Food Handlers' Short Course To Be Held Here

A short course for food handlers will be held here beginning June 10. Lawrence Wells, city sanitarian has announced.

Managers of all eating and drinking establishments in the city are being urged to cooperate by recommending that their employees attend the sessions. Those making satisfactory completion of the short course will be qualified for permanent permits, Wells said.

Instructors will be furnished by the state health department, and classes will be conducted in the city auditorium from 2:15 p. m. to 4 p. m. daily for five days.

In addition to food handlers in public establishments, women's clubs and housewives will also be urged to attend the classes.

Devers On Carpet To Explain Remarks About Congress

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP) — The house military committee called Gen. Jacob L. Devers on the carpet today to ask him what exactly he thinks of congress.

The four-star commander of army ground forces was summoned specifically by Chairman May (D-Ky) to state the words he used at an Atlanta news conference last week.

Devers already has denied that he used the word "coward." One news story (not carried by the Associated Press) quoted him as referring to congress as a group of "cowards, afraid to tackle the controversial draft bill."

He also was quoted as having said that if one of his division commanders acted like congress "I'd fire him," and of having asserted that congress was "afraid to make a decision."

That language, if the general actually used it, may told reporters, "is a violation of the army's prohibition against officers using derogatory language in referring to members of congress or other officials."

While denying that he used the word "coward," Devers said in a statement issued here that the dispatch in question was substantially correct and "substantially was what I was thinking." He also emphasized that "I was speaking as a citizen of the United States and not for the war department."

Bomb May Crumple Ship Like Tin Can, Admiral Predicts

PEARL HARBOR, May 17 (AP) — Rear Adm. Thorvald Solberg, ship design expert, foresees a possibility that tremendous atomic-bomb blast pressure may crumple the target battleship Nevada like a tin can and thrust her down into the lagoon at Bikini in the Marshalls.

Solberg, director of ship preparations in the test, told reporters today that so many factors were involved it was difficult to make predictions. For one thing, he noted, the atomic blast high above is expected to thrust equally against all parts of the ship's structure, rather than in a single spot like a standard explosion.

Discussing the airdrop atomic bomb, the admiral pointed out that the downward blast, striking the inert old battleship, might produce "a sort of folding-up effect, like putting a tin can in a pressure chamber and building up the pressure until it suddenly collapses."

He said there would be close studies of the relative amounts of heat penetrating through steel and wood decks when ultra-high temperatures hit the target fleet of which the Nevada will be the center. Heat is not expected to be the primary cause of damage, however, because of the brief duration.

Little Evidence Of Chiseling In GI Training

AUSTIN, (Special) — If veterans taking advantage of the "on-the-job" training provisions of the GI Bill of Rights are suffering from "chiseling employers", the fact is not adequately reflected in available records.

That such "chiseling" is widespread was the inference of stories appearing in eastern newspapers (PM and the Louisville Courier Journal). Under this particular provision, the GI is entitled to draw his $65 a month if single, $90 if married, while being trained in an industry and his government pay is supplemented by the pay from a private employer. The inference was that employers were using this government benefit as a means of getting cheap labor.

It is correct that an unusually large number of veterans are benefiting under the section — 3,322 as compared with 1,137 for the state of New York. But Veterans Administration officials in Waco says this disparity in figures results from a more aggressive adoption of the program by Texas employers.

Undoubtedly there is some chiseling. Harry Aceman, executive secretary of the Texas State Federation of Labor, says that some Texas employers are using in-plant training to get cheap labor. But he also says that he has no data on how widespread the practice may be.

A. O. Willmon, state veterans service office, says that his office will investigate if a veteran complains in writing, but that he has had "very few" complaints that an employer is defrauding him. The veteran is supposed to get, in addition to his subsistence from the government, the regular wage paid a trainee in any business. When he works up to the wage paid a journeyman, his subsistence pay stops. Employers are forbidden to take the subsistence into account when determining whether the total received by the employe meets with minimum standards under the wages and hours law.

Willmon says that any employe found guilty of taking subsistence into account subjects himself to removal from the list of approved employers for job training and he promises a full investigation of any complaints.

Tribunal Sets International Law Concepts

TOKYO, May 17 (AP) — Laying down a new concept of international law, the 11-nation international military tribunal ruled today that Hideki Tojo and 27 other Japanese must face trial as accused war criminals.

Specifically, the court dismissed all defense motions, which asked that the indictment against them be quashed and argued that the tribunal had no authority to try Japan's war-fostering former leaders.

Chief Justice Sir William Webb gave no reasons for the dismissal in a brief court session. He said they would be discussed in court later but specified no date. The trial is scheduled June 3.

By the ruling, the tribunal upheld its right to try the 28 on charges of mass murder and of inciting war. It also denied defenses' assertions that the accused were not liable to prosecution for activities pre-dating the outbreak of war or for any violations of international law other than conventional war crimes.

The tribunal in effect also held with the prosecution that those responsible for starting "ruthless and unjustified wars threatening the existence of civilization" are not immune from prosecution under international law.

Attorneys said this was the first time a court had definitely set forth the authority of victorious nations to try leaders of the defeated aggressor. Similar broad charges of "crimes against peace" and of "crimes against humanity" were made against the Nazi hierarchy at Nuernberg but attorneys said the Allied court's jurisdiction had not been challenged there.

Broad Possibilities Lie In Field Of Ceramics, According To Pence

Possibilities in ceramics are so broad that a "ceramics movement" is in the making in the Southwest, Dr. F. K. Pence, head of the department of ceramic engineering, for the University of Texas, told 53 persons at a chamber of commerce membership meeting Thursday evening.

He commended development already underway in this vicinity, adding that superficial examinations indicated other local potentialities based on raw material supplies.

At the present time pottery, particularly art items, have moved into a literal vacuum market, Pence declared, whereby entire output of factories have been contracted. This is due in part to elimination of competition from abroad. Even with this competition restored, Dr. Pence predicted that foreign production costs would be up to where domestic pottery would still enjoy a sound market.

As for pottery, it is not even necessary to have raw materials at hand. Freight on supplies from the east would average only a cent a pound, which becomes a minute part of the cost of a finished pottery item, according to Pence.

Equally important as raw materials, venture capital, etc., are students for ceramic engineering, the speaker asserted. Today, he said, ceramic production is on a scientific basis, and firms without sound engineering have little hope of continued financial success. Too, the field is attractive to youth because of ready demand for ceramic engineers, or because graduates can, on small capital, set up their own businesses.

Of 1,360 pottery plants in the US, according to a recent survey, 46 per cent were in California. Six (actual number, not per cent) were in Texas. There is no reason, said Pence, why this state should not average one or more to every county and still have the plants on a sound financial basis.

Dr. Pence was interested in the production of rotary, filter and absorbent clay west of Big Spring. He asked for samples of the clay for additional tests as he did of several banks of red clay, which proved low on or free of calcium, and thus possible material for brick, tile, etc. He lauded the quality of gravel production here.

Among possibilities in ceramics, Dr. Pence listed: pottery, art items, novelties, floor and wall tile, rock wool, lime (local supplies test exceptionally high), sand and gravel, volcanic ash, light weight blasted clay aggregate, concrete blocks, glass and others. The need is for investigation, vision and initiative to develop, he said.

Otis Grafe, chairman of the chamber industrial committee, presided and urged general industrialization in West Texas. He saw outstanding possibilities in silk and ceramics but warned that regional cooperation on solving water problems would be necessary before general industrialization could succeed. This, however, was not considered a problem in ceramic production.

TEST OUR WELCOME

YESTERDAY

Fathers, mothers, brothers and sisters were calling upon God for help. They made many a promise to Him if He would only bring back safely their loved ones who had gone across the sea to fight the enemy. If only He would stop that terrible conflict.

TODAY

The war is over and many have forgotten the promises they made to God. They have neglected to go to church, to take their children to Sunday School, to support the church and its missionaries and to live according to His word.

Let us not forget that we need God just as much Today as we did Yesterday. The Gospel and its message is our only hope for a

Grade Schools Take Achievement Tests, Rate Over Average

Standardized achievement tests, used as a uniform basis for measuring ability of pupils in schools of 11 states, have been completed by 1574 students in the first seven grades of the Big Spring public schools, W. C. Blankenship, superintendent, has announced.

The tests showed 90 pupils rated superior, 297 above average, 911 average, 225 below average and 51 failures. Standard percentages derived from averages of grades scored by thousands of pupils in the 11-state area covered in the tests show that in normal school systems five percent should rate superior, 20 percent above average, 50 percent average and five percent failures.

The Big Spring schools comparison the standard show six percent superior, 18 percent above average, 59 percent average 15 percent below average and three percent failures.

The tests are designed primarily to give teachers a method of determining abilities of their pupils, Blankenship said. Most teachers who gave the tests reported that more than half of their pupils were from one to three years ahead of the standards set for their individual ages.

Pointed Lessons From Showers

Many times small, localized incidents can illustrate a problem or an opportunity better than a general or long-range proposition.

With this in mind, we call attention to the fact that we are in a season of thunderstorms. Anything can happen as a result, and not infrequently this includes intense, localized rains.

When these occur, the lessons of conservation become vividly apparent. A one to four inch rain falling in the space of an hour or two can dramatically demonstrate what is less apparent over a period of time in the case of general and slower rains.

Loss of soil is evident. Damage to crops lands through gulleys and flattened furrows is plain to see. And after it is all over, most of the water is gone—that is unless provision has been made before hand for capturing it.

These provisions include such practices as terraces, contour furrows, diversion dams and terraces, detention dams or permanent impounding.

In a season when thunderstorms strike, there is a good possibility that as a general condition drouth is prevalent. This being the case, the need for conserving water is doubly vital. A flash rain of two or three inches held on land may mean a crop. Left to runoff, results are problematical and loss of soil is certain.

Heavy drainage of water impounded in ponds makes livestock production easier and surer. It means that cattle have better supplies of water and frequently without having to walk off ounces of flesh getting to a windmill. Besides, not a few ranchers are finding that these ponds offer recreational possibilities by stocking with fish.

Much progress has been made in conservation in this area, but we still have a tremendous responsibility and opportunity in front of us. Current conditions should emphasize this and we hope that the lessons shown will become stepping stones to action.

What Friendly Talks Will Do

Here's one course of action that is so obvious that many people overlook its possibilities.

A Herald reader mentions it because of success and because it might work in many other instances.

Worried about a stock lot nearby, this person wondered what could be done about it. Call in a complaint to the health unit? Maybe, but it wasn't exactly a nuisance—more of a potential source of material for propagating flies.

Complain to the owner? Maybe, but what would be gained by antagonizing a neighbor? But why not have a friendly talk with the owner. With some misgivings, this was tried. To this person's surprise, the owner already had been thinking of it; he had been concerned about neighbors.

Appreciating the interest of a neighbor, he indicated that the animal would be moved out of town at least during the summer. Thus a friendly chat about a mutual problem found a ready solution. It won't always work, but sometimes it might.

The Nation Today—James Marlow

WASHINGTON, (AP)—If the coal miners in Pennsylvania strike again—they're back at work on a 12-day truce after a 42-day strike—they'll get unemployment pay while idle.

That's a ruling by the State of Pennsylvania. Only four other states—New York, Rhode Island, Louisiana and Tennessee—give unemployment pay to strikers.

All 48 states have unemployment compensation systems. But all the states, with the exception of the five mentioned above, refuse unemployment pay to people made idle by a labor dispute. That phrase, "labor dispute," is important.

While the 43 states bar the pay to strikers, it is a little more difficult sometimes to decide not only who is made idle by a labor dispute, but why, and who's to blame. For example:

Suppose in a plant which has CIO and AFL workers, the CIO workers strike and the AFL workers, because the plant can't operate without the CIO men, are forced into idleness.

Or take the same plant where

the CIO men strike. The AFL could go on with their work but, being union men, refuse to cross the picket lines which the CIO workers throw up around the plant.

In those two examples you have men made idle through no fault of their own or made idle because they are following union principles in refusing to cross picket lines.

Such problems mean the various state officials have tough decisions to make; whether to let those AFL men (used as an example here) have unemployment pay, or not.

It's different in the five states which permit unemployment pay for strikers. In all five of those states a striker is disqualified from receiving the money for a specified number of weeks.

In Pennsylvania a striker must be idle six weeks before he can receive unemployment pay. The theory behind those weeks of disqualification is this: That most strikes last only a short time and therefore few strikers ever will be idle long enough to collect unemployment pay.

The 42-day coal strike is, of course, an exception to the rule. By being idle 42 days through last Sunday, the Pennsylvania miners have been out of work for the six weeks required by the state.

Now although the miners have gone back to work on the 12-day truce, the state has ruled that if they quit again at the end of that time they don't have to wait another six weeks before getting unemployment pay.

The amount of money a jobless person can collect depends upon how much he earned when he was working, and how long he worked. But there is a maximum amount of unemployment pay he can get, and a limit on the number of weeks he'll get it. The rules vary by state.

Designers Earn Praise

NEW YORK.—One fragment of the Broadway legitimate theater which comes in for a great deal of cultural praise, a good helping of esthetic encouragement is the set designing department.

For some reason, its rewards are small in comparison to the inflated fortunes made by producers, authors, directors and actors; even some of the backstage help such as stagehands, electricians and, in one or two actual cases, doormen.

The most any one of the really topflight, successful gentlemen and ladies of the (set) designing group can hope to gross, before expenses for offices and taxes can be deducted, is about $30,000 a year. That seems basically like a nice chunk of change, but it is not so large when you consider that even night club comedians these days can, and do, earn up to a hefty 10,000 a week.

I talked with Howard Bay, one of the theater's great designers, the other evening in front of his apartment on 52nd St. Howard lives right smack in the center of the noisiest night-time block in the city, that short stretch between 5th and 6th Avenues (I can't get used to calling 8th Avenue "Avenue of the Americas" no matter how I try) and thrives on the clutter and clash of cymbals and brass noisily rising from the 25 or so swing joints to his downtown right and left.

Howard has just signed to go to Hollywood and make pictures for one of the big companies. He loves the New York stage. He is in his fifth year as president of the United Scenic Artists and he is two-time winner of both the Donaldson Award for the best musical design on the Broadway stage and the New York Drama Critics' award for the best sets.

His list of credits reads like a recent history of the Broadway theater. He designed the current production of "Show Boat," one of the most tastefully lavish ever seen on the Broadway stage; "Up in Central Park," "The Corn is Green," "One Touch of Venus," "Carmen Jones" and many others.

Howard is leaving Broadway to have a crack at Hollywood as director as well as production designer, and to put behind him, at least temporarily, a part of his career from which he can no longer progress upward. He's at the top and can't make any more money, nor win any more esthetic acceptance, than he now possesses.

Howard's end for "Show Boat" was an even $5,000. Not that the producers are even a little penurious. Only one other designing job paid more—the Billy Rose revue, "Seven Lively Arts," which he brought $7,000 to Norman Bel Geddes for his artistic trouble. But Howard does not wish to go on thinking that he has reached his ultimate earning capacity and for that reason has extended his career to the cash-green of Hollywood studios. He now has a long-term contract with International Pictures and by this time next year will have earned a tidy little fortune.

His resentment of the conditions which prevail in the legitimate theater is most sturdily expressed when he talks about the fellows who are not the top designers but just the good, reputable, dependable set fashioners whose work year in and out suggest to ardent theater fans that they must be well paid fellows indeed.

"They can," said Howard, with more than a little disgust in his voice, "make more money at window dressing."

Alice Longworth Friends With Lewis

WASHINGTON.—During the coal strike, friends of Alice Roosevelt Longworth have been trying to figure out whether she has more influence over her good friend John L. Lewis or whether he dominates her. Some had hoped that she might help persuade him to call off the strike.

However, Mrs. Longworth seems to have leaned toward a bitter and almost Fascist form of thinking recently, and some of the labor people once close to John L. Lewis say his bitterness is partly inspired by Mrs. Longworth. So her influence in settling the strike is doubtful.

Today Mrs. Longworth's circle is largely confined to isolationists, including some friends bordering on the Fascist fringe. The Spanish embassy, hot-bed of Francoism, always stages a big party for "Princess Alice" on her birthday, and she even refers to such old friends as Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, former US minister to Norway, as a "Comrade," because Mrs. Harriman served on a Russian relief committee.

At a dinner given by Mrs. Longworth for her brother-in-law, Count de Chambrun, the other day, Alice even made the astounding remark that it was unfortunate the Kaiser didn't win the last war before we got in.

One thing on which both Mrs. Longworth and Lewis's friends agree is that hatred of Roosevelt brought them together. Both disliked him passionately, both continue to hate almost everything connected with him. That seems to be the chief bond between them.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—Draw Pearson

battles as were staged by FDR, but they felt that in Truman's home area he had a right to intervene, just as Roosevelt fought Congressman Ham Fish in New York. Actually, Congressman Slaughter, though brought up in Independence and married to an Independence girl, represents the congressional district next to Truman's. However, Ham Fish's district was revamped so that he was no longer FDR's congressman. Nevertheless, Roosevelt continued his undying opposition; eventually defeated Fish.

NOTE 2.—The "Rabbit" Democrats in Kansas City derive their name from Chief White Rabbit of the Osage Indians, who signed the first treaty with settlers at what is now Independence, Mo. The "Goat" Democrats derive their name from a story that in 1828 a herd of goats took refuge in the first Independence courthouse and crowded everyone else out. President Truman is a "Goat."

OPA's Sudden Friends

Unique development in the OPA fight is the sudden rush of the clothing trade to defend OPA. They are literally tearing fences down to make it clear that they are for the continuation of price control.

Here is the ghost they saw which made them run so fast.

When the House of Representatives gutted price control, rayon manufacturers suddenly began to hold up deliveries, figuring they could soon get higher prices. So also did nylon and cotton manufacturers. For under the Gossett amendment, inserted by Congressman Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls, Texas, those three commodities would be relieved of price control this summer.

Congressman Gossett confessed to newsmen at first that he didn't know exactly what his amendment was. But the textile industry did, and slowed up deliveries.

So the clothing manufacturers, unable to get materials, are now urging Congress to pass a price control bill not cluttered up with hamstringing amendments.

NOTE—Here are the clothing organizations which suddenly rushed to the defense of OPA:

Industrial Council of Coat and Suit Manufacturers; National Association of Blouse Manufacturers; House Dress Manufacturers; Popular Price Dress Association; National Association of Shirt Manufacturers; the Milliners' Association.

Capital Chaff

Senator Kenneth McKellar, president of the Senate, has long delayed in naming the usual special campaign investigating committee for the approaching elections. However, now that the CIO-PAC has named McKellar No. 1 on its purge list, the betting is that McKellar will name Senator Allen Ellender of Louisiana or another outstanding CIO enemy as committee chairman.

The Senate committee on audits and accounts has set aside $30,000 for the campaign committee, but McKellar, as chairman of the appropriations committee, can provide more if needed. . . . Tennesseeans are worried about McKellar's health. The politicians are not sure he can put on a real campaign, and the voters are worried about having a sick senator represent them.

Girls And Doughnuts

BERLIN, (AP)—The girl and the doughnuts met at the bar.

She had been to this American club only a few times, and she felt that strange as she handed her coat to the cloakroom attendant. She brushed her chestnut blonde hair slowly in the mirror to regain her assurance.

"Hello, Irma," called an officer playing darts at one end of the room.

"Hello," she said nervously, and by the slight accent she gave the word she told her nationality. Unusually she felt the eyes of a group of Americans at one table shift to her in vacant curiosity.

She moved with more confidence to the bar. The calmness of its polished surface flowed into her leaning hands.

The old barman nodded to her and they exchanged greetings in German. He poured her a gin and grapefruit juice drink.

"The captain will be downstairs in a few moments," he told her in English. Involuntarily she looked at the stairs leading to the second floor dining room, where the captain had gone up.

The bartender emerged from an inner room and set a plate of sugary doughnuts on the bar beside the girl. Their sweet warm

Invasion Of Dick Burton Has PGA Agent Worried

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, May 17 (AP)—Richard Burton, British open golf champion who is coming here for a tussle with Byron Nelson, is a native of Darwin, Lancashire, a fact which has PGA drumbeater Tom Sheehan a bit worried. Tom picked up a Lancashireman in Italy during the war and says he still doesn't know what the guy was saying after a half hour of conversation. . . . But maybe Dick has lost some of his accent. He's been a golf internationalist for years and played here in the 1935 Ryder cup matches. . . . Look for Indiana's Earl Mitchell to turn in a 4:10 mile this spring if someone pushes him. . . . Earl won't forget how fast he can run because he's official keeper of the IU track team scrapbook and most of the items concern a guy named Mitchell.

Delayed Dialogue—
Commenting on the National football league's announcement that it had 396 players signed for 1946, an All-American conference guy remarked: "That will leave only about 60 men when they get down to the player limit and they have three minor leagues they expect to stock with players." . . . The rebuttal from a National League: "We don't try to stock any minors. We sign major leaguers and let the minors like the American League, Pacific Coast and All-American conference remain independent and sign their own men."

If Assault wins the Belmont he will become the seventh colt to win the "triple crown" and also will break Gallant Fox's record of $306,275 earnings in one season. Assault already has won $226,120, most of it in the Derby and Freshness, and the Belmont is another hundred grander. . . . Boxing ought to come back to the Garden with a bang tonight. The most frequent comment about both Bruce Woodcock and Tami Mauriello is "he can hit."

Schneiter Sets Hot Pace In Colonial Invitation

FORT WORTH, May 17 (AP)—George Schneiter of Ogden, Utah, comparatively an upstart in PGA touring golf, boasted a competitive course record of 67, $250 for doing it and promise of a lot more as he led the way today into the second round of the $18,000 Colonial National Invitation tournament.

The 32-year-old westerner, making his first full trip with the top play-for-cash boys, shot a three-under-par yesterday over the tough 3652 yard Colonial country club lay-out while the heralded stars floundered. For registering the lowest score—two under the competitive course record set by Ben Hogan in the 1941 National Open—he got the $250, an award offered daily in the tournament.

and took the lead at 18 holes over 23 other professionals and 8 amateurs.
Only Schneiter and little Toney Penna, the wisecracking pro from Cincinnati, were able to better par, Penna's 69 giving him second place by two strokes over four players—Harry Todd, Dallas; Sam Snead, Hot Springs, Va.; Bob Hamilton, Chicago, and amateur Wilford Wehrle of Louisville.
In the two-over-par 72 bracket was Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., tournament favorite who lost three strokes to water hazards, while Hogan, of Hershey, Pa., another top-rated entry, scrambled for a 73.

RUTH COMPLIMENTS PASQUELS

MEXICO CITY, May 17 (AP)—Babe Ruth, former home run king now visiting in Mexico, had baseball fans in both Mexico and the United States asking questions today.

Ruth, who reached Mexico City yesterday as the guest of the Pasquel brothers, spoke to the 19,000 fans at the Vera Cruz-Tampico game shortly after his arrival and closed his address with "I'll see you later." Ruth has been mentioned frequently as a possible offer of the south-of-the-border loop.

The Sultan of Swat did not elaborate on his closing sentence.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART
Our Town's country club will probably be prominently represented at the Women's West Texas Golf association's ninth annual tournament, which is to be conducted over the Abilene country club June 16 to 21, inclusive.

Mrs. Harry Stalcup, who has been swinging a golf stick here for several years, is on the organization's board of directors, and, of course, is making plans to attend. Mrs. Estelle Bristow, Mrs. L. L. Freeman and others are counting on being there.

The ladies will start registering at 8 a. m. Sunday, June 16. Four-ball mixed foursome matches will be played on that day.

Qualifying round (18 holes of medal play) will get underway the following day while the remainder of the week through Friday will be dedicated to match play. All matches save the finals will be over 18 holes. The championship will be decided on a 36-hole basis.

There'll also be long driving and putting contests, buffet suppers and dances to spice the program.

Prizes will be proffered for low medal qualifying round, winner of each flight, runner-up of each flight, consolation, driving contest, putting contest, handicap contest, and the club showing the biggest attendance.

There'll be prizes offered to the high and low scoring bowling participants in today's VFW sweepstakes at the West Texas lanes.

Tom Quigley, who has been serving as city recreational director of Corpus Christi, may accept an offer to be freshman football coach at Purdue university, Lafayette, Ind.

Purdue's head coach, Cecil Isbell, hails from Houston and went to school at Corpus Christi junior college before matriculating at Purdue.

Rudy York, the Boston Red Sox soaker, has a brother playing first base for Carrollton in the Class D Georgia-Florida baseball league this year. He goes by the name of Lewis, is hitting in the cleanup spot for the Carrollton club.

Harold McMackin, catcher, and Charles Thompson, outfielder, who played their first games for the Lamesa WT-NM league club Wednesday night, hail from Sedalia, Mo. Thompson is having trouble adjusting his eyes to the lamps in the Lamesa park.

George Sturdivant, the Lamesa pilot, finally decided to let big Ray Brown go. Brown was a rookie catcher brought down to this part of the country on the invitation of Bobby "Pepper" Martin. The two had soldered together in the Southwest Pacific.

Big Ray was willing but perhaps he was too gigantic for his own good. Sturdivant never felt so secure that he would use Ray in a game, so Brown spent most of his time in the bull-pen.

Out there, though, he probably got more work than the regular Lobo catcher. Some one, it seemed, was always warming up to relieve some Lamesa hurler in trouble. Very few Lamesa hurlers have gone the route to date.

Getting his release along with Brown was Bill Brookbank, who hit fairly well at the first of the season but ran into a slump just as the Lobos were experiencing a bumpy time.

It's the fortunes of baseball that some one's head must roll when the going gets rough.

Phillips Loses To Continental

FORSAN, May 17—Continental rolled up its second victory in Fort Worth softball league play Thursday night in outscoring Phillips, 17-13, in a game played on the Forsan diamond.

Continental used three home runs to turn the tide of battle. Lefty McCabe, John Anderson and Timman Shultz hitting for the circuit.

The Gassers also drilled out six home circuit swats during the bout. Cotton Patrick and E. Hall came through with two round-trippers each while H. Huestis and Bill Long had one apiece.

John Cardwell and Otis Griffith worked on the rubber for the winners while Bill Long and George Green shared the punishment for the victims.

Despite home runs by Dennis Hughes, John Gale and Calvin Sewell, Shell lost its bout to the high school team, 16-6, failing to solve Joe Green's offerings consistently.

Ray Prather drove out a four-mast for the Bufaloes.

Fort Worth Adds To League Lead

By The Associated Press

The Fort Worth Cats' stock took another climb last night as they defeated the Shreveport Sports, 7-0, while their nearest rivals, the Dallas Rebels and the San Antonio Missions suffered losses.

Tulsa, making a strong bid for third place, defeated San Antonio, 4-3, for its second consecutive victory over the Missions. Dallas ran its losing streak to four when it fell for the second consecutive time before Beaumont, 3-4, and Oklahoma City bested Houston, 5-2, for its seventh victory of the season.

George Dockins, pitching his first game for Fort Worth, hurled a shut-out, allowing only four blows, while the Cats were reaching two Shreveport pitchers for 13 hits.

Dallas' loss to Beaumont dropped it a game and a half behind Fort Worth, to which the Rebels relinquished the league lead the preceding night.

Clarence Maddern's third double of the game broke a ninth-inning tie to give Tulsa its victory over San Antonio. The Missions had tied the score, 3-3, in the first half of the ninth.

Oklahoma City's Ralph McCabe and Houston's Andy Mohrlock each gave up only one run during the first five innings and each allowed six hits for the route, but Oklahoma City's three-run spurge in the sixth was enough for victory.

Today's schedule (all night games):
Beaumont at Dallas.
San Antonio at Tulsa.
Houston at Oklahoma City.
Shreveport at Fort Worth.

Coahoma Battles Manhattan In 9 p. m. Muny Park Test

By The Associated Press

Lights go on at the city park diamond this evening for two games postponed from last week's Muny softball league schedule.

The 7:30 opener will pit the VFW aggregation against Doc's Redcaps. In the 9 o'clock second bout, Manhattan swings into action against the Coahoma Stanolind Oilers.

Manhattan and Stanolind are both unbeaten in circuit play. The loser will slump to fourth place in standings since Big Spring Motor and Cosden's Oilers share the lead with the two clubs with perfect won-and-lost records.

Manhattan outslugged the ABC Club, 10-8, and Coahoma ran over Howard County Implement, 21-6, in Thursday night competition at the park.

Sonny Busby set a dizzy batting pace for the Manhattan in the opener, hitting two home runs and a long triple to provide the difference in the clubs.

The Clubbers also executed a triple play, first of the season in league competition. Billy Mims started the sensational play in the fourth by snagging a line drive, threw to Busby to catch a runner off second base, then completed the killing with a throw to Bruce Robertson.

Toby Cunningham started on the rubber for the winners and Jim Daylong appeared to throw the last inning.

Manhattan was particularly shaky at field, committing no less than eight miscues.

Howard County Implement started out well enough in the second go, hopping into an early lead behind Buck Tyree but the Mechanics' defense fell apart and the Coahomans coasted in.

Muny Pool Open This Afternoon

The Big Spring municipal natatorium was set to open at 1 o'clock this afternoon after a week of idleness due to lack of an essential part for the chlorine machine.

Manager Bob Flowers announced the apparatus arrived and was installed by workmen Thursday.

Formal opening of the pool will be conducted Sunday afternoon in conjunction with the bathing beauty revue being conducted by a local sorority.

Monopoly Claimed By Jorge's Defense

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP)—Legality of the player contract, the cornerstone of organized baseball, has been questioned in New York state supreme court by the Mexican league in a surprising counter-attack against what it termed an American "monopoly."

Charging that the American player contracts were "monopolistic, unconscionable, illegal and against public policy," Jorge Hess, counsel for President Jorge Pasquel and the Mexican league, yesterday insisted that players are held in "peonage for life."

As a result of this new approach by the Mexicans, Justice Julian Miller reserved decision on the New York Yankees' request for a permanent injunction, restraining the Pasquels and their agents from tampering with Yankee players.

The court also reserved decision on the Mexican charge but strongly indicated it thought the whole thing should come up for trial, probably May 27 when the Yankees said they would be ready. Hess said the date would suit his clients fine.

Boston Sox Hitting Slump Puzzles League; Kramer Handcuffs Them

By The Associated Press

Next to the legality of the reserve clause in the players' contracts, baseball's most puzzling question today is what has happened to Boston's power laden Red Sox?

Held to only three hits by Jack Kramer in last night's 3-0 defeat by the St. Louis Browns, the receding Red Sox stumbled through their fifth consecutive contest in which they failed to produce more than four safeties.

In the last five games, of which they've dropped three to reduce their first place American league lead to five games, the Red Sox have made a total of 15 hits in 147 times at bat for a puny team average of .102. Compare this with their .297 compiled in their first 24 games, and it is almost unbelievable.

Individually the players averages have slumped alarmingly. Before the slump six regulars were batting over .300, with Johnny Pesky and Ted Williams soaring above .400. Now only Williams, Pesky and Dom DiMaggio are .300 hitters.

Only brilliant pitching by Mickey Harris and Dave Ferriss has prevented the Sox from losing all five games.

In a parade of players including nine pitchers, the St. Louis Cardinals edged out the Boston Braves 9-8 in another arc-light contest to solidify their position

Sluggest Is Aired On KBST Tonight

Walloping Bruce Woodcock, heavyweight champion of the British Empire, 156-lbs. Tami Mauriello (above) of the Bronx at Madison Square Garden in New York tonight. Scheduled to go ten rounds, the bout will be aired over the ABC Network.

Woodcock, who devotes part of his daily training period to swinging a 16-lb. sledgehammer, is an out-and-out slugger. He has a sharp left jab, a smashing left hook and a deadly right hand. His record of 24 kayoes in 25 fights is the most imposing of any heavyweight in action today.

In Mauriello, Woodcock encounters a leading heavyweight contender whose lethal right has also been sending his opponents into dreamland. The "Beng Buser" has won ten in a row over the KO route.

Load-To-Altitude Record Beaten

TOKYO, May 17 (AP)—A B-29 of the army's Pacific air command (PACUSA) shattered a fifth world load-to-altitude record Wednesday when it carried 15,000 kilograms (about 33,000 pounds) to a height of 37,400 feet.

Lt. Gen. Ennis C. Whitehead, PACUSA commander who announced the record today, said it gave the Superfortresses all international marks for carrying payloads to great altitudes. All five records were set between May 8 and 15 by B-29s flying from Harmon Field, Guam.

The project was termed "an additional milestone in flying history" by Charles Logsdon, New York, who certified the records for the National Aeronautics Association and the Federation Aeronautique Internationale.

Prosecution Charges SS Panzer Regiment Murdered Prisoners

DACHAU, Germany, May 12 (AP)—The prosecution charged today that the 1st SS panzer regiment, acting on direct orders from Adolf Hitler to "show no humane inhibitions," murdered between 536 and 749 American prisoners during the battle of the bulge in December, 1944.

Lt. Col. Burton Ellis of New York City, trial judge advocate, presented these figures in his opening statement to the war crimes court trying 74 officers and men of the 6th SS panzer army.

He said he would prove that Hitler held a meeting of his army commanders shortly before the German drive started and as a result, Gen. Sepp Dietrich, one of the accused, ordered his troops to avenge "terror bombing" and shoot prisoners when combat conditions required.

Established on a permanent basis in January, 1945, and voted one of the most controversial on Capitol Hill. Several times tempers have flared on the house floor and members neared fist-cuffs in debate over its activities.

Retail Courses Started Here

Three courses in retail selling and distribution have been launched officially in Big Spring by Thelma Boone, retail training specialist from the University of Texas.

Miss Boone, who came here this week through arrangements made by the chamber of commerce and the local public school system, conducts the classes as part of a service offered cities and towns in Texas by the industrial, business and extension training staff of the University in cooperation with the state-board of vocational education distributive training division.

"Selling Today's Customer" is the course currently being conducted for employes of Montgomery Ward's, McCrory's and Wacker's. Each firm has several employes enrolled, and Miss Boone expressed satisfaction at response and progress made to date.

Several other firms have indicated interest in arranging classes, Miss Boone said, and additional plans will be mapped at a meeting Tuesday night arranged by Lewis Price, chairman of the chamber of commerce retail trade department. If interest is sufficient, more classes for individual businesses and others for group instruction will be instituted.

US Negro Private Confesses Slaying

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 17. (AP)—An American negro private signed a confession today that he fired three shots—"at a civilian going up the road"—which resulted in the deaths of two American sergeants Friday night, Army authorities announced today.

The negro was identified as Pfc. James C. Devone, 28, of North Carolina (no town given). Officials said the negro asserted that the jeep in which the sergeants were riding "got in the way" of the last bullet he fired.

The bare outline of the statement released at headquarters of the theater provost marshal did not identify the civilian or explain why Devone fired at him.

Devone probably will be sent to the Nuernberg prison stockade from Erlangen, where he had been taken for final questioning by former G-men of the criminal investigation division. He was said not to have implicated anyone else, asserting that he was alone at the time of the shooting.

VFW Cleaning-Up On Bowling Alleys

The crescendo of bowling balls meeting wood blended well with the mellow tone the cash register was ringing as the VFW "went in to business for itself" at the West Texas Kegling Center this morning.

That business tempo was due to be accelerated this afternoon and tonight when organizational scouts go out searching for trade.

All revenue taken in during the day at the recreation spot goes into the VFW kitty, which, in turn, is dedicated toward maintenance of that unit's charities.
