Brother Disarms Gunman

One Dead, 38 Injured in Shooting Spree

DETROIT (AP) — A gunman who launched a shooting spree that killed a legal intern, wounded three people and left 35 injured — some after they jumped from windows to escape a blaze set by a firebomb — was finally disarmed by his brother, authorities said.

"The brother was only trying to stop him and almost lost his life in the attempt," said homicide Inspector Gilbert Hill after the shootings Friday. "A private investigator saw him with a shotgun he'd taken from his brother and thought he did the shooting."

Robert Harrington, 35, entered a law office on the eighth floor of the Buhl Building shortly before noon to complain the firm inadequately represented him in a dispute with an insurance company, Hill said. He allegedly pulled a sawed-off 12-gauge shotgun from under his coat and opened fire after his lawyer, Edward Bell, refused to give him a $2,500 insurance check that was overdue in the mail, police said.

The gunman also tossed a firebomb into Bell's law library, said officer Kyrone Bradstrom.

At least two lawyers jumped from eighth-floor window ledges where occupants fled during the 90-minute rampage to escape the gunman and smoke from the four-alarm blaze. Harrington, who at one point took some of the wounded as hostages and barricaded himself in Bell's offices, apparently was overcome by smoke and captured by police.

Bell, 53, was shot in the side and hospitalized in serious condition, officials at Detroit Receiving Hospital said.

Eve August, 24, of Southfield, Mich., a legal intern, died of five gunshot wounds to the chest and right thigh, said Dr. Ronald Krome, chief of emergency medicine at the hospital.

Michelle Jenkins of Detroit, a receptionist, was hospitalized in satisfactory condition with a gunshot wound to the chest.

The injured were taken to Detroit Receiving Hospital, where at least 12 were admitted and 15 were treated and released. Hospital officials refused to release information on the remaining 11 injured.

Harrington also was hospitalized in stable condition for smoke inhalation and a minor gunshot wound to the left arm. He had not been charged as of Friday night. Gerald Harrington, the suspect's older brother and a vice president of the First Independence National Bank of Detroit, went to the scene after receiving a call at his office. He arrived after the incident began and took the shotgun away from his brother, Hill said. A private

Thoroughly Disgusted

Property owners at Rest Lawn Memorial Park are appalled at the condition of the cemetery, and are witnessing a deterioration of the site. Graves, such as the one here, have been collapsing this week after rainfall hit the area. The committee, headed by Marian Kreig (right) is dedicated to seeing some changes made. (Brand Photo by Bob Nigh).

Cemetery's Condition Outrages Committee

By Bob Nigh
MANAGING EDITOR

A group of Deaf Smith County residents are hopping mad.

And, despite this being a rich agricultural area, the rain which fell on Hereford the past several days has done little to dampen their ire.

The group, calling itself the "Committee of Property Owners of Rest Lawn Memorial Park of Hereford, Inc.," has a gripe. And, a legitimate one at that it seems.

For a year the committee, headed by chairperson Marian Kreig, has been trying to impress cemetery owner H. O'Dell LaGrone of Canyon that there are problems at the cemetery, which is supposed to be a perpetual care facility.

A problem in the past was the growth of weeds surrounding the cemetery, which is located about two miles north of town. The group felt then that a definite fire hazard existed.

Now, the problems have worsened. The rains which have fallen the past several days have caused nearly a dozen of the graves at the cemetery to collapse. The earth in the graves has fallen, some as much as two feet, and many markers are in danger of falling into the graves themselves.

In fact, one marker was removed from a grave Friday night to keep it from "being lost," and another slipped into its grave.

According to the committee the problems stem from LaGrone's failure to provide care of the cemetery, providing the usual services of settling the dirt on the graves, manuring the grounds, and so on.

"I firmly believe that under perpetual care something like this wouldn't happen," Mrs. Kreig said emphatically. "There were 11 graves sunken as of Thursday, and there are about 22 others on the verge of the same."

Mrs. Kreig said that problems at the cemetery have prevailed under the management of the last three owners, including LaGrone, who bought it in 1977. Almost 575 persons are interred at the site, with a total of 1,600 plots sold.

Mrs. Kreig called LaGrone Friday to report the sinking of the graves, but was told he was out of town.

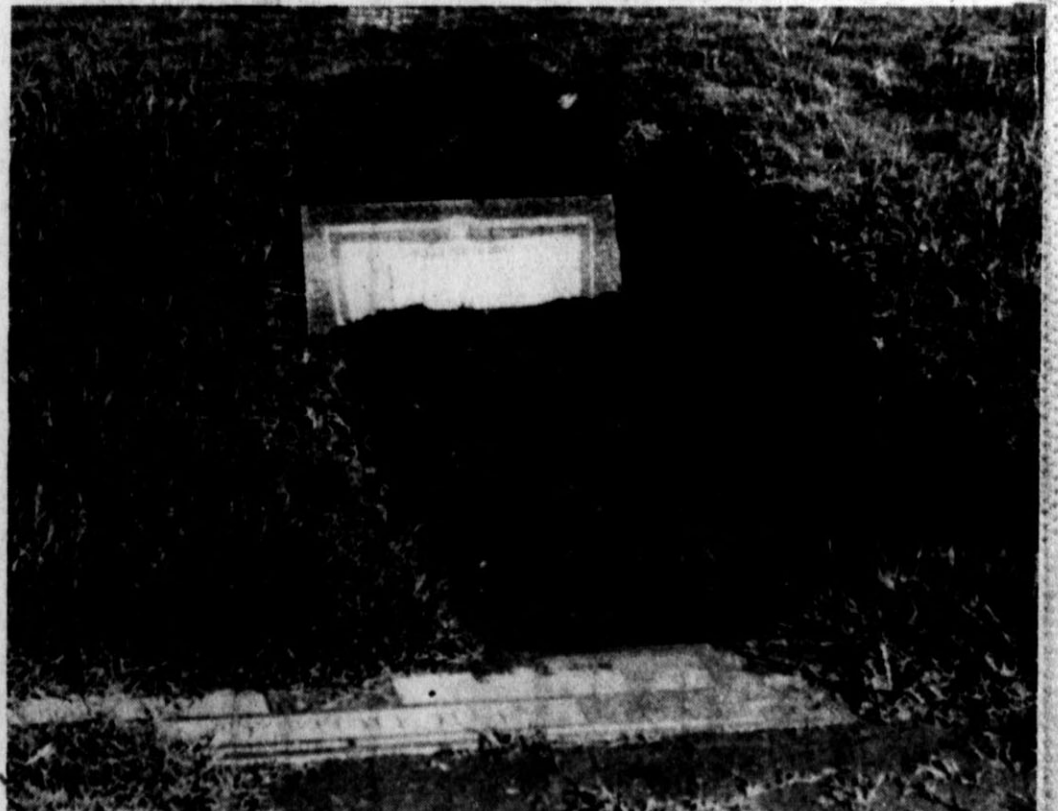

"He won't talk to any of us (the committee)," she said. "And he won't return our calls."

Gary Phipps, manager of Rix Funeral Home of Hereford, said he has brought up the problems at the cemetery to LaGrone. "He told me that he doesn't own it, but that 'those people' in Hereford do," Phipps said. "I don't know how he figures that."

Mrs. Kreig said that the graves can be cared for by surviving relatives, but that it is also against the law for anyone to clean up or "touch" another family's plot.

"We've got to get something done," she said. "There have got to be some changes made."

EDITOR'S NOTE: Due to the complexity and depth of this story, a more-detailed account of the problems in the past and the course of action the committee intends to take will appear in Tuesday's issue.

Reagans Welcomed Back Following Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is back home today following a 10-day trip to Europe during which he said he reaffirmed U.S. determination to defend itself, its friends and "free institutions."

"Our friendships are firm and America is once again respected by allies and potential adversaries alike," the president told the large crowd that greeted him at Andrews Air Force Base Friday evening.

The crowd, estimated by Air Force officials at 15,000 and by Republican Party officials at 50,000, was gathered by the Republican National Committee and the administration.

Among those on hand to welcome the president were two military bands, members of the Cabinet, congressional leaders and some members of the diplomatic corps.

GOP officials said they kept the reception a secret from Reagan, who told the crowd, "This is a very great surprise to us."

"It's been a great trip, but there really is no place like home," the president said.

carpet to a stand, where he addressed the flag-waving crowd.

So many autos and buses converged on the base that traffic was tied up for several miles in all directions at the height of Washington's Friday evening rush hour.

Reagan planned to go to Camp David today to rest from the trip that took him to an economic summit conference in Versailles, France; a meeting with the pope at the Vatican; an address to the British Parliament in London; a NATO meeting in Bonn and an address to the German parliament; and a wind-up speech in Berlin Friday with a visit to the wall dividing that city.

At the homecoming ceremony, Reagan said he was pleased that the House had approved a compromise budget that he supported.

He also urged Senate-House negotiators to "finish work quickly so we can get on with the work of economic recovery."

Reagan said that in the six major European cities he visited he discovered that "America has a lot of friends in the world."

And while the United States and its allies occasionally have differences, "Our values are the same, our objectives are the same, and when we have different ideas, we can work them out," Reagan said.

"I brought a message to our allies that the United States will remain a firm and reliable partner," he said.

And he also declared, "Our alliances have never been stronger," and he pledged the United States will "live up to its responsibility as the world's greatest force for freedom and peace."

"The preservation of our free institutions was the most important reason for our efforts to strengthen the alliance," he said.

Hobby Visits Here June 19

LI. Gov. Bill Hobby, running for reelection, will make a campaign stop in Hereford at noon next Saturday. Hobby will visit with constituents during a luncheon at the community center June 19 as part of a swing through West Texas.

The meal will be catered, and will cost $4 per plate for those wishing to eat. Those not wishing to eat the meal may still attend the meeting to hear the candidate's views.

The meeting has not been labeled a fundraiser, and the $4 will cover only the cost of the caterer.

Israelis Shell Arafat's HQ; Syrian Ceasefire Continues

By The Associated Press

Israeli jets, warships and artillery hammered Yasser Arafat's Palestinian enclave without let-up in southern Beirut today but a day-old cease-fire between Syria and Israel held in Lebanon.

Lebanon's state and privately owned radio stations said the bombardment kindled fires at Beirut airport and that at least one parked Boeing 707 jetliner from Middle East Airlines, Lebanon's national carrier, was in flames.

All radios broadcast appeals for fire engines and civil defense units to rush to the airport, saying other installations were afire in the facility, which is two miles north of Israel's northernmost position in suburban Khalde.

The Israeli command in Tel Aviv said Palestinian forces fired Katyusha rockets and artillery at Israeli troops at Khalde. An Israeli armed forces radio correspondent said the guerrillas also were shooting anti-tank rockets.

The Beirut airport has been closed since Israel invaded Lebanon last Sunday to smash Palestinian bases and drive guerrilla artillery batteries beyond range of civilian settlements in northern Israel.

Lebanese police said one rocket from an Israeli missile boat slammed into a street a block from the Soviet Embassy in West Beirut, damaging a sidewalk cafe but causing no casualties.

The Soviet Embassy building sustained no damage as a result of the shelling. It happened while Ambassador Alexander Soldatov was meeting with Lebanese President Elias Sarkis on Soviet peace efforts.

Israel and Syria declared cease-fires Friday and the truce took effect at noon, just minutes after Israel jets scored a direct hit on the Palestine Liberation Organization's military headquarters in Beirut, the Lebanese capital.

Witnesses said the six-story building collapsed into a heap, its flat concrete roof lying flush with the ground. A PLO communique said more than 100 people were killed, but spokesman Mahmoud Labadi said none of the PLO's top leaders were among the dead or wounded and Palestinian resistance continued.

Lebanese police reported 207 people killed and 444 wounded Friday in Israeli air and naval bombardments of Beirut. The PLO, in a claim that could not be confirmed, said 10,000 people had been killed or wounded in

Inventory Jump Dampens Markets

By LORRAINE CICHOWSKI
AP Business Writer

A disappointing jump in business inventories and a surge in the nation's money supply has dampened the financial markets' enthusiasm over a federal budget compromise.

The Commerce Department reported Friday that inventories of unsold goods rose 0.2 percent in April, the first increase since November. Rising inventories near the end of a recession sometimes mean businesses are rebuilding stocks, but analysts said the April gain probably resulted from slow sales.

Also, the Federal Reserve Board said two measures of the money supply grew in the latest reporting period, ending hopes for any quick drop in interest rates and sending bond prices into a tailspin.

Tight Federal Reserve credit controls have been blamed, in part, for high rates. Also, bond prices decline as interest rates increase.

Argentines Say British Fired On Hospital Ship

By The Associated Press

Argentina claimed British jets fired two missiles at the hospital ship Bahia Paraiso, anchored at the Falkland Islands capital of Stanley with wounded soldiers and International Red Cross officials aboard. The missiles reportedly missed the ship.

The British Defense Ministry refused to comment on the Argentine high command's communique Friday night alleging the attack on the hospital ship, which the statement called a "clear violation of the most elemental human rights..."

"We never comment on Argentine claims," a Defense Ministry spokesman said. However, the British Broadcasting Corp. quoted government sources as saying privately that they believe the report was an attempt by

$280,000 in Heroin Confiscated in Laredo, Three Arrested

LAREDO, Texas (AP) — Three men were ordered held on $50,000 bond each after authorities confiscated $280,000 worth of heroin, officials said.

The men arrested about 11 a.m. Friday were identified as Gabriel Martinez Soliz, 30, of Laredo, and Jose Ruiz Gonzalez, 35, and Jesus Rodarte Davila, 27, both of Nuevo Laredo, Mexico.

U.S. Magistrate Marcel Notzon set bond for the three, who were charged with conspiring to possess heroin with intent to distribute and with possession of heroin with intent to distribute.

Agent Art Cedillo of the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration said officers of his agency, U.S. Customs, Laredo police and Webb County sheriff's department made the arrests after an undercover purchase and confiscated nine ounces of extremely high grade heroin.

Judge To See TV Interviews Before Venue Change Ruling

HOUSTON (AP) — A state district judge will view videotapes of television interviews before ruling on a request to move the murder trial of a man who told reporters he strangled a theater executive.

State district Judge George Walker is expected to rule on the change of venue request June 24, after he views the interviews with Clifford X. Phillips.

Phillips, 47, said in a series of interviews after his arrest that he killed Iris Siff in her office Jan. 13. Phillips said he strangled the executive director of the Alley Theater when she confronted him as he robbed her office.

Ron Mock, court-appointed attorney for Phillips, said Friday that publicity makes it impossible for his client to get a fair trial.

"Not anywhere in this country, not anywhere on this earth," Ron Mock said when asked where Phillips could be tried fairly on a capital murder charge. Mock has asked that the trial be held outside Harris County.

Phillips had been fired from his job as security guard at the theater about a month before the killing.

Phillips is being held without bond in the Harris County jail.

Teachers Like Money, Not Gov. Clements

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Teachers responding to a union survey want more pay, the right to bargain collectively and do not believe Gov. Bill Clements has helped education, the Texas Federation of Teachers said.

The federation, which is the statewide AFL-CIO affiliated union for Texas teachers, mailed a questionnaire to 30,000 teachers in January, and 3,112 — just over 10 percent — responded.

John Cole, president of the federation, said, "We mailed to non-members as well as members, so the survey would reflect the opinions of non-members as well."

Cole said 95.5 of the teachers who responded answered "No" when asked, "Do you believe Gov. Clements has helped education?"

According to the survey, here are the three most important issues to Texas teachers:

— A reduction in school bureaucracy, checked by 68.3 percent of the respondents.

— A reduction in the number of students per class, 68.1 percent.

— Higher teacher pay, 63.6 percent.

"We were somewhat surprised that salaries came in third in the list of priorities," Cole said in a statement. "However, the rapidly increasing bureaucracy in big-city schools is a tremendous problem to teachers. Apparently teachers would like to see some of those bureaucrats put back in the classroom to reduce the large classes and cut down on the mass of red tape that interferes with teaching."

Rock Singer Criticizes Evidence Search

DALLAS (AP) — Rock musician David Crosby refused during a pretrial hearing to answer prosecutors' questions about his arrest on felony narcotics and gun possession charges.

Crosby, 40, took the stand Friday afternoon during a hearing on his request to suppress evidence he contends was seized illegally.

He was arrested April 13 during what Dallas police called a routine liquor violation inspection at a Northeast Dallas nightclub.

One of the arresting officers testified Friday that he found Crosby — one of the founding members of the group Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young — free-basing cocaine in the dressing-room area of Cardy's nightclub.

In response to a question from his attorney, Crosby contended he had given police no legally justifiable reason to search him. He pleaded the Fifth Amendment to prosecutors' questions.

State District Judge Pat McDowell adjourned the hearing until June 25.

Vague Ethics Law Could Clear Out State Congress

By KATHY BAKER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Strictly enforcing vague state ethics laws could mean "backing a truck up to the Capitol and hauling everybody off to the penitentiary," a defense attorney has told a legislative committee.

Public officials cannot tell from the penal code what constitutes a violation of official misconduct standards, Austin lawyer Buck Wood told the Public Standards of Conduct Advisory Committee Friday.

"It's not clear and it never is going to be clear," he said. The normal ebb and flow of lobbying, political contributions and haggling over legislation leads lawmakers constantly to the edge of a "mythical line" between accepted conduct and illegality, Wood said.

Wood helped write the 1973 ethics laws and later found himself indicted in the FBI "Bribe" investigation. Both he and House Speaker Bill Clayton, now a member of the ethics panel, were acquitted of all charges in the Bribe case.

"These provisions are trying to regulate conduct which may be absolutely necessary to the legislative process," he said.

He said no one could "sit here with a straight face" and say political contributors don't expect something in return from lawmakers they help elect. But "we don't need to be ashamed of it," Wood said.

Alan Hill, the panel's counsel, described to committee members a law making it illegal for a public official to threaten to withhold an official act.

Rep. Stan Schlueter, D-Salado, the panel chairman, asked if that applied to legislators threatening to bottle each other's bills up in committee.

"If you take this provision literally, a class A misdemeanor has just occurred," Hill said.

"This provision, as you've described it," said Schlueter, "would make the whole legislative process illegal."

"I can plead virtually every official in the state of Texas on one of those," Wood said of the violations listed in the code.

Wood said he had no good suggestion for changing the laws, but said "backing a truck up to the Capitol and hauling everybody off to the penitentiary" was no solution. Travis County District Attorney Ronald Earle, whose Public Integrity Unit investigates official wrongdoing, said he is confident in grand juries' "reasonableness" in issuing indictments based on what he admitted was a "vague, amorphous" set of laws.

Earle, who is a member of the panel, also testified Friday, saying he would "love it" if the job were taken off his shoulders. But he stopped short of endorsing the idea of a special prosecutor.

"The duty is an onerous one and I'm not jealous of losing it," he said. But he called the idea of a statewide grand jury "scary. Who would run it? There would be a tremendous temptation to use it as a political springboard."

Earle said half to two-thirds of the cases he takes to the grand jury do not result in indictments.

guerrillas. He said an Israeli withdrawal from Lebanon is not likely in "a matter of days or weeks."

Israel said the cease-fire did not apply to the Palestinian guerrillas, although it said its forces would not fire unless fired upon. Within three hours of the truce, Israeli tanks and Palestinian artillery batteries were again trading shellfire near Beirut's southern beaches.

"We have not been consulted...so we are not concerned by the cease-fire in any way," PLO security chief Salah Khalaf said in a radio broadcast.

Syria's agreement to a standoff clearly angered the Palestinians. "We have to rely on ourselves," PLO spokesman Labadi said.

Israeli warplanes reappeared over southern Beirut late Friday to bomb and strafe, and PLO anti-aircraft batteries opened fire on the jets, lighting the nighttime sky. Israeli warships cruising offshore joined in the shelling.

Israeli Defense Minister Ariel Sharon claimed Israel's invasion had achieved its goal of inflicting heavy casualties on the Palestinian guerrillas and destroying their infrastructure. But he said his forces would continue to search out guerrillas in the 1,000-square-mile of Israeli-held territory.

Palestinian ambush teams and snipers still endanger Israeli forces in Lebanon, and large areas of captured territory remain insecure, Israeli officers said. "I think our job has just begun," said one officer.

The Israelis launched their invasion with the stated goal of driving the guerrillas 25 miles back from its border to halt the PLO's shelling of northern Israel. But in six days an estimated 40,000 Israeli troops plunged 50 miles north, to Beirut's outskirts, and collided with the Syrian forces.

About 30,000 Syrian troops have been in Lebanon for six years under an Arab League mandate to police the armistice that ended the civil war between Lebanon's Christians and an alliance of Palestinians and Lebanese leftists.

The Fed said M1, a measure of funds readily available for spending, rose $1.5 billion to a seasonally adjusted $42.8 billion in the week ended June 2. It said a broader money supply measure, known as M2 and including such funds as savings account deposits and money market funds, averaged $1.8947 trillion in May, up $14.9 billion from April.

Economists also said bond prices failed to show much response to House adoption of a Republican-backed budget because the interest rate on federal funds — the overnight loan rate among banks and a key indicator of the direction of short-term interest rates — has been rising as corporate demand rises for loans to cover federal tax payments due June 15. The rate on federal funds rose to 14.25 percent from 14 percent the previous day before closing at 13.875 percent.

The stock market was closed when the money supply numbers came out. Earlier, stock prices soared, partly because investors were pleased about the House budget, which must now be reconciled with one already passed by the Senate.

Any budget compromise still means the Treasury Department must borrow billions of dollars in private credit markets to pay its bills, economists say. Heavy government borrowing limits the amount of credit available for corporate and municipal borrowers, keeping pressure on interest rates.

Energy prices fell for the fifth straight month to wipe out increases in food prices. Gasoline prices for May were down 5.9 percent.

However, the recent upward drive of gasoline prices accelerated Friday as Exxon Co. USA, Chevron USA Inc. and Amoco Oil Co. said they were raising wholesale prices by one to two cents a gallon in many parts of the country.

U.S. gasoline marketers have been raising wholesale prices a few pennies a time in recent weeks as the oil glut fades — increases that already are showing up at the pump.

Spree

who was not identified, fired six times at Gerald Harrington but missed, Hill said.

Gerald Harrington was taken into custody briefly along with his brother but was released after questioning, Hill said.

"I told him to come back," said Bell, a former county judge. "He said he wasn't going to be back. He reached into his coat and pulled out a gun and started firing."

Police helicopters rescued some people who fled to the roof of the downtown office building as the fire burned for about an hour.

Doug Wartell, 27, a lawyer whose office is down the hall from Bell's, reported seeing the gunman's clothes on fire.

"I hear one shot and I thought somebody was just goofing around," said Wartell.

"Then I heard screaming, then there was another shot and my door ... was filled with buckshot," Wartell said. "I dove under my desk and I heard him come into my office. He was swearing up and down about something but I don't think the dude knew I was in there. Then I heard another shot and I dashed out the door."

Two attorneys in Bell's office, including his partner Lester Hudson, jumped from the eighth-floor ledge, said Larry Benton, Bell's senior law clerk. The two fell "four or five floors" and landed on another roof, Benton said.

Hudson was in serious condition with injuries suffered in the fall, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Saunders Dorsey, the other attorney who jumped, was hospitalized in serious condition with injuries suffered in the fall, and he also suffered a gunshot wound to the hand, officials said.

Harrington had hired Bell's firm to help him collect money from a company that had insured his fire-damaged house, Benton said. Harrington came to the office a few days ago, demanding money because he was unhappy with the way the case was handled, the clerk said.

Another pair of brothers were involved in the drama. While Hudson lay injured after jumping from the building, his brother Joseph covered the story for radio station WLBS-FM in Mount Clemens.

"I bit my lip a lot. The inside of my mouth is torn to smithereens," said Joseph Hudson, who was on another assignment when he saw smoke coming from his brother's building.

"I immediately started asking questions and was told it was his office," Joseph said. He was told his brother had been hospitalized and was undergoing surgery for brain injuries and bone fractures.

Ship

Argentina to elicit sympathy for its cause.

The communique said the attack Friday morning was carried out by British Harrier jets. One of the missiles aimed at the hospital ship fell short and hit the water near the vessel while the other seriously damaged the house of a Stanley resident, the statement said.

The government did not say whether there were any casualties or if the hospital ship was damaged.

Such claims cannot be independently verified, since both sides bar foreign reporters from the war zone.

The charge from Buenos Aires came as millions of cheering Argentines welcomed Pope John Paul II on his 30-hour mission to appeal for an end to the Falklands fighting between Argentina and Britain.

The pontiff, who visited Britain last month, met with the overwhelmingly Roman Catholic nation's ruling junta, and the three military leaders dropped to their knees before him, seeking the papal blessing.

Meanwhile, Argentine President Leopoldo Galtieri was quoted today as saying the United States betrayed Argentina by backing Britain in the undeclared South Atlantic war.

British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher predicted more "heavy casualties" to come in the battle for Stanley, the last major Argentine garrison on the islands, but there were no reports of any major fighting Friday around the British-besieged port town.

Following Tour of Waste Facilities

Johnson, Nelson: Questions Still Unanswered

BY BOB NIGH
MANAGING EDITOR
Deaf Smith County Judge Glen Nelson and Chamber of Commerce president Bill Johnson returned a week ago from a 5-day tour of two separate high-level nuclear waste storage test areas, and the two men agree on one thing.

They're still not convinced that a nuclear waste repository would benefit their hometown area.

Basically, both Nelson and Johnson were unconvinced that such a repository would not threaten the life's blood of the High Plains area, the Ogallala Aquifer, or the capacity of this area to produce bountiful harvests of grain, vegetables and fruit as it has in the past.

Nelson and Johnson were part of a contingent of area people, including Tullia chamber exec. Bill Daniel and that city's chamber president Gary Anderson, which spent some four days touring the Waste Isolation Pilot Plant (WIPP) in Carlsbad, NM and the Nevada Test Site near Las Vegas, NV, May 31-June 4.

Also making the trip was Texas Energy and Natural Resources Advisory Council (TENRAC) director Dr. Ted Taylor of Austin; Maxwell Blanchard, director of the waste isolation project for the Department of Energy (DOE) in Columbus, OH; Linda McClain, director of Texas operations for the waste isolation project for DOE, and Helen Latham, a technical writer for the Battelle Memorial Institute, also of Columbus.

"I'm convinced totally that everything is being done to make nuclear waste storage as safe as possible, but I still have a question of how they can guarantee that it will not intrude on our aquifer, and how it will affect the surface growth potential for our area," Johnson said.

employment of 120 area residents.

"Of course, you've got to realize that the land around Calsbad is virtually worthless except for the Potash mining industry," Johnson said. "The people in Carlsbad thought the waste repository being built there is the best thing since Post Toasties; of course they're all for it."

Two shafts have been dug to a depth of 2,100 feet at the even licensed by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission."

"But, since this is a pilot project, they're going ahead with it like it will be licensed by the NRC," Nelson added.

The WIPP authorization specifically exempts the project from regulation (licensing) by the NRC, but DOE has purposely complied fully with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

On June 2 the group flew to Las Vegas to visit the Nevada Test Site (NTS), located some 65 miles north of Las Vegas. The site, which is under strenuous security, is located on the 34,000 square mile Dulles Gunnery and Bombing Range of the U.S. Air Force.

"It was quite an extensive operation with top security," Johnson said. "We had to have special clearance to even get on the base, and we were allowed no cameras; no binoculars, nothing."

While being tested as a possible repository location, the (NTS) is operated primarily for the testing of nuclear explosives. The NTS is a large, remote area with a geology and hydrology potentially very well suited as a repository site.

Beginning in 1978, the Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory designed a test in which a limited number of actual spent reactor fuel assemblies were safely packaged, transported, stored, and retrieved.

During April-May, 1980, 11 canisters of spent fuel were emplaced in storage along with six electrical simulator canisters.

Two adjacent drifts (mines) contain 20 electrical heaters, which simulate the thermal field of a large repository.

According to DOE the "general objective of the Spent Fuel Test...is to evaluate the feasibility of safe and reliable short-term storage of spent reactor fuel assemblies at a plausible repository depth in a typical granite rock, and to retrieve the fuel."

The NTS project is handled at the 100,000 square-foot building called the E-Mad Building, which stands for Engine Maintenance Assembly and Disassembly, and which was built to handle the nuclear rocket engines tested during the space program.

That program ended in 1973.

Within the E-Mad Building, a hot bay, with railroad car or truck access through a rolling concrete door, can handle radioactive materials remotely with two remote control arms.

"The canisters are embedded in the same type of silos that they would have in bedded salt," Johnson said.

"We stood right on top of a silo that had nuclear waste in it," he continued. "And, the radiation level coming from that silo is actually less than the granite it's drilled in."

Johnson reiterated that he feels that the testing program is being handled in as safe a manner as possible, but the final word on the hazards to the local aquifer and agricultural production is

Decoys

A thousand years ago, Indians made the first decoys in order to trick birds down to within arrow shot. They were made of bulrushes, woven and twisted into duck shapes. This Indian invention was quickly adopted by North America's first white hunters. In the Old World, they had used tame live birds to trap wild ones in a cage the Dutch called an "ende kooi" — which the Englishman pronounced "decoy."

'...I still have a question of how they can guarantee that it will not intrude on our aquifer...'

Our main concern is the chance of nuclear waste leaking into our aquifer and ruining our water supply," Nelson agreed. "The trip was real interesting, and from a scientific standpoint their findings are very accurate I suppose, but it still didn't answer all our questions."

And, a meeting with about 30 residents of Carlsbad, including city officials, school board members, and businessmen, did little to allay the fears of the Hereford men despite the New Mexicans' seemingly complete faith in the project.

The WIPP site, about 26 miles east of Carlsbad, has proved to be a near Godsend to that city with the generation of some $170 million to the local economy over the past 10 years, and the steady WIPP site, one 12-foot in diameter and another 6-foot across. Officials have predicted the placement of nuclear waste there by 1989. The waste itself will come from the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory, where it is presently stored in temporary surface facilities.

One major difference in the WIPP site from the repository which would eventually be located near Hereford should this area be selected, is that the WIPP site is for wastes from the defense department, while a local repository would include commercial wastes.

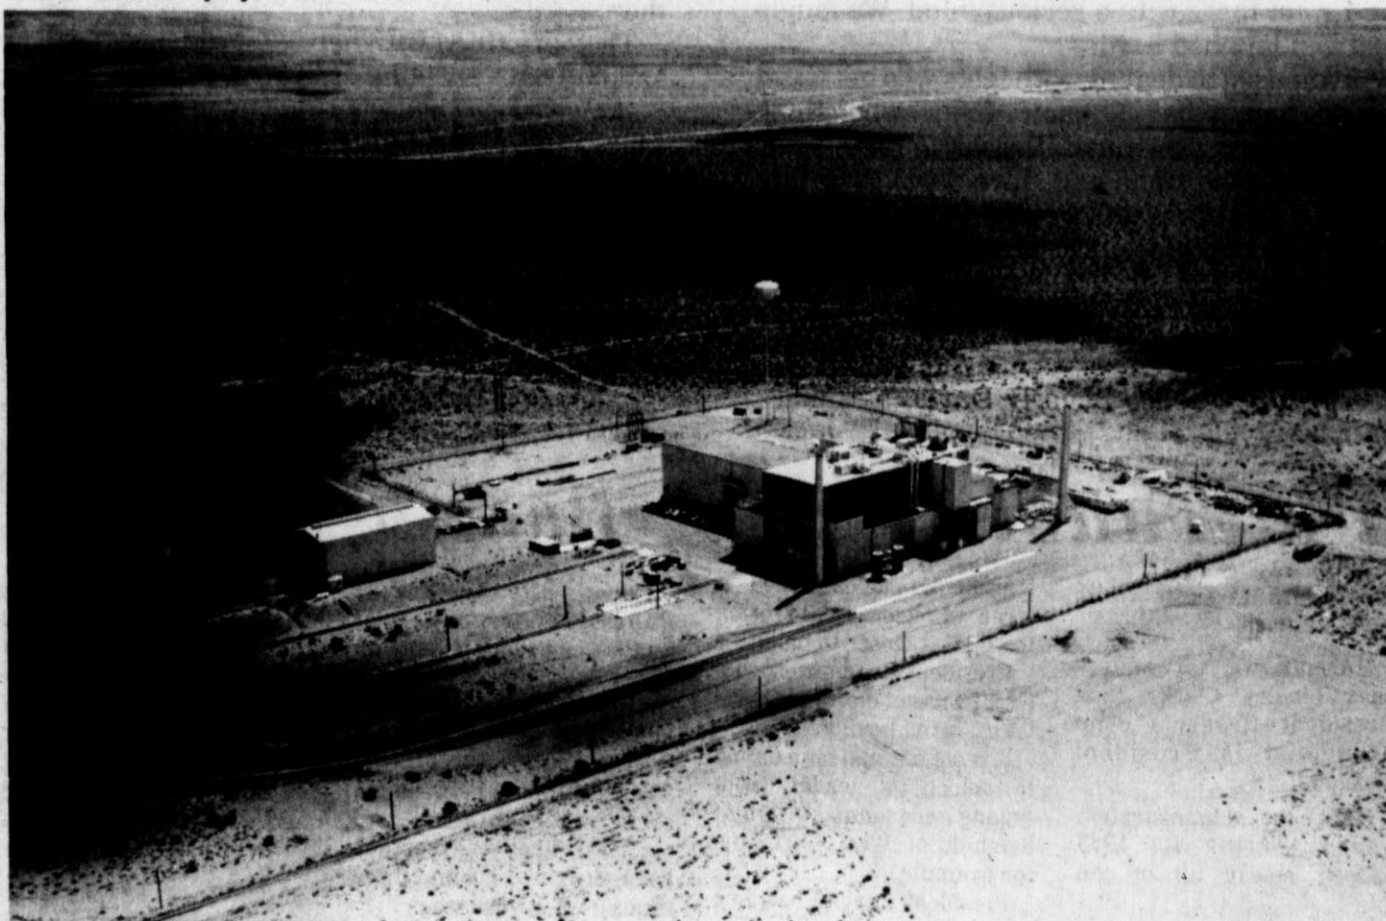

It's flabbergasting the amount of testing that they've done at Calsbad," Johnson said. "The WIPP site had to secure 10,000 permits to drill, and they're not

"Those people (Carlsbad residents) have no fear of the project; no qualms whatsoever," Nelson said. "They felt it was safe, or the government wouldn't have let it be placed there."

"Of course, the big difference is that our potential site is located under productive soil, whereas theirs isn't."

After visiting the WIPP site, the group flew to Albuquerque, where they met with Westinghouse, Corp. officials. Westinghouse is the WIPP site engineering firm, as the Battelle Memorial Institute is for the Texas project.

A long briefing followed, during which those on the tour were allowed to ask specific questions about the WIPP project.

The E-Mad building was built to handle the nuclear rocket engines tested at the NTS for the space program. The building is 80-feet high and has 100,000 square feet of floor space. A hot bay, with railroad car or truck access still to come.

"They're still gathering data on that, and we should have some socio-economic information available soon. Economically, the location of a repository here would be quite a boom...we're talking about the expenditure of several million dollars, and that has to be taken into consideration, not to outweigh the safety factor of course."

"I think they are sincerely doing a job that has to be done, but how can you project 10,000 years into the future...and that's what they're charged to do?"

"We're looking at a waste that will still be active thousands of years from now," Nelson said. "We have to extra cautious in what we have to look at for the future. We're reserving judgment on the waste storage issue."

Johnson added. "And, as an attorney you can't win against it, and if you're not, you're not, and I don't know what facts you're going to use to convince our minds. I think you and county officials need to be wise thus far but make a rash decision on it," he added. "We're going on the facts and making a good judgment call." Johnson said.

slide presentation and information gathered by Dr. Taylor of TENRAC and the others on the tour will be held in Hereford sometime in July, Johnson said.

Johnson also said that the possibility exists that some Carlsbad, NM residents will be invited to the meeting to tell their story.

"The Chamber of Commerce's position has been to get all the information we can get," he said. "We'll get it to the general public. The more people that see our presentation, the better off we'll be."

He added that DOE officials are still working on opening up an information office in Hereford as they proposed several weeks ago.

The "big dish" antenna of NASA's Deep Space Network are so sensitive they can pick up a spacecraft radio signal as weak as one quintillionth of a watt power. If this energy were collected for 19 million years, it would light up a watt Christmas-tree bulb for only one-thousandth of a second.

STATE CAPITOL HIGHLIGHT

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin—The Texas Legislature made quick work of its special session agenda, heading home after only a week and leaving political observers to sift through the aftermath.

In five days of work, the Legislature passed four constitutional amendments, two appropriations bills and scores of resolutions memorializing everything from railroad pensions to asking Poland to end martial law.

Included in those constitutional amendments was the state property tax repeal, which was the reason Gov. Bill Clements called the Legislature back into session in the first place.

Texas voters will get a chance to pass judgment on the property tax repeal when they go to the polls Nov. 2. If the repeal is approved, 17 state colleges and universities that do not participate in the Permanent University Fund will be without a dedicated source of construction funding.

Other constitutional amendments passed during the brief special session and which will be on the general election ballot include measures to increase the amount of interest the state can pay on water bonds, to clear up the intent of legislation exempting farm tools from local property taxes and to correct an error in an earlier amendment setting a limit on welfare payments.

The two appropriations bills provide nearly $200 million to tide the colleges over until the Legislature can find them a permanent source of funding in 1983 and to speed construction of new prison units to ease the overcrowding that caused the Texas Department of Corrections to refuse to accept new inmates last month.

Officials have estimated that the special session cost taxpayers some $60,000 per day, meaning the five-day extravaganza ran up a bill of about $300,000.

The voters' decision on the constitutional amendments in November will tell

Insurance
Homeowners, getting a break on insurance soon if the Board of Insurance approves a reduction recommended by its staff.

The SBI staffed the board to cut rates by an average of 16.3 percent. The insurance industry has asked for a reduction of only 2.9 percent.

Under the recommendation, home policies would go down 20 percent and coverage policies down some 15 percent. Fire insurance alone would go up about 11.2 percent.

Insurance industry men say the SBI did not take into account damage caused by hurricanes when it called for a recommendation. Officials admitted the reduction is just not as much as it wants.

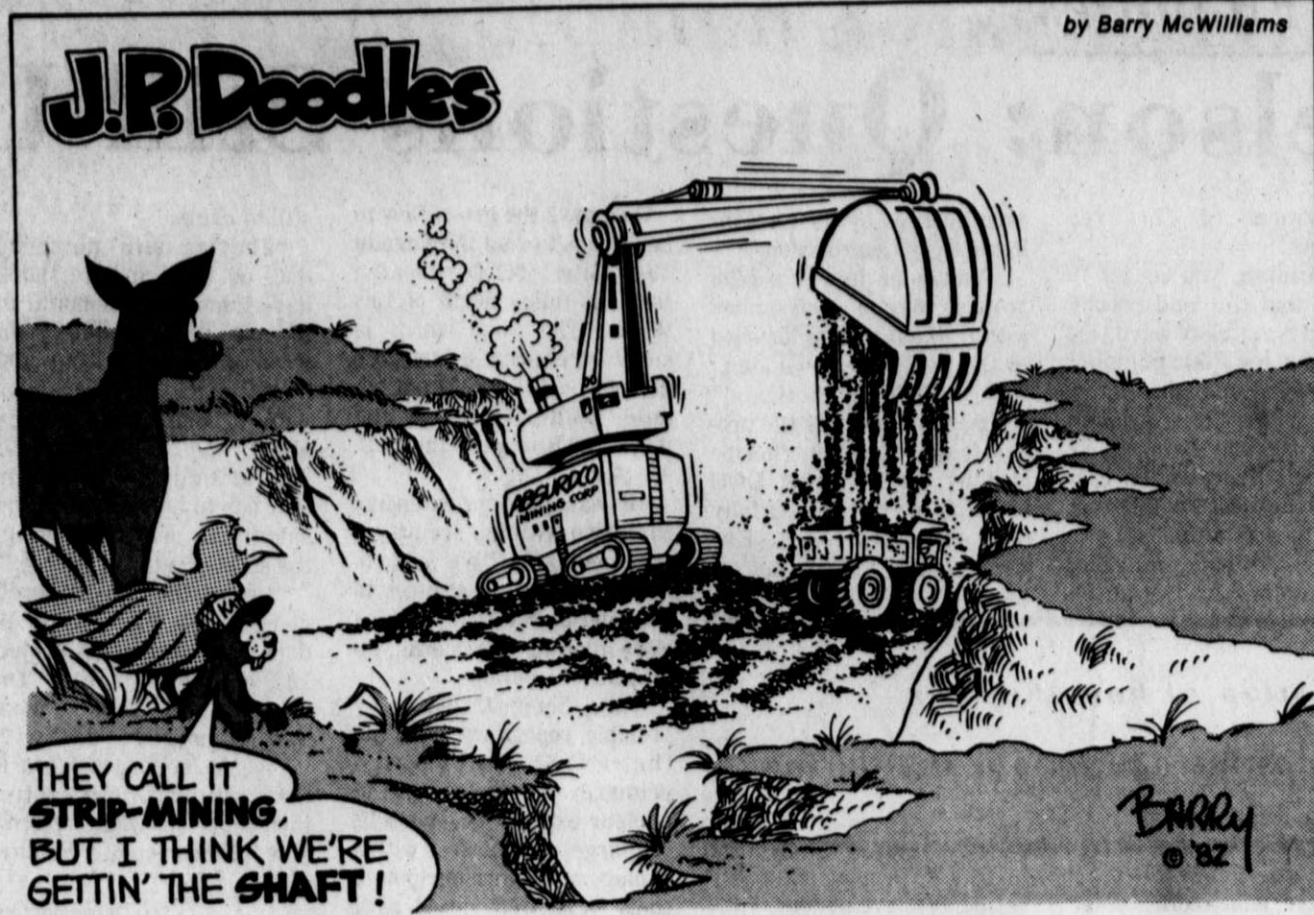

While rates for their own homes are going down, permanent can expect a slight increase in their bills.

The SBI staff has recommended that tenant-owner policies go down about 22 percent.

The board has made a final decision on new rates.

Big Rigging
The State Highway Public Transportation Commission has suspended highway contractors of rigging bids on state contracts from bidding for future contracts, and those contractors say they may file a lawsuit with the department.

The commission's 17 contractors who filed suit pleaded guilty to contesting federal bid charges or who are facing similar charges. The indefinite suspension of emergency rules earlier this year.

BRAVERY
I have collected some brave people in my life.

Raymond Murphy who one moment was in competition for a spot on the National A.A.U. Wrestling team. One move, the sound of bones cracking, and he was paralyzed from the neck down. That was in 1970. He is still fighting. That's brave.

Archie Dwyer who went through five open-heart surgeries and died trying it one more time. He is the only man I ever knew who survived an autopsy. He did it in style.

Tommy who ran a care unit from his deathbed. Somehow I never could get used to a smile and concern for others coming from someone with bed sores.

My grandmother, left with seven children and nothing else in the middle of the depression. Made it on a prayer and guts. Was tough without becoming hard.

I have some new ones to add to my list. Thursday night I spoke to a group of folks who live their lives around a dialysis machine.

Paul Harvey

Three times a week, they face the "needles of Navarone". They live in more tension than most of us will ever know. Their lives are not upset, they are torn apart.

I will agree to speak anywhere if it is three weeks away. When the day comes, I am living proof that fools rush in where angels fear to tread. I went there not knowing what to say. I left there knowing I did not know what to say. I also left knowing I did not have to say anything.

I went with pity. They were far behind the reach of it.

I went there with a serious mind. We laughed and laughed hard. I am used to dealing with folks who get upset over hangnails. I know folks who think pimples are a terminal illness.

These folks stand and stare down their fate until it whimpers off like a whipped pup. I had been in the presence of bravery. It was awesome.

Ten years ago next Thursday this writer stood at the altar, watching his soon-to-be wife walk down the aisle as she nervously clutched her father's arm.

The contrasts were many. A truer Mutt and Jeff couple could scarcely have been found. He, a 235-pounder. She, an 89-pound bundle of energy.

The wedding had its lighter moments as many of those "serious" occasions are wont to have. A shirt and dinner jacket a size too small made the entire affair a near disaster for him, for example.

But, in the decade which has since passed, their lives have been melded, especially with the addition of two children, who, despite being children, add numerous sunrises to their lives each day.

Physically, they've changed. He's lost some 45 pounds. She's put on a couple of extra ones, but still tips the scale at less than 95 pounds. A few more grey hairs appear at his temples, and the struggles of a young marriage have added a few lines to each of their faces.

All hasn't been rosy. But, the thorns have been few as well.

She's a worrier. The word is meaningless to him.

The nomadic life of a newspaperman has moved them across the Lone Star State. She gave up a college degree to get them started, but has never mentioned the loss.

She still has a morbid fear of storms, and would pay nearly anything to have her "own" cellar in which to escape when the clouds darken the West Texas skies.

He grabs a camera whenever the weather threatens.

And, a little of each can be seen in their offspring. Both run to their parents' arms when thunder rolls across the heavens, but are still curious enough to sneak a peek out the window.

They are filled with her independence. And, saddled with his stubbornness.

God granted them her blue eyes and blonde hair. His lack of height was another "blessing."

Bootleg Philosopher

Budget Worth

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Deaf Smith County grass farm on Tierra Blanca Creek speculates on the worth of a budget this week.

Dear editor:
The difference between big city columnists and somebody like me is that they have to write a column three times a week even when they don't have anything to say and I have to do it only once a week.

For example, when President Reagan left for his economic conference with European leaders, columnists began saying he was going to be under an embarrassing handicap because Congress hadn't voted a budget. "It's going to be difficult to explain to those leaders," one wrote.

Why would it be hard to explain to a European leader that we don't have a budget when he hasn't got one?

Or if he's got one, how come he doesn't live within it? Unless it's Switzerland, which does very well storing

A national budget, I understand, is a basic economic tool, or would be if it weren't amended every time something unforeseen comes up. It's like the national debt ceiling, sternly passed in 1941 and raised every time the government finds it needs more money, which has happened 43 times since 1955. If it were as easy to get the votes to pass a budget as it is to raise the debt ceiling, we'd had one a year ago.

As for a personal budget, most people have lived for years without one, and a lot of those with one haven't lived within it.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Senator Bill Sarpalis Reports

SPENDING MORE AND MORE

AUSTIN — It wasn't enough for some members of the Legislature who call themselves "conservatives" that we had to go to Austin for a pointless special session. It wasn't enough for them that the special session cost about $300,000. It wasn't enough to spend hundreds of millions on college construction and prisons.

Some people had to spend that money in the most inefficient way possible.

A good example of this was the opposition to our bill to set up work-release centers for non-violent felons. Under our plan, a small class of offenders would be sentenced to a work-release program under the direction of the county sheriff. They would spend all their free time in jail and work during the daytime. They would pay you, the taxpayer, room and board for the jail. They would pay you, the victim, what their crimes cost you. For example, if a criminal stole your car and wrecked it, he would buy you a new car. The criminals also would have to support their families.

There was only one thing wrong with this program. Except for a few duty-minded sheriffs like Travis McPherson of Deaf Smith County and T. L. Baker of Potter County, few sheriffs would want to go to the trouble of setting up the program.

For that reason, we a bonus in the law. For every day a prisoner spent on work-release program, the state would pay his day's pay plus 75 percent of what it would have cost to keep a prisoner in prison.

The program had an appropriation of $250,000. Simple arithmetic tells the program would have saved the state $62,500 the first year. This does not include savings to the taxpayers in the form of reduced welfare payments, payments to victims.

Some people didn't seem to think $62,500 of taxpayer money was worth a bother. One Senator in Dallas, worked extra hard to get the bill out of the state. He called himself a conservative. In the Panhandle and South Plains, we say conservatives try to save money, not spend all of it they can. The definition of a conservative seems to change a little when you go inside Dallas County.

In the same session Senator Leedom tried to add $3 million to the prison bill, even though the money wasn't even requested by the Texas Department of Corrections.

Inflation Not Inevitable

Prices down for the first time in 17 years! We all got a raise in pay last month, as each dollar actually INCREASED in value.

This, after several months of subdued inflation, has exploded the economic theory that inflation is inevitable. It's not.

Or the other widely accepted dogma which says any substantive correction in the inflation spiral will take years. It did not.

Politicians of the 1970s fed us their "studied conclusion" that inflation is a necessary evil; they were wrong.

Now those same politicians are trying to tell us that we must raise taxes to make ourselves rich.

"Aren't we fortunate," says Lindley Clark, "that President Reagan's chief economist is President Reagan."

Voice of Business

By Richard L. Leshner

Washington—Several years ago, I saw a letter to the editor in one of our top newspapers that cleverly expressed the absurdity of many of our government's policies and practices. For obvious reasons, the recent budget fiasco on Capitol Hill brought this letter vividly back to mind. Begging the writer's indulgence, I would like to update his letter with current circumstances. It does something like this.

I was raking the leaves the other day when I was approached by a visitor from outer space and he asked for directions.

He said, "How do I get out of this insane asylum?"

"Well, the next shuttle flight departs later this month," I replied. "But this isn't an insane asylum. This is the United States of America."

He looked at me and said, "Isn't this the place where pay farmers not to grow crops while some people go hungry?"

"Yes, but..."

Isn't this the place that is constantly threatened by oil while government prohibits refinery companies from drilling in your richest oil fields in Alaska?"

"Well, yes..."

"And isn't this the place where the overwhelming majority of people want spending cuts, but your Congress votes to increase spending to record levels?"

"Yes, but..."

"Isn't this the place where your leading officials and economists are actually considering raising taxes in a recession—the same policy tried by Herbert Hoover in 1932?"

"Yes, but you have to understand that..."

"Isn't this the country where your clean air law often causes dirtier air because it prohibits construction of cleaner factories?"

"Yes, sometimes..."

"And isn't this the place where your government can't keep track of aliens like me entering the country, and yet now it wants to require Mom and Pop's grocery store down the street to detect us or risk a fine?"

"Yes, but..."

I hasten to add that America is not an insane asylum. Indeed, it has been an asylum of freedom and opportunity for millions of the world's oppressed and impoverished peoples. Yet the current mass confusion over economic policy in Washington and the penchant of our government for adopting foolish, contradictory policies makes one wonder: What will it take to get our politicians' heads out of the clouds and their feet back on the ground?"

Star County Has Highest Unemployment Rate In Texas

RIO GRANDE CITY, Texas (AP) — Move over, Detroit, Kokomo and other cities with double-digit unemployment rates. Here comes Starr County in deep South Texas, where last year 38.3 percent of the workforce lacked jobs. It is the worst unemployment rate in Texas.

The dismal figure ballooned in January to 52.4 percent when only 6,000 of the 12,600-member labor pool had jobs.

The jobless rate declined to 28.8 percent in April and includes those who have quit looking for jobs or do not qualify for unemployment benefits.

By comparison, Texas unemployment at 6.4 percent is below the national average of 9.5 percent.

The jobless picture in Starr County is not a new phenomenon brought on by budget cuts or industrial layoffs. There is no industry here.

Per capita income for the county's 27,000 residents ranked the second lowest in the state for 1980 at $3,493. Only Maverick County, further up the U.S.-Mexican border, was worse with $3,324.

The problem stems from a combination of the county's border with Mexico and a reluctance to give up an agriculturally based economy.

"The people are changing from not wanting foreign, or rather outside, business to come into the county," said Bruno Trevino, interim head of the Starr County Industrial Foundation.

"That was the attitude for a long, long time," said Trevino, a former Fulbright Scholar with a doctorate in economics.

Trevino came home from teaching college economics to induce industry to come here. He said the work is similar to what he did as a U.S. Foreign Service officer assisting economic development in Mexico, South America and Africa. Yet even he admits things will not change any time soon.

A large number of migrant farmworkers live in Starr County and cause the seasonal fluctuations in unemployment figures. The jobless rate is highest between October to February when they return home from harvesting in other states.

School districts and other governmental bodies employ large numbers. Jobs there are highly favored and rarely relinquished.

Most of Starr County consists of rough, rolling ranch country barely fit for cattle grazing. Along the Rio Grande, large farms hire mostly seasonal workers. Oil production in the northern sections around San Isidro employ few fulltime workers.

The job crunch annually comes down hardest on graduating high school seniors.

"They know it's going to be rough," said Joe Herrera, a vocational counselor at Rio Grande City High School.

"A lot of them will come in and tell me, 'I want to be this or that.' I'll tell them that's fine, but are they willing to relocate? A lot of students don't want to move," he said.

"The family ties are very strong."

More than 90 percent of Starr County residents are of Hispanic descent. Some trace their families back to the 18th Century, when Spain parcelled out land grants.

Much of Starr County looks and sounds more Mexican than American.

One native of Roma, the second largest town in the county, tells the story of bringing a friend home from college for the weekend.

"And now we're getting ready to cross the bridge into Miguel Aleman, Mexico," the man told his visitor.

"I thought we were already there," the friend said.

Mexico's high unemployment historically has influenced wages and incomes here. Illegal aliens compete for jobs with residents.

"The people from Mexico, they take the jobs and don't care what it pays," complained Gloria Silva of Garciasville. "That makes it hard on us."

Mrs. Silva, a Starr County native, drove 35 miles to Mission in neighboring Hidalgo County last week to file an unemployment claim. The Texas Employment Commission closed its Rio Grande City office earlier this year in a budget move.

"I had worked in a community action center where older people come to eat. I got laid off. I was picking peppers for a while after that," she said.

"They must be able to check their mail at least every three days to check on job possibilities," Guerra said. "But we've found some living in Manzanillo, on the Mexican Pacific coast. If they live too far away we disallow their claim."

Four of the seven Starr County residents who filed claims with Guerra one afternoon last week were resident aliens.

Everyone agrees the area needs labor-intensive industry.

"We are hoping to interest both American and Mexican companies by selling Starr County as a trans-shipment point. We have three international bridges here," Trevino said.

The industrial foundation also operates job-training programs with state and federal funds for vocational skills, mid-level management, secretarial skills and business machines. There were 300 applications for the 42 positions recently available.

The foundation has had little luck attracting industry, although several fast-food restaurants have opened recently.

"Rio Grande City is unincorporated and industry hesitates to deal with an unincorporated area," Trevino said.

The area almost got a minimum security state prison with a $3 million payroll in 1980 but county residents turned out en masse at hearings to oppose the location of 4,000 inmates nearby.

After the public outcry, the state prison board nixed the idea.

Like other border areas, Starr County's future is tied to Mexico. As long as conditions are worse south of the Rio Grande, the local economy will be effected, Trevino said.

Serving the needs of people one at a time.

A healthy and wholesome looking suntan today may mean trouble in times to come. That's because ultraviolet rays from the sun can have subtle and permanent effects on the human skin.

Most people already know well enough that the hot summer sun can cause sunburn, with blistering and other discomforts, such as rashes and eye injury. But there are more unwanted results of spending too much time in the sun.

For instance, people who insist seeking a golden tan may develop crow's-feet around the eyes from squinting, and wrinkles on the face or in other places where they're least wanted.

Because the sun's effects are gradual, young people have a longer time to pay off the big debts nature imposes on sun worshippers. Yet many youths seem willing to swap a wizened appearance several years down the road for a bronzed look right now.

But that still isn't all. Statistics are piling up to show that too much time lingering in the sun can, in later years, produce skin cancer.

Two of the most common skin cancers, called basal cell and squamous cell cancer, have been developed in test animals by application of ultraviolet radiation. More than 300,000 cases of these two types of cancer occur in this country every year, according to the National Cancer Institute. Melanoma, the third type of skin cancer, is much more deadly but fortunately occurs less frequently than the other two. Although conclusive proof is lacking that ultraviolet rays cause melanoma, it's strongly suspected that they do. The death rate from all three types of skin cancer runs about two percent.

Some people are likely to suffer more than others from both short-term and long-term effects of exposure to ultraviolet rays. People who have fair skins sunburn quicker than those whose complexions are darker. Some blond, blue-eyed or green-eyed people of northern European origin are especially susceptible to sunburn. Persons of this racial type are also more likely to get skin cancer from exposure to the sun over prolonged periods.

Some others are more apt to suffer from too much sun:

The elderly need to take special precautions against overexposure to the sun and high temperature. So do fat people and heart disease and diabetes patients. The sun's hot rays can produce photosensitive or phototoxic effects in persons taking certain types of drugs—for example, tetracycline antibiotics, sulfa drugs, oral diabetic drugs, quinidine, and certain tranquilizers, as well as drugs to prevent vomiting, to treat high blood pressure, or to reduce water in the system.

The kinds of problems caused by the sun's rays can also result from ultraviolet radiation produced by sunlamps that are used by some people for sunbathing in winter or in locations where it's not convenient to use the sun for tanning.

For more information about sunbathing and SPF, write to the FDA at 1200 Main Tower, Room 1545, Dallas, Texas 75202.

California Milk Surplus Pushes Hafligers To Panhandle

By JERI CURTIS
Staff Writer

Dairies in the Panhandle hardly rate as picturesque, but scenery is not the concern at the Hafliger Dairy located southwest of Hereford.

The Hafligers sell milk, not postcards.

John Hafliger relocated his family from San Jacinto, CA, to the Hereford area after two years of contemplating the move.

"I came here because of the milk surplus in California and the ability to dairy much in the same way as I did there," says Hafliger, who is a partner with his father in a California dairy and a partner with a brother, Mike, here.

Through a broker in Southern California the Hafligers acquired a lease on the old Lonnie Estes facility two miles south of Harrison Highway on FM 1057.

"We didn't want to build on (a dairy) if we didn't want to stay," Hafliger said, adding that what they liked about the Southwest was that it would make a good "jumping off point" in revealing other opportunities.

Hafliger's six-pen lot is populated with about 900 head consisting of Holsteins and 10 Brown Swiss.

The cows are housed in groups of 120 according to milk output. Hafliger's herd produces about 4,100 gallons of milk a day, which is sold to Associated Milk Producers, Inc., for distribution.

The 24 milking machines are run by three dairymen daily at 1 a.m. and 1 p.m. Two workers milk the first 540 or so cows and the third worker finishes milking and cleans up after the six-hour job.

"The big reason," Hafliger explains the odd hours, "is it's traditional for California dairymen to milk that way. When most dairy owners did all the work themselves they would milk in the morning, then come in for breakfast, go to bed and then get up for lunch." He said it has its benefits, like more time to spend with his wife, Denise, and two children, Heidi, 5, and Johnny, 3.

Some disadvantages for the Hafliger operation have been a lack of availability for specialized dairy services and supplies and labor. He said it took about six months to find the right kind of dairy workers and he ended up recruiting for experienced employees with speed and stamina.

The mountains of alfalfa hay beside the lots supplement the 25 lbs. of grain per cow fed daily.

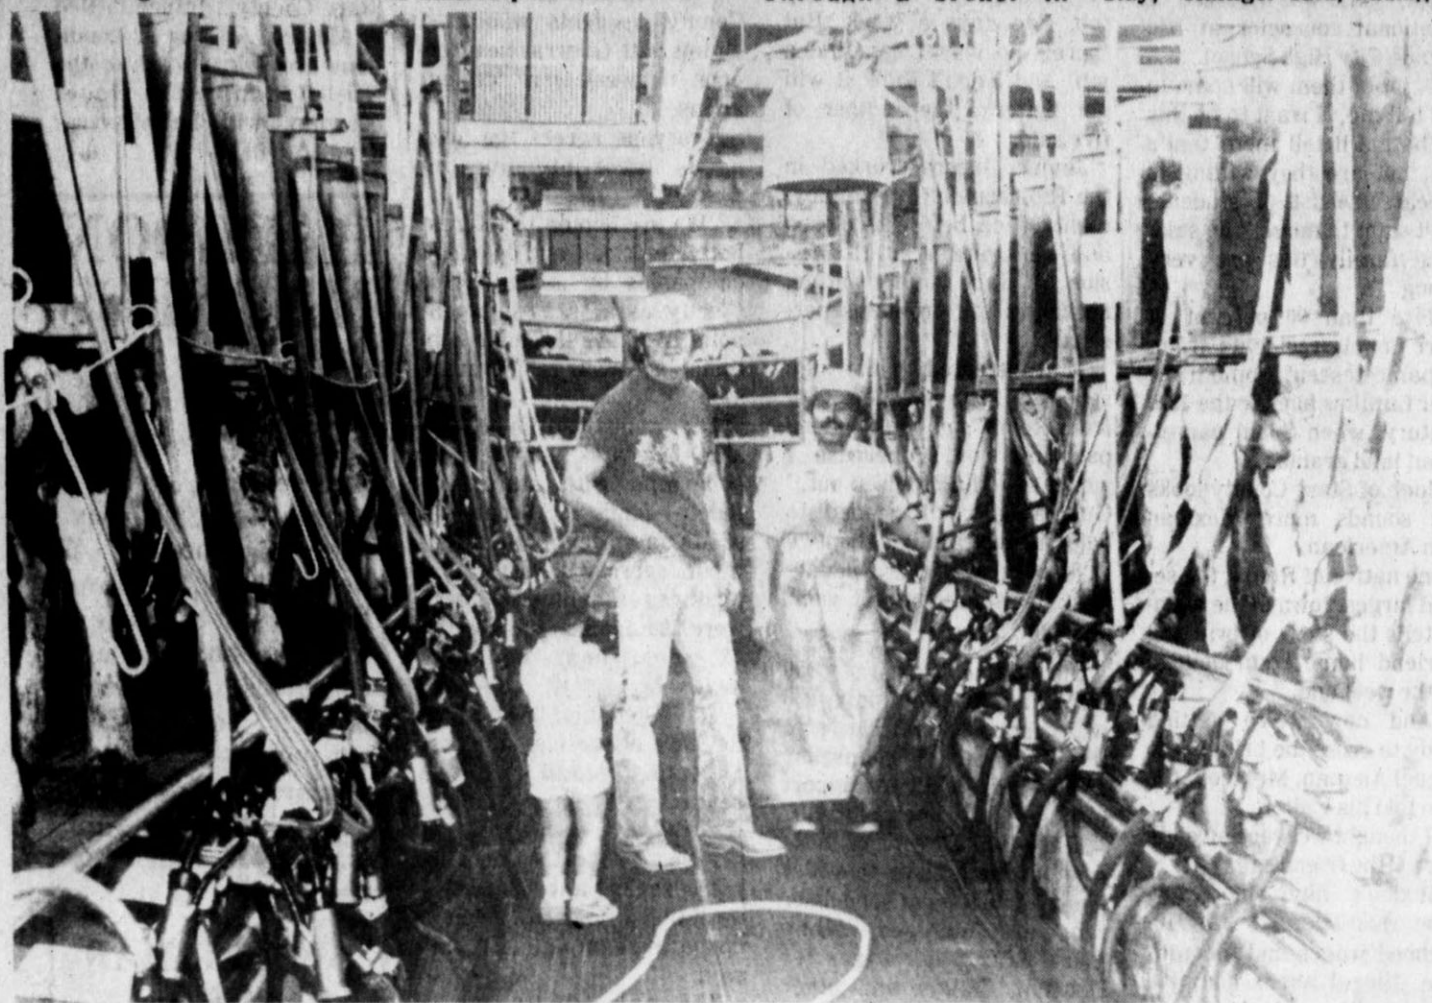

Hafliger recycles any spilled milk and washdown water into a settling pond which his neighbor uses for irrigation.

Hafliger has two more years on his lease and an option for three more. He said any expansion in the partnership would probably be in the area of leaving this dairy to his brother and himself moving on to open another operation.

Mrs. Hafliger wants to go underground.

"I'm going to build a cellar if we live here all our life," she chuckled. Although the summer climate is similar to southern California, the tornadoes and severe thunderstorms are new to her.

Busy Milking Room

About 900 cows are moved through milking room twice daily at the Hafliger Dairy southwest of town, yielding about 4,100 gallons a day. John Hafliger, center, and his brother, Mike, moved to the Hereford area last year to escape a milk surplus in Southern California.

Holly Shows Net Loss Of $2 Million

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — Holly Sugar Corporation has announced that net loss for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1982, was $2,018,000 (including non-recurring items aggregating $14,850,000 before the effect of income taxes) or $1.28 per share on revenue of $246,666,000 compared with net income of $14,193,000 or $8.96 per share on revenue of $328,553,000 for the previous fiscal year.

Net loss for the fourth quarter of fiscal 1982 was $4,448,000 or $2.81 per share on revenue of $51,560,000 compared with net income of $5,135,000 or $3.24 per share on revenue of $96,712,000 for the same quarter in fiscal 1981.

include Raymond D. Lett, executive assistant to Agriculture Secretary John Block; Charles G. Scruggs, vice-president and editor of Progressive Farmer magazine; Susan McBee, Texas State Representative; Stan Parsons, Savory Grazing System consultant; Bob Bliss, Friona Industries; and Terry Mitchell, with the Australian Department of Agriculture.

The fiscal loss was principally from operating losses at two discontinued plants in California; non-recurring proxy contest expenses, non-recurring consultants' fees incurred by prior management, inventory write offs and adjustments, interest penalty related to the fiscal 1981 tax return and the settlement of remaining employment contracts given to certain former senior officers by prior management.

Holly's new board has taken steps to reduce selling, general and administrative expenses and operating maintenance costs by approximately $4 million annually.

The deadline for tour registration and the $50 registration fee discount is July 15. Both tours will be limited to the first 200 registrants. Registration material is available by writing to IRR, P.O. Box 1849, Uvalde, Texas 78801.

Last year's IRR, the first and largest of its kind ever held in the Southwest, attracted some 700 ranchers and industry leaders to the border area for five days of educational activities. Plans are being made to accommodate 1,000 registrants this summer.

All general session talks will be presented Tuesday, Aug. 10, in the Del Rio Civic Center.

Concurrent sessions geared to more effective management of beef cattle, sheep and Angora goats, meat goat production, range resources and wildlife will be conducted at Del Rio High School Aug. 11-12. Some programs such as ranch business management have been incorporated into major commodity discussions. Simultaneous translation will be provided in sessions important to Mexican ranching.

"Woman in Ranching" will feature experts from around the country discussing such topics as "Protecting Women's Economic Interest in Ranching," "The Ranch vs. The Family."

FARM NEWS

World Coffee Production To Decline 19 Percent

WASHINGTON (AP) — World coffee production during the 1982-1983 year is expected to decline 19 percent from a year earlier, the Agriculture Department says.

"The downturn is mostly due to a sharp drop in prospective Brazilian output because of a severe frost that hit major portions of key coffee-producing states there last July," department analysts said.

The report said world production would probably total 80.8 million bags, down from 96.4 million bags in the 1981-1982 year. A bag weighs about 132.3 pounds.

Brazil, the world's largest coffee producer, is expecting a crop of 17.75 million bags, the smallest since 1977-1978. Columbia's crop, usually the second largest in the world, is projected to drop 4 percent to 13.5 million bags, mainly because of lower yields due to reduced fertilizer applications.

Overall, the South American coffee crop should be off 32 percent from a year ago at about 35 million bags, the report said.

Central American coffee production should rise about 300,000 bags to 9.6 million, largely on the strength of larger crops in Nicaragua and Costa Rica, and Caribbean output should jump 11 percent to 2.1 million bags with almost half of that coming from the Dominican Republic.

In Africa, the crop is forecast at 20.2 million bags, virtually the same as last season. Improved prospects in the Ivory Coast, Ethiopia and Cameroon should offset declines in Uganda and the Malagasy Republic.

Asia and Oceania are expected to produce 10.1 million bags up 1 percent from last season. A record Indonesian crop of 5.4 million bags should offset a 12 percent decline in India to 2.2 million bags.

If Dairy Price Support Cut

Farmers To Produce More, Not Less

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Midwest farm economist is warning Congress that if it cuts the federal dairy price support to rein in the growing dairy surplus, farmers will produce more milk, not less, before many smaller operators are finally forced out of business.

"Increased milk production is the only logical decision for a dairy farmer faced with high fixed costs and high interest rates," says Robert Cropp of the University of Wisconsin at Platteville.

"In fact, the reaction of many agricultural lending institutions to a cut in milk prices is to advise their farmer customers to increase milk production in an attempt to maintain cash flow and meet expenses," Cropp says.

Cropp, along with dairy-state congressmen and industry officials, continued their campaign against Agriculture Secretary John Block's price support reduction plan Wednesday, urging the House Agriculture dairy subcommittee to support an alternative that would combine at least short term production controls with incentives for those complying and penalties against those who don't.

Faced with a dairy surplus that totaled nearly 16 billion pounds of milk equivalent last week and is growing larger, Block wants full discretion on the support level with the stated intention of cutting it from $13.10 to $12 a hundred pounds on Jan. 1.

He said that should shave $700 million from the expected 1983 price support bill of about $2 billion.

Block claims the support level has gotten too high, and only an actual reduction will bring it more in line with market forces while convincing dairy farmers to halt excess production.

Cropp said that would probably happen within a year, but at the expense of many young, efficient farmers who have large debts.

"These operations represent the type of family dairy farm structure that everyone agrees should be preserved," he said.

In the meantime, however, Cropp said those farmers, facing fixed expenses for land and equipment, will have no choice but to expand production since that only means an increase in variable expenses like feed.

While they would be making less on each unit of milk production, they could actually make more money by increasing the number of units produced, he said.

"The record is clear," Cropp said. "A cut in price will not reduce milk production in the short run."

But William Leshler, the Agriculture Department's chief economist, said that kind of logic defies basic economic principles. If income is reduced by a cut in the price support, he said, producers will have to curtail their operations.

"Think about how it works in your own life," he said. "If you have less money, you have to cut back."

Production has continued to escalate in the last 18 months even though the price support has been frozen since October 1980 and operating costs have continued to rise, Leshler noted.

If producers haven't been convinced to cut back under those circumstances, he asked, how can they be expected to curb output under plans that in some instances actually increase price supports later this year?

Spread a thin layer of melted butter over jellies, puddings and sauces right after cooking. Stir, and foam or skin will disappear.

Fifty Teams To Participate In Outfit Pasture Roping

Fifty teams of two ropers each are set to participate in the fourth annual Outfit Pasture Roping Saturday, June 19 at the Coldwater Cattle Company's Alibates Ranch north of Amarillo.

The event begins at noon and is sponsored by The Outfit Club of Amarillo, a group of businessmen interested in preserving Amarillo's western heritage. The roping is designed to allow the working ranch cowboy a chance to compete equally against arena team ropers, noted Wiley Hicks, president of The Outfit.

The cattle will be allowed a 100 feet score and the ropers must start from behind a barrier. The "arena" will actually be a two section (1280 acres) pasture on the Alibates Ranch, making the roping similar to actual ranch conditions.

The public is invited to attend. Tickets are available for $6 at the site and include admission and a barbecue lunch.

From Amarillo Blvd., go 23.3 miles north on Highway 136 (Fritch Highway) and turn west at the pasture roping sign. Proceed two miles to roping site.

Swine Evaluation Clinic Scheduled

FREDERICKSBURG-- West Texas pork producers are invited to a Swine Evaluation Clinic July 19-20 at the Gillespie County Fair grounds on Highway 16 south of this central Texas town. The opening session begins at 9 a.m.

Type discussion on market hog visual appraisal and carcass merits of various phenotype market hogs will be highlighted by visiting swine experts. Dr. Lauran Christian of Iowa State University, Ames, Iowa; Dan E. Hoge, Black Hawk East Junior College, Dewanee, Ill.; and Jim Rucker, Lexington, Okla., will lead the discussions.

The clinic is open to any pork producers, 4-H and FFA members, their parents, leaders, county Extension agents and vocational agricultural teachers who wish to participate.

Cost of the clinic is $15 per person which includes printed proceedings and two meals. Pre-registration should be sent to District Extension Directors, Texas A&M University Research & Extension Center, Rt. 2, Box 950, San Angelo, Texas 76901. Registration checks should be made payable to Extension District 7 County Agricultural Agents Association, the clinic sponsor.

Assistance in organizing the clinic was provided by the Texas A&M Animal Science Department, Texas Pork Producers Association and Texas Agricultural Extension service swine specialists.

Applications Being Taken

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is accepting applications from noncertified egg producer groups to qualify them to make nominations for the American Egg Board.

Only groups qualified with the department can submit nominees for the 18-member board, which is charged with running research and promotional projects designed to strengthen the industry's market position.

The two-year terms of nine board members and their alternates expire at the end of this year.

Noncertified groups have until July 2 to submit their applications to become eligible for the nominating process.

GECC Offering Credit Facility

NEW YORK, N.Y. -- Michael S. Buchsbaum, chairman of the board of Holly Sugar Corporation, has received an offer from General Electric Credit Corporation (GECC) to extend a credit facility to Holly in connection with the previously announced proposed cash merger between Holly and an investor group led by Buchsbaum in which Holly shareholders would receive approximately $65 per share and also in connection with Holly's on-going working capital requirements.

The offer contemplates a total loan facility of $100 million comprised of a four-year revolving loan with first security interest in accounts receivable and inventory and a seven year fixed asset loan.

Borrowings under the revolving loan will vary with eligible collateral. The loan facility would be subject to certain conditions, including equity contributions by the investor group sufficient to cause the initial book debt and cash equity ratio to be at or less than three to one.

Final approval and commitment to this financing are subject to completion of GECC's customary field survey, review of necessary legal documents and approval by GECC's board of directors.

Buchsbaum said GECC anticipates a quick transaction. The credit facility is not conditioned on the sale of non-beet processing assets or on contributions by beet growers. However, Holly will continue to pursue its previously announced divestiture program.

The merger is subject to approval by the Holly board and shareholders.

Elmore Elected To Board Of Directors

COLORADO SPRINGS, June 3—Stephen H. Elmore, 52, a farm owner-operator of Brawley, California, was elected to the Board of Directors of Holly Sugar Corporation it was announced today by Michael S. Buchsbaum, Chairman of the Board. This brings the number of Holly Board members to ten.

Elmore is a native of Brawley, California, in the Imperial Valley, where his family started farming in 1908. He is a graduate of Brawley High School, attended the University of Southern California and maintains homes in Brawley and Newport Beach, California.

Elmore farms extensively in the Imperial Valley of California and in Parker Valley, Ariz. The Elmore family has grown sugarbeets for Holly since 1948. He is also engaged in livestock feeding.

"Seven graduate faculty members in agricultural education will be involved in teaching and directing students in the new program," says Knebel. "Two years of full-time study and research will be necessary to complete program requirements, while students on assistantships will normally complete the degree within three years."

Graduate fellowships and assistantships are available to qualified students, and applications for admission to the program are now being accepted, he adds.

A&M Offering New Degree

COLLEGE STATION-- Texas A&M University now offers a doctoral degree in agricultural education.

The new doctoral program will begin Sept. 1 and will lead to either the doctor of philosophy (Ph. D.) or the doctor of education (Ed.D.) degree, announces Dr. Earl Knebel, head of Texas A&M's Department of Agricultural Education which will administer the program.

The program was approved at the last meeting of the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System. It is designed to prepare individuals to pursue careers in the following:

- 1) teacher education in agriculture at universities and colleges,
- 2) agricultural extension services,
- 3) programs of international development in agriculture,
- 4) community college agricultural instruction and administration,
- 5) training and education for agricultural industry and agricultural business,
- 6) programs in agricultural education in state departments of education.

Britt To Address 30th Annual Swine Short Course At TTU

LUBBOCK- Addressing efficiency of the swine breeding herd at the 30th Annual Swine Short Course at Texas Tech University Thursday, June 17, will be Dr. Jack Britt from the Department of Animal Science at North Carolina State University.

Registration that day will begin at 8 a.m. at the Texas Tech Livestock Arena located on the corner of Indiana Avenue and the Brownfield Highway. Fee for the course is $10 and includes complimentary lunch and coffee breaks. Registrant's spouses, 4-H and Future Farmers of America members will be admitted free.

Speakers for the morning session, which begins at 9 a.m., are Dr. Samuel E. Curl, dean of the Texas Tech College of Agricultural Sciences; Dr. Jack E. McCroskey, chairman of the university's Department of Animal Science; Dr. Gary Smith, animal science professor at Texas A&M University; and Britt.

Subjects to be discussed include variation in pork carcass composition, management during gestation and lactation to improve rebreeding performance and an update on Texas Tech swine research.

The afternoon session will begin at 1:15 p.m. following a noon lunch. Afternoon speakers include Britt, who will address management after weaning to improve rebreeding performance, and Ken Woolley, president, Pig Improvement Co., who will speak on contributions animal breeding can make to future hog production.

Also included in the afternoon session will be Dr.

Rodney L. Preston, Thornton professor of animal science at Texas Tech, who will address animal care.

A question-and-answer period will follow each address. Commercial exhibits by swine industry suppliers will be on display in the Livestock Arena.

For more information or pre-registration forms contact Dr. Leland F. Tribble or Dr. Donald E. Orr, Department of Animal Science, Texas Tech University, Lubbock, Texas 79409, or call (806) 742-2826.

Carruth, Gerhart Win Second Terms

Chairman of the Board Allen H. Carruth and E. Norwin Garret Gerhart, president were recently re-elected to second terms on the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo Board.

Also re-elected were vice presidents Joseph Ainsworth, M.D., John R. Braniff, W.D. Bill Cole, Barney Hedrick, R.L. Bud O'Shieles and William P. Traylor. Robert Metzler was re-elected secretary and Steve Watson was re-elected treasurer and assistant secretary.

The three new vice presidents are Roy L. Elledge, Jr., Dick Graves and O.L. Harris.

Elledge, of Roy L. Elledge, Jr., Inc., a commercial industrial real estate broker, served on the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo Board of Directors for seven years. He has been active on the Corral Club committee and served as chairman of the Steer Auction committee. His civic involvement includes serving as a member of the Downtown Rotary Club and functioning as a former director and officer of the Houston Board of Realtors. He is a former director of the Downtown Y.M.C.A.

Graves, of Massey-Grave Co., Inc., a mechanical contractor, served on the Membership and Skybox committees and was chairman of the Poultry Auction committee. He has been a Show director for seven years. A former officer of the Pin Oak Charity Horse Show, Graves is currently a member of the Air Conditioning Review Board of Houston.

Harris, a senior vice president of First Bank of Deer Park, has been a Show director for six years. Active on the World's Championship Bar-B-Que committee and various Go-Texan committees, Harris has also functioned as chairman of the Group Ticket Sales committee. He is also past president of the Pasadena Livestock Show and Toledo and is a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Ten new board members were also elected during the annual Membership meeting. New board members are: William W. Bill Austin, Houston; Clair Branch, Wharton;

Holmes: 'Merely Efficient And Workmanlike'

By HAL BOCK AP Sports Writer
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Neither fancy nor flamboyant, boisterous nor boastful, Larry Holmes is merely efficient and workmanlike.

That's why, after 13 gruelling rounds against a game Gerry Cooney on Friday night, he's still the World

Boxing Council heavyweight champion. Maybe now, after four years battling the legend of delayed about a minute to give the champ time to recover.

right to the chin that put the challenger on the canvas for the first time in his career.

fight once and for all. "I'm not a racist and I'm not prejudiced," he said. "In Gerry Cooney I see a human being who was trying to knock my head off. And I was trying to protect myself."

70 Junior Players Hit Courts At Annual Tennis Tournament

Cool temperatures and calm winds greeted the Junior players as the Annual Tennis Tournament began Friday morning, but action on the courts was expected to heat up quickly and continue through Sunday as adult division play began Saturday.

Tournament Director Robert Cox reported that some 70 junior players hit the courts Friday, with about 130 adults ready to do the same Saturday. Action in the junior division was expected to be completed Friday Night.

In the adult brackets competition was expected to be stiff. Plainview's David Vargas, Lubbock's Randy Jones, and Amarillo's Frank McAlpine headed the Men's A Singles group, while Vargas and Hereford's Rocky Rodriquez drew the pre-tourney nod in Men's A Doubles, along with Cox and Pudgy Vargas of Hereford, and Jones and Darwin Jones of Lubbock.

In Women's A Singles, Lisa Doggett of Lubbock was the pre-meet favorite, along with a couple of Borger entrants, Jill Nielson and Yvonne Berryhill.

In Women's A Doubles, former three-time state champion Brenda Smith was teamed with Doggett to form the top-rated duo, while Berryhill-Nielson were expected to give them a stiff challenge.

McAlpine and Leo Le Borde, also of Amarillo, were the favorites in Men's 35 Singles, while Pudgy Vargas-Berryhill were among the top seeds in Mixed Doubles, along with Paul Smith-Brenda Smith of Lubbock.

In "B" Division play, Art Izzard of Amarillo and Haskell Jack of Borger were Men's Singles nods, while Hereford's Blair Rodgers-Chris White were among three teams picked to fight it out in Men's Doubles play.

In Mixed Doubles Dean Milton-Dorothy Milton of Clovis, and Joe King-Joyce King of Dimmitt were pre-tournament favorites.

Breunig Doesn't Know What He'll Do Without A Team

AP Sports Analysis By DENNE H. FREEMAN AP Sports Writer

Bob Breunig's autumns have been filled with football every since he can remember.

In grade school...in high school...in Arizona State.

Breunig played because he (A), loved the game. There was no (B).

When he joined the Dallas Cowboys in 1975, he found reason B — football was also an excellent living.

With the retirement of D.D. Lewis, Breunig at 29, is suddenly the old man of the Cowboys' linebacking corps with eight years experience in the middle of Coach Tom Landry's complicated flex defense.

Now, he is worried that he will miss a National Football League season in the prime of his career. He's not certain he could walk away from his team if the National Football League Player's Association calls a strike this summer.

"I'm not sure I could strike...I'd have to see what the issues have come down to," said Breunig. "Both sides have a lot of points — right and wrong. The players need to be protected and the owners have their system within the NFL industry."

Breunig, who works in the off-season for a group of real estate developers which includes Roger Staubach, said he feels there is the strong possibility of a strike.

"It wouldn't surprise me," he said. "It's too bad that somebody doesn't do an expose on the issues on both sides."

Breunig is already at odds with the NFLPA over what he calls its "name calling."

"I'm not in total agreement with the leadership and some of the tactics," he said.

Recently, Breunig's good friend, Staubach, said "the players don't seem to be solidly behind (NFLPA Executive Director) Ed Garvey 100 per cent and that makes it difficult for Garvey. I feel the NFLPA made a mistake in going after a percentage of the (NFL's) gross profits."

The NFLPA is asking 55 per cent of the gross profits. Recently wide receiver

Butch Johnson of the Cowboys said his teammates were too divided to strike.

"The only time the Dallas Cowboys are ever unified is on the football field," said Johnson.

At a team meeting some 35 per cent of the 23 players present voted to honor a strike.

Missing from the meeting were such players as quarterback Danny White, and wide receiver Drew Pearson, who was the Cowboys' union representative until he became disgruntled.

Breunig is not saying he won't strike. What he is saying is that the cause must be just before he misses his first football season since he was a teenager.

"There's a lot brewing," said Breunig. "And a lot at stake. There is a lot of room for collective bargaining."

The Cowboy veterans are scheduled to report to camp July 29.

If everything could be settled between the antagonists, it's one time Breunig wouldn't even mind Landry's two-a-day workout schedule.

Carnation Is Kerr's Trademark On Course

MASON, Ohio (AP) — It's easy to spot Jeannette Kerr on a golf course. She's the one with the carnation in her hair.

"It's sort of my trademark, being from Hawaii," said Kerr, who trailed leader Jan Stephenson by 2 strokes along with three others in the $200,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association Championship.

"I pick them up at stands, or people send them to me. Maybe I'll keep the red flower, since it got me in the red numbers (under par)," the 24-year-old said.

Kerr, who shot a 4-under-par 68 Friday, lost a chance to draw even closer when she missed a 2-foot birdie putt on the par-5 18th hole.

"I couldn't believe I missed it," she said. "I guess I was a little nervous. I just wanted to get it over with."

Stephenson's two consecutive 3-under-par 69s gave her 138 and sole possession of first place going into today's third round over the 6,298-yard Grizzly Course at the Jack Nicklaus Sports Center near Cincinnati.

"Once again, I've done it again," Holmes said. "It seems everytime I fight I've got to prove myself. I'm sorry, I can't be Muhammad Ali or Joe Louis or Leon Spinks. But I wasn't born to be them. I was born to be myself — Larry Holmes."

Other heavyweight champions have generated more excitement, but few have been as efficient as Holmes, who made the younger, taller, heavier Cooney his 40th consecutive victim. He did the job exactly as he said he would, wearing Cooney down first — "making him drunk, before he got mugged."

Holmes displayed the skills of a master boxer, jabbing away at Cooney's face in the early rounds. He knocked the challenger down in the second, then survived a series of low blows which cost Cooney valuable points. Finally, he battered the challenger so badly that trainer Victor Valle jumped into the ring, forcing referee Mills Lane to stop the fight with eight seconds remaining in the 13th round.

Holmes cut Cooney's left eyelid badly enough to send him to Valley Hospital for a post-fight examination, and did a workmanlike job in this $50 million extravaganza, the richest bout in boxing history.

The champion was ahead on the scorecards of all three judges when the fight ended. But on two cards his lead was only two points, despite the fact that Cooney had lost three points because of low blows. Without the penalties, Cooney would have been ahead.

The Associated Press had Holmes ahead 116-109.

Cooney lost two points in the ninth round when Holmes doubled up in pain from a low punch and the fight was minutes after the abrupt ending.

"I can't believe it," she continued. "I couldn't even watch it."

"He got hit but I felt it." The pub began filling up early, more than three hours before the two slugging heavyweights entered the ring in steamy Las Vegas. And during the preliminary fights, whenever the telecast cut away from the ring and showed the heavyweights getting ready, the crowd cheered Cooney and booed Holmes.

The crowd included three members of the New York Jets football team — quarterback Richard Todd, defensive end Mark Gastineau and running back Freeman McNeil, plus pop singer Billy Joel, and all were there to root for Cooney.

HUNTINGTON, N.Y. (AP) — Gerry Cooney's fans were disappointed but not dismayed after their local hero was stopped in the 13th round Friday night by champion Larry Holmes in a bid for the World Boxing Council heavyweight title.

"He's just a kid, he's got a lot of gumption," said Rose Tarantola, one of the many local Cooney fans who had gathered in his hometown pub to watch the scheduled 15-round bout on a special closed-circuit TV hookup.

"I'm so disappointed, but he did very well," said Tarantola, whose husband is an artist and has drawn many pictures of Cooney. One of the pictures appeared in a special newspaper distributed to the patrons who paid $100 each to enter Cooney's East Side Friday night.

"I've already been crying," Janice Album, also of Huntington, who works next door to the bar, said minutes after the abrupt ending.

Jim Clancy Just Pitched Better

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

You couldn't pitch much better than Brian Kingman did...but Jim Clancy did exactly that.

Kingman, recently called up by the Oakland A's from Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League, held the Toronto Blue Jays to just four hits in his first start Friday night.

But Clancy was even better — allowing the A's merely three as the Blue Jays survived 2-1.

"The key was that I was able to hit the corners and throw where I wanted to," said Clancy. "I felt very strong tonight. I don't know why. Maybe it's because I was coming off three no-decisions. I was just trying to throw strikes and keep it down."

Clancy, 6-3, limited the A's to singles by Dan Meyer and Tony Armas, and a double by Davey Lopes, struck out eight and walked two in recording his third complete-game victory of the season.

The Blue Jays took a 1-0 lead in the second inning after a throwing error by center fielder Dwayne Murphy. After Dave Revering and Lloyd Moseby reached on singles, Hosken Powell hit a deep drive to center, advancing Revering to third. Revering came home when Murphy's relay to Lopes, the cutoff man, sailed high.

The A's tied it in the fourth as Meyer reached on a bunt, took third on a single by Armas and scored on a groundout by Wayne Gross. Damaso Garcia then drove home the winning run for the Blue Jays with a double in the fifth.

Elsewhere in the American League, it was California 6, Chicago 5; Kansas City 3, Seattle 2 in 12 innings; Baltimore 9, New York 4; Boston 6, Cleveland 2 and Milwaukee 8, Detroit 6. Rain postponed the Minnesota-Texas game.

Angels 6, White Sox 5
Bruce Kison pitched a perfect game for 61-3 innings and Doug DiCinces hit two sacrifice flies as California beat Chicago.

Kison retired the first 19 White Sox hitters before Tony Bernazard tripled with one out in the seventh. Bernazard scored on Steve Kemp's groundout for Chicago's first run.

Kison, 5-2, was taken out of the game after Bill Almon's two-run double in the eighth. Angel Moreno came on and checked the White Sox for the rest of that inning, but needed relief help himself in the ninth from Doug Corbett, who posted his seventh save after giving up a two-run double to Harold Baines.

Royals 3, Mariners 2
Jerry Martin singled home the winning run with one out in the 12th, pacing Kansas City over Seattle. Amos Otis and Hal McRae opened the inning with singles off Ed VandeBerg, 4-2, before U.L. Washington fouled out trying to sacrifice the runners. Reliever Mike Stanton then came on and gave up Martin's game-winning hit.

Dan Quisenberry, 3-2, was the winner, pitching three innings of perfect relief after replacing Vida Blue.

The Kansas City victory nullified a fine performance by Seattle's Gaylord Perry. The 43-year-old pitcher yielded only six hits and two runs, both unearned, in 10 innings, while striking out three and walking only one, an intentional pass.

Orioles 9, Yankees 4

Gary Roenicke and Cal Ripken Jr. drove in three runs apiece to power Baltimore over New York. Roenicke hit his 14th homer, juring Baltimore's five-run first inning after John Lowenstein's two-out double. Ripken followed with his fifth homer and added a two-run single in the seventh.

Dennis Martinez, 6-4, recorded his 13th straight victory at Baltimore's Memorial Stadium with three innings of relief help from Tippy Martinez. Mike Morgan, 3-3, was the loser.

Red Sox 6, Indians 2

Tom Burgmeier pitched eight innings of three-hit relief and Boston capitalized on Larry Sorensen's error, wild pitch and two balks for four first-inning runs to defeat Cleveland.

Burgmeier, 3-0, relieved injured starter Bobby Ojeda at the start of the second when Ojeda pulled a hamstring muscle in his left leg. The reliever struck out two and walked two.

Sorensen, 5-5, was the loser as the Red Sox won for the sixth time in their last seven games.

Brewers 8, Tigers 6

Paul Molitor raced home from first with the tie-breaking run on a wild throw by Detroit center fielder Kirk Gibson in a two-run Milwaukee eighth as the Brewers beat the Tigers. Marshall Edwards singled

Malinak's Mistake Proved To Be Inconsequential To Sharpstown

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Sharpstown's Mike Malinak didn't connect with third base before he hurtled on to home, just another mistake in a baseball game that saw 23 runners stranded on base.

Fortunately, Malinak's run-costing error proved inconsequential.

Sharpstown went on Friday night to edge Fort Worth Southwest 8-7 in ten innings in the UIL Class 5A state high school baseball championship.

Robby Byers broke a 7-7 deadlock with a run-scoring double in the top of the tenth. Byers would have gotten credit for two RBI if Malinak had tagged up.

Relief pitcher Tommy Malek saved the day by retiring the Rebels to end the game.

Darrell Harton slammed a two-run homer in the sixth inning to help El Campo to a 9-7 victory over Weatherford for the Class 4A baseball championship Friday.

In other finals Friday, Crockett defeated Midlothian 8-6 for the Class 3A championship, Southlake Carroll beat Pineland West Sabine 7-3 for the 2A title, and Palmer routed Burton 11-4 in Class A play.

El Campo built a 6-2 lead by the third inning. But the Weatherford Kangaroos narrowed the gap to 6-3 in the fourth and erased the advantage in the fifth on RBI by Mike Wallace, Bryan McConathy and Scott George, and Jack Holladay's score on a passed ball.

With two out in the Ricebird half of the sixth, Tim Parma singled and Harton followed with the winning shot, 375 feet over the leftfield fence.

Crockett pitchers Dean Melton and Isiah Clark combined for a three-hitter and Clark and Troy Bolton scored hits as the Bulldogs beat Midlothian.

Crockett made three errors and Clark and Melton walked eight to keep Midlothian in the game. The Panthers scored two in the second, without a hit, to take a 2-1 lead that faded when Crockett exploded for four in the bottom of the inning.

Midlothian threatened in the top of the final inning with a two-run rally keyed by Buddy Blair's booming triple to right. The Panthers added a second run on an infield out, but Clark got final hitter Bruce Rodgers to ground to the mound.

Melton, 10-3, picked up the win for his five innings of two-hit ball. Clark, who started at shortstop, gave up one hit in his two innings of relief.

Carroll's 7-3 win over Pineland West Sabine came on just four hits. Winning pitcher Sam Booker, 17-2, struck out 11 and scattered five hits. Booker also got a complete game victory in Carroll's Thursday 5-3 semifinal win over Riviera on Thursday.

The champions led 6-0 after four innings. The first three runs crossed on a first-inning inside-the-park home run by shortstop Rod Verner. Verner added a fourth RBI on a second-inning sacrifice fly.

West Sabine's Doug Welch lasted only one-third of an inning and took the loss.

'Hurricanes Can Be Explosive Too'

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Miami Coach Ron Fraser says he hopes a 10-4 victory over Maine in the semifinal round of the College World Series here proved to finalist Wichita State that the Hurricanes can be explosive, too.

Miami blistered Maine for six runs in the top of the ninth inning Friday night to send the Black Bears home from the double-elimination tournament and earn tourney unbeaten Miami a spot in tonight's game with Wichita State. The second-ranked Shockers blasted Texas, 8-4, also on a six-run inning.

A Wichita State victory tonight would require a Sunday championship game with Miami, the only CWS team to handle the hot bats from Kansas. The Hurricanes trimmed the Shockers 4-3 Monday.

Wichita State, 73-13, has scored 21 runs in two outings since that loss.

The bats came through Friday night as Mitch Seoane and Sam Sorce drove in two runs each to spark the six-run ninth inning for 51-18-1 Miami. The big inning took Maine out of the game after trailing only 4-3.

It also was the 13th victory in as many tries against Maine for the Hurricanes.

Wichita State, meanwhile, took its first victory and scored its first runs against Texas in three meetings this year. The 59-5 Longhorns had shut out the Shockers 2-0 and 12-0 in two early-season meetings.

Texas did score twice in the bottom of the first to grab a 2-1 lead, but Wichita State took the contest away with six runs in the third. Russ Morman, the NCAA's record-setting RBI leader, knocked in two more with his 23rd homer of the year to kick off the third inning. The runs upped his record RBI total to 128.

Shortstop Dave Lucas also drove home two runs with a bases-loaded single in the deciding third inning.

The runs were enough for all-American pitcher Bryan Oelkers, who collected his 18th win against two losses. After allowing single runs in the third and fourth innings, Oelkers settled down to limit Texas to three hits the rest of the way.

Is there a basic formula for determining the property insurance needed on a home and what is the best way to adequately insure the contents against storm damage, fire, theft or vandalism? Yes, there is a sound formula for determining needed property insurance. You take the square footage of your home and multiply this by the present cost to replace the materials used in constructing the structure. Eighty to ninety percent of this figure needs to be insured. This being done, your home will be insured for its value. To insure the contents of your home you need to get an appraisal from an accredited appraiser based on current replacement costs. This amount should be covered by a household goods policy.

Testing Players For Drugs
May Be A Violation

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The National Football League Players' Association says testing football players for drugs may be a violation of its collective bargaining agreement with the league and the subject of a labor complaint.

The NFL said Friday it knew that nine top collegiate prospects had been found to have traces of cocaine or other illegal drugs in their bloodstreams, but took no action. All nine were later drafted by NFL teams, one on the first round.

Denver Coach Dan Reeves has said that all 146 players expected to report to Broncos' training camp this summer will have to submit to urinalysis.

Those revelations come on the heels of published claims by former NFL veteran Dan Reese that cocaine use is widespread in professional football. The Orlando (Fla.) Sentinel reported Friday that urinalysis tests were administered to 150 college prospects at a tryout camp in January.

League officials and other players have denied Reese's accusation that the NFL turns its back on drug problems and say his claims are exaggerated.

NFL Director of Public Relations Jim Heffernan said Friday that the league had received a report with the players' names and test results after the January training camp conducted under the auspices of the 16-team United Football Scouting combine.

"We kept abreast of it," Heffernan said from NFL headquarters in New York. "Physicals have been going on for years. I don't know if they were looking for drugs. Maybe they were. Obviously, they look for a lot of things."

Dick Berthelsen, an attorney for the NFLPA, said the urine tests may have violated the collective bargaining agreement. He said the NFLPA is considering filing unfair labor practice complaints against the teams involved.

Complaints to the National Labor Relations Board also could be expanded to include the NFL and its bargaining unit, the NFL Management Council, he said.

NFLPA Executive Director Ed Garvey said he will explore a similar complaint against the Broncos.

"We had an understanding with management not to do that and if the Broncos are doing it...we would file charges immediately against them," Garvey said.

Reeves said his team initiated the testing last year and that all his players were "100 percent clean."

Berthelsen said the collective bargaining agreement allows teams to administer urine tests if they are checking for health problems — such as diabetes — but not for drugs.

"Unless there is a prior agreement with the clubs, spot urine tests are not to be done," Berthelsen said, adding that the union has steadfastly opposed such testing. "It could be the drugs were properly administered and the clubs may even be giving drugs to players."

Jim Miller, director of information for the NFL Management Council, said "there's no provision that specifically bans urinalysis testing for that purpose."

"If teams do it, they're not in violation," he said. The Sentinel reported that the nine names also were sent to the teams in the scouting combine — the Atlanta Falcons, Cincinnati Bengals, Cleveland Browns, Denver Broncos, Green Bay Packers, Houston Oilers, Los Angeles Rams, Kansas City Chiefs, Tampa Bay Buccaneers, New England Patriots, New Orleans Saints, New York Jets, New York Giants, San Diego Chargers, St. Louis Cardinals and Washington Redskins.

Before a complaint is filed with the NLRB, Berthelsen said the association would have to determine if any teams used the report in their draft selections. He said he would not file a grievance against a club if it rejected the report or returned it to the combine.

VENICE, Italy (AP) — Top-seeded Jose Luis Clerc beat fellow Argentine Alejandro Ganzabal 6-3, 7-5 to advance to the semifinals of the $75,000 City of Venice tennis tournament.

FATHER'S DAY JUNE 20

A Former Small-Town Mississippi Mayor Has Troubles

TEHULA, Miss. (AP) — In this impoverished Mississippi Delta town, former mayor Eddie Carthan stands either as an oppressed black man who champions racial justice or a frustrated power broker with only a handful of followers.

It depends on who you ask about Carthan, the first black mayor in a community where 80 percent of the people are black and nearly one-third are unemployed.

For four years, he was embroiled in a constant battle with his city board and what he calls the white power structure. He ended up with state and federal convictions and jail terms totaling six years.

Although out of office, he's still fighting, this time in a battle that has involved the United Methodist Church and members of its local churches in this cotton-farming area of west-central Mississippi.

In the latest controversy, the 32-year-old Carthan stands accused of hiring two men to kill one of his political opponents, Roosevelt Granderson, a popular black alderman and local high school basketball coach.

Granderson was shot to death last summer during a robbery at a convenience store where he worked part time. One of the gunman pleaded guilty, the second disappeared.

Out of jail pending appeals, Carthan has traveled the country raising money for his defense and claiming racism is at the bottom of his problems.

"The fact is, we're fighting today against the same kind of trickery and tactics that were used to get blacks out of office over a hundred years ago and the same injustices that sent us out on the streets in the 1960s," Carthan says.

His local supporters brought the case to the United Methodist Church which, through its national ministries division, donated $13,000 to Carthan's defense fund.

That donation has angered local white United Methodist churches. The Mississippi Methodist Conference has called for a church investigation into the gift and has sought a halt to any future donations.

The Rev. Dudley Brown, a spokesman for seven white churches in Holmes County, said the ministries division of the national church had treated them like a "bunch of sold-out bigots."

Carthan has been a controversial figure since he was elected mayor of Tehula — pronounced chew'-la — in 1977.

Problems arose after a three-member board majority composed of Granderson, another black and the board's one white alderman aligned against him.

The three charged repeatedly that Carthan tampered with town records, made unauthorized payments from city funds and ignored the wishes of the majority. At one point, the aldermen locked Carthan out of city hall for eight weeks.

"He was a dictator who thought he could veto the decisions of the majority and then do what he wanted," said one white official who asked to not be identified. "When things didn't go to suit him, he'd just scream race."

Carthan and his supporters see his problems as an effort by white landowners and businessmen in Holmes County to keep blacks dependent on white plantation owners for jobs. They contend the "white power structure" discredited Carthan to keep him from attracting new industry in a town where cotton and soybean farms provide most of the jobs.

Carthan's opponents say he abused his office and mismanaged programs that could have helped the community. Rather than bringing in promised jobs, his administration soured the federal government on offering help in the future, they claim.

But Carthan says whites opposed him because "I'm black and because I refused to become their little boy and go to them to get decisions and instructions."

There were also his troubles with the law. In May 1981, Carthan was sentenced to three years in prison on a charge of assaulting a white policeman in a dispute over who should become police chief.

In February, Carthan drew a three-year prison term and a $5,000 fine on a federal court conviction of making false statements on a friend's loan application. Both sentences are being appealed.

In April, Carthan was charged in connection with Granderson's death. He goes on trial in October. Since leaving office, Carthan, a church deacon, says he has been forced to sell the several convenience stores he owns to pay his legal bills.

Water safety

Never swim alone

Be considerate of others

Stay out of water during storms

Don't swim under a diving board

Watch your step

Learn to swim correctly

Don't depend on a tube

Don't dive in strange places

Too much sun will spoil your fun

Now that summer is here, safety in and around the water is especially important. The local chapter of the American Red Cross sponsors a variety of water safety and swimming classes during the summer months in an effort to "drown-proof" the residents of Deaf Smith County.

Since 1914, when Commodore Wilbert E. Longfellow initiated the first Red Cross lifesaving instruction program, the drowning rate in the United States has decreased from 10.4 per 100,000 people to 3.0 per 100,000 population. There were still between 7,000 and 8,000 drownings last year, however, and many could have been prevented through more water safety instruction.

Approximately 400 local residents participated in Red Cross water safety programs last year, and classes are expected to be filled again this year. Registration was held Friday for all children's swimming classes, in which youngsters are not only instructed about safety in the swimming pool, but also in lakes and oceans.

An advanced lifesaving class will begin at 9:30 a.m. Monday for strong swimmers who are at least 15 years of age. This 21-hour class will run until June 25. All Red Cross swimming classes are held at the City Pool.

At 6:30 p.m. Monday, an adult beginning swimming class and an adult fitness swimming class will begin. Persons interested in either of these classes or the advanced lifesaving class are invited to come and register during the first class.

Debbie Black, water safety instructor-trainer for Deaf Smith County, will be teaching a water safety instructor (WSI) class beginning at 9:30 a.m. on June 28. A current advanced lifesaving certificate is required to take this class.

A basic swimming instructor (BSI) class, which is a shortened version of the water safety instructor course, will be taught by Ms. Black beginning at 9:30 a.m. the same day. Participants must be strong swimmers at least 17 years old.

Doris Rush, water safety instructor, demonstrates techniques as she instructs an aides class. The aides help with other Red Cross swimming and water safety classes.

Elaine Taylor, WSI and water safety committee chairman, demonstrates a carry for unconscious drowning victims. This is one of the skills learned in advanced lifesaving classes.

Glen Phibbs and Michael Taylor (in water) practice rescues with a ring buoy. Students in water safety classes learn about various types of flotation devices and the proper ways to use them.

A cross-arm lift is used when one person must lift a drowning victim out of the water. Demonstrating this procedure is Elaine Taylor and her son, Michael.

After the victim has been lifted out of the pool, he is turned to the correct position so that rescue breathing may be administered.

Grimsley, Oakley Wed Saturday

Temple Baptist Church was the setting for the Saturday evening wedding of Patricia Lynn Grimsley and Edward Wyatt Oakley, both of Odessa. The Rev. Genoa Goad, of Stratford, officiated at the ceremony.

Tapered candelabra entwined with greenery adorned the center of the altar. Spiral candelabra and large baskets of apricot gladiolas and white mums in brass urns were placed at either side.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Grimsley of Soper, Okla. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Oakley of Stratford. Karen Grimsley of Hereford, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Terry Wheeler of Amarillo served as best man.

Jana Grimsley of Soper, Okla., Susan Grimsley of Hereford and, Mrs. Donna Bradshaw of Ropesville, all sisters of the bride, served as bridesmaids. Groomsmen included Tom Musser of Lubbock, Jody Knoll of Amarillo, and Jeff Oakley of Arlington, brother of the groom.

Serving as ushers were Jim Bethel of Dumas and Keith McDaniels of Canyon. Candle lighters were Richard Grimsley of Soper, and Stephen Grimsley of Denton, brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Doris Pleyer of Stratford played wedding selections and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Grimsley of Woodward, Okla., brother and sister-in-law of the bride, sang "Follow Me," "He Has Chosen You For Me," and "Endless Love."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of white organza trimmed with chantilly lace and featuring a Queen Anne neckline outlined with a ruffle of lace and lace appliques scattered with pearls. Bands of lace covered the fitted empire bodice and circled the waistline, and the sheer bishop sleeves were accented with vertical bands of lace and were gathered onto lace-edged cuffs.

The A-line skirt of organza was bordered with two deeply gathered flounces edged with lace and flowed into a chapel length train. The chapel length mantilla style veil of illusion was circled in matching chantilly lace and sprinkled with lace appliques.

The bride wore a blue garter, her mother's single strand pearl necklace and pearl earrings as something old, and her dress and accessories as something new.

Out of town guests were in attendance from Amarillo, Vega, Muleshoe, Stratford, Denton, Odessa, Lubbock, Ropesville, Dumas, Canyon, Arlington, and Woodward and Soper, Okla.

The groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner Friday night before the wedding.

The bride is a 1978 Hereford High School graduate and a 1981 graduate of West Texas State University. She is employed as a teacher in the Odessa Schools.

The groom is a 1978 Stratford High School graduate. He attended West Texas State University and Odessa College and is currently employed with the Odessa Fire Department.

She carried a colonial bouquet of white and apricot silk Sonia roses accented with baby's breath and trimmed with lace, and a bride's Bible borrowed from her sister-in-law.

The bride's attendants wore apricot eyelet dresses which were designed with a large ruffle at the hemline and puffed sleeves. Their white hats were trimmed with lace and apricot tulle which flowed to the waistline. They carried nosegays of apricot flowers.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall following the ceremony. Tricia Oakley of Stratford, sister of the groom, registered guests.

The three-tiered white wedding cake with apricot trim was topped with a bride and groom.

Silver service was used for punch and coffee. Dana Schuster of Denver City, Dea Campbell of Levelland, and Mrs. Paula Miller of Hereford, served at the bride's table, while Jana Suxan, Karen Grimsley, and Tricia Oakley, of Stratford, served at the groom's table.

After a wedding trip to points of interest in Texas, the couple will be at home in Odessa.

ENERGY SAVING IDEAS

With fuel prices going through the roof, many people are looking to their windows as a source of saving both energy and dollars. Windows are notorious as contributors to heat loss in winter and solar heat gain in summer.

Window shades — especially the roller type — are considered by many to be the energy-saving champions.

Install the shades inside the frame as closely as possible to glass and frame edges.

Measure at the top of each window, at the actual points where brackets (support casings) will go. Your retailer will cut the shades, taking the bracket measurements into consideration. (For outside hang, measure on the window frame.)

When measuring the length of the window, start at the roller bracket points and add an extra 12 inches so the shade can be fully extended without coming off the roller.

To hang shades, attach brackets at the designated installation points and snap shades into place.

Wedding Vows Repeated Saturday Evening

MRS. MARK STEWART WHISNER
...nee Sabra Joette Hacker

Sabra Joette Hacker and Mark Stewart Whisner, of Houston, exchanged wedding vows Saturday evening at the First Christian Church, in a ceremony performed by the Rev. Mack McCarter, pastor.

The couple stood in front of an arch of candelabra flanked with ferns. A pair of large champagne buckets filled with fern greenery were placed at either side. The unity candle was accented with yellow and white daisies and surrounded with greenery.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hacker of Hereford and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Skees of South Charleston, Va.

The Bell Choir of the First Christian Church played the processional, entitled "Procession" by H.H. Hopson, and the Recessional, "Bell Jubilee" by Ellen Lorenze. Members of the Bell Choir included Ray Owens, director, Laurie Owens, Cyndie Bolinger, Becky Grousnick, Sydney Ann Owens, Brenda Parks, Teresa Stout, Charlotte Tyler, Kay Williams, Margorie Reed, Sharon Loerwald, and Judy McCarter.

Phillip Zinser, pianist, played a prelude of classical music and "Clair de Lune" by Debussy as the mothers were seated. Mrs. Allen Cansler and Ray Owens sang "The Lord's Prayer" as a duet; Mrs. Cansler sang "Here We Are Now" and Owens sang "This is the Day" during the ceremony and "If Ever I Would Leave You" at the reception while the couple cut the cake.

Mrs. Larry Bagwell of Nacogdoches served her sister as matron of honor and bridesmaids were Stacy Lea and Mrs. Steve Novak, both of Hereford, and Mrs. Stacy Hacker, sister-in-law of the bride from Nacogdoches. The bridal attendants were escorted down the aisle by the groomsmen.

Serving as best man was the brother of the groom, Rick Whisner of Charleston, W.V. Groomsmen were Marty Wall of Houston; and Scott Whisner of Houston and Randy Whisner of Charleston, W.V. both brother of the groom.

Brothers of the bride, Shelley Hacker of Big Spring, Stacy Hacker of Nacogdoches, and Stefan Hacker of Hereford, served as ushers.

Heather Ramona Kleuskens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Kleuskens, was flower girl and Santry Scott Hacker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hacker, was ring bearer. Stefan Shane Hacker, brother of the bride, was candle lighter.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a formal length gown of white quiana. The empire bodice featured a sheer sweetheart neckline with a band of lace at the neck and lace forming a slight sleeve covering the shoulder. The front bodice was covered with lace appliques and scattered with pearls. A quiana flounce fell from the back bodice creating a cape effect. The A-line skirt extended to form a chapel length train in the back.

Her veil fell from a Juliet cap of quiana with scattered pearls and lace appliques. The veil was trimmed with lace appliques. She carried a lace-covered Bible with a cluster of rosebuds arranged on top of the Bible.

She wore a necklace which was given to her by her father on Valentine's Day and a sixpence in her shoe, which had her birthdate engraved on it. The sixpence was given to her by her cousins, Valerie Freeman and Delisa Vaughn.

The matron of honor and flower girl wore apricot quiana dresses with yellow satin sashes. The bridesmaids wore yellow quiana dresses with apricot satin sashes around fitted waistlines. The attendants wore apricot wrist corsages which were trimmed in yellow and the flower girl carried a basket of small yellow daisies.

Following the exchanging of vows, a reception was held in the First Christian Church Friendship Parlor. The table was decorated with a lace cloth over a linen cloth. A crystal punch bowl was used and the center of the table was accented with a pair of crystal candlesticks decorated with white and yellow daisies.

The wedding cake had three tiers and a fountain at the base. It was topped with bells and accented with yellow flowers. The base was decorated with yellow and white daisies and apricot roses.

Mrs. Bob Freeman, cousin of the bride from Ft. Worth, served cake and Delisa Vaughn, cousin of the bride from Tulsa, served punch. Jill Butler of Amarillo registered guests. Others assisting at the reception were Ms. M.D. Henson, Ms. Boyd Vaughn, Ms. Ted Panciera, Ms. John Hunter, and Ms. Nancy Shaw.

The bride wore a white round-skirted dress accented with a lace bodice and had a wrist corsage of yellow and apricot rosebuds surrounding a white rose as the couple left for a wedding trip to West Virginia. The couple will be at home in Houston after June 26.

The bride is a 1977 graduate of Hereford High School. She graduated from West Texas State University in 1981 with an all-levels bachelor's degree in music and has been employed this past year with the Hereford Independent School District as a music teacher at Bluebonnet Elementary.

The bridegroom graduated from South Charleston High School in 1977 and West Virginia State College with a B.S. degree in hotel-motel management. He is employed in Houston with Four Seasons Hotel, Inn on the Park.

Out of town guests present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bernard of Houston; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bagwell of Snyder; Marc Sigle of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Vaughn of Tulsa; Stephanie Mehas of Dallas; Laura Loving of Fort Worth; Sharon Taylor of Amarillo; and Shevon Carlton of Amarillo.

The bride was honored with a spice and recipe shower in the home of Mrs. Hans Bralton; a miscellaneous shower in the home of Mrs. Ted Panciera; and a lingerie shower given by Mrs. Steve Novak and Stacy Lea in the home of Mrs. Novak.

Couple Wed In Evening Ceremony

The First United Methodist Church was decorated with a pair of seven-branch candelabra, a unity candle trimmed in yellow roses and blue mini-carnations, and a large bouquet of gladiolas for the Saturday, June 5, wedding of Debra Gayle Cornelius and Rick Lynn Lee. The Rev. Jarrell Sharp, pastor, performed the ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Cornelius and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lee, all of Hereford.

Serving as maid of honor was the bride's cousin, Becky Veazey. Best man was Danny Cornelius, brother of the bride. Sherry Hardy, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid and Gary Cornelius, the bride's brother, was groomsmen.

Elaine Calkins played wedding selections, while Bert Bostic sang "Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a formal length gown of white chiffon. The lace-trimmed bodice was fashioned with a sheer yoke and slight V-neckline, and the long sheer sleeves were caught at the wrist by wide lace cuffs. The full skirt and chapel train fell from a fitted waistline, and both were trimmed with lace panels extending down the front and bordering the flounce around the bottom.

To complement her gown, the bride chose a fingertip veil of bridal illusion. The two-layer veil was edged in lace and extended from the back of the lace-covered headpiece. The dress and veil were both enhanced with pearl and sequin trim.

The bride carried a nosegay of mini-carnations, daisies, and gypsophila, and a handkerchief which belonged to her grandmother.

The bride's attendants wore formal length, high waisted, sleeveless dresses of yellow peaud' soie which had capes of chiffon.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church Fellowship Hall. Silk flower arrangements of yellow daisies and blue carnations with baby's breath adorned the serving table.

Paula Rae Lee, sister of the groom, registered guests and Wendy Reid, Patsy Bartels, and Carol McGredy served refreshments.

The bride left for a wedding trip to Amarillo wearing a sailor style two-piece red and blue dress of crepe de chine. The couple is at home at 612 Irving in Hereford.

The bride is a graduate of Hereford High School and TWU School of Nursing. She will be employed at Deaf Smith General Hospital after June 14.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Hereford High School and is employed at Blue Water Garden Apartments in maintenance.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Wade Thompson and family of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Hardy and daughter of Amarillo, and Becky Veazey and Carol McGredy, both of Lubbock.

Kirby, Hoover Married In Abilene Saturday

Wedding vows were exchanged by Janet Margaret Kirby and Michael Ray Hoover, of Seagraves, at St. Paul United Methodist Church in Abilene Saturday evening. Dr. J. Edmund Kirby, uncle of the bride from Lubbock, and the Rev. Wallace Kirby, the bride's father, officiated at the ceremony.

Parents of the couple are the Rev. and Mrs. W.H. Kirby of Hereford and Mr. and Mrs. M.G. Hoover of Seagraves.

Seven branch candelabra strewn with greenery flanked each side of the altar and a fifteen branch candelabrum was placed in the choir loft behind the altar. On the altar were two lighted candles and a cross.

Flowers in the bride's chosen colors were placed on the flower stands at each side of the altar area and the pews where parents and grandparents were seated were marked by garlands of white ribbon.

Serving as matron of honor was the bride's sister of Abilene, Mrs. Dub (Pat) Preston. Whitney Williams of Lamesa was best man.

Tammy Edmonson of Abilene and Kathy Brown of Lubbock were bridesmaids and Joy McSpadden of Snyder was junior bridesmaid.

Mike Terrell of Seagraves; Donny Hoover of Seagraves, brother of the groom; and Jerry Hoover of Fayetteville, N.C., brother of the groom, were groomsmen.

Ushers included Dub Preston of Abilene, brother-in-law of the bride; Bob Hefner of Vernon, brother-in-law of the bride; and David Lynn and Bryan Simpson, both of Abilene.

Flower girl was Amy Hoover of Fayetteville, N.C., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hoover, brother of the groom. Brent Hoover of Seagraves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Hoover, brother of the groom, was ring bearer.

Organist was Mrs. Caffey of Abilene, and Mrs. Cindy Davenport of Lubbock sang wedding selections including "One Hand, One Heart," "You Light Up My Life," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length dress of white imported organza and chantilly lace which was worn by her sister, Mrs. Dub Preston. The gown featured an empire waist, high neckline and bishop sleeves which finished with wide lace cuffs. The bodice was covered with chantilly lace sprinkled with pearls.

The full skirt had two wide panels of lace and the hemline was encircled with lace. The bride wore a chapel length mantilla of silky illusion edged in matching lace and attached to a camelot style headpiece of lace.

Her attendants wore long dresses made of silesta chiffon in soft colors of mauve, blue, apricot, and buttercup. The gowns featured accor-

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church Fellowship Hall, hosted by Dr. and Mrs. W.B. McSpadden of Snyder. Mrs. Bob Hefner, sister of the bride, registered guests.

A floor length white polyester cloth covered the oval bride's table, which featured a three-tiered white wedding cake trimmed in white roses and decorated with fresh flowers. Serving the bride's cake were Mrs. W.B. McSpadden and Mrs. Paul Kesseler. Mrs. Rosemary Honnel served punch.

Silver coffee service was used as Mrs. Whitney Williams served coffee. Serving the round chocolate groom's cake was Mrs. Danny Doyen.

Others assisting with the reception were Mrs. Bob Carpenter of Big Spring, Suzanne Warner of Arlington, and Christy Hoover, niece of the groom.

For her traveling costume, the bride chose a three-piece outfit featuring a polyst magenta camisole and skirt and a white linen jacket. Accessories were white leather. The couple left for a cruise to the Caribbean and will be at home in Seagraves after July 4.

The bride is a graduate of Perryton High School and holds a bachelor of science degree in business education from McMurry College. She was a member and past president of the Gamma Sigma social club.

The groom graduated from Seagraves High School and earned a bachelor of science degree in P.E. and history from McMurry College. He participated in the McMurry Student Government.

Out of town guests were in attendance from Bowie-Houston, Marble Falls, Lubbock, Vernon, Snyder, Big Spring, Amarillo, DeLeon, Robert Lee, Lamesa, Seagraves, Muleshoe, Irving, Brady, and Fayetteville, N.C.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M.G. Hoover, following the rehearsal, Friday evening at K-Bob's in Abilene.

A bridesmaid's luncheon was held Saturday at the Kiva Inn with Mrs. W.B. McSpadden of Snyder and Mrs. Ray Perry of Haskell as hostesses. Quartet tables were used with floating carnations of the brides chosen colors on white cloths.

Those present were Jan Kirby, Tammy Edmonson, Joy McSpadden, Christy Hoover, Amy Hoover, and Mmes. Dub Preston, Bob Hefner, Brian Brown, M.G. Hoover, Jim Shafer, Bobby Travis, Donnie Hoover, Jerry

Hoover, J. Edmund Kirby, John B. Rector, Steve Davenport, Roxie Hoover, R.T. Alchison, Wallace Kirby, and the hostesses.

A miscellaneous shower honored the bride-elect in Seagraves on April 24 at the First Baptist Church parlor. A white linen cloth, an arrangement of iris, and silver service were used as a fruit compote and assorted breads were served.

A gift coffee for the bride-elect was held May 15 in Snyder in the home of Mrs. Rex Nall. A yellow linen cloth and silver service were used and a bouquet of spring flowers decorated the serving table as sausage balls, doughnut holes, and fruit compote were served.

We care more!

I feel like I'm 20 again!

Pat Walker's, I love you!

Joining Pat Walker's was the greatest thing I've ever done for myself.

After losing 64 pounds and 75 inches, I feel I've found the fountain of youth. For my health I had to lose weight and I was unable to stay with a diet on my own. My 18s were starting to get too tight; now I'm a size 6.

Being middle-aged and a grandmother doesn't mean you can't be thin and pretty. My husband looks at me as though I'm 20 again.

Marriage Vows Repeated

First United Methodist Church was the setting of the Saturday afternoon wedding of Christie Sue Ottesen and Charles Patrick Carrigan, both of Houston. The Rev. Jarrell Sharp performed the ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ottesen of Hereford and Mrs. Violet Carrigan of San Angelo.

The altar was decorated with a central brass arch candelabra interlocked with spiral candelabra and trimmed with greenery. The altar arrangement placed beneath the altar cross was made up of multi-colored spring flowers, freesia, and baby's breath. The pews were marked by hurricane lamps and ivory bows.

Wedding music was provided by...

Bridesmaids included Debbie Robbins of College Station, Mrs. Jeff Specht of Big Spring, Mrs. Randy Graham of Pecos, and Mrs. Terry Stokes of San Angelo. Groomsmen were Tommy Newsom of Midland, Steve Hall of Dallas, Gary Elander of Midland, and Kevin Ott of San Antonio.

The bride's brother, Craig Ottensen of Houston, and the groom's cousin, Steve Hodges of Hampshire, served as ushers. The bride was escorted by Mrs. Tony Calkins and vocalized by Bill Devers. Principal selections included "Through the Eyes of Love," "The Wedding Song," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. Alan Donnell of Stillwater, Okla., was matron of honor and Billy Sebolt of Big Spring was best man.

Amy Carlson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Carlson, was the flower girl.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a traditional ivory organza gown by Galina with Alencon lace appliques. The gown was fashioned with a scoop neckline, long, tapered sleeves, and a natural waistline with a lavishly appliqued skirt and chapel train.

Her chapel length veil was edged with Alencon lace and fell from a lace and pearl Juliet cap. She carried a bouquet of ivory gardenias, roses, stephanotis, and baby's breath arranged on an antique ivory fan. The bouquet was carried by Mrs. Bill Davis on her wedding day.

She wore her mother's pearls and carried a silk wedding handkerchief, belonging to her maternal grandmother, which had been carried in weddings of family brides for three generations including the bride's mother. The garter worn by the bride was made by her paternal grandmother.

The bride's attendants wore blouses of ivory organza with stand-up lace collar and ruffle and lace yoke with puff sleeves. They wore over ivory tissue taffeta full-length skirts which were trimmed with mauve and blue streamer sashes. They carried multi-colored spring flowers arranged on ivory fans.

All men in the wedding party wore slate blue tuxedos with ivory shirts.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, a reception was held at the Hereford Country Club. Guest were registered by Lisa Roark and Tammy Sarchet.

Barbara Palmer, Judy Solomon, Pam Box, and Diane Guadet served cake, while Sue Hamlett, Debbie Hoover, and Julia Davis served punch and coffee.

For a wedding trip to Ixtapa, Mexico, the bride wore a veil dress of dusty rose with lace trimmed bodice. The couple will be at home after June 20 at 9121 Pecos, No. 160; Houston.

The bride is a 1975 Hereford High School graduate and a 1979 graduate of Angelo State University, where she was active in Delta Zeta sorority. She is presently employed by Nathan Segal & Co. in Houston.

The groom is a 1974 graduate of Burnet High School and a 1978 graduate of Angelo State University, where he was active in Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. He is currently employed by Spring Branch Independent School District.

Out of town guests included Mrs. Gilbert Ottesen and Mrs. James Abbott, the bride's grandmothers; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Nelson; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Piper and family; Mr. and Mrs. Byron Wanser of Greeley; Mr. and Mrs. Doug Carlson and family; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Nelson and family of Aurora, Colo.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dill of Parker, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sarchet of Hooker, Okla.; Mrs. Don Hodges, the groom's aunt, of Winnie; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Penfold of Brighton, Colo.; and other friends from San Angelo, Houston, San Antonio, Lubbock, Gruver, Dallas, Burnet, and Omaha, Neb.

Pre-nuptial parties included a traditional shower for the couple given by Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Klett; a personal luncheon for the bride given by Mrs. Terry Caviness and Mrs. Brent Caviness; a rehearsal supper given by Mr. and Mrs. W.L. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Wes Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Scott, and Mr. and Mrs. David Hutchins at the Davis' home.

Also, a bridesmaid's brunch at the Hereford Country Club given by Mrs. Alan Donnell and Mrs. Laurence

Ruther; and a wedding buffet for out of town family and friends hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Josseland, Mr. and Mrs. A.K. Roark and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Halbert.

HBO starviews

By Jennifer Wood

Veteran screen star Burt Lancaster has a gift for acting. And he's pretty good at fortune-telling, too. Four years before he filmed the Oscar-nominated smash Atlantic City (on HBO this month), he reflected that his days as a romantic leading man were over "unless it's the part of an older man who becomes obsessed with a young girl." Well, that's just the part he plays in the film, and his performance won him a Best Actor nomination this year. Lancaster's screen flame is Susan Sarandon, more than 30 years his junior. The 67-year-old actor faced the cameras for the first time without makeup to play his latest role as an aging, small-time hood. His method for staying young at heart? "As long as you're curious, you defeat age."

Catherine Deneuve maintains that — odd as it seems — acting and athletics are closely related. Making movies is "very physical work," she says. "You have to really be in shape, not unlike athletes. I take my work seriously when I'm doing it," she says, "but it's still a kind of game. Filmmaking is a game, and the actors are, above all, players in that game." The blond star is featured in The Last Metro, this month on HBO.

The sound of music has filled all of John Travolta's movie hits except one — his latest, Blow Out (on HBO this month). He zoomed to superstardom to the disco beat of Saturday Night Fever. Then there was Grease, the '50s rock 'n' roll smash based on the Broadway musical. Urban Cowboy, with its honky-tonk flavor, was his third tuneful hit — but the versatile star still can't get away from sound. There's no toe-tapping score for Blow Out, a suspense thriller, but Travolta plays (what else?) a movie sound man. The rave reviews he got for his change-of-pace performance were music to his ears.

He's been stuck with a reputation as a privileged Ivy League type, but suave George Hamilton insists that he's really a regular guy. "The truth is that I never went to college. I never even made it through high school. I worked from the time I was a kid, and my education was picked up largely in the streets." His lead in the recent comedy spoof Zorro, the Gay Blade (on HBO this month), gave him the chance to slash another of his image myths. "I've always had a feeling for comedy," says Hamilton, "but until a few years ago, no one let me near it."

POLLY'S POINTERS

DEAR POLLY - The other day, I was in a store where a spider plant was growing in water. I put one in water at home and now I'm not sure how to care for it. Should it be taken out periodically to change the water? What about food? PLANT POINTERS is a convenient when you go on vacation. - A.B.B.

DEAR A.B.B. - If I were you, I would just try a little experimenting. After all, if the plant seems to be failing, you can always plant it in ordinary soil. You definitely should feed it. Mix some liquid or dry water-soluble plant food with water according to package directions and add this solution to your plant's "bath." You'll have to experiment with proportions - perhaps a half-cup of plant food solution (that is, after it has been mixed with water according to package directions) to a quart-sized bowl of water. Adjust proportions as you see how the plant does.

Since I presume you have a young plant, you have little to lose if the experiment doesn't work and it should be a lot of fun playing around with this arrangement. Once the plant seems to be thriving, I wouldn't change the water unless it becomes scummy or the bowl gets very dirty. Once a good environment is established, it should be maintained rather than dramatically changed. Have fun and good luck! - POLLY

Texas Tech Releases Spring Honor Role

LUBBOCK—More than 2,000 students at Texas Tech University qualified for the deans' honor rolls in the university's six colleges during the 1982 spring semester. Students making the honor roll from Hereford were Denese R. Albracht, Route 3; Randy W. Lloyd, Route 4; Gary J. Vogel, 305 Stadium; and Caria L. West, Route 4. To qualify for a dean's honor roll, a student must have a grade point average of 3.5 or more on a 4.0 scale and must have taken 12 hours or more of classes.

Elks Against Dystrophy Swim-a-thon Set Monday

The fourth annual Elks Against Dystrophy Swim-a-thon is scheduled from 2 to 5 p.m. Monday at the Elks Pool, 1509 16th St. All swimmers should arrive and be prepared to begin swimming at 2 p.m.

Participation is open to anyone, with the requirement that swimmers must collect pledges for each lap they complete during the swim-a-thon. Donations may either be collected in advance to be turned in before the swim-a-thon, or "pledged" for collection after the event.

First, second, and third place prizes will be awarded to those swimmers raising the most money for muscular dystrophy through pledges. First prize is an Atari video game and an invitation to appear on a local segment of the Jerry Lewis Telethon.

A trophy will be awarded to the person who swims the most laps. Those swimmers collecting at least $10 will receive a t-shirt transfer and certificate from Jerry Lewis. All swimmers turning in $75 or more the day of the swim-a-thon will win a Jerry Lewis wristwatch. Refreshments will be provided for all participants. Parents need to sign a release form for participants under the age of 18.

Pledge sheets and release forms may be picked up at the Elks Pool. For more information, call the pool at 364-4511 or MDA chairman, Harry Stevens, at 364-1840. Co-chairman of the event is Robert Homes and Pool Manager is Ruby Gallagher.

Planning Barbecue

Donald Hicks, president of the King's Manor Founders Association, confers with Nadine Hill, who has accepted the chairmanship of the advanced ticket sales committee for the fourth annual barbecue, scheduled for July 10. Food will be served from 5 to 9 p.m. that day on the grounds between King's Manor and Westgate, where Hicks and Mrs. Hill are standing. Bringing entertainment will be the Blue Grass Band of Dimmitt. Everyone is invited to come enjoy good food and fellowship (Brand Photo by Linda Caudle)

Methodist Home and has stated that she is happy to be involved in helping others. "I can think of no one I would rather help than the 'Pioneers of Yesterday,'" she says.

The Blue Grass Band of Dimmitt will be back again this year to provide entertainment during the barbecue. This is the second year the group has provided entertainment and Hicks says that they are being brought back by popular demand.

Several men from Vega will oversee the cooking on the King's Manor campus. R.A. Armitage will be in charge of preparing the barbecue, while Jim Halliburton and Ken May will cook the beans. Hicks says that this group of men have been preparing the old settlers barbecue in Vega for over thirty years.

"The Founders Association is a group of lovely people committed to helping King's Manor continue to provide the dedicated, loving care for which the home has been noted since its beginning in 1962," states the Rev. Wallace Kirby, chaplain at King's Manor.

Mrs. Hill noted that ticket prices will be the same as last year: all you can eat for $10 per person or $25 for a family a four.

Founders Association Plans Barbecue

Plans are in the making for the fourth annual King's Manor Founders Association barbecue. The event is scheduled for Saturday, July 10, with food being served on the Manor grounds between 5 and 9 p.m.

Donald Hicks, president of the Founders Association, announced this week that Nadine Hill, 217 Ranger, has accepted that chairmanship of the advanced ticket sales committee. Mrs. Hill is a long time friend of King's Manor

Springer Reunion Held At Easter

BY MRS. OWEN ANDREWS
A Springer family reunion was held Sunday, in the Easter Community Center. About 60 of the kin gathered, quite a few coming from Plainview, Hale Center, Kress, Abernathy, Amarillo, Muleshoe and Childress. Local family members attending included the D.B. Robertsons, the Charles Springers, the Owen Andrews, the Clark Andrews, the George Zetzsches, the J.P. Jones, the J.E. Warricks, the T.L. Sparkmans, Tommy and Kevin Sparkman; and from Dimmitt, the Joe Bensons and Mrs. Elbert Summers.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Hathaway, Debbie and Cara, were honored with a fellowship party (at Frio Church), Sunday evening after church. They were presented a money tree gift. The Hathaways are moving to Gruver to a farm job, after having lived in this area several years and having been members of Frio Baptist Church for 11 years.

Lynette Andrews, of Amarillo, was here the last of the week. She underwent a tonsilectomy in the Hereford hospital, on Thursday morning. She is continuing as a student in W.T.S.U. for summer classes as also is employed in Amarillo. Lynette is a senior, working toward a degree in art.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Robbins, of Archer City, are announcing the birth of a daughter, born June 9. The baby, who has been named Amanda Ruth, is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Robbins and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Bradford. She has a brother, T.J. who is four years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Robbins and Scott returned this week from a ten-day trip to Tennessee. They visited a cousin in Knoxville and went to the World's Fair. In Sparta, they visited other relatives, also.

Several family members from out-of-town were here to attend the wedding of Miss Carla Dobbins and Russel Leverman on Saturday evening in Frio Baptist Church.

Miss Dobbins is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dobbins and is a 1977 graduate of Hereford High School. She is a graduate of Dallas Fashion and Art Institute and is employed as assistant manager of Casual Corner store, in Dallas.

The groom is a 1977 graduate of Warren-Travis-White High School and attended Brookhaven College. He is employed by Woodbine Corp. of Ft. Worth. The couple will live in Dallas.

Among those attending from out of town included her cousins, Mrs. Sammie Massie of Gonzales and Mrs. Edgar Winson.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Leverman and Mrs. Sue Kelesey; a brother, John Leverman; and a sister, Beth Leverman, all of Dallas, were among those coming.

Jeanine Jobs and Jamie Oakes, bridesmaids, presently live in Dallas, and visited their parents here during the weekend also. The Rev. Gene Tone, pastor of Frio Church, performed at the ceremony and Mrs. Jerry Richardson was accompanist for musical selections.

To Give Recital

Dana Cabbiness, left, and Dawn Wright will give a combined piano and voice recital this afternoon at 2 p.m. Both girls are students of Susan Shaw.

Cheerleading School Slated At Texas Tech June 20-24

LUBBOCK — The High Plains Cheerleading School will be held June 20-24 on the Texas Tech University campus.

The school is co-sponsored by the National Cheerleaders' Association (NCA) and Texas Tech's Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation and Division of Continuing Education.

More than 450 participants from Texas and New Mexico junior and senior high schools will participate. NCA members will instruct the school.

Beginning with on-site registration 1-5 p.m. Sunday, June 20, sessions will be held daily 8-11:30 a.m., 2-4:30 p.m. and 7:30-9:30 p.m. Participants will learn new yells, pompon routines, chants and stacks.

Sessions on gymnastics, tumbling and the psychology of crowd control also will be included. Classes will be held at the Women's Gymnasium. Camp coordinator James Teague said, "I hope the public realizes and appreciates the enthusiasm and dedication these kids have for their schools. The squads devote a lot of time and effort to supporting their schools, both during this camp and when they return home."

Tuition is $90 for residents, including room and meals from supper Sunday through breakfast Thursday, and $45 for commuters. Participants will stay in Hulen-Clements Hall on the Texas Tech campus.

Recital Scheduled This Afternoon

Dana Cabbiness and Dawn Wright, students of Susan Shaw, will present a joint recital this afternoon at 2 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Shaw, 410 Douglas.

Miss Cabbiness, who has just completed her sophomore year at Hereford High School, is a student of piano and voice, having studied piano seven years and voice six years. She has received superior ratings in both at music festivals.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cabbiness, she is a HHS twirler, vice-president of student council, and a member of National Honor Society.

Miss Wright, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wright, has studied voice three years and has attended the Greater Southwest Music Festival in this division.

She will be a sophomore at Hereford High School in the fall and made all region choir this year.

Youth Present Musical Today

Spirit Wind 1982, a group of high school young people from throughout the North Texas Conference of the United Methodist Church, will be presenting "A Reason to Rejoice," a musical celebration of faith by Allen Pote and Carole McCann, during the 11 a.m. morning worship service today at First United Methodist Church.

This performance is one of 14 concerts which the group is presenting all across the Panhandle area during their fourth summer tour, which stated June 8 at King's Manor in Hereford and will conclude June 20 in Levelland.

Participating from Hereford are Marcia Crowley and Becky Ruland, sopranos; Bethan Boyd, alto; Craig McCristian, tenor; and Chris Crowley and Clay Stribling, basses.

Others are from McAdo, Amarillo, Seymour, Lubbock, Panhandle, Dalhart, Canyon, Spearman, Olton, Levelland, Big Spring, and Borger.

Director is Bert W. Bostic, Director of Music and Youth at First United Methodist Church, Hereford. Assisting with music and accompanist for the group is Sharon Pudlo. Director of Music Ministries at First United Methodist Church of Levelland.

Technical directors are Patsy Giles of Hereford and Nolan Dees of Canyon, and flutist is Phyllis Lindley, of Spearman.

The first electric shavers were ready for sale in 1931.

Card of Thanks

We want to thank all our friends for their participation at the recent benefit. Because of the great response, the benefit was very successful in helping meet some of the medical expenses recently incurred. Our sincere thanks and gratitude.

Speech, Theatre Camp Scheduled At WTSU

Students in the area who plan to enter speech and theatre competitions during the 1982-83 academic year will have an opportunity to work with debate coaches, directors and other experts during the West Texas State University Summer Speech and Theatre Camp.

The camp will be hosted by the WTSU Department of Speech and Theatre Sunday through Saturday, July 25 through Aug. 7. Guy Yates, assistant professor of speech and director of forensics at WTSU, will be camp director.

Students will be able to participate and receive individual attention in camp sessions featuring novice debate, advanced debate, Lincoln-Douglas debate, oral interpretation, extemporaneous speaking and oratory and drama.

Tuition costs are $80 and include social activities, a ticket to the outdoor musical drama "Texas," make-up, scripts and a debate source book. Room and board in WTSU residence halls for 13 nights and three meals per day in the East Dining Hall will be $125. Enrollment deadline is Friday, July 2, at which time a $35 deposit is also due.

Social activities for the camp will include an outdoor dance, picnic at Thompson Park and Wonderland Amusement Park in Amarillo and a visit to Palo Duro Canyon for a performance of "Texas."

In conjunction with the speech and theatre camp, the department also will host a Coaching Speech Activities Workshop July 19 to Aug. 7, with Yates as director. Undergraduates and graduate students will meet from 1 to 4 p.m. each week and will work with and observe camp participants. Three semester hours of credit are available.

Robert Busch, a senior speech education major at WTSU from Los Alamos, N.M., is assistant camp director. He also has served as student director of the High Plains Forensic Tournament and been a cast member in seven university productions. He is a member of Alpha Psi Omega national honorary drama fraternity and news director at KWTS, campus radio station.

Dr. Ray Ewing is head of the WTSU Department of Speech and Theatre. He joined the WTSU faculty in 1976 and is author of "Participating Public Speaking, Debate and Discussion."

The camp staff will feature J.E. Masters, of Richfield High School in Waco, who will teach the novice debate section for the fourth year. Novice debate, which will be limited to 40 students, has two participants on each team.

For the past seven years, Masters' students have participated at the national tournament and he has coached the all-time top student in the nation in overall points for the National Forensic League. He served as president of the Texas Forensic Association.

Advanced debate, which also will be limited to 40 students, includes cross-examination and standard debate. Instructor will be Lois Hintze of Heritage Hall High School in Oklahoma City, Okla. In 1980, she received the Oklahoma Outstanding High School Speech Educator Award. She also is a National Forensic League Diamond Key Coach.

Debbie Dehlinger, a coach at Thomas Jefferson High School in San Antonio, will teach the Lincoln-Douglas debate section of the camp. She serves as treasurer of the Texas Forensic Association.

The oral interpretation section will be taught by Virginia Myers, assistant professor of speech and theatre at WTSU. She has more than 20 years experience in teaching and coaching winners in forensics and drama.

Jackie Jarrett, head of the speech department at Lubbock Coronado High School, will teach extemporaneous speaking and oratory. She also has been recognized as a National Forensic League Diamond Coach.

Teaching the drama section of the camp will be James Buchanan, a teacher and director. He has directed for Coordinated Musical Comedy Productions in Los Angeles, Calif.; wrote and directed "Joie de Vive," a production performed in Greece, Austria and England; and wrote an original script for the television series "Three's Company."

Students will participate in three one-act plays in the drama section including William Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet," Nikolai Gogol's "The Inspector General" and Goodrich and Hackett's "The Diary of Anne Frank."

Directors for the productions will include Lou Lindsey, who has served as the assistant managing director of the Mackinac Island Summer Playhouse. He is a member of the University Interscholastic League advisory committee and co-chairperson of the Career Education Committee of the Texas Educational Theatre Association.

Other directors will be Terry Marrs of Odessa High School, and Marion Sweatman, who has produced, directed and acted in several television productions and had several roles in the movies "Viva Max" and "The Spy."

Additional information concerning the camp and workshop may be obtained from Yates.

ANSWERS

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

Whatever history may say about this generation, it will be duly recorded they had great teeth.

I can just see historians digging through the ruins and observing, "Good grief, Professor Harkins, there isn't one overbite...one chipped tooth...a single overlap. What do you suppose that means?"

What they may never know is that behind every successful smile stood a self-sacrificing mother who devoted her life to her child's teeth.

Braces became the status symbol of the '60s and even today outrank cruise control and colored sheets as luxury items. I dedicated myself to love and serve my son's mouth back in the late '60s when a dentist suggested to me that we see an orthodontist.

"Do you like the way your son's mouth looks?" asked the orthodontist.

I shrugged. "It's a little drafty sometimes from being open so much but other than that..."

"Look at it!" he chided. "Do you actually think he can approach adulthood with those teeth?"

"What's the matter with them?"

"Nothing, if he's going to go through life biting necks."

Sitting in his office week after week reading the Bleeding Gums Journal while my son was being fitted into braces, I heard stories from the other women in the Tooth Cult.

"This is only the beginning," said one. "You'll make so many trips to this office your car will come here automatically."

"You'll have to remind your son to brush morning, noon, and night."

"You'll buy 50 toothbrushes in a month which he will lose."

"Wait until he gets into retainers. He'll procrastinate, complain, and lose them every time you turn around."

"You'll find his retainer in lockers, public restrooms, clothes hampers, library books, school buses, bleacher seats, sleeping bags, stuck in taffy..."

One woman said her daughter left her retainer on the plate and it melted with a pastrami sandwich in a microwave oven.

"The worst is when you've gone through eight or nine years of straightening his teeth and he enters into a mixed marriage with a girl with an overbite!"

"Someday," said a woman who never seemed to do anything but write checks and shake her head, "You'll laugh at all this."

"When?" I asked.

She looked at me with tears in her eyes. "Don't pin me down."

The earliest known zoo belonged to Queen Hatshepsut of Egypt about 1500 BC.

Our nation's first national monument is Devil's Tower, 865 feet high and located in the Black Hills Region of Wyoming. It became a national monument in 1906.

Advance Registration Opens For Panhandle-Plains Writers Workshop

PLAINVIEW--Advance registration for the fifth edition of the Panhandle-Plains Writers' Workshop next month at Wayland Baptist University is now open, according to Director Arch Mayfield.

Slated for Thursday and Friday, July 29-30, the Workshop is open to all interested participants at a cost of $35 per person in advance. Registration fee is $40 per person after July 10.

Elmer Kelton, author of 25 western historical novels, heads a list of some 10 professional writers who will appear on this year's program. Kelton, whose most recent novels, "The Wolf and The Buffalo" and "The Eyes of The Hawk," were published by Doubleday, is presently editor of Livestock Weekly in San Angelo.

Other program personalities are Kathryn Duff, former assistant editor and front-page columnist of the Abilene Reporter-News, who will be featured speaker for the Thursday night banquet; Jerry Craven, professor of English at West Texas State University; freelance writer-photographer Linda Craven of Canyon. Also Bee Zecek, director of the Texas Tech University Office of News and Publications; Kathy Strawn, author and contributor to various children's publications; and Roy Kornegay, minister of education at Amarillo's First Baptist Church and contributor to numerous church magazines.

Rounding out the list of speakers are three Plainviewians. Dr. Don Cook is tenured professor of English and dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Wayland, having published numerous poems and articles. Juanice Myers has written four full-length and three one-act plays, several of which have been produced and won major awards. Mrs. Audrey Boles, Wayland registrar for the past 32 years, has published two genealogical studies and is nearing publication on a third.

In addition to the Thursday banquet, other highlights of the two-day workshop include individual sessions on science fiction, features, children's Sunday school curriculum, and poetry.

A writing competition is also open to interested persons in the categories of fiction, non-fiction and poetry. An awards ceremony recognizing the winners will climax the workshop Friday afternoon.

Persons interested in advance registration or additional information should contact Mayfield at Wayland Baptist University, Plainview, Texas 79072, or call (806) 296-5521. On-campus housing is available to visitors at minimal cost.

Archer Writes Another Bestseller

BY DIANNE PIERSON
Novels head the list of new books available this week at the Deaf Smith County Library. "The Prodigal Daughter" by Jeffrey Archer, author of "Kane and Abel," is a novel destined to become the smash bestseller of the year.

It is an absorbing, engrossing, sheerly gratifying book. Millions of readers found the qualities in the longest running bestseller of 1979, Jeffrey Archer's "Kane and Abel."

The novel begins in 1934, in the rich territory of "Kane and Abel," when a daughter is born to the once penniless immigrant Abel Rosnovski, now a hotel baron. Her name is Florentyna; she is a girl of unusual spirit and indomitable will.

Florentyna's courage is tested for the first time in the painful crucible of an irreparable family quarrel.

When Florentyna follows her heart to marry Richard Kane, she plunges herself into poverty and emerges the prodigal daughter.

To the readers of "Kane and Abel" "The Prodigal Daughter" will be a joyous extension of a favorite world; while readers new to Jeffrey Archer will discover a novel that stands alone as a spellbinding experience.

Paul Theroux's new novel, is the spellbinding adventure story of a family that rejects its homeland and tries to find a happier and simpler life in the jungles of Central America. The motivation comes from the father, Allie Fox, who is a character in the classic American mold.

An individualist, Fox sees modern American culture as a despicable combination of the wasteful, the immoral, and the messy. Uprooting his family from Massachusetts, he takes them off to a primitive world to escape. "The Mosquito Coast" has the fascination of an ironic version of "Robinson Crusoe" or a sardonic "Swiss Family Robinson."

War Brides" by Lois Battle also heads the list of new books. The war was over at last. Three young women were on their way to the American G.I. husbands they had sworn to follow but did not really know—men they had married when peace seemed a lifetime away.

It is the rich and moving saga of women who must put their illusions aside to take charge of the sometimes harsh but often joyful realities of marriage in a new land.

Battle's writing is effortless, and her characters believable and utterly unforgettable. Only rarely does the writer capture the feel of an era and create a novel about people for whom we truly care—their marriages, their children, their triumphs, and their struggles. "War Brides" is an excellent novel.

Other new books available this week at the library include "Fate of the Earth" by Schell, "Invisible Bankers" by Andrew Tobias, "Chameleon" by William Diehl, author of "Sharkey's Machine," and "Judy Holliday" by Gary Carey.

Advice On Job Interviews

Dear Ann Landers; these days, when so many people are being laid off and the economy is tight, it might be helpful if your readers were given some guidelines to help them land a job. As a personnel manager with many years of experience, I can tell you that we see some pretty sad examples of humanity walk through our doors.

An ad we placed in a local paper asked for a person over 30, willing to work her way up in the retail business. Limited experience was necessary. We had women call and say

Cookoff Planned

The Town and Country Jubilee steering committee met Tuesday and has begun meeting regularly now to make plans for the annual celebration scheduled in August.

It was decided to hold a chili cookoff on Saturday, Aug. 21, in Veteran's Park in conjunction with the Jubilee. Entrants will come from all over the area to earn points as they participate.

Several local residents have signed up and anyone else who would like to enter should contact Margaret Formby at the Cowgirl Hall of Fame or call the Chamber of Commerce office.

Anyone wishing to set up a food or activity booth at the Jubilee should call or come by the Chamber office to make arrangements.

they would like to apply but they couldn't come in that day because they were baking bread, going to the hospital to visit a friend or they had a previous commitment...all indicating that something else was more important than the job. When you DO get an opportunity for an interview, follow this advice:

1. Remember, the person doing the interviewing figures you are dressed as neatly and carefully as you ever will be. If you are sloppy in your appearance, you will probably not get past the first interview. Women cannot go wrong if they wear a skirt when applying for a job.

2. Be on time for the interview. This aspect suggests promptness in future performance. If you call and say you had car trouble, you start with a black mark.

3. Don't bring friends or relatives with you when you appear for a job interview. It makes you appear unsure of yourself and creates an impression of weakness and immaturity.

4. When you arrive for the interview, have a pencil or pen handy and addresses of previous employers, so you won't have to leave those spaces blank.

5. Do not smoke. Many jobs now prohibit smoking. If you can't get through an interview without a cigarette, the interviewer will assume you will not be able to get through the morning without one. This also applies to chewing gum.

6. Know something about the firm, its history and its policies before you show up. The researching may take some time and trouble, but it will be well worth it. (A few years ago a rather attractive man who came in for an interview asked, "What do you people do here?" You can be sure he didn't get the job.)

7. It is always necessary to discuss salary, but it's a mistake to give the impression that salary is the thing you are most interested in. Let the interviewer know your major interest is to make a contribution to the business. It will create positive vibes and put you ahead of many others with equal skills.

8. Look the interviewer in the eye. Give direct and short answers to all questions and, above all, be honest. If it is learned through checking that you fibbed, your chances will be zero. Please don't use my name. Sign me—Seen Them Come And Go In El Paso.

Dear El Paso: Thanks for your contribution to my readers today. On behalf of those you helped to land a job, I wish to express my gratitude.

'Texas' Show Opens Wednesday

On Wednesday at 8:30 p.m., eighty singers and dancers will burst upon the stage, and Palo Duro Canyon's Pioneer Amphitheatre will embrace the sound, light, merriment and public spirit that is "Texas."

This year's gala opener will honor pioneer farm families that took root in the Panhandle around the turn of the century.

Farm descendants representing at least twelve area counties have made arrangements to be on hand. The Golden Spread CowBelles and the Associated Milk Producers will host a reception for them at 7:30 p.m.

George Lokoy, President of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, will celebrate the unflagging energy and faith of these farmers, the Panhandle's own pioneers.

Members of the audience will be tempted by Sutphen's barbeque dinner, which is served before every performance between 6:30 and 8 p.m., and will be included in the warm Texas-style welcome extended by the "Texas" hospitality crew.

Souvenirs and snacks are available at the concession stand and a souvenir program featuring the art of George Marks will furnish a memento of the evening.

But the show itself is the big moment. For the seventeenth season, a lone rider will wind his way up the narrow trail so that he can answer the bugle call, and "Texas" will be launched for another year.

Singing, dancing, thunder, lighting, romance, and drama will all be present. There will be "goose bumps" as the flags that have flown over Texas are swiftly borne across the stage in the moving finale.

The "Texas" show runs all summer, with the concluding show on the evening of Aug. 21. Advance reservations are strongly recommended, particularly on weekends.

Ticket prices range from $4-$6 for adults and $2-$4 for children under 12 Monday through Wednesday; and $5-$7 for adults and $2.50-$7 for children Thursday through Saturday and at a special Sunday performance on July 4.

Tickets and brochures may be obtained from the Chamber of Commerce office in Hereford, phone 364-3333, or by writing "Texas"; Box 268; Canyon, Texas 79015 or calling the ticket office there at (806) 655-2181.

Admission to the park is $2 per car until 6 p.m., at which time theatre patrons are admitted without charge.

Louise's Latest

Making It In Livestock Business

BY: LOUISE WALKER
County Extension Agent

I found this article last winter. I thought it was amusing. I've started to put it in my column several times but was afraid it'd hurt someone's feelings. The article is not intended toward any one person. It's meant only to brighten one's day.

Taken from Western Horseman, December, 1981, issue, column by Dick Spencer, III.

Saddlemaker Fletcher Whitlow of Phoenix sent a letter, and inside it is a little essay called "What is Livestock?"

"Livestock are born in the spring, mortgaged in the summer, pastured in the fall, and given away in the winter. They vary in size, color, and weight, and the man who can guess the nearest to the weight and market grade is called a livestock buyer by the public, a robber by the rancher, and a poor businessman by his banker.

"The price of livestock is determined in Chicago, and goes up after you have sold, and down after you have bought.

"A buyer from a Montana packer was sent to Chicago to watch the livestock market, and after a few days' deliberation he wired his company to this effect: 'Some say the market will go up and some say it will go down. I say the same. Whatever you do will be wrong. Act at once.'"

"When you have light cattle the buyers want heavy ones; when you feed heifers, you find they want steers, and vice-versa; when they're thin they should be fat, and when your steers are fat the buyer tells you the market on tallow is all shot to heck. You got 'em too doggone fat!"

Now if you study all that carefully, you should be able to figure out how to make money in the cattle business!

Editor's Note: There was an error in the Swiss Asparagus recipe found in the Sunday, May 30 printing of "Louise's Latest." One (10% ounce) can of undiluted cream of mushroom soup should be added to the recipe and the amount of cheese should be one (8 ounce) package cubed pasteurized process cheese. We apologize for any inconvenience.

Early Pay Off May Not Save

COLLEGE STATION-- Before you sign an installment loan contract—or decide to pay off such a loan early to save most of the finance charges (interest), understand the contract fully, advises Beverly Rhoades, a consumer information specialist.

Even if you're told the loan can be "paid in full" at any time without prepayment penalty, the interest dollars you save with an early pay-off can amount to fewer than you might think, she says.

Rhoades is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Remember, interest is charged from the day the loan is made.

Here's how the "Rule of 78" works:

If you have a one-year loan, you pay 12-78's of the total interest the first month. You pay 11-78's the second month and so on.

If you pay off the loan after six months, you already will have paid 73 percent (more than half) of the total interest.

In addition, the loan agency will not refund any of the amount you have already paid.

They will refund only the interest not yet earned—in this case only 27 percent of the total (just a bit more than a fourth of it).

NOT ALL LOANS ALIKE

Of course, not all installment-loan payments are set up with the interest "loaded" early in the loan period.

However, if your contract has interest computed by such a method, think twice before paying it off early, Rhoades suggests.

What To Do When The Freezer Fails

READ CONTRACT

Most importantly read the entire contract carefully.

It may spell out exactly the amount of finance charges (interest) you will be refunded in case of early loan pay off.

On the other hand, your contract may contain terminology you don't understand. If this is the case, ask your loan officer for an explanation. If he or she cannot adequately explain the words or phrases, get a satisfactory explanation before you sign the agreement.

UNDERSTAND 'RULE OF 78'

Look for words such as "sum of the periodic balances."

If your contract says this is the method your refund will be figured by, it means the refund will be computed by a formula commonly referred to as the "Rule of 78," Rhoades says.

This formula, provided in the Texas Credit Code, figures monthly payments with more of your interest loaded in the earlier installments and less in the later installments.

So, when you pay off a loan early, you still may have already paid most of the total finance charge (interest) that was originally computed.

Even if you pay off the loan after only a few months, you may avoid paying just a small percentage of the finance charge (interest), Rhoades says.

COLLEGE STATION--- Once you learn how to properly prepare and package food for frozen storage, your freezer can be like a faithful friend. But what happens when it breaks down or the power goes out?

First of all, try to find out how long it will be before your freezer is working again, says Dr. Al Wagner, food technologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

A fully loaded freezer will stay cold enough to keep food frozen for two days, notes Wagner, while one half-full will only keep food cold for a day. The main thing is to keep the freezer closed and not to check the food regularly.

Meats that still contain ice crystals or that have been kept at 40 degrees F. or below for less than two days may be safely refrozen. Some quality may be lost but the product is still wholesome, points out Wagner. However, throw out foods which have an unusual or off-odor, and never refreeze ice cream.

If it looks like the power will be off for a long time or your freezer cannot be repaired for several days, use dry ice. If dry ice is placed in the freezer soon after the power goes off, 25 pounds should keep the temperature below freezing for two to three days in a 10-cubic-foot half-full freezer and three to four days if the freezer is full.

Handle dry ice carefully and be sure not to touch it with your bare hands, cautions Wagner. Make sure the room where the freezer is located is well ventilated. Place dry ice on cardboard or wooden boards on top of packages in the freezer. Do not open the freezer again except to put in more dry ice or to remove it once the freezer is working again.

If using dry ice is not possible, move food to a locker plant in insulated boxes (ice chests) or thick layers of paper or other wrapping to prevent thawing, suggests Wagner.

Hamburger was originally "Hamburg steak" and took its name from the city of Hamburg, Germany.

"THIS SOUNDS GREAT; TELL US MORE!"

When the Jews in Thessalonica learned that Paul was preaching in Bereoa, they went over and stirred up trouble.

The believers acted at once, sending Paul on to the coast, while Silas and Timothy remained behind. Those accompanying Paul went on with him to Athens, and then returned to Bereoa with a message for Silas and Timothy to hurry and join him.

While Paul was waiting for them in Athens, he was deeply troubled by all the idols he saw everywhere throughout the city.

He went to the synagogue for discussions with the Jews and the devout Gentiles, and spoke daily in the public square to all who happened to be there. He also had an encounter with some of the Epicurean and Stoic philosophers. Their reaction, when he told them about Jesus and His resurrection, was, "He's a dreamer," or "He's pushing some foreign religion." But they invited him to the forum at Mars Hill. "Come and tell us more about this new religion," they said, "for you are saying some rather startling things and we want to hear more."

(I should explain that all the Athenians as well as the foreigners in Athens seemed to spend all their time discussing the latest new ideas!)

PERKY SALAD ADDS SNAP TO MEALS

It's the sunshine season. Time for outdoor cooking on the grill and packing the picnic basket. Perk up your next outing with this colorful and tasty Vegetable Potato Salad.

A real warm-weather treat, this salad combines garden-fresh zucchini, celery, green onions and radishes with tender potato slices. It's easy to prepare, too. There are no potatoes to cook, peel or slice because it's made with Betty Crocker® au gratin potatoes.

The quick-and-easy dressing is made with the cheesy sauce mix from the potatoes and your favorite bottled salad dressing.

A delicious accompaniment to everything from hot dogs to steak.

VEGETABLE POTATO SALAD

- 1 package Betty Crocker au gratin potatoes
- 3 cups water
- 1 cup water
- 1/4 cup bottled French or creamy Italian salad dressing
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- Heat potato slices and 3 cups water to boiling in 2 1/2-quart saucepan. Reduce heat; cover and simmer until tender, 15 to 20 minutes. Rinse under running cold water; drain. Mix 1 cup water and the Sauce Mix in saucepan. Heat to boiling over medium heat, stirring constantly. Stir in salad dressing, salt and pepper; cool.
- Mix potatoes, zucchini, celery and green onions; fold in sauce mixture. Cover and refrigerate until chilled.
- 1 small zucchini, thinly sliced (about 1 cup)
- 1/2 cup thinly sliced celery
- 1/4 cup sliced green onions
- 1/2 cup chopped radishes
- Salad greens

Miss Texas Pageant Scheduled

FORT WORTH-- A record field of 74 contestants, including six of last year's top ten and other 1981 award winners, will compete for the 1982 Miss Texas crown July 7-10 at Fort Worth's Tarrant County Convention Center.

Gloria Gilbert, Miss Palo Pinto County, returns after being runner-up last year behind Sheri Ryman. She will face top competition from Belinda Moreland, Miss Greenville; and Monique Woody-Zummo, Miss San Antonio, who were the third and fourth runners-up, respectively, in 1981.

Other top ten finalists returning for this year's pageant are Gina Pounders, Miss Duncanville; Kim Acker, Miss Fort Worth; and Linda Davis, Miss East Texas.

But the 1982 Miss Texas could well emerge from dozen other state pageant veterans or from 57 newcomers. Miss Texas 1980, Terri Eoff, was a first-time contestant in the state pageant that year and went on to become a top ten finalist in the Miss America Pageant. The pageant will be celebrating its 20th anniversary of live television coverage as Fort Worth's KTVT-TV will be carried by 12 stations around Texas and Louisiana and will reach neighboring states via cable.

Preliminary competition runs Wednesday, July 7 through Friday, July 9 in the Convention Center Theater. Finals and the crowning of Miss Texas 1982 will follow on Saturday.

Season tickets are $25 and available by mail only. Send a self-addressed stamped envelope to: Miss Texas Pageant, TICKERTRON, P.O. Box 5243, Arlington, Texas 76011, or phone 817-265-0789.

Individual night tickets can be purchased in the Metroplex, Denton, Waco, Corpus Christi and Beaumont at TICKERTRON outlets around the state.

Wednesday and Thursday seats are $6, and Friday seats are $6.50 and $7. Tickets for Saturday night are $8 and $9

An air conditioner can improve the performance of your furnace.

An air conditioner?

A very special air conditioner called the add-on heat pump. It cools in summer and heats in winter. And it works with whatever kind of furnace you have.

The add-on heat pump will improve the performance of your furnace by keeping it off completely during a good portion of the winter. The add-on heat pump can satisfy your home's heating requirements more economically when temperatures are above 30° or so. That's about 80% of our area's normal heating season.

Then, when summer comes, the heat pump becomes a cool pump, efficiently air conditioning the home. So, when you're in the market for air conditioning, look into the add-on heat pump.

English is not the first language of many bilingual Americans. Millions still favor the language of their countries of origin, with Spanish topping the list in a Census Bureau survey. Of some 18 million U.S. residents who use a language other than English in the home, 22 percent speak our national language poorly or not at all.

The World Almanac

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB - For the past seven months my husband, age 40, has been going to the doctor with what the doctor called a lung congestion and arthritis in his hips and legs. The thing that worries me the most is that he has started passing out.

He will start to cough, his eyes roll back, he turns red, his arms shake some and he passes out. He's only out a few seconds, but when he comes to he is as white as a sheet, very weak and doesn't remember anything that happened.

The doctor told him that he had cough syncope. He said it came from smoking, being overweight, middle-aged and male. He said to stop smoking. That would not cure it but may keep him from passing out so often.

I know cigarettes can cause a lot of problems but it is hard to believe that cigarettes can do all this. I am afraid for him to drive or do things that might be dangerous. Do you have any information on this?

DEAR READER - Your letter describes cough syncope (fainting) perfectly. It usually occurs in middle-aged males who have chronic bronchitis, most often from smoking, and who cough forcefully.

There are several mechanisms that can cause the faint. The cough builds up pressure inside the chest and interferes with blood returning to the heart. This in turn prevents adequate blood flow to the brain. The cough may increase pressure of the cerebrospinal fluid in the brain and this increased pressure prevents blood flow into the brain. Then the explosive cough may act like a concussion to the brain. In any case there is usually no damage after the cough.

Treatment is directed toward preventing coughing, that means improving lung function and perhaps using a cough suppressant. You are right that it is dangerous for him to drive with this condition.

I like to see these patients have a neurological examination because sometimes a plugged vessel or other problem in the brain makes them more susceptible to attacks.

Our Story: ABOUT AN HOUR THE ARCHIVES FALL SILENT. HE IS NOT HEARD FROM FOR MANY A MONTH. THE ARCHIVES OF THE NIGHT ISLES MORE HOW TRAGEDY PULLS SOME FAMILIES APART. TOGETHER, GALAN AND THE TWINS ARE INSEPARABLE. THEY WALK, THEY RIDE, THEY HUNT, THEY FISH.

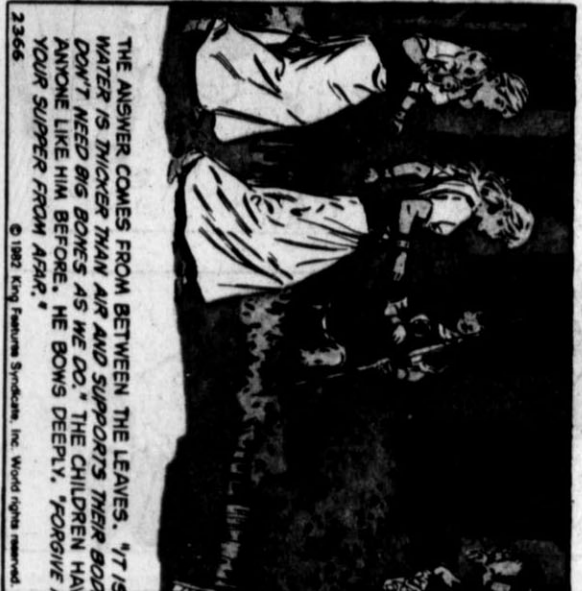

GALAN BEING EATEN, KNOWS EVERYTHING. "NOT MY NAME," HE SCREAMS. "OW," SAYS KAREN APOLOGETICALLY.

"THEY SHOULD THROW THESE BAKERS," GALAN PERMITS HIMSELF A SILENT SMILE. THEN BEGINS SALVAGING HIS SELF-RESPECT. THE MEN BEGINS GALVAN'S HAND SLIDES BEHIND THE GILS' DIAPHRAGMS THE HEAD, THEN PARTS THE BELLY.

SOON TENDER RILETS SEASOURED WITH HERBS. BOON ON THE COAST SEEN MILLIONS WATCHING HIS SISTERS. EARL RESTORES GALAN'S SPIRITS. "WHY ARE FISH BONES SO SMALL?" "WALITA ASKS HIM SUDDENLY. GALAN THINKS DESPERATELY, PRETENDING TO CHEN.

THE ANSWER COMES FROM BETWEEN THE LEAFERS. "IT IS BECAUSE WATER IS THICKER THAN AIR," BOAKES. "THEY DON'T NEED BIG BONES AS WE DO." THE CHILDREN HAVE NEVER SEEN ANYONE LIVE HIM BEFORE. HE BOWS DEEPLY. "FORGIVE ME, I SHELLED YOUR SUPPER FROM ASHES."

"I AM YOUR CHEN, A POOR SCHOLAR HALF A WORLD FROM HOME," FROM HIS SLEEVE HE TAKES TWO STICKS. "WAT 12?" NEXT WEEK: The Middle Kingdom

YOGA BANANA

YOGA BANANA IS FURIOUS WHEN HE LEARNS THAT STEVE AND LOOBY MASHUP HAVE BEEN FAKING THE BIG LOVE SCENE COMING FROM THE PLANTED MICROPHONE 5...

GOLDEN BOY... WE'LL SEE HOW HE THINKS HIS SO LOOKS AS A RED BEET!!

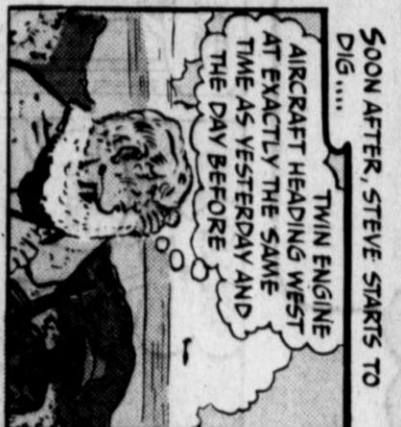

HE'LL DIG... ACROSS THE NEW IRRIGATION DITCH... THE OPEN FIELD...

"...WITHOUT HOTTEST TIME WATER... OF THE DAY..."

"...WHILE YOU TWO WOMEN DO THE LAUNDRY FOR THE ENTIRE CREW!!"

SOON AFTER, STEVE STARTS TO DIG... TWIN ENGINE AIRCRAFT HEADING WEST AT EXACTLY THE SAME TIME AS YESTERDAY AND THE DAY BEFORE

...MIGHT BE ABLE TO USE IT AS I DID WITH YOUNG PRINCESS SNOW BLOSSOM!

"...IF THE WORTH TAKING A CHANCE... SUN DOESN'T GET TO ME FIRST!"

SMUTTY SMITH

I THINK I'LL GO OUT AN' DO A LITTLE YARD WORK, MAW

YEP... AN' I HEARD ABOUT TH' COW JUMPIN' OVER TH' MOON, TOO

SNUFFY!! GIT UP OFF YORE REAR END, YOU LAZY WHELP!!

GIT UP!! DON'T PLAY 'POSSUM WITH ME!!

YOU GOT WOOD TO CHOP... PLOWIN' TO DO... FENCES TO MEND...

WAKE UP, SNUFFY!!

LAND O' GOSHEN!! I THINK I STRIPPED MY HOLLERIN' MUSCLES

IF YOU CAN'T WHUP 'EM-- JOIN 'EM

POPEYE

I HAS A DATE WIT' OLIVE... YOU BE A GOOD LIL' BOY KID WHILE I YAM GONE!

GRANNY! PAPPY! WHERE IS EVERYONE?

ALL ALONE! POPEYE IS ORF WIT' OLIVE!

GRANNY HAS GONE FER HER COOKIN' LESSING!

I YAM WIT' OUT ADULT GUIDANCE!!

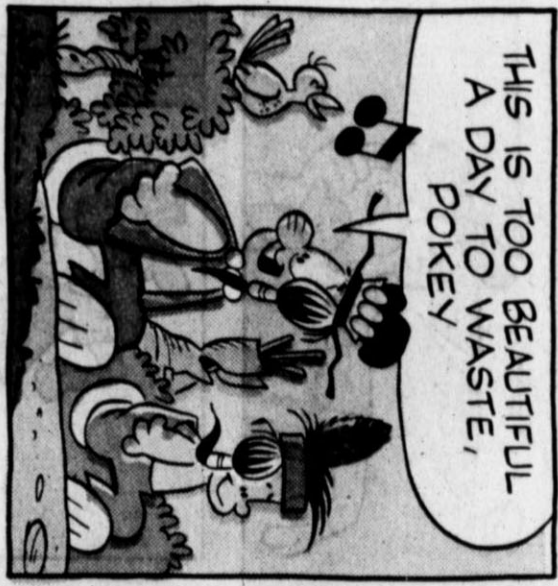

ME WHOLE FUTURE COULD BE AFFECTED BY ME REJECTION AS A CHILD!

ME ADULT LIFE IS BEN' FORCED INTO TOTAL FAILURE!

THIS IS TOO BEAUTIFUL A DAY TO WASTE, POKEY

WE SHOULD TAKE A LITTLE WALK DOWN TO THE FISHING HOLE

GET YOUR POLE AND WE'LL BE ON OUR WAY

HOLD IT, BUSTER! THERES WORK TO BE DONE AROUND HERE

FORGET IT!...THERE'S BEEN A "TRAVELERS' ADVISORY" ISSUED FOR TODAY

Junior Whirl

by Hal Kaufman

● HAL'S PAL: Dear Hal: When George's sister Grace fell down, George refused to help her up. I don't think that was nice. Do you? Signed: Steamed. Dear Steamed: Maybe it wasn't nice, but then again George cannot be a brother and assist or too.

● Nut Roll: Link letters to find the name of a nut in each sentence: 1. The tape can wait. 2. It's a typical Monday. 3. Haze limited the view. 4. The public heeded his request.

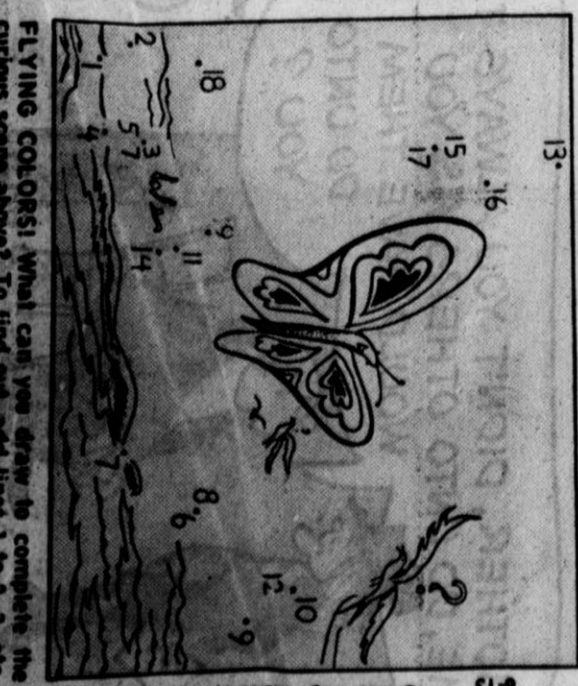

● Time-Tested: A clock that isn't running is right two times a day — true or false?

● Ark-ademics! In what month did Noah sail? Ark-tober. Who kept track of Noah's books? The ark-counting department. What acting prize did Noah win? An Ark-adeemy Award.

MAGIC NUMBER TO PONDER!

The magician above is pointing to the number 142,857 with good reason. Multiply it by two and the result is 285,714 — the same digits in revised order. Multiply it by three and the result is 428,571. Multiply by four and the answer is 571,428. Multiply by five and six and the results are 714,285 and 857,142.

So far, the digits involved are continuing and what do you get? Surprised!
