Combest Visits

Rep. Larry Combest gave an update on Washington legislative affairs Thursday at the Noon Kiwanis meeting. Combest was scheduled to speak today at the Texas Beet Growers Association.

Revco signs lease for Hereford store

Revco D.S., Inc., the nation's largest drug chain, has signed a lease agreement for a new 8,450 square-foot drug store to be located at Northgate Plaza in Hereford, according to Marvin Solganik, Revco's senior vice president of real estate.

Northgate Plaza is to be the name of the new shopping center now under construction on US-385. A big Sav-N-Gain supermarket is presently being constructed on the site.

"We have done extensive studies on Hereford and felt that a Revco store, with our everyday low discount prices, would meet the shopping needs of the people in the community," Solganik said. "We also see real potential for growth in this area.

The new Revco Discount Drug Center will employ approximately seven people, including two registered pharmacists. Solganik noted that the developer for the new drug center is the Dawn Company of Amarillo. A firm completion date has not been set, he added.

Revco, headquartered in Twinsburg, Ohio, operates more than 1,950 stores in 28 states and has over 23,000 employees. The company has annual sales in excess of $2 billion. There are currently 227 Revco stores in Texas.

In addition to thousands of famous national brand products, all Revco drug stores also feature more than 700 private label products. Revco places heavy emphasis on its prescription business, currently filling more than 57 million prescriptions annually. The store in Hereford will have a pharmacist on duty during all store hours.

Hereford is losing much more than a football coach with the departure of Jerry Taylor.

Many football fans were unhappy to read the news that Taylor is accepting the coaching job at Odessa High School. Under his guidance, the Herd football team has had three winning seasons, including one trip into the

Although he is a proven winner as a coach, Taylor does not dwell on the won-lost records. He is a teacher, a leader of young men. He has a set of standards for his players. If they follow those guidelines, the discipline usually produces winners in football and, almost ways, winners in life. If I had a son playing football, I could think of no better man than Jerry Taylor to be his coach.

But Taylor, and his family will be missed in places beside the football field. The First Baptist Church will lose a dedicated deacon; the community will lose some fine citizens, and those who know the Taylor family will lose some great friends.

While on the subject of the coaching change, the school board announcement was not too clear. We understand that Supt. Harrell Holder recommended to the board that assistant Gary Wilhelm be promoted to the post of athletic director and head football coach. However, the board decided to accept applications from all interested persons.

One board member explained that Wilhelm was not eliminated from consideration, but the concensus was to see who was available for the post and select the man they felt would be best for the job.

Meanwhile, Taylor announced he would be taking Wilhelm, Don Long, Ken Fowler and Eddie Richardson to Odessa with him. There is a possibility he could take other assistants later, he added.

Farmers will feel pinch of budget balancing law

WASHINGTON (AP) - When farmers get their 1986 wheat loans, they'll be 10 cents a bushel shy of what the Agriculture Department says is the going rate for this year's Corn farmers will see a deduction of 8 cents a bushel, according to USDA analysts who are studying the impact of the Gramm-Rudman budget-balancing law. Government supports for other commodities will be adjusted accordingly.

Further, some USDA employ cutbacks will occur either through layoffs or shortened hours, probably resulting in reductions in federal meat and poultry inspection, and conservation services to farmers.

The law calls for a 4.3 percent domestic spending reduction in many government programs for fiscal 1986, which began last Oct. 1.

Department budget officials said Thursday that food stamps and childfeeding programs are exempt but that other USDA functions will bear a total reduction of more than $1.26

For example, said Robert E. Sherman, the department's deputy budget director, when farmers go to their local USDA offices to collect crop price support loans or apply for target price "deficiency" payments, they'll have 4.3 percent deducted from what they otherwise would get.

In effect, Sherman said in an interview, the 1986 wheat price support of $2.40 per bushel will be shaved to $2.30. The deficiency payments, which make up the difference between market prices and the target, also would be trimmed.

Although the law applies to the current fiscal year, Sherman said its curb on USDA spending will affect the entire 1986 crop year, meaning corn and other commodities harvested next fall.

The 1986 crop loan rates were announced earlier this week by Agriculture Secretary John R. Block as part of his decision to carry out the new Food Security Act of 1985, the farm bill passed by Congress and signed by President Reagan just before Christmas.

Block, hoping to make U.S. commodities more competitive in the world market, reduced the 1986 wheat loan rate to $2.40 from last year's $3.30 per bushel, and corn to $1.92 per bushel from $2.55 in 1985. the maximum reduction allowed by the law. The Gramm-Rudman cuts will be on top of that.

Committee sets March 1 for for Sesquicentennial affair

Plans for a giant Texas Independence Day celebration were announced when the Deaf Smith County Sesquicentennial committee met Thursday afternoon with Garth Thomas presiding.

The group also started plans for planting two oak trees, provided by the Texas Sesquicentennial Commission, on the courthouse square and making a list of committees which will be needed when the Texas Wagon Train comes to town in May.

The big Independence Day affair has been scheduled for Saturday, March 1, in the Bull Barn with all interested citizens invited to attend. A menu of stew, cornbread, drink and dessert will be offered from 5 to 7 p.m. that day, and proceeds from ticket sales will be used in the Sesquicentennial celebration.

Continuous entertainment is planned for the event, and citizens will be urged to wear Sesquicentennial teeshirts and bandannas, or other informal attire.

The committee is still studying where and when to plant the oak The 1986 corn loan — the amount trees provided by the state commis-

Ship fire sends workers to hospital

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Twenty-five people were admitted to local hospitals suffering from smoke inhalation after a fire broke out on a docked government freighter that was being cleaned.

Ten workers cleaning the Pioneer Contractor were trapped for about an hour when the fire erupted about 6 a.m. Thursday. The workers were degreasing the interior of the ship's holds with an industrial solvent when the fire started.

Fifteen workers and seven firefighters were admitted for smoke inhalation at John Sealy Hospital, hospital spokeswoman Lin Westerlage said.

Two workers were in critical condition, one in serious, one in good, and 11 in fair condition, Ms. Westerlage said Thursday evening. Four firemen were listed in good condition and three others were released, she said.

Ms. Westerlage said none of the injuried persons had surface

Bernstein withdraws AIDS quarantine

potential benefits, the commissioner said at a news conference. "Considering that we would use this (quarantine) ... probably not over a dozen times a year throughout the state, that relationship would suffer out of all proportion to the value gained," Bernstein

But he will continue to look for a way to isolate AIDS victims who refuse to abstain from activity that can spread the disease. It might take legislative action, he said.

"We're not dropping it. We are just going to go about it in a less tumultuous way," he said.

Under the Bernstein plan - tentatively approved last month by the State Board of Health - local health officials would have been allowed to ask the state health department to quarantine incorrigible AIDS victims. The commissioner preferred the term "medically

City hopes to regain its namesake

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) - For decades, the standing joke around here has been, "Where's the falls in Wichita Falls?"

But some people aren't laughing anymore. They've decided to restore the city's namesake.

That means building a waterfall, of course. The original falls on the Wichita River, near the city's downtown area, were destroyed in a flood in 1886, four years after Wichita Falls was established.

"We can all see the need for the city to reclaim its namesake," said Roby Christie, president of Streams and Valleys, a non-profit beautification group.

A three-tiered waterfall project got the nod from the city council on Dec. 3, and Christie said a fund drive begun last week has already raised $50,000 - almost one-fourth of the estimated $223,000 cost for

Columbia ordered to stay up

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Rain-laden clouds blocked Columbia's astronauts from landing in Florida for the second straight day today, and NASA directed them to stay in orbit for another 24 hours and try again Saturday.

"We are waving from KSC (Kennedy Space Center)," Mission Control communicator Fred Gregory radioed the crew just 22 minutes before Commander Robert Gibson was to have fired braking rockets to start a descent toward what would have been the first shuttle landing at this spaceport in nine months.

Gibson was told to circle the globe one more time and to aim for a touchdown on the dry lake bed at Edwards Air Force Base in the Mojave Desert at 5:40 a.m. PST (8:40 a.m. EST).

But Mission Control said that was a tentative decision, with officials wanting to take a look at Saturday's forecast to see if there was a possibility Columbia could land at the space center then.

Reagan not looking to checkup

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Reagan said he was "not lookng forward to" the first thorough examination of his colon since he had a cancerous tumor removed seven months ago.

The president's examination at Bethesda Naval Hospital just outside Washington called for a colonoscopy, an uncomfortable but rarely dangerous modern procedure used to examine the full length of the 5-foot-long large bowel. It is the same procedure that disclosed the 74-year-old president had a large malignant polyp at the upper end of his colon last year.

The examination was scheduled for this afternoon.

While posing for pictures with Coretta Scott King on Thursday, Reagan was asked if he were ready for the examination.

He laughed and replied he felt fine, but "some preparation continues overnight and into the next morning. I'm not looking forward to it at all."

The president then turned to Mrs. King and explained he was undergoing tests his doctors recommended he have six months after his surgery, which took place last July 13.

King is first black honored with sculptor

WASHINGTON (AP) - Coretta Scott King says she hopes the newly installed bust of her husband in the Capitol Rotunda will remind Americans that "we have much work yet to do" in achieving Martin Luther King Jr.'s dream of racial justice.

But Sen. Charles Mathias, R-Md., a leader in the long legislative battle to honor King's memory with a memorial sculpture in the halls of Congress, says his lasting monument is found elsewhere.

"When you see a lunch counter with black and white Americans eating together, when you see black and white children playing together in a school yard, when you see a bus in Birmingh voting booth in Selma, when you see black Americans and white Americans working together for a better life for all Americans, then you see his monument," Mathias said.

King, grandchild of slaves and martyred champion of racial equality, is the first black American to be accorded the honor of a sculpted likeness in the halis of Congress. His bust stands alongside Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and other heroes.

The larger-than-life bronze bust of the slain civil rights leader was unveiled Thursday by his widow in the Rotunda, as the applause of members of Congress, King's family and many of King's former civil rights lieutenants echoed in the lofty chamber.

"I hope this statue always reminds us that America's strength is in pluralism and its people's respect for one another," Mrs. King

Women should lose their fear

NEW YORK (AP) — Women should lose their fear of negotiating and use their natural talent to reach agreements that could further their careers, according to an expert on

"In fact, I think women are very often more skilled (than men) in negotiating because they are naturally caring, mothering, nurturing individuals," says Irene S. Ross, co-author of "Women and the Art of Negotiating."

Mrs. Ross, an administrative law judge with the New York State Department of Labor, believes negotiation is a tool every woman has to use, whether at home or on the "Negotiating is a constant activity we all engage in," she says. "Whenever two people meet with the intention of changing a relationship in some way, it's a negotiation.

"We're all negotiating all of the time, whether in our personal relations, or our business or career lives. Negotiating skills are applicable to anything you choose to do."

In writing the book, published by Simon and Schuster, Mrs. Ross teamed up with a longtime friend, Juliet Nierenberg, director of The Negotiation Institute. The two women have addressed organizations and conducted seminars on the art of negotiating in a number of

While the process of negotiation is basically the same for both men and women, they say, women often labor under certain disadvantages, some inherent and some resulting from their own misconceptions.

For example, a woman often comes to a negotiation with a fear of not succeeding, and her fear often makes her reluctant to assume responsibility for her part in the negotiation.

On negotiating in the workplace, the authors note, because some women feel insecure they operate on the assumption that the best defense is a good offense.

"This may be effective at times," they say, "but too often it results in a kind of stridency that sets people's teeth on edge and creates an instant wariness in the other party.

"The main thing to remember is to be yourself. Approach each situation with an open mind. Don't get hamstrung by a predetermined style that may not be appropriate.

"You can be soft, strong, inquiring, authoritative or even bitchy but whatever tack you take should be based on what you perceive as the requirements of that particular

Mrs. Ross, whose judicial role places a heavy emphasis on negotia-tions, describes the "open-mind" approach as helping provide a favorable "climate" for an agree-

"With every case I hear," she notes, "I'm responsible for the climate of my hearings. When people come in they're full of anxiety...and I can establish a climate by listening.

"That's an important aspect of negotiating: giving somebody attention, paying attention to what they say and what they don't say. Part of negotiating skills is learning to listen, along with asking questions to elicit information."

"As long as women expect to assume the major role in housekeeping and childrearing, and to sacrifice their professional interests to those of their husband, they will be less likely than men to select occupations like science and engineering that re-quire major educational and labor force commitments," said the

But Frankel says these problems come in the context of dramatic gains made in the last decade, and which appear to be continuing.

From 1972 to 1982, the percentage of women who received a science or engineering baccalaureate increased from 28 percent to 36 percent; those who got a master's degree went from 18 percent to 28 percent; and doctorates rose from 15 percent to 29 percent, he says.

"Before 1972, science and engineering was not a legitimate career for women," says Frankel. "But changes in women's selfperceptions were brought about by the women's movement and by the elimination of formal discrimina-

He restated, however, that the dual factors of salary discrimination and job promotion remain an inhibiting force in their careers.

In a 1984 survey of college freshmen, the OTA said 20 percent of the men questioned listed engineering as their field of choice, while only 3 percent of the women picked that career objective.

By contrast, the OTA said only 4 percent of the men, but 21 percent of the women, listed education, nursing or occupational and physical therapy as their preferred major.

Rodeo cowboy: Rough life but he loves it

GILBERT, Ariz. (AP) - Dirt gets smeared in his mouth, his skin is ripped and his body bounces on the ground like a football.

And it's like this nearly every day. But world champion rodeo cowboy Clay O'Brien Cooper of Gilbert loves

"It's all I work for, every day of the year revolves around the rodeo," said Cooper, 24. "I like the rewards and it's pretty much all I've ever done. I love the competition and conquering the animal."

Cooper, who earned $126,749 this year, won the 1985 team-roping world championship Dec. 15 in Las Vegas with Jake Barnes of Bloomfield, N.M. Cooper missed winning rodeo's 1985 Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association's Top Cowboy Award by $3,598 after finishing second to Lewis Field of Elk Ridge, Utah.

Barnes and Cooper's earnings this year, $99,048 each, are PRCA records. The previous best of $66,739 each was set by Tee Woolman and Leo Camarillo in 1982.

Cooper, who moved to Gilbert six years ago, grew up in Sylmar, Calif., near Los Angeles, where his father owned an arena. Local cowboys would come and battle for jackpots and Cooper would watch with rapt attention.

"I'd follow the cowboys I knew when they would go on tour, see how they were doing," he said. "I'd watch them in the arena and from then on, I knew I wanted to be a cowboy."

Don't forget the 100 rodeos a year and the traveling from rodeo to rodeo. The PRCA season starts Jan. 4 and ends with the world's richest rodeo, held Dec. 15 last year in Las Vegas. That adds up to an entire year spent chasing steers.

"Next year, there shouldn't be any reason why I can't win the Top Cowboy Award," he said. "I just have to work harder."

Cooper said he thinks he has an ideal body for an all-around cowboy. A stout 6-foot and 185 pounds, he is big enough to buildog the huge 700-pound steers and trim enough for the quickness of a champion roper.

"The hours, days and years of practice just take over when I'm in the box, waiting to bolt out," Cooper said. "I quickly think of my game plan but timing the barrier is the key. Tenths of a second could mean thousands of dollars.

"If you jump the gun, you're penalized 10 seconds. You can forget winning after that."

A good time for team-roping is about five seconds and for calfroping, about eight seconds, Cooper said. His best in calf roping is 7.7 seconds in Salt Lake City this year. He and Bret Beach set a Denver arena team-roping record of 4.7 seconds in 1982. World-record times are not kept because all arenas are different, disallowing any fair com-

Hereford High School's varsity girls' basketball team had a poor shooting night Thursday, but came out on top in a home game against Lubbock High, 39-35.

The victory gives the Whiteface girls a 5-5 District 3-5A record and a 6-8 overall record. The Hereford junior varsity girls scored a 46-38 win over Lubbock and now have a 4-9 season record.

On Tuesday night, Hereford High School plays at home against Plainview. The varsity game starts at 6 p.m. at the HHS gym, and the junior varsity game is set for 7:45 p.m. at the Stanton Junior High School gym.

The Whiteface varsity girls made just 15 of 46 field goal attempts against Lubbock High Thursday. Lubbock High blew its opportunity to come from behind when it missed five free throws in the fourth quarter, most of them one-and-one attempts.

Both teams scored just six points in the first quarter. Shelly Edwards gave Hereford its first lead of the game, 8-6, with a basket in the first half minute of the second quarter.

Lubbock tied the game up at 8-8 and then held a lead over Hereford until Natalie Sims hit a shot with 2:43 left in the first half to put Hereford back in the lead, 16-14. After Lubbock tied the score again at 16-16, Terry Valdez scored a three-point play with six seconds left to give the Whitefaces a 19-16 halftime lead.

Hereford's biggest lead of the second half came with 5:18 left in the third quarter. A basket by Sims gave Hereford a 25-18 lead.

Lubbock tied the game at 27-27 with a three-point play with 2:49 left in the third period. Hereford led 31-29 at the end of the quarter.

Hereford led the rest of the way, although Lubbock had several opportunities to move ahead of the Whitefaces. Twice Hereford had a six-point lead in the fourth quarter, 37-31 and 39-33.

Shelly Edwards was the only Hereford player in double figures, with 14 points. Natalie Sims, Susie Kalka, and Emma Gonzales each scored six points.

The leading rebounders for the Whitefaces were Gonzales with 14, Sims with eight and Kalka with seven. Other statistical leaders were Sims with four steals and Kalka with four assists.

The HHS junior varsity girls led Lubbock 11-7 at the end of the first quarter. At halftime, the score was Hereford then outscored Lubbock 16-6 in the third quarter enroute to its 46-38 win over Lubbock.

Jeanette Mumau led Hereford with 16 points. Lana Kosub scored nine points and Cindy Tice added seven more healing days

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) - It's nine day so I'm not concerned as much," more healing days before the Super Bowl for some sick Chicago Bears, and especially for injured quarterback Jim McMahon.

Coach Mike Ditka, himself a flu victim, said defensive end Richard Dent and running back Matt Suhey were both suffering from the flu and did not practice Thursday under the inflatable bubble covering the University of Illinois field.

"I know I couldn't practice," Ditka said, of the flu bug that hit the players Thursday morning.

Defensive tackle Steve McMichael also skipped practice with a knee injury. But it was McMahon, suffering from a badly bruised back, who caused the most concern as the Bears prepared for the Super Bowl against New England a week from Sunday. "He's really banged up. It's a bad bruise," Ditka said Thursday. "He may not work out at all this week.

"If the game was Sunday, I'd be concerned. But it's a week from SunDitka said.

It was doubtful backup quarterback Steve Fuller would start the Super Bowl, although Ditka said "anything's possible."

"He has no problem throwing the ball," Ditka said of McMahon. "He just can't move around much until he's feeling better."

"Three or four days (rest) can make a lot of difference to some guys," Ditka said.

Earlier Thursday, McMahon said that he was finished sliding in feetfirst, a maneuver designed to avoid injury. In the past he has preferred to smash head-on into opposing

"That's fine with me," Ditka said.

Ann Landers Should make life easier

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You've printed letters ind efense of waitresses, firefighters, salesclerks and secretaries. May I tell my story? I'm a Census Bureau interviewer.

I've been cursed, had doors slammed in my face and telephone receivers banged in my ear. People call me "nosy" and refuse to answer questions concerning jobs, family income, etc. They think the government is spying on them.

The Census Bureau works for the people. We interview selected addresses to get a good cross-section of America. We don't know or care who these people are.

Our statistics show only that two white retired people over 65 are living in a house 50 years old on a combined income of less than $5,000 per year. We interview these people eight times over a period of 16 months to see what changes have taken place during that time. Maybe she has become widowed and is forced to look for part-time work. We want to know this.

When you read that 53 percent of mothers with school-age children are in the labor force, it came from Census Bureau data.

We gather statistics on median income, single-parent families and the influx of Spanish-speaking people in the United States. When you hear that the average family has 2.2 children and both parents have to work, it comes from the Census Bureau. We report on the number of people who have stopped looking for work because they are discouraged, and what effect education has on earning power.

With these statistics and others, the Census Bureau takes the pulse of America. It is the bets way to find out in which direction our country is heading.

Census bureau employees are not 'nosy." We are sworn not to reveal any information except to other sworn Census employees. The information can be used for statistical purposes only. Violation of the oath is punishable by fine and imprisonment. No one - including the FBI, the CIA and the IRS-is allowed access to Census Bureau files.

So, please, the next time I call on you, don't attack me. I'm working for a living just like you.-N.T., CIN-CINNATI

DEAR CIN: Thanks for a letter that should make life easier for you and your colleagues. Glad you wrote.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have never seen my problem addressed in your column. Can you help me? I'm a woman who attracts psychologically disturbed men.

Every man I have dated in the past two years has been depressed, troubled or suicidal. Several women have written about relationships with men who use them, abuse them, live off them and so on. Your answer is always the same-seek professional help. Well, my problem is different. In reality I am not attracted to these men. They are attracted to

I'm in my mid-20s, well-educated, professional, a verage-looking, and have an outgoing personality. What's the solution, Ann?-LOOKING FOR AN UPBEAT RELATIONSHIP

DEAR LOOKING: Be less passive about the men you choose to spend time with. Go after men you enjoy and say no to those you sense are trying to latch on to you. In other words, do the choosing-don't get "chosen."

Ann Landers discusses teenage drinking-its myths, its realities. Learn the facts by reading "Booze and You-For Teen-Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 50 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

NEARING ZERO POPULATION GROWTH

When the number of births equals the number of deaths, a country approaches zero population growth, assuming, of course, that immigration is not a major factor. Although the U.S. population is still increasing, we are getting closer to zero population growth because of a decline in births.

By experienced officer

Nystagmus detected

In Dallas, the veteran police sergeant was headed for the police garage. He had just completed a 10-hour shift and was ready to get off and relax. Suddenly, a couple of blocks ahead, he saw a slow moving car cross in front of him. The car was being followed by a patrol unit with its red lights on and its siren wailing. The sergeant made a turn and fell in behind the patrol unit which managed to get the suspect's car stopped after another couple of blocks.

The young patrolman politely asked the driver to get out of the car, but the driver refused and simply looked at the officer without saying a word. After a second request was ignored, the officer opened the car door and demanded the driver to get out of the car, The driver began to grumble and complain, but reluctantly stepped from the car. During the conversation between the driver and the officer, the driver talked reasonably well and made good sense in what he was saying. He walked okay and was not overly unsteady, and although the smell of an alcoholic beverage was present, it was not as strong as you might suspect with someone who was really loaded. All this prompted the young officer to say to the sergeant, "I don't know what is wrong with this guy. He don't seem to be sick, and I don't think he is drunk. so I guess I'll just have to let

The sergeant told the officer, "Let's see if there is any nystagmus present in his eyes." The sergeant instructed the driver to watch the small pen light as it was moved back and forth in front of him. The driver's eyes could not follow the light smoothly and there was a pronounced jerking of his eyes at approximately 45 degrees. Also, there was a distinct jerking when the eyes reached their maximum limit to either side. These identifiable features of nystagmus are definite signs of intoxication.

The sergeant told the officer to arrest the driver for DWI and take him to the station for a breath or blood test. The sergeant casually predicted that the suspect's blood alcohol concentration (BAC) would be somewhere around .15 to .18. The suspect voluntarily agreed to take an intoxilyzer test which registered his BAC at .16. A person with a BAC of .10 or higher is legally intoxicated in Texas.

This is an example of a drunk driver that would have been "let go" if no one had known how to check for nystagmus in DWI suspects. This was a suspect that can "hold his liquor" and convince inexperienced officers that he is not drunk. However, nystagmus has no tolerance and can be detected by an experienced officer, no matter how well a person can

SS benefits should be considered

Workers in the Amarillo area suffering from a physical or mental impairment which prevents them from working should consider applying for Social Security disability benefits when it appears this condition will last 12 months or more, Jim Talbot, Social Security manager in Amarillo, said recently.

Social Security disability benefits can be paid to workers under 65, disabled widows and widowers 50 or over, and to unmarried adult children who become disabled before reaching 22.

Under Social Security, a worker is considered disabled if the worker has a condition which prevents him or her from doing any substantial gainful work and the condition is expected to last at least 12 months or result in

No payments can be made to a disabled worker, widow or widower for the first 5 months of the disability. Before a person applies for disability benefits, it will be helpful if he or she gathers certain information. This will help speed the application process, Talbot said. This in--The person's Social Securi-

TAKE MY ADVICE: DON'T

The Council was furious, and decided to kill the apostles. But one of their members, a Pharisee named Gamaliel. (an expert on religious law and very popular with the people), stood up and requested that the apostles be sent outside the Council chamber while he talked.

Then he addressed his colleagues as follows: "Men of Israel, take care what you are planning to do to these men! Some time ago there was that fellow Theudas, who pretended to be someone great. About 400 others joined him, but he was killed, and his followers were harmlessly

"After him, at the time of the taxation, there was Judas of Galilee. He drew away some people as disciples, but he also died, and his followers

"And so my advice is, leave these men alone. If what they teach and do is merely on their own, it will soon be overthrown. But if it is of God, you will not be able to stop them, lest you find yourselves fighting even against God."

The Council accepted his advice, called in the apostles, had them beaten, and then told them never again to speak in the name of Jesus, and finally let
