Abortion Testimony Given

AUSTIN (AP) - Abortions should be illegal after 22 weeks, except in cases where the mother's life is in danger or the child could not survive anyway, says the president of the Texas Right to Life Committee.

Dr. T. Frwin Ballinger testified Luesday before the Senate Jurisprudence subcommittee on criminal matters in support of a bill establishing 22 weeks as age at which a fetus becomes viable.

The State Board of Health Resources would be charged under the bill with lowering that age if evidence at a yearly study indicated it should be lowered.

Largest Election Begins

NEW DELHI, India (AP) - The world's largest election began todas as India's silent masses went to the polls to elect a new lower house of Parliament and to decide whether Prime Minister Indira Gandhi will continue in power.

The voter turnout was reported heavier than usual, a development that Mrs. Gandhi's opponents had said should prove favorable to them.

Voting was scheduled today in 300 of he country's 542 election districts and unless Mother Nature provides some significant moisture within the next two weeks. Deaf Smith county farmers attempting to raise wheat under dryland conditions may be looking at their second crop failure in as many years, while yields of irrigated wheat may once again be seriously reduced.

ALTHOUGH A GOOD portion of the hards dryland wheat crop could still recover wth favorable weather conditions, the stage has already been set for a repeat of the major failure of the dryland wheat crop which occurred here in 1976, and all of its economic ramifications. Some 100,000 acres of dryland wheat tailed during the 1976 crop year, due to a prolonged drought which began in the fall of 1975 and carried well into the spring of last year. Irrigated wheat also yielded poorly.

That crop failure came after an outstanding wheat production year in 1975, when Deat Smith County led the state in wheat yields with a production of 10.2 million bushels and on average yield of 31.6 bushels per acre.

Outstanding, vields on the county's diviand acreage were a key factor in the top wheat production that year.

COUNTY ASCS Executive Director

John Fuston expressed amazement at the resiliency of this year's dryland wheat erop, which was sown last fall with abundant soil moisture.

"Surprisingly enough, we still have some dryland wheat left, despite the extremely rough windstorm Friday," said Fuston. "I am being optimistic, but I feel that we could still harvest some dryland wheat if we receive some moisture in the next week or so. But we will definitely lose the dryland wheat if the moisture doesn't come soon. Friday's windstorm blew so much sand onto the fields that it is going to be hard to keep any of the dryland fields from blowing without listing them up," he added.

The local ASCS director indicated that some 10,000 to 15,000 acres of dryland wheat have already been lost due to Friday's windstorm and an earlier windstorm which ravaged local cropland on February 22. Some 5,000 to 10,000 acres of dryland wheat were severely damaged in that storm.

Fuston indicated that an additional 50,000 acres of dryland wheat are at an "extrememly critical" stage since being covered with sand in the Friday storm

Mahon Sees Carter Bill Smaller Than Past

WASHINGTON (AP - The Carter administration economic stimulus appropriation may seem like a major step to some congressmen. But not to Rep. George Mahe

Mahon, 77, has seen a lot of stimulus proposals in his 42 years in Congress. Some of them were more momentous than the one which he, as chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, steered to passage Tuesday. In 1935, Franklin D. Roosevelt asked for $4 billion dollars for public works. It was an unheard of sum at the time. The entire federal budget in 1934 was only $6 billion

To measure up to that Rooseveltian proportion. Carter's stimulus package which totals $30 billion over two years, would have to spend about 10 times as much.

Onions Go In Despite Wind

A field worker goes through the process of putting out onion sets in a field southeast of Hereford during a break in last week's windy conditions. The planting date for the young and tender onions has arrived at the same time as devastating windstorms, and growers who are putting out the plants know the sets could be cut clean to the ground in the event of another sandstorm such as the one experienced here last Friday. However, the planting schedule must be followed and workers have weaved their way through numerous fields in the county during the past week, putting the young onions in place. A spokesman for a local vegetable packing shed reported that onion acreage here should be down somewhat from last year. With the onions already going in, potato planting is close at hand, and spuds should start to go into the ground sometime next week. [Photo By Jim Stelert]

U.S. Aids Zaire

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter administration is spending $1 million worth of military and medical equipment to Zaire as the central African country tries to repel what it calls an invasion by "foreign mercenaries" from Angola.

It marked the first time the Carter administration has found itself involved in foreign wartare and Carter's spokesman said the President personally made Tuesday's decision to send aid to Zaire.

U.S. officials, announcing the airlift, say they have no confirmed evidence that Cuban forces are engaged in the fighting in the southern province of Shaba, formerly known as Katanga.

Economy Bill Snowballs

WASHINGTON (AP) - The tax cut and spending program launched by President Carter to jog the lagging economy is snowballing through congress and seems certain to emerge bigger than it started. How much bigger it will be than $31.6 billion -- the administration's latest two-year estimate -- is still a question.

The answer may play a key role in determining whether Carter will be able to tultill his promise to balance the budget by 1981.

The House on Tuesday voted a $23.3 billion appropriation to fund major elements of Carter's program and substantial additions by Congress.

C of C Directors Meet Thursday

The regularly monthly meeting of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce board of directors will be held at 6:30 a.m. Thursday in the Conference room of the Chamber building.

It will be the first meeting for Bob Duckworth, the new executive vice president of the organization. He comes from Hobbs, N.M., where he served in a similar position. An official welcome will be given by the board.

In other business, the board's agenda lists statements of receipts and expenditures for February, 1977, regular committee reports, a special committee report on Christmas decorations, Women's Division report and discussion of a leadership workshop. Standing committees reports include Fun breakfast, Water and Sports.

All board members and interested chamber members are encouraged to attend. The Chamber president is Joe Shollenbarger, who will preside at the meeting. Mahon voted for the Depression measure, along with an overwhelming majority of both the House and Senate. "We had a serious situation then. There were soup lines and millions of people out of work." the Democrat from Lubbock. Tex. recalled.

The Roosevelt program did not convince Mahon that it was wise for the government to incur a deficit to stimulate the economy. "It worked to some extent, but it wasn't until World War II that the country finally moved ahead at full speed. None of the stimulus bills I've ever seen have ever been successful in every detail," he said.

Mahon said he worries that the Carter program may take several years to spend the money Congress is appropriating now. By the time the money is spent, inflation may be a bigger problem than unemployment.

And, he said, passage of the program reduced to "less than 50-50" the chances that Carter will be able to fulfill his campaign pledge to balance the federal budget by the end of his term.

Mahon, however, went along with the bill. "I have to work with the 55 members of the Appropriations Committee, and the House leadership and the administration, and this is what we agreed we'd do. It was a compromise," he said.

Commissioners Call Meeting To Set Wind Erosion Policy

A called meeting of the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court was scheduled at 1 p.m. today at the courthouse to set a procedure farmers can use to force uncooperative landowners to plow up their fields to prevent damaging wind crosion.

The commissioners met in regular session Monday to hear complaints and demands from about 10 area farmers and agriculture officials for County Judge Sam Morgan to authorize them to plow up a farmer's land which was being blown in neighboring fields. While they asked for immediate action, the judge and Criminal District Attorney Andy Shuyal were hesistant to proceed without establishing the legal status of a dormant law allowing the judge to act.

The old Deaf Smith Counts Wind Erosion Conservation District founded in 1936, gave the original right for land to be chiseled even though the landowner was against it. Its purpose was to prevent further damage to surrounding land caused by wind blowing top soil across the area. Plowing achieves this goal through deep set rows and larger clods of dirt which act as a barrier to the wind. As a dormant act, the law needs only to be reinstated to have legal status. Neighboring counties of Randall and Oldham are considering resurrecting their wind erosion districts.

Morgan said this morning that 1948 was the last time the wind crosion district authority was used according to old records found at the courthouse. Farmers faced with the plight of the Dirty 30's had to file a charge on a particular landowner. wait two weeks for notifications sent to all concerned, hold a hearing and decide the matter before the county judge. First, a three-member team from each county precinct was appointed to view the land for evidence of wind erosion. At today's meeting, each of the county's four commissioners were to appoint the three-man teams. However, Morgan said the commissioners, who are the governing body for the wind crosion district by-laws so speed up the procedure for getting land plowed. As it stands now, the land would be blown away before necessary plowing was conducted.

Also, methods of funding the wind erosion program will be considered. It used to be financed at least partially through the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Even though assessments for the work of can be made against the landowner involved, current cash is needed to operate the program since all workers need to be paid.

Hugh Clearman, former assistant; county extension agent, was to be present to discuss the application of the wind, crossion protection in the dust bowl days and how it might properly be applied today.

We want to change the law to meet today's times and needs," Morgan said: Farmers present at the Monday meeting were Donald Hicks, Larry Harris, and Carl Strafuss among others.

Clayton To Seek Third Term As Speaker

AUSTIN (AP) - Speaker Bill Clayton said today he is a candidate for a third term as House speaker of the 1979 legislature.

"I'm not interested in the Agriculture Commissioner job to succeed John White and I am not interested in running against Sen. John Tower," Clayton told a news conference.

"But I do intend to run for speaker again."

Clayton said he already had 90 "firm" pledges of support for the 1979 campaign.

"There have been rumbles on the floor the last two or three weeks about the possibility of a full-fledged speaker's race breaking out, which is the last thing I would like 'to happen." Clayton said. "That's why I want to make clear today I am running for a third term."

Clayton said he hoped his announcement would put a stop to the widespread campaigning and let, members know where he stands.

Rep. Buddy Temple, D-Diboll, has said he is a candidate for 1979 speaker and will run whether Clayton runs or not.

STAL DEN.

Some have considered Rep. Bill Sullivant, D-Gainesville, a possible candidate but he has said he will oppose Clayton.

"If we allow a speaker's race to develop it could throw us off schedule in handling the important legislation we face and we could end up in a last minute tangle as has happened before." Clayton said.

Clayton said he had received numerous inquires if he would be interested in a race for governor or lieutenant governor. provided the present incumbents do not run again in 1978.

"I don't anticipate there being an opening in either place." he said. "and I have no plans for that...down the line somewhere those are the offices that interest me the most. It might be in 1981 or earlier if there is an opening."

The cost of Social Security continues to escalate. The Conference Board points out. Spending for Social Security amounted to only 1.1 per cent of the nation's taxable payroll in 1950. But this figure jur to 5.9 per cent in 1960, to 8.1 per cent in 1970 and to 10.7 per cent in 1975. Experts say ex-penditures could eventually top 20 per cent of taxable income.

Dawn Musical Show Slated Tomorrow

Musical entertainment will be the feature attraction of the annual benefit show to be staged at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Community Center at Dawn.

The two-hour program will be performed by members of Dawn Music Club and other residents of the Dawn community. Admission will cost $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under the age of 12.

Children from Dawn will be cast in "The Gingerbread Castle," based on the opera "Hansel and Gretel" by Englebert Humperdinck. This performance will include dances, songs and dialogue to portray the story of the two lost children and the wicked witch, who will present her 'broomstick'' dance.

The second feature will be "Thirty Minutes With Carmen" as arranged by Arthur Johnson and May Van Dyke. Based on the opera by George Bizet, this performance relates the romantic adventures of a gypsy girl employed by a cigarette factory.

Concluding the evening's program will be an old-time melodrama, "The Miner's Daughter" or "Evil Reaps Its Just Rewards." by Schubert Fendrich. This segment is the comical tale of miners pursued by devoted temperance workers, who wreak havoc. Arriving to save the day is Clementine, freshly educated at finishing school, where she has acquired her own brand of etiquette.

Each of the musical segments is expected to be approximately 30 minutes in length.

"If we had to play a game tomorrow we could complete with the players we have coming back." Moreland said.

Moreland also said the Tigers' success has helped with recruiting, especially in the talent- laden Houston area.

'We've had five our six players from this area express interest in TSU," Moreland said. "That's a major breakthrough for us. The last quality player from this area to come to TSU was Gaylord Davis and that was five years ago."

Blomberg's Bat Lifts Yankees

BY HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

"It feels." Ron Blomberg said, "like you're a fan and you jumped up and hit a home run." Blomberg ought to know. For the past 11/2 years, he has been little more than a fan.

Tuesday night, he became a hitter again. A career .302 hitter before suffering a shoulder injury that wiped him out in July, 1975 and limited him to one game and two at-bats last season, Blomberg unloaded a 400-foot two-run homer and a run-scoring grounder as the New York Yankees defeated the Minnesota Twins 9-4 in an exhibition game.

But it was much more than a meaningless spring game to the 28-year-old Blomberg, who is trying to recapture his spot as the Yankees' designated hitter against right-handed pitching.

"This was like a regularseason game for me. The home run felt good, it feels like my swing is coming back," said Blomberg, whose powerful, compact stroke is one of baseball's neatest swings. "If I show them I can swing the bat I'll probably be a part of this team."

Meanwhile, Buzz Capra, who used to pitch in New York for the Mets and is trying to make it back to Atlanta's starting rotation following arm surgery. worked three scoreless innings, allowing two hits, in the Braves' 6-1 triumph over the Houston Astros. Phil Niekro, the Atlanta starter, allowed one hit in four scoreless innings.

The world champion Cincinnati Reds split their squad and made two Canadian clubs happy. One team of Reds bowed to the Montreal Expos 5-2 -ex-Reds first baseman Tony Perez homered in his first game against his former team and later scored what proved to be the winning run- while the fledgling Toronto Blue Jays edged the Reds' other group/9-8 in 11 innings. The Baltimore Orioles, also plit their squad with somewhat different results. They downed the Boston Red Sox 3-0 as Rudy

May, Dennis Martinez and Fred Holdsworth combined on a two-hitter- Dwight Evans' two-out single in the eighth inning and Fred Lynn's double inthe ninth- and also whipped the Texas Rangers 7-3 as Doug DeCinces slugged a tie-breaking two-run homer. Elsewhere, Dave Kingman hit his second homer in two days as the New York Mets beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-2; Tim Corcoran's two-run homer gave the Detroit Tigers a 3-1 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies in 11 innings, and the Los Angeles Dodgers scored six times in the fifth inning- Rick Monday and Dave Lopes each drove in a pairand trounced the St. Louis Cardinals 13-3. Home runs by Ralph Garr and Larry Foster powered the Chicago White Sox to a 4-0 victory over Kansas City in the opener of a doubleheader, but the Royal took the nightcap 10-3 as John Wathan and Luis Silverio homered; Vida Blue allowed two hits in five scoreless innings as the Oakland A's beat the Cleveland Indians 4-2; Jerry Morales singled in the winning run as the Chicago Cubs edged the California Angels 4-3; the San Diego Padres got homers from George Hendrick and Jerry Turner in defeating the Milwaukee Brewers 7-4, and the Seattle Mariners scored five runs in the seventh inning the and beat the San Francisco Giants 6-4.

One-Way Street Causes Farmer Much Frustration

SUNNYVALE, Tex. (AP) Fred Motley's barn stands just 100 vards from his farmhouse but now that the State Highway Department has made the road leading to it a one-way street. he has to drive five miles to get there.

"For 20 years I been paying taxes." Motley says. "20 years. and I get no water, no sewer, Nothing. 'cept for them to tell me I got to go one way on a one-way road."

The wrath of Motley and others in the hamlet of Sunnyvale east of Dallas is pointed at city officials who voted to back a highway. department request to make portions of the town's streets one way. The department needed the approval to get $40,000 in federal grant money to improve a dangerous overpass in the town.

The signs went up overnight. Motley not only is upset about the extra trouble of the five-mile trip to reach his barn, but he also worries about having to drive his tractor loaded with equipment in front of the town's clementary school. A stormy town meeting on the matter was held earlier this week. Mayor Bob Vineyard said it was the first time the citizens. had voiced opinions in the subject. Some of the Sunnvvale residents are protesting the one-way streets by driving the wrong way and taking down the onc-way signs, according to Vinevard.

"Do you think it's sensible for people to steal one-way street signs and drive down a one-way street the wrong way?" Vinevard asked. "And if someone had had an accident. they would have said the city is to blame."

Vinevard, an official with Lone Star Gas Co. in Dallas, said the council indicated it might change its mind by the regular April meeting.

"But it is my understanding that the highway department can make the streets one way with or without the city's done in a spirit of cooperation. When the ordinance was passed, no one showed up to complain."

On March 4, farmers led by R.L. Davenport filed a federal lawsuit claiming their constitutional rights were violated. Vineyard said the council will wait until the suit is settled before acting. "I'm no Clarence Darrow." said Davenport. "but these speak up for them." Davenport owns a tractor dealership in Sunnyvale. Now that the signs are up, he says farmers wanting to do business with him have to travel about two miles out of their way.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe has recommended that the legislature not raise the minimum salaries guaranteed teachers by the state but let local districts raise them if funds are available. His school finance plan would reduce demands on local taxes for the Foundation School Program.

Cool Front Stalls In Texas

By The Associated Press

Occasional showers dotted South Texas today as the latest cool front stalled along a line from near Beaumont to a little south of Laredo. Skies were clear to partly cloudy north of that zone. There were also considerable fog near the coast in early morning.

Winds gusting above 40 miles per hour whistled through Guadalupe Pass on the highway from El Paso to Carlsbad, N.M.. during the night. prompting a special warning to travelers in that part of far West Texas. Light breezes from the east fanned other sections except the Panhandle, where they switched around to the south Intermittent light rain or drizzle was expected to spread over the south half of the state while skies remained clear elsewhere.

Temperatures near dawn ranged from 32 degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle up to 70 at Brownsville in the extreme south. Top marks Tuesday afternoon went as high as 88 at Presidio in the Big Bend of West Texas.

A "John Hancock" is a signature, derived from the fact that John Hancock (1737-1793), the first signer of the Declaration of Independence. had an especially large and clear signature.

and an acreage of wheat in excess of 100,000 acres is "still holding on."

FARMERS RESORTED TO chiseling their wheat fields with the chisels set on wide spacings during the big blow in late February, and this procedure has been virtually their only recourse in an attempt to halt wind erosion in the face of the brutal windblastings.

"It was startling to discover that even some of the good irrigated wheat was blowing rather badly last week." commented Fuston. "There were only isolated cases, but some fields in the northeastern area of the county began to blow and the wheat was soon cut to the roots by the dust." he added.

With conditions already likened to the Dust Bowl days of the 1930's in some areas, local farmers still have a good deal of windy weather ahead of them this spring. Moisture, (or the lack of it), is rapidly becoming an extremely critical factor.

The loss of the county's entire dryland wheat crop for a second straight year could have a significant impact upon the local agriculture-based economy.

DEAF SMITH COUNTY was edged out by Hidlago County for the title of No. 1 county in Texas in agriculture in 1976. according to preliminary figures provided by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and the county's drop was largely due to the failure of the dryland wheat crop. in addition to poor prices for grain and vegetables.

Concern over the likelihood of a second dryland crop failure and drought in the local area is widespread.

The Deaf Smith County Commissioner's Court passed a resolution during its regular meeting Monday which called for equal consideration as a disaster area.

The resolution stated: "The drought that plagued High Plains farmers in 1976 has increased in many counties of our area in 1977. High winds have produced soil and crop erosion much like the Dust Bowl 30's.

WE THEREFORE call attention of the county, state and federal representatives to our drought disaster situation and ask that any considerations given other drought disaster areas should apply equally locally."

Precinct 3 Commissioner Bruce Coleman also introduced a resolution of the Texas Panhandle County Commissioner's and Judges Association which was approved by the local commissioners and will also be presented before the West Texas Convention of county commissioners and judges in Odessa this weekend. The resolution seeks to call the attention of state and national representatives to the current agricultural situation.

The resolution reads: The average grain producer in our irrigated High Plains area-after rent deduction-lost $50 per acre on his 1976 crops. This occurred with natural gas at approximately $1.30 per mcf. Eastern industrial offers indicated that our prices could become twice as high or more.

THIS AREA'S very high irrigated production in cattle and grain has supplied and stabilized much of our nation's needs. Our cattlemen, while producing high volumes of quality beef. have lost money almost constantly since 1973. Most of our family-type independent operators have been so economically drained that the cattle feeding industry has shifted to corporate hands.

"With cattle and grain prices now both substantially below cost of production. our grain producers and cattlemen are being forced out of business. As long as we have continually escalating input costs, and nothing in sight to bring product prices up in line with costs, we face guaranteed collapse of agriculture in this irrigated area.

"Our farmers are absorbing their land and equipment equities with their farming losses at a rate that cannot long continue. Our local merchants and service industries are beginning to feel the domino effect as agriculture's failure drains all other business.

"We therefore urgently solicit your utmost efforts in responsible energy, food and fiber policies. Without solvent agriculture, where is the tax base to support government?

"If the producer who feeds the nation and provides its economic foundation is liberated from this ecohomic loss situation, how can county, state or nation survive?"

THE NEXT TWO weeks will probably tell the sory of the survival or failure of the local dryland wheat crop, but local officials are making moves to be ready in case of a disaster similar to last year.

In the meantime, there's little the local drvland farmer can do but try to keep the fields from blowing and watch the skies optimistically.

"A good slow two inch rain could sure alleviate some worries." Fuston concluded.

Vandalism Reported At School

Hereford police reported only one incident on their log after a check with the department this morning.

White will not resign until he is finally cleared to take over his new post. Among those who hope to succeed him are his own deputy, Bill Pieratt of Giddings, State Rep. By DAN LEWIS

HOLLYWOOD -- How times have changed for Phil Foster.

A stand-up, nightclub comic for more than 25 years, whose television experience goes back to the early 1950s when he teamed with Patsy Kelly as regu-lars on the late Tallulah Bankhead's show (they also did radio together before that), he's back in the video grind after all these years. Foster plays Frank DeFazio, owner of the Pizza Bowl, and father of Laverne DeFazio on "Laverne and Shirley." "Laverne and Shirley" is one of the highest rated shows of the year, rarely dropping below the No. 3 spot during the first half of the season. Phil has not gone unnoticed in the flush of its success. For his entire career, he's been performing at nightclubs , and one of the regulars in the Borscht Belt. a string of hotels in New York's Catskill Mountains. Now it's all different. When I go back to New York on hiatus, and play the mountains, the kids all recognise me and ask for autographs. The old folks don't know me. They ask who I am and are told. 'Phil who?' they say. It's wild." All sorts of good things are happening to Foster's career. A year ago, there was despair. The nightclub business had deteriorated; many had closed in the last decade. If a comic didn't have a contract to play Las Vegas, there was little more that he could do. The onenighters became the most important outlet -- the hotels such as in the Catskills and the condominium circuit in Miami variety shows on television in the last 10 years has also cut heavily into the variety performer's opportunities to work. So, the comic made the rounds of talk shows, like Mike Douglas, Merv Griffin, Dinah Shore, and of course, Johnny Carson. If they were favored, they got frequent commitments, but the compensation hardly matched their nightclub price.

REPORT 7:00 GRIZZLY ADAMS

Then he got a call last January from an old friend. Gary Marshall. Gary once wrote gag lines for Foster but now he was a new TV impressario. "Happy Days" had Marshall's production label, and a second show was coming on, "Laverne and Shirley." Foster flew out to Hollywood, tested for the role as Laverne's father, and got it.

The career got new adrenalin.

Now, Foster, rough-talking, coarse-voiced, is diversifying his talents. He's got a series in the works at CBS. It's Foster's concept and the script for the pilot is due at CBS this week.

The show is titled, "Better Days Are Coming," and it's set in Brooklyn during the great depression. That's a natural for Foster. He was born and raised in Brooklyn during the depression. Much of his comedy routines in his club act deal with his youth.

Foster is working with Paramount Television in developing the half-hour situation comedy. That's convenient, since "Laverne and Shirley" is taped at Paramount. So is "Happy Days" since Marshall and Paramount are partners in these productions.

> SPRY, Pa. - (NEA) -Harry Houdini turned dimes into dollars. Doug Henning turns scarves into flowers. But J. Hilbert Anderson, no prestidigitator, can turn water into electricity and says that the real trick is to get an energy starved nation to let him do it.

Abracadabra! His prop is an eight-foot-high contraption of pipes and gauges wired to electric lights. He puts warm water in one end, which vaporizes a refrigerant, which turns a turbine, which creates a spark that, presto, fires the lights. And then the vapor is cooled by cold water to become refrigerant and start the cycle again.

It's called ocean thermal energy conversion (OTEC). Anderson says his model can be transformed into a 100,000kilowatt plant off the American coast. The warm surface sea water would then vaporize the refrigerant, and turn the turbines, whereupon deeper cold water would be used to cool the vapor and hence repeat the end of paragraph two. The idea is not crazy. The concept has been around for nearly a century, and a Frenchman named Georges Claude conducted successful experiments near Cuba in the 1920s. Now, with modern sophistications, Anderson says the Gulf stream waters off Florida alone have an energy potential 50 to 100 times the annual American

White Wins Unanimous Approval For Ag Post

WASHINGTON (AP)- Texan John White won unanimous approval for the post of deputy secretary of agriculture from the Senate Agriculture Committee Tuesday.

The unanimous vote apparently indicated easy confirmation for White by the full Senate. No one asked for an opportunity to speak against him before the committee. The confirmation hearing was amiable and friendly, starting with personal endorsements delivered for White by Sens. Lloyd Bentsen and John Tower. Four Texas House members also showed up to endorse White, who has served for the past 26 years as Texas commissioner of agriculture.

The questioning was never rugged, and the closest it got to an examination of White's personal affairs was a question from Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan. "Do you own property that might lead to a conflict of interest?" Dole asked. "Just some cattle, and I've told them I'd be glad to divest myself of those. I've stood about as much as I can stand of that," White said. His jocular reference to the financial problems of beef producers drew laughter from the committee.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., was typical when his turn to question White came up. "There is not one state commissioner more highly government sticks with the latter. He chuckles at this nonsense. But he says it hurts when he laughs.

It also hurts when Anderson tries to balance his books each month. The cost of his OTEC research is high and the profits so far have been zero. A few stockholders keep the flame going, he says. otherwise he remains solvent on the strength of unrelated consulting commissions.

White had laid the ground work for the hearing last week by attempting to visit each member of the committee personally. When it was over, he laughed. "This is easier than some I've had at home," he

Sen. Peyton McKnight, D-Tyler asked four appointees to the Texas Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations if the commission staff was working on a new constitution.

Mayor Charles Carsner Jr. of Victoria said a committee was suggesting "non-substantive changes" in an effort to reorganize the constitution.

"I've seen these so-called non-substantive changes before," McKnight said. "Don't let anybody mislead you. You can change a period or change a comma and change the meaning, and the people of Texas have spoken very strongly." against a new constitution

He said he recalled that during the 1974 Constitutional Convention a proposed document was presented with the claim that it included no substantive changes, and Mc-Knight and others found 100 such changes.

"Very frankly." McKnight said. "I hate to see the time of your staff and the tax dollars of Texas spent on another wild goose chase."

Robert Honts of Austin, another commission appointee, told McKnight that the commission had spent less than 20 minutes discussing work on the constitution.

White said he supported the concept of the family farm. He assured McKnight that the commission staff had been reminding the committee that so careful in its proposed he was the son of a Dust Bowl tenant farmer who got the money to buy his own farm from a government loan. White said he was in general agreement with the price apport concept that has been in se in recent years, although he rould like to tinker with it to make it more responsive to farmers' situations.

He said he thought the food stamp program ought to stay in the Department of Agriculture rather than be shifted to another agency. He said he wanted to end abuses and make more stamps available to the truly poor, a goal espoused by both the Ford and Carter administra-

Try peroxide on scorched canvas bag

DEAR POLLY - While applying iron-on initials to a white canvas carry-all bag I scorched the canvas. Can you tell me how to get rid of this scorch? I will have to work around the green felt initials. - HENRIETTA

DEAR HENRIETTA - A few months ago I cleaned some black marks off the canvas on a deck chair that had a black painted design by CAREFULLY sponging on a mixture of water and chlorine bleach.

An often recommended remedy for scorch marks is to dampen the marks with a cloth with peruside on it, cover the area with a dry cloth and press with an iron as hot as is safe for the material. Rinse well. Deep scorch cannot be removed. - POLLY.

DEAR POLLY - My Pet Peeve is with the lack of information on clothes sold in thrift shops. It would be such a help if the donors would sew on tags with the sizes before they give their clothes away. I am in my seventies and like many others on limited budgets I wear used clothing - JOSEPHINE DEAR POLLY - I want to tell Connie how my brother has mounted his collection of over 12,000 matchbook covers. He used plaster boards that measure 4 x 8 feet. Stretch fine picture or broom wire across a board and thumbtack it at the ends. The rows could be spaced as one desires but we like them about two and a half inches apart. Close the covers over the wire and they hang perfectly. The various kinds of matchbook covers should be grouped together such as hotels. restaurants, funeral homes, etc. - ETHEL

DEAR POLLY - To help humidify the air in winter when it gets do dry I open my dishwasher on the dry cycle to let out the steam. This also helps the dishes dry faster and saves on electricity

To make my glass cookie jar airtight I added some leftover rubber stripping (from doors) around the edge of the lid. Now the cookies stay fresh longer. - KIM. DEAR POLLY - I just read in your column about removing candle wax from furniture. If I read you right you first suggested using a fingernail or dull knife for removing the excess wax. Not on our wood surface you would not. A wooden spatula does the job and there is no danger of scratching fine surfaces. Works on tile floors, too. I would suggest this remedy first before using fingernails or dull knives. I enjoy your columns and find useful hints but this is not one of them - at least, not to me. - BILL.

DEAR BILL - What one thinks best is not always the best for someone else. I have used my fingernalis (not long pointed ones) or a dull knife for more years than I like to admit and on fine antiques and have not scratched one yet. - POLLY. DEAR POLLY - I make a lot of pants suits and instead of buying elastic to go in the pants. I use the elastic hands from old pantyhose. They last longer than new elastic that comes in packages. - KIT.

Porcari released seven other passengers in Turin, Italy, and nine in Zurich Tuesday.

The hijacker brought the plane to Zurich from Warsaw where he had agreed to free all hostages in exchange for the new crew to fly him to Moscow. After three hours of negotiations, the Spanish ambassador
