TWO SESSIONS DAILY

Gridders 'Look Good,' Improve

Two-a-day workouts for Hereford gridders are in full swing as football hopefuls gather at the Whiteface Field House daily for two to three hour sessions in the mornings and evenings. Head coach for the Hereford schools, Jack Meredith, says that workouts have been going "real well," with outstanding work showing up on the part of some of the players. The boys have been working on fundamentals and conditioning up till now, the coach explained, and will not begin any real contact work until later this week or next week.

SEVERAL players are exhibiting "real impressive" work. Meredith said, pointing out players Ernie Williams, Gary Goodin and Bill Coffin.

Quarterbacks Phillip Cain and Jim Childers both have come a long way. Hereford should have an outstanding line this fall, Meredith went on, saying that things were looking good up to this point. Problems with offense had appeared, but more work would be done in that area, the coach said.

A starting lineup for the Whitefaces could not be named this early he said, pointing out that there are several positions that "could go either way."

AN ANTICIPATED weak spot is much better than expected, the coach reported. Punters Gary Tucker and Mike Davis have demonstrated that kicking will not be a problem with the team this season.

One player, Ralph Loerwald, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Loerwald, was taken out of play after injuring himself in a practice session. Doctors report that his arm injury was a cracked bone, but that it might be well enough for Loerwald to play as the season closes.

First game for the Hereford gridders will come the night of Sept. 9, when the team meets Floydada on their field.

ALTHOUGH Floydada is not rated high in its district, Meredith points out that the team will have nine starters coming from See GRIDDERS Page 2

IN HIGH SCHOOL

Vocational Plans Extended

Students registering for vocational training this next week will be placed in several different categories according to Bill Michael, high school principal. Contact with the school can be made now by students or employers.

Homemaking and agriculture classes have been used by many students in the past but this year the program is taking on new scope as classes are added both in co-operative and in-school training.

Five areas are available under the new set-up. In-school classes include the homemaking and agriculture, auto mechanics, building trades, and cosmetology.

Needs for the area youth were determined from a survey conducted last October. Teachers from the Hereford schools interviewed area business people to see what kind of training would make their employees more valuable. The results were tabulated and the Texas Education Agency made the recommendations that resulted in the development of the program being offered this year.

Vocational classes are being offered in the schools because on-the-job training requires more merchants and employers than are readily available, Michael said. Since so many students are needing and wanting this training, the school board has proposed additional vocational school facilities for the present high school campus.

Cost of the proposed project is estimated to be about $300,000 of which the state will pay half.

In addition to the heavy load of in-school students who will be using the vocational classes this year, school officials anticipate increased need as students 'catch on' to the idea of getting such practical training as part of their high school program. Later, if the facilities are built, they can be used for adult education.

Students taking these vocational courses take other courses that are required for college and school counselors help them to decide how many credits they should be taking in the vocational fields.

On the job training, or work that is cooperative with craftsmen and business men in the community includes the distributive education program that has been a part of the high school curriculum for several years and a new program that will permit an extension of the cooperative training into fields other than retailing. This extension is called ICT or industrial cooperative training and embraces a wide range of crafts and business services.

Additional on-the-job training will come under the heading of vocational homemaking and vocational agricultural part time training and will be conducted with jobs held in the afternoons.

Four of the programs being offered this year make it possible for the student to be earning while he is training in school. Mornings are spent in classes at high school and a one hour class each day is devoted to the structural needs for the student to be equipped to begin training in the field he has chosen.

Afternoons are spent with the firm or farm that is employing the student.

The vocational homemaking will be under the direction of Mrs. Frank Prowell. Students will train with cafes or in homes and will learn homemaking skills as they earn.

Vocational agriculture cooperative part time training will be put into effect on the farms or in agriculturally related businesses.

The new ICT or industrial cooperative training classes will have about 35 students enrolled according to indications last spring when students filled sheets. Junior and senior students can get practical and theoretical training in a variety of trades and occupations. Practical work experiences are provided the student through part-time employment each afternoon. He can average four hours a day working. He will receive wages comparable to those paid beginning workers in the same occupation.

Typical occupations acceptable in the program are: auto mechanics, auto body repairing, electrical work, building trades, meat cutting, machine shop work, radio servicing, refrigeration service, welding and many others.

The program will operate under the direction of Alvin Smith, coordinator. Smith will See VOCATIONAL Page 2

City Amends Board Recommendations

By NAOMI HOPSON
News Editor

Growing pains complicated by the lack of communication sizes up the problems thrashed out Tuesday night by the areas' three taxing agencies.

The second meeting of the three bodies in two weeks, the meeting ended with the adoption by straw vote of an amended resolution designed

City Drops Subdivision

A move by city commissioners Monday evening took part of the Pioneer Addition, located on North Ave. K, out of the city limits. The action, upon request by developer Wayne Stark takes Blocks 1 and 2 and Blocks 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 of the tract out of city boundaries.

Stark estimated that about 40 per cent of the original 70 acre tract is still located within the city's bounds. Where sewer and water services had been extended by the city was not annexed.

Annexed to the city about two and a half years ago, the tract did not develop as originally planned due to a slow-down in housing construction. Stark said. With the housing situation as it now is, he didn't think development would come in the near future.

STARK plans to farm the area which is surrounded completely by agricultural land. He made the request as an economic move when it became apparent that development would be farther off than anticipated.

In other action at the regular commission meeting, the city fathers appointed two members to the zoning commission. Replacing Lee Kent and Steve Clements will be Marshall Wilson and J. R. "Monk" Johnson, both local merchants.

City Manager Dudley Bayne gave a budget report to the commissioners.

A NEW resolution concerning work in the taxing agencies of the city, county and schools was approved by the commissioners. (See story at right.)

to bring about closer working relationships among the groups: city, county and school board. Originally the recommendations in their first draft had been drawn up by the tax equalization board for the school district, Oliver Streu, Palmer Norton and Don Zimmerman.

The school board and county commissioners had previously adopted the recommendations. The city adopted them as amended in their Monday night meeting.

The amended fifth recommendation reads as follows:

"The City Tax Assessor shall furnish the Tax Assessors for the School and the County copies of all building permits and zoning changes as they occur. Each change noted by the individual Tax Assessor on old construction and all changes made on new construction as presented by the Tax Assessor should be presented at an annual meeting held where the three Tax Assessors and the Tax Assessor are present. This meeting should be held prior to any Tax Equalization Board meeting. These cards showing changes should be presented for discussion and correction and a possible solution before presented to the respective Tax Equalization Boards."

Present Tuesday night was Jim McMorries, professional tax evaluator retained by the three groups when extensive re-evaluation and co-ordination of property taxes was undertaken in 1960.

Illustrating the crux of the situation as McMorries stated it as being a lack of communication, was the misunderstanding by the board of equalization as to which properties had been left as they were and which properties had been re-evaluated during the past few years. McMorries stressed two factors that he felt would help to solve the problems and prevent a pile-up of misunderstanding within the taxing agencies and with the public: (1) the joint meeting of the tax assessors not later than June, with the boards of equalization meeting within ten days of each other after the agencies had compared notes and (2) discounting evaluations made from one deed. He explained that sale prices are misleading for numerous reasons.

Several members of the taxing agencies asked if the up-

Dee Miller Speaks To Democrats

Candidate for Congress Dee Miller was in Hereford Monday, speaking to a group of local Democrats in a "get acquainted" session.

The young Amarillo lawyer, who recently was selected by the Demos to replace Representative Walter Rogers on the November ballot, spoke to the Democrats at a luncheon meeting at the Caison House Restaurant.

Introduced by county chairman Leo Witkowski, Miller told the group, "It's not the start that counts, but rather the finish in November."

Miller, who recently resigned as district attorney in Amarillo, is 32 years old. He received his BBA degree in banking and finance from the University of Texas and received a law degree from Southern Methodist University. He is married and the father of two daughters.

He told the gathered Democrats that he is "not afraid of the position." As he explained his viewpoint, Miller said that he had intentions of winning the November election and going on into Congress with the idea of "going up to stay."

"People have said that I know little about agriculture, he quipped. "I want to squelch See MILLER Page 2

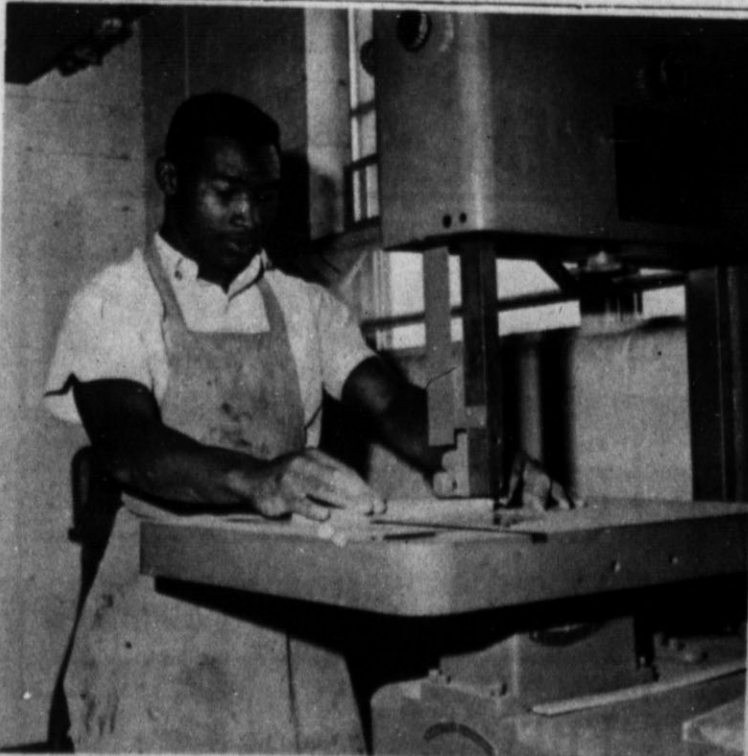

Accident Is Fatal For City Child

Struck by a pickup driven by his father in the driveway of the family home, Terrance Thomas was pronounced dead on arrival at Deaf Smith County Hospital Sunday evening.

Graveside funeral services for the two-and-a-half year old boy were conducted Tuesday afternoon in West Park Cemetery by the Rev. L. V. Mays, pastor of New Zion Baptist Church. Gilliland Funeral Home directed interment.

Littleton Thomas, the father, said the small boy was playing in the yard when he got into the vehicle about 7 p. m., and apparently ran behind the pickup while Thomas was starting the motor. He said the pickup backed over the boy.

Tarrance was born in Hereford Feb. 23, 1964. The family lives at 903 Bradley. In addition to the parents the child is survived by four sisters and two brothers.

INTRICATE JOB — Operating the small blade of a power saw which can cut a sheet of wood on straight or curved lines, Ernie Williams concentrates on the pattern he is following in a woodworking class. Use of the modern equipment is taught along with principles of construction.

Help Given To Local Children

A center for the achievement of human potential will soon begin its operations in Hereford. The local center will be using therapy just as it has been taught in San Antonio where each of the children who will attend the center has been receiving instruction and evaluation for some time.

The purpose of patterning is basically to help children who have suffered brain damage as a result of birth injuries, disease, or accidents. Its basic premise is to train uninjured brain cells to do the work that would normally have been done by the damaged portions, the parents said. This is achieved in part through the constant patterning, or repetition of this therapy. Parents are told by the clinic personnel that by repeatedly performing his patterns and practicing creeping and crawling improves the neurological organization of a person's brain cells. It also has been known to improve his sight, parents said. Children who have had brain damage often have sight problems among other problems.

ONE LOCAL CHILD who wore very thick glasses and was almost blind, was greatly improved after only two months. His eyes were much, much stronger. Naturally improvement is not always so rapid and noticeable as this, and much of it depends upon the determination of the parents to help the child the clinicians maintain.

A great deal of strain is put upon the parent who adopts the patterning therapy, for it is a highly intense program. The child must pattern a minimum of four, usually six, times each day, seven days a week, with at least a half hour space between patterns. Each pattern takes five minutes and requires the help of five people. In addition the child must crawl seven See HELP Page 13

TUNING HER UP — Tinkering with an automobile engine is a familiar pastime to most American boys, but in the shop at Hereford High School the tinkering is done under expert guidance as part of the experience given boys in the vocational program. be responsible for the selection and will correlate their practical and technical training. The course is designed to give practical down to earth training the instructor said.

The distributive education program will be under the direction of John Griggs who will instruct between 30 and 35 students in morning classes and supervise them in retail work with merchants in the afternoon.

In-school classes will include the vocational programs already established along with the addition of building trades and cosmetology.

Gerald Weekly will instruct 30-40 in all phases of building and the group will ultimately construct an actual residential type structure. Instruction will be all the way from how to drive a nail to the complicated processes involved in cabinet making, the high school principal said.

Cosmetology will be under the direction of Mrs. Marie Crafton. The girls, 40 are expected, will be given the training that will lead to their qualifying to meet the State Board of Hairdressers and Cosmetologist requirements.

dating of property evaluations would solve any problems. McMorries explained that county properties seemed to be fairly well in line since the agencies involved had been making adjustment for irrigation well changes.

McMorries said that updating could be done and in his opinion needed to be done since many areas in the city have undergone sudden and drastic changes. Some neighborhoods needed to be lowered and others need to be raised according to the tax man. He said that if he received the order within the next 30 days he could get it done before next June.

Burgeoning growth of the city has led to an unique situation McMorries said after the meeting. In defining the situation, he said that ordinarily the tax schedule set up when the groups made their mutual agreement in 1950 would be sufficiently accurate to retain for several years.

Streu asked specifically about the areas recently annexed to the city. These areas apparently have created some misunderstanding.

Development of commercial areas in areas formerly classified as residential also brought the equalization boards under fire, Streu explained.

McMorries said that he had explained to some of the tax assessors that certain changes such as the Park Ave. and 385 changes should not be made until the whole schedule could be changed. He said that last year he had expressed his concern over downtown property evaluation saying that it needed attention before any other.

AREAS WHERE heavy Latin population exists need to be considered he said.

Another factor brought to light was the failure on the part of some agencies to notify McMorries when the boards of equalization would meet.

Paramount in the misunderstanding was the role the professional company was to play in the city tax office. McMorries said that the city had not consulted him for assistance other than to bring tax cards for him to include in files. The city manager, Dudley Bayne explained that the city thought that the fee charged by McMorries for the city share of the tax service did not include consulting services.

McMORRIES SAID that he thought the original agreement between his company and the three agencies supplied consulting services to all agencies with the fee split with the city footing $400 of the total, school tax district $700 and $1200 being charged to the county.

He explained further that he had not had a call as a consultant from the city since 1962 and had not had one from the school this year.

In discussing fees, he told the group that he had been losing from $700-$1100 each year in processing the area's property. He said that he had given the district his personal attention where he could and had personally delivered tax cards to the three agencies.

THIS YEAR, a particular problem developed when large industrial taxes were being reviewed and the agencies were not communicating with each other. McMorries explained that he had personally conferred with business men and that they had agreed with him that a certain figure would be equitable. Another tax assessor did not agree with this. The group Tuesday night reached the conclusion that to avoid future problems, the rigid adherence to the plan outlined must be maintained with the groups using the professional consultant.

Johnny Clark, superintendent of schools, pointed out that the tax assessors had not created an unlawful problem by working out problems by themselves but that for future operation of a smooth tax structure in the community, the three assessors would of necessity have to know of the policy adopted and would have to be required to adhere to it. Bill Gentry and Marcus Latham suggested that the past should be discussed only in the light of making recommendations for future measures necessary to bring about co-operation between the three agencies.

Some present felt that the discussion of the break-down in communications served a useful purpose by defining the problem so those particular pitfalls could be avoided in the future.

Present at the meeting were board members and commissioners of the City of Hereford, the Hereford Independent School District and Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court, Judge H. C. (Hank) Williams, Bayne and Clark.

its last year members. Meredith said he is expecting them to have a good club to meet Hereford the first week after Labor Day, but will know more as weeks pass and observation is kept up to date.

A RECEPTION from 2 until 4 p. m. Monday at Sugarland Mall will honor the football team, along with the 1966-67 cheerleaders, who will gather in the shopping center.

The public is specially asked to attend the event, says Clete Corlis, president of the Sugarland Mall Association.

The players will be in their jerseys, and will get acquainted with persons attending and answering questions. Cold punch and cookies will be served, Corlis said.

Some 34 boys have come out to the field house twice daily for the beginning workouts, Meredith said, making up the varsity and junior varsity teams.

HEREFORD coaches are optimistic as they look forward to the autumn season. Workouts are showing boys looking good at the very first, and with the improvement sure to be made between now and Sept. 9, coaches are expecting to have a good ball club.

Wildorado Nurse Is African Missionary

Kathryn McClain, daughter of Mrs. John T. McClain of Wildorado, is going to Africa with the hope that she can communicate her "deep desire" to help the people be happier and healthier.

A 1966 graduate of Baylor University School of Nursing, Waco, Tex., she will serve at the Baptist Tuberculosis Hospital in Mbeya, Tanzania. She is going under the Southern Baptist Missionary Journeyman Program of two-year service for young college graduates.

She and 47 other journeymen were commissioned in Richmond

Va. (location of Foreign Mission Board headquarters), on August 11, after eight weeks of intensive training. After brief visits to their homes they will head for mission posts around the world.

Kathern expects to do general duty nursing in Tanzania. "Wherever I'm needed, that's where I'll be," she says. She will probably have some supervisory responsibility.

She thinks the Journeyman Program is "a wonderful thing" for Christian young people who want to communicate their faith to others. She expects to visit Journeyman training this summer was held at Virginia Intermont College, Bristol. Curriculum included linguistics, language study Swahili for Kathern, Bible, area studies, physical education, vocational studies, personal development, and other subjects. Each weekday started with calisthenics before breakfast, and classes lasted until nine at night (then came homework).

AROUND THE TURN — Excitement was high at the competition of Hereford Raceway's Mid-Season championships Sunday afternoon. Jim Dawson, car no. 66 hugs the inside as he roars around curved embankment. (Staff Photo)

AT THE RACES

Merchants Attract Stock Car Buffs

Hereford Raceway's Mid-Season championships were completed Sunday, after being carried over another week because of wet weather.

One of the main attractions for Sunday's event was the Teen race, run by area teenagers who have their own cars. Larry Paetzold took top honors in the division, followed by David Vines and Max Bridges.

Those drivers placing in the following heats were: First slow heat, Jerry Marsh, Bob Brown, Carroll Elliott; Second slow heat, Robert Williams, Frank Easton and Bud Godwin. Third heat, fast, Bobby Byers, Jim Culpepper and Bill Byers. First Semi-Main, slow; Bill Paetzold, Billy Bates and Jim Leinen. Second Semi-Main, slow, Jerry Marsh, Carroll Elliott and Bud Godwin. Third Semi-Main, fast, Bill Byers, Dwayne Byers and Jim Culpepper.

In the first Main event, slow, Jerry Marsh, Billy Bates and Bob Brown. Second Main event, fast, Bobby Byers, Bill Byers and Jim Dawson.

The high point trophy winner in the slow car division was Jerry Marsh, and Bobby Byers was the winner in the fast car division.

Red Easton placed first in the merchants race, which included Hereford business men and also the news media.

Other merchants placing in the race were Johnny Pool, second; Dr. Gayle Page, third; G. D. Caison, fourth; Roy Faubion, fifth; Wendell Maloney, sixth; John Warren, seventh; Melvin Young, eighth; and James Welch, ninth. Clete Corlis spun out in the

No. 4 turn after driving a strong race, but didn't finish. O. H. Culpepper and Martin Reed Moore also ran strong races.

Trophy girl for the Teen race was Sheila Rhodes, and Wanda Underwood was the trophy girl for the remaining races. Both girls were presented a gift certificate from J. C. Penney's.

One of the highlights of the afternoon was the spinout and roll of car No. 18, driven by Keyo Okumoto. Okumoto came out without a scratch, but the car didn't have such good luck.

The concession stand has recently been turned over to the Optomist club, and all proceeds will go "for the boy."

AT BUFFALO

Biologists See Result Of Lake Stocking Plan

UMBARGER — Fishery biologists, checking fish populations in Buffalo Lake south of Amarillo, reported picking up a six inch walleye in excellent condition.

Leo Lewis, regional fishery supervisor, said the thriving specimen is one of 500,000 walleye fry stocked in Buffalo Lake three months ago as part of an experimental program started in 1964 under the supervision of the Federal Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife.

The first experimental introduction of several thousand northern pike in Buffalo Lake apparently failed since none have been recovered.

The Walleye predators, believed to be more adaptable to Texas waters than the voracious northern pike, are already being noted in Lake Meredith in the northern Texas Panhandle. A third Texas lake — Possum Kingdom — also has lately provided substantial specimens of walleye growth.

In addition to the half million already released, 60,000 walleye fingerlings will be liberated in Buffalo Lake late this summer.

I would like to thank all of the wonderful people who supported me in the Miss Diamond Jubilee contest at Dimmitt. Through your help, I received second runner up. I know of no better way to express my gratitude than by saying thank you.

GOLF ISN'T EVERYTHING

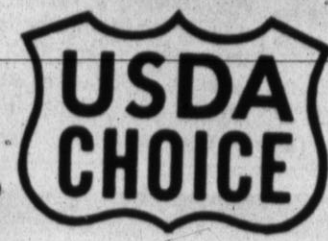

SAN FRANCISCO — Kel Nagle, runnerup for the 1965 U. S. Open title, had more on his mind than golf when he finished with 298 for the four rounds.

His wife was back home in Australia with high blood pressure. After two rounds Nagle was only six shots off the leaders. He then shot an 81 and finished with a more respectable 74 to earn $270.

Veterans Advised About School Pay

Approximately 28,000 veterans in Waco Veterans Administration Regional Office area are expected to apply for educational benefits under PL 89-358 during the first year, according to Jack Coker, Manager of the Waco Regional Office.

The first payments have now been issued to veterans enrolled in summer schools and these payments were for attendance during the month of June. Payments may be made only after the VA receives a certificate of attendance submitted by the veterans at the end of each month he is in attendance.

Coker cautioned that students reporting for school this fall should have sufficient funds in addition to enrollment costs to support themselves for at least two months, since it takes approximately that long before the first VA check may be issued. Students should be prepared also to supplement educational allowance payments, as normally these payments will not be sufficient to cover all of their educational expenses.

Veterans applying for benefits will receive a certificate of eligibility showing the school and the training objective they have selected. These are presented to the school, which in turn will certify veterans' enrollments.

Barbecue Set By Local Knights Of Columbus

Hereford Council of the Knights of Columbus will sponsor a barbecue this week in a fund-raising event at the St. Anthony's School.

Coker urged that veterans be sure that they meet entrance requirements and that they will be accepted by their chosen school before filing an application for educational benefits.

Barbecue Set By Local Knights Of Columbus

Knights have set the barbecue for serving from 4 until 7 p. m. Sunday Aug. 28.

Following the serving hours there will be an open-air dance, weather permitting, on the parking lot at the school.

Barbecue will be served for $1.25 for adults (high school and older), 75 cents for grade school children and free for pre-schoolers.

Proceeds from the event will go into the Knights' general fund.

YHT Delegates To Area Named

Delegates to an area meeting at which two members will be candidates for office, were named from the Hereford Chapter, Young Homemakers of Texas, Tuesday evening when Mrs. Larry Dobbs was hostess in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Wagner.

Mrs. Dobbs will be a candidate for state vice president of Area I, and Mrs. Layton Sawyer seeks the office of area vice president. The annual convention will be held in Tulia Sept. 10 and a number of members plan to go from Hereford.

Voting delegates will be Mrs. Raymond Gerke and Mrs. Jerry Don Glove, with Mrs. Lewis Block and Mrs. James Dobbs as alternates.

final session of the chapter year. Officers will be installed and a new year begun Sept. 21.

Mrs. Block presented an outline of the 1966-67 yearbook, announcing new committees.

After business, a series of games was directed by Mrs. Glover. The hostess served refreshments in a summer theme, featuring a watermelon spectacular. The melon was cut in the shape of a basket from which guests helped themselves to chilled fruit pieces.

Guests were Mrs. Robert Williams and Mrs. Wagner. Other members present were Mrs. Bud Thomas, Mrs. J. J. Durham and Mrs. Joe Bradley.

Easter Lions Aid In Pageant

Easter Lions Club members led by their new president, Boss Lion Bill Struve, were responsible for production of one scene in the Castro County Diamond Jubilee pageant last week. They enacted a pioneer picnic skit in pantomime, wearing costumes of 75 years ago.
 John Smith appeared as a fire chief, Leo Hall a fireman, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Barton and Mrs. Weldon Stephens, bicycle riders, D. E. Banks a policeman.

 Others in the scene were Mr. and Mrs. Struve, Charles Frye, Stephens, Mrs. Banks and Betty, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Mary Behrends and children, Bob and Earl.
 Noting that the club is interested in lending help to all civic projects, Struve thanked members and their families who took part in the pageant, with special thanks for the aid of the Stephens and Frye, who are not club members.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 2, Article VI, Constitution of the State of Texas, be amended by deleting the following language:

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 9, Article IX of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended to read as follows:

"Section 9. The Legislature may by law provide for the creation, establishment, maintenance and operation of hospital districts created under Article IX of the Constitution. The Legislature may also provide for the purchase, construction, acquisition, repair or renovation of buildings and improvements and equipping same, for hospital purposes; providing for the transfer to the hospital district of the title to any land, buildings, improvements and equipment located wholly within the district which may be jointly or separately owned by any city, town or county, providing that any district so created shall assume full responsibility for providing medical and hospital care for its needy inhabitants and assume the outstanding indebtedness incurred by cities, towns and counties for hospital purposes prior to the creation of the district, if same are located wholly within its boundaries, and a pro rata portion of such indebtedness based upon the then last approved tax assessment rolls of the included cities, towns and counties if less than all the territory thereof is included within the district boundaries; providing that after its creation no other municipality or political subdivision shall have the power to levy taxes or issue bonds or other obligations for hospital purposes or for providing medical care within the boundaries of the district; providing for the levy of annual taxes at a rate not to exceed seventy-five cents (75c) on the One Hundred Dollar valuation of all taxable property within such district for the purpose of meeting the requirements of the district's bonds, the indebtedness assumed by it and its maintenance and operating expenses, providing that such district shall not be created or such tax authorized unless approved by a majority of the qualified property taxing electors thereof voting at an election called for the purpose and provided further that the support and maintenance of the district's hospital system shall never become a charge against or obligation of the State of Texas nor shall any direct appropriation be made by the Legislature for the construction, maintenance or improvement of any of the facilities of such district.

Provided, however, that no district shall be created except by act of the Legislature and then only after thirty (30) days' public notice to the district affected, and in no event may the Legislature provide for a district to be created without the affirmative vote of a majority of the taxing voters in the district concerned.

The Legislature may also provide for the dissolution of hospital districts provided that a process is afforded by statute for:

(1) determining the desire of a majority of the qualified voters within the district to dissolve it;

(2) disposing of or transferring the assets, if any, of the district; and

(3) satisfying the debts and bond obligations, if any, of the district, in such manner as to protect the interest of the citizens within the district, including their collective property rights in the assets and property of the district, provided, however, that any grant from federal funds, however dispensed shall be considered an obligation to be repaid in satisfaction and provided that no election to dissolve shall be held more often than once each year. In such connection, the statute shall provide against disposal or transfer of the assets of the district except for due compensation unless such assets are transferred to another governmental agency, such as a county, embracing such district and using such transferred assets in such a way as to benefit citizens formerly within the district.

Glad's Garden

Did you ever wonder why a water melon is called by that name? Mr. Webster defines it "as large edible fruit, a refreshing sweet WATERY juice." I learned the hard way, just how much sweet watery juice one could contain. I went grocery shopping on a hot, humid, August, Blue Monday. The Melons looked nice, so I purchased one, came home, brought the watermelon into the kitchen, when quickly it slipped out of my hands onto the kitchen floor, ker-splash! Yes, sweet, sweet water everywhere, and it really took WATER to clean all of it up. I then really knew why it had been named Water-melon, but in all of this unpleasant accident, I found something to be GLAD for, and that was I had an abundance of water to clean it up. (and that it had been dropped on the kitchen floor instead of the carpet.)

Yes, water is God given, an entrustment and when we are using it we should ever be mindful of this.

The purpose in watering plants, flowers, lawns, and fields is that they may be given sustaining life, and that growth will be promoted, in the plant to full-fruitation. As previously stated, there is a right way and wrong way to do everything, and this is especially applicable to WATERING.

An excellent way to turn a Blue Monday into a day of brightness is by watering garden, lawn, trees, ect. There's a special smell to water cooling, and refreshing leaves, soaking into the dry warm earth. There's a cool sound to water softly flowing to the roots of your plants, going over the parched dry warm ground. . . then you can say it is good to be in the garden.

In watering don't get in a hurry. It is far better to take time to water slowly and thoroughly, than to spot water, which leads to shallow watering. Keep this well in mind. frequent shallow watering encourages shallow rooting, weed competition and diseases. Deep thorough watering encourages deep, well established rooting. WATERING IS THE MOST IMPORTANT SINGLE MAINTENANCE PRACTICE IN OUR AREA.

The following are some suggestions for proper watering:

LAWN - To obtain a good lawn, certain basic principles must be recognized and executed. One of these that is paramount is watering maintenance. Water only when the grass needs water. This need is shown by lack of sheen, curl, and wilt. Vigorous growing grass uses approximately one (1) inch of water per week.

It is more economical to apply a heavy amount at one time than wait until the grass needs it before additional water is applied. There will be no evaporation loss this way.

Choose the RIGHT sprinkler or method of watering. Avoid run off. Aerate the soil so water will penetrate easily and apply water at slow enough rates so that it will not run off. Adjust and set sprinkler nozzle so that an even distribution is given over the entire area covered.

Use care in placement of sprinkler, if near the edge where there is a sidewalk or driveway, cut the volume down so that there will be no waste and that passers-by will not be sprinkled. The amounts that fall, and distribution of same can be measured by placing empty coffee cans at intervals over area covered. These extremely hot summer days, and drought conditions, may change the pattern for watering; watering frequency may have to be stepped up a bit.

A tell-tale sign; if the grass

OCTOPUS WATERER - This pale green waterer feeds shrubs such as roses with long smaller tubes, giving it the name of octopus. The 'feelers' are virtually invisible among the plants and supply a slow stream of water. See story this page. (Staff Photo) doesn't spring back immediately after you walk on it, . . . give it a good soaking.

ROSES: WATER, next to humus, is very important in the life cycle of the rose, because it serves as a nutrient, a conveyor of soluble materials within the plant and as a solvent for minerals in the soil. In summer, watering is done every week. The method for watering roses is important and they must be watered thoroughly.

A soaker, a bubbler, and an Octopus styled waterer are recommended, the later is especially good for persons who work, and do not have as many hours for gardening. It is well to water late in the afternoon or early morning, so that the foliage is dry by night. Sprinkling of the beds is not advised. It brings the feeding roots to the surface and causes burning. Mildew spreads readily through the agency of water and if foliage is wet at nights, the disease is sure to spread. However in our area, where we have dust and extreme dryness, it is well to hose the plants with a strong stream of water, at least every other week, this cleans the plants, which gives them more breathing power, and reduces evaporation from the foliage. During winter, continue to have a watering routine.

GLADIOLUS are an ideal hobby flower. To grow gladioli is a very important thing is the use of plenty of water. A good soaking every week; oftener just as the flowers start opening.

They must have a deep watering especially during the three weeks before the spikes develop. It is also advisable to use the spray nozzle occasionally, especially if we have days of dust. Do this in the morning, and be sure all foliage is cleaned, this adds vigor to the plant. Each watering should be equivalent to one inch of rainfall.

CHRYSANTHEMUMS should have good summer care, and a once a week watering is sufficient, but it must be a real soaker. Place the hose in the chrysanthemum bed, leaving until soil is wet about eight (8) inches deep. A mulch of peat moss or other mulches applied about July first will help hold moisture. It is good garden practice to keep lower leaves picked off so they won't be in the water. Often disease is started if they do become wet and attached to the soil.

GERANIUMS adapt themselves to any good garden soil. They do not need as much water as many other annuals do. They can be killed by over-watering, so a good thing to remember about them is, water when NEEDED, and do not overwater.

PEONIES are past their blooming season, but they should be watered during the summer, every week or ten days, give them a good soaking. The foliage will continue to be pretty if properly watered.

OTHER ANNUALS: Do not neglect your annuals during the hot summer weather. They will need a thorough watering at least once a week, and if in full bloom perhaps oftener. Some need more water than others, for example the coleus, begonias, and portulaca.

TREES AND SHRUBS: Do not let them become too dry, water when needed, the age and size will determine to some extent the amount of water needed. When you do water, it is good to have the tree or shrub surrounded with mounded soil. Fill the area enclosed by the mounded rim, let the water flow very slowly, so that the roots will get full advantage of the water. It is advisable to wash dust and other residue off of them, with a forceful spray, just to see the change in the foliage will be reward enough for your extra attention.

Junior Riders Take Play Day Division Honors

Hereford riding club members held their first place position in the playday games in Canyon, Sunday, and also managed to bring home a total of 202 points for the club.

Four hi-point plaques, out of the six awarded Sunday, were won by Hereford riders. Those winning were; Debbie Stringer, Pee Wee division; Candie Poarch, Junior girl division; Karen Blackwell, Senior girl division and James Lee, Senior boys division.

The club is looking forward to the playday finals, to be held September 9. This event will determine the representative from this area who will go to Dallas, October 28-30, for the National Playday Finals.

Hereford has sent a group every year to the finals, which are held in different cities.

Harold Beauchamp, chairman of Steer Roping committee, announced a successful 4 header and 2 header roping Sunday. The 4 header event drew 36 teams and the 2 header had 30 teams. The club is also proud to announce that Jimmy Cooper won third, and Pat Cooper won third in halter competition at San Antonio, during the 4-H finals held in that city.

GOING TO CONFERENCE - Delegates to represent Hereford High School at the annual Texas Youth Conference in Austin this weekend are Lanny Buck, left, and Anna Johnson, both sophomore students. They will go from Lubbock in a chartered bus with other students from this area, leaving today and returning Sunday after the conference closes at noon. Hereford Lions Club and the Optimist Club are sponsoring their trip. The two students will take notes on conference discussions and speeches and be ready to report its activities to clubs and school organizations when they return.

dem grip is all that is necessary to determine whether soil is too dry or too wet. Before watering, an estimate of the soil moisture should be made. A practical method of doing this is to take a small amount of soil and squeeze it into the form of a ball. Reactions of the soil indicate the amount of soil moisture. With a fair moisture content, the soil will ball under pressure and will ribbon out between the thumb and forefinger. If it easily ribbons between fingers and feels slick, it doesn't need watering. DO NOT WATER during the heat of the day, there is too much evaporation, therefore you do not receive full benefit from the watering.

REMEMBERS: Plant Oriental poppies. Divide old plants, and transplant. Make planting of snap beans, now. Sow radishes, leaf lettuce, turnip and mustard greens. If you have not divided and transplanted iris, DO IT NOW. MUSIC HOUR: Californians have compared results of the growth of chrysanthemums with and without music and those grown in a greenhouse with night long music averaged six inches taller, and had more color.

HAVE YOU SEEN: The white hibiscus growing by the back yard garden gate at the R. L. Wilson home 125 Star St. they make you think of white birds flying. The tall beautiful dahlias bordered with small zinnias and Portulaca, to the end of the drive way of the George V. Stambaugh home, 207 Sunset Drive. George V. also has some spot lighting.

Verbenas, growing in profusion at the Edd Jesko home, 205 Westhaven Drive. The roses are also beautiful and provide a nice background for the pretty eyed verbenas. Be sure and see the Thomas home, the Beauty Spot of the month, at 109 Centre. It is lovely.

Keep a consistent watering program, your garden wants a drink too.

And there we were. Ready to start the big race of the day. Well sir, there wasn't a Barney Oldfield in the group. As a matter of fact, that's probably the first time (and perhaps last) that most of the drivers were under the wheel of a stock racing car. And you could tell it when the race started.

But everyone involved had a wonderful time, and chances are, the spectators got a few chuckles out of the deal too. Of course, we're talking about the big "merchant's race" at the local speedway last Sunday afternoon. Now there was a real show. Some observers tell us that a good long-legged runner could have beat the whole kit and kaboodle, but we'll never admit it.

We will admit, however, that one of the funniest sights of the day, was watching G. D. Caison, and others of his stature, try to get into shoulder harness designed for a man half his size. Maybe it's due to lack of exercise, but have you ever noticed that most merchants are considerably heavier than race car drivers? There are a few exceptions of course, such as Roy Faubion and James Welch, but most had difficulty getting into the safety belts and most had to duck their heads to see under the crash bars. In spite of the handicaps, the group put on a pretty good show for a capacity crowd gathered at the Hereford Speedway.

Of Clete Corliss, the pride of Sugarland Mall, spun out early in the race and had to sit-out the remainder of the competition in his stalled car. Another one hit the fence and never could get back into the running. Doc Page and G. D. Caison ran a pretty good race, coming in second and third respectively, but Johnny Pool hugged the outside rail all the way.

The winner of the big event, "Red" Easton, took the lead early in the race and held it throughout the competition. Although there can't be much glory in winning a race against that field of amateurs.

But as we said before, everyone participating in the event had a big time, and we think it served the purpose. We believe that a bunch of people will return again — not to compete — but to sit in the stands and root for their favorite driver. Actually, few of the people competing in the Sunday afternoon main event had ever been to the races before. Some had of course.

Stock car racing has become quite popular throughout the United States, and we can understand now why it has. It's an exciting sport, for both spectators and participants. And it's relatively safe, contrary to popular belief. Although many spills and turn-overs are witnessed on the track, the drivers are strapped in securely and the autos are equipped with crash bars and roll bars. Safety helmets are also worn by the participants.

It takes a lot of ability to be a good race driver. And that became quite apparent Sunday afternoon while we watched the good drivers always come to the front, many times due to their ability rather than actual speed of the cars. They knew how to get into the lead, and stay there. Chances are, most of the merchants participating Sunday afternoon will not try it again, but we'll bet that many will return each Sunday as spectators.

City, school and county officials wrestled with the pesky tax equalization problem again Tuesday night and adopted an amendment to the 5-point recommendation recently offered by the Hereford Independent School District's tax equalization board. The amendment was presented by the city commission and served to clarify recommendation Number 5, already adopted by the two other governmental bodies. It is as follows:

"The City Tax Assessor shall furnish the tax assessor for the school and the county copies of all building permits and zoning changes as they occur. Each change noted by the individual tax assessor on old construction and all changes made on new construction as presented by the tax appraiser should be presented at an annual meeting held where the three tax assessors and the tax appraiser are present.

This meeting should be held prior to any tax equalization board meeting. These cards showing changes should be presented for discussion and correction and a possible solution before presented to the respective tax equalization boards."

All present indicated their approval of the amendment and again pledged their cooperation in an effort to get all property valuations alike on each of the cards.

Jim McMorries, head of an Amarillo tax appraisal firm, was present for the meeting and pledged his cooperation in this effort.

Certainly, the three governmental agencies are moving in the right direction in trying to standardize the tax valuations. This does not mean that all taxes will be the same. Each agency uses its own formula, according to its needs, when taxing, but if the present plan works as outlined, at least the true value of each piece of property will be entered alike on all three tax roles.

Farm property, McMorries told the group, has been worked continuously since the general tax evaluation program of 1961 and is "in good shape." On the other hand, the rapid growth and changes in the residential sections of Hereford due to the shifting of population and the growing business community has created a definite problem within the city and it was indicated by the Amarillo tax consultant that the property within the city of Hereford needed a complete re-evaluation in the near future.

Taxes, like life and death, will always be with us, and it's about time we made an effort to equalize the load.

It won't be long until the first football game of the year. More than 50 boys have turned out this week for pre-school workouts with the first game of the season scheduled for September 9.

You people who have had reserved seats in the past will also receive notification this week that your regular spot will be available again this year if you desire. Your cards should be returned to the school office soon if you wish to keep the same stadium seats.

Mrs. Calvin Goodin is looking for a photograph of the old Posey property at 510 E. Anyone having such a photo, and is willing to let Mrs. Goodin copy it, can call her at home. She would appreciate it very much.

Glad to see Mayor Ray Cowert up and about again, after his recent illness. Understand Ray has been in and out of his office recently and appears to be recuperating quite well.

Clint Formby, general manager of Radio Station KPAN is having some difficulty explaining a broken leg, but for the information of the public, we'll relate a couple of "conflicting" stories that we have heard. Clint told Judge Williams — so the Judge tells us — that he was entered in an RCA Rodeo up in Colorado with a $50,000 purse as top prize — and fell off a burro.

That one sounds pretty good, but minutes later he told B. F. Cain at the clerk's office that he was training with a Green Beret company and fell off a thousand foot tower.

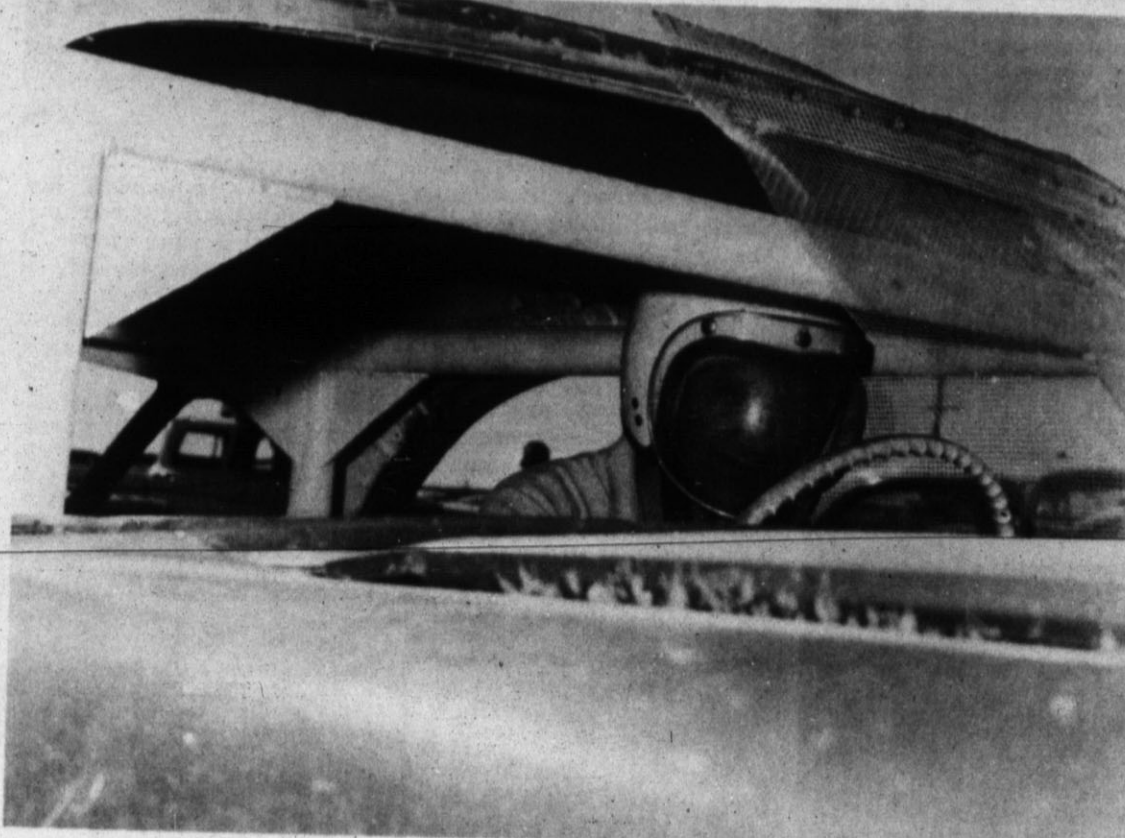

Although we would hesitate to cast ashd ow of doubt on Formby's ability so tell the truth, we do question that "thousand foot tower" bit.

The Hereford Booster Club will have its first meeting of the year, Monday, August 29th at the Community Center. Meeting time will be 8 p. m. All parents and other interested sports fans are urged to attend.

Don't forget the annual harvest feast put on today by the Hereford American Legion Auxiliary, featuring home grown products. The luncheon will start at 11:30 a. m. and continue until 2 p. m. at the Legion Hall.

BEAT PLAINVIEW Rebels Take First In Baseball Play

Hereford Rebels took first place in the Panhandle City Local Ball team Organization Sunday after winning a double-header here over the Plainview Astros.

Rebels downed the Astros 13-6 in the first contest, and 9-6 in the second event. Hereford now stands two games ahead of second place Amarillo and the Plainview Colts, who are tied for that position.

In THIRD place is Abernathy, followed by Tulia in fourth, Muleshoe in fifth and the Astros is sixth. Rebels now have a 15-5 record.

In the first game Sunday at Whiteface field, Nacho Gonzalez started on the mound. The top of the fifth saw Plainview running over the Hereford team, 5-1. At the top of the sixth Plainview had 6, Hereford 3.

A RALLY by the Rebels in the bottom of that inning brought in 7 runs, however, followed by two more runs in the seventh. A final run in the eighth ended the scoring with Hereford 13, Plainview 6. Alex Diaz was credited as the winning pitcher.

A Plainview rally in the top of the third in the second event had the Astros again in front of Hereford's Rebels, with a score of 5 to 2. Ray Martinez hit his second homerun of the game in the bottom of the third, followed by two more runs, tying the figures at 5-5.

THREE MORE runs in the bottom of the fourth, coupled by a run by Plainview in the top of the fifth, made the score 8-6. Another score by Hereford in the seventh ended the addition at 9-6.

Alex Diaz, credited with the second game, struck out 10 batters in seven innings in the two contests.

Ray Martinez was the leading batter, getting 5 hits at 8 times at the bat. He had two solo homeruns in the second game.

Charlie Moreno also was a leading batter with 4 hits at 7 times at bat. He had two singles and two doubles.

HEREFORD will host the Plainview Colts Sunday at Whiteface Field at 1 p. m. The Colts are two games behind the Rebels. The Dimmitt Cardinals are also scheduled to play here for the second game.

The Rebels will host the North Panhandle versus the South Panhandle All-Star game scheduled Sept. 4 at the Whiteface field. On the north team will be players from Amarillo, Hereford, Muleshoe, Friona, and Dimmitt. Players on the South team will be from Abernathy, Tulia, and Plainview.

THE AGES of the nine students who will receive treatment at the center range from three years to the teen years, though most of them are in the 10 to 15 range. They are all under doctor's care while taking these treatments, and are required to go to San Antonio every two months for re-evaluation and consultation.

Operated under the auspices of the First Methodist Church, the center will begin Monday in the Church's fellowship hall. At present more than 200 women have volunteered to help with various sessions. Though this will be enough workers with which to begin, it is a minimum. It is hoped that there will be more volunteers after the school begins. Several women's church groups have volunteered. Central Church of Christ, St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Church, and the Assembly of God Church have been generous in offering volunteer help.

MANY PEOPLE have been under the impression that the volunteer workers had to have special training in order to help at the center. Helping a child to pattern can be learned in only a few minutes, however, and requires no training course of any kind.

DRAMAS TO BE REVIVED

NEW YORK (AP) — The first series of drama revivals in 10 years is planned for next fall at City Center by producer Jean Dailrymple.

The tentative lineup includes Clifford Odets' "The Country Girl" and Maxwell Anderson's "Elizabeth the Queen." Depending on the availability of desired players, a third exhibit would be either Tennessee Williams' "The Rose Tattoo" or Robert E. Sherwood's "The Petrified Forest."

IT'S FANTASTIC

NEW YORK (AP) — Young love continues to reward rich investors in "The Fantasticks."

Now in its seventh year, the musical comedy has earned a profit of $533,000 on an investment of $16,500. Performed in a 153-seat playhouse, the show has grossed over $1.3 million. Still thriving, it passes the off-Broadway 2,611-performance longevity record of "The Three Penny Opera" on Aug. 4.

In 1965 Texas lumber mills produced approximately a billion feet of lumber enough to build at least 120,000 homes.

Pony League Plans Season, Sees New Club

The last regular meeting of the Pony League season will be held this evening at 8 p. m. in the Boy Scout room of the Community Center.

The meeting was called to plan for next year's league, and election of officers is also on the agenda for the evening.

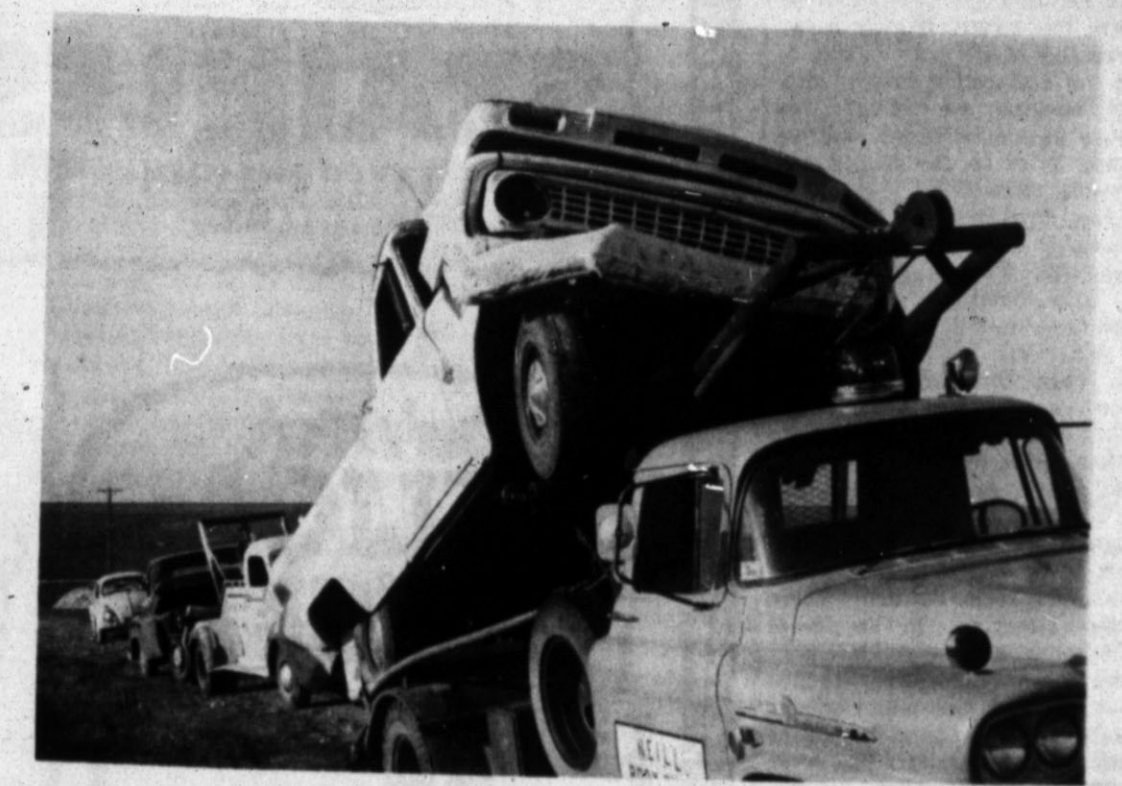

Six teams were included in the Pony League program this past year, with about 90 boys participating. The boys were 13 and 14 years old.

All interested persons are urged to attend, as new coaches and umpires are needed for next year's activity. Fathers of pony league players are also expected to attend.

Officers for the past year were: Ted Higgins, president; Dr. Noble Ballard, vice president; Hap Caviness, secretary-treasurer; Joe Deavenport, purchasing agent and Don McNeese player agent.

Pony League is a United Fund activity.

A new league will also be discussed at the meeting, the Colt league, which has been in the idea stage for the past 2 years. The league is intended to fill the gap between pony league.

Old Hatfeild Plantation Restoration Recognized

HOUSTON — Love of Texas history prompted a Houston couple to restore an 1853 plantation house.

As a result, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Britton of Houston will receive the second Texas Restoration Award on August 28 in ceremonies at Hatfield Plantation, which is located on F. M. 912 near Washington in Washington County. Mrs. Ben Barnes, wife of the Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, will present the award at 4 p. m.

The new award was initiated by the Texas State Historical Survey Committee to recognize individuals and groups for significant restoration projects.

The fanfare that goes along with being recognized with such an important award has rather amazed Britton, a man who speaks modestly of his accomplishments.

"All this attention surprises us," commented Britton. "We are honored and pleased to receive the award, but we never dreamed of it. We embarked on the restoration project simply because we thought the house should be saved, and we found it to be fascinating, enjoyable work."

The Brittons first heard of Hatfield Plantation about five years ago. They drove out to see it, and found that the house had fallen into ill repair because it had been vacant for about 18 years. But they were intrigued by the architecture and workmanship, and decided to purchase the house, restore it, and use it as a country home.

"It was our first restoration experience, and I'll have to admit I was discouraged at first," recalls Marian Britton. "There was a great hole in the side of the house, and the porch leaned, and the windows were broken out. The roof had collapsed, and water came in and damaged the ceilings and walls. The basement, or ground floor, was covered with dirt."

Typical of a couple that thoroughly enjoys team projects, Britton gives his wife all the credit for success, and she credits him.

"My wife was so enthusiastic, she was the mainstay of the whole project. I just carried out her orders," mused Britton, a soft-spoken man who heads an investments company.

"But I couldn't have done it without my husband," interjected Mrs. Britton. "He spent hours and read volumes of books studying restoration and architectural history, and he personally supervised virtually all of the restoration work."

It took about five years to complete the restoration work because the Brittons took painstaking care with details.

"We wouldn't settle for using reproductions, and had to comb the country for old hardware, such as cast iron shutter hangers, keyhole keepers and locks," said Britton. "We traveled a great deal searching for materials, and found the hardware in Pennsylvania, Alabama, Tennessee, Virginia, and parts of Texas."

"Sixty per cent of the glass window panes were missing, but we managed to find enough old hand-blown glass to complete the job."

"We also found many old materials in Galveston, where considerable demolishing is being done. We were able to match old flooring timbers and studding. The floors are heart pine, and the staircase is cedar. All the woods were shampooed and waxed, and left as natural as possible."

The foundation presented the greatest restoration problem.

"When the house was built, the dirt excavated for the foundation was thrown to the front of the house," explained Britton. "Later this caused shifting of the earth which pushed in the foundation. So we had to haul away the dirt and put in a firm, permanent foundation of steel girders and reinforced concrete."

crete. It was a real engineering job."

Britton searched diligently for craftsmen, but wasn't able to find any experienced in restoration work. So he gave instructions and guidance, and the workmen became as engrossed with the work as the Brittons.

Mrs. Britton supervised furnishing the home in the 1810-40 period!

Hatfield Plantation was built by Col. Basil M. Hatfield, who fought in the battle of San Jacinto and operated one of the first steamboats on the Brazos River. House features include hand hewn timbers, all notched and pegged.

Built by slave labor, the 3-story house is made of pink handmade brick with walls 13 inches thick. The house is unusual because it is constructed of brick, as most buildings of that time were frame. This indicates that Dolen Hatfield must have been well to do, for most of his contemporaries could not afford the time and money to make brick, even if they had available the needed materials and skilled slaves.

Research so far has not shown where Colonel Hatfield came to Texas from, but as his house is similar to those of early Western Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee, he probably came from that area.

The early 19th century classical structure is an example of houses built during the transition from Roman to Greek Revival periods. It was built in 1853, during the Greek Revival peak in Texas, 1840-70.

Chief features are the formal balance, with the door in the center flanked by two windows on either side. Central halls have a room on each side. The use of a double portico shows

Thomas Jefferson architectural influences. The portico has square posts instead of columns, because during those years the skilled slave labor necessary to build columns was scarce.

"So many people think early Texas produced only crude homes," said Britton. "That is why I think this house is important. It shows that Texas, too, had its day of early elegance."

MIGRANTS' ROUTES — Map indicating major routes followed by migratory farm workers shows that South Texas furnishes a large portion of such workers. There are three principal migratory streams in the United States: the eastern seaboard, the midcontinent, and the west coast. The midcontinent stream involves nearly 100,000 workers, primarily of Mexican descent. As vegetable work is completed in their home areas, some migrants move into the Rocky Mountains and Plains states for sugarbeet cultivation. After July, most of these migrants find employment in the midwestern fruit and vegetable harvest, but some move north to harvest wheat. Other Texas migrants go into the fruit and vegetable harvest of the Pacific Northwest. Still another movement is that of cotton choppers and cotton harvest workers across Texas working into New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Striking 'Farm Workers' Receive State Attention

EDITOR'S NOTE: The march in South Texas has aroused much interest in agriculture concerning farm wages and farm employment. However, the strike in the south part of the state, reported only as an on-the-surface event, is not truly a strike of farm workers. The Texas

Farm Bureau has prepared a more "in depth" article, explaining some of the circumstances involved.

The march of the striking "farm workers" is a curious misnomer. The marchers, and the groups which have participated in ceremonies as they reach each town en route, are not primarily farm workers — although a few of their number may have had some employment on farms.

The primary nature of the problem is unemployment and under-employment of a number of people who have relied in part, although in many instances a minor part, on employment by farmers.

This situation has become more acute because agriculture is in the middle of a technological revolution involving a rapid replacement of hand labor by machine operations.

This is supplemented by an increase in competitive production of fruits and vegetables in Mexico, financed in many instances by U. S. capital, and subsequent major exports of fruits and vegetables from Mexico to the U. S.

Those displaced by these changes have not, in many cases, acquired skills and qualifications that will provide them jobs elsewhere.

GOP Candidate

GOP hopeful — Bob Price, Pampa farmer rancher candidate for Congress, will be in Hereford this evening as he conducts another of his "crop and cattle" clinics.

He has staged a clinic here some weeks ago; the session tonight will be held in the Community Room of the First National Bank at 8 p. m.

FRANK FORD, Bob Price chairman for Deaf Smith County, says that all farmers and others interested in agricultural matters are urged to attend the opinion-finding session.

"Bob Price is seeking the viewpoint of farmers and any others interested who would have constructive viewpoints to offer," Ford said.

FOUR major topics will head the discussion this evening. These will be:

- 1) Long-term development of water resources for West Texas.
- 2) Market development for Panhandle products.
- 3) Improvement in rural income and standards of living.
- 4) Development of effective representation in Congress for agricultural interests in the face of growing urban political power.

THE RACE for the seat of the 18th Congressional District is now between the Republican hopeful and Dee Miller, Democratic nominee who has been

Deaf Smith Farm Bureau Queen Is Miss Sparkman

Miss Darlene Sparkman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Sparkman Jr. of Rt. 1, Hereford, was crowned queen of the Deaf Smith County Farm Bureau in a beauty contest staged Tuesday evening.

Miss Sparkman was chosen queen with her first runner-up Denise King and second runner-up Linda Batterman. Miss King is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. King of Rt. 4, Hereford, and Miss Batterman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Batterman of Rt. 4, Hereford.

The three girls were chosen from a list of six candidates. As a part of the competition, the girls answered questions

ROSS COOLEY

Feed Plant Sells To Big Consumers

Ross Cooley, nutritionist for Farr Better Feeds, was featured speaker for the Rotary Club luncheon Monday. He gave an informative lecture on Farr's operations in general and his own job in particular.

COOLEY pointed out that Farr is a specialized segment of the feed industry with limited production. They supply 85 to 95 per cent of their products to feed lots directly, selling little to individuals and then only specialty items. The modernized feed plant handles large volumes of feed and moves it in large volumes, Cooley said. He also stated that Farr feeds were used as vitamin and protein supplements to the feed lots' own raw materials.

Cooley, who received a BS degree from the University of Kentucky and later an MS from Iowa State University, has been animal nutritionist for Farr Better Feeds one year. He says that a great part of his job is selling the services and products that his company has to offer.

It is his responsibility to see that the formula he devises has the proper proteins to supplement the feed provided by the feed lot. Various necessary vitamins are also included in the formula.

The Howard Johnsons

'Retirement Acres'

A farm would be the last place to go for retirement, at least that's what most in this area of the country would think. It's a going business, one that requires a lot of time and a lot of energy.

But a Hereford couple has taken the cycle in reverse, and find living on a farm in their retirement is perhaps just what they need and want.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Johnson are at home seven miles north of Hereford on what a visitor might call "Retirement Acres," a place where age is forgotten and all things are "go."

"This has been the most exciting time of our life," exclaims Mrs. Johnson, who with her husband has started on the "farming" adventure totally green as far as agriculture is concerned.

Diversification Includes Cattle

Neither Mr. or Mrs. Johnson has had any experience with agriculture prior to their coming to Hereford in July of last year. Their learning that they received from county agricultural agents and advising neighbors is what has gotten them through a year.

Johnson formerly held a position with the Columbia Carbon Plant, and had lived in Pampa several years prior to the move here. Although he and his wife have lived in several places, always they were with the carbon plant. Johnson had been with the company some 43 years; the couple has been

USDA REPORTS

Estimates Show Gains In Texas' Crop Production

Significant gains in Texas production of wheat, peanuts, grain sorghum and rice have been reported by the Department of Agriculture, it has been announced.

First estimate of the year for grain sorghum placed production of that major grain at 291,235,000 bushels, compared with the 1965 harvest of 285,740,000.

Rice production has been figured at 21,672,000 hundred-weight.

Peanut production was estimated at 313,500,000 pounds, while last year the harvest was 296,100,000 pounds.

Other estimates include corn, 17,664,000 bushels, and oats, 22,148,000 bushels. The wheat crop production turned out to be 86,825,000 bushels, while a month earlier it was predicted at 85,340,000 bushels.

Figures Indicate Labor Forces In Downward Trend

July work totals for the nation began dropping in July as seasonal work began to pan out for the annual migratory labor.

The labor force totaled 6,198,000 during the last week of July, representing a nine per cent decline from the corresponding period in July 1965, continuing the downward trend of recent years in the farm work force.

This total work force consisted of 4,156,000 family workers and 2,042,000 hired workers.

Comparisons with July a year ago show the number of hired workers down 13 per cent and family workers down seven per cent. When compared with the June 1966 survey, family workers declined one per cent but hired workers increased one per cent. The total work force was slightly smaller than the previous month because the decline in the larger number of family workers more than offset the increase in hired workers.

(Continued from Page 1) workers employed by Texas farmers has been declining sharply and will continue to decline during at least the next few years. Since 1961 the average number of seasonal farm workers employed by Texas farmers has declined 35 per cent.

Much of this reduction in hired labor is the result of the near completion of the mechanization of cotton harvest.

This is, however, by no means the only change involved. Every farm operation is being re-examined from the standpoint of reducing labor costs. New technology is developing and being put into practice. Every time the wage rises a few more cents per hour new incentives are provided for substituting investment in machinery for labor.

The 3 per cent reduction in seasonal farm labor employment in Texas, and the continuation of this trend, are the crucial factors affecting seasonal farm workers.

The number of farm workers employed by farmers is substantially affected by the level of farm wages. During the period 1948 to 1963, inclusive, each one percent increase in farm wages was accompanied by a two percent reduction in the employment of workers.

The availability of new technology is what makes this possible. But the driving force is economics — the cost of hand labor vs. the cost of investment in new machinery, equipment and methods.

In the long run this improvement in per man productivity has good results. In the short run, and particularly if the rate of change is forced by artificial factors — the result is a reduction of the amount and period of employment of a group of workers most needing employment.

This is a major social problem. It is only incidentally a farm problem. It is mostly a problem of a group of people whose skills and qualifications, in relation to the current demands of the labor market, are marginal and becoming more so.

Proposals that involve improving the skills and capacities of farm workers to enhance their prospects for permanent employment in agriculture and out of agriculture will have constructive results.

Most of the currently advocated solutions to the farm labor problem do assume the problem is a worker-employer problem. This assumption is erroneous and the solutions would have a boomerang effect on those it is supposed to be benefited.

A few of these "solutions" are analyzed in more detail.

MINIMUM WAGES
Farmers employ during harvest seasons a great many workers who are available for such employment because they have not acquired the qualifications that would enable them to obtain permanent jobs in or out of agriculture.

Such workers for one reason or another have highly varying productivity.

Farmers employ most such workers on a piece rate basis. The piece rate method is preferred both by farmers and workers. It is preferred by farmers because it reduces the need for close supervision and permits the employment of workers of low productivity. It is preferred by workers because the hard working and capable worker can earn in proportion to his productivity, because it permits workers to set their own pace and time, and because it reduces the monotony of repetitive hand labor operations.

If this piece rate system is replaced by one which includes an hourly guarantee for both the productive and less-productive worker, the consequences would include:

1. Farmers would be compelled to eliminate from their work forces the less productive workers.

2. An incentive would be created for farmers to invest in labor saving machinery and equipment at much more rapid pace than would otherwise be the case — thus reducing the total amount of employment provided.

3. Since the margin between returns and costs is narrow on many farms — particularly on marginal and small farms — a certain number of such operations would be squeezed out of existence. This result would be further stimulated by the fact that mechanization of farm production is an extremely expensive process. Only large farms with a sufficient volume of production to economically amortize such investment, can efficiently mechanize their operations.

4. Farm labor employment would be further reduced by a reduction in the acreage of high labor requirement crops for which mechanization is not yet feasible.

These are economic factors that must be considered in connection with any minimum wage program.

COLLECTIVE BARGAINING
The unique feature of the employment relationship in agriculture is the vulnerability of the farmer as an employer to any work stoppage on his farm.

While most industrial or commercial concerns may suffer a reduction in profits as a result of a strike, it is rare for them to be disastrously affected. For the most part they can close down their operations and sit out the strike with nominal losses.

Compare this with agriculture. It is not possible to close down a farm. Production must continue in tune with the season. Crops must be harvested when ready. Even a delay of a few days may substantially reduce the value of the crop. This, of course, is particularly true in the fruit and vegetable industries, which are the major employers of farm labor.

If a strike should occur when a perishable crop is ready to harvest, and of course this is the time a strike would be called, this would entail much more than a reduction in the farmer's profits for the year.

More likely it would involve (1) a loss of income for the year and (2) a loss of money invested in bringing the crop to harvest stage which may run (For many fruits and vegetables) 300 to 400 dollars an acre or more. A loss of this size would bankrupt many farmers.

Thus the farmer is in no position to stand a work stoppage. Come what may he must get his crops harvested. He must therefore accede to almost any demand upon him at harvest time which is necessary to prevent a work stoppage no matter what the demand may be.

A typical producer of fruits or vegetables employs no worker or a negligible number of workers prior to harvest. At harvest time he may need to employ many workers for a period of several weeks or months. Due to the extreme vulnerability of farmers to a strike at harvest time, if collective bargaining were to become the practice in agriculture, pre-harvest contracting would probably be resorted to in most instances.

The extension of the National Labor Relations Act to the production of perishable farm products would probably result in some temporary benefits to some workers.

The benefits would be temporary because farmers would necessarily make investments in mechanization of farm operations.

Conscious of the increased national attention being given to farm labor legislation in recent years farmers have already made substantial progress in this direction. Thus average farm employment in recent years has declined sharply.

There are many changes that farmers can make that they have not yet made, that would continue and accelerate the downward trend in farm labor employment. The rate at which mechanization of farm work proceeds depends primarily on farmers' estimates of future costs and labor difficulties.

As farm operations are mechanized the caliber of labor needed changes. The kind of labor now employed in fruit and vegetable harvest is not generally suitable for machine operation. A farmer cannot trust a $10-20,000 machine to anyone who is not experienced with and competent to operate and maintain such equipment, or who cannot recognize when it is not functioning properly. Most such machinery will be operated by farm raised people with experience in machine operation. Many, and on many farms all, of the type of labor now employed in hand harvest operations would be displaced.

UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION

Most farm labor employment is temporary and seasonal. To the extent that limited experience and research provides any basis for a conclusion, it appears that farm labor coverage by unemployment compensation would result in benefits equal to 3 to 5 times as much or more than the maximum payroll taxes paid by covered employers.

During a 6 year period in North Dakota where unemployment compensation is available for farm workers on a voluntary basis, excluding seasonal workers, benefits paid were 13.01 per cent of taxable payrolls.

During consideration by the California legislature of a proposal to cover farm workers with unemployment compensation, the Director of the State who advocated coverage, estimated that if farmers' payroll taxes were 3.2 per cent, the tax revenue would be $24 million, the annual benefit payments to workers would be $75 million and the deficit to the state fund would be about $50 million a year. The costs of the deficits resulting from farm labor coverage would have to be met somehow.

Unemployment benefits in Texas would be an added incentive to keeping unemployed persons in the state.

THE FEED produced at Farr is regularly inspected by the state and federal governments. Texas A&M has jurisdiction over the standards of the feed and backs up all guarantees made to the buyer. Every two weeks samples of their products are picked up and analyzed, then compared with the guarantee. The federal government has jurisdiction over all drugs used in the feed. The drugs often improve animal production.

COOLEY acts as a nutrition consultant to the lots supplied by Farr. His advice often benefits the lot considerably. A great deal of his time is spent on the road in their follow-up program. If a customer is satisfied with the results of the feed, the selling is not nearly so difficult. All of their feed lots are checked once a month, or more, or more often depending on the need.

Cooley says that once a basic program is formulated, few changes are necessary. They are checked regularly for any change in quality standards and the necessary adjustments are made. In order to correctly decide on the program individually suited to a feed lot, Cooley talks to the owner or manager to find out what he wants, why he needs help, their past program, etc. He must know what the cattle are being raised for, their weights, the raw ingredients available, and other factors which are involved in the final feed lot production and quality. After gathering this information he works out the formula himself on the computer or if the problem is a large one, uses an IBM machine.

Cooley remarked that oyster shell is now being used by some lots rather than roughage material. It is economical and available, but still only in the research stage.

Cooley prefers feed which is a combination cotton seed meal and synthetic protein rather than an all synthetic feed.

The November election will be the second faced by Price, who ran with Republicans Goldwater and Bush on the 1964 ticket. Price lost out to Rogers 1616 2156 in votes counted in Deaf Smith County in that election.

Price's "crop and cattle" clinic is only one of several he has been conducting throughout the district he is wanting to represent. This will be his second appearance here, having staged a clinic once at the Hereford State Bank.

THE SESSION tonight will be used by the representative candidate, Ford said, in an attempt to get "grass roots" opinions.

married 40 years. But bad health forced an early retirement for Johnson, who was advised that a farm could be beneficial to his health. And it's working, so the Johnsons exclaim.

ABOUT 90 acres is broken on their 160 acres, Johnson says. On this ground the retired couple have put in potatoes, wheat, corn, maize, and have attempted carrots. They've also run up to 80 head of cattle on irrigated pasture.

But, as Mrs. Johnson says it, some things they have had to learn the hard way, as in the case of an attempted carrot crop. "We worked with county agents at Pampa and in Hereford before starting. Neighbors have been very helpful in 'lending' us their experience and have sometimes helped us out," Mrs. Johnson says.

The couple bought 130 acres of their land about three years ago, but did not come to the farm until last July when another 30 acres, with a house, was purchased. Three irrigation wells are on the farm.

And both enjoy the work they have found waiting for them. It's not like their old schedule, Mrs. Johnson exclaims. The clock is forgotten, and things are done as needs arise.

MISTAKES are made as they learn, they say, but such things were anticipated far in advance. "We figured the experience was going to cost us so much," Mrs. Johnson says, "just as a college education would cost a school boy." But good luck and help from many have helped turn the odds in their favor.

The kitchen has also been a new experience for Mrs. Johnson, who has found the role of a farm wife to be exciting for her. A garden has provided vegetables for a deep freeze — their first — and she has enjoyed learning how to put up food for later use.

A THOUGHT was given to having a calf butchered for the freezer, but it was concluded that they were considered "pets" and couldn't be parted with.

Irrigation is another facet of their farming experience that has taken their interest. Mrs. Johnson can work right alongside her husband in setting the siphon tubes, a skill they had to learn from a county agent.

Their small farm is diversified; and that's the way they intend to keep it, the couple exclaim. They like their location, they like the community, and they are as eager as kids on Christmas morning when it comes to learning how to run a farm.

WE COULDN'T have come to a better farming community," they say.

Barley, oats and other small grains produce top yields with similar practices

Working straw, or residue of rotation crops, into the soil is a good farming practice that builds up soil tilth and water holding capacity. Follow locally proven mulching and following practices to conserve moisture in dry areas.

It's wise to know your soil and what to expect from it. Have each field analyzed by a qualified soil testing service. See your dealer for recommendations.

If soil tests show your soil is acid, correct it by early application of lime. Apply PHOSPHATE and potash fertilizers, in addition to nitrogen, as recommended to help increase yield and quality.

Plow EARLY as necessary to catch rain. Prepare a good seed bed but keep tillage operations to a minimum to lower cost and avoid unnecessary soil compaction. Stay off of wet fields.

A good adapted variety is your best wheat seed buy. Improved varieties have more vigor to resist pests and produce bigger yields of higher quality grain... their roots go deeper for moisture and plant food.

Plan on maximum yields by planting to a stand that's uniform and thick enough to take full advantage of your fertility and moisture level. Follow locally successful rates and methods.

Protect your wheat from yield-robbing diseases, weeds and insects. Prevent or stop them early with the proper variety, cultivation, spray or other program.

Each bushel of wheat requires about 1 1/2 lbs. or more of actual nitrogen. The most efficient way to supply this vital nitrogen is with anhydrous ammonia. It contains 82% nitrogen and is applied down in the root zone.

An ex-Gold Star 4-H Club girl in the community where she is now a Home Demonstration Club member, Mrs. G. W. Duncan lives on the place which has been her home since she was seven years.

Not the same house, but the lawn of her comfortable ranch-style home southeast of town is shaded by the same rows of tall elms which grew in the yard of her childhood home.

SHE IS THE former Nancy Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louie Olson and a native of Hereford. She attended Hereford schools from first grade to graduation, then went to business school and was an office employe here before and after her marriage, during World War II.

As a girl she was a member of Wyche 4-H Club, then led by Mrs. Ira Ott who is now her fellow-member in Wyche H. D. Club. Her 4-H work earned the coveted Gold Star award; she was also active in Future Homemakers Association of the high school.

Club work lapsed during the years she was in the business world and then a homemaker with small children. When she joined the H. D. Club two years ago it was a part of her resumption of interest in activities that had been crowded out.

NANCY DUNCAN'S sapphire blue eyes smile as she explains her theory that women whose children have grown past the age of needing constant care, should pick up skills they have been forced to drop in the busy years.

For instance, she began piano lessons last fall and finds relaxation in playing, as a friend told her, "for her own amazement." She had studied piano as a schoolgirl, but allowed her skill to grow rusty with disuse.

She also paints, works with ceramics as witnessed by a group of handsome gilded plaques on a living room wall, and refinishes furniture. A rocking chair which she reupholstered as well as refinishing the wood, a matching table and a china cabinet are among the pieces in her home that show her handwork.

THE DUNCAN'S children are Becky and Ronnie, both students in Texas Tech; Keith, 14 years old and a freshman in HHS, and Kathy, 12, in junior high.

This summer the older children have jobs, and Becky's roommate, Linda Liston of Wills Point, is also employed in Hereford and staying in the Duncan home.

Mrs. Duncan likes to cook for her family and to trade recipes with her neighbors. Women in the Wyche Club, of which she is secretary-treasurer this year, make a habit of swapping the recipes they try.

NICHOLS TO STAGE A MUSICAL

NEW YORK — Mike Nichols, who has directed four stage hits and one film since switching from comedy acting, turns next to musical comedy staging.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

From a new acquaintance whom I found congenial in several ways, Ann Englund, comes some appreciated support for my pet conviction that married women should be willing to be known by their husbands' names, despite the growing custom of calling everyone by first names on all occasions.

HER VIEWPOINT is the same as mine; she has written for newspapers and been frustrated with lists of luncheon guests sounding like those who came to a small girl's birthday party — because the women had all signed the register with first names and the hostess knows them by no other.

New on the nursing staff at Westgate this summer, Ann is engaged in her second profession rather than the newspaper work she did when she and her late husband, Carl, operated the paper at Morton.

IF YOU POINT out that I object to first names but use hers, it gives me the chance to make a distinction of some consequence.

First names are fine used informally, as in a column such as this, referring to people whom I believe — and hope — are my friends, just as in conversation with friends. And in reports of professional women's meetings it isn't so bad to use names they use in their work.

But in stories of clubs and parties it does seem a shade undignified, to say the least, to jump prominent dowagers, misses and matrons all together on a chummy first name basis. In fact, it seems to me quite impertinent and I'd rather not, custom or no custom.

VISITING WITH Ann for the past few weeks from California, her aunt, Mrs. R. L. White, spent some time here and they also went to Ann's home in Morton. With Byrdie Fellers and Catherine Moore they saw a performance of Texas in Palo Duro Canyon. Mrs. White went back home to San Diego this week.

A SIDE EVENT to the Bippus community reunion last Sunday was a visit of several relatives and friends in the home of the Edwin Morrisons Sr. at Walcott. Morrison's sister, Mrs. Fred Burns, and daughter Louise were here from Lakin, Kan.

A daughter of the Morrisons', Mrs. Harrell Mays and her family came from Friona; their son, Edwin Morrison Jr. and his wife and another of Morrison's sisters, Mrs. W. J. Frost, with her granddaughters, Shirley and Estelle Anders, from Hereford.

ALSO PRESENT were Mrs. Pearl Pruitt of Hereford, Mrs. Blanche Osborn, Mrs. C. L. Hutchinson and Mrs. Glen Pulliam of Rosedale, N. M. The entire group was at the Morrison home Sunday afternoon following the reunion dinner, and some of the relatives visited several days.

FROM EUGENE, Ore. Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Morton Jr. and children, Phil and Judy, have been guests of Mrs. Morton's mother, Mrs. Nona Duncan, and other relatives in this area.

Two other sisters and their families came from nearer homes to join the family gathering here. Mrs. Bob Burden and daughters of Lawton, Okla., returned to their home Monday after spending a week. Mrs. Milton Ramsey and sons, Ricky, Robby and Reggie of Whitesboro remained through the week.

MURDER BY TWO GIRLS

NEW YORK — A macabre crime that occurred in Australia is the source of "Wonderful Us," a play by Mary Orr and Reginald Denham scheduled for Broadway arrival next fall.

The story, which came to the authors' attention during a down under visit, concerns two-teen age girls who kill the mother of one of them. The dramatic suspense concerns whether the girls are caught. Denham is to direct for producers Andre Goulet and William Hammerstein

THE CHURCH I LOVE IS THE SERVANT OF MAN
"For you were called to freedom, brethren; only do not use your freedom as an opportunity for the flesh, but through love be servants of one another." (Galatians 5:13).

Our Lord and Master set an example for us to serve our fellow-man.

"Have this mind among yourselves; which you have in Christ Jesus, who, though he was in a form of God, did not count equality with God a thing to be grasped, but emptied himself, taking the form of a servant, being born in the likeness of men." (Philippians 2:5-7).

In the most menial of tasks Christ set the example of servitude. After he washed his disciple's feet, he told them, "For I have given you an example, that you also should do as I have done to you. Truly, truly, I say to you, a servant is not greater than his master; nor is he who is sent greater than he who sent him. If you know these things, blessed are you if you do them." (John 13:15-17).

To those who wanted to be great in the kingdom, the Lord said, "Whoever would be great among you must be your slave; even as the Son of man came not to be served but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many." (Matthew 20:26-28).

We serve man when we minister unto his physical needs. In the last day, the Son of man will say to the people who have fed the hungry, gave drink to the thirsty, welcomed the stranger, clothed the naked, visited the sick and the prisoner; "As you did it unto one of the least of these my brethren, you did it to me." (Matthew 25:40).

We also serve our fellowman when we help build him spiritually, by "teaching them to observe all that I [Christ] have commanded you;" (Matthew 28:20). Also when we obey the injunction, "Brethren, if man is overtaken in any trespass, you who are spiritual should restore him in a spirit of gentleness." (Galatians 6:1).

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

New Johnson In Capital Sees His Job As Planning

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nicholas Johnson, 31, University of Texas graduate, sees long-range planning as one of the key responsibilities he assumed in becoming a member of the Federal Communications Commission.

He took over the job July 1 after serving as maritime administrator. His appointment to the earlier position drew criticism because of his youth—he was then 29—and because he was reared in landlocked Iowa and thus presumed to know little or nothing about ships.

A native of Iowa City, Johnson received his bachelor of arts and law degrees at Texas, the latter in 1958. He later served as clerk to Associate Justice Hugo L. Black and taught law at the University of California.

His record as maritime administrator apparently impressed President Johnson who appointed him to the FCC for a full 7-year term at $27,000 a year.

In a recent talk to the Texas Breakfast Club of Washington, the new FCC member said government, like big business, should take the long look in planning to avoid as much as possible hasty emergency measures.

He cited the current buildup in the use of the ultra high frequency UHF television band as an example of the long look. Congress' insistence that television manufacturers incorporate UHF as well as VHR reception in all new sets after a certain date is bound to increase the number of UHF stations, Johnson said.

And on another phase of government in which he has experience, he said: "When we talk about building up our Merchant Marine fleet, we have to think years ahead. It takes a long time to build ships after you've authorized them and raised the money.

That's the kind of long range planning the government must carry on."

Around the Capitol:
The announcement of Rep. Walter Rogers, D. of Pampa that he will not seek re-election surprised his colleagues on Capitol Hill.

His fellow Texans speculated on the clients he would draw to the law firm he plans to set up here. Several observed that because of his experience on the House Commerce Committee he would be qualified to handle legislative and government relations problems for both the radio-television and petroleum industries. But Rogers shed no light on the nature of his prospective practice.

Shortly before the wedding of Luci Baines Johnson and Pat Nugent, Rep. J. Arthur Younger, R-Calif., told colleagues he had received a telegram declaring, in effect, that an Air Force plane was used to fly some flowers here from the West Coast.

Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock challenged the accuracy of the report. He asked Younger to name his source and then called both the person who had sent the telegram, and the Defense Department. Mahon subsequently reported to the House that his investigation brought out that the flowers had been flown to Washington by commercial plane.

He related that the person who sent the wire to Younger said he was "very angry over the fact that the airline strike was causing flower growers in the area to lose large sums of money."

"He said he had no proof that the flowers for the wedding were being flown to Washington in a government plane. He said that his charge in regard to the flowers was based on a 'wild rumor' and that he did not have anything to substantiate it."

Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., who commented Mahon for tracking down the report, said:

"The real question is that the statement previously made would bring unhappiness to the young couple about to be married."

"The gentleman from Texas has done a noble thing in exposing the falsity of the statements made by the original source."

"The important thing is that the allegation made would create in the minds of a lot of people throughout the country a wrong impression, an emotional state of mind."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

These Are Your Questions

IF baby teeth are lost too early can it affect the dental condition in later life?

The dental condition of the adolescent and the adult can often be traced to the carelessness with which baby teeth were prematurely extracted.

Changes in the bite and in the jaw joint have been traced to the neglect of baby teeth. It is completely erroneous to take the attitude that baby teeth are there only to be lost as quickly as possible.

The early loss of a baby tooth leaves a space which can cause drifting of the teeth on either side.

A recently devised "space maintainer" can be used to keep the baby teeth in their proper position until the permanent tooth grows into the space.

Preventive dentistry starting in early childhood can insure the adult's dental health.

What is the pineal gland? Where is it and what does it do? The pineal gland is a pea-sized gland situated deep in the brain. It is known that this tiny gland is a part of the complex system of endocrine or hormone producing glands.

For many years scientists have been guessing at its exact role, following all kinds of technical leads only to end in frustration and ignorance about this elusive gland.

Only recently has it been suggested that the pineal gland may be responsible for time-clock rhythms that go on in the human body.

The breathing rate, the adjustment to temperature and humidity, the heart rate, the cycle of hunger and sleep are all part of the bio-rhythm that makes the intricacies of the body a machine of wonderment.

Is it possible to determine beforehand if a person is allergic or sensitive to penicillin? Unfortunately, there are some people who will be sensitive or allergic to almost every conceivable drug. In most instances an allergy to drugs and antibiotics is learned by trial and error.

It is for this reason that doctors suggest that when a new medicine is used for the first time it should be stopped immediately if there is any unusual or unexpected after-effect.

There are now simple painless skin tests which can detect high sensitivity to penicillin and thus avoid the severe skin reactions that occasionally follow its use by injection.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH—Hair sprays can be irritating to the delicate lining of the ear canals. Protect them with cotton while spraying.

Ackers Hold Large Informal Reunion

The Bull Barn in Hereford was the scene of a family reunion Sunday, August 7, of the descendants of Philip Acker Sr. and his wife Mary of Union County, Kentucky. Two hundred and eight members of the family and several guests were present for a basket dinner at noon, and spent the afternoon in visiting and getting reacquainted.

The reunion was planned on such a short notice this year that all of the family was not able to attend. The group voted to hold a reunion again next year, reserving the Bull Barn for Sunday, August 6, 1967.

In the fall of 1966, the widow, Mrs. Mary Acker with five of her seven children left their home in Kentucky having joined a caravan headed west in search of new land. The Ackers left the train at Hereford, Texas, where they lived until March, 1907, when they moved to a farm in the Nazareth community.

Family members attending the reunion from Hereford include the John Warren family, the Vincent Walterscheids, Henry Cooper and family, the Allen Evers family, and Clara Acker. Others attending came from Nazareth, Dimmitt, Amarillo, Olton, Happy, Tulla, Lubbock, Groom, and Kansas.

The person coming the farthest distance was Robert Acker of Otis, Kansas. Mrs. Simon Braddock, 83, was the oldest relative present and Shannon Evers, 4 months, was the youngest.

FOR GOD SO LOVED THE WORLD

In the "railroad" business the brakeman's lantern means everything. His "signal lantern" preceded the driver's stop and go light. It must be obeyed. The brakeman, like God, must give us the "all clear." It is the only way we may know the track is clear, the switch in place, for us to move with confidence. How reassuring when we know that God is clearing the way ahead of us.

If you were ever in a business a righteous God could not bless, then, you well know how it hurts not to be able to get His "all clear." But He warned us, "There is a way that seemeth right, but the end is death." If one's destination is Heaven, it is important that he get on the main line and keep on going. Let us take the church as our "brakeman." It will not signal us wrong. Let us worship God in her pews every week and support her many programs of service.

You In The Church
The Church Is You — form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

School Bus Laws Told By Patrol

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 15 accidents on rural highways in Deaf Smith County during the month of July, according to Sergeant W. E. Wells, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in three persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $7,501.00.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first seven months of 1966 shows a total of 68 accidents resulting in 1 person killed, 26 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $58,108.00.

"School days" are almost here again. The familiar yellow school buses will soon be back on the highways. The Sergeant reminds all motorists of the State Law regulating traffic in regard to school buses.

"The drivers of a vehicle upon a highway outside the limits of any incorporated city or town upon meeting or overtaking from either direction any school bus which has stopped on the highway for the purpose of receiving or discharging school children shall stop the vehicle immediately before passing the school bus, but then proceed past such school bus at a speed which is prudent, not exceeding

(10) miles per hour, and with due caution for the safety of such children."

Photos Win Honor For Carmen Angel

Two photographs by Carmen Angel, Angel Studio, 310 W. Park Avenue, have been selected for exhibition in the 75th International Exposition of Professional Photography being held in Chicago August 7-12.

Both photographs are living color prints. "Goldilocks" is Mary Beth Houlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Houlett of Dumas. Mrs. Alice Tatum of Black had this picture made of her young granddaughter. "Sandy" is Sandy Brownlow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Brownlow, 820 Ave. K.

Mrs. Angel says that she "cannot express how thrilled" she is that her photographs were among those select few chosen for exhibition.

The exposition is sponsored by the Professional Photographers of America, who are holding their annual convention at Chicago's Conrad Hilton Hotel. With more than 8,900 members, the 86-year-old PPA is the world's largest association of professional photographers.

More than 4,000 prints were submitted to a select jury of professional photographers from all over the nation. Only 1,321 were chosen for exhibition.

Four Generations Represented In Reunion At E. W. Allen Home

Four generations were represented at a family reunion last weekend in the home of the E. W. Allens, when six of their seven children, 14 grandchildren, Mrs. Allen's parents and brothers were present. A number of the relatives remained to visit until the last of this week.

Mrs. Allen with her mother, Mrs. W. C. Pierce of Vernon, her daughter, Mrs. James Lee Smalley of Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. Samley's oldest daughter, Debbie, posed for the four-generations pictures, which were among snapshots taken during the reunion.

A barbecue supper was served Saturday in the Allens' backyard. Visiting and a dinner Sunday continued the entertainment.

Children of the Allens, and their families, who came for the reunion were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Cook and two daughters of Las Vegas, Nev., Mr. and Mrs. Everett Allen and two sons of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Smalley and six children. Another son, Raymond Allen, who lives in Georgia, was not here.

Children who live in Hereford are Mrs. James R. Thompson, Mrs. Jerry Easton and Danny Allen.

El Llano Club Sets First Task

Stocking the treasury to support club projects chosen during the year will be the first business of El Llano Study Club for a new season, members decided at a called meeting in the Caison House Monday. Year books for 1966-67 were distributed.

A rummage sale was planned for this weekend to earn money for the club. It will be conducted Friday beginning at 6 p. m. and again through Saturday morning on the lot at the corner of Highway 383 and West Third.

Project committee members,

Mmes. R. C. Winget, Jim Bookout, Jack Meredith and A. C. Hudson, will be in charge. A continuing project of El Llano is sponsorship of a Camp Fire Girl group which is led by a club member, Mrs. Ivan Block; other service projects will be adopted during the year.

Members received their new yearbooks, which outline programs beginning Sept. 27 with a social meeting. On the yearbook committee are Mmes. Labry Ballard, Block and Olen Caviness.

Two new members, Mrs. Wayne Thomas and Mrs. Clyde

Coleman, were added to the club roll and the resignation of Mrs. Don Paris, who has moved from the city, was noted.

In addition to those on committees, members present for the informal coffee and business discussion conducted by Mrs. Jesse Geron were Mmes. G. D. Calson, Ben Childress, Cecil Hart, John Jacobsen Jr., Bill Michael and Boyd Foster.

Samll fry like raisins added to coleslaw; you can use about one-half cup of the raisins to about three cups of the shredded cabbage.

College News About Students From This Area

DALLAS — Miss Dianne Marie Schmucker of Hereford was one of 14 students who graduated from the St. Paul School of Nursing Sunday, Aug. 14th, in ceremonies at St. Paul Hospital.

Miss Schmucker, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin C. Schmucker of 227 Avenue E. was the president of the graduating class and a recipient of the Dallas County Medical Society nursing scholarship.

Bishop Thomas K. Gorman of the Dallas-Fort Worth Diocese awarded the diplomas and awards assisted by Father Richard B. Sherlock, C. M., chaplain at St. Paul.

Miss Schmucker will work at St. Paul's as a staff nurse in the Operating Room.

NOT SO DARING — HE CHECKED WITH POLICE

BELLEVILLE, Kan. (AP) — Albert H. Bachelor has an automobile tag with the number "000007," but it's only a sample.

He saw the tag with five zeros on it on display at the county license office and someone gave it to him. He added the "7" himself.

"I thought I might get a traffic ticket," he said, "but I talked to some officers and they said it was okay."

The New England lobster inserts a grain of sand near the base of each feeler to help keep a bearing in its nearly weightless state in water. Gravity exerts a faint but constant downward pull on the sand grains, giving the lobster what amounts to a built-in plumb line.
