Carter Hopes Chat Boosts Pact Support

WASHINGTON (AP) - The White House is counting on President Carter's televised fireside chat to generate enough mail on Capitol Hill to blunt the nationwide drive to defeat the Panama Canal treaty. But opponents of the pact say it won't happen.

Initial reaction to Carter's address indicated that divisions in the Senate remain sharp on the issue and are so tightly drawn that the final outcome cannot be predicted.

The president appealed for approval of the pact directly to the people Wednesday night.

He sat in a chair beside a blazing fire - heavily stoked to prevent it from dying in the middle of his speech, as happened during his first fireside chat last year - and addressed many of the criticisms made by foes of the treaty.

The president said he would not hesitate to use combat troops to defend the canal should that ever prove necessary.

And he contended that even if the agreement is ratified without the clarifying amendments many senators demand, the United States still would possess full authority after the year 2000 to defend the neutrality of the canal and to have priority access to it in time of emergency.

Senate Democratic leader Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia called Carter's speech a necessary and important step toward easing the concerns many people have about the treaty. "When the facts are placed on the table, as they were tonight, there can't help but be a shifting of sentiment," he said.

Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., said the speech will add to "a glacial movement" in the country toward approval.

Sen. William Hathaway, D-Maine, called it a "soft cell" approach that "cleared up a lot of erroneous conceptions," he said that will be reflected in an outpouring of Senate mail and ultimate ratification.

But Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., said he found the president "not very convincing" and does not believe many minds were changed.

"I don't think he had much impact outside Washington and probably none in Washington," said Dole, who predicted that the speech would attract more mail from those opposed to the treaty than from those supporting it.

But Dole also emphasized the closeness of final decision.

"It's still a touch-and-go situation," he said. "I don't think either side knows for certain how many votes are up for grabs."

A similar opinion came from Sen. Paul Laxalt, R-Nev., a principal treaty opponent, who said he remains convinced there is "no compelling reason to give up a $10 billion facility and pay tribute amounting to $2 billion or $3 billion on top of that."

But Laxalt also echoed Dole and other treaty opponents in saying, "I think the ratification question is up for grabs. It could go either way."

Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., who remains publicly undecided about the treaty, said the Senate is swinging toward eventual ratification but that "I don't believe the votes are there on either side right now."

One of the harshest criticisms of the speech came from Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

"I've heard many fireside chats by many presidents, and I have never listened to one so completely filled with misinterpretations, lack of honesty and lack of candor as the one I listened to tonight," Goldwater said.

"I do not know why the president can't level with the American people and tell them the truth about how many tax dollars these treaties are going to cost the American people."

Several senators, Nunn included, said they were disappointed that Carter did not address more thoroughly claims made this week before the Senate Armed Services Committee that the treaty will inevitably cost U.S. taxpayers large amounts, especially if revenues from the canal decrease.

In his speech, Carter said ratification of the treaty would make it far less likely that American soldiers ever need be called upon to fight for the canal.

A REPORT OUT of North Haven, Conn., tells of the St. Frances of Cabrina Roman Catholic Church that had a special message printed on a calendar. The message went something like this:

"Hold this paper to your face and blow on it. If it turns green, call your physician. If it turns brown, see your dentist. If it turns purple, see your insurance agent. If it turns red, see your banker. If it turns black, call your lawyer and make a will.

"If it remains the same color, you are in good health and there is no reason on earth why you should not be in church next Sunday morning!"

TODAY IS THE day, according to legend, that sleepy-eyed groundhogs are supposed to stumble from their dens. And if they see their shadows, so the story goes, we're in for six more weeks of snow and ice.

And, the report from Gobblers Know in Punxsutawney, Pa., this morning was that he saw his shadow. Members of the Punxsutawney Groundhog Club gather once a year to await the Feb. 2 forecast. The president of the club says records have been kept since 1887, and the groundhog has predicted an extended winter for every year but two - 1960 and 1975.

Members of the club admit that he missed it in 1960. The week after the fair forecast, a storm rolled in and dumped two feet of snow on some parts of Pennsylvania. The fair forecast held in 1975, however.

But the people who best know the habits of groundhogs, or woodchucks, or badgers, say the story won't hold water. For one thing, no sensible groundhog would be up and about this time of year, the hibernating season. Also, claim experts, a groundhog wouldn't be scared of his own shadow - he's made of sterner stuff.

Publishers Submit School Books

Representatives from 16 publishing companies were in Hereford Wednesday to present school textbooks to a Hereford Independent School District committee for acceptance.

The representatives met with members of the school textbook committee and textbook advisory committee to present books included on the adopted list of the State Board of Education.

Subject areas covered Wednesday included Texas History, Literature (grades 7-8), English Composition, Drivers Education, Elementary Spanish, Biology, II, Free Enterprise, Spanish III-IV, German I-II, Drama and Chemistry II.

Business textbooks also were presented by the publisher representatives.

The textbook committee, using information from teachers solicited by the advisory committee, will decide which books should be adopted for use next school year either late this month or in early March.

The committee will present its choices to the school board for final approval in March.

Persons interested in viewing the books in order to make a recommendation to the textbook committee may do so between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday until Feb. 10, according to

Price of Meat Continues Up

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Consumers who resolved to start the new year by cutting grocery bills faced a difficult task during January. An Associated Press marketbasket survey shows prices continued to rise, although the rate of increase was lower than in the previous month.

The biggest jumps came at the meat counter. Hamburger, pork chops and frankfurters all went up in price. In contrast, in the dairy section, there were widespread drops in the cost of eggs and scattered declines in butter prices.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items on March 1, 1973, and checked price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities. Prices have been rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month. One item - chocolate chip cookies - had to be dropped from the list late last year when the manufacturer discontinued the package size used for the survey.

Among the highlights of the latest survey:

-The marketbasket total increased at the checklist in nine cities during January, up an average of 2.8 percent, and decreased in four cities, down an average of 1.7 percent. On an overall basis, the bill at the checklist stores was 1.2 percent higher at the end of January than it was a month earlier. This compared with a 2.3 percent increase during December.

Marketbasket bills for the 12-month period that ended Feb. 1 rose an average of 9.5 percent. A major part of the boost was due to higher prices for coffee, which reached a record level of almost $5 a pound last spring before starting to

Jury Convenes For 2nd Day

By PAUL SIMS

An eight-woman, four-man jury recessed shortly before 10 p.m. Wednesday after deliberating for nearly five hours and not reaching a verdict in the marijuana possession trial of Loretta Andrada, 19.

The panel's foreman told 222nd District Judge Wesley Gulley that "meaningful discussions" had been achieved by the jury, which was allowed to go home due to the lateness of the deliberations.

The jury reconvened at 9 a.m. today. Should a guilty verdict be reached, the punishment phase of the trial will commence.

Mrs. Andrada is on trial for allegedly possessing 6.6 ounces of marijuana. She was arrested along with Cynthia Pena, 20, and a 15-year-old girl on July 7 by Hereford Det. Roger Scott and patrolman Joe Brown.

According to the offense report for that date and Wednesday testimony by Scott, an informant had reported that a white Dodge Charger owned by Olen Andrada, the defendant's husband, would be "on the drag" in Hereford selling marijuana.

The three girls were in the car at the Geb's parking lot on Highway 385 and arrested after the two officers discovered a paper sack containing suspected Anybody Seen Their Puppy?

Someone in Hereford may be able to do their good deed for the day and make a Granbury couple very happy.

Mr. and Mrs. J.E. McGuire lost their dog here Tuesday night and much searching and looking had failed to turn up their pet by this morning. The missing dog is a screw-tail Boston Bull, black with a white chest, about 14 months old and she weighs about 25 pounds.

Mrs. McGuire says the dog responds to the name, "Lady." The tag on her collar is from the Granbury Animal Clinic, Granbury, Tex. "She's not registered; she's just loved," added Mrs. McGuire.

There is a reward for the return of the dog, no questions asked, the McGuires said Thursday. Anyone finding the dog can contact Bill Koster or Bob Spangler, and they will arrange for its return, according to Mrs. McGuire.

The couple visits Hereford occasionally in a mobile home, since he travels for Bulova Watch Company. The dog was last seen at the West Mobile Lodge on N. 25 Mile Avenue Tuesday night.

The Bureaucracy, Part III

Disability Payments Delayed by Hiring System

EDITORS' NOTE - Hiring a federal worker isn't as hard as firing one, but it typically takes 2 1/2 months. And when the system breaks down, the public can suffer, as shown in this third of a five-part series on the federal bureaucracy.

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sluggish federal hiring procedures are adding to the woes of tens of thousands jobless, sick workers seeking disability payments, reportedly driving some of them to the brink of suicide.

Their checks are being delayed an average of three to four extra months because of a huge backlog of appeals. But although funds are available to hire 105 new administrative law judges to help cut down the delays, the civil service mill has been unable to supply enough approved applicants to fill the new positions.

It typically takes 2 1/2 months to fill a vacancy in the federal government with an outside applicant, and delays of seven or eight months are not unusual, according to civil service figures.

There are cases in which federal managers say they have been prevented from hiring highly qualified applicants who wanted the work.

The case of the despondent disability claimants was explained in an interview with Robert Trachtenberg, head of the Social Security Administration's appeals bureau.

The 640 judges who work for Trachtenberg decided about 190,000 appeals each year from persons who have been denied Social Security disability payments. The judges eventually rule in favor of about half the applicants.

Thus, about 95,000 persons a year, all of them sick to some degree and out of work for at least five months before their appeals even begin, are eventually found to be legally disabled and entitled to benefits.

But in the meantime those disabled workers must live on savings, relatives or welfare while waiting for Trachtenberg's judges to decide their case.

It is a frustrating and depressing experience for them. "I would like to have a dime for every time I've got a call from a claimant saying, 'I'm about to commit suicide,'" Trachtenberg said.

It used to take an average of 350 days to decide a case. Things are better now because judges are using legal assistants and automated typewriters, increasing their output from 13 cases per judge per month to more than 31.

But it still takes 190 days to decide the average case. Trachtenberg says it should take only 90. And because of an ever-increasing load of appeals by persons seeking disability payments, the average decision time has begun to creep back upward in the last couple of months.

Trachtenberg decided he needed to hire 105 new judges. But hiring procedures don't allow him to recruit directly; applications and examinations are conducted by the Civil Service Commission. Trachtenberg put in a request for applicants to the commission last Nov. 8. So far he's received only 38 takers.

It took 22 days to get a register of qualified applicants from the commission. But the register contained only 89 names. Trachtenberg wanted to hire 105. "So I was in the hole already."

Of those on the list, 20 were of no use either because they already had been hired or because they had turned down job offers in the past. And Trachtenberg says that only 38 of the remaining prospects will accept offers to work for him. He has now asked the commission to supply him with a new list of persons eligible for hiring, starting the process over again.

Meanwhile the delays continue. Trachtenberg has applied for authority to do his recruiting and hiring directly. A decision on that could take months.

Other federal executives also say they efficiency is lessened by their inability to hire the people they want.

The public relations chief of a large federal agency, who asked not to be named, has been trying since last September to fill a vacancy but

Polanski Turns Up At Paris Home

LONDON (AP) — The London Evening News reported it located film director Roman Polanski at his Paris home following his flight from California to escape sentencing for having sexual relations with a 13-year-old girl. His extradition to the United States appears unlikely.

The Evening News said a manservant at Polanski's residence in the French capital told its reporter: "Yes, Mr. Polanski arrived here this morning. He is very tired and is resting quietly. He is not ill, just tired."

The 44-year-old director of "Rosemary's Baby" and "Chinatown" arrived at London's Heathrow Airport Wednesday morning on a British airliner from Los Angeles, but reporters were unable to locate him afterward.

Scotland Yard said it was not looking for him.

"He has committed no crime in Britain, and as far I know we have not received any message from America about him," a spokesman for the Yard said.

Polanski is a French citizen, reportedly with homes in both London and Paris, and the prosecutor handling his case in California suggested he was headed for France, where he would be safe from extradition. Friends in Paris indicated they had talked with him in London but said they did not know what his plans were.

Strike Settlement Appears Nearer

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Settlement of the national coal strike appeared closer today as the walkout by 160,000 members of the United Mine Workers union entered its 59th day, tying a record for the union's longest nationwide strike.

Even if a tentative contract were signed by union and coal industry negotiators today, ratification by a rank-and-file vote would take about 10 days to complete, thus assuring that the strike will reach a record length.

The longest previous strike since the union negotiated its first industry-wide contract in 1937 lasted 59 days in 1946.

Negotiators were to resume bargaining sessions in Washington today, after more than seven hours of talks Wednesday night. That was the first session since bargaining broke off Sunday with a walkout by negotiators of the Bituminous Coal Operators Association.

The latest indication that a settlement might be near came Wednesday from UMW President Arnold Miller. He put the union's bargaining council on a 24-hour standby to go to Washington.

Limited Arms Sales Could Hurt Israel

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's decision to reduce this year's ceiling on American arms sales abroad by more than $700 million will put an additional squeeze on sales to several Middle East nations, including Israel.

By the end of the week, Carter will make his final decisions on the types and numbers of advanced weapons this country will sell to its allies in the area. His proposals will then go to Congress for approval.

According to informed sources, Carter will pare down a tentative list of proposed sales that already had been cut substantially by the administration's arms sales planners in anticipation of Carter's ceiling announcement Wednesday.

The sources said the tentative sales list for 1978 did not include approval of Iran's request for 140 F-16 fighter planes. Iran has already won an administration go-ahead for the purchase of $1.3 billion worth of sophisticated airborne warning and control systems AWACS planes and will have to wait at least another year for the F-16s, the sources said.

Sadat Catches Plane For Washington Today

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — President Anwar Sadat left for the United States today seeking for concessions on the issues of withdrawal from occupied Arab territory and Palestinian self-determination.

"I hope this trip will add momentum to the peace process," Sadat told reporters before his Boeing 707 jet took off for Rabat, Morocco.

One Egyptian source said it "is time for the United States to do something. President Carter can't sit on the fence any longer."

But Western sources in Cairo said no dramatic breakthrough could be expected from the weekend meeting at Camp David. They said Carter invited Sadat to Washington to get a better idea of what the Egyptian leader expects to happen next.

The Egyptian leader will spend the night with King Hassan of Morocco, a supporter of his campaign for peace with Israel. He is due in Washington Friday afternoon.

Sadat will remain in Washington until Wednesday to try to rally public opinion behind the Arab cause. On his way home he will talk with government leaders of Britain, France, West Germany, Austria, Italy and Romania.

Mother May Never See Child

AMARILLO (AP) — Laurie Goforth is the mother of a three-week-old daughter, but she may never know it.

The infant, Susan Michelle, was born while her mother lay in a coma, the victim of a cardiac arrest last month.

December 18 began as a beautiful day for 18-year-old Laurie and her husband, Ricky, 21. They had bought their Christmas presents to each other — a color television set. The couple had finished dinner, and were leisurely addressing Christmas cards, including notes to their friends that a new baby was two months away.

Then, at 10:30 p.m., Laurie screamed, "Oh, no!" and collapsed into her husband's arms. Those were the last words she's ever spoken.

"I thought she was kidding," said Ricky. "She was happy and fine one minute... then this happened."

Doctors said later that Laurie had a "conduction defect" meaning her heart began beating at an unusually high rate. Her doctor, Hollis Hands, said it was a genetic defect that no one had discovered before.

To make matters worse, she had to be transported from Borger, some 30 miles away, to this Panhandle city. She suffered another arrest along the way, doctors said.

"When we got her to the hospital it didn't look good at all. They said she was critical. That night, I didn't know what would happen to the baby," said Goforth.

Laurie managed to cling to life, monitored by a cardiac surgeon, a neurosurgeon and an obstetrician.

On Jan. 8, when she was 35 weeks into her pregnancy, Laurie began contractions. Two and a half hours later, her daughter was born.

A normal delivery, her doctors said.

For Ricky, what was happened since Dec. 18 have been both a nightmare and a miracle.

Laurie had been his sweetheart for four years before they were married. He supported his wife by working in a Borger machine shop. They both were happy that Laurie's pregnancy had gone so easily, with only the normal morning sickness in the beginning.

"My boss and my friends in Borger have been so good about everything. My boss gave me a leave of absence so I could move over here and be with Laurie."

"People have given us money and there have been fund raisers to help us take care of the bills," he said.

A Borger skating rink, where the pair first met, raised more than $600, and money has arrived from several other sources.

"I bought an insurance policy for Laurie while she was pregnant so it didn't take care of the pregnancy, but it is supposed to take care of the cardiac arrest."

"I've called them several times though, and they still haven't sent me the policy. I don't know what they are going to do," he said.

Jim Mineer, a senior vice president of American National Insurance Company, headquartered in Galveston, said the policy was denied Jan. 26, and a letter to that effect was sent to Goforth.

Mineer said Laurie wrote in her application, dated Dec. 12, that her only medical history was her pregnancy, but a letter from her family doctor showed otherwise. He could not divulge the contents of the doctor's letter, but he said the girl did have a medical history prior to the time she submitted her application.

Ricky, the baby, and Laurie's mother, Mrs. Al Butcher, live in an apartment a few blocks from Northwest Texas Hospital where Laurie stays in intensive care.

"I got a job at an aerosol plant here and my mother-in-law takes care of the baby while I'm at work. Since Laurie is in intensive care, they only let us visit her for 10 minutes at a time. We try to go twice a day."

"They taught me how to feed the baby and to burp her and change her while she still was in the hospital and between my mother-in-law and me we've done okay," said Ricky.

Mrs. Butcher is proud of the way her young son-in-law has faced this family crisis and has handled the responsibility.

"He's done everything he's had to make sure Laurie is in good hands and to take care of the baby," she said.

"I've been able to help because I've had experience with two children, but Ricky can change a diaper just about as good as I can," she said.

Ricky doesn't know what the future holds for Laurie and he knows he can't really worry about it.

"Right now, I just have to hope and pray that Laurie can make it. Doctors say she has suffered brain damage and it could be four months before we know how well she is going to get."

"It's awful hard to go to the hospital and just stay with her for 10 minutes and look at her just lying there, but we feel that the fact that she had the baby okay was a miracle. If one miracle has happened to us, another one can too," he said.

Lignite Plant Gets Funding

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Construction of a lignite coal-fired generating plant in Christine, 50 miles south of San Antonio, will be backed by federal loan guarantees of $429 million.

Formal announcement of the loan guarantees was made Tuesday in Washington by Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland. The guarantees will back construction of the $362 million plant and development of a nearby 22,000-acre lignite mine, which will provide fuel for the electric generating facility.

In addition, Rural Electrification Administration loan guarantees include $62.7 million for constructing transmission lines from the plant.

Power from the plant will go to service areas in 26 REA-financed cooperatives in South Texas.

The mine and 400-megawatt plant will be operated by the San Miguel Cooperative out of Jourdanton.

For construction of transmission lines, an estimated $49.5 million will go to the Brazos Electric Co-op, headquartered in Waco. Another $14.7 million will go to the South Texas Electric Co-op in Victoria and $2.9 million will go to the Medina Electric Co-op in Hondo.

This project is another branch of the "Giving Tree" and is a time set aside to pay tribute to the American Veterans.

The following letter was written by the group and was enclosed in a Valentine for "Someone Special."

Dear Veteran:

Hi! We are Freshmen Camp Fire Girls and are members of Wakan Ki Lo Horizon Club. Most of us in this group have been together since the second grade, making a total of eight years and we have been Camp Fire Girls.

In Camp Fire we do a variety of things such as ski camp, summer camp, Blue Bird Day Camp, Father-Daughter Banquet, sell Camp Fire Candy, earn Torch Bearers, and do Give Service Projects. Once a year we have rummage sale to make money and we are planning to go to Six Flags in May.

This year we have begun work on the Wo He Lo Medalion, the highest individual honor one can receive in the Camp Fire program. This is a four year project and will be completed when we are seniors.

Some of our other main interests are basketball, band, orchestra, piano and of course boys.

We appreciate the part you played in protecting our country. It is because men like you were willing to make this sacrifice that makes America a free country. We feel that through Camp Fire we learn to be better citizens and this makes us proud to be Americans.

We are sorry you are in the Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor: Now that Congress is again in session, heat is being put on the senate to ratify the treaty with Panama. This treaty negotiated by the State Department and supported by the President, pro-Marxists and other vested interests, gives the canal and military fortifications to Panama, to be consumed by the year 2000. The U.S. also pays a royalty of $2 billion annually and keeps the canal operable.

John Q. Public is regarded as being too stupid to reveal to him all of the terms of the treaty. The U.S. gives up its right of priority to traverse the canal in event of war, gives up its right to defend the canal and gives to the State of Panama the right to say whether or not we can negotiate an easement for a new, more modern canal.

We are releasing to pro-Marxist Torrijos, a close henchman of Castro - whose territory may be regarded as a Soviet satellite, American territory paid for by American taxpayers. The territory was released to us in perpetuity in 1903 when we purchased the canal under construction by France, who could not complete the canal because of the cost, medical reasons (malaria), lack of engineering ability and equipment.

To ratify the treaty, two-thirds of the Senate or 67 members need to vote for the treaty. Let's hope we have 34 different intelligent pro-American Senators in opposition.

decline. When coffee was removed from the totals, the AP found the average marketbasket bill today is 7.1 percent higher than a year earlier.

The price of a pound of chopped chuck went up at the checkout store in nine cities, beef frankfurters went up in six, pork chops increased in seven. Some of the increases had been anticipated. Beef production last year was 3 percent lower than it was a year earlier; 1978 supplies are expected to be 2 percent below 1977's. There has been a particularly sharp drop in the slaughter of non-grain-fed cattle - animals which are fed mainly on grass and are used for less expensive cuts like chopped meat. The American Meat Institute predicts that hamburger prices may rise 10 to 15 percent this year; costs of the more expensive cuts of beef which come from grain-fed cattle are expected by the government to increase 4 to 5 percent in 1978. There was no immediate explanation for the increase in the price of pork chops since supplies have been increasing, although the rate of increase in December was lower than anticipated.

Looking ahead to the future, analysts for the cooperative extension service of Cornell University note that predictions call for a 4 to 6 percent increase in food prices this year. But they warn several factors could upset the estimates. Among the uncertainties: government actions, upcoming union settlements, weather and energy costs.

The Veterans Administration offered Jones a public relations job on the basis of his experience and personal interviews, but civil service officials blocked the hiring. Later the International Trade Commission also offered him a job, and unanimously voted him their first choice for the position. Again he was blocked.

The Civil Service Commission sent Jones a letter saying he was blocked because the commission felt he was less qualified for the job than some former government public relations officials who were looking for work. That still doesn't sit well with the men who wanted to hire Jones.

"The man we were not allowed to hire had considerably more qualifications, and could have done a much better job, than anyone on the list the commission gave us," said ITC chairman Daniel Minchew.

Another major criticism of the hiring system is that the strong preference given to military veterans lessens the hiring opportunities for women in middle- and top-level management jobs.

Hiring in the federal government is supposed to be done on the basis of merit, with applicants screened by written tests and hired from lists of the highest scorers.

By law, military veterans get preferred treatment in hiring and retention. Any veteran who registers a passing score on a hiring test gets five points added automatically, giving him that much marijuana, a "baggie" filled with the same substance and a plastic container also containing the suspected drug.

Miss Pena testified that Olen Andrada and another man had been in the car, which had been driven by Mrs. Andrada. She testified that the two men had told Mrs. Andrada to stop the car on several occasions, left the vehicle with the paper sack to talk to different people, then returned with the sack.

Mrs. Andrada testified that, although the two men earlier had smoked a marijuana cigarette in the car, she never saw the sack, the baggie or the plastic container.

Miss Pena said Wednesday that she suspected that the sack contained marijuana.

District Atty. Andy Shuval, in closing arguments Wednesday afternoon, accused Mrs. Andrada of lying. He told the jury:

"You're the sole judge of the credibility of the witness."

Mrs. Andrada was defended by Hereford attorney R.E. Hoelscher.

In a district court trial Tuesday, Eddie Pendleton Whitson, of Amarillo and one-time Hereford resident, was sentenced to three years in the state penitentiary for indecency of a child.

Whitson had pleaded guilty to the charge.

advantage over less qualified non-veterans. Disabled vets get 10 points and automatically go to the top of the hiring lists as well.

When considering lists of applicants, federal officials cannot pass over a veteran to hire a low-scoring non-vet without justifying the decision in writing.

Military pensioners also qualify for preference in hiring.

Because 98 percent of vets are male, favoring them tends to keep out women. Veterans preference applies not only to disabled Vietnam vets but to those who last served decades ago and who never heard gunfire. Half the jobs in the federal government - and 65 percent of the high-paying jobs - are filled by veterans. By contrast the civilian workforce is 22 percent veterans.

According to a Civil Service Commission analysis, eliminating all veterans preference would increase the number of women on hiring lists for middle-level professional jobs by 12.2 percent. Retaining the 10-point preference for disabled vets but eliminating the other veterans advantage would increase women's chances of being hired by 8.3 percent.

Veterans' groups argue that veterans deserve special consideration for their wartime service, and that they have proven loyalty to the government.

"They have a proven track record of federal service," said William Sheehan of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. His group opposes any reduction in preference for veterans.

Mal Manchee, HISD textbook committee.

"According to the administrative process, if they'd like to provide any input into the selection process - either protest or acclimation - they need to present it in writing to the superintendent by Feb. 10," Manchee said.

"We welcome any comments from the public on these books."

The textbook committee probably will adopt all of the books on the State Board of Education list, according to Manchee, "unless there's a problem with one or some of the books - normally, that's what they do."

After adopting the list, the committee will decide which of the books should be requisitioned for use in Hereford.

Mother of Fraternal Twins Experiences Fulltime Job

By DIANNE BANNER
 Brand Staff Writer

The mother of twins, Mrs. Ronnie Reiter, a zealous 23-year-old homemaker has found an advantage and special pleasure in her double blessing of two gleeful 10 month old daughters, Terri and Traci.

"I have always been shy and now when I go out in public, people seem so interested that I have a set of twins. They draw alot of attention," she said.

During the Brand interview the twosome laughed and seemed uninhibited yet concerned about what the other half of the set was into.

"Terri likes to pull leaves off of my plants, commented the busy mother, Traci tells her 'uh-uh' (meaning no-no). She makes sure that her sister doesn't get into things that they can't have."

When put on the floor to crawl, the two split and go in separate directions. This is when the young housewife has her "fair share" of twin rearing.

"Both of them are such good babies. I never thought about having twins. I didn't know that I was going to be a mother of two until a few hours before delivery. I didn't think about it then, but my husband was very shocked."

Mrs. Reiter is a new member of the Mother of Twins Club which she thinks she "will enjoy very much."

"I had no idea there were so many sets of twins in Hereford."

Asked if it was difficult to not have a favorite of the two she replied, "It never occurred to me to have a favorite. My husband and I both take care of the one who needs tending to at the time."

Because of her full time job at home, Mrs. Reiter is not employed though she did mention planning to work after the pair is older.

Asked if she wanted to have another child she replied, "It's hard to say. I would like to have a little boy. I am really satisfied right now with my family, but if I think about it I realize that they will both be leaving home at the same time and that will be hard."

During her spare time, the talented young woman enjoys hand stitching and sewing. Throughout the home which she decorated herself, are many embroidered pictures and various types of needle works on the walls.

She and her husband, Ronnie, enjoy outdoor sports and have often played in local tennis tournaments.

In her high school years at Hereford High, the tennis buff received a number of trophies.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Frye, longtime residents of Hereford. She was born and raised here.

He husband is employed by Big Tex Elevator as a truck driver.

Though she isn't sure if having twins is as expensive as having two children at different ages, Mrs. Reiter has yet to find a problem that she could not handle.

When the twins were newborns she "made" herself form a certain routine to follow and has since then become "very organized."

"The children haven't learned to share yet so I have to buy them the same kind of toys because what ever one of them has the other one wants."

Asked if she uses the psychological theories in raising and teaching her children she agreed that what she reads on child rearing has effected her outlook on bringing "up her children but "basically," she said "I try to think of them as individuals and go by what I feel in my heart."

Recipes shared by Mrs. Reiter are:

BEEF STEW
 About 2 lb. cubed stew meat

6-8 cups beef broth
 3-4 potatoes
 6 carrots
 2 boxes frozen mixed vegetables

1/4 cup flour
 1/4 cup cold water.
 Brown stew meat then add salt, pepper and broth. Cover

ANN REITER
with twin daughters Terri and Traci

the pot and cook slowly for 2 to 3 hours until meat is tender. Increase heat to medium and add cut up vegetables. Cook for about an hour until vegetables are tender. Combine flour and water in small bowl and slowly add it to the broth. Cook for 2-3 minutes until thickened.

ITALIAN CREAM CAKE
 1/2 cup Crisco

1 stick oleo
 2 cups sugar
 5 eggs
 1 tsp. vanilla
 1 cup buttermilk
 2 cups flour

1 tsp. soda
 2 cups coconut
 1 cup pecans
 Cream Crisco, oleo, sugar and add egg yolks one at a time with dry ingredients. Along with buttermilk stir in stiffly beaten egg whites. Add coconut, pecans and vanilla. Bake in 3 layers at 350 degrees. Top with this icing:

1 stick oleo
 1 box powdered sugar
 1 tsp vanilla
 1 cup pecans
 1-8 oz. pkg. cream cheese

Mix all ingredients together until smooth and creamy.

Double Your Fun
 The U.S. leisure market is now estimated at a whopping $150 billion and it is expected to double by 1985, reports The Conference Board. Accounting for this rapid expansion are increased incomes, longer vacation time and a rise in population — especially among the 25-44 age group, which is most committed to leisure pursuits.

New Pipe Organ at WT To Be Dedicated Feb. 12

CANYON — A dedicatory recital for West Texas State University's new 63-rank Reuter organ will be Sunday, Feb. 12, in the new WTSU fine arts center, Mary Moody Northern Hall.

Presenting the 3 p.m. concert will be Gerre Hancock, organist and master of the choristers at St. Thomas Church in New York City. The public is invited to attend; no admission will be charged.

The Choir School of St. Thomas is a boarding school founded in order to educate boys who would, in turn, provide the soprano section for the church's choir of men and boys.

Under Hancock's supervision and direction, the boys receive an extensive musical education, and make concert tours to other cities. They have recently appeared with the New York Philharmonic and the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestras.

For the dedicatory recital Hancock will play Hymne: "Veni Creator" by Nicolas de Grigny, Three Settings of "Nun Komm, der Heiden Heiland" by

In 1869, New York City established a fund for retired policemen, making it the first pension plan for workers in the United States, according to the American Council of Life Insurance.

Johann Sebastian Bach, Passacaglia in C minor by Bach and Pageant by Leo Sowerby.

He will be performing on WTSU's new 63-rank Reuter organ, custom designed for WTSU and handmade by the Reuter Organ Company in Lawrence, Kas.

Installation of the organ's more than 3,600 pipes took three full-time individuals and numerous student part-time helpers approximately a month of work, according to Max Mayse, Reuter representative and WTSU graduate. The tonal finishing process needed to adjust the pipes to the acoustics of the Northern recital hall took about three weeks.

The largest pipe is 18 feet long and almost a foot in diameter, and the tiniest is

Women's Aglow To Meet Friday

The Women's Aglow Fellowship will meet Friday night at 7 p.m. in the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room for a catered dinner. Reservations for the meal which will cost $3 per person must be made no later than today by contacting Joan Culp.

Husbands and friends are invited to attend the event which will be followed by a meeting beginning at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Kathryn Chapman will be the speaker for the evening. Music will be provided by Mrs. Caroline Tackett and her daughter Brenda.

All interested persons are invited to attend.

smaller than a pencil, Mayse said. Most are made of alloy of tin and lead, while the largest pipes have zinc bodies.

The lowest note on the organ, which has a nine octave range, is the lowest note in the world, according to Mayse.

Organs have been known to last hundreds of years. "A pipe organ well-maintained should last 50 years before anything major should be done to it," Mayse said. "There are organs in Europe still playing that are 400 to 500 years old."

Miss Mitchell Gives Program

Mrs. John Hunter, president of Cultural Home Demonstration Club read a poem on "How to Raise a Delinquent Child" for the opening exercise when the club convened recently in the home of Mrs. Paul Corbett.

Assistant County Extension Agent, Claudette Mitchell gave the program, "Advertising Antics" to the club. Roll call was answered to "How I have used advertising to help me."

Mrs. Roger Corbett of Taos N.M. was special guest of the HD Club.

Members present were Mrs. Grady Parsons, Art Lewis, Tom Hargrave, John Hunter, W.H. Wiseman and hostess, Mrs. Paul Corbett.

Antique Sale To Open Tomorrow

L'Allegra Study Club's fifth annual Antique Show and Sale will begin at 1 p.m. tomorrow at the Community Center, where antique dealers from three states will have their wares housed.

The sale will continue until 9 p.m. tomorrow, from 1-9 p.m. Saturday and from 1-6 p.m. Sunday.

Tickets will be sold at the door for $1.50 each and will also gain admittance to the E.B. Black house, 508 W. 3rd St., an adjunct to the Historical Museum. Members of the local Historical Society will be giving guided tours through the home in conjunction with the antique show hours.

More than 15 antique dealers from Texas, New Mexico and Missouri will be honored guests tomorrow at a luncheon at the Community Center immediately prior to the show's opening. L'Allegra members will serve as hostesses.

Among the authentic antiques amassed at the Community Center for the sale will be stained glass, rugs, brass, copper, inkwells, silver, glass, furniture, primitives, desks, boxes and other selected pieces. L'Allegra Study Club received no profit from the antique sale, other than ticket proceeds, which will be given to the Museum for replacement of the exterior pillars at the Black residence.

The E.B. Black house, built in 1908, was designed by Mrs. Black with entertaining in mind, due to her hospitable nature. The spacious house served for more than three decades as a popular site for social and church gatherings in the then-small community of Hereford. The house is rich with dark, carved wood, interior columns, wainscots, built-in cabinets and large rooms. The house retains some of its original furniture while the remaining furnishings have been supplied by the Museum in keeping with the decor of the early 1900's.

Janette Caviness, president of L'Allegra Club and Jody Skiles, show chairman, invite the public to attend the three-day sale, as well as taking the bonus offer of touring the Black house. Door prizes will be awarded to ticket-holders by The Yellow Daisy, Melrose Nursery, Flowers West, Park Ave. Florist and The Funny Farm.

Those dealers participating in the show-sale will include The Glass Shop, Fort Worth; Cardinal Point Antiques, Appleton, Mo.; Jean's Antiques and Pandora's Box, Lubbock.

Barbara Huntress Antiques, Ruidosa, N.M.; Crawford's Antiques, San Antonio; Toby's Antiques, Odessa; Old World Antiques, Plainview; and Moore's Antiques and Depotique, Pampa.

The Depot, Alamogordo, N.M.; Gentry's Antiques and Helen's Antiques, Amarillo; and Audrey's Antiques, Shallowater.

The Verrazano-Narrows Bridge, between Staten Island and Brooklyn, N.Y., has a suspension span of 4,260 feet. It is the longest bridge in the world, exceeding San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge by 60 feet.

Luxembourg's principal crops are oats, wheat, rye, barley and potatoes.

The Hereford Whiteface girls, aiming at a spot in a four-team district playoff following the regular season, face a stern task tonight when the Plainview girls ride into town.

Plainview led the loop with a 10-1 mark at last count, while the Herd is 6-5 in the district, 9-10 overall, after a victory over Tascosa in Amarillo last Monday. Coach Roy Shipp is expected to go with the same starting lineup he has used virtually all season long tonight. Included in that group are front-liners Marie Schilling, Sheri Whitaker, and Denise Albracht along with guards Penny Whiteside and Tammy Heard.

The Herd's inside trio of Schilling, Albracht, and Whitaker will be faced with stopping Plainview's Gay Hemphill tonight. Hemphill has been a dominant factor in guiding the Bulldogs to their 10-1 mark this season. "We'll just have to sag back and help each other out on her," Herd coach Roy Shipp said today. "We'll have to front her and just do the best we can."

Most of the brunt of the defensive pressure will be on Schilling, a 5-8 junior, who leads the Herd in rebounds on the year with 135 total in 19 games (7.1 per game). Albracht has hauled down 6.6 caroms per game (125 total), while Whitaker has 88 rebounds for a 4.6 standard. Heard has collected 2.7 caroms per game (48) from her outside position.

Leading the team in scoring is Heard, who has 160 points in 18 games for an 8.9 average. The 5-7 sophomore has hit 32 percent of her shots from the field (65-205), while connecting on 30-63 free tosses, 48 percent.

Whitaker is scoring at a 7.0 clip for the Herd with 134 points in 19 contests. She has hit 48 percent from the field (55-114), while true 32 percent from the line (24-76).

The rest of the starting five are all averaging over three points per game, with Albracht sporting a 5.4 average, just slightly better than Whitaker's 5.2. Whiteside has a 3.4 standard while playing in 17 ball games.

As a team the Herd is shooting 30 percent from the floor and 41 percent from the charity stripe. Hereford has connected on 234-782 field goal tries and 162-395 free throws. Their collective opponents have shot 35 percent from the field and 45 percent from the line (290-823 and 139-307).

Rebounding has been a strength of the 'Faces all year with Hereford ahead of their opponents in caroms 501-478. The Whitefaces are averaging 26.4 rebounds per game as compared to 25.2 by their opponents.

The Whitefaces are averaging 33.8 points per game with 632 total points in their 19 contests. Herd foes are averaging 37.8 points per game with a total of 719 scored.

Heard also leads the team in assists with 27 on the year, while Schilling has 10 helps to her credit. Albracht has handed out seven assists, while sub Lisa Duggan has five and Whiteside has been credited with four.

The Herd junior varsity, led by Darlene Sanders and Beverly Nixon, will play the Bulldogs JV at 6 p.m. tonight in the high school gym. The varsity match will immediately follow at 7:30 p.m.

Tyler Rose Honored

TYLER, Texas (AP) - The first time Dr. Earl Kinzie of Tyler saw Heisman Trophy-winning running back Earl Campbell, he slapped him.

But Wednesday night, Kinzie and Tyler Mayor Bob Nall presented Tyler's favorite son with the keys to a 1978 green-and-white van as the finale of a day-long celebration honoring Campbell.

Kinzie delivered Campbell in 1955, when the punishing 220-pound University of Texas running back weighed into the world at eight pounds, two ounces.

A host of football luminaries were on hand for a parade that drew 5,000 in chilly, overcast weather and a banquet that attracted more than 1,200. They included Texas Coach Fred Akers and Athletic Director Darrell Royal.

After an extra 200 seats were set up in an auditorium to accommodate those who wanted to attend the banquet, Akers spoke of the man they call "The Tyler Rose."

"I'm so proud of him, so proud of the dignity and sincerity and honesty and the genuine love that seems to pull out of him," Akers said. "When I realize he's not going to be there next year, it's like losing a member of the family."

Royal was head football coach at Texas and recruited Campbell, a black. "We have, as I look out over the auditorium, a true racial mixture," Royal said. "....And I don't think anyone has done more to achieve that mixture than Earl Campbell. And I love him for it."

Assistant Texas Chancellor Charles LeMaistre said, "The University of Texas is a far better place because Earl Campbell walked there."

Campbell, who played for John Tyler High School here and last season led the nation's collegiate running backs with more than 1,700 yards, paid tribute to his hometown. "You people took a guy and made a whole lot out of him,"

Campbell said. "You loved me, pushed me and, as I said downtown today, when people in Austin tell me 'Earl, you put Tyler on the map,' I say Tyler put me on the map.I love y'all and thank you so much."

Stacom Sudden Hero As Boston Nips LA

By The Associated Press
Boston had a fight for its life and Kevin Stacom, dropped and recalled by the team earlier this season, was suddenly a hero, one of the good guys.

Stacom scored a career-high 19 points Wednesday night as the Celtics downed the Los Angeles Lakers 103-100 in overtime in a National Basketball Association game.

"This game never should have gotten to overtime," complained Lakers Coach Jerry West. "Any team that can't score a point in the last 2½ minutes of regulation doesn't deserve to win. We just didn't execute well. Stacom played like he belonged on the all-world team tonight."

Gratifying words for Stacom, the 1974 second-round draft choice out of Providence, who has shown only the most fleeting examples of his college promises. The Celtics dropped him early this season when the NBA required its teams to cut their rosters to 11. He was resigned two weeks later.

"It was a very rewarding night for me," Stacom said. "My only disappointment was missing the open shot at the end of regulation."

Abdul-Jabbar led all scorers with 30 points. Wicks and John Havlicek had 17 apiece for Boston. In other NBA action, the Philadelphia 76ers beat the Denver Nuggets 104-101, the Detroit Pistons defeated the Phoenix Suns 127-120, the New Orleans Jazz got by the Chicago Bulls 117-111 and the Houston Rockets bowled over the New Jersey Nets 124-103.

76ers 104, Nuggets 101
"Everything is beautiful when you hold David Thompson to 18 points," said Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham. "That's quite an accomplishment. The Sixers' other accomplishments included Lloyd Free's 17 points, George McGinnis' 15 and Doug Collins' 16, culminated by his fastbreak layup that clinched the game."

Jazz 117, Bulls 111
Len Robinson scored 31 points in the Jazz' 10th straight victory.

New Orleans led 60-41 at the half and built a 26-point lead in the third quarter, only to squander it when the Bulls' executed a full-court press and forged to within 109-104 with just over a minute of play. That's as far as Chicago got, though. Artis Gilmore led the losers with 25 points.

Watson Likes Odds At Hawaiian Open

HONOLULU (AP) - "So you've figured out the pattern, have you?" Tom Watson asked in mock seriousness.

"Every other week."

"And this is the week."

The pattern is clear. Watson, the 1977 Player of the Year, won the first Tucson and third Crosby golf tournaments of this season. The fifth one, the $250,000 Hawaiian Open, got started today on the palm-studded, flower-bedecked 7, 234-yard Waialae Country Club Course.

And Watson was an outstanding favorite to win the tournament in which he made his first big try for a PGA tour title. He led through three rounds of the 1973 Hawaiian Open before fading.

"I really haven't played that well this year," the plucky redhead said. "I certainly haven't played as well as I did at this time last year."

He paused for a moment and smiled.

"But I think I've got it now. I think I've finally got my name under control and I'm ready to really play well this week."

Despite his disclaimer that he hasn't played well, Watson is by far the outstanding performer in the game early this year with two titles and $91,800 in winnings.

His close friend and fellow tourist, Andy North, offers this explanation.

"Tom's a remarkable person," North said. "He has the rare ability to set his goals and then focus all his abilities, all his talent, all his concentration, all his mind, toward achieving those goals. He sets them, and then he goes and gets them."

"Arnold Palmer had that ability. So did Jack Nicklaus. And now there's Tom."

Chief among Watson's opponents in the 147-man field that is chasing a $50,000 first prize are U.S. Open champion Hubert Green, PGA titleholder Lanny Wadkins, former Haw-

OUR BOARDING HOUSE with Major Hoople

IN WASHINGTON

Martha Angle and Robert Walters

'Disgracefully' cheerful

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Most losing politicians are lucky to emerge from an election defeat with the shirts on their backs, but there are exceptions to any rule.

Take former Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., for example. Not only did he manage to land a cushy government job after his 1976 defeat by Republican Malcolm Wallop, he also wound up with a campaign surplus of $120,500.

A year after leaving the Senate seat he had occupied for 18 years, McGee—who was appointed by President Carter to serve as U.S. ambassador to the Organization of American States—still has a shade over $75,000 in his campaign kitty.

McGee told us he is dissolving his campaign committee as of this month and placing the $75,000 in a blind trust "for the duration of my service" with the State Department.

"After that, I'll decide what to do with it," he said, adding he has discussed his move with State Department legal experts.

As the federal election law now stands, the former senator could use the money for a future political campaign, donate it to charity or put it to "any lawful purpose," including his personal enrichment, provided he pays income taxes on it.

The Senate has tried for the past two years to prohibit the conversion of campaign funds to personal use, but the House thus far has refused to go along.

McGee said he has no plans for returning to elective politics once he leaves the Carter administration. "I'm cutting it clean," he told us.

He cheerfully admitted the surplus was "disgraceful" in view of the fact he lost the 1976 election. "We had no inkling I was in trouble, or I would have spent the money. Everybody thought I was going to win, and in the last few weeks—the money just came rolling in."

Critical support

Despite the fact that his own party is in firm control on Capitol Hill, President Carter last year received less support from Congress than any recent Democratic president.

According to Congressional Quarterly, a respected research organization which keeps track of such things, Congress supported Carter on 74.9 percent of the votes on which he had staked out a clear position.

That barely surpassed Richard Nixon's first-year support score of 74 percent from a Democratic Congress, and was well below John F. Kennedy's initial 81 percent and Lyndon B. Johnson's 88 percent. But it sure beat poor Gerald Ford, who prevailed on only 58.2 percent of his stands during his first year as president.

Perhaps ominously, the South—which put its native son in the White House—showed the least enthusiasm for his programs. Southern Democrats supported the president only 64 percent of the time in the Senate, 53 percent in the House.

Carter's strongest support came from Midwestern and Northern liberals, even though they have been among the most vocal critics of his policies.

Not in the running

Illinois Democrats have all but written off their chances of bumping off GOP Sen. Charles H. Percy this year. Their candidate, Chicago lawyer Alex Seith, is little known and is receiving no press coverage.

The strongest potential Democratic contender, two-term Rep. Paul Simon, from downstate Carbondale, declined to run despite entreaties from state and national party leaders including Vice President Walter F. Mondale.

Simon, who has two teenaged children, gave Mondale a familiar reason for his no-go decision. "I agree with the fellow who decided against running for president a couple years ago because he didn't want to spend the next year living in Holiday Inns," Simon explained with a sly grin.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) - The Southwest Conference basketball race is back on again because of an Arkansas substitute named Ulysses Reed. Reed came off the bench and scored all eight of his points in the final seven minutes as second-ranked Arkansas rallied from an 11-point deficit to defeat 12th-ranked Texas 75-71 Wednesday night.

"It was one of the gutsiest comebacks I've ever had a team make," said Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton. Arkansas, the defending league champion is now 8-1 in the SWC and 20-1 for the season. Texas is 9-1 in the league and 17-3 for the year.

It was Reed, a freshman, who made two straight field goals that tied the game 65-65 with 6:25 left.

That was the first time Arkansas had been even with the Longhorns since a 35-35 deadlock in the final minutes of the first half.

Reed broke a tie at 67 when he drove inside for a basket with more than five minutes left. He then came up with a steal and another field goal that gave Arkansas a 71-67 lead.

"I know one of the real keys in the second half was when we inserted Ulysses Reed," Sutton said. "We found a thoroughbred tonight in Ulysses. He made some real key plays and a couple of good defensive plays."

Texas led 71-69 on a basket by Tyrone Branan but Arkansas called time out with 3:50 left and went into its fourth-corner offense. Ron Brewer, a 91 percent shooter from the free throw line, made both ends of a one and one with 1:54 remaining to put Arkansas on top 73-69.

Jim Krivacs countered with a 20-footer but Brewer drove for a basket and Arkansas had its final margin.

The score was tied 10 times in the first half and the lead changed hands 13 times during the first 20 minutes.

Neither team led by more than four points in the first half, and Texas was on top 41-38 at intermission.

The Razorbacks hit only two of their first eight shots from the field in the second half while Texas hit five of 10 and built a 53-42 lead. "At the beginning of the second half, about the first five minutes, it looked like Texas was going to blow us out," Sutton said.

A three-point play by John Moore gave Texas a 61-53 lead with 9:29 left. Two baskets by Steve Schall and a 19-footer by Marvin Delph, who tied his career high with 30 points, cut the lead to 61-59.

Gary Goodner's layup made it 65-61 and then Reed went to work.

Branan collected 16 points for the Longhorns, and Moore added 17.

"It was a great basketball game," Sutton said. "It was a shame either team had to lose because both ball clubs performed very well."

The loss to Texas in Austin which ended a string of 22 straight league victories by the Razorbacks. The game in Austin was Arkansas' fourth in seven days and Sutton said at the time that fatigue played a part in the loss. Wednesday night was Texas' fifth game in 10 days and Sutton said he thought, "The fatigue factor hurt Texas down the stretch."

Arkansas has now won 25 straight games at home and has lost only one league game in Fayetteville during Sutton's four years.

Sutton said the packed house of 6,485 played a big part in the Arkansas victory. "Without them we wouldn't have won the ballgame," he said.

Lemons said the difference was the home court advantage. "We might, and I said might, have won tonight on a neutral court. Even before the season started, I never felt Arkansas would blow us out. I knew we could give them a good game."

Lemons added he thinks the Longhorns are gaining on the Razorbacks.

"I think we're creeping up on them. I hope it comes down to Arkansas and Texas," he said.

In other SWC action Wednesday night, Phil Hale hit a tying shot with five seconds remaining in regulation and added the game-winner in overtime to give Southern Methodist a 71-70 victory over Texas A&M in Dallas.

Meanwhile, Mike Russell collected 21 points and Texas Tech fought off Rice's 68 percent shooting in the second half to trim the Owls 81-77 and Mike Schultz scored 15 points and pulled down 15 rebounds as Houston easily brushed aside Texas Christian 93-55.

The average weight of centers in the Big Eight increased by 32 pounds in 20 years, going from 197 in 1957 to 229 in 1977.

NBA's Board of Governors To Discuss Game Violence

An AP Sports Analysis by ALEX SACHARE AP Sports Writer

What can be done to curb violence in pro basketball?

That will be a prime topic of discussion when the National Basketball Association's policy makers gather in Atlanta for the midwinter Board of Governors meeting Saturday.

Was Commissioner Larry O'Brien justified in levying a fine of $10,000 and a suspension, without pay, for a minimum of 60 days against Kermit Washington after he dismantled Rudy Tomjanovich's face with a hard right-hand punch back in December?

Don't be surprised if the governors issue some proclamation lauding O'Brien's efforts to curb violence in pro basketball. They might even come up with more specific guidelines as to what actions the commissioner may or may not take.

The board is scheduled to hear an interim report from the advisory committee of players, coaches and executives formed by O'Brien to provide guidance in dealing with the problem of violence in the sport.

In view of that, here's some guidance from this corner.

One thing to keep in mind is that fights can never be completely eliminated from pro basketball. In a sport where big men run around, dressed only in their underwear, crashing into each other and exchanging shoves and elbows, tempers are going to flare and fists are occasionally going to fly.

It has to happen; no amount of words can prevent it.

It must be recognized that we are dealing with two issues here - how to prevent fights from breaking out and how to keep things under control when fights do happen.

In the matter of prevention, the threat of a huge fine or lengthy suspension is inadequate. As Leonard Koppett pointed out in a recent column in The Sporting News, those measures can only be effective if a player is in control of his faculties and can stop and consider the consequences of his action before he actually does anything. But when one basketball player takes a punch at another, he has already lost that degree of self-control and is no longer acting rationally.

When Washington spun around and decked Rudy T., for example, it was an instinctive reaction to what he thought was a threat to his physical well-being and not the product of rational thought.

As Washington said recently, after having thought about the fight and its consequences for more than a month, if he found himself in the same situation again he would run away. That is rational thought; the punch was instinct.

The threat of a stiff fine or a long suspension, while of little use in stopping the instinctive punch, can help to keep matters under control. Any player who comes off the bench or joins in a fight already in progress should know before hand that such action will cost him dearly. Such knowledge could keep one-on-one fights from evolving into all-out brawls.

In addition, as Koppett suggested, teams of trained security personnel, in significant numbers, should be assigned by the league to every game and positioned directly at court-side. As soon as a fight begins, these officers should aid the game referees in breaking it up and preventing other players, or spectators, from joining in.

But those are measures for keeping the lid on once things break out. What can be done to stop fights from starting?

A third referee for each game would probably help, but more important than the number of referees is a reassessment of their role.

If fights are to be eliminated, then the actions that lead a player to become frustrated and subsequently to throw a punch must be curbed. More specifically, this would entail limiting the amount of body contact during the course of play, for it is when two bodies bump and no foul is called that frustration builds.

To accomplish this, the referees would have to start calling games much more tightly than is currently being done. The widely used defensive practice of hand-checking would have to be eliminated, as would the leaning that goes on in the pivot between opposing centers jockeying for position or while boxing out on rebounds.

Referees currently permit a considerable amount of body contact, preferring to let the teams play their games and only blow their whistles and call fouls when some significant damage is done. This concept of "no harm, no foul" would have to be junked if the tensions which lead to fights are to be eased.

It would take a while for the players to adjust, but once they see that all fouls are going to be called closely, they could certainly learn to adapt their games to the new standards. The question, however, is whether the NBA really wants to do something like this, which would constitute a basic change in the way the game is played. The NBA game is a unique blend of speed, strength and skill, and it is doubtful whether the lords of the sport want to risk tinkering with that delicate balance.

Unless they have to, that is. And while the number of fights this season is comparable to last, the severity of the injuries to Tomjanovich have put things under a different light. Any recurrence could force those who run the NBA to take more basic action.

There have been 432 World Series games played and 160 of them were played in New York City.

Allen 'Home'

LOS ANGELES (AP) - A jubilant George Allen, promising harmony, excitement, an end to the "Allen myth," and wielding a plan designed to put the Rams into the Super Bowl, has made his return to Los Angeles.

Allen, who first became a National Football League head coach in 1966 with Los Angeles, then was fired after the 1970 season and went to the Washington Redskins, had said he would be back. Wednesday at a press conference to formally introduce him as the new Rams coach, a beaming Allen said, "It's like a dream come true. It's home to us."

Fired by the Redskins two weeks ago and Ram owner Carroll Rosenbloom's much-preferred man to guide Los Angeles, Allen replaces Chuck Knox, who left the Rams last month to become head coach of the Buffalo Bills. Allen's contract with Los Angeles is a multi-year agreement worth an estimated $200,000 annually.

Some Rams players reportedly did not want Allen as their coach, but he said, "I don't see disharmony as any problem here. I think maybe some of the Redskins felt the same way at first when I went there. After we get down to working, I think everyone will feel good about our team."

Although known for his emphasis on defense, Allen said the Rams' offense will be more entertaining than in the past. One of Rosenbloom's chief complaints with Knox was that the team's offense lacked imagination.

Murphy Surpasses NBA Marks

HOUSTON (AP) - Rocket guard Calvin Murphy has a few words for the basketball minds who said his 5-foot-9 frame was too short to play in the National Basketball Association.

"I'd like to look at all those guys and just laugh it off," said Murphy who scored 12 points in Houston's 124-103 triumph over the New Jersey Nets Wednesday night.

Murphy's 12 point effort allowed the eight-year veteran to become only the 20th player in NBA history to have collected 11,000 points and 3,000 assists.

"It's a thrill to see my name up there on the same list with Oscar Robertson, Bob Cousy and the rest of them," Murphy said. "It's hard to believe."

The Rockets made believers out of the Nets as Houston broke a four-game losing streak while handing New Jersey its 15th straight loss.

Black Elected Chairman Of High Plains Study Council

AUSTIN — A.L. Black, a nationally recognized soil and water conservation leader from Friona has been elected chairman of the six-state High Plains Study Council. The Council is an organization of states with substantial land areas overlying the Ogallala Aquifer, the area's principal source of water.

The Council was organized a year ago to advise and assist the federal government in a $6 million study of the area's natural resource needs.

Black, chairman of the Texas Water Development Board, succeeds Governor David Boren of Oklahoma as head of the Council Member states are Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico and Nebraska. The Council's first annual meeting was held in Oklahoma City earlier this week to review plans for the study about to get underway. The new chairman is a farmer, banker and agribusiness leader with substantial livestock interests.

The U.S. Department of Commerce's Economic Development Administration (EDA) has requested proposals from private consultant firms to serve as the general contractor to oversee and conduct the study of the economic impact of the dwindling natural resources of the area.

Black said a bidders' conference will be held February 14 at the Airport Marina Hotel, D-FW Airport, midway between Dallas and Fort Worth.

The full Council and EDA representatives plan to meet early in May to evaluate the proposals and select a contractor to conduct the study.

Public Works legislation enacted by Congress late in 1976 authorized the study. A total of $3 million has been appropriated for fiscal year 1978 for the study.

The study was authorized to "assure an adequate supply of food to the nation and to promote the economic vitality of the High Plains Region." The Congressional action authorizing the study noted the declining water resources of the Ogallala Aquifer and charged the EDA, in cooperation with state and other federal agencies, to develop plans to increase water supplies in the area and report recommendations to Congress for further action.

Black said the multi-state organization set up to work with the federal government is a unique and unusual approach to seek solutions and bring about actions to cope with a critical situation developing in the High Plains Region.

The study will include, but is not limited to, the study of transfer of water from adjacent areas. This portion of the study will be conducted by the U.S. Corps of Engineers in cooperation with the EDA and the High Plains Council. If water transfer is found to be a part of a reasonable solution, the report to Congress shall include a recommended plan for allocating and distributing water in an equitable fashion, taking into account existing water rights and the needs for future growth of all affected areas.

An interim report will be made to Congress no later than October 1, this year, and a final report with recommendations shall be made to Congress no later than July 1, 1980.

"From our studies in Texas, we know the problems and importance of the declining water supplies in the Ogallala in our State, and we recognize the importance of the area's food and fiber production," stated Black.

Thunder Valley Has High-Gaining Bull

Thunder Valley Angus of Hereford had the high-gaining bull when the Greater West Texas Angus Association Bull Test conducted its 84 day weighing Jan. 21.

The Thunder Valley bull, sired by PRO, had an average daily gain of 4.42 lbs.

The bull test is under the supervision of West Texas State University, with bulls consigned by the top Angus breeders from West Texas and New Mexico.

The entire group of bulls averaged a gain of 3.40 lbs. per day with a group WDA average of 2.79.

Blackhawk Angus of Amarillo had the second high gaining bull, sired by Arrowhead Emulous. He had an EDG of 4.36 lbs.

A.F. Flint&Sons of Bard N.M. had the high gaining sire group on four sons of Flint's D47 Desert Prince 2122 with an ADG of 3.67 lbs.

Hinkson & Lust Angus of Lazbuddie had the second high gaining sire group on three sons of Hinksonite 75135 with a 3.60 ADG.

The high weight per day of age bull, owned by Richmond Hales of Canyon, had a 3.41 WDA record.

Worth Jones of Happy had the high weight per day of age sire group on three sons of Reeds-Emulous Bluebird 307 with a 2.95 WDA.

A 112 day weigh-in will be conducted on Feb. 18, and sale of the bulls will be held Thursday, March 30, at the West Texas State University Ranch.

Comment Deadline On Milk Order Extended

DALLAS — Dairy farmers and other interested persons have received an additional 30 days until March 1, to file exceptions to a U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) decision recommending uniform base-excess payment plans for 11 federal milk marketing orders across the southern part of the country.

Herbert L. Forest, dairy official with USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS), said the request for extending the comment deadline from Jan. 30 to March 1, came from a number of producers. The proposed amendments would affect the Texas, Neosha Valley, Wichita, Memphis, Fort Smith, Red River Valley, Oklahoma Metropolitan, Central Arkansas, Lubbock-Plainview, Texas Panhandle, and Rio Grande Valley federal milk orders.

The purpose of the proposed base-excess plans, Forest said, is to provide an incentive for producers to tailor their milk production to meet seasonal fluid milk requirements of the 11 markets.

Efforts Recognized

John Hall of Hereford receives a certificate of appreciation from Marn Tyler, chairman of the Hereford CowBelles Beef for Gristown committee in recognition of his assistance in transporting donated beef to a processor. Hall transported two steers to Palo Duro Meat Co. in Amarillo to be slaughtered for Gristown. Processing of the animals was done by TSTI. Steers were donated by the First National Bank of Hereford and K-Bob's Steak House. [Brand photo by Jim Steiert]

Ag Photography Course Offered at Texas Tech

LUBBOCK — A new photography short course tailored for the South Plains has been announced by Texas Tech Universities College of Agricultural Sciences.

"Agricultural Photography" will meet on Tuesdays from 6:30-9:30 p.m. for six weeks, beginning Feb. 14, in room 110, Mass Communications Building. Tuition is $25. Some applicants have already been enrolled, but several places are still available.

Former photographic editor of "Progressive Farmer" and cover photographer John McKinney will teach the course.

The course is one of a series offered by Texas Tech to teach students to compose and shoot better pictures.

A selection from 1,000 slides will be shown at each session. McKinney will project and explain how he shot magazine covers. Among photo subjects are national parks, farm and ranch people, wildlife, the camera as a farm management tool, public relations photography, and sunsets. He also will cover production and exhibiting of slide shows and will conduct critiques of student work.

Special attention will be given to full utilization of the 35 mm camera. Students will use their own cameras and have their films processed commercially.

Some groups of men and women for whom the new course has been designed include: farmers and ranchers and their families, persons in home science, cotton industry and agri-business, agricultural students, extension workers, artists and amateurs who care to improve and widen their photo repertoires.

Information and applications are available in room 102, Mass Communications Building. McKinney can be contacted by calling (806) 742-3385.

Short Course on Futures Scheduled in Hereford

A Futures Marketing Short Course has been scheduled in Hereford each Thursday at 7 p.m., beginning Feb. 9 and continuing through March 16, it was announced today by Juston McBride, county extension agent.

The short course will be conducted in the Southwestern Public Service Reddy Room and is designed for those not acquainted with the commodity market. The course will be taught by Dr. Ray Sammons, area economist of the Texas A&M extension service, and other resource people.

There will be a $10 registration fee per individual or couple, and interested persons may register at the county agent's office in the courthouse. The course will be limited to 50 people.

PF Magazine Names Texas Men To Honor

Howard Derrick, sheep producer and authority in the beef and sheep industries, and Homer M. Gibbs, agri-business leader, have been named Men of the Year in Service to Texas Agriculture.

The awards were announced by Del Detering, regional editor of Progressive Farmer for Texas. Feature articles in the magazine's February issue announce the recognitions.

Derrick has served as president of the American Sheep Producers Council, charter member of the Sheep Industry Development Committee, and a member of the executive committee of the National Wool Growers Association.

A sheep producer for the past 28 years, Derrick has extensive operations in West Texas, with headquarters at Eldorado.

Derrick is credited with helping to revitalize the sheep industry in Texas. For more than three decades sheep numbers in the state have been declining, according to state leaders, but the decline has been halted. Better prices for wool and lamb, increased demand for wool products, and renewed interest in expanding sheep flocks are evident at the start of 1978, these leaders say.

Gibbs, since 1950 head of agri-business development for Texas Power and Light Company, has been a leader in getting farm groups together to solve problems. He led a drive to get agricultural statistics from each of the state's counties, helped initiate a Blackland Income Growth Program in Central Texas, worked with Texas A&M in establishing a Build East Texas Program some years ago, and has promoted legume-grass pastures in livestock producing areas.

In other activities to benefit agriculture, Gibbs helped establish 4-H Club Leadership Camps, expanded farm electrification training for vocational agriculture high school students, and worked on a statewide rural community improvement program.

Gibbs is a graduate of North Texas State University and Sam Houston State University. He is a former Texas county agricultural agent.

A good bank has more answers than it has questions

We have a way with ideas and a way with money—ours and yours.

Because having money is one thing. But knowing what to do with it is an entirely different story.

At the best of all possible banks it's a question of what we can do for you. It's not a question of what you can do for us.

From the president to any teller, we want to answer your problems with our money ideas. Ideas we get because we're always building our references and resources to provide the best answers.

And we turn those answers into deeds. That's why so many people listen to what the best of all possible banks has to say. Our actions always speak louder than words.

GOP Optimistic

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Bill Clements figures that his campaign work in about 20 counties of Texas will give him the gubernatorial nomination in the May 6 Republican primary.
 "And when we start play in the fourth quarter, I am not going to run out of gas against the Democrats," the wealthy Dallas businessman told a news conference after he paid his $1,500 filing fee at State GOP Headquarters.

Clements said he would spend from $400,000 to $500,000 in the primary race against former State GOP Chairman Ray Hutchison, but would have to spend more than $3 million to win the November general election.
 "I have not written Ray off," he said. "He is a nice fellow. But the primary is a very limited race. Surveys show that about 90 percent of the state's Republicans are in about 20 counties and that is where I am working. I think what I am doing in those counties will be enough to win the primary."

He estimated the GOP primary would produce about 150,000, maybe 200,000, voters compared to the expected 3 million votes in the November election.
 Clements said he had talked with both former President Gerald Ford and Ronald Reagan about his races and both were "enthusiastic and pleased" he is in the race.
 "However, we three - Reagan, Ford and myself - agree it would be inappropriate for either of them to appear in Texas in my behalf. In 1976 sides were chosen in Texas over Reagan or Ford as the presidential nominee and there are still some open wounds.

 "I was not engaged in that 1976 election in any way because I was Deputy Secretary of Defense. I did not give either one a penny. I can build bridges among the Republicans in Texas that no one else can."
 Clements said he was opposed to ratification of the proposed Panama Canal treaty, as he testified Tuesday before a Congressional committee. "I am against it because I think that is the sense of the people of Texas. They are not for the treaty, maybe as much as three-to-one against," he said.

CAST IRON CIRCA 1643

NEW YORK (AP) - Joseph Jenks, a Lynn, Mass., craftsman, produced in 1643 the first casting made in America and in so doing pioneered what today has become America's $500-billion metalworking industry, reports American Machinist magazine.
 Jenks' casting, which established him as a "man of much skill and inventive genius," was an iron pot, cast from a clay mold, with about a one-quart capacity.
 Today, the metalworking industry Jenks pioneered employs 8 million people, according to the publication.

Ann Landers
Inhumane Incident

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am afflicted with the kenneling of animals while their owners are on vacation. For the past year I have been responsible off and on for the care of a paralyzed dog. Although my livelihood is made by caring for animals, it breaks my heart to have to care for this one. All she can do is lie on a blanket, urinate and defecate on herself, cry and sleep.
 She cannot possibly enjoy life. It is total and unrectifiable paralysis, and in my eyes, cruel and inhumane treatment to keep her alive.
 I will care for and love this animal as I do the others even though my heart breaks a little each time I look at her. I have tried to get through to the owner and can't. Any advice? -Animal Lover

DEAR ANNOYED: I'll get the big toe ready. Tell me when so I can put on my army boots.
DEAR ANN LANDERS: No one seems to have picked up on "Smug But Grateful." Remember, she wrote to thank her husband's mistress for making her family life so easy and pleasant. (Very few sexual demands, plenty of time to read and enjoy her card games.)
 Well, I'm writing to say no real life is grateful for being cheated out of a rich emotional life nor for the betrayal of her closest friendship. Look into the works of art and literature where men and women recreate their deepest feelings. The shrieks of the archetype, Medea, have rung down through the ages and have been echoed by women everywhere. I dislike writing something I can't sign, but in this instance I must remain nameless. Call me - Everywoman

DEAR EVERYWOMAN: I'm with you. And so is "Every Woman" who has decent standards and is not satisfied to go through life with one eye closed.
DEAR ANN: Recently my husband bought a wristwatch for $29 from a man who runs the candy and cigar stand in his office building. The man took a trip to Switzerland and brought back some bargains. The watch stopped and the man says he is sorry. What can we do? - Stuck
DEAR STUCK: Your signature is also your condition. You wouldn't go to a jewelry store to buy cigars or candy, would you? So why buy a wristwatch at a cigar and candy stand? The lesson cost you $29.

Although all reptiles and amphibians are cold-blooded, the leatherback sea turtle can maintain a body temperature higher than the water in which it lives, and the python can generate heat to incubate its eggs by contracting its muscles.

LEADERSHIP

first political race in 1974 for U.S. Congressman of the vast 21st District. The politicians gave him no chance. The people elected him. And re-elected him by one of the widest margins in Texas political history. Once in Washington he quickly emerged as a new national leader and was voted the Most Effective Freshman Congressman.
 Bob Krueger, since 1973, has called himself an "Independent Democrat," independent of power politics and narrow partisanship. He listens to every viewpoint. Then he votes, not just for what is politically popular but for what is best for the people of our state and nation.
 Whether advocating a strong national defense, better health care, less governmental interference in our daily lives, more fiscal responsibility, a strong agriculture or a sound and productive energy program - when Bob Krueger takes a stand he is a tough, intelligent fighter for his beliefs.
 The people of Texas need more than just a vote in the U.S. Senate - we need a strong, independent voice of leadership. With your help Bob Krueger can be that leader for Texas.

Bob Krueger is a candidate for the United States Senate, and he is no newcomer when it comes to meeting the challenge of an important task.
 Deeply rooted family ties in his home town of New Braunfels instilled in him a strong sense of integrity, a respect for hard work, the unique strength of our free enterprise system and a concern for helping others develop their full potential.
 After successful careers in higher education, ranching and business, Krueger entered his

At Wits End
 BY ERMA BOMBECK

You know what you get when you cross an orthodox newspaper clipper with a reformed magazine saver?
 A house that's the pits.
 I don't know which is worse - a husband who sits around night after night ripping and tearing holes in the newspaper or a woman who can't bring herself to throw away the Credit Union Quarterly from Spring, 1943.
 "Something has to give," I told my husband at breakfast yesterday. "I can't turn around without falling over some pitiful little paragraph about the rainfall in Venezuela or a talking dog in a bar."
 "Where did you find that story about the dog? I've been looking for it. Besides, what about you? Is there any reason why I am sleeping with three years of Sunsets?"
 "I am going through those magazines someday and clipping out all the recipes."
 "I'm curious. What do you do with all the recipes you clip?"
 "I put them in a little notebook called 'RECIPES.'"
 "Then why don't you throw the magazines away?"
 "Because some of them have instructions for making a doll out of a broom for a bridal shower, transferring zodiac signs to guest towels and making a sauna out of discarded wine barrels."
 "But you never do those things."
 "I will someday when I'm not busy clipping magazines. Besides, you have more brass than a doorknob to make fun of me. What about all those ridiculous things you clip?"
 "I never clip for myself," he said defensively. "It's always for someone else. I save them for people, like that amusing story of that Billy Carter said when they asked him about the energy bill. You never know when someone will need a warm-up story for a serious speech."
 "All I know is this house is ready to walk. The stove drawer is stuffed with scraps of paper, the closets and cupboards are bulging with magazines and you are sitting on Prudential's annual report."
 "So, is saving the end of the world?" asked my husband.
 "What possible harm could it do?"
 Just then our two sons came in. "He just stole my Sports Illustrated from 1971." "And he took my football program from 1973 and won't give it back."
 We looked at one another. An orthodox newspaper clipper and a reformed magazine saver can marry...but they should never have children.
