School Bus Crowding Under Fire By Parents

Combine Action Viewed By Ford

Cutting a swath through the milo field of V. J. Owens on east highway 60, the Ford Class combine illustrated for company officials here this week that the machine is capable of harvesting a heavy crop of grain sorghum.

A list of dignitaries headed up by John Conners, Ford Combine Sales Manager, of Grandview Missouri, the group consisted of company officials from several cities with a concentration of Dallas representatives since Dallas is center for the Southwest Division. The district consists of Texas, Oklahoma, and half of New Mexico and half of Louisiana.

The group, a part of 30 men convening to view the combine in operation included Walter Gibson, Dallas agriculture equipment sales representative, who said that he felt that the performance of the machine was outstanding.

Lawrence Richwine of Kansas City said that he liked the way the machine worked, but he spent most of his conversation on praises for the crop that he was cutting.

Talking with reporters riding through the field high above the maize heads in the glass enclosed cab, Richwine said that he thought the field beautiful. He stressed the lack of weed growth and the uniformity of the crop.

An occasional rogue head was nipped and pulled in by the reel without trouble.

"This machine will cut six rows," he explained, "but with this heavy grain, we cut only five so that we won't have to stop in the middle of the quarter mile rows and empty the bin."

Controls on the machine could be used by illiterates but actually give a hint of the international reputation possessed by the harvester. The gears and reel controls have illustrations such as rabbits and arrows so that anyone, speaking any language can tell to move the lever in the direction the running rabbit is going to increase speed. Diagrams of reels, gears, etc. show placement without the use of words.

Local dealer for the combine is Tommy Kemp who arranged the demonstration for the officials.

Five Buses Ordered For Next School Year

Crowded school buses and bus driver pay initiated citizen participation Tuesday night when Board of Trustees for Hereford Independent School District met in regular session.

Meeting with the Board were more than 25 parents concerned because of crowded buses and poor condition of buses being used. Too, one man mentioned that the group was there in behalf of a former driver that had been respected as 'one of the best bus drivers we've ever had' and who had resigned when she was given no answer to her questions about salary scales and increases.

Parents were told that state examiners would be in Hereford late Wednesday to inspect the routes and perhaps the local district might get relief from the state.

Culmination of the problem came when late in the evening after lengthy discussion the Board voted unanimously to order five buses for delivery next year in an effort to correct existing problems. It was pointed out that three years would be required to up-date the transportation equipment even ordering five buses a year.

The board expressed a feeling that the problem had been an accumulative one. Poor condition of buses was running up costs, the school officials concluded.

Buses are now in use in the system that are 13 years old. The board mentioned that this far exceeds the five year recommendation by the State agency on bus replacement. Funds are not now available for the additional buses, it was pointed out.

On the agenda for the meeting was the question of bus driver pay. The board accepted the recommendation of Supt. Johnny Clark and business manager Dillie Kelley that the drivers be paid on a per mile basis. This would eliminate existing inequities the board decided.

In considering costs of transportation, it was pointed out that the district is operating routes not authorized by the

Outstanding Campaign Boosts UF Goal Upward

Terms of whirlwind drive, revved-up collecting and a great community permeate United Fund tabulating meetings.

Fast action has pulled in 78 percent of the total goal in technically, a week's campaign time.

Drive Chairman Debbis Knox, says, 'great, let's get some more.'

Citizens shouldn't wait to be contacted — they really should volunteer. The majors, captains and sergeants are all volunteering time as well as money. Their jobs will be made easier if people will volunteer their contributions, the drive chairman points out.

Any major 'down in the dumps' gets a hearty slap on the back, a couple of donuts (from Knox's own bakery) and is sent back into the hinterlands to scrape a little deeper.

With the 75 percent record collections, not many majors are needing this added encouragement, but majors are pleading with Knox and Melvin Jayroe, United Fund president, to 'take it easy — it's still early in the game.'

Jayroe and Knox just grin and reply 'you've done a great job — just don't stop yet!'

Total collected by Checkpoint Tuesday was $23,759.09. Goal is $30,400.

Several majors have completed goals but are still steaming ahead. Some have not made goals but are plowing every corner in an effort to stimulate community action.

Schools with Johnny Clark, major have contributed approximately 142 percent of their goal, reaching $1989.70 when their goal was $1400. Leo Forrest has exceeded his goal of $4700 and has more to come in.

B. F. Cain is nearing his $2,000 goal; Ben Childers is moving well above 50 percent with more than 50 percent of his companies still to be contacted. Many company contacts are out of town and have to be done by letter.

Both commercial districts, under the direction of Cleve Cor-

Third Tax Meeting Planned

Deaf Smith County Commissioners, after conferring Monday with tax consultant James McMorris of Amarillo and Canyon, called a joint meeting of city, county and school officials to discuss upcoming tax evaluation.

The officials will meet at 7 p. m. Tuesday at the Hickory Log. McMorris told commissioners Monday that he had met with school officials and Hereford Mayor Ray Cowser and all felt that one more joint meeting was necessary before the evaluation could begin. The group have met twice previously.

The tax consultant said he will have an estimate of the total cost ready for the meeting Tuesday, and told commissioners he needed to start on the job by Nov. 15.

The commissioners gave authorization of issuance of $60,000 in bonds for the Walcott School. The bonds, which were approved by Walcott voters Sept. 24, were sold to the Columbian Securities Corp. of Texas in San Antonio. Interest rate will be 4.9674.

The money will be used for school and teacher residential expansion. J. V. Perrin, president of the Walcott School Board, and W. R. Duggan, secretary, made the request for sale of the bonds.

Two miles of public road in Precinct 4 in the north section of Deaf Smith County were opened by vote of the commissioners. A five-man jury view had studied the road opening after a petition was presented commissioners Sept. 26 and recommended that it be opened, primarily for the school bus route.

Commissioners also invested $2,000 in Crandall school bonds. The money, from the County Permanent School Fund, is interest paid to the county by the state for land use. The land is located in Kaufman County.

Mrs. Argen Draper, Deaf Smith County Home Demonstration Agent, was authorized by the commissioners to set up a commercial kitchen in the Bull Barn, including a stove, dishwasher, large sinks and garbage disposal.

Commissioners said their action was initiated after the Hereford Study Club presented a 60-piece set of silverware for use in the Bull Barn. Commissioners also sent a letter of thanks to the study club for the gift.

The monthly fire report for September was sent to commissioners by Hereford City Manager Dudley Bayne. The report showed three county fires extinguished by the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department during the month.

James Higgins of Hereford and Justin McBride, Deaf Smith County Agriculture Agent, met with commissioners to request use of the small Bull Barn as spot for an indoor rifle range so that a course in riflery can be offered local 4-H members.

Higgins asked commissioners to purchase a portable back stop for the rifle range, saying that he felt Hereford is large enough that several groups, including grownups, will use the range quite frequently.

Firing, he told commissioners, would be under strict supervision at all times. Higgins' request was favored by the commissioners, but he was told to

Fire Demolishes Home In Night

An early morning fire, which was out of control when the Hereford Fire Department arrived at the scene, destroyed the residence of Mrs. Sadie Redwine in south Hereford Tuesday.

Fireman Kenny Wilson answered the call along with all of the volunteer crew — answered the call in an effort to save a house that turned out to belong to his grandmother.

The residence of his mother and other neighbors on South Lee were saved from any damage by the efforts of the firemen, according to Mrs. Ruth Wilson, daughter of Mrs. Redwine.

Mrs. Redwine was staying with her daughter since she is recuperating from a stay in the hospital and was not at home at the time of the fire.

Firemen said they were called to the residence on 819 South Lee at 2:10 a. m., but the blaze had already eaten through the roof when they arrived.

All units of the department were dispatched to extinguish the fire in the eight room home and keep it from spreading to the neighboring houses. They had it out by 6 a. m. None of the furnishings in the home were saved.

Mrs. Redwine said that she had under $10,000 insurance on the house and about $3,000 on the contents. Her daughter said that many antique pieces of furniture were lost in the blaze. Fire marshal Terry Hale said the structure contained a stucco-type material on the outside and had wooden framework on the inside. No cause for the fire had been determined by Wednesday.

Pups-Pups-Pups

By TOM PORTER

"Mommy, Sleepy's going to have puppies all over the house," Suzette Gallagher, 6, came running to tell her mother last Friday.

Sue Gallagher said she thought nothing of the excited statement, figuring that the family dog, Sleepy, would have only a normal litter of puppies. But she went to see anyhow.

Sure enough, Sleepy had puppies all over the house. Seven-teen of them. And if that wasn't enough to upset the Gallagher household, the 16-month-old German Shepherd gave birth to another puppy that night.

Four of the puppies had died by Wednesday morning but Mrs. Gallagher said it appeared that the others were going to live. "They're all getting fat and more active."

The major problem with the multiple births, besides creating near panic in the Gallagher's two children, Suzette and Mike, 3, is that Sleepy has feeding stations for only 10 puppies. To take care of any possible deficiency because of lack of nourishment, the family began feeding the puppies with eyedroppers.

Sleepy, although a little dazed, appeared to be taking her first litter of puppies in stride. Her only show of irritation came when the photographer began snapping flashbulbs and she came to the defense of her brood. Mike quickly quieted the anxious mother with soothing words and pats on the head.

Although records were the farthest thing from Sleepy's mind, she wasn't too far from one. According to the "Guinness Book of World Records," the largest litter of puppies on record "is the 23 born to a fox hound named Lena owned by Commander W. N. Ely of Ambler, Pa. on February 11, 1945."

The Gallaghers who live at 125 Emma, are looking for help. It seems their dog had all these

Knights Purpose Herd Destruction

"The 'Knights' from Albuquerque are coming to Hereford with a traveling squad of about 33 footballers, ready to try and corral the Whitefaces. This game will be the big test for the Herd, as the Knights boast a big Team with good speed, but they will find the going real sticky with that forward wall of the Whitefaces. The Herd has one of the finest defensive ball clubs in the area. The forward wall consists of Bill Watts, Mike Davis, Ricky Fangman, Bill Coffin, Wayne Miller, Charles Brewton, Johnny Cornelius, Walter Baker, and these boys have plenty of reserves to back them up. The Herd also has some of the top scorers in the District are Billy Frank, Gary Tucker, Ernie Williams and Phillip Cain.

The secondary defensive units composed of Tucker, Childers, Williams, and Malouf will be ready for action. The Herd has had an open date and they are

Reese Accepts PESO Youth Corp Position

J. C. Reese, Adult Probation Officer for 69th Judicial District, announced this week that he has resigned his position to accept appointment as Area Coordinator of the Neighborhood Youth Corp.

Reese will supervise units in Hereford, Dimmitt, Borger and Amarillo. The program is under the direction of Panhandle Educational Services Organization, under the auspices of West Texas State University. He will be employed by the University.

In the Hereford program, the youths will be sponsored in work and classes by the city of Hereford under the direction of Dudley Bayne, city manager. Nine youths will work 29 hours a week each and will be paid $1.25 an hour. Part of their program will be remedial reading remedial math or vocational courses "probably in cooperation with the public schools."

Some schooling is a requirement of the program designed for youth who have dropped out of formal classes, Reese said.

Reese will continue in the probation office until such time as another officer can be placed. Probation officers are hired by the individual counties in the judicial district with the recommendation of the District Judge.

Reese will live in Hereford and work out of his home and the Personnel Services office at the University. He will have six youths in Dimmitt, 40 in Ama-sate in an effort to alleviate crowding. This is part of local funding costs.

 Some of the parents present said that their children did not ride the buses because they were too crowded. One group mentioned that one bus was carrying 90 children — far in excess of its 72 passenger capacity.

Kelley said that this was true, but that he had no more buses to use as 'trailers' to lighten the load.
 Even with the two new buses received within the last few days, the system is still short buses particularly when student activities require bus transportation. For the band to have transportation, it is necessary to pull some of the route buses off regular runs and use 'old clunkers' to fill the gaps, Kelley explained.

He pointed out that all of this would not be necessary if all of the regular activity buses could be utilized. One bus is out of action because the system has been unable to secure parts for it. He explained that one more bus for activities would be needed even if the one not functioning were in use.

Since the system furnishes buses for the two junior high school athletic teams and the high school band, the buses are in use several days each month.

Transportation including replacement of buses is financed by the state but if the per mile quota does not meet local costs, quota does not meet local costs, make up the deficit. Kelley mentioned that the local costs are exceeding the state allocated funds by more than $18,000 per year and that funds are not available for bus replacement.

Clark mentioned that about $2,000 per year is paid out of the athletic fund for transportation. One of the parents present said that in the past the buses were used without any reimbursement to the transportation fund. Kelley said that no record of mileage is kept on the use of the buses for these extra activities.

Size of the new buses ordered has been designated as 72 passenger buses. Some buses bought in recent past years have been only 48 passenger and these have limited routes that they service.

The parents left stating that they had learned a lot about school buses but they still wished to see these dangerous overcrowding practices eliminated.

Wheat is being seeded or harvested somewhere in the world, every month of the year.

when a special education teacher accepted the homebound course of study, as well as approving a proposal by high school personnel suggesting that the vocational school be built between the existing girls' gymnasium and the shop building. Heard also was an analysis of the reasons teachers leaving the system last year resigned.

Richard Jackson and Ben Gollehon presented a proposal for an elementary music curriculum guide that is designed to prepare the children for sight singing by the time they reach seventh grade. They said that if each elementary school had a music teacher in the building, the program could be even more effective. They also outlined their respective courses of study in high school. Della Stagner and Bill Phillips served as consultants in the planning.

The board accepted the parochial school's proposal to teach some of their eighth grade band students. Gollehon said that he would use a period during the day when he had been working with the organization of orchestra to teach these children. They will be taught on the high school campus and the public school will not be out any monetary considerations — only the time of the teacher involved. The course is offered on a trial basis.

Miss Stagner also gave a report on the homebound student class that was activated this week. This district has qualified for 19 special education units, so this one with the qualifying seven children was begun. The teacher, Mrs. Otto Garlitz, will teach the children in their homes teaching individually. Children who will be out of school as long as a month in any grade level can qualify for the teacher's time. Miss Stagner explained.

Another proposed program would put language stations in each elementary school. These would have teachers trained to help children learn to speak and understand English. All levels through junior high would be eligible. The proposal has already been sent to Austin but no word has been given as to whether the program will be approved or not. Included is the addition of nurse's aides and librarians assistants.

Football Winners

L. V. Watts of Hereford guessed incorrectly on only one game — the Texas-Oklahoma upset — to win the fourth week's guessing in the Hereford Brand Football Contest.

The other five winners in the contest, all from Hereford, had identical records with 14 of 16 guesses correct, but were separated by the three tie breakers.

Brenda Burdine came in second, Leslie Shelton took third, Paul Schroeter was fourth, Bill Phillips was fifth, and Susan Adams was sixth. Watts, Phillips and Shelton all had entered for the first time.

The Colgate-Holy Cross and LSU-Texas A&M games were not counted because both ended in ties.

Over 170 persons entered last week's contest, with the farthest entry coming from Triangle, Va.

An entry blank for the weekly contest is in today's edition.

One other PESO program is already in progress in Hereford. This is in connection with the direction of reading stations in the public schools. Roy Hartman serves as coordinator for this phase of the PESO program. The two are not related except that testing and guidance for both phases comes from the PESO office at the University.

Before becoming probation officer, Reese taught in the public schools. His wife, Royelle, is a teacher at Aikman Elementary School in Hereford.

City Manager Dudley Bayne said nine persons will be employed in Hereford under the National Youth Corp Program. "They will be in different jobs," said Bayne, "but we're going to try and have two meter repairmen, helpers, two working in the water department maintenance, two in the parks maintenance and a secretary's aide if we have any girls sign up."

Bayne said he will begin talking applications for the program in his office at City Hall at 8:30 a. m. Friday. Those hired probably will begin work Monday, he added.

Live Wire Kills Horse In Trailer

R. A. Crist, foreman of the J. L. Woodruff Ranch in the Dawn community, lost a prized quarterhorse and had his pickup truck damaged when a live electrical wire fell on the vehicle Tuesday morning, but he "wouldn't want it to have happened any other way."

Crist and two friends were transporting three horses about 9:30 a. m. Tuesday morning along a country road when a beet digger made a turn in the corner of a field on the Harry Fugus land and cut a pole off level with the ground.

The pole fell toward the road and the wire landed on the cab of Crist's truck, which was leading the other two. "I traveled about 100 yards with flames shooting everywhere before the wire shook loose from the cab of the truck," said Crist.

When the wire shook loose, however, it flew back and hit the horse, which was immediately killed by the estimated 7, 900 volts flowing through the line. Luckily, Crist had been thoroughly insulated as he was sitting on a foam rubber seat, the steering wheel was plastic and he was wearing gloves. Of course, the rubber tires on the vehicle also helped.

"I didn't think about grabbing the door handle or anything else," said Crist. "Everything just took care of itself."

Raymond Kimell, driver of the digger, was injured. The accident happened 21 miles north and six miles east of Hereford.

Crist said the quarterhorse, named Traveler, was out of registered stock but had not been registered. "I would rather have lost all of the horses together than this one, because it was the best horse I have ever had," Crist said sadly.

Brightening up, he added, "However, if any one of those other pickups had been going a little faster, or the wire had fallen a little different, it could have been really bad. I'm just glad it happened the way it did."

Two investigators with the Texas Highway Department, O. L. Johnson and Willie Beyer, met with commissioners seeking cooperation in seeing that rural persons correct registration tags on their vehicles.

The investigators said many persons, not only in Deaf Smith County but all across the state, are violating the law which gives a reduction of registration fee on trucks used by farmers. "Any one who has his vehicle tagged with these type plates and uses that vehicle in any other gainful employment is breaking this law," said Johnson.

The two men said the law has been in effect about 25 years, and investigators have been in Deaf Smith County off and on for the past 15 years. Recently, numerous persons in the local area have received caution notices that they have been violating the law.

Johnson and Beyer said they have several ways of tagging violators, including following them. "We have no way of knowing who's vehicle it is until we check the license, so we are not trying to file cases on anyone," said Johnson.

Commissioners Earl Holt and Donald Hicks told the investigators they felt the law was very unjust. "I live far out of the city," said Hicks, "and when I come to town I usually have to do several things. And usually I attend the Commissioners court meeting when I do come into town."

Holt said he also has to "mix farm business with his county work when he comes to town in the pickup, and felt many other persons have to do the same thing.

Commercial plates, which the persons violating the law are requested to buy, are less than $10 more than the rural plates.

 dealers and we can't do that properly if we haven't seen this machine in all conditions," one official explained.

The Ford company had not previously manufactured a combine and in an effort to obtain top-notch designers, they contacted the West German company that is the oldest grain harvester manufacturer in the world. At a prior time, they had marketed an American made machine that did not prove satisfactory as they had hoped.

Experiments with this large machine are more than they had hoped for, they said. Harvesting began in Florida, moved across the southern states and up into the Dakotas. This field was the first heavy irrigated milo that has been tried in this area.

Other crops that have been harvested with this new machine across the nation are wheat, oats, rye, corn, soybeans.

Representatives here for the Monday and Tuesday conference included company men from as far north as Arnett, Okla., as far south as Pecos, as far east as Victoria as well as the officials named above, and are dealers.

C. E. Ragan, Dallas Ford man said that of all 25 1/2 million acres of grain crops in the United States that Texas has 16 percent. Texas raises 41 percent of the milo grown in the nation and 53 percent of the rice grown is harvested in Texas and Louisiana.

Comes autumn and everyone's glad that the hot summer days are past. With the change from summer to fall, ones enthusiasm begins to get aroused and a feeling of sociable is evident. There are so many reasons for entertaining. It's harvest time, football fever is rampant, the World Series, had the undivided attention of most everyone, especially the male members of the family, clubs are starting a new year's work, and Thanksgiving is fast approaching. Yes, do give a party, dinner, luncheon or T. V. snack. Want to have it different? Then use some dried materials with your fresh cut flowers. A pretty combination is Talisman roses, or Tropicana roses, combined with grasses and chrysanthemums on a board for an informal supper.

Dried arrangements can be almost as gay and colorful as fresh flowers and they have an advantage of lasting for many months. Collecting the flowers, leaves, grasses and seed pods is fascinating. It can become a family project and it is fun when everyone starts looking out for interesting materials. Really gathering them becomes a year round past time.

For dried arrangements, as in fresh cut materials, it is required that we have contrasts, which spikes and rounds make. The advancing scale of small to large forms, whether they be roadside materials or grown in the yard, is what the arranger keeps in mind in the hunting and selection of materials for dried arrangements. Now is an excellent time to take a hike or drive into the country side and do dried material hunting. In a word, we collect branches, pods and flowers according to their availability; we dry or preserve them according to the time we can devote to them.

In the selection of our materials we should be mindful of our National and State conservation codes. We harvest these items on the lists only if we have grown the plants or have secured permission from owners of property when plants are abundant. It is wise, to be mindful of parking restrictions on the highways, as we come upon patches or fields of desirable materials in our travels or hikes. With the mowers of the highways, many plants are to be found only on secondary and tertiary roads, so I say go deep into the countryside, and keep away from highways. Farmers are usually glad (and whimsically tolerant) to have Garden Club Ladies "reap dock, weeds, sumac, milkweed pods, cat tails, grasses, millet, goldenrod and other things along their fences. Some may be friendly and let you cut some grains, if care is exercised. A word of caution — don't smoke while gathering dried materials.

It's pleasure too, to grow many of the plants in your own yard. Then they can be enjoyed twice. Some of the garden flowers that dry best are salvia, statice, strawflowers, hydrangeas, roses, baby's breath, celosia, prince feather, marigolds, zinnias and cockscomb.

To dry these naturally, pick them just as they become mature, and strip off all foliage. Tie in small bunches, hang in a moderately dark and dry place and allow about two weeks for most drying materials.

Okra, garlic stems and pods, carrot bloom clusters, radish seed pods, vines, locust beans, nampas grass, are other materials which are good selections for arrangements.

Another suggestion for dried arrangements, is to select materials, such as zinnias, marigolds, or chrysanthemums, arrange them in a container, with a nice filler, such as a static or baby's breath or grasses. Enjoy it as a fresh arrangement, then when it starts to fade drain off the water and set aside in a dark dry place and let it become completely dry, and you have another arrangement. If you wish added interest, spray lightly the tips of petals and leaves with a spray that will be harmonious to your placement, gold and silver is very good for this.

A tried and proven method of drying and preserving the color in flowers is the borax and corn meal mixture method. There is no deterioration in this borax mixture, and it can be used year after year. To keep, put in sealed jars or other containers, and put aside until next year. If you plan to dry a large quantity of flowers, blend thoroughly 2 cups of borax and 11 cups of corn meal (you and a friend might share in this). Perforate a large cardboard box with an ice pick, spacing the holes so that flower stems can hang through the perforations. Cover the bottom of the box with a thin layer of the mixture, any that sifts through can be saved and used later. Insert stems through holes, and carefully cover the flowers with the mixture. Average drying time is six or seven days, depending on the humidity. Here is a list of a few that dry well in this method: zinnias, delphiniums, marigolds, ajuga, pansies, violets, roses, feverfew, and ageratum.

Branches of leaves may be preserved by allowing them to absorb a mixture of two parts water and one part glycerin. September and October are good months for treating foliage. Cleanse thoroughly, and crush lower part of stem two or three inches by hammering, then place stems in the solution. Most leaves require two or three weeks for this process, you can determine this by examining the veins of the leaves.

Berries, seed pods, and cones may be dried by just storing them in a box. However they will last longer if they are dipped in a mixture of equal parts of clear shellac and wood alcohol and then hung upside down to dry.

Gourds, squash, and pomegranates should be pricked with a large needle or ice pick to hasten drying of inside. After they are completely dry, coat them with clear shellac or wax lightly. I have kept gourds for five or more years.

Now is the time to finish up that project of gathering materials for your winter bouquets. Try to work on a warm sunny day and dry twice as much as you think you will need as there is some shrinkage. You and your family and guests will enjoy "beauty that blossoms all year."

REMINDEES: Prepare your ground for the bulbs you will be planting. Spade deep, mix some peat moss and good top soil, plant bulbs according to instructions, be sure and plant deep enough.

October 15th is the day to plant paper white narcissus for Christmas flowers.

Keep mowing grass as long as it is growing, keep falling leaves and clippings swept off. Be ready to treat the lawn with an effective fungicide towards the end of this month.

The Sumac, at the Mrs. J. A. Pitman home, is lovely in its fall array. Have you seen the lovely Pampas grass clumps, at the Russell Hunters' home, 831 Knight and Park, the Ivan Blocks at 200 N. Texas and the Eldon Howells, 149 Sunset Drive all are really pretty and there are many more in town.

Be sure and attend the Tour of Homes, Friday October 14th. There will be six lovely homes shown. The three garden clubs are making arrangements for

Gift Shipment Slated By Club

A shipment of clothing and other gifts for children in the Abilene State School will be made next week by Veleda Study Club, it was reported at a meeting Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. George Olson.

Members also planned for Christmas gifts to be sent children at the school, a major project of this year. Mrs. Joe Frank Clark directed the business discussion.

A public showing of the film, "Whatever Happened to Eight?", which concerns the patterning program to aid brain-damaged children, is scheduled for 8 p. m. Oct. 24 at Central Church of Christ here. Veleda members were urged to see it at this time.

The club is in charge of booking the film, which is to be shown for a number of organizations during that week.

Patterning was the subject of the program Tuesday, with emphasis on the work being conducted at a center here. Mrs. Don Bougous was the speaker, tracing the development of this type of treatment and explaining the methods used.

Her topic was Unlocking Secrets of the Brain, one of the studies in a season's series titled "Make Us Aware."

Next meeting of the club will be for a trip to Amarillo to see the Junior League production of "Half a Sixpence," on Oct. 25.

Those present included Mmes. Robert Willmot, Glenn Watts, Billy Sisson, George Ritter, Hugh Clearman, Bill Brady and Gild Brown.

Injured Farmer Gets Crop Harvested Fast

After a Monday evening accident to Alvis Jolly, who farms near Easter, it appeared that he would lose at least a portion of his maize crop. With other ideas however, friends and neighbors rallied their forces, congregated at the Jolly maize field and harvested 400,000 pounds Tuesday afternoon.

The accident occurred when Jolly attempted to tighten a belt on his combine. His right hand was caught and then pulled through another pulley, also cutting his head. "And that's the last he remembered," says Mrs. Jolly.

Nevertheless, almost twenty men operated ten combines and about that many trucks Tuesday from 1:00 p.m. until 5:30 p.m. All of the ripe maize was harvested — which was greatly appreciated by the Jollys.

One source said Jolly "tried to stop us. . . he didn't think he was in that bad shape." But he said it "really didn't put any of us out" and Jolly is "in pretty good shape now."

The men who participated in the neighborly deed felt that "everybody enjoys doing something like that" and their own fields were "too wet to get into."

Men who helped with the harvesting of a friend's crops include: John E. Smith, Roy Botkin, Buster Thomason, Richard Price, John Burnett, Charles Springer, Harlan Barber, Lee Kent, David Hutchins, Earl Harkins, Herman Paetzold, Dee Taylor, Charles Self, Wayne Brooks, Milton Jones, Wendell Markley, Tom Davis.

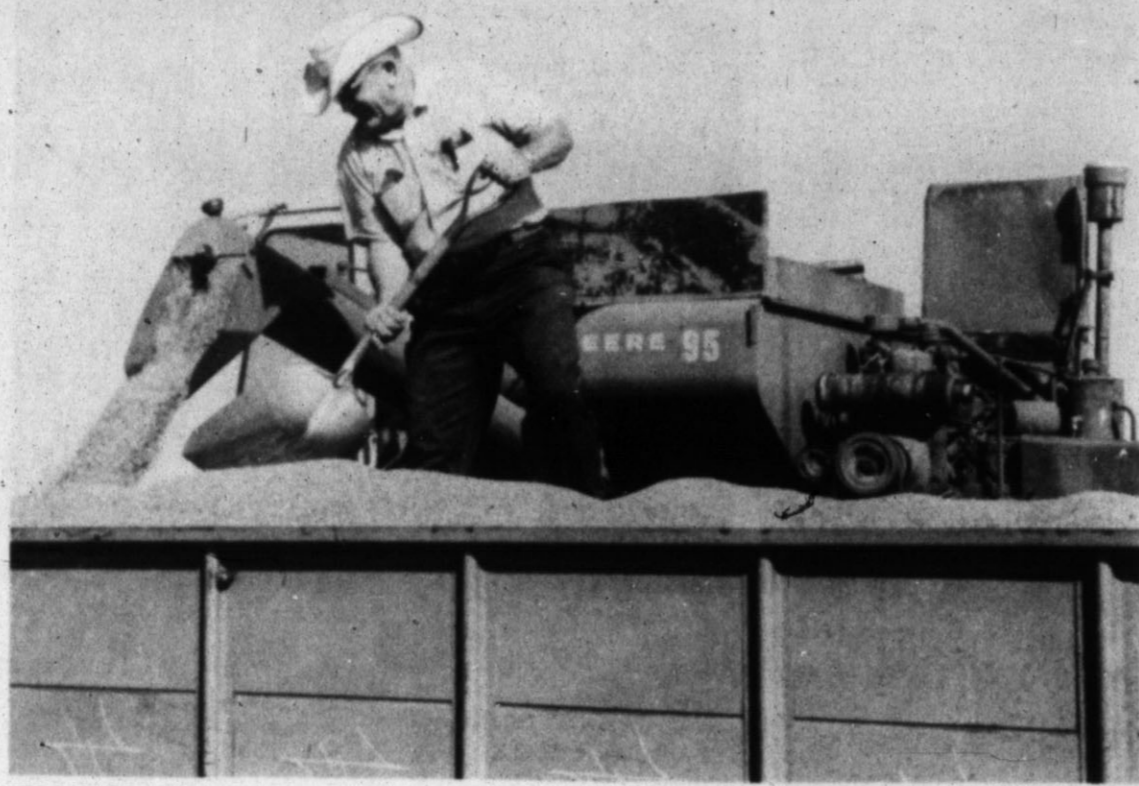

Get ready for that small-fry party! Roll balls of ice cream in chopped peanuts, wrap individually and store in the freezer.

Bake brownies in a square 8-inch foil pan and store, in the pan, in the freezer.

After taking him to the hospital Mrs. Jolly called a friend in Easter, asking him to check the combine as Jolly could not recall turning it off. The person to whom she spoke was at a meeting of the Easter Lions Club and told the others of Jolly's accident. Those checking the combine found it not running and there was blood in it evidence that Jolly had turned it off.

Hospitalized overnight, Jolly was not seriously injured. Dislocation of his right thumb and head gashes requiring stitches would, however, prevent him from harvesting his maize in time. It was this that the friends and neighbors decided to remedy.

No one admits the magnanimity of suggesting that the maize be harvested for Jolly. It seems that it "just happened," though the Easter Lions are thought to be the instigators.

NEIGHORLY DEED — Harlan Barber helps as did many others, with the harvest of Alvis Jolly's maize. Jolly was injured in an accident Monday evening and was unable to harvest the crop himself, thus his friends and neighbors stepped in and lent a helping hand.

FHA Hobo Days Set For Fund Raising

Like old-time hoboes who sought any sort of odd jobs, FHA chapters will accept all types of employment as they observe Hobo Days Saturday of this week and next.

Pay received for their work in homes and businesses those days will be devoted to chapter projects. Residents who will employ a chapter member either day are asked to telephone 364-4790, Susan White at 364-1362 or Gail Rusher at 364-3816.

ATTRACTS CROWD — Demonstration of a new Ford combine here this week attracted more than company officials. Farmers from around the area came to view the machine in action. SEN. TOWER SPEAKS

Cost Of Living Goes Up With Federal Spending

The Bureau of Labor Statistics has released its latest Consumer Price Index showing the latest cost-of-living figures. It was another all-time high. Here is what the index showed:

Since 1960 the cost of living has gone up 19.27 percent.

Since 1960 the cost of groceries has jumped 13.75 percent.

Since January, living costs in just seven months have jumped 2.52 percent.

And, in the same seven months, grocery costs have increased 3.95 percent.

If you put $100 away in a shoe box in 1940, you have lost $57 in purchasing power on that savings.

If you put $100 away in a shoe box in 1960, some $9 of it already has been "stolen" from you in purchasing power losses.

If you retired on a fixed income or pension in 1940 of $3, 000, it is now worth only $1,290 insofar as purchasing power is concerned.

And, if you retired in 1960 with a $5,000-a-year pension, you already have lost $450.

And, it now takes $22.42 to buy the groceries you could get for $20 just six years ago.

And, the 1933 dollar is now worth only 39.6 cents.

The 1940 dollar is worth only 43 cents; the 1960 dollar, only 91 cents.

Now, let no one be misled. The cause of this massive, penalizing inflation is excessive government spending. Without an attack on government spending, further inflation is inevitable. The government has been on a needless, "nonsense spending spree. What is needed is a period of restraint — not restraint by farmers and businessmen and housewives, but immediate and effective restraint by the federal government. It is the federal budget, not the family budget that needs balancing.

As Texas' United States Senator, I have sought and will continue to seek to eliminate unnecessary, non-defense federal spending. Since 1961 I have voted to cut more than $57 billion from the red ink of federal budgets. In 1961 I voted to cut $11 billion; in 1962, $9 billion; in 1963, $5 billion; in 1964 $10 billion; in 1965, $17 billion. So far this year I have supported spending cuts of more than $5 billion.

During these years the federal budget deficit has been $31 billion, so my votes on behalf of Texans would have resulted in black ink that could have offset the pressures that caused our current inflation.

I believe Texans are quite right to expect their government to live within its means and to protect their dollars rather than debasing them.

District Board Of TFWC Okays Resolutions

A board meeting of the Top of Texas District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, was attended this week by three members of Pioneer Study Club who are board members as chairmen of district or state committees.

The meeting was at Perryton. Going from Pioneer Club were Mrs. Delmar Sigle, Mrs. Ray Johnson and Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Sr.

Action of the district board included the passing of two resolutions. One called for encouragement of youth and their parents to consider careers in the teaching and nursing profession, where nationwide shortages are critical; the other concerned traffic safety.

It urged stricter laws and enforcement, safety engineering in highway construction, mandatory safety features in automobiles, re-examination of drivers' license holders, heavier penalties for driving while intoxicated and under influence of drugs, and greater emphasis on highway safety through news media.

Go-Cart Wreck Injures Youths

Joe Coleman, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Coleman of 207 Elm, remained in the intensive care unit at St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo late Wednesday receiving treatment for injuries received in a go-cart and truck accident here Saturday.

Jeff Coleman, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Coleman of the Westway community, received a fractured jaw in the accident and was released from Deaf Smith County Hospital Tuesday night.

Investigating officers said the two boys were riding their go-cart about 6:30 p. m. Saturday one mile south of Bootleg Corner when the accident occurred. The boys were traveling south when a truck driven by Charlie Bailey of Hartley came up from behind them.

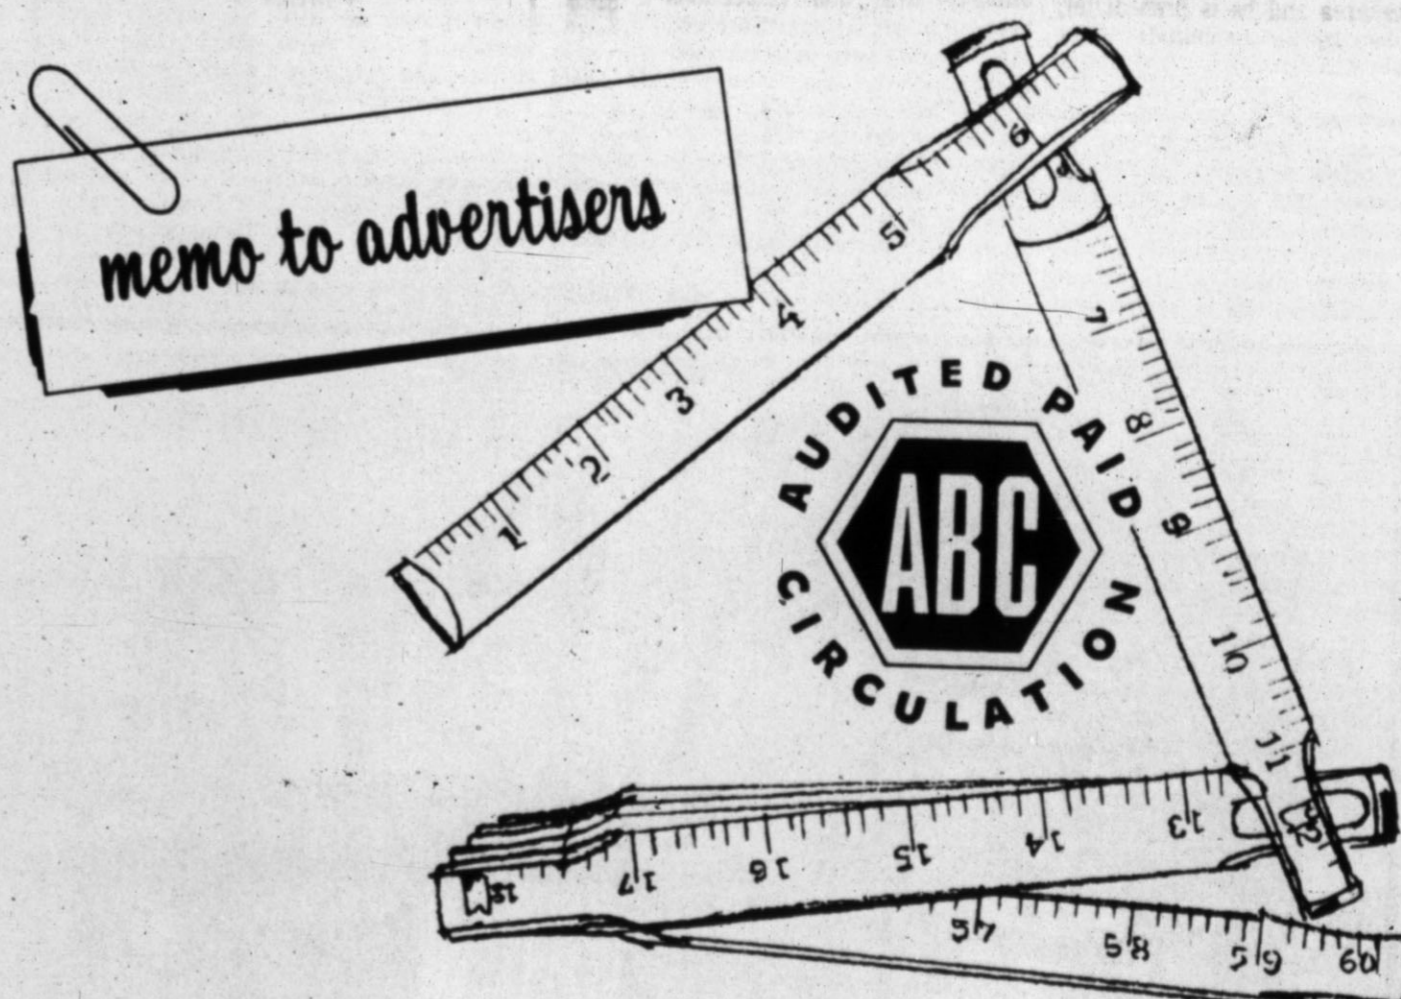

Older brothers who were coming toward the younger boys saw the truck coming and began to wave for Jeff and Joe to pull into the ditch and let the truck pass. Misinterpreting the waves, the two pulled the go-cart directly into the path of the truck, which had begun to pass.

Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Deputy Tommy Simon said Bailey locked the wheels on the truck and the vehicle and the boys landed in the ditch.

The boys were dragged, cut and bruised in the accident, but were not run over by the wheels of the truck. Bruce Coleman said it appeared that his son, Jeff, was short enough that he was not crushed any by the truck.

Joe Coleman, however, had his left arm broken in two places and numerous bones in the left side of his face broken. He received emergency treatment at the Hereford hospital before being transferred to Amarillo where surgeons repaired the damage in about six hours of operations.

Doctors in Amarillo said Wednesday that they believed the youth will be able to see and felt the bones will heal properly.

Advertising's third dimension

In addition to length and width, a newspaper advertisement has a third dimension—thickness. Thickness is represented by circulation, the number of advertisements printed and actually delivered.

You pay for an advertisement on the basis of length and width, but what you really buy is the opportunity to talk about your merchandise or service to a specified number of readers: Laid one upon another, a one inch stack of your advertisements in this newspaper equals 300 homes reached.

Thickness . . . or circulation . . . is the dimension that gives promise to your sales message, that it will reach potential customers.

It is important for you to know whether circulation is a promise or a fact.

The ABC insignia assures you that our circulation is measured by the highest standards in the advertising and publishing industry. It is the symbol of our membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

ABC is an independent auditing organization whose sole purpose is to give accurate and factual circulation reports. ABC audits are trusted by national advertisers and advertising agencies. They can be trusted by you.

Our tell-all ABC report shows how much circulation we actually deliver, where these copies are distributed, how much readers pay, and other information you should know about the thickness of your advertising here — facts, without opinions, compiled from a physical audit of circulation records by traveling ABC auditors.

When buying advertising, be sure to measure all three dimensions — length, width, and thickness.

Insist on facts. Be ABC sure!

The Hereford Brand

By MELVIN YOUNG

The local Ford tractor dealer Tommy Kemp, was host Monday and Tuesday to some 34 executives from Ford's combine division. The men came from as far away as Birmingham, Michigan, the east coast and even one Scotsman who is now working with the Ford company in South Texas.

The group held a convention in Hereford and viewed the operation of the new Ford combine while here.

Having a convention in Hereford is not particularly significant, but the fact that this group of people had to travel to Hereford, Texas to find the heavy grain sorghum production needed to adequately test the machine, is important.

To say that they were highly impressed with the area, is an understatement. They were amazed.

Seldom had these men seen so many irrigated acres planted to so many crops, producing such abundant yields.

To those of us who are native to this area, the gigantic farming operations and the modern methods used here just seem natural. It's hard to believe sometimes, that other areas are not blessed with thousands and thousands of acres of rich soil, level as a table top and with an abundance of water underneath.

We take for granted the fact that on these acres we can produce 10,000 pound grain sorghum, 70 bushel wheat, 20-30 tons of sugar beets, Cotton, carrots, lettuce, cabbage, bell peppers, potatoes, tomatoes — all do equally as well.

It seems normal, to have farmers who are many times ahead of the agricultural experiment stations in learning new ways to increase production through fertilization and better farming practices.

But let a stranger come into the area and he is immediately taken by the magnitude of the operation.

This is a great place. If you don't believe it, just take a little trip. Drive 200 miles in any direction and make some comparisons. If you're still not convinced, then expand your horizons even further — in any direction. There just isn't another place that will compare. The Ford people could see it — but many found it hard to believe.

By the way, the weather department cooperated all the way. The wind blew and kicked up a little dust for the visitors. They thought it was really blowing, but we natives know different. Just a gentle breeze.

And while we're on the subject of this particular area, we would like to expound a little on the neighborliness of the folks out here.

Alvis Jolly, who farms in the Easter area, was slightly injured while working on a combine the other day. Not seriously, but enough to keep him off the machine for a few days just when the grain was ripe and ready to be cut.

True to form, Alvis' neighbors came to the rescue. And it didn't take them long to get the job done either. Around 10 machines and 10 to 12 trucks seemed to appear out of nowhere Tuesday morning and started cutting and hauling the grain to the elevator. By mid-afternoon the men were finished with everything that was ripe enough to cut, and had moved back to their own fields.

It didn't take long to help out a neighbor. And if you ask about it, they'd probably tell you that it was a lot of fun. That's typical of the people in this area — which makes it even better as a place to live.

The auto industry, we're told accounts for one out of every twenty jobs — and this doesn't include morticians.

Children seldom misquote you; they repeat what you shouldn't have said, word for word.

Heavy grower participation in the diversion program aimed at reduction of cotton surpluses has resulted in an over-all reduction of about 28 percent of the 1966 U. S. cotton acreage compared with the 1965 acreage. The total United States cotton acreage for 1966 is the smallest in almost 100 years. This same reduction in acreage in the states of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico has reduced the expected production for 1966, to 4 million bales as compared with the 1965 production of 5,267,000 bales.

Fowler Attends WTCC Industrial

According to advance registration records, practically every city in the 132 county West Texas area will be represented at the 13th annual Industrial Development Conference in San Angelo October 14th. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the event, has arranged a day long program of subjects of interest to each community interested in industrial growth. Hereford will be represented by Jerry Fowler. Nine "how to" sessions are scheduled. These workshops will explore in depth the methods of attracting, selling servicing and maintaining the industrial prospect. Experts in their fields will moderate the separate workshops and will have a panel of other specialists to answer questions and develop ideas. "Industrial" committee members, mayors, county judges, chamber of commerce president and managers and other leading businessmen of West Texas will attend the conference. All sessions will be in the San Angelo Coliseum and will commence at 9 a. m. October 14th. Among the subjects to be discussed are: "West Texas Prospects," "Industrial Team Concept," "Sites and Utilities," "Statistics and Brochures" and several others. These subjects will enable the various community representatives to have a better understanding of some of the problems as well as the advantages of obtaining suitable industry for their community, according to a WTCC spokesman, Charles E. Coombes, chairman of the planning committee. Agricultural industries and petrochemical industries will be analyzed to show why they are adaptable for almost any community in West Texas. One of the features of the day will be testimonials by representatives of industrial firms that have recently located in West Texas. At the noon luncheon these men will tell why their firms selected this area for their center of operations and how other industries of a like nature can be induced to locate in communities of West Texas.

AT JAYCEES

Federal Government Is Credited With Farm Help

Faust Collier, manager of the U. S. Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation office in Hereford, told the Jaycees Tuesday that the federal government has been a big boost to area agriculture in past years. "About $9.25 million dollars was paid out on lands in Deaf Smith County last year and we'll probably match that this year. Some of that has gone to persons owning land here while living in other cities, but most of that amount has remained here," said Collier. The government's farm program was traced by Collier back to the "depression" of the 1930s, which he said was caused partly by collapse of farm prices. "The farm economy was in a complete mess," said Collier, "so the government came up with a farm program which was purely a relief program at first, because the farmer's collateral wasn't worth anything." The first program, Collier continued, consisted chiefly of parity payments in which the government paid the farmer so much an acre to go out and seed wheat. "The purpose was to keep the farm income up in line with other things." Continuing, Collier said the farmers later voted to have allotments on wheat, cotton and other crops, and by law could be penalized for exceeding the allotments. "This was an effort to try and keep the production even with the needs." "It began piling up after World War II and the Korean War and costing the taxpayers money," he added. "Everytime the government sold some of the surplus it would ruin the market." Collier said increased population and increased exports have eliminated the allotments. "Actually," he continued, "the government payments today just about represent the profit. The things the farmer has to buy are going up all the time and the things he has to sell are not." "The loan program today," he explained, "is set up as a floor plan to guarantee the man at least a minimum profit." Payments come from the soil bank program, crop land adjustment program, sugar program, cotton program, a program for improvements to the farm, and wheat program. "One bright spot on the horizon now," Collier concluded, "is the large demand for more wheat. This could lead to more relaxed government programs." The Hereford Jaycees will have a membership meeting at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the Community Center. Members of the Pampa Jaycees will present a program during the meeting.

CANDIDATE SPEAKS

Price Strikes At Farm Losses Due To Inflation

The Department of Agriculture own statistics show that farmers took a $2.2 billion loss in 1965 because of the LBJ — caused inflation, congressional candidate Bob Price said Monday. "Diluted dollars and sharply increased Federal farm payments give an illusion of farm prosperity which really isn't there. Farmers know this, even if Mr. Freeman doesn't," Price said at a coffee in his honor White Deer.

ers are surplus," Price added. "Typical of the Lyndon Johnson operations, while the number of farms decline, the number of employees at the Department of Agriculture continues to increase. Between 1955 and 1965 the number USDA employees increased from one per 60 farms to one per 30 farms." "How are the farmers doing?" Price asked. "They are going deeper in debt. In the last ten years farm debt has increased 23 billion dollars — and farmers are now paying the highest interest rates in history to sustain this debt." "From 1952 to 1956 the parity rate averaged 85-5 percent. This measures the ratio of prices received by farmers against those they must pay for goods and services. Since 1960, parity has averaged only 78 percent." "If LBJ is wondering why there is a farm revolt, he should have Orville Freeman brief him on facts and figures down on the farm," Price concluded.

Farm costs keep mounting, and now are forcing farmers to leave the land at the rate of 100,000 per year, the 18th District candidate stated. "Farmers are told by no less an authority than the President that one million farmers could produce all of the Nations farm needs — which is another way of saying that 2.2 million farm-

Tea Guests Are Told Of Center

A guest day tea in Lone Star Study Club entertained 35 members and visitors Tuesday afternoon at Community Center, where Mrs. Jack Brown was the speaker. Hostesses were Mrs. Hardy Benson, Mrs. Olan Caviness and Mrs. Norman Moore. Autumn flowers and leaves in bright hues were placed with candles as a centerpiece for the tea table, which was covered with cutwork linen. Mrs. S. S. Williams, club president, welcomed the guests who were introduced by members at roll call.

termining at the center is a part of the intensive program, she said, and a child follows a strict schedule of diet, rest and exercises under supervision, including periods of creeping and crawling. Volunteer workers are always needed, Mrs. Brown said; just now the principal need is for baby sitters to care for small children of the volunteers while they are working with the patients.

After a devotional talk by Mrs. Jim Bookout, the guest speaker discussed Patterning for Brain-Damaged Children. She spoke of the local program for this treatment, explaining that it can also be used for older people with certain types of brain damage. In Hereford the patterning center was set up last summer in the educational building of First Methodist Church, where at present more than 200 volunteers are working with 11 children. All the children have shown improvement, some a great deal, Mrs. Brown said. She described the program of body movements in which five persons work as a team with a patient, in a treatment which is repeated three times a day. Home care as well as Pat-Graveside Services Are Held For Child Graveside funeral services were conducted in St. Anthony's Cemetery Monday morning for Augustin-Beyrea, two-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Berrera of West Kibbe Street. The Rev. Raymond Gillis of St. Joseph's Mission officiated. Born Aug. 1, 1966, the child died Monday in a hospital at Dimmitt after a short illness. In addition to the parents, survivors are four sisters and four brothers.

King Faisal took the crown of Arabia from his ailing brother Saud in November 1964.

ZIP Numbers Made Available By Card

Beginning today, letter carriers throughout the Hereford area will deliver one card to every residence. Postmaster Nolan Grady reported. Each card will have spaces for addresses the householder wishes zipped. After placing un-coded addresses on the cards, preferably printed; cards may be dropped into any letter box or returned to letter carriers. The Hereford Post Office will add the appropriate ZIP Codes and return the cards to the mailer. "No postage is needed," Mr. Grady said. The project is part of Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien's program to make ZIP codes more accessible to the mailing public.

In addition to the cards for addresses a special notice advising each resident of his local ZIP Code number will be delivered.

WELDING COURSE

The Hereford High School vocational agriculture department will sponsor a four-day "farm welding short course" for adult farmers' beginning Monday at the school's shop. Conducting the course will be Joel R. Barton, state welding specialist who is in the department of Agricultural Engineering at Texas A&M College. Enrollment fee for the course, which will begin each night at 8, is $5. Interested persons may contact Richard Robinson or Jess L. Robinson, agricultural instructors at the high school.

With favorable growing conditions for the remainder of the season a total United States broomcorn crop of 21,200 tons is expected. Most of the broomcrop is grown in Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado and New Mexico with a limited acreage in Kansas and Illinois.

Institute Slated At Legal Center

The thirteenth annual institute on labor law, sponsored by the Southwestern Legal Foundation, will be held at the Southwestern Legal Center, located on the campus of Southern Methodist University in Dallas, according to John D. Aikin, Hereford attorney. Mr. Aikin, resident representative of the Foundation announced that the Institute is scheduled for October 13-15, 1966. Law professors and attorneys prominent in the field of labor law will be included among the lecturers who will address the institute.

In completing the cards, only the street address and city and state are required. Individual names should not be listed. Postmaster Grady emphasized the importance of including a return address on the front of the cards so they may be returned after addresses have been coded.

Incomplete addresses which are submitted but cannot be ZIP Coded by the local post office, such as those in a city like Washington, D. Tickets Simplify Lunch Tabulating At Northwest

What started out as an experiment has become a part of the regular routine at Northwest Elementary School, and the result is happier parents, teachers, school administrators and about four hours a day more instruction time.

Duvall and other administrative officials decided to use lunch-room tickets instead of having the children bring the money to school each day. Duvall has ample figures to prove that the experiment is working.

"The parent can now write a check for 15 or 20 meals, send it to the school and the child will bring home the tickets," said Duvall. "Then each day instead of bringing the money, the student brings a ticket."

Last year, Duvall and his staff surveyed and found that each of the 25 teachers in the school were spending about 10 minutes every morning taking up the lunch money and counting it. After counting and making sure that all of their 25 or 30 students had plans to eat, the teachers then had to present the money to the assistant principal and another count made.

Under the old system, students also would charge more meals get behind in paying for the meals or not pay at all. This semester, if the student comes to school without a ticket, he gets a "loan" ticket from the principal's office and the loan must be replaced or repaid. "We've had only 15 tickets loaned out so far that haven't been replaced," Duvall said Tuesday.

Duvall added that any family unable to pay for their children's meal for a period of time are sent to see Dillie Kelley, business manager for the Hereford Independent School District. If the need is justified, Kelley recommends that the children be given free lunches for a time.

Also, Duvall continued, some of the students work from five to 10 minutes each day cleaning off tables and trays, and get free meals. "Three of them have the money, said Duvall, "but they want to work anyway."

The tabulation procedure is relatively simple now, Duvall explained. "After the student gets a tray, he gives the ticket to Mrs. Anita Cupell or Mrs. Evelyn Huckabee." The women have three cans in front of them labeled for a paid meal, free meal or paid meal without milk. The tickets are bound in groups of five and a count is kept by a tabulator also in front of the women.

HOT DOG DAY AT SCHOOL — Youngsters usually have to be pressed to eat their food, but employees at Northwest Elementary School have no such problem — at least on hamburger and hot dog days. Students at the school could hardly wait Tuesday to dive into the frankfurters. (Hereford Brand Photo) schools are 35 cents for the students and 40 cents for teachers. "We average feeding 475 persons a day here," said Duvall.

Students are fed between 11:05 a. m. and 12:15 p. m. each day, beginning with the first grade and running through the sixth. "From the time they receive their tray and get seated, they have about 20 minutes to eat," said Duvall.

Enrollment at the elementary school currently is 568 students. Duvall said that of the students who don't eat in the cafeteria, about 40 go home and the remainder bring their lunch. "When it's hot dog or hamburger day, though, a lot more of them eat in the cafeteria."

BOOKS TO AID THE ARTIST

New in the library is Harry R. Ballinger's painting Sea and Shore. Anyone planning to do seascapes should see this one. Our library has a fine assortment of books to aid the artist and the would-be-artist. Eunice Petersen, art instructor, quotes Fredric Taubes most often because she likes his work and his method of teaching. Mr. Taubes once held a class here in which many of our current artists participated.

He has written a number of books, among which in the library are: Art and Techniques of Portrait Painting, Better Frames for Your Pictures, New Techniques in Painting and a very good one for the novice, Oil Painting for the Beginner.

Listed under the classification numbers 750 and 751 are other books for various mediums of painting besides oils. Frederic Sweney's Painting the American Scene in Water Color and Pastel Painting by Gladys Rockmore Davis are good examples.

But the greater number of books are for oils: Oil Painting Is Fun by Alois Fabry; Henry Gasser's Guide to Painting are top favorites. Mrs. Newman, librarian, says at the present time the most requested art book is Carlson's Guide to Landscapes (by John F. Carlson). Mrs. Petersen also includes him in her list of favorites.

Most of these volumes carry many color plates as well as black and white, which are a great help to those learning to paint. Another small book, not a text book but one to be used as an encouragement to the painter, is by Winston Churchill with color plates of his works. Though many find it hard to believe that he never had an art lesson—it is possible that he had a natural talent with colors as he did with words. And he did love painting for pleasure and a hobby.

THE CHURCH I LOVE REAPS WHAT IT SOWS

"To the churches of Galatia", (Galatians 1:2) Paul wrote, "Do not be deceived; God is not mocked, for whatever a man sows, that he will also reap. For he who sows to his own flesh will from the flesh reap corruption; but he who sows to the Spirit will from the Spirit reap eternal life." (Galatians 6:7, 8).

When will the church, ever learn, that God will not allow himself to be sneered at, scorned, disdained or mocked by mere pretentious of profession. The church inevitably deceives itself when it attempts to deceive God by pretending to be Christian and righteous when it is not.

The church is made up of men and women, boys and girls who are in the flesh. "And those who belong to Christ Jesus have crucified the flesh with its passions and desires." (Galatians 5:24). But Christians know only too well that this does not mean we have mastered the flesh so that lust and greed and pride and a myriad of other sins will not try to force their way into our lives; and often succeed. The mere fact that Christians are warned, that if we sow to the flesh we shall reap corruption, tells that.

R. C. Bell in his comments on the sixth chapter of Galatians states, "Sowing and reaping is truly a solemn matter. In the field of destiny, nations and individuals reap as they sow. The conditions of the world today shows that God is not mocked. The world has sown to the flesh, and is now reaping the inevitable destruction and desolation. . . . The flesh, anywhere, is a marvelously deceitful and diligent architect of misery and ruin. Now as ever, the flesh in the church is its weakness and frustration. The Galatians are not the last Christians to begin in the Spirit, only to be bewitched into finishing in the flesh. . . . Many things that seem to many Christians to be of the Spirit are of the flesh, and must therefore reap corruption. . . . The superlative good news of all time is that the personal God of providence proposes to intervene between sowing and reaping that the harvest of flesh need not come to the full. God's offer of pardon and repair constitute Christianity."

Veteran's Land Sells At Auction

AUSTIN — Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler announced that a Veterans' Land Board Forfeited Land Sale would be held on November 15, 1966, in the General Land Office. He pointed out that the Program has exceeded all expectations in its success and value to the people of Texas.

Sadler said that the delinquencies on veteran contract payments are lower today than at any time in the history of the Program. Land prices are higher and the Program is making a $2-1/2 million profit per year for the taxpayers of Texas, in addition to helping veterans own a tract of land that they fought to preserve.

We have purchased some three million acres of land for

Egg Grades And Sizes Explained

The larger the egg, the higher the quality. True or false?

The answer to this question is found in a newly revised popular publication, "How to Buy Eggs by USDA Grades and Weight Classes," issued today by the Consumer and Marketing Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The leaflet offers tips on how to buy and use eggs; explains the relationship between egg size and price; discusses the difference between "size" and "grade"; and compares cooking and appearance qualities of the various consumer grades of eggs.

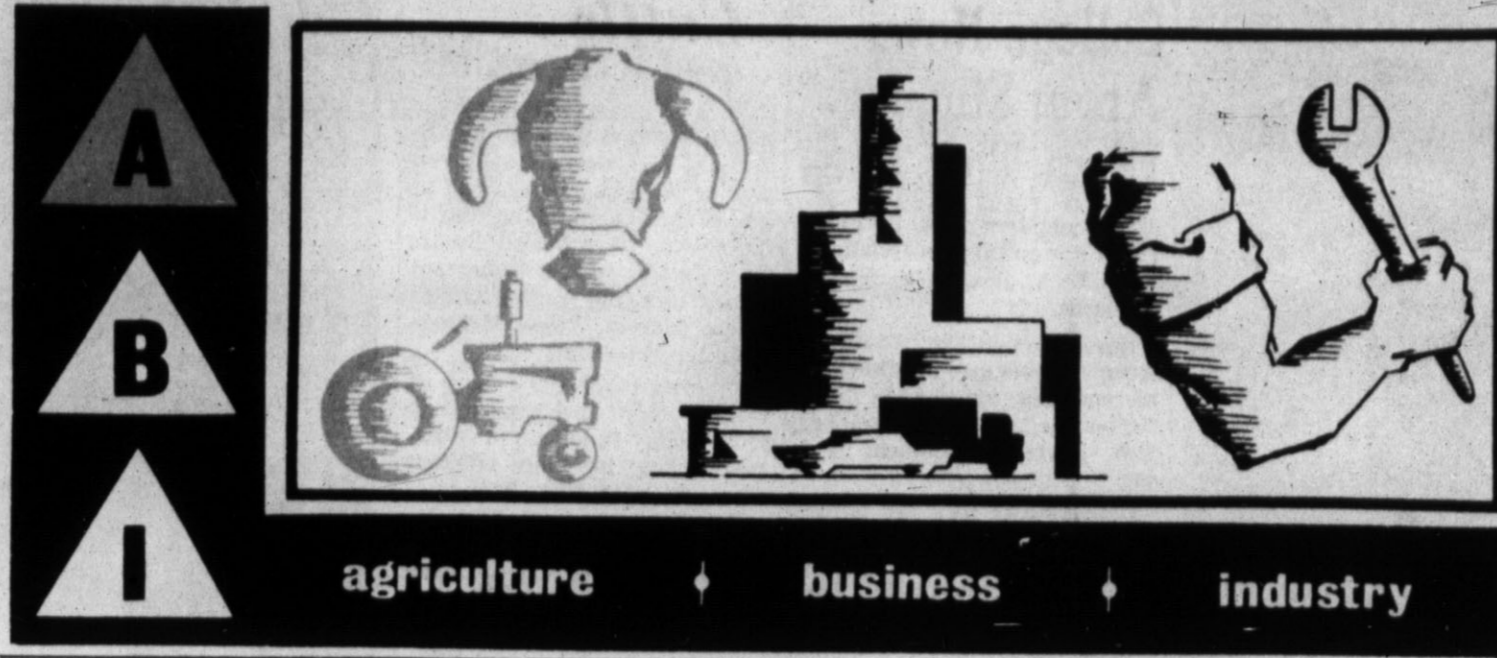

Single copies of "How to Buy Eggs by USDA Grades and Weight Classes," Leaflet 442, are available on postcard request from the Office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250. Please use your zipcode.

35,000 Texas veterans and placed some $243 million in circulation to boost the economy of this state. Although new purchases under the Program are no longer possible, a vast amount of work remains to be done in servicing veterans' contracts. Carving out homesites, issuing easements have to be performed throughout the life of a veteran contract.

"I pledge to the people of Texas, as I have in the past, that I will give them the best service possible here-in the Land Office at the least possible cost to the taxpayers of the State. These sales, such as the one scheduled for November 15th, make a few tracts of veterans' land available to successful bidders with financing under the Veterans' Land Program at 5% down payment for a forty-year contract and payments being made on the contracts semi-annually at a low rate of interest. Those interested in purchasing land should take advantage of this sale," Sadler said.

CARPET SPECIALTIES

Name Brands Featured At Shop

We're "proud to be a part of the growing enterprise of Hereford," says Bob Gage, manager of the Carpet Specialty Shop located at 1003 E. Park Avenue.

Gage says his shop has "one of the largest selections of carpet in Texas" specializing in Sequoia Carpets. They also feature Armstrong and Congolian Nairn inlaid vinyl, a complete line of cabinet tops, both vinyl and formica and ceramic tile. Every item sold by the shop has custom expert installation, says Gage.

"Our motto is 'quality for less'," states Gage, "and we really try to live by it." Gage is not new to the carpet business, having worked along that line for thirteen years. He came to Hereford from Littlefield where he worked for Elbert Dillon, who owns the carpet shop here.

They give free estimates and free delivery, offer a complete line of samples and colors and "stand behind our carpet one hundred percent."

Carpet Specialty offers carpet designed especially for well traveled areas - like kitchens. Page stated that carpets have been proven to pay for themselves after five or six years. They cut down on the fuel bill, the floors are warmer and a homemaker saves time and energy on cleaning, he said. He further stated that various companies are now producing carpets suitable for outdoor use which will not fade from the sun and may be cleaned with a water hose.

Gage says he has a large variety of greens and golds which are extremely popular this year.

The shop also features a novelty item - carpet handbags. They are made for the shop by a local woman and Carpet Specialty is the only place in Hereford that handles them. There are several styles and colors displayed in the shop.

Gage stressed that his shop has a satisfaction guarantee policy and says, "We have hundreds of satisfied customers."

Soybean Test Plot Examined By Hi-Plains Researchers

Farmers from this area inspected soybeans Monday at the Straffuss & Straffuss Farms on U.S. 385. Grown under the direction of the High Plains Research Foundation, the adaptability of the crop for this area was shown.

The demonstration was held from 2 to 4 under the direction of Lloyd Langford, assistant agronomist at the foundation at Halfway.

The crop was planted May 27. Straffuss raised about 75 acres of soybeans this year with one acre in the test plot.

He said that ten acres of the Patterson soybean developed at Halfway would be saved to sell as seed. Other seeds harvested will be stored on the farm until next spring when it will be sold to an oil mill.

Earlier in the season, just as the beans were forming in the pod, Straffuss baled about thirty acres. This hay has the appearance and odor of alfalfa but Straffuss said that the protein content of this hay is particularly high so they save it until extremely cold weather to feed to their cattle.

The soybeans brought about $3 a bushel last year and produced about 30 bushels per acre.

A side benefit of the crop is the nitrogen deposits left by the nodules that form on the root of the soybean. Straffuss said that actually the crop doesn't take anything from the soil, but that it is good to follow grain crops since it can rebuild the soil.

The crop is harvested with a regular combine with the cylinder running at slow speed. The standard soybeans planted were the Patterson, Hill and Hinn varieties, and the three were used as a check against the experimental varieties.

Under the research program at the Foundation, over 800 varieties and strains of soybeans are being tested to see which is best adapted to a specific area. Dr. Earl H. Collister, executive of the Foundation, is the only licensed certified soybean plant breeder in Texas.

Texas Cattle See Increase In Angus

Texas farmers and ranchers who raise registered Angus beef cattle helped their breed climb to new records during the past 12 months, according to a recent announcement from Glen Bratcher, secretary of the American Angus Association, St. Joseph, Missouri. Texas breeders recorded a total of 34,851 calves during the past year to retain their ranking as the number two Angus state. The new total was an increase of 984 head over a year ago.

Registration certificates were issued for 389,141 purebred Angus calves in the Association's fiscal year which ended September 30, a gain of 4,389 (1.1%) over 1965. This was 86,630 more calves registered than the number officially reported for the top ranking horned beef breed group and 224,979 more recorded calves than were credited to the next highest ranking polled beef breed during their 1966 fiscal year.

Texas also ranked second in Angus sales as cattlemen in the Lone Star State transferred the ownership of 27,721 head. In addition, 539 Texans joined the national Angus organization as life members and 172 farm and ranch youngsters in the state became junior members during the past year.

Sales of registered bulls, cows and calves, also set new records for Angus breeders in every state. The Association's staff processed transfers of ownership of 324,397 purebreds in the past year. This new record represents a gain of 33,078 sales (11.3%) over last year and is 26,540 more than the combined transfer total reported for the next two leading beef breed groups.

New life memberships issued during the Association's 1966 fiscal year numbered 5909. New junior memberships in the Association totaled 2,267. Both totals were the third largest yearly number issued since the national organization was founded in 1883. Memberships were issued to new Angus herd owners in 47 states during the last year.

The 20 leading states in registrations in 1966 were Missouri, 41,340; Texas, 34,851; Iowa, 29,540; Oklahoma, 22,129; Tennessee, 18,970; Illinois, 18,750; Kentucky, 17,887; Kansas, 15,278; Nebraska, 14,871; Montana, 14,023; Mississippi, 12,055; Georgia, 10,749; Arkansas, 9,590; Virginia, 9,679; South Dakota, 9,178; California, 8,863; Indiana, 8,252; North Dakota, 8,252.

Parallel Terracing Becomes Popular In County Fields

Texas farmlands are taking on new patterns as a new kind of terracing is becoming more popular each year.

"Texans built enough of the new, evenly spaced parallel terraces last year to reach from Texas to Maine — more than 2,200 miles," said H. N. Smith, state conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service. "In fact, nearly half the terraces built in Texas were the new kind."

More than 5,000 miles of all kinds of cropland terraces were built last year by cooperators with local conservation districts. Of that total, 2,265 miles were parallel. It compares to 964 miles in 1965 and 440 in 1964.

More than 10 miles of parallel terraces were built in Deaf Smith County during the past year. Area farmers say this type of graded parallel terrace is best adapted to this area because of the heavy Pullman soils in the Magic Triangle.

Wilton Green, Soil Conservation Service representative for Deaf Smith County said this type terracing in the county is very suitable because the runoff drains into a pasture or grassed waterway.

"This isn't just another Texas brag," Smith continued, "It shows how popular these modern terraces are becoming. The amount built has doubled two years in a row."

P. M. Price, Texas State Conservation Engineer for the SCS, pointed out that "terraces spaced an even number of rows apart and without point rows are called parallel terraces. They really save time and money for the farmer and they do a good job of conserving soil and water."

Future Farmers Attend Confab

Eight Future Farmers of America and one vocational agricultural teacher from the Magic Triangle area are attending the 39th annual National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Mo.

The nine are among 84 FFA members and four instructors from 41 FFA chapters in the Texas Panhandle attending the convention, which began Tuesday and ends Friday.

Hereford representatives are Dennis Latham and Larry Paezold. Other members attending are Ray Bradley and Tommy Martin of Dimmitt, Richard Kimball and Audie Sharp of Vega, and Larry Mitchell of Bovina.

David Smith of Hart, Area I Star Lone Star Farmer, is one of three FFA boys who received expense-paid trips to the convention, and Frank Kennedy of Vega is one of the four chaparrons.

About 10,000 boys were expected to register at the convention which featured radio-television personality Arthur Godfrey as one of the speakers.

Kidney Disease Prevalent In Several Types Animals

Leptospirosis or "Lepto" a disease that primarily affects the kidneys of most warm blooded animals in Texas can be controlled according to the Texas Veterinary Medical Association. Dr. Jack Heald of Temple a general practitioner and a member of the Texas Veterinary Medical Association Public Information Committee says the disease is transmissible to man but can be controlled by vaccination with the specific serotypes recommended by a veterinarian. Vaccination must be repeated each six months. Diagnosis of suspected animals can be made by a blood test or examination of urine by veterinary laboratories Dr. Heald said.

The signs of the disease in animals are varied and must be distinguished from those of other acute diseases with high temperature, hemorrhages, jaundice, abortions, and death. "Lepto" may become a chronic illness with few signs except loss of weight, stunted growth, or loss of eye sight. Usually, young animals are affected more than their adults. Those animals recovering from the disease remain carriers that spread the organism in their urine for as long as a year. "Lepto" can be anaplasmosis, acute pneumonia, and mastitis of cattle, and erysipelas and plant poisonings in swine. Abortions may be mistaken for brucellosis. In chronically infected animals it may resemble malnutrition, parasitism, and nutritional deficiencies.

Leptospirosis is essentially a water-borne disease because the organism is passed from kidneys of infected carriers by way of the urine. The urine often contaminates the water or food of other animals or man. "Lepto" can also enter the body through the mucous membranes (mouth etc.). The presence of the disease is confirmed by a blood test.

flaking of grain, and this topic will be covered in detail by Dr. William H. Hale of the University of Arizona, recognized as one of the leading authorities in the nation. He will also discuss other factors having significant impact in cattle feeding circles in his address, "New Methods in Grain Processing."

Dr. Hale's address is one of several which are expected to prove highly beneficial to cattlemen looking for more efficient ways of producing beef.

This is the second time for the conference to be held in Lubbock, site of the original conference which in 1961 helped establish it as one of the top livestock meetings in the U. S. each year. It is sponsored annually by the Cattle Feeders Division of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association.

Lloyd Bergsma of Fort Worth, director of the division, said headquarters for the conference this year will be the KoKo Inn Motor Hotel. Programs and other information in regard to the 1966 conference can be obtained by writing the TSCRA Cattle Feeders Division, 410 East Weatherford St., Fort Worth, Texas.

LET'S COOK SOMETHING!

Meat Dish Is Hearty

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Variations in recipes are among the things which keep dedicated cooks interested in their hobby, so they are always ready to leaf through a new cookbook and find how other people prepare their favorite dishes.

THUS MRS. LLOYD SMITH, looking at cookbooks which her Home Demonstration Club is selling as a fund-raising project, came across a Cheeseburger Pie recipe which she promptly compared with the one she serves her family. They differ in detail she says, but either recipe would make a delicious main dish for a hearty meal.

Mrs. Smith, president-elect of Young Homemakers H. D. Club, gives her own recipe as follows:

CHEESEBURGER PIE

- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup milk
- 2T prepared mustard
- 1/3 cup catsup

- 1 lb. ground beef
- 1 tb. parsley flakes
- 1 lb. Worchester sauce
- 1 cup cracker crumbs
- 1 tsp. salt
- 3 slices American cheese

Bake a pastry shell in hot oven, 450 degrees, until lightly browned then cool. Thoroughly mix the above ingredients, except the cheese and spread the mixture in the pie shell. Bake at 350 degrees 45 minutes. Remove from oven and place the cheese slices on top; then return to oven until the cheese melts.

MRS. SMITH IS assisting in sale of the cookbooks in the club project, and says the books will make good Christmas or bridal shower gifts. They hold a collection of recipes from women in Home Demonstration clubs over the nation, for meat and seafood dishes.

A member of Young Homemakers club three years, Mrs. Smith is serving as vice president now and will take office as president to begin the calendar year.

Since her oldest daughter married recently, she says that she should perhaps join a "Middle Aged Homemakers Club but her appearance would still admit her to the Young Homemakers.

The Smiths have lived in Hereford 19 years, since their marriage. Their children are Mrs. Johnny Brownlow; Kathy, an eighth grade student; Pamela, in the fifth grade; and son Neil, four years old.

THE FORMER KATHRYN Taylor, Mrs. Smith was born and raised in Springer, Okla., attending school there. She studied home economics in high school, and regrets that no Future Homemaker's organization was available in the small school.

No "joiner," she is a member only of the Young Homemakers, and centers her interests in her family. Just now she is in the wishing-stage of planning a new home.

"We built this one when we had two small children," she explains, "and have sort of outgrown it."

She likes to sew, making dresses for herself and her daughters, and to work in the yard, with the help of the children, including Neil who says he likes to use the power lawn mower!

Dr. Owen's father, Albert H. Owen, moved to Hereford in 1913 with his family. Dr. Owen attended Hereford High School, Decatur Baptist College and graduated from Oklahoma Baptist University. He also attended Southwestern Baptist Seminary and graduated from Southern Baptist Seminary.

He served as pastor of Baptist Churches in New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas for 31 years. Dr. Owen pastored First Baptist Churches in Albuquerque, Shawnee, Quanah and Plainview. He was elected President of Wayland Baptist College in 1953 and served as President for 10 years before retiring in 1963. When he retired, the trustees of the college elected him President Emeritus of Wayland.

Upon retirement, Mr. and Mrs. Owen moved to Lubbock where he serves as supply pastor, interim pastor, conducts revival meetings and mission revivals. They also were sent to the Philippines as missionaries for one year under the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Gage and his wife, Virginia, who helps him in the shop, have three sons. They are Eddie Dale, who attends seventh grade at Stanton Jr. High School, plays quarterback for the Stanton Eagles and was on the Little League All-Stars; William Ray, who is a fifth grader at Alkman and Weldon Dean (Dondie) four years old. They live at 327 Ave. J. in Hereford.

ease usually is apparent in ten days after becoming infected with leptospira, Dr. Heald said.

"Lepto" in man was recognized as existing in ancient Oriental medical history. It is also assumed that Napoleon's troops at the siege of Cairo in 1800 were the victims of an acute type of jaundice caused by Leptospira which was spread by animals. In 1907 "Lepto" was described in the United States, but mistakenly believed to be the cause of yellow fever. "Lepto" in man can be easily confused with diseases such as influenza, brucellosis (undulant fever), hepatitis and meningitis.

There are three primary species of Leptospira found in Texas: Leptospira pomona which affects cattle, swine, sheep, goats, and horses; Leptospira interrogans of rats, dogs, and cattle; and Leptospira interrogans of dogs, cattle and swine. All species can affect man and animals.

Chairmen of convention arrangements made their reports and hostess duties were assigned to the members. The convention will be held in Dawn

Baptist Church and Community Building; Mrs. Steve Bavousett is general chairman of arrangements.

Dawn Club's delegate will be Mrs. Clarence Betzen, elected with Mrs. Edgar Sowell as alternate. Mrs. Carl Wimberley of the hostess club is district president this year. Music clubs from over the Panhandle will be represented at the convention.

Mrs. H. V. McCabe was hostess with Mrs. Tooley Tuesday and Mrs. Alfred Smith was in charge of the program titled Music Is Experience. She introduced the musical selections with notes about the composers.

Mrs. Sowell played a recording of Beethoven's Symphony No. 3 in E Flat as an example of a work featuring strings. Piano solos played by members were a Mozart Allegro by Mrs. Ray Stewart and Chopin's Preludes, Op. 28 Nos. 7, 16 and 20, by Mrs. Robert Strain.

With Mrs. Tooley as piano accompanist, the group sang the Hymn of the Month chosen by the National Federation of Music Clubs, O Love That Will Not Let Me Go.

Trip Taken To Replace Club Study

Lunch and a style show at Amarillo entertained L'Allegria Club and a trio of guests in lieu of the usual study program last weekend. Members met in the apartment of Mrs. Howard Johnson to go to the neighboring city.

At a brief business session during luncheon at the Top of the Village restaurant, planning continued for the sampling luncheon which the club will stage here Nov. 3 to raise funds for its service projects. Mrs. Alex Schroeder presided.

Autumn fashions were shown in the style parade at an Amarillo shop.

Guests of L'Allegria Club were Mmes. Bob Stevenson, Jerry Terrell and Joe Sykes. Members on the trip included Mmes. Hilton Higgins, Bill Warrick, Dwayne Walker, Bobby Viegel, John Smith, W. C. Russell, Pat Robbins, Richard Pickens, Jim McDowell, J. H. McCrary, Dennis Lomas, David Gibson, Cameron Gault, Gene Cope, Tommy Carnahan and Noble Ballard.

In the important cotton producing territory on the Texas High Plains and adjacent areas of the Texas High Plains and New Mexico much of the cotton crop got off to a late start, but above normal July temperatures provided favorable conditions for the development of the cotton crop. As usual, a later than normal killing frost will boost production on much of this area as will timely rains until mid-September.

REP. ROGERS REPORTS

Federal Recreation Plan Offered To Local Groups

Dear Fellow Texan:

The mounting public interest in outdoor recreation opportunity is clear from our own experience in the Panhandle, where attendance figures at Lake Meredith surpassed all forecasts this past summer. The trend is national, and Congress has recognized the people's growing interest by engaging in a stepped-up program of improving and expanding existing parklands, by authorizing new parks, by extending financing assistance to States and other political subdivisions as they develop their own programs, and by aiding private landowners in developing recreation facilities. The Federal government has become so involved in fostering recreation development that an 83-page booklet has been published to summarize provisions of the various programs. Its title is: "Federal Assistance in Outdoor Recreation Available to States, Their Subdivisions, Organizations, and Individuals." If you would like to obtain a copy, the 35-cent booklet may be ordered from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., 20402. Programs of assistance outlined involve credit, cost-sharing, technical aid, educational services, and research. The number of new proposals for expanding the National Park System rises with each new year. More than 400 measures (some duplicates and some non-recreational in character) have been filed in this 89th Congress and referred to the Subcommittee on National Parks and Recreation of the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs. Obviously, there are more proposals and bills than can be given adequate consideration in any one year or in a single Congress. The 88th Congress recommended a dozen major additions to the National Park System and the 89th Congress has approved the addition of several more. In addition, this Congress enacted authorizing legislation for a number of smaller areas, including four national historical sites and four new national monuments. Among the latter was the Alibates Flint Quarries and Texas Panhandle Pueblo Culture National Monument, approved following House and Senate enactment of legislation I had introduced, to be established near the south shore of Lake Meredith. Our National Monument in the Panhandle, I am proud to say, is the first ever approved by Congress in the State of Texas. Some work will begin this fiscal year in developing the Alibates site. More is expected to come in the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

In order to finance expanding recreation facilities development, Congress in 1965 passed the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act. The purpose of the act was to relieve the General Fund of the Treasury — to provide for collecting entrance and water fees and by applying revenues from the sale of surplus property and the motorboat fuel tax to make the Federal park acquisition program largely self-sufficient. While the purpose of the act certainly has merit, I have continued my strenuous objections to the provision calling for admittance fees to be collected from persons visiting Federal recreation areas. Land areas paid for and financed by all Americans, who have paid for them through their taxes, should be open without charge to any American wishing to visit them. Meanwhile, pressure outside Congress grows for incorporating new and very costly areas in the Park System. Proposals for the Redwoods National Park in California have become highly controversial. Special interests involved — conservationists on one hand, lumber companies which own the land, political figures of varying opinions — largely debate the assorted proposals affecting redwoods, and a long road remains to be traveled before agreement is reached as to the proper action of the Congress.

It is generally accepted by Americans that it is in the national interest to conserve areas of outstanding scenic, scientific, and historic importance — and areas that offer the American people more and more varied outlets for wholesome outdoor recreation in this wonderful land of ours. Visitors: Mrs. W. D. Bales of Cactus, Mrs. Ray Robinson of Dumas, and Mrs. Ruth Haliburton of Vega. Sincerely, Walter Rogers, Your Congressman Carter Museum of Western Art in Fort Worth. The book has a foreword by Mrs. Ruth Carter Johnson, a UT regent and daughter of the late Fort Worth publisher.

HAPPINESS IS COUNTING — Alex Schroeter, official accountant for United Fund this year accepts receipts from a happy division major, Leo Forrest, collecting contributions from the utility companies, banks and lawyers has already exceeded his goal of $4700. He said that he still has at least one large company to go. (Hereford Brand Photo)

AT DIMMITT

Municipal Utility Proposed For City

DIMMITT — City commissioners here, in an effort to establish a municipal light and power company, have set a $2.4 million bond election for Oct. 25.

If passed, the bonds would be used to finance a utility company in Dimmitt in competition with Southwestern Public Service Co. A tax increase to pay for the proposed city utility company is prohibited by terms of the bond election.

A clause in the city's resolution and election order states that the revenue bonds must be paid from electricity income, and can't legally be paid from tax funds.

City Manager E. B. Noble said such a move "is definitely the trend: Eighty-two Texas cities now operate their own municipal power companies, and it's providing good revenue for every one of them and is keeping their tax rates down."

Noble said the move is not an effort to put SPSC out of business and that it would be up to the individual customer as to where he wanted to buy his electricity. "The city rates would be competitive with those of Southwestern Public Service Co.," he added.

The SPSC operates under a franchise granted by the city and has no granted monopoly. The franchise term runs to 1984, with 2 per cent of the company's gross revenue going to the city.

A joint meeting of the Lions, Rotary and Jaycee clubs has been called for noon today by the commission, and the women's clubs and the general public have been invited to a question and answer session tonight concerning the election.

Only property owning taxpayers who have been city residents six months or longer will be eligible to vote in the election, which will be held in City Hall. City voter and tax rolls will serve as guides for voters' eligibility.

CLERGYMEN DOWNGRADED

BETHANY, W. Va. (AP) — The "image of the pastor" has fallen to a low ebb, the Rev. Dr. Forrest L. Richeson, president elect of the Christian (Disciples) Churches, said in a Bethany College lecture series here.

"The American clergyman has lost prestige," he said, citing as one reason the pressure on ministers "for numerical success and visible results." Also, "he is often handicapped by laymen in the church who do not want the church to change and who fear anything new or different."

News About Area Men On Duty

QUONSET POINT, R. I. — Aviation Structural Mechanic Third Class Kenneth E. Loerwald, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Loerwald of 715 Bleuins, Hereford, Tex., who is attached to Air Anti-Submarine Squadron 34, has returned to the Quonset Point Naval Air Station after a three and one-half month goodwill cruise in the eastern Atlantic, aboard the support aircraft carrier USS Randolph.

During the deployment, he visited Norway, the Netherlands, Germany, Denmark, Scotland, England and Northern Ireland. The squadron is scheduled to remain in New England during the fall, conducting anti-submarine operations from the beach.

Rotarian Lists His Business Aim

The Hereford Rotary Club welcomed a new member Jesse Geron into their club at the weekly luncheon Monday. Geron was presented with the lapel button. Geron received his M. A. degree from Sul Ross College in Education and he acts as assistant principal at Hereford High School.

Fred Seroyer, owner of the Park Avenue Florist Shop and member of the club, presented the program. Seroyer gave his three main goals in business as:

- 1(Capture the biggest part of the flower business.
 - 2(Better inform the people of floral businesses.
 - 3(Help Hereford grow bigger and better.
- Seroyer suggested to the Rotarians an imaginary plane trip where they might view Hereford and the rest of the country in better perspective. He spoke of helping Hereford grow bigger and better emphasizing that if a city wants to attract industry it must have something to offer that other communities do not have. Seroyer said that fine residences, good schools and strong churches are not enough, but that the town must offer something special.

Seroyer's lecture pointed to the belief that a "community can, within limits, affect the change" which occurs in its community life.

A meeting of the Board of Directors was held directly following the luncheon.

The Board for Lease of University Lands has presented a resolution of appreciation for many years of service to Dr. James C. Dolley, who recently retired as University of Texas vice-chancellor for fiscal affairs and returned to teaching in the College of Business Administration.

CANDIDATE SPEAKS

Dee Miller Takes Stand On Water

Dee Miller, Democratic Congressional candidate, campaigned in and around Littlefield Saturday afternoon, October 8th.

That evening he was a guest at the Bailey County Farm Bureau annual meeting in Muleshoe.

In response to questions asked him by individuals Miller explained his stand on the water problem.

"We cannot afford to overlook a single possibility in our search for water. This means we must put our best scientific and engineering talent on this project immediately.

"We must not put all our eggs in one basket by relying solely on conservation to save us. We must find new sources of water, whether they be underground or out-of-state.

My opponent has stated several times that West Texas is not included in the Colorado River Basin Project Act. I'm telling you that we are included, and that the fight to keep us in that project will be one of the most important issues in the next Congress.

I think we need a Democrat in there to make sure we stay in that project — someone who can really argue your case for you."

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

All of a sudden, the gold days are here. For several weeks a yellow leaf or two has been showing here and there, but over the weekend there was a burst of fall color to startle the eye at every turning.

SHADY AISLES in Dameron Park are arched with gold; splashes of sunny leaves show where a single cottonwood among those on Tierra Blanca Creek has felt October earlier than its neighbors; streets and yards in town flaunt big trees and small shrubs in hues as gay as those of the chrysanthemum blossoms.

It's the prettiest time of year — to me, at least. Perhaps because fall is my favorite season even without the color which puts the frosting on the cake.

THAT NEWS RELEASE from Baylor University about Gary Roberson's part in a choir tour last summer, used in this column recently, led to the information that Gary is a sophomore at Baylor this term and in a more advanced choir.

His parents, the Deward Robersons, are going to Waco this weekend for Homecoming Day on the Baylor campus. They will go by Lubbock and their daughter, Sandy, who teaches English in Coronado High School will join them for the trip; she is a Baylor ex-student.

FLOWER ARRANGING enthusiasts who came from garden clubs in other cities for the Rose Panorama in Sugarland Mall Saturday included Mrs. Archie Daugherty of Clovis, N. M., so it was an event with at least a two-state scope.

Mrs. Daugherty also visited her parents, the Ira Ricketts, and other relatives here.

THE LINE THAT was dropped from a story about National School Lunch Week in Sunday's paper left a sentence which was correct structurally, but away off factually. It said the Federal government pays 60 per cent of the cost of school lunches.

Fact is, it should have said "60 percent of the school lunch dollar comes from payment by students, 20 percent from state and local sources and 20 percent from the Federal government." Quite a different story, and one not so jarring to the people who are paying the big share of the lunch cost.

Crafts Lesson Is Given Club

Crafts for home decoration were demonstrated to Wyche Home Demonstration Club members at a recent meeting with Mrs. Ira Ott as hostess at the Merle Norman Studio. Mrs. Emmitt Harper and Mrs. Durward Robinson showed steps in making flowers of paper and feathers, also in making plastic grapes, lamps, and decorating bottles to use for vases.

Refreshments were served at the Hickory Log Restaurant, where a business session was held. Two new members were added to the club, Mrs. Wayne Jones and Mrs. Clifton Williamson. Mrs. C. P. Worthan was a guest and 10 members were present.

Regional Meeting Scheduled

A regional meeting of Delta Kappa Gamma will be held in Plainview Friday evening and Saturday, and attendance of members from Delta Xi Chapter here will replace their October meeting. Theme of the program is Make No Little Plans.

Mrs. Stella Bryant of Vernon and Mrs. Velma Weaver of Dumas are co-directors of the regional program, which will begin at 9:30 Saturday morning after a half-hour for registration and coffee. A dinner Friday evening will be a preliminary to the program proper.

Delta Xi Chapter, which has members from Hereford, Dimmitt, Friona and Farwell, will have a part on the morning program, presenting ideas for chapter initiation. Scholarship plans of the women teacher's society, and program planning for chapters will be other topics.

Mrs. Bryant will be speaker at the luncheon and Mrs. Weaver will present the award certificate. The former is a member of the state DKG finance committee and past state secretary, a past president of her chapter and now publicity chairman. She is a substitute teacher in Vernon High School.

Mrs. Weaver, school music instructor, is an area director of the society. She has held all chapter offices, and received DKG scholarships as well as the state achievement award in 1963. She and Mrs. Bryant are both active in church and community affairs in their home cities.

High School Credit Is Offered By UT

AUSTIN — Students in Texas high schools may take courses for graduation credit or to meet special college entrance requirements by enrolling for University of Texas correspondence study.

During the year just ended, 1,800 persons earned credit in 62 different high school correspondence courses through the University's Extension Teaching and Field Service Bureau.

A total of 1,530 students (or about 85 per cent of those enrolled) were from 800 of the smaller consolidated and independent school districts throughout the state. That figure represents more than half of the 1,500 public and private secondary schools in Texas.

The University also cooperates with the Texas Education Agency's Small Schools Project, which assists smaller schools in developing and enriching their programs, even though they may be operating on limited budgets. Teachers and administrators from small schools attend a summer workshop held in Austin each year under joint auspices of TEA and UT. Almost 700 attended the 1966 summer workshop.

Many schools involved in the Small Schools Project also take advantage of the University's correspondence study program. A physics course has been set up which requires only an adult supervisor, rather than a certified teacher. Students do all their own work, and the high school furnishes certain basic laboratory equipment.

Further information on all types of University of Texas correspondence work is available from Dr. L. E. McDonald, University of Texas, Extension Building 203, Austin, Texas 78712

Aikman P-TO Meets Tonight

Parents of pupils in Aikman Elementary School are invited to the first meeting of this term of Aikman Parent-Teacher Organization, due to begin at 7 p. m. today in the school building.

Meet Your Teachers is the program theme for the Family Night meeting. Refreshments will be served, Mrs. Delmo Williams, president, announces.

MEMENTO FOR THE FUTURE

BALTIMORE — A stainless steel capsule to be dug up 100 years from now was buried here at Mt. Olivet Cemetery as part of the bicentennial observance of American Methodism. The capsule contains Bibles, denominational books films and documents, current postage stamps and coins and tape-recorded messages from present Methodist bishops to the Methodists of 2066.

Flower Display Tour Tomorrow

Display in-home settings will add interest to the fall flower show-tour which the three garden clubs of Hereford will sponsor Friday from 2:30 to 6 p. m., open to the public. Arrangements keyed to a Fine Arts theme will be judged before the show tour begins.

Tickets are on sale by members of Garden Beautiful, Bud to Blossom and Hereford Garden Clubs priced at one dollar. Each club will use its share of the proceeds for local projects. Generally in charge of ticket sales are Mrs. Leo Witkowski and Mrs. Ben Childers.

Two homes have been selected for display of each club's arrangements. The attractive homes are located conveniently for touring, five of them in the same section of town, the north-west, and the sixth four and a half miles west of the city on Highway 60.

Autumn Artistry in the Home is the show theme, with one of the Fine Arts to be depicted in arrangements in each home.

In addition, a horticulture display will be presented in the Ansel McDowell home, 207 N. Texas, with Mrs. O. G. Hill Sr. in charge, and there will be a crafts display featuring ceramic at the J. D. Poarch home, 114 Liveoak.

Garden Beautiful club members will arrange flowers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Robinson, 101 Liveoak and at the Poarch home.

Respective themes are Painting and Literature, and the hostesses committees include Mmes. Charles Hood, E. W. Young, L. H. Lookingbill Sr., B. E. Roberson, D. B. Roberson, Bruce Burney and N. D. Bartlett.

Drama is the subject at the McDowell home, where table arrangements will be played up, and Autumn Symphony at the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Holt on West Highway 60. Hereford Garden Club is responsible for these arrangements. Mrs. Childers and Mrs. Ray Johnson are hostess chairmen. Mrs. D. W. Palmer's and the R. C. Whites' homes will show flowers placed by Bud to Blossom Club members with Mrs. Bruce Brown, Mrs. Ernest Kendall and Mrs. R. N. Yarbrow as hostess leaders.

The art of Music will inspire arrangements in Mrs. Palmer's home, 149 Liveoak, and Poetry the displays at the residence of the White family, 214 N. Texas.

H.D. Club Sets Autumn Dates

Coming events were planned at a meeting of North Hereford Demonstration Club recently in the home of Mrs. O. L. Williams. A tour of Deaf Smith County Industry is scheduled for the next club meeting date, Oct. 20.

Officers for next year are to be elected this month, and Mrs. Williams, president, appointed Mmes. Clinton Ward, Mrs. Charles Russell and Mrs. C. L. Whitehead as a nominating committee.

A Thanksgiving supper to entertain members' families was set for Nov. 17 at the County Bull Barn.

Mrs. A. A. Hare presented the program on Mental Health and Retirement Homes. She stressed the importance of full investigation by a family of the home chosen for older members. Twelve members joined in the discussion in response to roll call.

Mrs. Roberta Campbell was welcomed as a guest.

FOR GOD SO LOVED THE WORLD

WHAT a tragic figure this man makes! But he never intended to make this picture. The first mile of this road did not look like this. But a great Teacher in the long ago warned him and us that we must choose the path on which we enter. There is one way that looks hard at the first but it leads to life, and those who find it are few. So many are attracted to the other way that is easy at first, but it leads to destruction, and those who enter it are many.

How necessary that we older folk shall guide wisely the young feet! Shall I go to heaven as the goal of my living? Look at my feet this very moment. Which way are they pointing? "Heaven is being on the way to heaven" and heavenly people are journeying there together now. Will my "last mile" be one of pathetic regrets and of sorrowful steps? Shall I leave grief and sorrow in the hearts of those who love me? Now is the time to answer that question. For "Despair is being on the way to despair." Which way did our feet move yesterday? What is the goal we have set before us this day? Your Church Can Help You.

THE last drink will not destroy us, if we had not taken the first. The "last mile" of hatred and malice will not come to us if we do not allow unkindness and jealousy and envy to creep along with us through the first miles. The end of the way will not be vulgar and vicious unless we have forsaken the path of decency and of integrity further back. Every one of us is choosing this day the road we shall take. "But as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord" and do His will. May this be our resolve today.

Tyrone Guthrie, one of the world's leading theatrical directors, has accepted an invitation to speak next spring to University of Texas drama students. He will appear March 15, discussing "Illusion of Theatrical Illusion."

Guest Day Held In Pioneer Club

Guest Day for Pioneer Study Club Monday brought a guest to give a program which interested others as well as the club members, at a luncheon in the Hickory Log Restaurant. Mrs. Leo Forrest presented a Chilean travelogue in films and comment about her recent trip to South America.

Introduced by Mrs. W. C. Hromas, she spoke of traveling some 700 miles down the length of Chile as she accompanied her husband on a business trip last spring.

The pictures she screened were taken by the Forrests of rural areas as well as cities, and people of various classes from the wealthy to the primitive Indians.

She described Chile as a country with about the same area and population as Texas - and this state's inclination to brag. She commented on the trees with fall foliage in May, and related amusing sidelights of the trip as she gave factual information.

Mrs. Mary Seigler, R. L. Wilson and Frank Ball were hostesses at the luncheon, and Mrs. P. B. Sowell opened the program with a brief meditation. Red roses decorated the speaker's table, with pink and yellow mums on other tables.

Mrs. Delmar Sigle was in charge of a short business session in which Mrs. Ralph McCullough reported on the bulb sale which the club is conducting to finance local projects.

Welcomed as new members were Mrs. Bonnie Brumley, formerly a member before moving to Lubbock where she lived several years, and Mrs. D. K. Brook. Guests were Mrs. Charles Bell of Montgomery, Ala., Mmes. Ralph Hastings; T. W. Alderson, Norman Gray, Jack Gilliland and C. D. Nobles.

CROWDS SEE ROSES — Some made arrangements in competition entered by garden club members of five cities, some sketched the blossoms and some simply looked on at the Rose Panorama in Sugarland Mall Saturday afternoon. Mall merchants had 6,000 rose blossoms brought here from Tyler for the festival. The crowd in one section of the mall is shown in the upper photograph, with some of the rose arrangements in the center. Working on a drawing of a bunch of roses is Mrs. Bess Werner, lower photograph, one of the Hereford Art Guild members who accepted an invitation to paint at the mall during the afternoon.

85 Rose Arrangements Compete In Panorama

Scores of visitors and shoppers watched as women from five garden clubs in this area arranged roses into compositions which were appraised by flower show judges Saturday afternoon at a Rose Panorama in Sugarland Mall. Sponsored by mall merchants, the Panorama will be made an annual event, Clete Corlis, chairman of the group, said at the end of Saturday's successful spectacle. Six thousand rose blossoms, in all colors, were flown here from Tyler to be used in the arrangements. Award-winning arrangements were displayed on pedestals after the judges had selected them from 85 entries. Competition was in four classes. Mrs. G. W. Newsom and Mrs. S. S. Williams tied for first place on arrangements for churches; Mrs. R. W. Mitchell placed second, Mrs. Jim Touchstone of Dimmitt third and Mrs. N. D. Bartlett fourth. In the banquet arrangements Mrs. George Bradford of Dimmitt took first place, Mrs. Trudie Dennis of Dimmitt second, Mrs. Charles Noland of Hereford third and Mrs. J. C. Galbreath of Dimmitt fourth. Roses arranged in pieces suitable for store openings took first place for Mrs. Ben Childers and second for Mrs. Posie

SENATOR YARBOROUGH

Mentally Retarded Given Aid By Unanimous Vote

What has been called the best cost-shared program in the United States for the mentally ill and retarded has been passed recently by the Senate without a dissenting vote, 87-0.

This program is part of our military medicare bill, and is bold, new approach to the problem of our mentally ill and retarded. This bill, of which I was co-author and spoke for on the floor of the Senate, aims at easing the severe family problems often created by mental illness and retardation.

There are hundreds of case histories to illustrate this need. The President's Panel on Mental Retardation estimated that there are 75,000 mentally retarded children of servicemen, who require special care. Without such care there might be hope, but most of these children would be doomed to a life of unhappiness and dependency upon others.

Such special care is difficult to find and more difficult to finance by a serviceman. There is the case, for example, of an airman first class with a badly retarded little girl of four. Special care is needed, but the airman has been unable to get State care for his child and cannot afford private care. So the little girl lives at home with the airman's four other children.

An Army Staff Sergeant has a 7-year-old boy who is profoundly retarded with a very low IQ and who is only rarely able to walk. This sergeant tried to find special care for his boy in 36 different states but nothing was available. Imagine the heartache and problems of such a family — problems that are multiplied many times when such a father is assigned to an overseas base — such as Korea or Vietnam.

That's why this bill (S. 3169, H. R. 14088) is so important.

Covering 6,268,061 persons, it covers on a shared-cost basis the treatment needed in civilian hospitals and centers by dependents of active servicemen, retired military men and their dependents.

This is a first and the government pays 75 per cent of all inpatient costs. Outpatient care is 80 per cent paid for by the government, the serviceman paying a maximum of $100 a year to join the program and the remaining 20 per cent of costs. Retirees and their dependents are treated on a 75-25 basis.

For the mentally retarded dependents of active military men, the program covers all phases of retardation in any degree. Costs are shared on a sliding scale, with the private paying but $25 a month and the highest general paying $250 monthly. The government ceiling is $350 a month.

This new program means not only new hope — but new help — for millions of Americans.

School Year In England Is Subject

Speaking the language was one of the problems she faced in adjusting to the routine of British schools when she served a year as an exchange teacher in England, Miss Gladys Setliff admitted as she told of her experiences on the program of Hereford Study Club recently.

Seriously, she discussed the differences in educational systems of England and the United States as she observed them and related incidents about her young students. Speech difficulties cropped up through different usage in the two countries of the English language, she explained.

The club planned for Guest Night at its next meeting, Oct. 20, at the home of Mrs. Don Robinson. Mrs. N. D. Bartlett is to present slides and tell of her trip to Australia and the Orient. Mrs. Garland Solomon and Mrs. Maurice Tannahill will be hostesses with Mrs. Robinson.

Mrs. T. E. Braddy's home was the meeting place, with Mrs. J. W. Witherspoon as co-hostess, for the program by Miss Setliff. Refreshments were served to 17 members.

Sieve cream-style cottage cheese and mix with commercial sour cream; use as a delicious topping for fruit salad.

Dawn HD. Club President Given Another Term

Returned to the office for another year, Mrs. Ray Stewart was named president of Dawn Home Demonstration Club for 1967 as officers were elected in a meeting Friday at the home of Mrs. Ray Cox.

Mrs. Dick Goldin will be vice president, Mrs. H. S. Fuller secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Orval Talley reporter, Mrs. H. D. Fowler Council representative and Mrs. Golden alternate.

Cookbooks which members will sell in a fund-raising project were received. One is a spiral notebook for recording recipes, the other a collection of meat recipes, Favorite Recipes From Country Kitchens.

The program was a general discussion of the topic, How To Pick a Home for Mom and Dad, concerning the choice of retirement homes. The consensus was that families should plan together, while aging parents are still able to make decisions, for retirement homes in which they may live after they are unable to care for their own needs.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

These Are Your Questions

HOW should the site of a vaccination for small pox be protected?

For the first two days after vaccination, the area needs little or no protection. When the vesicle, or blister, appears it should be protected by a light, dry dressing. Children, especially, must be kept from scratching and otherwise irritating the spot of the vaccination.

Dr. Coleman

When the site is kept dry the healing seems to be somewhat more rapid and uncomplicated. Occasionally the scab becomes infected and must be treated with wet dressings in the same way as any other slight skin infections.

Can black and blue marks appear on the skin without any known injury?

The black and blue marks represent small but definite hemorrhages beneath the skin. The exact cause can usually be determined by the study of the bleeding and clotting time and by the platelet count in the blood.

If these and other studies fail to show any abnormality in the clotting mechanism then the explanation lies in the fact that there were slight injuries that had been unnoticed.

There is a familial and hereditary condition in which such discolorations occur.

There seems to be little or no value in the use of vitamin C or the expensive flavinoids for this bruising tendency.

Is there any special danger to a pregnant woman who has diabetes?

Diabetic women have successfully carried their pregnancies to full and normal terms. In order to do so they must be under constant medical supervision.

The diet must be rigidly controlled. Urine and blood must be examined at regular intervals throughout pregnancy.

Infants born by diabetic mothers tend to be larger than most newborns.

The safety of pregnancy in the diabetic depends, of course, on the general physical condition and the severity of the diabetes.

Before contemplating motherhood, the diabetic is subjected to intensive study to give the mother and the child the best opportunity for sustained good health.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH—Most diseases respond more quickly to early diagnosis. Do not neglect persistent symptoms.

Dr. Coleman welcomes letters from readers, and, while he cannot undertake to answer each one, he will use questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Coleman in care of this newspaper.

CALIFORNIA BRIDE — Mrs. Robert Padilla, the former Miss Judith Ann Ray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Ray of Pasadena, Calif., is the granddaughter of Mrs. Willie Daniel and niece of the R. A. Daniels of Hereford, who attended her wedding Sept. 24 in the chapel of Pasadena First Baptist Church. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Padilla of Albuquerque. The couple is at home at 9008 Arcadia Ave., San Gabriel, Calif. Mrs. S. J. Moreman of Richardson, Tex., sister of the bride, was her matron of honor and John Roy, her brother, was one of five ushers. The bride's gown, an empire lines with train, was of white crepe and her five attendants wore red velvet and pink crepe.

Donna Williams Is Tea Honoree

A prelude to her wedding Oct. 22, a tea-shower honoring Miss Donna Rae Williams was a pretty event of Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Bruce Beene. Miss Williams is the bride-elect of Roger Albracht. Greeted by Mrs. Beene, guests were received by Miss Williams and her mother, Mrs. W. Glenn Williams; her sister who will be her matron of honor, Mrs. Ron Zimmerman, and her fiance's mother, Mrs. C. J. Albracht.

The honoree was wearing a blue and white linen suit. Her corsage, like those of house-party members, was of white carnations. Apricot and white, colors to be used in wedding decorations, appeared in flower arrangements in the rooms. A large bouquet of chrysanthemums was at the entrance, and roses in apricot shades on the registry table.

More roses were arranged on the table, which was set against the dining room wall, covered in white and appointed in crystals and silver. Apricot-colored sugar roses ornamented petit fours which were served with punch and coffee.

Mrs. Duane Albracht and Mrs. Tommy Albracht were at the serving table. Mrs. Larry Walterscheid and Miss Joanne Marnell at the bride's book.

Hostesses were Meses. J. R. Johnson, James Edmondson, Bill McCarver, Ted Higgins, Ed Beizer, Joe Schulte, Joe Frank Huckert, Jim Marnell, F. A. Marnell, Walter Warren, F. J. Walterscheid, C. E. Rush, Don Zimmerman, Wayne Phillips, Walter London Jr., Pat Robinson, Ira Scott Joe Peters, Larry Walterscheid and Beene.

Two of the honoree's aunts, Mrs. Shelby Vaughn and Mrs. H. R. Vaughn, were here from Dumas-as tea guests.

California has the tallest of all living things — the coast redwoods — and the oldest known — bristlecone pines.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is a copy of a letter sent by Frank Zinser Jr. to Orville Freeman.

Mr. Orville Freeman
Secretary of Agriculture
U. S. D. A.
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:
As President of the Deaf Smith Co. Wheat Growers Association, I have been asked to convey to you their feelings about some of the problems concerning wheat production at this period of time.

Wheat producers feel that they have been asked to increase production, and being Americans in agriculture, we would surely like to do just that. However, the conditions under which we are going to have to operate, are cause for some considerable apprehension. An unusually productive crop, here in the U. S., plus average or above production in the rest of the world could drive market prices below the cost of production.

Due to these conditions we recommend very strongly that you use your office and influence in every possible manner, to secure an export certificate, worth at least twenty-five cents per bushel, for those acres over and above domestic certificate production.

We feel most wheat producers would endorse this, for as you know, their market price for these acres is for the present most uncertain. This may be brought home sharply by the recent price decline in the local area, from about $1.85 per bushel, to about $1.55, a drop in price of some thirty cents a bushel, in a period of just a couple of weeks.

Appreciating your efforts to aid agriculture and wheat in the past, we would certainly appreciate hearing from you on this matter at present.

Respectfully yours,
Frank Zinser, Jr.
Deaf Smith County
Wheat Growers Association
