THIS IS AN eventful week in Hereford. Beautification Week is being sponsored by the Women's Division of Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce, and all residents of the community are being urged to participate in this project-not just this week, but all year long!

The annual All-Sports Banquet of the Whiteface Booster Club honored all athletes in high school last night. Congratulations to "Athletes of the Year" Paul Bell and Velma Arroyos, and all the media award winners in each sport.

Another big annual event of interest to all citizens is the Miss Hereford Pageant Saturday night, and the Chamber Singers will be presenting their annual spring concert Tuesday night and Sunday afternoon at the Fellowship Hall of First Baptist Church.

Also on the schedule this weekend is a convention here of the Panhandle Association of Oddfellows and Rebekahs. The Kidney Foundation is also sponsoring a dance here Saturday night.

148 Vote Absentee For Election

Fifty-nine persons cast absentee ballots for Saturday's Hereford Independent School District trustee election Tuesday, bringing the total number of voters to 148.

The deadline for absentee voting for Saturday's election was Tuesday afternoon. According to HSD Tax Assessor-Collector Fred Fox, the large number of absentee voters signifies "that a lot of people are going to be out of town because it's spring and a lot of people are interested in this election."

Incumbents James Gentry, Clark Andrews, Mack Tubb and Jim Arney are seeking re-election in the at-large election. Ernestina Tijerina, Elida Alonza and Sylvia Mae Wallace also are running. Four trustees will be chosen from the seven candidates.

A federal three-judge panel in Dallas during March ordered the election, ruling that Gentry, Andrews, Tubb and Arney were elected under an illegal voting system-the place method-and therefore could not remain on the board unless they sought re-election.

The ruling was a victory for Texas Rural Legal Aid attorneys, who represented three Deaf Smith County Mexican-American clients in a lawsuit against the school board.

Steps May Be Taken To Boost Heating Oil

WASHINGTON (AP) - An anticipated summer gasoline shortage may be made worse deliberately to keep heating oil flowing to homes next winter, says Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger.

Schlesinger said the administration may soon have to take steps to see that crude oil normally destined for refining into gasoline is used to make home heating oil instead.

Meanwhile, an administration proposal to give the president standby authority to save fuel by ordering weekend closings of gasoline stations has been turned down by an important House committee.

Schlesinger was scheduled to appear today before a House-Senate Economic subcommittee chaired by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to defend the president's recent decision to lift price controls on domestically produced oil.

Other witnesses called included Charles L. Schultz, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers; Alice Rivlin, director of the Congressional Budget Office; and several private economists.

Kennedy said today's hearing would "look at the whole range of direct and indirect economic impacts of oil

Floodwaters Begin To Recede After South Homes Destroyed

By The Associated Press
Retreating floodwaters have left a trail of destruction in Southeast Texas where federal officials say a "tremendous number of homes" have been flooded by the murky spillage from swollen rivers.

The Neches River and Pine Island Bayou crested as predicted Tuesday and began to inch away from the 78,000 sandbags stacked in Jefferson and Hardin counties.

More than 300 families still are isolated by water from Pine Island Bayou in the Lumberton area of Cook's Lake Road, but all sandbagging operations have been halted.

"With what we have seen, there's no doubt there are a tremendous number of homes flooded," said Roy Smith, Federal Disaster Assistance Administration operations officer. Smith and other FDAA surveyors flew over the soggy counties Tuesday. "There's no doubt in anyone's mind that the area needs federal assistance."

The U.S. Geological Survey reported spillage from the Pine Island Bayou had slowed from 22,000 cubic feet per second to 14,000 cubic feet per second. And emergency workers reported water that swirled out of Village Creek and into the Kountze area of Hardin County was down to just over 20 feet Tuesday afternoon.

"We still don't know how much damage there is until the water recedes," said L.D. Farrow of the Jefferson County Civil Defense office.

"Lots of people don't even know what kind of shape their homes are in."

Most of Orange County has dried out, although the Department of Public Safety has closed underpasses and freeway turnarounds on IH 10 near Vidor.

And authorities report retreating water in the Brushy Creek, Boggy Creek and Artesian Acres areas near Lumberton.

The news that no rain is forecast for the flood-weary area was welcomed by residents trying to clean out their drenched homes.

Gov. Bill Clements had asked that Jefferson, Orange, Hardin, Polk, Taylor, Harris, Liberty and Montgomery counties be declared federal disaster areas. Smith said Jasper, Chambers and Newton counties also are being considered.

Scattered thundershowers and thunderstorms were forecast today for Northeast Texas.

A cold front moved into the Panhandle during the night, but temperatures were

Grain Improvement Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) - Repeatedly stressing the uncertainty of predictions so early in the growing season, the Agriculture Department's forecasters expect only modest changes in soybean, food grain and feedgrain prices and supplies into 1980.

Feedgrain prices do have a good chance to rise next season, they said, if the weather is only slightly bad and if the pork and poultry markets continue their present expansion.

That's essentially what the Outlook and Situation Board has been saying all year. But Tuesday's formal update of current and 1979-80 supply and demand estimates did have some new wrinkles.

For one thing it placed increased emphasis on pork production. Sometimes twice a page, the forecasters noted that the weather is too unstable now for them to have a good feel for crop supplies, uses and prices.

Another new aspect was an improved outlook for the feedgrain market.

For example, a "sharper than expected expansion in pork production," along with more poultry to feed, caused the board to raise its estimate of corn going to feed this season by 100 million bushels.

That would mean 4.1 billion bushels of corn used for feed, compared to 3.71 billion in 1977-78. Depending on the new crop, which depends on the weather, animals could consume 3.9 billion to 4.4 billion bushels of a 1979-80 crop tentatively set at a range of 5.8 billion to 7 billion bushels.

Expanded hog and poultry production also means good movement of record soybean stocks, the board said.

It also raised by 25 million bushels its estimate of feed use of wheat this season, to 175 million. At the same time it hiked export projections by that amount, to almost 1.18 billion bushels. That will bring wheat stocks down to 951 million bushels in June after three years above 1 billion.

The board now expects feedgrain stocks at harvest this fall to total about 54 million metric tons, some 13 million above last fall but 3 million less than the last update foresaw.

Tentative planting intentions indicate the lowest feedgrain acreage since 1972 - 118 million acres - because of a shift to better-priced soybeans and sunflowers, the board said. And wet weather is delaying fieldwork, it noted.

Its best assessment now, it said, "suggests some reduction in supplies coupled with larger disappearance. Thus, stocks would likely decline, resulting in strong...prices."

But for wheat, soybeans, rice and cotton, the board sees either surpluses or renewed large crops offsetting both the strong demand from foreign markets and any reduced production because of smaller plantings or weather problems.

Chief economist and policy analyst Howard W. Hjort said this week that over-all average farm prices - the result of supply and demand shifts - probably have peaked for 1979 and most of 1980.

Senate Plans Fund Debate

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - After a last-minute skirmish over abortion, the House has passed a $20.3 billion two-year state budget bill that defies Gov. Bill Clements' hold-the-line demands.

An 87-51 vote, with all but 23 House Republicans voting "no," sent the bill to the Senate, where that chamber's version of the bill has yet to reach the floor.

Clements wants $1 billion left over for property tax relief but the House bill - not counting $269 million earmarked to avoid scheduled local school tax increases - leaves only $261 million for tax relief or other expenditures.

The governor said he hopes the final budget is lower than the House' bill, which tops his spending recommendation by some $500 million.

"There are many steps left in the appropriations process before a final budget bill is agreed on. I am disappointed that the House did not provide for more tax relief, but I am still hopeful the final conference committee report will be more realistic and will leave on the table sufficient funds for additional tax reduction in the range that I have recommended," Clements said in a statement.

Shortly before the final House vote, Rep. Clay Smothers, D-Dallas, tried to add a rider prohibiting expenditure of state money for abortions for women on welfare.

Needing a two-thirds vote, the rider failed, 79-43, with 12 present but not voting.

Smothers conceded the Texas Department of Human Resources still could spend federal money on welfare abortions within the restrictions of the so-called Hyde Amendment.

"We can't control the federal government but we can control state dollars. ... There are many who feel abortion is murder. I happen to be one who falls in that category," said Rep. Tim Von Dohlen, D-Goliad, a supporter of Smothers' amendment.

Opponents said Smothers' amendment would interfere with abortion to save the lives of expectant mothers or for victims of rape. The Hyde Amendment, however, allows the use of federal funds for abortions for those purposes.

Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston, contended Smothers was just trying to "get a little more press" with his amendment.

"I haven't got any press this session that would get me re-elected," replied Smothers, whose career has been marked with feuds with reporters and

Bergland Announces Boycott Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) - Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland is suggesting that high-priced beef to a consumer is a little like a high-priced tractor to a farmer: "If you can't afford it, don't buy it."

But Bergland said Tuesday he is opposed to a planned consumer boycott of beef or "meatless days" to protest high prices.

"I think we who consume should buy what we can afford," he said. "There is no way to alleviate a shortage except by price."

Bergland told the annual meeting of the Newspaper Farm Writers of America that beef supplies will not increase until cattle producers finish rebuilding herds two or three years from now.

Until that happens, he said, prices will stay high and the limited amount of beef available will go to those with enough money to buy it.

The Agriculture Department's chief economist, Howard W. Hjort, told the group Monday that meat consumption in the first three months of the year apparently dropped by 1.5 pounds a person.

But consumers still are spending only 4.8 percent of their after-tax income on meat, the second smallest portion on record, so incomes must be keeping pace with prices, Hjort said.

The Agriculture Department now expects retail prices for all cuts of beef combined to average more than 20 percent higher this year than last year's record $1.82 a pound.

Cattle producers began reducing herds sharply in 1975 because of sagging market prices that government and industry economists say were caused by a 1973 consumer boycott, price controls and high feed prices in 1973 and 1974.

★ Fact Finder ★

Q-What can be done about people who put their garbage and trash outside the dumpster instead of in it?

A-The question is an appropriate one during Beautification Week in Hereford. According to City Attorney Earnest Langley, the only law possibly being broken by persons laying trash beside the city trash containers is littering. To prosecute a litterer, a person must file a complaint with the Hereford Police Department, then the chief or municipal judge must determine the validity of the case, which, if approved, would be tried in municipal court. City officials say there is nothing that can be done about depositing tree limbs outside containers because of the large number of people who lay their cuttings in the alley. However cutting will be picked up as they accumulate throughout the city.

Employment Program Scheduled

Applications are being accepted for the Deaf Smith County Summer Youth Employment Program, it was announced this week by Loretta Kindsfather, coordinator of the county's Comprehensive Employment and Training Act program.

Applications may be obtained through May 31 in Mrs. Kindsfather's office, located in room 301 of the courthouse, or in the office (Room 122) of Hereford High School vocational adjustment coordinator Gene Brock.

The program will begin June 4. Young people between the ages of 14 and 22 from lower-income families will be eligible to apply, according to guidelines established by the federal CETA program.

Jobs will be available at various county and city worksites. Length of employment will average eight weeks, Mrs. Kindsfather said.

Senate Defeats Bilingual Ed Extension

fourth and fifth grades if enough children need it.

The sponsor needed 21 votes to bring up the bill, but senators voted 19-12.

"The whole purpose of the program is to help children stay in school, become fluent in English and do good in school," said Truan, D-Corpus Christi.

"We're not mandating something," Truan added. "The local school district still would identify the children who need the program."

Local schools must provide access to bilingual instruction in kindergarten through the third grade if there are at least 20 children within a grade level who need it. The State Board of Education refused to extend the program in November.

Truan's bill would cost the state an additional $2 million in 1980 and $2.5 million in 1981. In addition to extending bilingual instruction, it would authorize schools to offer English improvement courses to Spanish-speaking pupils in the sixth to 12th grades.

Sen. Jack Ogg, D-Houston, joined with Truan, who was then a House member, to sponsor the original bilingual education bills.

"In 1973, when the first bilingual program passed, it was agreed it would go through the third grade on a trial basis," Ogg said. "We've seen that kindergarten through the third grade will still not bring all of them into the mainstream."

After the vote, Truan said he will try to switch two votes and probably will ask the Senate to reconsider his bill soon.

"I thought I had 20 votes firm," he said. "I was hoping that one of the four Republicans would vote with me. I was hopeful that the governor's endorsement would have helped."

TCLU Criticizes Wiretapping Bill

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A Senate bill which would legalize wiretapping in narcotics investigations was blasted Tuesday by a Texas Civil Liberties Union representative.

Citing a six-year study of a federal wiretapping law under which 2.7 million conversations were monitored, John Duncan said most convictions resulting from electronic surveillance involved gambling.

"We have seen the invasion of privacy of 200,000 Americans in an effort to close down bookie joints," he said.

Senate committee action on the bill was delayed after the sponsor was unable to secure six votes needed to send the measure to the floor.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. Ed Howard, D-Texas, permits wiretapping by Department of Public Safety agents investigating trafficking in narcotics.

Electronic surveillance could be authorized only by the presiding judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals acting on a request by a regional DPS office.

A provision of the bill allowing electronic surveillance in marijuana smuggling investigations has been dropped from the bill, Howard said.

5 Lawsuits Filed Over Nuclear Incident

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The nuclear reactor accident at Three Mile Island already has led to five lawsuits filed in behalf of area residents who claim the crisis has hurt their businesses, depressed values of their property and caused them mental and bodily harm.

And it may take years to resolve the legal issues growing out of the March 28 incident that caused the biggest scare in the history of this country's commercial nuclear energy program.

None of the class action suits, which effectively blanket all 636,000 people and merchants living within 20 miles of the plant, seeks a specific dollar amount in total damages. Lawyers say the hefty tab still is being computed.

But three of the suits estimate damage will at least match the $560 million limit established by a 22-year-old federal law to pay the costs of a nuclear accident.

"I've been here 20 years and I don't remember anything quite like this," said Ken Mulholland, federal clerk of courts who received four of the suits.

"I think there will be more coming."

Jury Says Cuevas Guilty of Killing

HOUSTON (AP) — Death by injection or a second life sentence once again face convicted murderer Ignacio Cuevas today as the jury that declared him guilty of causing the death of a prison librarian decides his punishment.

Cuevas' conviction Tuesday by a six-man, six-woman jury was his second for causing the death of Julia Standley during a bloody, 1974 escape attempt from a state prison following an 11-day siege — the longest in U.S. penal history.

Mrs. Standley and another librarian hostage, Elizabeth Beseda, were shot to death as three convicts attempted to escape from a prison unit called The Walls in Huntsville.

Fred Carrasco, Rudolph Dominguez and Cuevas, who was serving 45 years on a 1971 murder conviction, hid within a moveable shield of lawbooks and chalkboards surrounded by 11 handcuffed hostages.

Carrasco, Dominguez and the two female hostages were shot to death as they attempted to move down a ramp from the third-floor prison library to an armored truck waiting at the bottom.

Cuevas lived to be tried in 1975, and was convicted by a nine-man, three-woman jury that deliberated a little more than two hours. The jury took 20 hours to recommend that he be given the death penalty.

Red River Climbs Toward Record Heights

By The Associated Press

The rampaging Red River, bolstered by new rains and even snow, climbed toward record heights as fatigued volunteers plugged leaky dikes and reinforced piled sandbags, eroding after eight days of severe flooding.

"The wear on the people is a little visible, but morale is up and we'll fight for two more days," said Jay Graba, assistant flood control coordinator at Grand Forks, N.D., where the Red was not expected to crest at 49.5 feet on Thursday or Friday. Flood stage is 28 feet.

In Mississippi, flood waters from the Pearl River slackened and officials predicted some of the 4,000 persons who fled Columbia, Miss., might start returning home Thursday.

The Army Corps of Engineers said the flooding in the Red River Valley that separates North Dakota and Minnesota will be the most expensive in the area's history. Preliminary damage estimates for North Dakota and Minnesota total $45.7 million, with 425,000 acres in North Dakota and 274,000 in Minnesota under water, the corps said.

Weather

Partly cloudy today not as warm most sections. Fair and cooler tonight and Thursday. Highs upper 70s northwest to middle 90s extreme south. Lows tonight low 40s Panhandle and mountains to middle 50s southeast. Highs Thursday low 70s Panhandle to near 90 extreme south.

photographers. The appropriations bill includes funds to give all teachers a 7 percent annual cost of living raise at a cost of $420 million.

Also in the bill is money to raise rank-and-file state employees' by 7 percent a year, but only on their first $20,000 of salary.

State college and university faculty and staff would get 5.1 percent annual pay raises.

In the Senate, members refused to consider a bill that would extend bilingual education to the fourth and fifth grades. The State Board of education also has rejected additional instruction.

Local districts must provide bilingual instruction in kindergarten and the first three grades if 20 students within a grade-level need it.

Sen. Carlos Truan needed 21 votes to bring up his bill but fell short, 19-12. Truan, D-Corpus Christi, says he will try to switch two votes and ask for reconsideration soon.

The Senate also backed away from a controversial rule that prevents high school athletes from attending private football and basketball camps in the summer. Sen. Ron Clower, D-Austin, is sponsoring a bill to abolish the rule of the University Interscholastic League.

Clower also needed a two-thirds vote to debate his measure, but received 16-14 support.

Senators passed and sent to the House a bill that would add public members to the Texas Real Estate Commission. Under the sunset act, the commission will cease functioning this year unless renewed by the Legislature.

Flooding

expected to drop only slightly with nights in that area to reach the 70s. Forecasts called for partly cloudy skies for the remainder of the state. Highs were to be mostly in the 80s and lower Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 50s and 60s. Extremes ranged from 56 at Dalhart to 68 at McAllen.

Overtime Said To Hurt Marriages

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Marriages founder when a company forces employees to work overtime, a labor union chaplain said Monday.

"It's devastating, the impact that it has on families," the Rev. Leroy Hubley of San Antonio told the Senate Economic Development Committee. "It is not the work load that we carry that breaks us and leaves us fatigued. It's the inner load."

Hubley is chaplain of Local 1243 of the Communication Workers of America, AFL-CIO.

He testified in favor of a bill that would give employees a legal basis for refusing to work more than 40 hours a week, except in emergency situations.

"Employers find that it's cheaper in the long run to work the work force they have longer hours and pay premium pay rather than to hire an adequate number of employees," said Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, the bill's sponsor.

The committee sent the bill to a subcommittee after hearing support from several Southwestern Bell employees and opposition from the telephone company.

B.J. Benfer, a CWA member and Bell employee, said his son also works for Bell.

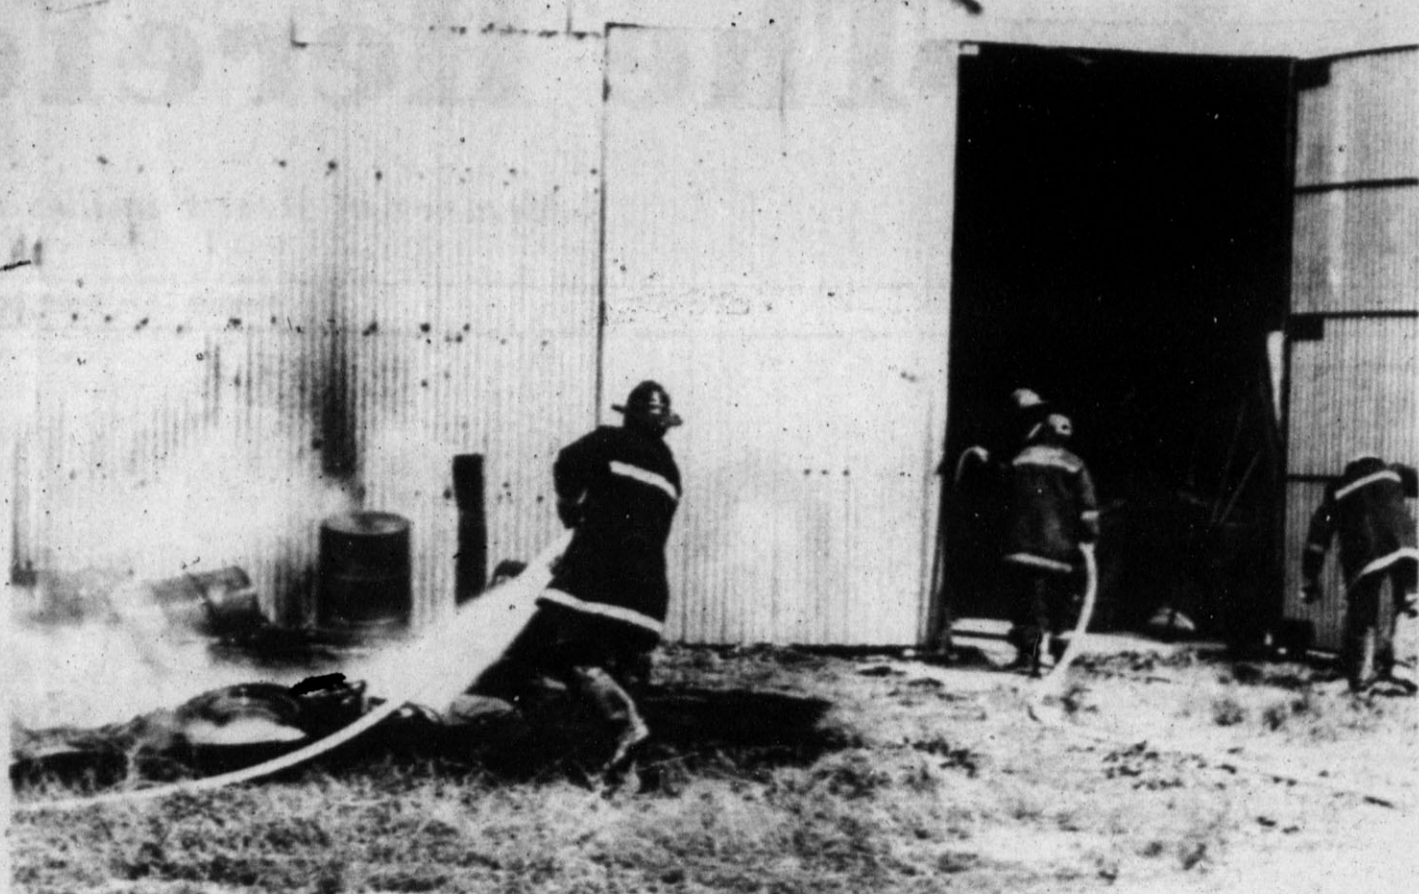

The son told his supervisor a week in advance that he could not work overtime the following Saturday evening because his sister was getting married, Benfer said.

"He reminded the supervisor again that day," Benfer added. "My son refused to go out again after his shift was over and he was suspended. He made a grievance and got his money back, but he did have to go through that harassment."

Alan Ferrell, Bell personnel matters coordinator, said employees are told they may be required to work overtime when they are hired.

"In reality, this would hamstring every business in the state of Texas by injecting state intervention in an area best left to employees and management," Ferrell said.

"Supervisors have to weigh the employee's reasons and the customers' needs," Ferrell added.

10 Billion Jobs Added

NEW YORK (AP) — Besieged as they are by criticism about inflation, energy problems and other woes, economic policy-makers can claim one success in the past few years.

Since the 1973-75 recession, some 10 billion new jobs have been created in the United States. Last year alone, total employment rose by 3.6 million. By early 1979, the percentage of working-age people drawing paychecks reached a record high of 59.4. And as of March, the unemployment rate was down to 5.7 percent, lowest in 4½ years.

"Over the past four years, employment has enjoyed the strongest cyclical recovery in the postwar period," economists Carol Brock Kenney and Leslie J. Moran at the Wall Street firm of Loeb Rhoades, Hornblower & Co. noted.

But economics is not called "the dismal science" for nothing. With all those impressive statistics, the present and future employment picture is still fraught with problems and uncertainties.

There is, of course, the stubborn issue that the experts refer to as structural unemployment — the scarcity of jobs for groups such as teen-age blacks even in the best of times.

In addition, some economy-watchers are warning that the high current level of employment in many key areas of business might in itself hasten the onset of a slowdown later this year.

Chicago's Continental Bank is concerned about the shortage of people to fill many skilled labor and white-collar jobs, where unemployment rates are extremely low.

"The degree of tightness in the skilled labor market is far greater than the overall unemployment rate might indicate," the bank observed in a recent report.

"...The supply of skilled workers is likely to remain tight through most of 1979. This is likely to result in some further upward pressures on wages, particularly in the face of high inflation."

That, of course, would mean an added force working against the Carter administration's effort to make its wage guidelines stick. On top of that, any shortages of qualified workers would themselves be a drag on the economy — "labor itself acting as a constraint to growth," in the words of the Loeb Rhoades economists.

So you have a choice. You can worry about a recession leading to increased unemployment, or you can worry about increased employment leading to a recession.

La Plata Nets I, II Ratings

La Plata's band is under the direction of Jim Priest.

Stanton Junior High, directed by Layne Sorenson, earned a II in concert and IV in sight reading in the contest, which attracted junior high school bands from throughout the Panhandle.

Canyon Junior High led all comers in the large-school division with I ratings in both concert and sight reading.

Hereford High competes in the high school UIL contest today.

Mutilation Meeting Held

Deaf Smith County Sheriff Travis McPherson has returned from Albuquerque, N.M., where he heard testimony on livestock mutilations from veterinarians, scientists and flying saucer experts from throughout the country.

McPherson was invited by U.S. Senator Harrison Smith, D-New Mexico, who called the conference. Deaf Smith County was the scene of numerous cattle mutilations last year and received nationwide attention for the mysterious occurrences.

Approximately half of those attending the conference were law enforcement officials. Several Indian governors and chiefs also testified, along with UFO experts, who tried to link mutilations with visitors from other planets.

Smith said he would organize a task force, headed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, to investigate reports of livestock mutilations throughout the Southwest and West in recent years.

McPherson attended the conference with his wife.

Diner Break-In Investigated

Police are still investigating the Sunday break-in at the Abalos Lili Diner on E. Highway 60.

Taken in the burglary was an assortment of meat, along with appliances and salt and pepper shakers.

Debbie Pinkerton, 106 W. 8th, told police she left her wallet inside TG&Y Family Center, W. Park Ave., and returned later to find it had been stolen. It contained $280 in cash, her driver's license and Social Security card, and two checks.

Someone apparently cut two tires on a vehicle owned by Lucy Garcia, 401 Lawton, sometime after midnight Tuesday.

Police arrested a 16-year-old male on six counts of burglary in connection with recent house break-ins.

Also arrested Tuesday was a black male, who allegedly stole $2.97 worth of gas from Allsup's No. 112, N. 25 Mile Ave. Police said the arrest was made after they obtained a description of the man's pickup.

Pageant to Feature Denizens of Disco

Boogie fever has spread to the Miss Hereford Pageant where disco will be the central theme Saturday night in the high school auditorium.

It will literally be Saturday Night Fever as the 26 contestants pay homage to the disco rage while competing for the Miss Hereford and Miss Teen scholarships.

A special entertainment spot will feature R. Chris Haley III and Kay Alexander Schachter in a disco dance number. Both have mastered various forms of dance; but specialize in disco. Haley, a senior at West Texas

State University, intends to pursue a theatrical career after receiving his bachelor of arts degree in marketing. A native of Borger, he graduated from Frank Phillips College, where he starred in Jean Kerr's "Mary, Mary," Neil Simons' "Last of the Redhot Lovers" and "Life at the Crossroads," a melodrama.

Kay Schachter, formerly of Hereford is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Alexander, 131 Kingwood. Following graduation from Hereford High School in 1971, she attended Colorado University at Boulder, Colo. for two years. For four years, she was employed by two respected retail clothing stores in Denver. She now resides in Amarillo, where she is employed by Alexander's in Western Plaza. She is a student at West Texas State University, also.

Tickets for Saturday night's pageant, being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division, are on sale now at the Chamber of Commerce Office and both local banks. Admission will cost $3, which includes the price of a program.

Shower Honors Manning

A bridal shower was given in honor of Miss Kathy Manning, the bride-elect of Kevin Burns, Saturday in the home of Lois Lemons.

With chosen colors of yellow and green, a centerpiece of yellow mums, pink roses, and babybreath decorated a table laid with white cloth over green. Crystal appointments and yellow floral-print napkins accented the arrangements.

Green punch with a pineapple ring, cookies, sandwiches, and nuts were served to those present.

Corsages of yellow miniature daffodils were presented to Cindy Jones of Amarillo, sister of the bride-elect; Mrs. Tom Manning from Fredrick, Okla., her grandmother; and Kathy and Barbara Manning.

The couple plan to wed May 12 at Central State University in Edmond, Okla.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mary Herring, Betty

Owen, Georgia Sparks, Marlene Watson, Helen Eades, Helen Lee, Lavon Nieman, Joyce Allred, Frances Crume, Doris Hair, Ruth Black, Carolyn Baxter, Marie Stringer, Sarah Hazelrigg and Theda Seiver.

Slaton Art Show Scheduled May 12

Interested persons are invited to enter the ninth annual Slaton Art Show May 12 to be staged from 1-4:30 p.m. in Slaton's Lubbock Country Club House, 750 W. Garza.

Entry fee will be $3 per item and paintings and drawings in all media are not to exceed 75 pounds. A 20 percent commission will be charged on all sales.

Entries will be received at the Club House from 6-8 a.m. on May 11 and from 8-11 a.m. on May 12. No entries will be accepted after 11 o'clock on the 12th. The Club House will be closed for judging from 11 a.m. - 1 p.m.

Entries must be claimed between 4:30-5:30 on the 12th. All entries must stay in the Club House until 4:30.

All work must be original and not previously exhibited at Slaton. Pictures and drawings must be securely wired for hanging. No wet paint entries will be accepted.

Cash awards in the following amounts are to be presented: Best of Show $150; First Place $125; Second Place $100; Third Place $75; and Honorable Mention $60. Ribbons will be given in each division.

Serving as juror will be Duward Campbell of Lubbock.

Further information is available from Pat Moses at 828-5383, Ada May Robinson 828-6304, or the Chamber of Commerce 828-6328.

The exhibition is being sponsored by the Slaton Chamber of Commerce Women's Division.

Ann Landers

Heavy Sleepers

DEAR READERS: I believe I have heard from nearly every heavy sleeper in the North American continent -- as well as their mothers, sisters, brothers, spouses, roommates or offspring. They are all suggesting various forms of punishment for me. (1) I should be hanged by my thumbs for a week. (2) Twenty lashes with a knotted-up bedsheet. (3) My eyes should be propped open with toothpicks for 48 hours. (4) I deserve to be strangled with the cord of an electric alarm clock. These are a few of the printables.

It seems I enraged an awful lot of folks with my answer to the young woman whose 22-year-old brother simply couldn't get out of bed in the morning unless she dragged him out. I suggested that the possibility that the guy might be a pot-head, on heavier drugs, boozed up or beered up. I also added, "Tell him that whatever he's been doing to knock himself unconscious at bedtime, he'd better stop."

Here are a few samples of the week's mail:

From Aderdeen S.D.: Dear Ann Landers: I am a 30-year-old wife and mother of four. I can sleep through an earthquake, a thunderstorm in a canvas-topped camper and three alarm clocks. I have never been on drugs, beer or booze, and an answer like yours in the newspaper sure didn't help me with my family. Thanks for the "klop in the chops" -- a phrase I picked up from your column a few years back. -- No Name Please, I've Had Enough

From Lincoln, Neb.: Some friend you turned out to be. For years I have been a heavy sleeper and my family was very understanding. My wife puts ice-cold rags on my face to wake me up in the morning and she has never complained. My two children have had to literally pull me from the bed onto the floor. They never criticized me for it. Today your lousy column says heavy sleepers are probably on pills or booze. It was waiting for me at the breakfast table -- along with some very suspicious faces. For someone who is supposed to be helping people, you sure do make a lot of trouble. -- Burning In Bridgeport

From Tulsa: Why did it have to be pot or pills or beer or booze that made Brother such a sound sleeper? Haven't you ever heard of irregular brain waves? This was the reason a member of our family could not get out of bed in the morning no matter how hard he tried. It always took special effort on the part of someone who cared enough to see that he got to work on time. I hope you are ashamed of yourself. -- See A Doc, Sis

So, dear Readers, I am eating my words. Chomp. Chomp. Chomp. Heavy sleepers don't necessarily have to be beered up, boozed up, pot-heads, or pill poppers. They may have "irregular brain waves" or they could be naturally heavy sleepers. The advice I should have given in the first place comes from three separate

May 6 Social To Benefit Lookingbill

A love offering for the Bill Lookingbill Hospital Fund will be taken during an ice cream supper at Summerfield Baptist Church Sunday, May 6. The social is to be held from 2:30-4:30 p.m.

The legacy of Watergate

WASHINGTON (NEA) — No matter how long they're here, President Carter and his Georgians will apparently never understand the deep and ineradicable scars which Watergate left upon the Washington "establishment."

Attorney-General Griffin Bell merely proved the point anew with his bumbling bid to defuse the politically sensitive investigation of Carter's peanut business by the appointment of a "special counsel."

Even Democrats sympathetic to the president were astonished when Bell initially tried to limit the powers delegated to his chosen counsel, Republican attorney Paul J. Curran of New York, although only Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd had the courage to voice such criticism openly.

They knew he was asking for trouble — and Capitol Hill Republicans quickly gave it to him with unified howls of "double standard" and "cover-up."

Bell seemed genuinely startled and perplexed by the uproar his move provoked in the political community and in the press here. To his credit, he acted quickly to repair the damage, drafting a charter which gives special counsel Curran virtually all of the power and authority the Watergate special prosecutors previously enjoyed.

Had the attorney general been around Washington — rather than Atlanta — five or six years ago, he would never have made such a misstep to begin with.

Bell's gaffe was merely the latest in a series committed by the Carterites since their arrival in Washington.

The White House, from President Carter to press secretary Jody Powell, rather badly bobbed their first test under fire when they allowed the Bert Lance affair to drag on for the entire summer of 1977 before severing ties with the former budget director.

First there was Carter's fervent and premature expression of undying confidence in Lance — which sounded, to Washington ears — like the echo of another president's equally misdirected praise of Messrs. Haldemah and Ehrlichman.

Then there was Jody Powell's attempt to plant with a Chicago newspaper unfounded and untrue rumors about one of Lance's chief critics, GOP Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois. The press immediately saw Ron Ziegler reborn — and a chastened Powell was forced to apologize.

The dismissal of U.S. Attorney David Marston in Philadelphia following a telephone call to the president by a Democratic congressman under investigation by Marston's office was another blunder that no veteran of the Watergate era would ever have made.

And it is difficult to imagine that any president who had been in Washington when Richard Nixon resigned in the face of impeachment proceedings would have been so quick to invite him to the White House to celebrate the renewal of diplomatic relations with the People's Republic of China.

Carter has suffered little if any lasting political damage from these various lapses. Opinion polls continue to show that the public has a high regard for his integrity and personal rectitude.

But he and his administration have suffered temporary setbacks and criticism which could easily have been avoided by anyone sensitive to the emotional legacy of Watergate.

In Georgia and elsewhere around the nation, Watergate may seem like ancient history now. In Washington, it is still an exposed nerve on the body politic — one which Carter and his associates keep inadvertently striking.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, April 25, the 115th day of 1979. There are 250 days left in the year.

On this date in 1959, the St. Lawrence Seaway was opened to shipping, enabling ocean vessels to reach inland ports on the Great Lakes.

On this date:

Minnow Law Repealed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, by a 7-2 vote Tuesday, struck down an Oklahoma law that prohibited the transportation or shipment of minnows for out-of-state sales.

The justices ruled that the law violates the portion of the Constitution that bars states from interfering in interstate commerce.

In so ruling, the justices reversed an 1895 Supreme Court decision that had said such state action does not interfere with interstate commerce, because states enjoy certain powers as "owner" of all wild animals within their borders.

Tuesday's decision thus represents the 164th time in the court's 190-year history that it has changed its mind. Eighty-four years ago, the court ruled that Connecticut could bar certain game birds lawfully killed within its borders from being transported outside the state.

In that ruling, the court reasoned that since Connecticut, acting for all its residents, owned the wild game within the state, withholding the game from interstate commerce would not violate the Constitution.

"The overruling of the 1895 ruling does not leave the states powerless to protect and conserve wild animal life within their borders," Justice William J. Brennan Jr. wrote for the court.

"Today's decision makes clear, however, that states may protect this legitimate purpose only in ways consistent with the basic principle that our economic unit is the nation and that when a wild animal becomes an article of commerce its use cannot be limited to the citizens of one state to the exclusion of citizens of another state," he said.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, and Justice William H. Rehnquist dissented, voted to uphold Oklahoma court rulings that the state law was valid.

The law was challenged by William Riley Hughes, a licensed commercial minnow dealer from Archer County, Texas.

Hughes was arrested in Waurika, Okla., in 1976 after purchasing minnows worth $350 from Fred Schokey of Purcell, Okla., while returning to Texas with his cargo.

The decision reverses Hughes' conviction and $200 fine.

Summit To Be Protected

TOKYO (AP) — Police have begun a nationwide security check and are buying $1 million in bullet-proof cars for what they intend to be the best-protected international summit meeting ever held.

The nation's entire 200,000-man police force eventually will be involved in security for the meeting of seven heads of state in June and a state visit preceding it by President Carter, said Tomoharu Yoda, chief superintendent of the national police security division. Leaders of France, Britain, Canada, Italy, West Germany, the United States, and host Japan, will meet in Tokyo.

"We will use 25,000 police per day in Tokyo during the two-day meeting including 15,000 riot police," he said. With the guard for Carter's expected state visit before the summit, the country's entire police force will be involved.

Traffic jams will be a problem in already overcrowded Tokyo because, Yoda said, streets will be blocked off around the state guest house, where the meetings will be held; the New Otani Hotel, where staff and reporters will be staying; at embassies if the heads of state choose to stay in them, and along the travel routes of the leaders.

Yoda said the police were considering asking police not to drive their cars during the summit, especially in the busy Alaska area where the meeting is to be held.

He said police expect "many demonstrations" by leftists and other radical students. Demonstrations will not be allowed at the conference site or along the travel routes, he said, but permits apparently will be issued for other areas.

"The racial leftists were able to gather 6,000 to 10,000 people at Narita the new international airport north of Tokyo, subject of violent opposition over the past few years. We expect many more in Tokyo, which is more convenient," Yoda said.

Many of the leftists are not united, he said, so they are more likely to stage many small demonstrations than one large one.

Yoda said the possibility of problems from organized terrorist groups was "remote," but international police organizations and other countries are cooperating in checking on such groups. He said stringent precautions are being taken to keep known terrorists out of Japan.

The 4,000 journalists expected to cover the summit are being screened carefully but "discreetly," Yoda said. Police are handling press credentials for the 3,000 Japanese journalists expected, and embassies of the countries involved are issuing credentials "under severe checks" to their own journalists. Police and the foreign ministry are taking care of the rest.

Seven bulletproof limousines are being ordered from the United States at a cost of nearly $1 million, Yoda said.

A nationwide apartment check is being done through neighborhood police "boxes." In Japan, each neighborhood has one of these tiny police stations, and their officers will have to vouch for the residents of every apartment in their area. Those they are not sure of will be searched by police, Yoda said.

Only apartments are being checked, not homes. Officials indicated this was because apartment dwellers were more transient.

Japanese police are not too worried about the bane of many other security forces — the single insane or enraged person with a gun who attacks, with little regard for his own safety.

Robinson Approved As District Judge

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee approved on Monday President Carter's nomination for four new U.S. district judges in Texas.

The nominees, whose names now go to the Senate floor for confirmation, are:

David O. Belew Jr., a Fort Worth attorney; Robert M. Parker, an attorney in Longview, Texas; Mary Lou

Robinson, chief justice of the Court of Civil Appeals in Amarillo, Texas; and Barefoot Sanders, an attorney in Dallas.

The committee approved the nominations unanimously with no debate.

If confirmed as expected, the nominees will fill four of the 117 new U.S. District Court positions created by Congress last year.

Books Available

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Anyone wanting to see what textbooks are being offered for use in Texas schools can examine them personally, the Texas Education Agency said.

Beginning May 1, copies of every book submitted to the TEA will be available to the public at each of the 20 regional education service centers throughout the state.

The TEA said all major publishers are expected to submit proposed textbooks in secondary school subjects. There are no elementary school materials called for in the 1979 procedures.

A series of public hearings will be held in Austin beginning Aug. 13 to give citizens a chance to appear before the State Board of Education adopts textbooks at its Nov. 10 meeting.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

News From The Lodge

Wakan Ki Lo Horizon Club, sponsored by Marsh Cattle Company recently finished their six weeks project, Business Torch Bearer.

Meeting at McDonald's with hostess Sally Sanchez the group was given a tour of the business. They first were shown the basement where all supplies and the meat locker are located. Then they were shown how McDonald's hamburgers were made by Joe Garcia. The group was then given a tour of the front counter, drive-up window, and the process of making French fries by acting hostess, Sally Sanchez. Members present were also given a brief history of McDonalds.

After the tour, members were served cokes and French fries, and Sally Sanchez was presented with a Horizon Club Pin in appreciation for the tour by Kelly Killough.

A short business meeting was then conducted and the girls were given their "No Greater Love" emblems and "Business Torch Bearer."

The agenda for their trip to Lubbock was discussed and it was announced that this will be their last meeting for the group this year.

Those present were Susan Brown, Rhonda Hollowell, Kelly Killough, Deanna Pool, Cristi Crawford, and leaders, Paula Eubanks and Glenice Thompson.

If you have some heavy cream left over and have no immediate use for it, you can whip it (adding sugar to taste or omitting it) and freeze it to use as a dessert topping another time. It's a good idea to put the whipped cream into small paper cups placed on a small cookie sheet and freeze; when the cream is frozen, you can store the little cups in a tightly closed plastic bag in the freezer.

Old-fashioned recipes for popovers directed that the egg whites be beaten separately. Popovers made from modern recipes that omit this step are just as delicious as the old-time ones.

FREE

Very few things in this life are free.

"Free lunches" are not free.

"Free federal funds" are not free.

"Free public education" may be one of the most misunderstood phrases in our society.

The Hereford Independent School District's Board of Trustees consists of seven board members. A recent Federal Court decision has made it necessary for all seven Board members to be elected within a three week period of time. You elected three of these Trustees on April 7, 1979.

Saturday, April 28 is again election day. For the first time in 30 years, a majority of the Board of Trustees will be elected on the same day. The voters on Saturday will elect four trustees.

Will you please vote this Saturday?

Don't let a small percentage of registered voters tell you who will exercise control over the education of our children.

Don't let a small percentage of registered voters tell you who will exercise control over the amount of taxes you pay.

Seven candidates are on the ballot. Please select those four whom you believe you will want to exercise these controls.

Select those four who can understand the magnitude of a multi-million dollar annual budget.

Select those four who understand that the word FREE is a word which is very often abused and misused.

Please vote on Saturday. It is your right and your DUTY.

Arroyos, Bell Tabbed Athletes of Year

By MARC HERRING
Brand Sports Editor

Paul Bell and Velma Arroyos shared the spotlight last night as each received the honor as Hereford High School's male and female athlete of the year.

Arroyos, a three time regional qualifier in cross country and the 880 yard dash and was also a part of the regional qualifying mile relay team for three consecutive years.

Along with the outstanding athlete award, Miss Arroyos also received the media award for her efforts in cross country this fall as she placed second in district and won a berth in the regional meet.

The media awards, presented by the Hereford Brand and KPAN radio, were presented to the outstanding athlete in each sport.

Bell, the Whiteface speedster won his place in the spotlight with a long list of high school accomplishments. In football, a recipient of the sophomore of the year honor while in his junior and senior years was named to the 4-4A all-district team. His junior year he rushed for over a 1,000 yards and his senior year collected over 950 yards.

Track accomplishments were just as numerous as the speedster won the 100 yard dash as a sophomore and added the 440 yard dash to his list his second year. As a senior Bell won the 220 yard dash with a time of 21.4, the second best time in the state of Texas and is a part of the regional qualifiers in the 220, the sprint relay and the mile relay.

Other media award winners in the 12th annual affair were Jackie Mercer in boys basketball, Bell in track and football, Henry Torres in baseball, Rueben (Pudgy) Vargas and Jimmy Rameriz in boys tennis, Joni Webb in girls tennis.

Arroyos in cross country, Louise Mays in girls basketball, Darlene Sanders in girls track, Miles Goforth in boys golf, Barbara Scott in girls golf and Juan Flores in boys cross country.

A new award this year, initiated by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce was the 'Fan of the Year' award presented by Hereford High School Athletic Director Don Cumpton to Buck Hale, a longtime supporter of Whiteface athletics.

Hale was cited for his interest in all phases of the athletic program and his willingness to help where he could. A resident of Hereford since 1953, he has been active in supporting the athletic teams throughout his life.

The program started with the introduction of the coaches and their respective athletes in each sport. After the media awards and special awards, special recognition was given to the coaches by the athletes.

An extra award on behalf of all the athletes in high school and presented by Bell, went to Larry 'Doc' Walls for his work as the team trainer. Bell noted that if not for Wall's work he might not have made it through his three years.

In appreciation for his work, Walls received a standing ovation from the crowd of over 500.

The banquet was concluded with the school song led by the HHS cheerleaders, Diana Castro, Ronda Clark, Jana Green, Judy Hill, Laura Martin, Staci Payne and Janae Pagett.

Jackson Falls In 1st Game

By The Associated Press

The Jackson Mets finally opened their first Texas League home stand of the season, but home runs by Joe DeSa and Tito Landrum boosted Arkansas to an 8-4 victory Tuesday night.

In other Texas League baseball action, Midland beat San Antonio, 15-11. Tulsa shut out Shreveport, 5-0, and El Paso took a 10-2 victory over Amarillo.

Ten of Jackson's games have been postponed because of rains and flooding and it was only their third game of the season while the other teams have played more than 10 games.

Len Strelitz gave up eight hits in pitching Arkansas to the victory. Ron MacDonald had a two-run homer for Jackson.

The Midland Cubs scored four runs in the eighth inning to break an 11-11 tie and take a 15-11 slug feet from the San Antonio Brewers. The runs came on bases loaded singles by Brian Rosinski, Bill Hayes, a walk and wild pitch.

Mike Wilson had a solo homer in the seventh and Jesse Baez added a two-run homer in the same inning. Mike Allen, 1-1, was the winning pitcher. Augie Ruiz, 0-2, was the loser.

Tulsa Drillers pitcher Steve Finch allowed only four hits and boosted his record to 2-0 with the 5-0 victory over Shreveport. Al Hargesheimer, 0-2, was the losing pitcher for the Captains.

Tulsa's Wayne Tolleason had three hits, including a single that drove in the first run in the sixth inning.

The El Paso Diablos scored seven runs in the fifth inning on a grand slam homer by Brandt Humphry and a three-run double by Brian Harper to take a 10-2 victory over the Amarillo Gold Sox.

Reserves Keep Hawks In Playoff Picture

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — Terry Furlow and Tom McMillen, a pair of three-year men who spent most of the season on the bench, have rescued the Atlanta Hawks from extinction and carried them back into the National Basketball Association quarter-final series against the defending champion Washington Bullets.

Furlow was a midseason acquisition from Cleveland. McMillen, has bounced around with several teams. They came off the bench when starters Armond Hill and John Drew got into early foul trouble, and combined for 40 points to power the Hawks' 107-103 victory over the Bullets in the only NBA playoff game Tuesday night.

Seattle, boasting a 3-1 lead, looks to clinch its Western Conference semifinal series at home tonight against Los Angeles. The Phoenix Suns are at Kansas City tonight, leading the Kings 2-1.

San Antonio leads Philadelphia 3-1 in the other Eastern Conference semifinal. Those teams resume Thursday on the Spurs' court.

With Washington holding a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven series, the teams return to Atlanta Thursday night. The Hawks had a 35-9 record at their home this season, including a 17-game winning streak.

But they have lost twice to the Bullets there in this series.

"This is the most courageous win in my three years as the Hawks' coach," said Hubie Brown after Atlanta survived injuries to starters Eddie Johnson, Drew and reserve Tree Rollins, and the overcame the early foul trouble to Hill and Drew.

"There are not enough adjectives to describe the game, played by Furlow and McMillen. McMillen kept us in the game in the first half when we were struggling," Brown said.

McMillen got 12 of his 19 points in the first half while Furlow came through with 16 of his team-high 21 points in the second, including two free throws with eight seconds left that iced the game.

The Hawks went into the fourth quarter with an 81-80 lead. Atlanta built up a 99-90 lead with 5:46 left and watched it slip away to a 105-103 with 24 seconds remaining.

"That wasn't pretty," said Brown, of his team's inability to maintain the big margin.

"We had a chance to win," said Washington Coach Dick Motta. "Bobby Dandridge shot the ball where we wanted it."

Dandridge scored 24 points in the contest, two fewer than the game-leading figure of teammate Elvin Hayes.

With 24 seconds remaining, Dandridge took a shot from the baseline and had it blocked by Rollins. He got the ball back and put it up again from 12 feet but missed, and the rebound went to Atlanta.

Furlow sees nothing strange about his performance. He expects to perform as well all the time - if he is able to get in the game.

"I just need an opportunity to compete," said Furlow, who came to Atlanta just before the All-Star break and played only 576 minutes in 29 games. "I'm just getting an opportunity to show what I can do."

As for the series returning to Atlanta, Furlow said, "We're still the underdogs. We have to execute and eliminate all the mental errors. I'm sure Washington now feels a little pressure, but they've been there before, so they can handle it."

"We just cannot beat ourselves, as we have done in two of the three losses to Washington. We can't make mental mistakes that take us out of the game. They've got great players who thrive on that psychological edge," Furlow added.

McMillen agrees. "We've got to be the underdogs. But I don't think it is unrealistic for us to win it all. We have a good enough team to do it."

The Lakers might be considered the underdog against the SuperSonics, who return to their former home, the Seattle Coliseum, in trying to wrap up the Western Conference semifinal. The Sonics have won 37 of 41 games at the Coliseum in the 17 months since Len Wilkens became coach.

They played at the Coliseum for 11 years before shifting to the spacious Kingdome for their home games this season. The dome is occupied by a Mariners-Boston Red Sox baseball game Wednesday night.

The Suns, who have been effective in shutting down rookie Kansas City guard Phil Ford, hope to extend their lead to 3-1 against the Kings. Phoenix has forced Ford to take outside shots most of the time, and the youngster has made just eight of his 35 attempts - including a stretch of three-for-17.

"Phil hasn't had a good game yet," said Kansas City Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons. "And we're not the same team when Phil's off his game."

"It seems like the roof has fallen in," said Ford. "And when the shots don't go down, you begin to think about it more."

Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham has been thinking about the plight of his 76ers, who face elimination in San Antonio Thursday night.

"If we win down there Thursday," he said, "it's going to be a seven-game series."

Lil Twisters Whip Borger, 9-0

The Lil Twisters soccer team, coached by Julian Zamora breezed to its first win of the season last Sunday, whipping Borger 9-0.

Ramiro Palacios, Manuel Mendiola and Jessie Ortiz led the team with two goals each. Others scoring for the team were Thomas Vargas, Javier Mediola and Poncho Alejandro with one goal each.

The team practices at 6 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday at the field at 15th and Ave. H. Any boy interested in trying out for the team age 10-14 is welcome.

Zamora said that there is tremendous interest among the boys to play but that he does not have the time to work with more than one team.

Next action for the Lil Twisters will be Sunday, April 29 in a contest against Canyon.

'Who's On First' Hits Mets, giants

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Joe Torre of the New York Mets and Joe Altobelli of the San Francisco Giants played their version of "Who's on first?" - only this one wasn't very funny to either manager.

"It was like Abbott and Costello out there," quipped New York infielder Richie Hebner after watching the act at Shea Stadium Tuesday night during the Mets' 10-3 victory over the Giants.

The discussion between the two about a bizarre play at first base ended in what Torre called "a compromise" - the Camp David accord. But there was still some confusion over the details after 28 minutes of animated talk.

"After you allow the man to second base, how do you call him out for not going back to first base?" Torre wondered aloud.

This was the situation: The Mets had runners at first and third when Lee Mazzilli hit a fly ball to right that Jack Clark appeared to catch. Hebner, halfway to second on the play, retreated to first only to find Mazzilli waving at him to reverse directions. Now it appeared that Clark had dropped the ball.

Umpire Phil Lospitalier was still signaling "out" when Clark relayed the ball to Bill Madlock, who stepped on first for what San Francisco thought was a double play. The Mets, however, had different ideas, claiming the dropped ball made both Hebner and Mazzilli safe.

Both teams howled and the umpires - working in place of regulars who are involved in a contract dispute - vacillated. Finally, they ruled Mazzilli out and ordered Hebner back to first. It hardly satisfied either Torre or Altobelli, each of whom filed a protest.

Things were a little calmer around the rest of the National League Tuesday night, as Pittsburgh routed Cincinnati 9-2; Philadelphia edged Los Angeles 7-6 in 10 innings; St. Louis took a 6-5 decision over Atlanta and Montreal whipped San Diego 5-1. The Houston-Chicago game was postponed by rain.

Pirates 9, Reds 2

John Milner's two-run homer and a solo blast by Dave Parker helped Pittsburgh beat Cincinnati. The Pirates jumped on last-minute starter rookie Frank Pastore for two runs in the first inning and four more in the fourth. Pastore was a last-minute choice of Manager John McNamara when Tom Seaver, who was scheduled to start for Cincinnati, complained of a lower back sprain during his pre-game warmup.

Phillies 7, Dodgers 6

Relief pitcher Ron Reed doubled with two outs in the 10th inning and scored on Larry Bowa's single to lead Philadelphia over Los Angeles. Reed's run capped a night of comebacks for both teams. The Dodgers built a 3-0 lead, fell behind 6-3 and tied it in the eighth with three runs to send the game into extra innings.

Dodger Manager Tommy Lasorda was ejected in the midst of a five-run rally by Philadelphia in the third inning.

Lasorda questioned a decision by plate umpire Bob Nelson, who called Pete Rose safe at home on Mike Schmidt's single. Rose slid in and was tagged by catcher Steve Yeager.

Cards 6, Braves 5

Ted Simmons belted a solo home run in the 10th inning off relief ace Gene Garber, pacing St. Louis over Atlanta. The victory went to Cardinal reliever Mark Littell, who also beat the Braves in relief in a 10-inning game Monday night.

Expos 5, Padres 1

Ross Grimsley hurled a six-hitter and Ellis Valentine drove in two runs with a homer and a single to pace Montreal over San Diego. After Valentine's leadoff homer in the second inning, the Expos added three runs off San Diego's star left-hander, Randy Jones. It was more than enough for Grimsley.

Gossage Fine May Be Subject To Arbitration

NEW YORK (AP) - It may take until next Tuesday - payday - to find out how much the New York Yankees will fine relief pitcher Rich Gossage and reserve catcher Cliff Johnson for their clubhouse fistfight last Thursday. But players association director Marvin Miller warns extensive financial discipline against the players may result in a claim of breach of contract.

"Gossage's contract is guaranteed, and although there are some exceptions - such as if he went sky diving or contemplated suicide - in this case, it's air tight," Miller said Tuesday. "They must pay his salary or otherwise it's breach of contract."

The players association executive expressed similar sentiments over the contract of Johnson, who was uninjured in the fight that severed a ligament in Gossage's right thumb and necessitated surgery.

Gossage, released from the hospital Tuesday, is not expected back until mid-June at least.

"In Johnson's case, they are saying he should play and not be paid at all," said Miller. "He's not injured, so they would be making a profit at his expense."

The Yankees have taken no official action, but they have sent written messages to both players. According to published reports, the message informed Gossage he would be fined a day's pay - reportedly $1,800, based on his six-year, $2.7 million contract - for each day he is sidelined.

There also have been reports Johnson would be fined a day's pay for each day the right-handed reliever misses.

"If I am to believe what they (the Yankees) are saying in their statement, they are not refusing to pay Gossage but instead they are fining him the amount of a day's pay until he is able to pitch again," said Miller. "Any arbitrator will see right through that."

Arbitrators will become involved in a grievance procedure is enacted by a player. Teams have the right to

Indy Entries Up To USAC

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - The authority to give the green flag to entries for the Indianapolis 500-mile race rests solely with the U.S. Auto Club, says Indianapolis Motor Speedway president Joe Cloutier.

Cloutier responded via telegram Tuesday to a plea for clarification by the dissident Championship Auto Racing Teams.

CART President Pat Patrick had asked whether USAC was speaking for the Speedway or itself when it rejected six CART teams for this year's 500.

In his answer, Cloutier simply turned to the rules printed on the entry blank.

"The entry blank states 'An automobile race for cars and drivers in good standing with the United States Auto Club, the organizing committee, subject to all USAC rules and all approved supplementary regulations will be held as described hereafter, under USAC sanction ...'" Cloutier said.

"I have stated throughout that all sanctions lie with the United States Auto Club."

Cloutier added, "I prefer an amiable settlement between the United States Auto Club and CART."

Patrick said, "I thought we had one settlement after our meeting last week in Detroit. It appears I was wrong."

Patrick refused to comment on CART's next move, saying only, "There are a number of options which we decided upon in Atlanta. There will be no more CART board meetings. There is no need for a meeting."

He did not indicate what course CART would take, although the breakaway organization could go to court to force USAC to accept the entries.

In other developments Tuesday, the USAC board chairman resigned citing a "potential conflict of interest" involving his other business concerns.

Reynold C. MacDonald, appointed president of USAC in 1973 and board chairman since 1976, said "the present split between USAC and CART has created a personal problem."

Committee Votes For Playoffs

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) - A committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association reportedly has voted in favor of establishing an annual national collegiate football championship.

Arkansas Athletic Director Frank Broyles, a member of the NCAA's Extra Events Committee, was quoted by the Colorado Springs Sun in a copyright story today as saying the eight-member committee voted unanimously Tuesday to endorse a football playoff beginning at the conclusion of the 1980 season.

The plan reportedly calls for two semifinal games and a championship contest, all to be held after the regular post-season bowl games. The four finalists would be chosen after the bowl games by a selection committee, and the title game would be played on the weekend prior to the National Football League's Super Bowl. Broyles was quoted as saying that representatives of the bowls were opposed to the change, "but a lot of people are eager and anxious to have a playoff."

The playoff proposal reportedly will be presented to the steering committee

Ranger Bats Quiet In Toronto Loss

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) - Don't ask Toronto righthander Dave Lemanczyk about 1978.

"I don't give a bleep about last year," said the 28-year-old Lemanczyk. "I should never be judged in a season on what I did the season before."

Lemanczyk, who was 4-14 and had an earned-run average of 6.24 last season, one-hit the Texas Rangers in a 2-0 Toronto victory Tuesday night.

It was Lemanczyk's first win since July 29, 1978, and was the first one-hitter in the history of the Toronto franchise.

Serving a diet of 80 percent fast balls to the lefthanded-loaded Texas lineup, Lemanczyk baffled every Ranger except Pat Putnam, who sliced a single to left field in the third inning.

"It was the biggest mistake I made," said Lemanczyk. "It was a fast ball over the plate."

Among Lemanczyk's victims was Al Oliver, who had hit safely in all 13 Ranger games before Tuesday night.

"It means a lot to me, getting that man out," he said. "That man out," he said.

"I ran 10 miles a day in soft sand to get ready for this season. I busted my fanny."

Nothing came easy.

It was only his second start of the year. He limited Chicago to six hits on April 16, but was involved in no decisions.

Lemanczyk sprained his ankle during the 1978 he wants to forget, after a 13-16 season in 1977.

He said in a jammed Blue Jay dressing room that he once pitched a no-hitter in the minor leagues.

"I won't believe this game for a couple of days."

TROY DON MOORE

Silas: Spurs Won't Be Cocky

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Although it would appear they have every reason to be a bit overconfident, San Antonio Coach Doug Moe and captain James Silas says the Spurs won't be too cocky Thursday night when they try to wrap up their playoff series with Philadelphia.

The Central Division-champion Spurs trimmed the 76ers 115-112 Sunday in Philadelphia and hold a commanding 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven, Eastern Conference semifinal series.

Thursday night's game will also be before a cozy, sellout home crowd intoxicated with Fiesta Week. And possibly looming on the horizon in the Eastern Conference finals are the Spurs' old rivals, the Washington Bullets.

The Spurs, who have lost 10 consecutive ABA and NBA playoff series since winning their first one as the Dallas Chaparrals in 1968, won the Central Division last year, got overconfident and stumbled in the first round of the playoffs against the Bullets.

That memory, Silas said, will keep the Spurs from being too cocky Thursday night.

"We can win a playoff series. This is a situation we have never been in before. We don't want to lose it again," said Silas. "Last year in the second game at home against Washington, we got overconfident."

"I could see where it would look like we might be overconfident, but I don't think there will be any overconfidence this time. They won't quit," he said. "We couldn't ask for anything more than to end the series at home. We don't want to go back up there Philadelphia again."

If the Spurs lose Thursday night, the series goes back to Philadelphia on Sunday. A seventh game, if needed, would be next Wednesday in San Antonio.

The NBA champion Bullets, meanwhile, missed a chance, Wednesday night to wrap up their semifinal series with Atlanta. The Hawks upended Washington 107-103 on the Bullets home court.

"I don't think we will be overconfident at all," Moe said Tuesday after the Spurs whipped through a practice session. "We're nervous and eager for the game. Overconfi-dence, to be honest, is the last thing I'm worried about."

"We can't look ahead to Washington. We're certainly in no position to look ahead. We don't want to put this series in the position of having to go back to Philly. Then if we lose and it went seven, anything could happen."

Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham agreed, saying, "If we win down there Thursday, it's going to be a seven-game series. And I'll tell you one thing - we won't quit." Philadelphia forward Julius Erving added, "They'll have to win it from us. We'll just have to take them one step at a time. We've won twice down there during the regular season, so it's not impossible."

San Antonio forward Larry Kenon, who is averaging nearly 26 points per game against Philadelphia, missed Tuesday's practice because he was running a fever. Moe and trainer Bernie LaReau did not express concern about Kenon's absence, however.

John Leads Yanks To 3-1 Victory

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Tommy John was fit to be tied and untied.

The new ace on the New York Yankee pitching staff chalked up his fourth victory without a loss Tuesday night, mauling Oakland on five hits as the Yanks beat the A's 3-1.

"I just want to contribute and do what I'm being paid for. I don't think of myself as an ace," John shrugged. "When you have five pitchers on a championship club, they're all good."

John got a break when A's relief pitcher Dave Heaverlo broke a ninth-inning tie by heaving Thurman Munson's grounder down the right field line, giving the Yanks a pair of runs.

It not only broke a 1-1 tie, but it broke John's 87-87 tie with himself. The sinker-balling southpaw who had won 87 games as a National League star with the Los Angeles Dodgers posted his 88th in the American League.

In the rest of the AL, Toronto silenced Texas 2-1 as Dave Lemanczyk tossed a one-hitter. Kansas City blanked Chicago 5-0, Boston beat Seattle 4-3 in 12 innings, Cleveland defeated Minnesota 7-2 and Baltimore downed California 7-2. The Detroit Tigers' game at Milwaukee was rained out with the Brewers leading 4-2 after two innings.

John and Oakland's John Henry Johnson, 0-3, matched each other through eight innings. But when Bucky Dent singled to open the ninth, Heaverlo took over. Mickey Rivers grounded out and Willie Randolph was walked intentionally before Munson hit a slow roller to the right of the mound. Heaverlo pounced on it but his wild throw allowed both runners to score.

Royals 5, White Sox 0

Willie Wilson's three stolen bases and two runs scored - and his on-the-button throw from center field to nail Chicago runner Marvis Foley at the plate - supported Dennis Leonard's seven-hitter for the Royals. Frank White homered for Kansas City in the first inning, then Wilson bunted for a hit, stole second and came around on two grounders in the third.

Fleming Upsets 4th Seeded Gerulaitis

LAS VEGAS, Nev. - Peter Fleming upset fourth-seeded Vitas Gerulaitis 6-7, 6-4, 6-4 in a first-round match of a men's $250,000 tennis tournament.

Wilson also led off the fifth with a single, stole second and third and scored when Foley, the White Sox catcher, let a pitch get past him.

Red Sox 4, Mariners 3
Larry Wolfe's 12th-inning sacrifice fly stretched the Red Sox's winning streak to five games and Seattle's tailspin to nine. Unbeaten Dick Drago pitched 4½ innings of scoreless relief for his third victory.

Carl Yazstrzmski hit a two-run homer in the sixth inning and also doubled in the second, when Boston scored its other run. Bob Stinson drove in all three Mariner runs.

Indians 7, Twins 2
Andre Thornton's two-run double in a five-run first inning against Roger Erickson and his solo homer in the seventh off Gary Serun led Cleveland past the Twins.

Rick Wise was peppered with 11 Minnesota hits but managed to go seven innings for the victory. It's the first time this year the Indians managed to win two in a row.

Orioles 7, Angels 2
Jim Palmer's back acted up again, but not until the seventh inning. By that time the Orioles had a 7-2 lead, thanks in part to two solo home runs by Ken Singleton, off loser Don Aase in the third inning and Dyar Miller in the fifth. Rich Dauer homered off Aase in the first frame.

LSC Reduces Required Sports

COMMERCE, Tex. (AP) - Football and basketball will become the only mandatory Lone Star Conference sports and the number of athletic scholarships will be reduced in an economy move if two proposed resolutions are endorsed.

Besides lowering the number of required sports, the resolutions passed by representatives of member schools Tuesday would reduce to 38 the number of scholarships for football and 12 for basketball. Current limitations are 45 and 15 respectively.

However, member schools would be able to increase the size of football squads from 60 to 70 and basketball teams from 20 to 22.

"The presidents asked us to make a recommendation on ways to reduce costs because of inflation," said League President O.S. Cauthen of Angelo State.

The LSC currently requires all schools to participate in football, basketball and track. Member schools also are required to compete in either golf or tennis.

The LSC's Council of Presidents will consider the resolutions in June.
