J. T. Guinn Will Run For County Commissioners Post

J. T. Guinn, a resident of Deaf Smith County's Precinct 3 since 1921, and a former county commissioner for many years, Saturday authorized the Brand to announce his candidacy for that post, subject to action of the Democratic Primary.

J. T. Guinn

"I know Precinct 3 like I know the back of my hand," Guinn said, "and I believe that I am well qualified, through experience, to serve the people of this precinct."

He emphasized however, that as Commissioner, he would make every effort to serve the entire county, not just stopping at precinct lines. "County government has become much more complex since I first served in this post, and cooperation between the precinct commissioners and other county officials is more important now than ever before."

Guinn also emphasized that good roads and economy in county government still are the two most important aspects of the office, and pledged his efforts in a continuation of both. "People who live as far from town as we do out here in Precinct 3 must have roads in good condition at all times, and I believe that my past record will show my interest in this field."

Guinn, although still living on his farm in Precinct 3, has retired from farming and said that he would devote his full time to the office of Commissioner, if elected.

"I would appreciate the support of all the good people in Precinct 3 and will work hard to make the best commissioner you've ever had," he stated.

6 From Hereford To Be Inducted

Hereford's quota for induction into the armed forces for January will be six, while there will be 20 physical examinations given in Local Board 18.

State draft boards will be called up to furnish 1,659 men for the armed forces in January. Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, announced during the past week.

This quota is the biggest monthly call since November 1966, when the quota was 2,012 men.

This compares with quotas of 924 for December, 1,159 for November, 977 for October, 1,180 for September, and 1,421 for August.

The Texas quota of 1,659 for induction in January is the state's share of a national call for 34,000, all for the army.

The Selective Service boards will forward 5,455 men in January for pre-induction examination. Colonel Schwartz said, and they have scheduled 3,485 for this examination in December.

Local board quotas for induction and pre-induction examination in January were scheduled to be mailed from state Selective Service headquarters on or about December 6.

December calls for the local boards already have been assigned.

Local High School Teacher Sees UFO

Flying saucers, or UFO's as they are more often called are in the news again.

David L. Henderson, local high school teacher and bus driver, reports that he spotted an object just above the horizon on Dec. 1 as he was driving his bus route five miles east of Ford community.

Henderson said he had just picked up four Aikman elementary School students and was preparing to turn back south when something appeared over the road above the horizon.

"It was about as bright as car headlights," Henderson said describing the object. We watched it for about five seconds, and then it suddenly disappeared."

Henderson turned the corner, and the object re-appeared in the east. He stopped again.

"We sat there looking at it, and it started to disappear a second time. Then a small, ping-pong sized object started from the same position and look off across the sky."

Henderson, a math and chemistry instructor at Hereford High School, noted that the object covered about 100 degrees of the sky in a matter of seconds.

"I felt sure it wasn't a plane or star," Henderson said. "This is the first one I've seen I couldn't explain."

The local teacher said the time of the first sighting was about 7:10 a. m.

Liquid Feeds Meet Is Held

Eminent speakers from throughout the country presented items of importance during a National Liquid Feed Seminar Thursday at the Jim Hill Hotel.

The nationally known speakers presented prepared dissertations which are expected to be of help to cattle feeders in the Hereford and surrounding area.

Topics included: "Molasses in High Energy Feedlot Rations," "Dollars and Sense of Liquid Feed Supplements," "Liquid Feed Supplements Do the Job," and "Non-Protein Nitrogen as the Sole Source of Protein Equivalent in High Energy Feedlot Rations." These speeches will be presented on the ABI (Agriculture, Business and Industry) page of Thursday's Hereford Brand.

Panel discussions followed a buffet luncheon during the seminar, with presentations and exchange of ideas also taking place.

Attendance to the seminar was by invitation.

C of C Group Meets Tuesday

The Government Affairs Committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce will hold a noon meeting at the Hereford Country Club on Tuesday, according to Dr. Joe Whitely, chairman of the group.

Under discussion will be the $130,000 hospital bond issue for improvements to Deaf Smith County Hospital.

City Official Eyes Future As Hereford Expands More

With the annexation of 17.42 acres of land into the Hereford city limits at a City Commission meeting held Monday night, Hereford's total land area was enlarged to some 2,980.50 acres or more than 4.65 square miles, according to Dussley Bayne, city manager.

New sewer and water lines will be laid to parts of the newly annexed North Heights Addition, this month, Bayne said, with the lines to the remaining lots waiting until next year.

Since 1950 Hereford city limits have more than doubled, according to figures at the city office. That year showed an area of 1300.42 acres as compared with the total now of 2,980.50. In the five-year period ending the last of 1955, some 384.86 acres were added to the city, giving a total of 1,685.28 acres. Only 96.86 acres were added during the next five years, giving a 1960 total of 1,782.14 acres.

However, during the period between 1960 and 1965 the city added some 1,072.27 acres, giving a total acreage of 2,854.40 acres or 4.46 square miles.

During the two-year period between Jan. 1, 1966 and December 31, 1967, another 126.10 acres were added, and expectations are high regarding further growth.

The past year has been a tremendous one for home building, Bayne said, and he expects the growth to be even greater with the opening of the Wilson and Company packing plant and other sideline businesses which will move in.

According to the last census figures, Hereford's population already warrants a paid fire department. However, Bayne said, the cost to the taxpayers at this time to pay the fireman regular salaries would greatly exceed present penalties homeowners pay on fire insurance because of the lack of the paid department.

The 1970 census may be an entirely different story, however. At this time the insurance penalty and the taxpayer cost could be nearly equal and population figures may necessitate the building of another fire station, plus added fire-fighting equipment and regularly employed paid firemen.

Another sign that Hereford is on the upswing is the revamping of the children's play area in Dameron Park. That area will be enlarged and all new equipment added during the winter months and should be ready at the same time children rediscover it in the spring and early summer.

Other city growth is evident in curb and gutter work being done at different locations in the city in preparation for later paving. Topping and other street repair work is also being done during an otherwise slow season for city employees.

Local Officials Meet Bondsman

Hyman C. Grossman, senior analyst with Standard and Poors bonding company of New York, had high praise for Hereford and the immediate area following a brief tour Friday morning.

"I can easily see that this is not some God-forsaken agricultural area," he told city and county officials during a breakfast at the Caison House. "I can see that people are making money around here by looking at the homes. I can see growth."

Describing the area as having a "real solid agriculture development," Grossman said he "will go home with a very positive impression." Companies such as Grossman's make ratings on bonds which local officials sell in raising money for projects. Grossman added that he was much impressed that each member of the three agencies had attended the breakfast. Also represented were the Chamber of Commerce, news media and officials of local industries.

Deputies Catch Suspect Quickly

The Deaf Smith County Sheriff's wasted little time during the past week in rounding up a suspect for another county.

Word came into the local department that an alleged burglar was thought to be in Hereford, the burglary having been committed in Floyd County less than an hour later, deputies found Felix Cerna, 17, in the 300 block of W. 2nd, and searched the car which had been described to them.

Merchandise matching that taken in the burglary in Floyd County was found in the car and Cerna arrested.

Hereford Ministers Elect New Officers

The Rev. Clifford Trotter, pastor of the First Methodist Church, was chosen president of the Hereford Ministerial Association during the organization's monthly meeting last week.

Other officers, chosen to serve for 1968, include the Rev. Eugene Naugle, pastor of the Bippus Community Church first vice president; the Rev. Eugene Brink, pastor of the First Christian Church, second vice president; the Rev. Ron Harpster, pastor of the Avenue Baptist Church, and Father Timothy McDonald, assistant pastor, St. Anthony's Catholic Church, treasurer.

Outgoing officers are Harpster, president; Naugle, vice president, and Noah Arprieur who recently resigned as pastor of the Wesley Methodist Church and moved from Hereford, secretary-treasurer.

The Hereford Ministerial Association is open to ministers of all faiths and denominations, and has a purpose of fellowship. "Emphasis is placed on the Christian principles which bind us together," one member explained.

The organization meets monthly, except during the summer months. Programs sponsored by the Ministerial Association include special Thanksgiving Services, Easter Services and a Good News Devotional Program heard at 10:15 a. m. daily on KPAN radio.

Rev. Naugle Sets Five Year Record

Shortly after 10 a. m. Monday, Rev. Eugene Naugle purchased the first ticket to the annual Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Banquet which is to be held on January 18.

While there is nothing very unusual about having purchased the first ticket to a Chamber banquet, one aspect of the circumstance makes it unusual. Rev. Naugle, a retired Methodist minister now residing at King's Manor, has been the first person to buy a ticket for the past five years.

Not only has he bought the first ticket to go on sale for the past five years, but he has bought ticket number 11 each year of those five, according to Bill Thompson, Chamber manager.

Each year, Thompson said, Rev. Naugle has come in immediately after the tickets were put on sale and specifically asked for the number 11 ticket.

To be sold for $5 each, 800 tickets are available and can be purchased at the Chamber office, Thompson said. In past years, 60 percent or more of the tickets have been sold during the last week before the banquet, but this year purchasers are urged to get tickets early in anticipation of a sellout.

Featured speaker at the affair will be Miss Marilyn Van Derbur, a former Miss America and currently a public speaker much in demand. The Chamber office has received a communication from Miss Van Derbur asking verification of flight reservation and other arrangements, Thompson said.

To be held again at the County Bull Barn, J. R. Robinson is chairman of the committee in charge of banquet arrangements. Catering will be arranged by G. D. Caison, and decoration of the hall will be done by Hereford Garden Club with a Miss America pageant theme.

Another Chamber of Commerce banquet, being held especially for the installation of new officers, will be held on January 11, and will have as its speaker Tut Tawwater, owner of KVOP Radio Station in Plainview. This date was erroneously reported in an earlier issue of the Brand as Dec. 11.

At the January 11 banquet, Chamber members, directors and officers will be guests, and no tickets will be sold.

BRIDE-ELECT — Miss Katherine Ann Pemberton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Pemberton of Friona, and Dewey West Jr. of Muleshoe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Radford of Dimmitt, plan to be married in Calvary Baptist Church of Friona at 7 p.m. December 22. Friends of the couple are invited to the ceremony; no invitations are being sent to those in the Friona community.

Michael moved to Hereford in 1962 to assume duties as a high school principal. He and his family, which includes a four-year old son, Mark, reside at 250 Northwest Drive.

A member of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, Michael is also a member of Texas State Teacher's Association of which he has served as vice-president, National Educational Association, National Secondary Principals Assn., Texas Assn. of Secondary Principals, Texas Educational and Professional Standards Organization and the Hereford Kiwanis Club.

Pioneer, Texaco Sign Contract

Pioneer Natural Gas Company announced Saturday the signing of a twenty-year Gas Purchase Contract with Texaco Inc. covering certain acreage owned by Texaco in Ward County, Tex.

Under the terms of the contract Pioneer will purchase approximately 40 million cubic feet of gas per day from Texaco's acreage located in the Lockridge Field with initial deliveries scheduled to commence about July 1, 1968.

The reserves presently dedicated to Pioneer in the Delaware Basin under this contract and contracts with other producers are estimated to be in excess of 500 billion cubic feet.

Purchases which are made by Pioneer in the Delaware Basin are committed to intrastate markets. Pioneer and Odessa Natural Gasoline Company are jointly purchasing approximately 50 million cubic feet per day from Mobil Oil Company's Waha Plant located in Pecos County, Texas. Pioneer's portion of this joint purchase from Mobil is being delivered into Pioneer's main transmission system near Odessa, Texas, through a 20 inch pipeline jointly owned by and our national security. . . . Price said "some of our columnist friends would look on themselves as giant killers if this Congress would heed some of their misinformation. But doing away with percentage depletion would not kill the giant," he said: "It would kill the goose which has laid the golden eggs of abundant oil and gas at low prices and, at the same time, has generated government revenues of unprecedented scale."

Pioneer Transmission Corporation, a subsidiary of Pioneer, and Odessa Natural Gasoline Company. This 20-inch pipeline was placed in operation in September, 1967.

In addition to the market outlet through the jointly owned pipeline, Pioneer is presently constructing a 75 mile 12-3/4 inch pipeline from the Lockridge Field to Culberson County, Texas, to serve Elcor Chemical Corporation's Sulphur Recovery Plant.

Pioneer officials stated that the Company intends to seek additional gas supplies in the Delaware Basin to serve the continued growth of the Company's future intrastate market demands and the Company is presently negotiating with various producers for the acquisition of additional reserves in the Delaware Basin. Pioneer estimates that by 1971 their gas supply requirements from the Delaware Basin will be in excess of 200 million cubic feet per day.

Pioneer serves an area of West Texas extending from Dalhart, Amarillo and Pampa in the northern part of the Texas Panhandle south to the Big Spring, Midland and Odessa area.

Letters To Santa Cotton Harvest Is 70 Per Cent Over

Ideal weather conditions this week enabled South Plains farmers to continue the cotton harvest and 75 to 80 per cent of the crop was out of the fields at mid-week, according to W. K. Palmer, in charge of the Lubbock Cotton Classing Office of the USDA.

Average prices paid for the most predominant qualities in the 3.5 to 4.9 micronaire range were: Middling 15-16 — 20.95, Middling 31-32 — 24.05, Middling 1-1-1 — 26.00, Strict Low Middling 15-16 — 19.95, Strict Low Middling 31-32 — 22.35, Strict

The three South Plains offices classed 260,000 samples during the week ending Wednesday, Dec. 6th. The Lubbock office classed 2220,000 of this total, the Brownfield office 26,000 and the Lamesa office 11,000.

Through Wednesday, Dec. 6th the three offices had classed 766,000 samples of this year's crop and had 20,000 samples on hand. This brought the total classed and received by the three offices to 786,000.

At this date last year 1,062,000 samples of the 1966 crop had been classed. Cotton prices, as reported by the Consumer and Marketing Service of the USDA, were higher for the better micronaire cotton last Monday and Tuesday and remained steady the remainder of the week. Prices for this cotton ranged from $6.50 per bale over the loan for high grade, short staple cotton to $75.00 per bale over the loan for high grade cotton having staple length of 1-3-32 and longer.

Demand continued strongest for cotton having micronaire of 3.3 and better, and this cotton was selling at a greater premium over the loan. Cotton in the lower micronaire categories was generally selling at $5.00 to $15.00 per bale over the loan.

Price Fights For Oil, Gas Industry

Those who apparently feel that the oil and gas producing industry is so awesomely rich that it could pay another $1.2 billion in taxes each year with no economic repercussions are "indulging themselves in an economic daydream" Congressman Bob Price told the House of Representatives today.

Using the industry's estimate of annual tax "saving" through percentage depletion agreed to by the Treasury Department, Price pointed out that petroleum exploration, drilling and development currently involves expenditures of more than $7 billion a year. Therefore, he noted, "if we eliminated depletion it applies to oil and gas, we would transfer to the Treasury about one-sixth of the dollars now being spent on domestic oil and gas exploration drilling and development."

Price said proposals to "get" the oil industry are inspired by a small clique of "columnists, cartoonists and harpoonists who refuse to let facts stand in their way." He termed claims of $4 billion to $10 billion in added tax revenues from an end to depletion and other charges against the petroleum industry as distorted, misleading and irresponsible.

The total gross value of crude oil and natural gas produced in the United States last year was $11.4 billion, Price said. "In this same year, 1966, total domestic taxes paid by the petroleum industry, excluding federal and state excise taxes, but including severance, production, ad valorem, income and other taxes added up to $2,450,582,000."

"These tax collections," Price said, "in other words, were the equivalent of about 20 percent of the total gross value of 1966 oil and gas production in the United States."

State and federal excise taxes collected on motor fuel, lubricating oil and kerosene, added up to $8 billion, Price said, and were the equivalent of 70 percent of the total value of crude oil and natural gas produced during the year. "Also, U. S. government lease bonuses, rental and royalties collected from the petroleum industry last year amounted to $883 million."

He said the earnings rate of the petroleum industry for the 1955 through 1965 period was below the average rate for all manufacturing industries — 9.5 percent as compared with 10.6 percent.

"The tagedy of such a turn of events can be readily recognized," Price said. "The immediate effect would be to cut funds for exploration and drilling at a time when the level of these activities is already depressed and inadequate — at a time when current discoveries are turning up reserves of less than one-half the rate estimated by the Department of Interior as necessary to provide adequate supplies for the future."

Without percentage depletion the present unhealthy trends "would be accelerated to the extent that the domestic industry may never recover to a healthy state," Price added.

The percentage depletion concept, enacted by the Congress 41 years ago, "has brought forth investments which resulted in an oil abundance that has made this Nation the biggest per capita user of energy at the lowest per capita cost," Price said. He pointed out that the average American today can buy almost five times as much gasoline with an hour's wage as he could in 1926.

Noting that the daily consumption of nearly 1,000,000 barrels of petroleum products daily by the military exceeded the peak military demands of World War II, the Texas Panhandle Congressman urged Congress "to consider the result of tampering with the depletion provision — the long-term result to American consumers

LIONS CLUB PARTY — The annual Lions Club Christmas party, held Thursday night in the Hereford High School Cafeteria, was highlighted by a visit from Santa Claus and the antics of "Stuttering Sam." Santa not only made such gifts as wigs to several maneless Lions, but also visited with the foreign Exchange student Katie Laine, who said it was the first real Santa she had seen. "Stuttering Sam" had been planted in the audience and was persuaded to talk about his hometown until the "speaker" arrived. The crowd as first sympathized as he stumbled over words, then roared with laughter as they caught onto the hoax.

Marsh Pitman Is Contest Winner

Editor's note: Printed below is the winning composition in the VFW "Voice of Democracy" essay contest, which ended with announcement of the winners Monday night. Marsh Pitman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Pitman, is author of the essay. The other two winners in the contest are printed elsewhere in this issue. "FREEDOM'S CHALLENGE"

Freedom is the difference between the United States of America and any other country in the world. A person living in America has the chance to build the kind of life he wants to live, no matter what race or sex the person belongs to. He can build his life around the idea of the betterment of his country and himself, and he always has a chance to fight for what he thinks is right. A man may always better himself and make himself a bigger person, no matter what the odds against him are. This is one of freedom's many challenges to us.

Freedom, to me, is like the old local well. The people from all over town came to get water, and the vessels they carried were of many different shapes and sizes. The person with a large vessel could make fewer trips to the well than the person with the smaller vessel. These extra trips weren't necessary if the person with the small vessel had carried a larger vessel to the well. Freedom is like the well and vessel. A man may use the freedom that God gave him, or he can make an awkward attempt to live his life without freedom.

This is our challenge. We must fight for what we think is right, and if we always try to

Former Area Residents To Be Honored

Mrs. Patsy Ann Forbus, the former Patsy Ann Wiltshire and Mrs. Rhonda Joy Brown, formerly Askew, both of the Hereford area will appear in the forthcoming 800 page issue of Outstanding Young Women of America.

Mrs. Brown is now a resident of Rt. 3, Medicine Mound Ranch, Quanah, and Mrs. Forbus' home is 118 Mulberry, Dumas.

Outstanding Young Women of America is an annual biographical compilation of 6,000 outstanding young women between the ages of 21 and 35 who have distinguished themselves in civic and professional activities.

Shower Honors Kathy McMillan

Miss Kathy McMillan, whose marriage to Edward Allison is planned for Dec. 30 in the Presbyterian Church, was complimented with a shower Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. John Bob Drake.

Friends were invited to an "old-fashioned" shower, where packages were opened by the bride-elect and the gifts admired as guests chatted for an hour.

Hostesses were Meses. Earnest Roberts, T. B. Thomas, do the right thing, then the only being we have to answer to is God. For in this life it is just God and us, and no man should take a credit or do something he doesn't believe in because he is pressured into it. The throngs may be against us but a noble thought and a clear mind are the weapons freedom gives to us for doing right. Emerson said, "To be great is to be misunderstood," and a truer statement has never been written. Just because people scorn you, and persecute you, is no reason to do something you don't believe is right. Freedom gives us this challenge, and to be great, we must live up to it.

Our lives are filled with many decisions each day, and we should always try to make these decisions with a clear mind. For what does it profit a man to make a decision or take a creed that he doesn't believe in? Through thinking out our problems, and profiting from our mistakes, we can become more Christ like people, and live the kind of lives we know we were created to live. Freedom gives us this chance, and we must use it to the utmost.

The young people of America have one of the greatest tasks of any generation ever before. We must try and preserve the freedom given to us by God and our forefathers, and prevail over the evils of the world. This generation has some of the most brilliant minds and the greatest chances for learning ever, so if the young people can meet the challenge, freedom will live on. This is our greatest challenge, and through freedom, and the love and guidance of our Lord, we will certainly prevail as the greatest country in the world.

To have, to live, and to be happy are our aims in life, and if we are to accomplish these three great things, we must use freedom to the utmost. For complete success can only be reached from doing the things we think are right, therefore, a man must love his God, his fellow man, and his country with all his heart. If these three things are accomplished, the man and his country will prevail forever.

Bruce Miller To Be In Who's Who

Bruce Lyman Miller, former Deaf Smith County Attorney, received word during the past week that his biography will be included in "Who's Who, in Texas," to be published this month.

The 1968 volume will contain biographies of 15,000 other prominent Texans, including four from Hereford. The others are Ben Gollehon, Dr. Clarence Hicks, and G. W. Michael.

A 1931 graduate of Culver Military Academy, Miller attended the University of Oklahoma for two years and graduated from the University of Arkansas, receiving his B. A. and LL.B. there.

Miller enlisted in the Armed Forces in Nov., 1940, and served five years, rising from the rank of private to Captain in the Air Force. He spent 19 months in India and China with the original B-29 group as combat intelligence officer. After his discharge, Miller attended the Harvard Law School.

Miller has practiced law in Hereford for the past 18 years, and served as County Attorney over two years. The local attorney retired last year after serving as chairman of the Grievance Committee for the 18th Congressional District, the committee acting over 28 counties. The post is considered one of the most important in the Papphandle's legal profession. Miller is married and the father of three children. He is quite active in Boy Scouts and other community activities.

Miller presently is a candidate for the position of Judge on the Court of Civil Appeals in Amarillo.

County Receives Railroad Taxes

Current annual taxes paid to the various government agencies by Texas railroads in Deaf Smith County totaled $20,029, it is announced by the Texas Railroad Association.

That amount was the county's share of the more than $10,000,000 the railroads paid in Texas on their own right of way and other property.

The biggest railroad contribution was to the school systems throughout the state. Large sums were also distributed to city, village and county governments and for road and bridge funds.

In addition, of course, was the large total in taxes the railroads contributed on their own property. The vast majority of rail workers, many of whom live in Dallas County, own their own homes.

"With the future of our country and state depending to a great extent upon the education of our youth, I am delighted that nearly half of the taxes paid by the railroads go to support the schools," said Walter Caven, general counsel of the Texas Railroad Association. "Recognizing this need for education, many of the railroads operating in Texas also make scholarships available to a large number of students every year."

Scholar Awards To Be Presented By WT Chamber

"Outstanding West Texas Scholar Awards" have been announced by J. Fike Godfrey, Spur, chairman of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce education committee.

The new awards are to be presented to not more than two students from each of the 400 high schools in West Texas. Selection will be made by school officials in each school on the basis of grade average, school and civic honors, offices held, membership in school and civic groups, and other special accomplishments.

To be eligible to win such an award, the student must be a senior student, have an impeccable character, demonstrate good citizenship characteristics and show aptitudes of leadership.

Nomination forms have been sent to all of the high schools in the 132-county area of the WTCC and when final selections are made the awards will be presented in public ceremonies early in 1968.

"We feel that outstanding students in all schools should be publicly recognized for their contributions to the high aims and purposes of public education."

Texas FU Head Sees Fantastic Farming Changes

In a speech to the convention of the North Dakota Farmers Union at Bismarck, Thursday, Texas Farmers Union president Jay Naman said he felt that "there is a place for family farmers in the automated and computerized agriculture of the future, if we don't permit financial and market power to replace the brain power and the integrity of family farmers."

Naman predicted fantastic changes in the technology of farming including tractors that would be run without operators and entire fields of crops covered with plastic domes.

"If there is to be a push-button agriculture," said Naman, "why can't independent farm operators be the ones who push the buttons?"

The Texas farm leader told the North Dakota delegates that the large farming corporations are presently making vast investments in Texas. He said, "The time to stop corporate intrusion into agriculture is here and now. If we don't stop it, it will spread and become entrenched like Texas Johnson Grass."

"Our national political leaders can shape whatever kind of agriculture for the future that will be in the public interest. They can see to it that family farmers are here to stay. Many are taking about what is needed but dragging their feet when called upon to do something something about it. We must take them put up or shut up," said Naman.

The forty-two year old Texas Farmers Union president who lives in Waco has led the Texas unit since 1961. He is a member of the Executive Board of the National Farmers Union and is presently serving as a member of the National Cotton Board.

Don Wooten, Abilene, WTCC president, said when the Board of Directors approved the awards.

"Though we would not detract from athletic achievement, we think that scholastic achievement should also be rewarded with appropriate notice by the public and the news media," he concluded.

Johnny Pool Honored For 20 Years On Same Corner

Many have wished for a "Window on Main Street," but few have had their dream fulfilled. However, a local merchant not only has a window on main street, but for the past 20 years has watched Hereford grow and prosper through it.

Johnny Pool, manager of the Western Auto store at 245 Main, has been with the company for 32 years. He was honored Wednesday for having been the manager in Hereford for 20 years.

Pool grew up near Oklahoma City. He started his career in 1936, with a store in his home town. In 1938, he moved to Amarillo to take over the managing position of the WA store there.

When war came, Pool was transferred for one year to a store in New Orleans.

During October, 1947, Pool came to Hereford. "There had been four Western Auto stores here already, but they had all gone under," says the long-time company employee. Pool says the store grew with the town. As time went on, the local businesses were enlarged. They had better displays and utilized more advertising. As Pool puts it, "Hereford grew from a country town into a business metropolis."

The Western Auto store in 1947 measured 25 x 60 feet. Since then, it has been enlarged to a space of 56 x 110 feet, including the addition of a service center for tires and batteries.

Pool has been, and is now, quite active in civic affairs. He is a past president of the Kiwanis Club, and is presently serving as Lion's Club commissioner of wrestling for his 18th year. He is also vice president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Pool says he plans to retire in Hereford, as this is his home. He, with his wife Jama live at 150 Centre St. They have two children, a daughter, Jane, who is now Mrs. Ed Coplin and teaches in Lordsburg N. M. and John, age 20, presently a student at Texas Tech in Lubbock.

Virgil Dodson Kiwanis Citizen Of The Month

Virgil Dodson was chosen Kiwanis Citizen of the Month Thursday and awarded a plaque by immediate past president Gene Campbell in a presentation ceremony during the noon meeting of that club.

Dodson, who resides at 114 Beach, was chosen for the honor on the basis of his service to the community and active participation in a number of projects and activities.

Among the qualifying activities are the 1966-67 presidency of the Hereford Migrant Ministry; advisor to the VISTA program at the Labor Camp since 1965; president of the Deaf Smith County Farm Bureau from 1945 to 1955; a member of the Chamber of Commerce since 1955, during which time he served on several committees and a member of the Toastmaster's Club since 1957.

Dodson, a member of the First Christian Church since 1947, was appointed to the area draft board in 1962, and from 1956 to 1960 was a member of the High Plains Underground Water District Board and in 1960 became a member of the Red River Authority Water Board.

KIWANIS CITIZEN OF THE MONTH — Virgil Dodson, right, was chosen Citizen of the Month by the Hereford Chapter of Kiwanis International and presented this certificate in a ceremony at the club's meeting on Thursday. Presentation was made by Kiwanian Gene Campbell, and was made on the basis of Dodson's outstanding and unselfish contributions to the community in the form of his work with the VISTA group, Migrant Ministry, and various water boards. Witnessing the presentation are, extreme right, Dean Herring, 1967 president of Hereford Kiwanis Club and Edlana Vinson, club sweetheart.

6 Members Added, Pitman Explains Hospital Issue

Six new members were welcomed into the Kiwanis Club Thursday at its regular noon meeting at the Odd Fellows Hall.

Welcomed by Clint Formby, he men are Emmett Duke, Blakley, who is employed by Humble Oil Co.; Thomas G. Millegan, assistant principal at Aikman School; Rodney Laubhan, assistant principal at Bluebonnet School; James Durham, farmer and employee of Montanto Co. and Curtis Don Beard, an employee of Frito-Lay Co.

With the acceptance of these men into the club, a goal set at 67 members for 1967 was not only reached but exceeded. A total of 32 new members were added during 1967 for the club, bringing membership to 72.

Final arrangements were completed at the meeting for the club's annual Ladies night, to be held 7:30 p. m. Thursday at the Country Club. Jeff Carlile is chairman in charge of ticket sales. Tickets must be purchased soon, according to Carlile, in order to give count to the management of the Country Club.

December program chairman Armon Lauderback introduced guest speaker John Douglas Pitfomal explanation of the hospital man, who, after giving an in-bond issue and why it was called held a question and answer session for members who wanted a closer explanation.

Pitman told his audience, after being asked the question by Justin McBride, that he did not know how long it would be before another issue was called to add on to the hospital to meet the needs of a growing community. Mentioning the fact that bonds from an election held in 1963 would be retired within two years, he added that if and when another issue was called, the amount asked for would be less than that if this present issue had not been called.

Stressing the fact that the improvements asked for now are vitally needed, he told his audience that the hospital carried a terrific burden annually in its charity load and uncollectible accounts. These accounts are not paid from tax funds, and neither is the hospital supported entirely by tax funds.

However, Pitman said, the hospital will ask county commissioners next year to allocate a certain percent of its budget in the retirement of these debts. The community taxpayers, with no increase in its county taxes, will share in the payment, instead of the burden being carried by hospital patients alone. Closing the meeting Dean Herring, 1967 Kiwanis Club president, announced that the Dec. 21 meeting will be held at the First Christian Church, instead of Odd Fellow's Hall, the occasion being a special Christmas party for Kiwanians children. No meeting will be held at noon on Thursday because of the party that night.

Families Invited To Yule Party

Families will be entertained by Rebekah Lodge members at a Christmas party in the IOOF Hall Tuesday evening. A gift exchange with a dollar limit set on the price of the gift, is to be a feature of the evening. Each member of the lodge is to bring a plate of home-made candy to the party. Mrs. Ben Conklin, chairman of arrangements, announces.

Almost half of Alaska's 250,000 people live near Anchorage, the state's largest city.

The Balinese believe that rice has a soul. They use human terms, such as mother, in referring to it.

YOUTH LEADER — The Rev. Bill Thomas of Lubbock will conduct special services today at the Assembly of God, Union and Avenue G, where Youth Day will be observed. He is new president of Christ's Ambassadors for the West Texas area, and will speak to that group in the local church at 6 p. m. He is also to be speaker at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. worship services for the entire congregation, with the public invited.

Westerners Move Here

By SUE COLEMAN

Texas is an eastern state for the Lloyd Neville family, which moved here last summer from California and had previously lived in Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Idaho.

MRS. NEVILLE, who is finding Hereford an agreeable friendly place to live, says she felt that she was coming home when she moved back this far east, as the family lived 13 years in Artesia, N. M., their longest residence in one place.

Her husband is assistant factory manager for Holly Sugar Corp. and his work with that firm took them to Colorado Springs and the Imperial Valley of California. He joined Holly after employment with an oil firm in Artesia.

Moving from place to place has given Mrs. Neville a taste for community history, as well as for studying background history of the various states.

NOW THAT SHE has her family settled in their home at 318 Sixteenth and her children in school, she plans reading and exploring to learn more about the Texas Panhandle.

She was born at Castelford, Ida., in the southern part of the state which is semi-arid farming area in contrast to the high mountains of the north. Attending the College of Idaho she met her future husband, who grew up in Ogden, Utah.

They were married at mid-semester of his senior year in college and established a home in what they considered "commuting distance" of the college, about 500 miles, where Katherine Neville was teaching in Oregon.

THAT WAS ONLY a tem-

Cultural Club's Yule Party Held After Luncheon

The home of Mrs. Pat Robinson, decorated for the holidays, was the meeting place for Cultural Home Demonstration Club Friday, when a covered dish luncheon preceded the afternoon program.

Games were directed by Mrs. James G. Gandy and a Christmas story was told by Mrs. Paul Corbett after the devotional talk by Mrs. Grady Parsons which was closed with a prayer by Mrs. Louie Olson.

Also present for the gift exchange from a decorated tree were Meses. Tom Dra'er, Melvin Sumner, G. S. Parker, Ira Scott, Ralph Packard and Edwin Morrison.

porary arrangement, of course, and that year ended her teaching career except for substitute work at intervals. She expects to continue that in Hereford schools.

The older Neville son is Scott, in high school; Ted is in the eighth grade at Stanton Junior High and the two daughters, Amy and Carol, in Bluebonnet Elementary. The family attends the Presbyterian Church.

In addition to delving into local history, Katherine and Lloyd Neville like to play bridge together and she enjoys reading as a pastime. She is also making inquiries about gardening methods in this area, and thinks perhaps her yard will be a hobby next spring.

Auction Raises Money For Gift

Auction of handmade articles suitable for gifts, an annual event at Christmastime in Summerfield Study Club, netted a substantial sum for a contribution to Boys Ranch. Mrs. Mack Noland served as auctioneer at the meeting Thursday afternoon in Mrs. Clayton Sanders' home.

Mrs. J. B. Noland and Mrs. Earl Lance Sr. were hostesses with Mrs. Sanders for the holiday tea, when guests were entertained with members.

A group of Christmas poems was read by Mrs. Ray L. Johnson as the program. Selections were The Christmas Story (Margaret Hyde), What Is Christmas? (Clara M. Bode), Christ-

Guest Day Tea Is Club Event

A present-tense version of the 2,000-year-old Nativity story was related by Mrs. Ansel McDowell as she reviewed Bishop's short novel, The Day Christ Was Born, for Bay View Club and guests at a holiday tea in Mrs. Bruce Burney's home Thursday.

Two former members of the club, Mrs. D. H. Alexander of Seagraves and Mrs. Edmond McMillan of Lubbock, were among the guests, who included Meses. Joe Hudson of Seagraves, Raymond Thompson of Vega, Walk Boston, Buren Sowell and J. R. Allison.

Hostesses with Mrs. Burney were other members of the social committee, Meses. Jimmie Gillentine, Juston McBride and Carl Swanson.

A green tree glittering with ornaments dominated the living room, while decorations in the den centered on the large fire-mas Rush (Virginia Blanche Moore), Let Us Keep Christmas (Grace Noll Crowell) and Grandma's House (Edgar A. Guest).

Mrs. George DeLozier poured tea at the dining room table, which was laid with lace and centered with a sparkling holiday arrangement.

place where sequined stockings hung from the mantel. The dining table was placed against the wall, with a small tree arrangement at the center back.

The reviewer brought to life the characters of Bishop's book which is written as though the event were happening today, giving a novel view of the Christmas story.

Stunt Night To Be On Dec. 16

The Hereford High School Stunt Night, to be sponsored by the Student Council, has been set for Dec. 16 in the Hereford High School Auditorium.

An Annual Queen candidate has been selected from each class, and the winner will be chosen from the three according to how much money each class brought in during their fund raising projects.

Candidates are Debbie Ogan, senior; Debra Walden, junior, and Peggy Summers, sophomore. Admission to Stunt Night will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. Money will go to the annual staff to help pay for the yearbooks.

Safe Holiday Is Best Kind

By Mrs. Argen Draper
Home Demonstration Agent

What exactly is the holiday spirit? It is many things to many people...and there is no one particular ingredient that is important to all of us. It is a pound of friendship with a dash of nostalgia. It is the birth of Christ that we remember and it is the birth of a new year that we look forward to.

It is a large part of laughter and singing. There is a sprinkling of many-colored lights on a tree and a goodly portion of heavily laden tables. There are many pounds of children mixed in gayly with toys

Put it all in a bowl of good tidings to all men and you have a good share of what we call the holiday spirit. Don't spoil this wonderful recipe by adding any unwanted ingredients such as one careless accident...keep the holiday spirit alive.

There will be many special activities for you to attend throughout the holiday season. We all tend to rush around from one thing to another as the holidays get closer and closer. We hurry and we get careless.

The special things we do — such as Christmas tree trimming — we usually take special pains to accomplish with care; BUT, it is the everyday activities that we do so often that can trip us up when we are careless.

I won't list all the accidents that you could have, but, I will ask you to consider the dangers in each thing you do. Don't become careless and ruin the holidays for yourself or those who depend upon you during this holiday season.

Let's talk about Christmas trees. Shop for a tree that looks fresh and green. When you find the right one, saw off about an inch from the bottom on a diagonal cut-line, and put it in a Christmas tree holder with water or a basket of wet sand. Make a habit of watering it.

Check each socket and each inch of cord before putting any lights on the tree. Do not overload any one side of the tree with ornaments so that it might tip over and fall on a child.

If you have small children that love to touch things, I would suggest a smaller tree this year, and put it up on a table out of the reach of inquisitive fingers. A Christmas tree is one of the symbols of the holiday spirit...make your tree a safe one and your holidays will be merrier.

There are two items that can cause dangerous fires and we bring them into our homes each year during the holiday season. The biggest cause of holiday fires is the Christmas tree.

The lovely tall tree in your living room can — in a matter of seconds — turn into a flaming torch. Give your tree a daily amount of water. Never give it a chance to catch on fire. Unplug the lights when you leave the house or go to bed.

The second fire danger would be found in the mound of wrapping paper that comes off the presents so quickly on Christmas morning. Gather them up as you unwrap presents, and get them out of the house. The warmth of the holiday never comes from a fire!

Are you going to hang a piece of mistletoe in your house this year? Kissing under the mistletoe is another of those traditional ideas we repeat in our house every year. You can kiss away all of the fun of the holidays if you try to hang it by standing on a rickety chair.

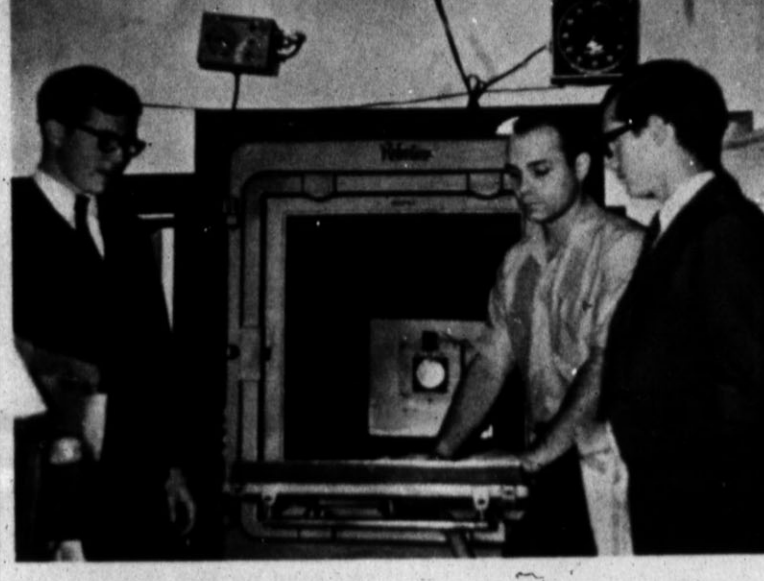

Use a safer method of climbing. A small ladder may be one of the big investments that you could make before the holidays get into full swing. Hang the mistletoe and trim the tree with a safe and reliable ladder.

The holidays are almost upon us and with the gift-giving and preparing for the holiday parties, there will be a great amount of extra shopping to do. No matter how much you buy ahead of time, there will be that last minute purchase to make.

Just a hurried shopping trip to get those last minute items... make that trip as safe for you and your family as you made the first shopping trip a few months ago.

Drive downtown, or cross country with the greatest of care...there will be two things against you: Dangerous winter weather driving on slick highways and a great number of other drivers who also have that last minute gift to buy or other last minute preparations.

We do a lot of eating during the holidays. There are all sorts of holiday foods that we put befor the family to make the meals. A special part of the special days. One of the items usually has been canned at home and there is a very good chance that home canned food stuffs can cause a serious case of food poisoning. Look it over, smell it and boil non-acid foods 10 to 12 minutes before serving.

If you want to use the home canned non-acid food in a salad, first open the food, boil 10 to 12 minutes and chill to make the salad safe food could save you and your family from suffering through the holidays in a hospital.

A safe holiday season can be the happiest of all seasons. Let's make Hereford's safety record the very best during the next three weeks.

Gift Sharing In Class Plans

A box of gifts for the "adopted" class daughter in Girlstown was planned at a covered dish supper Thursday by members of First Baptist Faithful Service class. Miss Della Stagner was hostess in the home of Mrs. Earl Clark.

Present were Misses Madeline Bell and Ethel Womble, Mmes. H. E. Miller, Viola Williams, Tandy Legg, John Hacker, Grady Parsons, Joe Curtsinger, Louie Olson, Abe Martin and S. C. Ramey.

CUB SCOUTS II
By Keith Schroyer
This year's program for Cub Scout Pack 133 is quite different from the past Scout programs carried on at the Labor Camp.

Until this year the Pack was just a club for boys. The club was called Cub Scouts, but many of the activities which play an important part in the Cub program were missing. The meetings were held once a week in Larrick 28 where one unit has been given to the pack for their use by the Hereford Housing Project. During the meeting the boys went on field trips and worked on craft and educational activities.

With no uniforms there was no interest on the part of the boys in working for the badges and awards of Scouting. They could not get enthusiastic about earning a badge only to have it stay in a drawer. But once the uniforms had been ordered, enthusiasm ran high. The boys wanted to start toward earning their badges so they would have them when the uniforms arrived.

The first step was to get each boy a Cub Scouting book for his age level. One of the boys is 8 and started in the Wolf book. Three others are 9 and started in the Bear book. The other nine boys are 10 and are working in the new Webelos book.

In the Cub program, the 8 and 9-year-olds meet apart from the 10-year-old boys. This is made necessary by the differences which exist as far as program is concerned between the two groups.

ble with this Pack due to a lack of time and facilities. Instead, the boys all meet as a group on Mondays after school.

The meeting usually consists of activities which help the boys earn their awards at the different levels. For example, all the boys must do certain athletic activities to earn their awards at each of the three levels.

During the meeting, all the athletic achievements are done. All the boys do as many of these as they can. So each boy does all the activities for his age level as well as those for other age levels which he can do.

It is important to mention that in a regular Cub program, the boys earn the badges at home, with the help of his parents. However, in this situation some of the parents are not able and often not willing to spend the time to do this.

So the work to earn badges must be done during the weekly meetings and after school with the help of the Den Mothers and the Scout Master. This type of program occupies a great deal of time but is well worth the effort.

The boys also go on hospital trips from time to time. One such trip was a ride on a train to Clovis to see the zoo. The boys earned the money for the trip by a work project on the farm of Charles Frye.

On another occasion the boys visited the Hereford Airport where Mr. Frye took all of them up for their first plane ride. Part of last week's meeting was spent at the skating rink. Most of the boys had never been on skates before.

The next project planned for the boys is handicrafts such as leather work and metal work. The materials for these projects is provided by the earnings the boys receive from various work projects.

L'Allegra Makes Gift To Project

Contribution of $150 for work of special education classes in Hereford schools was voted by L'Allegra Club members Thursday afternoon, and a cash gift to Hereford Community Center was made also from proceeds of the annual club luncheon held there last month.

Assistance to the school's special education program is the major L'Allegra service project of this year and the luncheon was held as a benefit for that fund. Mrs. J.H. McCrary was hostess Thursday in her home, where rooms were colorful with Christmas decorations. Mrs. Noble Ballard presented the program, one of a series on art of various periods.

She sketched the life of Vincent Van Gogh, told of his work and his influence on modern painting, as well as his early struggles and failure in the career he first chose, as a minister.

Copies of Van Gogh paintings, which were done while he lived in France and in Holland, were shown to illustrate the talk, and Mrs. Ballard read excerpts from the artist's letters to his brother and to friends.

Club members will be entertained at a Christmas coffee on the next meeting day, Dec. 21, in the home of Mrs. Howard R. Johnson with Mrs. Ron Zimmerman as co-hostess.

Mrs. Gerald Payne was a guest, and other members attending were Mmes. Dennis Lomas, Don Chaney, Terrell Hodges, Sam Lesly, Danny Martin, Hazen Woods, Bill Warrick, Bob Veigel, Bud Snyder, John E. Smith, Bob Sims, Jim McDowell, James Higgins and Buddy Bloomer.

Time For Project Christmas Card

AT CHRISTMAS TIME every year, residents of this area contribute to a fund which buys a piece of equipment, needed but not available within the budget, for Deaf Smith County Hospital. Gifts are made through Project Christmas Card, sponsored by Hereford Medical Auxiliary. Each person is asked to give the amount he would spend if he mailed holiday greeting to friends living in the community. Auxiliary members then prepare a page of greetings to appear in the Christmas edition of The Hereford Brand, conveying the donors' greetings to all local friends.

THIS YEAR'S GIFT will be a monitor unit for patients in intensive care, so that condition of the seriously ill patient may be noted at a glance by hospital personnel and attention given at once if needed. Dr. C. E. Hicks is explaining to Mrs. A. T. Mims, Auxiliary president, how the unit is used.

SOMEWHAT SIMILAR to the gift planned for this year is the one made three years ago, a cardiac monitor for use of heart patients. Dr. Howard R. Johnson and nurse Tillie Miller are showing the monitor and its attachments to Mrs. H. A. Cavness of the Auxiliary.

NEWER RESIDENTS and those of many years are contributors to the project fund. Joel Hodges, who with Mrs. Hodges has greeted friends in this manner every year since the project began, and Mrs. J.H. McCrary, Auxiliary member, watch Mrs. Clifford Trotter, wife of the First Methodist pastor who has been here less than two years, give her check at First State Bank. Deposits to the fund are also accepted at First National Bank or may be placed in the decorated canisters which Auxiliary members have put in supermarkets and the hospital lobby.

Langley-Wall Marriage Takes Place In Church

Emerald foliage set the color note at the evening wedding of Miss Suzanne Langley and Lt. Daniel George Wall III, both of Lubbock, in the sanctuary of First Methodist Church here Saturday.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest L. Langley Jr., 502 Star, and a teaching assistant in the department of German and Slavic languages at Texas Tech. Lieutenant Wall, stationed at Reese Air Force Base, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel G. Wall of Bay City, Michigan.

Double ring marriage vows were read by the Rev. Clifford Trotter, pastor of the church. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Candelabra with sprays of greenery and white bows marked the center aisle of the church, leading to an altar arrangement of gladiolus and mums with green leaves. A sunburst of the flowers, palm leaves and gold candelabra was placed on either side of the altar.

Her three sisters were attendants of the bride, with Mrs. Lynton Allred, matron of honor, and Mrs. William Hebert of Bay City, sister of the bridegroom. Miss Barbara Langley was maid of honor, Miss Camille Langley a bridesmaid and Miss Carolyn Langley the junior bridesmaid.

William Hebert was best man; Lts. Gary Stamper, Jim Dobbs, Jack Hogue and Fred Dimon of Reese AFB were ushers.

Karen Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hazen Woods, was the dainty flower girl and Trent Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne E. Thomas, the ring bearer.

Lavishly embroidered with seed pearls and crystals, Alencon lace trimmed the bride's gown of ivory peau de soie, which was cut on empire lines with cameo neckline and bell sleeves.

Lace scallops edged the sleeves and extended upward in scroll design. A border of lace circled the neckline and defined the waistline. A chapel train continued the A-line effect of the floor-length skirt.

Her silk illusion mantilla was deeply bordered with lace to match that on the dress and she carried a cascading style bouquet of white phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis with emerald leaves.

Attendants wore dresses in similar fashion of emerald velvet, with matching crown headpieces. Their cascade bouquets were of miniature white carnations. The flower girl, dressed like the bridesmaids, had ribbon streamers in her hair.

Traditions of Germany and Austria, where the bride spent a year in college, were evoked in decorations for the wedding and reception, and in wedding music. Don Baugous, organist, played a prelude of Bach chorals and accompanied Mrs. Dick Godwin as she sang Der Tag der ist so Freudenreich (Bach) before the ceremony.

The soloist's prayer selection was Mein Herr and Gott, from Wagner's opera, Lohengrin. For the processional Baugous played Johann Pachelbel's Magnificat Fugue and Handel's Triumphal March, and the recessional march was Basse et Dessus de Trompette (Louis Clerambault).

With decor based on a German theme, Hereford Country Club was the scene of the reception hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Langley. The newlywed couple, their parents and the bride's attendants received guests.

The bride's table was laid with a white cloth, the bridegroom's table with moss green, both trimmed in gold. At the former, the three-tiered wedding cake was served and at the latter, a chocolate truffle torte.

From another table, with a Christmas cloth decorated in lights, were served tortes, German sausage, cheeses and bread "Kafe mit Schlag" and spiced tea.

Austrian peasant costumes were worn by a group of girls and boys who assisted the houseparty. They were Martha Kate Aikin, Margaret Adams, Kerri and Kim Dameron, Jan Hassahn, Mark Dameron, Angela Grubbs, Shyla Thomas, and Danny and Derik Smith of Lubbock.

In the houseparty were Miss Sidney Bayne; Misses Cheryl Jones, Jane Smith, Robin Raquet and Mrs. Ronnie Gray of Lubbock; Mrs. Jim Durham and Miss Judy Wiman of Clovis, N. M.; Misses Sue Scovell, Rita Reynolds and Penny Hill of Dallas; Mrs. Dick Comolly of Corpus Christi and Miss Cynthia Andrews of Albuquerque.

Mr. and Mrs. Wall left after the reception for travel which will take them at the close of the holiday season to the bridegroom's home city. His parents have planned a reception on the evening of Dec. 30 to honor them and introduce the bride to family friends.

For traveling Mrs. Wall chose a navy knit costume suit, with white patent accessories, pinning on an orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet.

After the holidays the bride will complete this semester's teaching at Tech, then will join her husband at a base in California where he will receive advanced instruction as pilot of the Air Force F4 fighter-bomber. He will be graduated Dec. 16 from Reese AFB.

Mrs. Wall received the BA degree from Tech in 1966 and studied here at the University of Vienna. Her high school work was completed in Hereford. Her sorority is Kappa Kappa Gamma and she is a member of Delta Phi Alpha, German honorary society.

Commissioned at Lackland AFB, Lieutenant Wall had earned his BS degree from Concordia Teachers College in Chicago, where he was student body president and was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges.

Out-of-city wedding guests, in addition to the bridegroom's family, included the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Richter of Abernathy and Mrs. E. L. Langley of Sweetwater.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Berry Green, Douglas and Paul Green and Mrs. Fred Pipkin. Sweetwater: Mrs. Chris Benn of Abernathy, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Andrews and daughter, Lorinda of Albuquerque.

Also from Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Richter, the Rev. and Mrs. Donald Smith, Misses Karen Smith and Helen Kott, Mrs. Betty Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis D'Elia and sons, Lewis Jr. and Richard, Messrs. and Mmes. Edwin L. Forrest, Edward Dunn and Theodor W. Alexander.

In terms of power, the sound coming from a person's mouth in normal conversation is equal to only about one hundred-thousandth of a watt.

Supper Is Finale

Wedding Principals And Guests Honored

A gay finale to social events accompanying the Suzanne Langley-Dan Wall wedding of Saturday evening, had Elizabeth and James Witherspoon as hosts in their home for the wedding supper.

Wedding party members and close friends, including a number from Lubbock where the bride is a Texas Tech instructor and the bridegroom is stationed at Reese AFB, were entertained after the ceremony and reception.

Emerald green and pale blue, wedding colors, were used on the beautifully appointed dining room table and a large buffet table in the den of the Witherspoon home at 410 N. Lawton.

Mary Thomas, Ruth Aikin, Barbara Woods, Julia Kendrick and Carlie Burdett assisted the hostess in serving the buffet supper.

Viennese touches in decorations, suggestive of the Austrian capital where the bride was a student for a year, appeared at all the parties.

The theme was emphasized when Mary and Wayne Thomas hosted a wedding day buffet in Hereford Country Club at 2 p. m. Saturday, honoring families and out-of-town relatives and friends of the couple.

The serving table had a centerpiece in emerald and blue, colors repeated in small arrangements on quartet tables where places were laid for the bridal couple, their attendants and honored guests.

For the bridesmaids' brunch that morning, Mrs. Dick Comolly of Corpus Christi was hostess at the Caison House. The bride-elect presented mementoes to her attendants there.

Guests were the bridesmaids, Misses Barbara, Camille and Carolyn Langley, Mrs. Lynton Allred, and the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Bill Hebert of Bay City, Mich.; the small flower girl, Karen Woods, and her mother, Mrs. Hazen Woods; the ring bearer, Trent Thomas, and his mother, Mrs. Wayne Thomas.

Also mothers of the couple, Mrs. Earnest Langley and Mrs. Dan Wall of Bay City; and the bride's grandmothers, Mrs. H. E. Richter of Abernathy and Mrs. E. L. Langley of Sweetwater.

Hosts for the rehearsal dinner at the Country Club were the Jimmie G. Lentines, their daughter and her husband, the Jim Durhams of Clovis.

The weekend entertaining completed a series of courtesies for the couple, here and in Lubbock.

Many German medical schools have departments of balneology that instruct students in the therapeutic uses of springwater baths.

College Museum Now Open Daily

"Holiday Time" is the theme of the current exhibit in the Rotunda Gallery of West Texas Museum on the Texas Tech campus. Assembled by the Fine Arts Committee of the Women's Council of the West Texas Museum Association, the exhibit features Christmas decorations, paintings, wall hangings and other works of art with a holiday motif.

A colorful tree festooned with giant paper flowers is part of the display. A larger tree, hung with Hopi Kachina dolls and Indian "God's eyes" greets visitors upon arrival in the rounda. The Museum is open daily from 9 a. m. - 5 p. m. and on Sundays from 2-5 p. m. Holiday hours begin Friday, December 22. The Museum will be open daily from 2-5 p. m. until January 2, with the exception of Christmas Eve and Christmas Day, and New Year's Eve and New Year's Day.

"The Star of Bethlehem" returns to the Planetarium during the holiday season as the annual program in the Museum's "Theatre of the Skies". Each Sunday at 3 p. m. a Planetarium show is open to the public. Admission is 50 cents for adults, 25 cents for children and free to Museum association members. Pre-school children are not admitted. The current Planetarium lecture is scheduled for today and Dec. 17. Parking is available in the parking lot behind the Museum.

Xmas Seals Are Crusade Symbols

Christmas and chronic respiratory diseases. An odd combination. But Christmas Seals are as colorful as Rudolph the red-nosed. As traditional as hot-gravy turkey. As cherished as Yuletide cheer.

Cheer is exactly what this year's Christmas Seals convey. They show a charming, old-fashioned toy train bulging with goodies and gifts. That toy train has a real destination. The tracks lead to less suffering from chronic diseases that damage the lungs and constrict breathing. Christmas Seals are symbols of the chugging crusade to combat TB, respiratory diseases, air pollution and smoking. A crusade to cut the toll taken by emphysema, chronic bronchitis, and asthma. The toll mounts into the millions.

In the toy train, there are ten cars, including a locomotive and the cute caboose. Each car is a separate Seal. This ten-unit

CORRECTION
A date given for a special Chamber of Commerce banquet being held for the installation of newly elected officers was reported in the Dec. 3 issue of the Sunday Brand as Dec. 11. The actual date of the installation dinner is January 11.

This banquet will precede the annual Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Banquet by one week, and will feature Tut Tawwater, owner of KVOP Radio Station in Plainview as its guest speaker. Chamber members, officers and directors as well as their wives will be guests. No tickets will be sold to this affair.

Design is a first in Christmas Seal history. Its appeal is immediate. Not only are the Seals perfect for cards and packages, they are sprightly and holidayish in other forms: posters, paper napkins, counter displays, book marks, bangle pins, bumper strips, coin cards, and more. All of them are available from your tuberculosis and respiratory disease association.

Chronic respiratory diseases don't make happy Christmases. But the spirit of sharing does. And that sharing can move the TB train toward its destination. Send in your Christmas Seal letter — today — and you'll supply the fuel for a trip along the tracks of progress.

Hospital Officials Have Earned Support Of Voters

Deaf Smith County voters will go to the polls Saturday to decide the fate of a $130,000 bond issue, called by the Commissioners Court for the purpose of adding needed equipment and additional space at the county hospital.

Specifically, the hospital board of managers has requested the issue to purchase a new 500 Milliamp x-ray machine with complete attachments and equipment with a new room to house the equipment; two new boilers large enough so that one boiler can heat the premises and furnish hot water should either break down; a larger warehouse in which to store bulk items, and new room lights for the semi-private rooms and the children's wing.

Our hospital has consistently been one of the best in the state, and through the efforts of the Board of Managers and Administrator T. E. Seigler Jr., has been able to maintain lower rates than other area hospitals, yet has kept standards high, and is an accredited hospital. Only 30 percent of the hospitals in the State of Texas enjoy this status.

Without a doubt, the people of Deaf Smith County are proud of their hospital system, and have in many instances in the past, rallied to its support not only through bond issue elections but with private subscriptions to build new additions and to add equipment and help maintain this high standard of service. Without the fine support from the citizens, as well as the efforts of the managers and the administrator, Deaf Smith Countians might well be paying a much high tax rate now, or have less than the superior hospital services which they now receive. But the thing that always bothers folks at a time like this is: Will it raise taxes? The County Commissioners Court has assured us that it will not.

At the present time, of the .80c per $100 valuation paid in the form of county taxes, only .04 cents goes to the hospital and all of that is for retirement of the bonds voted in 1963 for the new hospital wing. The taxpayers are paying nothing in the form of upkeep, repairs, operation and maintenance of the hospital.

It has been self-supporting for years, other than for the retirement of bonds for construction — a commendable record. At the same time, the county court hopes that increase in construction and new valuation added to the rolls will be sufficient to absorb the increased bond payment needs. The commissioners are pledged to not raise taxes so long as the county can be operated under the present budget, and have been able to hold the line for a number of years while other agencies have been forced to increase income through additional property taxes.

Hereford is still growing, and it would be foolish to say that taxes will not ever be increased — or that the hospital will not, at some time in the future, need additional space and additional equipment. But the county fathers have made an effort in years past to retire one bond issue before another is called, and for the past six years has done remarkably well in holding the line. Increased valuation through growth has helped and not since 1961 has the percentage of taxable valuation been raised on the county level.

All the citizens of the county are interested in keeping taxes as low as possible, but we believe that they are equally as interested in keeping hospital services at a high level. Our hospital Board of Managers and the hospital administration has made every effort to do both, and we believe they deserve the support of the citizens of this county on Saturday, Dec. 16.

A Policeman—What Is He?

By PAUL HARVEY
CHICAGO — Don't credit me with this mongrel prose; it has many parents — at least 420,000 of them: Policemen.

A policeman is a composite of what all men are, a mingling of saint and sinner, dust and deity.

Culled statistics wave the fan over the stinkers, underscore instances of dishonesty and brutality because they are "news." What that really means is that they are exceptional, unusual, not commonplace.

Buried under the froth is the fact: Less than 5 per cent of policemen misfit that uniform.

That's a better average than you'd find among clergymen.

What is a policeman made of? He, of all men, is at once the most needed and the most unwanted.

He's a strangely nameless creature who is "sir" to his face and "fuzz" behind his back.

He must be such a diplomat that he can settle differences between individuals so that each will think he won.

But —
If the policeman is neat, he's conceited; if he's careless, he's a bum.

If he's pleasant, he's a flirt; if he's not, he's a grouch.

He must make in an instant decisions which would require months for a lawyer.

But —
If he hurries, he's careless; if he's deliberate, he's lazy.

He must be first to an accident and infallible with a diagnosis.

He must be able to start breathing, stop bleeding, tie splints and, above all, be sure the victim goes home without a limp.

Or expect to be sued.

The police officer must know every gun, draw on the run and hit where it doesn't hurt.

He must be able to whip two men twice his size and half his age without damaging his uniform and without being "brutal."

If you hit him, he's a coward; if he hits you, he's a bully.

A policeman must know everything — and not tell.

He must know where all the sin is — and not partake.

The policeman must, from a single human hair, be able to describe the crime, the weapon and the criminal — and tell you where the criminal is hiding.

But —
If he catches the criminal, he's lucky; if he doesn't, he's a dunce.

If he gets promoted, he has political pull. If he doesn't, he's a dullard.

The policeman must chase bum leads to a dead-end, stake-out 10 nights to tag one witness who saw it happen, but refuses to remember.

He runs files and writes reports until his eyes ache to build a case against some felon who'll get dealt out.

The policeman must be a minister, a social worker, a diplomat, a tough guy and a gentleman.

And, of course, he'll have to be a genius, for he'll have to feed a family on a policeman's salary.

Congress To Improve Image For Millions Of Tourists

by BERT MILLS
Washington, D. C. — Fifteen million visitors come to Washington annually and too often they go home dissatisfied with their glimpse of the U. S. government in action. Congress has recognized the problem and legislation to improve tourist facilities is now halfway through the mill.
The House has passed the National Visitor Center Facilities Act of 1967. While the Senate will not be able to consider this bill until 1968, chances appear bright for passage next year. If so, visitors to the Nation's Capital will get a better break before long.
No law is going to solve all the problems that tourists encounter in Washington. There will still be those long lines outside the White House, congestion on the streets, and high prices in restaurants and hotels. A walk in the park after dark will still be an unwise risk.
But if the pending bill passes, some relief is promised. For example, four out of five D. C. visitors come by car and soon after they arrive they find their automobile more a liability than an asset. You can't just drive up to the White House or Capitol, park, and disembark to see the sights.
Parking places for blocks around the key tourist attractions in Washington are pre-empted for government employees. Commercial parking lots are scarce and expensive. When a family visits Washington at the height of the tourist season, father is likely to the sights mostly from behind the wheel. He can let the wife and kids out to tour a monument while he searches for a place to park.
If the House-passed bill becomes law, there will be a huge 4,000-car parking garage in the Capitol Hill area, offering space at no more than $1 for 24 hours. Buses will transport visitors to other areas. Hopefully, congestion on city streets will be relieved by separating tourists from their cars during the entire sightseeing process, except for remote sites like Mount Vernon.
This plan works in Williamsburg, Va., which had 750,000 visitors last year. The commission which recommended the Washington plan included the President of Colonial Williamsburg among its 21 members. His influence is evident in the bill passed by the House, because transportation is the key to the whole plan.
Washington has a 66-year-old landmark in Union Station. As a railroad terminal it is virtually obsolete. Its railroad owners had planned to tear it down until the opportunity to convert it to a Visitor Center was presented. Instead, the railroads will invest $19.5 million in renovating it for a tourist center, building a parking garage over the tracks, and constructing a new passenger station on the ground floor of the parking facility.
The Federal government will lease Union Station after it is converted, and pay up to $3 million in annual rent. The government will pay nothing until it starts receiving income from parking and other for-sale services at the Visitors Center. Sponsors claim the whole plan "will not require one cent of taxpayers' money."
That opinion is not unanimous. The House bill passed 316-34, with several of the dissenters citing other projects which were

—Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm tackles the monetary system this week, but it gets away from him.
Dear editor:
A neighbor came over to my house out here yesterday morning carrying a bundle of newspapers and dumped them on my kitchen table and said, "Here, I wish you'd read these and then explain the international monetary system to me." I thanked him and said give me time.
I have read the papers and will have to tell him there's not enough time.
The papers of course were filled with news about England's de-valuing the British pound, the effect it will have on the price of gold, the value of the dollar, the balance of trade, and possibly the future of the human race, none of which I am able to predict.
As I understand it, as far as I can get, the world's money system mostly is based on the dollar, the dollar is based on gold, and gold is based on $35 an ounce, provided the scales are balanced and De Gaulle isn't trying to weigh his thumb too.
Getting deeper into the subject, the United States has 13 billion dollars worth of pure gold buried in its vaults at Fort Knox, excusing any the mice may have carried off, and as long as it's there a dollar bill will be accepted in any store in Hereford.
Since you and me and very few of the Hereford merchants ever get around to actually looking in the vaults at Fort Knox to see if the gold is there, some of us they might not even let in, you might say we swap dollar bills on faith, some people having a lot more faith than others, judging by the way they wind up with the biggest stack at closing time on Saturdays.
On top of this, I concluded after reading that bundle of newspapers, if some West Virginia coal miner's pick suddenly hit a vein of gold a few miles long, making gold as plentiful as coal, the world's financiers would all faint.
I'm afraid I'm going to have to tell my neighbor money is like electricity. Don't try to understand it, just use it.
Yours faithfully,
J. A.

'Merry Christmas' Sometimes Hurts

With lights strung from one end of Congress Avenue to the other, the Christmas spirit has arrived again in all its colored splendor in the capital city. Like other cities, Austin will enjoy the brief joy that Christmas brings, then forget it on December 26th and return to the old ways of years past.
Walking to class several days ago, I met an old acquaintance who said the traditional "Merry Christmas" as he passed on the sidewalk. It sort of smacked; what meaning is there in a "Merry Christmas" when it comes from someone who couldn't care less about your holiday spirits? Likewise, why go to all the trouble to inject yourself with all this joyous Christmas spirit, when you know it is nothing short of hypocrisy? The persons who really convey the Christmas spirit are the ones who started wishing good will toward men back in January, carrying the message throughout the entire year. This is the group we all should attempt to join, if we are sincere in our greetings of "Merry Christmas."

Christmas gaiety can be likened to a winter carnival. It is the time for parties and shopping; it is the season when we look forward to being able to see our families and loved ones again. Aside from these things, it is the commemoration of Christ's birth.

We are sure to hear someone complain that we no longer make Christ the center of our Christmas celebration. Why we wait until December to bring up the subject, I don't know. The people most likely to "put Christ into Christmas" are the same ones who put Christ into January, February, March, etc.

An old joke depicted two women, dressed in furs and diamonds, standing in a long line waiting to enter a crowded church on Christmas Eve. Commented one, "Why don't the ones who come every Sunday stay home so that we can at least go to church on Christmas and Easter?" As though attending church on Christmas Eve will really make that much difference.

We will wish peace on earth, good will toward men for the coming few weeks. Will this still be our message in January? For those who have kept this message in their hearts over the year, it will. For those who just now are getting into the act with their expressions of "Merry Christmas," it doesn't matter. It is a happy season for all.

Perhaps some of the true Christmas spirit will rub off on a few more people this year. It doesn't really matter, though whether it happens in December, January, or July. Why do we wait until December to think about it? Why have I waited until the Christmas season to write this.

... from the Brand's files 50 YEARS AGO

It is said to be a fact that when the Sammies caught a German in France they would nip off his suspender buttons to keep him from "beating it" and then they would mail the "Made in Germany" buttons home to the folks to prove that they had had their hands on a real live German.

But John Williams, son of S. J. Williams of Hereford, has gone that one better and sent his family two German helmet buttons, which he vouches for as genuine as he himself took them off the fallen foe.

The last helmet received, mailed through in a sack, is camouflaged — that is, it is painted a spotty grey-green-brown effect, which is undoubtedly hard to see at a distance. Furthermore, the reason why John Williams got possession of it is grimly evident from two great holes in the steel; the bullet evidently having gone through the wearer's temples. The name, "Barth," is written in ink on the sweat band.

These helmets are on display at Williams grocery, and are well worth examination.

Clarence Bailey, known to many locally as "Jack" Bailey, was severely wounded in action on November 11, the very last day of hostilities, according to a telegram received by his mother, Mrs. Molly Bailey, dated December 11th. No details were given by the Adjutant General, who promised more news later.

During the past week or two the influenza situation in the community has caused some anxious moments, and considerable talk was heard of the desirability of closing the public schools, churches, theatre, etc.

Members of the school board put the situation up to the physicians of the city as to whether or not the schools should be again closed. Wednesday, Dr. Hick health officer, stated that after consultation with other doctors, that it had been decided not to close for the present, and they did not believe it would be necessary if all the people would take the situation to heart individually and cooperate with the authorities.

Present plans call for the carolers to meet at 6:45 at the corner by the Methodist Church and to go together on an old-fashioned caroling expedition, which will end at about eight o'clock at the high school where the young people will play games.

Most Dangerous Spot For Child Is In Own Driveway

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Writer
DALLAS — Possibly the most dangerous spot for a child is his own driveway, says Lloyd Tuttle, executive vice president of the Dallas Automobile Club of the American Automobile Association.

His warning is echoed by Mrs. Jacque Ernst, executive secretary of the club. More than 300 children are killed and thousands injured each year when hit by automobiles, Tuttle said. The victims are under 5 years.

Parents usually are the drivers of the cars which strike the tots.

But the deaths and injuries are not necessary.

"Walk around your car before driving," advises Tuttle. Make out like you're looking at your tires, if nothing else."

He told of the death of a 4-year-old Dallas girl who was riding her tricycle in the driveway when hit by a backing car. "The first the driver knew of the accident was the sound of the tricycle being smashed," Tuttle said.

School crossings are closely watched by police and children of school age generally are taught the dangers of being in the street. Thus they are rarely among the car-child victims, Tuttle said.

Most of the victims are mainly under 5, out of school and playing at home.

"These tragedies can be cut, virtually eliminated, with some added precautions by drivers and instructions by parents to children about the dangers involved," said Mrs. Ernst.

"Children need to understand that whether or not a vehicle is parked in the driveway it is not a safe play area and should be looked upon as an extension of the street," she said.

Mrs. Ernst said that most driveway accidents occur when the car is being backed. She urged drivers to keep a sharp eye to the car's rear.

The AAA officials also warned against parking in a garage or driveway without setting the parking brake and locking the vehicle.

"Doing so will eliminate the danger of curious children tampering with the car and causing it to roll out of control," Mrs. Ernst said.

A match would not burn in a space ship traveling beyond the pull of earth's gravity. Instead of rising, the hot gases would accumulate in a sphere that would put out the flame.

Army Sets Tests On Scholarships

The last opportunity for potential ROTC (Reserve Officers' Training Corps) applicants to take the CEEB tests for scholarships consideration is Dec. 28, according to Tolmer S. McKinley, chief of the education branch at Headquarters Fourth U. S. Army, Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio.

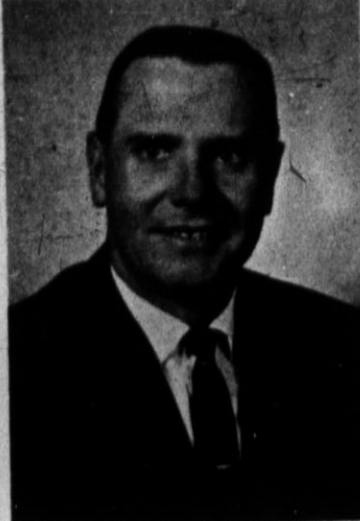

College Entrance Examination Board tests are part of the bases for selection of four-year ROTC scholarship winners. Other factors are academic records, extracurricular activities and personal interview.

A recent Department of the Army announcement lists three new colleges and a university that will have senior ROTC units in school year 1968-69. They are Arkansas Agricultural, Mechanical and Normal College at Pine Bluff; State College of Arkansas at Conway; Stephen F. Austin State College at Nacogdoches, Tex.; and Eastern New Mexico University at Portales.

High school seniors anticipating enrollment at any of the 259 institutions offering the four-year institutions offering the United States are eligible to apply for four-year ROTC scholarships. On a competitive basis, approximately 800 scholarships are awarded annually.

Depending on tuition at various schools, each scholarship may be valued between $5,000 and $9,000. A scholarship includes all tuition, books, fees, uniforms and $50 monthly living allowance.

On graduation from college and successful completion of Army ROTC studies, students are required to accept Regular

New Enlistment Plan Explained

"Home for the Holidays" might well be the title of the Christmas-New Year leave policy announced this week by the United States Army Recruiting Service.

According to SFC Bert Pinales enlistees entering the Army between Dec. 6-20 will be processed at the Armed Forces Examining and Entrance Stations and transferred to Army reception stations. They will then be offered leave and may return home for the holidays. Those young men enlisting between Dec. 21-29 will be offered leave at the examining and entrance stations and will return there for transfer to the reception station on January 3.

Under this program, new enlistees may join more than 200,000 Army trainees who will head for home when training pauses on Dec. 16. Army school classes and training will resume Jan. 2.

Although commanders are required to maintain essential readiness, as many permanent party cadre, instructors, and support personnel as possible will be permitted to go on holiday leave. Some will have leave for Christmas; others will take leave during the New Year period. For those whom military duty requires that they stay on the job during the holidays, extensive programs of holiday activities will be provided.

The Army attempts to insure that all its personnel — the new recruit or the senior officer — have a happy holiday season.

Further information on the Christmas leave policy and other programs offered by the Army may be obtained from SFC Pinales at the U. S. Army Recruiting Station in Amarillo or by calling 373-4214.

Gift Ideas For A Small Budget

By MISS BUSY BEE
Brand Correspondent

If you knit or crochet the simplest stitches, you have in your hands the ideal way to solve your Christmas gift problems. There are any number of simple and inexpensive things to make for most anyone on your list.

By using two or three colors of left-over scraps of yarn, or if you want to make several, by buying two or three colors in small hanks, you can make pin cushions that are charming as they can be.

In garter stitch make one strip in one color about four inches wide and about four inches long, then change colors and make about seven inches, then change colors again and make nine inches. Fold the strip in half, longways, and start wrapping around your finger.

Tack together as you wind one strip over the other. Continue until all the strip is used. Now tack lightly at the bottom. There should be a hole in the center. Buy a dime-store thimble to insert in the hole. And if you desire you may buy some of those plastic headed straight pins and stick a few here and there.

No aunt or girl friend has too many pin cushions and if you know the colors they like, you are on your way to having pleasing gifts. Perhaps you'd rather decorate with a bow or a sprig of holly. They'll be pleased you made their gift.

You may want to pick up one of those toasty looking toe warmer patterns and, by using the pattern and one hank of yarn, you can have them made in no time at all. It does not take a professional knitter to make these.

You may use the same pattern over and over and by adding to the length or width you can adjust the pattern to many sizes. It will still take only one four ounce hank of heavy yarn to make rather large ones. Anyone would be pleased with such a gift. They come in handy to wear after dressing for bed or for traveling. Decorate the toe with cords of twisted and doubled yarn or with ribbon or with tiny bells for a gay spirit.

Advance Payments Bill Is Passed

A bill sponsored by Rep. Bob Price to allow advance payments to wheat producers was passed by the House of Representatives Monday.

The bill directs the Secretary of Agriculture to make payments not to exceed 50 per cent of the payments represented by domestic marketing certificates issued under the Agricultural Adjustment Act and extends to wheat farmers the same benefits already available under the feed grain and cotton programs.

Sign-up for the wheat program generally is conducted during February and March, although in the Panhandle and other winter wheat areas there is planting in the fall. Price pointed out that the advance payments could save a great many wheat farmers from making loans to tide them over until harvest.

Time of payments would be made at the discretion of the Secretary, but could be expected at sign-up. If the bill is passed by the Senate and enacted soon, it could apply to the 1968 crop, with winter wheat growers benefiting by payments three to six months earlier than when they otherwise would be paid.

To Serve 6,000 Per Hour

The Visitor Center will be designed to serve up to 6,000 people per hour in its orientation-reception area. There will be four theatres with programs to indoctrinate visitors at a rate of 2,000 every 15 minutes. Exhibits, publications, and information services will be capable of handling 1,500 per hour. Eating facilities will be provided for 1,000 people at a time. Even baby-sitters will be available.

There will be a heliport on the roof, so that visitors who come by plane can take a short flight from nearby airports to the starting point for seeing Washington. Of course, the railroad station adjoining will supply easy access for train travelers. Eight lanes for vehicular traffic will serve buses as well as passenger cars.

Sounds great, doesn't it? But don't pack your bags just yet unless you expect to put up with present inconveniences. It will take a while, even if the Senate passes the bill as expected.

Aggies Struggle Ten Years To Get Back Winning Form

By HAROLD V. RADTKE
Associated Press Sports Writer
When Texas A&M won the Southwest Conference football championship after 10 years of struggling, it apparently was quite popular with the multitude — even other Southwest Conference schools.

The Aggies had gone through a lot of strife and heartbreak trying to right themselves from what at times seemed a hopeless situation.

Texas A&M hadn't had a winning season since 1957 — the last year of Paul Bryant's coaching. Even that season was a disappointment. The Aggies were voted No. 1 in the nation the week they lost to Rice. That knocked them out of the top spot and the next week they went to Texas to ruin the season sure enough.

They didn't even get the solace of a victory in a bowl game — they lost 3-0 to Tennessee in the Gator Bowl.

Then followed nine seasons of futility. In that span the Aggies won 24, lost 59 and tied 6. Three coaches have come in since then, two of them leaving and one staying for the last three years.

Gene Stallings is the one who stayed and he saw his dreams realized after the nightmare of losing his first four games this year. His Aggies became a good football team down the stretch, beat Texas for the first time in 11 years, won the title for the first time in the same span and got into the Cotton Bowl for the first time in a quarter of a century.

Many Aggie followers still contend that their favorite team should have been in a bowl game as far back as 1955. That was the year the Aggies got put on probation for recruiting violations. For awhile it looked like there might be a big crisis when the Aggies won the conference championship then had nowhere to go.

It was a miracle team — that 1955 outfit. It just didn't seem to have the material of a champion but after losing its first game to UCLA, A&M drove down the trail like a whirlwind, beating everybody except Arkansas and tying it. And so the Aggies came up to Thanksgiving Day needing only a victory over Texas to win the championship.

There was agitation from Aggie followers for the probation to be lifted so their team might play in the Cotton Bowl or some bowl.

But Texas took care of the matter — it beat A&M 21-6 on Thanksgiving Day and that, coupled with the tie with Arkansas, knocked the Aggies out of the title. Texas Christian, which had lost only to A&M, became the champion by whipping South Methodist 20-13 two days after Texas had licked A&M.

The Aggies had a 7-2-1 record for the season and that might have been good enough for some bowl game but the probation, which ran through 1956 and prevented the last Aggies championship team from playing in the Cotton Bowl, kept A&M at home on Jan. 1.

But the probation was cleared away in 1957. Yet the Aggies couldn't even take the opportunity then of getting into the Cotton Bowl although they did get a bowl game — the Gator.

Since then they haven't gotten out of their front yard until now. For that matter if they'd gotten out in 1965 they couldn't have gone to a bowl game either because they again were on probation. That extended through last year, too.

But the Aggies haven't had a record to warrant any kind of bowl game since 1957 and the one this year isn't outstanding — 6-4. But the way the Aggies finished, with one of the great comebacks of conference history, they'll be quite attractive on the bowl front come Jan. 1. They have dash and color and at the finish were as good as any team.

It's good to have them back.

Nominations Are Being Taken For State Awards

Nominations are now being accepted for the Governor's Industrial Expansion Awards to be presented by Gov. John B. Connally at the first Governor's Conference on Industrial Expansion set for April 1-7, 1968.

Five Texas manufacturers will be selected from among the nominees to receive the award, which will be the State's top honor going to a manufacturer. The award will be based on the effect of the nominee's payroll and purchases on the local economy in 1967 and evaluation of this growth against total economic growth in 1967.

Any manufacturer with one or more manufacturing operations in Texas is eligible to be nominated. Deadline for nominations is February 1, 1968. Judging will be conducted by a committee of the Texas Industrial Commission.

Panel discussions will comprehensively cover such topics as: Texas Laws Encouraging Industrial Growth; Need for Technical Training Programs in Texas; Methods of Financing Industrial Expansion; and others. Chairman of the Conference is Chester C. Wine, vice-chairman of the Texas Industrial Commission.

Nominations for the Governor's Award should be made in writing to the Texas Industrial Commission, Capitol Station, Box JJ, Austin 78711.

Uncle Sam's Selective Service

Editor's note: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Colonel Morris S. Schwartz State Selective Service Director, 203 W. Ninth Street, Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q — This is my last year as an undergraduate student. I

H. D. Council session.

A Christmas program was given, opened with reading by Mrs. Tom Nance of a devotional selection, Magic of Christmas, by Nancy Morkell. Mrs. Taft McGee read the nativity story from the New Testament, there told a modern Christmas story, Gift of the Magi, by O. Henry.

Mrs. J. C. Burt was a guest and 11 members were present.

I-S(C). What will happen then?

A — You'll be put in I-S(C) if you're a full-time, satisfactory student.

Q — How long will I be deferred in that class?

A — Until the end of your academic year, or until you cease to pursue your course satisfactorily.

Q — Then I'd have the I-S(C) until I get my degree.

A — Yes, if you get it by the end of the academic year.

Q — Will this I-S(C) make me ineligible in the future for deferment as a father, like the I-S?

A — No, it will not. You'll be eligible for deferment in Class III-A.

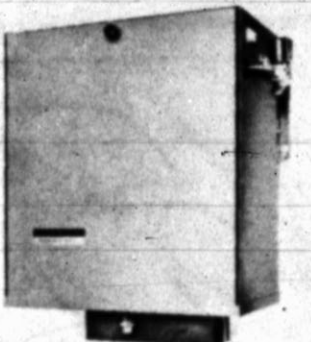

The first horseless carriage with a fare meter was built by the Daimler Motor Company and put to work on the streets of Stuttgart, Germany, in 1897. An ad in a German paper said: "This modern undertaking is warmly recommended to the gentry, officers, hunting and sport clubs and the general public."

Q — I took my armed forces exam last summer and passed it and I'm presently in Class I-A. Will I be ordered for induction before this school year is over?

A — Possibly, but if you're a full-time, satisfactory student when you're ordered for induction, and you've never been classified in Class I-S (C), your order will be cancelled.

Q — I've never been in Class

Small Talk

Tradition that the show must go on has resulted in many a performance under difficulties and sometimes to pinch-hitting by understudies which led to stardom in a manner that makes a good story.

AMATEURS AS WELL as stage pros can deal with an emergency in a way worth noting, though it may not be so dramatic. For instance, Stanton Junior High thespians overcame a real obstacle when they performed The Mikado lately.

Mrs. Bill Devers was their pianist, who had played for rehearsals of the Gilbert-Sullivan operetta, and if you've ever had anything to do with staging a student musical production you know how vital a good accompanist is. (He can even fill in when the leading lady forgets a line until the prompter can take over).

Time came for the performance and a death in her family took Mrs. Devers out at the crucial moment. Don Baugous substituted so well that the actors were at ease and audiences couldn't tell he was performing impromptu.

AS I HEARD THE story, he had only one rehearsal with the cast and had never played that music before. And Sir Arthur Sullivan didn't write his music for a poor pianist.

Baugous is a veteran accompanist and may have met worse situations, but he is due all the thanks he received for this performance.

Incidentally, the cast may take a few bows for their staging of an admittedly abridged version but still a show not easily done by students their age. And Director Doug Morris adds that it was his first attempt at directing an operetta!

NOT TO NELL HUNTER — The reason some of your friends have trouble finding your house, I discover, is that they shouldn't go three miles on the road that turns off the highway.

By my speedometer it's barely two miles to the westward curve, and by driving three I wound up in the Elmer Woodwards' yard. That was o. k.; I got directions very graciously from Donna and another pretty blonde, and enjoyed the ride at sunset.

AND AREN'T OUR sunsets this winter magnificent? Several persons have mentioned them to me and anyone who is

CHURCH AND STATE

INDIANAPOLIS — A study book on church-state relationships prepared for the International Convention of Christian Churches in October draws these conclusions:

That the church has a right to lobby to influence legislation.
That the Bible should not be read devotionally in public schools, but should be taught as part of the general subject of religion.

That Christians should be encouraged to obey the law but may well service justice by disobeying a particular unjust law.

Talk of Texas

By JACK MAGUIRE

The Shepherds' Play — This Christmas, for the 19th consecutive time, Texans will be among the few Americans privileged to see a folk drama that depicts the travels of the shepherds on their way to Bethlehem to visit the new-born king.

The play, simply titled "Los Pastores," originated as a folk drama in Mexico centuries ago. It was brought to Texas by Catholic missionaries to help teach the Indians the story of the birth of Christ. As time passed, however, the drama was presented only rarely and the custom was in danger of being lost.

In 1948, a San Antonio priest revived it. Now it is presented each December 24 in the Alamo City by a cast that practices for their roles throughout the year.

Strange Woman — Elisabet Ney, whose sculpture today is regarded as among the world's best, liked nothing better than scandalizing her fellow Texans.

Although courthouse files at Hempstead, Waller County, contain a copy of a certificate showing that she and Dr. Edmund Montgomery were married on November 7, 1863, on Madeira Island, she never admitted the marriage.

Until her death in Austin in 1907, Miss Ney always introduced Dr. Montgomery, the father of her two children, as "my best friend."

What's In A Name? — Texas has only one town named for a living motion picture and television actor.

It's a resort village on the Lake o' the Pines in Marion County. The name? Dale Robertson, Texas.

Pole Country — Traditionally, Polish immigrants to the U. S. settled largely in the coal-mining country of the East and Middle West and steered away from the wide open spaces.

An exception, however, is Carson County in the Panhandle. When the huge ranch syndicates were broken up and sold as small farms, one tract of thousands of acres was reserved exclusively for people of Polish descent.

Hundreds of them — primarily from Wisconsin and Illinois — moved to Texas. Today they make up the largest ethnic group in Carson County.

The Shape Of Things — It's not listed in any tourist guide but the home of Henry Vanders at 12467 Taylorcrest in Houston is a point of pilgrimage for many a would-be gardener.

On one end of his house, Vanders has clipped the luxuriant shrubbery into a map of Texas. On the other end is a mass of foliage outlined as the United States.

The Way You Say It — Not one historian in a hundred can properly pronounce the name of James Butler Bonham, hero of the Alamo.

Bonham pronounced his surname "Bone-em."

Price Takes Action To Improve Agricultural Data Reporting

WASHINGTON — County extension agents would play a larger role in agriculture statistical reporting under a bill introduced by Congressman Bob Price and 23 other Republicans last week.

The bill would amend the act under which the U. S. Department of Agriculture obtains information for agricultural estimates on crop and livestock reports.

Price said that the crop estimates issued by the Department are not always accurate and cited understated demand forecasts last year for four major commodities.

The Panhandle Congressman said the mistake in each of those cases depressed prices during the prime selling period of each particular crop resulting in a loss of income to farmers.

According to reliable Congressional estimates, Price said, such losses amounted to $180 million from wheat revenue; $400 million from soybeans; $300 million from corn and $25 million from grain sorghum.

"In March of this year, we were informed that the Department of Agriculture in January had underestimated cattle population by 2,305,000," Price said. "Also that they had 'lost' 5 million turkeys."

"Upward revision of the statistics depressed prices," he said.

Present estimates are based on information gathered from about 90,000 farmers who file reports with state Crop Reporting Boards where they are tabulated, summarized and mailed to the Crop Reporting Board in Washington.

"This system needs oversight at the county level to avoid the effects of irregular responses from the farmer-participants," Price said. "With this in mind, we are proposing to write into the procedure a requirement that the opinions of county extension agents, who should certainly know local conditions, be considered in the evaluation of the figures collected within their own counties."

"The cost of the crop and livestock estimating portions of this program have risen from

THE SIMPLICITY OF CHRIST

"But I fear, lest by any means, as the serpent beguiled Eve through his subtlety, so your minds should be corrupted from the simplicity that is in Christ." (2 Co. 11:3) As the Apostle Paul wrote these words he knew there would be many ways Satan would use to cloud the objective of the Christian life. Sometimes it would be through the glamors of this temporal life. Other times our lives would become packed and complicated through misguided religious ideas, Committees, programs, and well meaning religious activity can crowd out the important things; these become a poor substitute for the true life of God. The simple call of Jesus Christ is: "Follow me, and I will make you..." (Mt. 4:19) The personal commitment of our lives is not to a church; not to a committee; not to a system; but to a person, the Lord Jesus Christ. As we do commit ourselves and follow him; he will make us something worthwhile, that will have eternal benefits.

The Lord Jesus told Martha that "One thing is needful," and Mary had chosen it. (Lu. 10:38-42) With the Lord Jesus visiting her home, Martha had been busy about many things; anxious to have things just right. Mary wanted to hear the words of the Lord and commune with him. Let us not allow the "Cares of this world" to keep us from the one needful thing. Spend time with the Lord daily in the scriptures and prayer; he is the one we are following, therefore we need his instruction and strength continually.

David said: "One thing have I desired of the Lord," and that was to dwell in his presence; to behold his beauty, and to petition the Lord in times of need. (Ps. 27:4) Has our religion missed the simplicity of this? What is our desire? As we desire this one thing, seeking the altogether lovely one, he will unveil himself to us in the scriptures and in prayer. The more he is unveiled to us, the more we become like him. (2 Co. 3:18)

"This one thing I do," Paul said, forgetting those things which are behind... I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ. (Phil. 3:13-14) He was willing to lay aside his social and religious status, willing to lay aside the cover of self-righteousness; that he might yield to, follow, serve, and come to know in a very personal way, the living Christ. (Phil. 3:4-8) In so doing, Paul knew he was gaining a full inheritance in the eternal kingdom, that is yet to come.

Has your religion become difficult and complicated? The call of the Lord Jesus is simple: "Follow me, and I will make you..." "My yoke is easy and my burden is light." (Mt. 11:30) God has called us to the fellowship of his Son, Jesus Christ. Let us take the simple way with him. (1 Co. 1:9)

Senator Tower Speaks Sen. Percy Subs For Tower, Speaks On Housing Bill

As you know, I am in Southeast Asia this week and I recorded this introduction before leaving. I'm very pleased to have as my guest the distinguished Senator from Illinois, Senator Charles Percy. Senator Percy is one of the nation's real experts in the field of housing for persons of low income. I've asked him to share with you some of his views on that subject. I'm very pleased to introduce Senator Charles Percy.

This is Senator Charles Percy from the State of Illinois. I'm very pleased to have this opportunity to fill in for my good friend and seat-mate in the Senate, Senator John Tower. John Tower, as you know, is knowledgeable in the field of national security affairs and on his now, fourth trip to Southeast Asia; we are all anxiously awaiting his return to have the benefit of his latest observations and his analysis of the conditions in Vietnam.

I first knew John Tower in 1960, when we both served as members of the 1960 Republican Platform Committee. There was no man at that convention who impressed me more with his deep knowledge of problems his compassion and understanding for human problems, and the extremely sensible approach that he had toward responsible conservatism, and I've had that deep respect and high regard for him ever since. I've been, therefore, extremely pleased that we've had the chance to work together on the Housing and Urban Affairs Subcommittee of the Banking and Currency Committee of the Senate. John Tower is actually the ranking member on the Republican side of that committee, his

A SPLENDID NOVEL
Catherine Marshall's tenth book took nine years to write. We think it is her very best book. Entitled Christy it is her first novel but it is based on many facts.

Reviews not only compare it to the book-of-the-month, To Kill A Mockingbird, but to other famous novels such as Jane Austin's Emma, Becky Sharp and Rebecca.

To obtain this story, Mrs. Marshall returned with her mother to the country of the Great Smokies in Tennessee where she was born. Her mother is the Christy of the story and it is her life and adventures that furnished the background of the novel.

Many of the long remembered landmarks still stood, but of others there was no trace. The people remain much the same because of their isolation. Their ancestors were mostly Scottish and were among the first inhabitants to migrate to the area.

Once you have begun the story you will be reluctant to lay it aside. And those who taught school anywhere in the rural areas of the early 1900's will find incidents to remind them of their own experiences. The heroine, Christy, volunteered to teach in a mission school with a very small salary of $25.90 per month in 1912.

Her adventures began on her arrival in a small town. She was not met by anyone whom she had expected. And after wading seven miles over snowy paths in mountainous country with the mailman she reached her destination to find a dramatic scene. The trip was long and cold and she was not used to walking seven miles over snowy dressed. But this action gave the people of the area, their good impression of her.

There was constant action, adjustment, and some narrow escapes, before she was accepted by the poor, proud and standoffish inhabitants who jokingly called themselves "hill billies".

Dear Santa,
I've been a good little girl. I want a purple bike with a white seat and some glitter on top I want a plactic cover. The bike will look like Phyllis' bike but I want straw basket with flowers on top of the basket. I hope you and Mrs. Claus are all right. And I hope helpers are all right, too.
