

Accident Hurts Arizona Woman

A one-car mishap west of Hereford on U. S. Hwy. 60 resulted in serious injuries to an Arizona woman and injuries to another man following a blow-out as the vehicle was traveling east.

Officers believe the accident occurred after a blow-out caused the driver to lose control of the late model vehicle.

RECEIVING a broken vertebra in the over-turning accident was Mrs. Howard Branton of Amabo, Ariz., an occupant of the '59 Chevrolet sedan driven by her son, Clemes Branton.

Branton escaped injury in the mishap, but was reported by witnesses to be "shook up."

Also taken to the county hospital was B. L. Mosely, 17, a nephew of Branton. His injuries were not serious.

DAMAGES to the overturned vehicle were extensive.

The mishap occurred four miles west of Hereford on U. S. Hwy. 60 at 7:12 a. m. Friday official reports say. Fire trucks from Hereford were called to the scene of the accident, but no flames had started in the vehicle.

Branton and his nephew are from Continental, Ariz. The three were traveling east.

AN ACCIDENT Thursday afternoon at the city's disposal facilities sent Herman H. Garcia to the doctor, but he was later reported to have received no serious injury.

The mishap occurred as the city employe was attempting to pull a tractor out of mud. Garcia was sitting in a truck operating a winch pulling the tractor.

THE TRACTOR was evidently too large a job for the winch to handle, and the truck overturned as it attempted to pull the tractor out. Also in the cab of the truck, but escaping injury, was Cruz Perales.

First Workouts For Hereford Gridders Monday

A sure sign of fall — boys working out on their own in the park — has appeared in Hereford, indications of a typical and busy, cooling off season in the area.

HEAD COACH Jack Meredith, although he has nothing to do with the boys' working in the park, is looking forward to having a team at least slightly broken in when they report for their practice sessions this week.

Boys gathered at the field house last week for the first step in their football program, their physicals. Coaches have been on hand during the week as they prepare for the upcoming season's opponents.

Official workouts can begin Monday, Meredith said, pointing out that the schools have had nothing to do with the boys' going ahead and running on their own. Pads can't be put on the boys until Monday, the coach said.

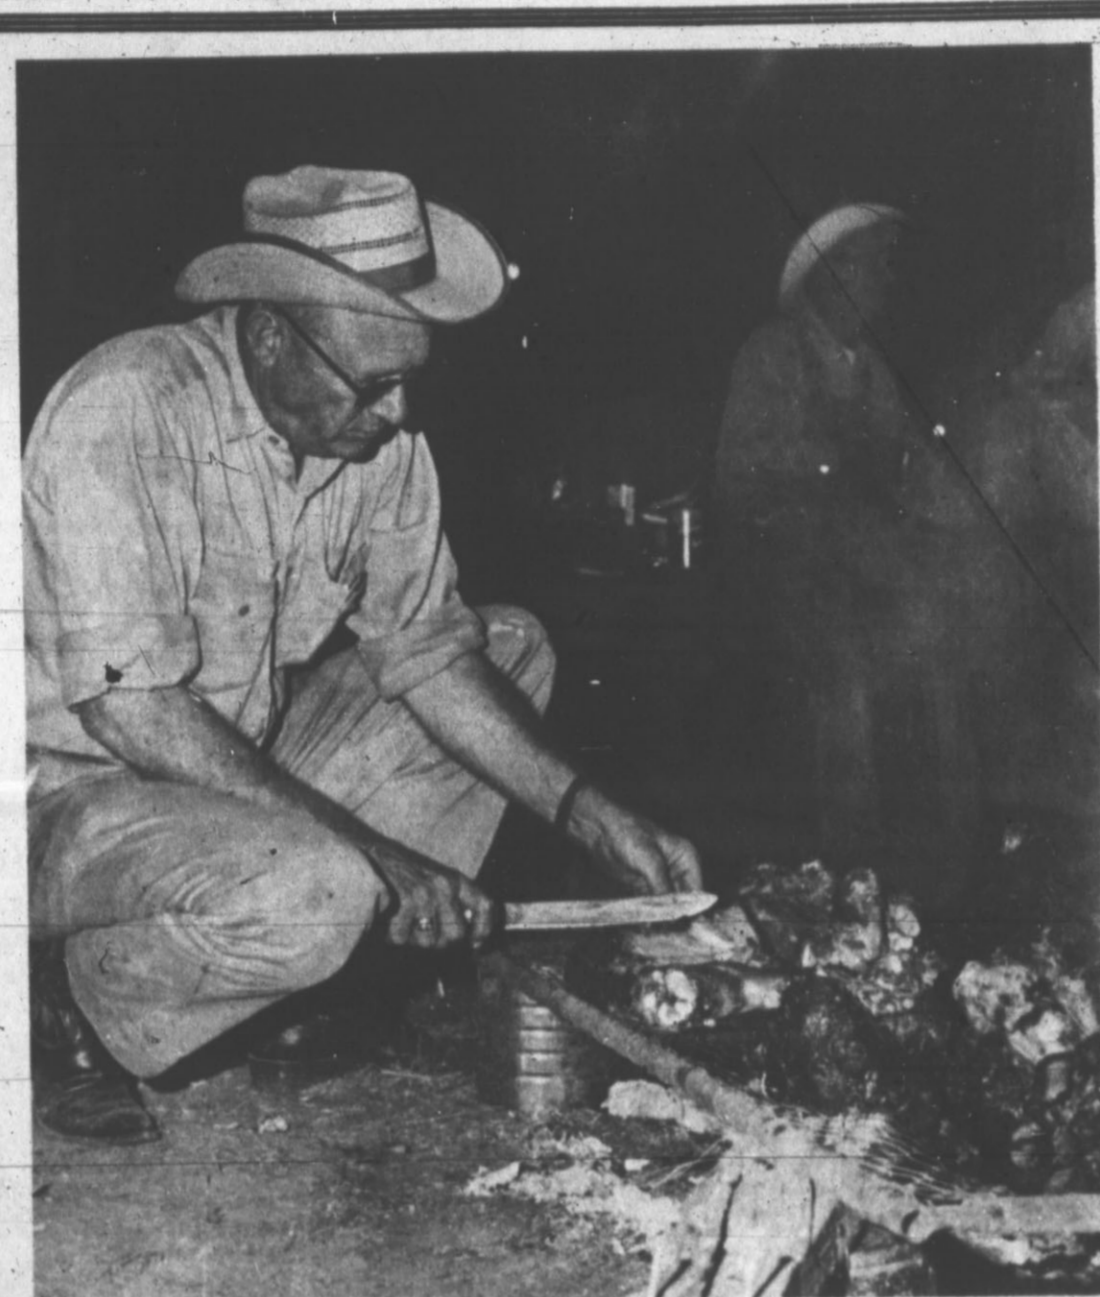

WORK-OUTS, to begin at 7:30 a. m. tomorrow, will probably draw some 25 boys for varsity play and 35 for junior varsity, Meredith anticipates. Junior high school players won't be involved in workouts until school starts.

First game for the Hereford gridders has been scheduled for Sept. 9, when they will meet Floydada there. Scrimmages with Clovis and Palo Duro of Amarillo are expected; the meet with Clovis will come at the end of the second week of workouts, and the meet with Palo Duro is expected at the end of the third week.

CAPTAINS of the Hereford team this fall will be Ricky Fangman and Tony Malouf.

Assisting Meredith in his coaching duties at the Whiteface Stadium on Stadium Dr. will be J. A. Williams, line coach; Joe Brooks, backfield coach; Bill Narrell, end coach; and Jack Waggoner and Larry Brown, junior varsity.

Narrell, Waggoner and Brown are new to the Hereford schools this year.

IN THE SPIRIT OF THE OLD WEST

Bob Armitage, chairman of the Oldham County Round-Up Association, cuts himself a slice of ham as he and others on the committee work to barbecue meat for area residents. The annual Round-Up, held every August in Vega, attracts some 2,000 persons from the ranching area covering Oldham County. (Staff Photo)

A spirit of the Old West came alive Saturday north of Hereford when residents of the little cow town of Vega whooped it up at their annual "Round-Up."

Ranchers and cattlemen and those associated with such businesses were in abundance at the old-fashioned celebration, founded not so long ago by citizens who thought getting together in true round-up fashion would be an event for the community at large.

Vega is the center of the county gathering, with committees from the hamlets of Wildorado and Adrian also furnishing guidance in planning the affair.

It's called the Oldham County Round-Up Association, and Bob Armitage, chairman for the event, expected to see some 2200 persons at the Saturday event, scheduled to last throughout the day.

BUT WORK started Friday evening, when several from the area appeared to begin work on the barbecue. Roasting over the coals all night long were six beeves, most of them donated. Round-Up

Tractor Wreck Fatal

Robert Neil Uselton, 22, was killed Saturday afternoon about 5:45 p.m. when a tractor he was steering rolled over on Harrison Highway and into a ditch. He was rushed to Deaf Smith County Hospital by Gilliland ambulance where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Jim, a brother, was pulling the tractor from about 14 miles west and the two had reached the lake approximately 8 1/2 miles west of Hereford when the tractor began to wobble, according to Jim. The tractor was connected to a pick-up truck with a heavy chain.

The tractor was being pulled toward Hereford and the accident occurred as the procession started down the hill that drops into the lake. The farm vehicle careened off the road, over a barbed wire fence, and overturned.

Mr. Uselton was farming in the Hereford area this summer. He was a graduate of McMurry College, Abilene, but friends said that he was planning to go to A&M this fall where he would continue his study of veterinary medicine.

He was a 1962 graduate of Hereford High School and was a member of the First Methodist Church.

He was born May 4, 1944 in Ft. Worth.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. W. E. Uselton, 335 Ave. A, Hereford, his brother, Jim, and a grandmother, Mrs. J. W. Uselton, Nocona.

Car Injures Boy In Street Mishap

Joe Palnso, five years old, was not seriously injured when he darted into the path of a car at 5:55 p. m. Saturday afternoon.

He was hospitalized overnight for observation but his doctor said that he was not seriously injured. He suffered cuts and bruises on his chest and head.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Juan Palnso who live on a ranch near Hereford. The mother of the boy was shopping in a store on Third Street when the child was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Herminia Contreras, Palo Duro Apartments.

School District Boundaries Told

Students attending both Stanton and La Plata Junior High schools will find that the boundary separating these two school districts will be easy to distinguish.

Principal of La Plata, Jerry Don George, explains that the division will start at the north edge of the school district, running south along U. S. Hwy. 385. This boundary will continue on into Hereford, extending to the intersection of U. S. Hwy. 60 with 385.

AT THAT POINT, the line will make a corner and follow U. S. Hwy. 60 eastward towards the east edge of the school district.

Those students residing east and north of the line, including rural students, will enroll at the town's original Junior High, Stanton, located at Park Ave. and Ave. F. All others will be a part of the new school, La Plata located in northwest Hereford north of the Whiteface-Football Stadium.

LINES were drawn for the junior high divisions only after a survey had been conducted, says George, who formerly was assistant principal for Stanton.

School administrators were interested in getting a varied sample. See SCHOOL Page 2

Merchant Moxie Riots Raceway

Hoping for fair weather and sunny skies are those drivers who are entered in today's Merchant's race at the Hereford Raceway. This special attraction features the merchants and news media of Hereford, who will be driving stock cars provided by the raceway.

Those merchants participating in the "Merchant's" race will be: Debbs Knox, Johnny Pool, G. D. Caison, Buddy Bloomer, James Welch, Roy Faubion, Orville Culpepper, Wendell Maloney, Melvin Young, Martin Reed Moore, Dudley Bayne, Jim Burwich, Doc Page, John Warren and Cleo Corlis.

The Mid-Season Championship races began last Sunday but, due to wet weather and high winds, is being carried over into today's activities.

Admission to today's races will be 50 cents, half the usual price. The teen race and presentation of trophy to the high point man of the day will be included in the activities.

For the convenience of racing fans, the raceway has built enough new shaded bleachers to accommodate 400 people. Races are slated to begin at 2 p. m.

Super M'ile Show

Now they've really done it. On top of Batman, Superman, Mickey Mouse, etc., you can add "Super Mademoiselle," an added attraction to the high school campus.

That's the theme for a style show, staged by Gaston's Popular Store, to be held at the high school auditorium Thursday evening at 8 p. m.

Proceeds from the super show will go to the high school activity fund, to be used for expenses for the high school's cheerleaders.

Admission will be $1 for adults, 50 cents for students.

VISTA Volunteers View Area Migrants' Plight

For three young Americans, a totally different world has begun to open up in Hereford. It's what some persons might refer to as a "rude awakening" to the real world and some of the things that exist in it.

BUT FOR THREE VISTA volunteers, it's an opportunity to learn, to share, and to help elevate the migrant laborers who come to the labor camp near Hereford.

Fredric Chubb is from Pennsylvania.

Margaret Ferris is from Minnesota.

And Denise Waitman is from California.

And they're living in an apartment at the Labor Camp just like any other person who would choose to live there — quite a change from what these young middle-class people have become accustomed to in the past.

The three have only recently arrived in Hereford, ready to roll up their sleeves and dig in at the Hereford Labor Camp, where they expect to stay until sometime in August next year.

FORMALLY known as Volunteers in Service To America, the federal project the three collegiates have volunteered for, will place emphasis on adult literacy, citizenship education, housing and sanitation in its program at the camp. Included on the side will be some tutoring, and also language training for the pre-school set.

Fredric Chubb, just 20 years old, has completed three and a half years of work in Spanish and sociology at Shippensburg State College at Shippensburg, Pa.

And he has some opinions on the sociology books; yes, they are right — at least halfway, he thinks.

"BUT SOCIOLOGICAL problems can't be solved from ivory towers," he asserts, using as reference his few weeks of VISTA training which have al-

Shriners Say 'No' To Annual Circus

No circus is coming to town. Local Shriners feel that funds for support of the crippled children's clinic can be raised by methods more advantageous to the community, Palmer Norton, president of the Shriners' Association said.

In the past and for the last two consecutive years, Hereford Shriners have sponsored the Shrine Circus with the merchants carrying the brunt of the cost. Tickets were purchased by the local merchants and then were given to the school children.

One of the main reasons for deciding to try other funding projects this year is that such

VIET NAM ACE

'Junior' Makes Good

A man known in military circles as "The Destroyer" is recalled by J. Raymond Flores, Hereford area farmer, who was flight engineer on the same plane with the Viet Nam ace.

Maj. James H. Kasler, now 40 years old, will always be remembered by Flores as "Junior." Kasler was just a young man of 18 when he was flying with B-29s in World War II, serving as tailgunner on a plane with Flores.

KASLER, described by the United States Air Force as "the hottest pilot we had," received national publicity last week when he was shot down in Viet-Cong territory in Viet Nam. Helicopter rescue crews could not get to him, and he is presumed to have been captured by the Viet Cong.

His pinpoint bombing raids have played a large part in the success of United States offensive maneuvers in Viet Nam.

Flores remembers Kasler as Junior, the young "punk" in the back of the plane who was a little more aggressive with his shooting. But Flores doesn't mean "punk" in the derogatory fashion, but rather as a personality description of a young man who entered the war for the glory he might receive.

 "JUNIOR" was a type who wanted glory, all he could get his hands on, Flores recalls. When another crew was forced to bail out over the Pacific and only part of them recovered, Junior said to his crew-mates, "Why couldn't it have happened to me?"

Flores remembers that at first he and the other crew members thought "Junior" was joking. But the young man, still wet behind the ears at the time, was serious. "What will I ever tell my girl friend back home?" was his comment.

While others would be reading their prayer books, Flores remembers that Kasper would be in the back of the plane working his guns.

PHILOSOPHIZING, Flores recalls the quick blood of a young person, and understands how "Junior" felt when he was in the World War. But most people lose that characteristic, he decides. Evidently Maj. Kasper never did. "But after all, that's the kind of men the Defense Department needs," Flores comments.

After his tour of duty in World War II, Kasper went on to become a fighter pilot and first started making a name for himself as a Korean Ace. He flew 100 combat missions in Communist MIGs. He had flown 70 combat missions in Viet Nam.

KASLER is now married, and his wife and three teen-age daughters reside in Indianapolis.

 planners stuck it out through the wee hours of the morning as they religiously turned the whole beehives over ever so often for a well-done barbecue job.

Furnishing the beehives were Richardson Seed Co., Scarborough Cattle Co. F. O. Maston, Rafter O Ranch Jay Taylor) and Mansfield Cattle Co.

Putting the show on the road Saturday morning at 11 a.m. was a parade, including several floats, along with riders' clubs from throughout the area participating.

One of the biggest feeds in the area then attracted residents to the courthouse square in the middle of the town, where free barbecue was dished out to the folks, young and old, whopping it up and enjoying old style western hospitality.

Bingo for the older folks, games for the younger set, all were set up for the day of merrymaking.

A STREET dance at 8 p. m. continued for an hour, followed by another dance at the Legion Hall. A spot was provided for the teenagers, too, from 3 to 5 in the old gymnasium in Vega.

 ready revealed to him the problems in helping certain segments of the population.

His interest in Spanish was first aroused by a high school language teacher, and his college work continued in that effort.

For three and a half years he read theory in his sociology books; Chubb says he wanted to get some practice, so he signed up for VISTA. He plans to return to school after his year of service with VISTA, lacking only 18 credit hours to get his degree.

Chubb received his training in Tallahassee, Fla. Upon arrival in Hereford, he was expecting conditions much worse than what greeted him. VISTA workers are well-trained to meet the grim realities of what lies ahead of them, Chubb pointed out.

DENISE Waltman, who is 23 and a former student of San Jose State and the University of California at Davis, wanted to "help people help themselves," she says. But that's not the only reason, she explained: What prompts a person to go into volunteer work such as this usually can't be pinpointed to one cause, she said.

Miss Waltman had requested work in the Western United States, and received training which would have equipped her well for working with Indians. However, she was sent to Hereford and is "digging in." She received her six-weeks' training at the University of Oklahoma at Norman, Okla.

Upon the end of her volunteer work, she tentatively plans to go back to school and complete work towards her degree.

MARGARET Ferris, 22-year-old, is the only one of the trio to have completed her college work. She received her BA this spring from Macalester College at St. Paul, Minn., with a degree in Spanish. Her minor was in Secondary education. She also is trained in Florida.

She was another who couldn't pinpoint what it was that prompted her to volunteer a year of her time. Her plans for the future, like those of the others, are very tentative. She has an idea that she might like to enlist in the Volunteers Corps, or she might enter the teaching field.

Although they all three are out of school now, they feel they are continuing their education. And in one of the most realistic and awakening situations to be had, they have found.

Boys' Ranch Plans Rodeo

Cal Farley's Boys' Ranch will be a scene of humming activity the Labor Day Weekend as residents go all-out as in year's past to provide rodeo entertainment.

The rodeo, now in its 22nd year, will be stirring up dust at the ranch Sunday and Monday, Sept. 4 and 5. All 346 boys at the ranch will be participating in the fund-raising event.

ABOUT 100 of the "ranchers" will be riding for awards and honors. The Brahmas and horses used in the bull-riding and bareback-bronc events are professional rodeo stock, says Cal Farley, founder and president of the boys' home.

Special event sure to catch much attention will be a "stick-horse" race for the four to six-year-olds.

Boys who are learning meat-cutting and cooking as their future vocations will barbecue giant-size beef sandwiches for spectators and visitors who arrive early to picnic. Ranchers who do not ride will be working as ushers in the parking area, helping at the concession stands, or working around the chutes. All boys will be participating in some way in the rodeo.

CLIMAX of the rodeo will be the naming of the junior and senior all-round cowboys, two of the highest honors that can

$2.50, general admission is $1.50, and children's and servicemen's tickets are 75 cents. Tickets for either Sunday's or Monday's performance are available in advance from the Boys' Ranch office, Box 1890, Amarillo.

"THIS IS the biggest chance the boys have to really do something on their own," Farley says. "They compete with each other for honors and recognition, and whether they sack-up a first place ribbon or bite the dust right out of the chute, no award can mean more to a boy than the rousing ovation from the audience which knows he gave it all he had."

All proceeds from the huge rodeo event will be used for future expansion of the ranch.

Pioneer Spirit Revives Perky Town Repeatedly

By ANN BROWN Brand Correspondent

The pioneer spirit still lives in Deaf Smith County. Dawn, the rural community 13 miles north-east of Hereford on highway 60, is still thriving in spite of having been almost annihilated several times.

IN 1887 J. H. Parrish bought section 22 in block K3 from the T Anchor Ranch. It was the first section filed in the county. In 1889, Mr. Parrish opened a post office, and a general store. His original stock was composed of about $90 worth of merchandise. Since he had almost no mail patrons and few customers, that was probably ample.

But it is reported that a neighboring rancher rode over to inquire as to the merchant's welfare. When told that business was fine, the visitor pulled up a box, sat down, and said: "Then you won't mind if I just sit here and watch you sell out."

Mr. Parrish named the new community Dawn. He insisted the settlement was the dawning of a new era in the big, new country. Other families arriving in 1887 were the J. C. Coxes, G. R. Jowells, and the E. Carters. They all lived in half dug-outs, and operated general stock farms. One's nearest neighbor was seven or eight miles away, and horseback was their only mode of travel.

THE EARLY settlers never had any real trouble with the Indians. However, in January of 1891, a runner from Amarillo warned them that 300 Cherokee warriors were coming up the Palo Duro Canyon. All the families gathered in one dugout, and prepared for a siege. The next day another runner reported that the threat was a false alarm.

In 1893, Mr. Parrish sold his ranch, and the post office was moved down the creek to the Jowell ranch. A short time later it was moved again farther down the Tierra Blanca to the W. H. Cleary ranch.

In 1898, the Santa Fe Railroad came through. It missed Dawn by three miles. The post office closed, and the settlers had to go to Hereford for their mail.

BUT IN 1905, the enterprising citizens established a new settlement at the Santa Fe switch, which is the present location. And still they had problems! Their school house was burned down by a hungry tramp so he could go to jail and get fed. The prairie also caught fire; it took the whole community half a day to quench the raging blaze.

Back in 1914, the "town" boasted a hotel and a lumber yard. W. R. Neal, who owned the townsite, built them to encourage settlement of the town. But improved roads and modes of travel forced them to give way to more competitive markets.

Two of the houses built by the Neal family at that time are still in service. The Harley Neal's house has been purchased by the Dawn Co-op for a home for their manager. The W. R. Neal residence has been the home of the A. T. Frye family for some fifty years. It is currently occupied by the Steve Bavousett. Mrs. Bavousett was a Frye.

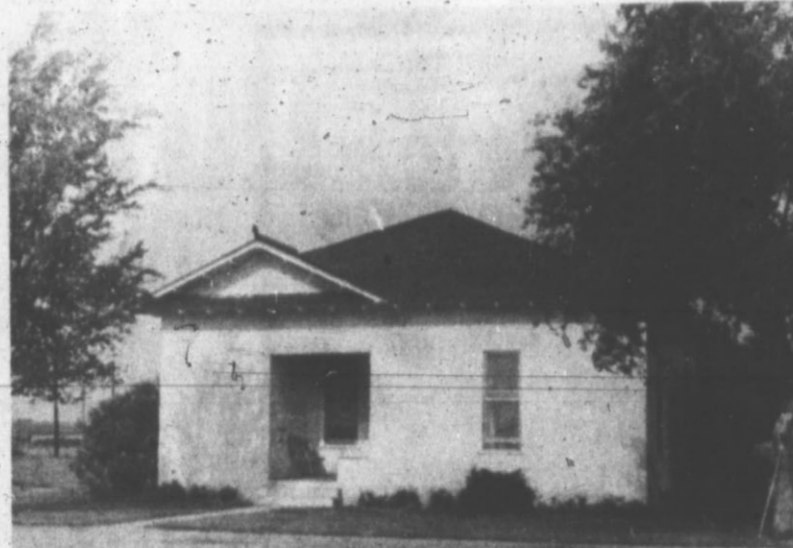

THEN IN 1961 the highway was widened, and the little "wide-place-in-the-road" became just a wide road. But again the citizens of Dawn were undaunted. They have come back with a bigger and better commercial district, and a number of new homes.

Currently the business district is composed of the post office, with Mrs. R. A. Frye, postmistress; the Trans Continental Grain Co., managed by Bill Sooter; the Dawn Co-op, which started in 1952 with 21 members, and now has 243 members, ten employees, and four locations; the Taylor-Evans Farm Stores managed by Tommy Brock; the General Store, Cafe, and Service Station owned and operated by Edgar Sowell and his wife Nelma; and the beet dump of the Holly Sugar Co.

The four Dawn Co-op Elevators have a capacity of 2,641, 000 bushels. They are managed by E. K. Dudcerstadt, and controlled by a board of five directors: Melvin May, Murphey White, S. A. McCathern, H. H. Miller, and Wayne Higgins.

THE PIONEERS at Dawn were hardy, visionary people. Many third-generation families will still own and operate the farms. Among them are the Mays, Wombles, Whites, Lukes, Stewarts, Wimberleys, H. H. Millers, Fryes, Caraways, and L. A. Smiths. There are several relative "newcomers" like the Reinauers and McCabes who have lived in the community only about 25 years.

The solidarity of the citizenry is reflected in their many spiritual, cultural, intellectual, and civic achievements. About 50 per cent of the adults have earned college degrees, and another 25 per cent have college training. During the depression, the Dawnites "tightened their belts" like everyone else, but they continued to send their children to college.

Immediately after the relocation in 1905, a community church was organized; it gave way to a Baptist church in 1943. Currently, the church has 90 resident members. Gene Suttle is the pastor; Leroy Johnson is Sunday school superintendent; Virgil Owens is Training Union director; Douglas Morris leads the singing; Mrs. Carl Wimberly is organist; Mrs. Ray Stewart is pianist; Mrs. Leroy Johnson is Women's Missionary Union president; Royal Ambassadors are led by the pastor; Mrs. Ray Stewart is Girls' Auxiliary leader; and Mrs. William Wimberly directs the Sunbeam Band.

When the public school closed in 1963, the Neal estate donated the school property to the residents for a community center. It is now the focal point of the town. In addition to the many community organizations that meet in the center, there is a regular monthly program, which varies from social to educational; the attendance is usually between sixty and a hundred. Bob Strain is the current community president; J. E. McCabe has been elected for the coming year.

Dawn has a strong Home Demonstration Club, with Mrs. Ray T. Stewart as president; it has a 4-H Club under the leadership of Mrs. Clarence Betzen; and it boasts the only rural music club in the state. Mrs. William Wimberly is the president. Mrs. Carl Wimberly is president of the District 1 Music Club. The local club will be host to the annual convention of the District 1, November 4-5. There is also a junior music club called the Dawn Musettes.

Dawn also has a Dinner Bridge Club composed of eight couples. It meets once a month in the homes of the members.

THE LOCAL citizens are quite active in civic, and church affairs in Hereford and surrounding areas. H. H. Miller is precinct chairman for the Democratic Party. Mrs. Herbert Miller is executive secretary of the Deaf Smith County Red Cross. Clarence Betzen is a member of the Soil Conservation Board. Mrs. Clarence Betzen is a trustee of the St. Anthony School. Steve Bavousett is a board member of the Farm Research Foundation at Halfway, and he is also on the board of the Farmers Home Administration. Dawn has constantly had a member on the REC board.

Al Smith and Bob Strain are district board members of the Farmers' Union. Melvin May is community committeeman for the ASCS. Bob Strain is one of the finance committee of the First Methodist Church; his wife is president of the Women's So-

SCHEDULES' REVIVAL — The Rev. James G. Martin, pastor of Westway Baptist Church, will conduct revival services in Pleasant Hill, N.M., Baptist Church, Aug. 28 - Sept. 4. The church is west of Boovina and its pastor is Billy Wayne Parvin, formerly of Hereford. While he is absent from Westway, Rev. Martin's pulpit will be filled by Johnny Brownlow.

ONE MINUTE, PLEASE

THE CHURCH I LOVE IS THE SERVANT OF GOD "Paul, a servant of God and an apostle of Jesus Christ" (Titus 1:1) exhorts Christians, "Never flag in zeal, be aglow with the Spirit, serve the Lord." (Romans 12:11). This same apostle who describes himself as "serving the Lord with humility and with tears and with trials which befell me," (Acts 20: 19), commended certain Christians who, "turned to God from idols, to serve a living and true God." (1 Thessalonians 1:9).

When Jesus was tempted to worship the devil, he quoted, "You shall worship the Lord your God, and him only shall you serve." (Luke 4:8). The Christ also exhorts, "No servant can serve two masters; for either he will hate one and love the other, or he will be devoted to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon." (Luke 16:13).

We are encouraged to remain faithful and serve diligently until the Lord comes, when he said, "Let your loins be girded and your lamps burning, and be like men who are waiting for their master to come home from the marriage feast, so that they may open to him at once when he comes and knocks. Blessed are those servants whom the master finds awake when he comes; truly, I say unto you, he will gird himself and have them sit at table and he will come and serve them. If he comes in the second watch, or in the third, and finds them so, blessed are those servants." (Luke 12:35-38).

"When you were slaves of sin, you were free in regard to righteousness," Paul points out. "But then what return did you get from the things of which you are now ashamed? The end of those things is death. But now that you have been set free from sin and have become slaves (servants) of God, the return you get is sanctification and its end, eternal life. For the wages of sin is death, but the free gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord." (Romans 6:20-23).

Along The Frio

By MRS. OWEN ANDREWS
Brand Correspondent

Mrs. Godfrey Baldwin arrived Sunday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Andrews, her brothers, Jack and Ronnie, and Godfrey's mother, Mrs. B. H. Baldwin, and other relatives. The Andrews met her at Amarillo Airport Sunday afternoon.

On Wednesday, she was honored at a pink and blue shower at the Owen Andrews home, with the guest list made up of relatives who visited and presented gifts. Another special guest was Mrs. Wesley Earp of Denton, sister-in-law of the honoree. She came home with her mother, Mrs. Baldwin, and aunt, Miss Viola Keene, Monday when they returned from visiting the Darold Baldwins at Brownfield. Mrs. Earp and daughters, Jeanette and Joy, and niece, Debbie Dean of Dallas had come to Brownfield to meet them. They plan to visit several days here.

Others at the Wednesday afternoon party were Mrs. Joe Andrews, who was also a hostess, Mmes. Herb Bruns, W. H. Andrews, Laura Littrell, T. U. Sparkman Jr., Eugene Baldwin, Tommy Sparkman, B. H. Baldwin, Homer West, T. L. Sparkman Sr., Sam Ogan; Misses Darlene Sparkman and Anna Ruth Ogan.

The Rev. John Herndon of Electra was a guest of the Rev. and Mrs. Sam Ogan Saturday night and attended church at Frio Sunday morning. Rev. Herndon preached at Frio once, Dec. 5, 1943, when the church was "fourth time" and met in the schoolhouse, and he was a ministerial student at Wayland College. The Herndons and Ogan have been friends for many years.

Spending Sunday night with the Homer Wests were his relatives, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Simmons, Marilyn and Karen, of Salinas, Cal. They were on their way home from a visit to Oklahoma.

The Clark Andrews and Frank Robbins are vacationing together this week at the Urlin Streu ranch in Colorado.

The Elmer Jones home was the scene for a Hawaiian Party, Friday night. The Chesley Johnstons were hosts. Hawaiian music and decorations in the house carried out the theme and guests came dressed in original costumes. Misses Darlene Sparkman, Carol Robbins and Debbie Ogan welcomed guests, presenting them with leis.

Food was cooked and served in keeping with the idea, also. Others attending were Messrs. and Mmes. Tommy Sparkman, Eugene Baldwin, Dee Taylor, Kenneth Frye, Joe Andrews and Charles Self.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Schmidt held a reception and program honoring the golden anniversary of their wedding Sunday at First Mennonite Church in Clinton, Okla. The children are Mrs. Earnest Harder, Herbert Schmidt and Leonard Schmidt, all of this area, Arthur Schmidt, Burlington, Colo. and Ewald Schmidt, Clinton.

About 200 persons attended the program in the church auditorium and reception in the fellowship hall. Grandsons, Tommy and Dale Schmidt, Norman and J. D. Harder and Bob Schmidt were ushers; Brent and Sheryl Schmidt passed programs at the door.

Paulette Schmidt was pianist for special songs sung by the men's choir. Mr. Schmidt was a member of the choir for many years. The church pastor gave a devotional and a long time friend of the family, Edgar Thomas read their life story which had been compiled by Mrs. Harder. Daughters-in-law served cake and punch during the reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt were married Aug. 27, 1916 at Besse, Okla., and have lived in that area all these years.

CAP Cadets Work At Amarillo Base

Local Civil Air Patrol Cadets will be serving as guides and guards at Amarillo Air Force Base Saturday, August 13. They will be working in cooperation with the Amarillo CAP unit and their celebration of Aviation Day. The cadets will act as guides to various points of interest on the base and as guards for the air craft displays. They will also direct traffic on the parking lots.

STUDENTS CHALLENGED

Band Begins Practice To Beat Past Record

Residents will be roused in the neighborhoods surrounding Hereford High School in the next two weeks as Hereford bandmen take to the field to work on another "super band" for the high school.

Band Director Ben Gollehon, whose reputation for development of fine quality bandmen is becoming wider each year, anticipates a year of hard work ahead.

HIS RECORD shows four sweepstakes bands now for the Hereford music department, among several other top-notch honors.

"We've got a big year to follow up," he says, pointing out that it will take more than just talking to make a band better than the one exhibited by Hereford High School last year.

Included in its honors are the "best Concert Band In Class AAA" in the state of Texas, awarded at the Six Flags Band Festival, staged at Dallas in May.

AN HONOR the group will work toward this year will be the Texas Music Educators' Honor Band. An attempt to cop this coveted prize, says Gollehon, will take an all-year effort.

Judging will not be done until sometime next summer; the winning band would not be presented in concert until February of 1968.

Bands at Stanton, La Plata, and the high school are being instructed by the schools' three band directors, Gollehon, Jim Priest and Lynn McLarty. Priest and McLarty are both new to the Hereford school system, starting work with Gollehon here at the first of the summer.

ALL THREE bands will be team-taught, Gollehon pointed out. Priest will be working with low brass in all three groups, McLarty will instruct woodwinds and Gollehon, along with his coordinating activities, will give attention to upper brasses and percussion.

"Work-outs" for the high school marching band began Thursday evening, when some 30 to 40 teens appeared for their first session. New march music has been issued, and practice is now underway to get the "show on the road" for upcoming football halftime shows and the University Interscholastic League marching contest, first step towards the coveted sweepstakes award.

Gollehon expects to have about 100 high school bandmen to be marching on the field this fall, about the same size as last year's first-rate band. About 40 new members will be taking places in ranks left vacant by graduating seniors. LEADING the drillers as drum major will be Roger Suttle, who is in his second year in the position. Twirlers will be Pat Hill, Margaret Phipps, Deborah Walden and Alana Comer. The girls have been working together preparing their showtime exhibitions.

A show similar to that staged before fans in the 1965 football season will appear again, Gollehon said. Included in music of the marching group will be "Law and Order," "Colossus of Columbia," "Shadow of Your Smile," "Flying Eagle," "Serenade," as well as pop tunes for in-the-stands performances.

QUAKER RECOMMENDATION

LONDON — Establishment of a full-time advisory service on court convictions is urged by the Penal Affairs Committee of the Society of Friends. The committee says a court should either accept the committee's advice in passing sentence or, if it imposes a different sentence, state its reasons for doing so. The committee also recommends that the length of prison sentences be limited. Sentences of less than eight months should be abolished entirely.

HITS BEST PITCHERS

ST. LOUIS — The fact that Baltimore's Brooks Robinson hits the best pitchers was evident in the recent All-Star game.

The Oriole third baser a tripled off Sandy Koufax in the second inning, singled against Juan Marichal in the seventh and singled against Gaylord Perry in the 10th.

In the fifth inning, Phillie Phan Phan retired Robinson on a grounder to shortstop Leo Cardenas.

GRAHAM CALLS GOD-IS-DEAD FALSE

MINNEAPOLIS — The death-of-God theology "is a false religion — another gospel," evangelist Billy Graham writes in Decision magazine.

"Thousands of uninstructed Christians are being deceived," he says. "God is laughing at the silly arguments of these supposedly learned men."

Four Boy Scouts Named, 'Order Of The Arrow'

Four members of Boy Scout Troop 52 were inducted into the Order of the Arrow, national honorary camping organization, at the close of the troop's annual summer camp week at Camp Don Harrington. Gilbert Alaniz, Randy Corlis, Jimmy Dickerson and Randy Barrett were selected by their troop for that honor.

A COURT of Honor climaxed the week for 28 boys and Scoutmaster Frank Ford of the troop sponsored by First Methodist Church. About 100 members of the boys' families attended the ceremony when 26 boys received badges of rank and 25 received a total of 85 merit badges, 63 of them earned during the camp.

Advanced to the rank of Life Scout were Mike Higgins, Alaniz and Barrett; to Star Scout, Mike Corlis, Randy Cromer, Dale Hairgrove, Jack Kirkland, Gary London, Terry Roberts, Ted Seyfert and Allen Wilson.

FIRST CLASS badges went to Lewis Aven, Randy Clements, Jay Henderson, David Myers, Gary Ray and David Thomas; Second Class badges to Joe Wade, Scott Turner, Art Reinauer, Tom Myers, Kirk Hanses and Bobby Alexander; Tenderfoot badges to Willis Duggan, Billy Williams and Glenn Wilson.

Merit badges in varied activities were awarded to all these boys, and to Harold Barrett, Robert Barrett, Carl Brown, Bryce Hunter and Paul Hunter.

Funeral Held For Mrs. Dow On Saturday

Funeral services for Mrs. Zettie Elsie Dow, 69, were conducted in the Rose Chapel of Gililand Funeral Home Saturday afternoon by the Rev. Eugene Suttle, pastor of Dawn Baptist Church. Mrs. Dow, whose home was at 115 Gough, died Thursday morning in a Dimmitt nursing home.

She had been a resident of this county since 1947, when she moved from Dumas. The family lived on a farm in the Dawn community until a few years ago.

Born at Hardy, Ark., Feb. 13, 1887, she married Henry Dow March 13, 1823 and they came to Texas from Oklahoma in 1935. Her death followed an illness of several weeks.

Interment was in West Park Cemetery. Pallbearers were H. R. Stewart, J. B. Carway, H. S. Fuller, Rea Cox, Virgil Owens and W. T. Bevers.

Mrs. Dow is survived by her husband; three daughters, Mrs. Ruth DeHart of Hereford, Mrs. Mrs. Cleda Faye Tony, both of Staton; a son, Harold L. Dow of Clovis, N. M.; two brothers, A. B. Ray of Sayre, Okla. and A. R. Ray of La Crescenta, Calif.; great-grandchildren.

Catholic Rural Life Day Will Be Observed

One of four awards to be presented at the annual diocesan observance of National Catholic Rural Life Day will go to Claudia Loerwald of Hereford. The program at Holy Family Catholic parish hall at Nazareth is sponsored by the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women.

Mrs. Frank Brooman of St. Anthony's parish here is diocesan chairman of rural life. The program this afternoon will include an address by Msgr. George Weber of Des Moines, Ia. on the subject, The Christian Farmer.

Bishop Lawrence DeFalco of Amarillo will conduct the ceremony of blessing the soil and farm equipment.

Catholic Good-Home-County awards are to be made to four young people who are active in 4-H, FHA OR FFA programs as well as in church activities.

Miss Loerwald, president of her FHA chapter in Hereford High School, is one of these.

A previous recipient, Joyce Bezner of Hereford, will speak on What the Award Meant to Me.

Life-Saving Swim Sessions Set

A senior life-saving class, last of summer water safety classes sponsored here by Deaf Smith County Red Cross Chapter, will begin at 10 a. m. Monday at the city pool.

This class is open to swimmers 16 years of age and over. Mrs. Bruce Miller, chairman of the water safety program, announces. The courses have been conducted for beginners and advanced swimmers through the entire summer, an annual activity of the Red Cross chapter.

Fewer than 2 per cent of the atoms present in any human body were there the previous year.

Winners In Duplicate Play Named

Mrs. R. E. Carver and Mrs. Ann Woodward were teamed to win first place in the weekly games of Hereford Duplicate Club Thursday evening at Community Center. Mrs. Lisle Woodford and Mrs. J. M. Posey placed second, Mrs. Ansel McDowell and Mrs. J. D. Neill third.

Several members from the Hereford club played in special games at Amarillo last Sunday afternoon, and the Ed Schroeders won their first trophy as they took first place in their event. Mrs. Carver placed in 11 events at the Summer Nationals of the American Contract Bridge League at Denver recently. She was the only winner in the Hereford delegation. Attendance has increased this summer at the weekly local games, to which all residents interested in duplicate are invited. Play begins at 7:30 p. m. each Thursday in Community Center.

THE 'NEW LOOK'

DETROIT — Renewal in the Roman Catholic Church also can mean beautification. Heading recommendations of the Second Vatican Council that women be given a more influential role in the church, the Detroit Archdiocese has named Mrs. Jane Wolford, an attractive brunette civic leader, to a top executive post. As head of a new institute for continuing education for adults, in religious, cultural and vocational fields, she holds the highest position a lay woman has ever held in the archdiocese. Besides her good looks and organizing ability, she also is a mother of seven.

Riders Gallop Over State In Weekend Events

A parade and barbecue, roping contest, playday games and a state junior contest are on the list of activities in which Hereford Riders Club members are taking part this weekend. Miss Pat Cooper, Junior Riding Club queen, and Jimmy Cooper participated in state finals for 4-H riding clubs at San Antonio Friday and Saturday. Club members rode in a parade at Vega Saturday and were barbecue guests afterward.

Some of the group will compete this afternoon in steer roping at the Hereford arena, while others will go to Canyon for the monthly playday games.

Record time is held by Hereford members in several playday events, putting the local club many points ahead of any other club in this district. State finals are scheduled Oct. 28-30 in Dallas.

Practice in palmetto polo is conducted each Friday at 8 p. m., in preparation for organization of a team here. Any riders interested in this sport are invited to attend practice sessions, and those who would like to participate in any of the club's varied activities are invited to visit its meetings, Mrs. Clifford Johnson, publicity chairman, announces.

Sign of the times: Two pessimist meeting at a party shook heads rather than shaking hands.

And speaking of pessimists, it seems the international experts on food and agriculture, meeting in Rome recently are reading the signs that say we're headed for a "world food shortage." As a matter of fact, they feel that the shortage has already started.

For the past two years, they say, there have been ominous warnings that the world is fast approaching the time when it will not be able to feed the populations. We've all read and heard the warnings and said that it would not happen in our generation, and let it go at that. True, most of us are not apt to go hungry in the near future, but the experts see troubled waters ahead according to our informational source.

Hunger of course, is not new on the face of the earth, and the hungry people will always be with us. This however, has been a situation of distribution, rather than production. Abundance in one area, hunger in another.

The American farmer is an amazing critter. In the face of diminishing acres, he has consistently produced an abundance of food and fiber, leading to a pesky problem of over-production that has been kicked around in political circles for the past twenty years. And in spite of all the ominous warnings about a shortage of food, we're betting that his productive genius will prevail. Given the land and the water, he will produce enough to feed the world if necessary.

In view of this, would I be classified as an optimist?

Everytime you graduate from the school of experience, somebody thinks up a new course.

With the beginning of the 1966-67 school year barely two weeks away, the emphasis is on clothing and school supplies.

Merchants at Hereford's Sugarland Mall have just recently finished with a style show modeling the latest fashions, and one more such event is scheduled before the beginning of classes this fall.

Gaston's Popular Store will stage a mammoth event with proceeds from the ticket sales going to the High School Activity fund, for use by the cheerleaders. The show is scheduled for Thursday, August 18 at the High School Auditorium, beginning at 8 p. m.

And the merchants at Sugarland Mall are also offering "Clock-Watcher" specials all day Monday in a back-to-school sales event. New specials will be offered every hour during the day.

Downtown merchants as well, are putting their best foot forward this week in an effort to clothe the junior before he trots off to one of the many schools, and judging from the way people have been buying, he should be the best dressed youngster in the nation.

The cool weather of the past few days, gets us to thinking about football and new automobiles; both events that we look forward to as September approaches.

Of course, most of us are too old to play football, and too broke to buy a new car, which makes us spectators at both events. And perhaps that's best. Nevertheless, we're looking forward to our first football game scheduled for September 9, when we meet Floydada there, and we're just as anxious to see all the new automobiles in Hereford's dealer show rooms.

According to TOPS, a news service out of Atlanta, Ga., the Vienna public safety officials have defined four classifications for motorists who use their horns instead of their brakes. They are:

The boxers: Aggressive types who think all traffic space should be reserved for themselves.

The fearful: They use horns in every situation.

The lazy: Want to free themselves from all responsibilities once they have honked at the other fellow.

School teachers: Lean on the horn to advise other motorists of alleged traffic violations.

That just about covers the field of horn blowers. Vienna officials are planning to sock fines on those who blow except in emergencies.

For years Memphis, Tenn., was one of the quietest cities in the country. The police did exactly what Vienna is planning. They slapped sizeable fines on those who blasted off excessively.

What, we wonder, will they

Here and There

with Mrs. Merlin Kaul

The Rev. Eugene Brink family entertained several families at the parsonage last week despite the fact that Mrs. Brink was at Casa de Amigos every afternoon directing the Vacation Bible School, and the minister too was helping get the project underway.

Their guests included Mrs. Margaret Felker and family, Houston, Rev. and Mrs. Earl Vissex, Houston, Rev. and Mrs. Dick Tarr and family, Lamesa, and Sgt. and Mrs. Elmer Bishop and family. Sgt. Bishop has been in military service for twenty years and he and his family were en route from the Philippines, his last station, to Virginia. He and the family have lived in Japan, Germany, and Greece during his years of service and he has also served in Viet Nam.

Mrs. Brink and daughter Nancy left Monday with the Camp Fire Girls for their annual camp trip to New Mexico and Miss Ellen McGowan was appointed to direct the singing activities at Casa de Amigos for her.

Bob Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bradley, Harrison Highway, remains in North West Texas Hospital, in Amarillo as the result of serious injuries suffered last week end. Bob and his family had come from their ranch in western Oklahoma near Kenton, Okla. for a week-end here with his parents and with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Art Lewis. He was helping run a hay baler near Westway when his leg was caught in the baler as he was attempting to free a bale. The leg was broken below the knee and above the ankle and cut deeply at the calf.

Mrs. Buck Cunningham, Amarillo came Wednesday afternoon to see her grandmother Mrs. Susie Triefel at the hospital and to visit with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Buren Sowell. She is the former Margaret Sowell.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schroeder are expecting their son Carl, Jr. and his wife to be here next week for an extended visit. Carl Jr. has been serving with the Army in Viet Nam for the past several months. His wife has been attending school at the University of Texas, Austin, completing requirements for a Teacher's Certificate. He will now be stationed at Fort Hood.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. De Laune and sons Murphy, Jr. and Garland, Houma, La. have been visiting here this week in the home of her sister Mrs. Garland Solomon on Harrison Highway. Another sister of Mrs. Solomon and Mrs. De Laune is Mrs. Eugene Moore, Nashville, Tenn. She and her husband Rev. Eugene Moore and son Jimmy came Thursday to spend the rest of the week here. The Moores had stopped here for a short visit en route to California and are now on the return trip. Rev. Moore is pastor of a Methodist Church in Nashville.

H. R. (Buck) Green of Westway and his son-in-law Tom Templeton are vacationing in Mississippi. They are visiting members of the Green family at Heidelberg, visiting historical scenes at Jackson and Vicksburg and making a trip to the coast.

Mrs. Templeton and the children are staying with Mrs. Green and Janey while they are gone.

After returning home, Tom and his family will move to Bovina where he has accepted a position as elementary school principal.

One of his teachers in the first grade will be Mrs. Jack McCracken whose husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McCracken here. Jack has recently opened two stores for men's wear in Clovis, New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Cole, Colby, Kan. were guests last week end of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Dettman. Mrs. Betty Jane Rolson Whisenand, Altadena, Calif. was a guest of the Dettmans on Wednesday.

Mrs. Bill Lee and children Susan, Laurie, and David, Austin have been guests this week in the home of her grandmother Mrs. J. E. Beyer. Mrs. Lee is the former Kathryn Hicks. She and her husband Bill and the children are en route to their cabin in the Las Vegas Mountains in New Mexico. He is now teaching at the University of Texas having come there from New Hampshire where he was formerly teaching.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Whisenand, Altadena, Calif. have been visiting friends here this week. They have been house guests of Mrs. J. E. Beyer and have visited in the homes of Mrs. Norman Moore and Mrs. Emil Dettman. Mrs. Whisenand is the former Betty Jane Rolson, whose parents were pioneers of this area. She has been teaching but is staying at home this year. Mr. Whisenand is supervisor of attendance in the schools in Baldwin Park.

Mrs. Mary Skypala was hostess last Sunday at a dinner at her home. The event was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Connally and children who have been visiting here from Merkel. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Skypala, Mrs. Wilma Connally, Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Skypala, and Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Skypala, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rudland, Shelli and Robin, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dirks, Dirk and Tiffany, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Marneil and Douglas, the honor guests Mr. and Mrs. Richard Connally, Richard, Jr. and Amy, Eddie Gerald Skypala, Mr. and Mrs. Durward Hamby, James, Terry, Joe Bill, Janet and Leslie, and Mrs. Skypala, the hostess.

Hereford Reading Station Teachers and other faculty members who attended the Reading Workshop in Canyon this summer met together for a picnic Thursday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Dettman.

FOUR GENERATIONS — Visitors from California, and Oklahoma who were honored with a family picnic at Palo Duro Canyon recently included four generations, but not in direct descent. From right are Mrs. Rachel Knight of Tom, Okla.; her daughter, Mrs. Ruby Chedaka of Los Angeles; whose niece, Mrs. Faye Landers, 435 Ave. D, is holding her own niece, Dorothy Davis of Tom. The picnic was a celebration of Mrs. Chedaka's birthday.

Those present included a former Hereford High School teacher Mrs. Norman Whisenand, Altadena, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Larry Huckabee, Godley, Mrs. H. V. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Holland, Mrs. Hazel Brunner, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hartman, Prin. and Mrs. D. C. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Kaul, and Mr. and Mrs. Dettman.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Ward have returned home from a vacation trip to New Mexico. They called on relatives in Ruidosa, Alamogordo, and Artesia, and near Cloud. They made a special trip to the Burgett Floral Nursery, the nursery, located in the mountains, raises many varieties of plants and flowers which are trucked out to many towns and cities.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hamilton, Santa Paula, Calif., have been visiting this week in the home of her sister Mrs. T. L. Collins. Both of the Hamiltons will be Special Education Teachers this fall in Santa Paula — she in primary and Mr. Hamilton in High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Collins are expecting son Bruce home this week-end from "boat training" for the Navy in San Diego, Calif. His wife Mary Kay has been here visiting with her mother Mrs. Roy Pruitt. Bruce will have a 14-day leave before reporting back for duty.

Mr. and Mrs. Butch Connally were hosts to members of her family for dinner at their home on Monday night. Those present were her parents Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Gravelle, Plainview, her sister, Mrs. N. J. Breton and children Cindy and Paul, Pasadena, a brother Bill Gravelle, his wife and sons Greg and Tony, Riverside, California.

The Duard Hamby's were hosts at a family get together Saturday at their home. Present was her mother Mrs. Wilma Connally, her brothers Richard Connally and family, Merkel and Butch Connally, his wife and baby daughter.

Mrs. Gene Roach, Odessa is spending a few days here with her mother Mrs. Bess Werner who is convalescing at her home following recent hospitalization. Mrs. Roach is an English Instructor at Odessa Junior College.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Connally, Richard, Jr. and Amy returned to Merkel the last of the week after visiting here with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bibbrey and in the home of his mother Mrs. Wilma Connally and other relatives. TO KEEP PACE Billions Needed To Expand Roads

AUSTIN — Texas will need to invest more than one-half billion dollars a year in new highway construction by 1985 to keep pace with the growth of the state, a new study released today by the Texas Highway Department predicted.

THE FORECAST was contained in a 24-page brochure entitled, "The Great Challenge. Texas Highway Needs." The report is based on projections made by planners in the Department.

By comparison construction expenditures in Texas in 1965 were $348 million.

A highway system to meet the challenge of the future requires active, alert public support, the brochure said. It also requires sound, adequate financing.

"THE PUBLIC should be alert to any attempts to divert or disperse any current highway revenues," the report warned. It added:

"The failure — even by one day — to fulfill the obligation to build better, safer highways will be costly in human life and suffering. The economic loss is irrecoverable."

The report pointed out: "A vibrant economy produces its own problems. Population growth, the rapid urbanization of Texas, the increasing number of motor vehicles and the complexities of modern society compel a constant vigilance."

By 1985, the brochure noted, Texans will drive a total of more than 77 billion vehicle miles each year, compared with 52 billion, vehicle miles rolled up in the state in 1965.

Vehicle registration will more than double — from 6.2 million to about 14 million in the next two decades.

To keep pace, the State-maintained highway system is expected to grow to a total of 79 thousand miles. Presently, 66.5 thousand miles of highways are under State maintenance.

MORE SIGNIFICANT, Highway Department planners said more miles of high-type highways will be needed to carry ever-increasing burdens of traffic. In the next two decades, 17 thousand construction miles of new freeways should be built, including traffic arteries on new locations and conversion of older, conventional roads to freeways.

In general, all existing highways will require one reconstruction and two resurfacings before 1985. All bridges built prior to World War II will require replacement.

The report notes the role of the highway system in the unprecedented growth and development of the state during recent years.

The Texas Highway Commission presented the report to Governor John B. Connally as an aid to construction of future highway needs of Texas.

Modern man owes a great debt to ancient Mesopotamia. Its contributions include writing and law; the wheel and the true arch; razors, cosmetic sets and frying pans; shepherd's pipes and the harp, and astrological charts.

South Plains Fair Expected To Draw 250,000; Opens Sept. 26

LUBBOCK — Workmen are busy whipping grounds and facilities into shape for the 49th annual renewal of the Panhandle and South Plains Fair, now less than three months away.

Getting primary attention is the repair of facilities damaged by a recent storm, which caused losses estimated at $6,000 to fair property. This includes damage to floodlights, windows, ticket booths, signs and a portion of the cattle barn.

But nearly $19,000 in capital improvements have been made since the 1965 event.

Facelift and construction projects include new wire hog pens which can accommodate 1,000 head, new swine and cattle washracks and adjacent concrete service alleys. Several large trash receptacles also have been purchased to enhance sanitary conditions. New trees beautify the landscape.

THE BIGGEST single money item was re-roofing Fair Park Coliseum, where Tennessee Ernie Ford will present twice-daily performances throughout the six-day fair run, Sept. 26-Oct. 1.

In addition, fair offices have been moved to more convenient quarters in the old Texas Highway Department offices, located at 105 E. Broadway.

THE ONLY FAIR in Texas still running when the Panhandle South Plains exposition made its maiden bow is the State Fair. The Lubbock event is ranked 46th in attendance among 3,000 fairs held annually in the nation.

Most of the fairs with high er attendance are state fairs running from eight to 16 days, compared to the six-day stand for the Hub City exposition, which is expected to draw 250,000 persons this year.

Officials point to the fact that more than $1 million in improvements have been made down through the years, including structures, paving, utilities, etc., on an 80-acre tract leased from the county. The fair is not subsidized by any level of government.

Last year all facilities were taxed to the limit with a near-record number of displays and exhibits entered. New attractions added for the 1966 event will make it one of the largest in its history.

MAJOR FAIR attractions this year include Tennessee Ernie and the Young American Singers, the National Wool Needlework contest, World's Our Little Miss preliminary pageant, Texas State Jersey Cattle Show, junior parachute jump, the 13th annual West Texas Twirling Festival, creative pottery display, industrial arts and hobby shows, military and space exhibits and the popular Parade of Bands and Children's Barnyard.

Teenagers Part Of Labor Market

COLLEGE STATION — The American teenager has become unusually adept at finding paying jobs, says Mrs. Wanda Meyer, home management specialist at Texas A&M University.

The U. S. Labor Department says that one out of two young people between the ages of 16 and 21 are formally employed in the work force.

The number of informal work situations teenagers can find, however, raises this ratio much higher. As an illustration, there are more than a million teenage baby sitters, according to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

"PROJECT Talent," a nationwide survey of youth's capabilities by the University of Pittsburgh, has made some interesting discoveries.

For example, fewer than one in 10 high school students depends entirely on an allowance for regular spending money. But one in four high school boys earns all his spending money with a regular job.

MANY MORE earn money on a regular basis doing neighborhood and community chores, while most youngsters depend on some combination of the three — family help, chore money and job money — to meet their spending requirements.

Teenagers find a wide variety of jobs to do ranging from camp counselors and lifeguards to waitresses, office helpers, and sales clerks. Most employers find them diligent and hard-working. In fact, many hold down the same job summer after summer.

THE FACT that teenagers are successful in their job-seeking is shown by these projections from employment officials: By 1970, teenagers are expected to earn $21 billion, an increase from $10 billion in 1960.

Miss Garrison At MYF Meet

Miss Sharon Garrison is spending this week at Mt. Sequoyah Methodist Assembly near Fayetteville, Ark., attending a regional meeting of the Methodist Youth Fellowship. She is president of the Amarillo District MYF as well as of the youth group in First Methodist Church here.

The assembly for the south region is in progress Aug. 12-19. Miss Garrison represents both the local and district MYF.

Harris-Morrison Vows Exchanged In Church

Wedding vows were repeated by Miss Shera Ann Harris and James Stanley Morrison at the flower-decked altar of First Methodist Church Saturday evening, when the Rev. Clifford Trotter, pastor, read the double ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin C. Harris, 222 Fir, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Morris Morrison of Canyon.

White and blue mums were placed against a background of greenery as a setting for the ceremony, which was preceded by wedding music. Mrs. R. C. Godwin sang "O Perfect Love and Song of Ruth, accompanied by Don Baugous who played the marches and an organ medley.

Miss Mary Pat Hill of Amarillo was the maid of honor and Miss Sandra Hodges the bridesmaid. His brother, Larry Morrison of Dumas, acted as Morrison's best man and Robert Houlette of Goodwell, Okla. was groomsmen.

Melinda Morrison was the flower girl; candles were lighted by Glen Harris, brother of the bride, and Weldon Lee Swanger of Post. Ushers were Tommy LaGrone of Canyon, David Adcock and David Hamrick of Dumas.

Her father gave the bride in marriage. She wore white French lace, a gown styled with empire waistline marked by a satin band and flat bow, and A-line skirt with a chapel train extending from a larger bow at center back. The bodice was cut with bateau neck and long sleeves.

Tiers of illusion floated over her shoulders from a cluster of crystal and pearl flowers. She carried a white orchid with cascade of roses, and as an heirloom piece wore her grandmother's gold wedding band. Dresses of her attendants introduced the wedding color note with shades of blue. Bodices of their crepe A-line frocks were of delphinium blue and skirts of azure, with trains held by Dior bows. Headpieces were of blue crepe roses with short full veils. Each carried a long-stemmed blue rose.

The bride's mother was dressed in oyster white and Mrs. Morris Morrison in pink with black costume accents. Decorations for the reception in Ward Parlor of the church were blue and white mums. Mr. and Mrs. Morrison left after the reception on a trip to Las Vegas, Nev. and into California. They will be at home in Abbott Towers, Canyon, after Aug. 20. The bride traveled in a two piece costume in shocking pink with accessories to match, and wore a corsage from her bouquet.

She is a graduate of Hereford High School. Morrison, a senior at West Texas State University, completed high school studies at Dumas.

Ticket Sale For Harvest Dinner Open

Tickets are on sale for the annual Harvest Dinner to be served by the American Legion Auxiliary from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m. Thursday in the Legion Hall, Mrs. Bill Gilfeld, president, announces.

Auxiliary members, who will prepare and serve the meal, are selling tickets in advance, priced at $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children. Tickets will also be available at the door for this event, where Hereford residents have learned that they will find regional food at its most appetizing.

Beef and vegetables grown in this area will be featured on the menu with homemade breads, fruit cobblers, iced tea or coffee. Women of the Legion Auxiliary have been serving dinners each summer for several years as a principal money-making project of the organization. The meals are planned to use foods produced in this area while they are in season.

Miss Masters Of Hollis Is Bride Of Pete Plank

The marriage of Miss Jo Meda Masters of Hollis, Okla., and Eugene E. (Pete) Plank was solemnized in First Baptist Church of Hollis in a candle-light ceremony Saturday evening.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Charley W. Masters of Hollis, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Plank of Hereford and Monte Vista, Colo. The bride has resided in Hereford as a public school faculty member.

The Rev. Robert Cargill, pastor of the church, conducted the double ring vows before a leafy arch holding branched candelabra with pink tapers. Other candles burned in floor candelabra arranged with baskets of pink mums.

Clustered wedding-bells, pink candles and palms marked the aisle where Miss Masters was escorted to the altar by her father.

They were preceded by Mrs. Ray James of Amarillo, matron of honor, Mrs. Wayne Matthews of Ranger, Mrs. Robert Garrett of Las Cruces, N. M., and Miss Ann Warwick of Canyon, bridesmaids.

Dick Plank of Monte Vista was his brother's best man.

Groomsmen were Jody Bezer of Texline, Bill Moore of Dalhart and John Loehr of Friona.

Cousins of the bride, Misses Judy Jones of Medford, Okla. and Connie Lynn Osborn of Mangum, Okla., lighted the candles. The bridegroom's niece, Beth Moore, was flower girl and his nephew, Davy Moore, the ring bearer.

As guests were seated Mrs. Clyde Osborn played a prelude of wedding music. She accompanied Miss Terry Treadway of Hollis in vocal solos and Miss Judy Jones in reading the sonnet, How Do I Love Thee?

Miss Masters' gown was of silk organza over peau de sole in sheath design with batteau neckline. Baroque Venice lace was applied on the fitted bodice and Kabuki sleeves, and as accents on the skirt front and the detachable train.

Puffed silk illusion formed her short veil, held in place by peau de sole flowers detailed with seed pearls and crystals. She carried white orchids with a cascade of carnations on a bridal Bible.

Mauve silk made the attendants' dresses, cut on slim lines floor length. Hats of the same material were banded with roses in shades of pink and circles of tulle veiling. Their flowers were cascades of pale pink pompom mums.

The bride's mother was dressed in blue and Mrs. Earl Plank in willow green, each with matching accessories.

At the reception in the church fellowship hall, Mrs. Phillip Shook of Hereford and Mrs. Bill Moore of Dalhart served cake and punch from opposite ends of a table covered with organdy over satin, with pink-shaded ribbon scrolls.

White carnations were twined around a pair of silver candelabra in the center. Pink and white sugar flowers decorated the colonnade cake.

Piano music during the reception was by Mrs. Bobby Faulks.

Mrs. Dale Cary of Lubbock registered guests at the church and reception.

Mrs. Plank changed to a deep pink sheath with matching accessories for the wedding trip to Colorado. She wore the orchids from her bouquet as a corsage.

The couple will make a home west of Hereford where the bridegroom is engaged in farming and ranching. Mrs. Plank will teach in La Plata Junior High School.

EVANGELISM REFORM

BALTIMORE (AP) — Distributed by what was termed a "crisis in evangelism" that has resulted from "our complacent domestication of a faith that once was full of wild adventure," the Methodist Board of Evangelism has started revamping its operations.

Its aim, in the face of a steadily declining proportion of Christians in relation to population growth, is a "revolution of understanding and commitment" in reaching those outside the church.

Glad's Garden

NOTE: The last three articles have dealt with the gardener, in the morn, hi-noon, and night time. The next seven will take us through the week, day by day.

I am a strong believer in doing things orderly and consistently. Therefore the following articles will be for a week of gardening. The good book admonishes us to do every thing in decency and order.

SUNDAY

The Sabbath day was created for man, that he might have rest from his labors. It should be, if properly observed a day of rest, worship and gladness.

One of the first things I do on Sunday morning is to open my windows and greet the new day, then I look into my neighbors garden to enjoy the beauty of it, and to see what is in full bloom and to make a guess as to what she has chosen to take to church. My neighbor, Mrs. R. W. Mitchell arranges flowers for the altar at the Westway Baptist church, and many of her choicest flowers have been used for this service.

The art of arranging church flowers is a God given talent and those who perform this ministry, truly shares in a mission of love and beauty.

The matter of the use of flowers in the church is an old custom. The Chinese probably were the instigator of this as they were the first to place cut flowers in containers, with water to preserve them. Cut flowers, garlands, sprays and palms were used to pay homage to Jesus, and to express adoration and love.

I remember when I was a child and would accompany my father, who was a minister; often the women of his church would bring their flowers to church. Many of them would use the Mason fruit jars to put their flowers in. There was no symmetry or design in their placement of them, but there was beauty in the act and the flowers. They also added their bit to the worship service.

On Children's Day, which was observed annually, usually in the month of June when the wild flowers were in full bloom, the women and the children would go into the meadows and woods and bring the flowers in abundance to decorate lavishly for the programs, which were rendered in the country churches. All of this created a memory which I have cherished throughout the years, and implanted in my being a love for flowers, and a just appreciation of nature. For this I am grateful, because it has enriched my life, and always I have loved the church.

The simple little "church in the wildwoods," the stately white columned church of the towns or the vaulted cathedrals of the cities are all inseparably linked with our daily lives, indeed they are woven into the very fabric of this nation. This was abundantly proven during war times when the brave spires of small chapels lifted above rows of bleak barracks at our training camps, or where lumbering trucks, bearing simple altars and small organs, rumbled up behind the lines of battle.

For a number of years, flowers have been appearing more often in the churches. During this last generation, there has grown up a tremendous interest in the growing and arranging of flowers. Much of this interest can be attributed to the Garden Clubs. They have been very zealous in the promotion of the art of flower arranging, and have contributed much of this art to the development of proper and effective flower arranging for the churches.

As the practice of arranging flowers has become more general, so has the consciousness of any violation of these principles of design, which are used in the art of flower arranging. For that reason, any accessory to the church service which is as prominent as are the flowers, should be so pleasing, so suitable, and yet so subordinate to the ministers who lead in the worship service. All should blend with the music and become background for the sermon. If ever an arrangement is to be good, it should certainly be on Sunday morning when all eyes in the church are fixed upon it.

A poor arrangement can distract as much attention as a crying child or a noisy neighbor. Great care should be exercised in the matter of the arrangement which is used at the altar; just because an arrangement has been pretty, when used for a dinner table or a tea, or any other occasion, is not proof that it will be suitable for church use. If a flower arrangement is not good, do NOT use it; better to have nothing; than to have something that does not portray beauty, simplicity, and art.

It is my earnest desire to give credit to and commend all those who have a part on this ministry, and to share information and/or suggestions which might make their service more meaningful and enjoyable. This is a matter of co-operation; every church whether large or small should have a person or persons, appointed and approved by the church body to be responsible for the church flowers. The person, if a small church, or the committee chairman if a large church should be one who loves the church and desires to render service to its program; one who likes flowers and has a just appreciation of nature; one who is a leader yet is tactful, understanding and schooled in the principles of flower arranging. A grower of flowers, and knows how to gather, groom, and preserve them. And last but not least she should know and love the scriptures.

In turn this person should have the cooperation of the pastor and the church officers. It would be well to have this item included in the budget, so that the necessary equipment can be furnished for the flower chairman or committee. By and through this dual arrangement a proper appreciation of the use of flowers in the church will be stimulated in the membership. Some of the things which are very important in this phase of church worship are:

1. Selection of containers in which the flowers are to be arranged. They should be in keeping with architecture of the church building. Any container which is closely associated with pagan celebration or with any religion which is foreign to the customs and beliefs of our ecclesiastical way of life is not good. Great care and thought should be used in the selection of the containers.

2. Mechanics, used in the arranging of flowers, should be adequate to control the floral materials so that the stability of the arrangement is assured.

3. Placement of flowers is paramount. One principle which must always be observed. No arrangements of flowers, containers, candle stands, pedestals, garlands, potted plants, or floral materials whatever may be placed where they will interfere with, any portion of the service, obstruct the view of anyone of the congregation, or hamper the free movement of the people in the church at any time.

For placement height and breadth must be carefully studied. To achieve this, one should study the general character of the edifice, the pulpit or stands, the play of sunlight and shadow, the absorption of color by shadow or artificial light, the effect upon the individual of spots of cheerful color or effectiveness.

4. Kinds of materials for use: first consideration in their selection is whether the auditorium is small or large. Where distances are considerable and perspective narrow, it is necessary to use very large, bold flower shapes and forms. Also advancing colors. In a darker interior, all receding colors will lose strength or fade out entirely.

If the church interior is white or pastel in color and there is plenty of untinted light, retreating colors that would be lost in a brown or grey interior can be used successfully.

In the use of informal materials such as flaming autumn leaves, dried grasses, etc., restraint must be used.

5. Designs: mass arrangements are the most popular. Paired arrangements, if a cross is featured are good. Their design can be either vertical, or asymmetrical; in either, care must be exercised in the height of the floral material in reference to the placement near the cross. The cross must always be accented. A graduation of materials, is one of the means in accomplishing this, both in size and scale.

6. Color: mention of color has been made several times, but again we want to place emphasis upon it. The arranger should study color harmonies and use the utmost care, in the development of color in the design. Color is such a part of our lives, and great is its effect upon us. These notes of color can play upon the congregation exactly as do the full throaty bass or the tripping grace notes of the great organ.

7. The arranger should confer with the minister, learn from him the Text for the sermon, the scripture selection, and then try to correlate the arrangement with these.

There will be special occasions, such as Easter, Christmas, Thanksgiving and others, when the flower arrangements will be highlighted.

Another possibility for church flowers is when members arrange for memorial flowers for the church services. The flower committee should keep this in mind, because many of the members would be glad to so share.

All of the above suggestions are workable and practical but they represent ideal conditions. There will be times, however, when none of the desired flowers are to be had, and a resourceful committee will find it very difficult to find something distinctive. At such a time, it should be remembered that if an arrangement is in harmony with the architecture of the church, blends with the music and service, and is tastefully put together, it is all right — the rest is personality, the personality of a person who is rendering a mission of love and service.

HAVE YOU SEEN: 1. The French marigolds at the Dr. Hicks home, 105 Douglas. To the passer by they are reminding of beautiful yellow butterflies.

2. The pretty smoke tree, on the east side at the KPAN station.

3. The spot lighting, at night, on the ornamental cane, at the Lone Star Insurance Building, 601 N. Main.

4. The beautifully cared for lawn and garden at the home of Mrs. Obe Roberson, 128 Centre.

REMINDEES: Don't let up on your spraying and dusting for the garden enemies. They seem to be endless, and one spraying will not control them. In the preparation of the sprays, read directions carefully and avoid spraying or dusting in the heat of the day. Give thought to edible plants, and or any other things you might not want contaminated.

mind, because many of the members would be glad to so share.

of-the-valley atop a white Bible.

Miss Roberts was dressed in a similarly-styled frock of sapphire blue.

A reception in the Terry home followed the wedding. Mrs. J. B. Hughes served the triple-tiered cake, topped with bride-and-groom figurines and ornamented with blue flowers, while Miss Jan Edwards ladled punch.

Blue stock and white gladiolus centered the white satin and net tablecloth.

Mrs. Edwards is a graduate of Friona High School and presently is enrolled in an Amarillo business college. Edwards, employed in Amarillo, attended Eastern New Mexico University and Amarillo College after graduation from Hereford High School.

C. W. Edwards And Bride Are Living In Amarillo

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Wayne Edwards are at home in Amarillo after a honeymoon trip to Carlsbad and other New Mexico cities. They were married in Friona in an evening ceremony August 5. Mrs. Edwards is the former Miss Karen Kay Hughes.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Hughes of Friona and Edwards is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Edwards of Hereford. They exchanged wedding vows in the home of her sister, Mrs. J. D. Terry, with the Rev. Bill Burton, Baptist minister, conducting the ceremony.

Only attendants for the simple home service were Miss Mary Ann Roberts, maid of honor, and Milton Meharg, best man. The wedding party stood before massed foliage arranged against a white background, with brass urns holding white gladiolus on either side.

The pretty blonde bride wore a street length dress of white lace over taffeta in empire style with fitted sleeves pointed at the wrists. Her veil fell from a sequined pillbox hat. She carried a white orchid and lilies.

Keep close watch for crab grass, in lawn; if you missed earlier treatments, treat now.

With this quip, I'll sign off "Old Gardeners never die, they just SPADE away."

MADAM PRESIDENT . . .

Mrs. Bradly Leads Club Into 50th Anniversary

For the president of Hereford's Music Study Club, music is a profession, a hobby and a pleasure, as it has been since she began learning to play the saxophone in an elementary school band when she was a second grader.

Mrs. Bill Bradly has been teaching piano and organ here since she received her B. S. degree in piano from West Texas State College in 1960, and she has been a member of the Music Study Club as long.

Her term as president is for two years, to end next spring. She will lead the club in observing its fiftieth anniversary during the 1966-67 season.

Mrs. Bradly was born Marcia Blue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Blue, at Canyon. The family moved here when she was a small child and she went through Hereford schools with music as a constant accompaniment to regular studies.

Shifting from saxophone to oboe, she played in the reed section of school bands until she was graduated, then in the WTSU band a year until that activity was crowded out by other demands of a piano major.

Study of piano began when she was in the seventh grade, and her first teacher was the late Mrs. Ina Seed. She has continued to study during her teaching career, returning to the Canyon campus for short sessions and refresher classes.

Her pupils range in age from beginners to adults; she finds more and more of the latter who wish to learn the organ, now that instrument is available for home use. Mrs. Bradly shares the duties of organist at First Methodist Church.

Married while she was still a college student to a son of pioneer Hereford families, Mrs. Bradly is the mother of three. Janet is 15 years old, Truitt 13 and Jeannine 9. They all play some instrument, says their mother, "in various stages."

For pastime Mrs. Bradly likes music — playing or listening — and reading. She is a member of Veleda Study Club.

With all this, she has time to assist her husband in his photography studio part of each day.

THE LONG, LONG TRAIL
In the combined autobiography and history, The Long, Long Trail by Virginia Weisel Johnson is a story of the little-read-about state of Montana. With a rare personal approach the author presents many facts in an interesting manner about her state.

Mrs. Johnson is a pioneer of Montana and she knows her background well, being third generation descendant of an early-day family. Her mother had come to the state by wagon train while a babe in arms.

The grandmother brought eastern culture with her and passed it on to the daughter and they both lived it at all times in spite of any circumstances. Mrs. Johnson and her two brothers blended this inherited culture with the new ways of the west.

The mother was a beautiful woman, with education and a love of beauty. The restless father gave the children the love of adventure and dreams.

In her history of Montana she describes in turn the many factors which helped develop the state. Among these were, the Indians — then and now, the fur traders, the pioneers, miners, and prospectors, the lumbermen, the cowboy, the farmer and lastly, today's developers.

She believes the last named, developers, are erasing the beauties of nature and the state's natural resources. In the book she makes a plea to the people of Montana, the state, and federal government to save some of the beauty, hunting, fishing and the state's remaining heritage.

Mrs. Johnson weaves her own family, including her grandparents, parents, herself, husband and children into the story in a very satisfying manner.

Another book with a western background, full of history and local customs covering about the same period was recommended to us and we refer it to you. It is With a Pinch of Sin, by Harry J. Boyle and tells of "the good old days" as the author considers them.

Carmen Betzen, Ernest D. Flood Wed At Church

Miss Carmen Betzen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Betzen, Route 4, became the bride of Ernest D. Flood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Flood, in a morning ceremony at St. Anthony's Catholic Church Thursday. Officiant was Brother Andre Avidano, S. A.

Giant white mums decorated the candle-lighted altar as the couple exchanged double ring vows.

Mrs. James T. Messer, sister of the bridegroom, was Miss Betzen's only attendant. Her brother, Tim Betzen, served as best man and the ushers were Darrell Flood and Jesse Cash. Wearing a gown she designed and made, the lovely bride was given in marriage by her father. Her dress was of white crepe with a roll collar and sleeves ending in wide cuffs just below the elbow.

A sleeveless shell of reem-broidered lace, scalloped around the edge, covered the bodice. The skirt hung straight to the floor.

Her layered illusion veil, made by her mother, was gathered to a headpiece of white silk petals embroidered in seed pearls. Upper layers covered her shoulders and the bottom layer extended full length and formed a slight train.

Her bouquet of white mums was arranged with a cascade of gladioli blossoms. The pearl earrings she wore were the bridegroom's gift.

The matron of honor wore an empire dress of heavenly blue and carried a single white mum.

Wedding music was by Mrs. Allen Evers, organist, and Miss Mary Betzen, vocal soloist. Selections were More, Ave Maria, Whither Thou Goest and The Lord's Prayer.

The Betzen home was the setting of the reception, at which Mrs. Jesse Cash cut the wedding cake and was assisted by Misses Grace Flood and Sandra Betzen in serving. The table was laid all in white, with lace over a linen cloth and the bridal bouquet in the center. Touches of blue decorated the cake.

Leaving afterward for a trip into New Mexico, Mrs. Flood wore a beige silk suit with olive and beige accessories. After August 15 the couple will be at home in Canyon.

Both will continue studies in West Texas State University. The bride is majoring in speech education and the bridegroom is a math major, a member of the Mary E. Hudspeth Honor Society. They are graduates of Hereford High School.

LUTHERAN HEADQUARTER
NEW YORK (AP) — National headquarters of the new Lutheran Council in the U. S. A. and offices of five other Lutheran groups are to be consolidated at one address here — 315 Park Ave. They will occupy three upper floors of the 20-story Remington Rand Building, beginning early next year.

Fall Wedding Planned

Invitations to the wedding of Miss Carolyn Beachle of Chicago and John Buck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Buck, 116 Ranger Drive, are being mailed by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Henry Beachle, Chicago, parents of the bride-elect.

The ceremony will be conducted in St. Cajetan Church, 11207 S. Artesian, Chicago, at 2:30 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 3. The couple plans a home at Austin.

Buck, who was graduated from Notre Dame University in the spring, is to enter the University of Texas Law School next month. He was a 1962 graduate of Hereford High School.

Miss Beachle is a visitor in Hereford this week, meeting her fiance's friends and being entertained before her marriage.

Editorials

Page Eight The Sunday Brand, Hereford, Texas, Sunday, Aug. 14, 1966

Cost Of Living Is Big Question

With an auto price rise of between $50 and $100 in the mill for future months, it seems that America is faced with another round of inflation — despite the clamp down on money, followed by increased interest rates. Looming food shortages are another factor which we can anticipate, thus creating other probable price boosts.

Car manufacturers no doubt will point to the recent small jump in steel prices but, in both cases, the basic causes of the increases can generally be attributed to higher labor costs, both from direct and indirect sources.

Instead of measuring how much we make each week in terms of money, we sooner or later must measure our wage in terms of purchasing power, or what that money will buy. When salaries and commodity prices rise, it is inevitable that the price tag on the things we buy must also rise to meet the increase. Consequently, these things go hand in hand. About the only way we can come out ahead is through mechanization and stream-lined production, and even these advantages are short term; if all of the workers are taken off the payroll, fewer and fewer purchasers will be left for the commodities we create.

However, measured in money or in purchasing power, the United States is still far ahead of every other nation in the world. For that matter, we are far ahead of any other known civilization when it comes to comforts, luxuries and commodities. These days our government feels that they have found a new economic theory through which they can control prosperity and eliminate depressions. Needless to say,

Need Seen For "Crowd Puller"

Hereford's C-C proposal to sponsor and promote at least two community projects strikes us as a step in the right direction.

The projects, as we understand them, will not necessarily be tied into local business, but will primarily provide entertainment and recreation for the public. A sort of "thank you" for patronage and past favors, if you please.

Especially of interest is the proposal to boost the annual Spanish Festival which has gone a long way without much help from the community. Most other towns are faced with similar festivals but, due to the sudden influx of Spanish speaking population, none seems to have offered much assistance to the group. Meanwhile, the Spanish population has become entrenched as a definite part of community life on the High Plains. In addition to swelling the population count and providing an important part of the retail purchase picture, this new segment has made a tremendous difference in the way all residents of the community live. Recognition is, without doubt, overdue.

Meanwhile, Hereford has a number of projects, but none of them are strictly "crowd pullers". What we need is something which will attract people from all over the Panhandle; a headline to which folks will look forward each year: something which will become synonymous with the community. It sounds as if the Chamber is on the right track, and it is most gratifying to see both Variety Park and Sugarland Mall people roll up their sleeves and work for mutual benefits. This is the way communities are strengthened, and why they continue to grow and prosper.

it is working to some extent, but what will happen when we do actually face a critical food shortage still remains to be seen. This is the thing, that bugs most of the world today, and it could most certainly revamp a lot of high-level thinking in this country when the time comes.

How it will turn out is definitely a matter that will be recorded in future history of the world.

The Mythology Of Good Government

The problems of local government cry out for hard-headed analysis, for a good deal of current thinking is clouded by myth and beset by paradox. Too often, though, even an elaborate attempt at analysis will accept the myths and ignore the meaning of the paradoxes.

So it happens, in large measure, with the recent report by the prestigious Committee for Economic Development. The committee's task force neatly outlines the fundamental paradox in local government, then wanders off into theorizing about democratic institutions.

The paradox starts from the fact that between 1952 and 1962 expenditures by local government rose 124%. Costs are growing rapidly not only in relation to population, but in relation to personal income. Yet as the report notes, "popular discontent with both quantity and quality of services rendered by the nation's 80,000 separate local governments is greater today than it was 10, 20, or 50 years ago."

The committee lays the blame, without any real supporting argument, on out-moded local institutions — "well designed, by and large, to meet the simpler needs of earlier times, they are poorly suited to cope with new burdens imposed on all governments by the complex conditions of modern life."

There follows a typical reformer's blueprint: Consolidate local governments to about a fifth of the current number, eliminate overlapping jurisdictions including independent school districts, elect only a few top officials, broaden civil service, give localities more power for home rule.

Now, many of these suggestions may be sound enough. But the report is not convincing because it seems to advance the suggestions from some abstract ideal, not from any examination of how they might work in the real world.

Consider, for example, how the lofty principle of home rule might have worked in New York's recent transit-fare crisis. A fare increase had long been a plain necessity, but the city was adamantly unwilling to implement one until it was forced to by the state legislature.

When the fare did go up, the city politicians who would be supreme under home rule cried that local taxes should be cut correspondingly. It was left to an up-state Republican leader to observe that a tax cut would be idiocy in the face of the city's needs.

Similarly, despite the nice aura surrounding the electoral process, does the CED really want all school boards to become involved in politics in the fashion of, say, Boston's? Is it really true that small communities are governed less effectively than our great metropolises? Is civil service always worth its price in entrenchment of a stubborn bureaucracy?

Honest men may differ in answering these questions, but any report which fails even to note them has not reached for the guts of local government. What the CED committee fails to recognize is that the institutions it would reform are more expressions than determinants of political reality. And it can be both naive and mischievous to link with those institutions unless one understands what they express.

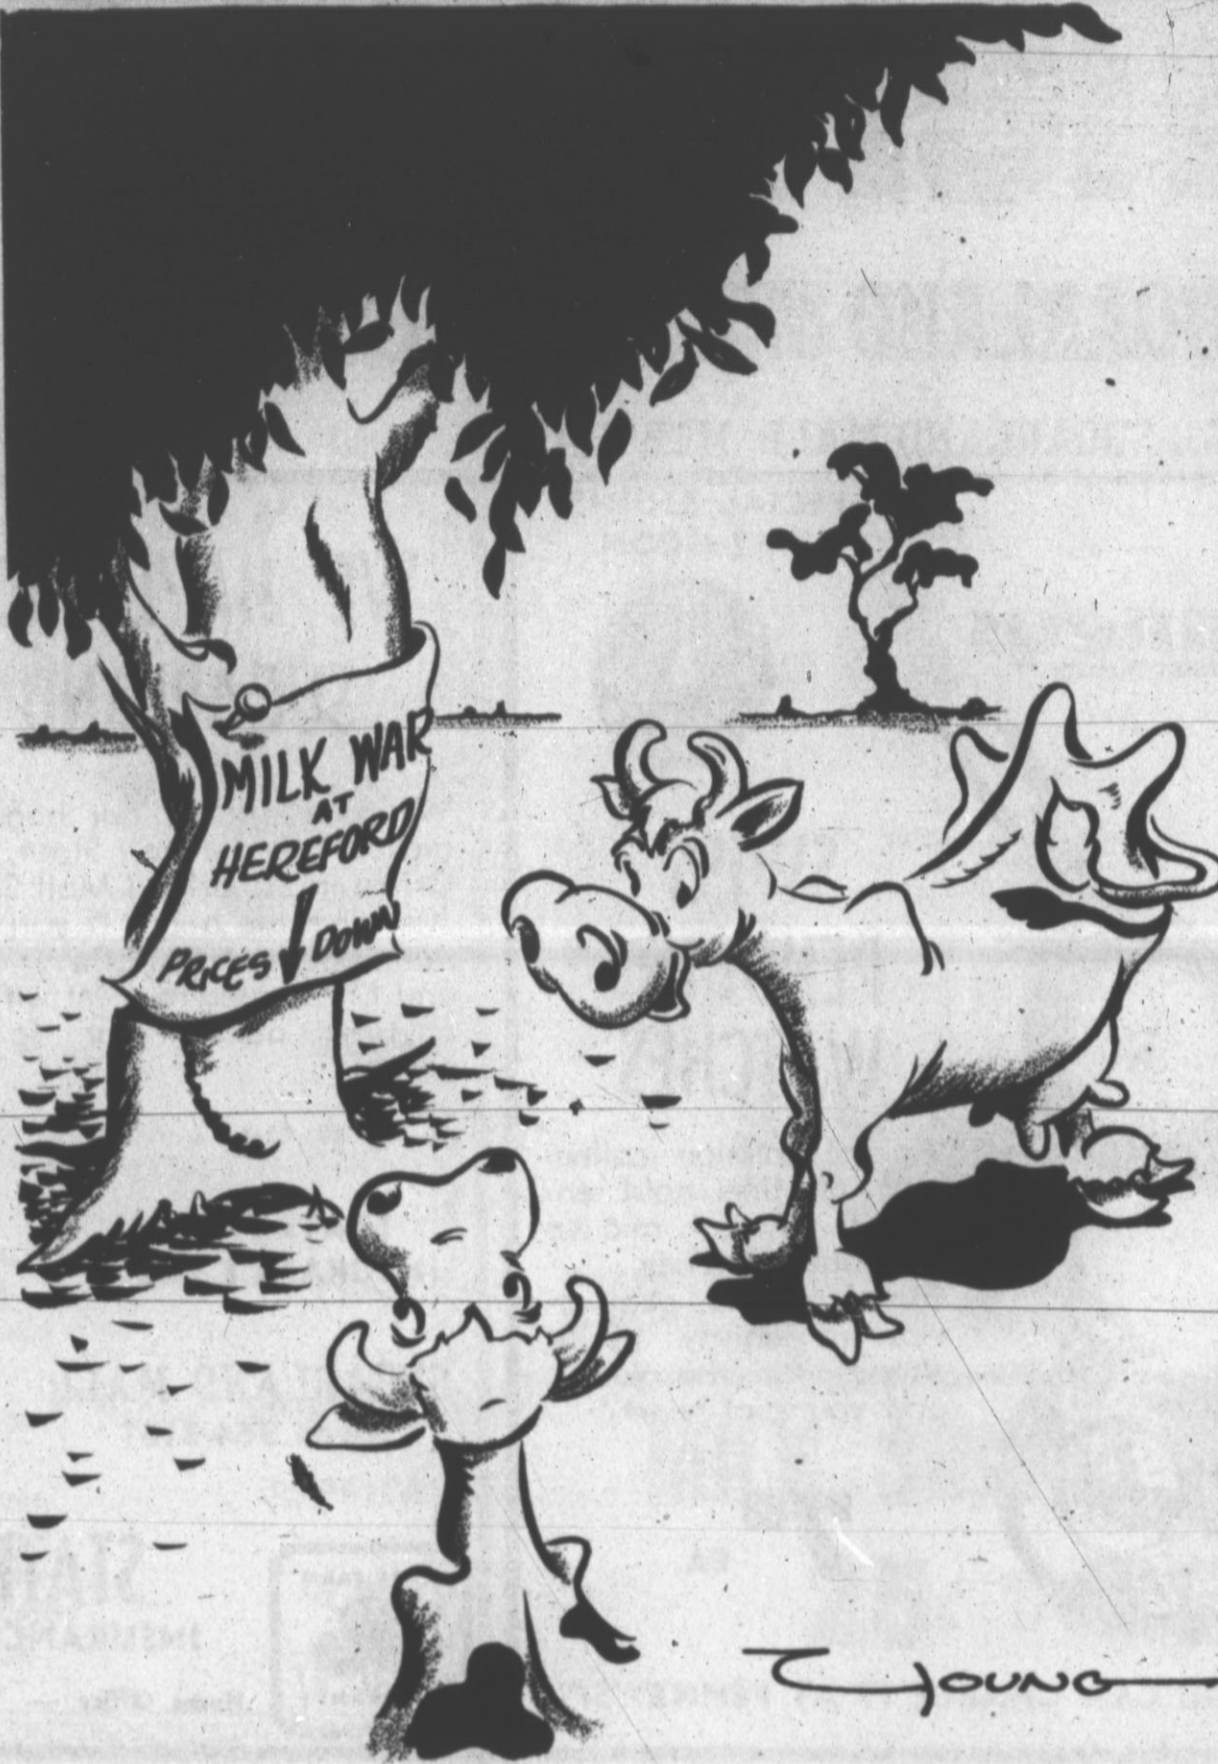

Municipal government is ineffective and wasteful not fundamentally because of out-moded institutions, but because of the underlying reality of group vote-buying. In many cities, especially the largest ones, politicians have discovered that by supplying this municipal sop to one group and that sop to another, they can garner enough votes to stop worrying about truly effective government. That condition will not be changed by bringing the institutions into neat order.

Perhaps the dominance of mercenary coalitions will eventually be broken by a growing tendency for American voters to seek some concept of the public interest. Unfortunately, however, this same tendency can be disruptive, for too many voters judge government not just as the CED committee does: Not by its actual results, but by how well it conforms to some theoretical ideal. Thus, just as in group coalition government, the goal is something other than effective government itself.

For the average voter, devotion to civic books maxims is an advance over pursuit of narrow self-interest. But that voter needs more penetrating guidance from intellectual leaders than mere repetition of the mythology of good government.

HOW 'BOUT THAT — GROWN PEOPLE FIGHTIN' OVER MILK

Inside WASHINGTON

MARCH OF EVENTS
By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Washington Writer

WASHINGTON—The political attack on alleged influence of large contributors to the Democratic Party treasury couldn't have come at a worse time for President Johnson. The President, feeling keenly his waning popularity, wants to do all he can to support Democratic candidates for Congress, and he, better than most government officials, is aware that this going to cost a lot of money.

President Johnson

—more problems

The President is convinced that his administration, and he personally, have an unusually large stake in this November's election outcome. He wants to minimize the loss of Democratic seats in the Senate and House as a means of retaining as much support as he can for his own legislative program in 1967 and 1968 when he himself will be openly campaigning for re-election to the White House.

The Republican charge that a large contributor to the Democratic Party had sufficient influence in Washington to head off an anti-trust action against a large corporation is most difficult to answer. For one thing, such charges fall on naturally receptive ears because of the innate public cynicism concerning the financing of politics and politicians.

Unfortunately for the party in political power, such contributions usually come from individuals in control of well-heeled corporations, many of which do a lot of business with the government. It is natural to assume that business types expect something in return for cash outlays.

There are reports circulating in Washington that these contributions, the backbone of the Democratic Party's financial operations, are falling off. Businessmen naturally shy away from possible adverse publicity that could be involved in their companies getting something from government after making a sizeable political contribution.

The Democrats' Congressional candidates could suffer from insufficient funds to finance their campaigns.

● COLORFUL WASHINGTON—The nation's capital always has been a colorful place, but it will be more so, and literally, in a few weeks. The projected program may, in fact, serve to further the current beautification program, but it isn't designed primarily for that purpose.

What's happening concerns the city's 6,000 parking meters. They're going to be color-coded. The metal pipe stems are being painted one of several colors to designate the length of parking time allowed. A blue meter will signify that parking time is limited to 20 minutes; aluminum will be for one hour; and if you're fortunate enough to find a green one you can park for up to two hours.

Some of the meters have been standing on the city's streets for 15 to 20 years and have begun to show signs of rust. The painting project will help here, too.

We can't help but wonder, however, whether diplomats and congressmen will pay any more attention to the pretty meters than they have to the drab ones which they so blithely ignore.

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Bindweed farm has been reading the international news, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:
According to an article I read last night in a newspaper which fell out from under a tricycle a tourist coming by here had tied on top of his car, I guess the paper was there to keep the point of getting scratched but it's hard for me to explain the tricycle, the United States has just sold India about two million tons of grain and the terms are so interesting I'd like to get in on a similar deal.

As the article explained, India is paying for the grain, all right, but not in American dollars. It's paying in rupees. And the rupees will be kept in India to promote education.

Can you tell me if such a deal is available in this country? And where do you apply? While I don't have much use for grain, at least by itself, you know the government would include some hogs to go with it, or some steers, or something.

Naturally I don't have any rupees, but that's just a technicality, me and the government can get around that. For example, in lieu of rupees, why couldn't I give the government a check, with the understanding it would never be cashed? Then I could take the financial gains made from never having the check reach the bank and promote education out here on this bindweed farm, and I believe I could easily prove there's a field for it.

As for the type of education, me and India probably see eye to eye on that. For example, you won't catch either one of us promoting agricultural education. In India, farming with a tractor instead of a walking plow will have to wait till they get a nuclear bomb going, and out here farming with anything will have to wait till I'm through resting. It's not quite the same but it produces about the same amount of food.

I am thinking of renewing my subscription to The Brand. How many rupees will it take,
Yours faithfully,
J. A.

The 32-year-old question of the status of beer in Precinct No. 2 was finally answered at the polls Tuesday as voters in Whiteface and Lehman unquestionably rejected a bid by "wets" to legalize off-premise sales.

The final vote showed 194 votes against the beer sales and 61 votes for them.

Whiteface residents turned out against the sales 178 to 59 while Lehman voters turned down the beer 16-2.

Late afternoon thundershowers Sunday sent boaters, campers and other Lake Meredith visitors scurrying for cover. Wind and rain also hit the lake area Saturday resulting in an overall reduction in lake attendance for the weekend.

Total visitors for the two-day weekend was 11,928 persons. National Park Service officials say precipitation has raised depth at the dam to 70.06 feet, an all time record. Runoff water is expected to increase the depth even more.

MAIN STREET, USA

Economic Stimulus Goes To Work In Poverty War

By BERT MILLS

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Credit risks no bank could ever consider are being willingly assumed by the Federal government as part of the war on poverty in rural America, sometimes with surprising results.

Consider the case of Leon Jones, 34, married and the father of one child, who lives in Dyer County, Tenn. He operated a small automobile repair business which earned only $2,200 in 1964. Then along came the Economic Opportunity Rural Loan Program, carried out locally through 1,600 field offices of the Farmers Home Administration, an agency of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Countless arms of the government are involved in the poverty program in one way or another. Sargent Shriver's Office of Economic Opportunity has general responsibility but gets a lot of help from such agencies as Farmers Home Administration.

Last year this agency loaned Jones $2,100, or almost as much as he earned the year before. The loan was to be repaid in 10 years, at 4 1/8 percent interest — terms no commercial bank could offer.

IN HIS LOAN application, Jones estimated he would more than double his income the first year, earning $4,800. Less than a year later, he had taken in $6,500 and repaid his first year's principal plus interest before the due date. He also hired an employee.

Jones has an eighth grade education. He rented an old house for $40 a month. Farmers Home Administration is so enthused about his prospects for forsaking poverty that a second loan of $5,000 has been approved to enable him to buy and improve a house in the community.

PRINCIPAL and interest on this loan will cost him only $33 a month — again terms no bank could meet. At a saving of $7 per month, he and his family will be better housed and have an equity in property.

Garageman Jones is only one of 23,000 rural recipients of Economic Opportunity loans last year. All told, Farmers Home Administration advanced $44.5 million to combat poverty in agricultural areas. Some went to impoverished farmers to allow them to improve their operations, and some to finance formation of cooperatives.

Although the amounts are relatively small as government programs go, a lot of people are involved. For example, in the 13-month period ended January 31, 1966 there were 827 loans to West Virginia residents alone, 745 to Tennessee, and 585 to New Mexico.

The West Virginia summary shows 434 loans to farmers for agricultural purposes, 60 to farmers for non-agricultural sidelines ranging from television repair to rug weaving, and 333 to rural residents engaged in a variety of small businesses. In each of the three classes, the average loan was under $2,000.

UP TO NOW the record seems to indicate that poor credit risks, by commercial standards, do repay their loans. In 1965, the average borrower under this program repaid the U. S. 8 percent more than was due. Many of the recipients were on public welfare before being granted a loan.

Another case history: Jack E. Bolen, 39, was a West Virginia coal miner who earned up to $4,000 a year until the mines were closed in 1964. After that, he did odd jobs and received welfare payments to support his wife and six children in Ury, Raleigh County, W. Va. Total income for the 12 months before an EO loan was granted was $2,400.

Bolen was retrained as a hand-drafter under a program of the West Virginia Department of Commerce. He developed a unique specialty — a figurine of a coal miner, made from coal dust and plastic. He made and sold at fairs and shows, 450 of them, grossing $1,350.

Hereford Schools Note Increased Enrollment

Hereford will have approximately 2,500 students enrolled in grades one through 12 by Tuesday morning, when school begins.

Hereford Whiteface cheerleaders open workouts this week in preparation for the coming football season. They are Almona Ritchie, Mary Lou McCullough, Sue Kirby and Clydene Allred.

With drought continuing to grip pastures in this area, Deaf Smith County was designated Monday under the Hay and Roughage Program for Texas according to Walter T. McKay, state director of the Farmers Home Administration.

Work is scheduled to begin this week on the new Hereford Credit Union building, 314 Schley, according to announcement made Tuesday by R. L. Thompson, president, and Dyalthia Benson, manager.

County Commissioners Court on Monday outlined preliminary steps in construction of the agricultural exhibit building, okayed closing of the County Library for Christmas Holidays, and received a report from Home Demonstration Club leaders of Precinct three.

The foundation for Hereford's first "Quarterback Club" was laid here Saturday afternoon, as eleven men met in the Chamber of Commerce building to discuss the possibilities of such a club.

Plans were laid for a county wide organization to oppose legalized sale of alcoholic beverages in Deaf Smith County.

What is probably the earliest grain sorghum harvest in history got underway Saturday in the Hereford area when Richard Drager delivered a load of hegari to Hereford Grain Co.

FOR HEREFORD COED

Year In Europe Ends

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Spain's third largest city is as familiar as her hometown to Kay Seamands, the Hereford coed says after spending almost a year attending the University of Valencia, living in the home of a Valencian family and frequenting the city's streets, shops, theaters, churches and historic spots.

MISS SEAMANDS returned last week from her year abroad and is preparing to leave late this month to be a student in Loretto Heights, Denver, in the coming term.

After the close of the university term June 1 she and two other American girls made a rail tour of European countries including France, Italy, Switzerland and England before the homeward trip.

"My favorite country in Europe is Switzerland," she says after her tour, "because of the beauty of its mountain scenery; wherever you look in Switzerland the view is magnificent! Innsbruck, Austria, is my favorite city — and it's in the mountains, too."

"FOOD IS BEST in France, but for favorite people I'll take the Spanish, who are so gracious and courteous."

She became well acquainted with some of the residents of Valencia, living in the home of a family which had four daughters in their early 20's.

As one of 30 students from the United States, she entered the university with a group enrolled through the University of San Francisco. They lived in Spanish homes, two students to a home.

Since their primary purpose was to learn the language, their hosts were non-English-speaking residents. Their university studies, too, were all related to language, comprising literature, history, phonetics and composition.

Miss Seamands had studied two years of high school and two years of college Spanish, but admits that "I started all over" when she actually began to speak the language.

SHE DID LEARN to speak it fluently because all classes were conducted in Spanish and it was required in her contacts with the family where she lived.

Classes for the American students were scheduled in the mornings, and their afternoons were free. The Hereford girl explored the city and made many acquaintances among its residents.

She attended plays, concerts and the bullfights, seeing some of the most famous matadors exhibit their skill in the ring.

Taking advantage of opportunities for travel to other parts of Spain, she visited almost every section of the nation during her year. Her parents, the Owen Seamands, and brother visited her during the Christmas holidays and she joined them in travel over Spain, in Portugal and Italy.

SITUATED ON the Mediterranean coast in the southern half of Spain, Valencia is noted as the center of a region where oranges and other semi-tropical plants are grown, but Miss Seamands found it quite chilly in winter. Although the temperature did not fall to the freezing point, the damp chill was sharp, especially when the wind blew, she says.

"It took time to become accustomed to the food," the poised student says, "but I liked it after a while. They eat a lot of fish there, rather than meat, with rice, potatoes or bread. And there is plenty of fresh fruit, very delicious."

Miss Seamands went to Spain last fall in time for the beginning of the university term Oct. 1.

The State Department of Commerce, which trained him in the first place, ordered 1,200 paper weights, molded into a miniature fascimile of the state.

A $2,500 10-year E.O. loan provided the wherewithal to buy tools, materials and a used truck. At the time the loan was made, the Bolen family had assets of only $250 and debts of $815. Yet the first $235 of the loan was repaid ahead of schedule. Bolen is also taking courses to complete his high school education. His income this year is expected to reach $5,500.

TOWARDS VIOLENT CRIME

Attorney General Carr Calls For 'New Attitude' In Enforcement

Attorney General Waggoner Carr has called for a "new attitude" towards violent crime in Texas and our nation. He has called for the formation of a special Citizens' Committee to recommend changes in the Texas Code of Criminal Procedure and the Texas Penal Code.

Carr said that he would recommend to Governor Connally that the committee be formed immediately and prepare recommendations for the State Legislature which convenes after January 1st.

"THERE IS A DEEP, intense feeling across our state against violent crime. The people of Texas are becoming increasingly angry at senseless killings," he stated.

Carr made the announcement from Washington, D. C. where he is attending conferences at the White House, Department of Agriculture, Department of Defense, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and the Department of Interior.

Carr added that he would appear before a special House Interim Committee on Revisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure.

"WE MUST begin a new program of toughness against persons that commit violent crimes. We must emphasize the rights of the innocent and law-abiding instead of over-emphasizing the rights of the admitted criminal," Carr said.

Carr's request for a Citizens' Committee was prompted by the Charles Whitman mass sniper slaying in Austin and the murder of a nightwatchman by a teenager in West Texas followed by the triple murder of the three teenagers in Fort Worth.

Attorney General Carr said he would see Governor Connally Thursday to outline his proposals for a study committee on crime. He also announced that the Attorney General's office would be made available as a clearing house for all suggestions for crime prevention or cure for responsible citizens.

Carr indicated that his recommendations to the House committee would include: stiffer penalties for crimes of violence, whether a weapon is used or not; more clearly defined legislation on carrying arms in public; broader and heavier penalties for commission of sex crimes; and more effective insulation for society from those who use insanity as a defense, in order that repetition of crimes by those persons be avoided.

AN INTENSIFIED program of education to the public will be a key recommendation also. Carr noted that the general public must be made more aware of its responsibility in matters of crime, and that all citizens must be educated to have more respect for all officers, courts and prosecutors.

Relatives Attend Clovis Reunion

Relatives from Hereford attended a Bryant family reunion last weekend at Clovis, N. M., featured by a picnic in the city park. The 74th birthday of A. J. Bryant of Clovis and birthdays of two of his grandsons were celebrated.

Mrs. W. H. Awtrey Sr. of Hereford was accompanied to the reunion by her son, W. H. Awtrey Jr. of Ulysses, Kan., and his family, who visited her until Thursday.

Others at the reunion were Mrs. Gerald Bryant, two sons and a daughter, of Anchorage, Alaska, who are visiting her mother at Clovis and other relatives; Mr. and Mrs. Duane Bryant and two sons of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Ward and granddaughter of Portales, the Glen Bryant family of Grady, Alec Thomas family of Clovis, Mr. and Mrs. Deon Awtrey of Friona.

While Lohman Lookingbill is visiting here from New York City, others in the family have gathered in from nearer-by locations for a weekend reunion.

THEY WERE entertained with a cookout at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Sr. last evening, and are to have a day of visiting and dinner in the Knights of Columbus Hall today.

The John Winkler family, accompanied by Dwight Lyman, of Baton Rouge, La., are house guests of the L. H. Lookingbills; Mrs. Winkler is their daughter.

Also here are the Frank Lookingbills of Duncan, Okla.; the John L. Lookingbill family of Oklahoma City, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lookingbill of Amarillo, Effie Crow of San Angelo, and the Harry Lookingbill family of Friona.

Add to those the L. B. Lookingbills of Summerfield and the family of L. H. Lookingbill Jr., and there is quite a crowd. The L. H. Lookingbills, junior and senior, and the visitors from Louisiana plan to leave Monday for a vacation in Colorado.

A WEEKEND OF sightseeing and visiting which was "one of the best trips we ever took" was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Fullwood, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Keith a week ago. They went to Los Alamos, N. M., to visit the Fullwoods' son, Ralph, his wife and children, Mary, Bobby and Teddy.

Mountain views in that area are splendid, Mrs. Fullwood says, and the man-made installations are very impressive.

Ralph Fullwood is working this summer for the Atomic Energy Commission at the government plant at Los Alamos. The family will return the last of this month to their home in Troy, N. Y., where he teaches in Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. They plan to stop for a visit in Hereford.

VISITORS IN THE Bruce Plummer home the past week were Lt. Col. and Mrs. W. R. Manning and their daughters, Kim and Lisa. Col. Manning was on his way to an assignment in Washington, D. C., after four years in Japan.

Mrs. Manning is the former Helen Plummer.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Francis and son, Steve, of Clovis came to be with the family in a get-together in the home of Vondell and Ben R. Plummer.

A GUILTY CONSCIENCE can make you see things that aren't really there, some smarter writer said in much fancier words a long time ago, and it's still true.

After a picture of an unsightly alley in a Hereford residential section was published lately, two or three people sheepishly remarked that they were sorry the photographer caught their garbage can with the lid off, and they knew it was their alley because of the location of the utility pole.

As a matter of fact, it wasn't the alley at any of those people's homes. But it wasn't an uncommon-looking scene and it could be claimed by people in many parts of town, if the utility pole is valid evidence.

Hope everybody with an untidy garbage can near a utility pole in an alley, thought it was theirs and went out to improve the situation.

GUESTS OF Mrs. Edna Bove at Westgate Hospital have been Mr. and Mrs. Burrell Park of San Saba and their daughter, Mrs. Tom Holcomb, with her children from Highlands. Park is Mrs. Bove's brother.

TEXAS PROMOTION

Brochure Cites Tourist Spots

AUSTIN — The immense variety of Texas pleasure travel is portrayed in an entirely new edition of the popular travel brochure, "Texas" — America's Fun-tier, released by the Texas Highway Department.

The 32-page color brochure incorporates maps, photographs and art work in a glossy, magazine-style format. It provides the traveler with a short, vivid course in Texas geography, splashed with colorful pictorial glimpses of things to see and do in the "Friendship State."

So vast is Texas, the new brochure divides the state into six recreational regions, focusing on attractions which are depicted by caricature maps, drawings and photos. Designed to give equal representation to all parts of the state, the new publication illustrates a cross section of Texas vacation variety. Historical, amusement and recreational features are portrayed in each section, outlining a brand of fun for everyone.

ALSO INCLUDED are informational sections on hunting and other tourist services provided by the Texas Highway Department.

Nearly a million free copies of an earlier edition have been distributed since its introduction some three years ago. Demand for the new publication is expected to be even larger.

The new brochure joins other pieces of travel-oriented literature which are now being distributed by the Highway Department. More than three million pieces are annually provided free to Texas travelers.

Supplemental literature includes the official state highway map, Texas Calendar of Events, State Capitol Guide, Texas Facts Sheet, State Parks Guide and an invitation to visit highway department tourist bureaus.

Those tourist bureaus — seasonal reunion of Wilbarger-Ford-Hardeman County ex-residents, held each year on the first Sunday in August.

NITA WEST of Pampa, who formerly lived in Hereford, is spending a couple of weeks here visiting Mary Renfro in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Renfro.

ven located at major highway entrances to the state, and one in the State Capitol rotunda — serviced more than 750,000 travelers last year. Visitors were provided free maps, literature, travel tips, and encouragement to stay a while longer in Texas. A ninth tourist bureau is under construction in Amarillo.

Additional travel services were rendered in reply to more other highway department travel than 24,000 mail inquiries handled by the highway department last year.

Augmenting literature supplied directly to travelers are other highway department travel promotion efforts, such as colorful travel posters displayed at convention sites, and a half-hour motion picture released less than a year ago. A Spanish language version of that popular travelogue is now circulating in Mexico, while French and German versions are in production.

SUCH TRAVEL promotion efforts were instrumental in attracting many of the record 1.7 million out-of-state visitors who toured Texas by car during 1965. Those automobile visitors spent more than $613 million while in the Lone Star State.

Ranks Filling For Teacher Positions

Sixteen teachers were elected to fill positions in Hereford Public Schools at a recent meeting of the school board. Thirteen of them are newcomers to Hereford and eleven of these have had previous teaching experience.

School will receive only one of these new teachers. She is Miss Mary Frances Davis of Sweetwater. She has attended Baylor University and was graduated from Sam Houston State College with a BS degree in 1964. She has taught 6th, 7th and 8th grades at Roscoe Elementary School. CENTRAL drew two of the new employees. They are Miss Charlotte Smith and Miss Scherry Jean Sanders. Miss Smith received a BS degree in elementary education from Texas Women's University last spring. Miss Sanders has taught 2nd and 4th grades in Mineral Wells and Spur respectively. She holds a BS degree from North Texas State University.

LaPlata will have two of the new teachers in their special education department and Stanton will get one. Mrs. Ruth Robertson and Gene Brock will work together at LaPlata while Jeff Smart will be assigned to Stanton. Mrs. Robertson has a BA degree and 28 years of teaching experience. Brock attended Hardin-Simmons University, receiving a BS degree in 1956. Since that time he has taught in McCauley, Oklaunion and Springlake and taken additional schooling at Texas Technological College, Midwestern University, and West Texas State University. Smart has taught in Springer and Clayton, New Mexico, and Hart, Texas.

STANTON WILL also have Steve Thomas and J. Stanley Johnson on its teaching staff. Thomas has a BA degree in industrial arts from West Texas State University, having also attended Amarillo College and Texas Western College. Johnson, who taught 9th grade at Sweetwater last year, will teach 8th grade. He has a BS degree from Sam Houston State College.

Three of the newly elected teachers have been assigned to Hereford High School. Jack Waggoner will act as coach. Mrs. Lorean Hart will teach English and Robert Renfro will be teaching English and speech. Waggoner has a BS from Sul Ross State College with a major in social studies. He has taught in Eden and DeLeon schools. Mrs. Hart has been teaching for seven years. Renfro holds a BA de-

CARE Packages To Include Meat

CARE will mark the coming New Year with a new kind of food package for Israel.

Containing fresh frozen meats, it represents an advance in CARE's service that is the first of its type undertaken by a private nonprofit agency, Southwest Director, Frank J. Phillips said.

THE INITIAL shipment arrived August 1 at Haifa on a freighter equipped with a freezer plant and has been stored in freezers set up at CARE distribution points in Haifa, Jerusalem and Tel Aviv.

The packages are ready for delivery to Israeli families in time for the High Holidays. Other shipments are on the way.

Contents are 2 1/4 pounds of liver, 2 1/4 of tongue and 4 1/2 of sliced beef, a total of 9 pounds. These are supplemented by 10 3/4 pounds of non-frozen products including coffee, chocolate, cocoa, soup mix, rice, pineapple and dried fruits.

DONORS may order this combination, priced at $16, for delivery to designated friends and relatives, or to a needy family. A smaller version, consisting of 4 1/2 pounds of the meats and 9 pounds 6 ounces of the regular foods, is priced at $10.

Phillips stressed that to insure delivery before Rosh Hashanah orders should reach CARE, 216 Empire Bank Bldg., Dallas 75-201, by Sept. 1.

All CARE food packages for Israel are certified Kosher by the Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations of America.

DOCTORS, AIR DEFENSE COMMAND. LOOK, SIR, RADAR HAS PICKED UP A UFO GOING STRAIGHT UP AT TREMENDOUS SPEED!

HAAA! THEY MUST HAVE LAUNCHED ANOTHER ROCKET FROM THE CAPE.

NO, IT'S RIGHT OVER WASHINGTON AND HEADED FOR OUTER SPACE!

MAYBE A NIKE MISSILE WAS FIRED BY ACCIDENT.

BUT IT'S ALREADY PASSED BEYOND MISSILE RANGE. IT'S HEADED FOR THE MOON!

STRANGE! KEEP TRACKING IT WHILE I CHECK WITH THE CAPE.

IT'S GETTING OUT OF RANGE, SIR. I'LL CONTACT WILSON OBSERVATORY.

AT LAST REPORT, THE UFO SIGHTED OVER WASHINGTON HAS PASSED THE MOON AND IS TRAVELING TOWARDS MARS AT AN ESTIMATED 180,000 MILES PER SECOND.

BUT THAT'S IMPOSSIBLE! THAT'S NEARLY THE SPEED OF LIGHT!

WHOOPEE! O'BOY, POP, YOU SHOULD'VE SEEN MY ROCKET GO UP! I BET IT'S IN ORBIT!

GOOD HEAVENS, THURSGOOD, YOU DON'T SUPPOSE...

WHAT? YOU MEAN YOU JUST LAUNCHED ONE OF YOUR MODEL ROCKETS?

QUICK, PHINEAS, WHAT DID YOU PUT INTO THAT ROCKET OF YOURS?

I CANNOT TELL A LIE, FATHER. I USED THAT CAN OF "SMOOSE" YOU HAD IN YOUR LAB.

FLASH! MT. WILSON REPORTS THE UFO IS NEARING JUPITER AND STILL GAINING SPEED.
