

Friemel Speaks At Committee Hearings in Washington

Hereford Farmer Attacks Ag 'Prophets of Gloom'

WASHINGTON (AP) - Texas farmers plowed into the government's "Prophets of Doom" during the concluding session of hearings this week before the House Agriculture Committee.

Jerome Friemel of Hereford said Thursday that Congress spent "much energy and research in the creation of the 1977 Farm Bill," but the legislation has been rejected by America's farmers.

"It could be time to question the sources of information on the farm problem and its possible solutions," the West Texas grain farmer added. "Many of your high-ranking advisers and economists seem to offer no solutions - they are only Prophets of Gloom - who believe that there is absolutely no solution to the problems of the family farmer.

"It may well be time to seek solutions from other sources, new minds that have a positive attitude toward the problem and really believe that there is a solution."

The cure-all, according to farmers, bankers, implement dealers and other agribusinessmen, is 100 percent parity, the prime demand of the American Agriculture Movement which sparked the committee hearings following more than a month of rallies and lobbying on Capitol Hill.

The hearings will resume Tuesday. "Many in the administration presently in power in Washington seem to have difficulty with the term parity," said Friemel. "They treat it as though it is a dirty word - parity is the quality or condition of being equal or equivalent... so we are, in reality, speaking of equality, equality for the producers of food and fiber in the United States."

The Agriculture Department estimates farmers are receiving an average of 65 percent parity for their crops.

Like most of their counterparts from other states, Texans came to the committee hearings armed with statistics showing the built-in loss to farmers under the current price structure.

Lazbuddie farmer JerryDon Glover testified that his costs per acre in 1977 totaled $126.28 compared to a maximum income per acre of $112.50.

"I will lose less money by destroying the wheat than I will by producing it," he said. "I believe this will be the rule rather than the exception in my area. When I consider my loss in 1977 and my locked-in loss of 1978, under our tax structure, there is no way to legally repay such a deficit."

Testifying in a room crowded with more than 100 farmers, Hart grain dealer-farmer DeWayne Brown noted, "I usually get frightened and scared when I talk to a group such as this, but today I share the same feelings the people sitting behind me have - fright and fear of the American farmer going broke."

A four-man panel of Texas cotton producers voiced similar sentiments.

"We must have a workable farm program in the near future," said Seagraves' Tommy Lacy. "The continuous disastrous approach that we are now following is only digging the farmers' hole deeper and deeper."

He also gave the committee a list of businesses in Seagraves with comments on the state of the town's economy. "Gross sales down 63 percent," said Condit Implement. "Slow, ready to close," accompanied Seagraves Floral.

Stan Shockley, a 23-year-old cotton farmer from Ropesville, testified that the young farmer who doesn't own his land is bolting heading into bankruptcy. "If it is

Canal Issue Offers Real Give-Take Senate Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) - The arguments are familiar, but the Panama Canal debate is giving Americans the opportunity to hear a rare experience: a genuine give-and-take debate on the Senate floor.

Time after time, senators took the floor Thursday to give their views on the history, politics, legality or economics of the canal issue. But each time, someone from the opposition interrupted to question the accuracy of the speaker's point.

It was not a normal Senate session, in which debate often seems a lost art.

So why the unusual drama that playing itself out coast-to-coast via National Public Radio?

Because, as Senate Minority Leader Howard H. Baker, R-Iowa, noted, the treaties "still don't have the votes to pass."

Stop the Presses!

Editor Has Daughter

Brand managing editor Paul Sims stumbled by the newspaper office early this morning to announce that his wife, Denise, had given birth to their first child - a girl who weighed in at 6 pounds, 1 1/2 ounces.

Mother and daughter are doing fine, but Sims was in a state of shock after waiting nervously all night at Deaf Smith General Hospital. At last report, however, he was sleeping off the ordeal and is expected to recover his composure by this afternoon.

Sims' scheduled three-part series on "better living" will continue Sunday with a feature on credit and banking practices. The first installment appeared in Thursday's Brand and listed tips on home buying.

the Senate. What goes on here will decide the outcome.

Baker, who supports the treaties, agrees with his opponents that this debate is a rarity in that arguments on the floor might change key votes or sway one of the handful of undecideds.

Most polls indicate opponents are about three votes shy of the 34 needed to preclude the treaties' ratification. Both must be approved by a two-thirds majority.

Thursday's debates covered a multitude of points.

Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., sparred with James Allen, D-Ala., and Paul Laxalt, R-Nev., over whether a Panamanian had signed the 1903 treaty that gave the United States the Canal Zone.

Byrd said no Panamanian actually signed the document.

Laxalt interrupted him. "The treaty was ratified by the people and the federal government of Panama," he told Byrd. "As if it were with a pistol at its temple," Byrd parried.

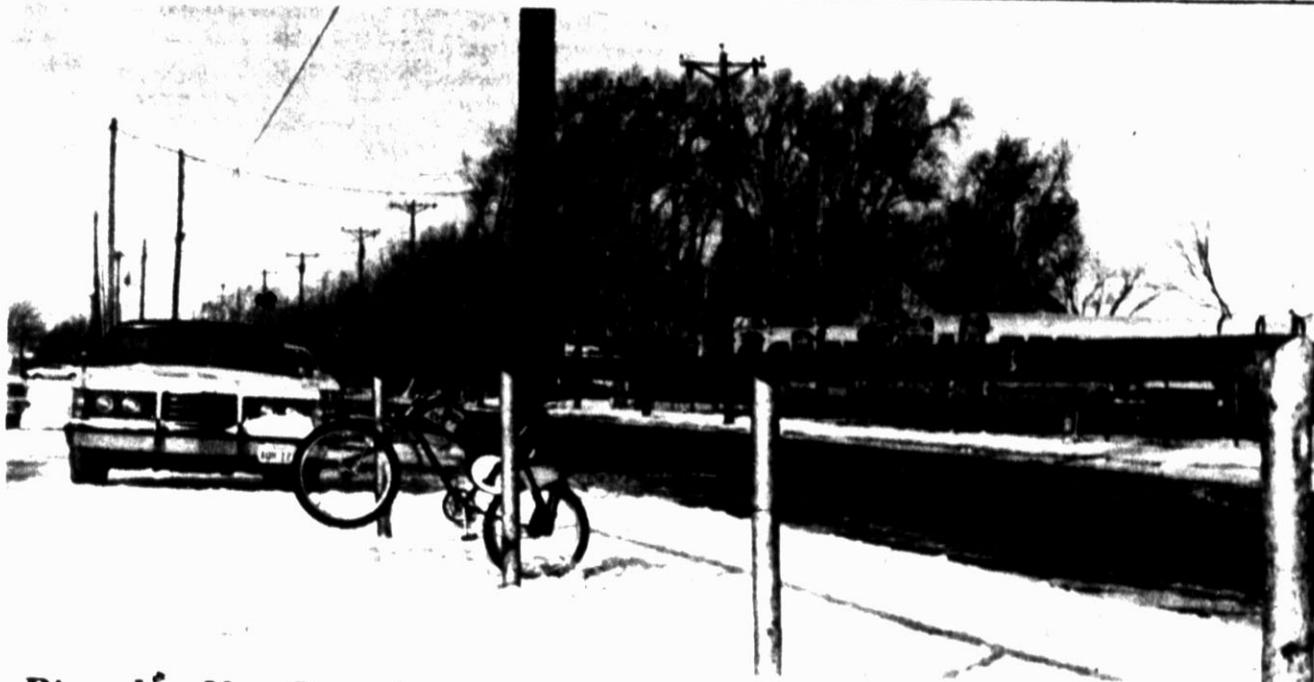

Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, and Clifford Case, R-N.J., debated whether the treaties would require large appropriations of American tax dollars to keep the waterway open in the future.

Hatch, one of the opposition's leading spokesmen, clashed with Paul Sarbanes, D-Md., over legal points involved in the canal issue.

There were disagreements over Panamanian politics, over how well Panamanian leader Omar Torrijos might adhere to the treaties and over his government's human rights record.

Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, another supporter of the proposed treaties, said the 1903 agreement was "unjust."

Bicyclés Not Popular

With an estimated 3 to 4 inches of snow falling here this week, the bicycle traffic was not heavy, as evidenced by this lone two-wheeler at one of the school's bicycle racks. Motorists also found driving quite hazardous around the city. A warming trend was forecast for today, but another cold front was headed this way for the weekend.

Warming Trend Seen in Texas

Cold, cloudy weather settled in over Texas today, but there was no precipitation, frozen or otherwise, reported in the state.

Some light drizzle was reported in the Houston area during the night, but by daybreak, no rain, snow, sleet or freezing rain was being reported for the first time since Monday evening.

Temperatures in most of the ice and snow covered areas of North Texas were expected to reach high enough to melt some of the ice and snow cover. Early morning temperatures remained below freezing across most of the area and most roads had a thin glaze of ice on them, causing hazardous driving conditions.

Some fog was reported in the Piney Woods of East Texas and in portions of the Panhandle, but visibility was greater than one mile.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the teens in the Panhandle and in farm North Texas to the 40s in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Early morning extremes ranged from 14 at Wichita Falls to 42 at Brownsville.

Some early morning readings included 19 at Amarillo, 29 at Texarkana, 25 at Dallas-Fort Worth, 31 at Austin, 30 at Lufkin, 34 at Corpus Christi, 40 at McAllen, 27 at Del Rio, 25 at San Angelo, 37 at El Paso and 23 at Lubbock.

Forecasts called for considerable cloudiness statewide with a warming trend expected to continue through Saturday. Highs were expected to range from the upper 30s in Northeast Texas to the 60s in Southeast Texas and the lower 70s in the Big Bend area of West Texas.

Canada Orders 11 Soviet Officials Out of Country

OTTAWA (AP) - Canada threatened the expulsion of more Soviet diplomats if Moscow kicks out Canadian personnel in retaliation for the banning of 13 alleged Soviet spies.

Announcing the crackdown on one of the largest spy rings reported in Canadian history, External Affairs Minister Don Jamieson told the House of Commons Thursday the government would retaliate on a "one-for-one basis" if Canadian personnel were expelled from the Soviet Union.

Jamieson said four of the 13 Soviet officials were ordered to leave the country by next Monday, seven were given until Feb. 23 to get out and two who are out of the country will not be allowed to return.

The Russians, who were accused of trying to get information on the security service of the Mounted Police from a high-ranking Mountie official, included the first secretary of the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa, Igor Vartanian, and two second secretaries.

Canada's embassy in Moscow has more than 40 staff members, while the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa has had 64.

Jamieson said the affair was a serious setback to Canadian-Soviet relations. He told the House he refused an invitation to visit the Soviet Union because of it.

A Soviet Embassy press officer refused to say what action his government might take.

"Call us back next week," he said. "We will make up our minds with the help of Moscow."

Jamieson told Parliament two Soviet officials approached the officer of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Canada's equivalent of the FBI, early last year and offered "an unlimited sum of money to spy for them."

He said the Canadian, whom he did not identify, knew one of the agents from a previous assignment and immediately reported the overture to his superiors.

The RCMP authorized him to try to trick the Russians, Jamieson continued, and the officer met with Vartanian seven times to hand over doctored information. In return, he was paid $30,500 in several installments and was offered an "unlimited amount of money," the minister said.

Jamieson said the 12 other Soviets in the case were involved in "different support functions, including transportation, counter-surveillance and regular weekly observation activities."

"This case proved to be a classic example of an intelligence operation," he continued, "involving complex signaling systems, coded passwords, secret concealment devices, all for the purpose of arranging clandestine meetings between the RCMP member and the Soviet agent."

Derek Burney, chief press aide at the Department of External Affairs, indicated one of the reasons the government blew the whistle on the Russians was that they were about to find out the Mountie "as tricking them and his life was in danger."

Two Candidates File For City, School Posts

Two candidates have filed for the city and school elections coming up April 1, it was revealed in a check with local offices today.

James Arney has filed for re-election to the Hereford School Board, Place 2, and Emory Brownlow, a former city Commissioner, has filed as a candidate for Place 4 on the city governing body.

Deadline for filing in the local governmental elections is March 1.

Four terms expire on the school board and three incumbents have filed for re-election - Arney, board president James Green, and vice president Clark

Andrews. Arney will be seeking his third term on the board. Trustee terms are for three years. Paul Rameriz is the new candidate, seeking the Place 7 position vacated by David Pruitt, who recently moved.

On the city commission, two terms are expiring. Brownlow is seeking the Place 4 position now occupied by Frank Barrett. No decision has been announced by Barrett, and he was not available for comment this morning. Stan Fry currently holds the Place 3 seat, and he has announced as a county commissioner candidate. Terms are two years on the city commission.

Collie Gives Life to Save Family From Blazing Home

FLORENCE (AP) - A gallant pet collie gave its life in searing flames and smothering smoke to save a sleeping Central Texas family from the blaze gutting their home, officials say.

Mary Fenoglio told fire officials that she and her two teenage children were asleep about 12:30 a.m. Thursday when the dog began barking to warn her of the fire on the stars of the two-story home.

"The dog was penned up in a washroom behind a small wooden gate," said Florence Volunteer Fire Chief Jerry Smith. "It jumped the gate and ran into the den where Mrs. Fenoglio was sleeping and started barking."

Mrs. Fenoglio told officials the flames were too intense on the stars and blocked her from going upstairs where Beth, 16, and John, 13, were sleeping.

But she said the dog leaped up the stairs through the flames and smoke to alert the youths, who leaped to safety from the windows of their bedrooms.

The collie, however, was trapped and died in the blaze, said officials. The name of the dog was not immediately available.

Mrs. Fenoglio, whose husband, John, was in Houston on a business trip, suffered minor burns and her children were treated and released for minor smoke inhalation.

The $75,000 rock and wood home about nine miles from this small town was totally destroyed.

Smith said the fashionable, new home was totally engulfed in flames when the Florence Volunteer Fire Department arrived.

Authorities theorized the fire began in the central heating system.

Webster Confirmed As New FBI Director

WASHINGTON (AP) — William H. Webster says he was surprised that the Senate confirmed him as the new FBI director as quickly as it did Thursday.

"You're really catching me without a prepared statement," he told a reporter in St. Louis.

"I feel really good...I'm very gratified."

Webster, 53, a federal appeals court judge in St. Louis, succeeds Clarence Kelley, who is retiring. Webster's appointment for a 10-year term was confirmed by a voice vote.

During his confirmation hearing last month, Webster pledged to ensure that the FBI would remain within the law and he vowed to prevent political use of the agency's information.

Vance Says Cubans Fight for Ethiopia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 2,000 Cubans are involved "in combat roles" on the side of Ethiopia in its conflict with Somalia, dampening U.S. hopes of improved relations with Havana, says Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance.

The estimate goes beyond earlier State Department figures tying Cubans to the Ogaden desert fighting. Vance cited the new numbers Thursday in a speech to a group of business leaders at the State Department.

The Somalis have been reporting Cuban involvement both in ground fighting and in jet fighter attacks since the level of hostilities began increasing a few weeks.

State Will Support New Probe of Estes

AUSTIN (AP) — A federal grand jury probing the recent business activities of convicted swindler Billie Sol Estes will get full cooperation from the state attorney general's office, says Attorney General John Hill.

"In the course of our civil investigation, we've obtained information considered pertinent to the grand jury's probe. Our office will be cooperating in every possible way to assist the grand jury with its work," Hill said Thursday.

Hill's staff, which has conducted a 10-month probe into fraud allegations against Estes, received a subpoena late Wednesday asking that it turn over its documents and information to the grand jury.

The grand jury met Jan. 10-11 in Abilene, where Estes now lives, and will reconvene Feb. 27 in Wichita Falls.

Angry Union Leaders Reject Coal Pact

Angry union leaders in the Appalachian coalfields are pressuring members of the United Mine Workers bargaining council to reject a tentative contract settlement in the 67-day nationwide strike.

Votes urging rejection of the pact at the council's meeting in Washington today were passed by local presidents in District 6, which covers Ohio and northern West Virginia, and by the executive board of District 29 in southern West Virginia.

And District 6 miners drove to Washington overnight in hopes of persuading the 39-member council to scotch the agreement.

If the agreement is approved it goes to the membership for ratification. If it is rejected, UMW President Arnold Miller must return to the bargaining table with the Bituminous Coal Operators Association.

Mixed Drink Sales Leaped In 1977

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas mixed drink sales leaped 25.7 percent in 1977, to more than half a billion dollars, Comptroller Bob Bullock said Thursday.

Bullock said the $540 million in sales last year produced $38.3 million in taxes for the state, $8.1 million for counties and $7.5 million for cities.

In the fourth quarter alone, sales of liquor by the drink totaled $144 million, the highest for any quarter since mixed drink sales were legalized seven years ago, the comptroller said.

Police Report

Only one complaint was reported by the Hereford Police Department this morning — the theft of a battery from a pickup.

Police said Cecil Mardis, 625 Ave. H, reported the battery was taken from his vehicle while he was in a local restaurant Thursday evening.

Motorists are cautioned to drive with extreme care as city streets are still hazardous due to patches of snow and ice.

Scholastic Art Exhibit Includes Local Youth

Several local students are participating in the Regional Scholastic Arts Awards Exhibition, currently being held in Western Plaza in Amarillo, sponsored by Western Plaza Merchants Association and Scholastic Magazine.

This annual exhibition represents the highest quality of art produced by junior and senior high school students in 32 counties of northwest Texas. The public is encouraged to visit the art display which will continue through Feb. 18.

Terie Beth Rush and Miss Vicki O'Hair, art teachers at Hereford High School, expressed pride in those Hereford youth, who were recognized as regional winners and whose works are now on exhibit.

The local winners include:

- John Ohlig, a junior, who won the Gold Key Award for pastels, the Gold Key Award for graphic design, and a Gold Key finalist for mixed media.
- Stephanie Stringer, a senior, who won the Certificate of Merit for pastels.

- Kim Oswalt, a junior, who won the Certificate of Merit for watercolor.
- Greg Brockman, a senior, who won the Gold Key Award for pencil drawing.
- Kay Inmon, a senior, who won the Gold Key Award for sculpture.
- Mona McNaney, a senior, who won the Gold Key finalist for three-dimensional design.
- Tammy Fischbacher, a junior, who won the Certificate of Merit for three-dimensional design.
- Karen Lowrie, a senior, who won the Certificate of Merit for three-dimensional design.
- Rich Kendrick, a sophomore, who won the Certificate of Merit for pencil drawing.

Students who earned the Gold Key Awards will receive small gold key pins. This is the highest honor offered in the Regional Scholastic Art Awards Exhibit.

Dear Editor,

I thoroughly enjoyed the editorial "There Is No Place Like Home" submitted by Cora Johnson in the Feb. 8 issue of the Hereford Brand. However its meaning is not appropriate only for the Pro Family, Pro Life Coalition.

As a strong supporter of the Equal Rights Amendment I too, as do many other ERA supporters, believe in the importance of a rich home atmosphere and the Christian way of life.

The Abundant Life

A GREAT VICTORY

BY BOB WEAR

A GREAT VICTORY, the greatest anyone can win, is the victory over self. This victory will bring the greatest blessings in both our personal life experience, and in our interaction with others. It will subjugate all of the hurtful attitudes and actions, and set free the helpful attitudes and conduct so that these are in control of one's life.

WE CAN CONQUER SELF. Of course, this includes wholesome self-control; but it is more than self-control. For example: It is not uncommon for us to feel the pangs of envy, but, having learned self-control, we may be able to keep this feeling from being expressed in our speech and behavior.

SELF-CONTROL in such things is commendable, but even so the feeling is detrimental to one's general welfare. There must be something more effective than self-control, and there is. It is the conquering of self, until we no longer feel envious. This is not an unrealistic expectation, and we must work toward this end.

THIS CONQUERING OF SELF is not an overnight accomplishment, and it may never be a total victory. We can, however, make encouraging progress. All dependable sources of information pertaining to human behavior reveal that we can be reasonably successful in conquering self.

CONTINUOUS SELF-IMPROVEMENT is the strategy that brings victory. It is accomplished by wise submission to the highest and most wholesome ideals and principles of human thought and action. The detrimental ideas and views must be replaced with beneficial ones. This can be done, if we have sufficient desire and are willing to keep trying. Some of this may be the trial and error method, but most of it can be done by a well-planned and diligently executed campaign.

EACH DAY CAN BRING some portion of victory, at least enough to keep us encouraged. We can make sure to hold the ground we gain, and, if we do this, the passing of time brings an accumulation of these daily victories. Thus, we conquer self.

WE HAVE WONDERFUL possibilities and capacities for good, but we also have capacities for evil. We must choose which shall dominate us, of course, there will probably be a mixture of good and evil in our life pattern. We can, however, keep the evil to a harmless minimum. This will be a very significant part of the victory over self.

CONQUER YOURSELF. "Till you have done this, you are but a slave; for it is almost as well to be subjected to another's appetite as to your own." — Burton.

WHEN WE CONQUER SELF, we have gained the greatest degree of personal freedom, personal effectiveness, and personal well-being; and all else that contributes to a constructive and truly satisfying life.

ANYWAY WE VIEW IT, this is a great victory.

'Nutribird' Promotes Daily Balanced Diet

COLLEGE STATION — "Eat a balanced diet every day," says American Dietetics Association "Nutribird," the bird-person symbol for "March is Nutrition Month."

A balanced diet includes foods from four basic food groups, according to Frances Reasonover, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Everyone needs the same nutrients, but some people need different amounts, the specialist explains.

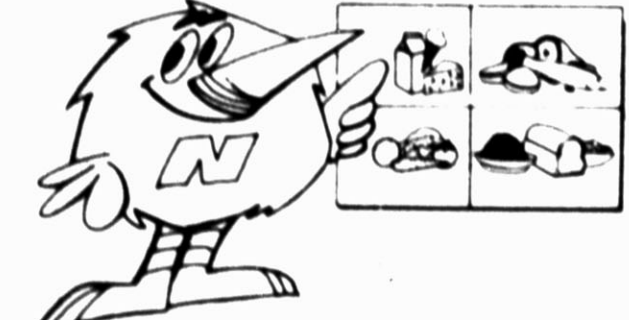

Nutrient needs — translated into food — are commonly known as the "basic four" — milk group, meat group, fruit-vegetable group, and bread-cereal group.

MILK GROUP

The milk group includes milk and dairy products.

This group is especially rich in calcium, the specialist says.

The National Research Council Recommended Dietary Allowances for calcium are set at 500 milligrams for children and adults with an increase to 1,200 for adolescence, pregnancy and lactation. Infants need from 360 to 540 milligrams daily.

Children under nine years of age and adults need two cups of milk daily to meet these requirements.

Children nine to 12 and pregnant women can fulfill their increased calcium need during rapid growth by drinking three or more cups of milk daily, Miss Reasonover adds.

MEAT GROUP

The meat group mainly furnishes protein necessary for growth and repair of body tissue — muscle, organs, blood, skin and hair.

Two or more servings are recommended.

Two to three ounces of lean-cooked meat, poultry or fish without bone count as one serving.

FRUIT-VEGETABLE GROUP

The fruit-vegetable group includes all vegetables and fruits.

This group chiefly contributes vitamins and mineral to the diet — especially vitamins A and C. Vitamin C promotes healthy gums and body tissue. Vitamin A is needed for growth, normal vision and healthy skin.

Four servings are recommended daily.

One serving includes: one-half cup of vegetable or fruit, or a portion ordinarily served such as one medium apple, banana or potato, half a medium grapefruit or cantaloupe or the juice of one lemon.

BREAD-CEREAL GROUP

The bread-cereal group includes all breads and cereals that are whole grain, enriched or restored.

Foods from this group help provide protein, iron, several B vitamins and food energy.

Choose four servings from this group, the specialist continues.

One serving counts as one slice of bread, one ounce ready-to-eat cereal, one-half to three-fourths cup cooked cereal, cornmeal, grits, macaroni, noodles, rice or spaghetti.

Save Oven Energy When Practical

COLLEGE STATION — When oven roasting and baking, practice energy-saving methods, says Dr. Carolyn McKinney, family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

The specialist suggests several energy saving techniques.

When roasting large items, avoid preheating the oven — it is unnecessary and wastes several minutes of heat.

When baking cakes, pies, or cookies, preheat the oven — but have pans ready to go in as soon as the preheat temperature is reached.

Then, resist the temptation to "peek." A 20 percent heat loss occurs each time the oven door is open.

This wastes energy and also increases baking time.

Plan to bake several items requiring the same temperature at the same time.

Then, use "leftover" oven heat to crisp crackers, dry bread crumbs, or warm other foods, she adds.

The Aurora Borealis, also called the Northern Lights, is a broad display of rather faint lights in the northern skies at night.

Kleasen Pleads Innocent On Six Counts

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Robert Elmer Kleasen, who recently was freed from a death sentence in the slaying of two Mormon missionaries, pleaded innocent to a six-count firearms indictment.

Kleasen, pale and paunchy, told U.S. District Judge Jack Roberts he was sick with the flu and was suffering from malnutrition.

The U.S. marshal assured Roberts a doctor would be provided.

Roberts deferred action by Kleasen's lawyer, Marvin Teague, to release Kleasen on his own personal recognizance. Bond currently is set at $100,000.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Jerry Handy opposed Kleasen's release on personal recognizance, saying, "Mr. Kleasen may be a danger to society."

Roberts set Kleasen's trial for March 27. The federal indictment alleges that in the summer of 1973 Kleasen three times bought firearms and signed a federal form stating he was not under indictment for a crime when in fact he was.

Travis County District Attorney Ronald Earle said Wednesday there is not enough evidence to re-try Kleasen for murder in connection with the 1975 shooting deaths of the two missionaries.

Obituaries

WALLACE WOOLSEY

Services are pending at Smith and Co. Funeral Home for a 39-year-old man who died of apparent exposure after being found Wednesday on a private road east of here.

Wallace Woolsey, who was dressed only in a long-sleeve shirt, corduroy pants, moccasins and socks when he was found, died shortly before noon in Deaf Smith General Hospital.

An autopsy was ordered by Deaf Smith County Justice of the Peace Glen Nelson.

Woolsey, who owned a home in Hereford was found by a private citizen about 9 a.m. east of Hereford, on a private road a quarter mile east of U.S. 385, sheriff's deputies said.

No vehicle was found near the scene or in the vicinity, deputies said.

The man was apparently wandering in the snow as temperatures hovered around 20 degrees. He was alive when found but he said nothing to authorities. "He was just moaning," said a deputy.

CONCHITA CALDERAS

Funeral services for Conchita Calderas (65) have been scheduled at 10 a.m. Monday in St. Joseph's Catholic Church with the Rev. James O'Connor, pastor, officiating.

The body will lie in state in the hall of the church. A rosary will be said each night beginning at 9 p.m.

Interment will be in St. Anthony's Catholic Cemetery under direction of Smith & Co. Funeral Home.

Mrs. Calderas body was found at 11:45 p.m. Wednesday in her home at 206 Bennett. She was propped against a bed on the floor in the bedroom, having been beaten and stabbed.

Her 24-year-old son, Ricardo Calderas, 206 Bennett, has been charged with the murder of his mother.

Mrs. Calderas was born Aug. 17, 1913 in Mexico. She was a housewife and a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church. She was a widow.

Survivors include two sons, Raul Gutierrez of Plainview and Ricardo Calderas of Hereford; four daughters, Sylvia Ramirez and Mary Villarreal of Hereford, Susie Ruiz and Lupita Mungia both of Dawn; and two sisters, Amalia Reyes and Catalina, both of Mexico.

Placing In Contest

Honors Won By Stanton

Student teams from Stanton Junior High School attended the Math and Science Contest held Saturday at Coronado High School in Amarillo.

Stanton was awarded second place in the science division. Individual science awards were won by Craig Hamman who placed third and Charlie Suarez placing tenth.

In the math division Barbie Koelzer took first place and Charlie Suarez placed tenth.

The students competed in a field of approximately 90 participants.

Adverse Weather Causes Rise in Meat Prices

COLLEGE STATION--Adverse weather is shoving meat prices higher and affecting tender-vegetable quality, so careful shopping is a "must" at Texas Grocery markets this week, says Gwendolyn Clyatt, a consumer marketing information specialist.

"Highlight" items for economy and quality are eggs, grapefruit, root vegetables and several canned items, she says.

Officers Installed By Rebekahs Here

Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228 met in regular session Tuesday evening at IOOF Temple with 15 members present.

Sick members and friends were reported on and a total of 44 visits had been made to the sick and 21 cards sent.

New officers for this term were installed by District Deputy President Ursalee Jacobsen, assisted by Lydia Hopson as Deputy Marshall. Installed were Edna Mathes, noble grand; Blanche Williamson, vice grand; Susie Curtsinger, recording secretary; Lydia Hopson, financial secretary; Martha Bridges, warden; Faye Brownlow, conductor; Mabel Strange, right support to vice grand; Verna Sowell, left support to vice grand; Helen Sowell, inside guardian; Peggy Lemons, outside guardian; Frances Parker, color bearer; Bessie Saulcy, banner bearer and Ursalie Jacobsen, musician.

Officers not present and to be installed at a later date were Ada Hollabaugh, treasurer; Bessie Lawrence, left support to noble grand and Sadie Shaw, chaplain.

Gene Bishop acted as Deputy Chaplain.

A pot luck supper was enjoyed by everyone following the meeting.

Sorority Queen To Be Crowned

At 9 o'clock tomorrow evening in the Knights of Columbus

Hall, the Queen of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority Sweetheart Ball will be crowned.

The Sweetheart Ball is the major sorority event of the season.

Candidates for the Sweetheart title were nominated by their respective chapters and include Donna Jones, Kappa Iota Chapter; Glenda Nigh, Alpha Iota Mu, and JoAnn Richburg, Xi Epsilon Alpha. The fourth local sorority chapter, Alpha Alpha, does not have a nominee for the queen's title this year.

The queen has been selected by a panel of four out-of-town judges, who interviewed the trio of candidates during the recent Sweetheart Tea.

"The Redden Brothers," a band from Portales, N.M. will provide dance music at Saturday night's ball. Tickets will cost $15 per couple.

Jan Waiser is general chairman of the upcoming ball and Opal Glenn is co-chairman.

LAMB--Egg prices are and are much lower than a year ago making them an economical protein choice. Some features appear on fryers, parts and chicken hens.

ALONG GROCERY MARKET AISLES--Specials include canned peaches, fruit cocktail, pears and tuna fish.

CONSUMER WATCHWORDS: For meat economy this week, take advantage of "specials."

Red wine or white wine go well with anything in the way of food you can afford these days.

Ann Landers
Theory Accepted

DEAR ANN: I refer to the woman who insisted that her parakeet became sexually excited when he witnessed a woman undressing. You said her notion of what turns our feathered friends on was strictly for the birds. You were wrong.

According to Konrad Lorenz, a foremost authority on animal and bird behavior, "Birds reared in isolation from their kind do not generally know which species they belong to. Consequently, birds raised singly, by hand, tend to regard human beings as their ONLY potential partners in all reproductive activities." This is from (King Solomon's Ring.) And you can print my name.

R.S. Kjarval
DEAR R.S.: Thanks for writing. From Konrad Lorenz I accept the theory. And now that I have printed your name - but not your city - be prepared for only 50 calls instead of 5,000!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I know two sweet little old ladies who are fighting inflation and inadequate social security by a little petty larceny and shoplifting.

They steal sugar packets, paper napkins from restaurants, paper towels, toilet tissue from restrooms, and little odds and ends from supermarkets and department stores. They would die of embarrassment if they were caught. Please warn them,

Reception Planned For C.J. Albrachts

The Catholic Mass will be celebrated at 10 a.m. tomorrow in St. Anthony's Catholic Church in honor of the 50th golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Albracht.

Friends of the couple are invited to attend the worship service, as well as a reception from 2-4 p.m. that day in the Antonian Room at St. Anthony's School.

Honoring their parents on their anniversary will be the Albrachts' five children, including Tommy, Roger and Duane Albracht, all of Hereford, Mrs. Jeanne Kriegerhauser of Clovis, N.M. and Sister Mary Cyril of St. Louis, Mo.

The couple has 17 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The couple were wed Feb. 1, 1928 in Holy Family Catholic Church at Okarche, Okla. They moved to Hereford in 1931. He is a retired farmer.

DOES SEARCH EQUAL ESCAPE

The sudden mass interest in genealogy precipitated by "Roots" is a bit beyond my comprehension.

I'm not talking about the natural curiosity about one's background and the pride that families possess. That's part of our heritage. My own family, paternal side, has compiled a beautiful book crammed full of interesting facts and forefathers.

What is really an atrocity to me is the person who is OBSESSED with finding out who his ancestors are and all they did. These people spend every waking hour and every ounce of energy in their pursuit.

There has even been a national organization formed by adoptees who are relentlessly searching for their natural parents.

What I want to ask these searchers is, "Will it make you a better person to know who your great-great-great aunt's cousin was?" "Will it make you a better neighbor, spouse or parent?"

If uncovering your heritage will help you to carry on the noble deeds of people past, then search on. Or, on the other hand, if the search takes on the form of escape, let's forget it and get back to the business of living!

Ann. Store owners and restaurant owners cannot take the huge annual loss from shoplifting - they must prosecute every offender. - New Orleans Reader

P.S. These little old ladies would never accept charity.

DEAR NEW ORLEANS: There is a big difference between taking sugar packets, and paper napkins and toilet tissue from restaurants, and "little odds and ends" from supermarkets. One the customer is entitled to, the other is petty larceny.

I hope you will explain to the little old ladies the dangers involved. Of course it's terrible that people are so desperate for the bare necessities that they feel justified in stealing, but it's extremely risky. The consequences if they are caught can be severe - not to mention the humiliation.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Memories flooded back as we read Hilldale's letter. We, too, lost a much-loved daughter. We don't remember just when her bereaved husband started looking for another companion, but we knew, and so did he, that eventually he had to stop grieving and make a new life for himself. Our dear son-in-law gave our daughter the happiest years of her life and that is what mattered to us.

We were happy when he told us he had found another woman he could love. And now we love her, too. She has earned and received the place in our hearts by being a fine person she is. We are "Mom" and "Dad" to her and Grandma and Grandpa to their adorable children.

The Hilldale parents have nothing to gain and everything to lose if they cannot look at life from their son-in-law's point of view. After all, he didn't have it easy if his wife was ill for two years and he was true to her all that time. - We've Been There in Kalamazoo

DEAR KAL: Many parents wrote to express a similar point of view. It's good to know that so many readers realize life is for the living.

District Showdown Tonight!

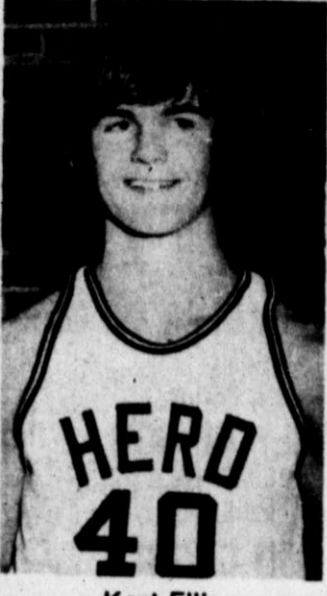

Kelly Kitchens

David Schumacher

David Arney

Kent Ellis

Ricky Matchett

By BOB NIGH
Sports Editor

Five seniors play their final home game for the Hereford Whitefaces tonight, and the game ranks as probably as important as any the quintet has played in to date as the Monterey Plainsmen arrive in town for a 7:30 p.m. showdown with the defending District 4-4A champion Herd.

All-District performer Kelly Kitchens, the sparkplug for Herd cage teams for the past three seasons, joins with upperclassmen David Schumacher, David Arney, Kent Ellis, and Ricky Matchett in playing his final contest before the home folks. The 5-10 Kitchens enters the game with a 22.5 scoring average over 29 games this season, and has produced points at a 17.7 clip in six district games.

Schumacher, 6-3, and Arney 6-1, are the other two starting Whitefaces playing their last home game. The 6-3 Schumacher has a 13.9 average on the year, while hitting 13.0 in loop action. Arney sports 6.9 and 6.0 figures respectively.

Ellis and Matchett, 6-0 and 6-1 respectively, have bolstered the team as reserves throughout the season. Ellis has a 1.6 average on the year and a 1.5 standard in loop play, while Matchett has a 1.2 average overall and a .3 average in district play.

The Whitefaces and Plainsmen have almost identical season records with the Herd standing 17-12 and Monterey at 17-11. The Plainsmen won the first half of district action with a 4-0 mark, beating the Herd 68-58 along the way, and are 2-0 in the second half.

Hereford, a 2-2 in the first half, has posted a 2-0 mark in the second half thus far, rallying for a 67-55 win over the Plainview Bulldogs Tuesday night to set up the decisive match tonight.

Plainsmen coach Joe Michalka will probably start seniors Tony Hamby (6-4), David Davidson (6-0), and David Key (5-11) and juniors Craig Ehlo (6-1) and Kevin Kirkman (6-4) tonight.

Juniors Jackie Mercer (5-10) and Robert Lee Graves (6-1) will join Kitchens, Schumacher, and Arney in the starting lineup for Hereford.

Mercer sports a 7.1 scoring average on the year and a 4.3 standard in loop play, while Graves has a 10.9 average for the season and a 5.9 average in district play.

Hamby leads the Plainsmen in scoring this season with a 15.3 average in 28 games. Davidson is the only other Monterey starter in double figures on the year with an 11.5 standard. Ehlo has a 7.1 average, while Kirkman and Key have 4.9 and 3.0 figures respectively.

In the rebounding department Hamby has 239 caroms on the year for an 8.5 average. Ehlo has 126 total for a 4.5 standard, while Kirkman is third on the list with 84 total (3.1).

Schumacher and Graves lead the Herd in rebounding with 7.5 and 5.9 averages. Schumacher has 203 total, while Graves has hauled in 171. Mercer and Arney both have 4.3 averages in caroms with 119 and 124 totals respectively. Kitchens adds 3.3 rebounds a game to the HHS total.

The Whitefaces as a team are scoring 68.9 points per game, while giving up 65.1. Hereford has scored 1,998 points this year while giving up 1,888 to their 29 opponents.

The Herd has also fared slightly better than their foes in rebounding as a team with a 28.8 average as compared to 28.6 by their opponents. On the season the Whitefaces have collected 834 caroms to 828 by their foes.

The Plainsmen also own a victory over the Herd prior to the start of district play. Monterey beat the 'Faces 56-47 for third place in the Hereford Tournament last December. Hamby and Davidson each tallied 16 points in that MHS win, while Ehlo and Kirkman both added 10. Davidson and Hamby beat the Herd almost by themselves the last time the two clubs met. Davidson exploded for 21 points, while Hamby added 18.

Kitchens has a 20.0 average against the Plainsmen this year, having scored exactly that number of points in each of the games. Schumacher has also been consistent against Monterey, scoring 12 and 13 in the teams' two games to date.

A victory tonight will put the Whitefaces in position to win the second half outright in a match with Lubbock High next Tuesday. And, it would probably force a playoff between the two clubs a week from tonight for the right to meet the District 3-4A winner in bi-district action.

Hogs Survive A&M

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) - It was like watching the rerun of an old movie in Thursday night's critical Southwest Conference basketball battle between second-ranked Arkansas and the Texas Aggies.

Arkansas fumbled away a 13-point lead at halftime last year then survived a Texas A&M rally for a 63-62 victory.

Arkansas watched a 13-point margin melt away under the pressure of a full-court press

Thursday night but went to radar-accurate Ron Brewer in the final 12 seconds for an 80-79 victory.

"It's always been tough for us to win here," sighed Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton, whose team is now 22-1 and 10-1 in SWC play, just a half-game behind the Texas Longhorns.

"We had a 13-point halftime lead here last year, too. A&M made a great run at us."

Brewer, who scored 25 points and canned 10 of 16 field-goal attempts made two free throws with 12 seconds to play to axe the Aggies, who play like the NBA All-Stars in G. Rollier White Coliseum.

The Aggie press forced Arkansas into 15 turnovers as Willie Foreman scored 20 of his 26 points in the second half.

"Arkansas still has the same weakness as last year," said A&M Coach Shelby Metcalf. "The way to beat them is to press for 40 minutes. We just can't do that. We pressed for 20 minutes in the second half and made up 12 points. . . we just can't stop Brewer."

Brewer made his free throws while the pro-Aggie crows of 6,997 roared and waved their jackets and arms.

Foreman and Joey Robinson had hit two key buckets to pull the Aggies within one point.

"Foreman had a super shooting night and Robinson hit that last one from Shelby's lap," said Sutton.

Brewer scored only six points in the second half after Metcalf switched Foreman to defense the Aggie guard.

Brewer said, "We weren't really trying to score against the press in the second half. We weren't worrying about the margin. . . we were just trying to conserve a lead and that's why it got so close."

Brewer missed a free throw with one second to play but the Aggies couldn't get away a shot before the buzzer.

"He missed that free throw but hit the ones that counted," said Sutton.

It was only the second time A&M had lost to Arkansas at home in the last 15 years. The Aggies had posted 13 consecutive victories until last season.

A&M is now 10-12 for the year and 3-9 in the SWC.

Arkansas' Jim Counce had a different viewpoint that Brewer on the Razorback difficulty with the press.

"The press spreads out the defense you're supposed to make them pay for it by being aggressive," he said. "We didn't do that."

Arkansas blew a fat lead to Wake Forest in the NCAA playoffs last year and lost to the Deacons and their fullcourt press.

The Razorbacks, highest ranked team in SWC history, still showed they can shoot with any team in the country.

They shot 70 percent from the field in the first half and finished with 63.2 percent for the night.

"We got too far behind in the first half," said Metcalf. "Arkansas couldn't miss."

Arkansas travels to Fort Worth Saturday night to play Texas Christian. Twelfth-ranked Texas is idle.

Pair Defends National Skating Championship

By LINDA KRAMER
Associated Press Writer
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) - A graceful series of synchronized jumps and spins led to an easy third national gold medal for Tai Babilonia and Randy Gardner, but they agree with the judges that their performance was marred.

"The ice was quite rough by the time we got on," Gardner said after the Thursday night pairs finals of the U.S. Figure Skating Championships at Memorial Coliseum. "We've been up all day and by the time we skated we were tired and stiff."

Gardner, 19, of Los Angeles, and Babilonia, 17, of Mission Hills, Calif., finished with 7 ordinals and 112.88 points to successfully defend their national senior pairs title. Ordinals are the rankings given the skaters by the seven judges.

The silver medal went to Gail Hamula and Frank Sweiding of Colorado Springs, Colo. with 14 ordinals and 110.26 points. Sheryl Franks of Lexington, Mass. and Michael Botticelli of Boston took third in the field of 11 couples with 23 ordinals and 106.36.

Several of the pairs had to make last minute changes in their routines because the Memorial Coliseum rink was smaller than those they used for practice. Most of the couples, including Babilonia, took at least one tumble and Judge Eleanor Curtis said that in general the evening's skating had been "sloppy."

"It definitely was not what we expected," said Mrs. Curtis. "Tai and Randy were outstanding but they have performed better. They were all pretty poor tonight."

But the crowd of 6,072 loved the young Californians and someone tossed a bouquet of roses onto the rink at the end of their routine.

Earlier, world champion Linda Fratianne strengthened her lead among the senior women during the short program - a two minute routine to music featuring required jumps and spins. The women's title will be decided after the freestyle performances tonight.

"She's definitely the best girl in the competition and everybody thinks she will win again," said Fratianne's coach, Frank Carroll. "But in skating you never know. Something can go wrong. In skating nothing is definite."

Another favorite of the crowd has been deaf skater David Michalowski, 20, of Park Ridge, Ill. He took the lead in the junior men's division after the compulsory figures Wednesday, but dropped to second place after the short program Thursday night.

The program featured seven required moves - moves Michalowski had to perform to music he has never been able to hear.

"I'm just so excited," he said after seeing the marks for his presentation. "I was disappointed with my footwork, but I was very happy with my jumps."

His coach, Carol Nitti Ueck, gave Michalowski hand signals to tell him when the music started and when to speed up his routine.

In the senior men's competition, defending champion Charlie Tickner of Littleton, Colo., took the lead after the compulsory figures Thursday morning. He was followed by David Santee of Park Ridge, Ill., and Scott Cramer of Colorado Springs, Colo.

Canyon Sweeps La Plata Girls

The La Plata Maverick girls' basketball teams closed out the season at home Thursday against Canyon Purple, and the visiting Eagles swept the three-game set from their hosts.

Canyon won the 7th grade encounter 30-8, claimed the 8th grade match 22-12, and squeaked by with 40-36 win in the freshman game.

Stephanie Foster scored four points and two points each from Michelle Clarke and Kari Walterscheid rounded out the La Plata scoring in the 7th grade game as Canyon rolled to a 30-8 decision. The Mavs weren't helped much when Foster fouled out of the game with three minutes left in the third period.

Brenda Straffuss tallied six points to lead the La Plata 8th grade in its loss. The Eagles resorted to delay tactics after taking a slim edge in the game, and the Mavericks couldn't respond. Debra Rogers added four points to the La Plata total, while Amy Schumacher scored two.

The freshman battle was close all the way even though Canyon took a 24-17 lead at the half. The Mavericks fought back with a 16-7 edge in the third period to lead 33-31 going into the final quarter, but the Eagles, who have lost but one game all season, prevailed.

Terri Harkins led La Plata with 13 points in the contest, while Keile Robinson added 12. Colleen Keating had eight.

The Mav 7th grade closed out the season with a 6-4 record, while the 8th grade fell to 4-6. La Plata's freshmen finished with a 3-7 mark.

CLEVELAND (AP) - Seven players from the Cleveland Indians' minor league system have been invited to train with the American League baseball team in Tucson, Ariz., later this month.

Watson, Palmer Among Hope Classic Leaders

By TOM SEPPY
AP Sports Writer
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) - Tom Watson says he's been having trouble with his swing, so he's made some changes, while Arnold Palmer has made a few adjustments in his putting.

The moves must have benefitted both players because they were among the leaders going into the third round of the 90-hole, $225,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic today.

However, the lead is held by unheralded Bill Rogers, now in his fourth year on the pro tour who shot a 67 Thursday to put him at 8-under-par 136.

Miller Barber and Watson, who shot a 68 Thursday, are 1 stroke behind Rogers. Barber had one of five 67s for the day.

Palmer, who had a 70, joined a group of seven who are 5 under at 19. The pack includes fun-loving Lee Trevino, who had a 67.

However, another group of seven lies at 138, only 2 strokes behind Rogers, led by Lon Hinkle and Danny Edwards, who had 67s on Thursday.

Gusting winds of 40 mph hampered some of the 128 pros who played the four courses used in the tourney. Luckily, the players escaped the rainstorm that hit downtown Palm Springs, some 20 miles away.

"I played probably as good a round as I've played on the tour," said Rogers, who has never won a tournament on the tour but won the Japan Open last year. "I hit my irons as solid as I could hit and got the ball close to the hole."

Watson, the top money winner of 1977 who has won two tournaments already this year, said the winds "came from all directions." He managed, however, to make five birdies on the back nine.

Davis Shocked By Deal's Death Blow

DENVER (AP) - Denver millionaire Marvin Davis said he was in shock Thursday when his $12 million bid to bring the Oakland A's to this city received its death blow in the midst of an Oakland-San Francisco inter-city feud.

The on-again, off-again A's sale collapsed when the San Francisco Giants released this statement Thursday: "All negotiations regarding the possibility of the Giant games in the Oakland Coliseum have ended."

"That's it as far as I'm concerned," Davis said. "American League president Lee MacPhail just called to say it's all over. He was very depressed and as for me, I'm in shock.

"You see, I thought I had a deal this morning. MacPhail had called and said that it was on. Bowie baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn and A's owner Charlie Finley also thought it was going through.

"But from what I've been told it Thursday's final meeting in San Francisco was almost a shootout. Those two cities hate the hell out of each other."

Finley's only hope to break his lease with the Oakland Coliseum had rested with San Francisco allowing the Giants to play enough games in Oakland to satisfy Oakland officials.

For God So Loved The World

Lincoln proclaimed the equality of God's children.

Abraham Lincoln was one of our few Presidents who is revered by those of nearly every political persuasion, an achievement envied by most of his successors. His character combined the best of both liberal and conservative philosophies, as displayed by his efforts on behalf of the equality of man and the unity of a Nation. Moreover, evident in all his speeches and actions was his constant reliance upon God's evidence, which sustained his courage enough to reunite an American torn asunder by the most terrible war in our history. He derived his inspiration from Church; and so can you, by your regular attendance on the Sabbath.

This nation, under God,
shall have a new birth of freedom . . .

Winfield Excels In Portrayal of King

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Okay, give Paul Winfield his Emmy award now. No way any actor this season can top his work as Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. in NBC's "King," which starts its three-night run Sunday.

The movie, by Abby Mann, dramatizes the life and times of the controversial black civil rights leader, from his early manhood to his assassination in Memphis, Tenn., in April 1968.

NBC notes that in some instances, none specified, "dialogue, action and composite characters were created to advance the story." Actual newsfilm footage of King's era also is used in the movie.

It's bound to cause fresh arguments over the use of history as entertainment or vice versa, but I don't think there'll be any argument about Winfield's powerful performance in the title role.

Sunday's premiere starts with recreated news footage of King's 1968 trip to Memphis and the demonstration he led in support of black garbage workers that turned into a riot, left one black youth dead and the Nobel Peace Prize winner blaming himself for the tragedy.

It ends in a scene a few years earlier, with FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover Dolph Sweet, angered by King's criticism, telling reporters: "Martin Luther King is the most notorious liar in the United States."

In between are re-creations of King's early work in desegregation and his wooing, while a divinity student, of Coretta King Cicely Tyson even though he was engaged to another woman in Atlanta at the time.

The courtship, the hints he was to be more than just another minister like his father Ossie Davis, aren't sketched very well.

But impact begins building at the historic moment a black woman, Rosa Parks Yolanda King, refuses to move to the rear of a bus in Montgomery, Ala., and is arrested for violating segregation laws.

It puts King, the new pastor of a Baptist church in Montgomery, on his long march for civil rights, preaching non-violence and meeting plenty of violence - and imprisonment - along the way.

It includes his initially-reluctant leadership of a 382-day boycott by blacks of Montgomery buses, but this chapter is muddled by the arrival of two New York men who stay with him in his rise to prominence.

One is a black lecturer-writer, the other a white lawyer. Why they've shown up isn't clear. They seem vague, self-appointed advisers to King in matters of strategy and national publicity.

The Kennedys, President John F. William Jordan and his Attorney General brother, Robert widely overacted by Cliff DeYoung, don't come off too well in Sunday's premiere.

How all that changes, how King's civil rights fight is widened to protest the Vietnam War, is told Monday and Tuesday nights.

After meeting with them to seek support, and not getting it, King sadly remarks: "The New Frontier is not nearly new enough and the frontier is set too close to the rear."

These are among detailed provisions of a proposed abortion ordinance now under consideration by a committee of the Akron City Council. The ordinance would regulate three abortion clinics and a fourth family clinic that sometimes performs abortions. There were 5,574 abortions performed at those facilities last year.

The proposed ordinance, written by an anti-abortion coalition called Citizens for Informed Consent, also dictates how the remains of an aborted fetus would be disposed of, requiring they be taken to a licensed funeral director.

Public hearings on the ordinance last week included testimony from supporters, who say it would serve as a model for other cities, and opponents, who say it demeans and aims to intimidate women.

Robert Goehler, chairman of the city council's health and safety committee, said recommendation of the ordinance to the full council would come before the end of February.

Feds Probing Prisoner Death

DALLAS (AP)—The U.S. Justice Department has launched an investigation into the death of an Ector County jail prisoner who died in custody, The Dallas Times Herald reported Thursday.

Dan Rinzel, deputy chief of criminal investigations in the Civil Rights Department said the investigation will be an attempt to determine if Larry Ortega Lozano, 27, died as the result of actions by Ector County officers and it will be an attempt to determine if Lozano's civil rights were violated.

The announcement by Rinzel came about 24 hours after it was revealed that an El Paso County medical examiner's report said that the bruises and other markings on Lozano's body indicate the death was a homicide.

Ector County Sheriff Elton Faught has said that Lozano's death was a suicide, that Lozano beat his head against a plexiglass panel in his padded cell. He died Jan. 22 following his Jan. 12 arrest.

At the request of Lozano's family, Dr. Frederick Bornstein, the El Paso county medical examiner in El Paso, performed an autopsy on Lozano.

The autopsy report said "It is my opinion that the man died from extensive blunt trauma, such as beating, hitting, kicking, as well as possible small wounds with sharp instruments."

Dr. Bornstein's report concludes "Therefore, I consider the mode of death homicide. The pattern is incompatible with suicide."

Ector County Medical Examiner Dr. Krishnakumari Challapalli also performed an autopsy but has not released her findings.

She told the Dallas Times Herald that she "didn't want to be pushed or led by others" and declined to support or disclaim Bornstein's findings.

The Times Herald and San Angelo Standard Times quoted any super power can walk over the continent without firing a shot," Amuzegar said.

"If Japan succumbed to some controversial ideology because of the lack of access to energy, would the United States be able to live in isolation?" he asked.

Iran's current reserves of 67 billion barrels are being depleted by two billion barrels a year and, at that pace, will dry up completely in 32 years, he said. Iran itself is using a half million barrels a day and local consumption is rising by up to 18 percent a year, he added.

"In 10 years, exports will begin declining because we will be using so much of our production ourselves. Congress must consider this too."

Amuzegar, who served as oil minister before becoming prime minister in a cabinet shuffle last August, said there were two main factors dictating a year-long oil price freeze.

"There is still a glut on the market... and not much demand."

"The economic recovery of Western Europe has not been satisfactory and leaves a lot to be desired. The lack of recovery has produced 15 to 16 million unemployed. Any increase of oil prices will further damage efforts toward recovery and add to the number of unemployed," he said.

Renewed Western recession then would backfire on oil producers and the rest of the Third World within six months to a year, Amuzegar said. He did not elaborate. Such a situation could be expected to spur a decline in Western oil imports and reduced revenues for oil exporters.

Actress Wants Pants In Italian Assembly

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Actress Melina Mercouri says she'll fight for the right to wear pants in the National Assembly but will abide by the dress code until the rules are changed.

The fiery 52-year-old star of "Never on Sunday," elected to parliament in November as a radical feminist, attended a session early this week in clinging black slacks. A few elderly male colleagues complained.

"What's wrong with wearing trousers?" she asked reporters indignantly. "Do they really think I'm showing disrespect to parliament by slipping into some comfortable slacks?"

The written regulations forbid trousers on women members in the assembly hall. Miss Mercouri said she will comply with the rules but will apply to the 78-year-old president of the assembly, Dimitrios Papsyrou, for permission to legislate in pants.

She said she found slacks "particularly comfortable and convenient," and she would save time if she didn't have to change between rehearsals and assembly sessions.

For her maiden speech Thursday she wore a knee-length black skirt and black jacket with white satin shirt and black boots.

In the speech, she accused the government of using the national television networks as a propaganda vehicle and of excluding opposition views and distorting truth.

She also attacked the screening of violence-packed TV serials which she said were harmful to youth. She called on the public to stop paying TV taxes until changes are made and declared: "If they don't like it, let them cut off my electricity."

Akron Considering Abortion Ordinance

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A woman shall be shown that the fetus growing inside her can squint, frown, swallow and make a fist. She shall be told that aborting that fetus may make her feel depressed and suicidal.

These are among detailed provisions of a proposed abortion ordinance now under consideration by a committee of the Akron City Council. The ordinance would regulate three abortion clinics and a fourth family clinic that sometimes performs abortions. There were 5,574 abortions performed at those facilities last year.

The proposed ordinance, written by an anti-abortion coalition called Citizens for Informed Consent, also dictates how the remains of an aborted fetus would be disposed of, requiring they be taken to a licensed funeral director.

Public hearings on the ordinance last week included testimony from supporters, who say it would serve as a model for other cities, and opponents, who say it demeans and aims to intimidate women.

Robert Goehler, chairman of the city council's health and safety committee, said recommendation of the ordinance to the full council would come before the end of February.

Details of the proposed ordinance include: -Any woman seeking an abortion would have to give 24-hour notice of the operation either to the father of the fetus or, if she is younger than 18, to her parents. A girl younger than 15 must have the written consent of her parents.

-Abortions would be prohibited after 22 weeks of pregnancy except to save a woman's life. The presence of two physicians would be required if the fetus might survive-one to perform the abortion, the second to care for the fetus.

-A woman seeking an abortion would have to be informed "that her unborn child can squint, frown, swallow, move the tongue, make a fist and is sensitive to touch, if more than nine weeks have elapsed since the time of conception..."

-That abortion is a surgical procedure which can result in serious complications, including...sterility, miscarriage and prematurity in subsequent pregnancies, and even death...

-That abortion may leave essentially unaffected or may worsen any existing psychological problem she may have, and can result in severe emotional disturbances, including depression and suicide."

There were 296 homicides in Washington D.C. in 1974, 185 of which were committed with handguns. From these cases, 84 guns were recovered and only 16 were registered.

Each year the Kentucky Derby trophy is designed, in keeping with the 1921 gold cup, for the owner of the winning horse. Silver replicas in a smaller size are presented to the winning jockey and trainer.

Military Machines Help Clear Snow-Bound Areas

By The Associated Press
Military equipment and personnel continued to move over scattered areas of the country today, helping to clean away heavy snow accumulations. In Montana, helicopter-equipped National Guard troops fought accumulations from previous storms as new snow fell.

Gov. Thomas Judge declared a disaster in eastern Montana Thursday.

Some isolated communities were reporting absences or shortages of fuels and basic food items.

"We are in constant contact with civil defense authorities and county commissioners in the afflicted areas to determine needs in terms of coordination of equipment and manpower availability," Judge said.

In the Sun Valley, Idaho area, as much as 23 inches of new snow fell in a 23-hour period. Blowing and drifting snow were reported in parts of Utah.

Rain fell over much of the southern half of California, the southern and central Plateau and central Rocky Mountain regions. Occasional thunderstorms were reported. Flash flood watches were noted in parts of southern California.

Snow flurries and strong winds added to problems caused by blowing and drifting snow in wide areas of the Midwest.

A heavy snow warning was posted for parts of Nevada. A winter storm watch was in effect for the central mountains of Arizona.

Isolated light rain in fell over Florida and along the eastern Gulf Coast. Much of the Southeast was blanketed by cloudy skies and scattered precipitation.

The East enjoyed a full day of sunshine Thursday and expected some thawing today and early Saturday.

In Boston and most of eastern Massachusetts a state of emergency remains in effect until midnight tonight, and all but emergency personnel caught driving in the capital city face fines of up to $500 and a year in jail.

Army personnel cleared about half of the 2,500 abandoned cars on a 10-mile stretch on Route 128 and expected to be about two-thirds done by the end of today. Military personnel also worked on roads and rescues in snow-bound areas of Connecticut and Rhode Island.

Nation's Highways In Need of Repair

WASHINGTON (AP)—More than one-fifth of the nation's interstate highway system needs resurfacing or other major repairs, a congressman says.

Rep. Sam M. Gibbons, D-Fla., cited a Federal Highway Administration study that concluded major work is needed on 8,000 miles of 38,000-mile system open to traffic.

Gibbons, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee's oversight subcommittee, said that $19 billion may be needed for repair and rehabilitation through 1995.

"The finest part of our road network, the interstate system, is wearing out faster than anyone expected," Gibbons said.

"This is the system that was designed for a life expectancy of 20 years. Yet, according to a General Accounting Office report issued last year, the interstate is wearing out 50 percent faster than it can be replaced."

The projected cost of the interstate system when it started in 1957 was $37.5 billion. Some $63.7 billion has been spent so far and Transportation Secretary Brock Adams estimates the cost will go to $104.3 billion when the road network is completed-anywhere from 1987 to the year 2000.

Iranian Predicts Oil Price Increase

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - Prime Minister Jamshid Amuzegar predicted Thursday that world oil prices would remain frozen through the end of 1978, but that gradual, annual increases should be expected beginning next year.

Phased increases during the coming decade will help impress on the mind of consumers - especially the "gas guzzlers" in the United States - that oil is a "precious and noble resource that must be conserved," Amuzegar told The Associated Press in an interview.

"Price hikes also will provide incentive for investment in alternate means of energy," Amuzegar said further delay in increases will only make another oil shock inevitable in the coming decade.

The depletion of Iranian and other Middle Eastern oil reserves means that "by the mid-1980s, prices will have to be doubled or tripled, which is not in the interest of anyone," he said.

"Somehow consumers and producers must get together to discuss this matter and seek alternative sources of energy. It is in the interest of both parties to look far into the future and not just at one government's term of office."

Amuzegar said Congressional opponents of President Carter's energy conservation program did not sufficiently appreciate the precariousness of oil reserves and the devastating effect the drying up of Middle East oil fields would have on Western Europe and Japan.

Amuzegar said they would pay more attention to the Carter bill if they realize that should Western Europe now be deprived of oil,

Fighting Resumes

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Syrian peacekeepers battled Christian regular forces near Beirut Thursday, carrying their first major confrontation since the end of the Lebanese civil war into the third straight day.

The fighting, touched off by a dispute over a Syrian checkpoint, raged in a torrential rainstorm.

Syrian troops and armor also clashed in running battles with militiamen from Christian political parties' private armies

The Lighter Side

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Despite the unwitting attempts of the Legislature, Alabamians will have to file state income tax returns this year.

The Revenue Department discovered in time that the legislature had accidentally repealed the tax law.

Ralph Egerton, the department's chief of research and statistics, said Wednesday that the law requiring state tax returns was repealed when the legislature reconfirmed state law. A section titled "Laws Hereby Repealed" included Title 51, Section 394.

The reconfirmation, Egerton said, does not become effective until May 16, and remedial legislation was prepared for introduction in the Legislature to day.

SONORA, Calif. (AP)—When the sheriff's office began getting calls about a man in handcuffs calmly waiting for a plane in the airport lobby, deputies knew just who it was, an escaped prisoner who had decided things were better in custody.

According to Tuolumne County Sheriff's Deputy Jay Coats, prisoner Ed Bigalow, 26, of New York had jumped from the back door of a taxi plane that was to take him and five other prisoners to California Medical Facility at Vacaville for diagnostic studies.

The plane took off before anyone noticed Bigelow missing. Coats said. But Bigelow, handcuffed to a chain around his waist, became soaked in the rain and soon decided he had been better off inside the dry plane, Coats said. He walked back to the airport and asked about getting to Vacaville on a commercial flight.

By then, the pilot of the plane had noticed a passenger was missing and had alerted sheriff's officers here. Deputies also received calls about the handcuffed man waiting for a plane.

Bigelow, convicted of burglarizing the Sonora city hall, was taken back into custody to await another flight.

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—The highway patrol issued a weather report predicting winds of 113 miles per hour, but it was a case of much sound and no fury.

Hundreds of panicky residents called police before the report was canceled. The worst wind ever to hit Stockton was about 50 mph, and Wednesday's winds never reached 50 mph.

The report had gone out over TV and radio stations, and authorities said Stockton school officials were on the verge of dismissing students early.

The California Highway Patrol statement predicted the "largest storm of the season" and "winds to 113 miles an hour." It was signed "Weather Service Stockton."

But Robert Storey, who heads the weather service, said the service had nothing to do with the forecast. Capt. George House of the highway patrol insisted that a dispatcher got his information from a "person in the Weather Service office."

along the mid-city line separating the Moslem Christian sectors.

In one such clash, witnesses said six Syrian soldiers were burned to death when their armored personnel carrier was set ablaze by an armor piercing rocket near the Christian residential area of Ein el Rummaneh.

A ring of Syrian tanks and rocket launchers pounded a beleaguered 600-man garrison at the Lebanese army's Fayadiyah Barracks three miles east of Beirut, where the confrontation erupted Tuesday.

"There was a lull part of the night, but all hell broke loose again at daybreak," a Lebanese woman trapped in a basement near the barracks reported by telephone.

Informed sources said the garrison commander, Col. Abtoine Barakat, gave the Syrians a 24-hour ultimatum to lift the siege or face a counterattack by his predominantly Christian force.

Barakat's warning that his troops will "move from defense to offense" was interpreted by observers as a sign he may attempt a breakthrough because his own ammunition and food supplies may be running low.

Christian spokesmen said, casualties on both sides were heavy as the Syrians blasted positions manned by the rightists' militiamen at three low-income Christian residential areas.

"I can't give specific figures," one spokesman said. "We still had no breathing spell to count casualties or take stock of the losses."

A rightist radio station broadcast repeated appeals for blood for Christian hospitals as a barrage of rockets, mortar fire and tank volleys rocked the eastern sector of the capital.

A photographer said five bodies in battle fatigues were seen in one alley.

Nearly 50 Syrian troops and Lebanese troops, militiamen and civilians were reported killed in the first two days of the heaviest fighting in Beirut since Syrian intervention brought the Lebanese civil war to a halt 15 months ago.

Lebanese President Elias Sarkis dispatched a three-man delegation to Damascus, the Syrian capital, for talks with President Hafez Assad on arrangements to stop the fighting.

Economic Clouds Giving Way to New Sunshine

NEW YORK (AP) - Now in the dark of winter there comes a pause in the critic's occupation, which until recently has been to carp about Carter and bemoan the nation's alleged economic mismanagement.

We seem to have begun noticing the sunshine instead of the clouds around Christmas, when the consumer began buying more than the ubiquitous economic observer said we were capable of doing.

At about that time to the unemployment rate dropped sharply, an improvement that continued into early 1978, when a bullish index of leading economic indicators added more sunshine and warmth.

Then came the consumer confidence reports that verified what consumers already had demonstrated, that is, that there was more buying energy pulsing through the economy than the economic doctors had detected.

Time to reflect, the doctors thought. Maybe Jimmy Carter didn't understand business or economics or management or the presidency itself. Somehow, though, things weren't as bad as they should be.

Not that they could be wrong. His economic goals were inconsistent and unrealistic.

Kappler Dead Of Cancer

SOLTAU, West Germany (AP)—Convicted Nazi war criminal Herbert Kappler died of stomach cancer at his wife's home here Thursday, police sources said. Death came five months after his wife helped him flee an Italian prison hospital to spend his last days in Germany.

Kappler was convicted of ordering the shooting of 335 Romans in the Ardeatine Caves near Rome on March 24, 1944, just 24 hours after Italian partisans killed 32 German soldiers marching on a Roman street.

His escape at the age of 70 last August created a political furor when West Germany refused an Italian request for his extradition.

station employe was shot to death early Thursday by two men wearing ski masks who shot their way into his home.

Police Chief Stanley Bogard said Enrique Longoria, 69, had just returned to his home from work when the two men pounded on his door, demanding to be admitted.

He said the dead man's wife opened the door but slammed it shut when she saw the men in masks.

The men shot their way inside, sending Mrs. Longoria, her son and a house guest running to a bathroom. They shot Longoria six times with an automatic pistol, according to Bogard.

The chief said that although the men took Mrs. Longoria's purse, officers were not certain robbery was a motive, he said, still is under investigation.

Bogard said the witnesses gave no description, except to say the intruders were Mexican-Americans.

STATE CAPITAL
Highlights
AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams

AUSTIN—Only a little more than 60 per cent of the state's eight million eligible voters are registered, and Texas Secretary of State Steve Oaks has kicked off a massive drive to raise the figure.

The registration effort aims at signing up at least another one million voters.

A bilingual staff will coordinate the effort from Oak's office, working with newspapers, radio and television stations and civic groups.

For the first time, voters can register by mail with a postage-free post card application form submitted to county tax assessor-collectors.

When an application is processed, a new yellow registration certificate will be mailed to the voter. Current blue cards expire March 1.

Voters now registered automatically receive 1978-79 certificates, but many are being returned due to changes of address and a "cleanup" of voter rolls. In Dallas, 28 per cent of the 600,000 certificates have been returned to local election officials, Oaks said.

Voters who haven't received their yellow certificates already, should make applications now, Oaks advised. Registration is possible up to 30 days before an election.

More than 2,000 grocery and convenience stores and about 500 high schools, colleges and universities will receive application forms distributed by Oaks' office.

Eleven thousand letters will be sent to citizens organizations requesting their help.

Benefits Cut

The joint federal-state extended unemployment benefits program in Texas has ended due to a drop in the national insured unemployment rate.

Texas Employment Commission was notified of the discontinuance in line with automatic "triggering" formulas.

Extended benefits were paid to claimants who exhausted regular state benefits and were still unable to find work. They are financed 50-50 from state and federal money.

Regular benefits will continue as usual.

Extended benefits for December totaled about $2.3 million statewide.

A national "trigger" of 4.5 per cent insured unemployment will activate or discontinue automatically the payment of extended benefits. The insured unemployment rate in Texas never approached that figure. It was 1.4 per cent at the time of the extended benefit cut, 4.7 per cent overall. All states must begin or end the payment when the national rate reaches 4.5 per cent, rising or falling.

Half-Crop Asked

Farmers in South Texas this week are being approached in a big organizational drive to sign agreements to slash their planted acreage in half.

American Agriculture (farm strike) leaders said farmers from 40 other states will be working in 40 counties of South Texas in an effort to get the commitments.

Strikers met in Dallas to formulate wording of the "50 per cent no plant" policy statement. In effect, farmers are being asked to reduce their planted acreage by 50 per cent in the 1978 crop year.

"We have to figure how far to go in dealing with those who don't want to participate," said a spokesman for the movement for higher farm prices. "We cannot have any violence."

Courts Speak

The Court of Criminal Appeals upheld constitutionality of the law changing the method of capital punishment from the electric chair to injection by lethal substance.

An Austin federal district court held the Texas child pornography control law unconstitutional because it doesn't provide that films and photographs to be banned must be "obscene."

A drug manufacturer won a retrial, through Supreme Court verdict, of a case in which a Corpus Christi man who lost his hearing after taking one of the company's infection control drugs was awarded a $400,000 damage verdict.

The Supreme Court upheld a jury verdict against the suit by a man who said he traded a Dallas hotel for Burnet County lake lots but discovered the person he was dealing with didn't own the lots.

A life sentence assessed a Wichita Falls police officer accused of hiring a gunman to kill his estranged wife was upheld by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

The Supreme Court concluded a company's term royalties were not ended by a 103-day drilling halt in Live Oak County.

The Third Court of Civil Appeals agreed an architect accused of placing his name and seal on plans for a hospital in Brownsville drawn by another architect should lose his license.

Appointments

Gov. Dolph Briscoe named Corbin J. Robertson Jr. of Houston chairman of an advisory committee to the Natural Resources Council.

Briscoe appointed C.W. "Bud" Duncan Jr. of Killen judge of the 27th district court of Bell, Lampasas and Mills Counties.

He also appointed T.J. Massingill of Houston to the Veterans Land Board and Charles B. Skiller III to the Texas Commission on Alcoholism.

Short Snorts

J. Chrys Dougherty of Austin and John Estes of Dallas have been nominated for president-elect by the State Bar of Texas board of directors. Election for the State Bar presidency will be by written ballot among 30,000 lawyers in April.

A city which elected to exempt itself from terms of a law creating a firefighters relief and retirement fund for volunteer firemen is not required to create a retirement system of its own for the volunteer firefighters, Atty. Gen. John Hill said.

U.S. Rep. George Mahan, retiring from congress, will be honored as Texan of the Year at the 12th annual Texas Legislative Conference in New Braunfels March 2-3.

A.M. Aikin Jr. of Paris, dean of the Texas Senate and author of major Texas education legislation, announced he will not seek reelection because of an arthritic condition.

Orbry D. Holden of Georgetown is new acting executive director of the Texas Association of School Boards. He succeeds Cecil E. Rusk.

State Rep. Susan McBee of Del Rio succeeds Rep. Herman Adams of Silsbee as chair of the House Elections Committee.

Army Pays Scientist To Probe Union Popularity

LONDON (AP)—The U.S. Army, in a continuing effort to make service life more attractive, is paying $12,000 to a British social scientist to find out whether GIs would like to join labor unions.

Seven European countries, including West Germany where many U.S. servicemen are stationed, allow military men to form unions or professional associations to negotiate wages and working conditions.

But Gwyn Harries-Jenkins, a lecturer at Hull University in eastern England assigned to conduct the survey, says he doesn't believe Uncle Sam's top brass or senior officers are ready for unionization.

"Judging by what I've read and from unofficial contacts I believe they feel unions would be prejudicial to good order and discipline and reduce military capability in fighting effectiveness," he said.

The Welsh-born specialist in studying the relationship between the armed forces and society says he submitted the research idea to the U.S. Army Institute for Behavioral Sciences in Washington. The Army accepted it and gave him the grant for a 15-month study.

"American military people say they keep hearing about unions for servicemen in Europe, but they don't know the facts," Harries-Jenkins said. "So I am looking into what there is, how servicemen feel about it and how they think they ought to be represented."

The trend in Europe—where Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Holland, Norway, Sweden and West Germany have organizations to watch over servicemen's interests—is to set up separate associations for officers, non-commissioned officers and enlisted men.

The reason for unionization in Europe, the social scientist said, is not political but economic. He said the armed forces feel deprived because their earning power has fallen below civilian standards.

"I think the military unions have been successful in Europe in improving conditions and raising rates of pay. The Swedes, and the Dutch, have benefited," the analyst said.

The Dutch and West Germans, Harries-Jenkins noted, maintain near parity with civilian pay and working conditions and the Swedes work overtime to military personnel. But the Belgians, British and Americans have fallen way below and in Britain especially, military pay is "25 to 30 percent below civilian levels," he said.

Growing prosperity and the increasing availability of civilian jobs are making recruiting more difficult in the United States and Britain, he said. In addition, he found that U.S. servicemen resent the loss of fringe benefits such as allowances for special skills and PX stores which have been cut back by Congress.

The Austrians and the Danes were the first to allow professional associations for their armies 60 years ago. The Dutch have two unions for enlisted men and separate associations for officers while West German servicemen are represented by a civilian labor union and by an armed forces association which is purely military.

Not many uncles are as generous as Sam. He's just dipped into his bottomless cookie jar for an additional $10 billion for toys for his nephews in the Pentagon.

Did 11-Year-Old Girl Give Lincoln Beard Idea?

Lincoln's Birthday is February 12! Why did Lincoln decide to grow a beard?

One story is that 11-year-old Grace Bendell wrote him and gave him the idea. She said she would try to get her brothers to vote for him if he would grow one. She also wrote that he would look better with "whiskers" because his face was so thin.

Lincoln wrote her back that people might think him silly if he did. But less than one month later he started growing one.

Which way do you think he looked better?

- Without beard
- With beard

The Sweetheart of the Columbus Zoo

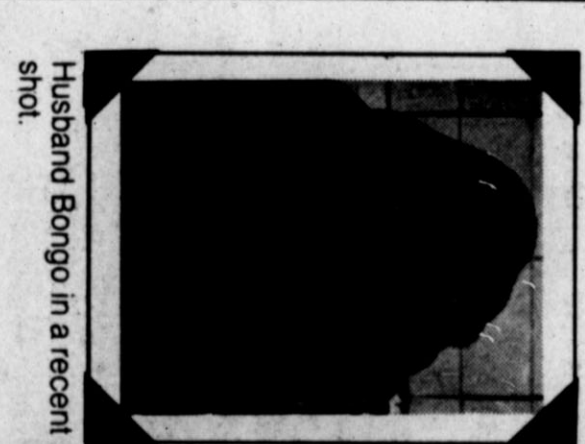

From the family album

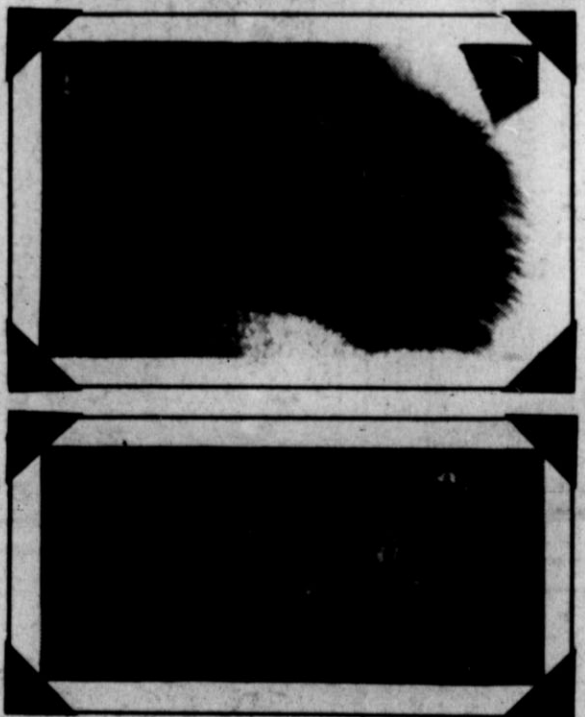

Baby Colo on her first Easter.

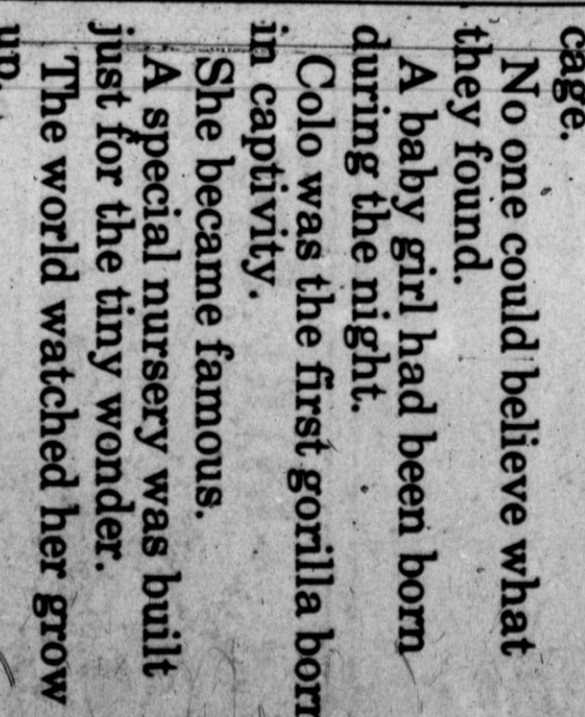

Momm Colo, age 22, playing with chewing gum.

Husband Bongo in a recent shot.

Baby daughter Toni was born in 1971.

Toni is now 5 years old.

Babies Emmy and Oscar in a shot taken in 1969.

Emmy today. She is 10 years old.

Her name is Colo. She is named for her hometown, Columbus, Ohio. People from all over the country come to see her. She is very special.

Her story began in 1951. That was when a gorilla couple, Mack and Millie, arrived in the U.S. and settled in the zoo. They lived in their new home for five years.

Then something happened on a cold winter morning in 1956. When the zoo keepers went to work, they noticed that Millie was acting very strange. Then they saw a small, furry thing on the other side of her cage. No one could believe what they found.

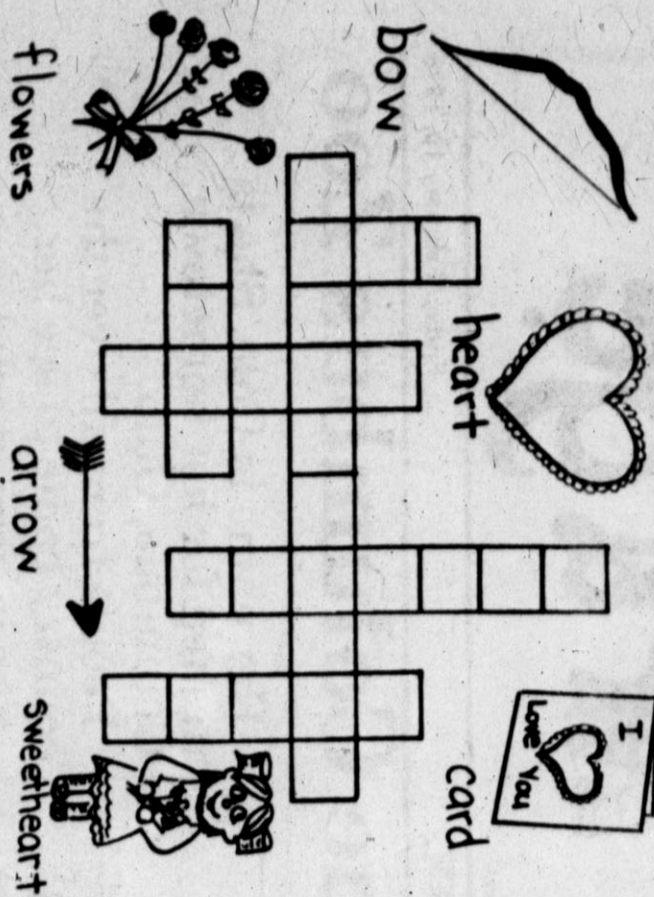

A baby girl had been born during the night. Colo was the first gorilla born in captivity. She became famous. A special nursery was built just for the tiny wonder.

The world watched her grow up. And grow up she did. She married Bongo. They had three kids, Emmy, Oscar and Toni. Now visitors come to see her and her family.

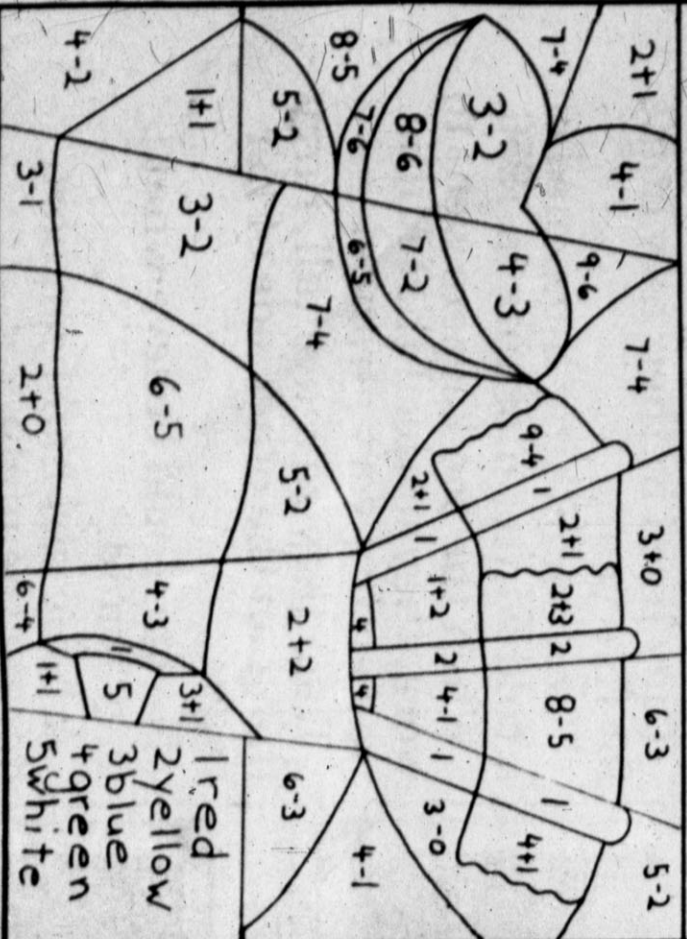

But it is Colo who steals the show. After 22 years, she's still the sweetheart of the Columbus Zoo.

Toothbrush TV Stars

Years ago, Mrs. Marsha Hatfield made up a story for her kids. It was about a toothbrush family. Later, she made the story into a book. Now the book has been made into 20 short TV episodes. The episodes are on the Captain Kangaroo TV show. You can see them every now and then. Mrs. Hatfield is from Australia.

Science Mystery?

Mystery: Can a plant grow without light?

Finding out: Plant some mustard or bean seeds in a small holder or flower pot. (A cut-off milk carton or small tin can will work fine.) Water the seeds enough to make the soil moist. Put the pot in a dark, cold place. (A kitchen cabinet or closet will work.) Watch each day. Don't forget to keep the soil moist. Does the seed sprout? If so, what is the color of the plant? How long will it keep growing in the dark? Find out.

Clue: A seed usually has enough food to sprout in the dark. But it will stop growing when the food is used up. Sunshine is needed for plants to make their own food. (You can use dry navy beans from your kitchen shelf. Soak them overnight before planting.)

Super Sport: Adrian Dantley

Adrian Dantley is one of the best young players in pro basketball.

Just ask anyone who has tried to guard him. Adrian plays forward for the Los Angeles Lakers. Last season, he played for the Buffalo Braves and was named NBA "Rookie of the Year."

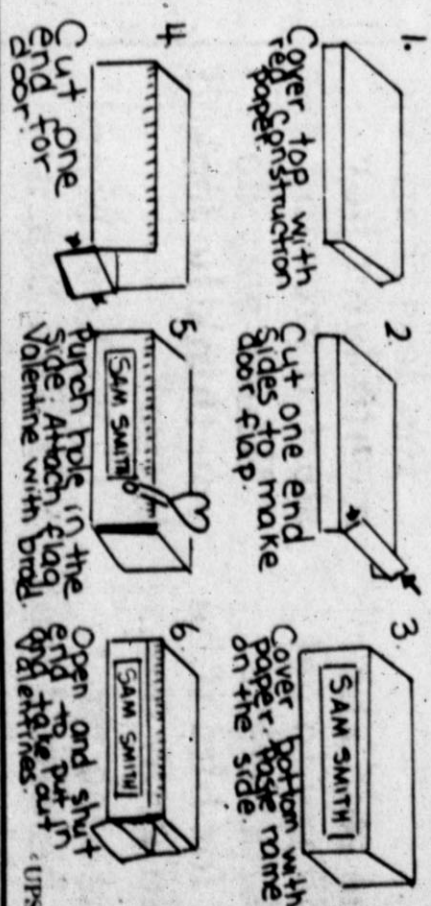

Before turning pro, Adrian was a two-time All American at Notre Dame. In 1976 he led the U.S. Olympic team in scoring and helped America win a gold medal. Adrian wears jersey number 4.
