

Noted Food Editors Hosted Locally By Holly Sugar

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor
Food editors of newspapers and television stations in two states and prize winning cooks of the Plains area, plus two nationally-known writers on food and a representative of the National Space Administration were in Hereford this weekend as guests of Holly Sugar Corp.

Comedy and cookery were deftly blended by the speaker at the dinner, Carol Truax, author of The Sixty-Minute Cookbook and Ladies Home Journal Cookbook, a traveler, writer, speaker and teacher whose interest in food was sparked by the parent she made famous in another book, Father Was a Gourmet. Miss Truax kept her hearers laughing — and taking notes — as she spoke of menu planning with emphasis on desserts. Her talk was spiced with such remarks as, "Father said he liked to serve food in flambeaux because it impresses people so, and it doesn't hurt the food much." She listed as qualifications of the good cook, "imagination, energy, and lots of nerve," and advised cooks to "always read your recipe, then don't pay too much attention to it," hastily adding that this suggestion does not apply to such food as pop-over, which require very careful measurements. Donning a mink hat which she pulled into a semblance of a chef's hat, and an apron printed with the Ladies Home Journal slogan, "Never underestimate the power of a woman," she prepared dessert for the dinner, Strawberries Truax.

Betty Lou Henry, food editor of Farm Journal, was the luncheon speaker who gave tips on judging food to the editors. Then they were invited to assist her in picking prize-winners from Bake-Off entries by cooks who have already won awards in regional fairs. Entrants were from Oklahoma and New Mexico as well as over West Texas. Samples of food which U. S. spacemen eat in orbit were served before the breakfast, as Raymond E. Hassett, presentations coordinator of NASA, showed a film and told of problems overcome in preparing food condensed, nourishing and appetizing enough to keep men in good condition on long space trips.

The freeze-dehydration process used on these foods was explained as the editors nibbled thumb-nail-sized sandwiches and cake slices reduced to an inch cube. Entire meals in somewhat larger packets were displayed, ready to be reconstituted with water. Hassett said weight of food to be carried in space capsules is a big factor, since 800 pounds of fuel would be required to take one pound to the moon and back. First suggested, he said, were pills which would keep the men active, but these were rejected "because people just naturally like to eat" and it was found that actual food had a psychological value. Writers and speakers who dealt with food were present from as far as San Angelo, Borger and Dallas, also from three New Mexico cities. They included Ruth Brent and Lumarion Sumner of Amarillo, Joy Penrod of Lubbock and Dorothy Sinz of the Dallas Times-Herald. Fran Kalka of the Holly public relations office at Colorado Springs; Eddie Cortin, general sales manager, and Bruce Brown, Shoup plant manager, also wives of a number of the local Holly officials, represented the firm as hosts. Kalka was master of ceremonies for the dinner program and City Manager Dudley Bayne welcomed the visitors to Hereford. In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Bayne, Hereford guests were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sears, Mr. and Mrs. James Wither-spoon. Assisting in welcoming the visitors were Mmes. Bruce Brown, Dexter Lillie, Melvin Cordray, Lou Orleans and Bob Cooper, wives of key men in the local Holly plant. Two Hereford women won divisions in the Cook-Off. Mrs. Leroy Williamson placed first in yeast breads and Patsy Paetzold placed third in the cookie division. A complete list of winners will be in the Thursday edition of the Hereford Brand.

Herd Fights Off Knight's Surge

A determined band of Hereford Whitefaces staved off a fourth-quarter drive by Del Norte of Albuquerque in Whiteface Stadium Friday night to pick up a 10-8 victory in the final non-conference battle. Near freezing temperatures failed to dampen the enthusiasm of a large number of Hereford boosters who saw the Whitefaces bring their record to 4-1 for the season. District 3-AAA play begins for the Herd at 7:30 p.m. Friday when they travel to Canyon to do battle with the Eagles.

After a defensive first period which saw the visitors punt twice and lose the ball on an interception, and Hereford punt once and lose the ball on downs another time, Hereford shook off the wintry chill and drove for the goal line. Thoroughly aroused, the Herd began moving down the field. Tucker broke through for 21 yards, was hit late on the tackle and a 15-yard penalty was added to the run, then rammaged for another 11 yards to the Knight 12. Tucker and Frank then alternated tries at the large Knight line with Frank carrying over from the one with 46 seconds left in the third period. Cain booted the extra point for a 10-0 lead.

Mid-way through the final quarter, Knight Quarterback Pat Gallegos, caught fire and began driving his team from the Knight 38. Gallegos, one of the most dangerous quarterbacks to face the Whitefaces so far this year, passed, ran and faked until he had his team on the scoreboard with 18 seconds left in the game. During the drive, the Knights

After three runs gained only seven yards, Quarterback Phillip Cain stepped to the forefront and split the uprights with a field goal and Hereford led 3-0. The kick came with 3:20 left in the first half. A bad case of fumbleitis accompanied both teams from the dressing rooms to start the se-county presidents of District 1 in a meeting in Amarillo. The featured speaker of the evening will be Archie Baumann, noted cartoonist and humorist. Baumann will speak at the dinner meeting Thursday evening at the High School Cafeteria, 7:30 p. m.

Also on the program will be local talent presenting musical numbers. The guest speaker is from Minnesota Farmers Union. He has spent the last 18 years in the field of management and organization of cooperatives, credit unions, and farm organizations. For the past three years, he has been working with the Farmers Union as secretary. Leo Witkowski, local president, said that the meeting is open to any interested person — not being limited to members of Farmers Union. Tickets are $3.50 per person and are on sale at the Farmers Union Insurance Office, 807 N. Main in Hereford or from any of the directors. This district consists of all the counties in this Congressional District. Witkowski said that he is expecting large representation from other counties for the banquet.

Hereford Salad Bowl Gets Added Variety

A shady deal has crept quietly into the Hereford vegetable scene. Cauliflower flourishes snow white only when it is grown in the shade so one local farmer, Isias Gamez, has learned to pull the plant leaves up around the tender heads and tie it with a rubber band.

Cauliflower is real good quality and that the price is high. "This is a good time to hit the market. Colorado has just finished with cauliflower and the Valley hasn't started yet," he says.

Small acreage, but the farmer is netting at least $1 per acre and he is getting over 200 crates per acre — all in three weeks. Smith said that radishes can be planted in staggered acreages, all small, and can be one of the best vegetable crops for the area. They needed only a pre-watering and one watering after they were up, Smith said and little other care.

Gamez is experimenting with cauliflower and his few acres east of town look good. They are being marketed by Veg-Pak, Inc. and Del Smith, company representative says that the Cauliflower takes four months to mature and is considered a slow crop as far as vegetables are concerned. Costs and care are very similar to that of raising cabbage. Cauliflower sells for as much as $2.50 on the wholesale market. It is considered a real money crop. Since such a small acreage is being grown here, Veg-Pak is shipping it in open trucks to San Antonio where it is being distributed. It is top dressed with blown ice.

"This is a good area for vegetables of all kinds," Smith said on the long drive to a turnip patch his company is harvesting. "About the only problem I see is weed control — look at these ditches — those weeds will blow over into the fields and present a problem."

Mrs. Ethel Mae Fridley

Funeral Service For Long-Time Resident Held

Funeral services for Mrs. Ethel Mae Fridley, 77, resident of Hereford since 1925 who died early Thursday morning, were conducted in First Methodist Church Friday afternoon by the Rev. Clifford Trotter, pastor.

Bugs seem to have left this trial crop alone. Another crop that is being shipped from here this week is radishes and they aren't having any trouble with bugs either — they grew too fast for a bug to find them.

The turnips are being grown by Charles Meyers south of Black. A field like this one can produce 15-17 tons per acre and this production would be $450 in monetary measurement. They are going at about $30 per ton to the farmer.

Death occurred in a local hospital after a few days' illness. Mrs. Fridley was the wife of a long-time businessman in Hereford. She was born Feb. 6, 1889 in Kansas and married Elmo Fridley May 18, 1909 at Harper, Kan. They came to Texas in 1910 after a short residence in

Easy to raise, just drilled into rows and watered, the turnips require hand pulling and cropping. They are packed in 25-50 pound bags and shipped with top ice to San Antonio. The crop being raised by Meyers was a little large when Veg-

Newest member of the Texas Local Board No. 18 of the Selective Service System is Elmore Rains of 211 Beach in Hereford. Made this week, the appointment became effective immediately. A process technician at Holly Sugar Corp., Rains, 35, also is a part time employee at the Hereford Texas Federal Credit Union. He lived and farmed in the Hereford area from about 1952 until 1960, moved to Thorau, N. M., for four years and returned to Hereford in July 1964.

Hereford Could Lead Statewide Campaigns

United Fund workers, straining toward the end of their 1966 goal of $30,400, took stock of their campaign Friday morning and began shooting for a deadline which could prove Hereford to be the most open hearted city in the state. "If we can get our goal by Monday or Tuesday," said Debs Knox, drive chairman, "we will have reached it in a shorter time than any other city in Texas."

$4312.75 for 70 per cent of their goal of $6100. The division goal is the largest in the campaign. Other reports Friday included the rural communities division, headed by Bobby Owen, $3915.25 for 93 per cent of the $4200 goal; Latin American community, headed by Joe Soto, $66.50. See UF Page 2

As of Friday, Hereford city and rural residents had donated just over $26,000 or 91.23 per cent of their goal. Before figures were tabulated Friday, Knox said "whether we make it today or not, somebody has done a wonderful job." Contributions turned in by the majors made Knox a prophet as a third division went over the 100 per cent mark and the others neared it.

October Beauty Spot Is Named

The George Stamboughs, 207 Sunset Drive, are very pleased to be owners of the Residential Beauty Spot of the Month. They were not so pleased with Friday night's frost, however. Mrs. Stambough says of the dahlias and geraniums she "was hoping they would last through October."

The schools division, which was the first to go over the magic mark, raised its percentage to 149 as it totaled $1995.70 in donations. Supt. Johnny Clark is major of the division, which had a goal of $1400.

Gardener for the lovely lawn is Mr. Stambough who plants, fertilizes and cares for the flowers, and shrubs himself. Red geraniums and shrubbery decorate the front of the home while mums and dahlias of all colors line the fence near the driveway. The back lawn had roses all summer and still are not completely gone, said Mrs. Stambough.

Leo Forrest hit the utility companies, banks and lawyers again to raise his division's donations to $4918.03 for a 104 per cent. The goal was $4700. B. F. Cain and his captains proved that city, county and federal agencies must have hearts after all when he turned in $2,000.21 for a 103 percentage. The goal was $2000.

All of the flowers in the Stambough front lawn — geraniums, dahlias and mums — were planted in early spring. Mrs. Stambough says the dahlias were "as high as the fence," but after the frost, "they're all gone, now."

OLDHAM COUNTY

Color Is Fair Keynote

By TOM PORTER
Staff Writer
VEGA — After passing through the 1966 Oldham County Fair Friday, one woman who has seen all of the fairs said, "they were kind of short on exhibits this year, but what they did have was really something to see."

Among the hobby exhibits were large collections of arrowheads, shells, small cars and several homemade devices. At one end of the Legion Hall were entries in the Field Crop and Garden entries, all showing the versatility of soil in the local area. See FAIR Page 2

The fair truly was something to see as one travels from the pioneer relics and antiques, through a myriad of brightly colored quilts, clothing and paintings, and on to the Pet Show for the children and livestock and animal shows for the older group.

Second only to the refreshment stand in popularity was the exhibit for pioneer relics and antiques. Included was a pair of ladies' high button shoes which were purchased by Mrs. N. E. Wiseman of Vega in 1919, a shoe buckle made in 1848, a copy of Frost's Pictorial History of the World published in the 1850s, a 42-year-old clothes wringer, a 50-year-old apple peeler, a rifle from the Civil War and a sword and scabbard taken from an Indian before the turn of the century.

Lining the walls of the Legion Hall, where the fair was held, were numerous paintings by artists from Oldham County and the surrounding area. Prize-winning quilts, draped in the air by ropes, added color to the baked and canned goods exhibits.

Cooperative now consists of James W. Dixon Parmer exchange, Dick Gerles, Oklahoma Lane exchange, Raymond Miller, Hub exchange, V. J. Owens, Dawn exchange, Charlie Burt, Westway exchange, E. E. Hise, Sharp exchange and George Olson, Frio exchange.

The Cooperative has in operation seven exchanges located in the counties of Deaf Smith, Parmer, Castro and Bailey, serving some 1200 main stations over approximately 1200 route miles of lines.

OLDHAM COUNTY FAIR EXHIBITORS — A large exhibit of doll clothes, made by Mrs. Edna Harrell, 74, of Vega, was featured at the Oldham County Fair, held Friday and Saturday. Mrs. Edna picked a blue ribbon for the exhibit, which she plans to someday give her grandchildren and great-grandchildren. (Hereford Brand Photo)

Miss Audrey Klaus, Oldham County Home Demonstration Agent, said she knew of no reason why exhibits in the women's part of the fair were so low unless the women were just too busy to prepare exhibits.
Mrs. Edna Horrell of Vega was one exhibitor who did have time to prepare and the result was numerous prizes in the clothing department of the fair.
Mrs. Horrell, 76, said she made all her doll clothes, which were a feature exhibit at the fair, when she was ill about two years ago. "I couldn't do much of anything else, so I made doll clothes."
Asked if she had made them for her grandchildren, Mrs. Horrell laughed and said, "I expect they'll get them some day. I did have them in mind when I made the clothes." Mrs. Horrell has about 25 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

LOTS OF WORK — Two new commercial crops in the area require a lot of hand labor. Turnips are pulled and the tops and roots are clipped, all by hand. Cauliflower has to have the leaves tied up around the head to shade it and to protect it from the sun. Dell Smith, who is in Hereford this summer and fall with Veg-Pak, Inc., holds the leaves of a plant back to expose the snow white head. Light freeze is good for the crop as well as the turnip crop shown on the left. (Hereford Brand Photos)

The longtime Vega resident said she "used to enter homemade bread in the fair. I always won blue ribbons on my bread," she said. It was the first time for her to enter the clothing department.
Judging the culinary department and exhibits booths were Mrs. Argen Draper and Mrs. Rita Huckert, home demonstration agent and assistant agent, respectively, for Deaf Smith County. Mrs. Irene Keating, Castro County agent, and Mrs. Nell Proffitt, Castro County 4-H leader, judged the clothing and handwork departments.
Blue ribbons were presented first place winners, red ribbons to second place, and white ribbons third place. Green ribbons were presented second division finishers.

Shower Given After Wedding

Mrs. Troy Gene Foster of Canyon, who was Miss Jo Frances Deavenport before her marriage here Sept. 17, was complimented with a bridal shower Saturday in the home of Mrs. James Roberts, 313 Western.
The honoree and her mother, Mrs. Joe H. Deavenport, greeted callers who presented gifts for her new home.
Misses Denise King and Cynthia Haile served punch and cake from a table laid in off-white linen and centered with an arrangement of carnations in pink and mauve shades repeating the wedding colors. More of the flowers were used about the rooms.
In the hostess party were Mrs. Robert Lemons, Ross Latham, J. P. Jones, Jay Boynton, Baker Womble, Bill Phipps, Frann Battenfield, Sam Nunnally, Michael L. Miller of Canyon.

Tea Is Given For Candidate's Wife On Visit

Mrs. Bob Price of Pampa attractive wife of the Republican candidate for congress from the 18th district, was introduced to women voters of this area at a tea in the Caison House, entertained at a small luncheon and shown over the city during a short visit in Hereford Thursday afternoon.
She went from here to Muishoe to meet her husband who was carrying his campaign to that city. Mrs. Price talked informally in behalf of Price's candidacy as she chatted with residents she met in the whirlwind tour of Hereford.
About two dozen Republican and conservative women were hostesses for the tea. Mrs. Bill Walden stood with Mrs. Price to greet callers; Mrs. Roy Smith and Mrs. Nora Gills poured tea and coffee at a table decorated with a bouquet of white and gold mums.
Mrs. David Hamblen entertained at the luncheon in the terrace room of Hereford Country Club, and guided Mrs. Price on a brief tour of the city's medical facilities before the tea began. Luncheon tables were covered with red cloths and centered with red, white and blue flowers.
Another ride over the city after the tea gave Mrs. Price a look at industrial plants and a visit with King's Manor residents as she inspected the retirement home.

attended all the training sessions.
Barton said the short course will be adjusted to the wishes and interests of farmers enrolled but that he expects to cover such subjects as safety in welding, factors controlled by the operation in running a bead and striking an arc, types of electrodes, preparation of joints, distortion, cutting, hardsurfacing and pipe welding.
The short course in welding has been made available to farmers throughout the state under a new cooperative program between the Texas Education Agency and Texas A&M College. Specialists also are available in the fields of beef cattle, insect control, farm management, farm electrification, farm welding, swine production, tractor maintenance, dairy cattle and pasture.
"This cooperative program," said Bob Jaska, program coordinator and associate professor of the Department of Agricultural Education at Texas A&M, "is designed to make the services of specialists available to conduct short courses under the supervision of public schools. Such a program will enable teachers of vocational agriculture to provide improved educational services to farm people."
Winners in the Clothing Department were Mrs. J. L. Fite, two blue ribbons; Mrs. Mary Lou Spinhrne, one blue and two red ribbons; Mrs. Vera Dodgin, one blue and one red ribbon; Mrs. Alpha Browning, two blue, three red and six white ribbons; Mrs. Leona Brandes two red ribbons, and Mrs. Doris Wetzel, a blue ribbon.
Judging in the livestock and crafts department, flower show, garden and field crops, hobbies, leather-craft, pioneer relics and the pet show were held Saturday. Results will be in Thursday's edition of the Hereford Brand.

City Youth Corp Signs Only One

Officials of the Neighborhood Youth Corp are hopeful that activities will pick up this week, as only one worker was signed up for the program in the first day of screening Friday.
Mary Tijerina, 18, became the first Hereford youth to enter the program. Mary expressed a preference for working as a nurse's aide and will begin work this week at Deaf Smith County Hospital if details are worked out.
J. C. Reese, newly appointed area coordinator for the program, urged local youths eligible for participation to contact him or City Manager Dudley Bayne, or come by the city manager's office for an interview.
Nine youths will be hired in Hereford to work 20 hours a week at $1.25 an hour, said Reese. Designed for those youth who have dropped out of school, the program will include courses "probably in cooperation with the public schools."
The Panhandle Educational Services Organization will direct the program in four area cities under the guidance of West Texas State University. Reese will supervise units in Hereford, Dimmitt, Amarillo and Borger and Bayne will direct workers here.
Dimmitt will hire six youths, Amarillo 40 and Borger 15. Youths must be 16 but not more than 21 and the family income be at a low level to be eligible for the program. They also cannot be in school, Reese stressed.
The youths will fill jobs in different departments for the city, including park maintenance water department maintenance and secretary's aides.

Coach Jack Meredith said his team "didn't play real well offensively, but were real good on defense." He said the coaches and team were looking for a hard game with Canyon this Friday. "Canyon always feels that if they beat Hereford, that they have had a good season."

DEACON CHOSEN BY LOT

ELMIRA, Ont. (AP) — Old Order Mennonites "made a deacon" here recently.
The choice was made by the custom of choosing a man "by lot. The method is based on Acts 1:26; "And they gave forth their lot; and the lot fell upon Matthias; and he was numbered with the 11 Apostles."
More than 200 horses and buggies were tethered outside the meeting house for the selection.
The deacon is in charge of the first interviews backsliders. He must see that enough food, clothing and sustenance is available for widows and the needy.
It is an onerous position, held for life and there is no remuneration.

SET AN EXAMPLE — These six-year-old Latin American children are in a class to learn English. Their teacher Miss Paula Green, pre-first teacher at Bluebonnet Elementary, served a well rounded breakfast to teach them what they should eat to start the day. Cooked on a portable science cabinet, the meal consisted of hot oatmeal with sugar, milk, a half a banana, orange juice, a glass of milk, and whole wheat toast with butter. The children ask politely in English, "Please pass the sugar." They ate from paper place mats that were printed with colorful designs. Smiles were evident all about the bright orderly classroom. Several children helped the teacher with some of the chores. (Hereford Brand Photos)

Army Scholar Applications Due

High school seniors who plan to seek four-year Army Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) scholarships for the 1967-68 school year should apply for the qualifying examinations given by the College Entrance Examination Board (CEEB) before Oct. 29, according to Earl E. McCain, chief of the ROTC branch in the office of the adjutant general at Headquarters Fourth U. S. Army.

"Applications made by this date will pertain to Dec. 3, the first of four dates on which CEEB tests will be given across the nation during the 1966-67 school year," McCain said. "Prospective candidates for the scholarships, which can be valued between $5,000 and $9,000, depending on the tuition at the college selected, should apply for the tests as early as possible in order to prevent delay in processing scholarship applications."

Other CEEB tests in 1967 are scheduled for Jan. 14, March 4 and May 6. Details may be obtained from high school counselors or officials, or students in Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana interested in applying for the CEEB tests should write to: College Entrance Examination Board, Box 592, Princeton, N. J. 08540. Those in New Mexico should write to: College Entrance Examination Board, Box 1025, Berkeley, Calif. 94701.

Regular registration fee for the CEEB is $5 before the deadline of Oct. 29. An additional $2.50 will be charged through Nov. 12 to allow for late registration for the examinations to be given Dec. 3.

Information regarding the ROTC scholarship applications may be obtained by writing Commanding General Fourth U. S. Army ATTN: AKAAG-RR, Fort Sam Houston, Tex. 78234. Applications will be accepted any time before Jan. 15, 1967. High school ROTC is not a prerequisite for the scholarships.

Ranching Woman Lives Active Business Life

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — "I never visit antique shops," says Mrs. Bessye Cowden Ward. "I just go out in the pasture and pick up history — horseshoes, primitive tools, even crude milk buckets."

The daughter of pioneers Walter and Eva Cowden, she has lived in the big white house that is headquarters for the F Bar Ranch since 1947. Mrs. Ward is the widow of the late Jess C. Ward.

In addition to overseeing the 37-section ranching operation; she finds time to paint and raise quarterhorses. A sign by the front door of the ranch house, five miles from Odessa, reads: "Ring the doorbell or pull the cowbell."

An astute business woman and a gracious hostess, Mrs. Ward is as likely to be out riding fences as attending a meeting of the Ector County Sheriff's Posse or the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, in which she holds memberships.

"I manage to keep busy," she said in an interview. "Ranching has always been my life. Like my dad (the late Walter Cowden), I've always stuck to Hereford."

"Some people change, but I just plod along with them because — well, they're my life."

Asked about the oil paintings she has done of sheep, Mrs. Ward allowed as how sheep are okay — in pictures. The white house on the sandy hill has become a storehouse of memories for her.

In the den is a stuffed and mounted Jack rabbit which she says "may become rare one of these days the way they keep getting killed off."

Also in the den is a Hereford skin rug and a picture of Mrs. Ward on the horse she has ridden on countless roundups. In another room is a rocking chair which has seen service through three generations, beginning with her husband's grandfather.

A screened-in area contains saddles and chaps, prairie flowers, a stool made from the bottom of an old stove and several branding irons. "This one," she said, pointing to a worn leather saddle, "was my Mother's." It was the first woman's saddle in Midland.

"And these are my work-chaps," she said, indicating light leather chaps with the F Bar brand prominently displayed. Mrs. Ward has three children.

Hostesses were Mmes. Jack Meredith, Bill Michael, J. V. Perrin, Buel Monroe, Dan Gusman, Charlie Burk, Jake Moore, Jim Monroe, Eldon Howell, G. S. Wheeler, Robert Lemons, Waymon Richards, A. T. Mims, Jim Perrin and Glenn Burrus.

Guests were greeted by the honoree and her mother, Mrs. N. E. Tyler. Wedding colors, blue and white, were used on the refreshment table which was skirted in blue net and centered with white mums and carnations arranged with blue ribbon and blue tapers in crystal candelabra.

Warrant Officer George Drager, stationed in Ft. Lewis Washington, was promoted from staff sergeant to warrant officer last May before his transfer to Ft. Lewis.

Prior to the transfer, he was stationed at Ft. Hood, Texas where he was on the personnel staff. He is with that same office with the army at Ft. Lewis.

Drager attended Hereford schools, but graduated from high school in Kansas. He is visiting relatives in Hereford this week, including his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Drager.

Drager's wife, Margaret, and their three children will make their home on their parents farm northwest of Hereford while Drager completes his next assignment.

The children are Jeffery, 8, Calvin, 6, and Jeanine, 5. Calvin and Jeanine were born in France while their father was on active duty in that country. He has been in the army 11½ years, making the service his career.

Tour Of Homes Displays Striking Flower Pieces

Braving a stiff norther, visitors in the hundreds saw flower arrangements by members of the three garden clubs here, exhibited in a placement show in six homes Friday afternoon.

Given free rein by the show theme, Autumn Artistry in the Home, with one of the Fine Arts represented in each home, competitors produced a variety of imaginative arrangements of flowers, autumn fruit and leaves.

Admired with the flowers were the handsome homes in which they were displayed. Bud to Blossom Garden Club was hostess in homes of the Raymond Whites and Mrs. D. W.

Palmer, Hereford Garden Club in the Ansel McDowell and Charlie Holt homes, Garden Beautiful in the Don Robinson and J. D. Poarch homes.

A team of judges from Amarillo made the awards. Judging was completed before the tour began, so blue ribbons marked first place, red second, yellow third and white honorable mention in each class when visitors saw the arrangements.

Judges and garden club presidents were guests at luncheon in the Caison House at noon.

Mrs. Ray Cowser was general chairman of show arrangements and each club supplied hostesses for its show homes.

No sweepstakes or best-in-show awards were made, but Hereford Garden Club awarded the Gladys Manjeot trophy, a silver tray which goes to the member who compiles the most points in both arrangement and horticulture divisions. Mrs. R. W. Mitchell was the winner, barely edging Mrs. R. L. Wilson.

Table arrangements were featured in the McDowell home, where the theme was Drama. A striking note in the living room was Mrs. R. L. Ethridge's twin arrangement of pink and white roses, titled Romeo and Juliet.

The Holts' new country place, with accent on early American and colors keyed to peacock feathers had Harvest Symphony as the subject for fall arrangements.

House by the Side of the Road was the designation at the White home with familiar poem titles used for such arrangements as Mrs. Melvin May's hollowed pumpkin holding mums named for "When the Frost Is on the Pumpkin."

Paintings set on easels beside the arrangements in the Robinson home supplied inspiration for the work of the floral artist. Particularly noteworthy was Mrs. N. D. Bartlett's composition of deep purple iris backed by a small palette splashed with the color of clumps of autumn flowers.

At the Poarch home, with the theme of Literature carried out in book titles, bright-hued flowers blended with the decor arranged for family living by aments with roses emphasized, group that includes five sons.

Small arrangements which held attention were in bathrooms, one by Mrs. Charles Hood of red geraniums in a conch shell, one by Mrs. Tom Carter of gay nasturtiums.

Bud to Blossom Club members who won awards in the show at the White home were Mrs. Melvin May, Lloyd Sharp and Lou Orleans, blue ribbons; Mrs. R. A. Daniel and Bill Nelson, red ribbons; Mrs. Bill Shelley, Hubert Stoner and Delmo Williams, yellow ribbons; Mrs. R. N. Yarbro and Calvin Edwards, honorable mention.

In the same club, exhibitors in Mrs. Palmer's home who won ribbons were Mmes. Frann Battenfield and W. H. Gentry, blue; Mmes. Bruce Brown and Ernest Kendall, red; Melvin Cordray, Bob Cooper and Jim Conkright, yellow.

First places awarded Hereford Garden Club members in the display at the Charlie Holt home went to Mmes. O. G. Hill Sr., Merlin Weber and S. S. Williams; second to Mmes. Art Stoy, J. V. Pickens, E. T. Hale and W. P. Axe.

Arrangements at the McDowell home, by Hereford Garden Club members, which won ribbons were those of Mmes. Ben Childers and R. L. Wilson, blue; Mmes. R. L. Ethridge and Art Manjeot, red; Mmes. R. W. Mitchell and W. H. Hromas, yellow; Mmes. G. W. Newsom and A. E. Hodges, honorable mention.

At the Don Robinson home, ribbons awarded to Garden Beautiful members went to Mmes. Deward Roberson and N. D. Bartlett Jr., blue; Mmes. B. E. Roberson, E. W. Young and Bartlett, red; Mmes. L. H. Lookingbill Sr., Homer Newton (two awards) yellow; Mrs. Young (two awards) honorable mention.

Blue ribbons were awarded Garden Beautiful members in the Poarch home, to Mmes. Leo Witkowski, Ray Cowser and Will S. Kerr; red ribbons to Mmes. Charlie Noland and Cowser (two awards); yellow to Mmes. Tom Carter and G. S. Solomon; honorable mention to Mmes. Roger Brumley and Cowser.

CANDIDATE SPEAKS

Knows Problems

Waggoner Carr "knows the problems of West Texas and will do something to ease them," a Panhandle legislator has declared in urging Carr's election to the U. S. Senate.

In a speech before the Hereford Junior Chamber of Commerce, State Representative Bill Clayton of Springlake described Carr as an effective crime fighter, a supporter of youth programs and a longtime leader in water conservation and development.

We need someone who can handle water problems on a national level," Clayton said. "Someone who will sit, listen to and discuss problems and then be effective in getting legislation passed. Carr is qualified to do this."

Carr, who is from Lubbock County, became Attorney General at a critical period in Texas, Clayton reminded. Among problems confronting him were the final stages of the Billie Sol Estes, slant-well drilling scandals and the impact of the Kennedy assassination, the legislator said, commending the Atorney General's effective handling of these and other problems.

Clayton also described Carr's record as a member and Speaker of the House of Representatives. One of Texas' most significant pieces of legislation, a Code of Ethics for public officials, was enacted while Carr was Speaker, Clayton pointed out.

Clayton represents the 78th District, comprising Castro, Deaf Smith, Lamb, Oldham and Farmer counties.

SAIGON, VIETNAM — Army Doctor (Capt.) Franklin D. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oren W. Jones, 218 Avenue A., Hereford, Tex., was assigned Oct. 4 as a psychiatrist at the 3d Field Hospital in Saigon, Vietnam.

Captain Jones entered the Army in June 1961. The captain, a 1954 graduate of Hereford High School, received a B. S. degree in 1961 from the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School in Dallas, Tex.

His wife, June, lives at 3 Hakakahi Place, Wahiawa, Hawaii.

BINH TUY, VIETNAM — Marine Private First Class Michael W. Hagar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis R. Hagar of 126 Ave. B, Hereford, Tex., participated in Operation Deckhouse III, as a member of Marine Battalion Landing Team, First Battalion, 26th Marines, near the Province of Binh Tuy, Vietnam.

Binh Tuy is located 75 miles east of Saigon and the operation was a massive search and destroy sweep, launched by land, air and sea, involving the ships of the Seventh Fleet's Amphibious Ready Group.

During the operation the team found enemy complexes containing over 400 bunkers and tunnels where supplies of rice, medical provisions, weapons, clothing and other equipment was found.

Although contact with the enemy was generally light, the destruction of these complexes and supplies dealt the enemy a damaging blow and disrupted his political and military organization in the vital Binh Tuy, Province.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

Internal Revenue Service is generally recognized to be a highly professional government agency. They recruit competent college graduates and carry on a continuing training job. Their training program compares favorably with the training programs in competent business and industrial organizations. Their job is made much easier, however, through taxpayer cooperation. The American taxpayer is the most cooperative taxpayer in the world. Every American can be proud of the fact that IRS collects 97% of all taxes through voluntary compliance. The millions of taxpayers who voluntarily comply with the law help Internal Revenue Service do a much more effective job.

Realtors Confab Discuss Cities

Total Community Development — "The Greater Aims" will be the central theme for a conference sponsored by Realtors this week in Houston. The Texas Real Estate Association meeting is designed to attract top business and community leaders from across the state. Realtor Raymond O. Streun, President of the Hereford Board of Realtors is most enthusiastic about the two day event.

Herman W. Goldner, Mayor of St. Petersburg, Florida, will set the ball rolling. He will offer suggestions for modernizing American Cities." Mayor Goldner is an author, businessman and attorney serving his third term as Mayor of St. Petersburg and is president of the Citrus Broadcasting Corporation.

In a recent interview Mr. Goldner stated, "Too many of our ailing cities today are calling for massive doses of federal aid as a cure-all, complaining bitterly that they do not have the resources to heal their own maladies. They are wrong. They have potential uses at hand if they will honestly seek them out."

While commenting on cities of the future he said, "If we can predict the outcome of a national election upon the basis of returns from a single area because of its past voter pattern, then we can certainly predict future municipal needs and methods of best meeting these needs.

A centralized operation could service all areas of urban consumption and use an anticipated demand basis rather than a reactive basis. If central computers predicted a demand for mass transportation facilities at a particular time and place, for instance, the needed equipment could be easily diverted to absorb the need without depriving other areas.

"Businessmen cannot ignore this process in their own fields of endeavor and should not ignore it in municipal and urban government. They must be increasingly aware of the problems of their local governments and must commit themselves to finding solutions."

Harry W. Clark, Executive Director, Texas Industrial Commission, will delve into the economic opportunities cities may find about them, says Streun.

In view of the latest developments on the farm front, we have been wondering why Hereford doesn't make another effort to secure some type of frozen food processing plant for our city.

Cauliflower, brussel sprouts and bell peppers are now being grown in the county in small acreages and we see no reason why asparagus, beans, peas and corn could not be added to the growing list. Certainly, these crops do not require a large amount of acres and, perhaps could be grown (corn excluded) on "lay-out" land. We understand also that most of these crops require considerably less water than do milo or sugar beets. We're not suggesting however, that the milo and beets be replaced by the vegetables. The vegetable crops would be in addition to the other crops now grown in the county.

The addition of these cash crops would not only put money into the pockets of many area farmers, but if a frozen food processor could be located in Hereford, it would add another badly needed payroll to help keep Hereford's cash registers ringing.

Carrots have been grown in the county for years and they are used extensively in frozen products. Even the potato is being frozen and offered to the housewife in the form of potato patties, french fries, etc.

In fact, nearly every vegetable grown in the county, other than lettuce, cabbage and radishes could be utilized in one form or another by frozen food processors.

It might not be feasible to have a frozen food processor here, due to the fact that it would be hard to keep in operation throughout the year, but we believe the situation should be examined again before we toss the idea out of the window.

And speaking of food, everyone attending the Holly Sugar Corp. food editor's tour thoroughly enjoyed the banquet Friday night and the off-the-cuff remarks of Carol Truax, author of LADIES' HOME JOURNAL DESSERT COOKBOOK and FATHER WAS A GOURMET.

The entire event, held Friday and Saturday in Hereford, was a tremendous success. Food editors from all over the tri-state area were present for the meeting.

Deaf Smith County's United Fund drive is nearing completion. The drive had topped the $2 per cent mark Friday night with more money to come Saturday morning. United Fund officials had hoped to complete the drive by Monday since only one other town in Texas had topped their goal after the first two weeks. This will be somewhat of a record if the drive is completed in such a short time.

Apparently winter has arrived. The freeze Friday night nipped flowers, tomato vines and other tender vegetation, and sent many of us scurrying around looking for the controls to the electric blankets.

If you need a new overcoat, better get it quick, 'cause this is going to be a cold, cold winter.

It's got to be. We've had too many mild winters in a row.

Police Report Heavy Damage

A total of over $1000 damage occurred in two in-town wrecks Thursday. The first was relatively minor with one vehicle incurring $200 damage and the other a 1963 tandem truck, was unharmed. The truck, owned by Panhandle Irrigation of Panhandle, was driven by Ernest L. Harrison of Pampa. Harrison was going east on U. S. Highway 60. He was in the south lane and Mrs. David Rettman, 841 Brevard, was trying to get into that lane to make a right turn. The right front fender of her 1955 sedan and the left rear wheel of the truck collided.

The second accident also occurred on U. S. 60 Thursday night when Wilber H. Houck, 63 of Amarillo, driving a 1965 sedan and Jimmy L. Carthel, 822 Blewins, driving a 1964 foreign auto collided. Carthel who's vehicle was in front of Houck's, was taken to Deaf Smith County Hospital for observation by the police car.

AGRICULTURAL BRIEFS

In the Arkansas Valley of Colorado digging of onions and potatoes and picking of cantaloupes is nearly completed after some delays from rains and wet fields. Total onion acreage in Colorado for harvest in 1966 is expected to be about 6,200 acres. A total of 8,500 acres were harvested in 1965.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

Gonzalez At Odds With Yarborough Over Fair

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — San Antonio Rep. Henry Gonzalez usually in tune with Texas Sen. Ralph Yarborough, fellow liberal, has thrust a barb or two at his colleague for his handling of the HemisFair bill in the Senate.

That's the measure authorizing federal participation in the international exhibition in the Alamo City in 1968.

As passed by the House it authorized $10 million federal spending. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee cut the figure to $7.5 million and tacked on two Yarborough amendments which Gonzalez said are unnecessary-one to provide extra safeguards against destruction of historic buildings on the site the other to bar HemisFair officials from owning a substantial share of stock of any company doing business with HemisFair.

In a letter to Yarborough, the first Texan of Mexican background ever elected to Congress made known his dissatisfaction over the first of the two amendments. Personal feelings were reflected.

"I was somewhat shocked to receive by hand delivery a copy of your amendment scarcely a couple of hours after I had a most friendly conversation with you during the Texas delegation luncheon," wrote Gonzalez.

"You made no mention to me during that conversation of any intent to amend the HemisFair bill — Surely you do not mean to suggest that HemisFair has failed to exercise a proper regard for the preservation of historic structures. In short, it is my feeling that not only does potential harmful delay to the bill's final passage, but it is also unnecessary."

Then, in an aside concerning their political relationship, Gonzalez said: "Senator, no San Antonian has been a more consistent or faithful supporter of yours than I over the many years of your political career. As you are undoubtedly aware, some of your present supporters were something less than allies during some of your earlier campaigns, unlike myself."

Apparently untouched by this reminder, Yarborough shortly thereafter offered his "conflict of interest" amendment.

When Chairman William Fulbright, D-Ark., called his Foreign Relations Committee for a hearing on the House-passed HemisFair bill, Yarborough and Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., were given the first opportunity to speak. It was one of those rare occasions where the two were fighting alongside.

With a large San Antonio delegation present, Yarborough digressed to praise Gonzalez highly for his fine work in pushing the HemisFair bill through the House. Gonzalez, ironically, came into the committee room just moments after Yarborough had finished talking about him. A Gonzalez staff member was present, however, so presumably he learned about the remarks.

When the committee approved the bill a few days later, adopting Yarborough's amendments and making the $2.5 million cut, Fulbright made it known that his group was getting tired of authorizing federal participation in such fairs as that planned at San Antonio and the one held in Seattle. This was to be the last.

Yarborough was happy to get as much as they did get, all things considered, and issued a statement of appreciation. Shortly thereafter he left for Iran to attend the Interparliamentary Union as a U. S. delegate. Tower went to Texas to campaign for re-election.

Yarborough's sides said he wouldn't be making public his replies of Gonzalez. On the surface, however, he appeared to be undisturbed and willing to write off the San Antonio colleague's remarks to excessive and understandable concern over the changes in the bill should the Senate pass it as approved by the Foreign Relations Committee, as expected. If he should get the House to insist on its version, some senators who are known to feel that Texas already gets more than its share of federal money might block passage.

"So it may be that we will be faced with the question whether to accept a half or three-quarters a loaf or nothing," conceded Gonzalez. "We'll wait and see."

Fire Losses Are Up This Year

Members of the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department, speaking before the Hereford Optimist Club Thursday, said fire losses in the city limits so far this year already have more than doubled the losses for the entire year in 1965.

Terry Hale, Fire Marshall, and Bob Spaulding, fireman, told the Optimists that fire losses in 1965 were roughly $25,000. From Jan. 1 to this month, losses have been $62,063.

Spaulding, speaking to the group, compared fire prevention to disease. "There is no one cure for fire other than to put it out," he said. "There is one old remedy, however, and that is fire prevention."

Spaulding described numerous fire hazards and said most of them became so through carelessness and neglect. He mainly stressed overloading of appliances, gas accumulation and stacking up discarded articles as the worst hazards.

"If you don't know anything about furnaces or electrical heating," he stated, "call someone who does. And don't stop with just cleaning up around your house, check the inside for all the hazards." Hale showed numerous slides of fire hazards the fire department has discovered in the city, explained why they were hazards and how to correct them. He said he wouldn't tell in what homes or businesses the hazard were found, "but most of them have been corrected."

The Optimist Club voted to join the Amarillo Gun Club in sponsoring the annual Turkey Shoot. Four shoots will be held this year and have been scheduled for Nov. 13 and 20, and Dec. 11 and 18.

Yell Leaders Run More Than Some Ball Players

By HAROLD V. RATLIFT

Noting the antics and efforts of the pep squad at a football kids can keep up the pace for the two and a half hours.

They are never still, most times are leaping into the air and letting out war whoops that would frighten even the Sioux, and go through some gymnastic exercises that would be good training for boxers.

The yell leaders usually run more than the fellows on the football field.

It seems a most strenuous way to support one's school, especially when there are no rewards, such as letter sweater or gold footballs involved. Actually, leading the yells goes much further than that — it's almost as dangerous as playing on the field.

The yell leaders these days have a standard way of going about it. They even go to schools for training. When they leap into the air, they put their elbows back of them and try to hit them with feet that are being kicked backward. It is quite a contortion.

Begin to report that the trick not only is accomplished much of the time but that it's putting some yell leaders out of business.

Recently a girl tried this leap and kick and was so euphoric about it that she pinched a nerve in her shoulder. She had to undergo an operation and her career as a pep leader was finished.

Another girl had to retire because of an injury to the back. A bone specialist reveals that girls tear cartilage in the knee with their antics. They often throw their knees out of joint.

All-in-all, it seems leading the pep squad has become a hazardous career. And if the leaders of the pep squads or the yell leaders are going to incur injuries common to football players, they should be given letters by the schools. They're serving their school just as much as the football players.

That is, if the pep squad really helps.

The greatest rallies in collegiate football are held at Texas A&M. Spirit always is high. But it has been a decade since the Aggies won a championship; in fact, the Aggies haven't won five games in any season since 1957.

The question arises for those who persist that spirit is the main thing: if both teams have good pep squads, how is it that one of them has to lose? Quite often the team with the best pep squad gets clobbered — a good pep squad is better than nothing, but it certainly can't ease the pain of defeat.

Hunting Jackpot Limit Is One

AUSTIN — The eager-beaver sports trying for the jackpot in the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department drawings for free fall hunts are complicating things.

They are the hunters who failed to read the instructions that one applicant may have his name on only one card submitted for the public drawing.

The headquarters detail, now buried under hundreds of applications, reports an unusual number of duplicates. That is, a certain hunter's name is sent in on more than one card. This mistake generally is made where hunting companions have sent in separate applications with each containing the other's name.

The Department explained that this "extra insurance" could not be adopted under the system used in allocating hunter quotas to match surplus game numbers. If an applicant was allowed to submit duplicates, and had his name drawn more than once, some other worthy applicant might be the loser.

The hunts scheduled on seven wildlife management areas not only provide an increasing amount of hunting each fall but contribute immeasurably to game management research.

Scientists meticulously study results of the hunts to determine for the benefit of future harvests, the effect of gun pressure on wildlife populations, and to otherwise judge removal of surplus game.

The Department continues to accept letters from hunters filing for application to hunt on Wildlife Management Areas. Such requests are honored with a card to be filled out and explanatory literature. Completed application forms must be in the Austin office of the Parks and

Hunters Cautioned Against For Rabies

AUSTIN — The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department cautioned hunters to be on the alert for strange-acting varmints that might have the rabies.

A spokesman emphasized that since there is no great cause for alarm since the disease seldom occurs in Texas although occasional reports of rabies affecting domestic and wild animals are noted. The State Department of Health said rabies is rare in Texas, barring a few isolated areas.

The information is being provided "as just another guide for the hundreds of thousands of persons now pursuing the fall harvest," according to the Park and Wildlife Department.

Hunters were advised to react when they observe a varmint "acting peculiarly" one that tries to attack a human being.

The precautionary suggestion coincided with a published report about a ten-year-old camper in South Dakota fatally bitten by a rabid skunk.

The lad was attacked while in a sleeping bag. He was bitten on the thigh, wrist, fingers and behind the right ear.

Problems of proper treatment were pointed up by this case, the Department noted. The reports of the fatal case stressed that despite "nearly ideal management" by a clinic, including prompt antirabies serum and a full course of vaccine, the boy developed rabies within thirty days.

The U. S. Public Health Service observed an increasing incidence of rabies among wild animals and cited that stunks excrete higher levels of virus in their saliva than other rabid animals.

It was stated that, nationwide, the rabies upward trend was mainly affected foxes, skunks and bats.

Along The Frio

By MRS. OWEN ANDREWS
Brand's Frio Correspondent
Mr. and Mrs. John Simpson returned home last week after a two and a half week visit in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Sam Lindley at Brownwood. While there she took them to Ft. Worth to visit other relatives and she and Mrs. Vada Mullins brought them home Thursday, remaining here to visit until Monday. On Sunday the visitors helped Mrs. Simpson celebrate her birthday, as did Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cotton and Denise of Spavanaw, Okla. and the Robert and J. D. Simpsons. The Cottons came Monday to attend to business and visit the family, remaining until Friday.

Mrs. Herbert Bruns, Jan and Harlan, visited her parents, the Owen Andrews, Sunday night through Tuesday while Bruns was doing some S. C. S. work at Silverton.

Mrs. W. H. Andrews went by plane Sunday evening to visit her daughter, Mrs. Godfrey Baldwin and Mr. Baldwin and their new baby boy, Randy, at Austin. Mrs. Baldwin and baby went home from the hospital on Sunday afternoon.

Visiting the Carlton Dobbins during the weekend were his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Galtner of Phillips. On Saturday the two families and the Robert Dobbins family ate in a Clovis restaurant featuring Mexican food.

Rev. J. I. Herndon Electra spent Saturday night with Rev. Sam Ogan and family and attended church at Frio Sunday morning.

Attending W. M. U. Leader's Workshop at Earth Monday, were Mmes. Dee Taylor, Earl Harkins, Charles Self, B. H. Baldwin, Frank Robbins, Harlan Barber and Sam Ogan.

Frio Homemakers Club met Oct. 4 in the home of Mrs. Eugene Baldwin with Mrs. Tommy Sparkman also hostess. The program was given by Mrs. Gerald Wilson from a local restaurant featuring Mexican food. She explained some of the secrets in cooking good food of that type, gave some of her recipes and then served two varieties to those present. Others attending the meeting were Mmes. Henry Andrews, Edgar Vinson, Carlton Dobbins, Harlan Barber, E. F. Vogler, T. L. Sparkman, Jr., Laura Littrell, Sam Ogan, Weldon Stephan, Marvin Welty, Frank Robbins, Earnest Harder, Herbert Bruns, Dee Taylor, Annie Springer, Chesley Johnston, Owen Andrews and Miss Alma Andrews. The Club meets Oct. 18 in the home of Mrs. Henry Andrews.

Recent visitors of the J. E. Warrick home were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Warrick of Eurika Springs, Kansas and Mr. and Mrs. John Stroud of San Antonio, both families spending several days. The Warricks did some canning and freezing vegetables while here, as a severe summer hail storm destroyed gardens in the area where they live.

Fifteen members of Bluebird Campfire group from Bluebonnet Elementary School participated in a "Progressive Picnic," Thursday afternoon. They went to D. E. Banks home where Betty was hostess, the Joe Aury home with Jodi hostess, the Weldon Stephan home with Jill as hostess and the Frank Robbins where Patty was hostess. Mmes. Banks, Stephan and Robbins accompanied the girls.

Garcia News

By MRS. S. N. THWEATT
Brand Correspondent

Mrs. G. E. Pinkerton's sister from California visited her last week, and Mrs. C. W. Kelley of Bovina was also a guest in her home. Mrs. Pinkerton expects her son, Ted, and his wife from Woodward, Okla., as visitors this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Daily of Grass Valley, Calif., Mrs. Paul Crest of Tucson, Ariz., and Bob Blackwell of Houston were all guests of J. T. Guim the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Webb of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. James Louts of Carlsbad, N. M., were guests last weekend of Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Thweatt.

The Thweatts returned last week after visiting his old home and a number of relatives in and near Farmersville. They attended memorial services Oct. 2 at Huston Cemetery near that North Texas city where his parents are buried.

They visited his birthplace and places he lived before he moved to Plainview in 1920. The trip included a visit with Mrs. Thweatt's brother, Carl Hagan, at Hugo, Okla.

Guests in the John Jones home this week are their two small grandchildren from Hereford. The children's parents are visiting in Dallas and attending the State Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Thweatt visited in Amarillo Monday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. James Ray Coleman of Hereford whose son, Joe, was in St. Anthony's hospital after an accident involving a go-cart and a truck. He was seriously injured and is expected to be in the hospital some time. His cousin Jeff, son of the Bruce Colemans of this community, was also injured but has been dismissed from the hospital.

Art Work Shown By City Women

Five members from Hereford displayed their work in the annual exhibit of the Amarillo Porcelain Art Club at Amarillo last weekend. The open showing of hand-painted china was held at a tea in the YWCA building. Exhibits were entered by Misses W. C. Hromas, O. H. Culpepper, John Robinson, L. H. Lookingbill Sr. and Bertha Lookingbill of Hereford.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

What a way to end a week! It got a little too busy, with the Holly Food Editors' Tour crowding the All-Garden Clubs' Flower Show-Tour, following close on the entertainment for a congressional candidates' wife, Mrs. Bob Price.

THOSE WERE just special events; add to them the usual meetings which have included several guest day programs that were special enough. Plus parties for October brides, after a sort of recess in weddings since summer. Rushing, but fun.

AUTUMN IN Wisconsin is especially beautiful, and red leaves of the huge maple trees are vivid in the mind of Mrs. Fred Higgins, who with her husband has just returned after spending a month in that state.

They visited their daughter Alberta, Mrs. Frank Bernard, and her family at Dane, and Mrs. Higgins spent two days with her sister, Mrs. Alice Lawrence, at Black Creek.

A recent story in The Brand about early-day Dent Smith agricultural exhibits at the Dallas Fair, incidentally, reminded Mrs. Higgins that the 100-pound pumpkin mentioned was grown by Fred Higgins near the Progressive School "and it was really a big one; it took both Byrle Elliston and Alex Thompson to load it."

ONE FLAG FLYING from a residence Wednesday was a reminder that it was a red-letter day on the calendar, but not much attention was paid to Columbus Day. Could be that today's cynical Americans have decided "Chris shoulda stood at home, anyhow."

Opera Fan Is Clubs Speaker

An opera buff, Earnest Langley was guest speaker to Calliopean Club Thursday evening when the program subject was Southwestern Opera. The meeting was in his home with Mrs. Langley, a member of the club, as hostess.

Music he used to illustrate his talk included a 60-year-old record by Caruso of a Puccini aria and a modern dance band arrangement of Song of India, from an opera by Rimsky-Korsakov.

He displayed pictures of composers, opera houses and scenes from operas; programs, reviews and clippings concerning opera; charts showing major operas and composers of various countries.

As a background to his comments on opera in this region he gave general facts, classifying musical drama as grand opera, in which all dialogue is sung; operetta, with spoken lines to supplement music, and musical comedy, in which songs are incidental to the spoken word.

Most operas are based on familiar stories, he continued, citing the contemporary production,

Anthony and Cleopatra by Barber, which was the premiere performance in the new Metropolitan Opera House in New York.

In the Southwest, Santa Fe Opera is rated as one of the best in the nation, Langley said as he described productions he has been there. Like opera companies at Central City, Colo. and San Antonio, Santa Fe uses guest stars with local singers.

Dallas and some other cities in the region bring the Metropolitan Company for a week or more of opera each session, while the new Jesse Jones Center for Performing Arts at Houston will include operatic shows in its programs; the speaker continued in tracing the growth of interest in music in the Southwest.

Mrs. Sue James, club president, introduced the speaker and quoted a definition of music as "nature's high-water mark."

In a business period Mrs. Clyde Cave, project chairman, asked for donations of old jewelry to be used in the display which Calliopean Club is arrang-

JAMES BOND'S RIVAL

Those who read the James Bond stories, written by Ian Fleming should enjoy the book Cynthia, by Montgomery Hyde. This is a biography. Mr. Hyde has written many of them but probably none as exciting as this one. Cynthia, the heroine, is a female James Bond and, oddly enough, her favorite author was Ian Fleming.

The name of Cynthia was not her real name but an alias given her by another secret agent with whom she worked. Even in childhood she was daring and adventuresome. One incident in indicated things to come. In running races with other children she never stopped running when the goal was reached but raced madly on until she fell breathless. The others could not understand the sheer exuberance which even then drove her on.

She was born of a beautiful society-loving mother and a handsome father, Major George Throp. But she and her mother were never congenial and this fact perhaps caused her to marry quite young.

The greater part of the story deals with her travels on several continents. And her knowledge of countries and their way of governing by which she gained a good background for her future spy work. Her husband was a British diplomat and she met and made friends easily with people from all walks of life. This, too, was of great help in her work.

The time begins before WWII and she did her first spy work for herself in locating friends during the Spanish Civil War. Later she offered her services to the British intelligence, and since she was an American she worked closely with them and part of her work was in this country.

At least two of her operations are classics in spy history and affected the results of the war's outcome. She is considered as "the war's greatest unsexed heroine" in the words of the director of British Intelligence. And it is only now since her death that her story can be told because of security reasons. Cynthia was a beautiful woman, audacious and daring.

THE CHURCH I LOVE
... ABIDES IN GOD

"So we know and believe the love has for us. God is love, and he who abides in love abides in God, and God abides in him." (1 John 4:16).

When the heart of a man is filled with genuine love, God abides in the heart of that man; and that man abides in God.

Agape, the Greek word for Christian love, is not related to physical attraction, nor is it a sentimental emotion portrayed by the weak and immature. Rather it is associated with maturity, strength, thoughtfulness, sincerity, and virtue; "for God did not give us a spirit of timidity but a spirit of power and love and self control." (2 Timothy 1:7)

Paul's definition of agape is: "Love is patient and kind; love is not jealous or boastful; it is not arrogant or rude. Love does not insist on its own way; it is not irritable or resentful; it does not rejoice at wrong, but rejoices in the right. Love bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things." (1 Corinthians 13:4-7).

(1 Corinthians 13:4-7).
When a man takes on these characteristics and attitudes, with the help of Christ, he has taken God into his heart and life for these are the characteristics and attitudes of God. It is then that God abides in him and he in God "for God is love," and he has love abiding in his heart.

When a man has God abiding within, the kingdom of God is also within. Jesus said, "The kingdom of God is not coming with signs to be observed; nor will they say, 'Lo, here it is!' or 'There!' for behold the kingdom of God is in the midst of you." (Luke 17:20, 21).

"For the kingdom of God does not mean food and drink but righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit; (These things are within the man.) he who thus serves Christ is acceptable to God and approved by men." (Romans 14:17, 18).

CANDIDATE SPEAKS

Should Federal Money Go To Foreigners So Cheap?

"A question that is coming to many people's minds these days is: Who is the Johnson Administration more worried about — foreign countries or the American people?" Congressional candidate Bob Price said Wednesday.

Speaking to the Panhandle Home Builders Association in Amarillo, the 18th District candidate pointed out that the present Administration recently made a 20 million dollar loan to Brazil, for the purchase of fertilizer, at an interest rate of one per cent annually.

"The rest of us pay six or seven per cent for our money but then we are just tax payers, and maybe not too smart either," Price quipped.

"It is without partisanship that I simply state the obvious," he added. "With his recent five point program to slow down inflation the President is admitting the Administration has played a major role in touching off inflation and the high interest rates which now plague the economy."

"We call this the 'High Cost of Lyndon,' the Pampa rancher-businessman said.

"It has taken Mr. Johnson a long time to 'get off the dime' as the saying goes. I personally believe the country has suffered as a result."

"To put it another way," Price stated, "I believe we wouldn't be talking about a general tax increase if the Johnson Administration had laid down wartime priorities for government spending last January."

Instead the Administration chose to keep the country on a peacetime footing. No sacrifices were demanded of anybody except families whose sons were sent to Viet Nam. It was business as usual and everybody grab your share," Price said.

Most economists agree that deficit spending by the Federal government causes inflation.

Even the former chairman of Mr. Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers recently urged substantial cuts in Federal spending along with a tax cut as an antidote to inflation.

"If I am elected, I will be using all the power at my command to see that Mr. Heller's recommendation is carried out," Price stated.

News About Area Men On Duty

MANNHEIM, GERMANY —

Ramey J. Brandon, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude R. Brandon, 641 Greenwood, Hereford, Tex., was promoted Sept. 30 to Army captain in Mannheim, Germany, where he is serving with the 81st Maintenance Battalion.

UNDER THE SHADE TREE — Hereford Blue birds meet under a shade tree near the Campfire hut. In a very short time, the leaves of the tree will be gone and so will the Blue birds, as winter weather makes its presence felt in the Hereford area. (Hereford Brand Photo)

Capt. Brandon, operations officer in the battalion's Headquarters, entered the Army in September 1963. He was stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga., before arriving overseas in February 1964.

Capt. Brandon was graduated in 1959 from Bovina High School Bovina, and in 1963 from Texas Technological College, Lubbock, where he received a B.B.A.

Before entering the Army, he was employed by Bolinger &

Segars & Company, Lubbock, as an accountant.

Santa Fe Lists Local Tax Costs

Current annual taxes paid to the various government agencies in Deaf Smith County totaled $18,305, it is announced by the Texas Railroad Association.

That amount was the county's share of the nearly $10,000,000 the railroads paid in Texas on other property.

The biggest railroad contribution was to the school systems throughout the state. Large sums were also distributed to city, village and county governments and for road and bridge funds.

In addition, of course, was the large total in taxes the railroads 'nearly 35,000 Texas employees contributed on their own property. The vast majority of rail workers, many of whom live in Deaf Smith County, own their own homes.

"With the future of our country and state depending to a great extent upon the education of our youth, I am delighted that nearly half of the taxes paid by the railroads go to support the schools," said Walter Caven, general counsel of the Texas Railroad Association. "Recognizing this need for education, many of the railroads operating in Texas also make scholarships available to a large number of students every year."

Space Food Interesting

By Mrs. Argen Draper
Home Demonstration Agent

Sunday morning the Cook-Off will be history. It was fabulous and we can add luscious and delicious. It seemed that everything was about perfect. It takes many people to promote a function that large.

THOSE HELPING were quite impressed with the foods editors and women's news directors including Carol Truax and Betty Lou Henry, who made quite an impact from their parts on the program.

Raymond Hassett, Presentations Coordinator, NASA, was on the program to talk on space foods. We are always interested in foods used in the space program.

AT RURAL Homemakers Day in Amarillo on Thursday, a part of the luncheon program was "Food, Science - Fiction Now." It was presented by Ann Pillsbury (Helen Horton, director).

She said some of the things to come are food rods which are about six inches in length and one-quarter inch in diameter. These food rods are balanced in nutritive value and six of them would make a breakfast with the proper number of calories.

Balanced diets and space saving are the two goals of all companies working on space age foods. At the conclusion of the luncheon, each guest was given a sample of the space food cubes.

The cubes were fruit cake glazed in rice paper, which prevents crumbling. One of the major problems in preparation of food is to have food that won't leave crumbs in the weightless state of space.

MRS. I. N. GOMEZ requested a recipe for hot peppers in oil. Mrs. George Parker of the Cultural Home Demonstration Club sent this recipe and her comment was, "This is good if you like hot foods."

The chow-chow recipe from last week has brought some favorable comments, but James McMahan said the pepper hash or relish in the same column needs two pods of hot pepper instead of one. This reminds me of the early day cowboy, who said there was no such thing as strong coffee, simply weak people.

HOT PEPPER PICKLES
Mrs. George Parker, 189 Ave. J.

Clean hot peppers and make two small holes in each to allow liquid to get inside. Make liquid of two parts of water and two parts of vinegar. Add enough salt to float a fresh egg. Pack peppers into jars with three or four small onions, one or two buttons of garlic, a few flowerets of cauliflower and two bay leaves on top of peppers. Cover with liquid. Put lids on jars and let stand overnight.

Next morning, remove lids, fill jar with liquid (pepper will take up a great deal of the liquid), add one tablespoon olive oil in top of each quart. Seal jars and store in a cool place.

PEPPER-ONION RELISH
YIELD: 5 jars (1/2 pint each)
Onions (6 to 8 large) finely chopped 1 quart
Sweet red peppers (4 to 5 medium) finely chopped 1 pint
Green peppers (4 to 5 medium) finely chopped 1 pint
Sugar 1 cup
Vinegar 1 quart
Salt 4 teaspoons

Combine all ingredients and bring to a boil. Cook until slightly thickened (about 45 minutes) stirring occasionally. Pack the boiling hot relish into clean, hot jars; fill to top of jar. Seal tightly. Store in refrigerator.

If extended storage without refrigeration is desired, this product should be processed in a boiling water bath. Pack the boiling water for 8 minutes for this altitude.

Remove jars and complete seals if necessary. Set jars upright, several inches apart on a wire rack to cool.

Children's Style Show Scheduled

Guests are being invited by members of the Antonion Circle of St. Anthony's Church, to a children's style show which will be staged on the meeting night, Oct. 20, in St. Anthony's School auditorium. It is to begin at 8 p. m.

Fall fashions for youngsters will be presented by the Popular Store with Mrs. Irving Alexander as director. Clothing for school, play and dress wear will be shown by girls and boys. Members of St. Anthony's Guild have been invited, and Circle members are inviting other guests for the program.

"Marguerites" are as old as the hills, but small fry love them! To prepare, butter a cracker and place a marshmallow in the center. Toast the marshmallow-topped crackers in the oven until the marshmallows soften. Serve at once.

SIGN OF PROGRESS — "In order to provide and maintain adequate service to the north part of Hereford," Pioneer Natural Gas Co. has begun laying down 12,000 feet of 6-inch pipe in that part of the city. M. C. Knox, district engineer for the company, said the project has been on the drawing boards since Sept. 1, but actual work began about Oct. 1. Pipe will be laid from the alley of Forrest and Brevard-Whittier streets, north to 15th and across U.S. 385 to the intersection of Ranger and 15th. The project, being done by Bryant Bros. Construction Co. of Hereford, is expected to be complete by Oct. 28. (Hereford Brand Photo)

PANHANDLE ECONOMIC PROGRAM

Area Resources Measured By Tech

Speaking to the Hereford Kiwanis Club Thursday, Jim Murphy of Amarillo said that he is "trying to look into the major facets of our economy." Murphy was introduced to the club by Juston McBride who explained the background of the Panhandle Economic Program and how it got started.

McBride told of a meeting about a year ago of some of the Panhandle's major leaders. They made a request to Dr. Patterson, Dean of Education of Texas Agricultural and Mechanical University to make a survey of water resources of the Panhandle. Dr. Patterson suggested that it would be more effective to survey not water alone, but all Panhandle resources. Patterson then placed farm management specialist of District I, James Murphy, in charge as coordinator.

McBride stressed that Murphy had used every major source of information available — banks, rural electric coops, lending agencies, chambers of commerce and over 150 different people in the Panhandle working in different phases of economic — to obtain his information.

Murphy's lecture informed the Kiwanians of the information which has been compiled into two volumes. These are sample volumes of Murphy's findings and will soon be printed in one volume which will be made available to various electrical businesses, chambers of commerce and other places where masses of people are dealt with. They will, in all probability, be made available to the buying public also. Texas A&M has funds to print approximately 3500 volumes, Murphy said.

Murphy said that he felt it was a "very interesting task to really look into the economic regions of the Panhandle."

Murphy stated that of the 500 pages in Panhandle Economic Program each page has some major value on our economics. Murphy pointed out that the volume includes resources and problems which involve all of the 26 counties in the Panhandle, as well as problems related specifically to each individual area. Fully discussed in the volume is water — its conservation, exploration for it, efficient use of it and development of new irrigation projects — crop and livestock activities, market development and many other of the Panhandle problems. One of our major problems, Murphy stated, is control of weeds. His survey cites that of the $100,000,000 spent by the Panhandle annually for weeds, the proper use of weed controls etc. could cut that figure by $40,000,000. There is also a great waste of water — by runoff, plays lake evaporation, tailwater and an excess of undesirable plants — which, if properly conserved, could increase the Panhandle income by $20,000,000 annually.

Murphy stressed that we must find a better method of marketing. Though we are highly efficient at production, our market system causes us to sell products for a very small profit. He brought out that the total price of producing irrigated wheat left very little profit, if any, for the wheat farmer.

He said that, though the Panhandle experiences the finest level of economy of any place in the United States, there are still improvements to be made. After the lecture several Kiwanians questioned Murphy about the program with which he is working and asked details about the book which will soon be printed.

A report was given of Key Club activities by their sponsor, Dean Herring. A report on the sale of Halloween Candy was also given.

The Kiwanians were asked to donate equipment for the city's Cleanup Drive. Three pickups and one truck was offered. One Kiwanian offered to drive a pickup for the campaign and it was suggested that Key Club members might help in the November 11-12 campaign.

Safety Featured For Young Help

WASHINGTON, D. C. — A Labor Department Study shows the need for better safety training.

The study of 28 states, conducted by the Bureau of Labor Standards, turned up nearly 17,000 injuries — many of a serious nature — to employed minors under 18 years old.

Although this is a small fraction of the nearly 5 million individuals in that age group employed in the United States, improved safety programs could virtually eliminate serious injuries.

The types of injuries reported are indicative of the impulsive nature of youth for there were many falls and strains resulting from acting without thinking. A major problem is that many young boys do not realize the limitations of their physical strength.

The study recommends that occupational safety training begin in the schools and that on-the-job training start as soon as possible with emphasis on lifting, manual materials handling, housekeeping, the use of hand tools, and the operation and servicing of machinery.

It also recommends that employers provide personal protective equipment and require its use, and that supervisors set an example for the young worker.

Finely chopped cooked vegetables, mixed with mayonnaise, make an excellent stuffing for tomatoes that are to be served as a salad. Starting from the stem end of each tomato, cut it into sixths, but do not cut all the way through. Spread the wedges apart and then add the stuffing.

Heavy Responsibility Seen In School Transportation

While The Brand has long protested federal control of education as a direct line to chaos, we are beginning to wonder — after reviewing reports concerning our school transportation system as unfolded at the board meeting Tuesday night — if even the bureaucrats could get things in much worse shape.

Couple this situation with the highest school taxes in district history — and probability of still higher taxes in coming years — and we come face to face with the fact that members of our school board are shouldered with tremendous responsibility. As elected representatives of the people, trustees do employ administrators and agents who act in their behalf but, as the meeting this week pointed up, it is the trustee who represents the people, and who is responsible to his friends, neighbors and fellow citizens.

Probably the worst part of our present dilemma centers around the fact that our trustees and our school system have no practical solution to the present problem; not, at least on a short-term basis.

If we interpret the situation correctly, the Hereford district is already spending more than $18,000 per year above the amounts allocated by state agencies as fair and equitable. We think that the school trustees should explain this situation to the tax payers of the district. If the state agencies are inaccurate and uninformed, or if their figures are unfair, we deserve to be informed of the situation — and it should be carried to Austin through legislative channels. If, on the other hand, our school system is inefficient, we are entitled to know the facts.

Another item which bothers us centers around the fact that regular transportation buses are pulled out of normal channels and replaced by so-called "clunkers" in order that the better equipment may be used for extra curricular activities, namely junior high school football teams and the bands. This, of course, is an administration-

Higher Education Merits Attention

Colleges everywhere are reporting new record enrollments, due in all probability to the post-war population explosion about which we heard so much.

West Texas, as usual, is out in front with heavy enrollments at Texas Tech and West Texas State. Clarendon College is also showing new highs, along with other smaller schools at Borger and Levelland.

The trend is one which will likely expand in future years, which brings up the question of a local level college for this particular area, probably in conjunction with the overall program at West Texas University in Canyon.

We are well cared for under present conditions, but this does not guarantee what will happen in the future. Already many schools are tightening up on entrance requirements. In addition, junior type college "on location" would enable many boys and girls to attend school, whereas they are now often denied the privilege.

Trends back East and in California have established a definite pattern which educators and community leaders might well study in an effort to meet the requirements of tomorrow. Hereford has always been a growing community, partly because the foresight of its citizenship made it possible for the area to stay ahead of, rather than behind, general developments.

The question of higher education, however, is one challenge which we have consistently ignored.

trustee choice as to importance of the activity, and which need should take precedence, but it also effects regular patrons whose children, according to testimony at the meeting are frequently required to ride with 90 youngsters on a bus which is designated to safely handle only 72 passengers.

The prime point is that parents say we are placing our students in unsafe conditions, and that we are doing it with calculated intent. Some of the parents who attended the meeting were quoted as stating that they would not allow their children to ride the buses for this reason, preferring to haul them personally and at their own expense. The meeting, in fact, terminated on the keynote that the parents wanted dangerous, over-crowding conditions eliminated.

Frankly, the sentiment is one with which we cannot argue, and it seems to us not only reasonable, but a practical and sensible request, which our trustees should appreciate and which they should take immediate steps to remedy.

Renewed Interest Evident At Fair

New record attendance at the Texas State Fair in Dallas, along with every growing attendance in area fairs in Amarillo, Lubbock, and scores of other cities indicates a return of interest in a form of entertainment which folks a few years back were predicting might become extinct.

Many smaller cities, especially from 3,000 population and up are likewise reporting a tremendous upsurge in interest in county and suburban exhibitions.

Why this sudden reversal? Where mother and dad found the fair perhaps old-fashioned, it appears that today's younger people are more inclined to agree with their grandparents. This is especially confusing, when one pauses to remember that Television, a comparatively new medium, is probably the greatest competition which the fairs must survive.

There are more people than ever before, and this is especially important in the Southwest. Mostly, though, the return of interest in fairs can be attributed to the inclusion of celebrities, big-time football games and other forms of modern merchandising. In Dallas, the folks saw Perry Como, and listened to Mr. Albert's Tijuana Brass; in Ohio they spent something like $300,000 for entertainment by Bob Hope, Art Linkletter, Jimmy Dean, Mr. Como and Herman's Hermits. Not long ago, Lubbock imported "Hots", the Cartright boy with the Texas accent. In general the fairs are offering headlines right out of Hollywood, television and Las Vegas — and this is hard to beat.

All in all, we would say that the fair promoters instead of folding up and stealing silently away have made a superb come-back. What's more, they did it on the same basic principals upon which the fairs were originally founded, and that was by exhibiting the things in which people are most interested. In grandpop's day it was fine specimens of agriculture, and grandmother took great pride in having the finest canned cherries in the country. Today, the boys thrill in outer space, and the girls dearly love big name stars — but the basic appeal is pretty much the same.

In addition to general benefits from all fairs, we would say that the recent come-back on this level holds a perhaps even greater lesson for all of us. No. 1, we cannot operate on the same methods that were used even a generation ago and, No. 2, there is no substitute for good ideas and their energetic application. Offer people the things they want, and they will generally respond in droves.

Federal Example Would Be Help

"Tight money" is a term which we hear often these days, but no one yet seems to have come up with an answer to the problem.

We do understand, however, that it probably will make a lot of difference to many people, including higher interest rates and other demands from lending institutions.

Most of us, even in boom periods, find money fairly tight. The big difference, it seems, is that all of those people we knew who had lots of money are finding themselves in the same boat with most of the rest of us. Unfortunately, this is also going to leave its mark on everyone as the tight money gets tighter. In addition, we understand that we should pull our belts in another notch in anticipation of a probable 10 percent hike in personal income taxes after the elections.

Where all of this ultimately leads is anyone's guess. Frankly, it looks as if the biggest spendthrift of all is the U. S. government, and while they want to slow everyone else down, the prime object is for the government to spend more and more.

Perhaps a good example on the government's part might accomplish more than 10 million words of warning and caution.

Small Town Problems Need Federal Attention

By BERT MILLS
WASHINGTON, D. C. — Small town America has few champions in high posts in Washington but one conspicuous exception is Rep. Joe L. Evins (D., Tenn.), Chairman of the House Small Business Committee and a ranking member of the House Appropriations Committee.

... from the Brand's files

50 YEARS AGO
Mr. Orville Newel got his arm broken at the wrist last Monday evening while cranking a Ford. It backfired and "caught his arm."

The big "Hereford Country Fair" has side tracked every other interest to Hereford and holds the boards more prominently with each day.

Every day brings its inquiries regarding exhibits, premiums etc. from all the surrounding country. Many agricultural exhibits have already been brought in. Prominent stockmen are arranging to enter representatives from the finest herds in the Panhandle.

One great feature of the coming fair will be the excellent music that will be furnished by the band.

Director West is keeping the boys hard at work and is surely getting results. On former occasions, Hereford has been compelled to import her music, and has been glad to be able to get it at a very considerable price. Now, with a few month's faithful work and backed by that forward of progress, the Civic Club, the Hereford band is able to furnish music, and music of a very excellent quality, too — for the many occasions when a good band is a real necessity.

25 YEARS AGO
Geo. L. Muse, secretary-treasurer of the Hereford National Farm Loan Association, who attended a conference of the NFLA secretary-treasurers in Amarillo, Tuesday, said that Texas farmers and stockmen are enjoying the highest price levels for their products since May, 1930.

Running two days instead of the scheduled one, the fourth annual flower show, sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Garden Clubs, was called huge success both by club members and by the 852 guests who registered during the two days.

Playing their first out-of-town game of the season, the Hereford Whitefaces tonight will tangle with the Canyon Eagles in a game which promises to be one of the most evenly matched of the year. It is a conference game, second of the season for both the Whitefaces and the Eagles, both teams having previously defeated Dimmitt.

Dr. Edward Taylor, Director of the Dental Division, State Health Department, was in Hereford Tuesday making final plans for the research to be conducted here by the state department in collaboration with Baylor Medical School. The research is expected to bring about some definite results on the low incidence of dental cavities on school children of Deaf Smith County.

GOVERNORS TRYING TO IMPROVE IMAGE | MANY CONTENT THEY ARE UNDER-EXPOSED

By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Washington Writer

WASHINGTON—Whichever party makes gains in the November elections, look for the nation's governors to be in there pitching for a stronger role for themselves in federal-state relations. They have been suffering too long from a bad case of public under-exposure.

A first step, set up at last summer's annual Governors' Conference in Los Angeles, will be their new mid-year meeting in December.

So much attention was given over to the issue of Viet Nam policy at Los Angeles, the governors agreed to hold an interim gathering so they could talk more directly about their own problems. This will be a national meeting, in addition to the several regional sessions like that of the Southern Governors, at Gilbertville, Ky.

Actually, the idea of a mid-year national session was broached at Los Angeles before it became apparent that state problems were being drowned at that meeting by discussion of Viet Nam policy. At heart, the governors feel a desperate need for wider national recognition of their existence as individuals, of the dwindling power of state governments in the federal-state system, and of their many problems—most of them financial.

They see such evidences of this as the bee line which big city mayors make to Washington for help on their metropolitan crises. What they have not seen much of is an improvement in the "image" of the governorship as an office. Maybe more frequent meetings won't provide the answer. But the governors are willing to try.

● FIRE AND WATER—When Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen did the courageous thing and informed supporters of the 1966 Civil Rights bill just when he planned to deliver his main speech against the measure, he said: "My floor speech will burn all the bridges to the bill."

Replied Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., floor manager for the luckless bill: "That's all right, Ev. We know you can walk on the water."

● CLOSE CALL—A bride and groom, their families and some 2,500 guests would have suffered a major disappointment except for quick thinking on the capital's social circuit.

Corinne Boggs, daughter of Acting House Democratic Leader and Mrs. Hale Boggs, and her husband-to-be both forgot to get a wedding license until the day before the ceremony. Under Maryland law they could not be married for 48 hours after obtaining the license.

But Corinne and Steven Roberts, her intended, obtained a court order authorizing the Montgomery County clerk to waive the waiting period. That took care of the "crisis" for all—including First Family guests from the White House, old friends of the Boggs family.

THE BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm has found a big stack of newspapers, which may explain a much longer letter this week.

Dear editor:
An unusual thing happened to me a few days ago. I didn't find just one newspaper, I found a whole stack, tied with a piece of string in a ditch alongside a road out here near this bindweed farm, but they weren't all recent papers, some of them were several years old.

Just to be doing, I brought them to the house and started reading, and you know what, I have hit on a new theory of how the world solves its big problems.

For example, a few years ago the Suez Canal was the big crisis, England threatening to go to war over it, every newspaper headlining the problem every day. Statesmen all over the world were conferring about it and everybody was giving advice.

But I kept reading the old papers and gradually the Suez Canal disappeared from the headlines on the front page, moved over to the inside, and then disappeared altogether.

I followed several other big problems like this, and they all disappeared, but not once was it ever explained how they were solved.

Here's where my new theory comes in. My theory is that the world solves its big problems like the itinerant repairman who fixed a leak in my neighbor's house.

This neighbor had a small leak in the roof over his kitchen, and his wife nearly nagged him to death about it. He tried, but he just couldn't fix it. Every time it rained a little trickle of water came down through the ceiling.

One day this itinerant repairman came by and my neighbor grabbed him. "Can you fix a leaky roof?" he asked.

"Sure I can," the man said. "That's my speciality."
"You guarantee it?"
"Certainly. Show me where it's leaking."
He looked it over, said he'd fix it for $25.
"Now you guarantee it?" my neighbor asked.

"If water comes down through that kitchen ceiling the next time it rains, I'll refund your money the next trip I'm by here."

Sure enough, a few days later it rained and not a drop of water came through.

"Well, finally," his wife said, and my neighbor sighed and said he was glad that problem was licked.

A week later it rained again, and the water began to trickle through the ceiling into the kitchen.

My neighbor rushed up into the attic to see what had happened.

Under the spot where the water was coming through the roof was a bucket. It had held all the leak from the first rain, but was now full and overflowing.

That, if you ask me, is the way the world solves most of its big problems. Just temporarily, but it's fine while it lasts.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Veterinary Class Offered Veterans

A new Veterinary Medical Resident Investigator program has been started by the Veterans Administration, Dr. H. Martin Engle, VA Chief Medical Director said.

The program is designed to train qualified students for scientific careers in laboratory animal medicine with training at the modern medical research laboratories in Hines hospital in Chicago.

It is a specially-designed, two to four-year program of education, training and research now available to veterinary medical scientists, educators, practitioners and others, Dr. Engle explained. Up to five resident investigators will be assigned July 1 of each year. Investigators for research performed with animals prior to adaption for human beings.

The program provides an exceptional opportunity to specialize in an interesting and rewarding area of activities. Trainees will gain knowledge and experience through a planned system of rotation to biological and medical institutions which use a wide variety of laboratory animals in research, testing, the production of biologics, teaching and the diagnosis of diseases.

Facilities and facilities of medical schools and universities, aquariums, zoos, commercial bio-medical firms, VA hospitals and government laboratories throughout the Chicago area will be joined in this unique program of research training. Selection as a VA Veterinary Medical Resident Investigator will be made from candidates having potential for scholarship and independent investigation at four levels. The salary for these positions ranges from $7,696 to $10,927.

Interested persons should apply in writing no later than December 1, for the appointments which begin July 1, 1967, Dr. Engle concluded. Applications should be sent to the Assistant Chief Medical Director for Research and Education (151N), Department of Medicine and Surgery, Veterans Administration, Washington, D. C. 20420.

FARMERS UNION

Witkowski Re-elected To Head County Group

Leo Witkowski was re-elected to head Deaf Smith County Farmers Union at its annual convention Thursday evening. James Gentry was elected vice-president, Mrs. Andrew Kershen secretary-treasurer with four new directors being elected. They are Ben T. Spear, Wildorado area, Terrell Hodges, Sims Community, Charles Schlabs, Frio community, and Walter London Milo Center Community.

Also re-elected to serve for the coming year on the board of directors were Louis Woodford, Alfred Smith, F. A. Marnell, S. A. McCathern, David Hutchins, Jay Boston, Andrew Kershen, and Mrs. O. G. Hill, Sr.

Resolutions adopted to be sent to the State Convention to be held in Mineral Wells on November 1, 2 and 3rd were adopted.

The group voted in favor of limiting of beef imports to such an extent as to protect American beef prices. A loan price of $1.50 per bushel and a 25 cent. export certificate for wheat was advocated, and the group is not in favor of increasing production of wheat enough to depress the market price.

For sugar beets, the group is requesting the Secretary of Agriculture and the Sugar Policy Staff to recognize the need for this new sugarbeet growing area to have an increase of acreage as was contemplated by the department when the processing plant was under construction and that a national acreage reserve be created. The group also went on record as recommending to the Secretary of Agriculture that acreage restrictions of proportionate shares for sugarbeet growers be continued in the year 1967.

General resolutions included favor the right to work law for Texas and financing for the rural electric and telephone systems. Also favored is exemption of farm machinery from the better job and educational opportunities. He suggested this need not happen because "modern industry and modern technology and modern transportation can bring jobs to the countryside rather than people to the cities."

"I want to see more factories located in rural regions," Johnson explained. "I want more workers able to supplement their incomes by part-time farming and more farmers working part-time in industry. I want those who love the land to reap all the benefits of modern living."

The President went on to describe all his Administration has done for non-metropolitan areas — the public housing grants, the urban planning grants, the libraries and water systems made possible by U. S. aid.

Get On With It, Ewins Says
Rep. Ewins applauded the Dallas speech, and placed pertinent excerpts in the Congressional Record. He said: "I congratulate the President — and I say: 'Let us get on with it. Much has been done, but the real challenge lies ahead.'"

Ewins reminded his colleagues that he has been contending for years that "the community concept found in small town America is the backbone of our democratic society." He argued that it is the weakening of this concept that has caused such tremendous problems in the cities.

Medicare For All Needy Is Topic Of State Meet

By LARRY FUHRMANN Hereford Brand

AUSTIN — Title XIX, that portion of the Medicare bill which authorizes care for the needy regardless of age, has been under scrutiny here the first part of the week by delegates attending an annual workshop of the Texas Association of Hospital Accountants. The meeting was held Monday and Tuesday.

Keynoting the opening session Monday was Joe K. Wells, vice president of the Austin National Bank. His topic was "It's the Spirit of the Thing." Fred Higginbotham, director of public relations, Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Texas, discussed "Factual Data — Role of the Fiscal Intermediary."

Other discussions included "Planning to Maximize Medicare Payments," Robert D. Clyde, CPA; "Cost Analysis," Ralph Grothouse; "Revised AHA Chart of Accounts and its Optional Flexibility," Bill Entminger, controller, Scott and White Memorial Hospital, Temple; "Medicare Case Handling Problems," Frank Henry, manager, Medicare Department, Blue Cross; and "Retrospective Adjustments Under Medicare," Adrian Alter, Dallas CPA.

Grothouse is assistant director, Hospital Administrative Services, American Hospital Association, Chicago. Also attending the program was Harris Berman, deputy assistant director, Bureau of Health Insurance, Social Security Administration, Baltimore.

Speaking on "Title XIX" were C. Dean Davis, legal counsel, Texas Hospital Association, and Herbert Wilson, assistant commissioner, State Department of Public Welfare.

Fred Kelly, business manager of Harris Hospital in Fort Worth was installed as president of the association Tuesday morning. Other officers were elected, and accountants attending considered the recommendation of the board of directors to become an affiliate of the Texas Hospital Association.

Other topics discussed at the two-day meet included "Depreciation and Property Control" and the "Reimbursement Under Medicare — Reasonable Costs."

The Texas Association for Mental Health will open its 34th annual conference at 1:30 p. m. Oct. 27 in Austin, closing with a teacher workshop on Saturday the 29th.

Two main issues in the field of mental health needs will be aired in the three-day convention. These will be solving the manpower problem and the development of community facilities. A legislative workshop will train citizens to deal effectively with legislative bodies at local, state and Federal levels.

Dr. Robert Stubblefield, chairman of the Department of Psychiatry at Southwestern Medical School and member of the National Joint Commission on Mental Health of Children, will speak on present trends and proposals for improving service for the State's emotionally and mentally ill children, estimated to be as many as 140,000.

Heading a panel of ten Texans in studying development of a manpower pool will be Dr. Seymour Wolfstein, special assistant to the Secretary of Labor. Creation of large numbers of assistants, plus training programs in college and universities in the State, is considered the only possible solution to adequately staffing community mental health and mental retardation centers in Texas.

Mike Gorman, executive director of the National Committee Against Mental Illness, will speak to the group Friday. Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, Ben Barnes, will summarize issues raised at the workshop by a number of Texas department heads, legislators, and professional lobbyists.

R. Doyle Best, Vocational Rehabilitation Administration representative, will head a panel of consultants on the establishment of a "halfway" house for mental patients. Special invitation are being sent to those interested in providing such transitional residences for the mentally retarded, for adolescents coming out of training schools, and other groups needing a "temporary stopover" between the institution and full community living.

Establishment of policy in making an attack on smoking in the State of Texas will be done Thursday as representatives of six State agencies gather. The meeting is expected to serve as a foundation for organization of a Texas Interagency Council on Smoking and Health.

Addresses will be delivered by Dr. Charles A. Lemaistre, University of Texas vice chancellor for health affairs and a member of the Surgeon General's advisory committee on smoking and health; and Dr. William S. Brumage, director of the Division of Cancer and Heart, State Health Department.

Representatives of participating agencies will include Dr. Sam A. Nixon of Floresville, chairman of the public health committee, Texas Medical Association; Lewis A. Spears, program director of health, safety, driver education, physical education and recreation, division of program development, Texas Education Agency; Jack M. Harrison, director of public education, American Cancer Society; Mrs. Marjorie McDowell of Houston, associate director, Texas Heart Association; Mrs. Pauline K. Matthis, executive director of the Texas TB Association; and Mrs. Helen S. Hill, visual education specialist with the State Health Department's cancer and heart division.

Enrollment figures for the University of Texas have now climbed to just over 27,000 according to official reports from the registrar's office. The number enrolled is again a record figure, but increase drops have been noticed in various classifications.

And a small issue has arisen on campus over the school colors — making a big enough stir to prompt the Board of Regents into appointing a committee to look into the matter.

A petition to the Regents came from alumni of the school who ask that the University adopt in all emblems and uniforms a hue of orange as nearly as possible like the color of the original seal. Other shades have been seen "here and there" over the campus, especially when the Texas Longhorns take to the field in their burnt-orange jerseys.

Serving on the colors committee are representatives from the Development Board, Office of the Dean of Students, Students' Association, Orange Jackets (women's service organization), Art Department, Ex-Students' Association, and Darrell Royal, director of athletics, and Frank Wardlaw, director of University Press.

The committee is expected to report to the Chancellor's office in time for the Board of Regents to recommendations early in 1967.

A $5,000 grant from Houston Endowment, Inc., to help the State Bar revise the Texas penal code has been announced by Bar president W. O. Shafer of Odessa. This is the second contribution the Bar has received this year from the Houston foundation, established by the late Mr. and Mrs. Jesse H. Jones.

Dean W. Page Keeton of the University of Texas Law School, also chairman of the penal code revision committee, has announced that the first of a series of work sessions on revision of the Penal Code will begin this Friday. The continuing study will require more than a year, and the completed revision should be ready for submission to the State Legislature in 1969.

"Freshman Mathematics Course Descriptions" is a bulletin to soon be found on shelves in high schools soon when it is issued by the Texas Association of Colleges and Universities and the Texas Education Agency. The bulletin describes the program of mathematics offered by each of the State's institutions of higher learning to its freshmen students. It was prepared by the Commission on Schools and College Relations of the Texas Association of Colleges and Universities, working with the Texas Education Agency.

Governor John Connally is pushing his plan for a complete overhaul of the constitution of the State of Texas, which was written in 1876. Speaking to the County Judges and Commissioners Association which recently met in Houston, Connally stressed these points:

1) The constitution is too long. (55,000 words compared to 9,000-12,500 in other states' revised constitutions.)

2) There are far too many amendments. (158, making it a "patchwork of repetition and ambiguities.")

3) The constitution is poorly arranged and filled with "dead wood," no longer applicable to the modern State.

Connally said that as it now stands, "If a constitution is defined as a flexible instrument establishing, limiting, defining and distributing fundamental powers, then we in fact have no constitution. We have a legislative code."

In improving the State's system of governing, Connally cited these needs:

1) Annual sessions of the Texas Legislature, which would be more effective as a balance and check on day-to-day expenditures of public funds.

2) Reevaluation of all existing political structures with a view towards consolidation of the existing 3,300 taxing authorities to eliminate duplication and overlapping in services and functions.

"Our state is growing at a rate that sometimes staggers the imagination," Connally said. "Sometimes growth outstrips our ability to react and meet our obligations. By the year 2020 the population is expected to reach 30 million. Growth is frustration when government has the will but not the means to be responsive and responsible."

Connally urged those attending to vote "yes" in the November election for the 16 proposed constitutional amendments. Of particular interest, he said, is the measure providing authorization for doubling the Texas Water Development Fund. Although giving full to these amendments for the present constitution, the governor said he sees two other alternatives besides his plan for a new constitution:

1) An extension of Federal standard setting, decision making and administrative control by means of more "functional government" using existing local governments as administrative agencies in executing national policy, or

2) Expansion of the administrative mechanisms of the states to supersede local authorities, or the Governor's plan

3) Reform local government to encourage local policy decision-making and effective management of local affairs.

"There isn't any question which alternative I favor," Connally asserted. "When I assumed the office of governor, I said the strength of our system urgently demands a renaissance of local responsibility."

"I am no less committed to that course today. Local government has been the strength of our system and we can take pride in its accomplishments. We continue to look to it for the courage and conviction which will help magnify the greatness of this State and its people."

A summer recess for the Supreme Court of Texas saw a record work output, says Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert who claims it has been the heaviest output of work during a summer recess during his 16-year tenure on the Supreme Court.

The 137 orders announced revealed that during their vacation Supreme Court justices discussed and decided five causes, 102 applications for writs of error, 23 rehearing motions, five mandamus motions and two miscellaneous items.

Dr. John J. Biesele, University of Texas professor of zoology and director of the UT Genetics Foundation, would like to see the State establish several large "natural areas" of land for the study of baseline ecology. He made the statement during a three-day conference for the Advancement of Science and Mathematics teaching.

Dr. Biesele said that he visualized the proposed natural areas not as a part of the State parks system but rather administered by educational institutions and restricted largely to scientists, teachers and students.

"Just as a starter," Dr. Biesele said the State should consider setting aside natural areas in at least 12 areas of Texas: the pinelands and river bottoms of northeast Texas, the big thickets of the southeast, the coastal prairie and the marshes, the oak hickory woodlands in the tertiary gravels, the blackland prairie, the cross timbers, the hot brush country of Southern Texas, the Balcones Escarpment and the Edwards Plateau, the staked plains, the sandy South Plains, and the Trans-Pecos mountains and high plateaus.

Biesele told the secondary school science teachers from throughout Texas attending the conference that there must be an understanding of "the balanced functioning of natural environments and of the populations of living organisms within them."

An official Texas historical marker recognizing the first Lieutenant Governor of the State of Texas, along with other past lieutenant governors, was dedicated Wednesday at Gonzales. Walter Woodul of Austin, who served as Texas' Lieutenant Governor from 1935 to 1939, gave the dedicatory address. Preston Smith, presently holding the office, was Master of Ceremonies.

Living lieutenant governors and descendants of former lieutenant governors were invited to participate in the dedication program by the Gonzales County Historical Survey Committee and the Gonzales Chamber of Commerce.

The marker lists the names, period of service and duties of all the lieutenant governors. The position of Lieutenant Governor is second only to that of Governor in the State of Texas.

Red Cross Sends Bags Overseas

Shipment of 177 Red Cross ditty bags for Christmas gifts to military personnel in Viet Nam combat areas, exceeding this county's quota by more than three-fourths, has been made, Mrs. Genevieve Miller, Red Cross executive secretary, announces.

Assigned a quota of 100 bags filled with such small items as soap, razors and writing materials, residents of Deaf Smith County provided 177. The gift bags are to be distributed to servicemen Christmas morning as a greeting from friends at home. Melvin Jayroe, County Red Cross Chapter chairman, expressed his thanks to women of church and club groups and residents of King's Manor who contributed time to make the bags and items to fill them, also to persons who contributed funds for shipping charges.

Card Of Thanks

To the most wonderful people in the world, words cannot express the deep gratitude and appreciation for all the food brought in, cards sent and other kindnesses shown my family while I was in Dallas and since my return, May God Bless each and everyone of you.

Mrs. E. E. Bishop

Fresh parsley in the house? Mince lots of it and add to bread stuffing for roast chicken or turkey. The parsley provides delightful flavor — if you add enough of it.
