OH THIS PANHANDLE! — This Texas weather has done it again! Almost everyone likes the traditional snow for Christmas, though it's seldom seen in Texas — but who put in the request for snow two days after Christmas? Oh well, most of the farmers, especially dry land, were pleased with it, though they are still hoping for more. The second snow of the year, this one was no larger than the other, though it's possible that it was more appreciated than the last — due to the current lack of moisture — Al Lee of the Soil Conservation Service says that the farmers "can't expect but 1/10 of an inch of moisture from the snow." He said that "if we don't get some rain this month — in February at least — then I imagine you can kiss the wheat goodbye — dry land that is. Irrigated land is a different story." Almost all of the Brand's weather contacts reported around an inch of snow late Tuesday afternoon and said the sun was shining at that time. There were no heavy winds or really adverse weather conditions reported for most part though most of the people in surrounding areas felt that they were "supposed to have some more." Chamber Banquet

More Space Available

In a move to make room for annual crowds who wish to attend the Chamber of Commerce banquet, the banquet committee this year has moved the banquet to the recently remodeled and redecorated Bull Barn.

"Too many people have been discouraged about attending because of the inconvenience of waiting in line and being crowded so we are trying this new arrangement," Bill Thompson, chamber manager said this week.

For the first time in many years, the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet will be catered by a local organization. This year, the banquet, to be held January 12, will be catered by G. D. Caison, of Caison's, a local restaurant.

Joe Burger spent fourteen years with Ralston Purina Company of St. Louis in sales and sales-promotion. Later he entered the automobile business and organized one of the largest and most successful dealerships in St. Louis. He knows the problems of business and what it means to meet a payroll. Burger is listed in the Top Speakers List of the American Society of Association Executives and the Speakers Roster of sales and Marketing Executives International, and is also listed in Who's Who in the West, and in Who's Who in Commerce and Industry.

Tickets are on sale at the Chamber office, $4 a piece.

Johnny Clark Jr. is general chairman.

Working on physical arrangements have been Wayne Phillips chairman of the foods committee. Decorations committee is headed by Jim Ivy and Howard Johnson, and Charlie Bell is program chairman.

Don Chaney is in charge of publicity and Bill Thompson, chamber manager, is administrator.

Hospital Bad Accounts Cause County Concern

Past due accounts at Deaf Smith County Hospital were the focus of attention in Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court this week.

Also decided in the regular session, was a method to extend storage facilities in the county clerk's office.

Commissioners tabled action on a proposal by an Amarillo collection agency that past due accounts be turned over to them from the hospital. It was decided that any decision would have to come after commissioners had discussed the proposal with the hospital board. Manager of the hospital, T. E. Seigler, met with commissioners, telling them that past due accounts will exceed $72,000 this year.

How medicare is affecting the financial status of the hospital remains to be seen. Seigler said that those failing to pay their bills are not the elderly people, but the young people, young couples who explain that they have indebted themselves with monthly payments and cannot meet an emergency illness.

Seigler said that the obstetrics department accounts for 14 percent of the total hospital charges, but accounts for 28 percent of the losses due to bad accounts.

Back To Normal

Building Takes Swing To Residential Work

Returning to what is described as a normal year, 1966 slowed its building boom as city officials had predicted in the start of the present year.

Compared to 1965, this year's building permits totaled only about half of last year's record total. With eleven months counted in the total, to date, this year the city has issued permits for $2,110,350 as compared to $5,313,010 for 1965.

The U. S. Post Office topped the building projects for the current year. With the cost of about $218,000, it proved to be the single largest construction permit among the numerous others issued by the city. And, thanks to it, the month of July was tops with $412,100 in new building permits.

Permits for residences totaling $2,051,950 were issued in 1965 compared to $1,293,200 so far this year. Average value listed on building permits for new homes in the city has been about $12,434. But only 104 new residence permits have been issued last year. Residential permits so far this year have totaled more than commercial. Last year, commercial permits outnumbered residential in total value.

The building boom started in 1962 when 1.7 million dollars in permits were issued. Then, 1963 which saw $4,379,730; 1964, $4,498,600; and 1965 with $5,313,010.

Before 1962, construction in Hereford had seldom surpassed a million in twelve months.

The number and value of permits issued for each month in 1965 are: January, eight for $105,700; February, twenty for $246,200; March, twenty-nine for $203,900; April, twenty-three for $273,500; May, sixteen for $206,600;

June, nineteen for $220,600; twenty-one for $412,100; August fourteen for $99,600; September, twenty-one for $123,300; October, fifteen for $79,850; and November, thirteen for $138,700.

The total for December is not available since the month is not yet over.

County Historical Group Marks Year Of Action

The Deaf Smith County Historical Survey Committee has termed the outgoing year as successful. The committee, formed by persons appointed by the county judge and affiliated with a statewide organization promoted by the Texas legislature, works for the preservation of the county's history and erects historical markers wherever needed. Judge H. C. Williams appointed the first committee.

Markers erected this year are the old McKenzie Trail by U. S. 385, the former Panhandle Christian College on the Hereford High School campus and a medallion on the courthouse.

At the present, the state committee has proposed to give a historical marker describing the peculiar properties of soil and water which make Deaf Smith County such a fine agricultural area. This marker will be erected on Gregg Park by 25 Mile Avenue.

The committee's biggest achievement for the year is the responsibility of starting a group to create a museum. When the county suggested that plans for a museum be carried out, the committee called a meeting to form what is now the Deaf Smith County Historical Society, Inc.

The next planned item to have a marker is the fire hose reel in front of the fire station. The committee is presently trying to get the marker.

The present members of this committee re-appointed this week by Judge Williams are Mrs. Elmer Patterson and Mrs. Henry Sears, co-chairmen, Mrs. Clara Shore, Mrs. Lee Newman, A. J. Schroeter, John D. Pittman, Joe H. Smith, Jr., Melvin Young and Roy Faubion. Ex-officio representatives from the Chamber of Commerce are Bill Thompson and Jimmie Allred.

County Has No Holiday Deaths

Deaf Smith County residents did their part in Christmas holidays safe driving campaign, as no fatalities or serious accidents were recorded in the 72-hour "Death Watch."

State-wide, however, Texas was one over the forecast issued by the Department of Public Safety, recording 48 traffic deaths during the period.

A total of 650 deaths had been forecast over the nation, but only 561 were killed. DPS officials have predicted that 36 persons will be killed on the highway during the New Year's weekend.

Services Held For Longtime Resident Here

Mrs. Cliff Estes, 72, of 615 Knight, died Saturday in a hospital here after a short illness. Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon in First Baptist Church by the Rev. B. L. Davis, pastor, and Dr. Don Davidson, director of King's Manor retirement home.

A resident of Deaf Smith County since 1906, when she came with her parents from Amarillo, Mrs. Estes is the former Clyde Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Wilson, early-day ranchers of this area.

She was married here Oct. 23, 1921 and has been active in church and women's club organizations. She was born Feb. 7, 1894 at Sanger.

Surviving are her husband; two sons, John Estes of Plainview and Lt. Col. Clifford Estes of the U. S. Army.

Also six sisters, Mrs. Jeff Gilbreath of Hereford, Mrs. Olive Morris of Vega, Mrs. Nell Morgan of Adrian, Mrs. Imogene Rice of Duncan, Okla., Mrs. Frances Steel of Ft. Sumner, N. M., and Mrs. Grace Castee of Decatur, Ga.; three brothers, John L. Wilson of Vega, Earl Wilson of Childress and Homer Wilson of Bakersfield, Calif.; and six grandchildren.

Interment in West Park Cemetery was directed by Gilliland Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Wayne Phillips, H. A. Cavness, Russell Carver, Jowell Hodges, Dean House and W. L. Davis Jr.

New Assistant Named To County Hospital

Max Stipe

Newly appointed chief accountant and assistant administrator at Deaf Smith County Hospital is Max Stipe.

Hospital administrator T. E. Seigler announced the appointment Wednesday, stating that it becomes effective Jan. 1. Stipe will replace Henry Williamson as accountant. He has been working at the hospital since December 15. Williamson is retiring after working at the hospital nine years.

Stipe graduated from Hartley High School and attended two semesters at the University of Wyoming during service in the Army and studied accounting by correspondence.

State Food Costs Rising With No Solution Seen

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — Grocery bills of Texans are increasing. And there isn't much anybody can do about it except shop more thrifly.

That's Gov. John Connally's conclusion after studying a special committee's report on food prices.

While the cost of market-basket items is going up faster here than for the nation as a whole, food still is a bargain, the committee advised.

Connally requested the study by representatives of the University of Texas, A&M University and Texas Technological College.

These conclusions highlighted the report:

Consumer food costs in Texas during the last two years jumped 10.5 per cent, compared with 8.7 per cent for the nation. Retailers' market-basket costs rose 6.8 per cent here, compared with the U. S. average of 6.4 per cent.

Today the average Texas family of four spends $1,134 a year for groceries. This is $108 more than two years ago. Nationwide food-basket cost rose $89, for a total expenditure of $1,116 a year.

An overall price increase of 12.5 per cent for Texas farm products the past year (September to September) contributed to 71 per cent of the hike in retail-food prices.

Net profit levels of food retailers actually declined fractionally from 1.91 per cent of gross sales in 1964 to 1.63 per cent this year. Increased labor and equipment costs were cited as major contributing factors.

Farm prices, which lagged for 17 years, began to move forward the last two years, and consumer demand exceeded farm supplies.

National growth and economic development, together with inflationary price rises in all items, were held basically responsible for the long-term upward trend in food prices.

Connally found no special legislation or executive action warranted. He pointed out that "A lot of food costs depend on the individual tastes of people and wise shopping on the part of the housewife."

$100 MILLION TAX BILL POSSIBLE

Governor Connally acknowledged the tax bill required to balance his spending recommendations to the Legislature next month might well range over $100,000,000.

In addition to his budget ($911,400,000 general revenue), the governor will recommend separate spending items, possibly including a teacher pay raise.

Connally and mayors were unable to get together on emergency aid for cities. Mayors want his backing of a one-per cent local option sales tax.

Governor prefers a penny-a-gallon gasoline tax boost with (about $40,000,000 a year) earmarked for city street building, maintenance and policing purposes.

Mayors are not satisfied with the latter. They fear they would be required to argue each application for aid separately before the State Highway Commission.

CONNALLY BUDGET

More of the Governor's proposed budget for the 1968-69 biennium has been released. Some recommendations are: $51,000,000 more for the construction of interstate highways, state highways and farm-to-market roads. He suggested $1,073,535,894 for the total program for the two years, of which $749,948,061 would be for construction. (The Department asked $1,081,431,236 — only $7,895,342 more than Connally recommended. Current budget is $987,605,621.)

Doubling the current appropriation for the General Land Office's supervision and regulation of exploration, leasing and development of state-owned land in Gulf of Mexico. (Currently, it is getting $75,000 a day. If Connally's recommendation is adopted, it would get $150,000, as compared to the $200,000 requested.)

$2,800,000 for a tourist development project proposed to help the Alabama-Coushatta Indians. Cost of program would be split equally between state and federal governments.

Salary increases for Liquor Control Board's field personnel: District supervisors would jump from $7,080 to $8,628; assistant supervisors, $6,204 to $7,620 (minimum); inspectors II from $5,808 to $7,056; and inspectors from $5,436 to $6,528. (All undercoverage are inspectors.) LCB's administrator's salary would be raised from $18,500 to $19,500 and the assistant administrator's salary would go from $12,000 to $14,112.

PRESS SECRETARY NAMED

William F. Carter, longtime public information officer for Texas Department of Public Safety, is the new press secretary to Governor Connally.

Carter, 47, succeeds George Christian, with whom he worked in the old International News Service Bureau at the state capitol.

Christian was recently named press secretary to President Johnson.

MARTIN PICKS AIDS

Atty. Gen. — elect Crawford C. Martin named two more aides who will take office with him next month. They are Austin attorneys Bill Wells, 31, and A. J. Carubbi Jr., 34.

Wells will be Martin's administrative assistant and Carubbi his legal staff assistant. Carubbi formerly lived in Pampa. Wells is from Houston.

ACTIVE TRAINING CERTAIN

Those 3,400 Texas National Guardsmen who haven't undergone their six months of active training will do so after Christmas.

Maj. Gen. Thomas S. Bishop of the Texas National Guard said the intensive training program is necessary because for the past year there have been no vacancies in training centers in which to place the Guardsmen.

"The Defense Department during the months of January, February, March and April into which all guardsmen nationwide would be given their basic training," Bishop said.

Texas sent only 57 into basic training in December, but 826 will be sent in January.

"A man who goes for six months now will return and serve his 5-1/2 years of ready reserve with his own Guard unit," Bishop added. "If the unit is called to active duty, though he will have to go with it."

INAUGURAL INVITATIONS OUT

Some 50,000 invitations to the governor's inauguration (January 17) already have been sent by the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Chairman Will D. Davis reports that the bulky invitations, which cost 15-cents each for postage alone, already are in the mail. He points out, however, that written invitations are not necessary for admission to a reception at the capitol and at state agencies, to the high-noon inaugural ceremony or to the downtown parade. "Everyone's welcome!"

On the evening before the inauguration, the SDEC will hold a $25-a-plate Democratic victory dinner here. Tickets to the inaugural ball will be $10 a couple.

Plan To Convert Grounds Of Mansion Is Underway

A state-wide fund-raising campaign to provide the funds to convert the grounds of the governor's mansion into an outstanding garden that would be a credit to the state was announced today by Mrs. Perry R. Bass of Fort Worth, Chairwoman of the Mansion Subcommittee of the Texas Fine Arts Commission.

The beautification and conservation program, long a dream of Mrs. John Connally since the time she moved into the mansion, was approved by the newly created Texas Fine Arts Commission. Plans for the project were prepared under Mrs. Connally's supervision by Joe Lambert of Lambert Associates in Dallas.

Mrs. Bass announced that the plans include a formal rose garden with colonial arbors, a delightfully gay gazebo, pools and fountains framed and surfaced with appropriate brick patios and retaining walls. All of these were designed to enhance the beauty of the stately antebellum structure that has served as the official residence of the state's chief executive since 1956.

The Fine Arts Commission urges citizens and organizations throughout the state to share in map of the state on letterheads and envelopes. Reproduction proofs will be provided free on request from the Texas Tourist Council, a private organization working in support of state tourist and industry attracting efforts.

SELF INSURANCE

No action has been taken on the plan for self-insurance on trucks that was the subject of a Railroad Commission hearing early this year.

But Hearing Examiner William P. Danforth of the Commission's Transportation Division said the matter is pending and not forgotten.

AG NEWS

Unwillingness of Parker County to underwrite maintenance expense for the Kickapoo Watershed Project has no bearing on the legal capacity of Erath, Hood and Palo Pinto counties to contribute to district flood control and drainage facilities, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr held.

Carr asked Department of Public Safety Director Homer Garrison Jr. to arrange lie detector test for cancer stricken Jack Ruby — if his condition permits reliable results. This Ruby repeatedly has requested to prove he was not part of any conspiracy in the slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald.

BARGE BIDS TURNED DOWN

Texas Water Rights Commission has rejected two applications to sponsor possible barge transportation on the Sabine River upstream from Orange to Longview.

By a 3-0 vote the Commission rejected bids of the Middle Sabine River Navigation District and the Texas Water Development Board to help the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers plan the navigation project. Applications can be filed again later. Project would cost an estimated $35,000,000.

Commission took under consideration applications of the Red River Authority and the Texas Water Development Board to co-sponsor the proposed Lake Texoma project. Denison and Sherman delegations attended the hearing.

receptions and parties, permitting the utilization of space not presently practical. The last session of the Legislature gave the responsibility for the supervision of the Governor's Mansion to the newly created Texas Fine Arts Commission. The members of the Texas Fine Arts Commission not only approved Mrs. Connally's plans, but asked the state Board of Control and the state building commission to proceed with the details so that the bidding of the project can begin within 90 days.

Culture In Texas

Texas Leads In Number Of Symphony Orchestras

By TOM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
Texas is the land of oilwells, cowboys, millionaires, wide open spaces and — classical music.

The unknown to the population at large, there apparently are more symphony orchestras in this state than in any other.

On a given night in the season, 1,800 well-dressed people will be listening to the Beaumont Symphony play Brahms, while another 2,000 might be delighted by the Amarillo Symphony's interpretation of Beethoven.

And the same holds true for Waco, Tyler, El Paso and San Angelo, to name a few, not to mention Houston, Dallas and San Antonio.

The 17 established orchestras in the state perform hundreds of concerts every year, which are attended by more than a million people, many of them youngsters.

Texas has three orchestras classified as major: Houston, Dallas and San Antonio. That, too, is more than any other state.

The other 14 are in the descending categories of metropolitan, urban and community, depending on the size of the budget.

An Associated Press survey reveals that most of the orchestras are either breaking even financially or are in the black these days after years of deficits.

Conductors and symphony association officials say this is because of good attendance and a higher level of community interest in the groups.

The Women's Symphony League is our right and sometimes our left arm," said Joseph Kirshbaum, conductor of the East Texas Symphony, Tyler.

Typical of the smaller orchestras, the East Texas has a budget of about $18,000, gives four subscription and two young people's concerts a year, and is made up of 70 players, including students, housewives and a core of professional musicians. Many live in surrounding towns such as Kilgore, Rusk, Gladewater and Jacksonville.

Does the region support the symphony?

"We completely sold out the house this year," Kirshbaum said.

Many Texas orchestras are in the urban classification, which means their budgets are between $50,000 and $100,000. The groups such as Corpus Christi, Wichita Falls, Lubbock and Amarillo.

Representative of them, but with some unique problems is the Midland-Odessa Symphony.

Members rehearse once a week at Midland Air Terminal, between the cities. And the 76 musicians include 18 Texas Tech students who come by bus the 100 miles from Lubbock, and even two from the University of Texas, who are flown the 350 miles from Austin.

"Because the orchestra belongs equally to Midland and Odessa," said LaDoyce Lambert of the Midland Reporter-Telegram, "the concert season takes the orchestra to one city on Monday night and to the other on Tuesday night."

Symphony guilds in both cities help to raise the $75,000 budget.

Dr. Lara Hoggard, former professor of music at the University of Oklahoma, has been the conductor for five years.

While Hoggard conducts one orchestra in two cities, Ezra Rachlin conducts two orchestras in two cities: Austin and Fort Worth.

Conductor in Austin since 1949, he decided this season to devote part of his time to Fort Worth.

Austin is an urban orchestra, with a budget of $60,000, whereas the Fort Worth Symphony is in the metropolitan classification with its budget of more than $100,000. Rachlin commutes.

Each of the state's three major orchestras (with budgets of more than $200,000) has a distinctive flavor. But all are professionally accomplished with full-time, union-scale paid musicians.

The San Antonio Orchestra, directed by Victor Alessandro since 1951, is perhaps the only orchestra in the country that produces its own opera festival each year.

Its schedule includes 15 subscription concerts, over 100 student concerts, a spring tour of Louisiana and 10 concerts and an opera at the Rio Grande Valley Music Festival.

One of the big reasons Dallas likes to call itself the center of culture in Texas is the 67-year-old Dallas Symphony Orchestra.

Directed by youthful Donald Johanos, the orchestra gave 117 varied concerts last season attended by an estimated 300,000 in Dallas alone.

The Orchestra works in the pit with the Dallas Civic Opera, and last season collaborated with the Dallas Civic Ballet Society to produce "Giselle."

Dallas may boast of its austere classicism but many feel that Houston has the glamor orchestra of Texas.

It plays in the marbled, multi-million-dollar Jones Hall for the Performing Arts, and has Sir John Barbirolli as conductor, although in his final full season.

Larger Texas orchestras help out smaller ones by loaning players. For example Houston helps Beaumont, Dallas helps Waco and San Antonio helps Austin.

Musicians in the 14 smaller orchestras are usually paid, but in some cases it covers only travel expenses. Many are on music faculties at colleges, and others are private teachers.

All the orchestras have their special traits.

Abilene, for example, draws on the music faculties at the city's three colleges.

The Amarillo Symphony, in its 42nd continuous year, has a professional, all-paid membership, but not union scale.

Austrian-born Edward Fendler is in his 10th year as conductor at Beaumont.

Although its budget is slightly under $100,000 the Corpus Christi symphony pays its 70 players union wages for concerts and rehearsals. It sponsors summer stock musicals and presents a special program yearly, such as with the Folklorico Ballet from Mexico City this year.

El Paso's 75-piece orchestra play eight subscription and eight young people's concerts under Orlando Barera, now in his 19th year as conductor.

The Fort Worth Symphony generally ends the season in the black even though its 75 member are professional musicians drawing union scale.

In Lubbock, the orchestra is conducted by William A. Harrod who founded the organization in 1945.

The Marshall Symphony, with the backing of a new Symphony League, is reorganizing after a year's lapse. James Matheny, Marshall High School choral director, is the conductor.

Dr. Eric Sorantin of Trinity University, San Antonio, conducts the San Angelo Symphony. About one-third of its players are imported, mainly from San Antonio.

The Waco orchestra, now in its fifth year, is directed by Daniel Sternberg, dean of the Baylor University School of Music.

The Wichita Falls Symphony is proud of five straight years without a deficit and also that 11,000 students attended its youth concert program last season. William Boyer is the conductor.

we will do, and wish him luck.

A. S. Higgins, a pioneer resident of Deaf Smith County who has moved to the Texline area in later years, sends us a clipping from what we presume to be the Texas Farm Bureau newspaper with the instructions that we pass the information on to Will Harris, Mayor of Goathead Prairie.

Now, Mr. Harris may not be interested in the following information, but we're going to pass it on for the benefit of those harassed souls who have been fighting the goathead scourge for so many years.

We quote: "A foreign weevil is invading West Texas and damaging as much as 70 percent of the seed in host plants, report scientists at the Southwestern Great Plains Research Center in Bushland.

"Fortunately the insect attacks only goatheads or puncture vines, a weed which robs moisture from crops and produces a thorny seed feared by barefooted children.

"Goathead weevils were brought to Texas in 1962 by Entomologist Norris Daniels and Agronomist Dr. Allen Wiese, Texas A&M University scientist at the USDA's research center in West Texas.

"In the last five years, scientists say the weevils have multiplied millions of times; however, researchers doubt if the insects will completely eradicate goatheads."

Officials of the research center say that more than 70 percent of the seed are infested however, and the weevils should substantially reduce the number of goatheads in West Texas. However, seeds unharmed by the weevil may have the potential to maintain or increase the goathead weed population, but Dr. Wiese apparently believes the 70 percent destruction of productive seed could cause an important reduction of the weed.

Now, how about that. Would you ever have believed that the lowly goathead could be whipped?

Mr. Higgins asked that we send the clipping on to Will Harris since he might want to order a colony of the insects. This

Every time we think of goatheads, we're reminded of the oil company executive who grew up on a farm down around the Memphis area. As a youngster, the executive was often found on the business end of a garden hoe, out in the cotton patch chopping goatheads and other sundry weeds.

"I used to watch the cars pass by our place," he said, "and wish that I was one of those fellers. Riding up and down the highway in a new automobile, stopping to visit with customers along the way. I made up my mind then and there that when I got out of school there would not be any more cotton chopping jobs for me. I was going to town."

He did. He became a fertilizer salesman for Phillips Petroleum Company and had the undesirable job of passingyng customers during the rampant reign of Billie Sol Estes, the fertilizer king.

"How I dream of being back down on the farm," he told us one day. "Just out there chopping those goatheads in the cotton field, with not a worry in the world."

Yes sir, The grass nearly always looks greener on the other side of the fence.

—HB—
And then we're reminded of the wise old judge, noted for his modern views, sentencing the defendant.

"I'm going to give you the maximum punishment," he said. "I'm not going to put you in our nice, comfortable jail. I'm going to let you go free and worry about taxes, politics, high prices and the atomic bombs — just like the rest of us."

—HB—
There's also the story of the two small boys staring at an abstract painting in a modern art exhibit. One whispered to the other.

"Let's get out of here before they say we did it."

—HB—
Economist now are predicting a rosy situation in 1967. Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor has predicted a seventh straight year of economic expansion in 1967, without the sharp inflation and tight money. He also avoided any mention of possible increased taxes next year.

But what is tight money? An advertisement, elsewhere in this paper, sponsored by the Hereford State Bank, attempts to explain the situation, and probably can do a much better job of it than we can.

But according to the people who should know, the situation has been brought about by many months of business expansion, personal and government spending in record sums. Continued optimism has also made us want to spend even more through use of credit, and with a step-up in Viet Nam; Federal Government needs prompted many a business to gear for stepped-up production leading to more demand for loans.

Demand for loans therefore, is greater than the supply of funds available for lending.

When this happens, interest rates climb, and those who do not wish to pay the additional interest, curtail their activities. Business and home building slumps. Purchases of major household appliances and automobiles drop. Fewer automobile and appliance sales mean fewer jobs, and the situation tends to get a little worse all the time.

The tight money situation probably accounts for the lack of interest in industrial growth in the Hereford area, and this fact alone, as anyone can quickly tell you, has taken the edge off the economy here. As a matter of fact, our business community has outgrown the industrial growth and we are facing a somewhat uneasy situation in 1967. A more favorable money market would help considerably. Some bumper crops wouldn't hurt either.

But don't get too disturbed. Secretary Connor's comments are encouraging, and as any farmer will tell you, "a x 1 year" is always the best year in a farming community. Besides, we understand that Hereford may be in line for some additional industrial expansion in the near future.

"By the way, this is a good time to get to work on the park project. If Hereford is going to grow, it needs expanded recreational facilities — including an additional 9-hole golf course.

The logical place for that of course, is along the west end of Veteran's Memorial Park.

—HB—
But why worry about things like that?

Personally, we love the simple things of life come rainy day or sunny — a crust of bread, a sip of wine — a rocking chair — and money.

CHRISTMAS MORNING FIRE — A fire in the office building of the Dearing Wrecking Yard did heavy damage Sunday morning and brought the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department out of warm beds. Firemen, who answered the call at 3:48 a.m., had the blaze under control in about 15 minutes but stayed at the scene more than an hour. The one-room and furnishings received approximately $2,000 damage, but records kept by Anson Dearing, owner, were saved. (Hereford Brand Photo)

Fresh Air People Evident On Coast

AUSTIN — Visions of sugar plums definitely are not the favorite pre-luncheon pacifiers for all holiday guests of Texas State Parks.

More than likely the gay patrons, assembled from as far away as the State of Maine and the Dominion of Canada, will be happily anticipating:

1. Hurrying out at the break of dawn at Bentsen-Rio Grande Park near Mission to spy on the rare migrating song birds that attract ornithologists from far and wide.
2. Hustling to the water front at Corpus Christi state Park or Falcon State Park near Zapata, favorite seasonal sports fishing grounds.
3. Putting on another log at such fireplace rendezvous spots as Garner State Park near Uvalde and Bastrop State Park near Bastrop. Or —

If the weather turns mild, as it frequently does during the Christmas season, trailer devotees share the action with the more rugged types using screened shelters or even their own tents.

At the Gulf coast sites, where the out of state car license plates predominate at this time of the year, fresh air-folks are thronging beaches at Velasco State Park near Freeport, and at Goose Island State Park and its semi-modern facilities near Rockport.

Farther on south, at the extreme southeastern corner of the state, the semi-tropical surf at underdeveloped Boca Chica State Park beckons the sunbathers since readings commonly are in the high eighties. This primitive spa is next door to Brownsville where the snow-zone refugees — the Nebraska Corn Huskers, Big 8 Champs — are readying for their Sugar Bowl Game with undefeated Alabama.

And if you glimpse a far-away light on the state's rolling western plains, it may not be just another star. It could be from an itinerant trailer house stopping overnight at Monahans Sand Hills State Park, marking the site where prairie schooners tarried at the noted pioneer-day water hole.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

Now is the time to put your financial house in order and get a head start on filing your income tax return for 1966. Look over those cancelled checks, receipts, records of contributions. Make sure you have the records you need to prepare your 1966 tax return. You may find that you have a refund coming and want to file January 1 instead of April 15.

MORMONS ASK FOR RELIGIOUS ASYLUM

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Brigham Young as 3d Kentucky Governor William Owsley in 1845 to call a special session of the Legislature to grant the Mormons religious asylum. Owsley apparently didn't reply to Young's letter and the Mormons moved from their Nauvoo, Ill., settlement to Utah.

Historical Landmarks Include Natural Ones

AUSTIN — Salado Creek — a winding, picturesque, historical creek in Bell County — has been designated as Texas' first Recorded Texas Natural Landmark.

The announcement was made today by John Ben Shepperd of Odessa, president of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee.

"It has long been felt that worthy and significant historic natural landmarks should be designated to show their importance as evaluated by the State of Texas," said Shepperd. "This official recognition should promote preservation of worthy natural landmarks."

"This award is given only to natural landmarks that are identified prominently with the board cultural, political, economic, military, or social history of Texas."

"Salado Creek meets all these criteria, and is worthy of preservation."

The creek flows for 35 miles in Bell County, joining the Lampasas River in central Bell County.

Salado Creek has unique, natural beauty, with gushing limestone springs that produce clear water. A clean rock bottom invites wading, and studying the species of native fish. The banks abound with water cress, mint, native flowers, and flowering shrubs; and oak, pecan, and elm trees.

"Salado Creek has a rich and colorful history which illustrates why it merits designation as a Recorded Texas Natural Landmark," said Shepperd.

"During prehistoric times, Indian tribes wandered up and down the creek hunting and fishing. There are many camp sites located near the numerous springs on the creek."

"Later the Spanish explorers named the creek, but no settlements were made until the Anglo-American were allowed to settle under the government of Mexico. Permanent settlers came to the creek when Texas became a state in 1846."

"Many Civil War units were organized and drilled on the banks of Salado Creek," continued Shepperd. "After the Civil War, when the great cattle drives started north the Chisholm Trail came from the south and crossed Salado Creek on the trail's way to Abilene, Kan."

There were eight mills within nine miles on Salado Creek, which created a milling center. These mills supplied the needs of all the local pioneers and of the wagon trains that carried provisions to frontier settlement competition was keen but friendly.

Shepperd also told about a Salado pioneer, Col. E. Sterling C. Robertson, who donated 100 acres of land at his crossing on the Salado Creek for a college.

"During the 1850s, 60s, and 80s, Salado College held an outstanding position in Texas education," said Shepperd. "The school was chartered by the state of Texas in 1859. Soon after, the village of Salado was established, on part of the 100 acres of land. "The stagecoach line carrying mail and passengers from Austin to Waco crossed near the big, bubbling springs here."

In 1860, the Masonic Lodge of Belton laid the cornerstone for the new college building.

"This was the first cornerstone laid by Mason's in Bell County," said Shepperd. "What is believed to be the first woman's literary society to be organized in Texas was formed at Salado in 1866. Its name, Agassavourian, is a latin and French combination which means 'I love to know.'"

DWI Tops Cases Heard Here

Four cases, three of them driving while intoxicated, were heard by Deaf Smith County Judge H. C. Williams early this week.

Cases were Charles A. Braden, DWI 30 days, $50 and costs, six months probation; Hubert A. Cahill, DWI 30 days, $50 costs one year probation; G. W. Lynch driving while license suspended, $100 and costs, and Sotero Romero, DWI, three days, $150 and costs. Romero was arrested by Hereford policemen, while the other three were arrested by the highway patrol.

Young Farmer Confab Slated

Young Farmers and Young Homemakers are expected to flock to Corpus Christi in record numbers to participate in the annual Young Farmer — Young Homemaker Convention scheduled for January 12-14, 1967. It will be the thirteenth Annual Convention for the Young Farmers and the fifth for the Young Homemakers. Over 1300 people attended the conventions of the two organizations when they met in Austin in January, 1966. A new record attendance is expected at their 1967 Conventions in Corpus Christi. Young Farmers are scheduled to make a boat tour of the busy agricultural export harbor facilities of Corpus Christi at 3:00 p. m. Thursday, January 12. A dinner honoring personnel of the various news media will be held at 7:00 p. m.

The first general session of the convention will get under way at 9:30 a. m. Friday, January 13. Principal speaker for the first session will be Dr. Harvey C. Hahn of Dayton, Ohio. The Young Homemakers will present their awards at the Young Farmer-Young Homemaker Luncheon Friday noon. Friday afternoon, the Young Farmers will hear from two leading Young Farmers from other State Organizations — Bill Jennings of Ohio, and George Rolan of California. The highlight of the convention for the Young Farmers will be the Awards Banquet Friday night, January 13, where the 1966 Star Young Farmer of Texas will be announced as well as the State winners of various other awards. Several thousand dollars in awards will be made to individual Young Farmers and to chapters for outstanding achievements during 1966. The convention will wind up with a business session Saturday, January 14, at which a new president of the Young Farmer Association will be elected.

The Mabank FFA Talent Team and Billy Lynn Skidmore, a Three Rivers Future Homemaker, will provide musical entertainment during the convention. Humorous after-dinner speakers will include Lewis Timberlake, President of an Austin Texas Insurance Firm and Louie Freeman, Editor, The Polled Hereford World.

Tight money and you (and your Full Service bank)

What does tight money mean?

Simply this: The demand for money has become greater than the supply available for everyone's needs.

Who is responsible for money being tight?

You are, we are, the government is. Everyone is responsible.

The Federal Government is financing an ever growing war effort in Viet Nam. Government at all levels is spending more than ever before. Businesses in order to stay competitive are investing record sums in new, more efficient plants and equipment. Individual consumers, enjoying the highest take-home pay ever, are buying unsurpassed amounts of goods and services.

When you add all of these things together, the total demand for dollars has simply out run the available supply. And if more lendable money became available, your dollars and our dollars would run the risk of losing still more of their buying power.

This is called inflation. The government wants to combat inflation. So do we. So certainly must you.

Tight money restrains inflation.

The Federal Reserve Board, whose job it is to regulate the nation's banking system, has acted to restrain the growth of lendable money. The "Fed" has done this by discouraging banks from "unnecessary lending and by raising the interest rate on the money they do lend to banks. (We have to borrow, too. Frequently, as a matter of fact.)

By slowing down the economy, American industry is given a chance to catch its breath in order to meet the demand for goods and services we all want. Then prices won't run away with themselves.

And the value of your dollar will be protected.

How do you stand with your Full Service bank now that money is tight? If you wonder whether you can still borrow money if you need it, the answer is yes! After all, that's what Full Service banks are for. They keep your money safe. Help it grow. Lend it to you when you need it.

Your credit and ability to borrow money for essential purposes continue to be good.

So remember—for any financial help you really need, your Full Service bank will do everything possible to cooperate. And remember too, that "tight money" is only temporary.

How can you help?

One of the best ways to ease this situation is to increase your personal savings—at the only place that serves all your banking needs. Your Full Service bank.

Cotton Harvest Considered Over

The three area classing offices at Lubbock, Brownfield and Lamesa had received and classed samples from approximately 1,207,000 bales of cotton through Thursday, December 22nd, according to W. K. Palmer, in charge of the Lubbock Cotton Classing Office of the USDA.

The seasonal classing offices at Brownfield and Lamesa have closed for the season and samples remaining to be classed from those areas will be classed at the Lubbock office.

The Brownfield office classed 163,279 samples this season, the Lamesa office 175,133 and the Lubbock office had classed 868,416 through Thursday, December 22nd. This brought the total classed this season at all three offices to 1,206,828.

The cotton harvest is now virtually complete and sample receipts have declined to less than 2,000 a day at the Lubbock office.

Trading continued active in new crop cotton in the Lubbock market this week with prices steady. Demand continued strongest for cotton having micronaire of 3.5 and better, but was strong for Strict Low Middling Spotted in all micronaire categories and for low grade, low micronaire cotton.

Cotton prices paid South Plains farmers, as reported by the Consumer and Marketing Service of the USDA, ranged from the loan to $1.50 per bale over the loan for White grades. Light Spotted and Spotted grades were bringing from $1.00 to $4.00 per bale over the loan.

Average prices paid for predominant qualities in the 3.5 to 4.9 micronaire range were: Middling Light Spotted 29.132 — 18.48, Middling Light Spotted 31/32 — 18.25, Strict Low Middling Light Spotted 18/16 — 17.80, Strict Low Middling Light Spotted 31/32 — 18.20, Middling Spotted 29/32 — 16.90, Middling Spotted 15/16 — 17.05, and Middling Spotted 31/32 — 17.05.

Cottonseed prices at gins continued to range from $60 to $74 per ton.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Nearly everybody who didn't go somewhere for Christmas must have had visitors, and there is still a lot of coming and going through this final week of the year.

THERE ARE LOTS of students from college, lots of sons and daughters bringing their sons and daughters to visit parents, lots of former residents coming back to see assorted relatives and old friends. It all adds up to a very lively holiday season.

Their son, Gary, is spending the holidays with Olga and Maurice Tannahill, on vacation from graduate studies in the University of Chicago. Visitors in the Cap Oldham home have been their sons and families, the Carl Oldhams and sons, Randy and Bob, of Woodward, Okla., the Rev. and Mrs. Earl Oldham of Grand Prairie.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Cassels of Goodland, Kan. visited her sister, Mrs. James Dobbis, his mother, Mrs. Tom Hargrove, and other relatives. The Theron Lehr family will be here today from Irving for the New Year weekend with her sister, Mrs. Wayne Newsom, and others in the Frye family. Mrs. Lehr is the former Carlisle Frye of Hereford.

MR. AND MRS. IRA Ricketts went upstate to spend Christmas with their children and families who live in Texline and Dalhart. Joanne Ferguson, a freshman this year at South Plains Junior College in Levelland, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Louise Ferguson.

rest Ricketts a different family who met other members of the Ricketts clan at the home of their mother, Mrs. Mary Ella Ricketts.

Eunice and Alex Petersen had as guests their son, Robert, with his wife and son Jon, from Lubbock, also a couple of grandchildren, Sally and Gary Petersen of Amarillo. Visiting the Benny Coopers were his father, John A. Cooper, and two sisters from White Deer, also his grandmother, Mrs. Arabelle Cooper of Colorado Springs.

WEDDINGS HAVE BEEN scattered through the holidays to add another type of interest, and enough engagements have been announced to assure that exchanges of "I do's" will not be lacking later in the winter.

Each brings another round of showers and parties, centered the first of this week on the Tuesday wedding of Kathy Knox and Dr. Marvin Berry. The rehearsal dinner at noon Tuesday was held in the Caison House, the last of the pre-wedding parties.

In addition to a shower in Mrs. Carl Hollingsworth's home here, Kathy was complimented with showers in the homes of Mrs. Vic Houchin in Pampa, home town of the doctor, Mrs. John Kemplin and Miss Karen Hale at Fort Worth, where the couple will be at home after the honeymoon.

Family Here For Reunion

A holiday family reunion has been held the past week in Hereford and Amarillo by children and grandchildren of H. A. M. White of Corona, Calif., who has been a visitor accompanied by members of the family from that state.

Dinner was served Sunday to 32 relatives in the home of Mrs. J. W. McIver, one of Mr. Whites daughters. Other relatives here who were assisting hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Ruland, Roger, Vicki, David, Becky and Timmie Ruland; Mr. and Mrs. Johnny McIver and daughters, Tammie and Pam; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McIver.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ance Arden and Miss Pam Arden of Amarillo, Jerry Arden of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Arden, Mike and Elyse of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Arvel Flippin, Judd and Tracey of Shreveport, La.; Mrs. Vern Wagner and Cecelia of Sunnyvale, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Blair and Gary of Anaheim, Calif.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

The Threat Of Illness

MY FATHER is 48 years old. He has just been told that he has a mild case of diabetes. He has been given a diet and special pills to take.

From the time he was told about his condition he has been terribly depressed and seems to feel that his life is over and that he will be worthless to himself and to his family. The doctor has assured him that this is not true, but none of us seem to be able to reach him. Is Dr. Coleman such a reaction with this condition?

Dear Miss D.Y., New Jersey: It is not unusual for responsible heads of families to become severely depressed when they are first told that they have any chronic, serious medical problem.

Many suddenly feel that they are about to be dislocated from all the normal patterns of their life and they become overwhelmingly anxious about themselves and their diseases.

Some people even go so far as to narrow their world of activity. Their interests slowly disappear and their entire life seems to be dominated by their illness.

Physicians have noticed that relatively stable people renege themselves from contact with friends and even separate themselves from their immediate family.

One of the explanations commonly given is that the normal functioning of the body during health is taken for granted. It is only when we are deprived of health that we acknowledge this great possession that we have neglected.

When your father realizes that the diabetic patient can be kept in control and that it need hardly affect his life at home and in his job, he will adjust to the minor limitations imposed on him.

A recent report showed that people with controlled diabetes did not average more than eight days a year out of work because of the condition. This probably can be explained by the better care that diabetics give to themselves in all other phases of health.

It is true that diabetes is a chronic disease which cannot be cured, but it can be kept in check with diet, drugs and insulin depending on the severity of the condition.

The diabetic can live a reasonably normal life with some adjustments, but without severe handicap. He can take part in sports, lead a productive life, travel and generally be released from the feeling that he is an invalid.

Your doctor and you will soon "get to him" by the repeated assurance that he is not as sick as he perhaps thinks he is.

The depressed reaction of your father will be temporary, and soon, with your support, he will be grateful that the diabetes was discovered early and that he is being treated to return him to good health.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH—Regular X-ray examinations of the teeth should cause no concern about over-radiation.

Dr. Coleman welcomes letters from readers, and while he cannot undertake to answer each one, he will use questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Coleman in care of this newspaper.

Years Of Service Marked For Agent

Amarillo Miss Edith L. Wilson, the District Home Demonstration Agent here, has announced that she will retire from the Extension Service on January 1.

Miss Wilson has been the district agent supervising county home demonstration agents in the 22 Panhandle counties of Extension Service District One since 1957.

She has been with the staff of the Texas A&M University educational agency for thirty years.

Before coming here she had held a similar position for 10 years in Extension Service district five in the northern part of East Texas.

Miss Wilson had taught grade school in Hardeman County and homemaking in Kirkland and Mobeetie before joining the Extension Service in January of 1937.

Her first Extension assignment was as the home demonstration agent in Montague County.

In 1939 she moved to Floyd County to become the county home demonstration agent there. Extension Service officials said that a replacement would be announced in the near future.

In commenting on Miss Wilson's retirement, the Director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, John E. Hutchison, of College Station, noted that she had been an effective supervisor and leader throughout her Extension Service career.

Hutchison said he has been particularly impressed with her thorough planning, her ability to develop leaders, her devotion to duty, and her belief that increasing income goes together with home management to improve a family's level of living.

"She did not consider the home a separate domain," Hutchison said. "She recognized the importance of increasing income and then managing and budgeting carefully to insure that the income would be used to the best advantage by the family."

The director said this belief enhanced the Farm and Home Development Program of the early fifties she supervised as the district home demonstration agent in district five.

He said she has always had the ability to involve both adults and young people in planning and implementing programs designed to improve their level of living.

"She helped people to study their situation so they could identify their problems and opportunities," Hutchison said. "This is shown by the quality of the written county programs developed by Panhandle people."

"Miss Wilson's greatest contribution has probably been in developing people's leadership ability so they could plan their self-help programs," the director said.

The retiring district agent holds a B. S. degree from Texas Women's University. She has done graduate work at Colorado State University, the University of Maryland, and the University of Wisconsin.

Miss Wilson will continue to live in Amarillo. She says she hopes to travel and to devote time to church work and her friends.

Miss Knox, Dr. Berry Are Married In Church

Miss Kathleen Ann Knox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanford Calvin Knox, 341 Stadium Drive, and Dr. Marvin Albert Berry of Fort Worth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Eura Berry of Pampa, exchanged wedding vows in an evening ceremony Tuesday in Central Church of Christ.

An arch of candelabra over a sunburst of greenery centered the background for the wedding party as Gene Fooks, minister, conducted the double ring marriage. Smaller copies of the foliage arrangement and spiral candelabra with wedding tapers were placed on either side of the archway.

Mrs. Wayne Burger of Rock Island, Ill., was matron of honor and the other bridal attendant was Miss Karol Hale of Covina, Calif. The bridegroom's brother, Don Berry of Pampa, was his best man. Stephen and Bryan Knox, brothers of the bride, and Aubrey Green of Lubbock served as ushers.

Flower girl was Pam Vinson and Jim Denington of Dallas was the ring bearer. A choral group sang the prayer song, Be With Us Lord; the processional, Faithful and True, and recessional, O Perfect Love, directed by Mrs. Dale Young who presented a solo, Because (D'Hardiot). Nate Stark, tenor soloist, sang Whither Thou Goest.

Chorus members were Mmes. Wayne Stark, Alton Hollingsworth, Melvin Young and Ray Gadberry, Miss Judy Hollingsworth, Ken Starl, Nate Stark, Eugene Campbell, Dale Young and Marvin Knox.

As her father gave her in marriage, the bride was gowned in white peau de sole ornamented with Chantilly lace. The bodice, its empire waistline defined with lace appliques, was cut with Sabrina neckline and long sleeves with lace inset at the wrist. Lace scalloped edged the cathedral train and the illusion veil which fell elbow length from a lace pillbox cap. She carried a cascading arrangement of French roses and stephanotis.

Both her attendants wore red velvet dresses, floor length and in empire silhouette. Their flowers were pale pink miniature carnations.

Guests wished the couple well at a reception in the church fellowship hall, where the three-tiered wedding cake was served with pink punch by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. A. O. Lenington of Shreveport, La. Mrs. B. E. Brantley and Mrs. Hollingsworth.

Pink carnations surrounded red tapers in silver candlesticks in the centerpiece. The cloth was of white satin with an airy net overskirt.

Dr. and Mrs. Berry left on a wedding trip to New Mexico, the bride wearing a yellow Paisley print suit with matching accessories and a corsage of roses from her bridal bouquet.

After Dec. 31 they will be at home at 3021-A Cockrell, Fort Worth. Dr. Berry is a resident physician at John Peter Smith Hospital in that city.

Mrs. Berry is a senior music education major at Texas Christian University, vice president of Mu Phi Epsilon, music sorority, a member of Kappa Delta Pi and of the University Symphony.

Other campus memberships are in the German Club, Educational Service Organization and Music Educators National Conference. She attended Abilene Christian College two years and played in the Abilene and ACC symphony orchestras and the ACC Band.

Dr. Berry is a graduate of the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School, Dallas, where he was a member of Phi Chi National medical fraternity. He received the BS degree from West Texas State University where he was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, was a member of Mary E. Hudspeth and Alpha Chi honor societies and Kappa Alpha fraternity, president of the Buffalo Bills and was editor two years of the West Texas Christian.

COLD COUNTRY AGAIN — Gloria and Eual Walker pose before their Land Rover called "Sherpa" in front of Eual's sister's home. His sister is Mrs. Ray Coleman of Hereford. This Land Rover, which took the Walkers' across the hottest deserts in India, is now getting a chance to transport them across the cold Texas Panhandle. Walker and his wife were here Saturday through Tuesday visiting the Colemans at 207 Elm. In speaking of the Indians, Walker says, "to help these people, you must understand them." (Hereford Brand Photo)

In Two Year Leave

Indian Study Nets Some Outstanding Pictures

By SHERRIN BETTS Staff Writer

A native Oklahoman who was reared in Ada, Okla., and entered a supposedly unglamorous career in engineering, Eual Walker has led a most fascinating life. A brother to Mrs. Ray Coleman of Hereford, Walker and his Indian wife, Gloria, returned from the Far East in mid-November and arrived in Hereford to spend a portion of the Christmas holidays with his sister.

While doing industrial engineering, Walker spent seven years in Indonesia and much time in Afghanistan, which he considers his second homeland. His wife, who is a linguist and has served as his interpreter in many places they visited, is a native of Calcutta, India. Both are good photographers and have spent the past year on leave of absence from his job, traveling all over the Far East taking pictures and gathering data for use as audio-visual programs in America, which were planned at first to show the progress being made in the industrial and other fields in India.

They were told that they could take no films of industrial activity, however. Thus the story format was changed to rural and tribal aspects of life in India. The Walkers traveled 28, 300 miles and encountered illness, hostility, suspicion, race-hatred, intense desert heat and scenes as beautiful as the Taj Mahal.

The mode of transportation the Walkers used in their junket was rather unusual. Purchased in England, their Land Rover, which is very much like a truck or bus, rather than car, carried six spare petrol cans on top, two spare tires and wheels, 30 gallons of water, 40 gallons of fuel, 16 days' emergency survival rations and a prayer book. It, as well as their camera and tape recorder equipment, was the source of much curiosity for their subjects.

The "Sherpa," as the vehicle is called, bears tiny flags of countries visited painted on its sides and a map showing the route taken and the stops made. The automobile served both as living quarters and transportation, for the couple. Mrs. Coleman says that her sister-in-law wrote in one of her letters that the Sherpa looked very different from the "low, sleek cars" seen everywhere.

Eual and Gloria Walker brief respite after two-year tour

Their travels included visiting the Village of the Todas, which is a tribal people who have been under much research in recent times. No one is able to determine where they came from though it is thought by various sources that they are remnants of Alexander's Ary, of Sumarian origin, and other races. Though there were but 400 Todas a few years ago, the village has increased, with care and medical help to 1,000.

Another of their trips took them to a droughtstricken sector of India in which the temperature inside the Walker's Land Rover automobile reached 118 degrees. They also saw much of the celebration in New Delhi for Republic Day and were able to shoot a few scenes of a Pakistani wedding in Rojputs.

The Walkers plan to use their pictures and recorded tapes in preparing lectures for schools, articles for magazines, including National Geographic and other American concerns and for possible television programs. Walker is presently employed by the Morrison-Knudsen of Asia Inc., an engineering firm, though he has been on a two-year leave of absence while making his tour through the Far East.

Moreman-Dziuk Vows Exchanged In Dalhart

Votive candles, spruce and white velvet bows marked the bridal aisle which led to the altar where Miss Barbara Beth Moreman and David Ronan Dziuk exchanged wedding vows Tuesday at St. Anthony's church in Dalhart.

Bouquets of white mums and spruce decorated the altar. Father Neyer officiated for the double ring vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. John Walter Moreman Jr. and the late Mr. Moreman of Dalhart and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Anton Dziuk Sr. of Hereford.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Wayne Bullard of Sunray, sister of the bride. Attendants were Sharon Moreman, Evelyn Moreman and Ann Dziuk, sisters of the bride.

James Dziuk of Hereford served his brother as best man and groomsmen were Robert and Alfred Dziuk of Hereford, also brothers of the bridegroom. Ushers were James J. Brandt and James Barkviak of Amarillo. Altar boys Steven Dziuk and Christopher Dziuk were nephews of the bridegroom. Virginia Belle Harris of Fort Worth, niece of the bride was flower girl and David and John Bullard, nephews were ringbearers.

Edward A. Dziuk, brother of the bridegroom was soloist and commentator. Mrs. Richard Bales of Canyon was organist.

Musical selections were "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother and Shubert's Ave Maria. The traditional processional and recessional were used.

The bride who was given in marriage by her uncle General Joseph H. The dress was accented with imported re-embroidered alencon lace motifs. Her veil was illusion falling to her fingertips and held by a queen's crown of lace, which belonged to her sister, Mrs. Wayne Bullard. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Following the wedding the bride's mother hosted a reception at her home in Dalhart. The wedding colors of red and white were carried out in decorations throughout the home. Assisting in the houseparty were Mrs. Bob Phillips, Tyrone, Oklahoma; Mrs. Warren Teston, Dalhart and Mrs. Richard Williams, Elfrido, Ariz.

A rehearsal supper was held Monday night at the country club hosted by the parents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Dziuk Sr.

Mrs. Dziuk chose a navy knit suit accessorized with lizard shoes bag and a white hat for the wedding trip.

A graduate of Dalhart high school, the bride attended West Texas State University, Louisiana State University and is presently employed as a teacher in the Hartley school system.

She was a member of Alpha Delta Phi sorority and Epsilon Sigma Alpha.

Miss Westhoff Becomes Bride

St. Mary's Catholic Church in Umbarger was the scene of the marriage ceremony of Miss Gladys Westhoff and Vincent C. Meyer Tuesday afternoon. The Rev. Msgr. W. F. Bosen officiated for the double ring service.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Westhoff, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent J. Meyer, all of Umbarger. The bride has been a resident of Hereford, employed by Deaf Smith County Abstract Company.

Poinsettia blossoms suggestive of the holiday season decorated the church altar for the wedding. Traditional wedding selections by St. Mary's Senior Choir, with Mrs. Vincent Raemakers as organist, provided the musical background.

Miss Westhoff was attended by her sister, Miss Catherine Westhoff, as maid of honor, Misses Janice Mulloy and Delores Wiek acted as Meyer's best man.

Alfred Buecher and Jim Wiek, groomsmen, completed the wedding party. Guests were ushered to their seats by George Frank, Jim Meyer and Anthony Harding.

The bride's father gave her in marriage. She wore a wedding gown of satin peau, the long-sleeved empire bodice decorated with seed pearls above a re-embroidered Alencon lace overskirt. A chapel train was attached at the high waistline.

Illusion petals edged in lace and seed pearls held her bouffant veil. Her bouquet of all-white flowers was centered with an orchid.

Shades of blue were used in her attendants' dresses. Skirts were of pale blue chiffon over taffeta and bodices of royal blue velvet. Their headpieces were fabric roses with net veiling and their bouquets of pale blue carnations were tied with royal satin bows.

The wedding reception and dance at St. Mary's Parish Hall followed the ceremony. The couple left for a honeymoon in Arizona, the bride dressed in a tangerine frock with matching jacket and harmonizing accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Meyer are both graduates of Umbarger High School and they will establish a home in that community, where he operates Meyer's Repair Shop.

Head Injuries Are Big Killer

The head injury is the big killer in traffic accidents, says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association.

Injury to the head occurs in 72 per cent of auto accidents involving any kind of injury — and in 1965 there were 1,800,000 disabling injuries and 49,000 deaths in motor-vehicle accidents. Motorcycles and motor scooters contribute more than a small share of the head injuries.

Preventive measures against head injury in automobile accidents listed by Today's Health include protective helmets, shoulder harnesses, lap seat belts, cushioned head rests and making the backs of seats with more spring so that they will give under the force of an impact.

Shoulder harnesses as well as lap belts are recommended by the American Medical Association, as are safety latches; safety hinges; recessed control knob on dashboards; and padding on visors, corner pillars, dashboard and the back of the front seat. The AMA for years has recommended many of the safety features being incorporated by law into 1967 and 1968 cars.

Objects placed on the car's rear shelf or dangled from the ceiling may become lethal, head-puncturing missiles in a panic stop. Parents should never allow small children to stand on the seats or the floors of an auto in motion. Nor should babies and young children be placed to play on a mat in the rear of a station wagon without being properly restrained. The child might become a missile himself when a car comes to a sudden stop.

The shoulder strap-lap belt will save many serious head injuries. The driver rolls with the crashing auto rather than bouncing about inside the vehicle.

Pay particular attention to safety factors when weighing a decision as to which auto to purchase when the family is next in the market for a new car.

Head injuries can result from relatively minor auto bumps. Anyone who has been rendered unconscious by a blow should be seen by a physician. Persistent headache or vomiting, accompanied by increased lethargy after a relatively minor head injury, is cause for medical attention.

Holiday Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Ward of Portales, N. M. and Mrs. W. H. Awrey, Sr. of Hereford visited in the home of Mrs. Awrey's son, J. R. who lives in Ulysses, Kansas, during the Christmas holidays. Also present was Arlen Ward and his daughter, Kathy of Ulysses.

INCREASE IN MILK PRICES CAUSED BY DROUGHT

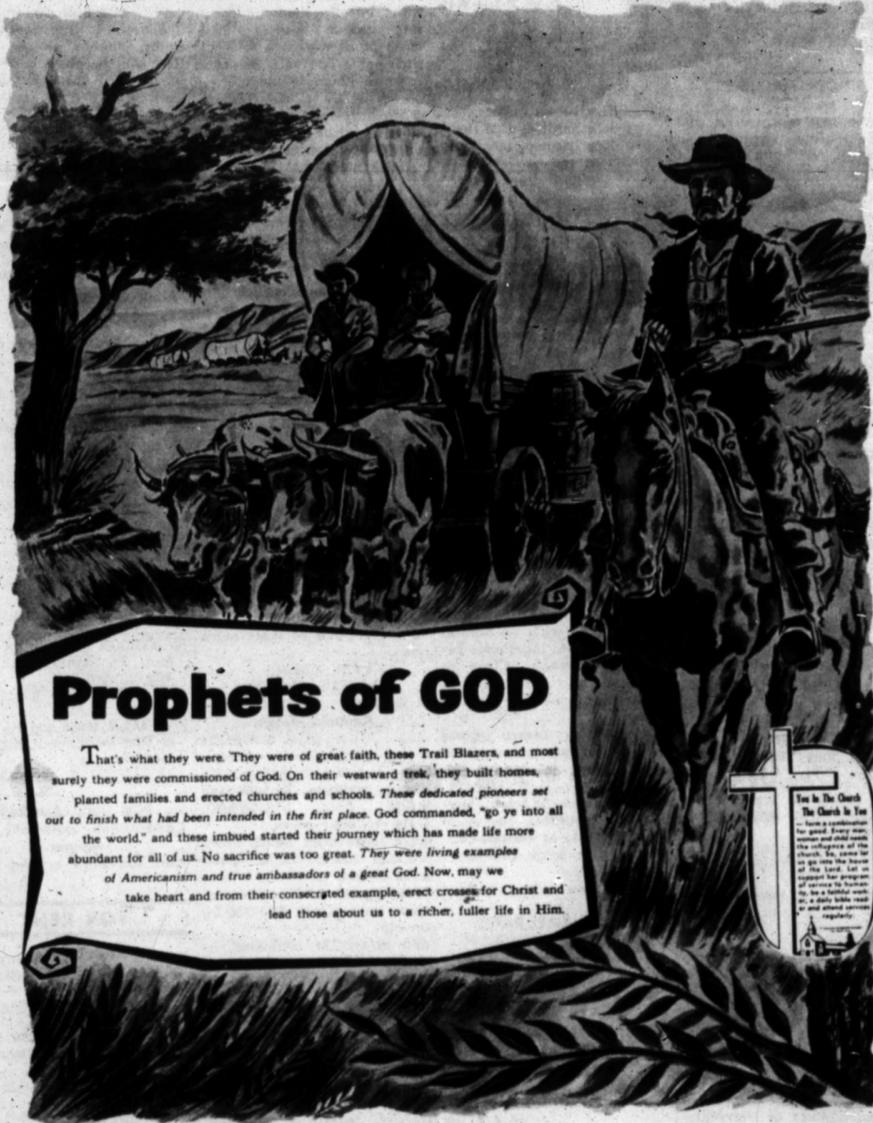

NEW DELHI (AP) — A New Delhi newspaper, perhaps with tongue in cheek, said it learned the increase in milk prices was a result of the city's watershortage. It said taps are dry in the early morning hours and dairymen are unable to adulterate their milk so they charge more for it.

IDEAS ON ARMAMENT IN INDIA

JAI PÜR, India (AP) — The first nationwide convention of the All India Ex-Soldiers Association demanded India manufacture nuclear bombs and settle discharged, well-armed soldiers in border areas.

FOR GOD SO LOVED THE WORLD

Prophets of GOD

That's what they were. They were of great faith, these Trail Blazers, and most surely they were commissioned of God. On their westward trek, they built homes, planted families and erected churches and schools. These dedicated pioneers set out to finish what had been intended in the first place. God commanded, "go ye into all the world," and these imbued started their journey which has made life more abundant for all of us. No sacrifice was too great. They were living examples of Americanism and true ambassadors of a great God. Now, may we take heart and from their consecrated example, erect crosses for Christ and lead those about us to a richer, fuller life in Him.

The Church is the place where you can find the answers to all your problems. It is the place where you can find the love and support of your fellow Christians. It is the place where you can find the peace and comfort of God's Word. It is the place where you can find the joy and happiness of a true Christian life. Capitol Sees Upheaval With UT Expansion

By LARRY FUHRMANN

Austin Bureau Chief

Christmas went over in a big way in the Capitol, where a giant tree, 34 feet high, was the center of attention beneath the dome. The tree was donated by a former state employe. Governor Connally was on the scene for the annual Christmas Carol Program, sponsored by the capitol chapter of the Texas Public Employees Association. The governor read "Yes, Virginia, There is a Santa Claus," to the high school choir which performed.

"Several hundred" persons will be uprooted in the coming months as razing begins prior to construction of the Lyndon Baines Johnson Library complex at the University of Texas. The entire area has to be vacated by June 1, with those persons living on the actual building site having to be gone by Feb. 1. Most of the property was acquired in an "eminent domain" acquisition program authorized in 1965 by the 59th Texas Legislature.

first few days of their Christmas vacation in Rio Grande City; the students had come with the caravan bringing cash of about $2,000 and four and a half tons of food supplies along the route. The cash contributions were enough to last the families about two weeks. Migrant workers are not eligible for social security benefits or unemployment compensation and they are not protected by the National Labor Relations Act, the Child Labor Law or the current Federal minimum wage law. Chances for a state minimum wage law passing in the upcoming legislature appear to be dim at the present time.

eyed in Austin. Supplementation of state salaries, especially in the field of higher education, has become a major factor in the operation of Texas government. Salary requirements for many top-level positions cannot be met from state funds, and are supplemented by private sources. Recently, the Legislative Budget Board agreed to recommend to the legislature that the governor's salary be increased from $25,000 to $40,000 annually, so that he could receive the highest paid state official.

The chancellor of the University of Texas system, however, will draw $42,000 on the 1967 fiscal year, partly from state and partly from private sources. "If the true facts were known hundreds of deans and other top people at these schools are receiving supplements from some kind or another. You just have to do it to keep these people," one educator said.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith wants the state to "pay its own way" and so does House Speaker Ben Barnes; but rather than lose the personnel entirely, he is in favor of the supplements. Governor Connally has said he would "like to see salary supplements abolished," but he does not foresee it happening anytime soon. Those who supply the outside funds might, someday, expect something in return, some have speculated, although, it likely will never happen.

NOTICE OF EXECUTION SALE

By virtue of an execution issued out of the 106th District Court of Potter County, Texas, on a judgment rendered in said court on the 19th day of August, 1966, in favor of Crouch Carpet Company, Inc. d/b/a Texas Carpet Company and against the said Ted Royal, to-wit: All of the South 23 feet S 23' of Lot No. 63, and all of Lots Nos. 64 and 65, all in Thunderbird Addition to the City of Hereford, Deaf Smith County, Texas, and on the 7th day of February, 1967, being the first Tuesday of said month, between the hours of ten o'clock a. m. and four o'clock p. m. on said day, at the courthouse door of said county, I will offer for sale and sell at public auction, for cash, all the right, title and interest of the said Ted Royal in and to said property.

"La Huelga," although it has lost many families who left the state in order to find any kind of work, is still in progress as demonstrators continue to fly their flag in front of the Capitol. The strike by the Rio Grande valley farm workers has won the attention of many in the college group, who have been sponsoring food, clothing and money drives for the approximately 150 families in Rio Grande City.

The University of Texas has been named recipient of a $5 million federal grant to become a "center of excellence" in the field of science. The grant is from the National Science Foundation.

Congressman J. J. Pickle, in announcing the grant, said, "This grant gives the University of Texas national recognition for becoming a school of eminence in the fields of engineering and science." National Science Foundation director Dr. Leland Hayworth said, "This support is granted to an institution judged to have substantial potential for elevating the quality of its scientific activities and maintaining this new high level of excellence. The grants are made to help a limited number of already good institutions to advance rapidly."

The application by the University of Texas had asked for funds in four specific areas: molecular science (the basis of cellular development); genetics and anthropology; the study of the genetic basis of human development; relativity, astrophysics and plasma science; and communications science, the transmission of languages by computer methods.

Governor Connally, when speaking to his daughter's civic class in an Austin high school, found some of the questions posed to him to be as hard as the real thing. When asked why he did not call a special session of the legislature to consider minimum wage legislation, the governor said he "did not feel that, in my judgment, the wage issue fell in the category of a dire emergency for which special sessions are intended to be called."

He had proof of his visit to Sharon's school in his wallet. She had forgotten her lunch money that day.

Greater state responsibility in the field of salaries, particularly those of educators, is being

Brady Receives First City Grant

AUSTIN — A $119,650 grant has been approved for the City of Brady under the Land and Water Conservation Fund Program, according to Will E. Odum, Chairman of Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission.

This is the largest grant made to date to a Texas municipality. These Federal funds will be matched by Brady and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department for a total $239,300 development of a city park on Brady Lake.

The completed park will have facilities for boating, fishing, swimming, picnicking, camping, and rifle firing.

Odum said the grant marks the seventh approval of projects submitted by local political subdivisions.

Under the Federal Land and Water Conservation Fund Program for Texas, the government money is prorated 60 percent for state projects and 40 percent for local projects.

The program is administered on the Federal level by the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, U. S. Department of Interior. Its funds are derived from the sale of the $7 Golden Eagle Passport and other outdoor recreation fees, the Federal motor boat fuel tax, and proceeds from the sale of surplus real property.

Odum, who is the State Liaison Officer for the fund and is responsible for reviewing projects and proposals submitted for Federal assistance, said the original application was made by James C. Feazelle, Brady City Superintendent, and Clinton Newlin, Director of the Brady Parks and Recreation Department.

HOW DID HE DO IT?
NEW DELHI @ — City police had little trouble recovering an item stolen from a suburban Indian Air Force base. They found the item, a semi-trailer tanker loaded with 1,000 gallons of fuel, parked several miles from the base. Five juvenile blue catfish were also captured in check nets, two of which weighed 5 pounds. Blue catfish may exceed 100 pounds in large lakes under favorable conditions. Game fish captured during the survey made up 77 per cent of the catch. Rough fish (carp, shad, bullheads, etc.) comprised 23 per cent.

Boxing Pulls Texas Up In National Picture

By HAROLD V. RATLIF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas' rise in the boxing world featured the state's accomplishments in sports in a busy 1966. Curtis Cokes of Dallas won the world's welterweight championship, the third Texan in history to become a king of boxing.

The Cassius Clay-Cleveland Williams world's heavyweight fight brought boxing to the Astrodome and opened it as a ring national center. With 35,000 seeing the championship bout, the big dome at Houston brought fantastic visions of the future of boxing.

As a result, Clay will defend his title in the Astrodome next spring against Ernie Terrell, the World Boxing Association champion.

But Texans won many other high honors in sports during the year. Kathy Whitworth of San Antonio became the new queen of women's golf — she won 10 tournaments, including the prized Titleholders, and set a record for money earned in a year of more than $32,000.

Randy Matson, Texas A&M's giant of the weights, continued as the world's greatest shot putter although having to combat an injury received during basketball.

Matson threw the shot 69 feet 2 inches for his best of the year. This was more than a foot under his world's record but still was several feet better than any body else could attain.

Junior colleges of the state dominated the national scene. Henderson County won the Junior Rose Bowl, Kilgore won the championship.

One of the top victories for Texas came in basketball, where the state seldom shines. Texas Western won the NCAA — one of the major accomplishments in collegiate sports.

University of Houston again was national collegiate champion in golf. The Houston school is the greatest winner in the links in intercollegiate history.

Nancy and Cliff Richey of Dallas again were tops in Tennis. Nancy won the women's national clay courts title, Cliff took the men's. Nancy also teamed with Maria Bueno of Brazil to capture the women's national doubles.

Lloyd Ruby of Wichita Falls paired with Ken Miles of Hollywood, Calif., to win the national auto endurance race.

University of Texas won the Bluebonnet Bowl football game. In men's golf Texas didn't win the big ones — the National Open and PGA — but it was strong at the winner's circle on the tour. Texas products won nine tournaments.

Don Massengale of Jacksboro took two as the co-leader — he won the Bing Crosby and Canadian Open. Dudley Wyszog of McKinney was the other leader with two triumphs — he captured the Phoenix and Atlanta tournaments.

Other Texas winning golf titles were Gay Brewer of Dallas, the Pensacola, Fla., Bill Martindale, of Jacksonville the Children's Memorial at Lake Forest, Ill., Bobby Nichols of Midland the Minnesota Golf Classic, Don January of Dallas the Philadelphia Golf Classic, Homero Blancas of Houston the Greater Seattle-Everett.

Besides Miss Whitworth, Sandra Haynis of Fort Worth and Mickey Wright of Dallas were

Young Farmers In Big Business

Modern farming is a big business in terms of investment required. This is evident, from examination of the records of the ten young men picked by the Farmers of Texas as the 1966 Star Young Farmers in their respective areas — they have a combined investment in farming of $1,963,702 which is an average investment of $196,370 per farmer.

It takes a lot of money on a modern farm just to buy the necessary machinery and equipment needed. The 10 Star Young Farmers have $333,792 invested in farm machinery and equipment alone; this averages out to $33,379 per individual farmer. The big investment doesn't mean that those selected are rich young men — far from it. A sizeable amount of their investment is made through use of available credit.

The 1966 Area Star Young Farmers are Deane Henderson of Terry County, Lee J. Fazzino of Bryan, Werner Halfmann of Miles, Don Gentry of Paradise, Charles Trice of Marshall, Elgin Marquart of Comfort, Robert E. Mach of Abbott, Oliver W. Damek of Dayton, and Merton L. Ideus of Curero. The most outstanding of the 10 Star Farmers will be named the 1966 Star Young Farmer of Texas at the State Association's Annual Awards Banquet scheduled to be held in Corpus Christi, Texas, Friday, January 13.

A study of the records of the young farmers shows that each started out on a small scale and that through hard work, sacrifices, careful saving, sound protection and management practice, etc., they forged ahead to successful establishment in farming in an extensive scale.

The Star Young Farmer Awards Program is sponsored by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation, which annually provides $2500 in government bonds for area and State winners.

Save for the imperial woodpecker of Mexico, the ivory-bill was or is the largest woodpecker in the world. It grew about the size of a crow and had a wing-span reaching 33 inches.

of the National Football League and Texan Tom Landry was named Coach of the year for piloting the Cowboys to the title.

Southern Methodist didn't win the NCAA swimming championship but it finished third — the highest any Texas team ever reached in this sport.

One Texas outfit retired as the losingest high school football team in the nation. This was madisonville, which broke a 40-game losing streak in September.

It was quite a year in Texas sports.

Letter To The Editor

Greetings from the Story family (Dean & Fae) from Nigeria, West Africa! We are living in Eastern Nigeria in the Agric. Research & Training Station, Umdike-Umuahia, about 80 miles north of the seaport town of Port Harcourt. We came on a 2-year assignment for Colorado State University & the United States Agency for International Development (USAID) to work with the Ministry of Agriculture in Eastern Nigeria in developing a research program and in training Agricultural Extension workers. We left New York in winter clothes following a blizzard last Feb. 1 and arrived in sweltering heat at Dakar, Senegal, 7 hours later. Soon we were in Lagos, Nigeria, and from there on to Enugu in Eastern Nigeria and then, travelling by car, we came to Umuahia where we stayed in a Rest House (hotel) for 3 1/2 months until our house at Umdike was ready. One of our biggest surprises has been the weather. Although we arrived during the hottest season, we soon became accustomed to the heat & humidity which did not turn out to be as unbearable as we expected. In fact, contrary to our expectations, the weather has been quite pleasant — even rather chilly at times! (during the rainy season — April through October).

We are also surprised that we rarely see any snakes; however, we know that we must always be cautious even when walking across lawns. And, of course, there are other surprises. For example, have you ever lived in a rural area where the population density was as high as 1,000 persons per square mile? I'll bet not! There is almost no privacy under these conditions. Small villages are found everywhere and the people really live elbow to elbow! We are sure you have been reading about Nigeria's political problems. So far, we have remained untouched by them except for restrictions on travel to certain areas. While we were sympathetic with Eastern Nigeria and would understand should she break away from the Federation of Nigeria to form an independent state, we surely hope that a way will be found that will enable Nigeria to remain a confederation.

Fae is working as a volunteer (unpaid) teacher and in Community Development in a village group of 10 villages, called Umuamo, located about 25 miles from our residence. She likes her work & the friendliness of the people, though her efforts will barely make a dent in the needs of these people.

During the month of Feb. 1967, we plan a vacation trip to East Africa — Sudan, Uganda, Kenya, & Tanzania — where we hope to see former CSU African students who have now returned home. Our sons, Roger & Bruce, are now married. Roger married Mallorie Lightner of Denver, from CSU — he, in Electrical Engineering; she, in Sociology. Bruce married Rita Hood, a Fort Collins girl, May '66. They are both CSU sophomores.

Our home address continues to be: 2206 W. Prospect St., Fort Collins, Colorado 80521. Our address here is: Agricultural Research & Training Station, Umdike-Umuahia, Eastern Region, Nigeria.

We are looking forward to seeing our friends at home upon our return in 1968 and telling you about our interesting experiences in E. Nigeria. We dearly

HOW DO THEY FLY
NEW DELHI (AP) — In response to a question, Aviation minister C. M. Poonacha told Parliament the government could NOT at this time provide a flying club in Salem in south-central India, with an airstrip. "How then does the club operate?" asked Arjun Arora, a member of Parliament. "Do they fly aircraft or kites?" Poonacha asked for time to study the situation before replying again.
