THREAT TO CROP

Grain Sorghum Hit By Disease

By TOM PORTER

A disease which is believed to have infected a great portion of the corn and grain sorghum crops in Deaf Smith County was described Thursday as "maize dwarf mosaic virus," commonly called MDMV.

Darrell Rosenow, assistant agronomist at the South Plains Research and Extension Station near Lubbock, said he was almost positive about the disease, which looks identical to what has been diagnosed at College Station.

Plants affected by the disease were sent to College Station Monday for analysis, but results are not expected for at least two weeks.

Swift Plant Opens

Swift & Co. has opened its new feed milling plant located southeast of Hereford on Progressive Road. Actual milling operations were begun Wednesday, when a staff of five men began working out the "bugs" in the new equipment. Spokesmen predict to be going at full production inside of 30 days.

Although it is open for business, J. H. Padgett, manager, indicated that the formal opening would not be held for some time. He declined to give a date. Swift will be open from 8 to 5 on weekdays, 8 to 12 on Saturday.

Eric Lorenz, Swift engineer, will probably be in Hereford for another three weeks before leaving for Clarksville, Ark., where he is working on another Swift project, expansion of an existing plant.

Although five men were hired to begin operations in the plant, Padgett said that even this skeleton crew would not be enough for full-time operations. He anticipates using eight full-time year-round employees, as well as some 18 or 20 others who will be hired on a seasonal basis.

The Swift cattle feeds will be marketed in an area including all of New Mexico, parts of Oklahoma and Colorado, and all of the Panhandle-Plains of Texas. The feed mill operation here is Swift's 11th. The international corporation, which is associated also with food products and meat packing, has operations also in Clovis, N. M., and Guymon, Okla.

Padgett is assisted at the feed mill by Gary Ladner, plant superintendent.

Tax Equalization Boards To Meet

Reviewing and equalizing taxes for 1967 will be carried on by the three taxing agencies of Deaf Smith County Monday and Tuesday.

The Hereford City Commission, Hereford Independent School Board of Trustees and the Deaf Smith County Commission will begin hearings at 1:30 p. m. Monday and continue on Tuesday.

The hearings will be held in the County Commissioners room in the Courthouse.

Area Residents Rally To Aid Farm Couple

Life began to look a little brighter during the past week for Morris and Gail Deaton as area residents rallied to help the young couple who had lost everything in a fire July 12 near the Bootleg community.

Loads of fine clothing for the husband, wife and two-year-old son, kitchen utensils, at least one check, and household goods were presented Mrs. Deaton Friday at the Walcott School as the Messenger Home Demonstration Club sponsored a shower.

Approximately 20 persons brought gifts for the Deatons — many of those persons having neighbors to gather items. Mrs. Deaton opened the sacks and boxes beginning about 6 p. m. It was expected that more would arrive soon as many persons sent messages that they could not attend the shower but would be sending gifts. The Calvary Baptist Church in Friona had a similar shower Monday.

The Deaton family had spent the night in Friona July 12 because of a heavy storm. Some time during their absence, the home in which they were living caught afire and was destroyed. Losses by the couple included a new bedroom suite, new refrigerator and new stove.

Mrs. Deaton said Friday that her husband had wanted to move out into the country, so they had rented the house. Deaton, an employee of Adams Drilling Co. in Friona, had bought a horse and the couple was "really enjoying living in the country."

The Deatons still are undecided as to what they plan to do. One thing they have decided though, they have some pretty nice neighbors.

Food Donated To Girlstown

Vegetables and sugar for tables at Girlstown USA, a truckload of them, were sent from Hereford Thursday. Mrs. Viola Williams, Deaf Smith County representative on the Girlstown board, reports.

More than a thousand pounds of potatoes were donated by Reinauer and Sons, a large quantity of onions by Colville and Wilson, and a thousand pounds of sugar by the American Federated Grain Growers Union No. 321.

A truck was sent up from Girlstown at Whiteface to take the food back to the residence home for girls. A collection of clothing and household articles which has been given by various Hereford residents was also taken to the home.

Rains Dampen Hopes Of Young Job Seekers

Wet weather for what now constitutes the greater part of the summer has created a situation of unemployment for Hereford's youth. And as late as it is, Texas Employment Commission manager Lester Rape predicts that the situation won't get any better as far as students are concerned.

The commission has received some 180 applications from students attempting to locate work for the summer only. Many were scheduled to work in conjunction with harvest operations throughout the area, but have found them curtailed by the weather.

School will start beginning the week of Aug. 28, which gives students only five more weeks to earn their money. Rape does not anticipate any significant openings in the job market within the next month.

Heavy Damages In Accident

A two-car accident at Sixth and Schley at 6:35 p. m. Friday resulted in total damages of approximately $400.

Officers said a 1967 Plymouth driven by Erika Durham of 606 Miles was going east on Sixth Street and a 1960 Mercury driven by Roy Frank Parker of Northwest Mobile Lodge was going south on Schley when the accident occurred.

The Durham car sustained an estimated $250 damage when hit in the right rear, and the Parker vehicle had $150 damage.

CLASSES RESUME

Swimming classes will be resumed Monday at the municipal pool, which has been closed this week for repairs to the heating system, announces Mrs. C. E. Rush, water safety chairman of the county Red Cross Chapter, sponsor of the classes. Make-up classes are to be conducted at the end of the scheduled instruction period, she added, so that nine more swimming sessions will be held.

CRIME RATE LOW

Vigilance Pays Dividends

Chief of Police Marshall Padgett is a man of contrasts.

At times he is hard, other times soft; he will be taciturn one hour and very talkative the next, and he may be excitable one day and have his cool the next. No matter how contrasting however, the ex-Navy man runs a tight ship.

Born at Memphis in 1928, Padgett attended schools there and speaks often of his boyhood days with a fishing pole or .22 rifle.

He left Memphis in 1944; enlisted for a three-year hitch in the Navy and wound up on a tanker making runs in the South Pacific. Tattoos on his arms indicate some of the places he made stops, including Ceylon and Singapore.

Boy Receives Broken Arm In Accident

A 4-year-old boy received a broken arm Thursday night about 1½ miles west of Hereford when he was struck by a car.

Antonio Ramariz of Route 5 was reported in good condition Saturday at Deaf Smith County Hospital.

Highway Patrolman Ronnie Rainey said James Sartain of Amarillo was driving east on U. S. 60 when the accident occurred. Sartain stated that he spotted the boy first on the highway and began to turn to the left in an effort to miss him.

The boy, Sartain told Rainey, also began to go to the left. The 1967 Mustang finally struck the boy on the left shoulder of the road.

Rainey said it appeared that the boy was struck by the door handle on the passenger's side and knocked to the right as the car continued to the left.

Rainey said he was told the boy and an older sister had gone to get the mail when the accident occurred about 7:30 p. m. No citations were given.

After most of Padgett's company received early discharges, he found himself in Amarillo working for a wholesale grocery store. As soon as he turned 21, he joined the Amarillo Police Department.

Padgett said he had never had the dream of becoming a policeman as many young boys do. "I was just hunting for a job." He worked as patrolman off and on for six years, made sergeant in 1952, and worked for a year as lieutenant in 1952-53. "I didn't intend to be any more than a patrolman, I got ambitious one day and took the test for the hell of it."

The last four years of his time on the Amarillo department was spent as detective sergeant, working burglaries, auto thefts and in the vice squad.

Padgett left Amarillo in October, 1960, and worked for awhile on his own. He came to Hereford in April, 1961, and began work as a patrolman. On May 1, 1962, Padgett was made sergeant, and on July 1, 1962, he became chief of police, replacing Henry Aycock, who left to become chief at Lufkin.

There were six patrolmen and the chief employed by the City of Hereford when Padgett took over the head position. At present, efforts are made to keep three of the 12 men on each shift. Also, there now is a police secretary, metermaid, two fulltime dispatchers and one part-time.

The 1966 report from the department revealed that Hereford is far below the national average on crimes committed in cities of its size. "We patrol pretty close," explains Padgett. "Every business open at night, we try to watch a little more."

The close watch by patrolmen could be a reason for the lack of armed robberies in the city. Perhaps a bigger reason, laughs Padgett, is the fact that there actually are only four main exits from the city. Statistics presented in the annual report also show 824 arrests made last year. Of that total, 281 were on drunk charges.

es and 136 were juveniles. "On the whole, there are a bunch of good kids in this town. We sure have less trouble than anywhere else. Juvenile delinquency is not a problem here," Padgett stated positively.

The chief himself gets out a lot of times at 3 or 4 a. m., just to see what's happening. Many other times he is called out during those hours on some major development. "Generally, the captain and sergeant take care of that pretty good."

Speaking of the lower crime rate here, Padgett said "under the new state laws, the average is not as good as last year." He said he would like to see a law whereby "an officer could testify about an oral statement he took from a prisoner. That's

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

Scheduled For Fall Completion

Hereford High School's vocational department, scheduled for completion early this fall, will be ready to accommodate the influx of youngsters when they register for classes at the end of August.

Although the building, which brings all the high school complex beneath one roof, will not be completely finished when classes begin, school administrators expect no complications in meeting space needs. Parts of the building will be complete on the first day of classes, according to contractors and school business manager Tom Harkey.

Workers are currently some 10 days ahead of schedule, a check at the work site indicated. All the building will be complete at the end of September.

The addition to the high school — the fifth major expansion — will cover some 25,000 square feet between the main building and its industrial arts building, situated to the east. Bob R. Hunter Construction of Lubbock has been the general contractor for the building designed by Brasher, Goyette & Rapier, also of Lubbock.

Included in the plans are classrooms for distributive education, industrial cooperative practice, cosmetology, auto mechanics, building trades and agriculture.

The $260,000 structure is located on the northeast side of the high school building. Immediately to the north, tennis courts covering some 36,000 square feet are being constructed.

Payment Date Is Advanced On Mixed Program

Payment date for farmers participating in feed grain-wheat programs has been advanced by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, a report from office manager Faust Collier here indicates. The payment date, formerly set not before Aug. 28, can be met now as soon as farmers will report to the office to make certifications.

Checks already received in the office are being mailed out this week to those who have certified acreages on "wheat only" farms. Collier said $46,654 was being paid out this week and next, with only a few checks being held until farmers will make certifications.

Farmers making their reports on wheat and feed grain combination programs will probably be able to receive their money within a short time, Collier told the Brand.

was let at the first of February, following a bond election in which voters approved the school expansion project almost a year ago.

The brick and steel structure is being built to match existing design of the high school. Open lab areas for auto mechanics and building trades will be on the east end of the building.

In enrollment predictions, school officials may be expecting as many as 4000 students during the peak enrollment period, September through December. This is an increase of some 1,000 in peak figures within the last four years. Looking to stable enrollment figures, business manager Harkey says the enrollment has increased about 500.

Classrooms will be sufficient to handle the school population this fall, he said.

No new staff members will be needed to staff the new school addition at Hereford High, Harkey said. Distributive education and industrial cooperative training classes had previously been meeting in industrial arts classrooms.

Pre-enrollment figures indicate that cosmetology classes may be more than filled to capacity. In that event, Harkey said that restrictions on enrollment will be imposed. Typing classes are also expected to see a great influx of enrollees.

Walker Returns From UT Stint

Joe Patrick Walker, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Walker, 121 Beach St., returned this week from a six-weeks' session at the University of Texas at Austin. He has been a participant in the Summer Science Training Program in Mathematics, sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

Walker was one of a group of 30, selected from 657 applicants. He was encouraged to try to get into the program by high school counselor Robert Thompson.

Attending class five and a half hours each day, Walker studied advanced algebra, analytic geometry, calculus and plane geometry under H. J. Ettlinger, program director, and Manoug Manougian, instructor from Lebanon.

Walker will be a senior in Hereford High School this fall. Following graduation, he hopes to attend either the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs or the university in Austin. He currently has plans to study in some area of engineering.

While attending the six-weeks' session, Walker resided at Moore Hill Hall on the university campus. Most of his expenses, other than room and board, were paid by scholarship.

BUILDINGS TOGETHER — Addition of the vocational building will join all high school facilities on the academic campus under one roof. Here an entranceway has been cut to join corridors between the new and existing buildings.

Much credit for the low crime rate in Hereford, sums up Padgett, goes to the people. "It seems like we have the co-operation of most citizens most of the time."

Padgett and his wife, Doris, an Amarillo native, have been married about 18 years and have one daughter, Debra, who will be 8 next month. Mrs. Padgett, says the chief, "has more or less resigned herself to his profession."

ses, but it is believed that those crops hit hardest will have reduced yields. From the telephone calls to McBride from the farmers, the agricultural experts believe the MDMV is fairly widespread in the county.

"There are apparent differences from field to field," said McBride, "and it may be due to different varieties or lines of the crop. But they all have it; there is no variety left out."

One bad aspect of the MDMV is that there presently is no known control that would benefit the farmers at this time. Future controls include use of a resistant variety, control of aphids and eradication of johnson grass.

"Since it does appear some varieties are more resistant," said McBride, "it would be good for farmers to go by and look at the demonstration plot of 13 varieties we have on the Raymond Schlab farm 6 1/2 miles north of Hereford on Avenue K."

"All of these were planted the same date and have been under the same management program. It may give some indication as to the difference in resistance among varieties," said McBride.

The agriculturalists said that additional information will be presented to the area farmers as it comes in, and experts will be taking a closer look at the problem.

"It's not our intention to scare the people, but to let them know as much as possible about the disease and what they can expect from it."

Revival Service Begins Monday

A week of revival services in the Church of the Nazarene will begin at 8 p. m. Monday, with the Rev. Lee Steele as evangelist-singer. He comes from Kansas City, Mo., where he is pastor of Southwood Church of the Nazarene.

Theme of the services will be "There's New Life in Christ." Meetings are scheduled at 8 p. m. each day, the Rev. K. Dwight Southworth, pastor of the church announces.

Special songs by the evangelist will be featured at all services and the church youth choir will sing Friday. Virgil Stentz will be director of music.

The Rev. Lee Steele is a graduate of Bethany Nazarene College, one of three preacher sons of Evangelist J. J. Steele who conducted a radio program for a number of years while he was pastor of churches in Kansas.

Mrs. Harlan Barber and Virgil returned Tuesday from a four-day trip. Mrs. R. G. Alexander of Abernathy accompanied them to Kerrville where Mrs. Alexander's daughter, Jan has spent the past six weeks as counselor in Camp Arrowhead, an exclusive camp of junior and intermediate age girls. Miss Alexander had completed her service there and accompanied the group on to San Antonio where they visited points of interest, before returning home.

Jack Andrews called his wife, Anna Ruth, and his parents, the W. H. Andrews, Thursday night that he would sail with the crew of the USS Matthews Friday morning, bound for Hawaii.

Two Sentenced

In County Court

Two persons received sentences in Deaf Smith County Court this week on charges of driving while intoxicated and aggravated assault.

Virginia Martin, 236 W. 3rd, charged with DWI, was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail, the jail term to be served if she violates a one-year probation.

Jose Maria Puentes, charged with aggravated assault, was sentenced to 60 days and costs. Puentes also will appear before Judge H. C. Williams next week to face a charge of breaking probation.

Crash Victim's Rites Conducted In Chapel Here

The funeral of William Isaac Allen, 49, who died of injuries received in an automobile collision at Amarillo Wednesday night, was held Friday afternoon in Rose Chapel of Gilliland Funeral Home.

Mr. Allen was dead on arrival at St. Anthony's hospital in Amarillo after the collision in the 3700 block of Amarillo Boulevard. Mrs. Randa White Brooke, 34, of Amarillo, was also killed when the car in which they were riding was in collision with a semi-trailer truck.

The Hereford man, who came to this county in 1935 from Vernon, was born July 23, 1918, in Indiana and came to Texas from Kentucky.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Hare and Mrs. Izora McLaughlin, and a brother, E. W. Allen, all of Hereford.

Gene Fooks, minister of Central Church of Christ, officiated for the funeral service. Burial was in West Park Cemetery.

Funeral Service Of Mrs. Thomas Held Saturday

Funeral rites for Mrs. Virgie Vinnie Thomas, 62, were conducted Saturday afternoon in Rose Chapel of Gilliland Funeral Home by the Rev. James Arnold, pastor of Summerfield Baptist Church.

Mrs. Thomas died unexpectedly Thursday at her home, 109 Centre. She had been a resident of this county since 1957, when she came from Plainview.

Born Feb. 13, 1905, at McKinney, she married W. J. Thomas Dec. 8, 1927 at Dallas.

Surviving are her husband; three daughters, Mrs. Barbara Hardin of Hereford, Mrs. Billie Metcalf, Mrs. Dolores Christie of Summerfield; three sisters, Mrs. E. P. O'Neal of Plainview, Mrs. Russel Bartley of Amarillo and Mrs. H. W. Potts of Lubbock.

Also surviving are a stepdaughter, Mrs. O. H. Smith of Carlsbad, N. M.; two stepsons, Troy Thomas of Muleshoe and H. S. Thomas of Carlsbad, and six grandchildren.

Burial was in West Park Cemetery with Earl Crow, Delvin Gardner, Wayne Gilliland, Jimmy Christie, Ronald O'Neal and Rodney O'Neal as pallbearers.

TROOP 52

Brownd, Corlis Recipients Of Eagle Awards At Camp

Carl Brown, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gid Brown of 241 Star St., and Randy Corlis, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Corlis of 115 Aspen St., were presented their Eagle awards Friday evening in a court of honor conducted at Camp Don D. Harrington, Boy Scout retreat near Canyon.

Both boys are members of Troop 52, sponsored by First Methodist Church. Their scoutmaster has been Frank Ford.

The court of honor was held following a recognition program and family night on the closing day of the camp, when parents attended the closing ceremonies. Following the awards program for the Hereford troop, scouts and their families joined others from various parts of the Panhandle in an all-camp Indian ceremonial which ended with the Order of the Arrow tap-out.

Shakedown for the campers was Saturday morning.

Recognized in the awards program for Troop 52 were Randy Corlis, new senior patrol leader, and Carl Brown and Jimmy Dickerson, who are assistants. Also Ted Seyfert, troop quartermaster; Lewis Aven, assistant quartermaster; Dale Hairgrove and Terry Roberts, troop scribes; Alvin Smith, troop librarian, and Jack Ambold and Ralph Waits, troop buglers.

Patrol leaders, after camp elections were conducted, are Gary London, David Myers, Randy Cromer, Mike Corlis and Randy Barrett. Assisting them are Randy Clements, David Thomas, Bobby Alexander, Kevin Young, Danny Higgins, Art Reinauer, Bryan Adams, Tom Myers and Gilbert Alaniz. Junior assistant scoutmasters are Pat Higgins, Bryce Hunter, Mike Higgins and Paul Hunter. Patrol advisers are Gid Brown, Ted Higgins, Al Hunter and Jap Dickerson.

Three boys new to the scouting program, Mike Aven, Ben Goodloe and Jerry Roberts, were selected by patrol leaders for best exemplifying the Scout spirit based on cooperation, camping development and cheerfulness. The boys were all in their first year of camp experience.

Although several of the boys completed work for merit badges while attending camp, their awards will not be made until a later date when official records are made. The merit badges awarded Friday were earned by Scouts before attending Camp Don Harrington.

Tenderfoot awards were presented to Bill Godwin, Ben Goodloe, Dan Hawes and John Stoy. First class awards went to Willis Duggan and Scott Turner, and Lewis Aven and Kevin Young received their star scout rank.

Merit badges were awarded to Bryan Adams, citizenship in the home, citizenship in the community, reading and stamp collecting; Bobby Alexander, music and fishing; Jack Ambold, drafting; Lewis Aven, music; Randy Barrett, swimming; Carl Brown, citizenship in the nation; Randy Clements, farm mechanics; Mike Corlis, lifesaving, cooking and home repairs; Randy Corlis, first aid, personal fitness; lifesaving and citizenship in the nation; Jimmy Dickerson, swimming; Willis Duggan, fishing; David Myers, public speaking; Gary Ray, reading, and Kevin Young, citizenship in the home, music, and scholarship.

First year camp badges went to Mike Aven, Bill Godwin, Ben Goodloe, Dan Hawes, Joel Pittard, Jerry Roberts, John Stoy, Dewey Taylor, James Waits, Joe Don Weaver and Kevin Young. Second year campers were Bryan Adams, Bobby Alexander, Lewis Aven, Randy Clements, Willis Duggan, Dale Hairgrove, Tom Myers, Art Reinauer, Alvin Smith, David Thomas and Scott Turner.

Third year badges were for Mike Corlis, Randy Cromer, Gary London, Terry Roberts and Ted Seyfert, and four year awards were presented to Carl Brown and Randy Corlis. Jimmy Dickerson received a patch for five years, and Scoutmaster Frank Ford was recognized for his sixth year.

By MELVIN YOUNG

A recent press release by the Aetna Life and Casualty Company indicates that some 200 persons will drown this summer in home swimming pools. Most of the victims will be children, and most will die needlessly.

Aetna cites the example of a two-year-old boy who was riding his tricycle in the backyard as his mother watched him from the living room window. Her attention was diverted by a telephone call. While she talked "for two or three minutes" her son rode his shiny red tricycle into the family's swimming pool and drowned.

Many such tragedies are experienced around the nation each year.

Not having a home swimming pool however, we quickly scanned the safety measures and then tossed the release into the wastebasket which fills almost daily with worthwhile tidbits passed on by worthwhile organizations ranging from the state chapter of the Society For The Prevention of Cruelty to Animals to the National Society of Pickle Pickers. But we were wondering if Aetna has any sure-fire suggestions to escape bodily injury when trying to walk through a house full of sleeping kids when one of the youngsters decides to have a "slumber" party and invites in the entire neighborhood.

And that "slumber" bit may well be a misnomer in itself, since the party usually goes on into the wee hours of the morning, with slumber an impossibility for all in the household. It might well be referred to as a "pajama" party instead.

Our youngest offspring, celebrating her 13th birthday this week, decided that a "pajama" party would be held and hamburger cook-out, with father doing the cooking. Which, everything considered, wasn't too bad, since in this case, father quietly took leave of the whole establishment after the cooking was done. A likely excuse of course, but there's always plenty of work to do at the office.

The problem, however, is that there is no bed at the office. Sooner or later, we had to face the music. And that too, may be a misnomer, since any resemblance of the noise emitted by the Beatles and the Monkeys to music is purely coincidental. But take heart fathers, the night eventually passes, and then all you have to worry about is the clean-up detail. That is something like cleaning up after Hurricane Bertha has hit the city, but usually, you can enlist the services of the slumberers — that is, if you can wake them.

As the Somerset (Mass.) Spectator says: "It's hard to raise a family these days — especially in the mornings."

And speaking of families, the Wall Street Journal this week published a story about the ingenious ways to keep cost down in a big family.

The Journal, as usual, did some outstanding reporting on the problem, and we certainly cannot take issue with their story. We thought however, that the Journal could have visited with one pioneer-family and come up with all the answers they needed.

Not so many years ago, big families were commonplace. Particularly out in the rugged middlewest, and the family breadwinner learned the hard way how to provide for a bunch of youngsters. And the first order of the day was a big vegetable garden in summer, followed by a lot of canning when the vegetables were ready for harvest. Most families could can enough fruit and vegetables during the summer months to last until the following summer, and little money was spent in town other than for flour, sugar, salt, etc.

That may not be practical for small families these days, since in these modern times, canned food at the grocery store is probably the biggest bargain a family can buy. But if there are a number of children in the family, the old garden spot is still a winner. The only difference is you'll probably freeze rather than can.

"Most of us," says the Matador Tribune, "lose our money from holes in the pockets; those at the top."

Former major league hurler Ed Rakow won his first four decisions this spring with Richmond, Va.

Pioneer County Ranch Operator Is Buried Here

John Myers Purcell, 96, an early-day rancher in Deaf Smith County who lived here most of the time from 1901 until 1930, died Friday in a hospital at Clovis, N. M., where he had resided at 1924 Ross Ave.

Funeral services were conducted in Rose Chapel of Gilliland Funeral home Saturday afternoon and burial was in West Park Cemetery. The Rev. Jerry Johnson of the Baptist Church at Floyd, N. M., officiated.

A native Texan, Mr. Purcell was born in Burnet May 4, 1877. He married Miss Jennie Elkins here Sept. 5, 1907.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Purcell, who came to Hereford in the early 1900's. The elder Purcell operated a livery stable in this city until automobiles made that business obsolete.

Mrs. John Purcell was the daughter of a pioneer rancher at Endee, N. M., and the couple filed on land in New Mexico and lived there between 1911 and 1914, returning to Hereford for 24 years' residence before the final move to New Mexico.

Surviving Mr. Purcell are three sons, Raymond and William of Clovis and Marvin of Floyd; a sister, Mrs. C. D. Patterson of Dalhart; 13 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Mr. Purcell was a member of Floyd Baptist Church.

MOST TAX FROM SALES

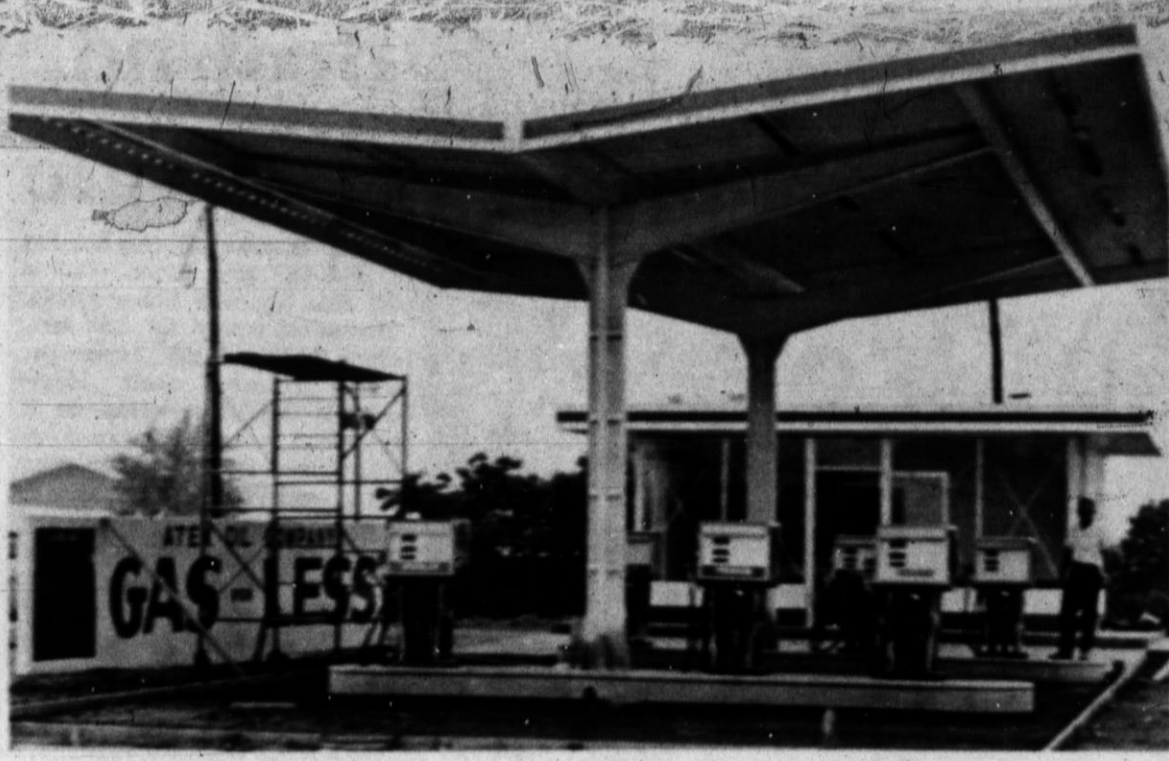

CHICAGO — Sales taxes proved the best revenue raiser for 31 states, says Commerce Clearing House.

They accounted for 26.8 per cent of the total fiscal 1966 state tax take of $29.4 billion. Of seven states producing $12.8 billion of the total collected, five — California, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Illinois and Ohio — drew the most income from their sales taxes. New York found income taxes a better producer. Texas received most of its revenue from motor fuel taxes.

Only one state — Colorado — showed a switch in its best revenue source from 1965, moving from the income tax to the sales tax.

Association To Sponsor Rodeo

The Farwell Arena Association is sponsoring a junior rodeo August 3, 4 and 5 in Farwell, Texas.

The event will start each day at 8:00 p. m. (CDT) and will feature all competitive events such as barrel racing, pole bending, flag racing, ribbon roping, breakaway roping, tie-down roping, steer roping, bull riding, bareback riding and steer wrestling.

Participants in this rodeo will be from ages 6 through 19 years with the only disqualification being that entrants must not have reached their birthday before September 1 and not be married.

The rodeo will be opened for both boys and girls. Information concerning the event may be obtained by contacting any member of the Farwell Arena Association. Entry blanks may also be obtained from them or in most stores in Farwell. Entries by mail may be obtained by writing Fred Chandler in Farwell.

Chandler reports that any other information can also be obtained by calling Area Code 505 762-1568 after 5:00 p. m. or at any time by calling Area Code 505 389-2272.

All interested persons are welcomed to come to Farwell for the big event next month.

Breezy Outdoors

By LYNN BRISENDINE

A recent trip to the high country made with Gilbert Sims of Hereford, along with Mr. and Mrs. Jim O'Hair and their son Jimmy took us over the divide to the west side of Colorado near Cimarron. We stayed at a guest ranch called the El Rancho Cimarron. The scenery was beautiful, with mountains, streams, lakes and forest all around us.

The scenery really was beautiful, but the fishing was even better.

There are many fighting fish in the Colorado Lakes, but I would put the scrappy trout up against any of them. Fishing for trout is much like fishing for catfish, using fireballs for bait and fishing with a tight line on the bottom. The first few makes you feel like they're trying to pull you right in with them.

After missing a few, you finally get the hang of it and catch one. The first thing the fish will do is jump straight up out of the water. And believe me, he'll fight until you put him in the creel.

We caught most of our fish with the fireballs, but near sundown I noticed the fish started jumping so I tried a mepps spinner. It didn't take long to snag a 16-inch that weighed three pounds.

On the trip home we stopped by the Royal Gorge Bridge — a sight that would nearly take your breath away. The bridge is 1,053 feet above the Arkansas river and is the highest in the world.

It was a very enjoyable trip and a good time was had by all.

Buffalo Lake has reopened from Catfish Bay to the dam. The lake has really sharpened up during its rest and a lot of improvements have taken place.

Fishing has not been so good at the lake recently with a few crappie and Bass being caught on minnows and spinners.

A. M. Taylor from Burson writes us that some nice catfish and bass have been taken on waterdogs, and brim are hitting worms.

Some crappie have been hitting minnows and dollies while trolling has brought in some good pick at Ute.

Miss Tinnin Is Shower Honoree

Preceding her late summer wedding, Miss Sharon Tinnin was honoree at a shower Saturday afternoon in the Earnest Langley home. She is the bride-elect of Ronnie Gray, with plans for marriage on Aug. 26.

Guests were received by Miss Barbara Langley, Miss Tinnin and her mother, Mrs. Dale Tinnin; Mrs. Norman Gray, mother of the bridegroom-elect, and Mrs. Charles Springer.

Miss Gayle Newell was at the book where callers registered, Misses Cynthia Leasure and Sidney Bayne at the refreshment table.

Flowers in the chosen wedding colors, cranberry and rose, centered the table which was covered with a white linen cloth with lace insets. Party sandwiches, punch and pink mints were served.

Hostesses with Mrs. Langley were Mmes. Bert Boomer, Joel Hodges, Elmer Kimball, A. T. Mims, Sam Patterson, L. W. Metcalf, Lester Wagner, Cawthon Bryant, B. Y. Crosthwait, Wayne Edwards, Bruce Woodell, Don T. Martin.

Also Mmes. Merlin Kaul, Delmar Sigle, Charles Holt, Richard Barnard, Ross Latham, W. R. Hair, Earl Holt, Louis Woodford, Ray Cowser, J. D. Kelly, S. L. Garrison, Gaylord Newell and L. W. Combs.

Mormon Pioneer Day Will Be Observed

Mormon Pioneer Day, July 24, will be observed by Hereford members of the Latter Day Saints (Mormon) Church with a special program this evening.

Marvin C. Cartwright, president of the congregation, announces, "Beginning at 6 p. m. on the chapel lot, supper will be served followed by a program by children of primary age and a 'road show' by church youth. The public is invited to services in the LDS chapel on Country Club Drive."

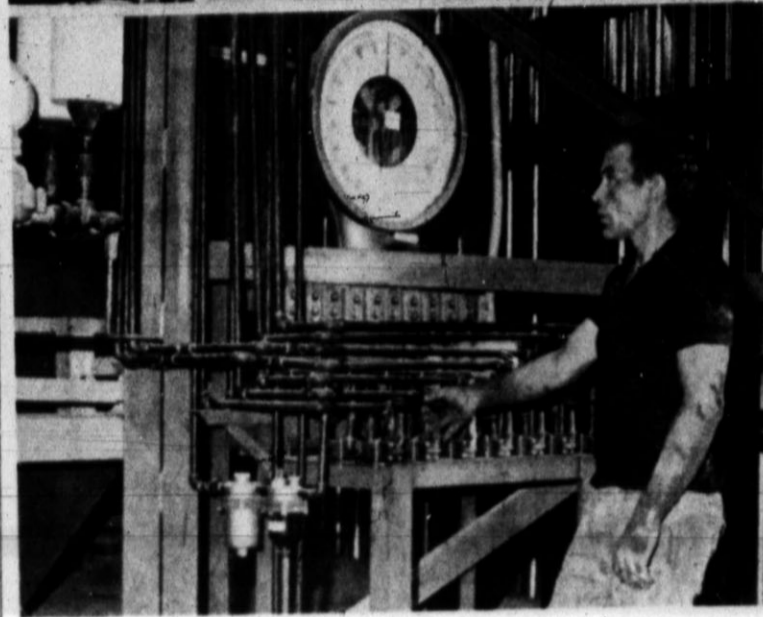

Mormons over the world join in observance of Pioneer Day, with celebrations focused in the Salt Lake Valley of Utah, where the first Mormon pioneers arrived July 24, 1847 after an epic trek of 1300 miles across then-dangerous country to found a home where they would be safe from persecution for their religious beliefs.

They had moved westward from New York state, where the church was organized in 1830 by Joseph Smith, first to Ohio and then to Illinois. After Joseph Smith and his brother were killed by a mob, and homes of many of his followers were burned, the group started out to fulfill his dream of a home site in the Rocky Mountain region, then unsettled.

Leadership fell to Brigham Young, who led the long journey which claimed many lives, and also directed the building and farming operations around Salt Lake.

Now the Mormons have temples and chapels in most parts of the world, a membership of more than two and a half million and nearly 100,000 converts reported yearly. Without a paid ministry, the church has over 12,000 missionaries, and boasts that there is no debt on any of its hundreds of schools and church buildings.

Settlement of the western United States, not only in Utah but other states, was advanced by the Mormon pioneers, and in a 1963 proclamation of July 24 as Pioneer Day in Texas, Gov. John Connally pointed out that

Training Plan Inaugurated

About ten young men in Hereford are now working on apprenticeships through an on-the-job training plan being promoted by the Texas Employment Commission here. The apprenticeships, which receive their backing from the federal government through the Manpower Development and Training Act of 1965, are intended to alleviate a need for skilled labor while encouraging employers to participate in personnel training.

Texas Employment, which was elevated to the status of a full-service office here at the first of the year, has been pushing MDAT in attempts to expand its program. Although it has no real official connection with the federal government in administering the program, it has been instrumental in securing participants.

Money for the program, spooned completely out of the federal treasury, is reimbursed to the employers for the actual cost incurred in training a skilled laborer. The phase of the program now in operation is "on-the-job" training, which precedes actual apprenticeship work.

Money reimbursed to employers will be paid for the on-the-job training period only, which can last up to 40 weeks. Apprenticeship work, which theoretically should not involve extensive training costs, will receive no federal dole. The Department of Labor will, however, keep a record of the progress accomplished by the training employee. At the end of the apprenticeship period — which in some trades may be as long as four full years — the workers will officially be recognized as journeymen by the Labor Department.

A survey taken by TEC manager Lester Rape indicates that an institutional plan (which includes classroom training in addition to practical experience) could be feasible here, particularly in the field of mechanics. He has made checks with several farm implement companies, which indicated a shortage of mechanics and parts men as well. If at least 12 persons can be found to participate in the school and training program, the institutional program may be instigated in this area, probably in a city containing a college. If this particular program does not get off the ground, however, the on-the-job training phase will continue in full force.

Through the Independent Garagemen's Association and the Automotive Wholesalers of Texas, contracts have been made for large blocks of men in individual training stations, greatly facilitating the government in its massive load of paperwork. The individuals participating in Hereford have made their agreements through these two separate associations, although they could have made application as individual firms.

Texas Employment Commission here is the central office for Deaf Smith, Castro and Parmer counties. Out of Dimmitt, Friona, Bovina and Hereford, Rape predicts good chances of expansion in the MDAT program.

MARRIED 50 YEARS — Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Weathers, 113 Bradley, are celebrating their Golden Wedding anniversary this weekend, and will be at home to friends who call this afternoon. August 12 Bride-To-Be Is Honoree At Shower

Friends in Hereford and Friona joined to compliment Miss Diane Jack, bride-elect, with a shower Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Bill Carthel, south of Black. Miss Jack, daughter of the Bertram Jacks, Rt. 2, Friona, is to marry James Perkins of Friona Aug. 12.

Shower hostesses were Mmes. Buddy Bloomer, Dick Golden, Walter London, Gwen McFarland and J. B. Shirley of Hereford; Mmes. Leland Hutson, Russell Patterson, Don Tims, Troy Young and Leo Balls of Friona.

In the line to receive guests with the honoree were her mother; her grandmother, Mrs. E. M. Jack of Friona; her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Richard Perkins, and grandmother, Mrs. Wilson of Friona.

Miss Linda Perkins, sister of the prospective bridegroom, was at the registry. Miss Maria Jack, the bride-elect's sister, and Miss Linda London served refreshments.

Aqua and emerald shades to be used in wedding decor formed the color scheme at the table, where dyed carnations were arranged in a centerpiece.

Canyon Champion

Little League Out At First Round

Canyon Little Leaguers, in their first game here Thursday evening, knocked Hereford out of area competition by ending a score at 5-2 in the Hereford Little League Park.

Canyon then followed through with their second victory, running over Castro County 6-3 in an elimination contest Friday night, also held at the Hereford park. Castro County had won the spot in Friday's contest by beating Dimmitt 8-4 Thursday.

The Friday night game made Canyon champion of Area IV. The district competition, next in line, is scheduled for the Little League park here this Thursday evening, when Canyon will clash with Carson Co., Area III champion, at 8 p. m. Preceding this contest, Borger South, Area II champion, will play Dumas, Area I champion. Victors in the 6 and 8 p. m. games will then have an elimination contest here at 7 p.

Redbirds Eliminated From Legion Tourney

Two outstanding pitching performances by hurlers from Pampa and Palo Duro eliminated Hereford's Redbirds from the District 18 American Legion baseball playoffs in Amarillo Thursday and Friday.

In the first game, Alan Woodard of top-ranked Pampa threw a no-hitter as the local team went under 4-0 in nine innings. Alex Diaz of the Redbirds matched Woodard in throwing hitless baseball for 3 1/2 innings, but Woodard himself got the first hit of the game. A hit batter, sacrifice and a single scored the first run by Pampa in the seventh inning.

In the eighth, Pampa scored on a walk, double, two singles and two passed balls to make the final score 4-0. Pampa collected only five hits off of Diaz, while Hereford committed two errors.

Friday night, Palo Duro slammed Hereford pitchers for 12 runs on 11 hits. The Redbirds got only four runs on three hits and committed four errors.

Three Palo Duro runs were scored in the second inning on three walks and a single, and four more runs were tallied in the third inning on six singles.

Four more runs were scored by Palo Duro in the fifth inning on a single, triple, two walks and two errors. Palo Duro got another run in the sixth on a triple and sacrifice bunt.

Hereford received six bases on balls to score three runs in

m. Friday.

Regional contests will be in Levelland July 31, to be followed by state competition in Pecos Aug. 9.

Winning pitcher in the Hereford-Canyon contest was Bill Moore, who struck out 12 of Hereford's men. Pitching for Hereford was Allen Cornelius. Both pitchers went for the entire six innings. Hereford's two scores were made by Glen McQueary and Bill Phillips, both crossing home plate in the first inning.

Canyon's Wayne Pitt also scored in the first inning, but the score remained at the 2-1 standing until the fifth, when Pitt, Gary Gerber and Bill Moore all added to Canyon's tally. Another run by Jack McClain in the final part of the game ended it all at 5-2.

the fifth and scored the final run on a passed ball and wild pitch in the eighth.

Barry Johnson, who started the game, was the loser. He was relieved in the fifth by Lynn Betts. Johnson returned to finish up the final innings.

The Redbirds finished in second place in the South Zone of district play, compiling a 14-5 regular season record. Tascosa was winner of the South Zone, while Pampa won the North Zone. The double-elimination tournament was to continue Saturday.

Legal Notice

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of the Board of Equalization of the Hereford Independent School District is called for July 24, 1967 at 1:30 P. M. in the County Court Room of Deaf Smith County Court House for the purpose of reviewing and equalizing tax assessment for the year 1967. Any one owning taxable property within the District is invited to meet with the Board and present any claim for adjustment of the appraised value of their property to which they believe they are entitled.

It is the purpose and desire of your Board of Equalization to as nearly equalize values as it is possible to do so. If you feel you have a just claim for an adjustment of your assessment, please bring your problem to the Board.

PICKED FOR RODEO — Harold Beauchamp, Dick Jagels and Jack Johnson pick out the beeve to be awarded at the Hereford Riders' Club rodeo this coming weekend. Beeves have been donated by the Hereford Feed Yards, Esley Feed Yards, and Holly Feed Yards.

DAY IN COURT — Students in Mrs. Billye M. Buck's history class at Hereford High School sat in one day in County Judge H. C. "Hank" Williams' courtroom. The group right listened to one case being heard, then questions the judge concerning the judicial process. Mrs. Buck is at the extreme right.

Red Cross Volunteers Plan For Anniversary

A special meeting to celebrate the 50th anniversary of Deaf Smith County Red Cross Chapter was planned by the Red Cross Volunteers (Gray Ladies) at their luncheon in the Hickory Log Restaurant Thursday noon. Actual anniversary date is Aug. 2; the chapter's charter is dated Aug. 2, 1917, but the meeting at which the Volunteers plan to be hostesses to Red Cross board members will be on their regular meeting day, Aug. 17. Details of the anniversary observance are to be arranged by a committee which Mrs. Marvis Southward, president, will appoint. Genevieve Miller, executive secretary of the county chapter, reported that a summary of activities for the past year shows that 524 persons in the county did some volunteer service for the Red Cross, compared to 338 the previous year. This figure includes women who assisted in sewing and knitting, and workers on youth projects. She also announced that shipments have been made to military and veterans' hospitals of all articles requested from this county, and that material for making "ditty bags" for servicemen in Viet Nam has been distributed to women who will sew the bags and fill them with toilet articles and writing material.

Mrs. Jim McCleskey of Rearing Springs was a guest of her aunt, Mrs. C. A. Sauley. Others at the luncheon were Mrs. A. Petersen, O. H. Cuiper, Ray Carlile, Leo Forrest, C. Ora Cockrell, Goldie Criswell and Floyd Coleman.

RON HARPSTER

Baptist Minister Finds Philosophy To Live By

Any person — observant or otherwise — who knows Ron Harpster can tell that this is a man who enjoys life and his work coincidentally. Ron, who is pastor of Hereford's Avenue Baptist Church, found a philosophy to live by while he was at Theological Seminary in Fort Worth. It's stuck with him ever since.

"Fellows, it's all a matter of attitude," is what a professor once told his class members at the seminary. And Ron Harpster has been attempting an optimistic attitude since that time. He has found that it works.

Ron is a relative newcomer to Hereford, arriving here in the latter part of 1964 to assume the pastorate of the Baptist church. A member of the younger set attending the Southwestern Baptist Harpster's leadership pool, he has found his job in the ministry to be a fulfillment of career plans set as early as his early teens.

He is currently president of the Hereford Ministerial Association, and has also served on the Deaf Smith County Council on Alcoholism.

His pastorate at Avenue Baptist Church is a seven-day-a-week job. The church, a mission of the First Baptist Church in 1945, today has a membership exceeding the 400 mark which can well keep any pastor on the go.

And his going in obviously enjoyable, although Ron will claim Sunday mornings and preaching to be the favorite part of his work. He says he's not much of an administrator.

Born in Denver, Colo., Ron got off to a shaky start in this world until he was adopted while still an infant. He's a city boy, growing up in that mountain metropolis and rubbing elbows with the ferocious thugs one wouldn't imagine in a smaller place. He remembers the Beth Eden Baptist Church particularly well: it's the church where his family spent many a Sunday during Ron's childhood, and it had its particular effects on Ron, eventually resulting in his being ordained a Baptist minister in Missouri when he was 19.

After Mr. Harpster's death, the family changed residences until finally Ron, graduating from the Wright City (Missouri) High School in 1951, enrolled in the Hannibal-LaGrange Jr. College at Hannibal, Mo. He enrolled as a preacher, a profession he had more-or-less been headed for ever since he was 12 years old.

Two ex-students of Howard Payne College at Brownwood, Tex., enticed Ron to come to this state, where he met and married the former Sylvia Ann Foster of DeLeon in 1958. All this time, while he was attending school, he was also preaching and doing other work, particularly in music, in Baptist churches along the way.

His education trail eventually saw him enter the seminary in Fort Worth, where he received his Bachelor of Divinity degree in 1963.

AMONG HEREFORD'S LEADERS — The Rev. Ron Harpster, pastor of Avenue Baptist Church, points out a favorite picture of his, presented him by a young person at a revival Ron conducted.

Looking to the civic interest any minister should take in his community, Ron comments that the only way to view civic achievements is with optimism. A positive attitude taken by just one person in a leadership position can be instrumental in bringing about a similar change in others, Ron has found. Changes come slowly, and pessimism is easy — but it won't solve a problem.

Granted, life may not be one happy experience, Ron says. But he intends to make it as enjoyable as possible.

CFW Service Projects In Spotlight

Service projects were discussed at an evening meeting of First Christian Women's Fellowship Wednesday evening at the church, with Joyce Dawson Group as hostess.

Each group received the name of a child at the Juliette Fowler home in Dallas, to whom gifts will be sent on birthdays and holidays and for whom clothing will be provided during the year.

Members agreed to assist in making "ditty bags" and filling them with small articles for use of American men in Viet Nam combat zones. These will be sent through the county Red Cross chapter.

Purchase of a new coffee maker for the church kitchen was voted in the business period with Mrs. Jack Allen presiding. Mrs. Lois Turpen was commended for her efficient work on CFW records, when an auditor's report for the past three years was read, showing the books in perfect order.

Aaron Cross, summer associate minister in the church, was the speaker, discussing work of chaplains in institutions and military service, their duties and their influence. Mrs. Tommy Carnahan gave the devotional talk on a related topic.

Tour Of Museum Is NSA Program

A tour of Deaf Smith County Museum will be made by members of the National Secretaries Association chapter Monday evening, after a short business meeting in the museum.

Viewing of exhibits will replace the usual NSA program. Jean Kennedy, president, says. The meeting will begin at 8 p. m.

Modern Process

Summer's Bloom Kept For Winter

Fresh-colored flowers from this summer's gardens make bouquets for next winter as the result of a drying process using chemical magic, with which Mrs. J. H. McCrary is experimenting while blossoms are plentiful.

The silica gel process is a modern form of the old method of covering flowers with sand or cornmeal until they dry. Its advantage is that the blossoms, even fragile flowers like sweetpeas, keep their color and shape and the process is also faster.

Mrs. McCrary read in a magazine of the use of silicic acid, which is sold under the trade name Flower Dri, and decided to try it.

She is still learning, by trial-and-error, exact requirements for various types of flowers and foliage, but has already produced dried flowers of good texture and color for attractive arrangements.

Moisture in the air this summer has been a problem, as she has not been able to depend upon the usual low humidity of West Texas. So she has carried her experiment past the instructions given with the package of gel, and tried spraying the flowers with a clear lacquer used by florists, finding the results "good, so far."

Dampness from the air is absorbed by the dried flowers, causing them to wilt. The manufacturer advises storing them in air-tight containers until winter, then using them for arrangements when flowers will be heated and the air dry. A little of the gel is placed in the storage container, to absorb any moisture.

Mrs. McCrary has found that petals of thicker texture keep their colors better. Marigolds, zinnias, mums, gladiolas and daisies dry beautifully, she says, although she has also had petunias, pansies and sweetpeas turn out well, and roses perfectly.

The silica gel is a flaky white powder. Some of the crystals are coated with cobalt so they are bright blue when dry but fade when the gel absorbs all the moisture it can. Then it must be heated in the oven until it is dry again, ready to absorb moisture from the flowers. It can be obtained from a drug store here.

General rules for drying flowers are given by Mrs. McCrary with the advice, "Don't be discouraged if first efforts fall short of expectations. Try again and have patience, as end results should be rewarding."

Cut fresh flowers with 1-inch stems, picking them on a warm sunny day, never just after a rain. Select them at the peak of bloom in prime condition. For variety, dry materials in various growth stages from buds to mature blooms. Dry flowers immediately after cutting.

Place short lengths of floral wires in stems.

Put blooms face up on top of an inch of silica gel in a container with a tight lid. Fruit cake or cookie tins or rigid plastic containers are good. Bend wire so the flower will be as level as possible. Sprinkle gel over flowers until completely covered, working it up and around petals.

Cover container tightly and store in a warm, preferably dark, place.

Check flowers after 12 hours. If they feel crisp, they are usually ready to remove. Flowers left in the gel too long tend to and they take on a crumpled look when exposed to air.

Remove carefully, straighten wires and wrap the calyx and several inches of the wire with floral tape. Then stand in rows in a block of plastic foam until ready to arrange.

Time of drying must be determined by experience. Mrs. McCrary has found that roses, petunias, daisies, pansies and sweetpeas will dry in 18 to 24 hours, while marigolds require 36 to 48 hours or longer. Rose foliage needs 18 to 24 hours.

Sunlight fades colors in the dried flowers and moisture wilts them, so protect them from those two hazards by careful storage.

PRESERVING BEAUTY — Reaching toward the pan holding flowers to be dried by a chemical process which retains color and form, John McCrary is "helping" his mother, Mrs. J. H. McCrary, in her experiments with the method which produces blossoms like those in the arrangement at right. Mrs. McCrary and daughter Patti supervise. In the inset are shown flowers spaced on top of a layer of silica gel, a powdery substance which is being scooped over the blooms to cover them completely and absorb all moisture from the petals.

Ladies On The Links

READY FOR GAME — Golf is the game for the Women's Association of John Pitman Municipal Course, whose members invite all women golfers of the community to join them in play on first and third Tuesday mornings of each month. Mrs. Jerry Terrell is selecting a club for her next shot on a tour of the course with a foursome last week.

BUSINESS TALK — After morning golf games and a luncheon at nearby Hereford Country Club, Association members discussed business Tuesday with Mrs. O. B. Trimble, right, presiding. Mrs. H. B. Thomas, secretary, is seated beside her. Both these officers are Dimmitt residents. Others serving this year are Mrs. Ed. Skypala, vice president; Mrs. Ben Hill, treasurer; Mrs. Jim Easley, reporter; Mrs. Joe Easley, who was last year's president, now parliamentarian and tournament chairman.

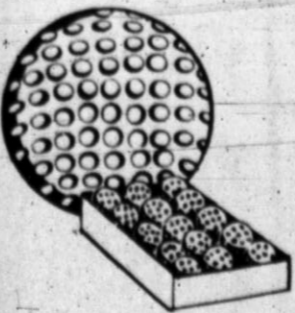

PARTNERSHIP — Mrs. Pat Thompson is checking the placement of Mrs. Sammy Lesly's ball as the latter prepares to drive toward the next green.

DETERMINATION — A good, solid swing is in the making by Mrs. Richard Jaegels, who is keeping her eye on that ball.

CONCENTRATION — Still watching intently, Mrs. Joe Easley follows her ball as it rolls toward the cup after her careful putt.

A FAMILY STORE

Local Firm Founded In 1901

By JOE BRAN
Staff Writer

Besides adding to the comfort of Hereford and area families since 1901, E. B. Black Company has watched the town grow from its beginning up to its present status from the same location at the corner of Second and Main Streets. The building used is the original one with some remodeling through the years to keep up with the fast-growing Panhandle town.

The furniture store was first opened for business soon after the town of Hereford came into being back in early 1901. E. B. Black came from Alabama to Texas and moved to Hereford in March of that year. Besides operating the furniture store, an undertaking business was added. Black bought the first motor-driven hearse in the Panhandle and he often was asked by Amarillo undertakers to lend it to them whenever they had an elaborate funeral.

Matt Gilliland, who was with the firm since 1914 and Jess Stanford, who had been associated with the firm for many years, bought the furniture store business when Black died in 1945. They operated it as a partnership until 1949 when Gilliland and his son, Marlin, bought the funeral home. The funeral home was at first located in the same building which the furniture store occupies today was later moved to new facilities where the Elks Lodge is now located. Space problems motivated the move.

Stanford, who married the former Nellie Black, was associated with the store for many years. Barnard became associated with the organization soon after discharge from the U. S. Marines in 1946.

Barnard was married to Mary Elizabeth Stanford in the early 1940's while on leave from the Marine Corps. He served during the war on Maui, in the Hawaiian Islands with the 4th Marine Division.

In 1964, Stanford retired and sold out his interest in the furniture store to Barnard. Stanford is still living here.

Mrs. Barnard spends a lot of her time working at the family-held corporation with her husband.

The furniture which the company sells is quality merchandise states Barnard. It is for families who purchase furniture and want it to last many years, not just a few months. However, the prices at E. B. Black Company do not exceed what is generally known as "average prices."

Carpets, linoleums, lamps and many other furnishings are carried and many of the brand names have been offered for several years. One particular company has been supplying furnishings to the company ever since 1902. They now supply mostly the floor coverings and window shades. Others have supplied furnishings for some 30-40 years.

The last time E. B. Black Furniture Co. re-modeled was about 2 years ago when the downtown section of Hereford entered into an extensive beautifying project. The store at that time remodeled the front in a face-lifting program.

Barnard and his wife live at 212 Ave. B. They have 2 children, one boy and a girl. The oldest is Katherine Nell, 21, a senior at Texas Tech in Lubbock. She is majoring in home economics. Following her is Charles, 18. He graduated from Hereford High School last spring and will also attend Tech this fall.

Barnard has been an active member of many civic organizations in Hereford. He is presently in the Rotary Club and has served in most offices there. He is past-president of that club. Besides that, he is a member of the Masonic Lodge and of the American Legion.

His favorite hobby is raising rose bushes. He has no special reason for doing this except that he enjoys it very much. He raises

His wife has also been a member of several clubs here. Both are presently active members of the First Methodist Church.

The store hours are from 8:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m. Monday through Saturday.

dial the telephone number

Direct Distance Dialing is the fastest way to reach out-of-town customers and suppliers. It's about twice as fast and costs about one-third less than person-to-person calls.

Dialing your own calls also frees your switchboard for incoming calls, eliminates many telephone tie-ups caused by unnecessary person-to-person calls and frees your employees to get more work done. Try Direct Distance Dialing. It's a business bargain.

Fish Cooking Is In Season

By Mrs. Argen Draper

Bring the foil up over the food and close all edges with tight double folds. Make 6 packages. Place packages on a grill about 5 inches from moderately hot coals. Cook for 45 to 60 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Serves six.

THE FOOD PRESERVATION packets are going fast. You will find these the latest information for canning and freezing. Also, the master gauge is being borrowed by many who are checking cooker gauges. A cooker gauge will last for many years if it is given reasonable care. The most damaging thing to a gauge is turning the lid up-side down with moisture collecting in the gauge.

PREPARATION OF NEW potatoes for freezing: Select potatoes the size of walnuts. Scrub well in cold water to remove skins, or wash and scrape. Pre-heat in boiling water: 5 to 8 minutes. Pack: Pack dry without water.

THE STUDY COMMITTEE has met several times to plan facilities to make the Bull Barn more usable for larger crowds. The committee chaired by Dean Herring has put out an honest effort to recommend the best and the most practical.

With Hereford becoming more of a convention city, it will make meetings easier. The current plan is to design the kitchen for catering rather than for food preparation. Many persons who aren't on the committee have made suggestions for improving facilities.

DR. SEAMAN A. Knapp wrote: "A great nation is not the outgrowth of a few men of genius, but the superlative worth of a great common people."

season and harvested in planting season, since we complain all year that it's too dry to plant or too wet to harvest. Well?

AT LEAST ONE mother of a student in summer Driver Education classes thinks public tribute should be paid to "those brave men" who ride around on our busy thoroughfares with teenagers who are doing their practice driving.

As I understand the requirement, a student must drive a set number of hours, accompanied by an approved adult, before he passes the course. Come to think of it, it would take a person of iron nerves to survive some of those rides, I'm sure.

The mother who talked with me was at the time riding with her own daughter, who has reached the stage where she is permitted to drive as a learner, with a licensed adult in the car.

She was happy with her daughter's driving, but they both were laughing — with a shudder — as they told of one blithe student who reported after a drive that "I'm doing better; I didn't lose control of the car but once!" That driver, who, incidentally, hasn't passed the course yet.

BIRTH OF A SON, Martin Andrew, is announced by Mr. and Mrs. David Gibson. The boy, weighing so close to nine pounds that there's no point in splitting ounces, was born in an Amarillo hospital July 15.

The Gibson family comprises three other children, Dale, Rebecca and Tray, enough to see that Martin Andrew gets all the attention he needs, or more.

IT'S GOOD TO SEE the old First Methodist parsonage, just around the corner from our office on Miles Street, housing a family again.

It's been vacant since the Clifford Trotters moved to the new parsonage on Star Street, waiting the arrival of the assistant minister who was assigned to the church late this spring.

C. E. Matthews, who is to fill that post, and his family moved in this week. Or maybe I should say "Is moving in" — don't think any family can move in less than a whole week.

It's a move back to Hereford for the Matthews; he was associated with the same church a few years ago.

A SUMMER IN a swank French Alpine resort city, housed in a chateau which was once chapel of a Benedictine Abbe, built in 950, with a tower room from which she can "almost reach the waterfalls by extending a hand from the window." Sounds like the locale of a glamour movie, doesn't it?

But Laura Zosia Gilliland of Carpentier, Calif., who has spent several summers with relatives in Hereford and plans to visit here on her way back home late in August, writes that it's where she is living right now.

Laura went to Europe last August to study at the Institute for American Universities at Aix en Provence, France, where she majored in political science. She and her roommate toured other European countries in June, then she was met in Paris by the couple with whom she is spending the summer.

Their chateau is at Talllores, where Laura says the mountain scenery is magnificent all day and by moonlight, the lakes on which they go boating are blue and lovely, and she concluded her letter with, "God is everywhere manifest."

She plans to visit her grandparents, the Pink H. Gillilands, in Amarillo and her great-aunt, Mrs. A. L. Manjeot, here on her way home. Daughter of the Bob S. Gillilands of Carpentier, she will be a senior in San Francisco College for Women this fall.

Men's Softball League To Be Organized

An organizational meeting for forming a men's softball league this summer will be held Monday night at 8:00 in the community room of the First National Bank of Hereford.

It was reported that any person over 18 years of age interested in joining the league be present as all rules, regulations and the forming of various teams will be held then.

Any person who is interested in joining the league but can not attend the meeting Monday is asked to call Doug Bryan at 364-4515 after 6:00 p. m.

Oklahoma Man Found In Ditch; Services Held

DIMMITT — Death by natural causes was the ruling by a Dimmitt coroner after examination of the badly decomposed body of a Hinton, Okla., man. The body of Robert E. Lee, 42, was found Wednesday afternoon in a ditch about 100 yards off U. S. 385 on the northern outskirts of Dimmitt. The ditch is located behind White's Elevator and near several railroad tracks.

Sheriff Jack Cartwright said three Negro boys hunting rabbits in the area had found the body and alerted his office. A fishing permit issued to Lee in Hinton prompted a call to authorities there and identification was made.

An autopsy was ordered, but Coroner Earl Harrison said the body was too decomposed to perform it. He ruled death by natural causes.

Sheriff Cartwright said the ditch had filled with water during heavy rains a week ago and the man could have fallen in and drowned. Lee, an out of work laborer, had been dead about a week. The ditch was dry Wednesday afternoon.

DEATH SCENE — The body of Robert E. Lee of Hinton, Okla., was found in this ditch on the northern outskirts of Dimmitt Wednesday afternoon. The decomposed body was found in the flattened area on the right hand side of the picture. A coroner ruled death due to natural causes.

Funeral services for Lee were held Thursday morning in Dimmitt. He was buried in Castro Memorial Gardens there.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. R. E. Lee of Hinton.

Agar, a gelatin-like substance derived from sea algae, is used as an ingredient in many types of ice cream, toothpaste, bread, whipped cream, sauces and shaving cream.

Life expectancy among birds varies widely. A robin lives about 12 years; a hawk, 30 to 40; a wild goose, 80. Eagles have apparently survived more than a century.

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio — Floors of our future homes will have a tremendous — but healthy — appetite for dirt.

So say students of Philadel-phia College of Art, participat-ing in a study sponsored by Ar-moco Steel Corporation.

Ingestive self-cleaning floor will obsolete today's manual de-vices. Tiny cells activated by easy pressure, such as mere walking, will suck in the dirt and transfer it to ducts under the floor, where forced air will carry it off.

That's not all. Another idea has "nebulizers" fitted in the ceilings to control humidity by emitting vaporized water. The nebulizer will also put out fires, spray chemicals for cleaning and put medication into sick-rooms.

Floor and ceiling, it will be a busy place, this house of to-morrow.

In Defense Of Leisure

The 40-hour work week and daylight saving time—a boon or a bust?

That's the question that is puzzling many business leaders as more leisure time is being placed at disposal of the American public. Will he sit at home and twiddle his thumbs, watch the "boob" tube, or find other, more constructive means of filling the void?

The latter certainly should be the more pleasant alternative.

The sportsman surely will spend more time boating and fishing while the home owner no doubt will while away the hours doing the hundreds of odd jobs around the house that he didn't have time for before. And if he's pretty handy with the tools, he may even attempt to build a fence or remodel the bath.

Some we assume, will use the additional time to study, to write, to read or will find other cultural fulfillment for their leisure hours.

In the meantime, all will be spending more money.

Business leaders, faced with prospects of paying overtime or doubling shifts, are finding the situation not to palatable from the cost standpoint. Production and sales costs have continued to rise over the years, but the unprecedented jump of the last few months has had the execs looking at the hole card. Certainly, the shorter work week plus the problems created by daylight saving time have added to their cost of doing business.

Where then is the gain?

The American people are lovers of luxury, and don't mind spending their time and money to get it. The building industry and sporting goods industries in particular should feel the effects of the short work week. Home owners certainly should be spending more and more to make their homes more comfortable. And with the additional daylight hours, the head of the house may wish to do his own carpentry work, thereby allowing more money for materials. Many homeowners who happen to be handy with the tools, have even built additional rooms to their dwellings. Many do their own plumbing and electrical wiring, whenever and wherever city codes allow.

Certainly, with the shortage of good carpenters, plumbers and electricians, the do-it-yourself enthusiast is not depriving a journeyman worker from his livelihood.

And the man who has heard the "call of the wild" knows that sportsmen will spend their last nickel on a new spinner or plug, and with the additional daylight hours he's really having a ball. The sporting good industry should also be benefiting from his extra time.

But whether the additional business benefits offset the additional cost of doing business is a question that may well be argued from now on.

We're betting however, that the sharp businessman is getting a good return from the extra dollar being paid to employees.

The Public Interest In Profit

As we sort out our ambivalent reactions to the Federal Communications Commission ruling on American Telephone and Telegraph Co., the thought that pushes to the top is that the job of a regulatory body is to seek low prices, not low profits.

The ruling last week, you probably recall, cut AT&T's long-distance phone rates by 3%, and also proclaimed 7% to 7½% a year as the utility's fair rate of return on investment in its interstate business.

We have already remarked that the FCC investigation, especially initially, had some overtones of prosecution rather than regulation. But we want to leave no doubt that in our minds the FCC does have a clear duty to regulate. The same monopoly status that boosts AT&T's earning power and enhances the value of its stock necessarily subjects it to Government regulation. Neither the company nor its shareholders should be surprised that regulators do regulate.

In one sense, indeed, it's encouraging to see the FCC recognize this duty. Too often that body has seemed to feel, particularly in shielding broadcasters from new forms of competition, that its real purpose was to protect the profits of those it regulates.

To appraise the details of the AT&T ruling, though, it's wise to remember that the reason monopolies are regulated is, pure and simple, to insure low prices. The economies of increasing scale and advancing technology can be expected, other things being equal, to lower the costs of providing utility services. In a monopoly or near monopoly situation, competition will not guarantee that part of any new economies will be passed along in lower prices, so Government regulation is necessary to see that the consumer shares in the benefits of progress.

Therefore we find it hard to quarrel very much with the part of the FCC ruling reducing telephone rates. It appears that new economies have come about since the last rate reduction. Reasonable men can differ on the precise time for passing them along in lower prices, but the FCC did its job as it saw it.

No such clear rationale is apparent, however, for the part of the ruling that seems to set a permanent lid of 7½% on AT&T's return on investment. The public interest does not require lower profits for their own sake. The ceiling can be justified only if it results in lower prices, a result we find less than obvious.

For the 8% and 8½% returns on investment AT&T has recently enjoyed on interstate business resulted not from higher prices but from increases in management and technical efficiency. The company's search for new efficiency no doubt was stimulated by the knowledge that greater efficiency would mean greater profits, at least until the next periodic rate reduction.

Under the new FCC policy, any increase in profit above the 7½% return will bring an almost automatic rate reduction without even short-term benefits for the company. The company will benefit only from increasing the sheer size of its capital investment, on which return is calculated. There will be little incentive for it to insure maximum efficiency.

The increases in efficiency that have boosted AT&T's short-run profits, of course, are the same ones that have allowed long-run rate reductions. Indeed, we wonder to what extent the company's good long-term record of rate reductions on interstate service resulted precisely from a regulatory policy that avoided specific profit limits while pressing for lower prices.

Only time will show whether the announced change in FCC policy is more real or apparent. But to judge by the announcement itself, the commissioners could stand a better recognition of one very important economic truth.

To wit, profits are not merely a necessary evil to be endured but paid. As an important incentive for the greater efficiency that ultimately promotes lower prices, they too serve the public interest.

Committee To Investigate Boating Accident Deaths

By BERT MILLS

WASHINGTON, D. C. — More Americans die annually in boating accidents than in all types of airplane crashes, and a Congressional committee is seeking to learn why.

The Special Studies Subcommittee of the House Government Operations Committee has noted Coast Guard statistics which show there was a 16.3 percent increase in boating accidents last year, and that fatalities averaged nearly four per day.

In 1966, there were 4,350 accidents involving pleasure craft. Property damage was estimated at over $7 million. In addition to 1,318 deaths, there were 2,355 others injured. Since 1952, personal injuries have risen 59.2 percent, property damage 92.1 percent, and fatalities 24.9 percent. July is the worst month for boating accidents.

One big reason for these statistics is that boating becomes more popular each year. There are now more than 40 million people who ride the water in anything from a 3-foot raft to a 60-foot yacht. Today there are more than 8 million pleasure boats in use — a figure about equal to the number of new cars sold each year.

Boating used to be a pastime chiefly of the well-to-do. Prosperity has now made it possible for all but the lowest economic class to join the boating fraternity. A boat hitched to a trailer in the driveway has become a status symbol throughout suburbia.

No Licenses Required

In order to operate an automobile, an airplane, or a motorcycle, a driver must meet minimum requirements set by Federal or State authorities. The operator of a boat does not have to pass any test and does not even have to have attained a minimum age. Our lakes and rivers are filled with children operating powerful boats.

It is estimated that about 6 percent of the boating population have yet to reach 18, and some are as young as 12. Significantly, these under-age boaters were involved in 13 percent of the accidents last year. The Coast Guard found "carelessness," negligence, or recklessness" to be the primary cause of 23 percent of the accidents involving youths.

But juvenile delinquency on the water is only a small part of the story. Adults are responsible for 87 percent of the accidents, and indulgent parents are guilty of allowing their children to operate the boats which have mishaps.

Boat operator licenses have been suggested for many years but have been strongly opposed by all boating interests. The Coast Guard is also against licensing because of the impossible problems of administration. Many different types of licenses would be required because there are so many different kinds of power boats.

Automobiles are much the same and one test suffices. But there is a vast difference between operating a rowboat propelled by a small, low-powered See MAIN STREET Page 7

...What Revolution Is, Call It Progress — Victor Hugo, Les Miserables

By LARRY FUHRMANN

Arriving in Hereford at the end of May, I was confronted by a local attorney who commented on the revolutionary connotations of my obviously neglected-too-long set of sideburns. With long hair and beards often associated with the hippie crowd, I really didn't know how to accept the comment.

That term "revolution" is one that is spoken of in poor light today, unfortunately, because it is so often used when another word would be more appropriate, namely "insurrection."

There is an aspect to the word revolution — a literal one — that doesn't necessarily involve armies and ammunition. In the United States, it can idealistically be traced through some 350 years of history. With this sort of background, Americans can hardly condemn the idea of revolution in bringing about some sort of social progress. If they do, they are refuting the very ideals written into the Declaration of Independence by their forefathers.

The world community today is a little closer knit than it was in 1776. With nuclear warheads and other methods of warfare now at a nation's disposal, defense policies have had to change. A need for a better strategy has made itself obvious.

Although the emphasis is not as it once was, we are living in a world where the communist menace is as real as it ever was. It is a problem because too many people are too susceptible to its ideology. They are people, most would agree, in need of revolution. The communists appeared on the scene to fulfill that need, when perhaps someone else should have been there first with a better sort of revolution to solve the problem at hand.

William O. Douglas, associate justice of the United States Supreme Court, cites the problem in his essay, "America Challenged":

"The tragedy is that while the world needs leadership in revolutions, we have come to regard the word with suspicion. We — who have the most glorious revolutionary history of any nation — have let the standard be carried by the communists."

... from the Brand's files

50 YEARS AGO

The boys of Co. K, New Mexico national guards have sent to the Brand the following clipping from the Albuquerque Evening Herald with the request that it be published. Many of the boys, whose names are signed to the request, are Hereford boys and personal friends of the Brand. That these boys are enjoying some of the good things of life while in training for their country's service is good news to their Hereford friends. The boys say that while they are serving in the N.M. guards, they have not forgotten the Lone Star State nor Hereford. The names are as follows: Benjamin R. Dixon, Fred E. Newsom, W. L. Goodloe, M. Short, E. Short, C. W. Hodges, W. M. Orr, Claude F. Newsom, T. Flake Ivy, Paul R. Davis, Grady Hodge, Frank A. Cook, Lawrence B. Bright, Rice Hughes, Albert J. Hartson, Bob McKenna, Hiram Terry, Marion Bledsoe.

The Hereford country has been added to the list of prospective oil lands, and a possibility of increasing her wealth more rapidly than by the safe and sane, always reliable, farm and stock route, is already beckoning most alluringly in the uncertain future.

Mr. Morris Jouvenot, representing the Empire Gas and Fuel Co. of Bartlesville, Oklahoma, was in Hereford the first of the week and declared his intention of leasing if possible some 60,000 acres of land in the immediate vicinity and nearby territory. From the Vega country south to some distance below Hereford and east into Randall County, already many leases have been obtained.

The heat of the "Good Old Summer Time Weather" of the past few days is, to say the least, unpleasant. This feature is, however, insignificant compared with that of safe guarding in the time of special danger, the public health. Too much care can not be taken in regard to the proper disposal of garbage and other waste. Piles of decaying rubbish are not only unsightly but they are breeders of disease and death.

The poisonous stench from putrid vegetable and animal matter which offends the nostrils right in the business center of the city, speaks of a carelessness in regard to the laws of sanitation which is unworthy of the best town in the Panhandle.

25 YEARS AGO

A chance to do something constructive, for the morale of our men in camp is offered all citizens of the Hereford territory by the American Legion Scrap Record Drive which is getting underway this week. J. C. Ricketts, commander of Post 192 of the Legion said today.

Briefly, the legion wants all your old phonograph records broken or otherwise. The materials used in record manufacture are scarce, as any "Platterbug" can tell you, and these old records will provide materials from which new records can be made to send to the boys in camp.

Red Cross workers are needed now to finish up work already begun in order that it may be shipped out as soon as possible.

Mrs. Carl Gilliland, production chairman, sends out an urgent call for women to come to the Red Cross rooms this week and next to complete all sewing and other work. A large fan has been installed, and the rooms will be comfortable. Several quilts are ready to be quilted and quilts are needed.

Nearly $2,500 worth of war stamp and bonds were sold at the Bond Breakfast sponsored Friday morning at the Hereford Business and Professional Women's Club. Mrs. Troy Moore, president, reported this week, stating that the sale had passed the most optimistic expectations of the club.

"We want to thank all the women who attended the breakfast," Mrs. Moore said, "We feel that this breakfast shows what a united effort of business and club women can accomplish."

Nearly every club in Hereford was represented among the war securities purchasers and most business cooperated.

Volunteer wheat, whether hauled out or grazed, if allowed to mature is still wheat as far as government regulations are concerned and marketing quota regulations will apply, according to information received this week from the county ACA office.

Wheat must have been plowed up before it matures to remove these quota regulations, government spokesmen say.

Casa de Amigos

By MARTIN WINCH

The Hereford Labor Camp consists of 34 barracks owned by the Hereford Housing Project and, conservatively, an additional 200 living units, barracks, and trailers. A few of these additional dwellings are privately owned, most are rented to one or several families by the week.

Also at the Camp are seven small groceries, four cafes, a number of sno-cone outlets, a recreation hall, two garages, and a wrecking yard. Finally, there is the Casa de Amigos and the eight buildings of the St. Joseph's Mission.

Except for the Casa de Amigos, every building in the Labor

Camp draws water from a pressure tank located between Barracks 8 and 10. This water is drawn from a well just north of the tank. Water reaches the 34 barracks (4 to 8 apartments apiece) through 15 outdoor faucets. One barrack apartment in addition to our own has inside running water. The Casa de Amigos has its own well and pressure system.

The drinking water supply in the Camp has been analyzed regularly and has been found to be pure.

Running hot water in Camp is found at the Casa de Amigos, at the St. Joseph's Mission, in the VISTA barrack apartment, and in a public shower — located adacent to the pressure tank — which costs a quarter.

The original Casa de Amigos structure built in 1960 included two bathrooms, each with a flush toilet and a shower. Reddell Water Well Service installed a well and pump, and supplied gravel for a septic tank drainfield. A pit for the tank was dug by the college-age Work Campers who constructed the Casa.

When an addition to the Casa was constructed in 1964, two new bathrooms were installed. Each of these offers a flush toilet and two showers with hot and cold water. Volunteering their time and skills to construct these shower rooms were Bruce Coleman, Emil Dettman, Virgil Dodson, Burl Fish, Fred Moreman, Bill Penn, Ira Ricketts, and Bob Veigel. At this time, Leon Bell enlarged the septic tank pit and Floyd McGee donated his equipment to extend the drainfield. Jacobsen Bros. sold casing to the Casa below cost.

At the Labor Camp, Saturday is generally bath day for the family. Most families bathe one another in large steel pails in their barrack apartments or homes. Other families or individuals have, like many of us, become attached to showers. Some of these bathers use the pay shower in the Camp. The rest come to the Casa de Amigos. The numbers are sufficient to keep the showers busy whenever they are open.

Most bathers are children, the remainder being young adults with or without their families. Generally, several brothers and sisters bathe at once. We provide soap which is saved and donated by the Chateau Inn Motel for our showers and for our use in pre-schools.

Showers at the Casa are open for use to anyone at any time when it does not inconvenience some activity going on within the building. Bathers generally come in force in the late afternoons, and on weekends. Our rule is that shower rooms be left cleaner than when they were found. In addition, we give the rooms a thorough cleaning every Sunday.

Part of pre-school education at the Casa de Amigos is instruction and practice in the use of the flush toilet and of the hot and cold water. The barracks themselves depend on 33 outhouses. Residents of the other dwellings in the Camp also use outhouses. The VISTA barracks apartment has a septic tank which causes enough trouble to disenchanted many Camp residents with such modern conveniences.

Joyce Bezner Chosen For 4-H Club Talent Tour To Points Over Texas

Initiation into the Talent Club for 4-H members is scheduled Sunday for Joyce Bezner of Ford 4-H Club here, and she will leave next day with the other Texas members on a week-long tour of the state.

Sponsored by Producer Grain Corporation, the Talent Club comprises a club girl and boy from each of eight districts in Texas and from Kansas, New Mexico and Colorado. They were selected on the basis of leadership, citizenship and achievement records as 4-H members.

Joyce Bezner wins 4-H honor

The 25th annual tour will take the group to Corpus Christi for swimming and boating in the Gulf of Mexico, the Alamo and Brackenridge Park at San Antonio, the Astrodome at Houston and Six Flags Over Texas at Arlington.

In addition to these recreational spots, there will be visits to the home office and facilities of PGC in Amarillo, port terminal grain elevators at Corpus Christi and the Houston Bank for Cooperatives, to give the club members information on the working of agricultural cooperatives.

Miss Bezner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bezner, will be a senior in Hereford High School next term. She has been in 4-H Club work nine years, carrying on projects in livestock, foods and clothing the entire time, and adding other activities for a total of 12 projects.

Rita Huckert and Juston McBride, county Extension Service agents who direct 4-H activity, describe her as "an outstanding leader, well-liked and dependable."

The boy chosen from this district to the Talent Club is Joe David Berg of Amarillo.

The National Park Service's rangers are bracing themselves to greet more than 145 million visitors in 1967. Last year about 133 million persons admired our national parks.

SHOOTING FROM THE INSIDE

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — A specially designed Agfa Recording camera will soon be installed in the new pneumatic postal tube system of the city, to provide a photographic check of the tube lines for water leakage, tube dislocations and other damage.

The camera will travel through the tubes at a speed of 21 miles per hour photographing the inside surfaces at a rate of six pictures per second, without interfering with the normal movement of bulk mail in any way. The pneumatic tubes have a diameter of 17 3/4 inches and are said to be the largest of their type in the world.

Laws May Be Tightened
Even before the House subcommittee began its investigation, the Coast Guard had been working with state boating officials with a view toward toughening existing Federal laws. Recommendations to amend the Motorboat Act of 1940 and the Federal Boating Act of 1958 are expected to go to Capitol Hill this summer.

At present, only motor boats with engines of 10 horsepower or more, need to be registered and numbered. One probable amendment will extend that requirement to all power boats regardless of size or power. Another requirement may be that every boat, even canoes and rowboats, must carry prescribed safety equipment.

Technology plays a part in the boating safety problem. In 1952, the average outboard motor developed 8.9 horsepower. More power means more speed and more accidents, for there are no brakes on boats.

Secretary of transportation Alan S. Boyd, whose new department includes the Coast Guard, has sounded a warning that safety on the water is bound to become a more serious problem. He has asked the Coast Guard to "make an extra effort" to promote safety this summer. On a long term basis, he has served notice that the task will require "more men, more equipment and more money."

Sons' Interests Keep Mrs. Waits Occupied

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

A short conversation with Mrs. Manson D. Waits, wife of the new administrator at Kings Manor retirement home, shows where one of her major interests lies. The talk keeps coming back to her two sons, Ralph and James.

The Waits moved from Lubbock a few weeks ago and are living at 414 Sunset. Slender, cinnamon-haired Mrs. Waits says they are not entirely moved yet — at least not completely unpacked — but they have been made to feel quite at home in Hereford.

The boys, ages 13 and 11, immediately found activities to their liking and last week Ralph, the older, was at band camp with other members of school bands, while James was with Boy Scouts at Camp Don Harrington.

They are cultivating a garden in the back yard of their home, and both are frequent visitors at Kings Manor, just across the street, where they have made friends with the residents and often go over to chat or play games with them.

Mrs. Waits has enjoyed her time as den mother while the boys were in Cub Scout groups, and she says "enjoyed" is the correct word.

Only recently she was involved in a chore typical of many she has performed in support of Scout activities. She went to help a troop of Boy Scouts off to camp at Tres Ritos in New Mexico, discovered that some of their promised transportation was not available, and ended driving a carful of boys to the camp and then returning home the same day. She and her husband share an enjoyment of music, not as performers but as listeners. They have a sizable collection of favorite records and stereo equipment. They also like to play bridge when there is spare time.

Born in the small town of Peaster near Weatherford, Mrs. Waits was a banker's daughter but did not fulfill her father's hopes that she would be interested in banking.

After two years in Weatherford Junior College she completed study for a degree from North Texas State University, majoring in homemaking, and taught a few years.

Then a relative who was a doctor convinced her that work in laboratories would be a more interesting career, so she received training in the laboratory school at Houston's City-County Hospital and worked at that profession until her children were born and she felt she was needed full-time at home.

Recently, she took a "temporary" job to fill a lab vacancy in the hospital at Lubbock where Waits was administrator, and worked 13 months.

She considers her training and experience in this field as "good insurance" for any time when she may need or want to return to employment outside her home.

She has been active in church organizations in the past, and has become a member of First Methodist Church here.

Tea Is Courtesy For Mrs. Selman

Recently-married Mrs. James Selman of Fort Worth, the former Miss Patricia Maxwell of Hereford, was complimented with a shower-tea Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Steve Clements, 208 Sunset.

The bride and her mother, Mrs. Albert Maxwell, received callers who were greeted at the door by Mrs. Clements. Mrs. Michael Wolfe, sister of the honoree and also a bride of this summer, was at the registry table.

Serving refreshments in turn were Misses Doris Parsons, Barbara Clements, Patsy Story and Cindy Jones, school friends of Mrs. Selman. Cake squares and gold punch were served at a table centered with yellow flowers. In the hostess party were Mmes. Mary Carter, N. E. Gass, Joel Hodges, George T. Jones, Charlie Hill, John Douglas Pittman, Ed Wilson Jr., Gerald Hale, Kenny Wilson, Art Stoy, Stan Sigman, Ted Higgins, Spicer Gripp, T. J. Parsons, George Warner, J. W. Dickerson Jr., and Max Stipe.

The PHANTOM

By Lee Falk

WELL DONE, PHANTOM— DESTROYED A TIGER— OVERCAME TWO ARMED GLADIATORS!

FACE YOUR NEXT OPPONENT— BAREHANDED!

I'LL USE THIS!

YOUR LAST OPPONENT— I JUDGE, A KODIAK BEAR, IMPORTED FROM ALASKA!

12 FEET HIGH— OVER A TON— NATURE'S MOST FEROCIOUS ANIMAL!

THE GREAT ANIMAL LUNGES TOWARDS HIM!

A KODIAK BEAR!? BIGGER THAN ANY LION OR TIGER I'VE EVER SEEN.

WATCHING THE BEAST CAUTIOUSLY— THE PHANTOM MOVES NEAR THE ARENA WALL—

FOOL— HE'S LET THAT MONSTER TRAP HIM AT THE WALL!

THAT'S HIS FINISH!

HE SUDDENLY SPEEDS AROUND THE BEAR— LEAPS UPON ITS BACK—

BEFORE ANIMAL OR MEN REALIZE IT— HE'S OVER THE ARENA WALL IN A FLASH!

KUKHAN— TELL YOUR MEN TO DROP THEIR GUNS— OR YOU ARE DEAD!

CONT'D NEXT WEEK

BRINGING UP FATHER

by BILL KAVANAGH & FRANK FLETCHER

I THINK I'LL TAKE A SHOWER—

WHY DON'T YOU TAKE A LITTLE NAP TOO, DEAR?

I WONDER WHAT'S GETTING INTO MAGGIE! SHE USUALLY OBJECTS TO AFTERNOON NAPS—

I HATE TO DO THIS— BUT I NEED MONEY TO PAY THE BILLS—

I'LL PAY IT BACK OUT OF NEXT MONTH'S ALLOWANCE—

.. FEMALE SNEAK THIEF STEALS $500 FROM A DOWNTOWN BANK WHILE THE TELLER'S BACK IS TURNED ..

I HOPE THEY CATCH THE THIEF WHO STOLE THAT MONEY AND PUT HER IN JAIL...

HOW DARE YOU SAY SUCH A THING ABOUT YOUR OWN WIFE?!

I WOULDN'T HAVE TAKEN THAT MONEY, ONLY I NEEDED IT FOR MY HOUSEHOLD EXPENSES!

Hi and Lois

by MORT WALKER and DIK BROWNE

I FOUND MY BALL! WATCH WHERE IT GOES, WILL YA, HI?

OKAY, HIT IT

WHAK!

TOUGH LUCK, THIRSTY, IT WENT IN THE WOODS ON THE OTHER SIDE

OH-OH! NOW YOU'RE BACK IN THE SAME MESS YOU WERE IN BEFORE

WHAK! PLOK! CHUNK!

IT HIT A TREE AND BOUNCED INTO THOSE BUSHES BEHIND YOU

WHAT HAPPENED THAT TIME?

WHAK! CHUNK!

PLOK!

CRUNCH!

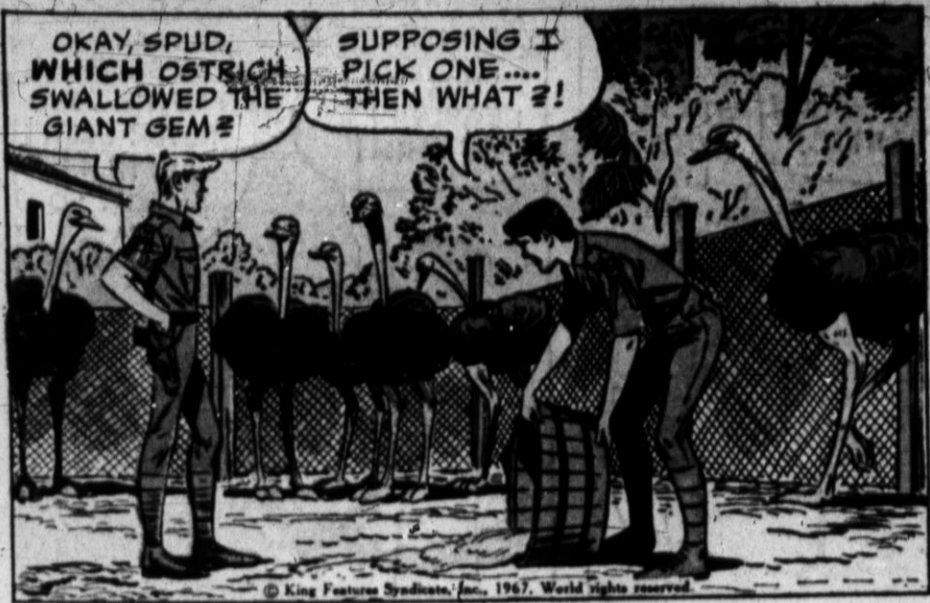

GOOD! YOU'RE BACK EARLY! DID YOU HAVE A NICE GAME?

YES! AND SHUT UP!!

FLASH GORDON NO SOONER BLASTS OFF FROM THE MOON THAN HE DISCOVERS THAT A STOWAWAY IS ABOARD.

PANCHO! WHAT DO YOU THINK YOU ARE DOING? YOU KNOW I CAN'T TURN BACK NOW!

SI, SEÑOR FLASH! BUT MAYBE PANCHO HELP YOU RESCUE LOST CREW ON PLUTO!
