58 arrested in massive drug bust

By CINDY SMITH
Staff Writer

Ten months of undercover investigation ended Friday after 58 persons across Deaf Smith County were arrested on felony drug charges during a midnight-to-dawn raid by lawmen from throughout the Panhandle.

"Most all were charged with delivery of a controlled substance," said Roland Saul, Deaf Smith County district attorney.

The charges involved marijuana, LSD, heroin, and cocaine. Saul said there were 81 indictments on 70 adults and seven juveniles, including one subject 14-years-old. Four of the older juveniles are being petitioned to be certified as adults.

Ninety-two lawmen divided into arrest teams of three, with local officers leading each team, to conduct the comprehensive sweep which started at about 1 a.m. Friday and concluded just before dawn.

Assistance was recruited from Metro and Department of Public Safety officers from Amarillo, deputies and city marshal from Vega, Highway Patrolmen from Lubbock, and Texas Rangers. Child Welfare case workers were notified about arrests of parents with minor children.

"It takes a lot of manpower to do something like this," Saul said. "It's one of the biggest busts in the state for a single operation such as ours."

After 10 months of undercover investigation

Officers also were instructed to retain any other suspects until the special undercover agent who had worked the operation for the 10 months could question the subject.

During the county-wide raid, radio traffic was kept to a minimum and officers used code numbers of suspects and locations.

Intensive planning for the raid had been done for the week prior to the hit. Saul said Texas Ranger Jim Mull was the coordinator.

"One other benefit we're going to hope for, is to decrease the property vandalism and burglaries here in Hereford," said Saul, explaining that 80 percent of property crimes are drug-related.

There were also contraband and vehicle seizures.

"If a vehicle is used to transport, deliver, and possess a controlled substance, the vehicle will be sold and proceeds will go to departments of officers involved," said Saul.

"Our officers have beat their heads against the wall for the last 10

Aircraft carriers

U.S. ships steam south toward Libya

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two U.S. aircraft carriers steamed southward today toward Libya with their jet fighters prepared to demonstrate American resolve to operate in the area.

The Navy confirmed Thursday it had notified civilian air-traffic control officials in the Libyan capital of Tripoli that "carrier flight operations" would be conducted periodically off the coast in "international airspace" through Jan. 31.

White House officials denied the United States was trying to provoke a military confrontation with Libya and its leader, Col. Moammar Khadafy, whom President Reagan has accused of supporting Palestinian terrorist groups.

Pentagon sources agreed the moves in no way presaged plans for a retaliatory strike against Libya for last month's terrorist attacks in Rome and Vienna.

But another source within the Pentagon, when asked about the U.S. plans, said: "You could look at it as thumbing our nose at Khadafy and telling him that we consider this international airspace and if he wants to make something of it, come on out and try."

The exercise, added another source, is intended to demonstrate the United States will not be intimidated by an increased Soviet naval presence in the region, nor by Khadafy's decision to place his own military forces on alert and to pledge continuing support for Palestinian terrorists.

"It's asserting the right to passage in international airspace, with plenty of notice to everyone in advance of our peaceful intent," said one source, who, like the others, spoke only on condition of anonymity.

The source noted the Navy had conducted similar flights off the Libyan coast in January 1985. Those flights prompted Khadafy to charge the United States was preparing to invade.

Another source said the flight operations had been approved earlier in the week by the National Security Council "as a warning that we're not forgetting these terrorist attacks. We know what Khadafy has done and we want him to know we're prepared to respond."

As the carriers Saratoga and Coral Sea moved southward through the central Mediterranean on Thursday, a key — and unanswered — question was how far south their fighters would fly during the next week.

The Libyan coast line is indented in the middle by the U-shaped Gulf of Sidra, a body of water more than 100 miles in length that Libya claims as its own. The United States refuses to recognize that claim, asserting Libyan territorial waters extend only 12 miles offshore.

The last time U.S. and Libyan forces engaged in combat was over the Gulf of Sidra in August 1981 when two Libyan fighters attacked two Navy F-14s. The attackers were shot down by the American planes.

The fighters aboard the Saratoga and Coral Sea could operate close to the Libyan coast without ever flying over the disputed waters of the gulf, however, and it remained unclear just what was planned.

Publicly, the Pentagon said no aircraft sorties were planned over the Gulf of Sidra. But another source refused to rule out such flights, suggesting it might depend on the Libyan response.

Consumer group says check-hold bill weakened

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans living from paycheck to paycheck could get at their money faster to pay for mortgages, food and other expenses under a new House-passed bill that limits the time banks can hold checks before allowing customers to use the cash.

But one consumer organization expressed disappointment with a key amendment that would give banks a loophole if tellers suspect a check would fail to clear because of fraud, bankruptcy or similar circumstances.

By a vote of 282-11, the House on Thursday passed and sent to the Senate the Expedited Funds Availability Act. It sets a maximum number of days a financial institution can hold a deposited check, cash or funds transferred by wire without freeing up the money for the customer.

However, Senate Banking Chairman Jake Garn, R-Utah, wants to include the check hold bill in an omnibus banking package, a move that could delay final passage until much later in the year.

House Banking Committee Chairman Fernand J. St Germain, D-R.I., chief proponent of the check hold bill, said in floor debate Thursday that banks play "the float" game with customers' money to earn billions of dollars through interest and fees on checks inadvertently bounced by depositors.

For the first three years of the bill, local checks would be available for withdrawal in just one to three business days. Most out-of-state checks could be withdrawn on the seventh business day after deposit.

Thrifts and credit unions would be given one extra business day to comply with the timetable.

But before passing the bill, the House adopted an amendment favored by the banks and opposed by consumer groups.

It would permit bankers to hold a check for as long as they wish if they

White says he will debate

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Mark White says there should be no question about his willingness to debate fellow Democratic gubernatorial candidates this year.

"We'll be pleased to debate them," White told his weekly news conference Thursday, saying the only problem is when to schedule the confrontation.

Earlier this week, White campaign chairman John Fainter wrote the League of Women voters to decline their offer for a debate before the May 3 primary.

"Gov. White's state schedule is particularly heavy throughout the primary period, and we do not feel a debate during these months would be a productive commitment of the governor's time," Fainter's letter said.

But White, who last year promised to debate any Democratic or Republican candidates, said Thursday that the letter was sent because the league's acceptance deadline suspect the check might not clear because of fraud or impending bankruptcy by either the drawer or drawee. In that case, bankers would be given two days to notify the depositor if they refused to clear the check for payment.

Mike Caudell-Feagan, a staff attorney with the U.S. Public Interest Research Group, expressed disappointment.

"Low income consumers — those without much economic clout — could be subjected to the same check holds as they are now — two weeks or more," he said. "All that banks have to do is phone those customers and tell them there will be a long hold on their deposited checks."

St Germain also opposed the amendment.

In other business and economic news:

—Americans' personal spending rose more last month than their income, but analysts and the Reagan administration say the gains in both categories signal a strong first quarter for the U.S. economy.

The Commerce Department said Thursday that new-car financing deals and a brisk Christmas shopping season helped propel personal spending up 2 percent in December, the largest monthly gain since a 2.5 percent increase in May 1975.

Reagan-Gorbachev joint session suggested

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Robert Byrd wants Mikhail Gorbachev to become the first Soviet leader ever invited to address a joint session of Congress.

The White House, however, wants to know more details about Gorbachev's next session with President Reagan before going along with the idea.

"It has been a long-standing practice to recognize foreign leaders in this respect, and I feel it would enhance the development of meaningful communication between the United States and the Soviet Union after years of sterile rhetoric," Byrd said in a Senate speech Thursday.

Byrd wants Gorbachev and Reagan to address Congress at the conclusion of their second summit meeting, which has been tentatively planned for later this year. The two leaders met in Geneva in November and agreed to meet again in the United States this year and in the Soviet Union next year.

Under Byrd's proposal, the invitation to Gorbachev would have a hook in it. The Soviets would have to agree to carry Reagan's speech on prime time television.

Byrd, of West Virginia, said he thought Reagan would easily outscore his Soviet counterpart from a public relations point of view.

Byrd said he tried the idea out on Reagan and the president was receptive, suggesting only that the United States bring its own interpreter to Capitol Hill.

But White House spokesman Larry Speakes, when asked about the proposal, said it was the first he had heard about it.

"I guess we would have to wait until we get the summit schedule before we schedule any appearances," Speakes said. "I think we would just have to review it in the whole context of his visit, how long he's going to be here, what he's going to do, how long the talks are going to be."

Other White House aides also said the idea was news to them.

Byrd said House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill's only reservation about his plan was that the meeting should not come too late in the year, when it might influence the congressional elections.

Speakes said no decision has been made on the timing of the summit. U.S. officials had floated the idea of a June meeting, but the Soviets have indicated they would prefer September.

Byrd said he hoped the invitation to Gorbachev would "help draw back the heavy curtain which has snuffed out real communication for so many years" between the Soviet Union and the United States.

In a letter to Reagan, Byrd wrote:

"The development of a more positive relationship with the Soviet Union will, of course, take time, but it is clear that the dialogue which you began with Mr. Gorbachev in Geneva has led to a better over-all atmosphere in which to try to resolve our outstanding differences with the Soviet Union."

Byrd sent a similar letter to O'Neill.

Speakes, recalling that the two leaders met in front of a crackling fireplace in Geneva, brought up a question about the Capitol as a setting for a public talkfest between them.

"They don't have a fireplace up there, do they?" he asked.

WHITE

was too early for his campaign to decide on a date.

"We just couldn't set it up on their schedule. We'll be glad to set it up on a convenient schedule," he said. "I'm going to be willing to debate candidates who have serious issues in this campaign to discuss."

White's comments followed a news conference by Democratic challenger Andrew Briscoe, who said the governor owes it to voters "to clarify the differences" between himself and other candidates.

"Texans aren't as proud of Mark White's record as he is. And I welcome the opportunity to debate him," Briscoe said.

In other political developments: — State Treasurer Ann Richards, saying her office has earned an extra $117 million for the state, announced she will seek a second term.

"That's $117 million that didn't come from our taxpayers. The money is largely from additional interest earned from investing state funds at market rates," she said.

Ms. Richards, a Democrat first elected in 1982, also said her policies have saved $1.13 billion in state expenses through more efficient Treasury practices, competitive bidding on a computer and increased efficiency in state agencies the Treasury has helped with cash management.

— U.S. Rep. Jake Pickle, who has represented central Texas in Congress since 1963, said he will seek another term.

Pickle, a Democrat who entered politics in 1942 as a secretary to Lyndon B. Johnson, has faced only two serious challenges since going to Congress. He defeated Larry Bales in the 1974 Democratic primary, getting 67.2 percent of the vote, and he defeated Republican John Biggar in 1980 with 59.1 percent.

— Dallas Court of Appeals Judge Charles Ben Howell declared himself a Republican candidate for the Texas Supreme Court. "I want you to know I am not a switchover Republican," Howell said. "I have been a Republican since high school."

Howell is seeking the seat now held by Justice Sears McGee, a Democrat who has said he will seek re-election.

— Charles F. Trompler, a Malone Republican, launched his campaign for agriculture commissioner.

Trompler, who farms about 1,000 acres, said: "To help agriculture, the ag commissioner has to know the business. It takes a farmer ... it doesn't take a politician."

Ann Landers

Truth about cats

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your readers write often about dogs but never about cats. Cat lovers need information. I hope you will print my letter.

Very few cats need to run loose. If you permit this, they will come home with fleas, ticks, ear mites, worms and other infectious diseases and parasites transmitted from other cats. That is, if they come home at all. They could easily get run over by a car. It only takes once. The old adage that cats need the freedom of the great outdoors is about 90 percent wrong.

I have four cats now. I moved out to the country a year ago from a townhouse in a busy, well-populated area. You'd think they all would be outside chasing butterflies. No way. The 7-year-old Burmese goes outside, eats grass for two minutes, cries to get back into the house and then unceremoniously throws up on my living room rug.

My Japanese Bobtail, odd-eyed (one blue and one gold), was flown in from Winnipeg. First I didn't want to let her outside but I decided to give her a chance. She was so scared that she hid under the shed all night and the next morning I found her sitting on the newspaper waiting to be let in to the house.

Many people believe those often repeated stories that cats need to run loose once in a while. This is NOT true. If you love your cat, keep him or her at home. The darling will be healthier, happier and live longer.—S.D.W. IN MARKHAM, ONT

DEAR S.D.W.: Thanks for exploding a myth. Cat lovers everywhere should thank you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I feel compelled to respond to "Apoplectic in Dayton" who was outraged at her daughter's poor housekeeping. Such thinking is firmly rooted in another century and I hope her daughter will ignore the criticism.

Where does this old bat get off criticizing a woman who works full time, keeps herself well-groomed and attractive and apparently has a satisfied husband and kids? She should be proud of her daughter's accomplishments instead of harping on something as trivial as dirty dishes in the sink. Besides, if her daughter's family wants a cleaner home, let them help out. When are women going to be liberated from the archaic notion that housework is solely a woman's responsibility?—BURY THE DEAD (R.I.)

DEAR R.I.: Beautiful. I couldn't have said it as well myself. In fact, I didn't.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I got quite a howl from "Been Around in Bakersfield" who purports to know all about men. She's right about some things, but she's wrong about a few others.

I do wear boxer shorts, but I don't chase women. My phone number is unlisted. The ladies at work (some married) who figure I'm a real swinger, can't find me. When they suggest spending the night at my place (at least four have) I plead a previous commitment. Actually, I'm gay.

Sorry to disappoint you, Bakersfield. Another stereotype

bites the dust.—A SURPRISE PACKAGE IN BUFFALO

Patroits are confident about running game

By HOWARD ULMAN
AP Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The problem, Tony Collins said, is that teams abandon their running game too soon after the Chicago Bears shut it down.

Although banging your head into a stone wall isn't the wisest activity, Collins thinks the wall will crack before the head does in Sunday's Super Bowl.

"We believe we're going to be successful on the run," said Collins, the New England Patriots' starting halfback. "We think a lot of teams stopped too early against them on the running game."

"We're going to keep pounding them. We've been a second-half team and we wear teams down in the fourth quarter."

The Patriots had the sixth-best rushing attack in the National Football League, averaging 145.7 yards a game. They have done even better in the playoffs with 170 yards a game, including 255 in the American Football Conference championship contest at Miami.

In the Patriots' second playoff game, against Los Angeles, fullback Craig James became the first rusher to gain more than 100 yards — he had 104 — against the Raiders this season.

"They've built a soapbox they can stand on," said Chicago defensive end Dan Hampton. "The run is something they're going to go to and stay with throughout the game."

"James makes the offense go. He's their bread and butter. If we can stop him, we'll be in good shape."

Against 13 of their 16 regular-season opponents, the Patriots ran for more yards in the second half than the first half. One of those opponents was the Bears, who allowed the Patriots 20 rushing yards in the second half after giving up a grand total of seven in the first two periods. Chicago won 20-7 in the season's second game.

The Bears gave up an average of only 82.4 rushing yards on the ground, fewest in the NFL, and 59 yards per playoff game.

One reason teams didn't run well against the Bears is because they didn't run often. Opponents, frequently behind, decided to pass. The 359 regular-season rushing plays against Chicago were 60 fewer than against any other team.

"The key is for us to be patient and not lose what other teams have lost," Collins said. "That's the confidence in the running game."

Bears defensive tackle Steve McMichael said he hoped the Patriots would do exactly what Collins said.

"We've got eight men on the line of scrimmage. Come on at us," he said.

Collins' running mates weren't as eager to pound their skulls into Chicago's solid wall and said the Patriots' offensive strategy would depend on the game's circumstances.

"When they put eight men on the line of scrimmage, they're basically saying, 'We're going to stop your running game,'" said James, the AFC's third-leading rusher with 1,227 yards. "If we see that, we'll have to recognize that and change."

"You just don't keep running into a stone wall," Robert Weathers, Collins' backup, said. "You've got to find some other mode of travel."

Traveling too much by air, however, has proved disastrous. The Patriots lost just five regular-season games. In four of them, they threw more than 30 passes.

In the playoffs, the Bears limited Joe Morris of the New York Giants to 32 rushing yards and Eric Dickerson of the Los Angeles Rams to 46.

"We do things a little differently than the Giants do, as well as the Rams," James said. "The Rams just kept trying to pound away at the eight- and nine-man front. It's hard to do. Eric was cutting into that extra man at the line of scrimmage."

Some teams have rushed well against the Bears. Tampa Bay gained 166 yards, Washington 192 and Atlanta 141 on the ground.

"In reviewing film, you see plays that break and say, 'Maybe we can run,'" Weathers said.

There has been much speculation in the days leading up to the first Super Bowl appearance for both teams about the difficulty New England's runners will encounter.

"Maybe the critics can sell us short, but the Bears don't," substitute fullback Mose Tatupu said. "They've seen us on film. They won the battle the first time, but I think we'll win the war Sunday."

With one and one half billion viewers, the 1982 World Cup in soccer had the largest TV audience in sports history.

Bomb threat leads to evacuation at game

By DORALISA PILARTE
Associated Press Writer

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Texas-El Paso Coach Don Haskins wants to see his 19th-ranked Miners "put it together," but the Colorado State Rams probably don't feel the Miners need much in the way of improvement.

The Miners managed to overcome a bomb threat, poor rebounding and a good game from Colorado State to take a 65-57 Western Athletic Conference basketball victory Thursday night.

Officials evacuated both teams and the sellout crowd of 12,222 after an anonymous caller telephoned to say a bomb had been planted in the building.

The teams and spectators stood around outside for about an hour while the building was searched. No bomb was found and the teams and spectators returned for the game.

"Colorado State played a good game. We had a hard time getting it off the boards, but we didn't play bad," said UTEP coach Don Haskins. "It was an excellent basketball game all the way. Still, I'd like to see us put it together."

"We're not playing bad, but we're still not playing the way we did around Christmas," said Haskins, noting that UTEP had a five-game winning streak that started with an upset of Georgetown Dec. 27.

The Miners were trailing in the closing seconds of the first half until Mike Richmond, who finished the night with 10 points, scored on a feed from Terry Stallworth to tie the game at 28.

The Rams managed to stay in the game until the final three minutes when they got into foul trouble, sending the Miners, who held a slim, 53-51 lead at the time, to the line.

'Super rematch' set for Super Bowl on Sunday

By JOE MOOSHEL
AP Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Everything, even history, seems to favor the Chicago Bears in their upcoming battle against the New England Patriots.

This will mark the fifth time in Super Bowl history that the participating teams have played each other during the regular season. And only once has the team that lost during the regular season been able to record a victory in the Super Bowl.

Two years ago, the Los Angeles Raiders lost to Washington during the regular season but came back to defeat the Redskins 38-9 in the Super Bowl.

In three other games, the team that won during the regular season also won in the Super Bowl.

In 1962, San Francisco defeated Cincinnati twice during the regular season and then won the Super Bowl against the Bengals 26-21.

In 1981, Oakland defeated Philadelphia twice in the regular season and again 27-10 in the Super Bowl. And in 1977, Oakland defeated Minnesota in the regular season and again in the Super Bowl.

In the second game of the 1965 season, the Bears smashed the Patriots 20-7. So convincing was the victory that the Patriots were able to spend only 21 seconds in Chicago territory.

The Bears took a 10-0 lead at the half on a 32-yard touchdown pass from Jim McMahon to Dennis McKinnon and a 21-yard field goal by Kevin Butler. Matt Suhey scored on a short run in the third period and Butler added a 28-yard field goal.

"What happened in September will have no bearing on what happens Sunday," Bears Coach Mike Ditka said. "I think it will be a different football game. I think they are a much-improved football team."

"We had the upper hand by playing that game at home. We caught them unaware and they probably didn't think we'd be that good defensively that early in the season."

Walter Payton, Chicago's star running back, said: "I'm curious to play this game. In the first game, I was injured and went out of the game."

Payton had only 11 rushes for 19 yards in that first meeting while Craig James of the Patriots managed only five yards in seven carries but helped avert a shutout by catching a short pass from Tony Eason in the fourth quarter and completing a 90-yard touchdown play.

"It was so long ago and we have changed so much," James said. "I don't put any credibility in that game. We have not played a revenge game this year, and this is not a revenge game at all."

In the first game, guard John Hannah of the Patriots did not play because of injuries and tackle Steve Moore was making only his second professional start.

"We've improved; we've got all our offensive linemen healthy," fullback Mose Tatupu said. "We never really had an offense then. This time around we are ready."

The Bears limited the Patriots to only 27 net yards rushing and 179 passing, with 90 coming on Eason's pass to James.

That touchdown and one play from the 49-yard-line in the second quarter were the only times the Patriots were in Bears' territory.

"That game will have no effect on this game," Bears tackle Keith Van Horne said. "This is entirely another game."

Linebacker Otis Wilson echoed that sentiment. "That game is over," he said. "They're playing better and we're playing better."

Chicago linebacker Wilber Marshall said the Bears will have "no advantage" from having won earlier. "They got better, we got better. It will be a good game," he said.

Fellow linebacker Mike Singletary called it "unfair to look back and compare the first game. They had people hurt and an inexperienced quarterback. Their offensive line has gained a lot of experience since then."

Howard Payne hires ex-Odessa football coach

BROWNWOOD, Texas (AP) — Howard Payne University officials on Thursday named former Odessa High School coach Jerry Millsapps as new head football coach and athletic director.

Millsapps, 52, succeeds Bill Hicks, who resigned to accept a coaching position at the University of Texas at Austin.

The Lamesa native is a 1966 Howard Payne graduate. Millsapps started for three years on the Yellow Jacket football squad and also was offensive coordinate at Howard Payne from 1964 to 1967.

Millsapps' coaching record for seven seasons at Odessa High School was 39-29-2. He also coached 11 seasons at Pecos and served as an assistant coach at Lampasas and San Angelo.

Howard Payne is a member of the Lone Star Conference.

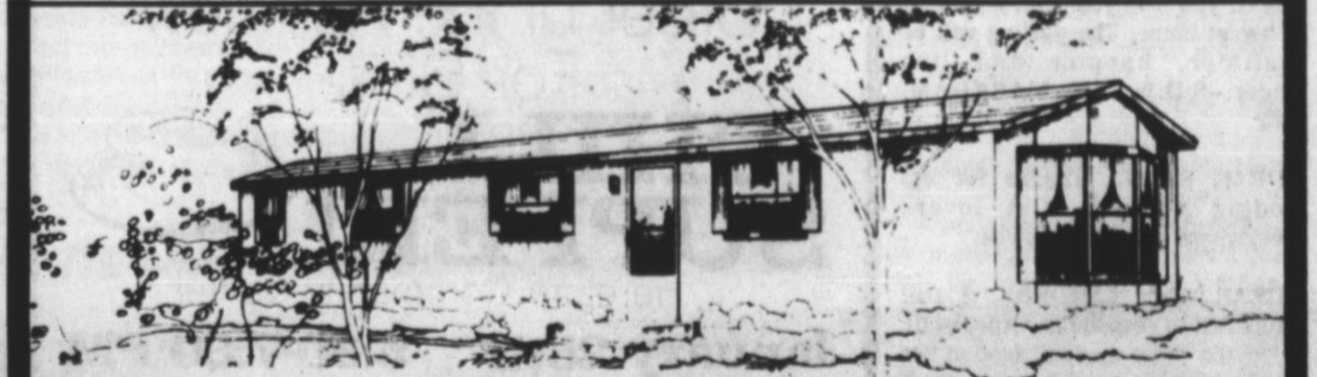

Maxie Rosenbloom, who once held the world light-heavyweight title, had 289 professional fights before becoming a comedian in Hollywood movies.

Rockets win 22nd of 23 home games

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer
HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Rockets veteran Robert Reid remembers the old days when teams came into The Summit expecting victory.

How times have changed. With two starters out of the game, Rodney McCray hobbled and Ralph Sampson ejected, Reid came off the bench Thursday night to score a game high 23 points and lead the Rockets to a 124-107 National Basketball Association victory.

"In the old days, teams would say, 'chalk up a victory, we're going to Houston.' Now we say, 'thank you for showing up, the victory will be ours.'"

It was Houston's 22nd home victory in 23 games this season.

"When teams come in here now, it starts with the skycaps at the airport telling them how the Rockets are going to whip them," Reid said.

The Rockets' home mystique swallowed the Kings in the runaway fourth quarter, although Sampson had been ejected following back to back technical fouls, and McCray played only two minutes, recuperating from a leg bruise.

The Rockets bench got credit for the victory.

"They are not winning at home just because they have five players out there," Kings Otis Thorpe said. "Their bench really helped them tonight."

Thorpe received a technical foul for scuffling with Sampson in the third quarter and moments later Sampson fouled Thorpe and was ejected for his vocal complaints.

"He grabbed me in a head lock when I came down for a rebound and I pushed him off," Thorpe said of the initial confrontation.

"His hand got under my arm and that was it," Sampson said. "I haven't landed a punch yet."

LaSalle Thompson led the Kings with 22 points and Eddie Johnson added 21, including 13 in the second half. Reggie Theus and Mike Woodson each scored 18 points.

"The last few games, their bench has played very well so this has been nothing unusual," Theus said. "Everything went sour for us. They are an explosive team and they got hot. Then we missed quite a few shots and that was the game."

Thompson said the wrong Twin Tower was ejected.

"I would have been happier to see Akeem go out," Thompson said. "He consistently hurts us more than Ralph."

Reid hit 11 of 17 baskets, got 10 rebounds, a team high, and two steals.

"We wanted to show that we could still play even with Rodney out," Reid said. "They knew to look for me on the break and my shots were just falling."

In other NBA games, it was Washington 114, Phoenix 112; New Jersey 106, Utah 105; and Portland 117, Seattle 107 in double overtime.

Trail Blazers 117, Sonics 107
Guard Steve Colter salvaged a tie after the first overtime, then scored six more points in the second extra session to lift Portland over Seattle.

The Sonics, losers of six straight, led by two points with only seconds remaining in both regulation and the first overtime period. Layups with four seconds left by Terry Porter and by Colter with seven seconds remaining tied the score at 91-91 and 103-103, respectively.

Kiki Vandeweghe scored 31 points, Mychal Thompson 24 and Clyde Drexler 22 for the Trail Blazers. Jack Sikma had 26 points and 19 rebounds for Seattle, and Al Wood added 24 points.

Nets 106, Jazz 105

New Jersey took a 106-102 lead on Otis Birdsong's basket with a minute remaining, then held on to win when sharpshooter Adrian Dantley missed a free throw for Utah with four seconds left.

A basket by Dantley, who scored 36 points, cut the Nets' lead to 106-104 before he was fouled by Darryl Dawkins, giving the Jazz a chance to tie. Dantley, an 82 percent free-throw shooter, made the first shot and missed the second.

Birdsong and Albert King led the Nets in scoring with 19 points each, while Karl Malone added 18 for Utah. Bullets 114, Suns 112

Jeff Malone scored 31 points and Leon Wood collected 12 of his 21 in the fourth quarter as Washington handed Phoenix its fourth straight loss.

Walter Davis' three-point play had given the Suns their last lead late in the game. After the Bullets wasted three scoring opportunities in the final 30 seconds, Dan Roundfield was credited with the winning points when Phoenix forward Ed Pinckney was called for goal-tending.

Jay Humphries scored 24 points and Larry Nance 21 to lead the Suns. Manute Bol, Washington's 7-foot-6 center, had 12 points, 12 rebounds and nine blocked shots.

By The Associated Press
COLLEGE BASKETBALL

HOUSTON (AP) — Former Houston Rockets star Elvin Hayes said Thursday he has withdrawn his name from consideration as head basketball coach at the University of Houston.

Hayes, a former UH All-American who is now an assistant to Athletic Director Tom Ford, will be on the selection committee to find a replacement for Guy V. Lewis, who plans to retire at the end of the season.

Lewis is in his 30th season and has compiled a 587-272 record.

"Being a head coach in a high profile program like the University of Houston almost demands you have bench experience," Hayes said.

"As a player I had control of things in games. As a player with more than 20 years of experience I can demonstrate and teach the game. But I haven't had the bench experience that is required in such an important position," he said.

Hayes said he would like the opportunity to work as an assistant to the new coach.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Facilities for the 1988 Summer Olympics will be ready by the end of April, 2½ years in advance, an official of Seoul organizing committee says.

Seoul's Olympic facilities, including the 100,000-seat main stadium and 12 other newly constructed competition sites, will get a preview when the Asian Games are held in South Korea this September, with approximately 5,000 athletes from some 30 nations expected.

'Refrigerator' Perry draws crowds at restaurants

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — They were destined to meet eventually, with or without benefit of the Super Bowl. Refrigerator Perry, 308 pounds worth of football player, and New Orleans, famed for fine cuisine, were just meant for each other.

If this were a movie instead of a football game, it would be "The Fridge Eats New Orleans."

So, OK, Fridge, what'll it be? How about some blackened redfish or the trout almonde at Antoine's? Why not try the shrimp remoulade at Arnaud's, or the barbecued shrimp at Pascal's Manale? Or maybe just some old fashioned red beans and rice?

"Mostly, I like the oysters down here," Perry said.

Ah, oysters. Good choice. Brennan's, famous for its traditional New Orleans breakfasts, offers Oysters 2-2-2, a combination platter of the delicacy prepared three different ways — bienville, with a light cheese topping; Rockefeller, including spinach and pernod, and roffignac, dressed with mushrooms, ham and red wine.

"I like 'em raw," Perry said. "Raw? Fine, Mr. Refrigerator. And how many would you like?"

"I start with a dozen," the Fridge said, "and then I see how it goes."

"It was more like four dozen the other night," noted defensive end Tyrone Keys, who sampled the town's cuisine with Perry when the Bears arrived Monday. Their dining tour took so long that the Fridge was late for an appearance on ABC's Nightline.

The next night, Perry went out to eat with his roommate, cornerback Leslie Frazier. "I had more oysters," Perry said. "About a dozen."

"Yeah, that's about right," Frazier confirmed. "We went into an oyster bar on Bourbon Street. They recognized him right away. Me, I don't worry about attracting attention. But it's tougher for him."

"I feel for him. The other night on Bourbon Street he was mobbed trying to get a portrait of his wife. I couldn't see him after a while." "He's like a piper," Keys said. "It looks like one of Martin Luther King's marches when he walks down the street."

The Seattle Seahawks led the National Football League in interceptions with 38 in 1984 and returned seven of them for touchdowns.

The National Basketball Association set an attendance record in the 1984-85 season with 10,506,355 fans passing through the turnstiles.

When Perry arrived to dine, the French Quarter's Fridge Alarm went off. Frazier said the restaurant owner dutifully kept gawking onlookers away and let the big guy do his thing.

"Waitresses recognize him and take care of him," Frazier said. "If they take care of him while he's eating, he takes care of them when he's finished."

"They should go to the Waitress Hall of Fame," Keys noted.

For his third night in town, the Fridge switched menus, going for shrimp. "A healthy portion," was Frazier's assessment.

What happened to the oysters? "You've got to taste about everything," Perry observed.

His palate's examination of this city's cuisine will conclude Saturday night. "I don't eat at all the day of a game," he said.

And after the game? "It depends on how hard I played."

The Refrigerator is not concerned that all of this gourmet dining will damage his weight control program. He has trimmed down from an imposing 350 pounds in training camp to his current, more manageable dimensions.

"They got nothing down here but seafood," he said. "That's not fattening, really."

"Too much is made of my weight. If you're too big, you can't move. When people see me play, they say, 'He plays like he's 250.'"

Still, the Refrigerator has heeded Bear demands that he trim down. "It's not what you eat, it's how much," he said. "Me and Tyrone work out in a spa, and that helped me lose weight. It just started coming off. I had to lose it. I just took my time."

"Money talks," Keys said. "He had a weight clause in his contract. I told him, 'Don't blow it.' He's disciplined now."

"Next year I want to get down to 290-295 and see how it goes," Perry said.

Keys had a better idea. "We're gonna get him down to 285 and make him a wide receiver." Very wide.

Terrell, Gililand serve as hostesses

Members of La Afflatus Estudio Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Jennie B. Terrell with Eva Gililand serving as co-hostess.

President Lucille Hughes conducted a short business meeting and reminded the nominating committee, Alberta Higgins, Emily Suggs and Teresa Hale, to be ready to report March 4.

Aileen Montgomery chose as her program topic, the new book "Texas." She took the program from an excerpt from the book that was published in the Dallas News.

The speaker traced a family member of a feuding clan from Scotland to Ireland and back to the United States and finally to Texas.

She told of some of the humorous things that happened on this journey, also some tragic happenings. The traveler named Finley had some how arrived in Cincinnati and heard the name Texas spoken. He said, "Texas, where's that?" The reply, "Surely you've heard of Texas? It's the garden spot of the continent."

Montgomery explained that the man and his son finally reached Texas and established a home.

The club will meet Feb. 4 at 5:12

Willow Lane with Lucille Hughes and Montgomery serving as hostesses. Emily Suggs will present the program.

Others attending were Bea Hutson, Pet Ott, Lola Jewell, Lydia Hopson, Virginia Beasley, Allyne Johnson, Martha Sue Noel, Louise Kinsey and Della Stagner.

At rock 'n' roll awards

Lot of shakin' goin' on

NEW YORK (AP) — A whole lot of shaking was going on in the usually more sedate art deco ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria as the world of rock music inducted its pioneers into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame.

"Dy-no-mite," responded Chuck Berry, 59, who slid across the stage on his knees to the tune of his "Roll Over Beethoven" before the Rolling Stones' Keith Richards presented him with one of 15 such awards Thursday night.

Berry, Elvis Presley, Jerry Lee Lewis, James Brown, Fats Domino, Ray Charles, Sam Cooke and Buddy Holly were among those honored as a crowd of 1,000 clapped and howled delightedly with the sounds of rock punctuating the black-tie dinner.

ever played. He's the gentleman that started it all, as far as I'm concerned," Richards said of Berry.

The balconies were festooned with giant photos of the music idols and the stage was decorated with old-style Wurlitzer jukeboxes lighted in tuffi-fruit colors. A giant video screen was suspended above the stage to show film clips of the stars' great musical moments.

Domino, whose 23 gold singles included the 1960 million-seller, "Walkin' in New Orleans," got his award from singer Billy Joel.

"We Are The World" producer Quincy Jones presented another to Charles, and trumpeter Herb Albert posthumously honored Cooke, who sang "You Send Me," "Cupid" and "Twist the Night Away."

Julian and Sean Lennon, sons of the late Beatle John Lennon, presented a posthumous award for Presley, which was accepted on behalf of his daughter, Lisa Marie Presley.

Little Richard, who was recuperating from a car accident, sent his thanks via videotape. The presenter of his award, singer Roberta Flack, noted that all of the recipients were men, saying, "Maybe next year will be the year of the women." The Everly Brothers also were among those honored.

Three of rock's "forefathers," Mississippi delta blues singer Robert Johnson, country and western singer Jimmie Rodgers and blues pianist Jimmy Yancey were also inducted.

Two non-performers who played key roles in the birth of rock 'n' roll joined the list: Sun Records founder Sam Phillips and the late broadcaster Alan Freed. Producer and talent scout John Hammond received a special lifetime achievement award.

The Hall of Fame, conceived by Atlantic Records Chairman Ahmet Ertegun, has yet to find a permanent home. Cities under consideration include Chicago, Cleveland, Memphis, New Orleans, Philadelphia, New York and San Francisco.

Plans call for an annual ceremony with the Hall of Fame foundation's board nominating artists and winnowing the choices to 10 each year.

To be inducted, a performer must have been actively involved in music for at least 25 years.

The Newspaper BIBLE

WHAT IF YOU DROPPED DEAD WHEN YOU LIED?

There was a certain man named Ananias (with his wife Sapphira) who sold some property, and brought only part of the money, claiming it was the full price. (His wife had agreed to this deception). But Peter said, "Ananias, Satan has filled your heart. When you claimed this was the full price, you were lying to the Holy Spirit. The property was yours to sell or not, as you wished. And after selling it, it was yours to decide how much to give. How could you do a thing like this? You weren't lying to us, but to God."

As soon as Ananias heard these words he fell to the floor, dead! Everyone was terrified, and the younger men covered him with a sheet and took him out and buried him.

About three hours later his wife came in, not knowing what had happened. Peter asked her, "Did you sell your land for such and such a price?" "Yes," she replied, "we did." And Peter said, "How could you and your husband even think of doing a thing like this—conspiring together to test the Spirit of God's ability to know what is going on? Just outside that door are the young men who buried your husband, and they will carry you out too."

Instantly she fell to the floor, dead, and the young men came in and, seeing that she was dead, carried her out and buried her beside her husband. Terror gripped the entire church and all others who heard what had happened.

Woman finds fulfillment raising abandoned baby

DALLAS (AP) — Sally McKenzie never expected the heartache and the happiness, the trials and the triumphs.

At first, it was just a routine babysitting job.

Three years ago, a young woman came to Ms. McKenzie with a newborn in her arms. The woman said the baby's name was Joey.

"She asked me to watch him while she worked for a grooming salon," McKenzie says.

What was supposed to be a part-time job turned into a lifetime of devotion when Joey's mother abandoned him with Ms. McKenzie.

"When she brought him to me, he had an empty bottle, one diaper and no shirt," Ms. McKenzie says. "She was paying me good, though. Never skipped out on a payment until she left for good."

Ms. McKenzie says she is glad Joey's mother left him with her.

"At that time, I really needed him, like he needed me," she says. Ms. McKenzie, 37, says she was just getting through a rough divorce from her third husband. "I just transferred all my love to him."

She says she eventually would have adopted Joey, but one thing gave the legal proceeding a special urgency.

Joey had a heart defect that required an immediate operation ... generally, something only a legal guardian could approve.

A hole in the heart's wall and a blocked ventricle made Joey's chances of survival slim, doctors at Children's Medical Center in Dallas told Ms. McKenzie.

"He couldn't suck a bottle like a normal baby," Ms. McKenzie says. "You had to keep talking the bottle away, he would gasp for breath."

Ms. McKenzie, single with three children of her own and not a lot of money in the bank, started a campaign to adopt Joey.

"I couldn't afford to hire an attorney to help me get the adoption, so I printed up some fliers and asked people to raise money for the adoption and surgery," she says.

With the help of friend

Keith Barber, she went to bars and clubs with a pickle jar to collect money, she was able to raise $900 — enough to pay the legal fees to adopt the then 20-week-old boy.

"I'm going to tell him, 'Your momma may have left you, but here's a hundred and more people that did love and care for you,'" Ms. McKenzie says. "Maybe he'll appreciate life a little more."

After she adopted Joey, the state helped pay for his operation.

A heart specialist used a patch of dacron to repair the hole, and removed some tissue to clear the ventricle obstruction. Unfortunately, during the procedure, the heartbeat was interrupted. A pacemaker was implanted and will have to be checked periodically, doctors and Children's Medical Center say. "I think it's remarkable what Sally McKenzie did," said a doctor who asked not to be named. "She's a loving woman. Knowing he had a heart disease, she still took him in."

Joey has made several trips to the emergency room, once recently because of an allergic reaction. Ms. McKenzie admits, "If mom wasn't so overprotective, he wouldn't be going so often."

Despite the unusual circumstances of his adoption, and the heart condition that will follow him the rest of his life, Ms. McKenzie is determined to give Joey a normal life.

"He'll have a typical home life, except he doesn't have a daddy," she says. "If I find the right guy, I'll get him a daddy."

For bus driver

Bilingual students interpret

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Driving a school bus isn't always a one-man job. At least that's the case for bus driver David Cuthbert, who this year tapped four elementary school students to help him get through his daily routes.

This isn't just a case of part-time helpers; the students are also part-time linguists.

That's one of the major roles they play for Cuthbert, who needs the bilingual assistance when he transports students to Brandenburg Elementary School in North Irving. Of the school's 635 students, about 165 speak Spanish, and Cuthbert said he needs help understanding the questions and demands of his passengers.

The four students who lend that assistance are Hispanics who came to the United States from Mexico and El Salvador. And while they have not been here long, they speak English and Spanish well enough to help keep a busload of Spanish-speaking students in line.

"My job is to quiet all the children," said Eida Cardona, a 10-year-old fourth grader who came to Irving from Mexico City four years ago. "I say, 'Quiet down,' and I don't let them stand up."

Miss Cardona and the other three bus captains were cited recently for their leadership and contributions. Brandenburg's principal, Janice Summers, awarded them citations for their work, but she said the idea originated with the bus driver, not the school.

"He initiated it on his own," she said. "He wanted to give them money at first, but we weren't going to allow that. So we settled on the presentations. If it makes the students happy and the bus more quiet, I'm all for it."

Cuthbert said the students deserved the recognition.

"I don't have eyes behind my head, and I don't speak Spanish," he said. "I need these kids because of the safety factor. They make my job a whole lot easier — and safer."

The bus captains said they enjoy the work, and it's not much of a strain.

"I just put their names down," if the students are noisy, said Roy Cruz, an 8-year-old in the second grade.

Arquimedes Lizama, 12, is a fifth grader who intends to be a bus captain next year, too. "I seat the children, mostly," he said. "And they listen to me."

The biggest of the bunch, Domingo Sarabia, guards the back door. He makes certain no one opens the emergency exit, unless it is an emergency. So far, the 14-year-old fifth grader, who left El Salvador just three years ago, hasn't yet been called into duty.

But like the other three captains, he said he's ready for action.

"I like to help," he said.

Landlord convicted of threatening tenants

CLARKSVILLE, Texas (AP) — An apartment landlord has been convicted of making terroristic threats by having rat snakes released in his building to frighten off tenants.

A jury of four men and two women took 45 minutes Thursday to convict Jerry Redfeard of Whitehouse, Texas.

The jury then took 15 minutes to decide on a six-month suspended sentence and a $1,000 fine. Redfeard could have been sentenced to as much as a year in jail and a $2,000 fine. His attorney said the case will be appealed.

Henry Washington, one of the building's former tenants, testified Redfeard and two other men brought a large black box into the building Nov. 2, saying that they were going to release rat snakes.

Washington said that later one of the men told him: "If I happened to hear anything in the walls, it would be the snakes they put in to get rid of the rats and snakes."
