Woodward Delivers Opinion

3-Judge Panel To Decide Voting Case

The legal dispute over the authority of the Voting Rights Act of 1965 over government entities has turned into a complicated, multi-phase battle with the Hereford School Board of Education leading the way for school districts in general.

in favor of the Hereford Independent School District (HISD) be held in "abeyance" and a three-judge panel be convened to hear the case. It involved the suit filed in January by HISD against the U.S. Justice Department and Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell over the federal govern-ent's ruling that the district's place with majority vote requirement system of election must be changed to the pure at-large system.

THE PLACE SYSTEM, implemented in 1974, was ruled inappropriate under the Voting Rights Act as amended in 1975 since the Justice Department argued that it could dilute minority representation in elections. The school district fought back with the suit challenging the Voting Rights application claiming that the district does not meet the act's definition of a political subdivision since it does not register voters.

The judge ruled the act does not apply. A motion by the U.S. Justice Department, filed March 21, asked that a three-judge panel be convened as required by the act and that the earlier decision be vacated. The judgement was just held in limbo pending the outcome of the panel.

The panel, including Woodward, one other district judge and a circuit judge would have to be appointed by the Chief Judge of the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans. No date has been set.

Since the school board decided to proceed with the April 2 election using the place system, concern has been expressed about its legality. Richard Green, school district attorney, said however, that the judge's original decision could be used as an effective defense provided an injunction is filed by the Justice Department to halt voting.

PRESENTLY, THE MIDLAND Independent School District is under pressure from a suit filed by the federal government to halt its April 2 place election of school board trustees. That school board did not file suit as Hereford did and could be liable to stiff penalties if voting rights violations are found. Action could be forthcoming soon but the suit documents are now tied down in red tape.

Green confirmed that the Wednesday decision lessens the credibility of the original judgement possibly. It was handed down March 9. Also, he said the opinion by Woodward might be in the form of a temporary order although he has not yet had time to view it closely.

The Justice Department was given an edge in its case when the Circuit Court returned a case to the U.S. District Judge Owen Cox of South Texas, who ruled that the Voting Rights Act did not apply to the City of Beeville. The court ordered that a three-judge panel must hear the case.

BEEVILLE WAS INVOLVED in legal hassles when citizens filed suit in the Gomez v. Galloway case to void city elections. The judge said the city did not fall under the Voting Rights Act since it did not meet political subdivision definitions in the act.

A three-judge panel was ordered to decide a single judge's authority to hear the Beeville case and reconsider the effect of the act on Beeville. This is the situation Hereford is placed in.

Beeville's elections are halted at least temporarily through a preliminary injunction pending the case's conclusion. Jeremy Schwartz, Justice Department attorney, viewed the decision by Woodward with pleasure and wasn't totally surprised by it. "A single judge doesn't have the jurisdiction even to decide if a three-judge panel is necessary," he said.

Harsh Penalties Not Effective On Marijuana Users, Report Says

WASHINGTON (AP) - Harsh penalties don't keep people from smoking marijuana and moderate use probably poses no substantial health hazard, says a new government-financed report.

The 375-page report, issued today by the National Governors Conference, also says states that have decriminalized marijuana possession have shown a "substantial" savings of tax dollars.

The report, prepared for the governors by a Washington research firm under a grant from the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, says reducing criminal penalties for pot possession does "not generally lead to an immediate increase in total marijuana use, although the long-term effects of penalty reductions are less clear."

The report said its findings on marijuana use in relation to penalty

New District Judge Swearing In Scheduled

Court To Split Immediately

The new 222nd State District Court Judge Wesley Gulley, will be sworn in at a ceremony set for 9 a.m. Friday in the District Courtroom on the third floor of the Deaf Smith County Courthouse.

He becomes the first judge in about 30 years to reside in Hereford following the creation of the new 222nd district by the state legislature. It was carved out of the 69th Judicial District headquartered in Dumas, where Mike Metcalf presides.

A meeting among representatives of all the six counties now in the 69th District convened this week in Channing to discuss the split of the districts. Deaf Smith and Oldham compose the new district.

Originally, a plan was considered to operate the districts together to save costs incurred in the current fiscal year. However, it would actually have been the four-county 69th District which would have been saving money since Deaf Smith was paying out money for its operation than the other counties with relation to the number of cases handled here.

State law required the appropriations decided based on population, which Deaf Smith County has more of than other counties.

Outgoing mayor Jim Sears will swear in Gulley, who assumes his first bench duties Friday with several scheduled hearings and a report from the county Grand Jury.

Participating in the ceremonies will be Deaf Smith County Judge Sam Morgan, Oldham County Judge Jack Wolfe, District Clerk Lola Faye Veazey, and retired Methodist minister Herschel Thurston, who will deliver the invocation.

Harold Wheeler, current adult probation officer for the district court, has been retained in the same position for the 222nd district.

Ray Quillin, the new court reporter transferring from the 69th district, will also be sworn in and make a brief speech. Gulley will address the crowd gathered also.

Following the ceremony, refreshments will be served in the commissioners courtroom on the second floor of the courthouse.

Gulley said this morning that it is a momentous occasion for him. "I look forward to serving the new district," he said.

He was appointed to the new position by Governor Dolph Briscoe earlier this month from a field of four possibilities.

Gulley has been involved in law practice here since 1966 when he joined the Witherspoon, Aikin and Langley law firm and most recently has been legal counsel and business manager for George Warner Seed Co.

Carter Tough On Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter says he'll "hang tough" when arms limitation negotiations with the Russians begin again in May and that he has no intention of dropping his human rights crusade.

The President's reaction to Wednesday's breakdown of Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty negotiations in Moscow was relaxed and he said he was not surprised.

But he expressed his determination to pursue a major reduction in nuclear weapons and declared: "I will not modify my human rights statements."

And, despite this expressed desire to end the arms race, he pointedly warned Moscow that he will consider intensifying development of U.S. weapons if he decides after negotiations in May that the Soviets are not acting "in good faith."

Air Controllers Cleared

SANTA CRUZ DE TENERIFE, Canary Islands (AP) - The Spanish air controllers at the Santa Cruz airport followed proper procedure and gave instructions in correct English to the KLM and Pan American airliners that collided on the runway four days ago, one of the investigators seeking the cause of aviation's worst disaster reports.

The two controllers who were on duty Sunday were interviewed Wednesday by American and Dutch investigators.

Authorities said the cockpit recorders from both of the Boeing 747 jumbo jets were being flown to Washington for analysis in the presence of KLM and Pan Am personnel who could identify the voices.

William R. Haley, the chief U.S. investigator, said the recorders should show all conversation among the flight crews and between the planes and the tower in the crucial minutes before the collision that killed 577 persons.

Teamster Suit Threatened

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Labor Department, broadening its crackdown on the Teamsters Union, is threatening to sue a union benefit fund in Ohio in connection with $2.5 million in fees paid to fund officials.

Sources familiar with the investigation says the department is challenging as excessive the fees paid to two Dayton attorneys who administered the Ohio Highway Drivers' Welfare Fund for 27,000 truckers since 1972.

The sources said the department is seeking to bring the fund into "voluntary compliance" with the 1974 federal pension reform law. Among other things, the government is demanding the ouster of the fund's administrator, Robert C. Kneec Jr.

His father, Robert C. Kneec Sr., administered the fund in the past.

Brand Promotes Welty

Brisendine Named As Brownfield Publisher

Lynn Brisendine, assistant publisher and advertising manager of The Hereford Brand, has been named publisher and general manager of The Brownfield News and will assume the new position Friday, April 1, it was announced today.

"We regret losing the services of Brisendine, but at the same time we are happy to see him advance in the newspaper profession," said O.G. Nieman, Brand publisher. Brisendine, 30, will be a stockholder and president of the newspaper corporation at Brownfield.

Nieman also announced that Dan Welty, a member of the advertising sales staff, will succeed Brisendine as advertising manager of The Brand. Welty has been employed with the newspaper for three years, with experience in both the advertising and news departments.

A resident of Hereford since the age of two, Brisendine has also been a longtime employee at The Brand. He usually started as a newspaper carrier and upon graduation from Hereford High in 1965, became an apprentice printer. He later moved into advertising sales.

Brisendine moved to Lamesa as advertising manager of The Press-Reporter in 1972 and 14 months later returned to Hereford as ad manager of The Brand. He was named assistant publisher in 1976. He is a longtime member of the Hereford Lions Club, serving in several officer positions, and has also been active in the chamber of commerce and the Masons. He is a member of the C of C Ambassadors.

Brisendine has served on the advisory board for the printing trades department at Hereford High, and he has been an active worker in numerous charitable campaigns and projects. He is married to the former Linda Vogel of Hereford and they are the parents of 22-month-old twin daughters. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. T.E. Brisendine, and Mrs. Brisendine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Vogel, all of Hereford.

Welty, 25, began work with The Brand in April, 1974, as a sports reporter. He moved into advertising in April 1975. A native of Amarillo, he studied journalism at West Texas State University and attended a broadcasting academy in Houston. He was employed with KIXA Radio and later with KVII-TV in Amarillo before coming to Hereford.

Welty also studied piano and music theory at the Musical Arts Conservatory in Amarillo. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C.B. Welty of Amarillo. He is married to the former Janet Frye of Hereford. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Frye.

A member of the Noon Kiwanis Club, Welty is currently serving as a vice president. He and Janet are active members of the First Baptist Church.

Committee Passes Bill To Cut Taxes

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - A $694 million school finance bill, which orders school districts to cut their taxes in 1978-79 by a statewide total of $73 million, has been cleared by a House committee for floor debate.

The House Public Education Committee approved the bill, dealing with one of the session's top issues and using up more than half of the estimated state tax surplus, by an 8-2 vote.

The House is expected to take it up next week.

Committee Chairman Tom Massey, D-San Angelo, said that district-by-district figures he has seen tell him that "the news is good" for local property taxpayers, assuming the bill passes.

Massey, Speaker Bill Clayton and Rep. Hamp Atkinson, D-New Boston, worked late Tuesday night with the Texas School Administrators Council and others to produce a compromise.

The compromise made the bill more favorable to districts whose taxable property base consists mainly of single-family residences. It also delays for one year state-mandated property tax cuts.

Local fund assignment - the districts' share of the cost of the Foundation School Program - will be cut by about $357

Texas Tech Gets Dean

AUSTIN (AP) - Frank Elliott of the University of Texas law school has been named the second dean in the 10-year history of the Texas Tech law school, effective June 1.

Elliott, 46, will succeed Richard Amandes, who is returning to teaching.

Elliott joined the UT-Austin law faculty in 1958, after serving as an assistant attorney general in 1957 and as a briefing attorney for the three Texas Supreme Court justices in 1957-58.

He was Senate parliamentarian in 1969-73 and also was director of research for the Texas Constitutional Revision Commission in 1973.

Elliott is a native of Cotulla and has a math and law degrees from UT-Austin.

He has co-authored two Texas casebooks - "Texas Trial and Appellate Procedure" and "The Judicial Process Prior to Trial in Texas."

related to removal of criminal penalties for possession of small amounts of marijuana.

"Data from Oregon since its decriminalization showed no increase in use during the first two years," the report said. "However, a third-year study does show an increase in use, although not to a level above the average level in other West Coast states."

The Oregon figures indicated that changes in the law may not have an immediate effect, but may result in a gradual long-term change in public feelings about the moral, social and medical propriety of marijuana use, the report said.

The report also said an analysis of medical literature indicates "the

Former Teachers Return With Three Daughters

By PATT SMITH
Special Staff Writer
"Never a dull moment" is the way Mrs. Joan Fuston, 505 Willow Lane, describes her hectic, yet fulfilling life as mother of three active daughters - Ronda, 5 and twins, Sherry and Emily, who are in the "terrible two."

The Fuston family has returned to Hereford after residing at Hartley and Mesquite four years. A former coach at Stanton Junior High School, Fuston is now county executive director for the Agricultural Soil Conservation Service. He enjoys hunting, fishing and playing golf.

The former Joan Watson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Watson of Haskell and a graduate of Haskell High School. She received a bachelor of arts degree in Spanish at Texas Tech University and taught at La Plata Junior High and Hereford High School.

The attractive homemaker's hobbies include reading, playing bridge, embroidery and sewing.

The family attends First United Methodist Church where Mrs. Fuston teaches fifth grade Sunday School. She also has a weekly Bible study class in her home.

Sports enthusiasts, the Fustons enjoy attending football and basketball games. Another family project is gardening. "I love to can vegetables and make jelly," Mrs. Fuston commented.

Two recipes Mrs. Fuston is sharing are Ritz Pie and Chicken Supreme.

RITZ PIE

20 or 22 Ritz crackers
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup sugar
1 cup chopped pecans
3 egg whites
Crush crackers and add all ingredients except egg whites and sugar. Beat egg whites until very stiff and add sugar - fold into cracker mix. Put into greased pie plate, bake for 30 minutes at 350 degrees. Top with cool whip, cream whip, etc.

CHICKEN SUPREME

Mix together:
1 8 oz. jar apricot preserves
1 7/8 oz. pkg. dry onion soup
1 8 oz. Kraft French Dressing
Season one chicken, pour mix over it. Let stand in refrigerator all night. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour or until tender.

At We'll's End

By Erma Bombeck

Do you know what depression is?
It's sitting in your doctor's examination room. In a paper dress. On a cold table. And it's the high spot of your week. You eyes rove around the room and come to rest on the doctor's diploma. The year he graduated. I've got shoes older than that.

Darn. Forgot to grease my cracked heels. I wonder if anyone else goes without hose in the wintertime. You have to make a choice in this world. Wear white socks and alienate your children or go sockless and live with cracked heels.

This dress is not to be believed. I look like a Christmas package that arrived in February. I wonder who their fashion coordinator is - Mr. Hefty? All I need is a twist tie around my neck and someone would put me at the curb.

The nurse is coming.
"Are you decent?"
"No."
"I mean are you in your gown?"
"That's not the same thing."
"Care for a magazine while you're waiting? Here's Esquire. There's a great article in it on Mary Tyler Moore."
"I can't handle Mary Tyler Moore today. I'm depressed and that could put me over the brink."
"Would you rather read The Cysts Digest?"
"I'll take Mary."
"It says Robert Redford saw her walking along the beach and wanted to introduce himself, but he was awed by her and respected her privacy."
"I have that problem," I said. "Thirty million men out there respect my privacy. And the more they respect it, the more I seem to have. Give me The Cysts Digest."
"Now, what seems to be your problem?" she asked, clicking her ballpoint pen and leaning over my card.
"I'm depressed. I'm not happy with life. All my appliances are going. My goldfish died. I need a root canal. I'm talking back to bumper stickers. My hair is greasy. My menus are boring. I fell apart last week when I opened the refrigerator and discovered the date on my yeast had expired. I pray every day for patience...but I can't wait around for the answer."
The doctor came in. "What seems to be the trouble?"
"I'm depressed," I said simply.
"You should be," he said. "That's a rotten-looking dress."
See what I mean?

Babysitters Asked To Special Workshop

Local teenagers, who are in the sixth grade or older, are invited to attend a babysitting workshop at the County Library on Tuesday. The sessions will begin at 10 a.m. that day and conclude at 3 p.m.

Interested persons are asked to pre-register at the library.

A roster of qualified experts will offer information which is pertinent to a capable babysitter. Paul Rameriz, police officer, will offer suggestions for protection, as will Fire Marshal Jay Spain. Phyllis Cornelius, R.N., and John Gilliland, paramedic, will offer health advice and first aid tips. Also scheduled to speak is Donna McNutt, representative of the Family Services Center, who will provide guidelines for babysitters who need help in controlling some children.

Also, films will be shown, offering ideas for entertaining children.

Teenagers who plan to attend the upcoming workshop are asked to bring sack lunches. Beverages will be provided.

Upon completion of the five-hour seminar, certificates will be presented to those participating.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Gwen London at the library, 364-1206.

DAR Delegates Return

Five members of Los Ciboleros Chapter DAR attended the Seventy-Eighth Texas State Conference of the Texas Society National Society, DAR at the St. Anthony Hotel, San Antonio, March 22, 23, 24.

Serving as delegates as well as in other capacities were: Mrs. Ernest S. Brainard, State vice regent; Mrs. L.W. Norvell, regent of the local chapter and chairman of the state genealogical records committee; Mrs. C.F. Newsom, local corresponding secretary and vice-chairman of the state resolutions committee; Mrs. T.J. Carter, chapter chaplain and vice-chairman of the State DAR Good Citizen committee; and Miss Sydney Brainard, who served as a page at the conference, as well as a delegate and serves on the state Constitution Week committee.

Mrs. Brainard also serves on the State House curator committee, DAR speakers staff, finance vice-chairman, and the State Regent's project.

Mrs. L.W. Norvell conducted a genealogy and lineage workshop assisted by Mrs. Walter Henry, state lineage research chairman. Quincy W. Bynum, state registrar. This was well attended and was reported to be the best workshop on genealogy ever conducted at a State conference.

A number of certificates were received by Los Ciboleros Chapter as follows: participation in the President general's project - that was presented by the President General Mrs. Wakelee R. Smith, who addressed the conference on Wednesday evening; also a certificate was presented to the Chapter from the Bi-centennial committee, advertising, and public relations committee.

The State Regent, Mrs. Georgia Bingle Edman of Houston, is to be a guest of Los Ciboleros Chapter May 21 at a luncheon at the Hereford Country Club. Other Panhandle chapters of DAR are also invited to attend.

BIRTH ANNOUNCED
Former residents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mayfield of Canadian, are the parents of a son, Timothy Wayne, born March 23. He weighed 8 lbs. 2 1/2 oz.

The infant has two brothers, Todd, 7, and Jeffery, 5.

Grandparents include Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Orthman of 127 Ave. H and Mr. and Mrs. William Mayfield of Cheyenne, Okla.

SUSAN LYNN COMPTON

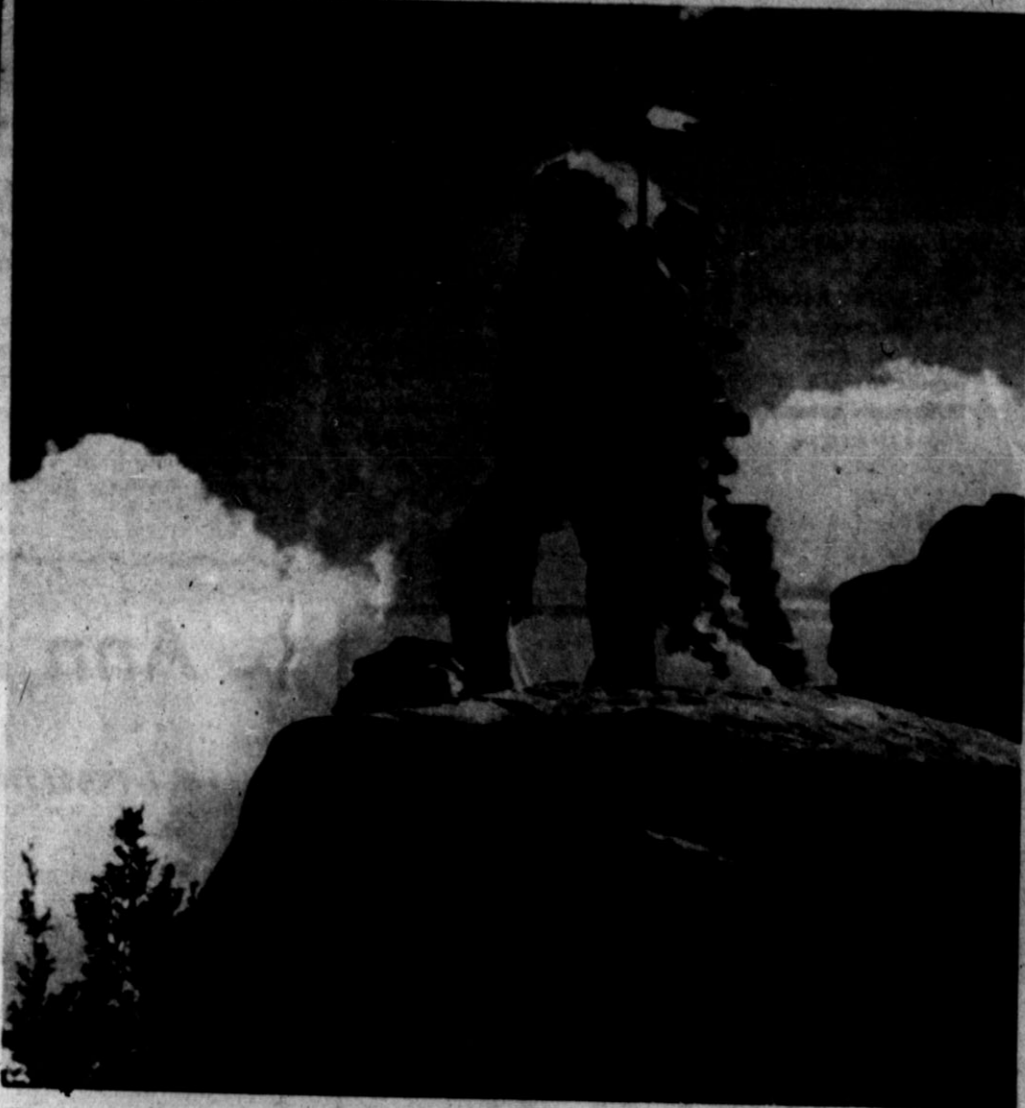

Susan Lynn Compton, 22, of Hereford, died Tuesday at High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo following a brief illness.

Services will be at 3 p.m. tomorrow at Loraine with Rev. Jim Taylor, pastor of Tahoka First Baptist Church, officiating. Interment will be under the direction of Kiker Funeral Home of Colorado City.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L.S. Compton of 227 Aspen, she was born April 22, 1954 at Odessa. After graduation from Loraine High School in 1972, she attended Howard Junior College at Big Spring and West Texas State University at Canyon. She was a graduate of the ROTC program at WTSU, where she was a member of Scabbard and Blade.

Miss Compton was employed in Hereford as secretary in the district attorney's office. She was a member of the Avenue Baptist Church, where she taught Sunday School.

In addition to her parents, she is survived by two brothers, David of Casper, Wyo. and Kevin, a student at Texas Tech University, Lubbock; a sister Kim of the home; and her grandparents, Mrs. Lynne Compton of Loraine and Mrs. Eva Starnes of Sweetwater, Tx. In lieu of flowers, the family suggests memorial donations to the youth department at Avenue Baptist Church.

History Remembered

Quannah Parker [Gary Burkman; strikes a statuesque pose for his role in "TEXAS," the historical musical drama by Paul Green. Performed in the natural setting of Palo Duro Amphitheatre, "TEXAS" is now preparing for the 1977 summer season. Information can be obtained by writing Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015.

'TEXAS' Cast Prepares For New Summer Season

CANYON, TEXAS--Quannah Parker will return to the Palo Duro Canyon every night this summer except Sundays. He will come back to ask the question, "What do you intend for the earth, our Mother?"

And in "Texas", the story of the Texas Panhandle by Paul Green - amid the excitements and sorrows of settlement and storm, struggle and joy, the white men lay aside their battles with fire and wind and drought and each other to answer, "We intend good things. Here where you once following the buffalo, a kind and happy people will build their homes and cities in joy and thanksgiving...and we will remember your suffering...and our children and our children's children will remember!"

Eighty people tell the story, recalling the dances of the time -- the 1881's - and the songs and the gaiety, as background for the relentless battles with the vastness and the elements add their own needs.

More than 868,405 people have shared this experience in the last eleven seasons - reliving the story as it unfolds against the background of the 600 foot bluff the audience faces.

The Palo Duro Canyon is a magnificent gash across the wide plains, cutting away near Canyon and Amarillo. It is a place of beauty and calm and a cradle for sound.

To make reservations and obtain information, call 806-655-2182 or write "Texas", Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015.

Please apply for tickets as early as possible.

Ann Landers Trauma Caused

DEAR ANN: Six months ago my husband and I went out for dinner with friends. When we returned, our apartment had been ransacked and robbed. We lost many valuable possessions, but that was the least of it. What the robbery did to me emotionally was devastating. I felt violated, angry, and frightened. I became a bundle of nerves -- jumping a foot if a plate was dropped. My husband suggested that we move to another apartment. It didn't take much to convince me. The move didn't help. I live in constant fear that someone will come and rob us again. I am scared to death to walk into our apartment alone. When my husband and I enter together I make sure he goes in first. That damned robbery has taken over my whole life and I resent it. How can I get back to normal? -- Nightmare Without End

DEAR N.W.E.: First ask your physician if he feels you need medication to help calm you down. Next, get some professional help.

Almost everyone who has been burglarized suffers the symptoms of trauma you describe, but usually they fade and disappear in time. Yours have not -- so get moving, friend.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This note is for "Tired of Yelling." My heart really goes out to you, dear. I know what a strain you are under trying to communicate with your mother-in-law, but please make an effort to understand what she is going through. I am also in my 50s and I wear two of the best hearing aids money can buy. I still can't hear much. People seem to think that because vision can be corrected by eyeglasses, the same goes for hearing. It just isn't so. If you are Tired of Yelling, can you imagine what life must be like for your mother-in-law? Please try wearing two earplugs for a month without removing them for any reason. I'm sure you'd not only thank God for normal hearing, but you might feel a little more kindly toward your mother-in-law. -- Tuned Out But Making The Best Of It

DEAR TUNED OUT: Your suggestion is excellent -- but it wouldn't be necessary to wear the earplugs for a month. A few hours would be sufficient to make a person with normal hearing count his blessings.

DEAR ANN: Want to read something different? Well, I'm a husband who loves being married. Considering I was a confirmed bachelor for 37 years, this is quite a statement. Charlene and I were married 18 months ago. I am better off morally, spiritually, physically and financially. When I think of the money I threw around B.C. (Before Charlene) I could kick myself. We are expecting a baby in June and I can hardly wait. Life is so much more meaningful. I have never felt better or been happier and I want to let the world know. -- Confirmed Married Man

DEAR MAN: Yours is a beautiful testimonial for marriage! For every bachelor who will hate you, ten "unclaimed jewels" will love you. May it be ever thus, Dreamboat!

CONFIDENTIAL TO All Readers: I just learned the poem "Forget Him" (about teenage love) was authored by Cheryl Adkins of Chicago. She wrote it last year when she was 14. Beautiful job, Cheryl.

Use a microwave oven to heat baby's formula. A four-ounce bottle heats in 10 seconds and an eight-ounce bottle takes 20 seconds. This time in the microwave will make the milk hot, but removes the chill. Add a few more seconds if warm milk is desired. The nipple does not have to be removed, and glass, plastic, or disposable bottles may be used, says Lynn Bourland, family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Rookies Spotlight Baseball

By MICHAEL HENNINGSON
AP Sports Writer

If Randy Elliott goes hitless in his next 12 at-bats, he will be hitting a mere .500. That is not too shabby an outlook for someone who sat out the 1976 season following a shoulder separation and was not sure he would ever get another chance to play major league baseball.

A player knows he has it made when he can get two hits and his batting average DROPS 15 points to .643, which is what happened to Elliott Wednesday when the San Francisco Giants blanked the Oakland A's 5-0 in an exhibition game. Elliott knew he had it made when the Giants tore up his minor league contract following the game and promoted him to the varsity roster.

Elliott, a 25-year-old outfielder, was a No. 1 draft choice of San Diego in 1971 and spent parts of the 1972 and 1974 seasons with the Padres. But they released him after his 1975 shoulder injury, and so did the California Angels.

He spent last summer jogging on the beaches near his southern California home and wondering if he would get another chance. The Giants sent him to the Arizona winter instructional league, where he batted .311 and was on his way.

"I hadn't tried to hit a baseball in six months, but it all came back to me," Elliott said. "I knew if I didn't have a heck of a spring training I'd be back in Triple A ball. I figured this was my last time around to get a chance to make the big leagues."

Elliott has 27 hits in 42 spring at-bats. He also made a running shoeing catch to preserve Wednesday's shutout after the A's loaded the bases in the eighth inning.

Another nonroster rookie also was in the spotlight. Detroit's Dave Rozema hurled eight innings as the Tigers nipped the New York Mets 1-0.

Rozema, a 20-year-old right-hander who was invited to camp after a 12-4 record and 1.57 earned run average in the Class AA Southern League last season, became the first Detroit pitcher to go eight innings. In five appearances, his 25 innings, 1.80 ERA and 16 strikeouts are tops on the club.

Rozema may be this year's Mark "The Bird" Fidrych, who was scheduled to undergo knee surgery today and is expected to be out about two months.

In other developments, third baseman Graig Nettles agreed to return to the New York Yankees after a two-day absence over a contract hassle. The Cincinnati Reds said they would not bow to holdout Pete Rose's threat to boost his $400,000 demand by $25,000 a month if he is not signed by opening day, the Cleveland Indians asked waivers on veteran first baseman Boog Powell and the Giants signed Willie McCovey, another aging first baseman, as a free agent.

Back on the field, Nolan Ryan hurled seven strong innings as the California Angels defeated the Seattle Mariners 5-3. Reggie Smith's two-run homer in the seventh inning enabled the Los Angeles Dodgers to beat the St. Louis Cardinals 7-6 and Dick Ruthven worked six sharp innings in the Atlanta Braves' 3-2 triumph over the Montreal Expos.

Jorge Orta's two-run ninth-inning homer off Rich Gossage gave the Chicago White Sox a 7-5 decision over the Pittsburgh Pirates, two-run homers by Gene Tenace and Doug Rader powered the San Diego Padres past the Milwaukee Brewers 8-5 and Chris Chambliss delivered four runs with a homer and sacrifice fly as the New York Yankees beat the Boston Red Sox 8-5.

John Wathan's ninth-inning single enabled the Kansas City Royals to nip the Philadelphia Phillies 5-4. Mark Belanger's two-run single helped the Baltimore Orioles down Cincinnati 6-4 despite two homers by the Reds' Johnny Bench and the Texas Rangers defeated the Toronto Blue Jays 5-2 behind the four-hit pitching of Carl Morton and Nelson Briles.

Rod Carew's two-run single with two out in the ninth inning overcame a pair of two-run homers by Houston's Cliff Johnson and gave Minnesota a 5-4 victory over the Astros that snapped the Twins' seven-game losing streak, and Larry Bitterer drilled four hits and Steve Swisher drove in three runs as the Chicago Cubs beat the Cleveland Indians 9-4.

Toters, Renegades Win Y Cage Crowns

Toters and the Renegades claimed titles in the YMCA Men's and High School Boys Basketball Leagues respectively Wednesday night.

Toters downed the Eagles 54-40 to claim the men's crown as Wallace Hill led the way with 16 points. David Scott added 13 points to the winning effort, while Larry Roberts topped the Eagles with 13.

Toters took a 15-8 lead after one period, but saw the Eagles rally to trail by one point at the half, 25-24. The winners outscored the Eagles 12-6 in the third period to go ahead 37-30, and a 17-10 margin in the final quarter broke the game open.

The Renegades took the high school title over Bravo with Greg Hennington scoring a game-high 23 points. James McDowell added 11 points to the effort, while Roy Martinez led the losers with 13. The Renegades took a 6-4 lead after a cold first period by both teams, but got 10 points from Hennington and six from McDowell to move ahead 22-13 at the half.

The teams struggled through the third quarter with only three points each, and the winners put it away with a 12-5 edge in the final eight minutes.

Cowboys Hire Cage Mentor

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma State University has hired Jim Killingsworth of Idaho State as the Cowboys' new head basketball coach.

The Cowboys signed Killingsworth to a four-year, $32,000 annual contract, Oklahoma State Athletic Director Floyd Gass announced Wednesday.

Killingsworth has been head coach at Idaho State for six years and compiled a 25-5 record last season, winning two games in the NCAA playoffs including an upset of UCLA before bowing to the University of Nevada at Las Vegas.

"We feel fortunate to get someone familiar with Oklahoma and the surrounding area," Gass said.

A 50-year-old native Oklahoman, Killingsworth began his coaching career in 1949 at Stidham, Okla. He spent 12 years coaching high school basketball in the state, building a record of 305-50.

Before going to Idaho State, he spent seven years at Cerritos Junior College in Norwalk, Calif.

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Unable to delay his entry to Oxford University beyond October, quarterback Billy Kynes says he is giving up his senior year of football at the University of Florida.

Kynes, a Rhodes scholar, will enroll in Christ Church College at Oxford in October. He plans to become a minister.

Kynes said Wednesday that he told Coach Doug Dickey of the decision to quit Monday and told his teammates Tuesday. He had been counted on as the No. 1 quarterback for the Gators.

Lucchesi Says Randle Deserves To Be Punished

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Texas Ranger Manager Frank Lucchesi, punched and hospitalized by second baseman Lenny Randle Monday, said Wednesday that Randle shouldn't get away with it.

Asked about the possibility of a civil suit or criminal charges, Lucchesi said, "I don't want to make a definite comment on that right now because I've got some thinking to do. But I don't think any man should allowed to get away with something like this."

Witnesses said Randle knocked the manager down with one punch, then rained blows on him until teammate Bert Campaneris intervened. Randle was dissatisfied at having been bumped from the starting job bookie Bump Wills. He and Lucchesi had traded barbs in the media.

Ranger officials suspended Randle after the incident. "This is one time I will not be taken advantage of," the 49-year-old Lucchesi said. "When my 11-year-old daughter calls me on the telephone and is crying and my family back in Texas is all torn up and upset, then it's gone too far. He's not going to get away with it."

Doctors say Lucchesi will be hospitalized at least until Saturday. He underwent surgery to repair a triple fracture of the cheekbone. "I'm fine as far as all that is concerned," Lucchesi said. "The only thing bothering me now is my lower back. I don't know if he kicked me or what but I can hardly breathe. They are checking for broken ribs or possible kidney damage."

Randle said Lucchesi called him a "punk" just prior to the beating, but Lucchesi denied it. "I'll go anywhere in the country to take a lie detector test. I didn't say it and he knows I didn't say it. He's trying to use that as an out. All this was a sneak attack, just like Pearl Harbor."

NFL Meetings

'Hawks Want Home

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

PHOENIX (AP) - The National Football League was to plunk the Seattle Seahawks into their permanent American Conference West home today, one year ahead of schedule, then try to tackle the sticky problem of retroactive compensation.

Those last two words happen to be the dirtiest floating around these NFL meetings -- and most clubs apparently would be happy to wash their hands of the mess, generated by the one year when teams could sign free agents without fear of losing anything in return.

The Seahawks were supposed to be part of the AFC Central Division this year, joining Pittsburgh, Houston, Cincinnati and Cleveland for the 1977 season before moving in permanently with Oakland, Denver, Kansas City and San Diego in the AFC West in 1978.

But when Tampa Bay, placed in the National Conference Central Division with Chicago, Detroit, Green Bay and Minnesota for the 1977 season, was assigned that berth for 1978 and beyond, too, the Seahawks decided to ask that they also be moved into their permanent home in 1977.

Herman Sarkowsky managing partner of the Seahawks, was to do the asking today at an owners meeting -- and top NFL sources said no opposition was expected. "We want to be identified one year earlier with our divisional teams," Sarkowsky told The Associated Press. "If we are going to begin building rivalries, there's no sense in waiting."

The Seahawks and Tampa Bay will not begin divisional play home-and-home series against the four other clubs until 1978. This year each team will play each other plus the 13 other clubs in their respective conferences.

Continuity was missing last year in the so-called Rozelle Rule, that power which Commissioner Pete Rozelle used to employ to determine what compensation a player, draft choice, cash or a combination would be paid by a team which signed a player who had played out his option to the team which had lost that player.

A little more than a year ago, the Rozelle Rule was declared illegal by a federal court judge. It was not until about a month ago that the gap was filled, that a basic labor agreement containing a systematic compensation plan was achieved by the owners and players union.

In the interim, none of the teams which lost players via the option-free agent route, got anything in return. Conversely, none of the teams which gained players had to give up anything.

Under the new bargaining agreement, teams would have to give up draft choices for free-agent players, making it retroactive to that period when compensation rule went out the window, and creating two problems:

--Some teams which profited would call retroactivity illegal, and

--Washington does not have any decent draft choices to give away.

Meanwhile, the Competition Committee was to consider setting dates and numbers of player limits -- how many players the clubs can have during the preseason and cutdown dates on route to the teams' regular-season limits of 43 active players and two taxi squad members.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. - Sue McKinney, an 18-year-old skier who was knocked unconscious March 12 during a World Cup ski event, regained consciousness and should be released from Sacramento Medical Center in a few days, a hospital spokesman announced.

Nothing Remains At Home For Geiberger

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) - "There's nothing to go home to," Al Geiberger said in discussing his decision to defend his title in the $235,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament despite the death of his father in the crash of two jets in the Canary Islands.

"My mother passed away a couple of years ago.

"There are no remains. We know my dad perished. That's not the question. But his body hasn't been identified. So there's nothing at home, nothing to go home to.

"I discussed it with the minister at home, and other people who were close to my father approached me -- Dve Stockton and Peter Oosterhuis. And I talked with my brothers Ralph, in Washington, D.C., and Don, near San Jose, Calif. and we talked about it.

"Once I faced the reality of the situation -- there's nothing I can do right now -- and I let it rattle around in my mind, I was convinced this is the right thing to do. He was such an unselfish person, never making demands on anyone, and he loved golf so much. I think this would be the best tribute to my dad.

"I know how proud he was when I won this tournament last year. Every time I'd win a tournament, I'd take the hat I wore -- we have the same hat size -- I'd take that hat home to him. He wouldn't make a big deal out of it or anything, just walk around with that hat on and a funny little smile.

"There are so many things up in the air right now. All we can do is have a memorial service for him. And the minister and my brothers and everybody feel it would be better to wait until things settle down a little. They feel the best tribute I could make would be to continue playing. I'll probably play next week in the Masters, then go home and have a memorial service in Santa Barbara, Calif. the Tuesday after the Masters."

Geiberger, a 39-year-old former PGA champion, has engineered a turn-around in his career in the last couple of years. He has won four tournaments and more than $360,000 in that time and now needs only $875 to become the game's 13th $1 million career winner.

He appears almost certain to pass that mark in the 72-hole chase that started today on the 6,984-yard par-72 Forest Oaks Country Club course.

Other standouts in the 156-man field include Masters champion Floyd, PGA winner Stockton, Johnny Miller, Hale Irwin, J.C. Snead, Tom Weiskopf, South African Gary Player, Australian Graham Marsh, who won his first American title last week, Lee Elder, Dave Hill and 64-year-old Sam Snead.

AUSTIN (AP) - Two Olympic divers won titles Wednesday at the National AAU Indoor Diving Championships at the Texas Olympic Swimming Center.

Cindy McIngvale, bronze medalist on the three-meter board at the Montreal Games last summer, won the women's three-meter event with 690.94 points. The title was the 25th for the 26-year-old Mrs. McIngvale. The record is 26, and she has competition remaining in both the one-meter and the 10-meter tower events.

Robert Cragg, fifth in the three-meter diving at Montreal, won the men's one-meter.

Peggy Anderson of the University of Wisconsin finished second to Mrs. McIngvale and SMU's Scott Reich was runner-up to Cragg.

Competition continued today with women's one-meter and men's three-meter.

Steve Cautchen, the 18-year-old jockey, had a star-winner day at New York's Aqueduct track in January.

Naman Labels Carter Farm Plan 'Shocking, Demoralizing' Act

Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco has issued a statement condemning the farm policy recommendations of the Carter Administration. The state farm organization president termed the proposals released last week "shocking" and "demoralizing".

"The Administration's price and income support programs, announced last week, amount to a repudiation of the 'cost of production' commitments which candidate Carter made during the campaign. They reflect a total lack of understanding of what is needed to assure a healthy agriculture and an abundant supply of food," Naman said.

"Texas farmers are shocked and demoralized to think that they would be written-off by an administration which carried the rural areas of Texas because of its strong commitment to farm income improvement. They are disgusted that they are being offered nothing more than a continuation of a 'boom and bust' type agriculture, a continuation of the Butz policies. There is little new in the Carter Administration recommendations, but rather a promise for more farm bankruptcies and grave economic repercussions in the rural areas."

"If the farm program recommendations are the work of economists in the Council of Economic Advisors, rather than Secretary Bergland, as has been reported, then we don't need a Secretary of Agriculture. If Secretary Bergland is relegated to being a pawn of the Council of Economic Advisors, he should save face by resigning. If they are his policies, he should immediately stomp the country explaining to farmers how prices at less than 50 per cent of a fair price will keep them in business," Naman continued.

"Texas farmers are insulted with such gimmicks in the new program as the 'sinking floor' that will drop price supports 5 per cent when there is over-production and a floor is needed. They are irate over the price ceilings established in the new farm recommendations which could impose a cap at less than the cost of production. The Carter farm policy recommendations are irresponsible and violate the trust which the Administration should have kept with the American farmer."

The state farm leader went on to explain that a plane load of Texas farmers would be in Washington this week to discuss the farm program recommendations with leaders in Congress and the Administration. He explained that Farmers Union would be looking to Congress to rectify the serious distortions of in the Carter farm policy recommendations.

"The farmers from Texas that will be visiting in Washington this week under the auspices of the National Farmers Union Fly-In will be anxious to discuss with Secretary Bergland and the Administration some of the shortcomings in the Administration's program. They will also visit with their members of Congress in an effort to build support for a meaningful farm bill."

House Members Asked To Wear Bread Wrappers

WASHINGTON (AP) - Rep. Keith Sebelius, R-Kan., Tuesday gave his House colleagues a loaf of bread and asked them to wear the empty wrapper as "an armband in mourning for the wheat farmer."

Sebelius started the wrapper-band protest himself last Thursday after the Carter administration proposed modest increases in wheat growers' price and income supports, substantially less than farm groups sought.

He attached 47-cent Wonder Bread loaves to letters distributed to congressional offices and reporters.

He said that "the cost of wrapping this loaf is more than the farmer received for the value of his wheat. That value is less than three cents today! And that return will simply not allow the wheat farmer to stay in business."

The congressman asked his colleagues to wear the wrappers "until a bipartisan effort can be made to improve the administration's attitude toward the beleaguered wheat farmer."

Sebelius' figures on the value of wheat in the bread are correct: the loaf cost the national average of 35.3 cents per one-pound loaf last month, Agriculture Department surveys show. The value of the wheat in such a loaf was 2.8 cents; the value of all farm-based ingredients, 4.6 cents.

USDA said that costs and profits for bread companies, transporters, distributors and grocery stores account for the other 30.7 cents.

That margin has increased 6.2 per cent in a year while the value of the wheat has dropped 37.8 per cent. The retail price was down one-tenth of a cent from January but up three-tenths of one per cent in a year, USDA said.

Sebelius' western Kansas district generally is considered the center of wheat production. He said that market prices have dropped 50 per cent in two years and are now well below production costs.

President Carter proposed to increase the target-price income supports for wheat next year to $2.60 per bushel, from the present $2.47. USDA had recommended $2.85 and some wheatgrowers' groups sought more than $3.

The administration has said it will not raise the price-support loan rate of $2.25 a bushel for wheat this year and asked Congress to keep it at that level next year, too.

Safety Helps Make Harvest Successful

EDITOR'S NOTE—Wheat harvest is still some time away, but anytime is a good time to review the safety of your farm operations. The following article has been supplied by the Hereford High School FFA as a public service, in connection with the chapter's "Educate for Safety" project.

Harvest is the culmination of the crop year, but even a bumper yield can't make up for a serious harvest-time accident. It would take a volume to cover the safety considerations for all the different kinds of harvest equipment needed for the crops farmers and ranchers produce. Therefore, the following safety reminders are general but basic to most harvesting operations.

1. Read and heed the book.

An instruction or operator's manual is standard equipment with all harvesting machinery. The manual contains operating, maintenance, and safety instructions and precautions. If you and your workers "go by the book," you'll save time and money, do a better job of harvesting, and minimize accident risk. You can't do better than that!

2. Train your help.

Whether you have one person helping out or a whole crew, everyone should be instructed on what to do and how to do it safely. Make it clear what is expected of them and what safety precautions must be taken. Keep an eye open for risk-taking and unsafe acts. Take corrective action.

3. Keep all shields and guards in place.

This is one of the really fundamental rules in the operation of most any machine. Shields and guards protect the operator or worker from getting entangled in moving parts. To remove a shield or guard is to create an unnecessary hazard. Make sure there are decals or signs at appropriate locations on harvesting equipment to remind workers to keep guards and shields in place and to wait until all parts have stopped before opening a shield.

4. Stay clear of moving parts.

Some moving parts on harvesting equipment cannot be shielded because shielding would interfere with their function. Also, older equipment may have exposed drives or shields removed from shafts, gears, pulleys, chains, belts, and other parts which could cause injury if someone got too close. Stay away from moving parts and keep bystanders well back. When walking around a running machine, stay far enough away so that if you stumble or slip, you won't fall into a mechanism. When you must work near moving parts, remove gloves and button up dangling cuffs.

5. Shut down machine and wait until motion has stopped before unclogging or fixing.

One horrendous accident problem a few years back involved people getting caught in corn pickers, usually while trying to unclog them with the power on. Intensive safety education programs and increased use of combines have greatly reduced the number of such corn harvest mishaps. But corn harvesting still requires vigilance to avoid entanglement with running machinery. Whenever you must do anything to a machine (except perform certain adjustments that require it to be running), disengage the PTO or drive mechanism. Shut off the engine, too.

What if it accidentally slipped into gear or someone else bumped or put it into gear? A limb or life could be taken in an instant.

6. Keep children (and non-workers) off of and away from machinery.

Many youngsters are injured and killed each year when they fall off tractors, wagons, or other machinery or become entangled in moving parts. These injuries could be eliminated very easily by enforcing a "no extra riders" rule. The only people who have any business being on or near equipment are those directly involved in the harvesting operation.

7. Watch what you're doing, and where you're going!

A common cause of mishap is inattention or failure to keep an eye on the activity at hand. Inexperience, distraction, sleepiness, illness, poor eyesight, and other impairments also are causes for missing visual information and cues needed for safety. Watch for "killer" hazards such as ditches, rocks, or obstructions that could upset or wreck your rig, and overhead power lines that could be contacted by tall equipment and cause instant death.

8. Drive with care on public roads.

Slow-moving farm vehicles and 55 mph traffic mix about as well as oil and water, unless the operator of the farm vehicle drives with courtesy and care and obeys all traffic laws. He must be sure he can see and be seen. Make sure your SMV emblem is clean, bright, and readily visible from behind. Check tires and hitch on heavily loaded wagons. Don't try to pull a king-size load with a pint-size tractor, especially if there are hills enroute. The load could overwhelm the tractor and its brakes.

Stronger Market

For Cattle Seen

COLLEGE STATION—A noted livestock marketing specialist points out that sometimes certain marketing information gets misused, causing confusion to both producers and consumers.

So Dr. Ed Uvacek with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service attempts to set "the record" straight.

"Despite some claims about a 'large supply' of beef at the present time, actual figures show this is not the case," points out Uvacek.

"Federally inspected slaughter through March 5 was running 3 per cent below a year ago. This came despite 10 per cent larger marketings of fed cattle in January and another increase in February. Obviously, a substantial drop has occurred in cow and nonfed cattle slaughter so far this year," explains the Texas A&M University System specialist.

All this adds up to the following: total beef production will be down the first half of 1977, fed cattle supplies will probably be light for March and April, and nonfed beef production will also be light, especially this spring.

NOW IRRIGATE THE CORNERS WITH VALLEY.

It's a revolutionary new concept in center pivot irrigation. The new Valley Corner System is the first center pivot that hits the corners. It allows you to irrigate up to 150 acres per quarter and to adapt your system to any shape field. Expensive corner land can be converted into profitable new acreage with a Corner System Pivot. The amazing versatility of this unique system extends all the obvious advantages of center pivot irrigation—dramatic water savings, automatic irrigation the moment you need it, and precise fertilizer application to every farmer. Unusually high yields from land that was previously unproductive will enhance your whole farming enterprise. By irrigating nonproductive farmland, you are upping the overall value of your land as much as $500 per acre. You'll find, as many progressive farmers have already, that the corner catcher will actually pay for itself, and then some.

Ending Allotments Has Widespread Acceptance

Meat Judging Teams Cop Honors Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) - One section of the Carter administration's proposals for new farm-program laws that is likely to gain wide acceptance in Congress and the farm community is the end to acreage allotments.

actually planted, whatever is planted there.

Administration spokesmen said this means the typical farmer would get payments on more acres.

The payments don't come into play unless a combination of favorable worldwide weather and surpluses bring the average market price below the target for the first five months of the season.

The proportion of the farmer's crop covered would be set each year by the Agriculture Department, Secretary Bob S. Bergland said. The greater the worldwide need for the crop, the higher it would be, he said. It would be cut if wheat, for example, started piling up in warehouses to a point "where it becomes a burden and we want to discourage planting," he added.

For disaster payments, 75 per cent of a field's normal production would be protected.

Another part of the package would end the $20,000 top disaster payment per farm and raise the ceiling on target-price payments from $20,000 per family to $50,000 per crop.

The average African pygmy at birth is heavier, although shorter, than the average American baby.

The Hereford High School FFA meets teams competed in the district competition at Boys Ranch Tuesday.

Local youngsters placed first and third in the contest. Members of the first place team included Chris Cabiness, Ira Robinson, and Gary Vogel.

Included among members of the third place team were Tania Wilson, Marcel Flabbecker and Dean Howard.

Bob Ward, FFA advisor, is the coach for the teams.

The general feeling is that the allotments, which saw the federal government telling farmers how much they could grow, are outdated. They were parceled out in the 1950s on the basis of what was planted and needed then. They were tied to government acreage controls.

With the removal of acreage controls under the plant-what-you-want policy of the last few years, which the Democratic administration support, the allotments have come into meaningful play only with bad news: either low prices or a disaster loss.

Disaster aid is geared to a portion of what a farmer loses on his or her allotted acres for a particular crop. Income-support payments in a slumping market, under the target price system, also are geared to the allotment.

The problems have stemmed from the fact that the allotments -- tied to land rather than persons -- may not reflect what is now the best crop for a farmer to grow on that particular piece of ground.

For example, a certain 15 acres in Ohio may be a profitable soybean field, but the allotment is for corn.

Nationwide, 80.2 million acres were planted to wheat last year, 30 per cent more than the total allotments; 111.8 million acres were planted to corn, sorghum and barley, 25.6 per cent more than the feed-grain allotment, and 2.5 million were planted to rice, 38.9 per cent more. This is an example of another part of the problem.

Cotton plantings were closest to the allotments -- the 11.7 million acres were only 6 per cent greater.

The Carter proposal would end allotments and base the income-support payments on a proportion of the acreage

Legislation To Be Topic At FU Meet

AMARILLO--The Administration's new farm legislation package which was presented to Congress by Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland last week will be the main topic of the evening when Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco comes to Amarillo, Saturday, April 2.

The occasion is the District I area banquet of Texas Farmers Union, with expected attendance from a wide radius around Amarillo. Many farm families from the area as far north as Dallam and Lipscomb counties and down to Deaf Smith, Randall, and Collingsworth; to the South are expected to attend.

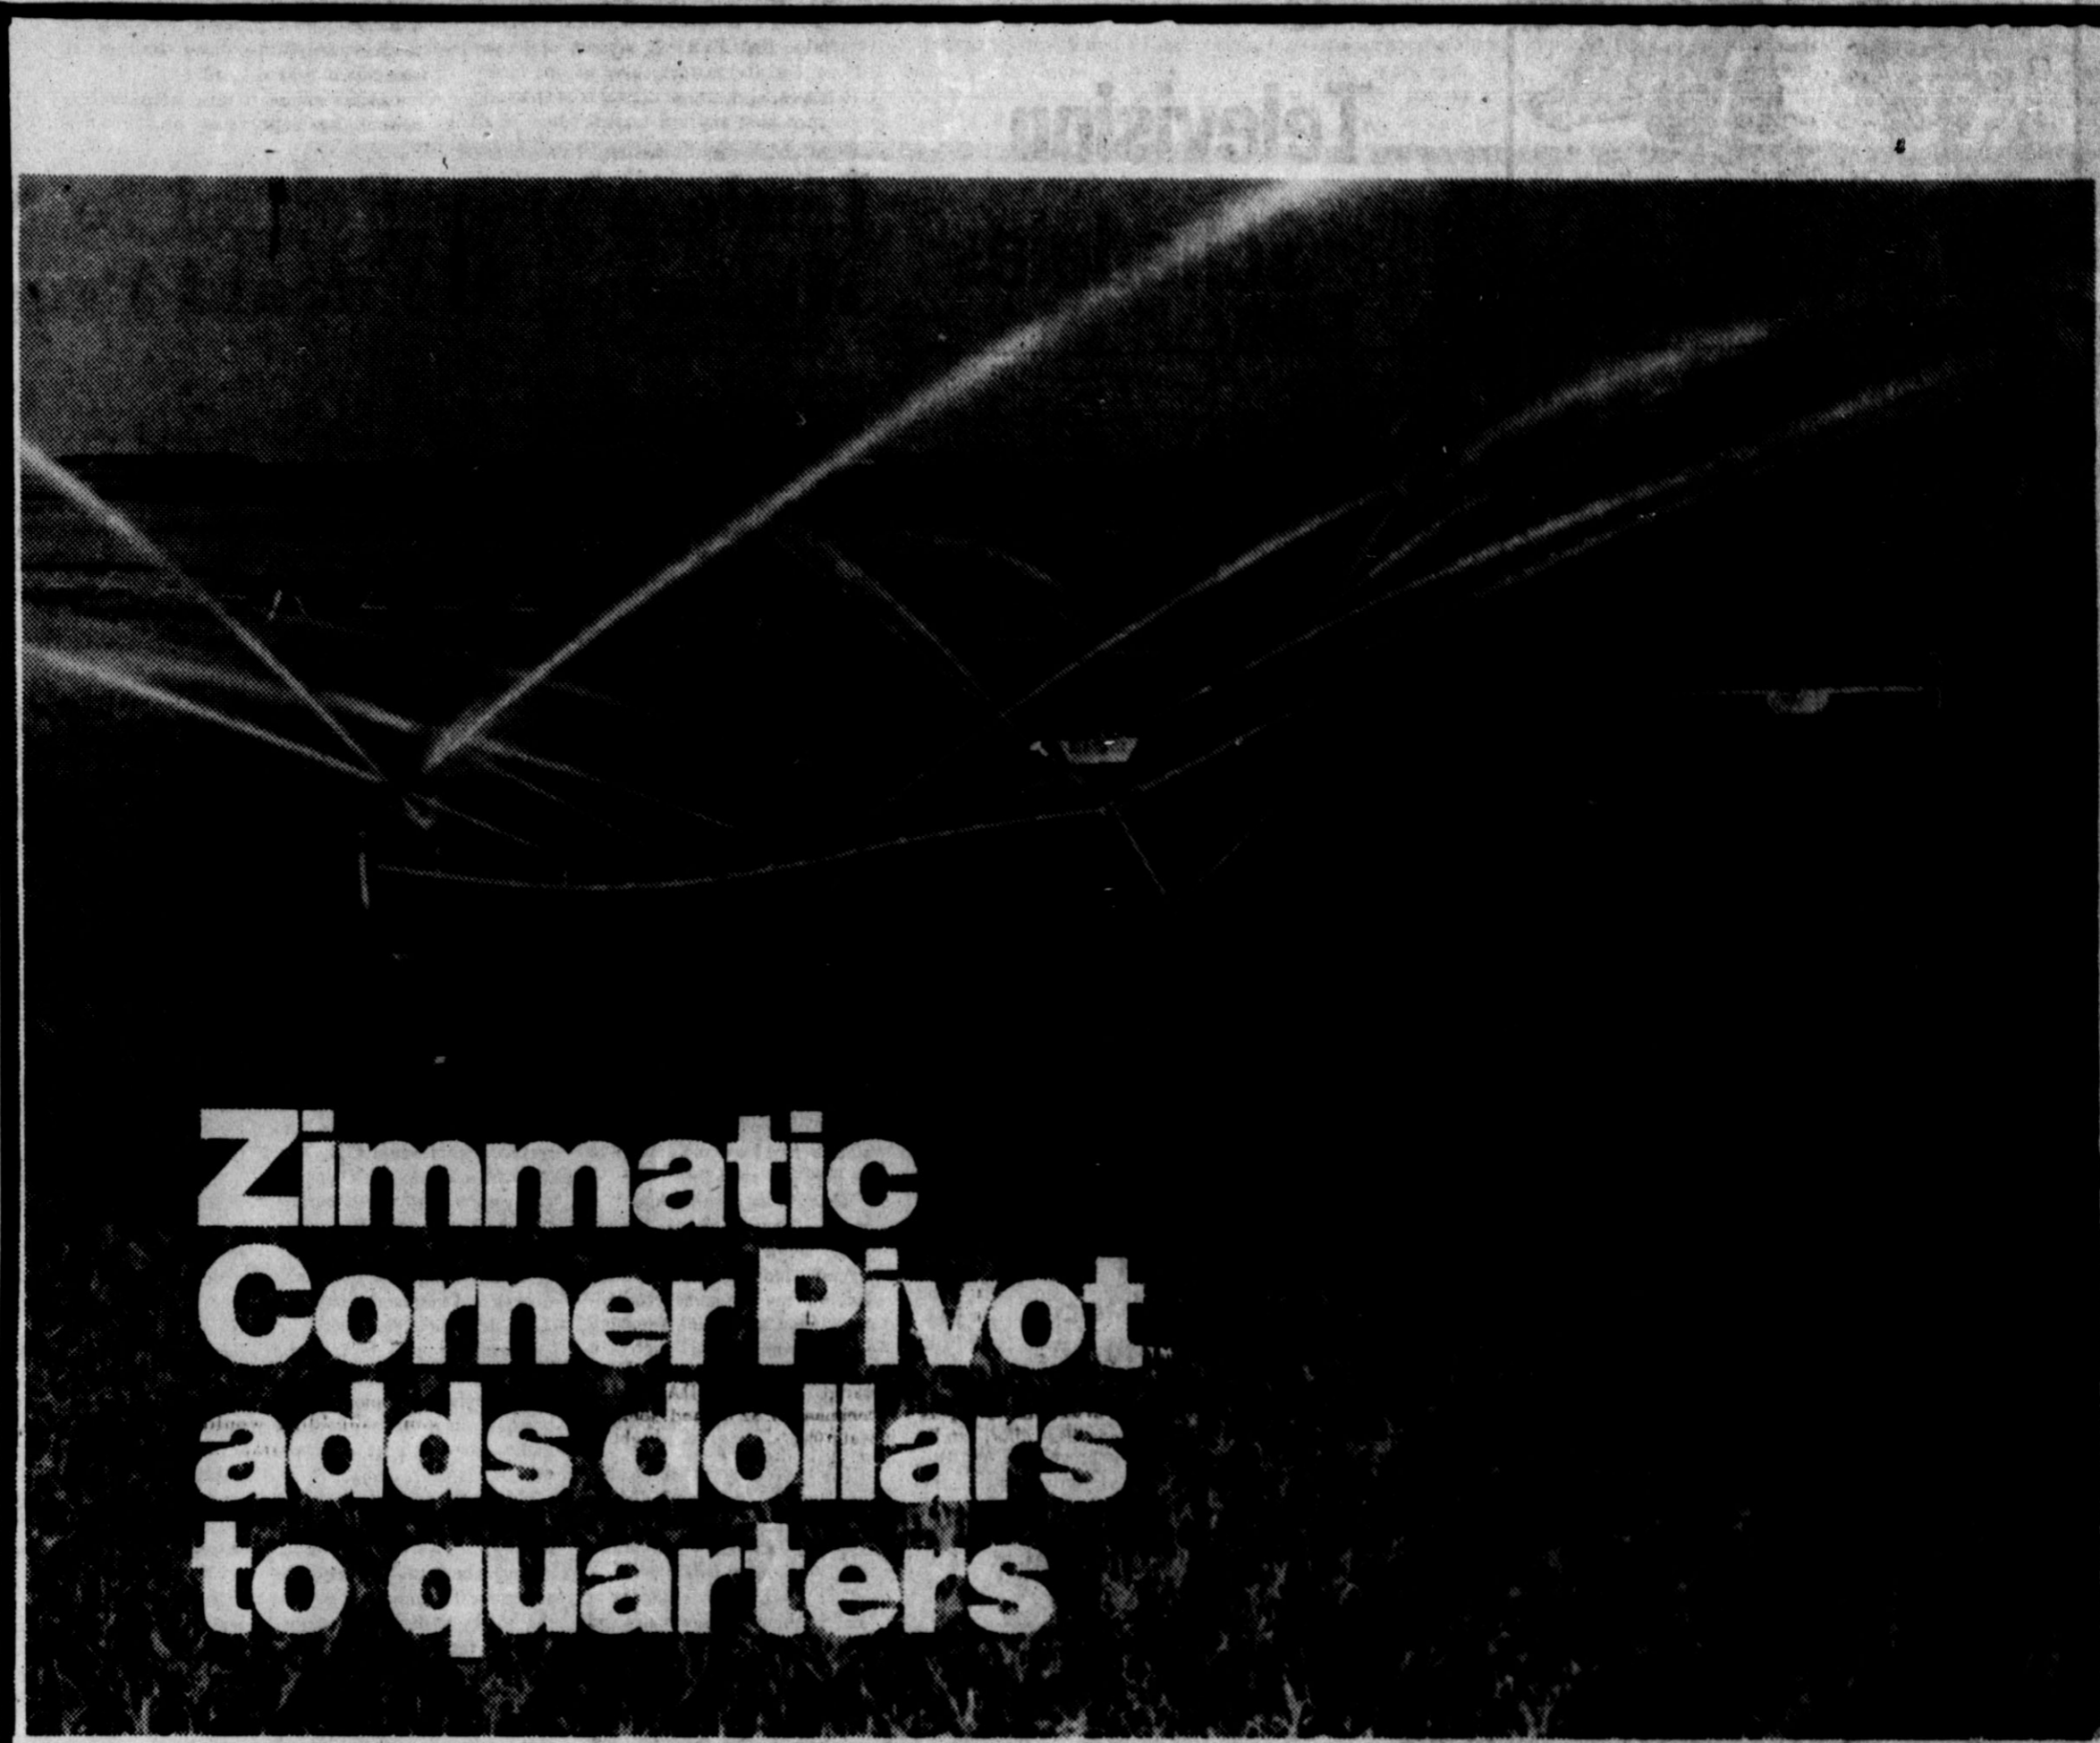

Naman is the chief spokesman of the over 8,000 farm families in the Texas Farmers Union statewide. He will also be reporting on the recent work of a Farmers Union group from several states representing the 250,000 member National Farmers Union who returned from Washington, D.C. on March 30.

Heifer Lecture Scheduled

WTSU--Dr. Robert Dull, doctor of veterinary medicine in Fort Lupton, Colo., will present a program on "Spaying of Feedlot Heifers" at 11 a.m. April 7 in room 221 of the Agriculture-Nursing Building at West Texas State University.

The lecture will be sponsored by the WTSU Department of Animal Science.

Dr. Dull received his Bachelor of Science degree and doctorate from Colorado State University and has participated in range cow and calf practice in Douglas, Wyo. and North Platte, Neb. and served as veterinary medical officer for the U.S. Department of Agriculture at Denver, Colo. and at Hereford.

Zimmatic Corner Pivot adds dollars to quarters

One hundred and fifty acres . . . over 93% of a quarter-section. That's how many acres you can reach with Lindsay's new Corner Pivot. The Zimmatic Corner Pivot rounds out the four corners of your field . . . adds them to your profit picture.

The Zimmatic Corner Pivot is self-contained . . . no wires are buried in the field to complicate your maintenance or trouble shooting. Ideal water break-up and the right droplet size are assured from both the mainline sprinklers and the Corner Pivot sprinklers . . . accomplished during corner watering by directing full water pressure to the Corner Pivot while the mainline sprinklers are shut down. Adequate water pressure means top sprinkler performance which provides efficient absorption and even water distribution across the entire field.

The same engineering and design concepts found on standard Zimmatics are used on the Corner Pivot. Lindsay's external collector ring transfers a sure flow of power to the Corner Pivot and standard, heavy-duty Zimmatic gearboxes provide years of reliable service. Most of the structural parts are identical to those on standard Zimmatics. Time-proven dependability, simplified maintenance and automatic operation make the Corner Pivot all Zimmatic.

Lindsay also offers a semi-automatic Corner Gun™ watering system. It irrigates fewer additional acres than the Corner Pivot but costs less initially. The Zimmatic Corner Gun may be the system you need.

Round out your corners and fill in your profits with a Zimmatic corner watering system. We'll be glad to give you all the details. Call or stop in today.

million over the next two years. Local school boards, however, are not required to pass the full amount of that relief to the taxpayers.

What local boards must do, however, is reduce taxes in 1978-79 by half the difference between that year's local fund assignment and what it is now - or about $73 million statewide.

Local fund assignment will be determined by applying a 20 cents per 00 tax rate to a new factor called the "District Adjusted Categorical Property Value (DACPV)." It consists of 80 per cent of the market value of one-family homes, agricultural use value of farm and ranch land and full market value of all other property.

The net effect is to impose a lighter burden on bedroom communities and farming districts than on those with large amounts of commercial and industrial property.

Other state aid increases provided by the bill would include:

- $108.5 million for "equalization aid" to property-poor districts.
- $13 million for driver education, increasing allotments from $25 to $65 per student and expanding the program from one-fifth to one-fourth of all students in grades 10-12.
- $138.5 million to raise allotments for school bus operations and routine operating expenses.

-$46 million to reduce teacher-pupil ratios in kindergarten through third grade.

Little Abuse Found In State Welfare's Medicaid Programs

AUSTIN (AP) - There is "minimal" abuse in the Medicaid program, according to the final report of a special 47-member task force named last January by the State Department of Public Welfare.

The task force made more than 80 recommendations for improving the program and cutting costs.

Texas discriminates against "the marginally poor" by making them quit their jobs after age 65 and give away all their assets before they can qualify for Medicaid, according to the report, which was given to the welfare board Wednesday.

"Take this case," said Marvin Watson, task force chairman. "A man has worked up to his 65th birthday at a job not covered by Social Security. He wants to keep on working, but at the time in life when his health needs are greatest, he cannot afford health care."

"Medicaid will help, but only if he quits his job, gives away his assets and assumes dependency."

Texas could extend Medicaid benefits to 1.3 million more people and still save $169 million over the next five years, the report said.

By putting city, county and hospital district funds into the Medicaid program, Texas can get matching federal money, Watson said.

Thirty other states already are doing this, meaning federal taxes paid by Texans are providing greater support for Medicaid in those states.

The cost of including what Watson called the 500,000 working poor and their families would be $280 million over the next five years, but the matching federal money and other cost-cutting recommendations would total $449 million, Watson said.

There are those who could afford to pay for their medical care, but they give all their assets to their children in order to qualify for Medicaid, Watson said. Legislation making such transfers illegal would have saved $92.5 million over the past five years in Texas, he said.

The welfare board created the task force in an effort to find ways to contain the rising costs of Medicaid. The federal government pays for approximately 60 per cent of those costs.

The task force made its recommendations after accumulating 4,500 pages of testimony at hearings across the state.

Paul Harvey News Of Skill and Judgement

I have been piloting airplanes since before I was old enough to be licensed—since 14.

That's a lot of miles ago. I am licensed now and rated to fly single- and multi-engine aircraft, land and sea planes—but for my frequent out-and-back trips to distant speaking engagements and such, in recent years I have used a Lear jet and have left the flying to full-time, air transport-rated, jet-qualified airman.

I stay mostly in the cabin reading, writing and dozing with complete confidence that the cockpit crew is more proficient than I would be.

For that crew consists a mature pilot of many hours and a younger co-pilot who is entirely capable.

The other night, coming back from somewhere in marginal weather, I was thinking how ideal it would be if each of us could at once have the reflexes of the young plus the judgement of the experienced.

For last Christmas young Paul received from Santa Claus one of those electronic TV games. You plug it into your television set and two people, with separate controls, can compete in simulated games of tennis, hockey and marksmanship.

He beat me every time.

I am no match for the lightning dexterity of my quick, young professional pianist son.

Especially in the fastest of the games, inevitably he outscores me.

Now young Paul, between concerts, is also doing some writing.

And when we put aside the electronic TV game and go into the library to discuss his latest literary effort—then I am able to make some tangible contribution to augment his considerable natural talent.

It not already, one day he will be a better writer than I. He will give that profession an additional dimension. But he concedes—and entirely honestly,

I think—that our collaboration for now is constructive.

His skill, my experience.

This is a single-for-instance of a new national need. What industry and politics and education and the sciences are now seeking—that they might make the most of our increasingly complex challenges—are many employees between the ages of 25 and 30 who have 40 years' experience!

Arbitrary cutoff ages for employment are outdated. Grandmothers don't look or act or react as grandmothers used to. Nor do grandfathers.

It should be the job—not the man, which determines how old is too old.

If 27 is old for an athlete, 80 might not be for a George Meany.

While our nation is presently and properly preoccupied with husbanding our national resources, we are still wantonly wasting our most important one.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

Wesley United Methodist Church, through the Committee on Evangelism, wishes to report to the Hereford community that Mrs. Ruth Carter Stapleton is working with Andrew Young, U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, developing a team of ministers to go into black churches and black communities in the major cities of the United States.

Invitations from black churches are opening the door for the healing ministry of Jesus Christ, concerning acceptance, forgiveness, understanding, and redeeming love.

Wesley United Methodist Church feels privileged to be part of this ministry of the Holy Spirit. The proceeds from the Inner Healing Worship held in Wesley Church recently goes to help prepare and perpetuate this ministry of Christ.

Shuval Speaks To Lions Club

Deaf Smith County District Attorney Andy Shuval was the featured speaker at the final March meeting of the Hereford Noon Lions Club Wednesday at the Civic Center.

Shuval spoke to the Lions about the Governor's Anti-Crime Package, going over the proposed new laws concerning welfare reform, jury instruction, and supervision of released prisoners among other things. The mandatory supervision of released prisoners was what Shuval called "one of the most significant points in the package. The bill calls for the supervision of all released prisoners for the remainder of the calendar time left on their sentence. It also limits probation for the offenses of kidnapping, murder, robbery, rape, sexual abuse, or their aggravated forms.

The point in the package most strongly opposed by defense lawyers is a bill to authorize evidentiary search warrants, Shuval said. The bill would allow a search warrant to be issued to seize evidence such as phony stock certificates, crooked sets of books, etc.

As it is now the state of Texas is one of only two states in the union that doesn't have such a law on the books, Shuval revealed.

Other points Shuval covered included laws concerning oral confessions, the control of organized crime through wiretapping, the limitation of bail, speeding up of appeals. The Lions said goodbye to member Lynn Brisendine Wednesday. Brisendine is moving to Brownfield, to assume the position of publisher of the newspaper there.

The female wrestlers will be on hand at the Bull Barn this Saturday night in a special attraction, and the Lions are looking forward to the election party April 28.

In other business Lions president Cleo Corlis presented Don Dougherty of the Sheriff's Reserves with a check to go into the Reserve's equipment fund.

The Sheriff's Reserves help the Lions out by patrolling the Bull Barn parking area during the Saturday night Wrestling events.

Sorority Benefits Lung Association

On March 25 Kathryn Nixon, Service Chairman of Alpha Iota Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, turned over $220 to the American Lung Association of Texas - Top of Texas Area, proceeds from a special fund-raising project of the sorority.

Alpha Iota Mu sold tickets for a drawing held in Hereford where eight prizes were awarded. Firms supplying merchandise for the drawing were Pitman Beef, Stairway to Fashions, Little's, Amarillo Coca-Cola Co., Li'l Charro, Western Auto and Barrick Furniture.

Alpha Iota Mu and the Lung Association thanks all those who participated in making this benefit effort successful.

Hereford residents are invited to attend a free lung disease symposium being held in Hereford by the American Lung Association of Texas - Top of Texas Area at 7:30 p.m. on April 12 in the Community Center.

Brief talks will be made by panel members Dr. Clyde E. Rush and Kathryn Acton, R.N. of Hereford and Bill Young, Chairman of the Respiratory Therapy Department of Amarillo College. Hereford V.F.W. Auxiliary members are hostesses for the symposium and will serve refreshments.

Lung Association advisory council members in Hereford are Mrs. Jewel Smith, June Rudd, R.N., and Nolan Grady.

If the sun stopped shining, it would take the atmosphere about two weeks to lose its heat supply. The oceans would take about 5,000 years to lose their heat.

Households Here Larger Than In Most of States

Are Deaf Smith County families getting larger or smaller in size? How big is the average local family compared with those in other parts of the country?

The question of family size has come to the fore lately because of government figures that show marked changes, nationally in family composition.

Biologists and ecologists have been concerned for some years about the rapid growth in population and the resultant rate at which the country has been using up its natural resources and contaminating the environment.

More recently, there has been a change in the population picture, due to a sharp drop in the birth rate.

For the first time in history, the number of births in the United States has dropped to a level that represents zero population growth.

About 2.1 children per family are required just for population maintenance, according to the Census Bureau. It has been around that point for sometime, in marked contrast to earlier years. The latest report, however, shows a rate of only 1.8.

In Deaf Smith County, on the basis of the latest figures, households are somewhat larger than in most communities, reflecting the birth rate prevailing in recent years. The average, locally, is 3.45 persons per 100 households.

In other parts of the United States, by way of comparison, the average is 2.96 per 100 households. Throughout the State of Texas, it is 3.05.

The figures show that families in the local area are smaller than they were some years ago. In 1960 there were 361 persons in every 100 households, as against the 345 per 100 today.

Although the nation's fertility rate is below the replacement level of 2.1 children per family at the present time, the real end of natural population growth cannot be expected until that rate has been maintained for a long time, because of the number of girls who are approaching child-bearing age.

Not until every girl now born completes her child-bearing years and she and her daughters have had to the 2.1 rate, would births offset deaths on a permanent basis.

MADISON, Wis. (AP) - The Elvehjem Art Center has recently acquired a painting by the French artist Francois Lemoine (1688-1737). The painting is entitled "The Triumph of Galatea" and is the first 18th-century painting to become part of the center's collection. Lemoine is an artist of the French Romantic School.

INCOME-WISE

DETROIT (AP) - Detroit has earned a reputation as a good place to work, according to a survey conducted by a national news magazine. The study showed the annual income of the average factory worker in Detroit to be $16,310, compared with the national average of $10,818. Among the top 10 cities in the nation, no other city came within $4,000 or reached 75 per cent of the Detroit average, reports the U.S. News and World Report survey. The industrial capital of the nation also ranks first among major cities in most economic comparisons such as hourly wages, family income, per capita income and home ownership - 77 percent of Detroit families own their own homes.

Mason Couples Attend Eastern Star Dinner

Hereford Chapter #312, Order of the Eastern Star, entertained Masons and their wives at a supper Tuesday evening. Following the meal, the group assembled in the Masonic Lodge for a patriotic program. Worthy Matron Audrey Powell welcomed those in attendance. She introduced distinguished members of both organizations who are currently in office: Herman Ford, district deputy grand master of the 100th Masonic district; and J.B. Noland, member of the committee on works. Ford and Noland are both of the Grand Lodge of Texas AF and AM. Also welcomed were: Bernard Roberson, member of the Masonic noblemen committee; Opal Roberson, chairman of home beautification committee; Norma Coffey, member of the time and talent committee; and Charlotte Clark, chairman of the fraternal friendship committee. All of these officials are in District 2, Section 3, Grand Chapter of Texas, Order of the Eastern Star.

Goddie Brown presented the US flag and the group recited the Pledge of Allegiance, followed by singing of "American-ism." Leroy McDonald, worshipful master of Lodge 849, was introduced with his wife. In turn, all Masons introduced themselves and their families. The remainder of the program was a dialogue presented by Charlotte Clark and her daughter, Laura Leigh. The script was provided by excerpts from essays by two junior high school students, Gina Inman and Kenneth Waters, both at Stanton. Gina described the Declaration of Independence as "a kind of war song—a stately passionate chant of human freedom—a prose lyric of heroism." Kenneth described the historical document as "a new thing in human history that a great State should thus choose as the motto of the first chapter in its history a proclamation of universal human rights as the ideal to be aimed at." The two students were bronze medal winners in the 1976 American History Month Contest sponsored by Los Ciboleros Chapter, DAR. Concluding the program was Wayne White, who spoke briefly about the First US

President George Washington. Vernon Darden, worthy patron, dismissed the group with the benediction. Special guests in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Don Waters and Mr. and Mrs. Burke Inman Jr.

Delegate Gives Report To Lodge

Hereford Rebekah Lodge 228 met Tuesday with Peggy Lemons, Noble Grand, presiding. Alta Davis was hostess. The Commission of District Deputy President was read and presented to Ursula Jacobson. She will preside over District 5 which includes Friona 308, Dimmitt 54 and Hereford 228 for the coming year. Mrs. Jacobson, delegate to Texas Rebekah Assembly at Houston, gave a report of the state meeting. Accompanying Mrs. Jacobson to Houston were Faye Brownlow, Susie Curtzinger and Alta Davis. Other members present were Ole Hacker, Alta Davis, Martha Bridges, Bessie Lawrence, Frances Parker, Frankie Green, Bessie Saucy, Faye Brownlow, Susie Curtzinger, Helen Sowell.

Cattle Theft Charged

CLAUDE, Tex. (AP) - An Armstrong County grand jury returned cattle theft indictments Wednesday against former Sheriff Evert Johnson and his son, Roger. The 60-year-old former law officer and his 26-year-old son are charged with stealing nine head of cattle from two ranches. The cattle were found on the elder Johnson's ranch by inspectors from the Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association. They were previously indicted in Deaf Smith County on charges they stole feed. Johnson has said he is innocent of the charges and that they result from a misunderstanding.

W.C. Fields was born William Claude Dukenfield in 1879 in Philadelphia. He left home at the age of 11 and became a juggler. Later he joined the Ziegfeld Follies.

Blanche Williamson, Ada Hollabaugh, Lydia Hopson and Guy Lawrence.

The first elevated trains were introduced in New York City to ease the congestion of streets filled with carriages, wagons and horse-drawn streetcars.

If fuel costs are squeezing the profit out of your corn crop, plant The Cost Cutter

PIONEER 3780

One Less Irrigation • Lower Harvest and Hauling Costs
• Less Moisture Damage • Lower Drying Cost • More Income and Profit per Acre

Pioneer brand 3780 improves corn profits four ways. It is an early hybrid that takes one less watering than the hybrids you've been planting. It also dries faster after maturity than other corns. Since it has good standability and ear retention, you can leave it in the field to dry. This means you harvest less moisture, haul less moisture, and have little or no dockage and drying cost.

Since it doesn't cost as much to grow, it can make more money. In 1976, farmers found that "Cost Cutter" 3780 produced significantly more net income per acre than competitive corns of much later maturity. Though the green weight yield of later maturity corns was greater, 3780 was usually much lower in moisture and thus higher in dry yield per acre. When the saving in irrigation fuel cost was added to the higher dry yield, it made a difference of $20 to $30 net income per acre.

This hybrid matures 11 to 13 days earlier than our famous 3098A but it doesn't concede yield for its earliness. Under most growing conditions, it will yield pretty close to the full-season varieties and harvest several points drier.

Tough enough to take it. 3780 is also a tough little hybrid that can take some stress. Flood snout didn't bother it in 1976. It has good roots and stalks and holds its ears well. It is sensitive about getting pre-frost water right on time, however. The critical irrigation time is fairly short since it passes quickly through each stage of growth.

Here are actual examples of 3780's ability to make more profit than later maturing, high yielding competitors:

Year	Hybrid	Yield (bu/acre)	% Moisture at Harvest	Harvesting Cost ($/acre)	Drying Cost ($/acre)	Net Income ($/acre)
1976	Pioneer 3780	8,700	16.6	0.700	0.291	0.409
	VS. 3098A	10,720	25.1	0.600	0.340	0.260
1975	Pioneer 3780	8,100	15.6	0.100	0.400	0.290
	VS. 3098A	8,000	20.7	0.700	0.200	0.200
