Demos May Reverse Treaty Support

By MIKE SHANAHAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Four liberal Democrats are threatening to withdraw their support for the second Panama Canal treaty unless the Senate declares the United States has no intention of intervening in Panama's internal affairs.

The potential defections have posed a serious new problem for President Carter and Senate leaders, who have been gingerly seeking the votes to ensure the remaining pact's approval by the Senate Tuesday.

The first treaty, to guarantee the canal's neutrality after the year 2000, was passed by a shaky condition that mustered 68 votes - one more than needed.

That coalition now finds itself being tugged from opposite poles as the vote nears on the agreement to actually relinquish the waterway to Panama.

Meanwhile, both treaty opponents and supporters were closely watching Sen. S.I. Hayakawa, R-Calif., for a possible change in his position. Hayakawa, who voted for the neutrality pact, scheduled a news conference today on the canal treaties.

And, in still another development, Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., said he would reverse himself and vote against the remaining pact unless he is given a more active role in Senate negotiations on energy legislation.

Abourezk's anger stemmed from his exclusion from closed White House meetings on the president's stalled energy legislation. Carter arranged the sessions for some members of a congressional conference committee, but excluded others who oppose deregulating federal natural gas price controls.

As the backstage maneuvering continued, the Senate took Friday off, in part because its members have little more to say before critical votes scheduled early next week.

The present controversy centers on a treaty reservation to the first pact by Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., that would let the United States use military force to keep the canal open even if its operations were threatened by internal Panamanian problems such as labor unrest.

The provision has stirred anger in Panama while raising doubts about whether the government of Gen. Omar Torrijos would agree to the DeConcini

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says it has never been determined whether the early bird enjoys the worm as much as the late bird enjoys the extra sleep.

America is still the land of opportunity - just ask those Japanese and European businessmen who are buying up property in this county.

WITH PRESIDENT Carter's veto threat, it was not too surprising that the House killed the one-year emergency farm bill Wednesday. But the margin of defeat, 268-150, was disappointing to all supporters of the ag industry.

The President, quoted in an AP story, applauded the House action and said, "It is good for the farmers of the United States and it is very good for the consumers." Farmers will argue that point and they'll emphasize the "very good" description Carter used for consumers.

Carter is the first Democratic president in our lifetime to be anti agriculture. A lot of Democrats in the farmbelt thought they were really going to have an ally in Carter, but it's just the opposite. We believe many voters in Middle America are going to start looking for a pro-agriculture candidate for 1980.

A RECENT REPORT by HEW Sec. Joseph Califano confirmed what most Americans have been shouting about for several years - the fraud and cheating that exists in federal welfare programs. The attorney general put the figure at four billion dollars last year.

It confirms what we're preaching here in this column on several occasions: the hourly and salaried workers of this country are carrying the federal government on their collective backs.

A public policy research group recently concluded that 69 percent of all federal tax receipts are disbursed as welfare payments. The report, titled "An Inventory of Federal Income Transfer

Tax Return Deadline Set Midnight Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) - Taxpayers who have waited this long to file their income tax returns will have to wait about six weeks for any refund they are due. And if their returns contain mistakes, the delay will be even longer.

This year, returns do not have to be postmarked until midnight April 17, next Monday, because the usual April 15 deadline falls on a Saturday. But even with those extra two days, the Internal Revenue Service suggests that last-minute filers work on their returns during the weekend.

Says IRS spokesman Tony Bombardieri: "If you come home from work, rush through dinner and try to fill out your return in a hurry Monday night, you are more likely to make mistakes. If you make a mistake, it delays any refunds."

Some post offices will remain open until midnight Monday to handle late returns. IRS offices will continue to help taxpayers through Monday, and special centers will remain open at some fire stations and schools to assist low-income and elderly persons.

IRS officials estimate that of the approximately 88 million Americans filing returns this year, 30 million had not mailed them as of last week, an increase from 27 million at the same time last year.

Officials had no explanation for the slower filing of returns, although some speculated that severe winter weather had kept taxpayers from going sooner to IRS offices for help.

The six week waiting period for those who have yet to file is about one week longer than for those who filed earlier.

The IRS has this other last-minute advice for taxpayers:

-Use the self-addressed envelope that comes with the tax return booklet to mail your return.

-Put your social security number on the tax payment check in case it is separated from the return.

-Make sure both signatures are on a joint return.

-Take time to check arithmetic for accuracy.

-The location on the form for dividends and interest has been changed, so taxpayers should make sure they are filling in the right blank.

Methane Plant Nears Full Steam

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) - An Oklahoma firm has begun turning a long unappreciated resource - cattle manure - into valuable methane gas.

In the next few weeks, a pipeline will begin carrying the product to Chicago, where it is expected to furnish enough power to meet the natural gas demand of 3,500 homes each year.

Already, 580,000 cubic feet of methane gas is being produced each day at the plant in the rural Oklahoma Panhandle run by Caloric Recovery Anaerobic Process Inc. - or CRAP, said Jim Samis, president of the parent firm, Thermoneutics, Inc., of Oklahoma City.

When full production is reached in the next few weeks, the plant is expected to turn 1 million pounds of cattle manure into 1.76 million cubic feet of methane gas each day.

"Even if gas was produced from all the nation's cattle feedlots, it would still be an insignificant energy source in terms of national needs," Samis said. "But the basic process we use is a future energy source. We could use waste from agriculture or plants taken from the ocean to make gas in the same way."

The plant near Optima, Okla., is using manure rather than the other substances mentioned by Samis as a fuel source because the manure is relatively cheap.

"Nobody ever told me I was crazy, but I imagine they thought so," Samis said with a laugh, recalling the four years of planning and $3 million worth of construction that went into the plant.

The firm's name - Caloric Recovery Anaerobic Process - explains how the plant turns manure into methane, Samis said. The initials were arranged for a humorous effect, he added.

"As far as we know this is the only commercial-size plant like this in the world," Samis said. "The process we use isn't new, but it's never been done on this scale."

Rising costs and dwindling supplies of energy led Thermoneutics to conclude that cattle manure could be a money-making raw material, said Samis, who is part-owner of Thermoneutics with Clint Murchison, owner of the Dallas Cowboys football team.

CRAP has tentative plans to build three manure gasification plants in the Texas Panhandle, near Hereford and Dumas, and is considering a plant in California.

"We need at least 100,000 head of cattle in an area" to make a manure gasification plant feasible, Samis said. "There's just a certain number of sites in the country."

CRAP has signed a 25-year contract with People's Gas Co. of Chicago to supply the utility with methane gas, Samis said. People's Gas will pay $1.94 per thousand cubic feet when the gas starts moving, and the price will rise with inflation, based on the Consumer Price Index.

The price People's Gas will pay is a few cents less than it costs to produce the fuel, but the difference will be made up with the sale of other manure

Pulverizing Process Being Developed

Hereford Plant Construction To Begin When System Complete

BY PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Thermoneutics will begin construction of two methane-producing plants in Deaf Smith County as soon as a pulverizing system is developed in the company's Guymon, Okla., operation, according to Ron James, Thermoneutics marketing director.

Thermoneutics announced plans last year to construct two plants - at costs of $6 million and $3 million - near Hereford and a $3 million plant in Dumas, bringing the total number of operations in the company to four.

James called the pulverizing system which decreases the particle size of raw cattle manure, a source of methane, "the final engineering scheme in our Guymon plant."

The Guymon facility has been in operation for six months.

"Just as soon as we know exactly what the final engineering scheme will be, we'll begin construction in Hereford," James said. "It must be within a year at the outside because our contracts, our time commitments, with the feed yards in Hereford begin to expire in the first part of the summer of 1979."

"Right now we're trying to get the Guymon plant up to capacity. We're about 40 percent capacity right now."

"All these problems are definitely correctible. There's no question about that. It'll just take a little more time before we can start on these other plants."

The Guymon plant is processing approximately 200 tons of manure daily, with a potential capacity of 500 tons.

"One item of good news, though, is we are on the pipeline, shipping gas to Chicago. We can produce gas and we are very, very pleased with the results."

"We've also begun marketing a bi-product called Calfeed and we're extremely impressed with the economics of that feedstuff in growing and fattening

Washington Letters To Be Mailed

Private Property Week To Include Panel, Skit

A city-wide letter writing campaign, a panel discussion and a skit all will be part of the first stage of Private Property Week which starts Sunday.

Letters to Washington politicians will be mailed from Hereford Tuesday.

"The objective of this letter-writing campaign is to motivate citizens in all parts of the nation to a deeper appreciation of their privileges and opportunities under the American free enterprise system, especially their right to own real property as private citizens," said Hereford Realtor

Beverly Lambert.

"We would like to blitz Washington with a deluge of letters," Ms. Lambert said. "The purpose of the national campaign is to create a 'voice of the people' in a non-partisan, non-political way."

The letters, samples of which are included on page 2 of The Brand, must be turned into either any real estate office, The Hereford Brand or Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce by Tuesday, according to Ms. Lambert, who along with Sheila Hardin is in charge of the campaign.

"We will mail them in one large group for more effectiveness. People can use the samples by clipping them out and signing their names."

A skit and panel discussion concerning private property, both open to the public, are planned for 7:30-9 p.m. Monday at the Hereford Community Center.

Realtor Marie Griffin said the skit is designed "to enlighten the public to the pitfalls and problems involved with buying and selling real estate. The skit, which will involve 14 Realtors, will show some of the mistakes we make as property owners."

"The panel discussion will be comprised of professional people involved some way in real estate who will educate the public about how problems could have been avoided and everything involved in processing a real-estate transaction."

Panel members include Dwight Turner of Security Federal Savings and Loan, Wayne Sims of High Plains Savings and Loan, attorney Rex

Easterwood, Jerry Payne of Deaf Smith County Abstract, A.J. Schroeter of A.O. Thompson Abstract, builder Larry Brown, Roy Faubion of Farm Bureau Insurance and Realtors Lloyd Sharp and Neil Cooper.

Turner and Sims, according to Ms. Griffin, will discuss private and government mortgage loan policies. Tubb will explain the legal aspects of contracts, Schroeter and Payne the closing of a real-estate transaction and the importance of surveys, Brown new home warranties and construction, and Faubion property insurance.

The panel will answer questions concerning those areas.

Mark Andrews, president of the Hereford Board of Realtors, will be moderator for the evening's program.

Other Realtors involved in the program include Nancy Moore, skit writer and director; Ms. Lambert, panel coordinator; Troy Don Moore, who has produced banners which carry the theme for Private Property Week - "Free Enterprise - People Making Things

...to lead genealogical workshop sessions

Expert Genealogist To Lead Workshop

Deaf Smith County Genealogical Society is planning a large-scale genealogical workshop to be presented from 9 a.m. - 1 p.m. in the Heritage Room of the County Library.

Society president Garth B. Thomas described genealogy, also known as "family tree climbing," as America's fast growing hobby.

The workshop will feature Gay Perry Kowallis of Logan, Utah, as keynote speaker. She will conduct two sessions, including "Helps for the Beginning in Genealogy" and "How to Find and Use Church Records."

Mrs. Kowallis is book review editor of "The Genealogical Helper." She has had more than 25 years of experience in genealogical research and was librarian of the Cache Genealogical Library at Logan for six years. She assisted in the preparation of the "Handbook of Genealogical Correspondence," compiled in 1963 by the Cache Library.

Mrs. Kowallis holds ancestral research certificates from the Brigham Young University in Basic Genealogy, American, English, Welsh, Danish and Swedish research. For the past 12 years, she has been the Danish research instructor for the Cache Library.

From 1968-72, she was co-editor of the "Danish Genealogical Helper" and "The Scandinavian Genealogical Helper," published by Everton Publishers. In addition to her work as book review editor for Everton, she also writes the "Question and Answer Box" column in "The Genealogical Helper."

After receiving her bachelor of science degree from Utah State University in 1935, she married Albert B. Kowallis. They have two children and four grandchildren. She will be accompanied to Hereford Saturday by her husband.

Seating for the upcoming workshop will be limited and will be distributed on a first-come, first-served basis. Admission will be $3.50 per person and will include a packet of helpful genealogical material, including recording sheets and valuable genealogy tips.

Ann Landers Heartsick Family

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I are heartsick. Our youngest child, a daughter aged 21, has dropped out of her senior year at a fine university (she was an honor student) and has joined a religious cult.

This girl was not on drugs. She did not smoke or drink. She was a delightful, full-of-life, sensible, solid young woman -- until she met a young man who persuaded her to look into his religious rebirth and join him in "a whole new world."

His "whole new world" has caused our daughter to cut herself off from education, family and all former friends--except those who are cult members. She left our home taking nothing with her except a few pieces of underclothes and a coat. No shoes, dresses, slacks, sweaters, cosmetics--nothing. It was made clear we were not to try to contact her, that she would write or call when "God told her to."

She kissed us both goodbye and left the house saying, "I have never been happier in my life." (Her boyfriend was waiting outside in a 1964 Buick.)

What should we do, Ann? Her brother and sister are heartsick. It has been nearly three weeks and we haven't heard a word. I cannot sleep at night and my husband and I are going to pieces. We are members of the Presbyterian church and this girl sang in the choir and taught as a substitute in Sunday school during her high school years. There was never the slightest indication that our daughter was heading in this direction.

Please give us some guidance. We don't know where to turn. -- No Name Please (Although Our Friends Are Aware Of Our Tragedy)

DEAR NO NAME: There are several organizations in the United States formed by parents who share your problem. Fortunately, one of the best groups is in your city. It is Free Minds, Inc., Minneapolis, Minn. The address is Box 4216. Please write to them for information.

Another source of help is a book by Carroll Stoner and JoAnne Clark--"All God's Children" (Chilton Book Company). This book describes in detail the various cults and how they operate. It suggests alternatives for parents such as you whose children have embraced non-traditional religious groups. I recommend it highly.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A while back a friend of mine had to be hospitalized in another city for several days. It was nothing serious. I didn't know what to send her so I slipped $10 into an envelope with a note suggesting that she ask a nurse to buy her something she might need.

After two weeks I received a letter saying, "Dear...: I had so many flowers they had to be distributed to other patients on the floor. I'll never get through all the books I received. Couldn't think of a thing I needed so I'm returning your check." I felt insulted. Your opinion is wanted.--Oxnard, Cal.

DEAR OX: Your gift was unimaginative and tasteless. Her response was boorish and crude. I'd say you're even.

Who is this King of Glory? Jesus Christ

Presenting Testimony

Women's Aglow Chapter Notes Jump in Numbers

Women's Aglow Fellowship, one of Hereford's newest organizations, which was conceived last fall, already boasts

46 members. Leta Kaul, president, made this announcement at last week's meeting in Pioneer Natural Gas Flame declared whole with no signs of damage just 10 days after the dreaded illness was first discovered. "By his stripes we were healed." (1 Peter 2:24) is Mrs. Ossenbeck's explanation for this extraordinary cure.

Room, where members of Wesley Methodist Church were hostesses. A number of guests present came from Amarillo, Borger and Friona.

Joan Culp, vice president, announced that the Hereford Aglow Fellowship will host the area retreat in Amarillo this weekend at the Episcopal Conference Center through Sunday.

At the age of 12, the young Vonna became aware of a desire to serve God, which she has done ever since. Four years ago, the young housewife was led to become a beauty operator where she found opportunities to minister to her own women customers. She retired from this position to take a more active position as vice president of the Women's Aglow Fellowship and has recently "once again become the Lord's willing vessel" as she stepped into the office of the organization's president.

Joyce Landers, accompanied by Jimmy Allred on the guitar, led the group singing, followed by soloist, Linda Wallace of Amarillo, who sang "Come to the Water, Stand by My Side," and "A Brand New Tongue." Margaret Hare, local member, gave her testimony in song.

Guest speaker was Vonna Ossenbeck, president of Amarillo's Aglow Chapter. Mrs. Ossenbeck, mother of two, told of her miraculous cure from bulbar polio at the age of four. Symptoms appeared during the youngster's birthday party at her home in Stratford and a few days later the child went into a coma which she remained in for several more days.

The next meeting, May 5 to be hosted by members from St. Anthony's Church will feature Alma Paetzold, former resident of Hereford. Miss Paetzold, staff member of Christ for the Nations in Dallas, will present during her program a film depicting a witch doctor in Haiti who accepted Jesus Christ.

According to the speaker, Bulbar polio normally affects the brain and nervous system, but in response to the unceasing prayers of Vonna's young Christian mother and many others, the little girl was

A GIFT OF LOVE
What a fantastic feeling! Gifts have always been very difficult for me to accept...probably because of my difficulty in saying "thank you."
I received a gift yesterday, however, that really left me speechless. It was made of love by two human beings just for me. No one else would appreciate it as I do--not only because of what it is, but because I know the two people who made it enjoyed many hours working together. They probably laughed and joked, and wondered if I would really like their creation.

Progressive HD Members Assemble

Mrs. Johnny Townsend called to order a meeting of Progressive Home Demonstration Club Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. Gerald Townsend.

Mrs. Buck Parsons led the recreation period, followed by the opening exercise directed by Mrs. Horace Hershey.

The program was presented by Mrs. Gerald Townsend, who discussed care of fabrics and clothing energy conservation. She recommended that clothes be properly hung in order to prevent wrinkling and gave suggestions for removing stains.

In order to conserve energy, she suggested that loose weave fabrics be worn in summer and heavy knits or wool be used in winter wardrobes. She also advised that permanent press garments be chosen to dispense with ironing, clothes be line dried and cold water used in the rinse cycle as energy-conserving measures.

The club's next meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. April 25 in Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room with Mrs. Johnny Townsend as hostess.

Other members present Tuesday were Mmes. Taft McGee, E.C. Hammert and Tom Melugin.

What a fantastic feeling to know there are relationships of this kind and people who give a part of themselves and their love to me.

FRIENDSHIP THROUGH FAITH
SPANS INTERNATIONAL BORDERS

With the celebration of Canada-United States Goodwill Week, designed to promote better understanding between two countries, we are reminded that there is no finer example in all the world of international trust, respect and harmony than our three thousand miles of unguarded boundary line. No matter which side of the border you live on, you have the heart-warming assurance that your neighbors across the way are friends who wish you well and would help you in any way they could. This is the spirit of peace and brotherhood that is taught by every faith and recurs in many forms throughout the Bible. Learning to love your neighbor is the first lesson you receive when you attend the Church of your choice on the Sabbath.

Three thousand miles of border line—
nor fort nor armed host
On all this frontier neighbor-ground, from east to western coast...
God speed that surely dawning day—
that coming hour divine—
When all the nations of the earth shall boast such border line.

Costa Rica President To Begin
 SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) - President-elect Rodrigo Carazo Odio takes office May 8 for a four-year term after spending many years in government administration and national politics.
 Carazo first entered Costa Rica politics in 1966 when he was elected a deputy to the national unicameral legislature, called the National Legislative Assembly.
 He has served as assembly president and head of the committees of economic and financial affairs.
 Carazo was born Dec. 27, 1926, in the city of Cartago, south of the capital on the Inter-American highway.
 He is married to Estrella Zeledon Lizano. They have five sons, Rodrigo Alberto, Mario, Alvaro, Rolando and Jorge, and four grandchildren.
 Carazo attended primary and secondary schools in the capital and got his high school diploma from a school run by German priests of the Roman Catholic church.
 Before attending college, Carazo worked as a telegraph operator in Puntarenas, the Pacific coast port town some 85 miles from San Jose, and as a control tower operator at the international airport in the Costa Rican capital.
 He graduated from the University of Costa Rica with a bachelors degree in economic and social sciences and also studied administration, accounting and economics.
 Carazo received his first government job in 1952 as administrator of the University of Costa Rica.
 In 1953 he was named general director of economics for the ministry of economics and treasury in the government of President Jose Figueres, who became a close friend.
 Carazo has served as director of the National Institute of Housing and Urban Affairs and program appraiser of housing for the Workers Bank of Caracas, Venezuela.
 Carazo has taught history at the University of Costa Rica.
 He was elected president in February as a candidate of the Unity Coalition Party by a narrow margin over the ruling National Liberation Party's Luis Alberto Monge.
 Carazo said shortly after the election that he would maintain friendship with the United States, try to revitalize the Central American common market and reduce government departments and corruption.
 He has vowed to kick out fugitive American financier Robert Vesco, who Carazo accused of being involved in government corruption in Costa Rica.
 Vesco is wanted in the United States by the Securities and Exchange Commission in connection with the disappearance of $224 million from a mutual fund he controlled.
 Vesco has applied for Costa Rican citizenship since Carazo was elected.

Walus Troubles Haven't Ended
 CHICAGO (AP) - Even if he wins, even if a judge finds that Frank Walus did not lie to immigration authorities about an alleged past as a Nazi terrorist, the victory may be empty. Walus has already lost a great deal.
 His teen-age son, who wants to attend West Point, threatens to leave home. His lawyer is pressing for payment of $60,000 in legal fees.
 Strangers scrawl swastikas on his home. Some of his neighbors shout epithets at him. Others testify against him.
 "I have lots of phone calls threatening me and also my tenants," said Walus in an interview in his neat living room. He rents out the second floor of his modest two-flat building. "They say they will blow up my house. They put lots of swastikas on the sidewalk and throw eggs at my house."
 Walus, 55, a small man who speaks with a heavy Polish accent, is accused of lying to immigration officials and covering his alleged Nazi background to become a citizen.
 Eleven witnesses swore in U.S. District Court before Judge Julius Hoffman that they recognized Walus as the Gestapo agent who 35 years ago was seen to murder and beat Jews in the Polish cities of Kielce and Czestochowa. He would have been a teen-ager then.
 Walus maintains he has never killed anyone: "I am innocent, clean like a blank sheet of paper."
 Walus first visited the United States in 1959. In 1963 he returned, to reside quietly on Chicago's southwest side - until Jan. 26, 1977, when federal officials thrust a civil complaint into his hands.

 Walus and his wife worry most about what conviction and possible deportation later would mean to their sons, Arthur, 16, and Paul, 13.
 Walus and his wife renounced Polish citizenship when they became U.S. citizens. They do not know what country would accept them.
 "No matter where we go they would have to learn a new language," Mrs. Walus said of her sons. But Arthur has warned her parents he will not leave this country. He threatens to run away.
 Walus is deeply in debt. So far he owes $60,000 to defense attorney Robert Korenkiewicz. Costs could climb to $100,000. Because he cannot work, he has borrowed $20,000 from friends and relatives. Walus has had five heart attacks and is retired on a permanent disability leave from his job as an assembly line worker.

Speech Reaction Varies in Papers

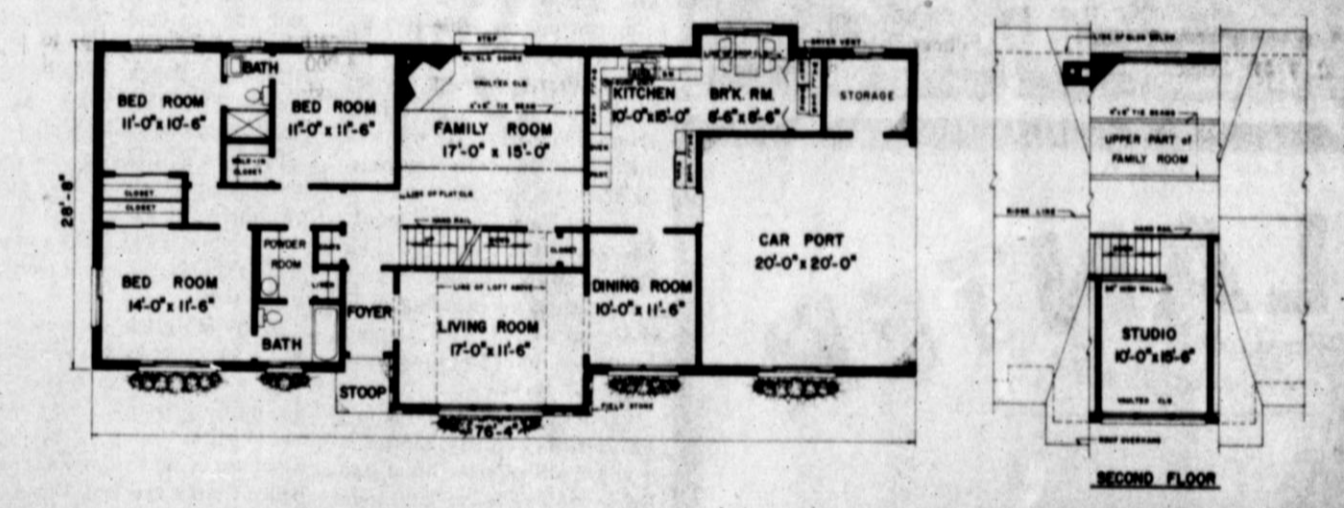

WASHINGTON (AP) - On the morning after President Carter delivered his latest fight-inflation speech, Washington newspaper readers could take their pick of reaction reported from business and financial circles.
 The lead article in the Washington Post said "business leaders, such as General Motors Corp. Chairman Thomas A. Murphy, expressed relief that the president continued to reject wage and price controls."
 Four pages later, under a headline that read "Dollar Weakens Sharply After Carter's Comments," a New York foreign exchange specialist, James Sinclair, was quoted as saying, "The market had anticipated some form of controls other than the voluntary restraint called for."
 Carter, in his carefully prepared address Tuesday to the American Society of Newspaper Editors, noted that, where inflation is involved, "There are no easy answers."
 This was something of an understatement. Indeed, every American will be watching to see if there are any workable answers that do not carry political or economic price tags too inflated to be acceptable to Carter, the Congress, business and labor.
 Already the unions that represent federal workers are in full cry against a central feature of Carter's anti-inflation program - a proposal to limit the 1978 salary increases for government while collar employees to 5.5 percent.
 Carter said he was bent on "setting an example for labor and industry to moderate price and wage increases."
 So, for purposes of argument, let's assume Congress approves the wage hike ceiling and that private employers do the same. Then further assume that living costs rise this year by about 7 percent, a level believed likely by many economists.
 Obviously, in such circumstances, the worker who is limited to a 5.5 percent wage boost would not be able to buy as much with his 1978 salary as he could a year ago.
 Equally obvious is the fact that if this happened on a massive scale, great numbers of Americans would be forced to lower their standard of living - not drastically, to be sure, but enough to feel a pinch.
 Of course, Carter did not voice a direct appeal for lower living standards. Nevertheless, his effort to have federal workers set an example would be a move toward the kind of belt-tightening that leads logically to at least a mild recession.

EXTRA EYE APPEAL

A NEW STYLE OF CONTEMPORARY LIVING

The plan includes an entrance foyer, large living room, separate dining room and stairs to the basement. The family room is large but tends to be larger with exposure of studio and high ceiling. It has a fireplace and glass sliding doors to the rear.
 The kitchen is supplied with surplus cabinet and countertop and includes built-ins. It is adjacent to atmospheric breakfast bay and easily accessible to washer and dryer provisions.
 The carport is a side entry one and extra storage is provided at the rear of same.
 There are three large bedrooms and two full baths. Each bedroom is directly adjacent to bath facilities. The master bath includes decorative powder room plus linen storage and is also adjacent to main hall. All bedrooms include ample closet space, plus coat closet in main hall.
 The exterior style is unusually attractive with high pitched roof on A-frame center section, this section accented by extra glass. The remaining exterior is brick veneer with horizontal sliding windows and vertical siding.
 All W. D. Farmer plans include special energy conservation details.
 The plan is number 744B. It includes 1,780 square feet on the main floor with 155 square feet of studio or loft. For further information write W. D. Farmer, P.O. Box 49463, Atlanta, Ga. 30350.

Fem Thinclads Run In Loop Meet Saturday

The Hereford Whiteface girls track team will be aiming at berths in the Regional Meet when they compete in the District 4-4A Meet in Lubbock tomorrow. Monterey, based on strengths in the field events, relays, hurdles and mile run, are considered the odds-on favorite to take the team title.

Hereford will be looking to senior Velma Arroyos in the 880 and sophomore Darlene Sanders in the 220 and 100 for points in the team race. "Monterey has to be considered the favorite, but I don't think that one of the rest of us can't beat them," Herd coach Roy Shipp said this morning. "It will be a close race for second in any case."

Sanders has been the hottest item on the team this season, placing high in virtually every meet in the sprints. She owns the best 220 time in the loop to date, and is tied for the top century clocking.

Arroyos is the defending 880 champion in the district, and had a best time of 2:28.0 last season. The HHS senior has been stymied of late, however.

"It has been rough for Velma the past couple of weeks," Shipp said. "She earned a place in the finals at Amarillo, but wasn't picked, and then she fell last week at Borger and got up to finish fifth."

Other top contenders for Hereford include Beverly Nixon in the high jump and 80 hurdles, in the high jump and 80 Hurdles, Teresa Lambert in the discus, Anna Wilson, in the shot, and Tawana Moito in the long jump.

"Beverly could be a threat in the hurdles, but she's going to have to run her best time," Shipp said. Lambert placed second in the discus last year, while Wilson was figured to give Monterey's Jana Field a run for the money in the shot. Field is the defending loop champion in the event, and is just a junior.

Moton recently joined the HHS team, and will also run in the 100 and sprint relay as well as trying her best in the long jump. "Tawana has just gotten out for track, and I don't really know what to expect out of her," Shipp said.

Besides Field in the shot Monterey has a top threat in the hurdles in Marilyn Beckner.

The Herd will be at top form in the meet. "We are probably in the best condition we have been in all year," Shipp said. "You never know, some of these girls could really come through for us."

The top two finishers in each event will qualify for the Region I Meet, which will be held in Lubbock April 21-22.

Fans Sweet On Reggie

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

How sweet it was for Reggie Jackson.

Returning for the first time to the scene of his greatest personal triumph, the New York Yankee slugger delivered on his first at-bat and triggered a shower of candy bars at Yankee Stadium Thursday.

"I didn't want anyone to get hit in the head," said Jackson. "but I knew it was a gesture of appreciation."

Hundreds in the crowd of 44,667 who had received the candy bars as an Opening Day gift pitched them on the field following Jackson's three-run homer in the first inning that got the defending World Champions off to a 4-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Jackson's blast off Wilbur Wood was the fourth straight at the Stadium for the Yankee star, who hit three homers in his final three appearances in last October's sixth-game World Series victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The flood of candy bars, which incidentally are endorsed by Jackson and called "Reggie!" bars, forced a delay of five minutes.

Netters At District Meet

First-year coach Sheila Watley took her Whiteface netters to Lubbock today, hoping to help the rest of the loop stymie the heavily-favored Coronado Mustangs at the District 4-4A Tennis Tournament.

"Coronado will probably win both the boys and girls division," the young HHS coach said Thursday afternoon. "They are very strong, and I wouldn't be surprised if their doubles teams finished one-two."

The coach also figured Monterey to have some hopes in singles play, and of course she was figuring on having some Whitefaces in the thick of it.

Kevin Downing was to play number one singles for the HHS boys team today, while Joni Webb was listed the top fem singles hope. Bill Bayne joined Downing in Division A singles, while Hereford also had Kim Martin in the girls field.

Division A doubles teams for Hereford included Pudgy Vargas-Jimmy Ramirez, Eddie Castaneda-Roy Rodriguez, Kaye Innon-Rhenalee King, and Patricia Grimsley-Melinda Tatum.

Division B entrants for Hereford include Scott Formby, Mike Beatty, Wade Easley, Rodney Barrett, and Lisa Blakely in singles, and Tim Hamlett-Ryan Lawson and Karla Driskill-Lynn Mitts in doubles.

Hereford was hampered this week with the loss of Todd Martin, who was involved in an automobile accident Tuesday.

The tourney will continue through the weekend.

Boyd, Destroyer In Mat Rematch

Lord Jonathan Boyd will meet The Super Destroyer in a return match Saturday night in Lions Club wrestling's main event at the Bull Barn. The two men are nearly evenly matched in size, with the Australian Boyd at 245, and Destroyer hanging in close to that weight.

Boyd was accused of using illegal methods to beat the Destroyer in last week's match. The Los Angeles-based Destroyer has never been unmasked in nearly nine years. Boyd is one half of the tag team of the Royal Kangaroos. His partner is now wrestling in Europe.

Teddy Dibiase returns after a long absence in the Orient. The 245-pound ex-footballer from West Texas State University has been in Japan and Singapore for several weeks. A former resident of Nebraska and Arizona, he now makes his home in Amarillo. He is son of the late, great Iron Mike Dibiase, who died in the ring in Lubbock nine years ago.

Dibiase meets big Hans Schroeder, the 265-pound ex-boxer, ex-soldier, ex-merchant seaman from Germany. The powerful Schroeder also excelled in "Thriving," or finger wrestling - an odd German sport in which contestants sometimes break fingers or have them literally torn off.

Peper Labianca meets Joyce Grable, as girls once again return to Hereford. Grable is one half of the women's World Tag Team Champions, along with Vicki Williams.

In the opener, Berry Orton meets North Carolina's Rip Hawk. Berry is from Kansas City, and is son of famed veteran Bob Orton. He will spot the squat Hawk five pounds. Hawk steps in at 230.

In other matches last week, The Super Destroyer subbed for Don Fargo in the opener. Fargo was arrested for brawling in El Paso, and was still in jail Saturday night. The Destroyer drew with Hawk.

In tag team action, El Vikingo and Hermes were disqualified in a match with Carlos Mata and Boby Pico. The speedy light heavyweights had one of the most exciting matches seen in Hereford in some time.

Action at the Bull Barn starts at 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

The hulking Denver Bronco defensive end, Lyle Alzado, once worked as a professional floral arranger.

Walter Johnson, the great right-hander of the Washington Senators, shut out the Philadelphia Athletics 23 times during his career.

La Plata, Stanton Host Zone Meet

By BOB NIGH
Sports Writer

The La Plata Maverick and Stanton Dogie track squads were the host teams today as the Panhandle Junior High Athletic League South Zone track meet got underway at Whiteface Field.

The Maverick 7th grade was the odds-on favorite to win its division at the meet, which began today at 10 a.m. with the running prelims. La Plata and Plainview were listed as co-favorites in the 8th grade division, while Plainview was considered a heavy favorite to take the 9th grade crown.

Field events began at 12 noon, while the running finals were set to begin at 2 p.m.

La Plata was a runaway winner in the 7th grade division of the Deaf Smith County Invitational March 16 with 128 points to runner-up Plainview's 84. Stanton finished third with 74 points.

In the 8th grade division of the DSC Meet Plainview Estacado won the team title with 144 points to La Plata's 127. The Plainview team took wins in the 440 Relay, Mile Relay, 100, long jump, pole vault, and 330 IH in winning the title. La Plata walked away with firsts in the 880, high jump, shot put, and mile in finishing second.

"It could all come down to the mile relay," La Plata coach Eddy Helms said Thursday. "We've made some changes since the Hereford meet and it could be interesting."

Plainview was an easy winner in the 9th grade division of the Hereford Meet. The Bulldogs earned 126 points to runner-up Canyon's 99 at the meet. Stanton placed fourth overall with 60 points, while La Plata was 7th as a team with 18 points.

The Maverick 7th grade looks strong today with Raymond Martinez expected to claim both the shot and discus titles as well as earning points in the 100 and running a leg on the 440 Relay and Mile Relay teams. Alfred Ball was expected to win both the 120 Hurdles and 330 Hurdles as well as running on the 440 Relay team and participating in the long jump.

Stanton's Charlie Garza, undefeated in the mile this year, was the early favorite in that event, while Ricky Valdez was given a chance against Martinez in the shot.

In the 8th grade division the Mavericks were loaded with Joe Soliz in the 880, Alan Wartes in the hurdles events, pole vault and high jump, Aubrey Richburg in the shot and discus, Bruce Clarke and Don Delozier in the high jump, and Henry Hernandez in the shot, discus, and 440.

Stanton looked to Wayne High in the 120 Hurdles for points in the 8th grade division, while additional help was expected from Eddie Salazar in the 440, Pete Hogan in the 880, and George Arroyos in the mile.

The two local schools were considered weaker in the 9th grade division, with La Plata's main hopes resting on Chris Schumacher in the 330 Hurdles, and Stanton watching Norman Brown in the 100 and 440 Relay. Harold Terry in the 220, Joe San Miguel in the high jump, and Armando Ramirez in the mile.

Teams from Canyon and Plainview join the Mavs and Dogies in the meet, at which the top three finishers qualify for the district meet later, where they will join the top three placers from the North Zone.

Other pre-meet possibilities for Stanton and La Plata include:

- 7th Grade
880 - Lane Warren, SJH.
High Jump - Joe Castillo, SJH.
Long Jump - Rudy Martinez, LJH.
100 - Martinez and Fidencio Garcia, LJH.
220 - R. Martinez and Garcia.

Golfers, Thinclads At Amarillo Relays

The Hereford Whitefaces were listed among the favorites in the golf tournament and Herd sprinter Paul Bell was expected to lead the Whiteface track team as the Amarillo Relays got underway today.

Hereford, leading the District 4-4A golf race by 28 shots over second-place Monterey, was expected to fight it out with Tascosa, Amarillo High, Monterey, and Borger for the golf title.

Tascosa, winner of the Hereford Tournament over the Herd, owns a three-shot lead over the Sandies in the 3-4A race, while Borger leads the 1-3A battle by 63 strokes over its own B team.

Hereford will be led at the meet by district medalist-leader Kelly Kitchens. Other top medalists contenders include AHS's James Bischof, Tascosa's Brent Jacobs and Jon Davis, Plainview's Kelly Raper, second to Kitchens in the 4-4A race, and Borger's Mike Ray.

Monterey won the Division I meet last year. The 4A-3A schools will play at the Amarillo Country Club course, while the smaller schools will compete at the Tascosa Country Club.

Dalhart and Memphis are figured to be in the race for the small school title.

The top six teams after today's 18 holes (including ties) advance to the second round tomorrow. Also, any individual in the top six whose team doesn't make it into the final round will advance in medalist play.

In track action set for Dick Bivins Stadium, Tascosa and El Paso Irving were the early favorites in the 4A-3A division. The two-day meet began at 1:30 p.m. today with the running finals set to begin at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Bell is expected to battle for points in the 100 and 440 dashes at the meet. The HHS junior has run a 49.5 quarter and a 9.9 century after being sidelined for most of the season with muscle woes.

Other top HHS hopes rest on Mike Kerr and Jim Fish in the shot and discus, and Brent Allen in the hurdles.

Knicks, Bucks Out To Wrap Up Series

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

The New York Knicks and Milwaukee Bucks, also-rans a year ago, aim to wrap up their National Basketball Association first-round playoff series at home tonight, while the Washington Bullets and Seattle SuperSonics try to close out their series on the road.

"If we play like we did in the opener, we'll be tough to beat," said Knicks Coach Willis Reed, whose club came up with one of its best games of the year in beating the Cleveland Cavaliers 132-114 at Richfield, Ohio Wednesday.

Reed's Cleveland counterpart, Bill Fitch, agrees.

"I was worried about something like this," he said. "Everyone around the league will tell you the same thing: if the Knicks play together and shoot well, they're tough. And they played together; they looked like they'd been together five years."

And they shot well, 61 percent to be exact. Bob McAdoo leading the way with 41 points on 17 for 25 from the field. What's more, tonight they'll have the home-court advantage.

Besided Cleveland at New York, tonight's schedule also lists the Phoenix Suns at Milwaukee Bucks, the Washington Bullets at Atlanta Hawks and the Seattle SuperSonics at Los Angeles Lakers, the latter on national TV CBS, 11:30 p.m. EST.

Milwaukee Coach Don Nelson, whose club had the worst record in the Western Conference last season, had listed making the playoffs as his team's primary goal this season. But now that the Bucks are there, Nelson sees no reason why they can't keep on going, especially after they opened with a 111-103 win over the Phoenix Suns at Phoenix.

"There's nothing very complicated about the playoffs," said Nelson, who played in 150 playoff games as a member of the Boston Celtics. "You have to play hard, play well, do all the little things and take advantage of situations as they come up. It's just executive and hard play. It's no big secret."

A Box Full of Birmingham

The Mini Page asked fourth graders at Fultondale Elementary School to make up a Birmingham Box. In this box they would put several things that would tell people about their city. Below are their ideas.

A church— Birmingham is sometimes called a city of churches.

Airplane— The city's airport has been in the news because many citizens think it needs more flights to more places.

Animals— The city's zoo is the largest in the Southeast.

Football— Birmingham is called the "Football Capital of the South." Many high school colleges teams play there.

Stars— School children and visitors often visit the city's Planetarium where they learn about the night sky.

Flags— Some parts of the city hang up rows of flags on holidays.

Hockey— The city has a pro hockey team, the Bulls.

Red Mountain Ore— A road through Red Mountain exposes iron ore that made the city grow. Iron and steel are big businesses in the city.

Volcan— Vulcan is the world's largest cast iron statue. It overlooks the top of Red Mountain. He is a symbol of the iron and steel business.

Austria . . . The Fairy Land of the World

Austria is a tiny country. It has a lot of beautiful mountains, fields, streams, rivers and lakes. It has fairy-tale castles, small villages and pretty cities. Some people call it the fairy land of the world. The city of Vienna is the capital. It has been called the music capital of the world because so many composers have worked there. There are many small factories especially around Vienna. Vienna is also the home of the famous Lipizzan horses. The Danube is a river that flows through Austria. There are many churches in Austria. Most of the people (90 percent) are Catholic.

The Mini Page would like to thank the Jefferson County Schools, Birmingham, Alabama, and the Birmingham News for their cooperation in preparing this issue.

A Festival in Alabama

Birmingham, Austria, U.S.A.

Birmingham is the largest city in Alabama.

The Festival of Arts is a celebration Birmingham puts on each spring.

It is the oldest festival of its kind in the world.

Each year the city honors a different foreign country.

They have been doing this for 27 years in a row.

In 1977, the country was Austria.

There were art shows, ballets, concerts and plays by and about Austrians.

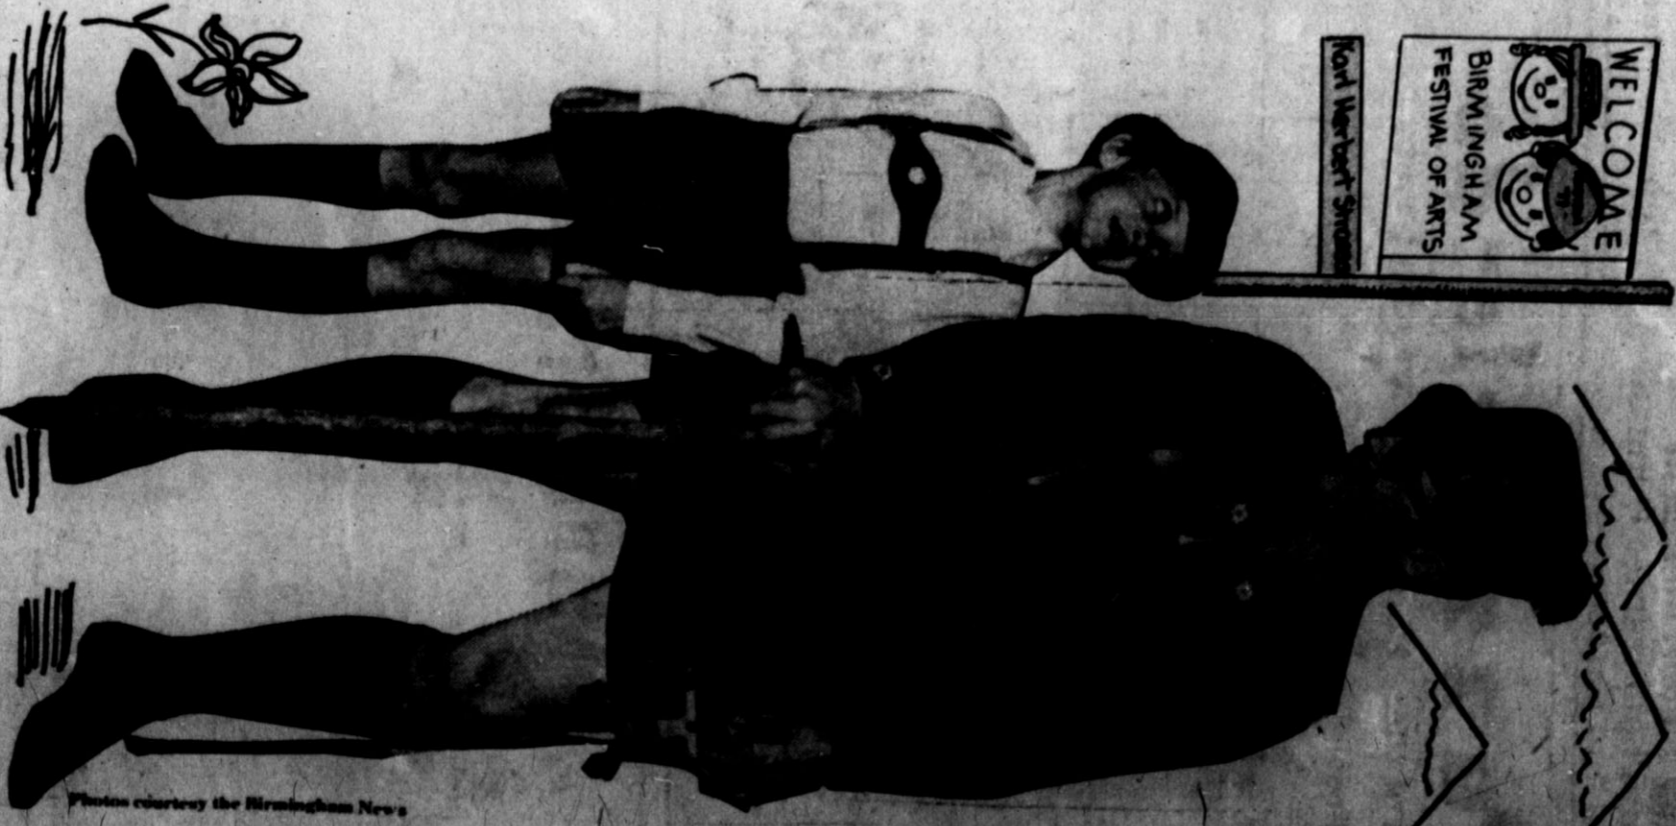

There was a fair where countries from all over the world sold things.

Some of the downtown street signs came down. Austrian street signs went up.

The festival lasts for 10 days. The school children study all about the country for several weeks.

Right now the children are studying all about another country in Europe.

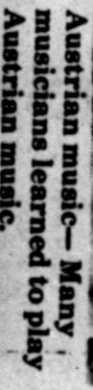

Belgium comes to Birmingham this spring.

Austrian costumes—These two people look as if they could be standing on a mountain in Austria. They are really in a Birmingham, Alabama, classroom.

Austrian cooking—The kids cooked recipes and brought them to school.

Austrian music—Many musicians learned to play Austrian music.

Austrian souvenirs—Some people bought balloons, hats and T-shirts as souvenirs of the festival.

Draw a line to these pictures on the page: balloons accordions book unicycle street sign

Austrians speak German. Try these words for yourself.

A first grade class in Birmingham practices German.

This class of first graders had a special treat last spring.

They went to the airport to meet the ambassador from Austria when he came to the festival.

They greeted him in German. Many school children in Birmingham learned German words and phrases.

Birmingham Film Festival

For the past five years, awards have been given at the Birmingham Film Festival. These awards go to the best educational films. These are the kinds of films that you might see at school. A few of the 1977 winning films are:

BEST ELEMENTARY
"Whazzaz?" This film is about clay figures that find themselves in many adventures. They come upon a creature and decide it is an elephant. The clay figures and the elephant enjoy getting to know each other. (Made by Encyclopedia Britannica)

BEST EARLY CHILDHOOD
(preschool through grade three)
"Courtesy: A Good Egg example." Eggs play the starring role in this film about how to make the day more pleasant. (Made by Barr Films)

SAFETY
"Primary School Bus Safety." In this film, kids learn to keep themselves safe while walking to and from the school bus stop and while on the bus. (Made by Centron Films)

The Festival is sponsored by the Alabama Education Association, the University of Alabama in Birmingham and the Alabama Power Company.

Help the girl find the _____

Veal Cutlet

This is a typical Austrian recipe. It is called Weiner Schnitzel (SHNIT-zel). You'll need an adult's help.

You'll need:

- 2 1/2 pounds veal steak
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 2 beaten eggs
- 1/4 cup dry bread crumbs
- 1/4 pound butter (1 stick)
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 3 tablespoons chopped parsley

Serves 6

What to do:

1. Cut veal steak into 6 pieces. Pound to make thinner.
2. Dip veal into mixture of flour, salt and pepper.
3. Dip each piece in beaten egg then in bread crumbs.
4. Melt half of butter in large frying pan. Add veal.
5. Cook over low heat until brown. (About 15 minutes.)
6. Remove veal from heat. Brown the rest of the butter in the frying pan. Add lemon juice and parsley and stir well. Pour over veal and serve.
