

Plan July 4th

By Joe Bran

Bells a-ringing, songs a-singing and a host of other activities will highlight a busy day for Hereford as a special committee will again hold bell ringing ceremonies on July 4 on the south portico of the county courthouse starting at 11:30 a.m. and ending at noon.

The bell ringing activities will be part of a national revival for patriotic observance on Independence Day. Over 20,000 of these ceremonies will be held nation-wide that day, and they all will be highlighted by ringing all bells possible at 12:00 noon.

Among the distinguished guests on Tuesday's ceremonies will be the Honorable H. C. Williams, Judge of Deaf Smith County; Mayor of Hereford Ray Cowser and as master of ceremonies, Don Zimmerman.

All persons involved in the ceremonies this year are different from the group which participated last time. The only exception to this is E. W. Allen, who will participate for the second time.

Leading the prayer this year will be Rev. Eugene Brink. Other participating are Mrs. O. G. Hill, Sr., Hilrey Aven, Alex Schroeter, Tyler Thompson, Paul Abalos and Allen.

The Civil Air Patrol will serve as the color guard this year. Taking care of all physical arrangements such as bells, public address system and seating will be the Kiwanis Club of Hereford.

Chairman and members of the arrangements committees are: P.A. System — Ernie Flippo along with Bill Wells, Gene Huntsinger, Carl Swanson and James Boyd. Taking care of the flags will be Dale Young along with Gene Brink, James Welch, Ed Roberson, Jim Gammage and Dwayne Pittenger. The bell, which will be the one that Hereford High School uses for the football games, will be taken care of by Alex Glass along with Jim Clark, Bobby Viegel, Bob Simms and Orval Watson.

Seating arrangements will be taken care of by Ray Todd along with Lloyd Crume, Harold Morton, Carl McFaul, Wayne Hedrick and Calvin Goodin. Kiwanians will be recognized as they will wear their personalized Kiwanis white shirts.

The program this year will again call for speeches by a crosscut of Hereford citizens, including both young and mature speakers, women, people of various occupations and creeds.

Choir practice will be at 3:00 p.m. July 2 at the KPAN radio station. Members of any choirs active in town, such as church or school choirs, are invited to be a part of the group. Anyone interested in participating as a choir member is invited.

Band this year will be under the direction of Lynn McLarty, LaPlata Jr. High band director, and Jim Priest, Stanton. They have announced that any band student or player be present for a short rehearsal Monday night at 7:00 at the high school band hall. Selections will be few and they will be well-known pieces.

Planned as an informal program, citizens are urged to attend dressed as they may be — from work or play. The program will begin with a band prelude. This will serve as an introduction for the assembling of the group and as an accolade for the seating of the platform guests.

Other participants include members of the American Legion which will make up the honor guard, Boy Scouts, Campfire Girls and members of Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The bell-ringing ceremonies will be held in Hereford for the second time. Last year was the first time they had ever been held as Gene Fooks, minister of Central Church of Christ, presented the idea. This year, Fooks is serving as chairman of the whole affair.

A seven-man committee planned last year's activities. The committee was composed of Clint Formby, Fooks, Gene Campbell, Ernest Langley, Mayor Cowser, Melvin Young and Raymond White. The basic plan is being continued this year.

Over 350 persons attended last year's activities and hopes are that more will attend this time.

Cowboy Marker To Be Erected

A historical marker, recalling the "Great Cowboy Strike" of 1883, will be erected at a site 5 1/2 miles northeast of Hereford on U. S. Hwy. 80 this afternoon at 2 p. m. Mrs. Henry Sears, co-chairman of the Deaf Smith County Historical Survey Committee says that the Junior Historical Society of Hereford High School will take part, being represented by president Randy Corlis.

The cast aluminum marker with Swedish steel effect measures 18x28 inches and is sponsored by the county committee. It will read: "Site of Great Cowboy Strike (2 miles south): Began in spring of 1883 when range hands from LS, LX, LIT and other large ranches organized a strike for better wages; was a reaction to loss of privileges given earlier and to attitude of big land owners toward See COWBOY Page 2

Palmer Norton Named Water, Inc. Director

Palmer Norton, Hereford farmer, rancher and businessman, was named a director of Water Inc. at a meeting of its board of directors in Amarillo Tuesday. Norton is manager of the magazine, Irrigation Age, with main offices in Hereford.

Other directors named at the meeting were Judge Otho Dent of the Texas Water Rights Commission, Dr. Gerald Thomas, Texas Tech dean of agriculture, Eldean Rae of Tulla and Frank Pharris of Amarillo.

According to Deaf Smith County Water Association chairman Dick Godwin, the board approved extending the jurisdiction of Water Inc. to take in an area (in the Red and Brazos river basins) bounded by the cities of Wichita Falls, Fort Worth, Waco, El Paso; also in Water Inc. will be 11 counties of New Mexico and the Oklahoma panhandle, as well as all of the High Plains.

BUFFALO LAKE — A high concentration of harmful bacteria in the waters of Buffalo Lake forced posting of the recreational center at noon Tuesday by federal officials. Gordon Hansen, administration of the Buffalo Lake National Wildlife Refuge, said Tuesday afternoon that area persons will be warned by signs posted not to swim or ski in the lake until it is pronounced safe for such activities. Fishing will not be affected.

Hansen said Wednesday morning that federal officials had notified him that they probably would not arrive until after the July 4 holiday. At that time, an extensive survey will be made to locate the source of the pollution.

The high bacteria count, biologists say, was caused by polluted runoff waters which entered the lake June 17 and 18 via Tierra Blanca Creek. At that time, thousands of fish — mainly carp — were caught in the creek or near the point where it enters the lake and died from lack of oxygen.

The lake rose just over two feet during the recent rains and presently has 6,440 acre feet of water. There are approximately 1,200 surface acres at the refuge. An acre foot of water contains 325,900 gallons.

The fish, said Hansen and Jack Crabtree, biologist with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission, had been triggered by the heavy rains and were heading for the shallow waters to spawn when they were hit by the "highly organic material" in the runoff waters.

400,000 FISH KILLED — Tuesday afternoon, Crabtree said he would estimate that 400,000 fish had been killed — 250,000 of them by the pollution and 150,000 from a chemical treatment which began in late afternoon June 29 and ended June 21.

The biologist said 95 per cent of those fish killed by pollution were carp and 99 per cent of those killed by the chemical were the rough fish. He also added that there were quite a few catfish (more than a year old) yearling killed by the pollution. The fish stopped dying about last Friday.

"At first I thought the number of fish killed was significant," explained Crabtree, "but after seeing thousands of them spawning in the shallow waters of the lake on the west side, I would have to say the percentage of fish killed from the lake was insignificant. There were fish so thick in those shallow waters that we could walk on them and not touch the water. Live fish."

Hansen and Crabtree began taking samples of the water early last week, shortly after the polluted water began showing up, and have continued to collect them since.

During an interview at the lake last week, Crabtree said chemical treatment of the lake for rough fish had begun Wednesday morning. His statements were printed in the Sunday Brand.

CONTROL MEASURE — Water from Hereford Feed Yards did cross this dike that the corporation had erected to prevent water from entering the Tierra Blanca. However, the overflow did not come until after heavy rains late last week; the fish kill at Buffalo had occurred earlier in the week. The fish kill occurred during June 20, 21 and the dike system at the feed yards held fast until June 23, after Tierra Blanca overflowed its banks and washed through several lots on the premises. The yards are now working on an improved dike system with technical advice from a crew of Texas Tech research men.

Anti-Pollution Pits Were Built Last Year

Feedyards and vegetable processing sheds in the Hereford area have been operating during the past year with permits issued by the state. Hereford Feed Yards was the first company in the entire state to secure such a permit.

Permits are issued after an industry that has excess water or run-off fluids, takes appropriate measures to prevent pollution of natural streams catching this over-flow.

Last June, a year ago, the Hereford Brand ran a series of aerial photos showing the water shed of the Tierra Blanca.

Extensive work was being done at that time by area feed yards and packing plants to control any possible pollution.

Hereford Growers and Shippers had installed a screening process with a cost in excess of $10,000 to keep vegetable residue from reaching the Tierra Blanca.

Dick Barrett Produce had installed settling pits and a screening process that received state approval. The system allows clean water to flow in a concrete line to the Tierra Blanca. This system first allows for cleaning and filtering that permits the water to be re-used before it is sent on its way as waste.

Caviness Packing plant located west of Hereford has a drainage system that involves a series of settling pits. The system, installed at a cost of over $10,000, prevents any refuse or waste water from the slaughtering plant reaching the creek. A check of this pit this week indicates that only the first level contains any great amount of liquid, with levels nearer the creek being virtually dry.

SANITARIAN TO TEST BUFFALO — Millard Bruce, right, sanitarian for the Texas Health Department, discusses the pollution problem at Buffalo Lake with the National Wildlife Refuge director Gordon Hansen. Bruce arrived Tuesday to make tests of the lake for his department. He is holding bottles which are used in taking samples.

Last Sewage Check Was O.K.

Charges aimed at the City of Hereford and its sewage treatment plant are being considered in City Hall, with resulting opinions indicating that state investigation of facilities here will be necessary before meaningful conclusions can be drawn.

Glen Crabtree of Canyon, a biologist with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, said, according to quotes from an area newspaper, that tests he had made last week showed the heaviest pollution in a sample of water taken along Tierra Blanca Creek in Hereford just below the city sewage plant.

Water analysis for contamination is a delicate process, however, and a check with Deaf Smith County Research Manager O. Z. Golden reveals that even that facility is not equipped to check water from the Tierra Blanca for oxygen content. Because of the intricacies involved, City Manager Dudley Bayne pointed out that Hereford has always relied solely upon the results of official state examinations to determine the bio-chemical oxygen demand (BOD) count of water leaving sewage treatment facilities and emptying into the Tierra Blanca.

The last official state report on the Hereford sewage facility was made on April 13, 1966, according to official records at the City Hall. The report just previous to that one had been made in 1964.

When state officials obtained samples in 1964, they took them from the third lagoon; there is, however, Bayne pointed out, a total of six lagoons.

BOD count in the third lagoon at that time was 45. The report did not include a BOD count for the sixth lagoon, the last stage in water treatment before it enters the creek.

A state test taken 1200 feet downstream from the city's outlet into the creek indicated a BOD count of 65 however, ac-ording to the 1966 report, indicating that the extra BOD count in the water was evidently coming from sources other than the city sewage treatment plant.

When the question of pollution arose one year ago, city officials had an Amarillo firm take a BOD count in the last lagoon. The results of that test indicated BOD count of 28; the state permit for the city requires a 26 count, but this difference is insignificant.

Bayne told The Brand that treatment facilities in all likelihood are doing a better job than they were a year ago, since the digester has had another year to build up its enzymes which decompose sewage.

Where Does The Water Go, If Not To Buffalo?

EDITOR'S NOTE: Last July 3, The Hereford Brand printed a story giving facts and figures concerning run-off rain water and the possibility of its ever getting to Buffalo Lake. The article was written as research into why Buffalo at that time was becoming stagnant and why rains seemed to cause fish kills. The following are excerpts from that article, published a year ago, under the by-line of Larry Fuhrmann.

Water doesn't really flow down that little gully known as the Tierra Blanca Creek. It just sort of saunters along. No sir, a stranger in these parts could step over the water, or rather walk across at the dry spots, and never realize that he had just crossed a creek.

along the southern edges of the City of Hereford and along the southern border of Deaf Smith County, has been the cause of a lot of fussing and fuming, verbally, concerning the pollution of a recreation spot to the east in Randall County, Buffalo Lake. How such a little 'creek' could make such a stink is just beyond some folks. On top of all this the creek doesn't drain a whole lot of land.

The Tierra Blanca is just one of "those little wet-weather creeks," says Wilton Green, director of the Soil Conservation Service here. With another creek just to the north, the Palo Duro Creek, there's not a great area left to the Tierra Blanca because of the general slope of the land in this part of the country.

Drainage area along the watershed varies greatly, all the way from just along the creek itself to about 5 or 6 miles. And the flow, certainly isn't too rapid.

"This is one of the flattest streams we've ever seen," officials at the SCS say. Guesses put the slope of the Tierra Blanca at some 3/10s foot per 100 feet — and that's a mighty flat surface to be running water down. So flat, in fact, that the water doesn't always go down the draw. Rather it just spreads out and soaks in. SCS men have seen it stretch out for over half a mile across at times.

Climatic conditions of West Texas keep the streams pretty well dried up; the 17-18 inches of rainfall, average for a year, aren't enough to make the little 'creek' move along unless several of the inches come in a hurry. Even with conditions close to the flooding stage, not much water usually reaches Buffalo Lake report the SCS officials. "I've seen water as high as the bottom of the 385 bridge that still wouldn't get to Buffalo Lake," one noted.

As it washes along the grasslands, the Tierra Blanca doesn't cut a very big gully for containing water coming down the draw following a hard and fast rain. This is, when the creek spreads out, covering pasture and grassland.

"I know the flow doesn't keep up with the evaporation," commented an SCS seaman. Water from this area seldom if ever reaches the Buffalo Lake because the slow rate allows for much evaporation from the stream; high spots in the creek create pools of water during the dry season, thus aiding evaporation. Another factor keeping water from reaching the creek in the first place are conservation measures taken by farmers, particularly towards the western part of the county, to retain the water on their land.

Besides dams, there is a "whole slug of little ponds" all along the Tierra Blanca, making a really big rain necessary to get the Tierra Blanca to move along. Native grasses, and land devoted to grasses, soak up much of any rain water before it has a chance to drain to the creek.

Only a hard and fast rain will really make the Tierra Blanca flow, and then not for long or very far. The stream just sort of lies there.

 the other men with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department that the selective killing had begun on Tuesday.

"If they're trying to lay all of those dead fish on the pollution, they're wrong," said Miller. "He didn't say anything about pollution then, but just said this was an extremely fertile lake."

Miller said he and Dettman had found only one small catfish, early Wednesday about eight to 10 inches long, among the dead fish. The rest of the thousands which lined the banks were gold fish and carp.

Asked again this Tuesday when the chemical treatment had started, Crabtree said "we actually started about 5 p. m. on Tuesday, June 20, and put down a small amount then came back the next morning with the heavier concentrations."

The first samples taken by Hansen were sent to the Bi-City-County Health Unit in Amarillo for analysis. Results of the laboratory work, returned Monday, led to the posting orders from the U. S. Bureau of Sports Fisheries and wildlife office in Albuquerque, N. M.

SAMPLES SHOW WATER HIGHLY UNSAFE

Of the five samples of lake water taken by Hansen, only one was below the safe level index of 1,000 coliform organisms per 100 millimeters of water. The coliform organism, Crabtree explained, is a bacteria which can cause typhoid fever, polio and some viruses.

The coliform organism is found in the colon of animals and humans. It is not harmful by itself, but as its concentration increases, the likelihood of harmful bacteria being present increases, explained Bill Dunn, laboratory director at the Bi-City-County Health Unit.

The most significant sample analysis, taken by Hansen on the west shore of the upper end of the lake — near where the polluted water entered — revealed a count of 160,000 coliform bacteria per 100 millimeters.

Another sample, taken from the mouth of the creek, showed 54,000 coliform bacteria per 100 millimeters. One taken near ski jump on the east side of the lake had a count of 1,700 coliform bacteria, another nearby had 5,400, and the fifth sample — taken near the lake dam — had 700 coliform bacteria per 100 millimeters.

"That is the reason we are advising the public that the lake is highly contaminated in spots," stressed Hansen.

Also revealed were the results of water analysis made by graduate students of West Texas State University on the lake last year and earlier this year.

On October 25, 1966, seven samples were taken. Highest coliform bacteria count of the seven was 172 per 100 millimeters, while the others were 106, 23, 27, 37 and 49.

Five other samples were taken on November 27, 1966. The coliform count per 100 millimeters was 70, 27, 2, 7 and 5.

The samples, said Hansen, were taken in and near the same area his samples were taken. He added that the cold weather during the sample taking in November would not have kept the coliform bacteria count low. Samples also were taken in January and February, during freezes, and the count was less than two coliform bacteria per 100 millimeter.

BIOLOGIST CHECKS HEREFORD

Asked if the results of his samples had been different from those taken by Hansen, Crabtree told this reporter that they were basically the same.

He was quoted in the Wednesday morning edition of the Amarillo Daily News as saying that "tests he (Crabtree) had made last week showed the heaviest pollution in a sample of water taken along Tierra Blanca Creek in Hereford just below the city sewage plant."

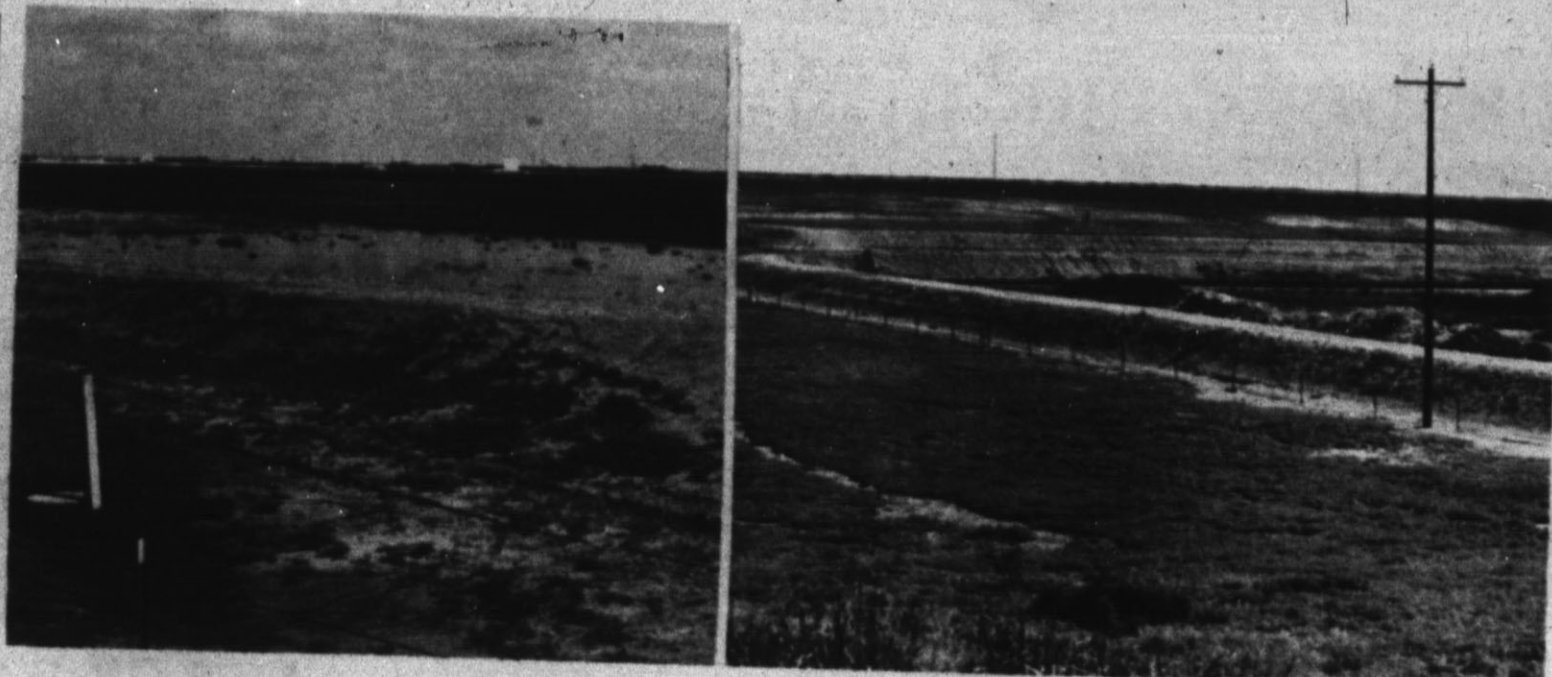

Continuing, the story said "he (Crabtree) said samples of water taken below two feedlots along the drainage also showed excessive contamination, sufficient to kill fish in the creek."

Crabtree was directly quoted as saying "Officials with the Texas Department of Public Health have been notified for the last three years that pollution was coming from the city of Hereford."

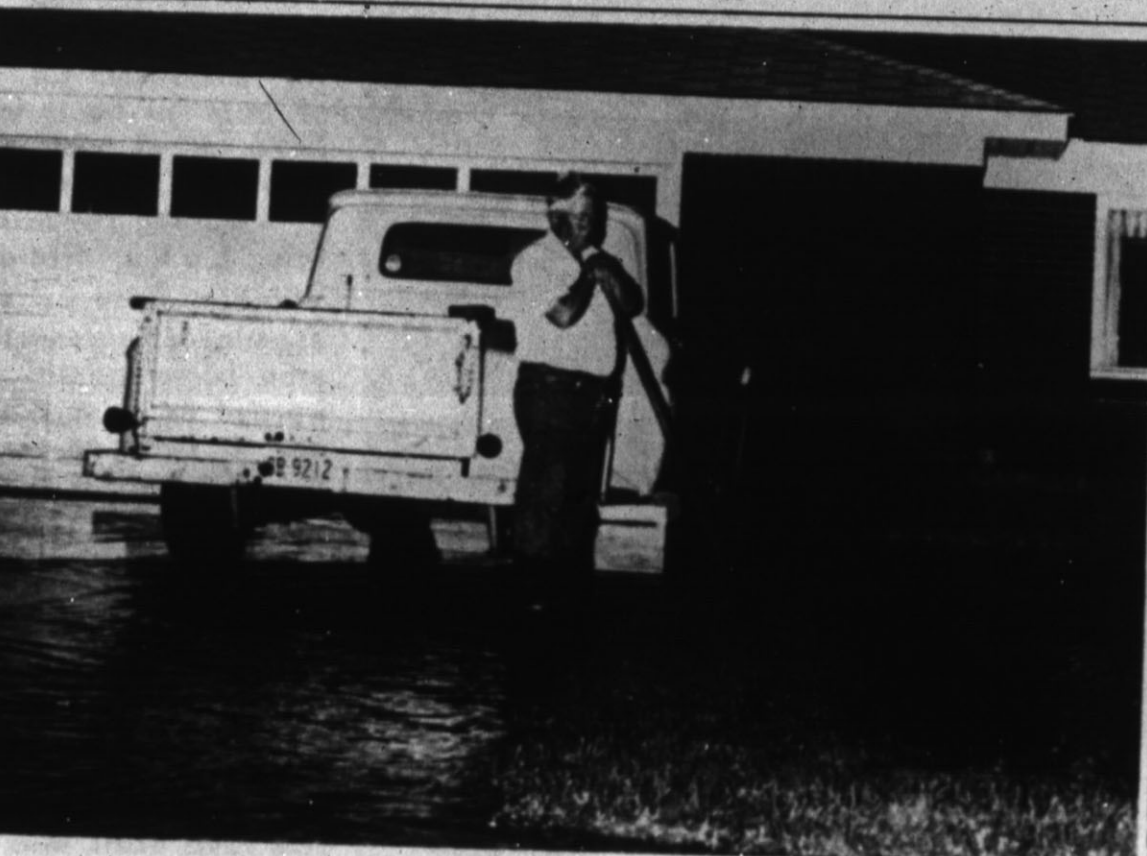

The biologist also was quoted in the story as saying that "the water sample he (Crabtree) took from a third feedlot along the Tierra Blanca drainage showed almost no contamination. The lot is owned by the Holly Sugar Corp., and Crabtree said the company had an extensive waste treatment."

"It's what might be considered a model pollution control system," he said.

Jaycees Stage Rolling Pin July 4th Event

Deadline for entries in the Rolling Pin Throwing Contest and Pet Show, to be sponsored July 4 by the Hereford Jaycees, is Monday.

The Rolling Pin Contest, said Jaycee President Larry Kaul, will begin at 3:30 p. m. in Dameron Park. The contest will be open to women no younger than 15, with first prize to be $15; second prize, $10, and third prize $5.

was Millard Bruce of Lubbock, sanitarian with the Water Pollution Control Division of the State Health Department. Bruce took Tuesday afternoon and said he hoped to do his analysis in Amarillo, the results to be ready in four to five days.

A team of scientists from the Texas Tech agricultural engineering department in Lubbock was in Hereford Wednesday checking for possible pollution of the Tierra Blanca and Frio Creeks.

Composed of five men and one woman, the team visited the Holly Sugar Corp. Feed Yards and Hereford Feed Yards during the day, the Brand learned. Results of their visits and other places they stopped were not known at press time. The scientists were hired by the Texas Cattle Feeders Association.

FEELINGS MIXED ON CLOSING

Feelings about the reported closing of the lake for swimming and skiing were mixed over the area. A resident of Umberger had definite feelings about the matter, telling this writer that "you people in Hereford are going to get it now. The federal government is in it this time. There won't be any politics, or payola or anything like that. The furr is going to fly. They will be moving feed yards and table yards sheds and might even move the city of Hereford."

A Hereford man, when learning of the posting orders Tuesday, said "Well I'm not surprised. We were skiing over there about two weeks ago and there were cow chips everywhere."

EDITOR'S NOTE: From evidence gathered by the Brand, any chips present would have to come from pasture cattle. Examination of feedyards in the area indicates that no manure from the feedyards is evident in cow-chip form. Feedyards become packed and manure is moved from the yards in block

Contestants will have three throws each from inside a measured circle and the best toss will be counted. The pins to be used are approximately 12 inches long and weigh a pound. Entry fee for the contest is 75 cents.

Right after the contest, said Kaul, the Pet Show will begin in Dameron Park. Three judges will select a "Grand Champion" and "Reserve Champion" pet after studying qualities such as appearance, obedience and grooming.

Kaul said any type of pet except insects may be entered not only in their division, but also will be eligible for the top award. The winners in the dog and cat divisions will be presented trophies, as will those winning the smallest pet.

Kaul reminded those entering that "pets must be leashed or held in the arms at all times and can be disqualified for breaking this rule."

Entry fee for the Pet Show is 50 cents per pet, and may be mailed to the Hereford Jaycees, Box 804, Hereford.

The Jaycees also will be selling fireworks for the holiday, said Kaul, and orders may be made with any members.

form, much like peat bogs in European countries. Rain or liquids from feedyards are being caught in the Hereford area in pollution pits that have been approved by the state. These pits hold liquids from the feedyards and none is dumped into the creek, evaporation taking care of the collection. The pits are presently holding more than they have in past months because of recent rains, but a check of pits late last Friday in the area indicated that none had had any overflow into Tierra Blanca and that all could still hold many more gallons.

VISITING DROPS OFF

Last year, Hansen said, 283,000 people visited the lake. Since Jan. 1, there have been more than 320,000. On the weekend of June 10, there were an estimated 15,000 persons who came to the lake. There were about 13,000 area residents on the lake during the weekend of June 17.

"This past weekend, from Friday night to Sunday night, there were under 1,000 persons here," said Hansen. "Probably around 500." Hansen has been refuge director since November.

"fair" price of $3 may rise in July, giving growers in the area better luck than they got last year.

Local shippers will have to let the market raise itself, and can't be cutting prices if any fair return is expected this year, says Ed Wilson of Colville & Wilson, who says chances are definitely good for an upward market trend.

With the ground as wet as it is, it may be July 8th or 10th before the potatoes come out of the ground. Some fields may have their vines beaten early next week.

After the vines are beaten from the plants, the crop has to stay in the field from at least four days to a week in order for the skin to set following the termination of the growing process. That puts the earliest date for harvesting at July 8th, about a week to 10 days later than the average year's harvest.

White potatoes, Norgolds, won't be ready until July 15th or 20th.

Onions, although of good quality in this area, will probably face a low market, a survey indicates.

Some sheds have already started processing onions, but the major part of the crop won't be dug until more sunny weather dries the ground. This will be at least a week.

Although the market is poor, producers and shippers here may be able to attract better prices via better quality. Other onion-producing areas of the nation, with crops already cleaning up, have not fared as well as in former years. Small onions of poor quality have been produced.

Putting higher quality onions on the markets could bring some price relief for producers here.

Commissioners Set Equalization Date, July 24

Deaf Smith County Commissioners voted Monday to meet July 24 and 25 as a Tax Equalization Board.

It was decided that the hearings will begin after 1 p. m. on July 24 and then continue the next day.

Commissioners purchased a 1967 half-ton pickup for Marcus Latham of Precinct 2, trading in a 1962 model. Low bidder for the sale was Orsborn Chevrolet-Olds with a price of $1,223.25. The only other bid was $1,339.01 submitted by Orval Watson Ford Sales Inc.

In the only other action, commissioners approved the laying of concrete blocks around a gas line by Pioneer Natural Gas in Precinct 2. The blocks, to be laid as a safety measure, will be on a half-mile right of way granted by the gas company by commissioners.

One Juvenile Receives Term, One Probated

A 15-year-old Latin American boy was sentenced to a term in the State School for Boys at Gatesville Tuesday morning in connection with the theft of four cars and three burglaries.

Deaf Smith County Judge H. C. Williams, presiding as juvenile judge, pronounced sentence on Richard Marry after hearing testimony from Raymond C. Reynolds, Hereford policeman who made the arrest June 17; the owner of the car in which Marry was found, and Reuben Marry, the juvenile's father.

Placed on probation by the judge was Juan Jimenez, 15, who was charged with the theft of a car from the Labor Camp, burglary, and for being drunk.

Last Thursday, two other juveniles were given probated sentence by Judge Williams after they had been charged with burglary.

By MELVIN YOUNG
In the year 2063, if indeed there is still a civilization, the world will be wondering about the assassination of John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

Was there a conspiracy as some people claim? ... or did Lee Harvey Oswald act alone?

Apparently Oswald took the answer to that question to the grave. Certainly, the Warren Commission report left many avenues unexplored which gives rise to numerous voices of dissension. Their findings, as published in the official report leaves many questions unanswered.

But personally, we can find no room for argument with the basic finding of the committee.

Certainly we believe that Lee Harvey Oswald killed our president.

We believe the act was committed by this lone mentally deranged individual from the sixth floor of the Texas school book depository building.

We believe, as witnesses have testified, that three shots were fired.

Whether or not the late President and Governor John Connally were both struck with the same bullet is of little importance from where we sit. What difference does it make?

In fact, after watching three nights of the CBS special on TV, we conclude that we probably missed some pretty lousy reruns only to hear that CBS has uncovered nothing new pertaining to the case.

Perhaps it's time to rest the case and leave the families of all concerned to live in peace.

Don't forget those flags folks. Tuesday is Independence Day. There will be a ceremony on the south steps of the courthouse at noon, and it's a proper day to fly the American flag. Let's have one at every home in Hereford.

Flags can be purchased at the Hereford Brand.

By the way, there will be a dedication of a historical marker — site of the Cowboy Strike — this afternoon at 2 p. m. The Deaf Smith County Junior Historians will conduct the dedication.

There will be other dedications to follow including one next Tuesday morning preceding the special July 4th program at the courthouse.

Incidentally, the Junior historians will keep the museum open all day Tuesday.

First Class Mail Size Extended

Mailers will be able to send 25 pound parcels between first class post offices which are 150 miles or more apart starting July 1, Postmaster Nolan Grady reminded patrons today. The present weight limit is 20 pounds he said.

This is the first of five increases scheduled to take effect annually until 1971, when a 40 pound, 84 inch maximum size will be authorized between all first class post offices. Size limitations are now 72 inches in combined girth and length.

The next increase, on July 1, 1968, will raise the weight limit to 30 pounds. On July 1, 1969, the weight limit will be increased from 30 to 40 pounds; on July 1, 1970, the size will be increased to 84 inches.

Postmaster Grady also reminded mailers that parcels weighing up to 40 pounds can be mailed between first class post offices less than 150 miles apart. Packages addressed to and from 2nd, 3rd, and 4th class post offices, Alaska and Hawaii are not affected by the increase in size and weight provisions of the Public Law 89-573, which became effective January 15, he said. Parcel Post mailings to and from these offices remain at 70 pounds and 100 inches.

Words seem so inadequate to express the deep feelings of the heart. But, since words are the best vehicle at hand to attempt to convey our feelings, I should like to resort to their use in an effort to convey to the people of Hereford our deep love and sincere appreciation. Your acts of kindness, words of encouragement, deeds of love, and prayers for us, shall long be a distinct source of inspiration and motivation in our future.

After having served our Lord as Pastor of First Baptist Church of Hereford for these six and one-half years, it is most difficult to leave this people we love so very much. Hereford is characterized by its friendliness, optimism, and progressiveness. Hereford has everything that goes into a well rounded city. It has a great school system and fine churches of all faiths which affords opportunity for the education of the whole man.

Our new field of service will be at the Alum Rock Baptist Church, 2962 Story Road, San Jose, California. If every you come to California, please be our guests. We leave our prayers and best wishes with you all — a great people!

'Texas' Opens At Palo Duro

Six flags flying over the Pioneer Amphitheatre in Palo Duro Canyon will signal the opening Friday night of the musical drama "Texas." Program time is 8:55 p. m.

Governor and Mrs. John Connally's presence will highlight the initial presentation; the Connallys are coming as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Gilvin. Gilvin is president of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, producer of "Texas."

Six actors, singers, dancers and horsemen make up the cast and tell the story of the settling of the Texas panhandle every night (except Tuesdays) June 30 through Labor Day.

This is the second season for "Texas." More than 61,000 people saw it in 1966. Some reaction of the press were: New York Times, "dramatic lighting effects . . . enliven the gorges and canyons;" Red Book, "Most fascinating;" Houston Post, "A thunderstorm with lightning playing along canyon rim and thunder reverberating from the walls so realistic that audiences except to feel pitter of rain;" Ft. Worth Press, "a quality production."

The average distance driven last year to see the show, according to a questionnaire was 380 miles. The amphitheater was built by the people of the Panhandle assisted by the State of Texas helping through the State Parks and Wildlife Department. To build the theatre and produce the show, over half a million dollars was raised.

Hereford Mops Up With Betts At The Mound

Lynn Betts pitched a one-hitter Tuesday night as Hereford defeated Groom 10-0 in an American Legion game.

Betts gave up a single to the second man up in the first inning and then held the Groom batters hitless the rest of the way. He faced only 24 batters in the seven innings, walking two and hitting another. A double play helped his cause in one instance.

Hereford slammed out nine hits, including two doubles by Kenny Hagar, another by Lenzie Petree and a three-run homer by Gene Duvall.

Hereford was 7-2 going into the game Wednesday night with Canyon. They will play Tascosa at 5 p. m. Saturday on the Hereford High School diamond, and will host Tulla for a double-header beginning at 2 p. m. Sunday.

Hays Implement Co. Still Growing After Six Years

By JOE BRAN

Hays Implement Company, a business which has served the needs of many area farmers since 1961, in Hereford, has emerged as one of the most prominent and accepted businesses in this rich agricultural area among the many older firms.

The company is composed of two stores — one in Dimmitt and one in Hereford. The Dimmitt place is actually the first to have opened in 1945 when A. C. Hays, Jr., bought the store and operated it until his brother Jim Hays, joined him as partner some few years later. Cecil Oglesby became a partner of the company in 1952 and later became manager of the store in Hereford. The Hereford place was purchased in 1961 from Herman Neff, a dealer of International Harvester farm equipment and machinery for many years in Hereford.

Oglesby proved to be one of the biggest assets the company had as he had previously worked for the IH company in Amarillo prior to coming to Dimmitt.

A graduate of high school in 1938, he entered Amarillo Business College for two years and later served three years with the U. S. Air Force.

After his discharge from the service, he worked in the district office of IH in Amarillo up until 1951. He was zone manager at the time of his resignation.

The Dimmitt place is managed by Jim Hays, A. C. Hays, although he is a partner of the company, does not work at either location but does look in occasionally.

He is a farmer and rancher in his own place east of Hereford. Besides that, he is a partner of a feedlot in Dimmitt.

The company offers all types of farming equipment and machinery manufactured by International Harvester Company, a nationally-known firm with offices also in foreign countries.

Trucks, tractors, pick-ups, farm implements and other agricultural necessities are available from Hays Implement Co.

Work is done on any make of farm machine and implement although the company prefers to service what they sell or the same brand name at least. However, they will work on any other make of farm machinery or anything that deals with farming.

All employees at Hays Implement Co. in Hereford are experienced in the farm implements field. The mechanics which Hays boasts are well seasoned in their jobs and offer the best of service to their customers.

Parts foreman at Hays Implement is Ben Plummer and assisting him is Ray Henderson.

Shop foreman is John Fields. Handling the bookkeeping and secretarial work is Mrs. Bill (Lucille) Bolinger.

Fields has been with the company for a long time. He was working in the Dimmitt place and moved to Hereford when the business here was purchased.

Plummer and one of the mechanics, Buck Rose, used to work for the former owners of the implement house here.

Besides all the help Oglesby has at the company, he also has two sons, Larry, 20 years old, and Ray, 18, working in the shop.

Larry is working as mechanic and likes it quite well. He is planning on working as a mechanic for a long time.

Ray, however, has other ideas. He is going to attend Northwest Texas State College next fall in Denton and plans to major in Business Administration. After his graduation from college, he will join the Air Force and finish his duty in the armed forces.

He plans to come back to Hereford after he gets all of his education and service over and work at the company.

A graduate of Hereford High this past spring, Ray is also a member of the Civil Air Patrol unit here and is a 2nd Lieutenant. He also is president of the Youth Council of the First Baptist Church here.

His favorite activities are numerous. He likes to fish, hunt swim, water and snow ski and a host of other sports.

His brother, Larry, also does all this things as he is a great sportsman, especially the outdoors type.

In all, 14 persons are employed at Hays Implement Company here besides Oglesby. Serving as salesmen for the Hereford place are Marvin Harris and E. M. Myers.

Oglesby and his wife Ella, live at 107 Sunset and have one other child besides the two boys. She is 11 year-old Beckie, who will be a 6th grader at Northwest Elementary School next fall.

The Oglesbys are active in their church activities, Mrs. Oglesby belonging to the W. M. U. (Women's Missionary Unit).

Oglesby is an active member of the Kiwanis Club.

The family's pleasure is obtained by going on outings quite often and also boating. Buffalo Lake is one place they visit quite often, but Ute Lake and Lake Meredith are two other favorite places. Asked about the pollution of Buffalo Lake, Ray answered, "if the water is polluted in any way, it sure does not seem like it. As a matter of fact, the water now looks even cleaner than what it used to be." The Oglesbys, will however, go somewhere else boating and water skiing in the meantime until the pollution problem is all cleared up in Buffalo Lake.

Oglesby added at the end that the success of the business was due mainly to the many satisfied customers who had dealt with Hays Implement Co. through the past years. He said that "Hays Implement Co. is growing right along with Hereford but our continued growth is attributed to the many satisfied farmers of this area."

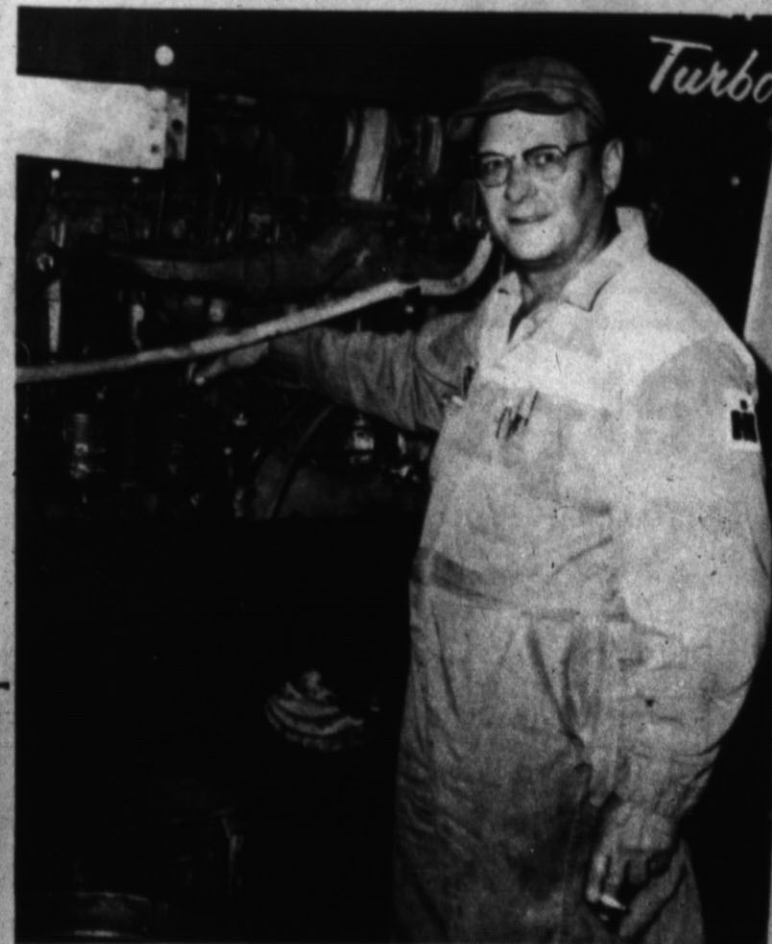

The company is located south of Hereford on U. S. Highway 385.

LUBBOCK — Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. adopted a $200,000 budget, set policy on three legislative matters affecting the cotton industry and laid other plans for the organization's 1967-68 fiscal year in Lubbock June 22 at the final 1966-67 meeting of its Board of Directors.

The new budget will cover from June 30 this year to July 1, 1968, and includes such major items as $22,200 for 12 cotton production research grants; $17,200 for fiber research, textile mill consulting services and utilization research, and $26,000 for advertising and public relations.

The total figure represents a reduction of over 10 per cent from the $222,700 budgeted for the 1966-67 years. However M. A. (Rip) Elms, chairman of the PGC Finance Committee, pointed out that operating economies effected in the current year resulted in actual expenditures of just under $190,000.

PGC budgets for both this year and last, Elms said, have been reduced to bring association spending closer to its income from lower production under the current cotton program. PGC income is primarily from voluntary producer dues of 15 cents per bale.

On the recommendation of the Executive Committee, which met for two hours immediately prior to the Board meeting, the directors went on record as opposing the inclusion of cotton in the provisions of S-209, a bill now pending in the Senate which ostensibly would protect producer bargaining rights.

John D. Smith of Littlefield, PGC President and chairman of the Executive Committee, said the committee felt there might be a need for such a bill in other areas producing other commodities, but there was no need for it in the cotton industry on the Plains. The vote to exclude cotton from the provisions of S-209 was unanimous.

Donald Johnson, PGC Executive Vice President, advised the Board of recent efforts in the House and current efforts in the Senate to impose a dollar-limit on the government payments that could be made to any producer under present farm programs.

After only a brief discussion the Board resolved to "oppose limiting in any means the amount of government payments to individual producers of agricultural commodities."

PGC contends, Johnson says "that such a limit would penalize those whose initiative in the past has made this the world's undisputed agricultural leader, place a ceiling on future initiative effectiveness of farm programs in their goal of assuring an adequate, reasonable priced supply of food and fiber to meet the nation's requirements."

Johnson also gave the Board a report on general crop conditions across the cotton belt. He stated that reduced acreage together with adverse spring weather conditions which have prevailed across most of the cotton belt could well hold 1967-68 production to 9.5 million bales or less.

"The cotton surplus is expected to be down to around 12 million bales by August 1 of this year," Johnson said, "and with domestic and export consumptions this season estimated at around 14.8 million bales, there could well be a need for the production of several million more bales in 1968 than will be produced this year."

DUDLEY CAMPBELL

Feeders Services Expands With State Growth

Dudley Campbell, 36, of San Antonio, has been named director of Cattle Feeders Services for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association. In making the announcement, Grady Shepard, Chairman of TSCRA Feeders Committee, said that Campbell would assume his new duties at the Fort Worth headquarters on July 1.

Campbell is well known in livestock circles throughout the United States, having been secretary of the American National Cattlemen's Association in Denver, Colo., from 1960 to 1965. He has been director of the Texas office of the National Live Stock and Meat Board since that time.

A native Texan, Campbell was born and started to school at Kingsville. Shortly afterward, his family moved to LaPryor, then after a number of years to Fort Cobb, Okla., where he was graduated from high school. Campbell attended Texas A&I College, receiving a bachelor of science degree in animal husbandry in 1957. He was a recipient of the Kleberg Scholarship member of Alpha Chi, honorary scholastic society, and Whos Who in American Colleges and Universities, and served as president of the Aggie Club and vice-president of the student council.

Following graduation he farmed for a time then was employed as a USDA research worker at the Fort Robinson Beef Cattle Research Station, Crawford, Neb. He returned to college at Colorado State University and received a master of science degree in animal breeding in 1960. Campbell is married to the former Kathleen "Kate" Clarkson of Refugio and they have three children, Allison, 7, Kathleen, 4, and Sam, 1. Campbell's employment is part of an expanded feeder services program recently announced by TSCRA President Ben H. Carpenter of Dallas. In making this announcement Carpenter called attention to the fact that Texas is expected to be the number two cattle feeding state in the nation within two years and the number one cattle feeding state within a decade.

Drop-Outs Must Be Spotted Early, Researcher Finds

AUSTIN — After the seventh grade, any attempt to prevent students from dropping out of school is "shutting the barn door after the horse has escaped," in the majority of cases.

That is the conclusion drawn by Dr. Hari R. Douglass of Boulder, Colo., a former education professor who now is a consultant and investigator on secondary education, in a research bulletin of the Texas Study of Secondary Education. The TSSE, with headquarters at The University of Texas at Austin, is coordinated by a long-time UT professor of secondary education, Dr. J. G. Umstatt. Dr. Douglass' booklet, entitled "Important Current Trends in Quality Secondary Schools," says it has become increasingly recognized that the potential dropout and the underachiever as well as the very bright and creative child should be identified as early as possible, "certainly not later than the seventh grade."

The majority of most likely dropouts, he reports, have developed in the primary and intermediate grades "very unfortunate attitudes toward school, school subjects, teachers and parents."

Dr. Douglass explained that more than half of the dropouts who return to school never graduate — "apparently it was too little and too late."

"Most of these students need to have special training, and some of them need to be put in sections for the dull students and special counselors assigned to them," he said, pointing out that there is "a strong trend" to have returned dropouts enrolled in area or regional vocational schools.

In dealing with underachievers, potential dropouts, returned dropouts and with problem bright boys and girls, high grade counseling has proven to be a must," Dr. Douglass said. He continued: "In the schools in which best results are obtained, counselors give more attention to the needs of individual students in helping with the selection of subjects to enroll for and in making assignments of these deviate students to the most competent and sympathetic teachers with appropriate personalities."

In his opinion, most potential dropouts and underachievers have inferior reading abilities which lead to poor grades and bad attitudes toward school, teachers, parents and themselves.

Next to improvement in reading, Dr. Douglass lists three important areas in which poor students can be helped:

—See that the potential dropout "belongs" in the sense that he is involved in various clubs, activities and the social life of the school.

—See that he is given a feeling that teachers are as much interested in him as in other students.

—See that he is scheduled for a combination work-study program in which he spends part of the day in work for school credit either at school or at some occupation in the community under the diversified occupation and distributive education plan.

Dr. Douglass, who has been a

4-H Clubs Give Horticulture Aid

The most beautiful time of the year is now! Trees and flowers are fragrant and colorful; gardens are abundant with good things to eat; orchards are at their peak.

Afterward, the chapter president, Jean Kennedy, outlined aims and requirements of the NSA and told the significance of the emblem.

Responsible for some of this beauty and abundance are 4-H youth engaged in horticultural projects. Nearly 200,000 boys and girls from coast-to-coast are working on a wide range of garden, landscape and floral projects, according to the National 4-H Service Committee.

Florence Robinson poured red punch during the refreshment hour, and Faye Dirks served cake squares decorated with sugar roses. A gold cloth, reaching to the floor, covered the table which was centered with an arrangement of red roses.

Until recently, garden projects were restricted pretty much to vegetables and flowers. Now ornamental landscaping, indoor gardening and expanded work in orchards and other areas of horticulture have been added.

In addition, the highest scoring individual per state will be a delegate to the 1967 National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago with all expenses paid. National scholarships of $500 each will be given to the top eight state winners. All winners are named by the Cooperative Extension Service which supervises the 4-H program.

The National 4-H Horticultural program, sponsored for more than two decades by Allis-Chalmers, is designed for rural and non-rural young people. Because of the many different projects possible — from a beautiful window box to growing and selling fresh vegetables at a roadside stand — 4-H'ers with even limited space can learn, earn and enjoy the results of their labors.

A 1966 national winner has already applied his scholarship at Louisiana State University where he is a freshman majoring in landscape architecture. An Alabama 4-H'er, he expanded his project to include landscaping, an orchard of 31 trees and a large vegetable garden.

County and state fairs are goals set by the more experienced youngsters where his prize winning produce, plants, flowers and the like can be displayed for thousands to see. Local exhibits and a variety of awards await 4-H'ers who constantly strive to "make the best better." Allis-Chalmers provides annual awards for county, state and national winners in all 50 states and Puerto Rico. Last

Another scholarship winner was a high school senior girl who lives in Michigan. Her main crop was strawberries, but she also cared for an acre of small fruit and a large flower garden. She has been successful in experiments with indoor flowers. She used white violets and glorioxias for church decorations and gave flowers to shut-in

FOR GOD SO LOVED THE WORLD

...without army, or navy, or air force. Thirteen small struggling colonies set themselves against imperial might, and they won. Led by men of character, devotion, courage and high ideals, the men of Valley Forge won our independence, our Fourth of July. They were lovers of Liberty and of God. But our freedom did not come easy. God bless the memory of those historic patriots who laid everything on the altar for their country... their lands, their homes, their families, their very lives. Are we worthy to follow in their train? Just what are we paying for this rich inheritance? Let us bow on this Fourth of July, in devout gratitude. Let us help make "Christian America" truly Christian, more loyal and more Godly.

Library Gathers Kennedy Items

By PEGGY SIMPSON
DALLAS — More than 500 bits and pieces of emotional tribute to President John F. Kennedy, left at the site here where he was assassinated, now are under lock and key at the Dallas Public Library.

Some samples are on display in a second floor glass case.

The others — musty and weather-stained testimony of Kennedy's standing with citizens of the world — are in a clear plastic box in the vault.

The odds are high eventually they'll be restored and displayed, at least some at a time.

Until recently the mementoes were stored in a city warehouse with no apparent intent to offer them for public view.

Then Mrs. Martina Langley, a Kennedy admirer from the suburb of Richardson who was instrumental in persuading the city to erect an historical marker at the site, began agitating for preservation and display of the mementoes.

Taking a cue from the historical fuss, in which public opinion swung behind Mrs. Langley in pressuring the city to mark the spot for the steady crowd of visitors, the city with little fanfare in April transferred the mementoes to the library.

Mrs. Lillian Bradshaw, library director, calls the mementoes "of great significance in the Kennedy story as it transpired here."

Under her direction, the library has collected copies of newspapers published on Nov. 22, 1963, date of the assassination and is accumulating publications as they appear about Kennedy and the controversy around the assassination.

Mrs. Lucille Boykin, chairman of the Texas history and genealogy division, has a free hand in restoring the Kennedy tributes but she's limited on two counts: A small amount of display space and the already deteriorated condition of some notes and poems.

"The whole event is always going to be part of Dallas' history," Mrs. Boykin said. "These mementoes are a part of the

LET'S COOK SOMETHING Newcomer Likes Cooking

A blonde native of Michigan who has exchanged, at least for the present, a career as a laboratory technician for that of homemaker and mother, Nancy Lukonic is the new mistress of the parsonage at Wesley Methodist Church.

THE REV. JOE Lukonic and his family moved to Hereford the first of this month, when he was assigned as pastor of Wesley Church after service as associate pastor of Polk Street Methodist Church in Amarillo.

Like his wife, he was born in Michigan and the couple came to Texas when military service brought him to Ft. Bliss, El Paso, about 10 years ago. He chose to remain in Texas to study for the ministry, first at McMurry College, Abilene, then at Perkins School of Theology in Dallas.

Mrs. Lukonic, educated in Michigan and Minnesota, found employment in her profession at El Paso and in the cities where her husband was a student.

THE COUPLE NOW has two children, Jeff, three and a half years old, and Andrea, two years younger, with blonde hair, blue eyes and dimples like her mother's.

The minister's wife likes being "just a housewife" with time to enjoy her children. She gives time to the church, too, working where she feels she is needed.

Cooking is one of the house-keeping tasks that appeals to her.

"Our whole family has good appetites," she explains. "Any of us will eat almost anything, so cooking is a pleasure instead of a chore." Most of Mrs. Lukonic's knowledge of cookery came with experience after her marriage.

SHE LIKES TO SEW, and classes that as her principal hobby. She makes most of her clothes, even tailored garments like coats, and now she is keeping an eye on styles for little girls, getting ready to dress her daughter as she grows up.

The Lukonics have gotten pretty well settled in the parsonage just east of Wesley Church, and are beginning to feel acquainted with members of the congregation, but they have not had time to extend their acquaintance much farther.

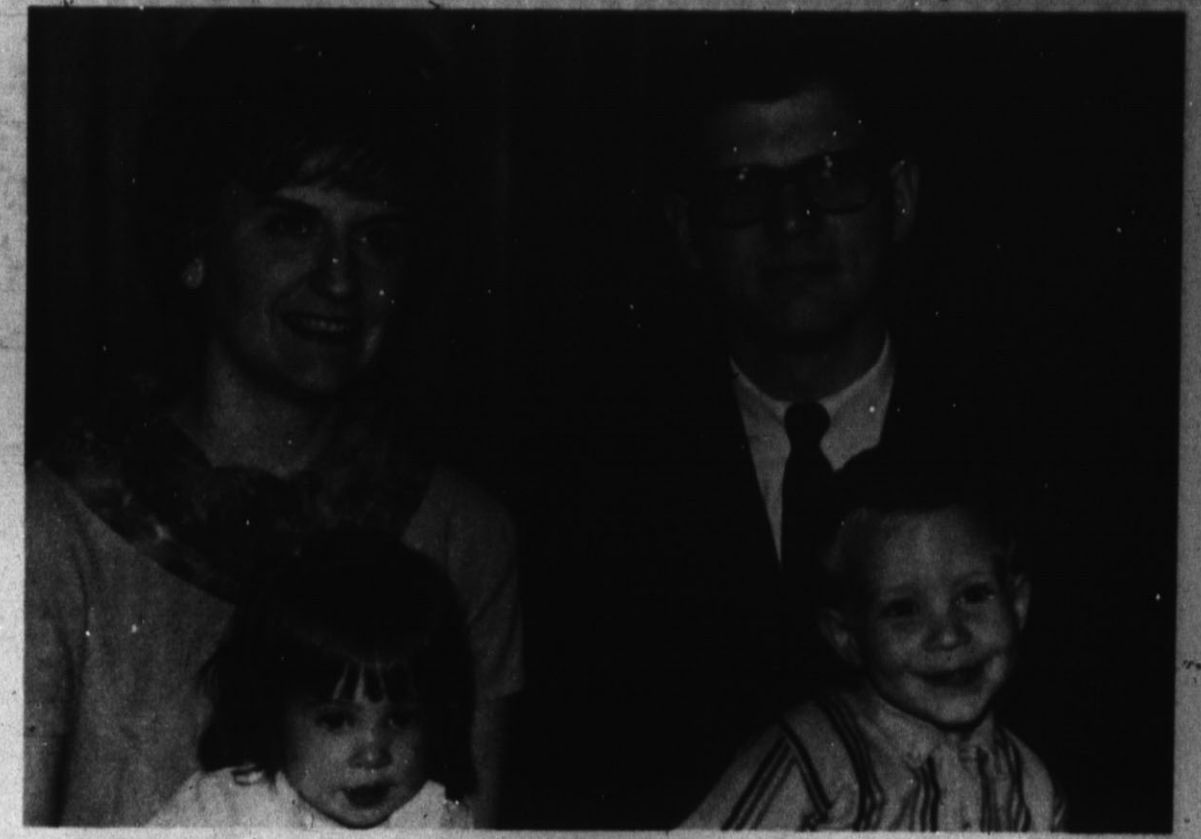

Nancy Lukonic looks forward to making more friends in her new home town, and has a recipe that she has used in other cities which she expects to be as helpful here. She found it some years ago and believes others would like it:

RECIPE FOR HAPPINESS
 Take 2 heaping cups of patience, 1 heartfelt of love, 2 handfuls of generosity, 1 headful of understanding, dash of laughter. Sprinkle generously with kindness. Add plenty of faith and mix well. Spread over period of a lifetime, and serve everyone you meet.

FROM HER KITCHEN, she offers another favorite recipe, which she recommends as an excellent main dish for a company meal, easy to make and delicious, "the kind you put in the oven and leave to cook itself."

HUSBAND'S DELIGHT
 8 chicken breasts
 8 slices bacon
 10 slices dried beef
 1 cup sour cream
 1 can mushroom soup

Line shallow baking dish with dried beef. Remove skin from chicken breasts (or other chicken pieces if desired) and wrap each piece in a slice of bacon. Arrange chicken pieces over beef in baking dish. Mix soup and sour cream and pour over chicken. Bake uncovered in 300-degree oven for 2 1/2 hours. Serve with rice.

Witnesses Hear Minister Speak In Amarillo

Carl Silva, circuit minister who serves the Hereford congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, has been named as the assistant trucking and equipment manager for a four-day district assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses in Amarillo June 29-July 2.

In addition to his departmental work for the assembly, Silva will be one of the featured speakers at the "Disciple-making" convention which will draw delegates from 15 states. Silva will address the convention Saturday at 3:55 p. m. on the subject "Saving the World of Mankind by Blood."

Silva has been a member of Jehovah's Witnesses world headquarters staff since 1958. Presently he does supervisory work as a traveling representative of the Watchtower Society, sponsor of the Amarillo gathering. Silva, in carrying on his ministerial activity, visits 16 congregations in this area regularly three times a year.

Upon completion of the convention, one of more than 85 in the United States, Canada and the British Isles this summer, Silva will resume his ministerial duties in the South plains area.

Rainy-Day Party, Hawaiian Style, Fun For Teens

Swimming Pool, Food Are Big Attractions

LEIS, MUU-MUUS and brightly patterned shirts, with hints of beachcombers' attire, were approved dress for a Hawaiian-style luau for teenage children of Hereford Country Club members at the clubhouse Saturday evening.

DESPITE RAIN which continued through the evening, the young guests alternated splashes in the pool with forays on the refreshment table, listening to songs by the Windjammers, girls' singing group, and dancing.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Some people never are satisfied — in fact, most people never are, witness the comment you hear generally about rain these days.

AFTER SO LONG a dry spell nearly everybody was crying for moisture in any form, then when it came in the form of hail and gully-washers the people who got the most of it were, naturally, the first to complain.

Now there are other complaints, from farmers with crops ready to harvest, from farmers who can't finish their planting until the fields are dry from mamas who can't get Junior to cut the weeds as fast as they are growing in the alley, from Junior who liked it well enough when it was so dry no weeds would grow, and ad infinitum.

Not being a farm expert, I won't offer any suggestions on the farmers' problems, which are serious enough, but my lawn has about as many weeds as anybody's, so weeds I can talk about.

THEY ARE CERTAINLY flourishing all over the country. Look real pretty and green out in the pastures which have been so brown all spring, and at first the green-ness was attractive on hitherto bare yards and curbs in town.

Now they are getting jungled in some places, and the Man With the Hoe is needed. Not only the owners of vacant lots, but householders with burgeoning thickets on curbs or in alleys oughta get busy quick, because the weeds are growing faster and faster and may soon be so big an ax rather than a hoe will be required to deal with them.

Even in the downtown section, there are patches of knee-high weeds just off Main Street and that is no aid to city beautification, nor to the hose of women shoppers who walk through them to get to parked cars.

Besides the looks of the things, those tall weeds shelter mosquitoes, which are another subject of complaints as a result of the rains. Like I say, you can't please all the people all the time anyhow, even with West Texas rain.

NOT ONLY THE SPACIOUS lawns which attract the most attention, but some small plots of lawn over the city are real beauty spots.

One that I pass daily is at 315 E. Fourth, where a pocket-handkerchief-sized square of emerald grass is surrounded by flower beds in bloom all year.

Carefully tended so that flowers show their colors from the early spring bulbs to the last chrysanthemum, the beds always have the bloomed-out plants removed promptly so the new blossoms appear at their best.

THERE IS ALSO a miniature greenhouse of potted plants in a window of the garage which opens on the street, so they can be seen by passersby all year around except when the door is closed in freezing weather.

Another yard, a little larger, is at 809 N. Lee where there are gay bouquets of red roses now, and the pink fuzzy blooms of a mimosa tree showing from around back of the house.

Borders around the well-kept grass plots are not without blossoms except in the dead of winter.

Governor Slashes Money Grants Of Legislature

By VERN SANFORD Texas Press Association AUSTIN — Exercising his veto power to cut appropriations, Gov. John Connally sliced off $3,214,121 of the one-year general appropriation bill and killed 37 bills passed by the 60th Legislature.

Nine of the vetoes bills called for total annual expenditures of $12,819,760 beginning September 1, 1968.

By the way of explanation of his line-item vetoes in the appropriations bill, Connally said, "I endorse the actions taken by the Legislature to provide the funds needed to meet the state's increasing services to its people. However, there are several items of expenditures for which money was appropriated that I do not consider essential or justified."

Connally deleted a $600,000 appropriation which would have allowed the New Texas Research Institute of Mental Sciences at Houston to lease and operate hospital facilities. "This item was not requested by the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation in its budget request, nor was it included in my budget recommendations or those of the Budget Board," the Governor explained.

A $300,000 appropriations for additional Phase I construction at the Corpus Christi State School also was vetoed. Connally said it was not requested by the MHRM Department or in budget recommendations submitted by the Legislative Budget Board or by Connally. He pointed out that the 1965 Legislature appropriated $2,224,000 for the proposed school.

Connally slashed $800,000 off the appropriation for the University of Texas Medical School at San Antonio. "With construction of the medical school and teaching hospital and the recruitment of faculty and staff still in process, the number of students actually enrolled will be limited during the 1968 fiscal year," the Governor said. "Even after vetoing this item," he continued, "the medical school's appropriation for the 1968 fiscal year will exceed my recommendation by $685,795 and will represent a 145 per cent increase over the amount appropriated for the current year."

Also vetoed was $325,000 earmarked to the State Department of Agriculture for expanding market outlets for Texas' agricultural commodities. Connally explained that "the appropriation of $325,000 duplicated in purpose a major portion of the $500,000 'special program' appropriation for marketing and market outlet research, quality research statistical reporting and other programs relating to agriculture."

COSTLY OVERTIME

Extension of the federal minimum wage act to state hospital and school employees would cost state government in Texas at least $14,000,000 a year, according to Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin.

Martin says he intends to keep fighting inclusion of state institutions under the act all the way to the Supreme Court.

Three federal judges in Maryland recently handed down conflicting opinions on the issue but not a final order.

Under the new appropriations bill, all State employees will get more than the required federal minimum wage. Big catch financially is that the federal act also requires time and a half payment for overtime — or an hour and a half compensatory time off for every hour of overtime worked during the same pay period. Texas employees get compensatory time off (no cash) on an hour-for-hour basis.

CAR INSURANCE

Careless Texas drivers will pay more for their car insurance on policies written after July 31. They will be charged more because of their accidents or traffic law violations during the nine months which ended May 1.

Penalties which range from 15 to 90 per cent, depending on the number and importance of the law violation — will add up to $6,439,362 during the year starting August 1.

These penalties, feeding that much more money into the auto insurance "kitty," will prevent rate increases for most drivers.

State Board of Insurance held its annual auto insurance rate hearing and got a staff recommendation for a general rate reduction of one per cent in insurance rates. It varies from area to area, and from classification of cars and drivers.

There would have been a general rate increase had it not been for the more than $6,000,000 in penalties which will be charged against the drivers who violate the law and have accidents.

Board also took under consideration a proposal that high school and college students whose grades average B or better be given a 25 per cent insurance rate reduction. State Farm Insurance Co. started such a program in 1962. It found that students who make high grades drive less and have fewer accidents. Hence it is a valid basis for lower rates for those who make the honor roll or the dean's list.

COLLEGE TUITION

Instead of doubling tuition as requested by the Coordinating Board of the Texas College and University system, the Legislature made it easier for poorer youngsters to get tuition and fee exemptions.

Exemptions would go only to students from families with gross incomes of $4,800 a year or less. No student would be allowed to attend college more than six years under the exemption plan.

To be eligible, students must be graduated in the top 25 per cent of their high school classes. Or score in the top 20 per cent in a nationally standardized college admission examination.

DIPPING NO LONGER REQUIRED

Panhandle cattle no longer must be dipped before shipment to California.

Dr. S. B. Walker, director of Texas Animal Health Commission said the West Coast has removed the requirement since inspection of Panhandle herds during last winter showed no evidence of scabies. Herd owners in nine Texas counties and north and west of them need only permit and health inspection certificates for California shipment: Yoakum, Lynn, Garza, Kent, Terry, Stonewall, King Cottle and Childress.

We usually think of grass as little green blades, a few inches tall. But bamboo is considered a grass and it grows to a height of 120 feet in India and China. Other tall grasses are oat grass, about five feet tall, giant wild rye grass, about 10 feet in height and 12-foot-tall corn grass.

'Stoop Labor' Gets Attention Of OEO

A sharp rise in efforts to improve social conditions for migrant and seasonal farm workers in Texas is foreshadowed by the state's pending application for $19,885,397 in federal anti-poverty funds for the 1967-68 adult migrant education (AME) program.

To launch this program back in 1965-66, the Texas OEO received $3.3 million to provide adult basic education for 3,000 migrant and farm workers. For 1966-67 — the federal government is putting $4.77 million into the same program to serve 4,200 unemployed farm workers. The application for nearly $20 million now pending with the U. S. OEO's migrant division in Washington would expand the AME program to include 10,000 adult migrants during 1967-68.

Object is to help this "stoop labor" force of an estimated 100,000 persons to acquire basic literacy and job skills that would let them earn livelihoods in a wider range of occupations.

Migrants, sometimes called "the most disadvantaged segment of the state's labor force," totaled 162,000 in 1966, according to estimates of the Good Neighbor Commission. Annual income is estimated below $1,000.

The Texas Education Agency has notified school officials in every school district in the state that they all may share in the migrant and farm worker educational program, if it is needed in their areas.

Consumption Is Down; Spud Men Talk Promotion

GERING, Neb. — Promotional plans to increase per capita consumption of potatoes in the United States were outlined recently at the annual sales meeting of Lockwood Division, Seilon, Inc.

Doyle Burns, Washington D. C. executive director of the National Potato Council, said the campaign will center on a theme of potatoes as a low cost food, high in nutrition but low in calories.

Burns pointed out the consumer at the Lockwood banquet attended by 65 Lockwood district and branch managers and salesmen from the U. S. and Canada.

Burns pointed out the consumption of fresh potatoes has been decreasing steadily for many years. "Consumption of processed potatoes is rising sharply," he said, "but not enough to offset the overall decline."

"It's up to us in the industry to tell the American public the advantages of potatoes. Almost no other food product is as high in vitamin C, has as few calories, or costs as little," he stated.

The campaign is being financed by contributions.

Silver can be used for more than just a pretty pin. It has many uses in medicine — for antiseptics, astringents and caustics and it is ideal for surgical wire and plates to replace bones. Silver also sterilizes water, fills teeth, backs mirrors, acts as a catalyst in the manufacture of fertilizers and destroys warts.

Bride-Elect Is Honoree At Shower

A shower complimenting Miss Peggy Jackson of Clarendon, bride-elect of a former Hereford resident, Joe Bob Wagoner of Stratford, was given Saturday afternoon in First National Community Room. The couple is to be married Aug. 4 in First Baptist Church at Clarendon.

Hostesses were Mmes. G. C. Merritt, Elmer Combs, W. W. Thomas, Tom Draper, Harold Rudd, R. W. Hairgrove, W. B. Nunley, Paul Rudd and C. A. Sauley.

Guests, greeted by Mrs. Hairgrove and Mrs. Merritt, were presented to the honoree, her mother and sister, Mrs. Herschel Thompson and Debbie Jackson of Clarendon, and Mrs. Joe Wagoner of Dumas, mother of the bridegroom elect.

Registering shower guests and serving punch with blue and white cake squares were Mrs. Bill Drake, of Dimmitt, Wagoner's sister; Misses Theresa Rudd and Patsy Daniels and Mrs. Jackie Ray McNeese.

Blue flowers and tapers centering the white cloth on the serving table repeated the chosen wedding colors. Out-of-town guests included Mmes. Mayo Phipps of Friona, David Seal of Childress and Sue Harper of Dumas.

The Wagoner family, long-time residents of Westway community, moved from this county a few months ago.

College Students Eligible For 4-H Scholarships

SPECIAL — Six scholarships worth $8,000 are among more than 300 4-H educational grants offered this year to former and present 4-H Club members, according to the National 4-H Service Committee.

Two are for $800 each to be awarded to college sophomores or juniors majoring in agricultural courses that apply to crop protection and production. Donor is Chevron Chemical Company, Ortho Division, of San Francisco.

Four scholarships of $1,000 each are provided by Homelite, a Division of Tectron Inc., Port Chester, N. Y. These are available to college freshman who plan to major or minor in forestry.

All six scholarships are based on 1967 college enrollment. Winners will be announced by the Cooperative Extension Service during the National 4-H Club Congress in November.

To be eligible, the candidate must have completed three years of 4-H Club work and submit a 4-H scholarship application form available from the State 4-H office. Scholastic standing, need for financial assistance and record of 4-H activities are considered by the judges.

Applications are processed through the State Extension office, and forwarded to the Na-

June, has been a beautiful month. Traditionally we think of it as the month of brides and of roses. It is also the right time to start mulching.

It is through mulching that we conserve soil moisture. By so doing we conserve water and that saves us money. Another benefit derived from mulching is that the earth or plant soil is kept cooler, and does not sunburn or bake. The later being another means of human conservation. If mulching is properly done there is no need for much cultivation of our plants. The alert gardener (and one which is practicing conservation) will keep all weeds or other foreign things, which might come through the mulch, pulled. By so doing the moisture and plant food is conserved for the growing plants. For the mulch to perform properly and to carry out the conservation measures we wish to attain, the soil should be in good condition before the mulch is applied.

Gardeners know that water poured on a dry, smooth hard surfaced soil does not penetrate, but runs wildly in all directions. Therefore, the soil should be friable. It should be loosened with either a trowel or hoe making the surface rough, before the mulch is applied. If this is done then the water will go to the roots where it is needed.

There are many mulches, some of these are hay, sawdust, coccuhulls, peat moss, chipped wood and cotton seed hulls. It is usually advisable to use what is available locally.

The depth of the mulch depends on the kind used. Loose straw should be piled higher around the plants than ground cobs or chipped wood. Newspaper strips mixed with a coarse mulch and slightly dampened before placement are good. Peat moss, likewise is better if mixed with a coarse mulch, such as cotton seed hulls. If used alone it becomes crusty, and prevents water from soaking in to soil around the root system.

Another mulch that I recommend is grass clippings. If this is used then care should be exercised in that other foreign seeds or grasses are not in them. Bermuda grass clipping can cause much trouble. The grass clipping should be at least partially dried before applied. Again we would suggest that a coarse mulch could be mixed with good advantage.

A new product which is recommended as a mulch is black plastic. This is good where warm soil is required. Some plants such as tomatoes, strawberries, and other berries require a 4-H Service Committee by October 20. It is recommended that any college student wishing to apply should do so immediately.

More information can be obtained by contacting the county extension office.

quire warm soil until they set fruit.

Black plastic is proving successful, when used with seedlings, water thoroughly, plant seed, and then cover with the black plastic. As the seed germinates and starts growth, the plastic can be pulled away from the seed area, and yet keep ground warm and moist. This is being used extensively in places where there is a shortage of water. Also in the growth of exhibition chrysanthemums.

Make sure that any watering you do is THOROUGH, and that it reaches below the root area. Splashing water on the surface settles dust, and revives plant really derives no lasting benefit from such a method. Plants also need air, as well as moisture, so do not keep soil constantly soaking wet. Let dry somewhat, and let the plant really want a drink, before watering again. Many plants are harmed and killed by incorrect watering, and especially so, if too much water is used. They do not like cold, soggy feet.

REMEMBER: Good grooming in the garden is a must if beauty and attractiveness is to be achieved. Trim off seed pods from peonies. Feed lightly, so that the foliage will continue to be attractive.

Pinch or cut off faded blooms from petunias, geraniums and other annuals. This will tend to promote a continuous blooming cycle.

WEEDS are a garden's enemy. Do not let them go to seed.

HEREFORD NEEDS A WEED cutting program. One that would be consistent. This could start down town, and around business houses. I made a little survey the other evening, and there are many unsightly places, and these also are breeding places for insects, and are trash catchers. Grasses and other garden enemies are prevalent and are very unsightly. Exercise is good for the physique, sharpen up the hoe and take your hoeing exercise.

Hoeing promotes cleanliness. GLAD

Bank Installs New Drive-Up Service

People from this area who have always wanted to be on television will get their chance soon as the Hereford State Bank will feature a TV drive-up banking window in the near future.

Work is already in the final stages and bank officials have invited everyone to be "guest stars" on their next visit to the bank.

Developed by the Mosler Safe Company and manufactured by Airmatic Systems, the Tellervue consists of a specially engineered combination of closed circuit television, voice communication and pneumatic tube system which makes drive-in banking possible from the comfort of one's automobile, while the teller remains within the main building.

Renfro, Keith Munnerlyn, C. P. Cockrell, Eugene Brink and Ervin Robinson Jr. The next meeting will be on July 17 in Mrs. Cockrell's home.

The customer and teller see each other on television screens and converse in normal tones. The pneumatic tube system whisks transactions between customer and teller and the customer need only place his transaction in a drawer which is opened by the teller.

With a few exceptions, every banking service offered at the Hereford State Bank will be provided at the TV window that can be provided inside the main building.

Open house will be held Sunday from 2-5 p. m.

Elson Clark, from Wichita Falls, will be featured at the Wurliizer organ.

Abilene Horse Show Benefits Crippled Youths

ABILENE — The weekend of July 7-9 packs a double punch for horse fans in the Abilene area, as the Abilene Horse and Cutting Horse Contest swing into action.

Both events are sponsored by the West Texas Rehabilitation Center and are approved by the American Quarter Horse Association, the Texas Paint Horse Club, the American Paint Horse Association, Texas Appaloosa Horse Club, Central Texas Appaloosa Horse Club, and the West Central Texas Cutting Horse Association.

The horse show is set for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, with the cutting contest to begin at 3 p. m. Sunday. All events are to be held at the West Texas Fair Grounds.

Superintendent for the three-day show is Harry Holt, KBC-TV Farm Editor, with Clarence Tucker of Abilene to serve as show secretary.

Tucker said Monday that inquiries about show entries had been received from as far away as Romeo, Michigan. "Last year we had one entry from Ohio and several from New Mexico, Oklahoma, Louisiana, as well as all over Texas," Tucker said.

"We are expecting a strong show," the secretary commented, adding, "we hope to receive some entries from those entered in the Stamford Show (July 3rd and 4th) and from the Abilene Jaycees Junior Rodeo being held at the same time."

One of the features of the horse show will be the Youth Activity All Around Trophy, to be awarded to the top contestant in the Quarter Horse Youth Show.

In order to be eligible for the all around honors, a contestant must compete in classes from at least three of the four categories. He may compete and count points in as many classes in each category as he wishes and does not have to use the same horse in each event, but each horse must be registered with the American Quarter Horse AQHA for its performance to count toward All Around Honors.

Performance classes in the Youth Show, being initiated this year, will begin at 1 p. m. Friday, with Billy C. Bush of Grapevine to judge entries. Chairman of the Youth Show is E.J. Freeman Jr., of Clyde. Bush will begin judging Youth halter classes at 6 p. m. Friday.

Judging the Paint Horse division will be Mike Rutherford of Houston. Halter classes will begin at 9 a. m. Saturday, with performance classes to start at 2 p. m. Chairman of the Paint division is Edgar E. Robinson.

Also on tap Saturday are the Quarter Horse performance and halter classes, also to be judged by Bush. Jack Stricklin is FAREWELL GIFT — At a dinner honoring the Rev. and Mrs. V. W. Marcontell, who are leaving for work in a church at Midland, the congregation of the Assembly of God presented a farewell gift to the couple Sunday. Lester Galley is making the presentation to the minister and his wife. The Marcontells' son, David, who is employed at Dallas this summer and was here for the dinner, is seated in the background.

Dinner Honors Pastor Before His Departure

Bidding goodbye to their pastor of the past 12 yrs., the Rev. V. W. Marcontell, members of the Assembly of God Church met for a dinner in the church fellowship hall after the Sunday morning service.

The Rev. and Mrs. Marcontell are moving this week to Midland, where he will begin duties July 2 as pastor of the Gardens Assembly of God. He will be succeeded here by the Rev. Homer T. Goodwin, who will come from Plainview to conduct services July 9. The Marcontells came here in 1955. Their sons, Don and Dave are both employed in Dallas now.

A gift from the congregation was presented the couple at the Sunday dinner. Lester Galley, elder deacon, made the presentation.

Guests from other cities, including some former members of the church, were Miss Miss Carolyn Boynton of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Brewster of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bridges of Plainview, Miss Miss Patty Dorman of Fayetteville, Ark., Lee Metcalf of Glenwood Springs, Colo., Jerry Morgan of Kerrville and Sandy Williams of Waxahachie.

Hereford YHT Member To Appear On Program

One of the delegation from the Hereford Chapter, Young Homemakers of Texas, to a College Day program for members in Area I, will appear on the program at the opening session this morning at Amarillo College.

Mrs. Larry Dobbs, a state officer, will join area officers for the morning discussion. Several other Hereford members are expected to be among the 100 or more attending from 40 chapters of the area.

This will be the first college Day held at Amarillo College; three previous programs were held at Wayland College, Plainview.

chairman of this division.

Performance classes will get underway at 9 a. m. and halter class judging at 2 p. m. Sunday, with Mrs. Frank Sadler to serve as chairman. Judge will be Mrs. E. Krantz of Mesquite.

The cutting horse contest will feature four novice classes and an open class. Judge will be Sid Faircloth of Woodson, WCTCHA president.

Purpose of these one-day programs, says Ina Dora Haile of Plainview, area advisor, is to "provide an opportunity for the young women to receive up-to-date information to help them meet the many problems facing a young homemaker."

Registration will begin at 8 a. m. in the college auditorium. The morning program includes field trips to Amarillo business firms.

After lunch, demonstrations on Kitchen Planning and Home Lighting are scheduled, with a discussion of The Basic Wardrobe, and a talk by Paul Sneed, Central Church of Christ minister, on How To Tell Your Child About Sex.

Football Coaches Claim New Rule Adds Injuries

By HAROLD V. RATLIF Associated Press Sports Writer

There is agitation for the National Rules Committee to eliminate a certain rule before it can even be tested in actual competition. This permits only the two men in the ends of the scrimmage line going downfield before the ball is kicked.

tion can really unload, putting three or four men on each of them and knocking them bruisingly into the turf. It is a known fact that more players get hurt on punt coverage than any other phase and if the injuries are increased the teams may have to start going out to the stadium in ambulances.

in spring training but that he had heard from few coaches who didn't oppose it. "They think it will increase injuries, something we certainly don't want," said Fry. "It not only will bring more injuries to the outside men but the interior linemen who have to wait before going down under the punt will run more risk of injury because they can be blindsided."

"The car seems to be okay, dear—the wheels are still spinning."

Boating Safety Urged During National Week

Safety measures to prevent the Red Cross Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The Red Cross is one of 17 organizations sponsoring National Safe Boating Week which begins Sunday, July 2.

er, tool kit, and first aid kit. Running lights are a must for nighttime operation. 7. Check weather bureau forecasts before taking boat out on open water. Take a transistor radio along to keep posted on changing weather conditions.

boating accidents this summer were urged today on the boat users of Deaf Smith County by "When a weak or non-swimmer falls overboard, first swing the stern away from the side from which he fell. Then toss him a lifesaving device and promptly maneuver the boat back to him. Keep a close watch on him at all times and make the approach as you would a mooring at reduced speed and slightly to windward if possible. Shut off the motor within a few feet of the victim and bring him into the boat."

The Red Cross recommends that everyone who uses the water learn to swim. Beyond this, there are safeguards against trouble that every boat operator and passenger should observe.

These are rules for safe boating:

- 1. Carry a Coast Guard-approved life jacket for everyone aboard. Insist that weak swimmers and non-swimmers wear jackets at all times; that others wear them in hazardous weather conditions.
2. Don't overload. Keep passengers down to a safe number.
3. Don't overpower your boat. Your dealer can tell you what horsepower motor it can take.
4. Don't smoke while refueling.
5. Don't let passengers of a small boat stand up, or sit on the gunwales, while you are under way.
6. Equip your boat with essential gear -- anchor, oars, boat hook, extra line, fire extinguisher.

1. When boats are meeting in, or nearly in, a head-on position, each should keep to the right.

2. When boats are in a crossing situation, the one on the right has the right of way.

3. When one boat is overtaking another, the boat being overtaken has the right of way.

4. Power boats should give way to manually propelled boats or sailboats unless the sailboat is overtaking a power boat.

5. Sailboats on the starboard tack have the right of way of sailboats on the port tack.

6. Sailboats to windward must keep out of the way of sailboats to leeward.

All safety conscious skippers make a point of knowing the swimming capabilities of those on board," Mrs. Rush said. "If overboard, rescue procedure is based on the ability or inability of the person in the water to help himself.

"If the man overboard can swim, a lifesaving device can be tossed to him. The boat should be stopped, and the victim can swim to it.

Small Schools Group To Meet

The Texas Small Schools Association is using Thursday evening (July 13) of the Summer Workshop for its annual meeting. At this meeting, new officers of the association will be sworn in, including J. W. Murphy, Principal of Newcastle High School. Mr. Murphy will succeed Mr. Wright as president, and other officers will be elected. The meeting begins at 7 p. m.

Bob Murphy, the after-dinner speaker for the association's annual meeting, is a popular East Texas speaker for meetings and conventions. The Nacogdoches attorney and former district attorney will deliver his particular brand of humor at the meeting.

During the Workshop, several members of the professional staff of the Texas Education Agency will make presentations during several "Buzz" sessions scheduled as special interest group meetings for school administrators.

They are Jerry Barton, Director of Research, speaking on "Educational Data Processing from Local Schools"; John R. Guemple, Acting Assistant Commissioner for Vocational Education, and George H. FARM LABOR BULLETIN WHEAT HARVEST

Rain, high winds, and hail have continued to delay harvest and cause damage to remaining wheat in the Panhandle and South Plains. Adequate men and machines are available in the area, and harvest generally should be complete by July 1.

The following reflects the latest reports on area conditions received by this office:

RALLS and CROSBYTON: Wheat harvest is complete.

PLAINVIEW, TULIA, LOCKNEY, FLOYDADA and SILVERTON: Harvest is 85 to 95 percent complete.

HEREFORD and DIMMITT: Harvest is 30 percent complete. Rains over the area have brought harvesting to a standstill.

AMARILLO, VEGA, CANYON PANHANDLE and CLAUDE Harvest slowed down due to rain and wet fields. It is estimated to be 60 percent complete.

BORGER, DALHART, CHANNING, STRATFORD, DUMAS, SPEARMAN and PERRYTON Rain and hail damage have been heavy, with many fields standing in water. Harvest is from 40 to 80 percent complete.

All delegates are invited to attend the Wednesday morning (July 12) program entitled "Conservation in Texas," Mr. Bitters says. Calvin Hibler, Director of prouals at the Texas Education Agency, is coordinator of this program and has arranged for eight experts on conservation in Texas to be on the program.

The Texas Project, which now includes more than 100 12-grade small schools throughout the State, was begun in 1959. It is a voluntary program designed to accomplish four goals: (1) to improve the quality of the instructional program, (2) to develop new methods and techniques of teaching, (3) to broaden course offerings, and (4) to increase professional competencies of administrators and staffs.
