Kershen Is Named For Conservation

Andrew Kershen has been named Outstanding Conservation Farmer of the Year. He was named by the Board of Supervisors of the Tierra Blanca Soil and Water Conservation District. Chairman of the group is Clarence Betzen.

Selection was based on Kershen's execution of a conservation plan on his farm west of Hereford. Wilton Green, manager of the local Soil Conservation Service, said that Kershen was also chosen because of his activity and hard work in the effort for conservation in the district and area.

Green also indicated that Kershen has used the Great Plains Conservation Program to help apply needed conservation practices on his farm. The program is a cost-share program "set up to include the entire farm," Green elaborated.

Kershen is in his second term as Precinct 4 Director of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District. The district serves Deaf Smith, Randall, Potter, and Armstrong Counties. Kershen has also served four years on the local Chamber of Commerce Water Resources Committee.

A letter from Chamber Manager Bill Thompson to the Board of Supervisors included the following summation: "Andy is a dedicated individual, one who practices what he preaches in terms of soil and water conservation."

A plaque will be presented to Kershen at a future meeting of the Hereford Lions Club.

This is a man who once planned to be a banker but has farmed west of Hereford for the past 18 years. He termed his farm a "broken-down farm" referring to its condition when he purchased it.

Buying most of the land in 1948, Kershen and his wife Anne started work toward the present 1234 acres.

Kershen explained that his wife and family helped. "My sons drove tractors and my wife and daughters helped change irrigation water and paint buildings - I couldn't have done it without them," he said.

The Kershens have six children, four girls and two boys. All of the children are away from home now; three are still in school.

Kershen farms 640 acres of irrigated land and 90 acres dryland, with the rest in grass.

"We also try to keep 100 mother cows the year round," he said. Working closely with the USDA Soil Conservation Service, Kershen has installed many conservation practices.

Wilton Green, local SCS office manager, explained that Kershen has used the Great Plains Conservation Program to apply needed practices. This program involves the entire farm.

Graded borders is one of Kershen's many conservation techniques. The land is leveled and borders (ridges of mounded earth) are installed at 50-foot intervals. The borders trap water that would otherwise drain toward Tierra Blanca Creek.

A grassed waterway has been installed to control a neighbor's run-off water. It empties onto pasture land. The land slopes down to Tierra Blanca Creek, which runs through Kershen's land.

Kershen has 65 acres of irrigated bermuda grass. "I want to plant 30 more," he said. Kershen explained that the bermuda grass gives rest to the range grasses.

Kershen also has about 25 acres of alfalfa.

Terraces help distribute run-off water over grassland. Kershen explained that a "net wire diversion fence" is used to spread the water as it comes off the terraces.

Problem areas get studied attention. For instance, a low corner that has a tendency to wash has been built up with soil.

He indicated he will plant sugar beets above the low area. Between the beets and the southeast corner of his field, Kershen stated he will plant milo to help hold the soil.

Then in the corner, he will plant bermuda grass to help filter the water. The water will travel south under the road and along a terrace, spreading out over the pasture as it runs along the net wire fence.

Rotation of land use enables Kershen to use manure from nearby Holly Sugar feed lots. He explained that usually some of his land is ready for spreading manure when the

California Water Plan Studied By Directors

Andrew Kershen from Hereford will be among seventeen West Texans who will study various solutions to California water problems during the week of February 20-24.

Kershen explained that when they return, the group will write a study of West Texas water plans. "We were asked to make the trip by the Texas Water Development Board," he said. Kershen added that the future study will be considered by the Board as part of the Texas Water Plan.

The study will include broad recommendations for water distribution and a master water district for West Texas, according to Kershen.

The group will be met in Los Angeles by Harvey O. Banks. He is President of Leeds, Hill and Jewett, Inc., Consulting Engineers. Kershen indicated that Banks will direct the tour of California water projects.

On the itinerary are stops in Santa Ana, Bakersfield, and Sacramento, as well as Los Angeles and San Francisco. Ground-water studies, conjunctive operation of ground and surface water supplies, adjudication, water rights, recharge water, and basin management make up a sampling of the subjects to be studied.

Other members of the group include Marvin Nichols, a Fort Worth engineer working with state water studies, and Tex Watson from Amarillo. Watson is Chairman of the West Texas Advisory Group to the Texas Water Development Board.

Kershen is Precinct 4 Director of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District.

Chili Supper Is Planned At Dawn

The public is invited to a chili supper. Sandwiches, chili, cold drinks, pie and coffee will be available.

Held in the Dawn Community Center Friday night, February 17, the Supper is the community's annual fund raising project.

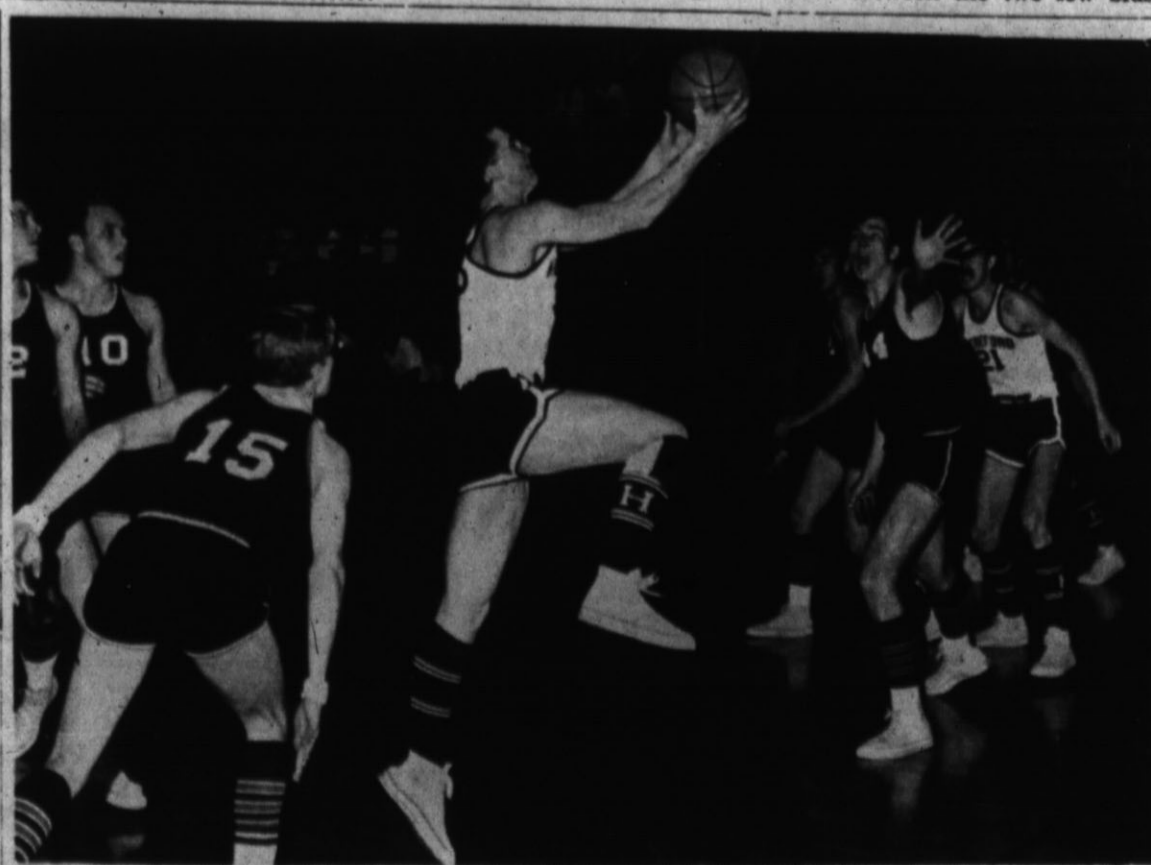

Following the supper, table games will be played.

Tags Lag

"Slow . . . too slow" is the way Nell Miller, County Tax Assessor Collector describes the sale of car tags so far this year.

About 500 tags have been sold during the two-weeks that they have been offered. Mrs. Miller said that ordinarily about 900 tags would have been sold in two weeks.

She expects to sell between 11,000 and 12,000 tags by April 1, deadline for displaying 1967 tags. Car title and last year's license receipt are needed to qualify for purchase, she said.

Migrant Ministry Adds To Labor Camp Building

Stardust Is Slated As School Production

Stardust by Walter Kerr will be presented by the Hereford High School Drama Department and Thespian Club March 3rd and 4th in the high school auditorium.

"The play was successful on Broadway and toured in the East," stated Director Robert Renfro. Renfro teaches Speech and English at Hereford High School.

Principally a drama critic, Kerr still writes a weekly column for the Sunday New York Times, Renfro noted.

"The play is about a nice hard-working girl whose efforts have made her a famous actress," Renfro stated. He explained further that the play concerns "what happens when she visits a dramatic school full of students trying to live their parts."

In a cast of 18 there are about six lead roles in the play, Renfro indicated.

The cast consists of the following students: Kathy Pool, Gene Brashear, Jean Roberson, Ralph Knox, Carol Sue Perrin, Arvis Southward, Nate Stark, Nancy Smith, Bernice Scott, Gene Diller, Edith Davis, Cynthia Knox, Alana Cromer, Kevin McAndrews, Gerald Witkowski, Kandy Hill, Carla Stengel, and Donna Flesher.

Plans to add to Casa de Amigas and election of officers for Migrant Ministry highlighted the Wednesday meeting of the board of directors.

Named president of the group, Frank Ford Jr. will be assisted by Virgil Dodson, who will be working as coordinator of services for the Ministry and Casa de Amigas.

Jim Arney was named vice president and Key Ruland will serve as treasurer. Nell Culpepper will serve again as secretary for the group.

Expansion of the buildings housing the groups activities at the labor camp will be facilitated by labor being donated by the Knights of Columbus. The building will be 24 x 24, the same size addition as the last steel addition made. The group, representing several city churches, stated that such outstanding cooperation is responsible for the ministry being able to expand their services to the people of the labor camp. The group accepted a gift from the Catholic Chaplain in the amount of $469.78, the fund being made available through servicemen stationed at Amarillo Air Force Base.

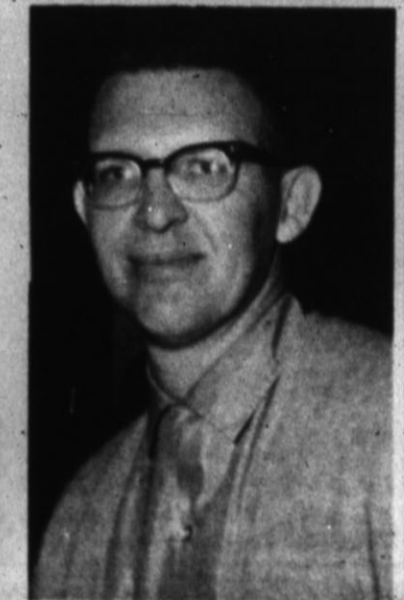

Total cost of the building materials will be $1,962 delivered at the site. The company selling the materials said that they would charge $429 for construction. With the donation of the labor, the only other cost to the group will be the $438 required for the concrete.

To be added to the east of the present buildings, the facility will give more room for the work carried on by Eunice Vasquez and several Vista volunteers. Presently working with the children and adults of the camp are Pris Choate, Denise Waltman and Martin Winch, of Vista.

The directors were told that a new volunteer will begin work Monday. Keith Scroyer from Florida will make the team complete. He has had three See MIGRANT Page 2

Watson Talks Water To Rotary

Rotarians heard Tex Watson from Amarillo talk Monday noon about an "opportunity for our children" as he explained West Texas water needs and plans.

Watson is Chairman of the West Texas Water Advisory Group to the Texas Water Development Board. "Some of you may know him as Vice President of Pioneer Natural Gas Company in Amarillo," stated Dick Godwin, local Chamber of Commerce Water Resources Committee Chairman, who introduced Watson.

Because of the decreasing availability of water, Watson said that West Texas must take a closer look at sources of water. He mentioned possible increased use of playa lake water and recharge systems, which are not yet in extensive use.

Watson also reviewed the creation of the Texas Water Development Board. Six members were appointed by the governor after passage of legislation in 1965.

He noted that the state realized that the Federal government would do our planning for us if we did not do it.

The "2020 Water Study Committee" report was also discussed by Watson. This West Texas group surveyed a 42-county area, projecting needs for the See TEX WATSON Page 2

County Accepts Gas Bid From Texas Co.

Bids for county gasoline were opened Monday by Commissioners of Deaf Smith County, who accepted the bid of Texas Company. Bids were close between Gulf and Texaco, with a secret ballot determining the company to receive the order.

One other company, Magnolia submitted a bid that was several cents higher than either of the two that were considered. Conoco bid arrived too late to be considered, arriving at 11:28 a. m., over an hour after bids were opened. Gulf Oil had serviced the county this past year. Gasoline will be purchased by the county to be distributed through pumps located east of the jail for county vehicles. Price on regular is $2.19; ethyl, $2.49; and diesel, $2.09. Gulf bids were $2.13, $2.43 and $1.75. Magnolia bids were $2.69, $2.19 and $1.29. Oils had about the same variance with the difference between the two low bids being insignificant. Commissioners said.

The court also agreed to allow J. C. Simpson, who is now caretaker at the Bull Barn, to use 12 gallons of gasoline each two weeks, making a total of 24 gallons a month allowed for hauling of trash, equipment, etc. to and from the barn.

In other action, the court agreed to discuss attorney fees with the District Judge. The conversation was held Monday afternoon, with District Judge Archie McDonald agreeing to work with the commissioners on returning some fees to the county as they are paid through the adult probation office.

Under the present arrangements when an attorney is appointed to a case by the court, the attorney is paid a fee of $25 from the county at the time of the trial. If the party being defended is placed on probation, the probation order has been reading that he pay $50 in attorney fees. These are collected piecemeal through the adult probation office.

The attorney involved may eventually be paid $75 for a simple case involving only a few minutes of court time. This situation was called to the court's attention by Lowell Sharp, adult probation officer for the 69th District. He cited an instance of another county requesting that the attorney fees that are paid by probationers, be directed to the county to repay the expense the county has incurred for the court appointed attorney.

The First National Bank of Hereford was accepted by the commissioners as the depository for county and county school funds. During the meeting the court approved bond for Judge H. C. Williams, a requirement of the judge's position as County School Superintendent.

Melvin Barton and Bill Waldrep appeared before the court to explain the program of the Easter Lions Club for the promotion of purple martins, a bird that reportedly will settle in a community if proper housing is made available. Waldrep and Barton showed a film that illustrated what one community had done to attract the birds. Waldrep explained that Easter Lions would like to sell the county several of the aluminum houses to be placed around the courthouse.

Permission was granted by the court for several farmers to cross county roads with various water or gas lines. Hill farms, C. B. Womble, Edwin Axe and Bill Gentry had requested. See COUNTY Page 2

Jury Deliberates Feed Theft Case

A 12-man jury continued to deliberate Wednesday afternoon in the case of Don Bandy who was tried in 69th District Court this week on a charge of burglary.

The jury returned to the courtroom about 5 p. m. to report that they could reach no decision as to the guilt or innocence of Bandy. The case will be reset and tried again before another jury.

Bandy and Don Riley were charged jointly with taking cattle feed cubes from the Hoover farm. Riley will be tried separately.

District Attorney Bill Hunter brought forth five witnesses for the state, including Deaf Smith County Sheriff Ed Roberson, Farmer County Deputy Sheriff Henry Minter, Charles Hoover feed dealer Charles Stone and chemist O. Z. Golden. Testifying for the defense were Bandy's wife, his father and another chemist.

JURY CALL CHANGED

All persons who were told to report for jury duty at 9 a. m. Friday have been asked by 69th District Judge Archie McDonald to report at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday instead.

A change in schedule in court cases forced the postponement, said Judge McDonald.

CWF Organizes Evening Circle In Allen Home

An organizational meeting for a night circle of First Christian Women's Fellowship was held in the home of Mrs. Jack Allen, CWF president, Tuesday evening. Mrs. Forrest Ricketts was elected leader of the new group.

Fourth Monday evenings in each month were set as meeting dates for the circle, but because of the Easter weekend next month, the next meeting will be on March 13 in the home of Mrs. Bob Renfro.

Officers of the new circle include Mrs. Glen Nelson, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. B. F. Cain, program chairman; Mrs. John Hunter, service chairman; Mrs. Renfro, worship chairman; Mrs. C. Ora Cockrell, telephone and membership chairman.

Others present for the organization were Mmes. Ted Higgins, Ted Panciera and Gene Brink.

Kershen...

(Continued from Page 1) feed lots need to be cleaned. Kershen also points with pride to four concrete crossings which he had placed in the Tierra Blanca Creek bed. These "dams" block only part of the water which flows in the creek when it rains.

Areas only fifty feet away from the last eastward dam were dry in contrast to the one and one-fourth miles of water trapped between the concrete crossings.

"There is about 10 acre feet of water held in the channel of the creek at all times," Kershen said.

One other dam traps water coming down the slope toward the creek. Kershen noted that this dam holds about one-half acre of water for his cattle.

A siltation dam in front of the earthen water dam blocks silt. Kershen said that he planted grass above the siltation dam in 1949. "I've never had to clean out the siltation dam area," he stated.

Kershen has supplemented his education by "reading all the time." He gives credit to reading national news daily, reading farm papers, and working with farm organizations. "I plan to return to school when I retire," he stated.

"I am very interested in conservation," he said. "We must take care of the soil or starve."

Key Club Pushes For Safe Driving

The Key Club met at the Hickory Log Restaurant Monday night and inaugurated a special teen-age safe driving program in Hereford High School.

Lloyd Sharp, local insurance salesman, gave the address on safe driving and its responsibilities. He made a special point that reckless driving and accidents cost large sums of money in fines and cause insurance rates to go up.

Phillip Cain is president of the club. The Kiwanis Club of Hereford sponsors the school club.

Key Club members hope to continue the program of safe driving by cooperating with local officials in the program and presenting other programs that will create an awareness of safe driving by teen-agers.

Present at the meeting were Kiwanis president Dean Herring and some club members, Highway Patrolman Sgt. Bill Wells, Sharp, city police officer Capt. Don Brush and Key Club sweetheart, Claudia Loerwald.

COTTON: Much of the late cotton in main cotton producing areas of the Texas High Plains and in adjacent areas of New Mexico and Oklahoma was hit by freezes during late October and early November. In many areas per acre yields have been reduced considerably. Some communities report loss of as much as 25 percent of the expected yield with the overall loss expected to run from 10 to 12 percent reducing the overall state production of cotton considerably below earlier estimates. Also, where per acre yields have not been reduced it is expected the quality of the crop has been lowered.

Four Travel To Party At Canyon

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Carver and son, Randall, and Erin Werthenberger were Hereford residents among the guests at a reception in Canyon Saturday evening honoring Mrs. Edith Eckhardt, who is moving to Central Texas.

She has been an officer in the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, and the Hereford residents have been associated with her in its programs. The reception was in the home of Mrs. Ples Harper, Foundation president, and Dr. Harper.

Carver has been a Foundation director since its second year and his son played the role of Dude in last summer's production in Texas, the musical drama by Paul Green presented in the Pioneer Amphitheater. Werthenberger is technical director for the amphitheater.

WORK FOR MINISTRY — Key Ruland and Nell Culpepper will work this year as officers of Hereford Migrant Ministry. They are treasurer and secretary respectively of the organization. Virgil Dodson, who has been president for several terms, will serve as advisor and coordinator for Casa de Amigas during the coming year. See story page 1. (Hereford Brand Photo)

Three Placed On Probation

Three persons received probation and 17 other cases were dismissed during action Tuesday night in 69th District Court. Celestino Gomez and Eloy Urias, charged with the October rape of two teenage girls, were placed under five years probation each after they pleaded guilty to the charges connected with Amarillo girls. The men were indicted on the charge Dec. 12.

Frank Perales pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated, second offense, and received a three-year probated sentence from District Judge Archie McDonald.

District Attorney Bill Hunter filed motions dismissing 17 other cases, all of which were signed by Judge McDonald. Hunter said the majority of the persons involved were serving out sentences for other crimes.

Commissioners also reaffirmed their views that county insurance only be handled among firms that devote their entire time to insurance services. A request had been made by a firm to enter their company into the county plan. This plan calls for one company supplying the services, but distribution of the business among stable long time companies operating full time agencies in Hereford.

Salary for Charles Staten, a custodial employe recently hired for the courthouse was set at $350 a month.

The court discussed upcoming legislation that would abolish the Coulson-Driscoll bill, the bill that has promoted the building of farm to market roads in Texas.

"If we lose this bill, we will be falling back — right now we have the best farm to market paving program of any state," Donald Hicks explained.

The court stressed that public attention is needed to keep the legislature from abolishing the act.

CLERGY COUNSELORS NOTE

NEW YORK — "A clergyman's wisest council is sometimes referral to another clergyman, or to a physician or elsewhere for help," Dr. William D. Sharpe, a physician, says.

In a new book, "Medicine and the Ministry," published by Appleton Century, he notes: "Almost everyone now fancies himself a psychiatrist, but the skill in the diagnosis and treatment of emotional disorders is as hard won as skill in any other branch of medicine."

Watson...

Watson stated that the projected irrigated acreage for 1980 would be "almost 8 million acres." He further stated that projected income from these irrigated lands would total $616,737,000 in 1980.

However, after 1980, the projection indicated a decline. Due to a decrease in available water, irrigated acreage would drop to just over 2 million acres by 2020. Watson pointed out that by 2020 projected income from the irrigated lands would be only $455,899,000.

"What we're talking about," Watson said, "is the opportunity for our children to stay here if they would like to."

Watson then discussed various plans to provide irrigation water to prevent the 2020 projections from coming to pass.

Citing efforts by West Texans to get this area included in the Texas Water Plan, Watson explained in-state plans to bring water to West Texas. He discussed pumping water up the Red, Colorado, and Brazos Rivers.

Bringing water from the higher elevations in Northeast Texas is also being considered by the Texas Water Development Board, Watson indicated.

Out of state water could come from such projects as the Oklahoma Navigation Project, the Missouri-Mississippi plans, and the North American Water and Power Alliance (NAWAPA) plan. Watson explained that NAWAPA proposes to bring water from Alaska south into Mexico.

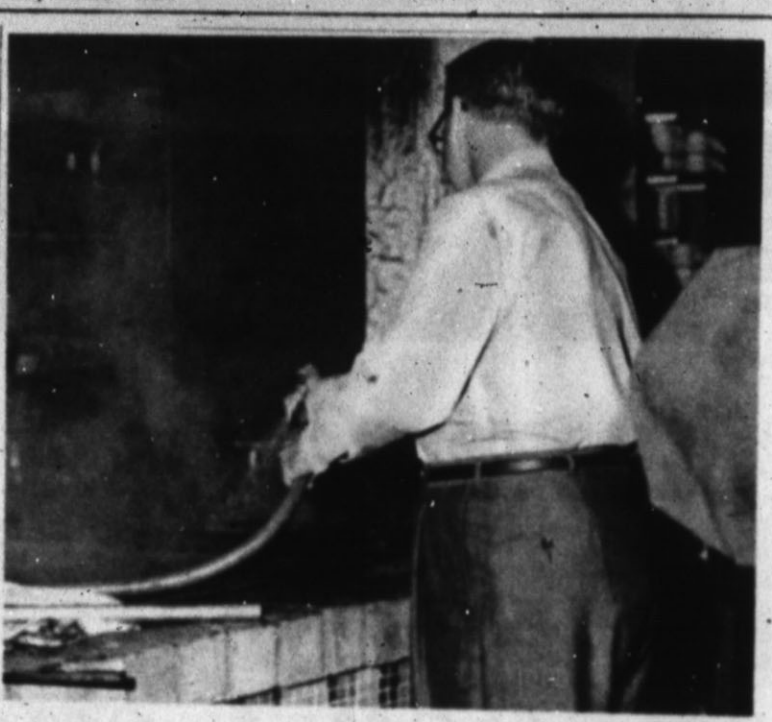

Watson touched on various problems in bringing water to West Texas. "We need to ask where, when, and how much," he said.

He pointed to the questions of local control, a master water district, storage (surface or underground), and water rights.

The problem of acceptance by those along rivers used to pump water upstream was illustrated graphically: "In Austin the other day, it was hard for me to imagine the Colorado River flowing backwards," he said.

Watson concluded by saying that agriculture production from this area will be badly needed in 15 to 20 years. "We cannot be scared by the size of this problem," he said, "we must have the water."

Rotary Club President Alex Schroeter closed the meeting following the address by Watson. Bill Davis, Jr., introduced guests, and program chairman was Rotarian Wes Fisher.

CAFE OWNER FIGHTS BLAZE — J. L. Simpson, owner of the Hickory Log Restaurant is shown fighting the fire which broke out in his establishment Tuesday morning. Winch said that the Vista workers attempt to live in conditions similar to those of the people they are trying to help. They try to show how to improve standards with work and planning — not cash outlay.

At the present time, the group is working with youngsters of pre-school age, particularly helping to enrich their backgrounds and the use of English as a second language. This will help the children when they start to formal school.

At night, they are helping adults with language and some of the practical aspects of living in a modern society.

ONE MINUTE PLEASE

THE CHURCH I LOVE

LIKES A GOOD FIGHT

"Fight the good fight of the faith," take hold of the eternal life to which you were called when you made the good confession in the presence of many witnesses." (1 Timothy 6:12)

The "good fight," which Christians like to wage, is precisely the purpose for which we were born again. Ours is not a physical fight, but a spiritual one.

It is written, "For we are not contending against flesh and blood, but against the principalities, against the powers, against the world rulers of this present darkness, against the spiritual hosts of wickedness in the heavenly places." (Ephesians 6:12)

The battle between the forces of righteousness led by the Lord Jesus Christ and the forces of evil led by Satan is ever before us. We choose: the side we wish to fight on. There is none who sit in the grand stands and watch. Jesus has said, "He who is not with me is against me." (Matthew 12:30). So, you boys who let your wives take care of the Christian's duties in your family while you try to play a neutral role, man, you've already been deceived. You are on the side of Satan, and don't know it.

Without engaging in carnal warfare, we have plenty of battles to fight. As far as I'm concerned, the best place to start is against our own lower nature. Paul the apostle fought a running battle all his life with this sort of thing. He said, "For I know that nothing good dwells within me, that is, in my flesh. I can will what is right, but I cannot (always) do it." (Romans 7:18). Solomon wrote, "He that is slow to anger is better than mighty; And he that rules his spirit, than he that takes a city." (Proverbs 16:32).

We must constantly fight the good fight against our own ignorance by studying the scriptures. By study we can become enlightened by Him who is the light of the world. We must carry on the good fight against greed, hatred, envy within our own hearts and in the hearts of others. When we have won the battle against the forces of evil in our own hearts and in the hearts of others; driven these out, and allow Christ to come into our hearts, there will be no more carnal battles on the fields soaked with blood of our sons.

Teachers Elect Bill McCarley

A Texas State Teachers Association speaker and the selection of a new slate of officers highlighted the Monday evening meeting of the Deaf Smith County TSTA.

Billy Snow, Assistant Director Division of Professional Relations, TSTA, told the teachers that they "must pull together and work together" to reach legislative goals.

"There are forces within to separate teachers," he said, adding, "we must stay together to formulate programs."

Snow discussed each point of the TSTA seven-point legislative program. The legislative program involves proposed salary increases, retirement changes, a minimum sick leave bill, professional consultation among teachers, administrators, and school boards, continuing contracts for teachers, and a bill to provide a uniform program for administration of practice teaching.

New officers nominated and elected were Bill McCarley President, Mozelle Neil 1st Vice President, Gary Billingsley 2nd Vice President, Eula Lee Cave Recording Secretary, and Wilma Braddy Treasurer.

Entitled to 10 delegates to the TSTA District IX meeting in March, the local unit chose the following: Augusta McCarley, John Murdock, Dalton Gill, Leta Kaul, and the incoming officers, plus the immediate past president, Ray Todd.

Chosen as alternates were Mrs. Mildred Todd, Mary Shipley, Lonidene Edmonson, Lucille Park, and Johnny Clark, Jr.

Three delegates to next year's TSTA state convention in Houston during October were also chosen. Johnny Clark, Jr., Bill McCarley, and Mozelle Neil were selected.

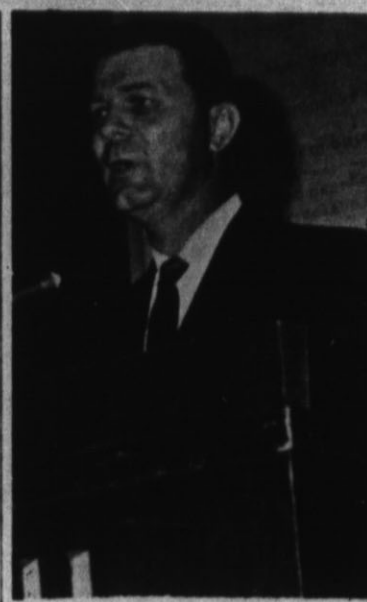

Announcement was also made that the next local meeting will be a steak-fry on April 10th.

Simulated Rescue Gives Practice

Hereford Composite Squadron 42176 of the Civil Air Patrol met Sunday at the Hereford Municipal Airport for participation in training for search and rescue operations of planes involved in accidents. This included practicing communications from ground to air by means of signals from the downed plane.

The group was divided into four teams, each consisting of a pilot and observer and two persons as the ground crew. The pilot and observer would search for the location of the accident and, when found, would relay directions to the ground crew as to how to get there, what kind of trouble the plane is in and what is needed at the scene. The directions would be written on paper and sent down in a piece of iron pipe with a banner attached to it.

The ground crew would then drive to the spot and give aid. Also, the plane would fly over the best road to get there and would be followed by the crew in the car. When the plane reached the scene, it would circle many times above it so the ground crew could pinpoint the location.

Used Sunday as the plane that had trouble were pieces of cardboard put together to form the shape of an airplane.

Practice in this type of operation will be held once each month. The location will be harder to find each time also. Last Sunday, the pilot had bearings from two radio stations, but later, he will not be supplied with much information.

The Civil Air Patrol in Hereford has been in operation for four years and at present, has one aircraft. The group meets once weekly on Mondays at 7:30 p. m. at La Plata Jr. High.

The main purpose of the patrol is to aid the Air Force in locating planes that crashed or landed or rescuing the crew or assisting them in any way. Membership in the patrol does not affect the draft status of anyone.

Present at Sunday's meeting were Gerald Burney, Air 1st, pilot; Ken Lee, C/MSgt., ground crew; Herbert Lovan, Basic, ground crew; Westlie Owen, 1st Lt., pilot; Teresa Rudd, observer and Rosemary Scheetz, observer.

Bill McClesky, Basic, ground crew; John McClesky, 2nd Lt., pilot; W. T. Thompson, Capt., ground crew; C. K. Crawford, SMN observer; Kenny Womble, 2nd Lt., pilot; Milton C. Adams, Capt. victim; and Curtis Tra-week, 1st, mission controlling officer, all from Hereford.

Richard Pavek, CWO, pilot and Carolyn Luse, CWO, observer, both from Amarillo, assisted.

Washington Report
From Congressman
BOB PRICE 18TH DISTRICT, TEXAS
1222 LOPWORTH OFFICE BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C. • 205-3706

On February 7 the House of Representatives approved the President's request for an increase of the national debt limit to 336 billion dollars. Also, on that day I introduced my fourth bill of the session. These two items go hand in hand.

I voted against the bill to raise the debt ceiling because of my belief that the time is long overdue for this government to stop its deficit spending.

The bill I introduced is House Resolution 5093 to repeal the Participation Sales Act of 1966. This act, passed during the last session of Congress, allows the government to sale certain financial assets at exorbitant interest rates. Under the participation sales procedure, however the Congressional appropriations process is eliminated. As a result, the money spent does not show in the formal budget as expenditures, nor are the obligations counted in the national debt, which the House voted to raise the limit on.

With their majority of members in the House, Democrats defeated an attempt to require that Participation Certificates (P. C.'s) be counted as part of the national debt. As I started at the time: "If this Administration is going to spend the American people into bankruptcy they should be at least know what is happening."

The President felt it necessary to sale these P. C.'s because the current high interest rates hampered the sale of regular long-term government securities. The maximum interest rate the government can pay on these securities is 4.25 percent. Rather than be known as a high interest Administration, however, and ask Congress to raise the maximum interest on those Johnson resorted to the trickery of the P. C.'s and cost the American taxpayer an uncalculated 1.5 billion dollars in interest.

In a speech on February 13 I suggested a way to cutback on deficit spending and stabilize our economy. This would require the holding of non-defense expenditures for the remainder of Fiscal year 1967 and all of 1968 to the 1966 level. If such an effort were undertaken it is reasonable to expect that three billion dollars could be saved in the remaining months of 1967 fiscal year which ends in June. Combined with the proposed increase of 7.3 billion dollars for 1968 ten billion dollars could be saved.

At the present rate, the interest on the national debt in the next 23 1/2 years will be an amount equal to the total debt, yet, we would still owe every dime of the principal.

On the better side of the ledger for the week... I received my two top choices for subcommittees on the House Agriculture Committee. Membership on the Livestock and Grains Subcommittee means I will be dealing with legislation concerning livestock, wheat, maize, and other feed grains. This combined with my duties as a member of the Cotton Subcommittee means I will be dealing directly with a majority of the legislation affecting our Panhandle agriculture interests.

My third subcommittee is Departmental Oversight. With the other members of this group I will be trying to determine if the Department of Agriculture is administering the laws as Congress intended.

Recent 18th District visitors to Washington include: Mr. and Mrs. John West of Muleshoe; Vesta Orr and Lyle Robinson of Tulla; R. A. Yarbrough of Childress; W. Tarter and Gene Edwards of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Locke of Miami.

Until next week, best wishes from your Congressman, Bob Price.

SUGAR BEETS

Can be grown in 1967 at the level of acreage desired by each individual grower. This is possible because there are no acreage controls on beets in 1967.

For the first time old growers can plant their desired acreage — New growers can also plant sugar beets without restrictions.

The acreage planted by each beet grower in 1967 is recorded by the County A. S. C. S. office and becomes your sugar beet allotment for 1967.

Protect and increase your sugar beet allotment by planting your desired acreage.

As a result of higher sugar prices and an increase in the 1967 beet contract of 30c per ton growers return for beets will increase substantially.

The Holly Sugar Agriculturist in your area is available for consultation — call him — he will be pleased to talk sugar beets with you.

Whitefaces Close Thwarted Season

A cold second half proved to be the downfall of the Hereford Whitefaces Tuesday night, as they closed out the 1966-67 basketball season by dropping a close 50-48 game to the Dumas Demons.

The Herd went into the final quarter of the game with a 41-38 margin, but the Demons caught up and the teams battled on even terms until about two minutes remaining. At that point Dumas went ahead 48-46, missed two free throws but then got another basket to put the game out of reach. Larry Champ who scored the final six points for Hereford, tallied with less than 10 seconds left.

Gene Duval kept the Herd in the game in the first half of play as he scored 23 points, the majority on long jump shots. He couldn't find the range in the second half, however, but still led all scorers with 25 points. Jimmy Allison finished with 11 points and Champ got 7 to pace the Herd. Dumas captured the "B" team game by a big margin, 85-15. The Herd "B" finished 3-7 for the year.

Hereford finished in third place in District 1-AAA play with a 5-5 won, lost record. Tulla captured the title with a 9-1 record and Perryon finished strong with a 7-3 mark to take second place. Canyon, Mulo-shoe and Dumas finished in the fourth, fifth and sixth positions, respectively.

Hereford started the game with five seniors, including Duval, Nate Stark, Allison, Champ and Larry Noland. Mark Hicks and Dale Smith also will graduate this year. The Herd finished 9-18 for the season.

Tulla and Seminole, winners of District 2-AAA will meet for the bi-district championship at a time and place not yet set. The Hornets will carry a 17-7 record into the game while Seminole is 23-6.

City Continues Plumbing Order
A temporary restraining order to halt plumbing of the Hereford Post Office will continue, 69th District Judge Archie McDonald decided Monday.
The injunction was filed Feb. 3 against the plumbing contractor because of violation of city ordinance 802, which requires the contractor to have a state licensed plumber on the job. The injunction was filed by the City of Hereford against the contractor, Pete Heitfield.
Other construction on the remodeling project at the Post Office will not be halted, said Earnest Langley, attorney for the city.
Heitfield appeared at the brief hearing and stated that he will comply with the ordinance.

He is being transferred to a similar position but will have one more additional duty, that of serving as Camp Director on one of the Council Camps. He will also have more boys on his program. There will be about 2,200 in all.

Before coming to Hereford, Machuca served on the Yucca Council in El Paso. The council there consisted of about 10,000 boys. He worked there part time as Council Camp Director. He has been in Hereford since

Club Presents American Songs

Familiar songs by American composers made up the program of Dawn Music Club Tuesday afternoon, observing Parade of American Music month. The meeting was in the home of Mrs. Matsy Heck.

Mrs. William Wimberley, club president, was elected its delegate to the spring convention of Texas Federation of Music Clubs, to be held in Tyler March 29-April 1. Members voted a cash gift to Dawn Community House, to be used for purchase of tableware.

The Community House will be the March meeting place, when the club invites all Dawn residents to hear a condensed version of Bizet's famous opera Carmen. The program is titled Thirty Minutes With Carmen.

Mrs. Clarence Betzen introduced the program Tuesday, sketching the history of American music. Mrs. Alfred Smith presented the official Texas state song, William J. Marsh's composition, Texas Our Texas, as a musical reading with Mrs. Betzen as pianist.

Two of Stephen Foster's well-loved songs were played as piano solos, Ols Kentucky Home by Mrs. L. W. Tooley and Old Folks At Home by Mrs. Betzen. Mmes. Leo Criddle, Walter Lemons and Carl Wimberley formed a trio to sing a spiritual, Down By The Riverside.

Another spiritual, Lord I want To Be a Christian, was sung by the entire group with Mrs. Lemons as leader and Mrs. Carl Wimberley accompanist. Mrs. William Wimberley accompanied singing of the hymn of the month, All Hail the Power.

ON RULES AND SEX — KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — The "big enemy of sex" are those seeking to undermine the rules of the game, the Rev. Dr. Robert E. Fitch, dean of the Pacific School of Religion, told a Kalamazoo college audience.

They are trying "to persuade us to de-humanize, to de-socialize, to de-personalize sex in the intoxication with a perpetual adolescent day-dream" that specific rules can be abandoned in favor of a vague "rule of love," he said. He called this a "grand delusion."

Scouts Observe Anniversary With Multiple Activities

Boy Scout Week February 7-13 saw nearly every Scout unit in this area carry out a world Scouting activity in connection with the 57th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America. And due to the shortness of time, the Scouts have decided that they will do some other activities after the 13th because all planned could not be accomplished in one week. The Scouting program is opened to all boys beginning with age 8, a Cub Scout. Cubs are a family-centered program of the Boy Scouts of America for boys 8, 9 and 10. Boy Scouting is a program of fun and adventure for all boys 11 through 17 to help take their places in the adult world. Exploring is geared to appeal to high-school-age boys and features a flexible program which helps them look toward their roles as adults. After that, a scout may become a junior leader if qualified. Boy Scout Week was observed with many Cub Packs having their Blue and Gold Banquets and attending church on Sunday. A pack is most generally made up of boys attending the same school and is sponsored by churches or civic organizations.

There are 9 packs in this district. Six are in Hereford with Friona, Adrian and Vega making up the other three. Ed Skypala, Chairman of the Tierra Blanca District, Boy Scouts of America, pointed out that opportunities continue to face the local leaders of the Boy Scout organization as they plan for the new year of 1967. Over 500 boys are now active in this area as Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers in all types of economic areas, Skypala said. Scouting is making real progress in training boys in Character development, citizenship training and mental and physical fitness he added. "The changes that have occurred over the years—ever since 1910 when Scouting began in the United States—continue to offer new goals based on old experiences," Skypala, who has been active in Scouting for 15 years, said.

He believes there are six needs of major concern to all citizens. He listed "the increasing need for promoting wholesome man-boy relationships; for boys to have guidance in finding and living by a stable code of moral and social values; help in being active and participating citizens in the world to which they belong; for increased emphasis on and training in stamina and personal fitness; for constructive use of leisure and for increased emphasis on the validity of moral and spiritual values as compared with material."

He also explained that Scouting in this area helps to meet these needs in partnership with 13 local churches and civic organizations that are chartered to use the Scout program in 25 Cub Scout packs, Boy Scout troops and Explorer posts. "Our experience shows that Scouting contributes in a major way to the training of boys," he said. Skypala explained that "a major objective of Scouting is citizenship training. One way of achieving this objective is through the project method in which Scouts actually learn about citizenship through practice and experiences." He pointed out that the Good Turn helps Scouts to demonstrate through activities and projects that they are prepared to help others as well as themselves. Other activities for the anniversary month will include demonstrations and programs for institutions that use the Scout Program and for other com-

TULIPS
Last week I dropped in at a local florist shop, and was delighted when I saw that they had received their first shipment of potted tulips. The blossoms from our bulbs are harbingers of spring, and soon if nature cooperates, Spring Will Be Bursting Out All Over, with tulip blossoms.

That we may have a greater appreciation of their beauty, I want to give you a resume of the history of the tulip.

Tulips originated in Persia and Asia Minor. The ambassador of Emperor Ferdinand the first, saw them at the Sultan's court in Constantinople and was struck by the sight of flowers that had glowing satiny cups supported by sturdy green stems, having lovely grey-green luxuriant foliage.

Impressed by their beauty, the envoy took some of the bulbs back to Vienna. Samples were sent to Central Europe. From Bavaria in the 16th Century they reached Holland, which was later to become the tulip capital of the world.

Flower historians agree that this was the introduction of the tulips to the world, but what remains a mystery is how such a spectacular flower could remain virtually unknown until then.

This created a desire among horticulturists, and gardeners to know more about this beautiful flower, and in their research they found that the tulip was known in the early part of the 12th century. This information was contained in an old manuscript copy of the Bible, which was found in Italy.

The discovery of the ambassador, whose name was Busbecq, triggered intense interest in the lovely flower. Busbecq was responsible for naming the flower. The Turkish name for "turban" was being used in designating them so he tagged them TULIPAM, which later became shortened to "TULIP."

Such a craze for tulips swept through European countries, everyone from prince to chimney sweep, indulged in what became known as the period of Tulipomania. Alexandre Dumas relates in "The Black Tulip," the excitement over bulbs in France during the early part of the 17th century when as much as $1,000 was paid for a single tulip bulb. The boom became a bust. Prices dropped. Devotion to the tulip continued unabated and in the years since, the industry in Holland has been scientifically developed.

Countless numbers of tulip bulbs have been grown in Holland, and in other parts of the world.

It is truly a thrill to see the fields and fields of tulips in bloom, and when they are harvesting the bulbs.

These are heaped in the fields in great stacks. First the blossoms, after they have passed their prime, are cut and they too are seen in the fields in huge stacks, these blossoms are used to make leis, and the tourist, (if driving a car) just never leaves Holland without having a lei of tulip blossoms on their car.

It is a beautiful sight to see the cars driving on the roads and highways lined on either side with fields ablaze with color created by the tulip blossoms.

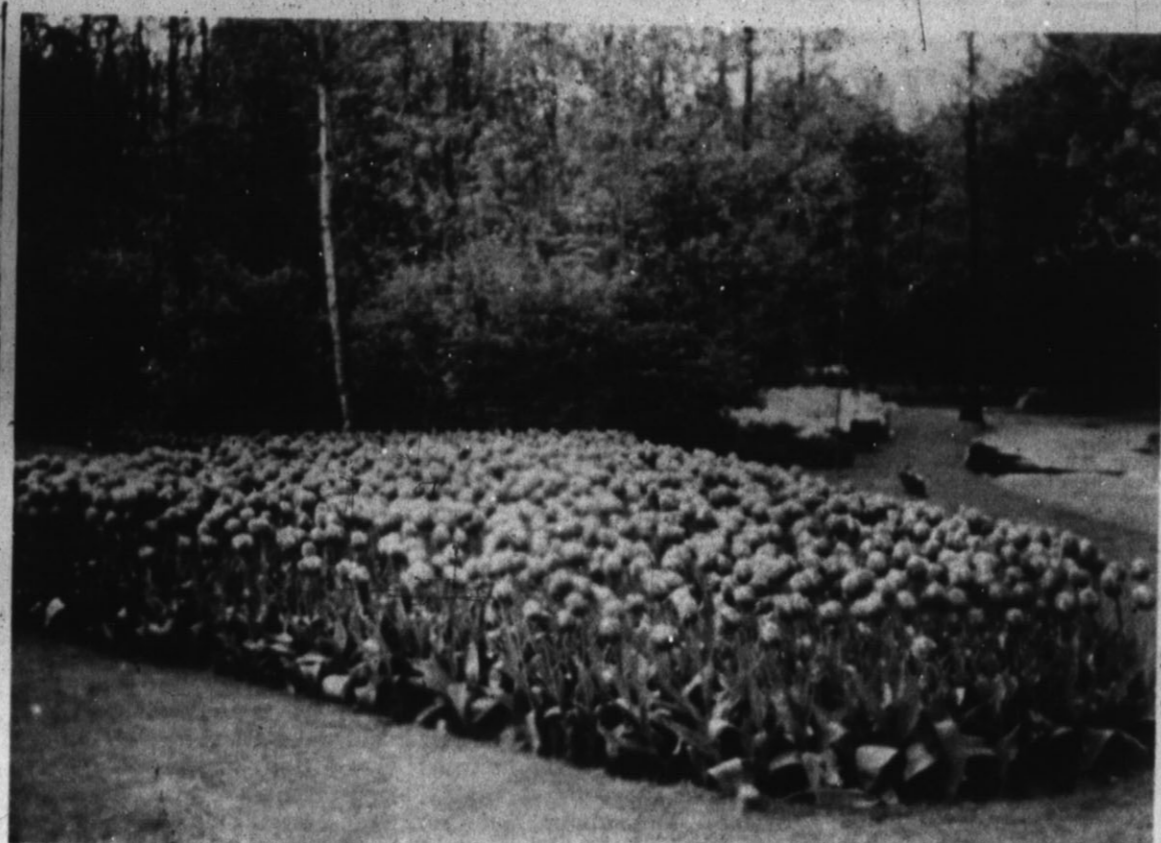

A bulb is a thickened, fleshy bud which grows underground and has roots on its underside. True bulbs are either tunicated, formed in rings or layers like onions and Hyacinths, or scaly like some Lilliums. Commercially, the word bulb applies to a large class of flowering and ornamental bulbous-like plants, including not only true bulbs but corms, which are formed. For this reason after they bloom, the old blossoms should be removed. This is to keep seeds pods forming, which draws strength from the bulb. The foliage and stems should be left to completely dry so that the strength from them will return into the bulb. When in Holland I was told that the tulip bulbs are edible. They were used for food during World War II. People of The Netherlands were grateful that they had stacks of the bulbs which could be used for this purpose. However extra care was used to preserve bulbs, so that the industry, which they had created could be maintained. Many of the choice selections were sent to other countries, so that they could be saved.

Bulbous plants are hardy and can withstand northern winter. The Garden Tulip is one of the hardiest of our spring flowering bulbous plants. When planted at a normal depth of 4 to 6 inches they will not be harmed by the cold. When winter injury occurs it results from heaving and poor drainage rather than from the effect of low temperature. It is recommended that the soil where tulips have been planted, be kept moist (NOT WET) and this will prevent deep freezing and ground heaving.

Many varieties of tulips (Tulipa) are grown. These include such popular varieties as the: Early flowering, which come in either singles or doubles. Cottage, Breeders, (both Dutch and English) Darwins, Lilly and the Emperors, the later are singles. This year we have planted one of the newer ones, the Yellow Emperor, which was bred from Tulipa fosteriana, it has large 7 inch flowers. The Red Emperor is an old favorite, since it comes early and its Fire Engine red color adds brilliance to the spring landscape.

Tulips are used in many landscape plans, they are good for accent planting, and are recommended because of their range of color and adaptability. Other flowers may be grown in the same location of the tulips, thus making the soil twice useable for the gardener.

(Next week, we will discuss using tulips for Flower Arranging).

Reminder: When applying dormant spray, the temperature should be above 40 degrees for 6 to 8 hours.

Continue to plant bare root roses, shrubs, trees, but finish before leaf growth begins.

Sow small container of white mustard seed or parsley. Grow in sunny window, cut shoots or leaves for garnish or salad greens. HAVE YOU SEEN: The new landscaping at the W. L. # Salad Can Make Meal

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Salads can make a satisfying meal as well as a single course, witness the popularity of salad luncheons and suppers which have even more appeal as spring approaches.

IN THE USUAL variety found at such a meal, delicious salads were served for luncheon at a workshop of the Hereford Garden Club Friday, and a sampling of the recipes is collected here.

One of the luncheon hostesses was Mrs. John Jacobsen Jr., who served on a committee including Mmes. W. C. Hromas, D. K. Brook and R. E. Lance Jr. She has given a recipe for a favorite party salad and three other club members also supplied recipes for as many other types of salad.

Mrs. Jacobsen has been a resident of Hereford since girlhood and is a businesswoman associated with one of the oldest business firms in the city under continuous family ownership. The former Ursalee Fridley, she came with her parents in the 1920's and was married here in 1938.

HER HUSBAND'S father and a partner had established a shop in 1903 at the corner of Miles and Second Streets where Jacobsen Brothers metal work and machine shop still stands — supplying tractor parts now instead of horseshoes to area farmers. She has been office manager for a number of years, and since her husband's death last year gives more time to that work. She is an officer in the corporation under which the shop now operates.

A teenage daughter, Lynda, and a son, Marcus, get much of her attention and she has been active in club, church and civic work. In the Garden Club she is a past president, has achieved the rating of master flower show judge and is a member of the National Peony Society.

Here is her recipe, which she clipped from a newspaper years ago and has used many times:

FROZEN FRUIT MEDLEY
1 large can fruit cocktail
1 pkg. lemon flavored gelatine

1 cup boiling water
3 tb. fresh lemon juice
2 3-ounce pkgs. cream cheese
1/2 cup mayonnaise or other salad dressing
2 cups tiny marshmallows
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1/2 to 3/4 cup finely chopped pecans.

Drain fruit cocktail and reserve syrup, measuring 1 cup. Dissolve gelatine in hot water, add reserved juice and lemon juice. Chill til partially set. Soften cheese, add mayonnaise beat til smooth and add to gelatine mixture, mixing well. Stir in cocktail, marshmallows and pecans then fold in whipped cream. Freeze several hours or overnight in decorative mold. When well set, unmold on serving plate and slice off servings.

ENTIRELY DIFFERENT, an easily-made vegetable salad with a special flavor was taken by Mrs. S. S. Williams to the Garden Club luncheon. Her recipe is not an exact one; amounts can vary to taste, she says.

AVOCADO SALAD
2 medium avocados
1 small carton creamed cottage cheese
5 small green onions
2 tomatoes
Salt and pepper
Chop onions very fine, tomatoes and avocados in larger pieces. Mix all ingredients, tasting to determine amount of onion, salt and pepper.

ANOTHER VERY simply-made salad which is a favorite with many people was Mrs. G. W. Newsom's contribution to the luncheon. She says it is her choice whenever she must "stir a salad up in a hurry," and it can be dressed up with mayonnaise, with or without whipped cream mixed in.

2 pkg. orange flavored gelatine
1 cup grated pineapple, drained (No. 2 can)
1 cup shredded carrots
1 cup broken nut meats
Mix the gelatine in hot water according to directions on package. Pineapple juice may be substituted for part of the water. Chill until it begins to set, then fold in other ingredients and pour into mold to finish chilling.

MRS. E. T. HALE took another salad to the luncheon, but her favorite recipe is for a dessert type salad with the unusual flavor of apricots, chilled in layers to make it attractive enough for party refreshments.
APRICOT-CHEESE DELIGHT
1 can (29-oz.) apricots, drained

American Music Parade Month Is Introduced

First of two programs observing the Parade of American Music, which is marked annually in the Federation of Music Clubs, was given Monday afternoon by Music Study Club with Miss Frances Dameron as director.

Mrs. J. R. Allison and Mrs. Zack Pennell were hostesses in the former's home for the program emphasizing the national federation's month of music by American composers.

Review of an article by modern composer-conductor Leonard Bernstein, titled What Makes Music American was given by Miss Dameron. She quoted the writer's clever arguments that distinctive American music is not based on Indian and Negro folk songs, and attempts to so base it failed because most Americans do not belong to those minority groups.

Rather Bernstein wrote, regally American music began with jazz after World War I, and its traits are those of youth — vitality, loudness, strength and optimism with traces of loneliness and sentiment, always many-sided. To illustrate, the director introduced music by club members. Mrs. Bob Wert sang a spiritual, O What a Beautiful City, with Mrs. J. C. McCracken as accompanist. Mrs. B. Y. Crosthwait played organ variations on the national hymn, America, in an arrangement by Ives.

Piano solos were Praeludium from the First Modern Suite of MacDowell by Mrs. McCracken, and Battle of Gettysburg (Beckel Tcheperpin) by Mrs. Ellis Coombs.

Mmes. R. C. Godwin, Richard Jackson, S. F. Clements, Lowell Sharp and W. S. Fisher, accompanied by Mrs. A. J. Schroeter, sang two choral selections, God Bless Our Land (Kozant) and The Beatitudes (Glarum). The hymn of the month designated by the Na-

European Study Tour Described

Two students from Hereford who traveled and studied in Europe last summer presented the program for Pioneer Study Club's luncheon Tuesday, when the emphasis was on Americans and youth. Cynthia McMinn and Sherry Marsh were guest speakers.

Miss Marsh told of their trip in a group of 13 who flew to Paris and went to St. Malo for six weeks intensive study of French. On weekends they took side trips to various parts of France including a visit with Rene Bataud, a French student who spent a year in Hereford High School, and his family.

Enroute home they stopped for sightseeing in England. Pictures taken on the trip were shown on colored slides by Miss McMinn.

Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Sr. introduced the students and spoke briefly of the American Institute for Foreign Study, through which their trip was made, and the American Field Service, which brings students from foreign nations to Hereford each year.

These programs, with growing numbers of students going abroad each year, are intended to nurture world friendship on a person-to-person basis, Mrs. Lookingbill added.

Mrs. W. C. Hromas was another speaker, outlining principal points of flag etiquette. The meditation titled On the Threshold of Time was by Mrs. Bess Hostesses, Mmes. Hromas, D. K. Brook and J. M. Gilliland, decorated luncheon tables with Valentines and bouquets of various colored blossoms, each shaded with a frilly parasol in matching color.

Others present were Mmes. E. S. Ireland, O. G. Hill Sr., Mary Seigler, Henry Hastings, N. E. Gass, Burl France, Allen Bell, Fred Barrett, Ray L. Johnson, R. L. Wilson, A. L. Manjeot, H. E. Miller, P. B. Sowell, Ted Panciera, M. L. Simpson, Wirt Phillips and J. V. Pickens.

TOWER AGAIN ROYAL CHAPEL LONDON (AP) — The chapel of London's grim old tower, dating from 1105, has been reinstated as a royal chapel by the Bishop of London (Dr. Robert Stopford). The chapel of St. Peter ad Vincula, once used as a place of worship by England's Kings and Queens, gets this lift in status after a lapse of more than two centuries.

King Henry VIII added Tudor features to the building. Two of his six wives — Anne Boleyn and Catherine Howard, the two who were beheaded — are buried there.

George A. Derryberry, manager of the Feed and Seed Department of Producers Grain Corporation announced at the same time that distribution of Beefmaster liquid feed would be expanded to include the entire area served by Producers Grain Corporation. The manufacturing operations will remain in Hereford, at least for the present, Derryberry said. He also stated that the management and employees of Beefmaster would remain the same but would become a division of the Feed and Seed Department of Producers Grain Corporation.

Producers Grain Corporation is a regional grain marketing cooperative with one hundred fifteen member elevators in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, New Mexico and Colorado, representing over 60,000 cooperative farmers. The executive offices have been in Amarillo since it was organized in 1938.

Beefmaster has been owned and managed by W. A. Epperson and Weldon Reed of Clovis. Reed will remain as manager and Eugene Cole, Doyle King and Edna Minor will remain with the company as employees.

The 1962 Pittsburgh Pirates won 103 games and finished 27 1/2 games ahead of the second place Brooklyn Dodgers.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

In case you aren't satisfied with the work you are doing now, somebody has listed more than 38,000 different ways of earning a living, so you might into the other 35,999 ways, although I'll bet there is something wrong with every one of them, too.

THOSE ARE THE JOBS listed in the United States, and still others might be located if you would rather be a camel caravan pilot, for instance, or a guide for tiger hunters in some foreign land.

Anyway, the gruesome statistics about work go on to the fact that a man starting to work at the age of 20 may expect to change jobs six or seven times during his work life expectancy of 43 years.

A single woman has an average work life of 40 years, a married woman without children 30 years and one with children 25 years. Of course that means years of employment outside the home, not all those years and all that work that doesn't bring in a paycheck, unless you count a husband's paycheck.

Let's not get into that phase of the subject, but go back to the statistics sheet which predicts the number of employed persons by 1975 at $5 million. It adds a plug for the high school diploma, too, and even more education if possible with the note that competition for all these jobs keeps increasing.

AROUND AND ABOUT: Mrs. Morris Enfield, visiting from San Benito, was a guest at the Garden Club luncheon Friday wearing a most becoming metallic brocade hat... the former Catharine Moore of Hereford, she has been a member of the club.

Mrs. Phillip Miller answering her telephone, explaining with a chuckle that she was out of breath because she had been in the basement when it rang, which called for a heartfelt apology because I certainly don't like to be the one who rings the phone at those inconvenient times when it always rings.

Sylvia Parsley resiting a mighty fine sales talk from her handsome young son at the candy counter of a grocery store. And Mrs. Noah Arnpriester shopping at the same time, getting all sorts of suggestions from her two young daughters. Mrs. Bruce Miller grinning wickedly as she slowed her car just enough to avoid collision with a couple of coffee shop-bound newspaperwomen, including me.

NATIONAL PUBLICITY for Hereford appears in the current issue of a magazine published by the American Red Cross, recently received in the Deaf Smith County chapter office. Two photographs used last winter in The Brand were submitted to the national publication by Genevieve Miller, executive secretary here. One shows boys in a Red Cross Mother-baby care class conducted for high school boys in the HHS homemaking department, as they practiced dressing the lifesize doll used for lessons.

The other is of a class of special students in the homemaking department of Stanton Junior High, making bags to be filled with small gifts for children in Viet Nam through the youth program of the Red Cross.

Clerk's Office Activity Is Up

County Clerk B. F. Cain stated Monday that filing of deed records and financial statements has continued "at a rapid pace."

Filing of warranty deeds, deeds of trust, etc. total 488 since January, Cain indicated. He stated that about 370 had been filed by this time last year.

Farming operations being refinanced is responsible for rapid filing of financial statements, according to Cain. "We figure that they have been running about 40 per week prior to this year," he said. He added that filing has averaged 60 per week this year.

A BOOK OF INTRIGUE

With characteristics of a history, a biography, a novel and a mystery, The Daisy Darling Affair by Theo Lang, is the most intriguing book about a woman of the Edwardian Period in England's history. It is classed as a biography.

The author by accident stumbled upon papers when he and a friend, who lived in Switzerland, were looking for some dead papers. He realized what a find they were and with them and much research of historical records he has written the book.

English court records had been kept to minimum on the case and there are indications that some had even been destroyed. This was because they dealt with Royalty in one of the biggest scandals and intrigue in the history of England. Involved are the affairs of King Edward VII of the 1890's, before and during his reign.

Frances Warwick a noblewoman is the central figure, a most beautiful woman, with her share of feminine wiles. There are government figures and other persons of nobility including Queen Victoria who have a part in this tale, which is stranger than fiction.

The fast moving story is one which the reader will not want to lay aside until it is finished. It presents the best picture of the Edwardian times that we have read.

The mode of the times and its opulence captured our interest so that we wanted to read more of it. While the Daisy Darling Affair had as its leading character Frances Warwick we read a paper back edition with King Edward and his mother Queen Victoria in the leading roles which gave us a better understanding of the King. It tells of his character and the way of his development as influenced by his Mother Queen. Entitled Guy Monarch, the Life and Pleasures of Edward VII by Virginia Cowles it made fine supplementary reading. This last book is not in the library but there is others there which deal with the background of the times.

Because of the Royal privacy (and in this case probably blackmail) we are reminded of Jacqueline Kennedy's fight for privacy. The Saturday Review for January 21, 1967 carries five articles discussing the situation concerning Mrs. Kennedy, the author of the book The Death of a President, the publishers of the book and Look magazine. These discussions are most informative regarding the people involved as well as the legal side of the case.

Club Honorees Of Year Chosen

A resident of their own community, Mrs. J. L. Smith, and one at King's Manor, Mrs. Edna Culver, were "adopted" as senior citizens of the year by Messenger Home Demonstration Club at a meeting Friday in Mrs. John Jones' home. They will receive special attention from the club this year.

Birthday gifts for a member, Mrs. N. A. Brown, were presented after a salad luncheon, and the hostess served a birthday cake for dessert. Valentine gifts were exchanged by club pals; the prize in a Valentine dart game went to Mrs. S. N. Thweatt and the floating prize to Mrs. Lloyd Sevier.

Mrs. Jones was nominated by the club as a delegate to the district H. D. Association convention this spring; three delegates will be chosen by the County H. D. Council from club nominees.

She gave the program on cookery of cheaper meat cuts, preparing hot potato-ham salad. Mrs. Elton Sorrells conducted the business session.

FOR GOD SO LOVED THE WORLD

These Countenances

Upon the shoulders of these mighty men fell responsibility when America needed guidance. Character is the trademark on each face. Of course, they were humble, profound men and their words the golden threads which hold our Democratic system of government together. True Godliness, firm statesmanship and real Americanism is written over their badges. They were firm, steady leaders of the greatest country on earth... America. These stalwarts provided leadership all Americans honor and claim heirship to. These three symbols of faith, vision, and forbearance made our country great... they are Washington, Lincoln, and Lee. Then Americans, be proud. Attend church and worship God. Thank Him for these Countenances and for every blessing we have in Free America.

The snow that fell Saturday morning was nice but far short of what we would like to see.

Eddy Moore is home from the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Markley just returned from a fishing trip to Falcon Lake where they had spent several days.

Sharon Garrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Garrison, spent last weekend at Buffalo

Lake near Lubbock at a church youth retreat. She and council officers planned summer activities for the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Garrison visited Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Jones and children near Petersburg Sunday.

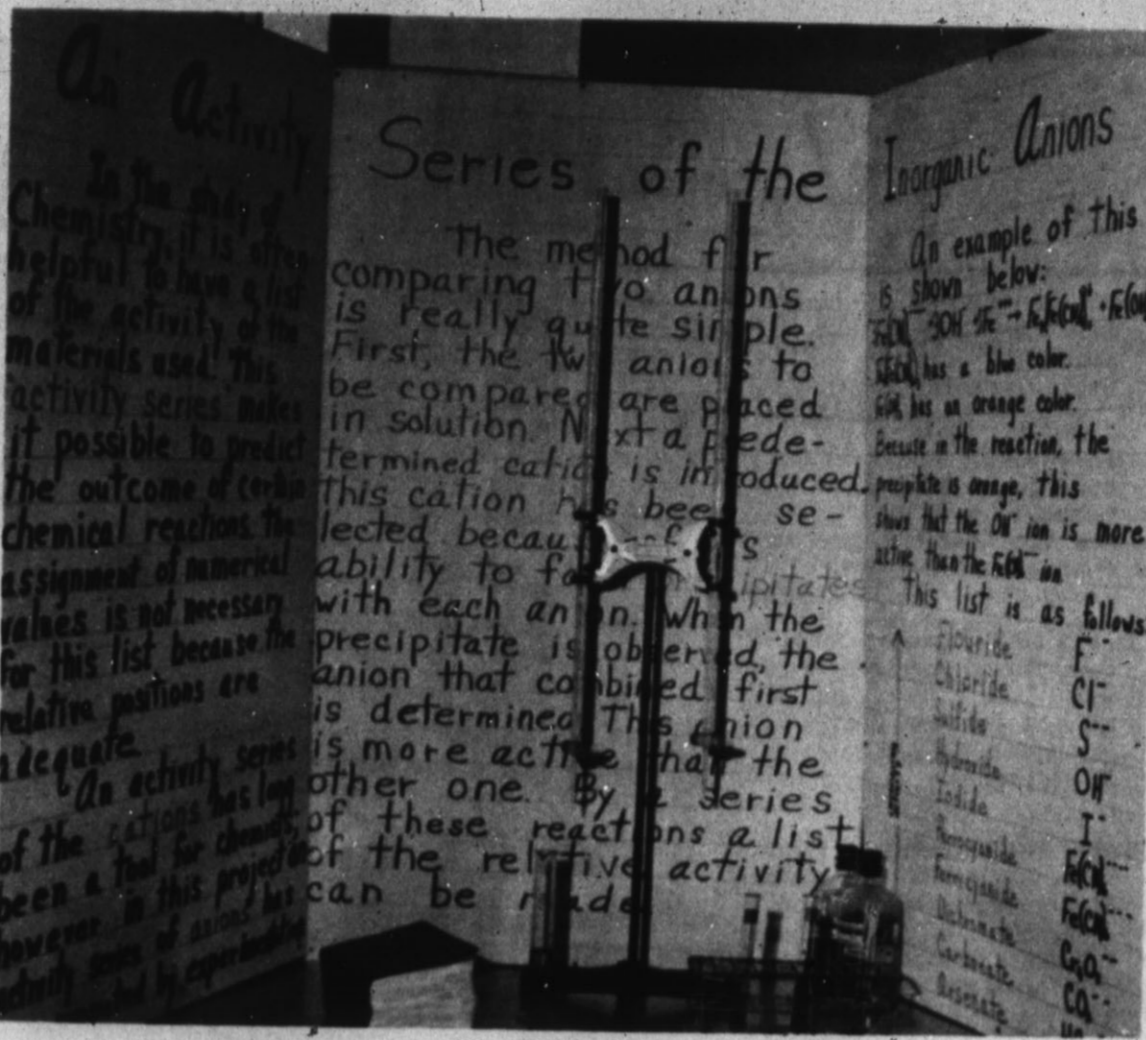

Easter Club met Thursday in the home of Mrs. W. A. Epperson. After a short business session the guest speaker, James Horton of First State Bank of Dimmitt, talked on wills, basic rules and reasons for the need of a will, probate court, and problems met without a will. Most of the time was taken up in a question and answer session. Guests were Mrs. Morgan Dennis, Bess Webb, and Myrtle Laplant. Eighty members were present. The next meeting will be in

Mr. and Mrs. Carol H. Miller show work of Afghanistan schoolboys

Visitors From Afghanistan

Remote Land Is Home To Former Residents

By SUE COLEMAN Women's Editor

One of the least-known countries of the world, Afghanistan, has been home the past two years for Mr. and Mrs. Carol H. Miller, who are here for a few weeks' visit before returning to the remote Asian land for two more years.

LIKE MANY nations classed as "underdeveloped," Afghanistan is a land of contrasts which makes it fascinating, and the Millers have come to admire greatly the mostly illiterate but vastly independent people of the country.

Both say they are looking forward to another two years there and that they can't think of any place in the world they'd rather be assigned. They are visitors in the home of Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Miller of Dawn, and with other relatives in this area on their vacation.

Miller's work is with the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation, making studies of soil and water resources, possible crops and their use, to determine the feasibility of aid from this country for irrigation projects. THE COUPLE LIVES at Bost (pronounced Boost), where there are several other American families and some residents from other western nations. They are 30 miles from the nearest paved highway but have a graveled road to drive over.

It was only in the 1950's that the government of Afghanistan permitted foreigners to come into the country, which is an inland nation tucked into a triangle with Soviet Russia on the north, Pakistan to the east and Iran to the west. A small section of border is shared with China.

The Himalaya Mountains tower across the north part of the country, with some peaks rising near the level of nerry Mt. Everest.

"ELEVATION IN SOME of the mountain valleys is 20,000 feet," Mrs. Miller says to indicate the heights.

Parts of the country not occupied by the rugged mountains are desert, and the Millers' home is in that area, where rivers fed by mountain snows give promise of ample irrigation water. Climate in their town is much like that of southern Arizona, they say, with about two very hot months in summer and winters where the temperature is seldom down to freezing.

Terrain of Afghanistan is the principal reason the British never conquered the area during their long dominion in India.

Wars in mountain areas with the Pathans, famed as soldiers, continued well England ruled as far as the Khyber Pass but not on the Afghans' side of the mountains.

IN RECENT YEARS the country is receiving technical and financial aid in efforts to develop agriculture, which is almost the only industry. Crops range from those grown in cold areas of the high mountains to semi-tropical products, but the staff of life is wheat, the Millers say.

Hundreds of families seldom have food other than wheat and water; meat is a luxury although sheep raising is prevalent among the still-nomadic peoples of the desert, and some chickens are raised.

People generally live either in the fairly large cities or in small villages which are simply clusters of mud huts. There are few towns of medium size.

THIS STORY of extremes runs through other phases of life in Afghanistan. Goods are carried chiefly by camel caravans but the other main form of transportation is by air. Women in the villages go veiled and are secluded in their homes but there is a woman minister in the government and half a dozen women legislators.

Aid from other countries has been given principally by the neighboring Soviet Union, the Millers found, with the United States next and Germany third. Type of aid is indicated by the fact that Russia has built many miles of road, much of it through the mountains, but the only paved highways were built with U. S. aid.

Both countries are conducting schools and the U. S. has numerous Peace Corps teachers there. Teaching, nursing and other professions respected in the west, even that of the doctor, are looked down upon by the Afghans because they imply personal service to another person.

BSP Valentine Queens Are Presented At Ball

Crowns were placed on the heads of Mrs. Cleo Corlis and Mrs. Bobby Shelton at the Beta Sigma Phi Valentine Ball Saturday evening, marking their choice as Valentine queen in their respective chapters, Xi Epsilon Alpha and Kappa Iota.

The 1966 queens, Mrs. Delbert Bainum and Mrs. Harold Kids, set the rhinestone crowns in place as their successors were presented in a setting featuring the sorority emblem in gold and scarlet.

Carol Corlis is serving as president of XEA Chapter this year. Janie Shelton is recording secretary of her chapter, and also on the membership committee.

Runners-up for the title, Mrs. Houston Frye in Xi Chapter and Mrs. Van Nichols of Friona in XEA, were presented with the queens to begin the annual ball in the Knights of Columbus Hall. Each was escorted by her husband to receive a trophy and then to the coronation setting.

Charlie Bell, who led the orchestra playing for the dance, acted as master of ceremonies to announce the favorites. They had been elected by secret ballot by their fellow chapter members. Their identity was not revealed until the moment of presentation.

After the coronation, approximately a hundred couples danced during the evening and were served breakfast after midnight. Tables around the dance floor were lighted by EMPLOYEES IN THE homes of westerners, except for nursemaids, are always men, she says. The village women seldom leave their homes; they continue to wear veils and permit themselves to be seen by no men except their husbands, in spite of the official abolition several years ago of this secluded life.

"Custom is stronger than laws," Mrs. Miller observes with a smile.

During their two years' residence, the Millers have taken advantage of every opportunity to travel. He spent one vacation period in Russia, flying to Tashkent. She and another American woman went into Pakistan and India and saw the Taj Mahal on one trip.

THEY MADE A BOAT TRIP around the southern coast of India and on to Singapore, and on their way back to America they stopped in Iran, Italy, Spain and the Canary Islands for sightseeing.

Mrs. Miller says she enjoys living in the remote land and has not had any housekeeping problems as she is fortunate enough to have servants who had worked for other westerners and are intelligent and competent.

Her only complaint is one shared by West Texas homemakers: "The dust blows a great deal, especially in summer!"

Sixteen former Michigan State athletes are on National Football League rosters this year.

Eddie Gottlieb of Philadelphia one of the founders of the National Basketball Association, is still active as eastern representative for the San Francisco Warriors.
