

Wartes Surveys Coming Year; Optimistic But Cautious

Larry Wartes, new athletic director and head football coach at Hereford High School, is looking for a spark.
He says "the city of Hereford is being revolutionized, and athletically, I think it will be too — if we find the spark to get it going."
If anyone can find the spark, it appears Wartes is the man for the job, as he brings to Hereford a record showing so many victories and championships that it makes other coaches green with envy.
Wartes was hired by the school system in early March, about a month after the resignation of Jack Meredith, who has become athletic director and head football coach at Belton High School.
For the previous nine years before coming to Hereford, Wartes was athletic director at Stamford. His successes there had prompted school administrators and board members there to say he had a job for life.
He was approached on the job opening at Hereford and, seeking a new challenge, decided to look into it. He had interviews with Superintendent John Clark and the school board, but one of the first things he did on a visit to Hereford was stroll around and talk to the people.

"They said the school has a good system," he said. "How do you know how to evaluate a school system? I don't know, but they said it was good, and that's what it is."
Wartes was born in 1929, at Morton, located "on the sand hills" near Lubbock. He attended the first seven grades in Morton and then the family moved to Amarillo. The coach just "kind of came up through athletics in the Boys Club of Amarillo," playing more there than he did in junior high.
Then when he moved into Amarillo High School, he hadn't had the experience. Combined with the fact that he was pretty small, this put Wartes on the Yanegeans, or the "B" team.
He didn't lack for anything in baseball and basketball, however, and went on to Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene in 1947, the losses being to top notch class AAA teams.

Off probation in 1962, Stamford had a 7-3 record, ran it to 8-2 in 1963 and went to the quarterfinals in 1964 with a 9-4 mark. The roof fell in for Wartes in 1965 as he had his only losing season.
He explained that there were only seven seniors back from the previous year. "We had one boy who weighed 180 and another one 151. All of the rest were under 150 pounds. The 180-pounder, who was the best footballer in the country, got married on the Thursday before the first game on Friday."
"But our kids did a good job," he recalled. "Didn't anybody beat us. Ballinger won the district and they beat us 6-0. Scored in the last five minutes."
In 1966, the team bounced back and returned to the quarterfinals. "I thought it was proof the coaches worked hard. You just don't rebound from a disastrous year and go to the quarterfinals the next year. I don't care who you are."
"That's why I say we're down here material-wise real bad in the senior class — in numbers. But I think they at least won some and the schedule is not overly terrific. And if we can hold our head up awhile, we can get going."

Continuing on the prospects for this season, Wartes said "I'm not too disappointed. I think we've lost some boys and that's hurt us. That's kinda been the story."
Recalling his career, Wartes said "I guess I always wanted to be a coach. Anything I mean I just wanted to coach. I've coached everything you can imagine. Coached girl's basketball, believe it or not. But I just did that once," he laughed.
Wartes refused to fall back on his past laurels as an athlete, stating "that just doesn't make you a coach. Coaches are going to win if they've got some athletes — if they work at it."
"Personally," he explained, "I think we did a better job of coaching in the last few years than in the 50s when we were winning big, because we didn't have any outstanding athletes."

Touching on the Stamford tradition of winning teams, Wartes stated, "Tradition has a lot to do with your school and a lot to do with your coaching. But I think you can stuff tradition down people's throats. They get tired of it. You can't play on tradition forever. You've got to go on material."
Wartes was the "All-Area Football Coach" for the Abilene area four times during his career in that vicinity and "All-Star Basketball Coach" three times.
The new mentor also was a director of the Texas High School Coaches Association in 1961 and 1962, and has held other positions in the organization.
Speaking of coaching both sports, Wartes explained that "It got to be a strain. We worked real hard from about July 1 to December if we got in the playoffs and you just got tired physically. Then you've got to go out there and coach."
"You've got to coach with some enthusiasm. Well, your enthusiasm is nearly gone. I felt See WARTES Page 2

Marker To Be Dedicated On Friday

Although the slogan apparently has gone its way in recent years, "The Town Without A Toothache" will be remembered for a long time to come here as dedication ceremonies of an historical marker this week will explain the origin of the slogan to residents and tourists alike.
The marker, located in Gregg Park at the corner of 25-Mile Avenue and Fourth Street, will be dedicated at 5 p. m. Friday, with George G. Heard of Amarillo, son of the late Dr. George W. Heard, attending.
Dr. Heard, who practiced dentistry here until his retirement in 1946, was responsible for getting Hereford tagged with the slogan, which still attracts attention on maps today.

Mrs. Juston McBride will make the dedicatory speech Friday afternoon; she has been working on an exhibit in a room at the Deaf Smith County Museum which displays remembrances of Dr. Heard's career in Hereford. Centering the display See MARKER Page 3

American Legion Dedicates New Post Home Today

Dedication ceremonies for the new $25,000 post home of the Hereford American Legion, Post 192, will be held today, 2 to 5 p. m.
The new building is located just inside the gate at Veteran's Memorial Park. Dr. Milton C. Adams, post commander, will serve as Master of Ceremonies. Rev. Russell Wingert, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Hereford will give the invocation.
Jack Flynt, Past Department Commander from Dimmitt will be on hand to give the dedicatory address. He will be accompanied to Hereford by Mrs. Flynt, who is Past Department President of the Women's Auxiliary.
Mayor Ray Cowsert will also have a part on the program. Visitors from all over the 18th District are expected to attend the dedication, according to Adams. Over 200 letters of invitation have been sent to other posts in the district, and to local residents.

Bravo Offices Move

Although the general offices and packing portion of Bravo Smokes will be moving to Dallas, general processing of the lettuce cigarette will still be done in Hereford.
Puzant Torigian, Bravo president, made his statement Thursday in answer to reports that the entire Bravo operation was leaving the city.
Plans call for the general offices and packing portion of Bravo to be moved to Dallas during the first part of September for several reasons, including inadequate transportation and freight facilities and difficulty in finding competent help.
Torigian said that transportation and freight facilities in Hereford do not fill the needs of the company and efforts to get better schedules and accommodations had failed. There also are more specialists and chemists in the Dallas area than Hereford.
About 50 persons work on a fulltime basis at Bravo. Between 28 and 30 persons will remain on a fulltime basis in Hereford after the move is made to Dallas. New packing equipment and cigarette making equipment will be installed in the Dallas plant.
The lettuce, continued Torigian, will still be processed in Hereford and the refined product will then be shipped in bulk form to Dallas for packaging.
General Nutrition, which became affiliated with Bravo Smokes last year, will not be involved in the company's financial structure when the company headquarters are moved to Dallas.

Banquet To Honor Teachers

New teachers helping boost Hereford's population will have the red carpet rolled out for the Hereford Country Club when business members of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce give them a first-class orientation to the community.
The banquet, the fourth of its kind here, will be at 7:30 p. m., with chamber members sponsoring various new teachers and their wives or husbands. Sponsors will foot the bill at $2.50 per person.
Bill Thompson, manager of the chamber, says that several sponsors from the business community are still needed for the teachers (new to Hereford and since the beginning of the 1967 added to the school faculty spring semester) who will be banquet. There are some 50 new brought to the club Thursday evening by their sponsors. Sponsors are urged to bring their wives to the welcoming dinner.

RAY COWSERT Name Chairman Of Importation Committee

Ray Cowsert, local attorney and Mayor of Hereford, was named Chairman of the Importation Committee of Deaf Smith County Water Association, as the water group continues in its announced purpose of dealing with water needs of the county. "Not only will we coordinate our efforts with Water, Inc. toward the procurement of supplemental water to the High Plains for agriculture, but the Importation Committee also will work toward assurance that Deaf Smith and surrounding counties are included in any water importation project developed," stated Cowsert.

Other committee chairmen named are Austin Rose, Jr., Membership; Charles Hoover, Information; Leo Forrest, Research; and Andrew Kershen, Conservation. Kershen, a farmer and director on the High Plains Underground Water District. See CHAIRMAN Page 3

Registration Begins AT SCHOOLS

Hereford youngsters will all register at their respective schools this week in anticipation of the beginning of classes, Monday morning, Aug. 28.
School officials are expecting an enrollment to pass the 4500 mark soon after Labor Day, based on last year's enrollment figures. Plans have not been made for any great increase in enrollment figures this year, according to school official Roy Hartman; the schools have usually allowed for a five to ten per cent increase.

Registration for all grades is outlined by this schedule:
GRADES 1-4
Wednesday, 8:30 a.m. until 3 p. m. Parents are asked to come with their children for registration at the respective elementary schools. First-graders need to have a birth certificate. A city map in this issue indicates elementary school boundaries this year (bus students should register at the same school they attended last year).
GRADES 7-8-9
For students who did not attend Hereford schools last year: from 9 a. m. until 3 p. m. Wednesday at either La Plata or Stanton Junior High. Students living north of U. S. Hwy. 60 and east of U. S. Hwy. 385 will enroll at Stanton; all others at La Plata.
For students who pre-registered at the end of the last school year: A-M 9 a. m. to noon Thursday; N-Z 1:30 p. m. to 4 p. m. Thursday.
SOPHOMORES
All sophomores are to meet Thursday at 1:30 p.m. in the Hereford High School Auditorium. Pictures will be made during registration; boys should wear coat and tie.
JUNIORS
Juniors begin registration at 9 a. m. Thursday; school pictures will be made during registration.
SENIORS
Seniors begin enrolling at 1:30

p. m. Wednesday at the high school.
Buses will run the same routes they were running at the end of the last school term, school officials say. They will make the first run Monday morning, the first day of class. Elementary and junior high See REGISTRATION Page 2

Chamber Drive Extended To August 26

Members of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Membership Committee, at a special report meeting held Thursday evening, indicated a total of 13 new members obtained and an increase in dollar support for the Chamber of $786. Many reported however, that due to vacations, contact with prospective members averaged only one in four.
It was recommended by the Committee that the drive be extended for one extra week, until noon August 26, in the hope that the drive goal of $2,000 could be reached.
Paul Abalos was reported as the high point member to date with seven new members. Abalos will join the red jacketed Hereford Hustlers by virtue of his efforts. Oliver Streu's team is second high with six new members. Several captains were unable to report because of absence from the city.

Whiteface Band Begins Work

Hereford High School's Whiteface band has taken to the field two nights a week in preparation for the fall marching season to begin here Sept. 8, when Hereford meets Floydada here.
The 190-member band will practice Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 8 p. m., at least until classes begin. From then on, rehearsals will be "as we need them," according to director Ben Gollehon. Gollehon is being assisted by Jim Priest and Jim McLarty, who also work with the Stanton and La Plata junior high school bands.
Featured this year will be several numbers by the band's twirlers, as well as new attractions to brighten up the standard half-time show throughout the football season.
The high school band is also beginning work for a concert in Austin in February, Gollehon said. The concert will be the culmination of efforts to win the honor band award, given to Gollehon and the Whiteface band this summer.

Recommend Program To Eliminate Pollution

The Texas State Department of Health and the U. S. Public Health Service, in a report released Friday to Congressman Bob Price, has recommended a four-point program to eliminate or minimize water pollution health hazards at Buffalo Lake.
The Joint interim report by the two agencies, said Price, shows that "after heavy rains there does exist a health hazard in Buffalo Lake due to flushing of bacteriological contaminants into the lake."
Possible sources of contaminants were listed as those within the refuge such as direct runoff, wastes from ducks and geese during the waterfowl-use season and wastes from people using the lake.
"Outside sources of pollution on the watershed feeding the lake were believed to be:
1. Direct runoff following heavy flushing rains on the watershed.
2. Cattle feed lots on the watershed.
3. Municipal sewage treatment plants.
4. Wastes from various small industries on the watershed."
Conclusion of the report, continued Price, was that the lake was contaminated with high concentrations of coliform following heavy rainfall runoff during mid-June and also following runoff from rains on July 2.

"The major portion of the contamination is believed to have come from the watershed last week.
Katie flew into Amarillo from New York, arriving at 1:30 p. m. Monday; Huseyin flew into Amarillo — after a transportation problem in Athens, Greece — one day late on Tuesday evening, just in time to take a vacation trip with his American family, the Rocky Lees, who attended a convention in El Paso. Katie is being introduced to American customs by her American family, the Hap Cavinesses. She will enroll as a senior in Hereford High School this week; Huseyin will also be a senior.

outside the refuge and carried to Buffalo Lake by the high runoff in Tierra Blanca Creek."
The investigation, according to the report, was made by Gordon H. Hansen, Buffalo Lake manager for the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife; Millard Bruce of Lubbock, sanitarian for the Texas State Department of Health; Jack E. Crabtree of Canyon, fisheries biologist for the Texas Parks and Wildlife and Charles W. Northington and F. Warren Norris Jr. of Dallas, sanitary engineers for the U. S. Public Health Service.
Price said the investigators reported that they believed the situation can be improved by better water pollution control practices on the watershed, "especially those of man-made sources."
In a letter to Congressman Price accompanying the report, William N. Long, acting chief of the Public Health Service Water Supply and Sea Resources Program of the Bureau of Disease Prevention and Environmental Control, said the four-point program to eliminate or minimize pollution hazards to Lake users See POLLUTION Page 3

NEW COACH — Larry Wartes, new athletic director and head football coach, held the first workouts this week in preparation for the coming season. The Whitefaces held their first scrimmage of the year Saturday morning when they battled each other.

like I was doing a new job. During the 30th. Hereford was eight district basketball titles in a row.

Getting the philosophy on football, Wartes said, "the first thing I look for in a player is character. I think if a kid has good character — and he knows right from wrong — he'll play for better football than people can believe."

"I don't make any difference how strong a kid is or how well he moves — if the character is not good, he'll never make a good athlete."

"I'd rather work with a kid with good character — with less ability. I'm talking principally of coaching. I'm not talking about operators. We may go out there and not win a game and they'll say why that's terrible. But in my opinion, it's been a good relationship because you're working with people with character."

"The coach also said he felt a key with no character "will estimate himself as a group of good kids."

It also is Wartes' feeling that "football is better than it's ever been — high school wise. I don't think a daddy or people in town know how good football a kid has to play. I think they're critical of them."

"They watch television and see the pros play. They think a high school kid can go out there and play like that — they can't. You don't have that kind of talent. Colleges are looking for the fundamental football player and it's our job to teach them that. Then if you've got talent, you can get fancy."

Returning to his favorite subject, Wartes said "I think the kids here have a real good attitude. Experience is going to hurt us. We're not experienced. And the new system is going to be slow in developing."

"They know what they were doing before and it was easier to get organized. We came in last Monday and started an entire new system. I think it's going to take time for us to develop it. It may be three or four games in the season before we look like a good football team. Overall speed also may hurt."

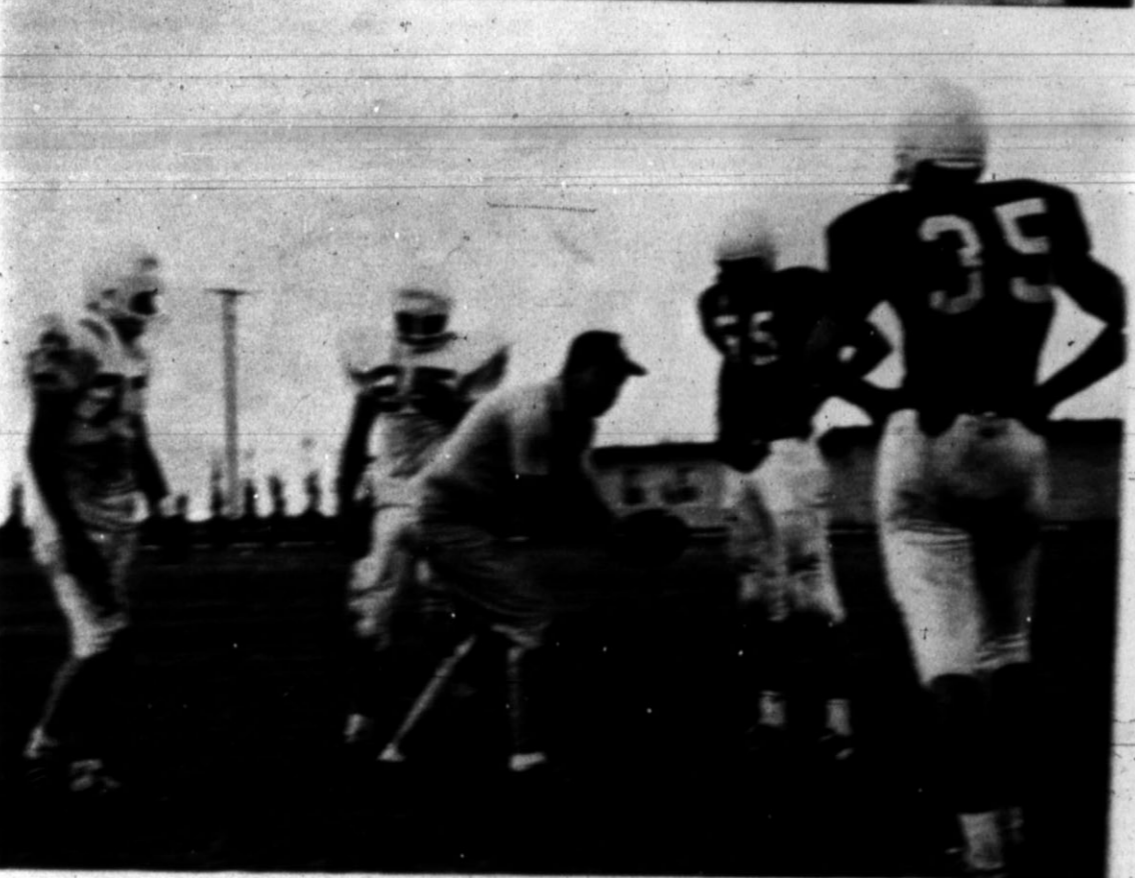

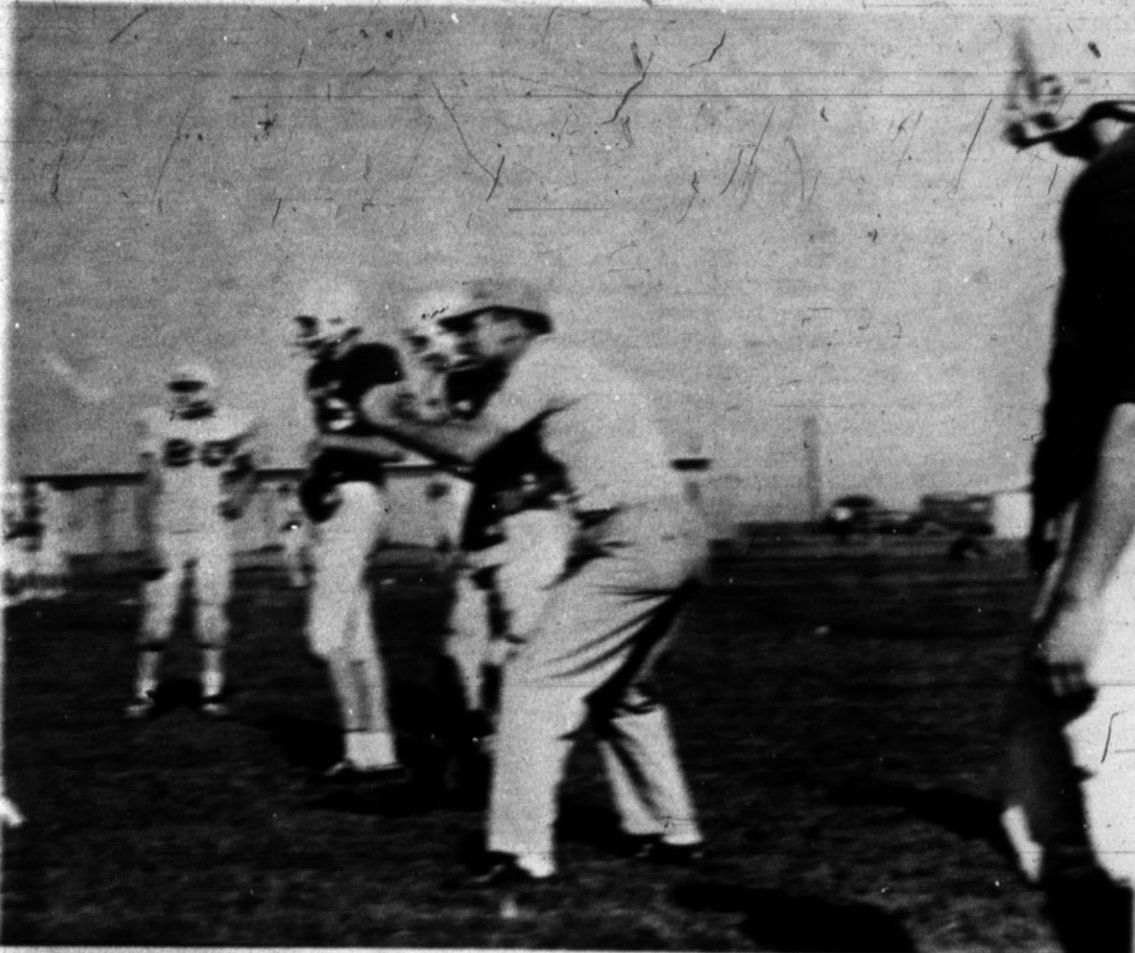

This year's schedule also may be tougher than it appears, according to Wartes. "Playoffs are 9 or 10 days back from the same week which Hereford beat 34-7 last year. Their line will average over 200 pounds."

"There has a lot of kids back and Mustangs will be tough. They went to the semifinals last year and have got some of the kids back and a 13 team that only lost one game. I think Toke will have an exceptional ball club and Perryton is coming on with those big kids they've been talking about."

"I know we're going to struggle a little bit, but we're going to win some games," Wartes declared. He added that it is too early to say much about the players "but we have some youngsters that can probably play. They have some talent but it's just going to take time for them to get ready. We're keeping with a good attitude out of that group that we can develop a pretty good ball club."

"We'll be running the Wing-T but it will include anything. And we'll try to have a balanced attack in running and passing."

Speaking at the same time, Wartes said, "I appreciate very much working with the administration in this school. I think they have an exceptional group of administrative people. They're young and aggressive and have good moral character. They think and believe like I do."
Wartes and his wife, Joyce, who will be teaching business this year, have three children. Mike is 14, Susan is 11 and Alan is 4. They recently moved into a new home on Greenwood Street.

included:

- 1. Initiation of a routine sampling program after heavy rainfalls.
- 2. The establishment of toxicological limits for contact water sports.
- 3. Initiation of a study on the effect of wildlife habitation on recreational use.

4. Development of a program to find and eliminate pollution sources.

The Texas Water Pollution Control Board is to call a meeting of interested persons and agencies to determine the most feasible solution to the problem. Price was told in a letter from Dr. J. B. Peavy, Texas State Commissioner of Health.

"The extent of continuing surveillance of problems in this area will be decided at that time," Dr. Peavy added.

Contractor for the all steel 200 x 40 building is A. C. May Construction Co. of Hereford. The new building will be paneled throughout with antique terra cotta and will be equipped with a complete set modern kitchen.

Serving on the building committee were: A. T. Wampler, chairman; Grant Harris, Woodrow B. Wilson, Jim Young and Robert Betton. The finance committee included: G. W. chairmen; Cecil Wilkins and Bill Smith.

There will be no subscription against the building when completed, according to its list. of the finance committee although about $2,000 in bonds were sold to finish paying for the structure. The local Legislature have been working towards the new building for many years, and money from their many fund-raising activities have been set aside for this purpose.

Refreshments will be served during the afternoon.

 trict, is well known for his own water conservation practices, having been awarded recently Conservation Farmer of the Year. "The importance of water conservation cannot be over-emphasized," Kershen asserted. "The High Plains has long been under intense criticism from other Texans for wasteful practices with irrigation water. We have to set our own house in order and show what we have accomplished in conservation before we can expect the state to bring us as much surface water as we now are pumping from the underground formation," he continued.

The Research Committee, to be headed by Leo Forrest, proposes to develop study projects to determine, among other things, how much and at what cost irrigation water is used by local farmers. "To be decided ultimately," advised Forrest, "is an answer to the question, 'How much can our farmers afford to pay for imported water?'" The Membership and Information Committees will work toward increasing the association's local representation and presenting the story of water conservation and importation to its citizens.

Having visited recently with governmental agencies and others, R. C. Godwin, President of DSCWA, reports that surplus waters under consideration are in northeast Texas and the Mississippi River system. He stated that Water, Inc., of which he is a director, is trying to have an in-state project of moving northeast Texas surplus water to the High Plains included in the water plan to be presented this fall by the Texas Water Development Board. Success would bring supplemental fresh water within about 15 years. However, according to Godwin, chances for an appreciable amount of state water for the High Plains looks slim, due to its lack of sufficient political representation.

The alternative, he explained, would be an interstate plan to be provided by the coordinated action of the Bureau of Reclamation, the Corps of Engineers, and the State water board, transporting surplus Mississippi

Property Damage High In Wreck Friday At U.S. 385 And Park

More than $1,000 damage to property alone resulted in the collision of a car and pickup at the intersection of U. S. 385 and Park Avenue Friday afternoon.

A 1963 Chevrolet half-ton pickup driven by Vaudie Ray Palvadore of Route 5 reportedly was going north on U. S. 385 and a 1961 Chrysler driven by Mike Gomez of Vega was going east on Park Avenue when the vehicles collided.

The pickup sustained an estimated $500 damage when it was hit in the right side, while the car had $300 damage.

Police said both drivers lost control of their vehicles on impact and slammed into two telephone booths, slate highway department signs, and a neon light owned by Taylor and Sons Grocery.

The telephone booths, owned by Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, were valued at $770, the highway signs at $30 and the value of the store sign was unknown.

Two To Face Shoplifting Charges Here

Two Latin Americans are being held by Hereford police pending their appearance before Judge H. C. "Hank" Williams tomorrow after being picked up following shoplifting complaints.

One was arrested Friday, the other Saturday, both incidents at Gibson's Discount Center. One had stolen a car radio, the other a set of wrenches. Both are being charged with shoplifting over $5 and under $50.

One of the apprehended men had some $400 in his billfold when he was caught.

River water through one or more of several proposed routes to areas represented by Water, Inc. The Bureau of Reclamation expects to complete appraisal studies of these projects this year, with publication of results to follow in January. Funds will be provided to both agencies for beginning reconnaissance studies, which, says Godwin, are required by federal law and will take another 4 or 5 years. Then, definite plans and cost data will be made through feasibility studies, requiring another 6 to 8 years. Following legislative action, actual construction is expected to require at least 15 years for delivery of water to distribution systems. "The interstate program is a must eventually, but it is easy to see, that time dictates we should be working hard to be included in the Texas Water Plan," he concluded.

 is the doctor's diploma, which he received from Vanderbilt University in 1898. In his autobiography, "M a n vs. Toothache," Dr. Heard remembered: "On the night I received my diploma, Dr. Stubblefield gave me a parting word which I never forgot: 'I hope, Doctor, that the Lord will take as great a liking to you as I have.'"

Others on the program will be A. J. "Major" Schroeter, master of ceremonies, representing the Deaf Smith County Historical Survey Committee, and County Judge H. C. "Hank" Williams, representing the county. The marker is being given to Hereford by the Texas State Historical Survey Committee.

The slogan, "The Town Without A Toothache," first appeared as the title in a feature story in Collier's magazine; it was condensed in the February, 1943, issue of the Reader's Digest. Other stories on the discoveries of Dr. Heard were published in the Houston Post, the San Antonio Express, the Northwestern Miller, and in the feature columns, "Strange As It Seems" and "Believe It or Not."

Dr. Heard had reported to the state department of health his observation that at least 50 per cent of his patients had no tooth decay. Findings of research under the direction of Dr. Edward W. Taylor, chairman of the Dental Division of the Texas State Board of Health, were cited in the magazine reports.

At the time of his retirement, Dr. Heard had worked as a dentist in Hereford for 30 years. He died in Amarillo two years ago at the age of 97.

Dr. Heard had practiced dentistry for more than 20 years here when he began analyzing his findings of few cases of tooth decay. "He began to ask his patients questions, and in time certain patterns began to appear which did not coincide with orthodox teachings in dentistry. There seemed to be no definite relation between the times a day his patients brushed their teeth and the incidence of decay. Rather, there seemed to be some relation between what

Heavy Damage In 3-Car Accident

An accident involving three cars — two of them parked in the driveway of a service station — resulted in more than $600 damages Saturday morning.

Police said a 1965 Buick owned by Ray Pierce of 147 Main and a 1967 Chevrolet owned by Charles Ray Vasek on Route 4 were sitting in the driveway of the J. P. Jones Texaco service station waiting for service when the accident occurred about 10:55 a. m. Both cars were facing west.

The third vehicle, a 1900 Buick driven by Pablo Salazar of the Labor Camp, was going south on U. S. 385 when the driver went to the right and skidded into the right front of Vasek's car which rammed into the right front of Pierce's car. Salazar told officers he had swerved to miss another car on the highway. His vehicle had left 65 feet of skid marks before the impact. There was about $35 damage to the Pierce vehicle, $350 damage to the Vasek vehicle and $250 to Salazar's car.

Pickup Is Total Loss In Wreck

A 1958 Chevrolet half-ton pickup was considered a total loss Friday morning following an accident at the intersection of Bradley Street and Campbell Avenue.

Officers said Delfino Sierra of 318 Avenue D, rear, was going west on Bradley Street and applied his brakes for a dip in the pavement.

He told officers the brakes grabbed and the pickup skidded on the gravel. Sierra lost control and the vehicle hit a pipe guard rail at a storm sewer.

A citation was issued for no valid drivers license.

A pound of uncooked rice yields about 2 1/4 cups — enough servings for eight, after cooking.

THE PENNEY STORY

Should you throw away your iron or keep it as a door stop?

By ROBERTA NASH

Perhaps your iron isn't obsolete just yet. But with Penn-Prest, most women never iron at all. They just let their dryer do the ironing.

(Of course, if you haven't a tumble dryer, you may have to touch up in some cases. But just a touch up.)

Please don't confuse Penn-Prest with some other 'permanent press' process that may have disappointed you. This one is different.

The J. C. Penney Company stands behind it.

Just Say "CHARGE IT".

Why iron when you can depend on Penn-Prest!

FOR OLD TIMES' SAKE — Peter Lance, left, a student at the University of Stockholm, flew to Hereford last week "just for old times' sake," to revisit his home of several years ago when he was an exchange student here, living with the A. T. Mims family. Here he and one of his U.S. brothers, Ed Mims, catch up on a little horseplay during the short visit here. Peter came to the United States on a freighter and came especially for the wedding of Charles Mims in Houston. He is now on his return trip to Sweden. He quips that his letter writing is very bad, but that doesn't mean he doesn't still think a lot about his friends in Hereford.

Ladies Turn Out For Fall Fashion Show At Gaston's

Hereford's cheerleaders, modeling in a gigantic fall fashion preview, brought in over $150 in their fundraising attempt Thursday. Sponsored by Gaston's in Sugarland Mall, the proceeds of the show were to help defray the cheerleaders' expenses.

Over 100 models were on hand to show off the "shirt look," "hardward look," "coat scene," "dress for a be-in," "dress for the late day," and the "pant look."

Some 25 fashion-conscious spectators attended the show.

SMOKERS IGNITED THEMSELVES

NEW YORK — Careless smokers are blamed for 30 per cent of the fire deaths in New York City.

The Fire Department's annual report said 74 of the 243 fire victims in 1966 died as the result of "smoking carelessness." The 243 deaths was a record number of deaths for a single year.

The number did not include the 18 firemen who died in fighting fires last year. This also was a record total.

Smoking carelessness also was blamed for 25.5 per cent of the 38,800 building fires in the city last year. Cooking carelessness was listed as the cause of 17.8 per cent of such fires.

FOUNDATION GRANT

NEW YORK — The Rockefeller Foundation has awarded a grant of $5,500 to the Ballet Theater Foundation to be used by the American Ballet Theater toward preliminary rehearsal expenses in connection with a new ballet.

Eliot Feld, a soloist with the company, will choreograph the new ballet to the song cycle of Gustave Mahler set to poems of Friedrich Ruckert.

Feld's first choreographic work, "Harbinger," was well-received by the critics last May. The new ballet will receive its premiere during the fall season in New York.

Frio News

By MRS. OWEN ANDREWS
Brand Correspondent

After Sunday morning Service at Frio Baptist Church, a short ceremony was held outside the building. D. C. Miller, building contractor, explained briefly the dimensions, type construction and purpose of rooms to be added to the church. The Rev. Sam Ogan conducted the meeting and Mrs. B. H. Baldwin turned the first spade of dirt to start the building, which is to consist of several class rooms, a dining hall, rest rooms and storage space, all included in addition at the north end of the north wing of the present building. Work is to start this week.

Plans are being made for a youth-led revival on the weekend of Aug. 24-27 at Frio. Preacher will be Bill Smith and music leader Mike Smith, both students at Baylor University from Owensboro, Ky. They plan to be in the community beginning on Tuesday.

The Floyd Cole family visited Cole's sister, Mrs. Harold Shearhart, and family at Vinita, Okla. during the weekend.

Mrs. Raymond Mobley, Kirk and Karl of Farmington, N. M., are here visiting their relatives, the Mobley and McMahon families, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Reno, Midland, spent the weekend visiting her mother, Mrs. H. M. Mobley and other relatives here.

Mrs. Owen Andrews visited the George Zetsches Friday, and brought Ann, Cay and Jim home for a visit. Cay spent the night as did Elizabeth Andrews, her cousin. The Zetsches came after attending the Kiwanis banquet, that evening.

A Franklin family gathering Sunday at Colorado City drew more than 90 persons. From here relatives attending included Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Barber, Virgil Barber, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Barber of Lubbock, Mrs. Jim Bullard, Jan Ann and Tommy and his fiancée, Cheryl Innis.

Mrs. "Buck" Stringer, Debbie and Mike, of Ojai, Calif. visited in the community the last of the week. They stayed a night with the Chas. Sells. On Sunday, the Sells and Mrs. Stringer visited the Joe Awtrys at Odessa. Mrs. Stringer also visited relatives at Lubbock. They are former residents of this community.

The Herbert Bruns and Glenn Andrews of Etter, spent the weekend at Red River, camping out.

A Scott family gathering at Lake Shore Lodge, Brownwood, was attended by about 54 persons last weekend. From here relatives included Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Dobbins, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dobbins and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Vinson and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Scott and daughters and from Dimmitt, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Scott.

The Carlton Dobbins also visited his sister, Velma Daniels, at Winters and nephew, M. L. Dobbins at Drasco.

Mrs. Bill Williams returned home last weekend, after a two-week visit at the home of a sister, Oma Dell Franklin, in Birmingham, Ala. Another sister from New Jersey and their mother, Mrs. Ralph Brown, Lubbock, completed the family members visiting together in Miss Franklin's home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Zetsche are parents of a son, 8½ pound Joe Don, born Aug. 15. Grandparents are the J. B. Zetsches of Friona and the Owen Andrews. Little "Jody" has sisters Ann and Cay, almost 10 and 7 years of age, and brother Jim, 2½ years of age.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baldwin and Kristi, have moved from Amarillo to Houston, where he will be with the engineering department of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. He has been a teacher in high school in Amarillo for the past few years. Robert was a '56 graduate of Hereford High School and Mrs. Baldwin a '57 graduate at Dimmitt.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer West and Donna and Mrs. B. H. Baldwin attended the wedding of Brad Earp and Miss Mary Graham at Wellington. Both bride and groom have been students at N. T. S. C. and they plan to attend the Baptist Seminary at Louisville, Ky. Earp is a brother of Wesley Earp, Mrs. Baldwin's son-in-law. Couple At Home After Marriage

Returning this weekend from a honeymoon in Colorado, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Batenhorst will be at home at 306 Avenue I. The bride was Miss Mary Borman before the exchange of wedding vows at St. Anthony's Catholic Church late Monday afternoon.

The Rev. Angelus Delahunt read the nuptial mass, with Lawrence Borman and Ralph Batenhorst serving as acolytes. Fans of white gladiolus filled baskets on the main altar and white mums were used with greenery on side altars of the church.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Borman of Route 1 and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Batenhorst of Umbarger.

Miss Agne Borman was her sister's maid of honor, Misses Patricia Batenhorst and Helen Borman the bridesmaids and little Miss Janie Batenhorst the flower girl.

With Gerald Brandt as best man, Leon Batenhorst and Alfred Borman served as groomsmen. Ushering guests to their seats were Vincent Friemel and Leonard Batenhorst of Umbarger, A. H. and Frank Borman of Vega.

Wedding songs by Ed Druik, accompanied by Mrs. Jim Cramer, organist, were On This Day O Beautiful Mother, What Could My Jesus Do More? Wither Thou Goest and Mother At Thy Feet. Mrs. Cramer played traditional marches.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore an empire gown of starlight bridal satin with lace scallops applied for a panel effect on the A-line skirt, on the bodice and bordering the curved train which extended from the shoulders. Layers of illusion formed her short veil, cascading from a petal headdress set on her blonde hair. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Peach-tinted peau de sole made the attendants' dresses, all styled alike with floor-length skirt and bodice overlaid with lace. Dior bows of the dress fabric were worn in their hair and their flowers were peach carnations arranged in nosegays. Wedding colors were repeated in decor of flowers on tables at a supper for families of the couple after the wedding. Mrs. Jim Wieck registered guests. Misses Barbara and Margaret Paschel, nieces of the bride, served at the bride's tables.

Mrs. Batenhorst changed to a peach knit suit with beige accessories for traveling. A corsage from her bridal bouquet was pinned at the shoulder.

She is a 1964 graduate of Hereford High School, was graduated from a school of hairdressing and has been employed at the Beauty Mart. Batenhorst is attending West Texas State College after graduation in 1964 from Umbarger High School.

Medicare Book Should Be Read

"Don't wait until you get sick. Take time now time to read Your Medicare Handbook."

This is the advice Bruce Grady field representative of the social security office for Hereford has for all medicare beneficiaries.

Grady stated that the Medicare Handbook explains how the two health insurance programs work and tells what services are covered and how payments will be made. It also contains a copy of the simple form to be used in requesting payment of doctor's bills under the medical insurance program.

The Handbook includes a listing of all the insurance organizations that will be handling medical insurance claims so beneficiaries can quickly see where claims for payment of doctor bills, home health services, and other services included in the supplementary plan should be sent.

Your Medicare Handbook is designed as a ready source of information and guidance for each person covered by medicare. Along with the red, white, and blue health insurance identification cards it is the key to medicare protection. Grady stated that anyone having any questions about his rights under medicare should get in touch with him any Tuesday at the Courthouse.

Two Vehicles Collide At Intersection

A total of $150 damage to two vehicles resulted in an accident at the intersection of 25 Mile Avenue and Union Street Wednesday afternoon.

Involved in the accident, which occurred at 12:41 p. m., was a 1962 Chevrolet driven by Larry Fuhrmann of 505 Union and a 1967 Ford driven by Mary Flores of Route 3.

Officers said Fuhrmann had stopped in the traffic lane waiting to turn left when the accident occurred. Damage to Fuhrmann's car was estimated at $50 and to the Flores vehicle at $100. A citation was issued for following too closely.

Miss Orleans Received Into Religious Order

Margaret Orleans will now be known as Sisters Mary Joan Orleans. Margaret was a member of St. Anthony Parish, Hereford, and a graduate of St. Joseph Convent High School, Colorado Springs.

As a senior in high school she participated in the London Student Conference sponsored by U. N. A. — U. S. A. and N. N. A. of Great Britain, December and January '65-66; she was class valedictorian and won a silver pin (highest award) in APSL Test '64 (Association for Promotion of Study of Latin).

Sister Mary Joan Orleans completed the freshman year of college at the University of Albuquerque Center located at Mount St. Francis, Colorado Springs during her postulancy. She has now entered the caroling year of her novitiate. During this time emphasis will be placed on religious formation and the studying of theology and Sacred Scripture.

Psychological Games

Eric Berene, M.D. has written this popular new book on psychology of Human Relationships. The style is easy and comprehensible for the average reader.

This is one of the funniest unfunny books we have ever read. It has nothing to do with fun making games as such. Rather it gives an insight into the workings of the human mind our rationalizing and self-exuses.

One simple example which many of us have played when we were not comfortable or adept with the rituals (or small talk) at social gatherings is that we offer to help the hostess with preparing the food or help serve it thus avoid playing the game.

Another example is the "Look What You've Done to Me" game blaming others for our own shortcomings. There is also the "Alcohol Game" which is played to get attention.

Under his classification there are seven or eight kinds of games with many sub-heads some of which we play more often than others. And some maybe not at all.

Mrs. Newman, librarian, says this has been a very popular book this summer. We heard of it through a friend, who in turn had been told of it by her friend. He having had it recommended by a university professor. The book gives a new and interesting slant to psychology which we think you will like and enjoy if you are interested in this type of study.

Members of the Hereford American Legion Post 192 will dedicate a new $25,000 post home today from 2 to 5 p. m. at Veteran's Memorial Park.

The new building is a 100' x 40' all steel construction complete with a modern kitchen. The inside is paneled with antique birch.

The completion of the new home marks the culmination of more than 20 years work for some members of the organization, and the realization of a dream for all who have worked so hard towards the new building. It is a credit to the organization and indeed an asset to the community.

Ira Ott, one of the hardest working Legionnaires that we have ever seen, said this week that there will be no indebtedness against the building when it is completed, although some $3,000 in bonds were sold to have all the money needed for completion of the building.

That, in itself, is a remarkable achievement.

Legionnaires have been saving their money over the years, and had over $20,000 in the bank when the construction was started some months ago. The money came from many fundraising projects, as well as the sale of some industrial sites along New York Avenue and Dairy Road.

It has been a frugal organization, and has not wasted it's money.

The new building, paid for, stands as a testimonial to a group of fine men — an excellent organization.

Be sure to drop by for the dedication this afternoon. You'll enjoy it, and the Legionnaires and the Auxiliary will be delighted to have you present.

—HB—

And before we get off the subject, we might add that much credit for the new home must also go to the ladies. Sometimes we tend to forget them when passing out the bouquets and certainly, we shouldn't.

—HB—

Have heard nothing but praise for the people of Hereford from the directors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce which met this past week in our fair city.

Although we were out of town during the meeting, we did visit with a number of the directors who left the Hereford meeting and journeyed to Big Spring where the West Texas Press Association was holding its summer convention. The West Texas Chamber group annually presents a community service award to a newspaper man or woman, and some of the men came down for that meeting.

—HB—

Incidentally, the West Texas Press Association voted to hold its mid-winter meeting in Hereford next February. The summer meeting will again go south — to Abilene, where the Abilene Reporter-News will be the host newspaper.

We're looking forward to the February meeting. We're anxious to show the press group what the people of Hereford can do when convention time rolls around.

—HB—

Don Robinson, local life insurance agent, will be joining the staff at Lone Star Agency and will head-up the life insurance end of that organization.

Lone Star is getting ready also, to make some more announcements concerning personnel. The company has grown rapidly, and now boasts of a complete insurance and real estate service for the people of this area.

—HB—

It won't be long now. It's about time for school to start again, and we've hardly gotten accustomed to summer.

Teachers will start back to classrooms this week, getting ready for classes to begin on the 28th.

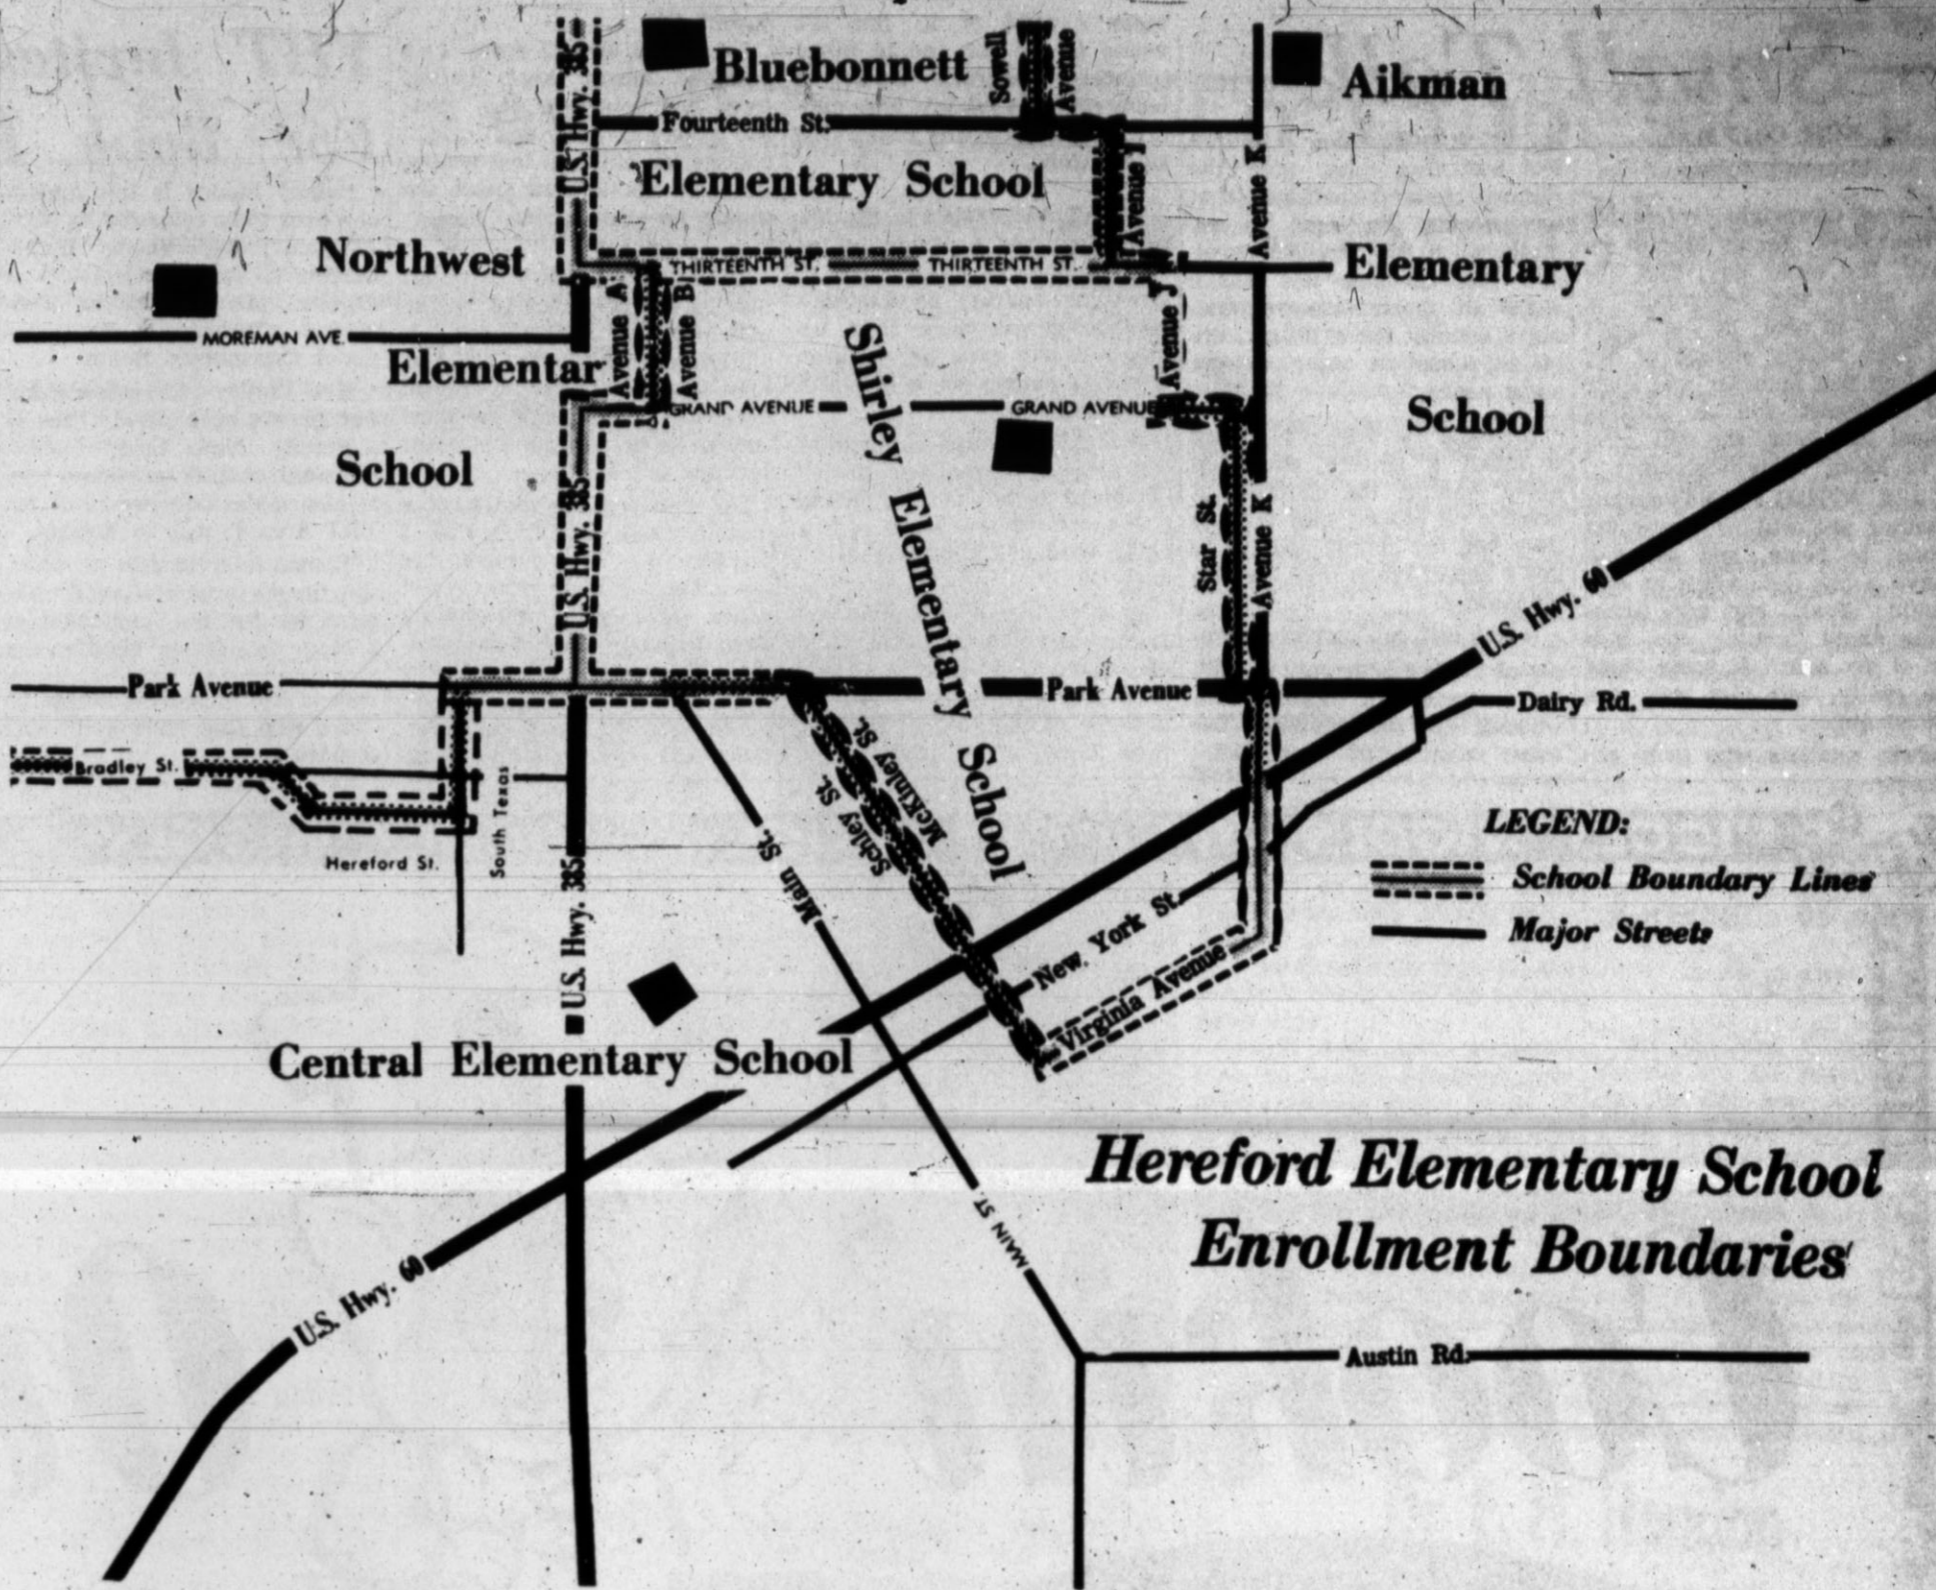

Last holiday of the summer will be over the Labor Day weekend.

—HB—

And speaking of school, pre-enrollment projections indicate that after Labor Day enrollment figures will be about the same as it was last year, with little, if any increase.

—HB—

And perhaps we shouldn't mention this, but when school starts, a lot of folks are going to have to rise earlier than has

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

It was downright refreshing to hear Mrs. James Martin remark, the other day, that she was sorry the beginning of school is so near, as she hasn't yet seen nearly enough of her children this summer and since the youngest will be starting school this year, she will surely be lonely come September.

ASK NEARLY ANY mother whether she will be happy for school to begin, and she will have a big sigh, voice an emphatic "Yes!" and add something about "getting the kids out of my hair." In some cases she really feels that way, but not always.

Even mothers who truly enjoy being with their children feel that they must give the flippant answer because that has become the thing to do.

Mother's on TV "family comedies," in cartoons and comic strips all make cute remarks about sending the little stinkers off to school in order to get some peace.

It would be dimly square to make a sincere statement about wanting the children at home a bit longer, they feel, so they join the chorus and try to get a bigger laugh than the other mamas.

It was bad, back when evidences of mother love were stylish, for a woman to gush about wanting her darlings with her every moment, when she didn't mean a word of it. But it's worse to me for one to make insincere wisecracks about not being able to stand her children, just because that's the smart trend.

THAT ADDITION to the Howard Johnsons' home out on the Vega Highway is the cause of an extra sparkle in Lorene's big brown eyes these days, because it will give her a large studio to pursue her enthusiasm for painting.

A building almost as large as the original house was moved in, joined to the house to spread it out toward the west, and is being readied for use as a studio.

In a cabinet of the building Lorene and Howard found a single, much-used spur. He suggested it as the inspiration for a name of the studio. The Old Spur Studio sounds pretty good, doesn't it? Lack of a special room for painting hasn't kept Lorene from her hobby. In the past, she paints a lot, and taught classes for children last winter. But with all the new space she should be even busier.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is a reply to a recent letter sent to Senator Tower concerning the draft status of two Hereford doctors, Noble Ballard and Howard Johnson. Joe Soliz wrote the letter upon the request of about 15 local citizens.

Dear Mr. Soliz: Your recent letter concerning Doctor Noble and Doctor Howard Johnson is certainly appreciated.

You may be assured that I understand and share the concern of the citizens of Hereford and surrounding communities over the possible loss of the services of Doctors Ballard and Johnson. Therefore, in order to be of all possible assistance to you in this matter, I have contacted the Department of the Army and I have requested that this situation be thoroughly reviewed and that the needs of the citizens of Hereford be taken into consideration.

Sincerely yours,

Talk of Texas

By Jack Maguire

FROM SIN TO SANCTITY — Arlington's Bible Seminary may be the only such school in the world with trap doors and secret passages leading from classrooms. There is even a tea garden which, legend says, has a false bottom.

The cloak-and-dagger sturr dates back to the days when the seminary was a lavish dining resort known as "Top o' the Hill". Guards were posted at every gate and nobody entered until "approved" by the owners. It seems that the dining room could be converted in seconds into a complete gambling casino.

In 1947, Texas Rangers finally made a successful raid and closed the place. In 1956, a fundamentalist Baptist group headed by the late Fort Worth evangelist, J. Frank Norris, bought it and turned it into a school for ministers and missionaries.

STRADIVARIUS, TEXAS-STYLE — Experts say that Earle Harold Sangster of Dallas is the only man who has been made able to build a violin that duplicates the tonal qualities of those made by the Italian master, Antonio Stradivarius.

Sangster, who began making violins as a 14-year-old boy in Nova Scotia, is believed to have mastered the secrets of the violin-makers of the Italian Renaissance. The 87 violins which he has turned out thus far are virtually indistinguishable from a Stradivarius in tone and workmanship.

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY — A bottle of whiskey helped to make Marshall the capital of Harrison County.

When the voters decided to move the county seat from Pulaski, landowners vied to have it built on their property. One Peter Whetstone, himself a member of the locating commission, especially wanted the new courthouse built on his 160 acres. The other visited the site, but decided that it was too dry.

Whetstone then played his trump card. He pulled a large black bottle from a nearby hollow tree and passed it around. Each commissioner took a long swig, then agreed to take another look at the property. They decided that Whetstone's 160 acres weren't dry at all and directed that the new town be laid out on the site.

THE BUFFALO SOLDIERS — For three decades following the Civil War, troops of Negro soldiers kept Texas safe from Indian attack.

Congress authorized the formation of regular Army units composed of former Negro slaves under white officers. These became the 9th and 10th Cavalry Regiments and the 24th and 25th Infantry. Both cavalry units served with distinction at Fort Davis, which still stands 25 miles from Alpine on State Highway 118.

Because of their close-curling hair, the troops were dubbed "Buffalo Soldiers" by the Indians.

GO YE AND PREACH — Summer Bacon a Cumberland Presbyterian missionary, preached the first Protestant sermon ever delivered on Texas soil. It was at an open air meeting in 1828 on the Old San Antonio Road not far from San Augustine.

Terrell Speaks To Club

BYRON TERRELL, Special Education teacher in the Hereford school system, spoke to the Kiwanis Club at the regular noon luncheon Thursday.

Byron Terrell, a special education teacher at Hereford High School, Thursday spoke before the local Kiwanis Club telling members of the efforts now being made by the school systems to educate students needing additional help.

"Special Education," Terrell said, "is some help for the individual that cannot be helped by the normal procedural processes of school teaching."

He pointed out to Kiwanians that many people do not understand the purpose of Special Education, thinking that the instructors deal with retarded children only.

"Actually, Special Education covers both ends of the scale," Terrell said. Those youngsters helped under the Special Education program range from the orthopedically handicapped, the mentally retarded, the deaf, blind, those with speech impediments as well as the student with an abnormally high IQ who becomes bored with the normal class work.

Terrell told club members that the Special Education program includes seven levels of education. The first three, he said, should be handled on an elementary campus, with levels four and five conducted in Jr. High and levels six and seven on the senior high campus. After the students have successfully completed the seven levels of work, they are eligible to receive a high school diploma, according to Terrell.

The Texas Legislature has set the ages of six to 21 as the appropriate ages for schools to handle students in Special Education.

Terrell pointed out that this is a rapidly changing field and that concern for the mentally retarded has expanded rapidly in the past 10 years, with many advances being made in the care and prevention of mental retardation.

The nation has finally recognized that the cost of dependency is staggering, Terrell told Kiwanians, and that now, for each $1 spent on rehabilitating the dependent individual, that individual returns $10 in taxes when educated to the point of self sufficiency.

Terrell, who has been working with the Special Education program in Hereford for the past two years, is a former Superintendent of Schools.

Miss Lamb, B.E. Grover Repeat Vows In Church

Mrs. Byron Edward Grover ... nee Miss Sharon Lamm (Angel Photo)

Marriage of Miss Sharon Lamm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lamm, 503 Avenue J, and Byron Edward Grover, son of Mr. and Mrs. Avery Blewins of Mountain Grove, Mo., was solemnized in Temple Baptist Church Saturday evening.

The Rev. John N. Devin, pastor, conducted the double ring vows as Mr Lamm gave his daughter in marriage. Background for the ceremony was an arch covered with green leaves, flanked by paired candelabra and baskets of chrysanthemums.

Miss Shirley Simpson, maid of honor, Miss Sheryl Hood of Amarillo and Miss Becky Long preceded the bride down the church aisle to music of an organ procession played by Mrs. Albert Ricketts.

Jimmy White was Grover's best man, Wayne Jones and Gary Price groomsmen. Ushers were Merle Clawson of Amarillo, the bride's cousin, and Larry Brown.

Jackie Lyn Allmon was the flower girl and Terry Clawson of Amarillo, cousin of the bride, carried the rings.

Alton Lamm, brother of the bride, and Randy Clawson, her cousin, lighted candles at the altar before the bridal party entered.

As a prelude to the ceremony Miss Rosie Rogers sang O Perfect Love, and during the service, Twelfth of Never and Wedding Prayer.

The bride's gown of candlelight slipper satin was made by her paternal grandmother, Mrs. W. A. Lamm. The empire waistline was marked by a band of scalloped Alencon lace and similar bands edged the Watteau train. Long sleeves were of lace, and motifs were appliqued over the front of the gown.

Four tiers of silk tulle floated elbow length from a headpiece of lace petal points and fabric roses beaded with seed pearls, sequins and crystals.

She wore an emerald lavalier which Mrs. W.A. Lamm wore as a bride, and another heirloom piece was her maternal grandmother's gold wedding band.

Attendants' gowns were patterned on that of the bride, made of lace bonded over orchid. Panels of orchid slipper satin were attached at the high waistline in back with fabric bows.

Double bows and roses of orchid satin held short tiered tulle veils. Each carried a nosegay of lace-circled orchid pompons, tied with satin streamers.

For the wedding reception in the church fellowship hall, Misses Jan Dean, Sydney Davis and Suzanne Constant served punch and cake from a table laid with white net over satin and centered with orchid flowers. Miss Barbara Buck registered guests.

The three-tiered wedding cake surrounded by four heart-shaped cakes and set on a reflector, was made and decorated by Mrs. Brice Glass.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover left after the reception for a honeymoon in New Mexico. She chose for traveling an orchid and white full-length coat over an orchid dress worn with white accessories and a corsage from her wedding bouquet.

The couple will leave August 28 for Darmstadt, Germany, where they will make their home until Grover's term of military service is completed. He is a SP 4, U. S. Army, and has been stationed in Germany for some time.

Mrs. Grover was a graduate of Hereford High School with the 1967 class.

She has been complimented with several parties as a bride-elect. The rehearsal dinner was held Friday evening in the Calson House, where her parents were hosts to members of the wedding party and their immediate families.

Tables were decorated in the wedding colors. Both the bride and groom presented gifts to their attendants a the dinner.

Wedding guests from other cities included Mrs. W. A. Lamm of Lubbock, the W. D. Clawsons, Merle Clawson, Kenneth Hood and Leon Hatley families of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Lamm of El Paso, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Simpson of Wichita Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Spencer and family of Sunny-side.

RACIAL CLOCKS

CAPE TOWN, South Africa — Labor Minister Marais Viljoen told Parliament that factory owners may now use time clocks to record overtime worked by employees.

But, in keeping with the country's policy of apartheid (race segregation), separate clocks will have to be provided for whites and nonwhites, he said.

Temple Baptist Sunbeam Tea To Climax Week

A tea for parents will be hosted by the Sunbeams of Temple Baptist Church, children aged four to eight, this afternoon as the climax of Sunbeam Focus Week, observed each August in Southern Baptist Churches. The children will give a short program.

'Christmas in August' has been the theme of the week, as the children put their mission lesson into action by taking gifts of toys and craft supplies to the church and placing them under a Christmas tree set up there.

These gifts are to be sent to a new mission church in Colorado for work with children. Temple Baptist Sunbeams also made gifts Tuesday for their parents, to be presented at the tea at 5:30 p. m. today, and flower holders which they filled with flowers and gave to residents at Kings Manor when they sang there Wednesday.

Thursday each Sunbeam visited a prospective member and presented small Bibles as gifts. Afterward they met at the

SS Card Must Show Changes

Your social security record is a very important one. In order to insure that all wages you are paid are credited to your account you should have your correct name on your social security card.

If you change your name by marriage be sure to correct your name at the social security office by completing a Request for Change in Social Security Records form. Upon receipt of this request the Social Security Adminstration will issue you a duplicate social security card which shows your correct name. Your number will be the same as that shown on your original social security card but the name will be changed on your card and the social security records.

You can then be sure that all the wages you are paid are properly credited to your social security account.

RULE CHANGE ASKED

SALEM, Ore. — Oregon Methodists have petitioned their church to eliminate "legalistic proscriptions" against drinking and smoking from its disciplinary code.

Know how to shape cloyerleaf rolls? Pinch off pieces of yeast dough and shape into balls about 3/4-inch in diameter. Dip the balls in melted butter and place 3-balls in each buttered muffin cup.

A little ham leftover? Dice it and add to creamed cauliflower. Ham and cauliflower are extremely compatible!

From the Sweetbriar Shop, she has chosen a high-necked black sheath with its own costume coat, double breasted and high-buttoned, cut on princess lines but with a half-belt in the back. Material is a linen weave of rayon, cotton and acetate. Black gloves and bag complete the costume.

BUCKLED BELT adds a smart touch to the new longer length pullover worn by Beverly Packard with a matching yoke-and panel skirt pleated at side front. It's a Bobbie Brooks all-wool outfit from Little's and the color is a lively green called New Turf. Beverly, daughter of the Charles Packards, will be a freshman this fall at South Plains College in Levelland.

VERSATILE SUIT, made of orlon acrylic knit by Aileen to look right at home on the campus or in classroom, is worn by Karolyn Betzen for Harman's downtown and mall stores. The ribbon stripe blazer with brass buttons has a dashing air as it accompanies a straight skirt and shell in solid color. The model is a junior student in Hereford High, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Betzen.

WRINKLE-FREE KNIT is a favored fabric of school wear, seen here in a sapphire blue skimmer worn by Paula Haug, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Haug and a seventh grade student at Stanton Junior High. Bonded orlon acrylic makes this Allen-Press from from Anthony's Mall store, worn with fishnet hose and black suede tongue pumps also from Anthony's.

Newcomers In Profile

Five States Were Home

By SUE COLEMAN

States in the northern and southernmost, in the eastern and western edges of the United States and in the nation's mid-section have been home for Mrs. Bob Jones, who came to Hereford in June when her husband took up the duties of Boy Scout executive for this district. They moved from Greenville, S. C. and previously lived in California as well as in Stuttgart, Germany, when Jones was in the Army in early years of their marriage.

Slender, brown-eyed Mrs. Jones was born in Minnesota and spent most of her school years in Iowa, but she also lived in Texas while she was growing up, and is no stranger to the Plains area as she taught two years in Muleshoe before her marriage.

She received her degree from Jones University in Greenville, and the couple had returned to that southeastern city for her husband to complete his university work.

Mrs. Jones will teach first grade at Northwest Elementary School here next term. She has continued to teach, in elementary grades, in most of the places where the Jones have lived.

Her eagerness to begin her work in Hereford schools is echoed by her daughters. Jeanie, 7, is ready for the start of school and her work in the third grade, while her six-year-old sister Debbie wants to get started as a second grader. Both girls, incidentally, are California natives.

In addition to duties as a teacher and homemaker and time for some work in her church, Mrs. Jones likes to sew, makes some of her own clothes and all of the girls' also does such sewing as making draperies for her home. She aids her daughters in making clothes for their many dolls, and is teaching them sewing skills that way.

The Jones are living in a new house near the north end of Greenwood Street, and in about two months have got fairly well settled. Since moving is no novelty to her, Mrs. Jones gets a new home arranged to suit her family in short order.

Getting acquainted is no problem either, as the Jones don't sit back and wait for older residents to make all the effort.

Mrs. Jones says her own work and her husband's are conducive to quick acquaintance in a new city and she has found Hereford a friendly place. Even the family pet, a black-spotted dog named Princess, seems quite at home in present surroundings.

During their stay in Germany, the Jones managed to travel in 13 different countries, enjoyed exploring Europe on their off-duty time, and took pictures which were made into a collection of slides which they still like to look at.

Except for the Baptist Church, the only organization in which Mrs. Jones holds memberships are those relating to the teaching profession.

Ohio State's Gary Cairns kicked 11 of 12 extra points for the Buckeye eleven last fall. He made 5 of 11 field goals, one of which was a Big Ten record 55 yarder against Illinois.

Accident On Third Results In $400 Damages

A 1959 Chevrolet pickup driven by Rufus B. Hutson of Hereford also was going east on Third behind Whitten when the collision occurred. There was $175 damage to the Hutson ve-

NEW LIONS — Joe Aguirre (middle of Lions by District Governor Ken left), Tirso "Longo" Cuellar and Raul Gutierrez are welcomed into the ranks last week.

Lions' Governor Initiates Three For Paisano

Paisano Lions Club initiated three members this week when District Governor, Ken Waugh attended the group's meeting.

Initiated were Joe Aguirre, Tirso "Longo" Cuellar and Raul Gutierrez. Others who are becoming members of Paisano include Freddy Moreno; Freddy Gamboa, Fred Romero, Raymond Zamora and Trinidad Gomez.

Speaking to the group, the district governor said that "we grow as we serve; through a group we can do much more than we can as individuals serving our communities. Lions has done more than any other club to promote the idea of service."

Waugh reminded the club that members were being asked to initiate some new project as an anniversary of Lions International. He pointed out that there are 35,000 new Lions this year; however, it is not numbers "but what we can do with our numbers" that makes a club good, Waugh said.

Amarillo Climbs On Feed Lot Band Wagon

Normally, we do not like to argue with people — especially when they are bigger than we are. However, now that Amarillo has decided to jump on the band wagon, and take full credit for promoting this area as a feed lot center, we find things a bit difficult to reconcile.

Thanks to Amarillo people and Amarillo interests, Hereford has been dragged through the mire at least twice as a result of local feed lots. In addition, we are even now branded as the pollution center of the nation. The fact that our feed lots are meeting all state requirements seems to make little difference and many area citizens feel that we have been victimized without regard to fairness, truth or equity.

In view of Amarillo's attitude toward feed lots in general, we could not help but smile to ourselves when their illustrious mayor appeared on television Sunday evening and took great pains to pat our Big Brother city on the back for its leadership and success in locating feed lots over the territory. His Honor even predicted that Amarillo would become the cattle feeding center of the nation, which he felt to be a wonderful thing for Amarillo, and he was happy that Amarillo had been able to help so many neighboring smaller towns.

So far as we know, Hereford and Friona actually pioneered the movement, which was advocated as far back as 40 years ago by G. W. Brumley, pioneer cattleman of Hereford. In fact, about the only help we have noticed from Amarillo in this direction was the announced removal of the PGC feed plant from Hereford to their own city; plus, of course, their pollution smears from time to time.

We do agree with the mayor, however, that the feed lot is destined to change the so-called Golden Spread more than any other single development during the present century. Without doubt, Amarillo will benefit tremendously, and we are happy about the whole thing.

But, please, Mr. Mayor, save that "hokem" exclusively for the voters at home. The only kind of "help" Amarillo has even given us in the feed lot business is the kind we can most easily do without. What's more, so far as we can tell, the same is true of the entire feed lot industry in West Texas and Oklahoma.

Johnson Drops In Popularity

Results from political polls last week indicated a drastic popularity drop for President Johnson which resulted, according to analysts, from his recent request for an increase in taxes. All of which brings up the question of whether the American people have finally reached a point where they are ready to do something about taxes.

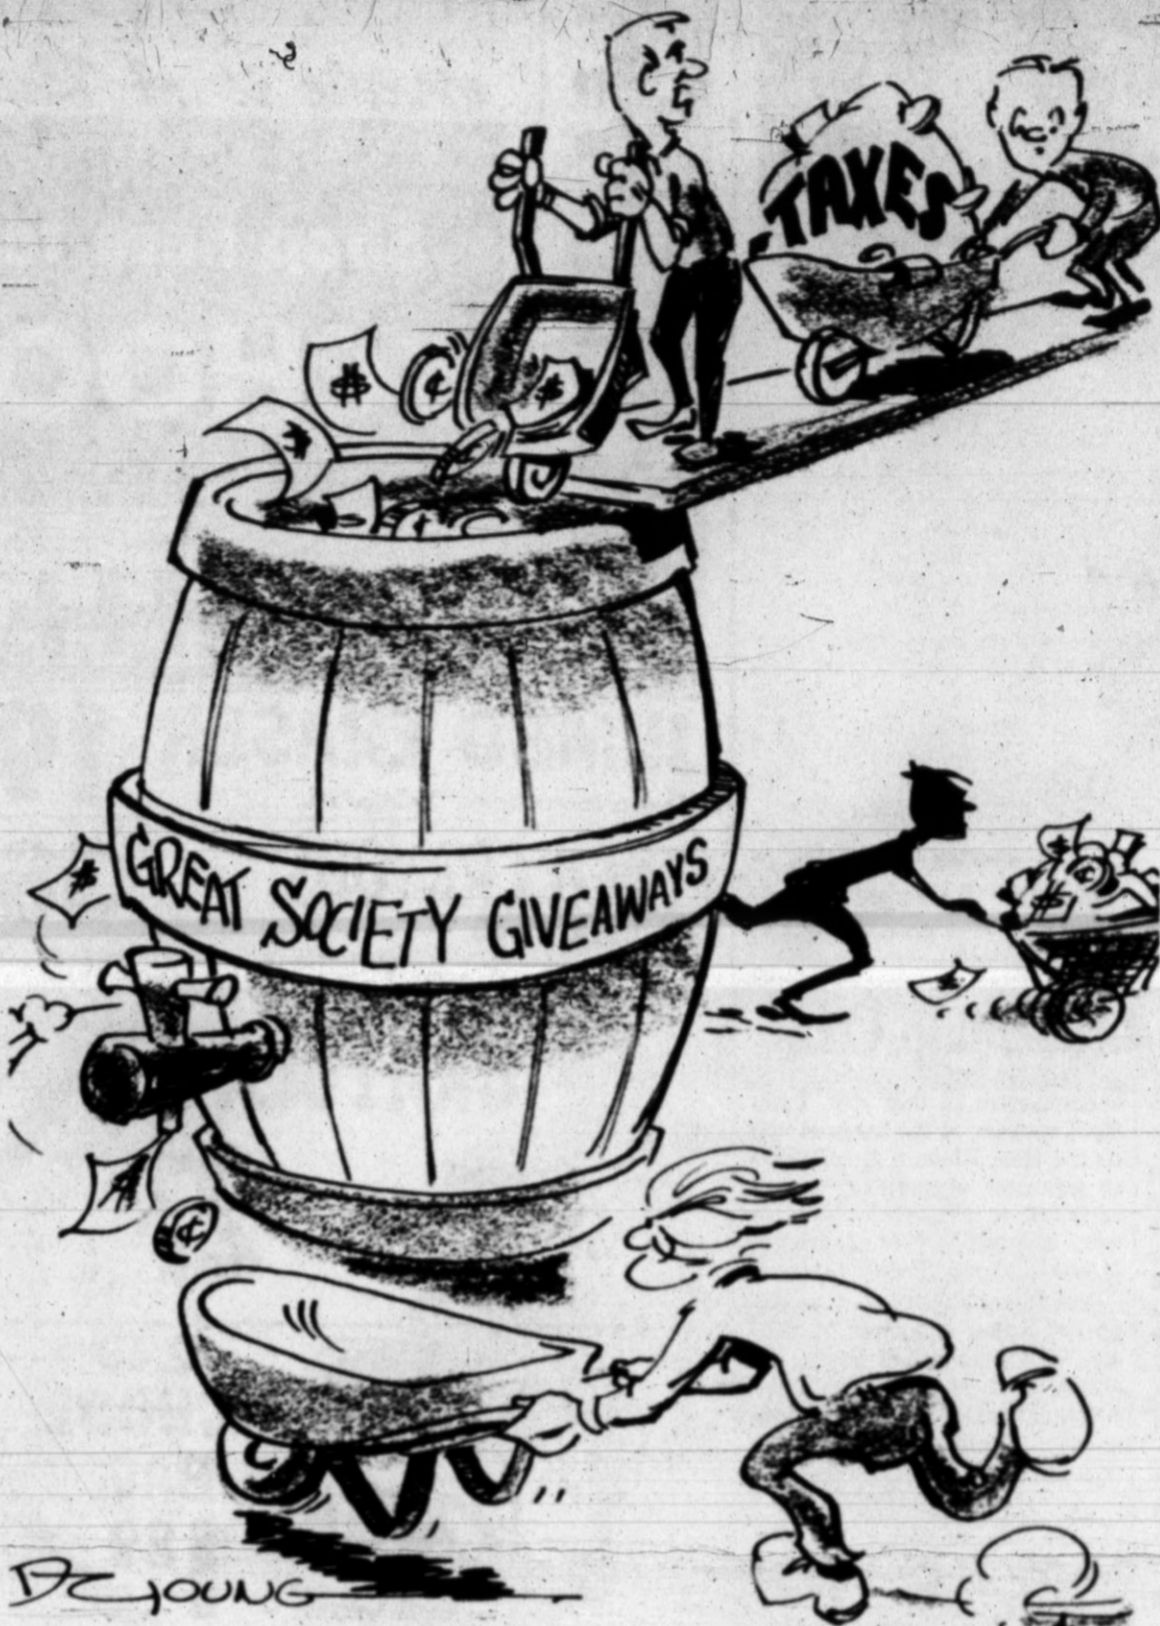

For a nation whose founding fathers migrated to a new and strange land to escape burdensome taxes, we would say that things have gone a long way in the reverse direction. In fact, we often wonder whether it really makes much difference which of our two major parties is in power, since both pretty well base their administration on the theory of handing back part of our money as a lure to continue their term in office. Meanwhile, under both of our parties, it appears that the bureaucrats pretty well run things according to whatever rules they favor and can make stick at the time.

Uncle Sam's "tax take" has already reached such a point that even the smaller businesses and farm must consider their tax situation before they can make a move, thus free enterprise is often stifled and modern growth is frequently promised upon how much government participation one can expect.

As a result, we are beginning to view a tremendous expansion of truly big business, Corporations, under the guise of diversifications, are gobbling up the smaller companies and fast creating such monopolies as the country has never before dreamed — all in the face of more anti-trust laws than ever before in history. Farming, likewise, has undergone a tremendous shift into centralized operations and offers every indication of still further concentration of operations.

The primary answer, once again, is our centralized government and tremendously high "tax take". Without an unlimited supply of money and deficit spending, our government would, like most of us, see things in a different light. For this reason, it seems, that this sudden interest in tax costs may perhaps be the brightest light to appear in the United States in many years. Through this approach we may even see a new party emerge and, who knows, it could even lead to a return of our government to the people, once they decide they should do things for themselves rather than let Uncle Sam do it.

I HEAR THEY'RE COMPLAINING ABOUT HAVING TO PUSH THE WHEELBARROWS NOW...

No More Mistaken Path To Happiness...

By LARRY FUHRMANN
The chance to get off campus and live in a world "a little more down to earth" is an asset in any student's education, although it may appear to the student as a dull three months when he doesn't have the traditional beer bust or the gay, gay party to occupy his spare time. But during this dull, dull spare time of his, he can do some discovering about his wonderful life in those hectic nine school months. Boys can come to grips with their pseudo-relationships and girls can take off their inch-thick makeup, apparently intended to cover up even the most wonderful personality.

Being around a lot of students in any school, whether large or comparatively small, brings it consequences; it's a time when all the years of Mom's and Dad's influence is put to a rather severe test. Needless to say, the results are upsetting (at least at first).

To look at portions of the college crowd, one would wonder if they ever had any kind of upbringing, morals, standards, and so forth, in the first place. Mom's little girl, who she taught to be "nice," turns into the cheapest broad; Dad's gentleman son becomes the world's biggest heel. Chances are they will stay that way (for a little while, at least).

Time takes its toll. After living it up a little while, some will find a set of values again, values that are probably quite similar to those drilled into them for some 18 years by their moms and dads. And the kids may find that their terrific campus-conformed personality isn't a personality at all; it's a plaster mask.

And to top it off, they discover that they really are no longer the "leaders of tomorrow." Tomorrow has arrived — the time has come to accept a responsible position in relation to society at large and also to other individuals.

Moms and dads may cringe as their wonderful children jump off the deep end into collegiate ecstasy. They're disappointed that the cute collegiate attitude seems to last (at least for a while). And the Janes and the Joes who have entered the ranks of students will like their new images just fine.

Until their plastered faces crack and they find that their wonderful ability to avoid responsibility in human relationships is nothing but a big, empty void of self-deception and "impersonality."

A good, old-fashioned "meeting" was held at the Courthouse Wednesday night—a neighborhood gathering, so to speak, as citizens of Clovis and Hereford met and mingled, with music and song as people used to do in the old days under a grape arbor in the Colorado river bottoms of Texas.

The Clovis Chamber of Commerce Band, a most excellent organization, held their annual picnic at Sulphur Park during the day, and generously making proposition to the people of Hereford to give them a free concert on the courthouse lawn. The offer was instantly accepted. About nine carloads of Clovis young people composed the party. Hereford's Canteen ladies were on hand to welcome the guests and Miss Elzina Mounts Junior Liberty Girls sang several songs and the Clovis girls came right back and sang some songs themselves.

Last Saturday a citizen stated to The Brand man that the bugs were ruining his garden and asked that some remedy be secured. A letter to the proper Department at the A & M College was dispatched at once, but it is a long way to College Station, and the bugs will probably get that garden before help arrives.

The Brand man could not help calling that gentleman's attention to the fact that had a Demonstration Agent been on hand the bug problem in the county could have been held in check.

Last Thursday another citizen called The Brand's attention to the fact that Garden Specialist from the A&M was then working in Potter, Randall and Oldham counties, helping the people with their garden insect problems and asked why it was that the Specialist could not be secured for Deaf Smith county.

The Brand was compelled to explain that the reason was that we had no Destruction Agent; that we do not believe we need help of that kind—that is, whether we believe it or not, we have officially said so, through our Honorable Commissioners court.

Practice for the senior band will be held tonight at 8:30 at the high school auditorium. Ralph Smith, director announced today stating that practice will be held at the same hour on Tuesday and Thursday nights until the start of school.

Any ex-students or adults who desire to practice with the band are invited to come out.

No further contracts had been let this week on the federal prison camp southwest of Hereford and the only work now in progress is the digging of sewer and water lines. No information could be received on the probable starting date for actual construction, though it fairly certain to be sometime after the first of September, when the job will be well-started and ready to be rushed to a finish.

At present applications at the U. S. Employment Office are well ahead of the need for labor on the camp job, but the lag between applications and jobs is expected to be taken up sharply when construction starts.

In an effort to speed up local work on government farm loans, the Deaf Smith County AAA Office this week announced that one other storage inspector had been hired and that a man is now on hand at the county office to go out with farmers who will furnish transportation to and from their storage bins.

Claude L. Bogle is the new farm storage inspector and will work in the northwest part of the county. Dean Dunlap of the county office force is ready to inspect bins for farmers who will come by for him at the AAA office, and T. P. McCollister, regular storage inspector, is going forward with his work as rapidly as possible.

Prospects now are for fairly rapid completion of the inspection of farm stored wheat, with work on about 1,000 loans already completed.

Pluses and Minuses Of Administration

Washington, D. C. — America will have to decide less than 15 months hence whether to reelect Lyndon B. Johnson as their President. Therefore, it is timely to make an assessment of the pluses and minuses of the Johnson Administration, one year before the 1968 campaign. President Johnson has now served nearly four years in the White House. He came to the highest office in the land under tragic circumstances and unquestionably he got off to a great start. His firm grip in the presidency in the crucial weeks at the end of 1963 reassured not only the nation but the world.

Legislation that John F. Kennedy had not been able to get through Congress suddenly became law. Medicare is the best example of many proposals that the Johnson touch moved from a Congressional pigeon hole to the statute books. LBJ was quite a hero in 1964.

At that point, three years ago, Vietnam was only a minor annoyance to most people. President Johnson had inherited the problem and was given credit for doing his best to solve it. Meanwhile there was prosperity on the home front and the nation had recovered from the shock of the assassination of a popular President.

LBJ gave birth to the Great Society. It was a rather vague concept, hard for the individual citizen to grasp, but it promised a better world. The poor were to be aided, racial discrimination was to be outlawed, and a rich nation was to devote its ample resources to an uplift program. Even the First Lady got into the act by making beautification a national byword.

'64 Re-election Came Easy. In 1964, President Johnson won a smashing victory at the polls. The Republican candidate, Barry Goldwater, was resoundingly rejected by a majority of the voters. LBJ had his mandate and his kind of Congress. Democratic majorities were so heavy legislative body that it cooked as if the President could get whatever he wanted in the way of new laws.

The Republican party was virtually destroyed by the 1964 election, when many of its key members refused to support the GOP presidential candidate. A bare handful of Republicans remained in Congress, and there were cries of despair about our two party system. Some pundits thought the minority party had come to the end of the road.

That was a short three years ago, when only the foolhardy would venture a guess that Johnson might be defeated in 1968. Today that is a distinct possibility, and there has even been speculation that the President might retire without seeking another term. There have

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm gets into some high finance, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:

According to a copy of a newspaper I found in the same ditch alongside the road out here near this bindweed farm yesterday with a note on it saying "I'm temporarily out of tin cans and bottles but will try to bring you some more next week," the cost of living index has gone up a few more points.

Talking about this, a neighbor of mine said he just didn't see how he was going to make it, every time he turns around things have gone up.

I agreed with him, to save an argument, but didn't tell him his trouble is he doesn't read the newspaper thoroughly enough.

For example, in the same issue was an article reporting that space suits astronauts will wear when they land on the moon will cost $60,000 apiece.

I got to thinking about this and decided my neighbor doesn't know how well off he is.

What if he was living on the moon with a wife and two kids? Did you know it would cost him $240,000 just to outfit his family in one suit apiece? And that just covers standard suits. Women's moon suits naturally will cost more, when you figure in the sequins and the lace. And think what it would cost Bobby Kennedy.

When you get down to figuring the other costs, say imported oxygen for the average family at $15,000 for each trip to the store, provided you use lots a 200-pound kitchen stove delivered from earth at a cost of $30,000, plus installation and possible moon sales tax, not to mention the weekly grocery bill which, considering how many food-laden rockets from earth will mis-fire and splatter on Venus or sail off into space indefinitely, will run I'd say around $20,000 for each trip to the store, provided you use lots of meat substitutes or buy the cheaper cuts, you can begin to see what the high cost of living really means.

All in all, I figure anybody making less than 5 million dollars a year can't afford to live on the moon, and that doesn't include deductions for Social Security and Withholding.

Me and my neighbor may be a lot better off down here on earth than we figured.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Casa de Amigos

By MARTIN WINCH
During the past year, pre-school enrollment at the Casa de Amigos has grown from 30 to over 70 children. Expanded facilities and volunteer support underlie this growth.

Local volunteers made possible three pre-schools at the Casa between July 5 and August 18. In June, a canvass for volunteer teachers was conducted in the five member-congregations of the Hereford Migrant Ministry. Enough volunteers responded to staff a regular and an alternate schedule for the 15 pre-school sessions each week. Nine of these volunteers were junior or senior high school students.

Eighteen persons were scheduled as regular teachers, serving at one to five pre-school sessions each week: Mrs. Fidel Alcala, Leigh Ann Allen, Lisa Allen, Mrs. Jack Allen, Lanny Buck, Mrs. O. H. Culpepper, Mrs. Frank Ford, Jr., Kay Golden, Lupe Gonzales, Mrs. Vida Jacobsen, Mrs. Michael Moore, Mrs. John Pitman, Shelley Rush, Mrs. P. B. Sowell, Mrs. R. O. Stark, Mrs. Bill Walden, Mrs. S. S. Williams, and Mrs. S. O. Wilson.

Seven of these regular teachers also offered to serve as alternates. In addition to them, seven persons participated as scheduled alternates: Mrs. Bert Boomer, Mrs. W. E. Dameron, Camille Langley, Mrs. Guy Newsum, Mrs. Velma Solomon, Mrs. Bob Veigel, and Mrs. Pat Webb. Though not scheduled to serve other persons have enjoyed putting in time on one or many occasions as alternates: Martha Kate Aikin, Ellen Mae Allen, Merle Carmichael, Wanda Fuhrmann, Gloria Moreo, and Mrs. Jeff Smart.

Two volunteers were scheduled to work at each pre-school session, with assistance from Eunice Vasquez and one or more of the VISTA workers. Miss Vasquez was present at every session, supervising instruction and telling stories and old English nursery rhymes in Spanish.

During the summer, children attending Casa de Amigos pre-schools came from more than 35 Spanish-speaking families. The children fell about evenly into age-groups of 3, 4, and 5 years, with a few more boys than girls. Older pre-school children from the Labor Camp attended the Hereford Independent Schools' excellent 8-week summer session at Shirley School.

Some of the children in Casa de Amigos summer pre-schools came from the Griffin-Brand barracks and some from the S. Schley St., area. But the great majority lived in the Labor Camp: roughly two-thirds in the barracks and the remainder in living units to the south and north.

At long last, there will be a pre-school recess during the week of August 21-25. On August 28, the two morning pre-schools will resume for the duration of the school year. Most of the children in the fall sessions will be veterans of our summer pre-schools, and a good number will enter their second full year with us.

While pre-schoolers are on a week's vacation, workers under the Casa de Amigos will be reshuffling pupils for the fall. Between 9 and 16 of our 5-year-olds will graduate to the Goodwill Center for this school year. Other 5-year-olds and as many 4-year-olds as possible will attend morning pre-school at the Casa. Our total school-year enrollment should be held below 50 to make instruction in the two three-hour classes more effective.

The Goodwill Center operates four pre-school classes daily during the school year. With a capacity of 80 children, trained teachers and bus service, the Center offers a change of scene and bigger challenges to the older graduates of our summer sessions. The Goodwill Center educates Spanish-speaking and Anglo children of many faiths; Baptist Bible instruction is given in a separate Church kindergarten only.

The Center charges a $2 entrance fee for insurance costs, plus $2 per month while the child is enrolled. It offers reports to parents and, like the Casa de Amigos, tries to keep the parents informed and involved concerning their children's education.

At the Casa de Amigos, we urge young people and adults to help out whenever possible at our pre-schools. Sessions will run between 9 and 11:30 A. M. five days per week after August 28th. Just appear, or, if you prefer, call Eunice Vasquez (364-2503) or the VISTA workers (364-4457).

been polls some months back showing Johnson trailing a prospective Republican foe.

The last time the voters cast their ballots in a national election, in November, 1966, the Republican party proved to be far ahead. The GOP made a big comeback and while Congress remained firmly under Democratic control, the minority became large enough to have some influence. LBJ didn't run in 1966 but nonetheless he took a licking. Congress is no longer a pawn for the President to move at will.

The Great Society has become a term of ridicule, and Johnson's phrase-makers no longer use the words. The President continues to advocate his welfare programs, but Congress gives grudgingly if at all. There is a national uproar over welfare spending while Vietnam war costs continue to soar. Guns and butter remain the national policy but there is increasing dissent.

Vietnam, Riots are Issues
If the Presidential election of 1968, were held today, the principal issues would be Vietnam and the rioting in cities. Republican prospects for the White House nomination next year are angling for a popular position on those issues — an unpopular war which seems endless and increasingly costly, and a grave crisis on the home front which also defy an easy solution.

Presidents get blamed for things they can't prevent. They are on the spot minute-by-minute day-by-day. It is easy enough to say half a million Americans should not be risking their lives in far-off jungles, and to deplore burning, pillaging, and sniping in the ghettos. But the question voters will have to decide a year from November is whether anybody could do better than the incumbent President has done.

Lyndon Johnson, assuming he makes the race next year, will have to convince a majority of voters that this pluses outnumber his minuses. His opponent will have to persuade the electorate that the job isn't being done abroad as well as at home and that the nation should repudiate its leader. It promises to be quite a debate.

For a steak topping, mix cream cheese and blue cheese until smooth. When the steak comes out of the broiler (or from over the coals), add dollops of the cheese mixture. They will get creamy soft and taste delectable.

Pete Progress
speaking for the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce

"The old truth that a denial does not carry near as much credence as an accusation and the demonstrated fact that if an untruth is told often enough it is accepted as the truth haunts the Chamber of Commerce at times just as it does individuals, other organizations and society as a whole" Pete declared in his latest visit.

"During the present membership drive one team captain reported that a farmer had refused Chamber membership on the grounds that the Chamber had come out in opposition to the farm program and therefore the Chamber was working against the farmer and he would never belong. We have heard this misunderstanding of the facts repeated so many times that we just have had to re-search Chamber records to try to discover the basis for it — and we have been unable to find any basis. During the wheat program controversy of some years ago this column on three successive weeks carried the arguments for the program as presented by the Secretary of Agriculture and the then Vice Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee and now Chairman, Congressman Poague and the arguments against it as expressed by the Farm Bureau and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. This column and this Chamber made no opinion statement in these columns at all and was careful to point out that the two sides were being presented impartially for the consideration and decision of the individual.

"The Chamber of Commerce, by established policy, has not in the past nine years made any declaration nor even considered or talked about in any of its meetings agriculture programs proposed or already in force. It has been recognized that there is no neutral ground in these matters; that any stand the Chamber would take would antagonize the adherents of one political philosophy or the other and the Chamber of Commerce was not the body by experience or knowledge to make any pronouncement on the programs.

"We can only believe that those who cite this have confused statements by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States or the West Texas Chamber of Commerce with the local chamber. As we have stated so many times before the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce is a completely independent organization, organizationally, policy-wise and in every other way. The policies of the regional and national Chamber are not those of the Deaf Smith County Chamber. They have no say-so in our policies, no vote, not one speck of authority over the local organization. The only relation that exists at all is that this Chamber belongs to those organizations for the services that it obtains from them. The relationship is the same between this Chamber and the West Texas Chamber or the Chamber of the United States as is the relationship between, say, the John Doe service station and this Chamber. As a member he is entitled to a vote in the election of directors who in turn determine the policy of the organization. Policy in the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce is determined after a careful study by a committee of the facts involved. After the facts are determined a recommendation may be made to the Board, a recommendation that the Chamber support, op-

Label Reading Is Advised

By Mrs. Argen Draper
Home Demonstration Agent

Clothing buying will increase next month and never before in history have consumers had it so good. The permanent press treatment on all garments and in much of the piece goods makes for much more freedom in-care of clothing.

HOWEVER, the consumer must know what he or she is about. It cannot be said too many times: Read and heed the label! Keep the label as garments can be ruined in one improper handling. The permanent press is wonderful if you will follow manufacturer's instructions.

In home sewing with permanent press, garments can be made that offer the ultimate in freedom from ironing and neatness at the end of the day's wear. Choose a pattern of simple design. Avoid trims, intricate seams and details.

Preshrink slide fasteners and interfacing. Use approximately 18 stitches to the inch with a relaxed tension. Fullness cannot be shrunk out, so eliminate unnecessary fullness in sleeves and other shaped areas.

THE GARMENTS MADE at home or purchased ready-made are washed in normal size load. Tumble dry and remove garment immediately after drying cycle is complete, shake and allow to hang briefly on hanger. If garment is to be line-dried, add fabric softener during washing and remove garment from wash immediately after spin dry cycle. Many wrinkles can be eliminated in clothing if these simple instructions are followed. And many wrinkles are added to the garments if allowed to stay in dryer after the dryer stops.

DON'T OVERLOOK the permanent press in fabric for household furnishings. These make life easier, also.

FOR MEN ONLY: Easy-care features are found in almost all ready-to-wear for men. These features are a boon in care and grooming for men, but as with many conveniences, there are some pitfalls. There are some very important things that the consumer, the clerk and the alteration person and the drycleaner must know and some rules to be followed. The perma-crease treatment on creases in pants is exactly what it indicates. The creases are permanent; thus, the big problem.

Some pants have been altered shifting the crease from the center of the leg; an attempt was made to remove the crease and press in another. Sometimes this can be done, but often it cannot.

If you see some pants with two creases, it is not a new style, but is probably from pants legs being altered on one seam and the crease shifted. Too, you may be assured these are worn by a very disgruntled person who was caught in a web of scientific advancement.

WHAT CAN BE DONE? The customer when getting the alteration done must insist that the legs are altered on both the inside and outside seams. This keeps the crease centered.

This is the customer's business to be informed to get the best looking alteration job. It is extremely difficult for people to keep up on new advancements, but with everyone making an effort, consumers can be better dressed.

Sometimes, perma creases can be removed, but it depends on several "ifs". It depends on the combination of fibers and the chemical treatments of the perma-crease.

With the proper equipment and with a certain blend of fibers, the crease can be removed with constant 350 degree heat applied for 8 minutes. The fabric recreated with 350 degrees for 8 minutes.

WE ARE QUITE fortunate here that we have well-informed and sincere merchants, clerks, and tailors. This area also has the best looking and best dressed men. At any meeting, notice the nice looking, well-fitted suits and you will agree that men are good consumers.

It cannot have enough emphasis; read the label on any garment for the fiber content and for the care instructions. Keep the labels in a certain place to refer to the care, etc. It makes for better wear and care if all concerned know the fiber content and easy care chemical treatments.

There is no one today who can identify fiber content. Educated guesses are not enough, either. Consumers have demanded easy care clothing and with it has come much in scientific developments. Do not despair as a bit of study and management can make the wardrobe very satisfactory.

Letter To The Editor

Have been reporting around here about the royal red carpet treatment you folks in Hereford extended to the WTCC directors the past week and feel I must report to you also - to say "thank you," and let you know how very much your hospitality was appreciated.

Since this was my first visit to Hereford I was much impressed with the really big little city you are so beautifully pampering. It was exciting to see how busy everything was. I visited your Sugarland Mall and enjoyed my shopping there - everyone was pleasant and friendly. My tour through the museum was an extra pleasure - you should be very proud of it, and I sensed that it had been put together with love and devotion mixed with the hard and long work it must have demanded.

My accommodations were very comfortable, and I enjoyed the fine meals everywhere. So, you can see why I hope for an opportunity to visit Hereford again soon.

Thank you ALL for a most memorable visit. Sincerely, Mrs. L. A. Preston, Director WTCC Chairman Marathon Chamber of Commerce

Mrs. Alta Campbell, director of nursing service at Westgate, had Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Goree as guests in her home recently.

Mrs. C. W. Fisher and her sister, Mrs. Long, have returned from a trip to Houston, Dallas and other points in south and east Texas.

My accommodations were very comfortable, and I enjoyed the fine meals everywhere. So, you can see why I hope for an opportunity to visit Hereford again soon.

Optimist See Safety Film

Two films dealing with rescue methods for suffocation victims were shown members of the Hereford Optimist Club during their noon luncheon Thursday.

The films, entitled "50,000 Lives," and "Rescue Breathing," were presented by Duane Janssen.

It was announced during the meeting that Thursday was the birthday of three members - Roy Boyer, Bill Angel and Marvin Coffey - and the 12th anniversary of the Hereford Optimist Club.

A board meeting of the organization will be held at 8:30 p. m. Monday at Jones Restaurant.

Make your own garlic olives. Transfer the contents of a can of ripe olives to a jar with a screw top. Add 3 garlic cloves, cut in half. Store in the refrigerator for a few days shaking occasionally to distribute the garlic flavor.

This is the effective date after which the Federal Reserve Banks will no longer handle as a Cash Item any check that does not bear the TRANSIT ROUTING NUMBER printed on the check in MAGNETIC INK CHARACTERS.

All Customer Drafts will be discontinued, in that they do not bear the magnetic symbol.

Changed checks will no longer be acceptable. Electronic sorting equipment that is used in many banks is not capable of reading the name of the bank as changed, but rather the items are sorted as to their printed magnetic routing symbol.

Customer counter checks will be acceptable when they are printed with the magnetic number, and when they are drawn on the Bank that is assigned that particular number.

If you desire personalized checks printed especially for you, contact you Bank. They will be happy to place this order prior to the Sept. 1, deadline. These will bear your name and address in addition to the required number symbol.

This Number Must Be On All Checks Drawn On Your Bank!

HOW TERRY FELLOW CHANGE FROM HERO IN CIVIL WAR TO COWARD NOW?

IT HAPPENED THREE YEARS AGO, TONTO. COLONEL TERRY WAS IN CHARGE OF THE RESERVES UNDER GENERAL GRADER.

GENERAL GRADER WAS PUSHING THE MAIN BODY DEEP INTO INDIAN TERRITORY DESPITE HIS SCOUTS' WARNING! TERRY WAS ORDERED TO STAY BACK UNTIL CALLED FOR...

A FEW HOURS LATER TERRY'S POSITION WAS SUDDENLY ATTACKED...

BANG!

TERRY CLEVERLY MANEUVERED HIS MEN AND DROVE OFF THE DRIVES.....

CONCERNED THAT THE INDIANS MIGHT TRY ATTACKING HIS POSITION AGAIN, TERRY SCOUTED AHEAD ALONE. HE CLAIMS HE SAW A BAND OF COULEE SIOUX! WITH A WAR CRY, THEY RACED FOR HIM.....

SABRE FLASHING, TERRY ESCAPED AND RETURNED TO HIS MEN.....

TERRY REALIZED IF HE DIDN'T MOVE, THE COULEE SIOUX WOULD BLOCK HIS RETREAT AND HE COULD BE TRAPPED! HAVING NO WORD FROM GRADER, HE LED HIS MEN TO SAFER GROUND!
