WHAT A LOVELY SNOW! — It's just too bad it didn't last longer. The light snow and sudden cold front that swooped over Hereford Sunday evening didn't seem to dampen the spirits of local residents, but rather lifted them. People seemed anxious to get into the moisture, as is evidenced by the number of cars on Main Street. It seems that summer weather is fine — in July — but a bit more moisture is hoped for this winter. (Hereford Brand Photo)

Airport Lease Approved

Annual Budget Is Higher For City

The 1967-68 budget for the City of Hereford, passed Monday night by city commissioners, calls for $969,730 to be handled in revenues and disbursements. Unanimously approved by commissioners, the budget includes disbursements which will be divided into nine categories. They include administrative, $56,739; fire department, $22,174; health department, $85,574; park department, $62,635; police department, $119,898; street department, $96,096; water and sewer, $285,580; airport, $15,299; and payments on principal and interest requirements tax bonds for the past 20 years, $117,970. There will be an operating reserve of $107,765.

A full staff, not raises in pay. He also pointed out that approximately $1,800 — the amount paid for prisoner's meals last year — will be saved this year because the county has taken over feeding in return for the city's monitoring for the county in the early morning hours. Biggest revenue coming in for the city during the year will be about $372,396 in current taxes — almost $20,000 more than last year. Bayne stressed that the additional money was not due to a raise in taxes but will be from new residents to the city. There has been no increase in taxes.

A total of $252,000 is expected to be raised from water revenue. Total revenues in 1966-67 was estimated at $858,567, and will be $863,396 this year. The budget shows that the 75 See ANNUAL Page 2

Group Effort Is Chosen By City

In a two-hour session Monday night at City Hall, Hereford City Commissioners took action on several items, including: approval of an annexation and zoning petition on Charlie Seeds industrial property on Progressive Road. accepting the low bid on four new traffic lights. granting a request by Santa Fe Railroad for an additional crossing to serve new industry on Progressive Road. giving notice of the upcoming city election. accepting of a proposal from a local corporation to take over lease operation of the Hereford Municipal Airport. approving the 1967-68 city budget.

The commissioners, after talking at length with Charles Frye, Houston Frye and Pat Thompson about the airport, voted to accept the men's proposal to take over its operation. H. H. Frye, who also is a member of the corporation, could not attend the meeting. Olin Parris, who recently resigned as airport operator, also presented a proposal in behalf of the Whiteface Aviation Company, of which he is president. A request by Zack Miller was withdrawn before the meeting.

Attending Monday night's meeting of the Hereford City Commission were all of the candidates for the two seats up for election. Edwin Schroeter will oppose D. C. Kinsey for Place 1 in the April 4 election and Benny Womble will be trying to unseat incumbent Dick Barnard for Place 2. Mayor Ray Cowser is unopposed.

Commissioners were told that Thompson plans to work at the airport full-time. In answer to a question by Mayor Ray Cowser, Charles Frye said members of the corporation all had agreed it would take time to establish themselves and build up a business so they were thinking of a five-year contract.

Rubinoff Sponsored By Local Rotarians

Appearing at the High School auditorium Tuesday evening, March 28 will be "Rubinoff and his Violin," a famed violinist. With the program beginning at 8:15 p. m., Rubinoff will play a series of numbers designed to please all. With a varied assortment of popular concert pieces, he includes musical themes from some television commercials and square dance and fiddle music.

Owner of a highly rare and valuable Romanoff-Stradivarius Violin which is insured for $10,000, Rubinoff uses this violin during his performances. Sensitive to heat, humidity, altitude and such risks that beset any treasure of such vast value, the violin is guarded and handled with deference and extreme care at all times.

The instrument still retains the original varnish which it was given in 1731, when it was made by the master of violin makers. This Stradivarius violin once belonged to the Romanoffs and still bears the bejeweled crest of that family.

Tickets for the Rubinoff performance may be purchased from any Rotarian or at the door. Prices for tickets are $2 per adult and $1 for elementary through high school student.

Proceeds will be used by Rotarians in their service projects. Chief project this year is the erection of a new Camp Fire Hut.

Little Damage Found In School

Vandals entered Stanton Junior High sometime Monday night or early Tuesday, but caused little damage and apparently took nothing.

Investigating officers said the vandals entered the school through a west door which had been locked but was not closed enough for the lock to work.

Desk drawers and cabinets in offices of the principal and assistant principal were searched and material strewn over the floors. Desk drawers had been searched in the other classroom also, school officials told police.

A glass was broken in the door to the administrative offices and there was damage to the filing cabinets when they were pried open. The incident was reported shortly before 7:30 a. m. Tuesday. School principal W. C. Quattlebaum said he could find nothing missing.

Couple Arrested South Of Town

A Hereford couple was released under $1,000 bond each on Monday morning after being arraigned in Deaf Smith County Court on four charges filed by Highway Patrolmen.

Henry Earl Vaughan and his wife, Rhoda Mae Vaughan, both 45, were each charged with aggravated assault on an officer. Vaughan also was charged with driving while intoxicated and Mrs. Vaughan with being drunk. Highway Patrolmen Robert Sanders and Ronnie Rainey said they stopped the vehicle about 4 miles south of Hereford on U. S. 385 at 4:35 p. m. Saturday to make a driver's license check. The car was going south. Vaughan, driver of the car, and Mrs. Vaughan were arrested for being drunk. After being told she was going to jail, Mrs. Vaughan allegedly began kicking, biting, pinching, scratching and cursing the officers.

After struggling with the woman some 35 minutes, assistance was summoned from the sheriff's office and the pair placed in Deaf Smith County Jail. During the struggle, Sanders stated, Vaughan had shoved him away from the patrol car several times in an effort to help his wife.

The charges of aggravated assault and the DWI charge against Vaughan were taken to county court to be heard by Judge H. C. Williams. Mrs. Vaughan pleaded not guilty in Justice of the Peace Court to the charge of being drunk. Trial date in county court will be April 18 and no date has been set on the other charge in JP court.

Museum Opening Set

Long awaited opening of the Deaf Smith County Museum has been set for Sunday March 12. Beginning with a dedication ceremony at 2:30, the open house will continue until 5:00 p. m.

Special out-of-town speaker for the occasion is Charles Woodburn, president of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee. Also presenting short speeches during the program will be C. Palmer Norton, president of the Deaf Smith County Historical Society and County Judge H. C. (Hank) Williams.

Gene Fooks, pastor of the Central Church of Christ, will act as master of ceremonies. Providing entertainment for the dedication will be several students from the high school choir, singing old-time songs under the direction of Dick Jackson, high school choir director and a string band headed by Woody McDermitt. McDermitt's group will play old-time waltzes, etc.

The opening dedication is planned as an outdoor affair to be held in front of the museum, weather permitting. Fooks, who is coordinating the dedication service says the speakers' platform will be an old wagon.

Following the ceremonial ribbon cutting, which is to be performed by Mayor Ray Cowser, guests may tour the museum. Members of the Junior Historical Society will be available as guides, Fooks stated.

Members of the Historical Society will meet tonight at 7:30. Three board members will be named and the museum will be viewed by members.

Center To Be Discussed Here

Visits here this weekend of two executives from the Institute for Achievement of Human Potential at San Antonio, is expected to add impetus to local plans for establishing a patterning therapy center which would be associated with the IAHP headquarters in Philadelphia.

Guy Parrish, director of the San Antonio center and Courtney Atkins, acting director of local plans, are due to arrive in Hereford today to confer with interested persons and work out final details of the plans for an area center to treat brain-damaged children.

Mrs. Jack Brown, spokesman for Hereford residents who have launched the program here, said they expect plans to be completed in the conferences.

The patterning program for 17 local children has been in progress since last summer; First Methodist Church gave the use of a room for treatments.

The program is based on a theory that work with brain-damaged children should center on the injured brain, not the part of the body affected by the injury, and be aimed at re-training uninjured parts of the brain to take over functions of the damaged parts.

Believing that a center will be established somewhere in this area, where there are about 70 children who might receive therapy, the Hereford group started plans for having it located here. Contributions are being received and accounts have been set up at both banks.

Whitefaces Cop Track Honors

The Hereford Whiteface track team scored 77 points to take second place in the Brownfield Invitational Saturday, but cold weather has slowed down the team in practice this week.

Coach Joe Brooks said times "improved almost without exception" in the Brownfield meet over the previous week. "We smoothed out some rough spots, but bad weather this week hasn't helped." The team will compete in the Denver City meet Saturday.

"We'll probably take about 25," said Brooks, "depending on how they come along."

In the Brownfield meet, Hereford placed in several events to finish behind Döfbar, which got 162 points to walk away with first place.

Geraniums Are Flower For City

Hereford residents are being asked to plant geraniums this year to beautify the city. Members of the beautification committee of the Chamber of Commerce named the geranium as the flower of the year at their first meeting held Tuesday at the Country Club.

Petunias were planted city-wide last summer, but the committee agreed that since the petunias developed a disease that they should not be carried over for this year. Nurserymen are being asked to buy large supplies of geraniums. Variety is not specified.

The Chamber board approved committee action early Wednesday. Mrs. Milton Adams, committee chairman, named Mrs. W. C. Hromas as chairman of the beauty spot of the month. Mrs. Hromas will select several committee members from the city and will direct the work of the committee. The secret committee is being asked to name residential and commercial beauty spots each month from April through October.

The plan was initiated last year and last year's chairman, Mrs. Tom Carter, was commended by the committee for her outstanding work in organizing the project.

The committee passed a resolution congratulating the city of Hereford for condemnation proceedings that were carried out during the year. Several buildings that were declared unsafe were either moved or torn down.

The committee agreed to cooperate with the Hereford Brand in their annual spring paint-up fix-up campaign. The project will be held early in April. See GERANIUMS Page 2

WRECK AFTERMATH — A rest bench at the intersection of Third and Main was scattered in all directions Sunday afternoon when a 74-year-old Hereford man backed his car into the downtown structure. An estimated $500 damage to the bench resulted from the collision, which occurred just after the man had struck a car stopped at a red light. (Hereford Brand Photo)

VISTA Sponsors Tutoring Program

A pilot project in which many Spanish-speaking children of elementary school age will receive tutoring from Hereford residents was kicked off Sunday with a meeting in the Casa de Amigos at the Labor Camp.

Organized by VISTA (Volunteers In Service To America) worker, Martin Winch, the program presently has about 25 persons — mostly high school students — enrolled to tutor students from St. Joseph's School in the Labor Camp.

Sixteen of the tutors were present for Sunday's briefing.

Winch explained that the need for tutorial assistance "results primarily from two conditions. One, these children are far below grade level in English comprehension and usage, and two, they generally receive inadequate encouragement and cultural nourishment at home, which in turn impairs studying at home and attendance at school."

"Tutoring assistance is needed in all elementary subjects," Winch continued. "It is not important to help the child get A's on his homework, but to make him realize he is wanted as an individual. It's going to be like playing with a little brother rather than 'being a teacher.'"

At the time of Sunday's meeting, some 14 students have been selected from grades 4 through 6 in St. Joseph's School to receive the tutoring. Plans call for the tutors to meet the students, become friends and then visit in the student's home to solicit the cooperation of his parents.

Winch explained that all of the children live in crowded circumstances. "Roughly two-thirds of the pilot group live within Hereford and the remainder live in the Labor Camp in private homes and the barracks. In virtually every case, the tutor will want to take the pupil outside the child's home."

The tutoring will take place in the afternoons after school, and will require from three to four hours a week, Winch continued. He stressed again that "the interest of the tutor in the individual child's studies is far more important than the number of right answers the tutor can prompt from the pupil. The big thing is to become someone he can call his buddy."

During the meeting Sunday, Winch and fellow VISTA worker Pris Choate described some of the children who will be participating in the program and what the tutors could expect from them. The tutors in turn asked questions about the student's homes, the best approach to creating a good relationship and what to expect from the student's parents. As practice, those present pretended to be the students, parents or tutors and reacted as they thought those persons would. More questions and answers flew during the play acting.

Winch said it is hoped the tutors will elect officers from among themselves to coordinate the program, to keep attendance and to maintain contact with VISTA workers and other concerned parties. Awards for service will be given according to the number of hours volunteered to the program.

Those attending the meeting Sunday were Levenie Benefield, Linda Brooks, Johnny Clark, Trisha Hale, Renette Hubble, Ruth Koelzer, Cindy Cavness, Martha Kate Alkin, Mrs. Jack Allen, Leigh Ann Allen, Mrs. Nickie Dameron, Carole Clearman, Sharon Garrison, Debbie Walden, Mrs. Michael Moore and Betty Barrett.

Winch said Robert Thompson, counselor at Hereford High School, had assisted in recruiting tutors and will help with any problems which arise.

Deputy Change Told By Sheriff

Johnny Fields, well-known Hereford man and a member of the Amarillo Police Department for 3 1/2 years, has joined the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department as deputy.

Fields, 33, replaces Tommy Simon, who left the department Tuesday to become a member of the Department of Public Safety. Simon had been a deputy since June, 1966.

Pete Cole, chief deputy and a member of the department since 1962, also left March 1 to become associated with Hedrick Dodge. Cole had been with the Hereford Police Department two years before becoming a sheriff's deputy.

Born in Lubbock, Fields grew up in Hereford and attended schools here. He helped his father farm before attending the Police Academy in Amarillo. He also received firearms training by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Fields and his wife, Linda, have a son, Brent 3, and a daughter, Kyla, 1. County Sheriff Ed Roberson said he felt Fields will be a definite asset to the department. "He grew up here and is not wading in on unfamiliar grounds."

Roberson said another deputy probably will be added, but he has no prospects in mind and will take his time and get a good man.

District Confab Features Prexy

John B. Miller, president of Toastmasters International, will give the keynote address at the Dist. 44 Toastmaster Convention in Amarillo Friday and Saturday. Miller is from Nevada, Iowa.

Miller, an attorney will speak at a luncheon that is open to the public at 11:30 a. m. At the Holiday Inn West, convention headquarters.

Other events include a district speech contest, which will follow a 7 p. m. dinner Saturday. Contestants, chosen from each of six areas in the district, will speak on a serious subject. The winner will compete later in a regional contest.

Stan Knox, president of Hereford Toastmasters, said that several members from Hereford plan to attend.

Hereford Man's Mother Buried

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday at Amherst for Mrs. W. E. Bennett, 78, mother of Harry Bennett of Hereford. She and her husband had lived at Amherst since 1925.

Burial was in Littlefield Memorial Park after services in First Baptist Church at Amherst. Mrs. Bennett is survived by her husband, two daughters, two sons and four brothers.

The old railroad relic that is north of Highway 60 east of town was the object of much discussion. The committee is requesting county commissioners to start condemnation proceedings so that the owners will be forced to move or tear down the old building.

This action was taken after the committee was brought up to date on previous efforts to get the property cleared. The structure is owned by out of town people and actually is now in an estate. Contact with the people has failed to bring results, so the committee agreed that legal action is necessary. The committee agreed to ask garden clubs in the city to be responsible for decorating at the annual Chamber banquet. In the past, the clubs have worked with the banquet on a rotating basis — one club taking the project each year. This last year, the decorations were done by a floral shop, but the Chamber expressed a desire for the clubs to do the work because more local citizens have a part in the banquet.

Hereford Garden Club will be asked to decorate for 1968. Mrs. Ray Johnson, a beautification committee member is also president of Hereford Garden Club and she said she felt that her club would be happy to accept the project.

Garden Beautiful will have the project for 1969 and Bud to Blossom will decorate the 1970 banquet.

Mrs. Bruce Brown, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Billie Ott were named as a committee to work on ideas to help solve the litter problem in the city.

Those attending the meeting were Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Carter, Mrs. Ott, Mrs. Hromas, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Debs Knox, Mrs. Jack Renfro and Ray Seale, committee members; Bill Thompson chamber manager and Melvin Young, chamber director.

proposal from Santa Fe Railroad to put another spur crossing in the industrial area on Progressive Road. The commission had granted a similar request in their last meeting, but Monday's request stated that Swift and Co., which is moving into the area, has asked that it have a separate track.

Kelley Electric of Hereford presented the low bid for four street lights, to be placed at the intersection of Miles and Second. The company bid $1,226.92 material only.

Other bidders were the Signal Engineering Co. of Houston, $1,310.16 and Owens and Hollingsworth of Hereford, $1,400. The lights will be set up soon.

The city election was officially set for April 4, with voting to be done in City Hall from 8 a. m. until 7 p. m. Absentee votes will be taken in City Hall for 10 days before the election.

N. D. Bartlett Jr. appeared before commissioners to ask what they would do if he submitted a plat of the Stark Addition approximately 800 feet by 150 feet. Bartlett explained that he doesn't want the property in the city if it isn't platted.

Bartlett was old by commissioners that they couldn't give tentative approval to the request because it would have to go before the zoning commission for action and the April 4 city election could seat new men in office who may feel differently. Bartlett was told to work out his plans and submit them officially.

A request by the Hewitt Brothers, operators of the skating rink in west Hereford along U. S. 60, to repeal a city ordinance forbidding public dancing on Sundays was put aside by commissioners because no one was at the meeting to present the request. The ordinance is about six years old.

Revival Planned At First Baptist

Dr. James H. Landes, pastor of First Baptist Church, Birmingham, Alabama will be evangelist for a revival at First Baptist Church, Hereford March 12-19.

Dr. Landes, born in Arkansas, has served as president of Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene and has pastored First Baptist Church in Wichita Falls, being named to Who's Who in America in 1963.

Singer for the revival will be Dwight Martin, music and education director of College Heights Baptist Church, Plainview.

Day services will be at 10:00 a. m. and the evening services will be at 7:30 p. m. The public is invited and a nursery will be provided for all services.

Accident Causes Heavy Damage

A two-car accident which also resulted in the destruction of a rest bench at the intersection of Third and Main Sunday afternoon caused an estimated $1,500.

W. Reed Williams, 74, of 507 N. Lawton, was charged with driving while intoxicated after being arrested at the scene. He was released under $500 bond after being arraigned in Deaf Smith County Court Monday morning. Trial date has been set for April 18.

Officers said eyewitnesses told them that a car driven by Jose Pablo Leal, 24, of 311 E. 4th, was stopped for a red light on the northwest corner of the intersection. Just as the light changed favoring Leal, the car driven by Williams allegedly ran the light, made a wide right turn and hit the left front of Leal's auto with the left front of his (Williams) car.

Williams, officers explained, then put his car in reverse and backed across the street and into the rest bench on the southeast corner of the intersection.

Damage to the rest bench was estimated at $500, while Leal's auto received $300 damages and Williams' car $700 damage. Williams received treatment at Deaf Smith County Hospital

TUTORS LISTEN — Several Hereford residents, most of them high school students, will be participating in a tutoring program in which they assist Spanish-speaking children of elementary school age in their studies. The group held its

Silver Date Honored

A surprise party on their 25th wedding anniversary was given for Mr. and Mrs. Jack Weaver Tuesday by their children in their home in the Walcott community.

The hosts were Mary Ruth, Charlene and Joe Don Weaver, teen-age children of the honored couple. They invited four couples from the neighborhood as guests for the informal evening party, and served cake and ice cream.

The guests presented a silver tray as a gift to the Weavers on the silver anniversary. They were Messrs. and Mmes. J. S. Stocks, Phillip Miller, John E. Hill and Charlie Burk.

Choir Will Sing At First Baptist

Chapel Choir of Baylor University will present a program Friday night at First Baptist Church. The program will begin at 7:30 p. m. and is open to the public.

Under the direction of Dr. Euell Porter, the choir is enroute to a music teachers convention in Colorado Springs. Gary Don Roberson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Deward Roberson, Hereford, is a member of the choir and will be singing with the group Friday night.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Alex Wilson owns the new individual basketball scoring record at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The senior forward hit the 1,066-point mark in midseason to eclipse the old mark of 1,058 set in 1962 by Bill Eagleson.

Committee Work Is Approved

Purposes of the water resources committee were outlined to the Chamber board at their regular meeting Wednesday morning.

Dick Godwin, chairman of the committee, outlined the course of action as proposed by the committee.

The committee will employ extensive campaigns in educating and organizing the local public concerning water problems and needs.

It will work to develop more efficient use of water presently available, as well as exploring and developing the importation of water from outside sources into this county.

The problems connected with water pollution will be studied. The committee will secure the on all boards and official government agencies concerned with all water problems and needs.

The committee will stand ready to offer assistance on any water in this county.

The committee said that if best available representation this county continues to enjoy its economic welfare, corrective measures must be employed toward protecting an adequate availability of water. A positive approach should be predominant the committee pointed out.

The committee stated that in so far as practicable, the local society should look after its own welfare. This would be in addition to taking advantage of assistance from other groups and organizations.

In other action, the board approved action taken by the beautification committee Tuesday.

Dale Young was appointed to investigate the possibility of ad-jutable signs to be used in welcoming conventions and recognizing groups meeting in Hereford.

Johnny Pool will organize the Hustlers to welcome new business to the area.

Gift Voted For Proposed Center

Mrs. Dennie Richardson was elected president of LaPlata Study Club to succeed Mrs. Phillip Shook, as officers for 1967-68 were chosen Tuesday afternoon. The club voted to make a cash gift to the proposed center here of the Institute for Achievement of Human Potential.

Mrs. Milton Adams was hostess in her home and the program was a review by Mrs. Ansel McDowell a member of the club, of James Michener's novel, The Source.

Other officers elected are Mrs. Kenneth Rogers, vice president; Mrs. M. H. Richie secretary; Mrs. Tom Harkey, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Roy H. Harris, treasurer; Mrs. Wayne Hedrick, historian-reporter; Mrs. Shook, parliamentarian.

The book review gave high points of the lengthy novel, which is the story of a modern archaeological expedition in the Holy Land, and its findings which recalled the beginnings of three of the world's great religions. Club members made plans for Guest Night on March 21 in Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

Those present included Mmes. Jim Neill, Lloyd McGee, Elmer Patterson, Raymond White, A. J. Schroeter, Jack Brown, Eugene Campbell, Clint Formby and those elected to offices.

GIRLSTOWN BOUND — A portion of the Holly Sugar Corp. employees who have been soliciting for Girlstown, U.S.A. were caught just before they left Hereford early Saturday. The group took several vehicles loaded with gifts to the girls home and had planned to do some construction work there during the day. Items taken included a sewing machine, television set, several boxes of clothing, meat sauces from Morton's Fine Foods and about 50 gallons of syrup, which was sold at discount rate by Morton's distributor Benny Linderman. Proceeds from a day's sale of coffee at Ward's Restaurant (formerly the Red Rooster) also was taken. (Hereford Brand Photo)

By MELVIN YOUNG

A perfectionist is somebody who takes great pains and gives them to other people.

And then there is the story about the Texas Aggie who was questioned about LSD.

Did you know that America's 25 million registered dogs now consume enough food to feed 4 million people?

Did you know that we now have enough cats in this country to consume all the fish the U. S. now catches?

Interesting information. Perhaps useless. But to the people who are concerned about the feeding of this nation in the year 2000, it's very important data.

By 1985, according to the Department of Agriculture, the world will have to find another breadbasket.

That's the year when the food needs of the world's underdeveloped nations will be so great, it will be impossible for this country to meet them.

According to our own Department of Agriculture, even if we put every single one of our presently idle 55 million acres of land into full production, we'll fall short by about 12 million tons.

So what, you say? By 1985 we'll be producing twice the amount of wheat on an acre of land!

Perhaps so. But the thing that now has our planners scratching heads is not our ability to produce more on the land we have, but the availability of water needed to increase production.

In 13 years, according to Tom McFarland, executive secretary of the High Plains Water Conservation District, we will be using twice the amount of water we're using today.

Water conservation over the past years has helped a great deal, and according to Mr. McFarland, more than 30 new tail water pits have been installed in this county during the past year.

And farmers all over the High Plains area have become more water conscious as they have watched water levels drop, and have, through the use of tail water systems, lakes, and just good common sense farming, done everything within their power to conserve the water that we now have. They should be commended for their efforts.

But water conservation alone is not the answer. Water will have to be brought into the area from states and regions that have an abundance.

This is a big program. It's not going to be accomplished in one year. Or 10 for that matter. But it must be done if we are to keep producing the abundant crops on our fertile land that has been so important to the feeding of this nation.

California of course, is doing something about their situation now. The water shortage and the heavy population of the state is a situation that has been with them for years. They're solving their problems. It's costly and it's a long drawn out process, but the show is on the road. They recognized the problems years ago and started planning then to transport water through the use of canals, pumping stations and gravity flow, to bring water from the abundance of northern California and other areas of the Pacific Northwest to the valleys of southern California where it is so badly needed.

Of course plans are being made in Texas today that will assure us of the needed water in 1985. The story behind the planning for future water needs is an interesting one, as told by Tom McFarland. It's one that every citizen of this county should hear.

Make plans now to attend the formal dedication of the Deaf Smith County Museum this Sunday. The dedication ceremony has been set at 2:30 and the open house will follow immediately and until 5 p. m.

There have been many people who have worked long and hard to see that we have a museum in Hereford. The Deaf Smith County Commissioners a couple of years ago purchased the property at 4th and Sampson Streets and made the old building available for the museum. They have also supplied some funds, with other money coming from memberships in the Deaf Smith County Historical Society, Inc. and through donations from clubs and individuals.

But of course, without the efforts of Mrs. Henry Sears, the museum would probably still be a dream. She has spent much of the past 12 months "down at the museum," working towards the eventual opening day, and it has been largely because of her persistence that much of the work has been accomplished.

We don't mean to minimize the efforts of others who have volunteered their time and talents. But we wouldn't attempt to name them all in this space. There have been too many.

It is community effort like this that makes projects such as the museum succeed and each one who has had a part in this project should be commended. It's great to have a museum, and it's great to have people who will devote their time to such efforts.

Show your appreciation by being on hand Sunday. The dedication is at 2:30 p. m. Open house will follow.

Guest Speaks To North H.D. Club

A guest, Bill Brady, discussed the patterning program of treatment for children handicapped by brain damage, at the recent meeting of North Hereford Home Demonstration Club in Mrs. Otto Olson's home.

He told of the patterning center which has been in operation here several months, and of the basic theory of patterning as a process of training brain area to overcome handicaps. One exercise used is crawling, he said, and doctors who originated the program stress the importance of crawling for all babies.

Mrs. Clinton Ward directed another phase of the program, briefly discussing varieties of garden seed suited to the Panhandle climate, and distributing literature with more information on choice of seed for the home garden.

HEREFORD, TEXAS

LET'S COOK SOMETHING!

Recipes From Hawaii

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Cookbooks are among the souvenirs brought back from Hawaii by Mrs. Jimmie Allred and Mrs. B. E. Roberson, who with their husbands recently spent a two-week vacation in the islands.

THE HEREFORD foursome enjoyed food characteristic of Polynesia while they were on the trip, and the women plan to try some of the exotic recipes now that they are at home.

Although they made no particular effort to "go native" at the table, and actually ate many meals of the type they could find here, they did relish the fruits which abound on menus in all Hawaiian restaurants.

The two women said they especially liked papaya, which was served for breakfast every morning, and the juices of guava and passion fruit, both common there.

HAWAII'S FAMED "fish and poi" they did not care for — if you mean the raw fish dishes associated with genuine Hawaiian meals. They sampled poi, also seaweed, at the one luau they attended.

"Seaweed tastes like grass; that is, it doesn't have any taste," Mrs. Roberson says. "They say it has lots of minerals and vitamins, but it certainly doesn't have flavor."

Mrs. Allred said she rather liked Hawaiian food except for the poi, "and it really isn't intended to be eaten alone. It is a starchy paste, quite insipid by itself but always served with other food."

Both the Hereford men found coconut syrup much to their taste, and decided to bring back a supply. It is packed in cans with plastic lids, and they included a case of it with their homebound luggage.

"IT'S GOOD WITH waffles, hotcakes or even toast," Mrs. Allred says. Mrs. Roberson serves it with the French toast they like for breakfast, made by dipping bread slices in a mixture of two well-beaten eggs and about half a cup of milk, then frying them in butter on the electric skillet.

Besides cookbooks and syrup, the Hereford travelers brought a number of souvenirs from their trip, most of them for gifts to family members and friends. They had the forethought to leave room in their luggage for packing items purchased on the islands.

THEY MADE THE TRIP by air, spending some time on the West Coast enroute. Most of their sightseeing in the island state was done in rented cars. In addition to Oahu, the island where Honolulu is located and where they spent most of the time, they spent a night on Maui and another on the island of Hawaii.

Learning to pronounce the names of Hawaii was one of the bonuses of their trip, both women said.

Neither has tried recipes from her cookbook, but both want to make coconut pudding, which they have tried and like. Recipes in the two books are different, one calling for coconut milk and another for milk as the chief liquid. They plan to make both and compare them. Here is the recipe from Mrs. Roberson's book:

HAUPIA (COCONUT PUDDING)

- 4 cups fresh grated coconut
- 2 cups milk
- 3 tb. sugar
- 2 tb. cornstarch
- Dash of salt

Pour heated milk over coconut and let stand 15 to 20 minutes, then strain and squeeze out liquid. Mix cornstarch with 1/2 cup of the coconut liquid, sugar and salt. Add remaining liquid slowly. Scald on low heat, stirring constantly. Cook to a smooth consistency. Pour into shallow pan and when firm, cut in small squares. The version in Mrs. Allred's cookbook goes like this:

HAUPIA

Heat 2 cups coconut milk to boiling. Mix 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup cornstarch, 2 tb. skim milk powder and pinch of salt. Add 1 cup cold water and stir til smooth. Slowly add this mixture to the boiling coconut milk. Cook slowly, stirring constantly until thick. Pour into a flat square pan and let cook. Cut into 2-inch squares to serve.

The Hereford Brand, Hereford, Texas, Thurs., March 9, 1967

skis, showed Rotarians slides of his homeland. Most of the slides were centered around his home town, though he also showed pictures of West Berlin, Southern Germany, Switzerland and Austria.

Grafte explained that his city was established by a duke who legend says slept under an oak tree and dreamed of a town there.

The young exchange student stirred the hearts of Hereford farmers when he announced that German fields were so green because of the average 50 inches of rainfall per year.

Major churches in Germany are Catholic and Lutheran, Grafte stated. Though there are protestant denominations such as Baptist, Christian, etc., he said they are very much in the minority.

Germans do not shop in large, chain grocery stores, he stated, but rather in small, privately owned businesses, buying things such as bakery goods, meat and general groceries in separate stores. Grafte's father owns a German meat market, he told club members as he showed slides of the inside of the shop.

The buying of groceries is not done once or twice a week as in America, he added, but each day buying food for only one or two days.

The Black Forrest provides all of their electrical power and lumber, he stated.

Grafte ended his program with some pictures of the U. S. as he saw it when he came here last August.

WEDDING PLANNED — Miss Penny Johnson of Hereford and Ben Boyett Jr. of Hobbs, N.M., both students at Texas Technological College, are to be married on Easter Sunday, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Johnson, announce. The wedding is to be solemnized in the Johnson home, 116 Greenwood. Miss Johnson is a sophomore student at Tech and her fiancé, whose parents live in Hobbs, is a junior. The couple plans a home in Lubbock.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Sunday afternoon will be open house time at Girlstown, and a good chance for the many Hereford people who have contributed to this residence for girls at Whiteface to drive down and see it.

FOR WEST TEXAS newcomers who don't know where Whiteface is, either, it's straight west of Levelland; just a nice afternoon's drive there and back.

A lot of folks here have been interested in Girlstown since its founding, through the ups and downs of its history, and have helped it in its purpose of supplying a stable home environment for girls of all ages who are left homeless — or sometimes in homes which are worse than none.

Appeals for support this winter have met with response from Hereford residents and organizations, not merely money but personal effort to go with it, like the weekend work done by a crew of Holly Sugar Co. employees in repairing roofs of Girlstown buildings.

A cash gift sent down on the weekend was one day's proceeds from the sale of coffee at Ward's Restaurant. Charles Riggins supplied coffee to help the restaurant manager Ervin Ward serve coffee — and collect for it at sometimes inflated prices.

THOSE ARE GOOD deeds, of which there are no lack in this world even if we cynics keep saying the place is growing worse.

A couple of Hereford women got involved in one Sunday which reminds you of the cartoon showing a Boy Scout, bent on his good deed, knocking down three passersby to get to an old lady to help across the street.

Mrs. Don Waters and Mrs. James Welch were just as determined to fulfill a promise to help a neighbor. The latter, called out of town because of a death in the family, bemoaned the fact that she must leave her house untidy and she expected visitors to accompany her home.

THE TWO WOMEN quickly volunteered to get the house in order, and were told that a backdoor key would be left in a certain spot. But when they went to the house there was no key.

Not to be stopped in their good deed, they simply got a window open so the small son of one could get into the house and open a door for them. In other words, they committed burglary and contributed to the delinquency of a minor.

And on a Sunday, too. Tut-tut! Oh yes, they got the house in spic and span shape.

Peace Corp Is Slated March 18

Hereford area residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are invited to take the Peace Corps Placement test at 1:30 p. m. on Saturday, March 18, at the Post office, Amarillo.

The Peace Corps uses the Placement Test to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, not education or achievement. (If test scores indicate a limited language-learning ability for example, the Peace Corps tries to place the applicant in an English-speaking country.) The Placement test requires no preparation and is non-competitive — an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

The application form, not the Placement Test, is the most important factor in the selection of Volunteers. Persons interested in serving in the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, before taking the test. Applications may be obtained from local post offices or from the Peace Corps, Washington, D. C., 20525.

Music Solo Contestants In Recital

In the annual spring recital of the Dawn Musettes at Dawn Baptist Church Sunday afternoon, pupils who had taken part in the district Junior Music Festival at Hereford Friday, and in Interscholastic League vocal solo contests at Canyon Saturday, were included on the program.

Phyllis Richardson and Jerry Stewart received I Ratings at Canyon while Linda Stewart and Jannene Suttle were rated II.

Soloists who received a II Rating, or excellent, at Hereford were Melissa Miller, Vicki Heck, Wesley Strain, Bill Caraway, Marlene Tooley and Jannene Suttle.

Others on the recital program were Terri Ann Owens, Betty Stewart, Susan Cox, Sharon Owens, Paul English, Julie Owens, Eugene Suttle and Rosemary Stewart.

Piano accompanists were Mrs. R. T. Stewart and Mrs. Carl Wimberley.

District Garden Club Officers Travel To Speak

Officers of District I, Texas Garden Clubs Inc., who live in Hereford have appeared on recent programs in their Panhandle cities. Mrs. O. G. Hill Sr., district governor, and Mrs. A. L. Manjeot, treasurer, attended Berger Garden Club's guest day program Friday.

Mrs. Hill at that meeting told of advance plans for the annual district convention to be held April 3 and 4 in Big Spring. Mrs. McGuire of Amarillo discussed the program theme, Oriental Influence in Gardening. Mrs. Manjeot was the speaker for Milady Garden Club at Dimmitt Tuesday afternoon. Her subject was New Look in Garden Club Work.

Personal Tags Still Available

Sales of 1967 car tags have increased slightly, but many must yet be sold prior to the April 1 deadline.

Neil Miller, Deaf Smith County Tax Assessor-Collector, said that sales this year are up about 500 tags over this time last year. At the end of February, 1966 car tag sales totaled approximately 1,580. Mrs. Miller indicated that this year's sales have amounted to about 2,500.

By April 1, an expected ten or eleven thousand tags will have been sold and issued, according to Mrs. Miller.

Those desiring special tags with names or number combinations of no more than six characters can still order them, Mrs. Miller explained.

Orders for special tags cannot be filled before April 1, however. Mrs. Miller noted that those ordering special tags now will not get a full year's benefit. Regular tags must be purchased and a transfer will be made by the tax assessor when the personalized tags come in. Mrs. Miller said about 20 personalized tags had been sold in the county to date.

4-H Club News

Completing a series of 3 meetings in a 4-H food subject matter group, five young 4-Hers entertained and served refreshments to their mothers Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Bryant, 105 Fir.

Refreshments served to Mmes Bryant, Lee Roy Burges, Carl Armstrong and Dale Young — included cookies, punch and "covered wagons" — which were made of canned biscuits. The girls preparing the food were Layne Young, Belinda Bryant, Gayle Nunally, Debbie Armstrong and Carmela Burges.

During the two previous meetings, the girls prepared a main dish and fruit salad, respectively, serving and eating the food each time. They are now eligible to enter the county 4-H foods contest.

Lively Memories Recalled At 91

Outlaws of the Indian Territory are a part of the early memories of Mrs. Ruth Lewis, who celebrated her 91st birthday Monday at 500 West Park Avenue, where she has made her home since 1945 with her daughter, Mrs. C. R. McGhee.

She was born March 6, 1876 at Cedarville, then in Indian Territory, later Oklahoma and now a ghost town. She grew up in that area and in Texas, where she lived for a time as a child, then went back to Oklahoma and came here from the capital city.

Observance of her birthday was a quite one, with friends dropping in during the day for cake and coffee. The cake was decorated with pink roses and inscribed with a birthday greeting.

Lively Mrs. Lewis posed for a birthday photograph with the cake and a congratulatory bouquet, and smilingly recalled some high spots of her long life. She is more interested in the present and enjoyed chats with callers, graciously urging them to "Come back soon; I like to see you."

When there are no visitors, Mrs. Lewis says she likes to read "but I don't care much for TV. I like to have something to keep my hands busy when I'm not reading" so she makes handsome embroidered afghans or needlepoint or some other intricate needlework.

This is all done without glasses; her eyesight is good and so is her hearing, and it appears that her 91 years are a small handicap to Mrs. Lewis.

During World War II, when she was already up in her 60's she did not sit and knit. She got herself a job on the swing shift in an ammunition plant. It was at McAlester, Okla., and she worked right through the war years.

"Whenever they looked for a volunteer to do something unusual, I volunteered," she says.

"I wanted to learn everything I could about it."

It was after that job that she came to Hereford. Mrs. McGhee is her only child, "the entire family," she explains. Mother and daughter share an interest in handicrafts which is evidenced in furnishings of the home.

When Mrs. Lewis was a youngster the Indian Territory was a refuge for outlaw gangs including the notorious Belle Starr.

"She was the ugliest woman I ever saw," is Mrs. Lewis' appraisal of the bandit queen. "Rough and coarse and just plain homely."

"The last time I saw her she was wearing a pink chambray dress, and a man's hat. She and a few of her gang rode up to my folks' house and said they were hungry. My grandmother gave them a meal and they went on off. Later we learned they had just robbed a bank in a nearby town."

Golf Team Prepares For District Meet

GOLFERS IN ACTION — The Hereford varsity golf team competed in their third tournament of the season Saturday at the local golf course which saw nine teams vieing for top honors. Amarillo Sandies took the first place trophy with a team score of 301. Pampa and Amarillo Caprock tied for second with a team score of 320 followed by Hereford with 324. Low point man for the local varsity squad was Russell Phillips with 75. Other teams in the tournament were Clovis, Muleshoe, Perryton, Canyon and the Hereford "B" team. From left to right with individual scores are Phillips Cain, 85; Steve Hendon, 86; Don Maxwell, 83; Phillips and Mike Horton, 78. (Hereford Brand Photos)

WHITEFACE ROOTERS — The Hereford Whiteface cheerleaders have done their best to root their heroes on to Victory in the first two games this season. The lasses keep up a constant chatter of encouragement and entertain occasionally on a horn. (Hereford Brand Photo)

Hereford Golfers Compete Saturday

Hereford entered two teams in the first local golf tournament held this season in the city golf course which saw nine teams vying for first place honors. Along with the varsity squad, the school entered the "B" team.

Duval Is Named District

Gene Duval, 6-foot jumping jack for the Hereford Whitefaces, has been selected to the District 1-AAA basketball team for 1967.

A three-year letterman in basketball, Duval averaged almost 17 points per game in the 10 district contests. He also is a member of the Whiteface baseball team. Other members of the All-district team include Johnny Goodwin of Tulla, Mike Hargrove of Perryton, Mickey Wilson of Muleshoe and Ronnie McClintuff of Dumas. The players, representing each school in the district, were selected by the coaches.

Area Teams Get Close In Region

The Dimmitt Bobcats fell nine points short of a state title in the boy's state basketball tournament Saturday and the Vega girls were beaten by two points in the regional finals. The Bobcats, who rallied from a 16-point deficit early in the third quarter, lost to Hardin-Jefferson 59-51, in the Class AA championship contest at Austin. Dimmitt also dominated the District 3-AA team, which was chosen Monday by district coaches.

Placed on the first team were

Letter To The Editor

211 Sunset
Hereford, Texas
March 6, 1967
The Editor
Dear Sir,

The editorial in last Sunday's Brand by Bert Mills on the subject "Striking Teachers Seem Offensive To Profession," was, it seems to me, unfortunate. I heartily agree that teaching is an honorable profession, but with the situation the face, I'm not sure but what joining a union and resorting to strikes may be necessary.

Some profession! After four in college, a teacher is offered years of professional training a job in Hereford schools at $4704 per year. He can anticipate a raise of $117 per year for twelve years. Thus the maximum salary he can ever expect is $6108 per year, unless he does several more years of college work to earn a master's degree which will boost his salary to a handsome $7116, after eighteen years!

Some profession! Of course teachers can go into coaching or administration and earn a more adequate salary, but that doesn't help the classrooms where our children are, nor the man who really wants to teach.

Some profession! When I find teachers who I think are doing a less than adequate job, I am embarrassed to complain. Ours is not a poor community. We should be ashamed of the salary for which we expect our teachers to work.

Sincerely yours,
Eugene Brink

Cattlemen Convene

Cattlemen from areas throughout the Southwest are polishing their boots for their annual trip to the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association convention which this year will be held in Houston, Mar. 12-15. Headquarters for the convention will be the Shamrock Hilton Hotel with registration to begin at 2 p. m., Sunday.

Under the leadership of TSCRA President, Ben H. Carpenter of Dallas, the cattle raisers are scheduled to tackle pressing problems in general sessions and to work out details for whipping them in committee meetings on the agenda Monday morning, Mar. 13, and Tuesday afternoon, Mar. 14.

Don C. King of Fort Worth, TSCRA secretary-general manager, said a board meeting is slated at 2 p. m., on Monday and that it will be followed by a conference on the agricultural minimum wage. Both sessions are open to the public.

The welcome address will be given by the Honorable Louie Welch, mayor of Houston, Tuesday morning, and the response will be given by T. L. Roach of Houston, TSCRA first vice-president.

the "Beef Cattle Industry — What It Will Take To Survive in 1975."

The moderator will be William E. Drenner, president of the Denton County National Bank. Panelists are Kenneth Anderson, Anderson Cattle Company, San Antonio; Dr. Harold Brelmyer, University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo.; C. W. McMillan, executive vice-president American National Cattlemen's Association, Denver, Colo.; Kendall Quinn, Quinn Brothers Livestock Company, Jackson, Miss.; and Dr. H. O. Kunel, associate. See CATTLEMEN Page 2

Grain Sorghum Producers Meet

A series of educational and directional meetings are scheduled for several counties in the Texas South Plains between March 15 and March 28 by the Grain Sorghum Producers Association. Deaf Smith County will meet March 28 at 8 p. m. in the Community Center. Bobby Veigel is chairman.

Elbert Harp, a farmer of Abernathy and GSPA President, said that farmers have done the best job ever in supporting the organization and this is a series of meetings to inform them of the programs and projects currently being worked on by GSPA and to seek added direction on new activities for grain sorghum betterment.

Y. F. Snodgrass of the GSPA staff will be discussing the possibility of changing county loan rates on sorghum as well as the new labor laws affecting producers.

Carpenter will give the "Report of the President," and this will be followed by an address on livestock taxation by Harvie Branscomb, Jr. of Corpus Christi.

Other morning speakers include the Honorable W. R. "Bob" Poage, chairman of the House Agricultural Committee, John A. Schnittker, under secretary of agriculture, and Governor John Connally.

A "Report of the Secretary-General Manager" by Don C. King will open activities at the general session on Wednesday morning.

Two 4-H club members who won first place honors in Texas last year will present their winning beef business demonstration. The members are Becky Martin and Patrice O'Neil.

Dr. Grover Murray of Texas Technological College will outline plans for an international center on the Texas Tech campus during his address on "What Science and Technology Hold for Livestock and Agriculture in the Arid and Semi-Arid Regions of Texas."

King says one of the highlights of the convention will be a panel discussion with leading stockmen from throughout the country participating as panelists. Title of the panel will be

Robinson Named In Success Book

LEXINGTON, KY. — The life and business experience of J. W. Robinson, Jr., prominent Hereford life insurance man, are featured in a new book, Sell and Grow Rich, just published by Lexington House.

Robinson is one of a group of 5 highly successful young life insurance salesmen presented in Sell and Grow Rich. Representing every section of the United States, all are consistent members of the Million Dollar Round Table — composed of life insurance salesmen who sell more than one million of life insurance in a single year — and none of the group has yet attained the age of 40.

Robinson is a Qualifying and Life member of the Million Dollar Round Table. He has represented Southland Life in Hereford since 1948.

Sell and Grow Rich was written by Fred R. Kissling, Jr., who is a member of the Million Dollar Round Table and a Chartered Life Underwriter. The book required more than six years of research.

Farm Labor Problems Face Both Contract Laborers And Employers

Editor's Note: The following article was included in Texas Farm Bureau publication, Facts For You, March 3.

MINIMUM WAGES

The House Agricultural Committee on February 2, 1967 passed a resolution requesting the enactment of legislation amending the Fair Labor Standards Act, providing that the minimum wage as applied by the present law shall not apply in any year following a year in which the unadjusted parity ratio stands at less than 100. If this type of legislation is enacted, it will eliminate agricultural labor from the law. Unadjusted parity ratio on January 15, 1967 was 75 and under current "cheap food policy" it will probably continue at a low level. It is necessary to go all the way back to 1952 to find the time when the ratio was equal to 100.

Texas Congressman, Bob Poage, who is chairman of the House Agricultural Committee, announced on February 24, 1967 that his committee will hold a hearing on the minimum wage as applied to agriculture. The committee is seeking answers to what agricultural labor will be included under present laws and if consideration will be given to economic situations on the farms.

After a meeting with the producers in Victoria and surrounding counties there are several questions that are important. Practically all of the questions asked at the meeting dealt with two specific areas of the law: (1) contract share-crop and similar arrangements, and (2) exemptions for employees engaged principally in the range production of livestock.

First it must be noted that application of the law to contract labor on the farm definitely has not been settled at the present time. The determination of contract and share-crop arrangements under the Act are to be made by the employer. Even though an administrator may say what is right or wrong in an individual's case, the employer is still the responsible one. In determining whether or not various kinds of contract and share-crop arrangements are covered remember that the determination will affect the five hundred man-days determination and coverage if the employer is covered. It seems that one particular court case is to be used as the principle guide in making these decisions. This information was printed in the Senate Report in the bill amending the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1966 and is quoted below for your use.

"During the consideration of agricultural labor coverage, the committee discussed the issue of who is an employee of the farmer and how to determine whether a person is an independent contractor. Section 3 of the act defines the term 'employee.' It is also clear that if a person is an independent contractor and not an employee of the agricultural employer, neither the independent contractor nor his employees would be employees of such employer. Nor could the man-days worked of such employees be counted toward such agricultural employer. However, such independent contractor may well qualify as an agricultural employer and be subject to the coverage of the act unless otherwise exempted. This same issue was raised during the House debate with regard to the status of certain sharecroppers and tenant farmers. The same tests apply as stated in the House report.

"The Supreme Court (in Rutherford Food Corp. v. McComb, 331 U. S. 722 (1947)) has made it clear that there is no single rule or test for determining whether an individual is an employee or an independent contractor, but that the 'total situation controls.' In general an employee, as distinguished from a person who is engaged in a business of his own, is one who 'follows the usual path of an employee' and is dependent on the business which he serves. As an aid in assessing the total situation, the Court mentioned some of the characteristics of the two classifications which should be considered. Among those are—

- (1) The extent to which the services rendered are an integral part of the principal's business;
  - (2) The permanency of the relationship;
  - (3) The opportunities for profit or loss;
  - (4) The initiative, judgment, or foresight exercised by the one who performs the services;
  - (5) The amount of investments; and
  - (6) The degree of control which the principal has in the situation.
- "The committee fully subscribes to these criteria and to the principle that the total situation in a given case, not just a particular criterion, must be considered in determining whether an individual is an employee or an independent contractor."

In addition to the material quoted above the U. S. Department of Labor has released example cases that will be available through USDA offices in the near future. This material is entitled "Employer-Employee Relationship in Agriculture—Where Share-Cropping Arrangements Are Landlord-Tenant Agreements Provide For Shares, of Crops as Rental Payment In The Farm Operation."

The interpretation of the phrase "employees principally engaged in the production of livestock" is very difficult. For example, will an employee, who is responsible for maintaining a range herd and also drives a tractor in a cotton operation be exempt? The determination here apparently is based on the word "primarily." It will be many days before ranchers and farmers will have a clear interpretation of this particular exemption.

Manager Makes Many Dime Store Changes

A new look in the Ben Franklin variety store has been the work of C. T. Thames, manager as he has built a greater assortment of merchandise.

"We want to increase the assortment — to have what people need at the right prices," Thames stated.

A resident of Hereford for nearly five years now, Thames has been adding merchandise to the store since he became manager last September.

Thames moved to Hereford from Kingsville where he had operated a five and dime store for eleven years. He was the Hereford manager of Gibsons Discount Store for two years prior to coming to Ben Franklin.

The store has been completely re-laid, according to manager Thames. He explained that departments have been re-located, counters have been lowered, and check-out counters have been re-arranged.

Ben Franklin is a franchise operation in most cities, Thames indicated, and the individual-owned stores number over 2,000 across the United States.

"There is a Ben Franklin representative in every state in the Union," Thames said.

Celebrating their 90th year, Ben Franklin stores will have special items on sale throughout the nation each week in 1967. Thames explained that these items will be in addition to the local store's weekly specials.

Four full-time and two part-time employees assist Thames in 18 different departments.

"We've got a little of everything down here," Thames stated, giving a range from "penny candy up to $25 watches."

Housewares, hardware, sewing notions, toys, greeting cards, artificial flowers, school supplies, and gift merchandise make up a partial list of items.

Raised in Plainview, Thames likes Hereford, especially the climate. He and his wife, Rosa Lee, live at 201 Avenue B with their three children: Linda 17, Cathy 14, and Gary 11.

Stocker Calf Feeding Is Subject For Guideline

As part of the Panhandle Economic Program, the local County Agent, Justin McBride, has prepared and mailed guidelines for various farm and ranching activities. The guidelines include an analysis of the present situation in the county, the potential and then gives recommendations for that particular subject.

Subjects covered so far include several crops and one on stoker calf operations. The report considers the growth of stoker calves as a major enterprise in Deaf Smith County. In years of normal rainfall, 60,000 calves are purchased by 300 producers annually for grazing on wheat, temporary, permanent, or native pastures for periods of 4 to 12 months. Stoker calf operations add approximately $1,500,000 to the county agricultural economy according to the report.

The report states that adjustments are naturally expected when various weather conditions. See STOCKER Page 2

Yarbro Attends Chemical Advancement Demonstration

Bill Yarbro of the Hereford Chemical Company of Texas was the guest of Diamond Alkali Company at the opening of its new arsenate herbicide plant at Greens Bayou, Texas (near Houston) February 27 and 28.

Bill Yarbro was flown to the plant to tour the new multi-million pound a year capacity facility and to meet with Diamond Alkali executives.

The discussion centered around Daconate, Diamond's combination arsenate-surfactant product which eliminates on-site mixing, and the increasing role such products are playing in the control of vegetation in agriculture and such non-crop uses as railroad and utility rights-of-way. The company produces Daconate, DSMA and MSMA at the facility.

"The arsenate herbicides being produced in our new facility are the type which have been proven by thorough testing to be no more toxic than common aspirin," says Cort.

"Most of the arsenate herbicides produced in the U. S. are now of this type. The industry began changing over about three years ago after the low toxicity level of the new arsenates was confirmed by testing.

McBride states that in years of normal rainfall, average gains of 150 pounds on stocker calves grazed on wheat pasture and gains of 350 pounds on wheat temporary, or permanent pasture combinations in a 10 to 12 month period are possible for this county.

High risk is involved in buying of stocker calves. Current and future market price estimates need to be analyzed before the animals are purchased. Feed reserves for bad weather also need to be available.

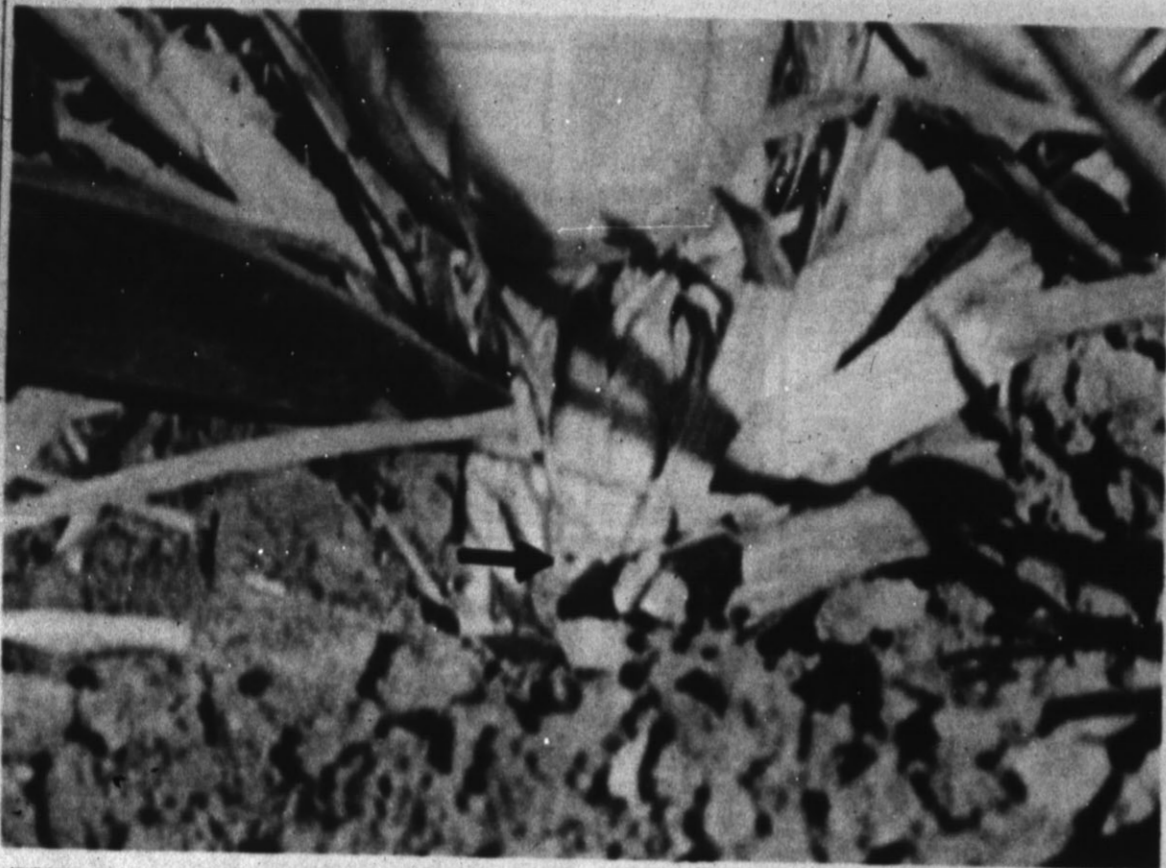

Health problems of incoming stockers need to be given immediate attention, the report directs. All animals showing signs of illness need to be removed and treated. High quality hay and one pound of protein supplement and three pounds of ground sorghum grain can be fed for the first three to five days to help the animals make the adjustment.

Vaccinations should not be given until animals are rested and in condition to build antibodies. Antibodies are made of protein and if the animals are in poor condition, they cannot react to the vaccine to produce these antibodies. Problem areas include blackleg, malignant edema, leptospirosis and red nose.

The report questions the advisability of mass vaccination for shipping fever. Vitamin A should be considered if cattle have been under stress. General worming of stocker calves is not a recommended practice.

The guideline suggests four pounds of alfalfa hay daily per head or a mixture of one pound protein supplement, three pounds ground sorghum grain and six pounds of low protein hay. Feed at the rate of one percent of body weight.

The report gives a breakeven price at time of selling as being $23.65 per hundred pounds.

GREENBUG — The little fellow on the wheat blade just below the thumb nail can cause farmers lots of trouble—if enough of his relatives come along. A spraying service said this week that they are still doing lots of spraying and that about all that will help now is for the weather to get warm so lady bugs, who eat greenbugs, can begin to reproduce. Temperatures have to be in the high sixties for lady bugs to thrive. (Hereford Brand Photo)

Washington Report

From Congressman
BOB PRICE 18TH DISTRICT, TEXAS
1222 LONGWORTH OFFICE BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C. • 225-3764

The big news since my last report is the refusal by the House to seat Adam Clayton Powell. In an extraordinarily long session, from noon to eight p. m., the issue was hotly debated. The vote to exclude Powell was 307-116.

In my opinion the entire Congress of the United States was on trial. This was evident from the many letters I received condemning all congressmen, not just the New Yorker. The question raised by many of the 116 who voted to let Powell keep his seat was "why single one man out for punishment and let other members get away with the same thing?" Personally, I will vote to exclude any member who is guilty of so flagrant a violation of the trust placed in him by the people and the Congress.

In connection with my activities as a member of the Committee on Agriculture, I was in the majority when the committee recently adopted a resolution asking the other members of Congress to help in passing legislation to exempt farm workers from new minimum wage laws which went into effect on February 1. Legislation is now being prepared which would allow this exemption until farm income reaches 100 percent of parity.

Three days of hearings were recently completed on a resolution to increase food aid to India. During the hearing I went on record in favor of the government purchasing any wheat or any other grain to be shipped to India under this program at a price which will assure the American farmer 100 percent of FORT MONMOUTH, N. J. — At ceremonies held at the Army Signal School, Capt. Ramey J. Brandon of Dumas was decorated with the Army Commendation Medal for his achievement in a tour of duty before coming to the School.

Col. Willard V. Horne, Director of the Department of Command Communications in which the officer is enrolled as a student, presented the medal.

The citation for Capt. Brandon's medal was based on his service as operations officer with the 81st Maintenance Battalion in Mannheim, Germany.

parity. I also reminded the committee that no other segment of the American economy is asked to produce more and more of their product for the world market at a cost 26 percent higher than the price they receive for their product. We have a moral obligation to share our food, but we have an obligation to ourselves to make certain our commitments do not outpace our productivity.

On March 2, I was in the majority of 372 House members who voted for an additional 4.5 billion dollars for the war in Viet Nam. This money will be used between now and the end of the present fiscal year, June 30, to purchase aircraft, missiles, and combat vehicles for our forces in Viet Nam, as well as for additional military construction in that country.

During the debate on the additional appropriation the House defeated an amendment which would have put Congress on record against further bombing of North Viet Nam. The "doves" continue to call for a halt to this bombing in hopes the Communists will agree to peace talks. As I have stated many times, and the President restated at a recent White House briefing I attended, we have halted the bombing three times and all it has accomplished is giving the North Vietnamese time to bring up reinforcements to kill more of our men.

Church Joins Sharing Program

Kenneth L. Potee, former Christian Church missionary to India, spoke to members of the First Christian Church at a church dinner, Wednesday. As a part of the annual observance of the Week of Compassion and in connection with the One Great Hour of Sharing, missionary Potee's speech dealt with the work of the church in India.

The Reverend Eugene Brink, minister of the First Christian Church, explained that the One Great Hour of Sharing program is observed nation-wide. "It is an inter-denominational observance during which Catholics and Protestants make gifts for hungry and homeless people around the world," he said.

Potee was head of Christian Church missionary work in India for 18 years before he retired two years ago.

Grain Sorghum Research Places New Light On Food For Humans

Grain sorghum eventually will become known as a food grain rather than a feed grain in the United States, a research scientist predicted this past week.

O. Ben Gerrish, head of the food science section of Midwest Research Institute, Kansas City, Mo., made the forecast during the 5th biennial International Grain Sorghum Research and Utilization Conference last Thursday and Friday in Amarillo.

More than 265 farmers, businessmen and researchers from 2 states and two foreign countries attended the two-day meeting sponsored by the Grain Sorghum Producers Association.

"While sorghum is a most important food grain in large parts of Asia and Africa only about 10 percent of the sorghum grown in the United States is used as human food," Gerrish said. "When the population in this nation comes into a closer relationship with the available food supply, then we'll start using more grain sorghum for food in the United States."

Dr. S. M. Kennedy, vice president for Academic Affairs at Texas Tech, Lubbock, pointed out that the "Country that is a world power doesn't reach that level without a reliable source of food."

"The food supply has to be reliable for the country to exist. History has shown that nations have literally fallen apart because they failed to grow adequate food supplies."

He added that grain sorghum has been looked upon as a crisis ration, and it will take considerable amount of educating to convince the American housewife that it is an edible food.

Speaking in the same vein was the conference's keynote speaker, Dr. K. Sundara Rajan, economic minister with the Embassy in India, Washington, D. C.

"In the rich countries there is a growing realization of the urgent need to help the poor countries raise their standards of living. There will be no lasting peace in the world if some countries are rich and others continue to be poor. The world of today cannot be divided into the two watertight compartments of very rich and poor without grave detriment to both," Dr. Rajan said.

He added that "in most of the developing countries where people live close to starvation levels — you cannot tighten a belt on a skeleton — it takes a tremendous effort over a number of years to reach a self-sustaining growth."

He said that in India the net area of land for farming is expected to increase by less than one percent during the five-year period ending in 1971.

"At the same time, the country's population is expected to increase by 14 percent. This means that most of the country's additional food requirement must be met by raising the productivity of the land," he said.

India plans to increase its production of food grains to 120 million tons by 1971 through the use of high-yielding hybrid seeds, concentrated applications of fertilizers and water and through help to farmers by keeping remunerative price and adequate farm credit.

Discussing the changing farm policy, C. H. Moseley, Commodity Credit Corp., Washington, D. C. said that grain exports have increased over the past year.

"In the first seven months of this year, exports totaled $7.1 billion. Last year they were $6.7."

He added that this year the Department of Agriculture is seeking small diversion of farm acreage for non-productive use. Wheat quotas have been increased by a third, and the department hopes to put 15 million diverted acres back into feed grain production.

In summing up the importance of the meeting, designed for an "across-the-board" exchange of information on research and development of grain sorghum, Bill Nelson, executive vice president of Grain Sorghum Producers Association, said that Grain Sorghum production in the United States could reach 1 billion bushels for the first time this year.

"More important, however, is that utilization could reach 1 billion bushels also. The world of grain sorghum definitely is changing, and the changes can mean a considerable boost to the economy of farmers throughout the country," he said.

Job - Personality Match Is Game

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — A parlor game might be one that matches personalities to profession.

Take the aggressive, argumentative person. What profession would he select? Law, probably.

Or the shy, retiring person: What type of work would he select? Bookkeeping, perhaps Yes, personalities do have something — some psychologists think everything — to do with the type of work a person selects. Personal characteristics also have a great deal to do with how successful a person is in his career.

"While it's difficult to make generalizations — personal characteristics definitely have something to do with a person's chosen profession," according to Dr. James Parker, supervisor of psychologists for the Pinellas County School System.

The abstract thinker, for instance, will tend to enter the field of art where creative thinking is necessary.

A person who thinks concretely will be attuned to himself-in building or construction work.

While the combination of the two, abstract and concrete thinking, is necessary for an architect.

"You act as you think you are or as you see yourself," Dr.

Parker believes.

The dominant personal characteristics make certain fields of endeavor more attractive to one person than another.

And the personality behavior a person exhibits is because of his specific needs, according to Dr. Parker.

A person is a mixture of many traits but dominant traits dictate a person's life work, he believes.

Dr. Parker also points out that the varying and many faceted occupations available to individuals allow for the many different personality characteristics in society.

A physician, for instance, has strong feelings for mankind coupled with a meticulousness or willingness to devote himself to detail. He is also conservative in the sense that judgment is withheld until sufficient evidence is accumulated.

Doctors also have verbal ability — they must be able to explain and communicate medical findings in terms people will accept. Such as the inevitable death of a relative.

Teachers should have patience as a dominant characteristic. They also should be flexible in dealing with people and have a deep faith in human nature plus a desire to aid in helping human progress.

Attorneys should be self-confident and fluent verbally. They should have an ability to feel secure with people and an intellectual aggressiveness. They most likely derive sheer joy from winning a case, especially against a competent adversary.

The shy person who would tend to avoid any profession — or part of a profession — that requires dealing with large numbers of people might go into research.

Personal characteristics aren't the only factors involved in selection of a profession — such

Woman Can Improve Own Voice, Says TV Speaker

By VIVIAN BROWN

Treat yourself to a new voice for spring, ladies.

"The majority of women talk too high, particularly when they are in public places," observes Alexander Scourby, one of television's best-known narrators.

If you don't believe it, make this test around lunch time: Visit two dining rooms, one frequented by women, the other by men. You should agree (if you're impartial): men are easier on the ear drums, says Scourby.

A beautiful woman spoils the picture if her voice is raucous and doesn't live up to the splendid vision she presents, he explains; just as a great big man sounds silly if he has a tiny voice.

Scourby is not trying to sound like a big-time authority, he says, it's just that observations like these are elementary because of his work.

There are many ways to improve a voice, he suggests, there may be opportunities to tape one's voice and there is much to be gained from reading aloud.

"It is like working on a speech. You must go through periods of self-consciousness that really make you fee phony. You'll feel 'people must know I am doing this.' But, some day, you will say, 'I did that and my voice didn't go up. It sounds natural.' It is like trying to perfect a golf score. You go along trying and then suddenly it happens without thinking about it."

Some people are prone to adopt voice habits and speech habits of their environment. Scourby attended schools in Brooklyn, where he was born of Greek parents who ran a bakery shop; but, no matter where he is, he begins to talk like the people around him. After a semester at West Virginia University, he began to sound like one of the natives. Ditto when he visited Wyoming for a spell; and, when he went to Engand, well, you jolly well know what happened.

Years ago, Scourby was involved with a program for the blind. He wondered why they didn't have more women reading to blind people. He found that men were preferred because their voices were more soothing.

Women might make one convincing voice test, Scourby says. They could record the tone used when talking to their children.

"They sound like witches when they talk to children," he says. "One can be just as authoritative, if not more so, in a normal voice."

Scourby's speech teacher had him do descent triads — three toned cord exercises. Then the teacher would tell him to talk in one of those tones. It made him conscious that the voice can be pleasanter if one speaks in lower tones, especially in conversation. The best exercises are those that bring the voice down so that you are consciously speaking on the floor of the range, he explains.

FOR GOD SO LOVED THE WORLD

He Always Heals

The doctor has been summoned and with precision instruments he begins the delicate examination. With perfect control of muscle he can inject his needle without pain.

Just so is The Great Physician marvelously skilled. His very word is sharper than a two-edged sword. It is sharper than the doctor's keenest needle. Yet He never harms... never hurts... always helps... always heals. He can perform for you the most delicate operation, IF you will let Him. He can penetrate your life with healing cleansing power... give you the change that makes you want to go to church. Why not start this very week?

You In The Church
The Church is You... form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, let it flourish, work and attend services regularly.

With four daughters and a son living at home, who can find time for hobbies? Well, Mrs. Joe Story knew it was useless, so she just waited until three of the girls married, one was safely entered in college and the son in high school before beginning her hobbies of needlepoint, ceramic painting and occasional refinishing of furniture. In addition to this, she plays the piano and organ, "just for my own enjoyment." She says she plays only hymns and prefers the organ to the piano.

Beginning her needlepoint 4 years ago, Mrs. Story, who is the daughter of the late J. A. Noland of Hereford, says she "had wanted to do it for a long time, and as the four girls grew up and left home, I began to get a little time." Much of the credit for her accomplishments, she gives to her husband, saying, "Without his support and encouragement, I'd never have done it." She adds, "I guess he's just an average man, but I think he's pretty super."

Though she is, of course, very proud of her achievements, Mrs. Story's first love definitely is not one of her hobbies. Rather, her husband and family come first in her life, and she's as proud or more so of their accomplishments than they are.

Not only is she an enthusiastic mother, but also an avid grandmother. "Proud as punch" of the entire family, she displays pictures of each of them in prominent places throughout the family home on Harrison Highway.

Also rating higher with her than crafts are people. She says, "If I have a hobby, it's friends. I just love people. Someone once said 'If you have one true friend, you have a goldmine,' and I feel that I have a few goldmines. I used to clerk a lot in stores and it wasn't work to me at all because I like people so much."

When speaking of needlepoint, Mrs. Story says, "I enjoy doing it." The first piece she ever did was a seat for one of her dining chairs. Though it was done in a half cross stitch, she says,

"I leave it lying around so that it's handy to pick up and work on." (Hereford Brand Photo) that she later learned the continental stitch, which she prefers and has used on all the other chairs. Having completed 6 dining chairs, she has two more to go.

One of the chairs is covered in gold to match a piano bench she did, some are done in off-white and some in a rose shade. She plans the other two to be light green to blend with her pale green dining room walls.

point lying around by the telephone, etc. where it's handy." After finishing the dining chairs, she is considering making needlepoint cushions for the back and seat of an old rocker that she's refinishing. The rocker belonged to her husband's grandmother and has been in the family about 50 years, says Mrs. Story.

Her work with ceramics began through her daughter, Sandra. "I'd go down to see her and she did so much of it," she says, "that I finally got started. We get the molds from a woman in Abilene, then paint them with oils or a water base paint, depending on the type of finish desired."

The needle point tapestry, which is a net-like fabric with a needle point design on it, Mrs. Story says she gets in Amarillo. She then fills in the background in needle point of a desired shade.

With 4 daughters, Mrs. Story has done a great deal of sewing during their childhoods. With 3 of them married and one home only on weekends, she says, "I don't sew anything like I used to. . . there's a sense of accomplishment in anything you finish, though." She has 2 sewing machines, which were a great help when she had more children at home.

All of the Story's daughters are talented in some way. Nancy, the oldest, who is now Mrs. Roy Mustian, is good with her hands, making artificial flowers etc. She is also musical. The second oldest daughter, Sandra who is Mrs. Ron Downing does a lot of work with ceramics and needle point.

Jan, the youngest daughter comes home on weekends and practices the organ and piano. The two instruments are situated in an L shape in the Story home, for Mrs. Story says her daughter plays the two of them at once. Gary, the youngest and the only son is a senior at Hereford High School. The Storys have had a child in the Hereford schools for the past 21 years, but Gary is the last. A member of the acapella choir and editor of the Whiteface, the high school paper, Gary was named Senior Favorite. He sings with the Strawbenders, a local singing group and plans to attend Texas Technological College next year.

All of the Storys daughters attended West Texas State University. Joy and Nancy went on to Texas Tech and Sandra also attended McMurry College in Abilene.

Story operates an irrigated 1/2-section farm 15 miles southwest of Hereford.

Vocational Training

Distributive Education Is Chance For Real Experience

By SHERIN BETTS
Staff Writer

"This is possibly the best city for merchant cooperation," says Johnny Griggs, coordinator of the Distributive Education classes at Hereford High School. Operated under the supervision of the school administration with the cooperation of local businessmen, the course is designed to help young people enter occupations in retailing, wholesaling, financing, storing, advertising, promotion, credit and customer services.

Students taking DE must be at least 16 years old and a junior or senior in high school. The course is offered as a 2-year one, though seniors may take only one year if they like and are not obligated to take the advanced course.

The businesses involved in DE must be non-tax supported, free enterprise and engaged in the merchandising of goods and services to customers. Each student attends school a half day and works the remaining portion of the day.

As DE coordinator, Griggs works with both students and employers. Half his day is spent in the classroom and the remaining half in making reports to the state, Texas Education Agency, consulting employers and trying to find new openings for student jobs. When a new merchant joins in the DE program, he is given a booklet which tells the purposes of DE to the student, the employer and the community.

The following are some of the advantages to the community which it lists:

- Provision of a source of well-trained and qualified future employees.
- Trains young people to meet job specifications.
- Establishes link between business, home and school, allowing business man an influential voice in school affairs.
- Aids in reducing labor turnover and training costs.
- Allows the business to provide a work-experience laboratory for training in marketing services.

—Establishes an atmosphere of responsibility among employees who are assigned as training supervisors.

—Creates dependability and good work habits among young persons.

—Promotes training with occupational objectives in mind.

Griggs says the students have class study and discussion on both the basic training which is generally applicable to the entire field of marketing and specific training which is related directly to the student's field of training. Each student works a minimum of 15 hours per week. Every six weeks the employer rates the DE student on a grade sheet and Griggs tries to consult each employer at least once during the six week period, he says.

Griggs stressed that the relationship between DE students and their employers is a "regular employer-employee basis which leaves it between them and doesn't involve the school." He states that "if the student doesn't do well, he can be laid off or fired, just as though he were an ordinary employee. Each student has obligation to fulfill an entire school year of work, however."

"We don't try to get baby-sitting jobs," he adds, explaining that "we're not here for the slow learners, mentally retarded or just to have a job. Our purpose isn't to make just spending money, but to train the students for a position after school." Griggs says that, contrary to the opinion of some, "We try to attract the more intelligent students, attempting to weed out the ones who get into it for spending money or easy credit."

Each student acquires 2 credits for DE, says Griggs, adding that, "with help and supervision they should be well-qualified for positions when they get out of school." In addition to DE, the students take up to 4 classes a day, he said.

Members of DE classes are also members of the Distributive Education Clubs of America, meeting once a month to discuss program and activities coming up on the school calendar. The club participates in various activities, such as the float competition for the football homecoming.

This week, the club is participating in Public Schools Week by holding a Radio-Day at which time the club members fan the local radio station, KPAN for one entire day, selling all the spots and doing all the announcing themselves.

It is through this radio day that the club raises money for a banquet which they have in the spring.

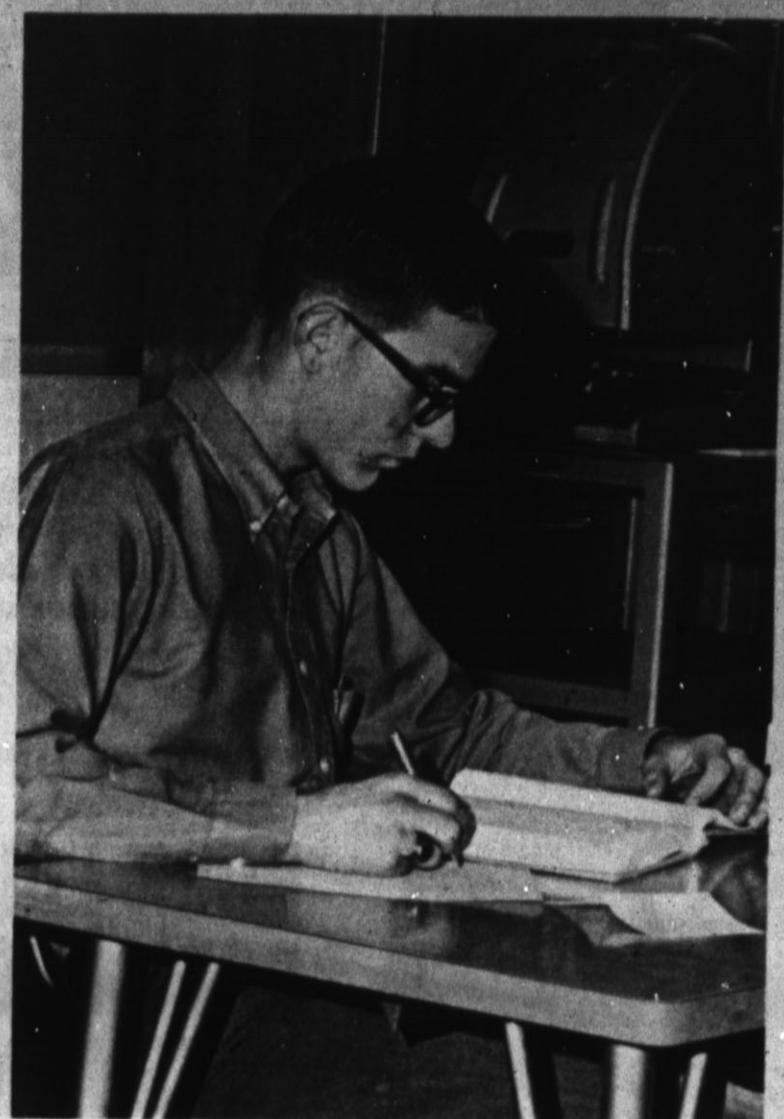

Though DE is often only a course taken in high school, which is soon forgotten after graduation, to many it has helped them earn their way through college or offered them an opportunity to work up to the top in a business, says Griggs.

Whatever the future holds for the student, however, Griggs feels that the working experience will help them to find a job, often in the same line as the work they did in DE.

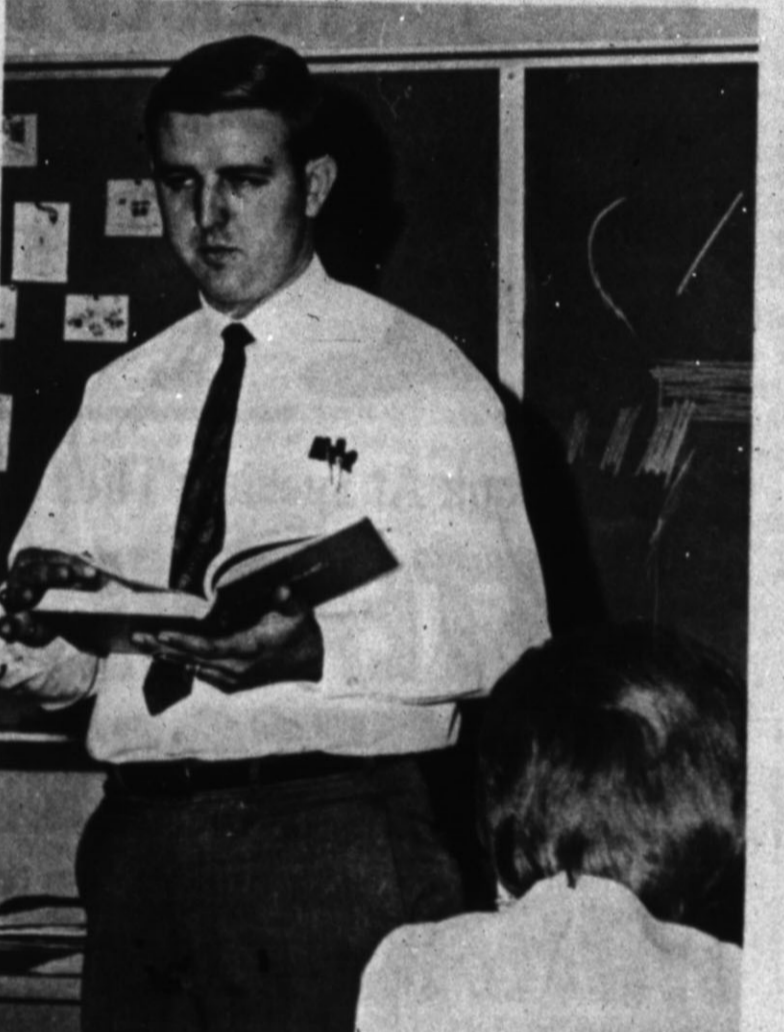

Many DE students do as Melba Gay (Lawrence) Cooper did. After taking DE in high school, Mrs. Cooper enrolled in a business college, worked for some time in the secretarial field and, after several years, returned to the firm for which she worked in DE, though performing a different job from what she had in DE.

Merchants who are participants in the high school's DE program include:

- Hereford Golf Course, Hereford Hardware, Cooper's Market Park Avenue Floral, Hereford

Jobs Now Will Employ 3,000

WASHINGTON, D. C. — About 3,000 unemployed, disadvantaged youth will be placed in productive employment through the JOBS NOW project in Chicago.

JOBS NOW is designed to provide jobs quickly for unemployed youth on the street. Funded by the U. S. Department of Labor, the project is sponsored by the YMCA of Metropolitan Chicago, Chicago Urban League, the Illinois State Employment Service and the City of Chicago.

Thirty-four Chicago agencies — including the local Community Action Program and the AFL-CIO — have joined forces with the Labor Department to help the unemployed youth find jobs.

Recruiting quotas for JOBS NOW are assigned to those agencies best acquainted with street youth. The agency is responsible for bringing youth to the reception center and for making sure they attend the two-week orientation before moving into employment.

From the first day, the youth receives a training allowance. The two-week orientation attempts to bridge the gap between the work world and the street corner and the ghetto.

During this period, the youth learn proper dress, essentials of good health and appearance, completion of employment application forms, budgeting, advantages and disadvantages of various forms of credit buying and use of city and suburban transportation.

Immediately after orientation, the JOBS NOW staff places the youth in inplant training programs with participating companies. Company employers are asked to waive usual high standards for high school diplomas, no police records, and aptitude tests, and to accept the youth for what they can do with the proper encouragement.

The first 35 companies approached produced 275 jobs. Since then, a total of 38 companies have provided more than 350 job opportunities.

The youth work in such jobs as stock and file clerks at $1.50 an hour; machine operator and bakery helper at $2.43 an hour; food packer at $2.60 an hour; and switchman at $3.08 an hour.

Afternoon Art Exhibit Is Scheduled By Pupils

An art display Sunday afternoon will show the work of Mrs. Alex Peterson's pupils, paintings done during the past year. Interested persons are invited to see the display in the Peterson home, 409 Irving, from 3 to 6 p. m.

A variety of oil paintings will be included in the show, some by beginners as well as those by more practiced artists. Both adults and children are among the pupils.

Hostess Duties To Be Project Of Wyche Club

Playing hostess to groups of Home Demonstration clubwomen who make tours of Hereford will be a project of this year in Wyche H. D. Club, members voted at a meeting Thursday in First National Community Room.

Mrs. E. C. Hewitt Jr. was hostess and the County H. D. Agent, Argen Draper, gave the program on Table Settings. She spoke of the selection of all appointments needed to serve a meal in formal and informal style.
