Farmers Meet 'Pearl Harbor'

Reinforcements Head For Confrontation Site

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Hereford farmers were joining agriculturalists from as many as 28 states in a journey to Hidalgo today as striking farmers moved to reinforce approximately 300 of their fellows who were jailed following a melee at the international bridge at that city Wednesday afternoon.

Striking agriculturalists were tear-gassed and set upon by nightstick-armed police in the incident, which a local spokesman termed "the farm strike's Pearl Harbor."

The Hereford farm strike office, which serves as state headquarters, was a hotbed of activity Wednesday afternoon. Dozens of irate strike supporters from Texas and surrounding states called to obtain information about the incident, which was termed nothing short of brutal.

Volunteers at the local strike office were in touch with farmers at the Hidalgo County Jail in Edinburg Wednesday afternoon, and were repeatedly told about brutal treatment at the hands of sheriff's deputies, McAllen city police, state troopers and Texas Rangers in what arrested farmers termed "an unprovoked attack."

Hereford farmers Jerome Friemel, Johnny Jesko and Dale Artho were among those arrested Wednesday afternoon.

Speaking from the Hidalgo County jail, farmers repeatedly stated that they were "set up" by McAllen Mayor Othal Brand, who owns 40,000 acres of vegetable producing land in this area that borders Mexico.

Farmers at the scene reported that they had obtained permission from Brand to demonstrate on the 175-yard bridge that connects Hidalgo with Reynosa, Mexico earlier Wednesday.

The farmers demonstrated for a short time at the bridge, on Wednesday morning, but alleged that they were called back by Brand himself, and informed that no Mexican produce trucks would be along until Wednesday afternoon.

The farmers retired from the bridge and regrouped for an afternoon protest.

Garcia, Arsola

File for Posts

Two Armour Foods employees have joined the races for seats on the Hereford City Commission and Hereford Independent School District Board of Trustees.

The filing deadline for both city and school offices passed at 5 p.m. Wednesday. The deadline for voter registration for both elections also was Wednesday.

Rumaldo Garcia filed Wednesday for Place 3 on the school board. Clark Andrews has announced he will seek re-election to the Place 3 post.

Incumbents James Gentry and Jim Arney are running unopposed in Places 1 and 2, respectively, on the school board. Paul Rameriz will be unopposed for Place 7, seeking to fill the position previously held by David Pruitt, who resigned in January to accept a job in Wellington.

Garcia is employed by Armour Foods.

Another Armour employee, John O. Arsola, 201 Jackson, has filed for Place 4 on the city commission. Emory Brownlow also has announced for the position, to be vacated by Frank Barrett at the end of his term.

Dickie Gerie is running unopposed for the Place 3 spot on the commission. Stan Frye, commissioner of Place 3, has announced his candidacy for the Deaf Smith County Commission.

2-Month Total Nearly $1 Million

Permits Top $546,000

February building permits, most of them issued for new residences, totaled $546,750, bringing the yearly total to nearly $1 million.

There were 21 permits issued in February, 13 for new residences, new constructions total $960,900 for the first two months of 1978.

The February new-residence starts were worth $480,000, nearly 88 percent of the month's total.

The largest single permit issued last month was $60,000 for a residence being constructed by Bill Brooks.

John Craig purchased three permits, all for residences and totaling $104,000.

The largest non-residential permit issued was to the Federal Land Bank Association for a new office.

February permits issued were to Howard Bailey, two residences, $25,000 each; Bonnie Province, alter and repair store, $600; John Craig, three residences, $24,000, $39,000 and $41,000; George and Price Builders, three residences, $29,500, $30,000 and $29,500; Fenley and Sumrow Builders, residences, $45,000 and $44,000; Jose Leal, move-in mobile home, $18,000; Robert Reinauer, enclosure patio, $4,500; Lester Moffitt, residence, $41,000; Bill Brooks, residence, $60,000; Mike Williams, residence, $47,000; Federal Land Bank Association, construct office, $43,000; and Arturo Rubio, construct carport, $650.

March, in only one day, has gotten off to a fast start with four new residence permits totaling $140,100.

All HISD Surveys Returned As Tests To Begin on Monday

BY PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Parental cooperation, although it took some prodding by the school district, has been 100 percent to the survey forms taken home by students to determine each youngster's dominant language.

The surveys are the first phase of a plan devised by the Hereford Independent School District to comply with Department of Health, Education and Welfare regulations concerning bi-lingual education.

The HEW Office of Civil Rights in Dallas visited school campuses in Hereford then sent Superintendent Dr. Harrell Holder a letter which stated the HISD did not satisfactorily identify students with a language barrier in grades 4-12.

Phase II of the HISD plan will be the testing of approximately 2,200 students to determine language dominance. Those found needing additional help in improving English-speaking capabilities will be placed in a program.

Workers from the Parental Involvement office of the school district recently went to homes to collect the surveys not turned in by students three days after the forms were sent home.

"One hundred percent is surprising. It's rather unusual whenever you send out any kind of home survey and get 100 percent response," said Mal Manchec, HISD director of program development.

"We're overwhelmed by it because we were expecting 95 or 96 percent."

Parental involvement director Paul Abalos and three workers did the visitation.

"The school administrators were responsible for a lot of it being done. Our task was minimal," Abalos said.

He added that few parents were upset about the prospect of their children having to take tests to determine language dominance.

"I don't think they were upset as much as they were confused. We didn't have any trouble getting the things back."

The survey asked three questions: the language the child first learned was.... the language the child most often speaks is..... and the language most often spoken in the home is.....

Students whose surveys answer

"Spanish" to any of the three questions will be involved in testing phase, which begins Monday.

"Individual tests will be given to each of the 2,200 students," Manchec said. "The test will take about 15 minutes. All of the kids who marked Spanish, we'll test them in English."

"If they make scores we consider to be satisfactory, according to our plan, those kids won't be tested in Spanish. If they do not make these particular cutoff scores, they'll be tested in Spanish to determine which one of the two languages is strongest."

Phase III will be program development for those youngsters found deficient in English. Employees of the Intercultural Development Research Association in San Antonio will be in Hereford next Wednesday to assist the HISD with program development.

Hereford was one of 15 school districts in the state, including Amarillo and Lubbock, told by HEW to correct deficiencies in bi-lingual education programs.

Hereford presently has bi-lingual programs for youngsters in grades K-3.

Two Die, 79 Hurt in Wreckage

LOS ANGELES (AP) - It was his last flight before retirement and Capt. Gene Hersche was taking his wife along to Honolulu as he taxied the big Continental Airlines DC-10 toward takeoff.

Then a bang. Two tires blown out. Landing gear buckled. A shower of sparks from metal grinding on concrete. The plane careens to the right, toward a clump of buildings.

Hersche, who will be 60 Friday, reacted in a flash Wednesday to pull it back to the left and bring the huge aircraft to a screeching, wobbling, fiery halt off the runway, but short of a fence. It was a maneuver that may have saved lives.

But two passengers died when they scrambled over a burning wing and slid down an escape chute into flames and 79 passengers were injured, four critically, authorities said. Also injured were 11 firemen.

Mrs. hersche and the other 116 passengers and crew members escaped.

$3.75 Million Elevator Purchase Completed

The purchase of Pitman Grain elevator facilities by Hereford Grain Corporation has been completed, with legal representatives of the two firms closing out the $3.75 million transaction earlier this week.

The transaction was originally announced to The Brand in mid-January, following negotiations which had continued since November of 1977.

The sale includes the Pitman elevator facilities in Hereford, in addition to outlying facilities at Summerfield, Westway, Centerpoint, and Milo Center.

The transaction involved some five million bushels of storage, according to Joe Artho, manager of Hereford Grain Corp.

Stockholders of the cooperative voted to purchase the Pitman facilities during a special meeting in January, and the purchase marks the largest transaction in the history of the local cooperative.

Marsh Pitman, president of Pitman Industries, reported that the firm will maintain its elevator at the Simms community, in addition to its feedyards and commodity brokerage offices.

"Our family has been in business in the Hereford area since the early 1920's, and we plan to stay here with a cattle operation," Pitman commented.

Hereford Grain Corporation was formed June 1, 1953, with S.G. Slagle serving as initial president. The cooperative purchased its Sears location in 1958 and the Farmers Corner location was purchased in 1968.

An additional 514,000 bushels of storage space was constructed at the Sears location in 1975, and another 600,000 bushels of storage was constructed at Farmers Corner during the summer of 1977.

Tony Hoffman is current president of the cooperative. Jerome Friemel is vice president and George Olson is secretary. Board members include Donald Meyer, F.L. Eicke, Ed Schilling and Richard Hunter.

Pitman Grain was founded by J.A. Pitman in 1930, with the firm opening business at the old Harrison elevator.

Elevator facilities located in Hereford were constructed during the 1940's and 50's and the firm's outlying elevator facilities were built during a period extending from the mid 1950's to 1960's.

Dennis Farley is executive vice-president and secretary treasurer for Pitman Industries.

Deaf Smith REC Meet To Include Administrator

David A. Hamil, Administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration, will make a public address at the 40th Annual Membership Meeting of Deaf Smith Rural Electric Cooperative.

Administrator Hamil has served under the Eisenhower, Nixon, Ford and Carter administrations, and is responsible for loans of over 26 billion dollars in forty-six states. In a recent visit, Mr. Hamil commended cooperatives on the high plains for an efficient job.

"Texas has more loans and more miles of line than any other state," he pointed out.

James Hull, Manager of Deaf Smith REC, said he believes the retention of Hamil "indicates the fine job he has performed as REA administrator."

This year, Capital Credit checks totaling about $400,000.00 will be paid back to members of Deaf Smith REC who purchased electricity during 1965 and 1966.

The Annual Meeting, scheduled for Saturday, will be full of eating, fun and business and will commence at 5:00 P.M., at the Bull Barn.

Starting at 5:00, there will be a barbecue dinner, served by the Catholic Daughters Society of Nazareth. Following the meal, the business meeting will convene.

Sloan Osborn, president of the board, will call the meeting to order. Noel Gollehon, secretary-treasurer, will report on the number of members present, read the notice of the meeting and present the minutes of the last Annual Meeting for approval.

The Nominating Committee which met January 5, will submit the following names for election: Deaf Smith County, Eldred Brown and Dwayne Cassels; Castro County, Raymond Annen and Floyd Schulte.

Also highlighting the evening will be drawings for door prizes, totaling over $700.00, including a microwave oven. All members attending will be awarded attendance prizes.

Double Transplant Patient Dies

HOUSTON (AP) - The young daughter of a woman whose heart and one kidney were transplanted into a 21-year-old man says the recipient's death made her feel like her mother had died again.

Kirk Russell Martin, 21, a Bay City, Texas oil field worker who two weeks ago became Houston's first heart transplant patient in eight years, died Wednesday.

Martin received the heart and kidney Feb. 14 in surgery performed by a team headed by Dr. Denton A. Cooley at the Texas Heart Institute of St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital.

The donor was Leona Singleton, 38, a mother of two who died of brain damage from a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Kay Cannon, 14, a daughter of Mrs. Singleton, said the recipient's death "made me feel like she died again. It was her death all over again."

"I thought he had been doing well. I thought he was going to make it. It was a big shock when I learned he was dead."

She said a hospital representative called her father, Marshall Singleton, to tell him about Martin's death.

In a statement announcing the death, a hospital representative said the transplanted heart functioned well but the donor kidney did not.

Only Proxmire Opposes Miller Appointment

WASHINGTON (AP) - G. William Miller has survived a six-week investigation of an alleged business bribe to an Iranian general and is heading for near unanimous endorsement from the Senate Banking Committee to head the Federal Reserve Board.

Only the committee's chairman, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., opposes President Carter's selection of the 52-year-old Miller to succeed Arthur Burns as the nation's central banker. The post is considered one of the most powerful in government.

Miller is chairman of Textron Inc., a major U.S. conglomerate.

Proxmire has called Miller a "routie" in economic matters and flatly accused a Textron subsidiary of bribing the commander in chief of Iran's air force to win a $500 million helicopter sale.

Proxmire is the only member of the committee on record in opposition to Miller, a lawyer and engineer who has been active in Democratic politics. All of the 14 other members are expected to approve the nomination.

Park Gives Committee Incomplete Answers

WASHINGTON (AP) - Tongson Park is increasingly evasive and is giving the House ethics committee incomplete and sometimes angry answers about alleged efforts to buy influence in Congress, several committee members say.

His evasiveness, they said after Park's second day of testimony Wednesday, was notable especially on the question of whether he was a South Korean agent when he gave congressmen thousands of dollars.

One member said Park was particularly evasive whenever investigators confronted him with information tending to support the allegation that he made contributions to buy influence in Congress for the South Korean government, not just for his rice business.

Park, who contends he contributed to congressmen out of friendship and to help his business, acknowledged to reporters that "the questions were very tough."

"A witness does not like to face such tough questions," Park said, "but I'm glad they are being tough so once and for all we can get the truth out."

Deputy Postmaster To Head Department

WASHINGTON (AP) - Deputy Postmaster General William F. Bolger, a career postal employee, was named Wednesday as postmaster general by the Postal Service's governing board.

Bolger, a postal employee since 1941, is only the second person to rise through the ranks to head the nation's mail service.

He replaces Benjamin F. Ballar, who announced his resignation Feb. 16 to reenter private industry after three years at the $66,000 per year position.

The selection of Bolger, who has held the number two post in the postal service since September 1975, was made by the agency's Board of Governors.

The nomination does not require Senate confirmation.

The governors publicly accepted Ballar's resignation and then met in closed session for about three hours to deliberate on the selection. Afterward, board chairman M.A. Wright made the announcement.

The only previous career postal worker to rise to the top of the mail agency was Jesse M. Donaldson, an appointee of President Truman who held the position between 1947 and 1953, spokesman Lou Eberhardt said.

Police Report

Alejandro Mendez, 18, of Carrizzo Springs and formerly of Hereford, was arrested Wednesday for two counts of forgery and another for burglary of a building.

Mendez was in Deaf Smith County Jail this morning after Justice of the Peace Glen Nelson set bond at $15,000.

He is charged with the Nov. 28, 1977, burglary of T.J. Power & Co., which had reported that payroll checks were stolen. Mendez also was charged with forgery of checks allegedly stolen from two Hereford residents.

Mendez gave himself up at the Deaf Smith County Courthouse. Law enforcement authorities had been searching for him since arrest warrants were issued in January.

Police Det. Roger Scott and Dean Butcher of the sheriff's office conducted the investigation prior to the arrest.

Gary Sims, 700 Blevins, told police Wednesday that a tire on his car had been punctured three times since Feb. 22.

Police investigated minor traffic accidents Wednesday at 10:14 p.m. in the 100 block of Norton, at 1 p.m. in the 400 block of N. Main and at 12:55 p.m. at 421 McKinley.

Children Among Those Fighting in Ethiopia

FIYAMBIRO, Ethiopia (AP) - Children in oversized, cast-off uniforms clutching wooden rifles are a common sight in the brushfire wars that periodically erupt across Africa.

But in the rebellion to end Ethiopian control of the Ogaden Desert and join it to Somalia, the children are not playing soldier. They are actively engaged in combat, to avenge the deaths of loved ones and to help turn the dream of Western Somalia, the rebels' name for the Ogaden, into a reality.

Three such youngsters seen here in the mountains and valleys on the rebel side of the Fiyambiro battlefield appeared to be at that awkward age between childhood and adolescence.

Wearing brown uniforms, they crouched in the bush facing Ethiopian positions on an opposite ridge. Across each boy's back was an automatic rifle about half his size, a weapon the Russians supplied to the rebels' backers in Somalia before the Kremlin switched its support to Ethiopia.

"As is our tradition, they want revenge for the deaths of their parents," said Mohammed Hassan, a field commander for the Western Somali Liberation Front. "They have all received military training."

Hassan explained that the Ethiopians killed the boys' parents when they recaptured hill-top Fiyambiro temporarily last month and executed persons suspected of working for the Liberation Front.

Hassan did not say how many armed children were under his command, but he indicated there were more in the area, one of two main battlefronts in eastern Ethiopia where guerrillas are battling an Ethiopian army counter-offensive to reclaim the Ogaden.

The people of Fiyambiro, like most of the people in the Ogaden, are ethnic Somalis. Moslem nomads like the people of neighboring Somalia, with no cultural ties to the Christian Ethiopians to whom the Ogaden was ceded by the colonial powers in the 19th century.

Liberation Front officials here said thousands of the Ogaden's nomads are receiving military training at 40 camps in the "liberated" zone conquered by the rebels since the war erupted in mid-July. They said thousands of others have been armed with weapons supplied by Somalia or captured from the Ethiopians.

At Jijiga, a former Ethiopian tank and radar base in the northern Ogaden, visiting reporters toured an Ethiopian army camp converted into a refugee center.

About 800 refugees from Ethiopian bombings of Somali villages around Harar, 45 miles to the west, were housed in the camp aimed the debris of the battle fought in Jijiga last September.

Women stood in groups watching their men learn to field-strip rifles. The men ranged from adolescents to the elderly.

Their weapons were mixed, Soviet Kalashnikov rifles and American weapons captured from the Ethiopians.

"I walked five days from my village to reach here and join the front," said Baker Wadai, one of the older men. "They killed my family."

He said he came from a village where one of the two strongholds in which the Ethiopian army was besieged until it launched its counter-offensive last month.

Bakar Wadai said the Ethiopian air force repeatedly bombed his village earlier this month, and the five members of his family were killed in one of the raids.

After military instruction, the men and boys at the refugee camp are sent back to their home areas or dispatched to other fronts to fight. They appear determined to defend their new freedom from Ethiopian rule.

Texas' Birthday To Be Celebrated

BRAZOS, Tex. (AP) - Young men with old guns and a teenage girl from an early German community are to be among those gathered here Sunday to celebrate Texas' 142 birthday.

Although the Convention of 1836 made its declaration of independence from Mexico on March 2, anniversary ceremonies will take place March 5 "to give more people a chance to participate," said Jim Ethridge, a member of the Washington-on-the-Brazos Park Association. The group - along with the Texas Independence Day Organization - sponsors the annual event.

Most of the members of the Brazonia Militia, a re-enactment group formed recently, are antique gun buffs. They either own originals or build working replicas of the muzzleloading rifles militia men used to defend the territory settled in the 1820s by land-hungry pioneers.

"We'll be at the ceremonies to lend some atmosphere and to represent what Texas was - how it got started," said the group's "captain," Charles Kilsby, a Lake Jackson barber.

Militia members try for as much authenticity as possible in their outfits said Sam Whitley, a Lake Jackson chemist.

"Putting together a complete, authentic outfit can run as high as several hundred dollars," Whitley said.

Beth Gilleland, who will help light candles on the giant birthday cake, said studying Texas history last year in the seventh grade in Klein probably meant more to her than to some of her classmates. She is a direct descendant of Virginians who established the first Anglo-American settlement in Texas.

Although people in other parts of the country are often surprised to learn Texas has its own independence day, John Gilleland, a Houston lawyer and Beth's father, said the fact the state was an independent nation before it entered the union is still important in the attitudes of Texans today.

Kilsby, who looks as though he might have just crossed the Red River with Stephen F. Austin, said the fact Texans "fought twice for independence" accounts for their characteristic individuality.

Activities including a demonstration of pioneer cooking and crafts and militia sharpshooting begin at 10 a.m. at Washington-on-the-Brazos State Park, 60 miles northwest of Houston between Navasota and Brenham.

Secretary of State Steve Oaks will speak at the official birthday program scheduled for 2 p.m. in the park auditorium.

NOW Says AG Action Illegal

WASHINGTON (AP) - The National Organization for Women said Wednesday that the attorney general of the state of Missouri has launched an illegal and political attack on the supporters of the Equal Rights Amendment.

"The Missouri position is not only an attack on the equal rights amendment, but is a direct attack on the right of free speech and the right to take political action to achieve social justice," Eleanor Smeal, president of NOW, said at a news conference.

Ms. Smeal said that the suit filed Tuesday by the Missouri attorney general is an effort to break the economic boycott of states that have refused to ratify the proposed amendment guaranteeing equal rights for women.

NOW has been urging organizations that support the ERA not to hold their conventions in states that have not ratified the amendment.

Ms. Smeal said NOW has not received the formal complaint from Missouri and thus has not prepared a formal reply. She said the complaint alleges that NOW's activities constitute a violation of the antitrust laws.

"The right of women, or any group of citizens, to withhold their economic patronage from those who are denying them their economic rights is guaranteed in our nation's constitution and upheld in our courts," she said.

She said it has been reported that Missouri alone has lost $11 million as a result of the boycott.

The fission of one pound of Uranium-235 releases approximately the same amount of energy as the burning of 10,000 tons of coal.

Summons Required

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Two juveniles charged in the slaying of a rural store owner must be served with a summons before they can be transferred to a district court for prosecution as an adult, the Texas Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

Court records show that "D.W.M." and "W.L.C." were charged in Limestone County in the Jan. 17, 1977, slaying of Chester Brooks of the Coit community, who was robbed of $280.

The Supreme Court noted in the case of "D.W.M." that the Waco Court of Civil Appeals had ruled that the youth had waived the requirement that a summons be served upon him.

This holding conflicts with the Family Code, which states that a juvenile must be served with a citation and may not waive the requirement, the Supreme Court said.

Further, the court said, the summons must state that "the purpose of the hearing is to consider discretionary transfer to criminal court."

In the case of "W.L.C." his attorney objected that a summons had not been returned and was not on file with the court. The judge ordered the clerk to serve "W.L.C." in open court.

Flight Canceled

LONDON (AP) - Braniff International's inaugural flight from London to Dallas-Fort Worth was canceled Wednesday as the United States and Britain squabbled over cheap trans-Atlantic fares.

Braniff was to use an orange Boeing 747 to begin a daily service between London's Gatwick Airport and Dallas-Fort Worth. Officials said the jumbo jet will remain at Gatwick at least until Friday.

The U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board and the British Department of Trade have been unable to agree on the price of the tickets. Britain has refused to accept the low fares agreed to between Braniff and the CAB, and the CAB has refused to allow Braniff to charge the higher fares which Britain wants.

Caught in the middle, Braniff booking clerks were telling people "We are not operating today or tomorrow. But we plan to start on Friday, subject to agreement between the two governments."

"There is outrage in the U.S.," Braniff chairman Harding Lawrence told reporters at the airport. "Our Congress has expressed great displeasure to the British Embassy. They supported Concorde and now are being discriminated against. We have 60,000 other passengers booked on this route. In terms of revenue the loss will be considerable."

Registration Ends Today

The deadline for voter registration for the city commission, Deaf Smith County Hospital District board and the Hereford Independent School District board April 1 elections is 5 p.m. today.

Prospective voters must register in the Deaf Smith County tax assessor-collector's office at the Courthouse.

Farmers

strike office that the farmers succeeded in stopping a truck loaded with Mexican watermelons during the afternoon, and according to some reports, the driver of the truck was given $10 and persuaded to remove the keys from the truck and abandon it in the middle of the bridge.

"The bridge was blocked but the farmers were peaceful. Then all of a sudden the police were throwing tear gas and moving in," Artho commented.

A wrecker was eventually brought in to remove the truck from the bridge and the farmers were told to disperse.

Bobby Jackson, an arrested farmer from Levelland, told the local strike office that farmers then walked to the side of the bridge clearing the roadway.

Other arrested farmers reported that combined police forces blocked the Texas end of the bridge and Mexican police with fixed bayonets blocked the Mexican side of the bridge as the farmers moved to the side.

Jackson alleged that Brand actually led the farmers onto the bridge, then slipped away to a waiting police car where he used a bull horn and told police, "Okay boys, get those farmers and teach them a lesson, so they won't come back."

Police then launched tear gas and moved in, wielding nightsticks.

The farmers, who had already cleared the roadway and were forming single file lines on the bridge's sidewalk, were trapped between a line of police on the bridge and officers on the American side of the border.

The striking farmers were forced into a fenced off area, where they were loaded into buses for the trip to jail.

Several of the farmers were beaten. Artho told the local strike office that he saw a woman hit over the head by a police officer three times and the officer also received reports that one farmer suffered a ruptured kidney and another a heart attack during the police onslaught.

Police apparently arrested all those before them as McAllen Monitor reporter Bob Fattersee and an attorney who had come to South Texas to represent the farmers were hauled off to jail.

Television camera crews claimed they profit. And my comment is, suppose the hell they did?

"They're going to spend it on exploration...and if they gave it in dividends, it's no great problem. The stock market would go up and a lot of things would happen to keep this momentum going that built the kind of country we have."

When a business reaps profits, noted Geseon, it builds plants and creates jobs. Lacking profits, it pulls it the roof.

"What the hell is wrong with profits? Any business that has profits, generally were struck by blows from the officers' nightsticks as well, and at least one camera was broken in the confrontation.

The McAllen city manager later claimed responsibility for giving the order for police to move in.

Brand claimed the farmers had broken their agreement to "protest peacefully for only five minutes," but farmers denied such an agreement was ever made.

Battered farmers spent the night in jail, despite the fact that they could have been released by posting $18.75 of a $250 bond.

Those arrested voted to remain in jail until help arrives, claiming they had committed no crime and would leave only under personal recognition bonds, under which they would have to post no money.

Reaction to the incident was immediate as dozens of strike offices around Texas and surrounding states began to announce plans for sending contingents stopping the plane before it hit the fence," said passenger Robert Lyon, 41, a Los Angeles attorney who is a private pilot.

Another passenger, retired pilot George Ambros Jr., 61, of Hillsdale, N.J., said, "The captain certainly used his discretion well. Had he delayed two more seconds, we wouldn't have made it."

When Heruche reversed the engines and veered to miss a car rental agency, the plane tipped to its side and a wing banged against the ground, rupturing a fuel tank. Sparks from the gear apparently set the leaking fuel ablaze, Continental officials said.

"He saved a lot of lives," said Rick Dure, service manager for the car rental firm in the path of the out-of-control plane.

"A lot of people were afraid to slide down the escape chutes," said Lyon. "I had to kick the woman down ahead of me."

to the border city.

Two paneloads of Hereford farmers departed at 10 this morning and some 28 states are expected to send farmers to the area.

Jailed farmers include individuals from Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kentucky and Georgia, all of whom were protesting the importation of Mexican beef and vegetables they claim compete unfairly with American products.

A spokesman for the local strike office reported that a nationwide appeal has been sent out, calling for farmers to travel to the troubled area to show their support for the farmers "set upon in an unprovoked attack."

Local strike supporters also contacted the offices of Congressman George Mahon and State Attorney General John Hill late Wednesday.

The local strike office is encouraging farmers to contact Hill at 512-475-2510 and Governor Dolph Briscoe at 512-475-4101 to protest the incident.

One passenger, Deborah Garvey, 22, of Hawaii, said there was a "big bump" as the plane taxied and then "little pieces of the ceiling panel started coming down. I heard the stewardess say, 'fasten your seat belts tightly, put your head down and grab your ankles.'"

Workers in airport buildings watched the drama unfold.

"The yellow escape chutes popped out of the exits and people began sliding down them," said Tom Spencer who works nearby. "They were screaming and running away in all directions. The flames were getting worse and worse, and the people were sliding down so slowly, it seemed. I was praying - hurry up, hurry up."

Many of the passengers were elderly persons on a Hawaiian tour arranged by the American Association of Retired Persons.

Abortion War Getting Violent

WASHINGTON (AP) - For some "fanatics," the weapons in the war on abortion have changed from strident debate to bombs, arson and guns, says a pro-abortion group that cites attacks at clinics in 13 cities.

The National Abortion Rights Action League, a lobbying organization, says in a report released Wednesday that the attacks on clinics follow a pattern.

About two weeks ago, Aurelia E. Elliot, a worker at the private Concerned Women's Clinic in Cleveland, answered the clinic door and a man threw a bag at her.

She was temporarily blinded when it hit her in the face and burst. The contents were thought to have been gasoline. The man ignited the liquid and the fire caused $30,000 damage.

A few days earlier, vandals threw iodine around the clinic and cut telephone cords.

A clinic in Cincinnati was hit last month when a chemical bomb and packets of literature were thrown through a window. The report claims that the substance in the bomb is listed by the government for use in warfare.

Recently, demonstrators who had been protesting repeatedly outside a Fairfax, Va., clinic roughed up staff members and knocked a pregnant worker to the ground. There have been 20 arrests at the clinic during the last 15 months, according to the report.

There also have been threats against the children of abortion clinic workers, the report adds.

In St. Paul, someone broke into the Planned Parenthood offices a year ago, soaked the floor with a flammable liquid and ignited it. Water and smoke damage was estimated at $250,000.

The clinic director's life was threatened and board members have received threats that their children would be kidnapped. One board member sought police protection because of persistent threats. A bomb was heaved through the clinic window late last month, but it did not go off, the league said in its report.

A group calling itself People Expressing A Concern for Everyone PEACE has claimed credit for six coordinated clinic incidents on Jan. 6. The group disrupted clinic activities around the country, with members being arrested in New York, Minneapolis, Baltimore, Anchorage, Omaha and Fairfax.

"These are serious, horrible crimes being committed by those who oppose women's right to choose," said Karen Mulhauser, NARAL executive director.

The report was released as the debate over abortion took a new turn in Congress. The House Education and Labor Committee voted Wednesday on abortion legislation that will affect, for the first time, middleclass women. So far, congressional debate has focused on federal abortion payments for poor women.

The committee agreed to a proposal that would allow employers to refuse paying for abortions under medical and sick leave benefits. The amendment was attached to pregnancy benefits legislation.

Bigfoot Prints Phony

CHETOPA, Kan. (AP)-Chuck Bentley has left his footprints on this tiny southeast Kansas town in a way residents won't quickly forget.

The 20-year-old resident of nearby Oswego, fashioned two plywood feet, 17 inches long and 10 inches wide, went bounding across the snowy countryside a week ago, and sparked a "Big Foot" monster hunt that drew 5,000 participants.

The case was abruptly solved two days after it began when Bentley, alias "Big Foot," appeared on a newscast of a Pittsburg, Kan., television station. He said he was trying to add some excitement to life in Chetopa.

W. W. Lancaster Jr., Chetopa police chief, said it was possible that as many as 5,000 people-triple the population of Chetopa-had visited the area in the last two days.

Cave Explorers Nearly Met Death

WATERLOO, Ill. (AP) - Five youthful cave explorers, trapped by underground water that rose to 10 feet in some places, were 12 hours from almost-certain death when rescuers found them, a doctor says.

Sodden, filthy and exhausted, the spelunkers were carried from Old Schoolhouse Cave on Tuesday, two days after they embarked on what was to have been a six-hour excursion.

"If they were exposed 12 hours longer, I doubt that they would have survived," said Dr. Robert E. Schettler, who examined the explorers at St. Clement Hospital in nearby Red Bud.

But John Klockner, 18, Lisa Albrizzi, 18, Greg Berry, 22, Tony Nenninger, 20, and Michael Thompson, whose age is unknown, all of St. Louis, were in good shape when Schettler examined them.

"Skin, hands, knee joints are the main injuries. They are just plain scared," Schettler said.

Nenninger, who was suffering from shock, was in the worst condition, he said. All suffered from "exposure, dampness, cold and fear."

The five experienced spelunkers left a car parked on a farm near the cave Sunday. They went in, intending to travel its entire 2 1/2 miles. When farmer Joseph Fruth saw that their car remained Sunday night where the group had left it, he called authorities.

Pact Approach Subtle

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter administration, nervously awaiting the outcome of the United Mine Worker contract ratification vote, is taking subtle steps to guide 166,000 striking miners toward approval of the pact.

Officially, the administration is staying out of the ratification drive put together by union leaders. Labor Secretary Ray Marshall said at a news conference Wednesday it would be inappropriate for federal officials to be "out campaigning" for the tentative pact.

But sources said the administration approached Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., earlier this week to discuss whether he would be willing to help in the drive.

Sources said the discussion Monday included the possibility of Kennedy making a trip to West Virginia to urge miners to vote an end to their 87-day strike. Kennedy decided against such a step, according to the sources, who asked not to be identified.

A Kennedy aide said the Massachusetts Democrat "feels that the best role for him to play is as a member of the Senate Human Resources Committee."

The panel would handle any legislation President Carter requests to impose a government strike should the miners turn down the contract.

Carter said Wednesday he has "good hope" for ratification, and Marshall said, "It's looking favorable."

But several top administration officials believe ratification is far from certain. At his news conference, Marshall conceded there is "ferment" in the coal fields over the terms of the pact.

He said there is little chance for new negotiations and said the administration is prepared to act immediately to end the strike if the contract is turned down.

The miners will be voting over the weekend on whether to end their strike against the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, a 130-member organization responsible for half the nation's coal production.

The UMW itself is promoting the proposed contract through a series of radio and television advertisements that began airing on Wednesday. Union officials have said they will spend $40,000 for air time for the television commercials.

The administration has made no secret of its desire for the contract to be approved. Carter, announcing the tentative settlement Friday on national television, urged the miners to ratify the pact, and he and Marshall also have referred to miners' patriotism in several public statements.

At his news conference, Marshall responded to one question by outlining several points in the contract that are beneficial to the UMW membership.

These include wage increases of up to 37 percent, guaranteed health and pension benefits, and exclusion of many of industry's earlier bargaining demands that the union found objectionable.

Energy Negotiators Involved in Marathon

WASHINGTON (AP) - Key Senate energy negotiators are holding a marathon session on what may be the last major effort to break the long stalemate on President Carter's energy plan.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, chairman of the Senate Energy Committee, said he was prepared to hold expected swing-vote senators in an "around-the-clock" meeting today in hopes of finally resolving Senate differences over natural gas deregulation.

Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger is expected to participate in the closed-door meeting which Jackson said could produce the compromise that may end the impasse and put Carter's energy bill back on the track.

Jackson, D-Wash., said there already has been informal agreement among Senate negotiators for lifting price controls on "new" natural gas by either 1984 or 1985 while giving the president or Congress the power to reimpose them.

He said the biggest remaining obstacle is how to define the "new" gas that would be eligible for deregulation and for premium prices between now and when the price lids are lifted.

"New" gas refers generally to newly discovered gas, with higher prices available to encourage exploration for new sources. The debate concerns such questions as how far a new well must be located from a producing well in an existing field to qualify for the higher price.

The House last year passed the administration's plan to keep price controls on natural gas at somewhat higher levels than at present. But the Senate voted to lift these controls after two years.

A House-Senate conference committee was named last October to resolve these differences, but it has been stymied because of an inability on the part of Senate conferees to agree among themselves.

This logjam also has stalled action on the remainder of the president's energy bill, which includes proposed new taxes on crude oil and fuel-inefficient automobiles and tax credits for home insulation and other energy-conservation measures.

Carter submitted the plan last April 20, calling the nation's energy crisis "the moral equivalent of war."

The administration is looking toward Jackson to break the deadlock, and he in turn is focusing on five senators - two Democrats and three Republicans - who previously supported a broader form of deregulation but who have indicated flexibility on the issue.

They are Sens. Bennett Johnston, D-La.; Wendell Ford, D-Ky.; Pete Domenici, R-N.M.; Mark Hatfield, R-Ore.; and James McClure, R-Idaho.

Jackson already has six votes for his compromise efforts and needs at least three of these potential "swing-vote" senators to give him the nine votes needed to break the Senate impasse. There are 17 Senate energy conferees.

He reportedly already has picked up the support of Johnston and Ford.

And on Wednesday, Domenici emerged from a bargaining session to tell reporters, "I think it's fair to say we're making significant strides. We're much closer than we've ever been."

CREDIT UNIONS HAVE BIG ASSETS
MADISON, Wis. (AP) - More than 22,500 credit unions in the United States have combined assets of $50 billion, says the Credit Union National Association.

Credit unions were begun in the early 1900s to make low-cost credit available to the average American. Their rapid growth has turned them into a major force in the consumer lending market, with more than 35 million Americans - or one in seven - currently recorded as members, the association says.

St. Anthony's Parish Carnival Slated Here Sunday Afternoon

Shelley Burelsmith, chairman of the carnival cake walk, applies frosting to one of the 120 cakes baked by parish women for Sunday's carnival festivities. The theme of this year's carnival and bazaar will be "Springtime."

Parish members will be occupied during the coming days building booths for Sunday's carnival activities. Beginning work on the construction efforts are PTO president Al Simnacher, left, Walt Warren and Tony Urbanczyk, right. Simnacher and Larry Walterscheid (not shown) are co-chairman of this year's parish carnival.

The rudiments of bingo are explained by Andy Shuval to young Greg Urbanczyk, who seems to be taking the carnival business quite seriously. Numerous games and forms of entertainment are planned Sunday afternoon at the parochial school, 120 W. Park Ave.

Good eating will be the name of the game Sunday afternoon with a variety of homemade foods to be offered to carnival-goers. Members of the carnival foods committee are, from left, Marie Garcia, Velma Warren, Suzanna Gonzalez, John Warren, Tony Urbanczyk and Lorretta Urbanczyk. The Catholic Youth Organization (CYO) will also be selling ice cream, candies and soft drinks.

Judy Detten, left, and Dora Berand hold the 55" by 78" afghan crocheted by Mrs. Berand expressly for the parish carnival. The afghan will be given away in a drawing Sunday with drawing tickets to be sold for 35 cents each (three for $1).

Mrs. Berand has contributed handmade afghans to the spring carnivals for the past three years. Mrs. Detten, chairman of the Country Store, has collected a variety of items, which are shown in foreground.

Betty Connally and Joyce Geiger, right, are co-chairmen of a drawing which will award cash prizes of $275, $125, $75 and $25. Each drawing ticket will be priced at 50 cents with all proceeds going to St. Anthony's Parochial School.

Fem Thinclads Open Friday

By BOB NIGH

High Plains cotton growers have had available the chance to see one end result of their efforts the past few weeks as area athletes have donned cotton sweatsuits trying to get the edge on the crisp weather that has been a near stumbling block to spring (Did I say spring?) sports.

The Hereford girls' track team has been only one of a multitude of groups which have had to prepare for the spring season in the face of icy temperatures. But, the preliminaries are over, and the Herd fems take to the cinders in earnest tomorrow at the Pampa Invitational Track meet. Coaches Roy Shipp and Martha Emerson have 26 girls out for track this year, including nine lettermen, and some noteworthy Regional qualifiers back from a team which placed second in the district last time around.

"It's really still far too early to tell just who is going to be doing what," Shipp said Wednesday afternoon. "We've got some girls who have been out here just a few days, so they won't be going to Pampa, and we also have some girls out with illness or injury."

Included in the sidelined group are juniors LuAnna Berryman, who has been down with illness of late, and Becky McGilvary, who has a groin pull, and sophomore Tammy Heard, who injured an ankle in workout Tuesday.

Despite the loss of those performers Shipp can look to Regional qualifiers Teresa Lambert (discus) and Velma Arroyos (800) for solid leadership this year.

Lambert finished second in the discus at the district level last year with a toss of 101-6 to qualify for the Region I Meet. While Arroyos won the half-mile at district, and finished seventh at the Regional in a school-record time of 2:26.7.

Conversely, the team will be hurt with the loss of state qualifier Suzanne Duvall (shot put), and Regional qualifiers Lori Taylor (high jump) and Tawana Moton (long jump and triple jump). Moton, a junior this year, has her foot in a cast at the present due to an injury during the recent basketball season, and is acting as the team manager.

In addition to Lambert and Arroyos, Shipp will welcome back seniors Judy Birdwell, Joyce Betzen, and Kelly McClarty, who ran on the Herd's Regional qualifying 800 Relay and Mile Relay teams.

Rounding out the team are senior Rita Soliz, juniors Jean Ann Bartels, Lisa Drake, Laurie Pittard, and Lisa Villegas, and sophomores Stella Alaniz, Jennifer Griffin, Silvana Gamez, Kerry Hacker, Beverly Nixon, Melinda Reinart, Rosalinda Rodriguez, Phylcia Rowland, Darlene Sanders, Melissa Tatum, Penny Whiteside, Gay Yosten, and Cynthia Villegas.

Besides host Pampa and the Whitefaces, teams slated to be at the year's initial meet include Amarillo High, Dumas, and Borger. Herd individuals have been broken down as to event below:

440 Relay - Whiteside, Griffin, McGilvary, Nixon.
880 - Arroyos, Drake, Betzen.
440 - Birdwell, Pittard, Yosten.
220 - McGilvary, Sanders,

Reinart.
80 Hurdles - Nixon, Betzen.
880 Relay - Sanders, Griffin, McGilvary, Nixon.
100 - Sanders, Reinart, Whiteside.
Mile - Soliz, Hacker.
Mile Relay - Arroyos, Yosten, Betzen, Birdwell.

Shot and Discus - Lambert, Tatum, L. Villegas.
High jump - Nixon, Sanders.
Long Jump - Nixon, Whiteside, Sanders.
Triple Jump - Reinart, Hacker, Griffin.

In addition, Berryman will run the 220 when she returns off her illness, while Heard will run the hurdles, 440, and be in contention for the mile relay team.

The Schedule

March 3 - Pampa; March 11 - Lubbock; March 17 - Hereford; March 25 - Big Spring; March 31 - April 1 - Amarillo; April 8 - Borger; April 15 - District 4-4A Meet at Coronado; April 21-22, Regional Meet at Lubbock; May 4-6, State Meet at Austin.

Baseball Team Begins Slate

The Hereford Whitefaces, weather permitting were to open the 1978 baseball season this afternoon at home against the Borger Bulldogs with senior Chris Hill getting the starting nod on the mound from new head coach David Ashby.

The Whitefaces have had but one opportunity to tune their tools for the season with a scrimmage against Clovis Monday and the Herd will travel to Pampa Friday for a tournament before a three-game stand next week.

"Chris will probably go about four or five innings," Ashby said Wednesday. "I'll try to use Kevin Bunch the rest of the way if he is well." Bunch, a junior, has been sick this week. If Bunch is unable to go Ashby reported that either Ernie Suarez or Greg Hennington would finish out the game against the Bulldogs.

Suarez will be at the shortstop position when the season begins today, while Hennington will man the third base slot. Rounding out the infield for Hereford will be Richard Waters at first, Kent Ellis at second, and Mike Culp behind the plate.

The HHS outfield will consist of leftfielder Larry McNeill, John Wagner in center, and Donald Johnson on right.

Following the Pampa Tournament the Whitefaces will have road dates with Dumas and Amarillo High next Tuesday and Friday respectively with a home contest against Palo Duro squeezed in between on Thursday.

THE SCHEDULE

Schoolboy Cage Meets Underway at Austin

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Houston Wheatley, which has scored 100 or more points in 10 games this year, will try to reclaim its dominant role in schoolboy basketball against a team Coach Jackie Carr says refuses to play Wheatley - Houston Cypress-Fairbanks.

Wheatley and Cypress-Fairbanks play in the Class 4A semi-finals at 4 p.m. Friday.

The tournament opened today with semi-finals in Class B, 2A and 3A.

The other first-round game in 4A matches Abilene against San Antonio Fox Tech at 8 p.m. Friday.

Abilene gained the state tournament by edging No. 1-ranked Fort Worth Dunbar, 76-74, in the regional finals on a 25-foot jump shot by sub Ross Sparks with four seconds left. Sparks had been in the game for less than a minute, and it was the only shot he took.

Wheatley won 4A titled in 1968-69-70, and it was Cypress-Fairbanks that halted the championship string by defeating Wheatley, 70-58, in the 1971 finals.

"None of these teams will play us," says Carr. "I'm talking about Clear Creek, Clear Lake, Cy-Fair, Memorial. I used to try, but they'd say they've got full schedules for 10 years. I don't know what the problem is."

Wheatley scored 121 points in a single game this season, but a pressing defense that forced 60 turnovers carried the Wildcats past Houston Madison, 72-70, and Deer Park, 55-50, in regional.

"I'll be very surprised if this team doesn't win the tournament. It's got a lot of depth, some good shooters," says Coach Boyce Honea of Houston Milby, whose team beat Wheatley once and lost twice.

Individual stars in the three-day tournament include Abilene's 6-foot-6 Richard Little, who poured in 36 points against Dunbar; Jerry Davis of Corpus Christi West Oso, and Terry Teagle of Broadus.

One scoring service rates Davis, also 6-6, and Teagle, 6-4, as among the top seven college recruits in Texas and compares Teagle to all-Southwest Conference Sidney Moncrief of Arkansas.

Davis is averaging 35 points a game and Teagle 30. The University Interscholastic League moved the tournament this year to the University of Texas' new Super Drum, which seats over 16,000-more than twice what Gregory Gym would hold.

Here is the tournament schedule, with team records:

Thursday	Friday
Class B	Class A
8:30 a.m., Avinger, 39-1, vs. Silverton, 23-10.	8:30 a.m., Snook, 35-1, vs. Van Horn, 23-7.
10 a.m., Krum, 38-3, vs. Waelder, 29-8.	10 a.m., Broadus, 32-2, vs. Coppell, 28-4.
Class 2A	Class 4A
2 p.m., Whitehouse, 34-1, vs. Rosebud-Lott, 24-10.	4 p.m., Abilene, 34-3, vs. San Antonio Fox Tech, 32-5.
3:30 p.m., Mission Sharyland, 32-2, vs. Dimmitt, 31-4.
Class 3A
7 p.m., Mineral Wells, 31-2, vs. Terrell, 25-7.
8:30 p.m., Corpus Christi West Oso, 33-3, vs. Huntsville, 25-7.

8 p.m., Houston Wheatley, 35-6, vs. Houston Cypress-Fairbanks, 32-5.

All five championship games are scheduled for Saturday.

Wizards In Cage Finals

The Basketball Wizards earned a spot in the finals of the YMCA High School Boys' Basketball League Tournament Tuesday night with a 49-33 win over the Avengers, while the Jocks ousted the Rockets with a 66-54 win.

Play continues in the tourney tonight with the Avengers playing the Jocks. The winner of that matchup will play the Basketball Wizards in the finals. Should the Wizards lose in that game, a second finals would be necessary.

In the 1969 Super Bowl, George Sauer of the New York Jets caught eight passes for 133 yards against the Baltimore Colts.

While defeating Minnesota, 24-7, in the 1974 Super Bowl, Miami tried only seven passes and completed six.

Ford, Lee Head All-Americans

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - North Carolina's inimitable Phil Ford and Marquette's indispensable Butch Lee have been named to The Associated Press 1978 Division I All-American basketball team.

Ford and Lee, two of the country's premier guards, were joined on the first team by Minnesota center Mychal Thompson and forwards Larry Bird of Indiana State and David Greenwood of UCLA.

Ford scored the highest point total among the five in the nationwide voting by sports writers and broadcasters. The Tar Heel star collected 906 points based on 5 for the first team and 3 for second.

Lee was the second leading point-getter with 866. Thompson collected 686 and Bird 608. Greenwood's 364 just nosed out Portland State's Freeman Williams for first-team honors. The high-scoring Portland State guard amassed 346 points and headed a second team that also featured Jack Givens of Kentucky, Ron Brewer of Arkansas, Alabama's Reggie King and DePaul's Dave Corzine.

The third team included Sidney Moncrief of Arkansas; Rod Griffin of Wake Forest; Rick Robey of Kentucky; Ervin Johnson of Michigan State and Mike Evans of Kansas State.

Ford is the only repeater from last year's first team. Thompson and Lee were on The AP's second team in 1977.

Ford, apple of the pro scouts' eyes, is considered to be the best playmaker ever to run Dean Smith's heralded "Four-Corner Offense" at North Carolina. He broke the Tar Heels' career records for scoring and assists this season in his best year ever at Chapel Hill.

While leading North Carolina to the regular-season championship of the Atlantic Coast Conference, Ford averaged nearly 21 points a game and amassed 168 assists. The 6-foot-2 guard from Rocky Mount, N.C., finished the regular season with 2,246 career points.

Similar to Ford, Lee is the ultimate team player. The essential element of Marquette's attack, he averaged 17 points a game and handed off 130 assists during the regular season. A dynamic penetrator with a superb shooting eye, Lee made 51 percent of his floor shots this year and converted 90 percent from the foul line.

Thompson, Minnesota's career leader in scoring and rebounding, is an artist on defense as well. The 23-year-old native of Nassau, Bahamas, was closing in on the career scoring record in the Big Ten at season's end and the coveted 2,000-point level. The 6-10 center averaged over 23 points and nearly 12 rebounds a game during the regular season.

Bird, a retiring, curly-haired country boy from southern Indiana, has the most impressive statistics on the first team, a 30-point, 12-rebound average. The 6-9, 220-pounder also led the Indiana State team in steals this year and was second in blocked shots and assists. This year, he shot 51 percent from the floor.

Greenwood's average of 11.7 rebounds a game is the highest at UCLA since Bill Walton was the scourge of the Pacific-8 Conference in the early 1970s. The 6-9, 240-pounder led the Bruins to a Pac-8 title this year with a 17.5-point average, shooting 53 percent from the floor.

Jim Taylor of the Green Bay Packers made the first touchdown on a run in the Super Bowl, going 14 yards against Kansas City in 1957.

In a 16-4 loss to Pittsburgh in the 1975 Super Bowl, the only score for Minnesota was made by the defense, a touchdown on a blocked punt.

CHICAGO (AP) - The Chicago Bears have announced the hiring of another assistant coach - Jim LaRue, a long-time college coach and an offensive backfield coach for the Buffalo Bills.

LaRue, 52, coached in the college ranks for 26 years and from 1959 through 1966 he was head coach at the University of Arizona, where he had a 41-37-2 record.

Bears Coach Neill Armstrong said he would wait until more assistants are hired before assigning LaRue to a specific job.

The Bears also said center Pat Peiffer underwent knee surgery Wednesday and will be in a cast for about six weeks. Peiffer was kicked by a cow at his farm near Cape Girardeau, Mo.

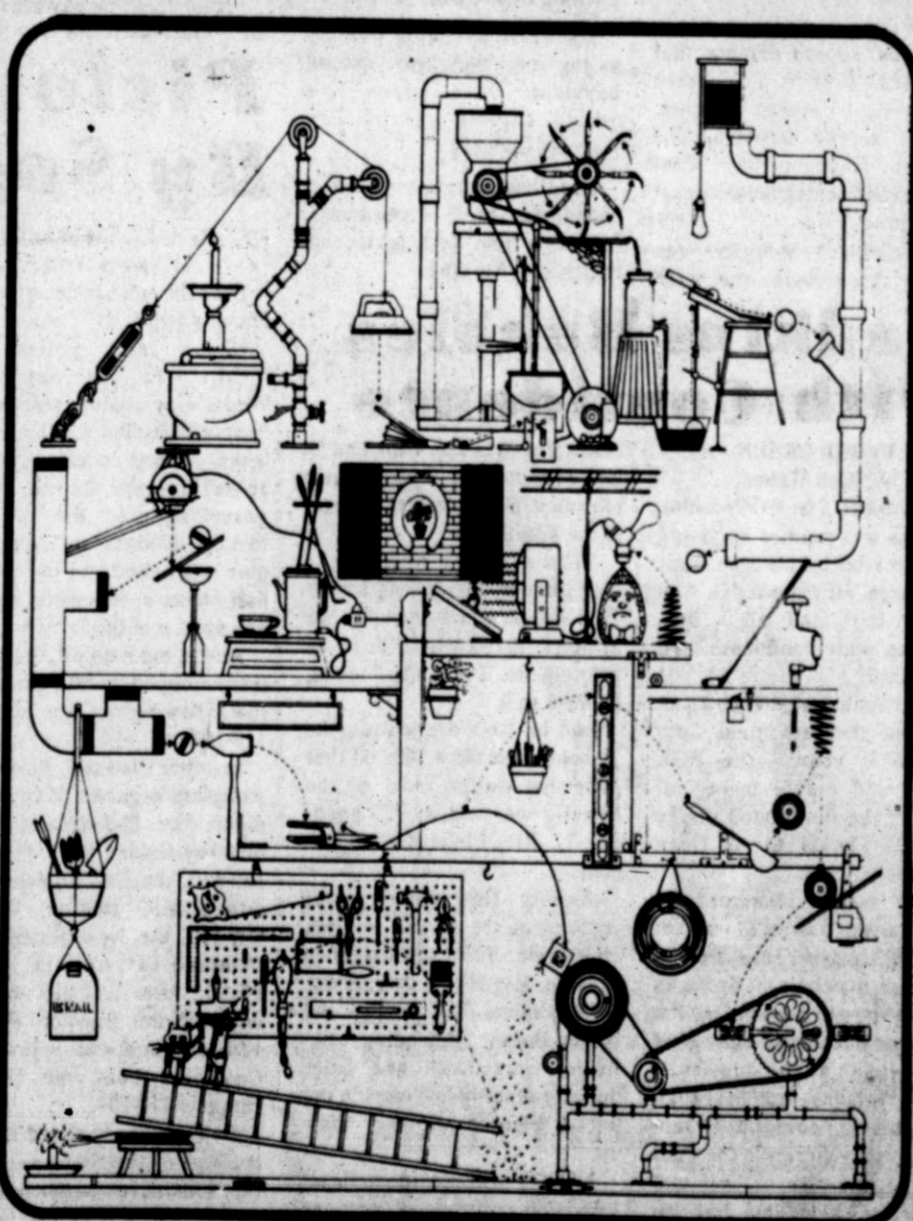

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Like all good vans, the fancy black-and-gold model being used to promote the lowly New Orleans Saints in Louisiana has a citizen's band radio. Driver Greg Suit's handle? Cellar Dweller.

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) - Alfred D. Thomas, 53, founder of the New England Standard-bred Owners Association, is becoming a part owner and general manager of the New England Harness Raceway.

The track's co-owners, Edward J. Keelan, president, and Edward G. Andelman, treasurer, announced today that Thomas will join them as a partner, effective March 10.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) - Don Beasley, whose Jacksonville University basketball team has won six of its last eight games, has been fired as head coach, the Orlando Sentinel Star has learned.

"They just told me my contract wouldn't be renewed," he told the paper Wednesday night. "I just shook their hands and walked out."

Bench Strength May Key Outcome of SWC Tourney

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Unlike some football games that are won in the trenches, the Southwest Conference basketball tournament that begins tonight may be won on the benches.

Arkansas, based on its 27-2 record and No. 4 national ranking, should be the solid favorite to win the tournament and represent the SWC in the National Collegiate Athletic Association playoffs.

But because of an inexperienced set of reserves, the less talent but deeper Houston Cougars are getting their share of the nod.

Despite a starting lineup that includes All-SWC performers Sidney Moncrief, Ron Brewer and Marvin Delph, Sutton says they'll need some rest to survive the rigors of playing three straight nights.

"Whoever reaches the finals against Texas will have had two very difficult ball games," Sutton said. "I think it be very difficult for any club to play five players three straight nights and expect to win the ball game. That's why all the people in Texas have picked Guy Lewis' team to win because I think he does have great bench strength."

Speculation ends and the action begins tonight before a sellout Summit crowd when the Razorbacks play surprise entry Southern Methodist and Houston takes on fourth place Texas Tech in a pair of quarter-finals matches.

The winners meet Friday night for the right to challenge regular season co-champion Texas, which earned a bye to the tournament finals by sharing the SWC regular season crown with Arkansas.

Texas got the bye over the Razorbacks because of its better record against third place Houston.

Sutton said he would revive his "go-go lineup" against SMU, that is, substituting an entire lineup for the starting five.

"It's one thing to go into a ball game after it's broken," Sutton said. "It's something else to go in when the game's on the line. We wanted to show the younger players we felt they were contributing. And because we hope to be playing three nights in a row we felt that could be a meaningful thing for the Razorbacks."

SMU Coach Sonny Allen said he wasn't worried about any "go-go lineup."

"I'm concerned about Delph, Moncrief and Brewer," he said. "Now that's a go-go lineup. SMU, 10-17 for the year, got into the second round here by defeating Baylor last week in an upset at Waco. The Ponies won two of their last three games after Allen moved Phil Hale to the point guard position that had been a problem most of the year.

Although Allen accepted the role of underdog, he said his Mustangs were confident they could play well against the superior Razorbacks. Allen said the Ponies played poorly for only 10 minutes in two games against Arkansas.

That's 70 out of 80 minutes in two games so we have some confidence going against Arkansas," Sutton said. "We were the last team to beat them in Arkansas. That was three years ago but we still remember it."

Texas Tech Coach Gerald Myers also will have to dip into his reserves to replace injured starter Kent Williams, the team's No. 2 scorer, who is recovering from a broken jaw bone.

Williams will be restricted to playing about 20 to 25 minutes, Myers said, and Tommy Parks will start in his place against the Cougars.

"They still haven't changed Russell, though," UH Coach Guy Lewis said, referring to Mike Russell, the Raiders' All-SWC center.

Myers said Houston had the best depth of any tournament team.

"I think Arkansas has the best starting team in the tournament but Houston has the best overall squad," Myers said.

The Cougars get able help off the bench from George Walker, Cedric Fears and freshman Chuck O'Neal. Lewis agrees he does have a good bench.

"And the reason we do is because we've played them all since Dec. 1," Lewis said.

absent as the team reported to training camp. Morgan is completing college examinations and has been given permission to report late. The other absentees were Ed Armbrister, who is having visa problems, and Junior Kennedy, who is unsigned.

Seaver was nursing a strained calf muscle which he injured on Tuesday.

At the Yankee camp, it was reported that Hunter has diabetes and has known about the illness for about 10 days. However, the illness is not expected to keep the former Cy Young Award winner, who slumped to a 9-9 record last year after being plagued by shoulder and abdominal ailments, from pitching this season.

Elsewhere as spring training swung into high gear, second baseman Dave Lopes was named captain of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Third baseman Lenny Randle ended his brief "retirement" from the New York Mets and returned to the club.

made five overseas trips and it just wore me out. I just played too much, particularly at the end of the year."

"I'm skipping next week, then I'm playing eight in a row. That stretch which includes the Masters, that's what I'm really pointing for. I'm really looking forward to it."

And he isn't overlooking the 72-hole chase for a $40,000 first prize that started today on the heavily wooded, 6,929-yard par-72 Rio Pinar Golf Club course.

Among the other major contenders are Arnold Palmer, Hale Irwin, Ben Crenshaw, Lee Trevino, Ray Floyd, Jerry Pate, 1978 winners Bill Rogers and Miller Barber, defending titleholder Gary Koch and Grier Jones, runnerup last week in the Jackie Gleason-Inverrary Classic.

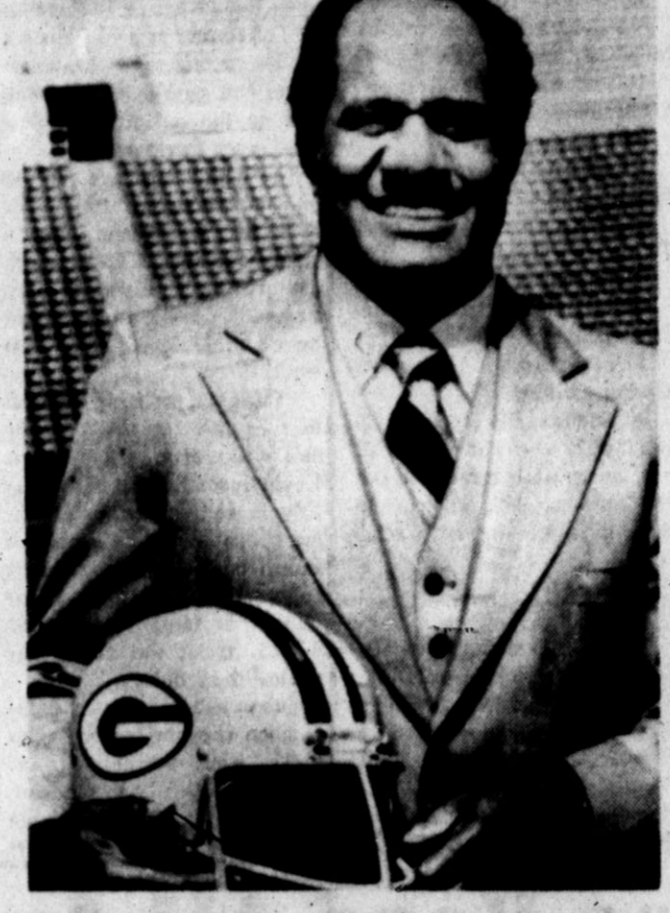

NBC-TV will provide national television coverage of portions of the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

Willie Davis Satisfied With Business Success

By Murray Olderman
LOS ANGELES, Calif. (NEA) — Willie Davis is a man on the brink. At the age of 43, he has to decide what he's going to do with his life.

Willie Davis refers back to his gridiron career in explaining himself and what he does. "Lombardi was right. Success is earned. It's not a gift."

Does he go on earning more than $100,000 a year as a successful black businessman in Watts, the ghetto neighborhood which still bears the scars of the riots of a dozen years ago?

Does he, as a man involved with the community in south central Los Angeles, take advantage of his personal popularity and go into politics?

Or does he, a former football star with a charismatic appeal, return to the game as a coach at the college or professional level?

It's a nice symphony of choices for an unusual man. Willie Davis never got anything he didn't work for. His father ran off when he was eight. His mother worked in the kitchen at the Texarkana (Ark.) country club for 23 years.

Years later, while he was establishing himself as an all-pro end for the Green Bay Packers in the glory Lombardi years, Willie also attended the University of Chicago to gain a master's degree in business administration.

He'd come to camp every August, telling the other guys that he'd spent the off-season at school, a big, hearty smile of satisfaction spreading across his face, and they called him, "Dr. Feelgood."

"What'd they teach you there," asked Willie Wood, the all-pro safety, "handwriting?"

When the phone rings in Willie Davis' office today and the caller asks to speak to "the Doctor," his secretary, Edna, knows immediately that one of his old Packer mates is on the line.

Willie has used the zeal and discipline developed in sports to make a successful transition to business life. In 1970, after a decade of pro ball with Green Bay, he bought a Schlitz beer franchise in Los Angeles for $150,000 and created the Willie Davis Distributing Company. His comprehensive paper for the master's degree at Chicago had been on beer marketing and marketing segmentation.

"What I've been able to do in the business world," says Willie, "pleases me as much as what I felt when I walked off the field after the first Super Bowl."

His company sells two million cases of beer a year in his south central area of Los Angeles, three times the market share that Schlitz has in the state of California.

"It can be," he says frankly, "attributed to my personal involvement. When the head of the company comes out from Milwaukee and we call on a major account, I sometimes get embarrassed when the man says, 'We sell a lot of Willie Davis beer.'"

Willie is on his way to being a one-man conglomerate. He has a $200,000 home on the swank Palos Verdes peninsula, but his days are spent in Watts because he has a commitment to the black community, financially and socially.

From his warehouse, he owns and runs an FM radio station with the call letters KACE — "I wanted something that represented the top of the deck."

Willie also owns a small trucking business, used for hauling his beer. And he has an interest in a school supply business in Appleton, Wis., with Bob Skoronski (they were the defensive and offensive captains of the Packers).

But Willie does more than coin money. ("Any person who puts together a good mousetrap in Los Angeles will be successful," he says.) He gets involved with the community. These are some of his activities over the last six years:

President, Los Angeles Urban League; Board, West Adams Community Hospital; Board, Drew Medical School, South Central Mental Group; Committee, Festival in Black; Board of Directors, Boy Scouts; Board of Junior Achievement; Board of Southern California Businessmen.

He has served on three appointed committees: Los Angeles Task Force, studying minority employment; Public Commission to study the County of Los Angeles; Government Commission to study formation of a new county on the Palos Verdes peninsula.

But Willie is enjoying life too much as a nouveau Californian: "Not only do I feel like a Californian," he says, "I feel like a dedicated, involved Californian."

And if you wonder how he finds the time to get immersed in his multi-pronged activities, he says, "I developed myself into a workaholic. I don't gamble. I'm not a big drinker. I'm in the beer business — there's nothing exciting about hanging in a bar sipping beer."

Always, he refers back to his football career in explaining himself and what he does: "Lombardi was right. Success is earned. It's not a gift."

Cheeks Named To MVC Cage Squad

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Player of the year Larry Bird is joined by two basketball standouts making encore appearances as selections for the Associated Press all Missouri Valley Conference basketball squad announced Wednesday.

Bird, a 6-foot-9 junior at Indiana State, and Bradley's Roger Phegley were unanimous choices for the team selected by sports writers and sports casters and compiled by the conference headquarters here.

Maurice Cheeks, West Texas State's senior guard is along with Phegley a repeater from last year's AP team.

Bird, from French Lick, Indiana, carries a 30 point per game average along with 11.8 rebounds per contest. Both are tops in the league this season.

Phegley was last year's player of the year. The 6-foot-7 guard is scoring at an average of 28.1 points per game. His career total as a senior is 2,034 points, third best in conference history behind Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati at 2,973 and Cleo Littleton of Wichita State at 2,164.

Joining Phegley and Cheeks at guard and Bird at forward on the first team are Albert "Slab" Jones, a 6-foot-7 sophomore center at New Mexico State and Rick Apke, a 6-foot-8 senior forward at Creighton.

Apke's older brother, Creighton Coach Tom Apke, was selected as coach of the year by the media voters. He edged out Southern Illinois Coach Paul Lambert for the honor.

Second team selections were Wayne Abrams of Southern Illinois and Wayne Krelkow of Drake at guard. Alex Mazeika of Bradley was chosen for second team center, joined by Southern Illinois' Gary Wilson and Wichita State's Lynbert "Cheese" Johnson at forward

Spring Training Has Different Spectrums

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

For Tom Seaver, spring training is a time to ponder the possibility of a 30-win season.

For Jim Beattie, Ken Clay and Gil Patterson, it's a time to play another kind of numbers game, looking over their shoulders at the other pitchers in camp and worrying what their mailing addresses will be this summer.

Seaver is at an end of the baseball spectrum; Beattie, Clay and Patterson are at the other.

Seaver is a veteran, a superstar assured of a job with the Cincinnati Reds, a pitcher who spends his springs easing his way into shape for the long season.

Beattie, Clay and Patterson are youngsters, three of 17 pitchers in the New York Yankees' training camp who are competing for nine jobs. For them, spring is a time for survival.

And when their turns come, they have to produce. The rookies know they have to be sharp every time out or their slim chances for survival will vanish.

While the young Yanks talk about making the team, Seaver mulls his chances of becoming the first National League pitcher since Dizzy Dean in 1934 to win 30 games.

One thing on Seaver's side is the Reds' superb defense that includes four Gold Glove winners — catcher Johnny Bench, second baseman Joe Morgan, shortstop Dave Concepcion and center fielder Cesar Geronimo.

Meanwhile, Morgan was among three Reds who were

Wadkins Bubbles With Confidence

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Lanny Wadkins was neither surprised nor dismayed by his slow start this season. He expected it. And poor start and all — he's bubbling with confidence and enthusiasm.

"Right now I feel better about my game than any time since my rookie year," the PGA champ said before teeing off today in the first round of the $200,000 Florida Citrus Open Golf Tournament.

On the surface, his record this season doesn't seem to warrant such enthusiasm. He's missed more cuts than he's made, ranks 79th on the money-winning list and has had only one good finish, eighth at Los Angeles.

But Wadkins, author of an outstanding comeback last season with victories in the PGA and World Series of Golf and winner of $244,000, has an explanation.

"I was overgolfed last year. I made five overseas trips and it just wore me out. I just played too much, particularly at the end of the year."

Pistons Roll By Soggy Suns

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Even the sun has deserted the Phoenix Suns.

Heavy rains pelted the "Valley of the Sun" on Wednesday and the roof of the Phoenix Coliseum sprung a few leaks. A mop-up crew got the arena in shape for the Suns' game against the Detroit Pistons Wednesday night, but play was halted late in the first half when a downpour soaked one section of the floor.

And to top it all off, the home team dropped its fifth game in a row, bowing to the Pistons 115-102.

In other National Basketball Association games Wednesday night, the Philadelphia 76ers beat the Golden State Warriors 125-119, the New Orleans Jazz edged the Boston Celtics 101-100, the New Jersey Nets trimmed the Atlanta Hawks 97-95, the Buffalo Braves defeated the Houston Rockets 114-104 and the Cleveland Cavaliers beat the Denver Nuggets 110-104.

Detroit jumped ahead 35-22 at the end of the first period and the Suns never caught up. Bob Lanier led a balanced attack with 26 points for the Pistons, while Paul Westphal scored 24 for Phoenix.

76ers, Warriors 119
Doug Collins scored a season-high 37 points for Philadelphia, which trailed Golden State by as many as 18 points in the first half before taking a 110-102 lead with eight straight points, six by Julius Erving.

Three free throws in the final minute by Lloyd Free, who scored 25 points, and two free throws by Harvey Catchings kept the Sixers in control.

Jazz 101, Celtics 100
Truck Robinson scored 33 points and grabbed 13 rebounds as New Orleans edged Boston and moved one game ahead of Atlanta in their battle for the final Eastern Conference playoff berth. A basket by Gail Goodrich with one minute left gave New Orleans a 101-99 lead, then Boston's John Havlicek blew a chance to send the game into overtime when he could convert only one of three free throws.

Dave Cowens led Boston with 26 points but was ejected from the game after picking up two technical fouls with 2:13 to play for protesting an official's call.

John Williamson scored 37 points and Bernard King 25 for New Jersey, which took a 96-93 lead with nine seconds remaining when Williamson sank a technical foul called against Atlanta for taking too many time-outs. Charlie Criss hit a baseline jumper with four seconds to play, but one second later, Criss fouled Ed Jordan and the Nets' rookie guard hit a free throw for the final margin.

Braves 114, Rockets 104
Randy Smith scored 14 of his 27 points in the final quarter to help Buffalo snap a five-game losing streak and hand Houston its fourth loss in the last five games. Buffalo overcame a 13-point deficit early in the third quarter, aided by 14 points by little-used Bill Wolloughby. He finished with 20.

Bullets 125, Spurs 110
Kevin Grevey scored a career-high 29 points and Bob Dandridge broke out of a slump with 26 as Washington beat Central Division-leading San Antonio. The Bullets built a 15-point lead after opening the second period with a 14-3 burst and were never caught.

Cavaliers 110, Nuggets 104
Campy Russell scored 23 points and Elmore Smith blocked two shots in the final minutes as Cleveland dealt Denver only its fifth loss of the season on its home court. David Thompson had 15 of his 33 points in the fourth quarter for the Nuggets.

World Day of Prayer Celebration Tomorrow

The World Day of Prayer will be observed in Hereford tomorrow at a worship service beginning at 9:30 a.m. in the First Presbyterian Church. All citizens are encouraged to attend this service, which is sponsored by Church women United.

The program is to be presented by St. John's Baptist Church. Directing the local observance are Faye Landers and Eloise McDougal.

Free babysitting will be available. World Day of Prayer will be celebrated in 140 countries and 33 islands on Friday by Christian women united in study, liturgy and prayer.

Each year the International Committee for the World Day of Prayer chooses one nation to write the service. This year the women of Canada explore the conflicts, tensions and compromises of living in community under the theme "Community Spirit in Modern Living."

The first World Day of Prayer was held over 90 years ago, and the first offering was taken in 1920. Church Women United's Intercontinental Mission program, enabled by World Day of Prayer offerings, shows a consistency of concern. Annual grants are made to Christian Colleges for Women in Asia and the Committee on Christian Literature for Women and Children, as well as short-term grants to migrant ministries, Native American self-help projects, and programs for women in prison, for community development, and for ministry to the aging.

PEP Seminar to Analyze Wise Use of Home Energy

AMARILLO — Ways that Panhandle residents can make wise use of precious energy - from cooking, heating and lighting homes to the use of landscaping to conserve fuel supplies - will be explored Thursday, March 9, in a one-day seminar at the Hilton Inn here.

The free seminar, "Living In an Energy-Conscious World," begins at 9 a.m. and concludes at 3:30 p.m. It is sponsored by the Panhandle Economic Program (PEP) of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. PEP is a citizen self-help organization designed to assist families in 20 Panhandle counties to have a better way of life in all phases of economics, explained Paul Gross, Extension district agent for agriculture, who is PEP coordinator.

The background for the day-long program will be set by Max Sherman, president of West Texas State University, and Mrs. Sue Farris, Extension district agent for home economics, who is advisor to the PEP task force on energy. Sherman will review the energy situation and recent state legislation on energy. Mrs. Farris will review the task force activities.

The effects of insulation as a practical energy - and money-saving method will be explained by Jim Simms and Jerry Martindale, electrical and insulation contractors. The proper use of caulking, weather stripping and window treatments will be discussed by Mrs. Patricia Seaman, Extension housing specialist at Texas A&M University.

Living in an energy-conscious world will be discussed by a panel composed of Mrs. Lynn (Bourland) White, Extension home economics specialist, Texas A&M; county Extension home economics agents Mrs. Alby Peters of Moore and Ms. Elaine Houston of Gray; Becky Culp, Extension clothing specialist, Amarillo; and Mrs. Seaman.

After lunch, Mrs. White will discuss wise use of energy in our everyday life.

Effective use of energy in heating, cooling and lighting our homes - including fireplaces - will be the topics of Ronnie Edwards and Jim Martin of Southwestern Public Service Co., and Bob Brewer of Pioneer Natural Gas Co.

The role of landscaping in conservation of energy will be explained by John Brazzil, retired county Extension agent, Canyon.

Possibilities and progress in tapping alternative energy sources will be explained by Dr. Earl H. Gilmore, research associate with the Alternative Energy Institute, WTSU.

A question-and-answer period will conclude the program. The chairman of PEP is Edd McLeroy of Dimmitt. Energy task force members include Joyce Shipp and Mrs. Leroy Johnson, Deaf Smith County.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Mr. Nieman and Hereford Brand Staff,

I want to express my heart-felt thanks to you for the beautiful silver platter given to me for "Woman of the Year" today. It is very generous and thoughtful of you to make this honor available to HD Club women.

I consider it a great privilege to be among the women who have received it. I won't forget this day and will treasure the platter in memory of a very special day in my life.

God Bless You,
Janet Coleman

Modern Cooking Devices Lifesaver for Secretary

By DIANNE BANNER
Brand Staff Writer

Having been employed outside of her home for 16 years, Mrs. Fred Fox makes no bones about the fact that she does not want to spend her lifetime in a kitchen.

"I couldn't live without my microwave oven and slow cooker. They are my lifesavers. I cut corners when I can and I don't cook if I can help it," she said, laughing.

Mrs. Fox is presently employed by Thomas and Burdett Law Firm as a receptionist and bookkeeper.

"I like my job and have always enjoyed working. In a lot of ways I feel that I have been a good mother to my children because the time that I spent with them was special, and I gave them my all."

Mrs. Fox commented that her philosophy was "Anyone can do a job well with the time that they have as long as they give it their all."

Although the attractive mother of two does not enjoy outdoor activities that her family does, she "always did what they wanted to do because they liked camping, fishing, skiing, and hunting so much."

"Fred is an outdoorsman and he likes to get away and relax. I just go along for the ride," she commented.

Her husband is the school tax collector for Hereford. A lifetime member of the Church of Christ, Mrs. Fox was the church secretary for seven years before accepting her current job.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lytal of Hereford.

Her two brothers, Billie and Joel Lytal, are also local residents.

While her son Kevin, 21, was growing up, the Fox family acquired numerous unique pets. "Kevin just seemed to round up animals and bring them home. I don't know where he ever came up with some of them," she said.

"He has had a pair of foxes, two raccoons, birds, snakes. I don't know how many dogs and one time he brought home a pregnant chipmunk who delivered 13 babies and then ran away and left them to us."

Her daughter Karen is 18 years old and is employed by Deaf Smith General Hospital in the admissions office.

Both are graduates of Hereford High School.

In her spare time, Mrs. Fox enjoys nurturing house plants and garden shrubbery, sewing and painting plaster castings, a hobby in which she has recently become interested.

The vivacious woman is in her first year of teaching a 2 and 3-year-olds Sunday school class at Central Church of Christ.

Mrs. Fox would like to share her husband's sausage ball recipe and pistachio salad.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

My grandmother used to have a line that broke up the entire family. She'd say, "I called you today, but you knew it was me and wouldn't answer your phone."

No amount of logic could convince my grandmother that every ring of the phone was an unknown adventure and that surprise was on the side of the caller.

She was paranoid about people not wanting to talk with her. And with good reason. To begin with, she called every day. Not only that, she could go 78 rpm for 30 minutes, non-stop. At first I used to put one of those little sand timers by the phone. That little number filled up before she got out, "Hello." Later, I approached the phone with a calendar, a change of clothes, and a tank of oxygen strapped to my back.

Her opening line was always the same: "I don't suppose you know who this is. It's been so long since you called me you probably forgot what my voice sounds like."

"I remember it from yesterday, grandma."

"I guess you're busy."

"Compared to what?"

"You left the phone ring five times. Probably trying to decide if it was me or not."

"I was outside."

"Sure. They all say that. I called Louise yesterday and she left it ring 15 times before she decided not to answer it."

"So, what's new?"

"Don't change the subject. Do you think I like calling you and reminding you I'm alive?"

"I was going to call you after lunch."

"You know I'm on the phone until I get dinner at 4:00. So that's your game. Only call when you get a busy signal."

"No, it's just that I can talk longer when the kids are napping."

"Oh, you have children now? I didn't know."

The other day I read something that stopped me dead in my tracks. The phone company is at work perfecting a new device that will electronically light up and tell you who's calling. For example, two short rings and a long one could be your husband, while two long rings and a short one could be your best friend.

Grandma was 30 years before her time.

Somehow, I always knew she knew.

Rebekahs Plan Music Jamboree

Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228 met in regular session Tuesday evening with 15 members in attendance.

Noble Grand Edna Mathes presided at the business meeting. Members have been active with visits to the sick during the past week with a total of 61 visits reported.

The concession stand at the farm auction was reported as being successful by Faye Brownlow, chairman.

A tentative date was set for a country western musical jamboree, scheduled April 14. All musicians are invited to participate in the upcoming jamboree. The show format will be impromptu with a variety of performers. Justice of the Peace Glen Nelson will be in charge of the program.

The public is invited to attend the informal jamboree.

District Deputy Ursalee Jacobsen installed Bessie Lawrence into the office of Left Support to the Noble Grand.

Frances Parker was hostess to Lydia Hopson, Ada Hollabaugh, Verna Sowell, Helen Sowell, Martha Bridges, Faye Brownlow, Edna Mathes, Mabel Strange, Bessie Lawrence, Susue Curtisinger, Blanche Williamson, Ursalee Jacobsen, Karol Rettman and Gay Lawrence.

Beef, Pork Prices On Rise at Market

COLLEGE STATION — Beef and pork prices are rising, but eggs, citrus and some vegetables offer attractive prices at Texas grocery markets, according to Mrs. Gwendolyn Ciyar.

Mrs. Ciyar is a consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

FRESH VEGETABLES — Although weather is still slowing supplies, several items offer economical prices. These include cabbage, carrots, potatoes, turnips, rutabagas, dry yellow onions and hard-shell squash.

Moderate prices appear on broccoli, eggplant, sweet potatoes and cauliflower.

Letting quality has improved and prices are lower. Asparagus is limited and prices high.

FRESH FRUITS — Grapefruit and oranges "by-the-bag" are economy buys if shoppers have adequate storage space, although prices are now at moderate levels. Tangerines (a cross between a tangerine and a grapefruit) also have moderate prices.

POULTRY — Eggs have lower-than-usual prices for this time of year, and Grade A large-size eggs are the most economical buy. Also, fryer chicken features appear at some markets.

BEEF — Beef prices are steady to slightly higher than last week, and cow beef for grinding is scarce, while ground beef prices are higher. That situation is causing higher prices on wieners and luncheon meats.

Best values, however, are chuck roasts and steaks, round steaks and liver.

PORK — Prices remain relatively high, due in part to bad weather.

Most economical choices are fresh picnic roasts, Boston butt roasts, shoulder steaks, quarter-loin cut into chops and smoked picnics.

GROCERY MARKET AISLES — Economical buys include any of the attractive specials offered on canned and frozen fruits and vegetables.

CONSUMER WATCHWORD — For an economical change, consider canned meats.

The State Department, which has had the responsibility for issuing passports since the 1960s, when it was then called the Department of Foreign Affairs, estimates that it issued 2.8 million passports in 1977 and expects that figure to rise to 3.1 million this year.

Remarriage Proves Probable Success

COLLEGE STATION — Chances for a satisfying remarriage lower fairly high, especially for men, according to Debby Johnson, a family life education specialist.

"Remarriage can be a viable substitute for a previously unsatisfying marriage," she says.

Miss Johnson is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Recent studies and surveys at the national level show that marriage is still an effective way of meeting an individual's needs, she explains.

remarriage is a means to replace an unsatisfying marriage with a fulfilling one that encourages the happiness of both partners, she adds.

A closer look at survey figures finds the remarriage rate climbing, alongside the divorce rate, Miss Johnson says.

and three-fourths of divorced women eventually remarry within an average of three years, she continues.

BB-BS Month Proclaimed

Mayor Bartley Dowell has signed a proclamation declaring the month of March as Big Brothers-Big Sisters Month in Hereford.

In signing the proclamation, Mayor Dowell called upon the citizens of Hereford to support the Big Brothers-Big Sisters program, citing the following reasons:

WHEREAS, a large number of boys and girls in Hereford do not have the advantage of both parents in the home, because of death, divorce, or other causes, and

WHEREAS, this lack of both parents can cause problems for both the child and the community, and WHEREAS, Big Brother and Big Sister work is dedicated to providing these children with adult friendship, guidance and support through the unique "one-to-one" relationship. I do hereby proclaim the month of March 1978 as Big Brothers-Big Sisters of Hereford Month.

Easter Candies Made For Young Mothers

Martha Lytal of Creative Wedding Service demonstrated how to make Easter candy Tuesday evening for members of Young Mothers Study Club, who met in the First National Bank Community Room.

During the business session, members discussed plans for an Easter party which they will stage for their children March 14. It was announced that the club's next regular business meeting will be held March 28. Four guests were welcomed, including Becky Price, Linda Cumpton, Darla Stone and Kathy Holmes.

Members present were Mary Russell, Jan Weishaar, Maureen Self, Donna McGee, Dee Dee Coker, Cathy Haney, Leota Keiso, Jan Dudley and Rhon Stewart.

Ann Landers Credit Due

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was pleased to read "Our Father-Parent Style" in your column recently, but I was not so pleased to read H.J.L.'s letter which attributed the authorship to "an anonymous friend." I wrote that poem in 1974, one of my weekly "Talk With Parents" columns, which appear in 42 Catholic papers.

I hope I am not overreacting to being uncredited, but in 1967 I wrote a similar column called "I Was Hungry." It was lifted without credit, printed as a poster, and sold across the country. I last saw it hanging for sale at the United Nations. Of course I was honored, but it would have been nice to read my name at the bottom. Sincerely yours — Dolores Curran

DEAR DOLORES CURRAN: Overreacting? Certainly not. You have every right to be indignant. A person who steals what someone else has written is just as guilty as the thief who takes a painting and tries to pass it off as his own.

I am delighted you wrote to ask me to set the record straight. I do so with pleasure.

The following is an example of what happens to me at least once a week. The letter came from Bismarck, North Dakota.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am an eighth grader in junior high school. I read something in our school paper a while back that I thought was real neat. I hope you will publish it in your column. It's for all the parents who think their kids don't appreciate them. It is also for kids who never get around to letting their parents know they think they are something special.

Essay attached: "Young and Wishing"

God in heaven, I am young and don't understand what it is like to be a parent, but it must be very hard because so many people are failing at it these days.

"I pray for Mom and Dad. God, that you will help them to be good parents, strong in the ways you want them to be, so I look up to them with admiration and feel confident that their instruction is right."

"Help me, dear Lord, to understand my parents. Remind me that when I don't get my way it is because they love me and not because they want to be mean or deprive me of anything. Help me, God, when I become stubborn and refuse to listen, to accept the fact that they have wisdom and experience they, were once teenagers, but I have never been a parent."

"Put in my heart the respect and consideration they deserve for their years of hard work and sacrifice. They raised me the best way they knew how. Let me now repay them with no grief or shame, rather help me to give them obedience, respect, forgiveness and love. Help me to appreciate my parents!"

That essay appeared in my column, last year. Whoever lifted it should have written to me for permission to print it. I would have been happy to oblige. And now, how about somebody from that Bismarck school paper dropping me a line to say "Thank you!"

DEAR ANN: I went out with a very nice man (or so I thought) and he talked about marriage on the second date. We are both divorced and free to marry. On the third date I let him stay overnight. I haven't heard a word since. It's been three weeks. What am I to think? Should I phone him? — Stella

DEAR STELLA: No. Apparently the sample was ample.

About 2.5 billion pounds of grease were processed for use as a supplement in cattle and poultry feed in 1976, according to figures from the National Renderers Association.

Local ICT-VICA Students Sweep District Awards

Hereford High School Industrial Training Cooperative (ICT) students brought home an overwhelming 59 awards from the ICT District VI competition held Friday and Saturday in Lubbock.

Twelve of the 14 HHS students who entered the district contest will be advancing to state competition April 7-8 at San Antonio.

The district tournament involved the 44 counties of District VI. The entire state of Texas includes 13 ICT districts.

Wayne Barber, ICT-Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) coordinator, praised the employers of local ICT students for their role in preparing the youths for the district meet. "Without the support of those individuals who hire our students, the ICT program could not survive," Barber said. "These concerned employers deserve the credit for Hereford's outstanding performance at the ICT district competition."

Mike Harris of Hereford received an engraved plaque at the district tourney after being named "Outstanding District Officer of the State." Harris has just completed a term as vice-president of District VI.

Two Hereford students were elected to district posts, including Chris Southward, newly-installed district parliamentarian, and Kevin Cardinal, 1978 district secretary. They will attend the ICT leadership conference June 5-11 at Wimberley.

Listed below are other honors won by the local ICT-VICA members:

Charles Morris, 4th place, prepared speech.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, March 2, the 61st day of 1978. There are 304 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1836, Texas proclaimed independence from Mexico.

On this date: In 1585, Sir Francis Drake left Britain for the West Indies as a privateer.

In 1775, colonists in Providence R.I., publicly burned 300 pounds of British documents and tea.

In 1776, American Marines fought their first battle, capturing a British fort in the Bahamas.

In 1861, Dakota was organized as a U.S. territory.

In 1949, an American B-50 Superfortress landed at Fort Worth, Texas, after completing the first non-stop flight around the world.

In 1962, there was a military coup in Burma in which Premier U Nu was overthrown by Gen. Ne Win.

Ten years ago: A presidential commission, in a report on civil rights, said blacks could turn to rebellion if measures were not taken to heal racial bitterness and ravages in city slums.

Five years ago: A declaration on a Vietnam cease-fire was signed by 12 countries, including the United States, in Paris.

Briscoe Won't Attend Convention

BY KEN HERMAN

Associated Press Writer

McALLEN, Texas (AP)—Dolph Briscoe the governor is out but Don Beagle the welder is in for Thursday's Association of Texas Educators (ATE) convention here.

The Dallas-based educators group had invited all gubernatorial candidates to speak on the same program at an evening session. Until the week convention organizers thought the program would include Democrats Briscoe, John Hill, and Preston Smith and Republicans Bill Clements and Ray Hutchison.

But a spokesman for the governor confirmed this week that Briscoe will not attend. A few days earlier, Don Beagle, a Democrat from Nederland, told ATE officials he will attend.

Beagle, owner of a welding shop, is treasurer of a group called Men's Equality Now.

Briscoe's original acceptance reportedly stated that either the governor or one of his representatives would attend. However, ground rules for the program prohibit representatives.

ATE includes about 7,000 administrators and teachers who oppose collective bargaining for teachers. The group was formed three years ago by educators who opposed the merger of the Texas State Teachers Association and the National Education Association.

While the Texas State Teachers Association has announced its support for Hill, ATE has maintained its non-political stance.

Charles Blanton, program coordinator here, has said teachers organizations did not make political endorsements in the past.

"Only in recent years when some educators felt bound to be political button pushers did they leave this precedent and attempt to make decisions for people," he said.

The candidate will be restricted to education topics during their 15-minute talks. They will not be allowed in the auditorium while other candidates are speaking.

Reporters have also been requested to ask only education-related questions. Reporters from Amarillo, Dallas and Austin television stations will question the candidates on stage.

Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton will be the guest speaker at the convention's first general session Thursday morning.

The evening session, set for the McAllen Civic Center, will begin at 7.

Tulia Woman To Speak At Fellowship Hour

Imogene Harris of Tulia will be the special speaker Friday evening during a meeting of Women's Aglor Fellowship in Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room, beginning at 7 p.m.

All interested persons are welcome to attend.

The wife of a farmer-rancher, Mrs. Harris has been involved in Christian lay work for ten years, having prayer groups and charismatic meetings in her home regularly.

She and her husband helped with the "Life in the Spirit" seminars staged by the Catholic Church and are now teaching nondenominational groups. Faith healing and "the word of knowledge" are part of their ministry.

Mrs. Harris and her husband have ministered in FGBM Lay Witness Missions and she has spoken at the Christ for Nations assembly. She has made a guest appearance on Vicki Jameson's "A New Day" television show.

Women from the Christian Assembly Church will serve as hostesses at tomorrow evening's meeting. Linda Thomas of Amarillo will deliver special music with Betty Hildebrand providing accompaniment.

Volunteer Opportunities

By Kathy Sealy
Volunteer Coordinator

There are nearly twelve million men, women, and children in Texas. With that many people around, no one ought to be lonely. And yet there are thousands of Texans who are poor, sick, and lonely. They need your help.

Spend some of your free time helping someone who is lonely. Share your time, talents and energy...you'll bring meaning and love to them....and to yourself.

The Satellite Center is in need of volunteers to help supervise and help their clients. An elderly couple needs someone to help with household chores.

These are only a couple of things needed. If you care enough to help, call Kathy Sealy at 364-6841 ext. 5 or come by the Courthouse in Room 415.

To help prevent air infiltration at floor level in new-home building, place a full bed of caulk or insulation beneath the sill plate around the entire perimeter of the house, suggests Pat Seaman, housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

The sole or sill plate is the board which is attached to the foundation on which the walls are built, she explains.

GRAVITY'S CONTRIBUTION

HOMER CITY, Pa. (AP)—Gravity is helping keep the air clean in this western Pennsylvania region.

Sulfur is being removed from coal before it is burned in an electric generating plant here by a process using the force of gravity to separate the two substances. This greatly reduces emission of sulfur dioxide gas, which is an air pollutant, from the plant's smoke stacks, explains William G. Kuhns, of General Public Utilities Corp. which runs the Homer City plant.

The process, in addition to reducing air pollution, will cut tens of millions of dollars from the cost of building and operating the generating plant, compared to methods now used to remove sulfur from smoke stack gases after the coal has been burned, Kuhns says.

The Sears Tower in Chicago, the tallest building in the world, is 1,454 feet high. The structure has 110 stories and 16,000 windows, and took four years to construct.

COME ON ALONG, EVERYBODY! AND MEET SENATOR KENT HANCE Candidate for U.S. Congress

KENT R. HANCE

Kent Hance knows our county, it's problems and it's people. He and his wife, Carol, were raised in Dimmit, married in 1964 and have two children, Ron and Susan, 12 and 8 years old. As one of the state's youngest Senators, he became a leader in his first term, passing important legislation including important agriculture and anti-crime measures. He carried a bill to the Senate giving farmers the right to appeal natural gas price increases to the railroad commission. This bill later died in the House, but it was not fault of Senator Hance.

EVERYONE IS WELCOME TO A SPECIAL RECEPTION AT THE HEREFORD STATE BANK IN HEREFORD BETWEEN THE HOURS OF 3 AND 4:30 P.M. SATURDAY TO MEET KENT HANCE AND HIS FAMILY. IT'S OUR CHANCE TO GET TO KNOW OUR NEXT CONGRESSMAN.

Senator Hance, 35 years old, has been a practicing attorney with his own law firm in Lubbock since his graduation in 1966 from the University of Texas School of Law. Hance graduated with a BBA degree from Texas Tech University in 1965.

Before his election to the Texas Senate, he served on the Board of Regents of West Texas State University from 1972 through 1974, the Texas Citizens Advisory Council, a study group for solving water problems of the state, and he was named one of the five outstanding professors at Texas Tech in 1973 for distinguished service. He resigned his teaching position in 1973 after five years of teaching Business Law.

At Texas Tech University, he was vice president of the student body and president of his social fraternity.

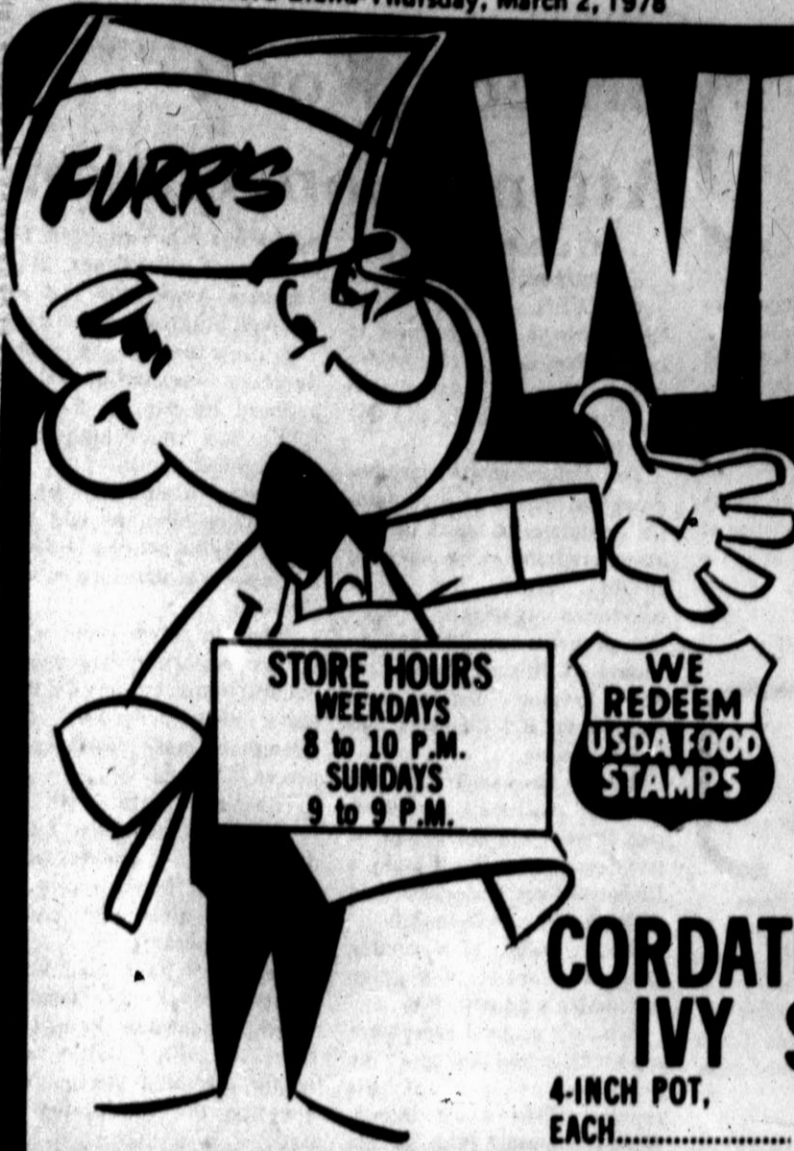

At the University of Texas School of Law he was president of his class, president of the Student Bar Association and received the Counsel Award for outstanding students.

Hance is a member of the Lubbock, Texas and American Bar Associations. He was one of the original incorporators of the Texas Boys' Ranch at Lubbock. His other activities include membership in the Southwest Rotary Club, Lubbock Lions, First Baptist Church, Water, Inc., Chamber of Commerce and the Texas Tech Century Club. He served as associate state chairman of the March of Dimes in 1972-73 and has taught in the College Department of the First Baptist Church in Lubbock.

"Los Angeles could become the first major American city where the majority of the population is from the third world."
 — Mervyn Dymally, California's first black Lieutenant Governor, commenting on the growing numbers of people who are fleeing Mexico to come to California.

"The attitude has changed drastically among students. I haven't heard the word 'pig' or 'oink oink' in a long time. Students are willing to talk to police."
 — Robert Medhurst, head of the crime prevention unit at the University of California at Berkeley, discussing students' increased concern about crime on the college campuses.

"There is a growing recognition that understanding a patient requires a lot more than reading the test reports from the laboratory."
 — K. Danmer, Professor of Pennsylvania State University, who 18 years ago became the first philosophy professor to be hired on the faculty of a medical school.

Henry Kissinger

"(Mr. Kissinger) was the hawk of hawks in Vietnam, but who... touching glasses at a party with his liberal friends... would suddenly become a dove."
 — H.R. Haldeman discussing former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, in Haldeman's book, "The Ends of Power."

"The last thing an institution wanted to do was to say, 'Come for three years in instead of four,' since four brings in more tuition and state support."
 — Clark Kerr, director of the Carnegie Council on Policy Studies in Higher Education, commenting on colleges that have dropped the three-year degree program.

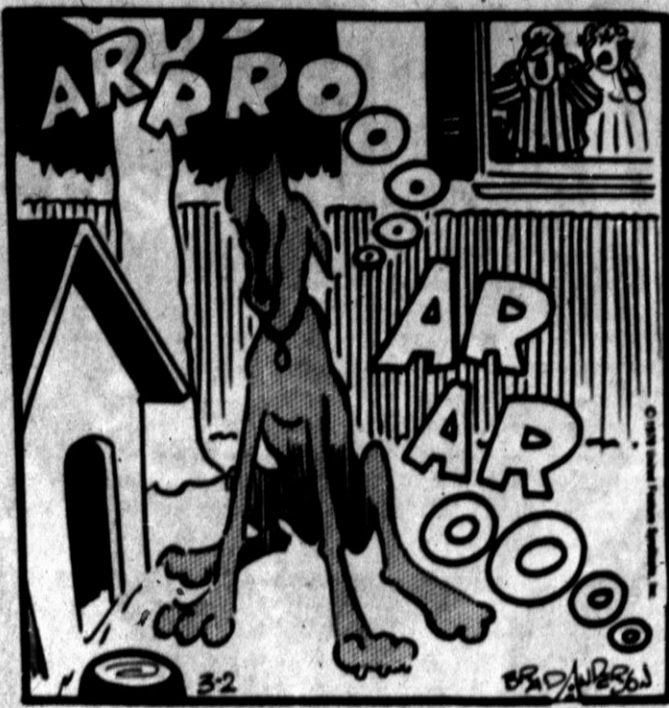

"The man should be the boss."

Farmers Union Says USDA Will Short Payments

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Texas grain farmers will be shorted several million dollars in deficiency payments due to an Administration level decision to exclude thousands of acres in each county when figuring farm payments for the 1977 crop year.

in Washington and has been openly admitted by officials in the Production Adjustment Division of USDA. The result will be confirmed to all grain sorghum producers in Texas when the payments are released in the coming weeks.

corn, barley and grain sorghum and county officials usually termed all allotments simply "feed grain" allotments. Many farmers have even attempted to convert unused corn allotments to grain sorghum, but were told that it was unnecessary since disaster payments have always been figured solely on "feed grain" allotments.

count only specific grain sorghum allotments and to exclude corn bases. An example of the net difference can be seen in Hill County in Central Texas where the enforcement of specific allotments will cost the county's farmers at least $600,000.

the Administration economists to save money.

"The shame of it is," says Mary Degner, a farm wife and participant from Hill County, "that farmers in our area could use the additional $600,000 to help pull themselves out of the depression we're in."

No calculation has been made yet on the total cost to Texas milo farmers, but the payments will undoubtedly be short by several million dollars. The smaller payments will also affect much of the rural economy since studies prove that when farmers spend their money, each dollar turns over five to seven times in the economy.

Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco has called upon Texas Congressmen to challenge the USDA's decision and Congressman Jack Hightower from North Texas' 13th district has already committed to call for a reversal of the decision.

TFB Supporting Measures Such As Dole Amendment

WACO — The Texas Farm Bureau will support legislation which would provide higher payment incentives for cutting acreages of wheat, feed grains, and cotton this year, according to Carol Chaloupka of Dalhart, president of the 214,000-member organization.

The Texas Farm Bureau Board of Directors Feb. 24 adopted a recommendation to the American Farm Bureau Federation which states, "We support higher target prices and set asides such as those proposed in the Dole Bill."

The AFBF Board, of which Chaloupka is a member, will meet March 5-9 in Washington, D.C.

"Our intent is to get a workable program that will pump money immediately into the farmers' pockets, reduce production, and not be too costly to the taxpayers," the Dalhart cattle and grain producer said.

"We are not locking ourselves onto any one proposal, but are free to work in any way we can for the principles of the Dole Bill which is designed to cut production in return for higher target prices," Chaloupka said.

The Dole Bill (S. 2481) by Senator Robert Dole of Kansas provides a formula of variable government-set target prices for set aside acres. The more a farmer sets aside, based on past history, the higher his target price would be. The government would pay the farmer the difference between the market price and the target price. This is known as a "deficiency" payment.

Under the Dole Bill, a 50 percent reduction in wheat acreage would provide a target price of $5.00 per bushel.

Corn acreage reduced by 50 percent would result in a target price of $3.45 per bushel. Grain sorghum, and other feed grains if the Secretary of Agriculture so designates them, would have a target price based on corn.

Cotton producers could earn a target price of 84 cents a pound by cutting acreage in half.

Theoretically, the program should not be costly to the taxpayers. If production is cut enough, market prices would rise and the "deficiency" payments would be minimal.

Prochemco Reports $308,000 Earnings

AMARILLO - Prochemco, Inc. has announced earnings of $308,000 ($2.22 a share) on revenues of $15,442,000 for the first quarter ended January 31, 1978. This compares with earnings of $256,000 ($1.8 a share) on revenues of $13,276,000 in the first quarter of the prior year. Revenues were up 16% and earnings up 20% over the first quarter of fiscal 1977.

The company indicated that the first quarter earnings were produced mostly by Prochemco's feed yard operations, reflecting the normal seasonal low in the company's Murray-Carver cotton equipment business. Company feed yards averaged 77.3% occupancy during the quarter, indicating the increased profitability and interest in cattle feeding.

At the annual shareholders' meeting, the shareholders voted to change the name of the company to Procor, Inc. to reflect the changed nature of the company's business in recent years. W.L. Holt, Toronto, Canada, Joe F. Reinauer, Jr. and J.W. Witherspoon, Hereford, were re-elected to the board of directors. The terms of office of the remaining six board members expire in later years.

At the annual meeting of the board, the present officers of the company were re-elected. In addition, Maurice R. Strong was named chairman of Prochemco's board of directors and W.L. Holt was elected Executive Vice President - Administration.

Talmadge Objects To Proposed Label

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., has sided with the industry in objecting to a name proposed by the Agriculture Department for meat salvaged by grinding up bones and forcing them through sieves.

Talmadge, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, says the department's proposal to call the product tissue from ground bone for TFGB "emphasizes the small part that is bone rather than the 97 percent of the product that is definitely not bone."

The comment by Talmadge was in a Jan. 17 letter to Assistant Secretary Carol Tucker Foreman, who is in overall charge of USDA consumer programs. Ms. Foreman and her staff proposed to call the produce tissue from ground bone instead of "mechanically deboned meat," or MDM, as the industry prefers.

Portions of Talmadge's letter to Ms. Foreman were included in a weekly newsletter distributed by the American Meat Institute, which has been leading the industry effort against calling it TFGB.

Talmadge told Ms. Foreman that the TFGB name "is misleading" and that "I have serious doubts about these proposed labeling requirements" which are under consideration for the salvaged meat.

"I believe that they are uniquely prejudicial against a wholesome and economic product," Talmadge said.

The department has held extensive hearings and research into the proposed use of the salvaged meat in positions of processed food items such as weiners and salami. The proposal also would allow up to 3 percent finely ground bone in the salvaged meat.

The process would involve grinding up neck bones and other parts of slaughtered animal carcass to salvage meat missed by hand trimming. Although the larger particles of bone would be screened out when the mixture is forced through a sieve, fine particles of bone would be included in the salvaged product.

Written comments can be submitted through March 20 on the proposal to the Hearing Clerk, Room 1077-S, USDA, Washington, D.C., 20250.

Red Meat Declines

WASHINGTON (AP) - Production of red meat in January totalled about 3.2 billion pounds, decline of 1 percent from January of last year, the Agriculture Department says.

At nearly 2.1 billion pounds, beef output was down 2 percent; veal 62 million pounds, down 9 percent; and lamb and mutton 25 million pounds, down 14 percent. However, pork production was up 3 percent from a year ago to almost 1.1 billion pounds, a result of stepped up milk production, the department said.

WIFE Chapter To Host Jones

The Hereford chapter of WIFE (Women Involved in Farm Economics) will meet Monday at 7 p.m. at the Hereford State Bank.

Calvin Jones, Agricultural manager at the Holly Sugar Corporation's Hereford plant will be the featured speaker, and will address the local members on the sugar industry prior to a question and answer session.

Any individual interested in the local sugar beet industry is invited to attend and ask questions.

Members will also compile results from a survey of local restaurants which they have conducted this week.

Members have been conducting the survey to determine which local dining establishments serve domestic beef.

Results of the survey are to be released by the local chapter at a later date.

Officers of the Hereford WIFE chapter include Susan Hicks, president; Jenny Casels, first vice president; Jimmy Middleton, second vice president; Lorene Schwertrner, corresponding secretary; Jo Ann Jesko, treasurer; Paula Edwards, historian; and Judy Williams, recording secretary.

SORGHUM FARMER'S CORN...

So different from ordinary corns we call it "the other crop"

- Yields more than sorghum for greater income potential under similar field management
- Harvests earlier than sorghum
- Requires less fertilizer and insecticide
- Excellent standability
- Adaptable to high plant populations and narrow rows

PIONEER

3780

Pioneer brand 3780 is like no other corn hybrid you've ever planted. It yields well on land where other corns can't. How is this possible? 3780 has a water use pattern that reaches peak demand very early ... long before sorghum needs its water. (see chart below). Also 3780 grows and matures much faster than sorghum or other corns, so it's ready for harvest earlier. Its fertilizer requirements are lower than most full-season corns, and it won't normally need the insecticide treatments most full season crops require late in the growing season. If you're looking for a good-yielding corn hybrid that performs well under management similar to sorghum's, consider "the other crop" ... Pioneer brand 3780. The sorghum farmer's corn.

DAILY WATER USE FOR 3780 AND SORGHUM

3780 needs most of its water early in the growing season, long before sorghum reaches its peak water demand. 3780 takes advantage of early-season rainfall and won't be taxing your water supply when well drawdowns are greater.

DEATH PENALTY REVERSED
AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The death penalty conviction of Don Louie Warren of Lubbock was reversed Wednesday because the prosecution failed to prove society would be threatened with violence if he were not executed.
The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals sent Warren's case back to Lubbock for re-trial.
Warren was convicted of capital murder in the Jan. 3, 1975, pistol slaying of Victor Wayne Tucker in Tucker's home. Warren confessed shooting Tucker when the victim interrupted a burglary in his home.
Warren said he found the murder weapon in Tucker's house and fired it in panic when Tucker surprised him, pulled a gun and said he was going to kill him.
The high court said the prosecution's only evidence at the punishment phase of the trial was a "pen packet" showing Warren had been convicted of theft in 1971.
This, it said, was insufficient to support the required jury finding in death penalty cases that there was a probability Warren would commit violent acts in the future that "would constitute a continuing threat to society."
"There was no qualified psychiatric testimony as to appellant's Warren's psychiatric makeup...nor did the state offer other evidence of aggravating factors bearing on this issue such as a personal history of violence, that appellant lacked respect for human life," etc., the court said.

Paul Harvey News
We Are the Jolly Green Giant!

The number of farms in the United States now totals only 2.6 million. That's 13 percent fewer than 10 years ago.
The number of acres in pasture or under the plow right now--1.7 billion--is 3 million fewer than just one year ago.
Yet each farmer growing more food on fewer acres is feeding himself plus 50 other people.
Our nation, with less than 7 percent of the earth's land, produces 46 percent of the world's corn, 66 percent of the world's soybeans.
The United States supplies 44 percent of the world's total wheat exports, 55 percent of the world's coarse grain exports.
We are the JOLLY GREEN GIANT!
What makes our garden grow?
Your backyard roses are beautiful or scrawny depending on how you feed and protect them.
It is the same with cotton and wheat and corn and beans.
While instant-experts have been mean-mouthing the chemicals used in growing and protecting and preserving foods and fibers, it is those chemicals that are feeding and clothing Americans better than anybody else on earth.
It is those preservatives that have extended the shelf-life of foods and improved quality as well as quantity.

If some of those chemicals appear to make Ralph Nadar sick, they have helped the rest of us grow healthier and stronger and live longer than ever before.
Scaremongers persist in demanding additional tests on agricultural and pesticides that have already proved themselves for going on three generations.
I was in the vanguard of those warning about pollution of our air and water 30 years ago, before the science of ecology became a fad.
Because valid consideration for safety-first has mushroomed into myopic nit-picking, pioneer ecologists are backing off.
I don't know how many lives DDT may have endangered and I don't think anybody else does. But I sure enough believe that it helped to save millions.
Every year 20,000 New Yorkers used to die from cholera and typhoid and dysentery and infant diarrhea traceable to flies and fleas.
Any historian has read expressions of anxiety about polluted food and water and about noise congestion and land use in the handwriting of ancient Greeks and Romans.
The publication Scientific American was anxious about "absorption of poisons from paints and water and foods and medicines" in 1872. Regulation is one thing; overregulation is another.
Farmers are keeping abreast of our multiplying population only because of their better tools, better pesticides, plant foods and seed strains.
We're going to need more, not less. Take away the farmers' scientific agricultural aids in the name of "health" and I promise you that mass hunger will stalk our land.

Supreme Court To Review Rates
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - The Texas Supreme Court Wednesday agreed to review the means used by the state Public Utility Commission in setting telephone rates.
It set an April 5 hearing on Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.'s appeal from lower court decisions upholding the commission's rate-setting method.
Bell said the case is the first to reach the court "dealing in depth with the discretionary powers of the public utility commission."
Also included in the hearing will be the state's appeal of decisions by an Austin district judge and the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals that Bell is entitled to a full hearing on whether rates set by the commission are confiscatory.
The commission granted Bell a $57.8 million per year revenue increase in December 1976 - $173 million less than Bell had requested.
In setting Bell's rates, the commission used a rate base consisting of the original cost of Bell's equipment, real estate and other assets, less depreciation.
Bell contends in its appeal that the commission was bound by law also to include current replacement cost - a much higher figure - in the rate base. The result would be higher rates.
It said the Legislature meant for the commission to use a formula allowing 25 to 40 percent of the rate base to consist of replacement cost.
The difference between the figure used by the commission and the adjusted value that Bell wanted it to employ was $140 million.
Lower courts found and adjusted value was simply an outside figure, with the commission allowed to go as low as original cost minus depreciation in determining a rate base.
Bell said the "lower courts have cut loose the commission from any legislative guidance as to whether and under what circumstances a particular rate base is to be used."
"Southwestern Bell and other utilities are denied fundamental due process when at mere whim and caprice the commission can ignore statutory standards for a reasonable balance rate base and substitute a 100 percent depreciated original cost rate base," Bell's appeal said.
The state's appeal said lower courts should have held that Bell was not entitled to present witnesses on the issue of confiscation. It said the law is clear that the courts can review

Eating More Isn't Only Cause of Fatness

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) - A Memphis State University psychologist who doesn't have to worry about gaining weight has news for people who do.
All those theories about fat people being that way because they eat more or gobble their food aren't necessarily accurate, Dr. Andrew Meyers says.
Meyers, 29, has studied obesity and it causes for almost five years, first under Dr. Albert Stunkard at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia and, since 1976, at Memphis State.
A slender man often mistaken for a student, Meyer sat in his tiny office recently and talked about his profession's record for treating obesity - a term he prefers to "fat."
"We could almost never get people to take weight off," he said. "If they did, they didn't keep it off."
At Pennsylvania, Stunkard examined assumptions about obesity to see how fat people differed from thin. One study involved more than 5,500 subjects at six Philadelphia restaurants. Teams kept track of customers' food choices to see whether overweight persons ate more food, particularly fattening foods.
"In general," Meyers said, "we couldn't find any difference."
Then researchers watched customers eating - counting bites, sips, chews and 17 other eating behaviors.
"Still no difference," Meyer said. "The basic assumption was that if you're fat, you eat faster, but it didn't hold up."
In a third study, researchers found the percentage of overweight customers doubled on buffet or smorgasbord nights.
"That says maybe some of our traditional evidence is holding," the psychologist said. "But a lot of our basic assumptions are shaky."
Meyers said research shows some overweight persons may benefit more from a daily walk than from a drastic diet. Though study is a long way from complete, Meyers said, "it suggests the most effective way to reduce may be through slight changes in exercise."
"Obese people throw up their hands and say they don't want to get into jogging or playing three sets of tennis a day," he said. "We're not talking about that. We're talking about making a slight change... designing individual activity programs just slightly more active than they were."
For example, he said, 10 minutes of mild morning exercise and a 20-minute evening walk could, with no change in eating habits, take one pound off every 35 days.
"That's not much, but if we're talking about long-term benefits, it may be much healthier than a crash diet," he said.

Atlanta May Lose Much in Fight
ATLANTA (AP) - Despite President Carter's support of the proposed Equal Rights Amendment to the Constitution, the measure is doing poorly in Carter country. And legislative opposition to the ERA may cost Southern states millions of dollars, officials say.
In Carter's home state, Rick Myers of the Atlanta Visitors Bureau has estimated that the city may lose about $10 million over the next four years from groups that boycott Atlanta because Georgia has not endorsed the ERA.
The proposed amendment to ban sex discrimination has been ratified in 35 states but needs approval from three more before March 22, 1979, to become part of the Constitution.
Tennessee, the only Southern state to ratify the amendment, has since voted to rescind approval. Two other states, Idaho and Nebraska, have voted to rescind. There is some question about the validity of those decisions.
In Georgia, the ERA was defeated in the House in 1974, died in the Senate in 1975 and never cleared a Senate committee in 1977 and 1978.
Alabama and South Carolina legislatures defeated the ERA this year. In Mississippi and North Carolina, it was given little attention, and in Florida and Louisiana, where 1978 legislative sessions are upcoming, the amendment is given little chance of passage.
Many opponents in state legislatures in the Southeast say they are concerned about the second paragraph of the three-paragraph amendment which says Congress "shall have the power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article."

"It's true. People have trouble remembering my words. Moses had such a bad memory I had to give him tablets."

Actor Paul Muni's real name was Muni Neisenfreund.

Some said it was lucky to own a white rooster.

The first wagon/train arrived in California in 1841.
