 12 at the monthly party for patients in the Veterans Hospital at Amarillo. Refreshments were served to Auxiliary members and also to Legion members who held their meeting the same evening.

Club Informed Of New Cottons

Beginning fall demonstrations to county H. D. clubs after a summer recess, Mrs. Argen Draper, County H. D. Agent, presented the program on New Findings in Cotton Fabrics for Progressive Club in the home of Mrs. H. L. Hershey.

She spoke of the new permanent-press material, which she termed "the greatest discovery in fabrics since nylon." It is seldom found in all-cotton, she said, because some synthetic fiber is almost necessary for the processing.

As a laundry hint for permanent-press garments, she said creases should be turned to the inside, and grease spots should be treated before washing. For sewing on the fabric, she suggested use of a small needle, long stitches and loose tension on the sewing machine.

Mrs. Dale Hallows presided for business, including decision to invite Fairview H. D. Club, near Claude, for lunch and an industrial tour of Hereford.

Visitors were Miss Doris Parsons and a former member who recently moved back to the community, Mrs. Bert Coffin. Ten members were present.

EXTRA CARE SERVICE

H.D. CHATTER

Stay-Press Fabric Stars

By Mrs. Argen Draper
Home Demonstration Agent

Home Demonstration Clubs have begun their fall meetings. The program is on permanent press finish which has revolutionized the entire drygoods markets.

PERMANENT PRESS finish is for the entire family. The demonstration has exhibits for all ages. The things to come in the fabric world are as big as you'll let your imagination go. This release from a clothing specialist gives some care tips for home laundry:

With many new fabrics on the market, housewives often are confused about how to care for them. Here are some answers to commonly-asked questions about shirt materials:

1. Should the new Durable Press sport shirts be drip-dried? They don't have to be. Let them go through the whole wash rinse-spin cycle and put them on hangers to dry. Though they won't look as good as when dryer-dried, hanger-drying on many fabrics gives about as good results as drip-drying. And you won't have to stop the washer before the final spin to remove the shirt.

2. Are madras shirts machine washable? Usually madras shirts can be machine-laundered, but be sure to wash them separately. Genuine madras dyes will bleed—they're supposed to. Some fabrics, however, are woven to look like real madras, but are dyed with colorfast dyes that will go through machine-laundering with no color change. You will usually find an assurance of colorfastness on hangtags accompanying these shirts.

3. IS THERE ANY WAY TO freshen dingy-looking shirts? Sometimes putting shirts through a hot-water, full-cycle wash will do the trick even though your normal washing procedure calls for a gentler approach. But wash whites only with whites. Some fibers, especially nylon, pick up color from garments that normally don't bleed. Yellowed or grayed shirts can often be whitened with a bleach or with a color remover.

4. How can you remove wrinkles from tricort fabrics? High temperatures (above 160 degree F.) in either washer or dryer are what really set wrinkles into polyester or nylon tricort fabrics. When you machine-laundry such fabrics, use a short wash cycle or warm water setting, and dry at lowest temperature setting on the dryer.

RESEARCH FINDINGS from the USDA reveal some things about a favorite food. Do you find frankfurters and bologna more attractive and appetizing when they have a fresh natural red color?

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has conducted extensive pilot-plant studies of frankfurter processing, which show that eliminating as much oxygen as possible from all stages of processing is basic to developing a good color.

Processors follow several steps to protect meat from the color-impairing effects of oxygen.

Among these methods are performing various stages of processing in a vacuum, using additives such as ascorbic acid (Vitamin C) to eliminate oxygen and react with nitrite to produce color, maintaining certain temperatures before and during cooking and wrapping the processed meat in a material that oxygen cannot penetrate.

Some of these practices are now being followed in modern frankfurter and bologna processing. Research by USDA, however, shows that a combination of the practices should be used for best color, because they have a cumulative effect. More processors will probably be using this combination in the future, according to USDA predictions.

"FRESH" IS the key guide to use as you shop for produce. Quality is at the highest and prices are at the lowest during the peak season of production. The secret of smart shopping is to buy vegetables that look fresh and then take good care of them. The refrigerator is the best place to store fresh vegetables. The shorter the time between market basket and your refrigerator, the better quality vegetables you can serve your family.

Besides produce, food shoppers have a wide variety of choices when shopping the frozen foods department for concentrated fruit drinks. Your choices range from lemonade to fruit drinks or punch to fruit juices.

IF YOU SELECT juices, you have only juice or juices, and very fine pulp. The label will indicate if sugar has been added. Cocktails and nectars are usually mixtures of juices and pulps with water and in some instances sugar and seasonings.

Fruit drinks may be artificially flavored and contain none of the natural fruit. Others may contain some fruit juice. Fruit punch is a mixture of juices. The combination of juices is shown on the label with the one named first in the greatest amount.

Instant and powdered drinks and liquid concentrates contain fruit or imitation flavor, fruit acid and added color. Some are packed with sugar and you can add the water.

THE COMMITTEE meeting in College Station will be over Wednesday in time for me to catch a 5 p. m. plane for Dallas. If all goes on schedule, I'll be at North Hereford Club on Thursday.

Symphony Chorus Auditions Slated

Auditions are now being held for membership in the Amarillo Symphony Chorus.

The Chorus will celebrate the opening of its third season with the premiere performance

FRUSTRATION ON THE FARM

PRAGUE — Farmers have a slim chance of marrying, the Czechoslovak paper Zemedelske Noviny wrote, because girls consider farm work inferior and farmers' undesirable mates.

The paper complained about the "silly ideals" of the girls and worried about the state of mind of the farmers who can not find a harmonious family life. It said these men eventually lose confidence in people, in society and eventually in themselves.

of Houston Bright's Isaiah In The Temple. The performance of this epic work for chorus and orchestra will be a tribute to the talents of the Texas Panhandle's most often performed composer. Dr. Bright is composer-in-residence at the West Texas State University.

On the final concert of the symphony season, the chorus will perform Francis Poulenc's Gloria in G Major for Soprano, Chorus and Orchestra. This great religious work won the Pulitzer Prize in 1961 as the best composition of the year. Joining with the chorus will be the famous Metropolitan Opera soprano, GIANNA D'ANGELO.

The schedule for rehearsals will be each Monday night, 7:30 to 9:30, at Amarillo College from Sept. 19 through Oct. 31 and from Jan. 30 through Mar. 20.

The performances will take place on Nov. 1 and Mar. 21.

Auditions will be held Sept. 12 from 7 to 10 PM in the music building (24th and Van Buren) at Amarillo College. Contact chorus manager Gloria Denko for any additional information.

Professional voices are not, necessarily, a requirement. The Amarillo Symphony Chorus is comprised, basically, of amateur singers who have pleasant voices, reasonable reading abilities and strong desires for the promotion of choral singing in the Panhandle.

CLEAN VIENNA STREETS

VIENNA — An effort by Vienna city fathers to keep the streets clean will result in a 20 to 40 schilling fine (90 cents to $1.80) for persons dropping streetcar tickets and other waste paper.

First reports that police will slap fines for dropping a single cigarette butt and burnt-out matches were denied by city officials, though.

Trade Courses Offered At SPC

LEVELLAND (Special) South Plains College will begin registration at 7:30 p. m. September 15 in the college library, announced Director Frank Hunt.

Additional courses have been added for this year and college credit courses which lead to an Associate degree at SPC and will transfer to a senior college are always offered in the Evening Program. Other credit and non-credit courses are designed to improve vocational competency; to provide a community service; and to serve business industry; and the recreational and cultural interests of the individual.

Special provision has been made in the Evening College schedule to satisfy needs of the individuals participating in the new GI benefits program. It is now possible for a student to take a total of seven semester hours on two night. A one-hour Freshman Orientation (111.21) class has been added on Monday evening meeting from 6 to 7 p. m. Engineering or Math majors may take a two-semester hour slide-rule class (Eng. 121) meeting on Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9 p. m.

A beginning Welding section has been added on Saturday mornings from 9 a. m. to 12 a. m. and another section of EAP 233 (Introduction to Programming) has been added on Monday and Wednesday evenings meeting from 5:30 to 7 p. m.

Brochures were mailed out this week and every family in the area should receive one of the attractive folders.

Evening classes will be held from 7 to 10 p. m. Monday through Thursday of each week. All students are encouraged to register Sept. 15. Late registration will close on Sept. 23. Registration for non-credit short courses is at the time of the first meeting.

JUST BICYCLED HOME FROM SCHOOL

BELEN, N. M. — Jim DeVocht, 18, finished his freshman year at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, and bicycled home — 600 miles. He averaged about 100 miles a day.

Most nights he slept at homes of friends along the way. He had problems with mountain climbing and pavement so hot that his tires stuck to it. He also had a screw that repeatedly came loose which he tightened with a dime because his screwdriver was too big.

DeVocht carried a spare tire, pump, tube repair kit, screwdriver, wrenches and a sleeping bag — weight about 30 pounds. He spent about $40.

He said, "I'm glad I did it, but I will never try it again."

THE early treatment of a peptic ulcer of the stomach or the duodenum is a regular diet of milk and cream. This high fat, high calorie diet, beneficial for ulcers, has the disadvantage of adding to the sclerosis of the blood vessels.

Dr. Coleman

A group of physicians at the Michael Reese Hospital in Chicago, under the direction of Dr. Benjamin M. Kaplan, have been exploring diets that lower cholesterol in the blood while supplying their benefits to the ulcer. Corn oil and skim milk were substituted for whole milk and cream. The mixture apparently was just as effective as the milk-cream Sippy diet in healing ulcers and in neutralizing the acid in the stomach contents.

The combination of corn oil and skim milk was effective too in slowing the speed with which the stomach emptied, an important role in any ulcer diet. These research physicians were impressed with the definite decrease of the cholesterol level in the blood in those patients who were being treated by this simple variation of an established diet.

Many medical curiosities have been responsible for the intensive research that seeks an explanation. The remarkable rarity of cancer of the cervix of the uterus in Jewish women is one of those that has occupied the attention of physicians. It was immediately assumed that this medical rarity is related to the fact that their husbands were all circumcised. From Sweden, at the University Hospital in Uppsala, came the interesting study that female cancer of the opening (cervix) of the womb and male cancer of the prostate could be reduced by more universal circumcision. Dr. Adolf Apt, who performed this investigation, compared the frequency of cancer in circumcised and uncircumcised population in Sweden and in Israel. He attempted to study people of the same social and economic levels in both countries.

He came to the astonishing conclusion that in Sweden, where most men are not circumcised, there were four times as many cases of cancer of the cervix in their wives than there were in Israel, where there was almost 100% circumcision.

In the male, cancer of the prostate (pro) was found to be four times more frequent in the uncircumcised male in Sweden than in the circumcised male. This interesting observation will now be the center of an enlarged program aimed at proving the possible value of universal circumcision. SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH—Your eyes deserve the protection of good, well-fitting sunglasses. These columns are designed to relieve your fears about health through a better understanding of your mind and body. 4-H Learns That Canning Is Easy

The job of putting up bushels of tomatoes, peaches, beans and pickles is no longer the tedious and back breaking chore it was in grandmother's day. Methods and techniques in home canning and freezing are constantly being simplified.

Perhaps that is the reason the national 4-H Food Preservation program has remained one of the favorites of 4-H girls for nearly half a century. It is supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service. Not only can more varieties of foods be preserved by today's methods, but choice can be made as to canning or freezing, depending on the home needs and situation.

The 4-H'er also takes into consideration the nutritional value of foods to preserve, having learned about nutritional needs in 4-H foods projects. She has an eye on saving dollars in the family food budget, and takes pride in being able to serve out-of-season treats as a moment's notice.

"Magic dishes," Mrs. Ruth Kerr calls them. And she should know because she is a pioneer in the home canning field, and has a close tie to 4-H.

The Kerr Glass Manufacturing Corporation, of which she is president, has sponsored the national 4-H Food Preservation program since 1929.

This year six highly competent 4-H'ers will be named national $500 scholarship winners. The top girl in the state will win a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. In addition, thousands of county medals will be claimed by younger members.

To top it off, Mrs. Kerr will probably be on hand during the 4-H Congress to personally congratulate the girls for their fine records spanning several years in food preservation.

gratulate the girls for their fine records spanning several years in food preservation.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

.22 BIRDSHOT CARTRIDGES—If you are one of those rare sportsmen who is so good a shot with conventional shotgun loads that there is little challenge left, try shooting birds—quail and smaller game—with a .22 rifle, loaded with shot-filled cartridges.

Size 8, 9, and 10 are good shot sizes to use. Using such a pee-wee load is guaranteed to test the skill of even the best marksman—and the shot won't hurt your gun barrel.

CHOOSING A CAMP TRAILER—There are so many trailers on the market today that the novice camper is certain to be bewildered. One user suggests that the most useful trailer for a camper is one that has built-in conveniences, such as bunks, gun and fishing rod racks, and that measures 17 to 19 feet in length.

HANDY THING TO HAVE—Ask any one of a dozen experienced sportsmen who do much camping if he has a roll of friction tape with him and he will answer yes.

This little commodity is invaluable outdoors. It is ideal for starting campfires in wet weather, or for binding together brush and limbs when erecting quickie bad-weather shelters.

FLY-FISHING SKILL—Most experts claim that less than five per cent of an angler's success when fly-fishing is due to the fly selected.

On the other hand, skill and aptitude in presenting a fly to the fish is responsible for more than ninety-five per cent of his catches.

Think of that, chum, next time you lazy out on your fly-casting practice.

NYLON SOAP CONTAINER—Drop a bar of soap on the ground at camp and it gets covered with dirt that's hard to get off.

Eliminate this nuisance by dropping your soap in the toe of an old nylon stocking. Hang the stocking near the wash basin and soap up without removing the bar from the stocking.

Suds come right through the fine nylon mesh.

RODS IN COMBO—Ads often offer "combination" casting and spinning rods.

Such a rod, if of high quality, can be used as a makeshift, or in an emergency. But for best results use casting rods for casting and spin rods for spin fishing.

LANGLEY

Attorney Is Named Institute Speaker

Earnest L. Langley, partner in the law firm of Witherspoon, Alkin, Thomas & Langley of Hereford, has been asked to be a speaker at the Uniform Commercial Code Institute to be conducted at the University of Texas School of Law in Austin.

Langley, who will be accompanied by his wife, will leave for Austin Sept. 28 for the three-day institute scheduled to end Oct. 1.

Of the three practicing attorneys who are listed among others on the roster of speakers, one is from Houston and one from Dallas.

Receiving his BA from Texas Tech, Langley attended the Texas Law School and received his LL.B. there. He is a member of the 69th Judicial District and American Bar Associations and the State Bar of Texas.

The institute will be divided into two parts, "The Basics of Article 9" and "A Transactional Analysis of Article 9." Because the Secured Transactions article contains more new material and is of greater day-to-day importance to Texas lawyers than other articles, this institute deals almost exclusively with Article 9, Langley said.

The Thursday session of the institute is designed for the lawyers who want a good basic understanding of Article 9. The Friday and Saturday sessions are directed to the lawyers who are generally familiar with the Article 9 but are interested in obtaining a fuller appreciation of its operation with respect to certain common financing transactions.

Langley will speak at 1:30 p. m. Friday, Sept. 30. His topic will be "Agricultural Financing."

Other speakers at the institute will include eight law professors, and the General Counselor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas.

Schools represented will be the University of Texas, University of Chicago, Boston College, University of Michigan, and Western Reserve University. Mr. and Mrs. Langley will return to Hereford Oct. 2.

RED KNEW THE REDS
BOSTON (AP) — The Russians' recent pullout against American basketball and track and field teams didn't surprise Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics. "The last time they pulled out it cost me $2,000," says Auerbach. "That was a couple of years ago when they backed out of meeting the Celtics in Boston. I blew two grand on promotions and tickets." "The Russians always want to play you — until it comes down to getting on the court."

Tech To Honor Conservationist

LUBBOCK — Laurence S. Rockefeller, who will be awarded an honorary Doctor of Humanities degree at the Nov. 1 inaugural ceremonies for Texas Tech's eighth president, Dr. Grover E. Murray, believes that preservation of such natural resources as land, water and scenery can help to relieve tensions in today's troubled world.

Laurence S. Rockefeller

A man who likes outdoor recreation himself, Rockefeller has long been an advocate of creating wilderness resorts for use now as well as in the future.

In this he shares common cause with other nationally known leaders such as Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall and Health, Education and Welfare Secretary John W. Gardner who will be speakers at Tech's Oct. 31 Symposium on Arid and Semi-Arid Lands preceding the inauguration.

Rice University Chancellor Dr. Carey Cronis will be principal speaker at the inaugural ceremonies in Lubbock Municipal Coliseum.

Tech's Directors, in voting to and on numerous boards and committees during recent years.

Rockefeller was appointed Chairman of the Outdoor Recreation Resources Review Commission by President Eisenhower, serving from 1958 to 1962, during which the bipartisan commission of eight congressmen and seven citizen members carried out an extensive study of the nation's outdoor recreation need to the year 2000.

In 1964, he served on President Johnson's natural Beauty Task Force and was Chairman and Coordinator of the White House Conference on Natural Beauty held last May. He is a member of the Public Land Law Review Commission, formed by President Johnson in 1964 to make a four-year study of public land laws.

Parade Magazine, in a recent profile, called him "the country's foremost salesman for the outdoors," and a man who "demonstrates that he loves his wares."

The six-foot tall, 56-year-old businessman-philosopher prefers horseback riding for recreation. He also likes to fish, hike and play golf. As a publicity stunt, he and his brother, New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, recently took a horseback camping trip to promote greater use of riding trails in state parks.

CANDIDATE SPEAKS

Carr Discusses Interest Rates

AUSTIN — In a statement issued by his state campaign headquarters here, Carr, the Democratic Party nominee for the U. S. Senate charged that Eastern capitalists "have no knowledge of, and no interest in, the needs of growing states like Texas."

"But I am concerned," he continued, "and the banking and businessmen here in Texas are deeply concerned. They believe as I believe, that our State must continue to grow.

"The high interest rates set by the Eastern bankers will not work for our area."

Carr advocated a five point program to ease the money shortage, which he said had reached the critical stage for the homebuilding industry and purchasers of goods on credit or installment. He pointed out that homebuilding since January, 1964 had shrunk 40 per cent.

The program called for: 1. Passage of legislation now before Congress permitting the Federal Reserve Board to order decreases on the interest paid on bank certificates of deposit, and a careful re-examination of the Board's restrictive policy "at a time when business is setting one-year record highs after another."

2. A determination of whether the seven per cent tax credit for capital investment is overstimulating the economy, and if so, elimination of the credit.

3. Reversal of the tendency of Congress to increase the overall deficit spending for non-military purposes.

4. Elimination of the Federal government's increasing competition with private borrowers for credit.

5. A review of the effect that an increase in the income tax rate on business corporations and other increases will have on decreasing the demand for credit and softening interest rates. The rising cost of Viet Nam commitments may make such an increase necessary.

"This is also the time when both business and labor in Texas and throughout the nation must find ways, individually and collectively, to halt the inflationary trend and preserve the prosperity our country has known since Lyndon Johnson became President," Carr said.

"The economy must be brought to a stable condition without any flirtation with the idea of government control of prices and wages. Such controls would place a deadly stranglehold on the continued economic expansion of Texas."

Acreage Survey Cards Delivered

Postmaster Nolan Grady announced today that Rural Mail Carriers will begin distributing 1966 Acreage Survey Cards to patrons on their routes about September 14.

The Post Office Department assists U. S. D. A. in making this survey each year. These reports, directly from farmers, are the basis for official estimates for Texas acreage of all crops harvested in 1966.

To be sure this community is well represented in the survey Postmaster Grady urges each patron receiving a card to fill it out and return it to his mailbox.

Rural mail carriers working on this project are:

Coleman Wright, Route One; LeRoy Price, Route Two; Howard Armstrong, Route Three; Owen Stagner, Route Four; Eusel Young, Route Five, and Max Gofforth, Star Route.

Skillet-cook shredded green cabbage in a little butter and a suspicion of water; serve with corned beef (sliced and ready-bought) for a quick main course.

Agreed: Forrest Home Is Found Is Leader In Public Service

Leo Forrest, genial manager of Deaf Smith County Electric Co-Operative, was lauded in the September issue of Texas Co-Op Power, state-wide publication, for having begun his twenty-second year as manager of the local organization in June, 1966.

The article justly pointed out that Forrest, during these 21 years, has also served the community in many ways. He is a past president of Hereford Rotary Club, has acted as chairman of the Hereford School Board, and for 12 years has been a member of the Board of Stewards at the First Methodist Church. In addition, he has for many years contributed time on the Deaf Smith County school board.

In the field of rural electrification, Forrest has been on the National Legislative Committee, and on the National Resolutions Committee. More recently he has been to Columbia and Chili in South America, where he acted as technical advisor to personnel who are trying to establish electricity in those areas.

On the home front, we appreciate him most for his sensible approach to problems; and for his willingness to work in behalf of the entire area. Like alert managers of other organizations, Forrest recognizes that his cooperative can grow and flourish only in proportion to the growth of the area which it serves and, in achieving this goal, he has contributed much toward helping hundreds of people who have no direct connection with the organization which he pilots.

All in all, we agree with the state publication. Leo Forrest is one of the leading managers in the nation, and his record stands as a challenge to those who choose similar fields of public service.

Tight Money May Pinch Deadbeats

Tight money and rising taxes worry business people, like anyone else, but neither of these problems begins to compare with that of poor collections, according to most business firms.

Even more unique is the report that younger people are generally considered less likely to pay than those of the older generations. At the hospital, for instance, records indicate that the younger patients do not maintain nearly as good pay records as do the patients 50 years of age, and older. Considering that younger people are more frequently capable of paying their bills, due to earning ability and stable income especially over those beyond retirement age, the situation is a bit alarming.

"It is a matter of attitude," said one official. "Quite a few young families feel that they should not have to pay their bills." Others do not meet their obligations with the seriousness of generations in the past.

The situation, in addition to present government trends, may also be attributed to poor credit and collection systems of many merchants and tradesmen. Lush spending, easy money and lax collections have been the order of the day.

Present conditions, on the other hand, will likely result in changes on this front. People who do not pay promptly will be cut off as money continues to tighten, and as profits dwindle. Who knows? Having things a little tougher might even help our social and moral outlook as individuals.

High Living Tightens Money

The tight money market, which finds competition between banks and savings and loan institutions forcing interest rates up to the point where new construction declines, may well be attributed to the fact that too many people, workers as well as those on welfare, are living too high on the hog.

They may not realize it because, despite high profits and wages, despite ever increasing government benefits, by the time they have paid their taxes, there isn't much left for the needs of their families. But if people had more money to put into savings banks and savings and loan institutions, they in turn would have more money to lend for new construction, and that would put more people to work. And if the lending agencies actually had more money than they lend, that would force interest rates down.

While the debate is raging over further increases in taxation, a strong case can be made for lowering it as a matter of public interest.

Fads come and fads go, and we have a sneaky feeling that a lot of ordinary people will be downright grateful when the current fad of marching falls by the wayside.

No one seems to know how our Space Age marches really got started, but we are all bound to agree that they have become prolific, indeed. Furthermore, not since Sherman marched through Georgia has any march been so effective as those during the past 24 months. The marches have fanned out from the Deep South into practically ever state in the union, and they include just about as many causes.

At this point, the future of marching as a protest is anyone's guess. They could taper off and be forgotten, or they could spread into still other fields, including high schools, neighborhoods and even family misunderstandings.

The idea, we presume, emerged from union picketing. Since it is based on non-violence and attracts much attention, the march apparently works little hardship on anyone except the marchers, and we presume they are happy with results accomplished. We do wonder, at times, how so many hardworking, down-trodden people find time for such exhibitions, though, and still carry on their livelihood. What's more, the marches should prove a banana for army recruiters. Where else can you locate so many people in one group who actually like to march, and if they are willing to march for free, wouldn't they be even more delighted to be paid for the same effort?

Hometown Town Is Eye-Opener

A prophet is without honor in his home balliwick, according to legend, and the same theory seems to apply to communities.

A Hereford man who recently conducted a tour of the community for visiting relatives from Central Texas tells us that he got more out of the trek than anyone else. In addition to observing several new improvements, he came to appreciate many of the things which he has been taking for granted.

Variety Park, for instance, is a marked improvement over conditions found in practically every other town and city in Texas. Just new sidewalks, without the rest stops and frills, impressed his guests tremendously. Sugarland Mall was, of course, the greatest point of envy among the visitors from other small towns, and some were prone to compare it with malls located in Dallas and other cities.

When it comes to schools and churches, Hereford is second to none. The visitors, in fact, did not see how the community could populate and support so many fine buildings. Good food, the shopping center on Harrison and the center back on Park Avenue, first class utilities and, of course, touch-tone dialing were among the highlights.

Most impressive of all to outsiders, however, is the thorough completeness of Hereford as a center to serve all needs — and at reasonable prices. This is naturally the ultimate goal of all communities, but too few of us actually realize what Hereford has to offer until we are called upon to review and re-evaluate the things we have at our doorstep.

Bielection Results Show Presidential Year Trends

By BERT MILLS

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Politics is never out of season in Washington but the pace quickens every two years even when there is no Presidential election. After all, Senators and Representatives are important too and the results of bielections often indicate what will happen two years hence when the stakes are even higher.

So it was quite natural that when your correspondent encountered an old friend and colleague, taking his ease in one of those made-for-a-nap overstuffed chairs in the Senate Press Gallery, that the coming November elections should become the topic under discussion. It is no secret to astute editors that Washington correspondents sometimes are so desperate for an angle that they resort to interviewing a colleague.

This can be a mistake if the goal is simply to flush facts out of another. After all, the other fellow is no dumbbell and if he has hard facts, he will use them himself. An interviewee from the Fourth Estate will sometimes disclose only his half-facts that he dares not publish himself.

A far more satisfactory interview with a fellow journalist is to make it clear that facts are not the goal. If one can persuade the party of the second part that it is his opinion that is being sought, he may be so flattered that he will drop a few hard facts along the way.

So it was on the occasion now being recalled. It was just a chance meeting and more of a two-man bull session than an interview. In all truth, your reporter was interested only in what his friend thought. We were just chatting, and it was only later that the thought occurred that some use might be made of what had been said.

Lacking permission to quote, our friend must be identified only as a Veteran Conservative Observer. Actually, he is only 52 but he has been in Washington 30 years, having arrived in town just in time to witness Franklin D. Roosevelt's second inauguration. VCO also object to the label Conservative, but if one must be either a Conservative or a Liberal, even he would accept the tag.

Reconstructing the conversation from no notes at all, your reporter remembers commenting that the Senate was so liberal it scared him. VCO agreed that times had changed in our period on the scene, and that the House was now more conservative than the Senate. We each threw in a few examples, including Medicare, minimum wages, unemployment compensation, rent subsidies, and taxes.

VCO recalled the time when President Harry S. Truman sought authorization to seize the railroads, in a strike situation. The House reacted to the emergency by endorsing the Truman plan in a hurry, but when the issue reached the Senate, one member cautioned against the move as a bad precedent unworthy of a democracy.

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm puts the big city problem in a different light in his letter this week.

Dear editor:

According to an article I read in a newspaper which drifted onto this bindweed farm yesterday, don't know where it came from, the mayor of New York informed a Senate committee in Washington that New York has reached the limit of its taxing ability, has run out of new sources of revenue, and will need 50 billion dollars from the Federal government in the next ten years to keep the city livable.

Moreover, other major cities are getting in the same shape, and one Senator, figuring up their requests, calculated it would take 250 billion dollars in the next ten years to keep them livable.

I got to thinking this over, and while I don't know exactly how many acres there are in the country's major cities, I estimate they're asking for roughly about $50,000 per acre per year.

You can see this makes the farmers, who never got more than 3 or 4 dollars an acre in Federal help, look like pikers.

It makes a person wonder, can we really afford these cities?

I know land is valuable in a city, but if it takes $50,000 an acre per year in Federal hand-outs to keep it producing, it makes a man scratch his head.

Furthermore, there are other complications. For example, farmers now make up less than 10 per cent of the total population in this country, and if the 90 per cent now living in the cities can't support themselves and are looking outside their boundaries for help, somebody is sure dreaming if he thinks us farmers can carry the load. I wouldn't mind sending New York a dollar now and then, but 10 billion? Just haven't got it.

Somebody ought to tell the cities, where all the brains are supposed to be, that just because farm prices are up a little it doesn't mean we can rake up 25 million dollars a year just to tide them over.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

SOME LAWMAKERS ARE TV CONSCIOUS

AT LEAST ONE SENATOR LOVES THAT SPOTLIGHT

By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Washington Writer

WASHINGTON—From time to time this column has commented on the callousness of the political behavior of our federal legislators. Watching their behavior can be a trying test of the observer's faith in democracy.

A recent incident in a Senate committee hearing was a particularly outstanding example of cynicism on the part of one senator who is running for re-election this year. The committee was involved in a piece of important economic legislation affecting the depositors in many institutions across the nation and it was endeavoring to analyze the opposing stand of government officials and representatives of the banking industry.

The particular senator we refer to was not present when the session began, but apparently word was sent to him that TV cameras were present. Obviously, he had asked to be informed, for he hastened from his office and burst into the meeting in truly grand entrance manner. Once there, he immediately sought recognition from the committee chairman and launched into a well-phrased but completely uninformed monologue on the legislation. Here was news, and the cameramen and soundmen turned their recording devices in his direction.

The senator made several grandiose remarks concerning his deep interest in protecting the public, made a few caustic remarks about the necessity of government officials to be cautious in the field of legislation, and raised a number of questions which normally would be answered by the government witnesses present. But, unfortunately, the recording devices were turned off and the senator knew it.

He promptly rose from his seat and left the meeting without waiting for any reaction. Probably tracking those TV cameras.

REPORT FROM HOME—Congressmen always are concerned with what the voters back home are thinking about, especially in an election year. Rep. Otis Pike, D-N.Y., decided to travel back to his district and do a little research.

As a result, he made the following report to his fellow congressmen upon his return:

"They (the voters) were, oddly enough, talking about the weather, but they didn't expect Congress to do much about it. They were talking about how badly the Yanks were doing and how well the Mets were doing. They were talking about how good the bluefishing was and how awful the jellyfish were."

"Oh yes, they were talking about Viet Nam, and de Gaulle, and taxes, and traffic, too—and they were concerned about all of these things. But they weren't frantic or panicky about any of them."

Which is a lot more than you can say for some congressmen facing re-election.

50 YEARS AGO

Hereford, the county seat of Deaf Smith County, is conceded by all visitors to be the most beautiful town in all the great Panhandle. It was founded by home-making and home-loving people who soon after settling here began to plant trees and beautify their homes. This spirit has been caught by all who have come here. Surrounded by the vast treeless plains, the town with its wealth of fine shade trees, orchards and blooming vines and plants, all well watered from the abundant supply furnished by over four hundred wind pumps and the splendid water system, has a restful and homelike appearance not often seen in towns and no place else on the plains country. There are as fine lawns of blue grass and white clover as Kentucky or north Missouri can show.

The Western National Bank is a popular institution among the school children these days. It gave to every boy and girl, merely for the asking, a strong, well made and ample book satchel. This timely gift will doubtless alleviate in a measure, the sorrow of the urchins who are being broken afresh into school harness.

On Sunday afternoon at the residence of Dr. G. E. Paris, the officiating minister, occurred the marriage of Mr. Clyde Beach and Miss Lena Withy, both of this city. The bridal pair were accompanied by several close friends who witnessed the simple, impressive ceremony.

Both bride and groom are very excellent young people and enjoy the esteem of many friends, who wish for them all of the good things that worth deserves.

The public schools opened last Monday morning with all the teachers in their places and with good attendance. Many of the rooms are crowded and overflowing.

Up to Wednesday at noon 485 had been enrolled. The total enrollment last year was 519. It is likely that this number will be reached the first month of the school. The indications are that the yearly enrollment will exceed that of last year. The outlook is good for a very prosperous year.

25 YEARS AGO

With prospects bright for a record feed crop here this fall, the advice of County Agent A. R. Bateman to farmers is "can it."

Mr. Bateman goes on to point out that what is good management and good business for housewives, the canning of fruit and vegetables when such produce is plentiful, is equally good advice to farmers who have a chance now to put by a nest egg for the dry years which are sure to come.

Colton stockings aren't what they used to be, says David H. Young, hosiery designer for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Home Economics. One hundred fifty designs for better-looking, better-fitting, better-wearing cotton hose have been released by the Bureau of Home Economics to manufacturers in the past two years. Dora R. Barnes, Extension Service clothing specialist for the Texas A&M College Extension Service says beautiful cotton hose, the kind women will be proud to wear, will be one result of the present shortage of silk hosiery.

Members of Federated Music Clubs in the Seventh District are looking forward to the annual district convention which will be held in Hereford, Oct. 16, 17 and 18.

This week constitutes a sort of educational roundup with students all over the nation getting ready to go away to school; vacations are over and the college trek is on.

The Deaf Smith County Selective Service Board this week received definite instructions from national selective service headquarters that men on the draft rolls who reached the age of 28 before July 1, 1941, will be placed in a different classification from the one to which they were originally assigned.

SCHOOL OPENING

Medical Attention Given Youngsters

The fall school term is near for millions of American youngsters and their parents once again are reminding themselves that there are some things that must be done to get the children ready.

The American Medical Association recommends a medical examination for the child who is starting to school for the first time. Your doctor will know what to do. His examination will cover all essential aspects of your child's health. It is better if this examination can be made, and booster immunizations given, a few weeks before school starts.

Some school systems require a medical exam for beginning students. Many schools also require certain immunizations against infectious diseases. Your doctor will know the regulations in your neighborhood.

Most doctors now feel that four or five examinations during the elementary and high school years are sufficient for most children. These usually are spaced at the start of the first school year, about the fourth grade, about the seventh grade, at the ninth or tenth grade and upon graduation from high school. And, of course, if any untoward symptoms arise at any time, a visit to the doctor is in order.

A special examination also is important if your child is participating in school athletics.

In the excitement of the first few days of school, the small child may forget all of the safety warnings you've been teaching him. Each parent should be sure the child knows how to cross intersections en route to and from school. He should know about proper deportment on the school bus. He should know the rules of bicycle safety.

Give careful thought to your child's entire schedule during the school year. Does he have plenty of time to play? That is, play at things he selects, and not something that you or a teacher select for him. Does he have time to just sit and dream, if he wants to?

Or, are you lining up a fall and winter that includes daily rounds of music lessons, dancing classes, after-school athletics, social affairs, family affairs in which the child must participate, whether he wishes or not?

Cooperation between the home and school and the guidance of the physician can prevent an overload.

If you're a teacher, try to remember that yours is not the child's only class, and try not to overload him with too much homework and outside assignments. Remember that other teachers also are giving assignments, and that there are limits to how much young minds and bodies can absorb.

H.D. Club Names 1967 Officers

Elected president for the 1967 calendar year, Mrs. Louie Olson will take office in Cultural Home Demonstration Club for a term beginning in January. The election was held in the home of Mrs. Viola Williams Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Paul Corbett was named vice president, Mrs. Grady Parsons secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Williams reporter and Mrs. Roy Thompson associate, Mrs. J. D. Love Council delegate and Mrs. Ira Scott alternate. Mrs. Love will also serve as parliamentarian.

The business session followed a program on the general subject, Health. Mrs. Olson spoke of two causes of many deaths, in this nation, strokes and hepatitis. Other members joined in a discussion.

A salad luncheon was planned for Oct. 28. For the next meeting, on Sept. 23 in Mrs. Love's home, each member was asked to wear a suit or dress of cotton fabric. Mrs. Argen Draer, County H. D. Agent, is to give the program on New Cotton Fabrics.

Other members present were Mmes. P. M. Houser, G. S. Parker, J. P. Gandy, Bert Inman and Art Lewis.

bert A. Taft persuaded the Senate by pure logic and persistence that seizure of the rails was not the answer, even in a crisis. Historians now regard the Taft victory as a milestone. VCO wondered out loud whether that sort of one-man crusade by a minority leader could turn the tide again in similar circumstances in the current Senate. With all due respect to the Senate's present G. O. P. standard bearer, we doubted it could happen in 1966. Giants like Taft come only once per generation.

It is true that Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R., Ill.) led the successful fight earlier this year to prevent repeal of Section 14 (b) of the Taft-Hartley Act, which authorizes "state right-to-work laws. But the Republican leader had a built-in supporting cast in this case because many of the States have such laws and their Senators are more or less obligated to protect them.

Will the Senate that takes office in the 90th Congress next January be as liberal as the present body? My conservative friend fears so. After all, only one-third of Senators must run again this fall, and at least half of them appear certain of reelection.

If the public wishes to flash a signal to Washington, the way to do it would be to elect more conservatives to the House in November. It would not take too many upsets to change the balance of power, even though the Democrats retain a substantial majority in the House.

FLASH GORDON by MAC RABOY

IN THE DEADLY JUNGLE OF PLANET D-301, FLASH SEARCHES FOR THE MUTATED COLONISTS... AND HAPPENS UPON A HUNTING PARTY!

THAT'S TWO OF THEM! AND TURNED KILLER-- LIKE EVERYTHING HERE!

LUCKY I DIDN'T SHOOT! THEY WOULD'VE SPOTTED ME! I'D BETTER MOVE BACK!

THEY'RE GOING TO CARRY HOME THEIR PREY! AND COULD LEAD ME RIGHT TO THE REST OF THE MUTATED COLONISTS!

UNBELIEVABLE -- THAT BEAST MUST WEIGH HALF A TON! I'D BETTER KEEP A SAFE DISTANCE FROM THOSE TWO!

THERE'S A STOCKADE! AHEAD! THE MUTANTS' CAMP!

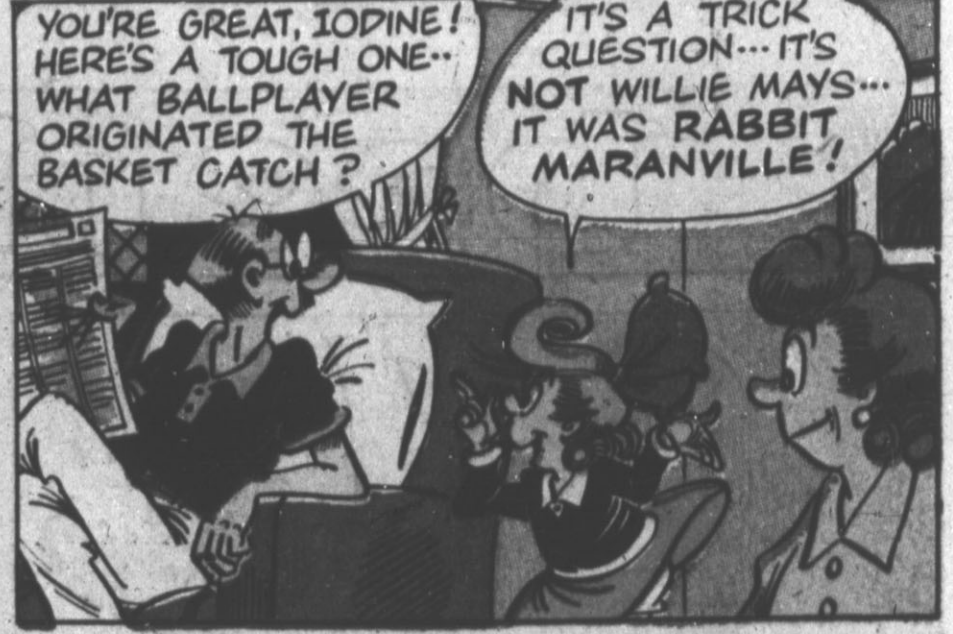

THEY WENT THROUGH THIS OPENING --- I HATE TO RISK IT -- BUT I DON'T SEE ANY OTHER WAY IN!

BUT THE SCENT OF THE FRESH KILL HAS BROUGHT A JUNGLE PREDATOR!

NEXT WEEK-- SILENT BATTLE!

TIM, I'VE BEEN EXAMINING ALL VALUABLE SHIPMENTS SCHEDULED TO MOVE THROUGH PORT AGANA—

TRYING TO PREDICT THE NEXT VICTIM OF THE CALVO GANG?

EXACTLY— AND THE C.S. AND L. SHIPMENT HAS GOT TO BE IT!

THE OUTPUT OF C.S. AND L. MINES... GOLD BULLION, ROUGH DIAMONDS, ETC... COMES TO PORT AGANA...

...UNDER VERY HEAVY GUARD THESE RICHES ARE LOADED ONTO A CARGO SHIP!

IT WOULD BE THEFT ON A GRAND SCALE! THE SORT OF JOB ONLY THE CALVO GANG WOULD TACKLE!

WOULD THEY TRY IT EVEN WITH CALVO HIMSELF IN THE HOSPITAL?

I SAY CALVO'S LOSS OF MEMORY IS FAKED... A TRICK TO GET OUR GUARD DOWN!

THIS SECRET FILE CONTAINS OUR SECURITY PRECAUTIONS TAKEN TO PROTECT C.S. AND L.... I CHALLENGE YOU TO FIND A FLAW IN THEM!
