Local Schools To Observe Anniversary Of Education

Public Schools Week in Texas, beginning tomorrow and running through Friday, will commemorate 114 years since Texas education was born. And the progress made is now, more than ever, evident.

The newest innovations in Texas education will be on display this week in the Hereford schools, and the teachers and administrators urge every parent to visit his child at school during this period.

All local schools will participate — some of them have announced their special programs to the Brand.

— Hereford High School will hold open house on Monday from 7 to 8:30 p. m. All HHS teachers will be in their rooms and will offer counsel to all parents.

— Stanton Junior High will have a physical education program Monday.

— Northwest School will have open house on Tuesday night from 7 till nine. During the 30-minute period between 8:15 and 8:45 music will be provided by the 4th, 5th and 6th graders.

— Shirley School will have open house on Tuesday at 7.

— La Plata Junior High will have open house on Tuesday at 7.

Parents of students in the other schools are asked to make contact with the school offices for information in regard to their programs.

— All schools will be closed on Friday, as Hereford teachers will attend the Texas State Teachers Association district meeting at Amarillo.

The Texas educational scene is constantly changing. See for yourself the most modern innovations in teaching techniques and classroom. Visit, ask questions, and learn first hand what our Texas Public Schools are doing to ready our children for tomorrow's world. Set aside a day during this special week to visit your child in his classroom.

Your visit to a public school is a pleasant responsibility. Visit your child in any given class, or spend the entire day with him.

What does it cost to keep a nation progressive — not just in dollars, but in things like the personal help and support we give our children, and thereby in our public school systems?

Our children are our most valuable resources. You've heard the trite expression many times: "Tomorrow's Leaders, etc." And yet, it is true.

So the cost is not just in what we pay each year in taxes for school books and teacher's salaries — not just school clothes and lunch money. It's more than that. It is how much and what kind of encouragement you give your child.

That is the reason for Public School Week. The parent can participate in his child's school life, show him you are actively interested in the progress he makes, and that you care enough about him to take the time to visit his school.

When you hear, "Is Texas investing enough in education?", ask yourself, "Am I?"

The well-lighted schoolrooms and libraries, the books — all very important — are just one part of an education. The other part is the help and confidence your child receives through you — his parents.

Show your child that you care. Visit his school Monday through Thursday Public Schools Week in Texas.

LONG TIME TEACHER — Ethel Womble, far right, has been teaching for 43 years, 38 of them in Hereford schools. Pictured with Miss Womble are her great-niece, Kerrie Womble, a seventh grader at La Plata Junior High, and her great nephew, Wesley Strain, a 4th grader at Bluebonnet Elementary. Miss Womble says she has taught 10 of her 20 nephews and nieces. She is presently teaching the 5th grade at Northwest elementary. The above photo was taken at the Deaf Smith County museum, which was a school itself several years ago. (See feature story on Miss Womble in next Thursday's BRAND)

Building Permits Rise In February

Construction in Hereford, which began at a snail's pace in January, picked up momentum during February as building permits issued at City Hall totaled $373,000.

Of that total, $293,400 was for residential construction — including 16 new homes and one new mobile home. The largest permit in the residential buildings was for a $37,500 home, while the average was about $16,000.

Permits for commercial construction during February totaled $80,200. Included was a $9,000 permit for construction of a drive-in grocery store in the Sunset Terrace Addition; an $11,500 permit for locating an office building along S. 25 Mile Avenue, and a $50,000 permit for construction of a Family Medical Clinic in the Thunderbird Addition. An announcement is expected soon on the clinic, which is being built by Dr.

Gerald Payne and Dr. John H. McCrary.

Building permits for January totaled only $60,500, with $70,400 of that being for residential construction. For the first two months of this year, permits have totaled $470,400, in comparison to a total of $613,200 for the same period in 1967. In February, 1967, contract for the new vocational building at Hereford High School was let and totaled $260,000.

Permits for the entire year of 1967 totaled $3,062,130, including 153 new homes.

Four Sentenced In District Court

Fred Zavala pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with intent to murder, without malice, in 69th District Court Wednesday after a jury had heard all the testimony in his case and was preparing to decide his guilt or innocence.

Judge E. C. Nelson, who was sitting in for regular 69th District Court Judge Archie McDonald, sentenced Zavala to three years in the state penitentiary.

Zavala had been the object of an extensive search by law enforcement agencies following the stabbing of another Latin American man in the Labor Camp Aug. 9. He had left the scene following the incident and was considered armed and dangerous at the time.

Zavala turned himself in to the sheriff's office the next day after the search in the northeast portion of Deaf Smith County. At that time, he was charged with assault with intent to murder.

In other cases heard before Judge Nelson during the past week, Francis Gates was sentenced to three years in the state penitentiary after pleading guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated, second offense; Enrique Villegas received a three-year probation term for DWI, second offense, and Oscar Alvarez received five years probation on a charge of DWI, second offense.

Charges Filed In Friday Accident

A 46-year-old Longdale, Okla., man was charged with aggravated assault with a motor vehicle Friday afternoon following an accident just east of Hereford.

Neal Fredrick Davis was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Ernest Wade, who set bond at $1,000. Davis was expected to make bond sometime Saturday. He will be officially filed on by investigating officers Monday.

Highway Patrolman Charles Moore said Davis had just pulled onto U. S. 80 from the Hereford Feed Yards road and was heading north to get back on the highway and go west. He had a load of cattle.

A 1968 Triumph motorcycle driven by George Paul Lipka of Cannon Air Force Base in Clovis, N. M., was going east on U. S. 80 in the right lane of the highway when the truck pulled onto the highway.

Lipka, 22, moved into the left lane and attempted to "lay the motorcycle on its side" to avoid the collision, marks on the highway showed.

Lipka struck the trailer of the truck about the middle, and was saved only because he was wearing a helmet, said Moore. The helmet was heavily damaged by the collision and the cycle had an estimated $500 damage.

Lipka was transferred to a Cannon AFB hospital Friday night from Deaf Smith County Hospital and was reported to be in satisfactory condition at the time.

WT Grain Elevators Assoc. To Meet Here On Thursday

Congressman Graham Purcell has been announced as guest speaker at the West Texas Grain Elevators Association banquet, scheduled for Thursday at the Hereford Country Club.

Congressman Purcell is chairman of the Wheat and Feed Grains Subcommittee of the House of Representatives.

Program for the annual meeting will begin at 10 a. m. with a directors meeting. The Hon. Graham Purcell will speak at 7 p. m.

Gene Skaggs of Panhandle is president of the association.

Dean Rea of Tulsa, the headquarters of the association, is the executive manager, and Bill Waldrep of Easter is one of the directors.

Also scheduled to speak are Bill Nelson, executive vice-president of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association at Amarillo, and Earl Day of the Grain Specialist Association of American Railroads, Chicago.

Nelson will speak at 3:10 p. m. on the subject "Farm Bargaining Power and Current Farm Legislation."

Day will speak at 3:40 on "A Discussion of Current Grain Handling Problems and Their Improvement, in Rail Movements."

There will also be a director's lunch at noon, a membership meeting at one (for members only) and a Ladies Hospitality luncheon, sponsored by Irrigation Age, with a style show sponsored by the Popular Store of Hereford.

An open session will be held at three.

At 4:30, the association will present its membership drive program, followed by a visitation hour at 5 and a social hour at 6 in the Club Room of the Hereford Country Club.

Local Man Nominated For Nation's Highest Award

Sp-4 Oscar Martinez of Hereford has received the Silver Star for his actions against the Viet Cong, and it has been reported that he has been recommended for the nation's highest award — the Congressional Medal of Honor.

It has been revealed that three months ago Martinez wrote a letter to Mrs. Paul Zinser of Rt. 5, Hereford, in reply to a letter of hers which had been published in the Sunday Brand of November 12, 1967.

Mrs. Zinser's published letter had to do with the death of Lt. James Pavlicek, Hereford's first fatality as a result of the war in Vietnam. Pavlicek reportedly died in a helicopter crash there on Nov. 3. Her letter was a plea for the people of Hereford to pay their respects "in some organized way, to this boy and the thousands who have fallen before him and will die yet before this conflict is ended."

Mrs. Zinser has agreed to the publication of Martinez's reply to her, because "I believe it shows the moral fibre of the man who has been recommended for the Congressional Medal." The letter was dated Dec. 4, 1967.

"Dear Mrs. Zinser:

Writing you these few lines just to say hello and at the same time to tell you how much I enjoyed that article in the newspaper.

First, let me introduce myself — which I am sure I am unknown to you. My name is Sp-4 Oscar Martinez. And right now I have been in Vietnam for five months. I have lived in the vicinity of Hereford for more than six years before I was in the Army. And I have been receiving the newspaper ever since I got to this place. And up till now I haven't read anything of somebody backing up our boys from this town.

I am sure that I don't know you, but because of this little article I read that you sent to the newspaper, it gave me the feeling that I should write to you, and to tell you that it gave me great joy to hear that finally someone is supporting us, especially from our home town. I just can't hardly describe the feeling it gives you to hear that your own neighbor thinks and backs you up.

I really think that it is great to hear something like you said. For I know that, that soldier that died, did his part and share in this war. And protecting our liberty and freedom from all of those that oppose us, and also those people that also want to be free.

I admire your courage for saying what you said. As for me, well, I have been in several battle operations. My final one was on Dak-To — on which a lot of men gave their lives. Right now I am in a hospital recuperating from wounds caused on that conflict — which God permitted me to live. For also I was on the verge of dying. For I truly know what battles cause. And up to this date I still haven't seen anybody say that it is a worthless cause.

Unto my consideration, I greatly think that they are the ones who shall and could say if we were wrong in being in Vietnam.

Not those people that See AWARD, Page 2

James Pavlicek, 25-year-old Hereford resident who died in Vietnam action Nov. 3, was honored posthumously Thursday by the Department of Military Science at West Texas State University in Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Pavlicek of Hereford were presented two distinguished flying crosses and an air medal with 13 clusters by Lt. Col. Billy R. Smith of the school's ROTC Department.

An Army helicopter pilot, Lt. Pavlicek had served in Vietnam 10 months, flying several missions as escort to troop carriers before he died in a helicopter crash.

New Spring Wheat Available To Local Wheat Merchants

By TYLER VANCE
Staff Writer

Red River 68, a new spring wheat introduced by World Seeds Inc., was presented to local farmers at a meeting Friday night at the Community Center.

Jim Shelley, representing Shelley-Hulett Inc., the Texas distributor of the new wheat was on hand for the meeting, along with Dr. Earl Collister, executive vice president of World Seeds Inc.

The distributing company has been allotted 5,000 pounds of seed to distribute to leading farmers of the area on a grower-contract basis. In this way, the farmer will grow the seed, and then sell it to Shelley-Hulett.

"Shelley-Hulett has found this approach to be good in introducing a new crop variety. The company will be putting the crop in the hands of top farmers so the growers have a place to sell their seed," said Dr. Collister.

"Some 3,000 acres are being planted now," Dr. Collister explained. "Seed was planted in Buckner, Okla. about 10 days ago, and that crop is already up to a stand of one-half inch."

"We suggest that the farmers plant the wheat in the last week of February or the first week of March, and no later than March 15th," said Dr. Collister. The Executive Vice President of World Seeds Inc. outlined the desirable characteristics of the new wheat, and then continued with an "in-depth" report on the progress of Red River 68.

"Our new wheat has a low seeding rate. Reports show an average of eight tillers per plant, compared with four or five on most standard varieties. It permits the farmer to use heavy fertilization, as a North Dakota farmer fertilized with 200 pounds of nitrogen, and his field was still standing erect after being dead ripe for a month. The wheat also has a strong disease resistance, can be direct combined, and is classed as an all weather wheat.

On 1800 acres of test farms in North Dakota, farmers averaged 80.9 bushels per acre using Red River 68.

"World Seed Inc. believes that this wheat will give the farmers a higher net income per acre than other wheat he is growing. We have tested this wheat in three locations in Texas during the past two years. In the 1966-67 crop year, this wheat was evaluated at test plots near Plainview, Dallas and on Senator Grady Hazelwood's farms near Amarillo."

"During the present season, the wheat is being tested at a wheat research farm near Tulsa. Experimental plant yields in this area have been 40-45 bushels per acre on irrigated land. This total is equal to, or above the normal wheat yield of winter wheat, and 12-44.5 percent above the total for other brands of spring wheat, which were tested at various locations in the United States and Canada. In California, yields are being expected as high as 100 bushels per acre on irrigated land."

"The wheat harvest should take place in the last week of June or the first week in July. We suggest planting soybeans or a Grain Sorghum Hybrid behind this wheat."

"The majority of reports and lab tests showed Red River 68 to be a good milling wheat and See WHEAT, Page 2

School Trustee Positions Open, City Ends Filing

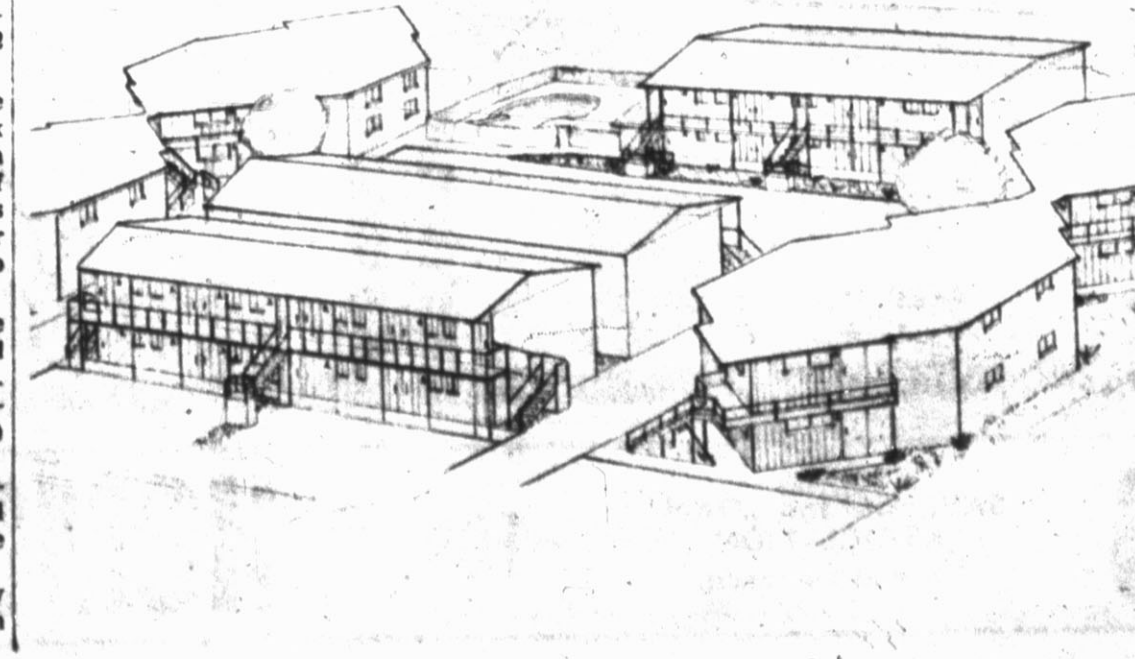

Filing for the two posts on the Hereford City Commission ended Friday with five candidates to battle in the April 2 election.

Candidates for Place 3 are Elmer Combs of 1505 E. Park Ave., Charles Bell of 212 Emma and W. B. (Bartley) Dowell of 132 Greenwood. Place 3 has been held for the past four years by Albert Maxwell, who is not seeking re-election.

Seeking to fill Place 4 are Ervin Ward of 130 Ranger and Johnny B. Pool of 130 Centre. Lloyd Sharp has held the position for two terms (four years) and is not seeking re-election.

Filing deadline for two vacancies on the Hereford School Board is Thursday, with the election set for April 8.

Dr. A. T. Mims and Hilary Aven have filed for re-election to the board.

Large Apartment Complex To Be Constructed Soon

Construction of a new apartment complex, which will be named the El Dorado Arms, will begin immediately with the site to be on the west side of Highway 385 just across from Sugarland Mall, it was announced by Charlie Walker and J. W. Robinson, partners in the building of the complex.

The two-bedroom apartments will consist of two large closets, a large bathroom, two bedrooms with one being a master bedroom and an extra large living room and kitchen area, with rental cost set at $150 a month for the furnished ones. The unfurnished two-bedroom apartments will be of the same type as the furnished but will be available for $125 a month.

Facilities to be offered to the residents of the apartments include complete playground area for the children, a large heated swimming pool, complete laundry facilities, and off-street parking for 135 cars. It has also been discussed as to the possibility of having direct telephone lines from the apartments and pool area connected to both the new Blow and Go Market cover approximately 60,000 square feet, will consist of 32 two-bedroom apartments and 44 single-bedroom apartments for a total of 76 living quarters in seven separate units.

All of the apartments will be centrally heated and be cooled by refrigerated air in the two-story development.

The one bedroom apartments will be all furnished and will consist of a bathroom, a kitchen, one closet, a living room and one bedroom with a rental cost of $115 a month.

Landscaped areas will be located throughout the entire compound with a garden separating the front two buildings.

Walker, who is to do the complete construction with the exception of contracting the electrical and plumbing work, has just finished the building of the El Dorado Arms in Amarillo and has set a date of completion for the El Dorado Arms as being June 1968. The apartments are to be semi-Spanish and early American contemporary in style he announced, with about 50 per cent of the construction to be of masonry.

He also stated the cost of building at about $675,000 and said, "There won't be any apartments in Amarillo as attractive as these."

Hereford Salt Is On Schedule

Construction is going along on schedule at the salt mine four miles east of town, according to Rocky Lee, secretary-treasurer of Hereford Mines Salt Incorporated.
Two pits now have salt brine in them, and four other pits are nearing completion. Lee said the operation should be in full swing by August, and that by then there would be a good inventory to supply the users.

It is expected that the operation will produce 1500 tons of salt per month. This will be sold to the cattle feeding industry and other salt users.
The pits used in obtaining the salt are three to four feet deep, are coated with a sealing solution and three feet of hard salt.

Salt brine (salt water) will be turned into the pits to evaporate leaving the fresh salt behind. This salt will then be scraped up by road graders, and sold.

Car Owners Are Urged To Hurry

The new 1968 passenger car license tag sales have reached 1,218 as of Friday morning at the Deaf Smith County Tax Assessor-Collector's office. For trucks and pickups the total was 555.

Mrs. Nell Miller, the tax assessor-collector, urged all automobile owners in the county to purchase their new tags as quickly as possible. "At this time, we are slightly ahead of last year's total," she said, "but it still means that we can expect a last minute rush."

The tag deadline is April the first, but she emphasized that much of the traffic jam at her office could be eliminated if the people would make every effort to come in earlier.

Mrs. Miller said that it was necessary for all buyers to bring their car titles and last year's license receipts with them, before they can buy their 1968 licenses.

The license fees are $12.30 for passenger cars from 0 to 3,500 lbs.; $22.30 from 3,501 to 4,500 lbs.; and $30.30 from 4,510 to 6,000 lbs. An additional 11 per cent must be added to these figures on all diesel-powered vehicles.

Concerning Veterans

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q — The pension I receive from my former employer is to be increased $15 per month. If this increase in income makes me ineligible to receive my veterans pension, may I refuse the increase in order to remain on the VA pension rolls?

A — No. Your refusal to accept the monthly increase in your pension from the former employer would constitute a waiver. Since such a waiver is not authorized, the additional $15 you will receive must be reported as income. However, the law provides that 10 per cent of all retirement income is not counted as income for VA pension purposes.

Q — How long will the VA pay training assistance allowance to a veteran who is in a four-year apprenticeship program?

A — Training assistance allowance will be paid for 36 months or to the expiration of the veteran's entitlement. The amount of the allowance is reduced at the end of each of the first three six-month periods.

Q — Is a veteran required to occupy as his home the residential unit he purchases with a G. I. loan?

The ancient art of bagpiping is more popular than ever.

Local Instructors Eligible For Grant

LUBBOCK — A teacher-training grant of $18,000 to help relieve teacher shortages in West Texas has been awarded Texas Tech's Department of Elementary Education.

Project director C. L. Ainsworth said the funds will finance four two-year fellowships in elementary education from the U. S. Office of Education through its Prospective Teacher Fellowships Program. The Tech project is aimed at helping prepare prospective teachers of children with bi-cultural backgrounds, particularly Mexican-American youngster, in cities of 10,000 to 35,000 population.

Dr. Ainsworth said "fellowship recipients will be selected from applicants who are residents of towns with the prescribed population requirements within 150 miles of Lubbock. These include Hereford, Plainview, Littlefield, Levelland, Brownfield, Lamesa, Colorado City, Snyder, Sweetwater and Big Spring and Portales, Clovis and Hobbs, N. M.

Although candidates must hold a college or university degree, they cannot be teaching during the current school year. Recipients will be enrolled in a graduate program leading to teacher certification and a master's degree.

Each person selected will receive a $2,000 fellowship for the 1968-69 academic year, plus $400 for each dependent. The program is named the

Litterbugging Is Defined Further

City manager Dudley Bayne said that the City of Hereford will not at any time consider filing charges on owners of cars which are being repaired on the home premises, in regard to the city's campaign to halt litterbugging and the parking of junk cars around homes.

Advanced Bi-Cultural Improvement and Educational Re-Training Opportunity. The initials, ABIERTO, mean "open" in Spanish, Dr. Ainsworth pointed out, adding that "through this program we hope to open more doors of opportunity to the Mexican-American youngsters of the area."

Interested persons may apply for fellowships through Tech's Department of Elementary Education, Box 4081, Lubbock, Texas, 79409.

"If their own children are working on cars in order to repair them for running condition," Bayne clarified, "the city will file no charges on any parents. We never have seen anything wrong in this practice. But we will file charges on the owners of junk cars — cars being parked around houses and nothing being done to them. That is an entirely different matter."

Bayne explained that there is a maximum $100 fine on the Hereford books for people convicted of not taking the proper care of their garbage cans and the junking of automobiles. He said the city would prosecute all violators in the future.

At the City Commission meeting Monday night at the Hereford City Hall, the budget hearing will be the main topic under discussion. Bayne said also that bids for two new chlorinators would be brought up and a water report made.

Activity Increase At Hereford High

By PENNY YOUNG Staff Writer
Hereford High School activities are certainly on the go for the month of March, as University Interscholastic League contests grow nearer.

The High School Red Cross members have begun their fundraising activities for March by scheduling the 1968 annual Red Cross Talent Show to be held March 11 at 1:15 at the High School Auditorium. The theme for this encounter will be Western, with the Red Cross members portraying cowboys of the old west. Singing groups, twirl-rs, comedians, and even a pom-pom routine will add to the color and excitement of the show.

UIL Concert and Sight Reading contest is just around the corner for the Hereford High School Honor Band. This year the contest will be held in Plainview in April.

Corpus Christi is the big event for the Hereford High School A Cappella Choir as they are now preparing for the Buccaneer Contest held there in May.

Every Monday, Tuesday, and Friday night for the next month has been set aside for practice by members of the UIL contest play cast. The play picked this year is a 16th century original called "Gammer Gurton's Needle" adapted by I. E. Clark. The play is known to be about the second play ever written. The cast will travel to Canyon the 28th of March to present their play to the judges and audience.

Yesterday ended the traditional and yearly fun week known as "Twirp Week" where the girl asks the boy out and pays his expenses, carries his books, and opens the doors for him. Quite a change for the felines.

The Commercial Club was the original name of the Hereford Chamber of Commerce.

Fuller Returns Home Following Eye Treatment

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Fuller of Santa Fe, N. M., have returned to their home there after having received eye treatment in Amarillo since January 12.

The Fullers stayed at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Fuller of Dawn. Mrs. Fuller's parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Bishop of 505 Ave. J, Hereford.

Band Recording Orders Accepted

Anyone wishing to order a Hereford High School Band record should contact Mrs. Margaret Daniels at her home, 1416 S. Daniels at the high school office sometime this week.

The records are $3.75 apiece and contain the numbers played by the Hereford High School Band at Buccaneer Contest in Corpus Christi last year.

Ben Gollehon, HHS band director, then traveled to the Texas Band Masters Association convention in San Antonio where the tapes were judged and the band chosen as the Texas Honor Band.

The record also includes the numbers played this year when the band traveled to Austin to

Film Gives Club Southern Tour

A travel film of Virginia cities, gardens and homes, was shown as the program for Garden Beautiful Club, meeting Friday afternoon in Mrs. Ansel McDowell's home. Restored buildings of colonial style, in Williamsburg, were featured in one section.

Mrs. B. E. Roberson showed the film to a group which enjoyed the outdoor scenes of the state's mountain and coastal regions as well as fine old homes with gardens which have been maintained for scores of years.

Mrs. Charlie Noland presided for business and appointed Mmes. E. W. Young, Don Robinson and B. E. Roberson as a committee to nominate officers for next season.

Plans were made for a tour of the art colony in Palo Duro Canyon on the next meeting day, April 5. Members will meet in the home of Mrs. Carl Swanson at 12:30 p.m. for dessert, and go together on the tour.

Mrs. Tom Carter was business with Mrs. McDowell and assisted in serving tea. Mrs. Owen Bybee and Mrs. Dale Tinnin were welcomed as guests.

Other members present were Mmes. Ray Cowser, L. H. Lookingbill Sr., Homer Newton, Roy Smith, Leo Witkowski and Swanson.

A. J. Lipscomb came to the area in 1888 and filed on land here before Deaf Smith County was organized.

Jeff T. Filbreath first came to Deaf Smith County in 1890 because his father, J. A. Gilbreath, thought the High Plains a land of opportunity.

Herd Lines

By Marshall Day

Ricky Fangman, a 1967 graduate of Hereford High School, will be one of 78 candidates who will report Tuesday, March 5th when West Texas State University begins its spring football practice.

The Junior Rose Bowl champions of last fall, who owned an 8-3 record, will have 24 of their last years 35 lettermen back, including nine offensive and four defensive regulars. Intermediate scrimmages are scheduled for the Saturdays of March 9, 16, 23, and 30 with beginning time set for 2:30 p.m. A tentative date for the Varsity-Alumni game closing spring drills is set for Friday, April 5. All of these scrimmages must be completed within 36 calendar days as has been outlined by the NCAA.

Returning to lead the Buff's offensive attack will be quarterback Roy Winters and Eugene Morris. Morris, who was the nation's second leading rusher last season, and Winters were both selected to the Associated Press honorable mention All-America team during their junior years. Morris gained 1,274 yards rushing last year for a 6.7 rushing average was beaten out of the number one spot by O. J. Simpson of Southern California while Winters was rated 12th nationally in total offense.

Of the 24 returning veterans, 16 of these are seniors, 7 are juniors and one is a sophomore while they have a total of 34 varsity letters between them.

Looking back through a few issues of area newspapers, it was noted that the district basketball champs of 1-AAA were riding the crest a 20 game winning streak and had made plans to do battle with powerful foes such as Pampa and Liberal "just to keep in shape" for the regional tournament which was held last weekend.

Well, things turned out rather ironically for the Perryton Rangers as they went along their boastful way and then decided to play the Quanah Indians. Quanah, champs of class 2AA cracked down on the perhaps over-confident Rangers and defeated them 79-76 and in the thinking of some people, it was probably the most important thing that has happened to strengthen the Perryton team. Confidence is a good thing, but there is such a thing as over doing it and perhaps the loss to the smaller Quanah team put a little light on the Rangers and showed them a few things.

There has been another permanent addition to the sports page of the Brand that you might notice and that is the Sports Calendar. This is for the convenience of those sports enthusiasts who find it difficult to remember what happens where and on what days. If there is any omission or something you think should be added feel free to contact the paper.

It looks as if another former Whiteface has made it into the halls of competitive sports and that is Ed Mims, 1966 graduate of Hereford High School. Mims is a sophomore at the University of Texas and has performed well enough as a freshman last season on the baseball diamond as he posted a 4-0 won-loss pitching record, that the coaching staff feels that he is going to be a "real asset" to the pitching staff with experience.

As a freshman at UT, Mims pitched 21 innings, was tagged for 16 hits, struck out 22 batters while allowing only 15 free passes. All of this added up to his having an earned run average of an amazingly low 1.27.

Well, if you are in the mood to get out next Tuesday night, you might get a few laughs and moments of sheer pleasure if you happen to make it to the La Plata gymnasium at 7:30 to see the Vega Longhorn girls and the Happy girls in a Bi-District basketball game.

The most peculiar thing about the whole deal is that the coach of the Happy team is formerly from Vega and don't think it won't be hard to win for him. Actually he can't lose either way the game goes.

Willey Lyons Is Bowler Of Week In Major League

After rolling a 645, Willey Lyons was named the "Bowler of the Week" in Major League play during the past week.

Tommy Crawford collected both the "High Single Game", and the "High 3 Games" when he set a season high in both of the events with scores of 236 and 623, respectively. Sunset Lanes nabbed the "High Single Team" as they rolled a 1105 then turned around to grab "High 3 Game Team" with a 3134.

Tuesdays results show that Ink Spot won 4 and lost 0; Piggy Wiggy won 0 and lost 4; Sunset Lanes won 4 and lost 0; Hacker and Son Meat Co. won 0 and lost 4; City Cab Co. won 3 and lost 1; Summerfield Fertilizer won 1 and lost 3; Boyd Machine Shop won 3 and lost 1; Gifford-Hill won 1 and lost 3; Hereford Flying Service won 3 and lost 1; and Hedrick Dodge won 1 and lost 3.

League standings include Hereford Flying Service, 29-8; Boyd Machine Shop, 29-8; Ink Spot, 18-10; Summerfield Fertilizer, 18-10; City Cab, 17-11; Sunset Lanes, 14-12; Hedrick Dodge, 14-14; Hacker and Son Meat Co., 10-18; Gifford-Hill, 7-21; and Piggy Wiggy, 5-23.

C. J. Lance Collects Trophy At Local Gun Club Match

For the second time within a year, C. J. Lance has won the R. J. Cramer trophy for trap shooting and has set himself in a position to take it for a third and permanent time.

The Cramer trophy, which was originated about 3 years ago, is a traveling trophy and if it is won on three consecutive occasions, it then becomes the property of the winner and another trophy starts into circulation.

Lance won the trophy last

April for the first time and collected it this year as he hit 85 clay targets out of a possible 100. He hit these at the 23 yard handicap.

Others running a close race with Lance were Weldon Stephens who hit 83 out of 100 at a handicap of 22 yards; Paul Lyons, 81 out of 100 at a handicap of 23 yards; and James Higgins, 77 out of 100 at a handicap of 25 yards. Some 13 men participated in the shooting event.

It was also mentioned that the Hereford Gun Club is trying to get a league started which will consist of 10 teams with six men on each team. A meeting will be held in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Company March 14 to try and organize the league. If such a league is organized, the teams will start competing against each other in the first league shoot March 17, it was announced.

The league shoot will consist of, each member of each team shooting 25 targets at 16 yards and then shooting another round of 25 at their handicap range. Price to participate in the league shoot will be $3 a month with 50 cents of this to be taken out for prize donations.

Every member of the team which has the highest score for each shoot will receive a box of shells and the single shooter will receive two boxes of shells.

The league is to run for a period of three months and at the end of this time, the teams with the highest total for the entire three months will receive a trophy. The high individual shooter for the time period will also receive a trophy.

"This club is for the guy who enjoys shooting but has to put his gun up until next bird season. In the club, he has a chance to keep in practice," Gene Cope, member of the club, stated.

Golfers Collect 2nd Behind Tough Amarillo High Team

By MARSHALL DAY Staff Writer

A strong wind blowing across the course proved to be the difference Friday as the Whiteface linksters fell to the powerful Amarillo High golfers by three strokes in a closely matched contest featuring ten schools.

Entered in the match were all the district teams from 1-AAA with the exception of Perryton, and from the results, it appears the linksters have another shot at the district title this year as they were never threatened by a district foe.

Amarillo High took the meet from the Herd as they hit a foursome total of 307 to sneak past the locals' score of 310. Following up in third place was Palo Duro of Amarillo, who were never even close to taking second place from the Whitefaces, as they shot an 18 hole total of 323, 13 shots behind the Herd.

Medalists honors were collected by Larry Peters of Palo Duro as he shot a 73 while closely followed by Jerry Boeka of Amarillo High with a 74 and Steve Hendon of Hereford with a 75.

Hendon lead the team scoring for the Herd with his 75 and was followed by Don Maxwell who shot an 18-hole total of 76. Marsh-Pitman shot a 79 and Russell Phillips shot an 80 while Paul Hendon found the wind quite a disadvantage as he shot 83. The total team score was tallied by taking the four lowest shooters and combining their 18-hole total for a team score.

On the "B" team, Terry Albracht shot a 79 and Wayne Stoner shot an 81 which was termed as "real good for the "B" team" by coach Cuby Kitchens.

The linksters will now open district competition starting March 9th when they travel to Muleshoe for the district opener. Perryton, which has not completed in a meet where other district opponents were present, will be there and if things turn out as they have in other meets, the Herd will have no trouble in taking the title again this year.

Included in the district golf meet will be host Muleshoe, district champions from last year, Hereford; the mystery team of Perryton; lagging Canyon, Dumas and Tulla.

Anyone who is interested in participating in the league which is to be formed is urged to contact Gene Cope at 364-2640 or M. C. Knox at the Pioneer Natural Gas Company.

Conflict In Rules Causes Calamity For Volleyballers

Rules are rules, or so it is supposed to be—but the high school volleyball found out otherwise Thursday night when they entertained the Adrian girls in the High school gymnasium.

Being a class B school, Adrian is a smaller school and thus plays by different rules than the larger schools such as Hereford. To go by their rules proved a little difficult for the local girls as the Adrian team played by "recreational rules" and the Whiteface team went along with their customary "power rules."

Allowing both teams to play their game by their own rules turned the entire series into mass calamity and as it turned out none of the games were actually counted.

Due to the conflict in rules, it was decided by both the coaches of the teams to cancel the game which was to be replayed on March 5. The next game for the girls will be in the high school gymnasium when they play host to the Littlefield squad March 7th with the first game beginning at 5:30. District will then start the following Tuesday as the team travels to Muleshoe with the first game beginning at 6:30.

LEADING WHITEFACE SHOOTER — Steve Hendon, who placed third in total score at the Hereford Invitational Golf Meet, gets ready to putt in the first picture, but after he does, a look of disappointment crosses his face as the ball misses the hole.

Baseballers Lose In Season Opener

The Borger Bulldogs proved to be a determined team as they downed the Whiteface baseballers 7-4 in the initial outing of the season for both teams in Borger last Friday.

The game, having been tied up going into the bottom of the seventh and final inning at 6-6, had been a tight one all the way as neither team scored through the first three innings of play.

The Hereford boys then busted the game up as they pushed four scores across the plate in the top of the fourth frame. The Borger boys then came back to cut the Herd's lead to one run as they added three scores.

Fifth inning action again saw neither team score but the Herd

Rider's basketball team lost four regulars before the season was halfway finished. They had a dislocated shoulder, a broken ankle, a broken collarbone and a broken foot.

John Skillman is in his 33rd year as Yale squash coach.

per employee, hence actually no raise, yet the store directives ordered price mark ups! Are we the consumers and employees, victims of an "eye for an eye and tooth for a tooth" type of business?

If this is so, where will it end?

Sincerely concerned,
Mrs. Glen Nelson.

then again got the ball rolling as they added two more runs to their score to take a 6-3 lead going into the bottom of the sixth frame. Not giving up, the Bulldogs came back in the bottom of the frame to tie the score up at 6-6 as they collected three runs.

The final frame proved to be the fatal one for the local boys as they failed to collect the tie-breaking, and possibly the winning run, in the top of the inning. Borger came back in the bottom of the box to push across the winning run and take the contest by a 7-6 score.

While both teams were tagged for three errors each, the Herd came out on the short end of both the runs and hits as the Borger team had 10 hits to the Herd's 7.

Seeing pitching duties for the baseball team were Barry Johnson, Shelton White, who absorbed the loss, and Lynn Betts. The only Whiteface player to connect for extra bases was Jim Scott as he pounded the ball for a two-bagger.

The team traveled to Plainview Saturday but results were not available at press time. The next game of the season will be Tuesday when they play host to Caprock with the game scheduled to get under way at 4 p. m.

Meets Scheduled
The Hereford cindersmen traveled to Snyder to compete in a track meet there Saturday, but results were not available at press time. The next meet which the team will compete in will be the Dumas Invitational Track Meet. They then will go on the road again when they journey to the Odessa-Levelland Invitational Meet on March 16th.

The people in Hereford and Deaf Smith County are cordially invited to a reception honoring Judge James A. Joy, candidate for Associate Justice of the 7th Court of Civil Appeals at the Jim Hill Hotel Ballroom from 3:00 pm to 4:00 pm, Wednesday, March 6, 1968.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,
While shopping recently in a local CHAIN store, I found the clerk (a friend who has to work to supplement the family income) marking price changes of 10 to 20 cents up per item all over the store. When asked why, the clerk didn't know. The course of conversation revealed that the raise in base pay to $1.60 per hour brought a decrease in hours of work allowed

Long Career In Announcing Viewed With Contentment By Darrell Rose

By MARSHALL DAY Staff Writer

It is more than likely that if you get up in the morning and tune your radio to KPAN, the first voice you will hear is that of Darrell Rose.

That is, of course, unless that mud-colored beauty of yours got the jump of him and hit the air a little ahead of schedule. But all the same, if your dial is set correctly, Rose, known as Rosie to the local people, will be there in your home from the very outset of the day.

Rose's announcing career dates back through quite a few stations and quite a few years to the point where it now stands at KPAN. When he first graduated from Channing High School in 1952, Rose followed the course of many determined graduates and hit upon the college scene in all his splendor and glory, proceeding to major in radio speech—a thing which he felt was nothing special at the time.

"At times I felt I wasn't going to make it in college, but lots of encouragement and help from my friends and especially from Dr. Walker, radio speech instructor at WT, kept me going and I feel I owe him a lot," Rose stated.

After attending West Texas for two years, he then went in search of a radio announcing job, and was rewarded for his searching when KTNM in Tucumcari, N. M. hired him to do general announcing. After having worked at the Tucumcari station for about one year, Rose went in search for greener pastures as he took jobs at KTNM in Olympia, Wash., KERB in Kermit, KLEA in Lovington, N. M., KHOB in Hobbs, N. M., KENM in Portales, N. M., and KRMS in Osage Beach, Mo.

While in search of that greener pasture, Rose could not find it in any of the previous places and thus he found himself in Hereford in February, 1960. He worked here for two years but still not content, he moved on to work for KGNC in Amarillo, where he stayed for one year.

Not being satisfied with the unvaried work which he was required to do with the Amarillo station, Rose then returned to KPAN where he is now happy and content. The reason for his coming back to work in Hereford was stated as such: "I like the man I work for, the people of the town, and the progressive mindedness of the people—they are always looking for improvement everywhere. The entire town still has that small town air about it, though it is expanding rapidly."

Four days prior to getting his first job at Tucumcari, Rose married Wilma, his wife, and then began his long career in announcing. As all announcers must face things of peculiarity and humor, Rose was no exception to this and while on his first job, he was set upon by just one of these experiences.

This is how it went. During the March of Dimes Marathon, the men of the radio station where he was employed and two men from the Tucumcari newspaper teamed up with one man from each media and had a contest as they took turns on the control board seeing which team took in the most for the marathon. Well, the losers were required to wear red "longhairs" while the winners were to wear a tuxedo and all the accessories. The losers were to push winners down the main street of Tucumcari in a wheelbarrow, and just as his life of announcing has proved successful, so did this little adventure. The team Rose was on won and the bet went through without any hitches. This is just one of the many things which has enriched his life with radio, he explains. In looking back over the past to when he first began his announcing career and the changes that have taken place since then, Rose said, "There have been all sort of automation steps taken. We had very few 45 rpm records back when I first began, and the types of music have changed drastically. Back in the beginning of my career, we had such groups as the Crewcuts, the Gaylords, and of course, Eddie Arnold."

Along with the changes come the meeting of people who are of notable importance and Rose has met his share of them. When the Holly Sugar Corporation held its grand opening, Rose became acquainted with Gov. Connally, and when he was connected with the Tucumcari station, he was privileged to meet the governor of New Mexico said.

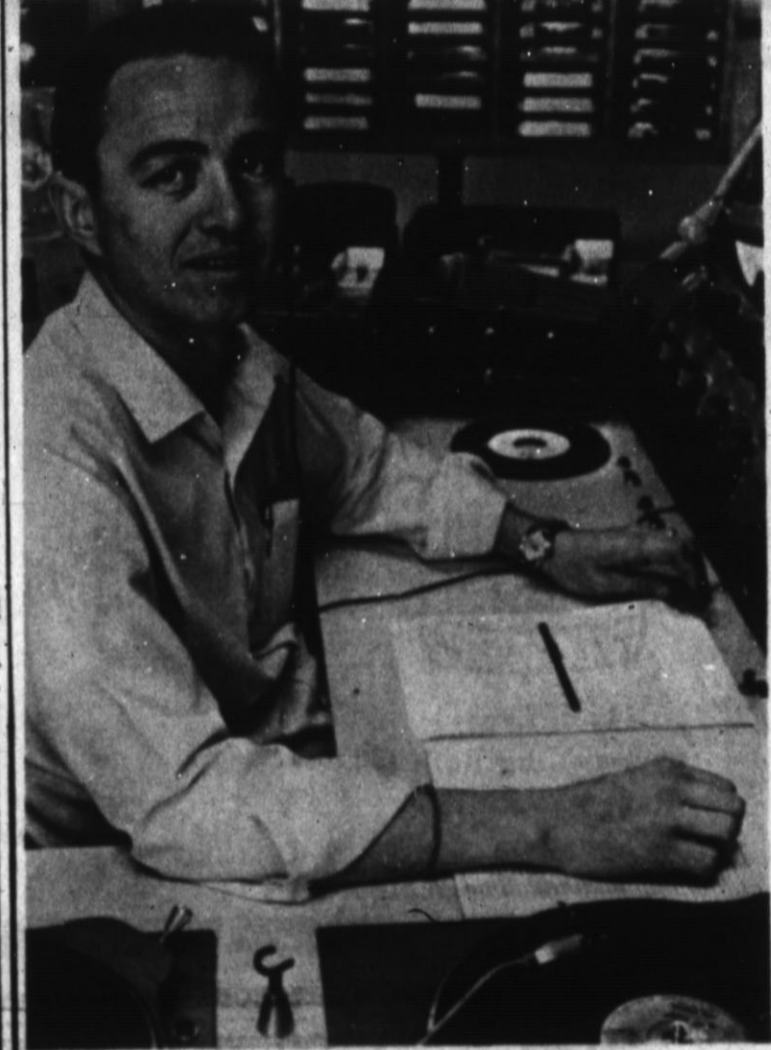

He covered a baseball game in which there were several All-Star players present and was also privileged to meet Clu Gallagher of the television series, "The Virginian."

Because there are a lot of things that come under the title of announcer, this is the main reason Rose has stayed with the KPAN station. He feels that there is more enjoyment in varying his activities and his present job supplies that variety. So he feels that he is very content with it and hopes to continue to do his part in serving the people of this area.

Halfback Jeri Baldy led Navy football players in rushing yards last season. He gained 539 yards on the ground.

gel, Steven T. Flippo and Walker Parris, Feb. 29.

April 5, 6 and 7, will have a number of students from the Hereford schools present, along with their exhibits.

Joan Waters of Aikman Elementary School, winner in the local elementary division of the Science Fair last weekend, will be an Amarillo entrant in zoology, along with Gerald Shipley, Beverly Kluskens and John Paetzold of Aikman.

From Bluebonnet School will be Gary Morton, Kenneth Adams, Christy Cole and Gerald Johnson. Central School will have no entries this year.

Northwest will have Kim Wilson, mathematics; Kim Poarch, medicine and health; David Baugous, botany; and Elizabeth Sawyer, zoology.

The Shirley School entries are Brenda King, medicine and health; Mike Aven and Mike Allen, both earth and space science. In the junior division, Stanton Junior High will send Richard Guymes, botany; Kevin Young, zoology; Jim Fowler, mathematics; Bobby Sanderson, math; and Loretta Gibson, math.

La Plata Junior High will pick the best seven (the maximum number for the Texas Panhandle Science Fair in the junior division) from 11 contestants.

They are Melissa Ann Johnson, who was division Grand Champion last weekend, botany, and Charlene Powell, Susanne Hewitt, Jeannie Robbins, Sandy Trevina, Karen Jagels, Marc Herring, Cliff Herring, Leroy Johnson, Mike Wartes and Susie Shirley.

The seven representatives from Hereford High school will not be named until Monday.

This will be the 11th annual Texas Panhandle Science Fair.

These students will compete for the International Science Fair, to be held this year at Detroit, Michigan, on May 15-18, in the senior division. Two delegates will be selected and sent to the International fair along with their teachers and advisors.

COMMERCIAL BAIT FISH CONFERENCE — Because of the great interest in fish farming, including bait fish, Wallace Klussmann, Extension wildlife specialist, says a Bait Fish Conference will be held at Texas A&M University, March 19-20. The discussions will center on golden shiner and goldfish culture, fish nutrition, parasite and disease diagnosis and control, pond weed control, and handling marketing and transportation. The conference is open to persons interested in fish farming. Local county agents can supply details.

Orenthel James Simpson of Southern California led major college elevens in rushing during 1967 with 1,415 yards, 141 more than runnerup Eugene Morris of West Texas State.

Hereford Teacher Honored At Meet

Harvey Penner, power mechanics and advanced drawing teacher at Hereford High School, was honored at the State Industrial Arts Convention, held at Texas A - M University Feb. 23-24, as the outstanding industrial arts teacher from the Panhandle Industrial Arts Association.

The award is made annually by the Texas Industrial Arts Association. The purpose of this award is to recognize one teacher from each of the regional associations in the state for performing outstanding work in the field of Industrial Arts Education.

Penner was born in O'Keene, Okla. and graduated from high school at Corn Bible Academy, Corn, Okla. He received the Bachelor of Science Degree from Southwestern State College in Weatherford, Okla. in 1960, and is presently working on a Master's Degree at West Texas State University in Canyon.

After receiving his Bachelor of Science Degree, Penner took a teaching position at Hereford High School, where he taught for three years. He then moved to Tulsa, Okla. and taught for two years at Wilson Jr. High School.

In 1965 Penner moved back to Hereford where he now teaches. During the past several years, Penner's students have taken many first place honors in the West Texas State University Student Fair and in 1966, Hereford won the Championship Trophy.

At present, Penner is secretary-treasurer of the Panhandle Industrial Arts Association. He is a member of the Panhandle Industrial Arts Association, the American Industrial Arts Association, and the Texas State Teachers Association. He has also served as a consultant at an area teachers workshop held in Dumas, October 30, 1967.

Penner resides at 306 Roosevelt in Hereford with his wife, Kaylin Ann, and his 2 1/2 year old daughter, Jan.

Agricultural Briefs

TEXAS COTTON GROWERS use production chemicals The use of agricultural chemicals for grass and weed control is listed by Fred C. Elliott, Extension cotton specialist, as the most significant development in Texas cotton production over the past 6 years. Last year, he said, either pre-emergence or post-emergence chemicals were used on almost two-thirds of the state's harvested cotton acreage. In 1962, only 46,389 acres in the state were treated with pre-emergence chemicals and even fewer with post-emergence.

NO SCREWORM CASES IN JANUARY — The first screw-worm-free January since the eradication program was started in 1962 is in the record books. Program officials urge livestock producers to continue their alert and submit samples from each worm infestation found to the mission Lab for positive identification.

AUSTIN HIGHLIGHTS

Airlines, Funds, Poverty Are Big Items In Austin

By VEEN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — A rather important corner may have been turned by the State of Texas in providing transportation facilities for its people. This by clarifying where the line between state and federal regulatory power should be drawn.

Texas Aeronautics Commission took the big step when its six members voted to certify Air Southwest Co. of San Antonio as an intrastate airline competing with the large, federally regulated interstate lines.

Air Southwest plans to offer commuter service among Dallas, San Antonio, and Houston using Lockheed Electra projects. It says it can offer service comparable to the large airlines and at rates lower by more than 20 per cent.

Federal-state rub is that the Civil Aeronautics Board licenses the interstate carriers and has its service and subsidy balances all worked out, without considering any state-licensed airlines.

So, Air Southwest is going to upset those balances somewhat, by taking from Braniff, Trans-Texas and Continental airlines some of the revenues now received under their charters from the CAB.

CAB did not make its wishes in the matter of Air Southwest's certification known to the Texas Aeronautics Commission. But Braniff, TTA and Continental did. Result was a seven-day hearing before TAC examiners, then another hearing for oral arguments before the commission itself.

Despite TAC's favorable ruling, the fight is far from over. Opponents to Air Southwest's plans have made it known that they plan to take their case into the courts — as far as it will go.

In the state courts, they will maintain that the TAC's action was not based on "substantial evidence." If they fail there, one attorney said they might go into the federal courts, charging that the TAC certification placed an undue burden on interstate commerce in violation of the U. S.

Constitution. SPECIAL SESSION OUTLOOK — Gov. John Connally revealed a "new unofficial estimate" by State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert on available General Revenue Funds, indicating that available revenue for operating state government may be some $50,000,000 higher than the comptroller's October, 1967, estimate of $297,600,000.

Governor Connally says the import of that is "the increase in available revenues will relieve the pressures for as large a tax bill as was originally anticipated" for the special legislative fiscal session. Connally has denied rumors that he will call a special session of the Legislature in March.

I am hopeful that if the special legislative session this year can be postponed until June, Speaker Ben Barnes said, "the figure will be even less" than the previous estimate of $115,000,000 in new tax resources necessary to support the state government in the fiscal year which begins September 1.

Barnes said recent revisions in revenue estimates mean that if the Legislature had passed a two-year tax bill in 1967, instead of waiting for a special session, Texas taxpayers would have been taxed about $60,000,000 more than necessary.

L. B. J. CONTRACT AWARD — A contract for construction of 16,673 feet of high-gamewall fencing at Lyndon B. Johnson State Park in Gillespie County has been awarded to Jasper Moore of Ingram. Moore was lowest among five bidders with a project price of $19,717.

Parks and Wildlife Department said the fencing project was designed more to keep exhibition animals in L. B. J. State Park than to keep visitors out. But it will enclose a large portion of the park and separate it from Ranch Road 1 and the L. B. J. Ranch, known as "The Texas White House."

PEOPLE POLLUTION! — "With over population a world problem, Planned Parenthood is becoming increasingly important as a governmental project," says Alan Bloebaum, regional director of the Southwest Region of Planned Parenthood.

A five-state district meeting on the subject is set for March 4 and 5 in Austin. This conference will be followed by a series of state sessions on family planning. Among them will be a special family planning conference by OEO, the American Association of Planned Parenthood Physicians and the State Nursing Association.

Cost of planned parenthood for one family per year is about $15, whereas the cost of welfare support — federal, state and county — for a dependent child is about $1,200 a year.

COURTS SPEAK — Supreme Court will hear arguments on March 27 in a Fort Worth case involving whether the city has provided required services to keep 6.3 square miles of annexed land or whether it must relinquish the property taken February 18, 1963, near Everman.

High court agreed a South Houston Gardens man is entitled to $14,000 damages for harm to his house and peace of mind caused by low-flying planes after William P. Hobby runways were extended to near edge of his property.

Transfer of four square miles from Rosenthal to Lorena school district is invalid without Falls County school board approval, Supreme Court concluded, upholding Court of Civil Appeals.

State Banking Board's award of a charter to American Bank of Commerce in Grapevine now has Supreme Court approval.

Third Court of Civil Appeals backed up a district court order that a charter should have been granted to Mission Savings and Loan Association in northeast Bexar County.

Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed death penalty assessed Kenneth Allan McDuff who was accused of killing three teenagers.

Residency requirement in state aid to families of dependent needy children act is under attack in a new federal court suit.

POVERTY PROGRAM SHIFTING — Texas War on Poverty program seems to be heading for a shift in control to the cities and counties under new federal legislation. New law will give local governments the option of taking over programs, effective February 1, 1969.

Cities and counties would have three alternatives: designate an existing community action agency; or designate themselves or some other public or private agency to operate the poverty program; or leave the decision of who is to run the program up to State-poverty program officials.

Change in control may also mean a change in the funding formula for the poverty program. Regional OEO Administrator Fred D. Baldwin said there is a "strong possibility" that next year's federal appropriations will come to the states without federal strings on how the money should be used.

PARK DEVELOPMENT ASSURED — Parks & Wildlife Commission Chairman Will Odum announced a $54,000 Federal matching grant to develop outdoor recreation facilities at Goose Island State Park, north of Rockport.

Governor Connally has designated March as "Beauty Texas Month" to recognize the Texas Garden Clubs Inc., which is celebrating its 40th anniversary.

Casa de Amigos

By KEITH SCHROYER

This year has seen several important changes in the Preschool Program at the Casa de Amigos.

For the first year volunteers are being used in the program. Volunteers were first used last summer when 3 classes involving about 70 children were in operation.

The use of volunteers met with such success during this time that a group of workers was organized to help with the regular Preschool Program.

Four people are needed to operate the two classes. Since there are presently only 2 VISTAS, Mary Schinnick and Keith Schroyer at the Casa working with Migrant Ministry employee Eunice Vasquez, the need for additional help is great.

There are now two volunteers each day. With these volunteers there are five people available, which allows one person free to handle problems in camp which require immediate attention during the morning.

The present volunteers are Mrs. Frank Ford Jr., Mrs. A. T. Mims, Mrs. Bill Dameron, Mrs. Jack Allen, Mrs. John Aiken, Mrs. Earnest Langley, Mrs. Matt Matthews, and Mrs. Dudley Bayne. In addition, Mrs. Delmo Williams, Mrs. S. O. Wilson, Mrs. Gene Brink, Mrs. Jose Rios and Miss Margarita Villarreal are available to fill in when needed.

The volunteers are taking a very active part in the program and are a main factor in the success of the Preschool.

Another change was made in the Preschool a couple months ago. At that time the Hereford Independent Schools provided the Casa with 20 desks, which seat 40 children. Up until this time large tables and benches which could seat about 10 children each were used.

Each child now has a place with his name on the desk. This is good for the children as it gives him a place of his own, which is his only. It also helps to create a classroom atmosphere more similar to that in grade school. This arrangement also allows for better control of the children and as a result, more effective discipline.

This winter has seen a large attendance at Preschool. A decrease in students was expected during this time, however, attendance has continued at 35-40 children each morning. This number would probably increase if more space was available.

Most of the children are from the Labor Camp. However, at this time 6 children from S. Schley and Catalpa are also attending Preschool at the Casa.

The Preschool has been a part of the activities at the Casa for the past three years. A Preschool is viewed by those who work with it as the main hope for the children from a poor home, and especially a Spanish speaking home, to have a good start in school.

However, even the best students will have great problems when they must compete with children from English speaking homes. It is hoped that children with preschool experience will be better able to cope with these problems and therefore have a better chance for obtaining a meaningful education.

LION OF THE MONTH — N. D. Bartlett Jr. was selected as the Lion of the month for February, and was presented a plaque at the noon meeting of the club on Wednesday. Cub and Boy scout troops sponsored by the club were guests at the meeting.

Gollehon Will Teach At Camp

Ben R. Gollehon, Hereford High School Band Director, will participate in this year's West Texas State University Music Camp which will be held July 14-16 at Canyon.

Gollehon was asked by Dr. John E. Green, director of the 16th annual Music Camp, to act as choir director and conduct clarinet sectionals during the camp session.

For students in high school, the camp offers instruction in honors band, concert band, symphonic band, varsity band, and junior high band. Dr. Green, head of the Music Department at WTSU University, said the enrollment deadline is June 15.

Students must have finished the 7th grade.

"KIWANIAN OF THE MONTH" — Ray Todd, president of the local Kiwanis club presents the "Kiwanian of the Month" award to Carl Swanson. See story.

Swanson Given Monthly Award

Carl Swanson was named, "Kiwanian of the Month" at the group's noon meeting Thursday. Swanson was in charge of the recent Mop and Broom sale, an annual affair of the club. Ray Todd, president of the club made the announcement. The program for the day was, "The Holly Sugar Success Story", presented by Don Lynn, shift Superintendent of Operations at the local plant. A new director was chosen at the meeting to fill the vacancy on the board. Truman Ragan was elected to fill the vacancy. Also at the meeting, plans were made for an inter-club to go to Abilene next Friday, at which time the national president of Kiwanis will make his visit to the Texas-Oklahoma district.

Pearson To Be Amarillo Speaker

Drew Pearson, internationally known Washington correspondent and author, will be guest speaker for the Amarillo Knife and Fork Club on March 13 at the Amarillo Country Club. The time will be 7 p.m.

Advance tickets are now on sale at $4.25 each, at the Wolf-Pharmacy and Maxor Drugs in Amarillo. Tickets at the door will be priced at $5.25.

Pearson became internationally known when he and Robert Allen originated the "Washington Merry-Go-Round" column. A very controversial newspaperman, Pearson has reportedly uncovered more exposes than all the other Washington columnists combined.

Mothers Needle Club Sale Aids Girlstown Fund

At a called meeting of Mothers Needle Club Thursday in the home of Mrs. C. N. McClure, members completed two wool coverlets from material given by Mrs. Wayne Lawrence, and sold them to two of the members. The money will be added to the club's gifts to Girlstown. The next meeting will be an all-day quilting in the home of Mrs. Lloyd Battey March 21. A salad luncheon was served to Mmes. Haskell Benson, H. A. Cook, Luther Ellis, Adam Flowers, W. T. Gunstenson, A.T. Jones, Ralph Paul, Annie Springer, J. L. Shirley, Nell Austin, W. H. Awtry Sr. and Battey.

Former Resident Dies In Vietnam

A native of Hereford, Sgt. William C. (Bill) Marsh, 27, was killed in action Sunday at Hue, South Vietnam, according to official reports from the Marine Corps. Marsh, who had made his home at Amarillo, had been in Vietnam since September 1966. He had been in the Marines since 1957. Sgt. Marsh is survived by a son and a daughter of Amarillo, a father and two brothers of San Antonio, and another brother at Arlington. Funeral arrangements are pending with Blackburn-Shaw Funeral Home at Amarillo, who reported that they were awaiting word at this time of the arrival of the deceased Marine.

Views Of Orient Shown For Club

Souvenirs from Japan, Formosa and Hong Kong were shown by Mrs. Guy Walser of Summerfield as she showed slides with scenes of a recent trip to the Orient for members of La Madre Mia Study Club Thursday evening. The meeting had been postponed a week to avoid conflict with a Community Concerts Association program Feb. 22.

Mrs. David Honea and Mrs. Don Walser were hostesses at Pioneer Gas Flame Room. The latter, program director, introduced her mother-in-law to give the travel program. Mr. and Mrs. Walser made their winter trip by air, meeting their son, Sgt. Ken Walser, in Tokyo while he was on a rest and recreation leave from military service in Viet Nam.

Slides they brought back are from the various cities they visited, and also show views of agricultural regions in Japan which they saw in side trips. Club members were especially interested in the series of pictures on rice planting, cultivation and harvesting.

Mrs. Harvey Penner conducted club business. Members decided to assist as volunteer chauffeurs for Kings Manor residents again in March, and to help stage the Mothers March for the National Foundation again next year as they did recently.

Mrs. David Sebrs was a guest with the speaker. Members present included Mmes. Lynton Allred, Waldo Baxter, Herschel Black, Carl Carlile, Jon Cranford, Charles Frye, James Gentry, Dean Herring, Ray Don King, Wayne Lady, Bill Lankford, Gerald Martin, G. C. Merritt, Harold Morton, Bill Nelson, Ben Scott, John E. Smith and Eugene Sparks.

Uncle Sam's Selective Service

Editor's Note: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 299 W. 9th Street, Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q — Will you define the term "necessary employment" used by a draft board when considering the granting of an occupational deferment?

A — A man's employment is considered to be necessary to the national health, safety, or interest only when these conditions exist: He is, but for a seasonal or temporary interruption would be, engaged in the activity. He cannot be replaced because of a shortage of persons with his qualifications or skill. His removal would cause a material loss of effectiveness.

Q — How long may a person retain his II-A occupational deferment?

A — Not more than a year. If there is a change in his status during the deferment period, his classification must be reopened and considered anew. He may be continued in Class

II-A for additional periods of one year or less if he qualifies. When the reason for an occupational classification ceases to exist, the draft board is not required to retain any man in Class II-A.

Q — I have an opportunity to visit Europe for several months. What should I do as far as Selective Service is concerned?

A — Write your local board. If your absence is not likely to interfere with the performance of your obligations under the Military Selective Service Act of 1967, your local board may approve this. If it does, it will complete and supply you with SSS Form No. 36, which is titled "Permit for Registrant to Depart from the United States."

Frio News

By MRS. OWEN ANDREWS
Brand Correspondent

Frio Homemakers Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Eugene Baldwin. The program centered around Care of Wigs and Wiglets and was given in demonstration by Mrs. Chesley Johnston, a licensed beautician. She talked about cleaning and styling the hairpieces and showed how to roll curls in one. She combed another and placed it in the hair of Mrs. Baldwin, who served as a model. Two full wigs were used to demonstrate their adaptability to different faces.

The next meeting is planned for March 12 at the home of Mrs. Carlton Dobbins with a film on the HemisFair.

Attending Tuesday's meeting were Meses. Dobbins, Weldon Stephan, Gene Duvall, Earl Harkins, Andy Aze, Henry Andrews, Laura Littrell, Harlan Barber, Annie Springer, Dee Taylor, Sam Ogan, Jackie Andrews, T. L. Sparkman Jr., Owen Andrews, Tommy Sparkman and Miss Alma Andrews.

Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Schmidt of Corn, Okla., are here this week visiting their children, the Herb Schmidts, the Leonard Schmidts and Earnest Harders. They came home with the Herb Schmidts last weekend when they were in Oklahoma visiting.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Sparkman Sr. Sunday was a niece, Mrs. Glenn Reeve of Friona.

Several have visited the J. B. Harlin home this week while their daughter, Mrs. George Cameron of Salem, Ore., has been a guest. She is the former Kitty Chloe Harlin and grew up in the Frio community. The Camerons have two daughters, Linda, a high school sophomore and Cindy, who is a freshman in a State University near Salem. Mrs. Cameron made the trip by airline, returning home Friday.

Among those visiting were Mrs. H. M. Mobley, Mrs. Floyd

ATTENDS SCHOOL — Gene Brock, right, of Hereford is shown with Dr. Lindsay R. Curtis, author of a new book on LSD. Brock attended the Tenth Annual School on Alcohol and Narcotics at Baylor University Friday and Saturday sponsored by the university and Texas Alcohol-Narcotics Education. Brock is an instructor at La Plata Junior High.

Cole and Mrs. Owen Andrews.

A recent visitor in the home of Mrs. H. M. Mobley was a sister-in-law, Mrs. D. P. Smiley of Roaring Springs. She was on her way to Friona to visit a son, Murie Massey, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hall of Wilcox, Ariz. were here last weekend visiting friends and attending to business. They attended church at Frio Sunday.

Harry James Vogler is in Houston this week where he has a pig entered in the Stock Show. Mrs. E. F. Vogler, his mother, went with him and is visiting another son, Leon and family there. Also, in Houston this week with calves in the show are Steve Robbins and Bill Cole.

Several from here attended the wedding on Feb. 24, of Miss Zadine Burris to Johnny Hubbard at Texico Baptist Church. Miss Burris is the daughter of Mrs. Allie Burris, Texico and niece of Mrs. Laura Littrell and W. H. Andrews. Hubbard is stationed in New Jersey, where the couple will live. His parents live in North Carolina.

Those from here attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs.

W. H. Andrews, Meses. Jackie Andrews, Laura Littrell, Jack Baker, T. L. Sparkman Jr. and Eugene Baldwin; Miss Alma Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bruns and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Z. G. Newberry, Paul, Virginia and Preston moved to Dimmitt the last of last week. They have lived on the W. H. Andrews place for the past year. Newberry has been employed with a Dimmitt vegetable packing plant since they moved here from Hale Center, last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer West, Linda and Donna, spent the weekend visiting his mother, Mrs. Bill Maddox, and other relatives at Sayre, Okla.

CARD OF THANKS
I wish to express my thanks to Dr. Hicks and the nurses at the hospital who were so kind to me during my illness. Also a special thanks to Rev. Brink for his prayers, and to all my friends who sent cards, flowers and cheered me with their visits.

H.D. CHATTER Spring Means New Clothes

By Mrs. Argen Draper
Home Demonstration Agent

The first few pretty spring-like days of March make every woman think about clothing for the coming seasons. In March, spring and summer clothing give an interesting zip to all people's feelings.

THE WAY a person dresses has a great impact on one's behavior; that is because of the bit of actress in everyone.

No time in fashion can people remember when so many varied styles are fashionable. This season is the time that whatever you do is all right. The scope is wide enough for something for every figure, age and personality.

A touch of the Thirties. The long skirts for formal wear and soft blouses look very feminine. The blouses feature tiny yokes, sleeves and are worn with a wide belted semi-full dirndl or skirt.

Skirts, as one designer described them, "bouncing, swinging, flipping — one for everywhere in every mood." The tendency goes to a slim, trim bodice and ease at the hemline.

THE MILITARY flavor remains with capes, buckles, shoulder ornaments and buttoned cuff tabs. The Oriental influence adds mandarin collars and buttons.

Colors are muted grays, beiges, browns, victorian pastels and bright prints with fabrics showing texture. Coral or shrimp is new with lots of turquoise and yellow. The prints are referred to as dizzy.

The big question is hemlines. The midi, which is between the ankle and the knee, highlights formal wear. For daytime, hemlines will stay short, but not mini-short; just above the knee is most popular.

THIS RELEASE along the same line is from the National Cotton Council: There's a new kind of fit in the fashion world this season. It's flare and fullness, with an easy look. Waists are up or down; skirts are pleated or dirndls. Little nothing dresses are important.

Culottes and mini skirts stay, but the trend is to the more tailored. Hardware goes on — big zips, galosh hook closings, nailheads, buckles, metal buttons.

Clear, bright colors are balanced by the neutrals — black, olive, white, banana, tan, navy, and chocolate brown. Pastels are chalky — melon, shrimp, and lavender. Accents are the splashy neons of prints and stripes.

Prints run off with the imagination. The florals are long-stemmed, fanciful posies — lots of daisies, lots of artificial looks. Flowers are incorporated into geometric designs — with stripes, plaids, circles, squares. Classics that seemed to be way out of date are creeping in for the shirtwaist dresses and casual coordinates.

College Choir Concert Slated

A concert at Christ Lutheran Church of Amarillo by the choir of St. Paul's College, Concordia, Mo., will be attended Sunday by a number of members of Immanuel Lutheran Church here, and is open to the public, the slightly, but are not expected to go below the top of the knee for another season. It is generally accepted that skirt lengths should be a matter of individual taste and figure.

Years ago, women sewed as a necessity and the results were basics, often with that "loving-hands-at-home" look. Nowadays, the sewer is interested in supplementing her wardrobe with up-to-the-minute items of fashion. She is proud of her ability to cope with the rising costs of living by duplicating what is being shown in fashionable ready-to-wear.

Cotton, like home and custom sewing, has come into its own. Endless research has glamorized its qualities and appearance. Out of the kitchen and on to the ball — but, unlike Cinderella, cotton has no zero hour. Today's fashion features cottons for day and night and for any season.

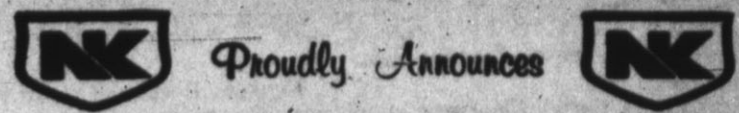

Rev. Herman J. Scheller, pastor, announces.

Jerome Schwab is director of the 68-voice student choir which is on a tour of this area. The concert will begin at 7 p.m. in the Amarillo Church which is located at 2001 North Grand St. Lenten services are being conducted in Immanuel Church, with the second service scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. Another Wednesday meeting will be for Ladies Bible Study at 2 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Hubert Stoerner at the K-Bar Motel, East Highway 60. Study will be in the book of Philip-plans. The estimated population in Hereford in 1967 was 12,504, while Deaf Smith County had 19,438. The number of persons per square mile in Hereford was 2,865.

For the second straight year senior Don Martin led the University of Washington eleven in scoring. He kicked 10 of 17 field goals and made 14 of 15 extra-point attempts for a total of 44 points.

Submarine Life, Power Is Explained By Navy Veteran

By TYLER VANCE
Staff Writer

R. D. Feightner says as a submarine man, he belongs to "the elite of the fleet."

Feightner, who is now the recruiting officer for the 17-county area around Amarillo has been in the Navy for the past 15 years, and plans to stay in for another five to become eligible for the retirement benefits the service has to offer.

The recruiter was in Hereford Wednesday to present the film, "Beyond Magellan" to the noon meeting of the Hereford Lions Club. The film showed the nuclear sub, Triton, on its voyage following the path Magellan took around the world — the only difference being that the Triton made the entire journey underwater.

Before becoming the recruiting officer for this area, Feightner spent five years on submarines, and traveled around the world twice. The longest stretch he was underwater was four months.

"The life on a submarine is quite different," said Feightner. "The biggest difference between sub life and other ship life is the lack of the sun while cruising," said Feightner, adding, "But I wouldn't trade it for anything."

Since joining the Navy when he was 18, the local recruiter has worked up to the rank of Electrician's Mate-First Class. While on board submarines, it was his job to control the speed of the ship.

Feightner explained the life on a submarine: "The day consists of upkeep of the boat, and, for me anyway, correspondence work with the University of Harvard. All safety valves and fire control systems are checked at 8 a. m., and the results given to the Chief of Naval Operations at 12 noon. The reporting is done by code. The sailor is on watch for four hours, and off for eight hours. Recreation includes all sorts of games, handy crafts, wrestling and boxing, playing records, etc.

The subs also have excellent food, and the entire bottom of the ship is used for supplies, permitting long underwater voyages." Feightner also added that the purpose of the nuclear submarine is to sail undetected in restricted waters, and report any missile launching that could affect the free world. He added that on one nuclear sub, four of the sixteen polaris missiles on board carry more fire power than all the bombs dropped during World War II combined. The recruiter also provided more information about today's nuclear submarines. "The subs today have a test depth of over two miles, a speed of over 50 knots, carry 16 polaris missiles, and usually stay underwater from 3-4 months at a time." Before becoming a member of the submarine team, Feightner had to meet several requirements. Included in these were 20-20 vision or vision corrected to 20-20, a mental attitude somewhat above average and good physical condition. After meeting these requirements, Feightner went to boot camp for nine weeks at San Diego, Calif., and then to a special training school at New London, Conn. "The first week on a submarine is the roughest," said the sailor. "Getting away from the outside world. There is no sense of time." In his present job as Naval recruiter, Feightner figures he has traveled over 200,000 miles, talking to high school and college students.

R. D. Feightner — U.S. Navy.

Horse Judging Clinic Planned

Deaf Smith County residents will have the opportunity to participate in a Quarter Horse Judging Clinic and practice judging contest on Saturday at Cockrell's Indoor arena in Amarillo.

W. W. Grisham Jr., district agricultural agent, said the events will be held for Extension District 1 county agricultural agents, adults 4-H Club leaders and 4-H Club members at the arena, which is located about one mile east of the city limits on U. S. 287.

The clinic will begin at 10:30 a. m. and the judging contest will be held during the afternoon. The events are being sponsored by the Golden Sprend Quarter Horse Association, which has Jack Streun of the Summerfield community as president, and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Each of the 22 counties in the district may enter two 4-H teams, one junior and one senior, in the judging contest, says Grisham. The judging clinic will include sessions on conformation (horses at halter), western pleasure, reining, cutting and roping and the afternoon contest will consist of these same classes.

Following the judging contest, classes will be discussed and awards will be presented to the top judging teams. About 250 participants are expected for the day-long event.

This Is The House

The Blacks Built

THIS IS the House, at 1530 Brevard.

'DO IT YOURSELF' is more than a slogan for the Herschel Black family, which for the past few months has occupied a ten-room and three-bath split-level brick ranch style home built mostly by their own efforts.

UNITED EFFORT of the family went into the building. Mr. and Mrs. Black, sons Greg and Carey and even seven-year-old daughter Tonja each had a share in the work which continued for about five months before the house was ready to move into. It is still not quite finished, the Blacks say, but they are relaxing and enjoying its present livable condition before they complete the final details.

INEXPERIENCED in any type of construction work, the Blacks decided to tackle the building project themselves, to get twice the house they could have had for the same price if professionals had built it. They hired the bricklaying, plumbing, electrical wiring, carpeting and cabinet work done; but put up the framework, walls, roof, inside wallboard, plaster, woodwork, did the painting and various other phases of building.

TO START, they had a lot of an excavation and a concrete floor poured. It had been abandoned after some of the framework had been erected, and that had fallen, become warped and twisted to make the beginning harder. Now they look back and wonder how they had the courage to start.

PASSERSBY STARED when they saw tiny Mrs. Black and the boys at work on the roof last summer, and the Blacks' friends teased them unmercifully about their project—but occasionally lent a hand with it. Now they enjoy with the family the hospitable large rooms.

ONLY ACCIDENT of any consequence was a falling scaffold, but no one was hurt and the work progressed with no worse injuries than sore muscles and pounded thumbs.

FOUR-YEAR residents of Hereford, the Blacks lived in Amarillo for a decade previously. Both parents grew up in farm families near Groom, attended school and lived there a time after their marriage. Mrs. Black plays the piano and paints landscapes for her own amusements, likes to arrange friends' hair as a hobby. She teaches intermediates in First Baptist Sunday School and is a member of La Madre Mia Club. The whole family cooperates in summer Little League activities. Black is manager of Dolly Textiles, manufacturer of children's dresses.

PRIDEFUL LOOK is taken by Mr. and Mrs. Black at section of roomy cabinets she planned. Cabinets were among the few things built by professionals.

THIS IS the Family that lives in the House. With daughter Tonja and sons Greg and Carey, the Blacks sit on floor in room which will be the formal living room, now is furnished only with a piano.

FINISHING TOUCHES were added by Mrs. Black after actual construction was done. She made the headboard, matching bedspread and draperies in the large master bedroom.

UP AND DOWN STAIRCASES are exhibited by Greg, 13, and Carey, 12. From main floor, one flight goes down into family room with fireplace, another up to bedroom floor.

MORE STEPS UP can be taken on this ladder to trapdoor in hall ceiling. Door and window frames exhibit more of the Blacks' skill in carpentry.

Tea Given Mothers Of CFG Group

A ceremonial tea with mothers of members as guests was given by Wa-Ci-Nah Campfire Girls recently in the home of Mrs. Jack Allen, group leader. Awards included 11 for three-year membership in the group.

These went to Laurie Allen, Quinn Barton, Carol Bavousett, Cynthia Byers, Jeanne Carnahan, Kelley Daniels, Melinda Rhodes, Kim Simpson, Shyla Thomas, Gale Tucker and Gaye Wesson.

Other girls who participated as hostesses were Pamela Tomasi, Gloria Mays, Rose Mary Dupnik, Debbie Walterscheid, Sherrill Fragley and Leann Sheppard. Mrs. Tommy Carnahan, assistant leader, was also one of the hostesses.

Katie Laine, Finnish student attending Hereford High School this year under the American Field Service program, was the guest speaker who told the girls and their mothers of her family in a city where her father is a member of the police force. She answered numerous questions about her home, schools, church, sports and the colorful Finnish peasant costume she wore.

Tea was served from a table where the centerpiece was a mirror lake surrounded with snow-sprinkled evergreens reminiscent of the lakes and forests of Katie's home country. A small Finnish flag was placed in the scene.

THREE-YEAR MEMBERS — These 11 girls in Wa-Ci-Nah Campfire group were given three-year membership insignia as awards were made at a ceremonial tea this week in the home of their leader, Mrs. Jack Allen. Mothers were entertained by the group members at the tea.

Calliopian Club Is Told Of Trip

A European trip highlighted by a visit with an Austrian girl who spent a year in Hereford as a high school student, was the subject of a travel program given by Mrs. W. T. Carmichael for Calliopian Club members Thursday evening.

She was guest speaker at Hereford Country Club, where Calliopian club was entertained by Mrs. Alton Fraser. The Carmichael family toured France, Austria, Switzerland, Spain and Portugal last year when Carmichael represented a local service club at an international convention in Nice, France.

Scenes of countries on their itinerary were shown on slides by Mrs. Carmichael, with comment on their experiences. Calliopian members were especially interested as she told of the meeting with Krista Holtz in Vienna, and visit to her home in a nearby city.

Miss Holtz was a student here one term in the American Field Service program, and a number of the club members knew her.

A change in the place of meeting for March 14 was announced; Mrs. Sue James will be hostess in her home.

In addition to Mrs. Carmichael, guests were Mrs. Fred Howard and Mrs. Ross Cooley.

The coming of the Higgins clan to Deaf Smith County could have been considered almost an invasion. In fact, at one time someone remarked that the Higgins were about to crowd out the prairie dogs. The immigration was begun in 1890 when W. S. (Uncle Summy), W. H. (Uncle Billy), and Uncle Billy's son, John R. Higgins, moved their families into the county.

Cowboys would pick up the mail in Amarillo and bring it in a flour sack to the Porter Lee Johnson ranch in Deaf Smith County, where it was dropped in an orange crate behind the stove.

Easter Seal Letters Are Mailed Locally

Easter Seal Appeal letters are to be delivered this week in Deaf Smith County according to J. A. Hodges, Jr., the Easter Seal Representative of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas. As Representative, Hodges serves as contact representative for disabled persons needing Easter Seal rehabilitation services and also serves as Treasurer of the Easter Seal Appeal in Deaf-Smith County.

4-H Club Plans Tuesday Meeting

A meeting of the 4-H Horse Club will be held at the Community Center at 7:30 on Tuesday night. All interested 4-H members and their parents have been urged to attend.

Scheduled for the program is a guest speaker from Amarillo. For further information, James Lee said that he could be contacted at 206 Cherokee Drive or by calling 364-3853.

It was also pointed out that any non-4-H member who is interested in horses or joining the 4-H is also invited to attend the meeting.

Youth Revival Will End Today

Today is the last day scheduled for the Youth Revival being presented under the supervision of the Nazarene Young People's Society.

Services were held Friday and Saturday and will be held tonight at 7 p.m. at the Church of the Nazarene at 248 W. Sixteenth Street.

The young men who have been conducting the revival and who will conduct it tonight are in Hereford from the Bethany Nazarene College at Bethany, Okla.

Stephen Heap, a senior at Bethany, and the son of missionaries is in Hereford for the revival and brought with him the Mission Crusader Quartet. The purpose of the Mission Crusaders is to emphasize the importance of world missions in the many churches they visit.

finances public education programs, and provides scholarships for training of professional personnel to staff rehabilitation centers.

Mr. Hodges pointed out that all these programs are important if Texas is going to continue to provide the best in rehabilitation services for its own disabled citizens.

During 1967, the Texas Easter Seal Society provided treatment and services to 17,622 children and adults who were in need of rehabilitation services. These services are available to any disabled person who can benefit from help provided by the Easter Seal Society, Mr. Hodges added.

The Easter Seal Campaign will run through Easter Sunday, April 14.

The name of C. R. Moreman appeared quite frequently in reports of civic activities in Hereford and Deaf Smith County in the early days. Moreman had cypress lumber shipped here for his home and for the construction of a business building.

Joseph Calvin Cox and his brother ran head-on into a rancher-neighbor feud in the spring of 1887, as they brought their families in two covered wagons, with their herds, to Deaf Smith County.

Andrews Speaks Before Rotarians

Joe Ed Andrews, a young Castro County farmer who was born in this area in 1940 and lived around here most of his life, was speaker for the Rotary Club members at their noon luncheon Monday at the Hickory Log.

Andrews, who is a Rotarian, also illustrated his talk with color slides, centered upon a recent trip to Old Mexico.

The young farmer, who is a graduate of West Texas State with a degree in International Relations, peppered the scenes of his tour with comic asides and wry comparisons with Hereford's business counterparts.

Together with this, it was a travelogue where he was the lone man with his wife and Mrs. Charles Frye, and he served as babysitter for the children as the ladies shopped.

The Rotary members were highly entertained. The title of Andrews' monologue was "How to Tour Mexico on $2 per Day — or Take Your Wife for Another $150."

However, he did present a serious and informative slide to

it. He told the group of the necessary papers that are required to enter Mexico by automobile, the liability insurance necessity, and "Do not worry about the people you will see down there — why they do what they do. Don't try to Americanize them, and you will have the time of your life."

Andrews has made six or seven trips to Mexico in the past and is very interested in the country and its people. When bracero labor was permitted in this part of the state, a number of them worked on his father's farm. He got to know them and tries to keep in contact with some of them on his visits south of the border.

Andrews is the father of two little girls and a young boy.

Radio station KPAN was opened in Hereford in 1948.

The first Home Demonstration agent, Miss Ruby R. Fincher, appeared in Hereford in September 1915.

THE SUNDAY BRAND

Editorials

Page Four The Sunday Brand, Hereford, Texas, Sunday, March 3, 1968

Customer Is Main Factor In Sunday Closing Laws

Hereford got into quite a hassle last week when merchants met to discuss the so-called "Blue Laws," which prohibit the sale of certain articles on Sundays. What's more we cannot see where the situation altered much, except for the flaring of tempers.

There are extensive arguments on both sides of this question, and we doubt if it will ever be settled to the satisfaction of all concerned. Seen from a religious standpoint, we cannot see a lot of difference between making gasoline available on Sunday and selling automobiles or shoes. At the same time, we are bound to recognize the fact that by staying open some stores are forcing their competitors to do the same thing.

Nor should the merchant take full blame on any of these counts. The entire matter gets back directly to the public. If there were no customers, we feel sure that no stores would remain open — and we would have no problem. This truly is the crux of the matter, and is the point from which any settlement should stem if necessary through legislation on a local option basis comparable to our liquor laws.

The situation is fairly clear but in that we do currently have legislation covering the subject. Officials are bound to enforce the laws, just as they should enforce other laws — and this is even more emphasized through the fact that local complaints demand enforcement. As Gov. Connally recently pointed out concerning the existence of open clubs over the state, we should either enforce the laws we have, or we should replace them through public demand and elections. What's more, the Sunday laws, unless operated on a local option basis, should be uniform throughout the state.

Meanwhile, just to emphasize the confusion presently involved, we call to mind the story of a Hereford woman who, a few months ago, found herself in Lubbock on Sunday morning without a comb. After several attempts, it became apparent that no comb was available on Sunday. Traveling back to the motel, however, the couple did, with little effort manage to purchase a six-pack of beer.

Mr. Clifford's Task

In most any organization, the man who succeeds a reformer faces the task of consolidating the reforms while smoothing feathers the reformer has ruffled. So it is as Clark Clifford takes over the Defense Department from Robert McNamara this week.

While we believe he is guilty of some miscalculations, Mr. McNamara must be credited with brilliant, and most significant reforms in the Pentagon's budgeting and decision-making process. We have recently seen that even with a huge defense budget of $75 billion we are unable to insure that the North Koreans cannot seize our ships; obviously not even our great wealth can buy everything our armed forces could use. Thus one key to our national defense is deciding what to buy and how.

Previous to Mr. McNamara's tenure, it seems, civilian authorities set somewhat arbitrary budget ceilings, and in practice the vectors of inter-service rivalry tended to determine who got what share. He replaced a haphazard system with his cost-effectiveness approach and related techniques. Defense requirements are stated as explicitly as possible, and statistical and other systematic analysis are used to decide the most economical ways to fulfill those requirements.

This tight central direction has, probably for the first time, brought order and logic to an incredibly vast and complex organization, allowing Mr. McNamara to coordinate the far-flung military activities toward a clearer common goal. Without preventing all bad decisions, these methods at least gave the decision-makers the protection of a better understanding of precisely why they decided as they did.

Introducing such rigorous reform requires personal brilliance and the fervor to press ahead when it may make enemies, qualities which Mr. McNamara certainly can claim. Insuring that the reforms remain with the reformer gone, though, requires a different set of characteristics. Granting the impossibility of prejudging his actual performance, we would guess that Mr. Clifford is well endowed with the qualities necessary to consolidation.

He apparently supports the McNamara reforms, considering them something akin to the service unification he long ago advocated. At the same time, he has the manner and reputation to smooth relations with alienated officers and their Congressional friends. He may be able to win their support for the new methods, thereby insuring their permanence. Finally, his comments before Congress indicate he will not be entirely swept away by the cost-effectiveness mystique.

The last is particularly important because it is easy to go overboard on the new techniques, for all their virtues. There does seem to be more than wounded pride — though there is plenty of that — to the complaints the officers press. If their advice had been listened to a little more sympathetically, it seems likely the system would have worked even better. Cost-effectiveness, for example, overruled the admirals when they wanted a nuclear-powered aircraft carrier; now we understand that even the cost-effectiveness experts regret that decision.

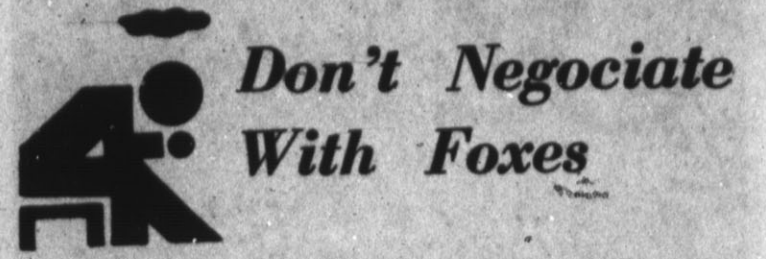

Some of the experts contend their methods were not fully used in the decision to build the TFX aircraft for two divergent missions. Yet it is clear that decision relied too heavily on pure theory, which seemed to offer savings of "commonality" that experienced hands correctly warned would not be achieved in practice.

In these cases, it seems, systematic analysis was used as a total substitute for experience, whereas the two should always be adjuncts to each other. Statistics and such often create a false impression of precision, and it has to be constantly remembered that even the most rigorous analysis is no better than the assumptions that go into it. Results departing too far from the counsel of experience should be a warning to reexamine the assumptions carefully, not an occasion for blind obedience to the new religion.

With nothing less than the future security of the nation at stake, Mr. Clifford faces a most difficult and subtle task. He must insure that systematic methods of decision-making are fully institutionalized at the Pentagon, but also that they are institutionalized without rancor and with an appropriate grain of salt.

LOST IN SPACE

A recent political cartoon testifies why the states' rights issue has lost so much credibility in this country. The cartoon depicted George Wallace, dressing himself in a new suit of "states rights" before going out to make a campaign speech. The new suit didn't fit, however. The sleeves were short, the trousers were short, and he didn't have a hat. Long underwear of "racism" was amply displayed, and the white hood of the Ku Klux Klan was markedly present. States' rights was nothing but a coverup for what the cartoonist considered the real motives behind the Wallace campaign.

States' rights has gotten its share of hot air in election years, but states' responsibilities is a topic never touched. It appears that states' rights amounts to a patriotic excuse for doing nothing in any situation.

In this country, state and local governments are in a unique position. Unlike the federal government, these smaller governing bodies compete with one another. They compete for the factors that will bring business to the state, tourists to the state, customers from other states.

It stands to reason that the state with no income taxes, no city sales taxes, no workmen's compensation laws, no minimum wage laws, a good supply of cheap labor and no unions will be the one to attract business concerns. The state with scenery, history, entertainment, will attract tourists.

This is why states can't get too concerned with low wages and workmen's compensation, or with civil rights issues. State edicts in these matters may hinder a state's competitive position. But when problems exist that need be corrected, someone has to do the job, to carry the responsibility.

States' rights is a dead issue in areas of labor, civil rights, and economic planning. The issue is dead because states' responsibilities are dead on these issues.

Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz would like to see the "Occupational Safety and Health Act" passed in this session of Congress. The act is a national workmen's compensation plan, aimed at taking up the slack in state plan deficiencies.

No state would have implemented any such plan; it would be an additional cost to employers. Only when all states together would pass identical bills would workmen's compensation receive state attention. Not very likely, to say the least.

Wirtz said it best when one interested person asked him why this legislation hadn't been left up to the states. The Secretary's reply... "You don't negotiate with foxes about chicken fences."

50 YEARS AGO

The many friends and acquaintances of Postmaster J. A. Stegall were surprised this week to hear that he had decided to resign his office on account of his health, and had asked the Department at Washington to relieve him at the earliest convenient moment. The growing demands upon the time of the local postmaster have severely taxed the endurance of Mr. Stegall, and he feels that this is in large measure due to insufficient quarters and clerical help. Friends of Miss Annie Anthony, now a member of the post office force, have circulated a petition to Congressman Jones, asking for her appointment as Mr. Stegall's successor. If there are any other candidates for the office, they have not as yet publically announced.

War Savings stamps purchased in Deaf Smith County during February 1918 amounted to $6,500.

Telegraphic advices from the East indicate that D. L. McDonald and party are on the trail of a good bunch of Holstein cows for the Hereford Dairy Association, and word that shipment will start soon is anticipated locally.

The Texas Food and Feed Production Campaign committee at Austin, organized for the purpose of stimulating such work in every county of the state, have asked G. A. F. Parker to act for them in Deaf Smith County, and suggests organization for War Garden Work.

H. E. Elrod, Dallas engineer, the man who planned Hereford's street paving work, spent Tuesday in the city looking over the situation with reference to needed improvements in the sewerage plant.

This is a chance for those who like to see William S. Hart in one of the best pictures he ever acted in, "Wolves of the Rail." There is but one Bill Hart. They have tried to imitate him but this has not been done. In "Wolves of the Rail" you will see him in a new role, that of a railroad detective. He plays the part to perfection as Bill Hart always does. Wednesday only at the Star Theatre.

Virgil O. Strickler, C. S. B. of New York City, will deliver a free lecture on Christian Science, Sunday, at the Mission Theatre in Amarillo. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Starting with the next issue, the Hereford Brand will discontinue city delivery routes. All subscriptions now being delivered by special carriers will be continued through the post office. Decision to eliminate city delivery routes is being made as a last resort, due to unreliable service during recent months. Delivery service during the coming summer months would be practically impossible when delivery boys take jobs on farms and in business firms over the community.

David Rodgers and Gaylord Newell this week announced their purchase of the Weir Super Market from Glenn Weir and state that the business will be operated under the name, Hereford Super Market.

Planes Replacing Trains In Delivery Of Mail Today

By BERT MILLS
Washington, D. C. — Some young adults of today have seen more of the world than all their ancestors put together, and yet have never been on a train. Unless they hurry, they may never experience a ride on the rails.

Passenger train service is disappearing fast, and this facet of changing America is raising a hob with the delivery of mail. Whereas in 1930 there were 10,000 mail-carrying trains, today there are only 741. The downward trend is expected to continue.

Since the end of World War II, the decline in rail passenger service has been precipitous. Thousands of communities are no longer reachable by train. You take a car or a bus, or you can't get there, even though freight trains may still serve such towns. Automobiles used to be primarily for short trips. The greater range of modern cars and the tremendous improvement in highways has made car travel faster than train service in some cases, and cheaper too when the whole family goes along. Some people even commute several hundred miles per day by car.

The airlines have developed to such a point that any sizable community can now be reached by plane, perhaps with an air taxi hop to final destination. Even small towns boast airports today, many of them regularly served by a network of feeder airlines.

P. O. Switching to Planes
Of necessity, the Post Office Department is flying more mail all the time. So many letters are airborne now that the chances are about 10 to 1 that airmail postage is wasted between domestic points. For a 6-cent stamp, the public usually gets 10-cents airmail service, if the destination of a letter is as far as 200 miles away.

Last January Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien announced that all first class mail that can be expedited is being airlifted, at the first class rate. The P. O. now has a nationwide airmail network of more than 500 cities, some of which used to be only whistlestops on the railroad.

This heavy use of planes instead of trains is accomplished on a "space available" basis. This means that the airlines do not guarantee to carry non-airmail on a particular flight, but that any unused space will be utilized by mail. Naturally, the airlines are paid a lower rate for this unused space than for that they contract in advance to carry airmail.

For years, Congress held back the P. O. in its desire to deliver more mail by air. Congress sought to preserve as many passenger trains as possible, and realized that the loss in postal revenue would accelerate the decline in train service. But Congress has now accepted the inevitable and allowed the P. O. to airlift mail wherever and whenever it is expedient to do so.

Airmail Service May End
In 1968, Congress may decide to abolish airmail as a separate service. Postmaster General O'Brien has announced his intention to seek legislation to establish a "priority mail" service. This would mean the P. O. would utilize the fastest method of transportation available, at the current 6-cent rate for letter mail.

Letters moving from Washington to Baltimore, for example, would still go by train as long as that service was available. But if a bus or a truck could do the job as well, these means would be utilized. Between Washington and New York, a distance of about 220 miles, planes would generally be used.

However, an experiment is now about to begin to launch high-speed train service between Washington and Boston. If this succeeds, the railroads may retain a good share of their mail volume on the Eastern Seaboard.

The goal of the P. O. is overnight delivery between major points for all first class mail. This year's test of the new airmail network should determine whether the goal can be achieved despite fewer mail-carrying trains.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

THE BOOTLEG — Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm is looking ahead toward summer, to get his mind off of winter, we suppose.

Dear editor: According to an article I read in a newspaper some do-it-yourself garbage disposal worker dropped in the ditch along the road near my house out here on this bindweed farm yesterday, a lot of people are concerned about what's going to happen in this country next summer when the weather is warm and the rioting is easy.

I guess it's all right to have somebody worrying six months ahead although I don't see how he does it, I'm not through worrying yet about what happened yesterday and is bound to happen tomorrow to worry about spring, not to mention summer. I thought of offering the suggestion to these planners that the place to hold riots is in Saigon or Hue. From the looks of those wrecked places you could stage one without being noticed, the before and after pictures would be the same, but that's out of my department.

What interested me in that article was the report that the way to prevent riots is to remove the causes. That's true, the same as it is with wars and divorces and school trustee fights and economic depressions, if anybody wants the job, but what really got my attention was a statement one of the rioters of last summer made. He said, as he walked off with a color T. V. set, "All I'm doing is collecting what's owed my great-grandfather."

Well, how you're going to prevent now what happened a hundred and fifty years ago to your great-grandfather is a problem I'll leave to the experts in Washington. It'd require more re-writing of history than I could manage.

However, I like the idea. For example, I have been told that one of my ancestors was thrown in jail in England for life for a bad debt he didn't owe, he wasn't the type of man who was given grocery credit in the first place, and I hope the bank recognizes this if I skip the next payment on my note. And if it doesn't, I'd ask it to remember that Julius Caesar did. What this country needs is more banks and television stores familiar with the history of the human race.

TULOMA ANHYDROUS AMMONIA

your answer to higher crop yields

Crop yields are determined more by nitrogen than by any other element. High yields depend on managing nitrogen efficiently. Here's how we can help.

As a pre-plant fertilizer we knife TULOMA anhydrous ammonia deep into the soil . . . where nitrogen belongs. The ammonium form is non-leaching so it stays put in the soil. This means your pre-plant application of TULOMA anhydrous is in a "slug" beneath the surface . . . ready when your plants need it.

Easy to apply, economical TULOMA anhydrous ammonia is 82% nitrogen . . . highest concentration you can buy.

TULOMA anhydrous ammonia is ideal for side-dressing later in the season, too . . . that extra nitrogen is a real yield booster. Get your order in right now! We will be happy to apply your TULOMA anhydrous ammonia, or provide rental equipment for you at minimum cost. Let us show you how to increase your yields and profits with TULOMA anhydrous ammonia.

Club Hears Of Water Projects

Water import proposals, current projects and activity in water resource development in the Panhandle-Plains area were discussed by Andrew Kershen, local farmer and member of Water Inc., as guest speaker to West Hereford Home Demonstration Club this week.

The informational talk was made in Pioneer Gas Flame Room, where Miss Evelyn Bell and Mrs. Carl Schroeder were hostesses. Mrs. Schroeder made a report of the February County H. D. Council meeting.

Also present were Meses. W. H. Awtrey Sr., Blanche Hardin, John Jacobsen Sr., and Miss Mary Brady. The next meeting March 12, will be in Miss Brady's home.

Women's Missionary Union as the annual week of prayer for home missions. Plans for special programs were made at the Wednesday morning meeting in the church.

At that time a home mission study book, Trumpets In Dixie, by W. C. Fields, was reviewed by Mrs. G. W. Duncan. The book points out that the south is changing more rapidly than other parts of the nation, with industrialization and urbanization proceeding rapidly. The local church's role in missions and evangelism during this era of change was discussed.

Present were Meses. Don Houle, Johnny Townsend, Hubert Bellar, C. C. Renfro, Lola Menasco, E. H. Harper, H. D. Robbins, Jim Culpepper, Carl Schroeder, Andrew Batterman and Carlyle Sargent.

Scout Pack Has First Banquet

Boy Scouts of America-Pack 146, sponsored by the Greenwood Baptist Church, has had its first annual banquet, with awards given to deserving boys who had worked for the honors. The banquet was Monday night.

Pack 146 was organized on November 30 last year. Its charter was presented to the Greenwood Baptist Church.

Guests at the banquet were Rev. Al Baum, pastor of the church; Ed Skypala, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Craig, Reid Moore and Jackie McNeese, the scoutmaster. Dave Hicks, the assistant scoutmaster, was unable to attend.

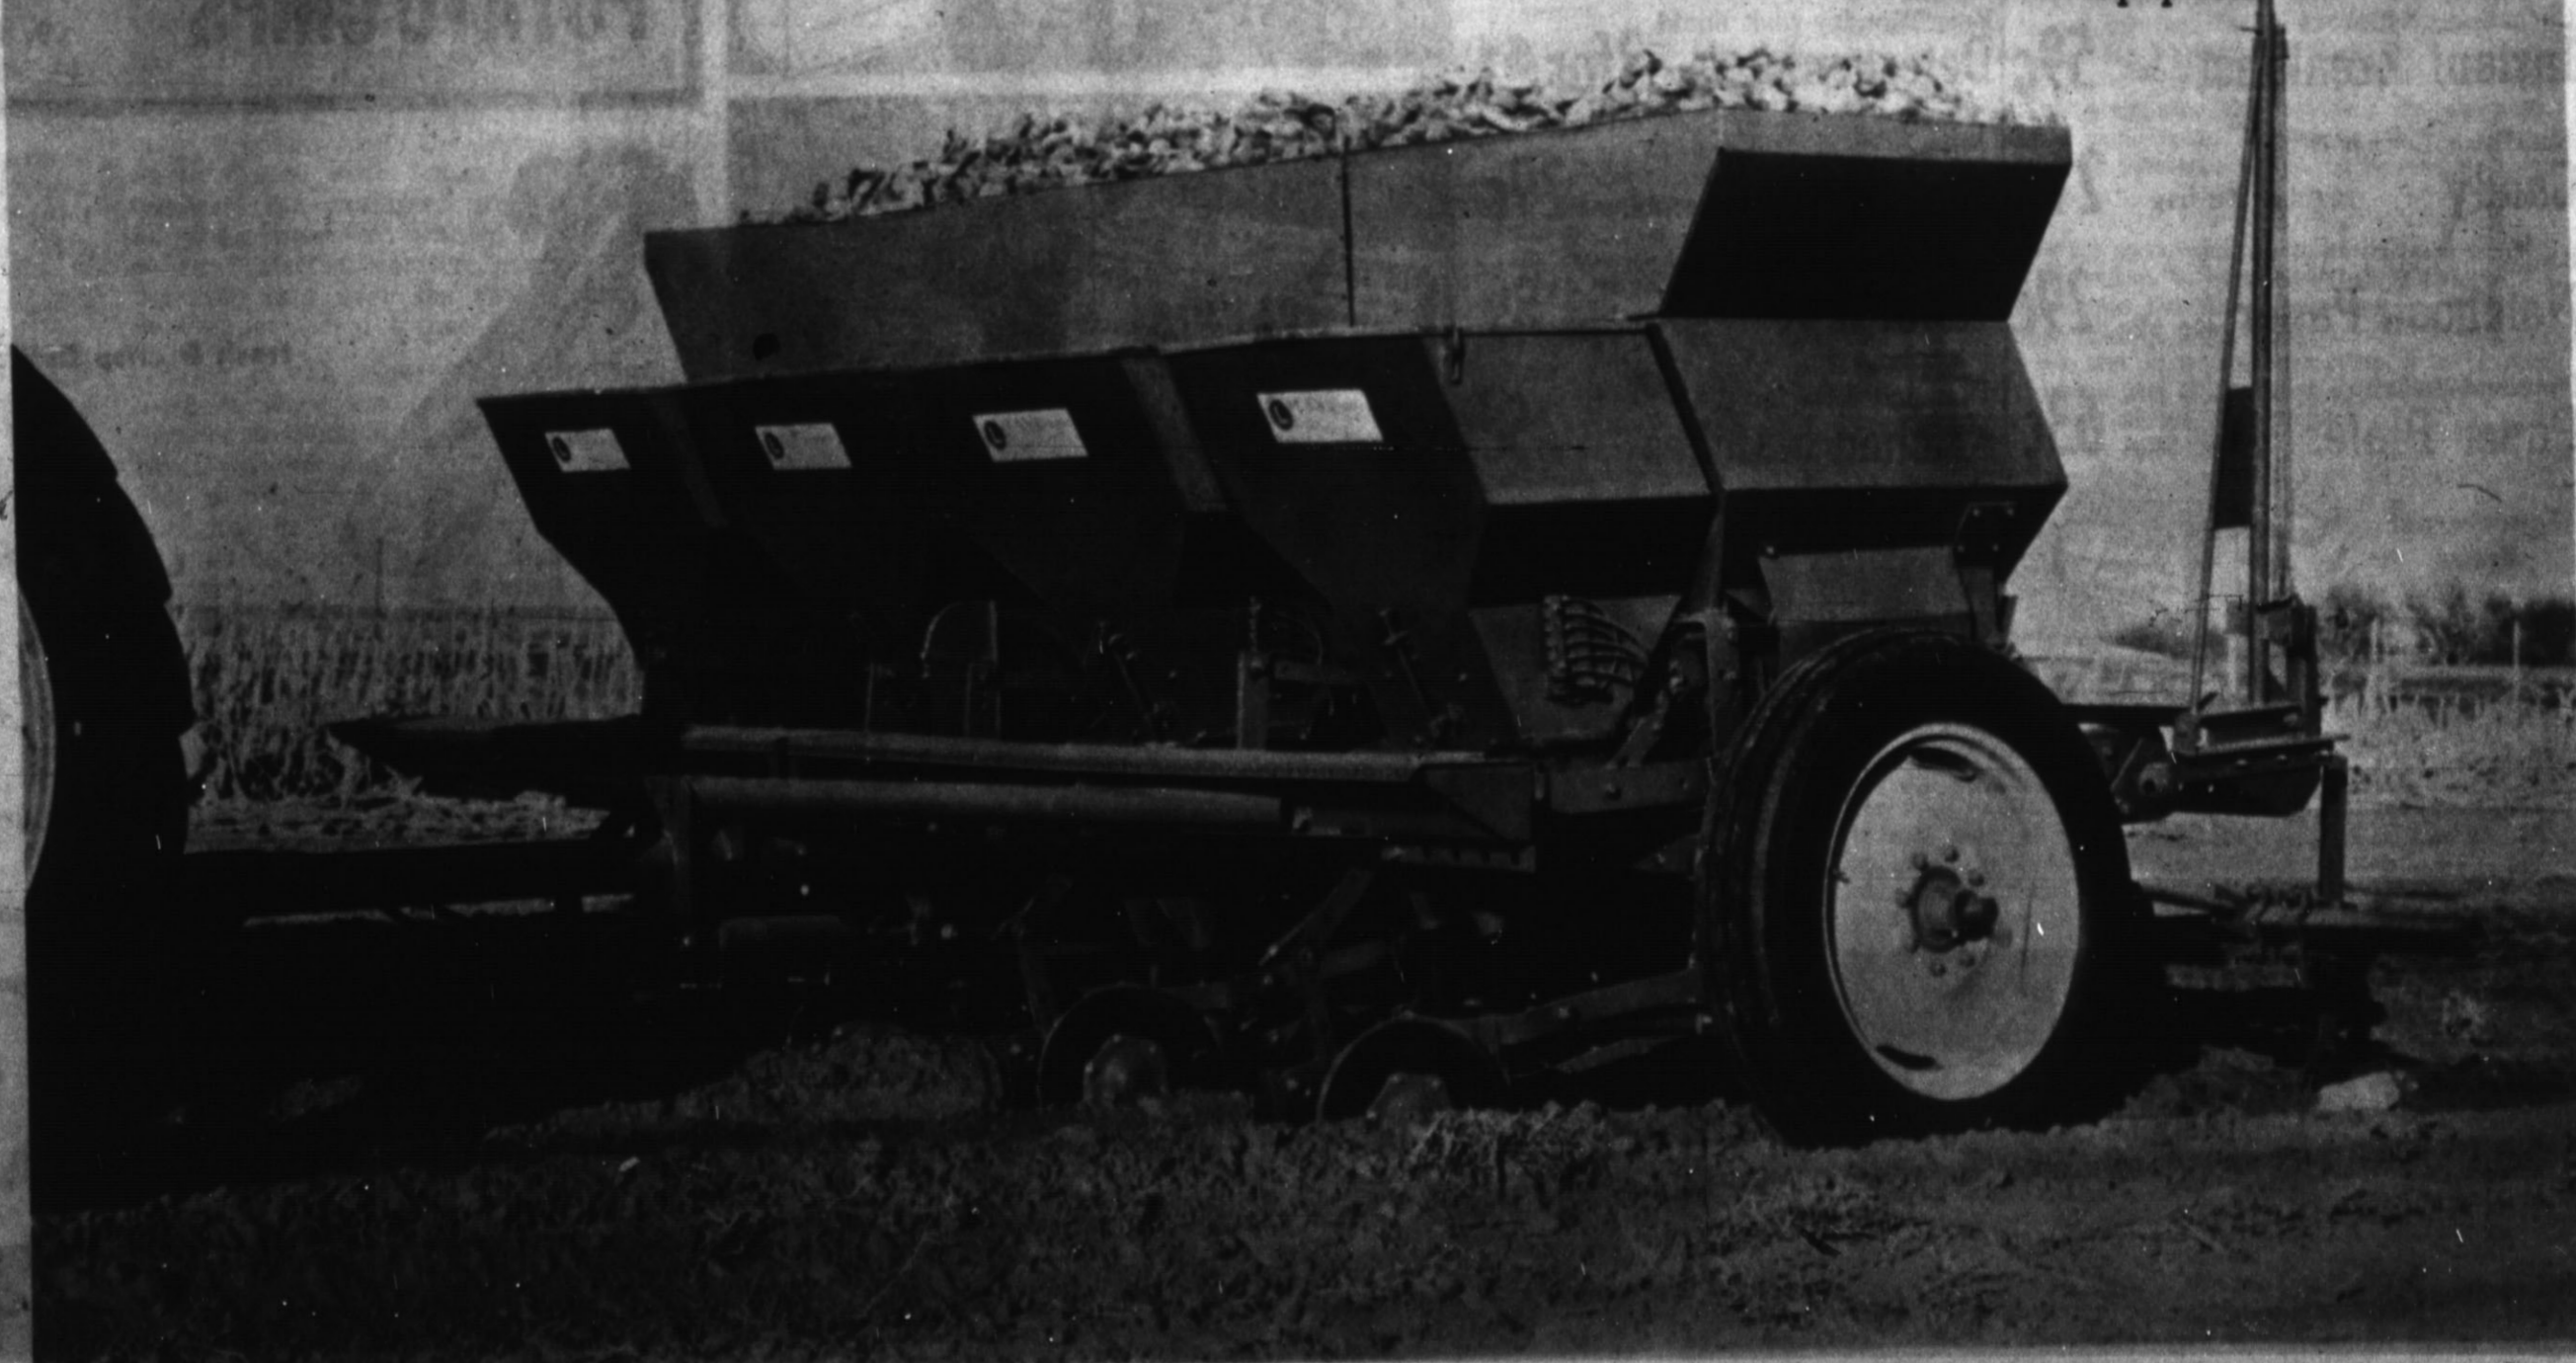

PIONEER SCOUT — David Buchanan was here from Temple to see his grandson, Andy Sawyer, receive his Wolf Award in Pack 146 Monday night. Buchanan became involved in the Boy Scouts at Hereford during its first year of scouting—in 1909.

Jobs for the Jobless

with Rural Electricity

Although fewer than one-third of this nation's population lives in rural areas, more than half the nation's poor lives there. Consumer-owned rural electric systems such as ours have helped to create new industries across the country which have already resulted in more than 125,000 new jobs for rural people.

Volunteering in the war on poverty, we hope to do more in the months and years to come to help develop this community.

First Christian Church Slates Four-Day Preaching Services

Four days of preaching services at First Christian Church are scheduled, Sunday through Wednesday, with Dr. James Christensen as guest speaker. He is pastor of Central Christian Church at Enid, Okla., and is recognized over the Southwest as a speaker and author.

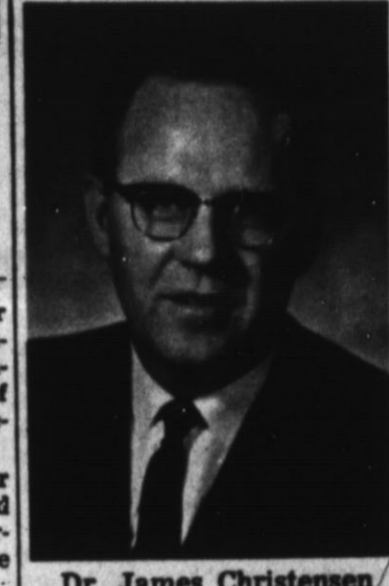

The Rev. Eugene Brink, minister, and John D. Aikin, board chairman of the church here, invite the public to hear the visitor who will preach at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. services Sunday, and at 7:30 p. m. Monday through Wednesday.

Mrs. Ivan Block and Mrs. Delmo Williams are co-chairmen of First Christian evangelism department which arranged the special services. Dr. Christensen was here in January as speaker at a fellowship dinner.

He is a graduate of the Seminary of Phillips University, which has since conferred on him an honorary doctor of divinity degree. His ministries have been characterized by strong youth programs, evangelistic emphasis and an active interest in civic affairs.

Dr. Christensen is the author of eight books, several of them handbooks for ministers and one a collection of daily devotional prayers. For nine years he wrote a regular commentary for the adult Teachers Quarterly used in Christian churches.

Freedom's Foundation honored him with awards six years.

Miss Scott Is Honoree At Shower

Miss Linda Scott, bride-elect, was honoree at a lingerie shower given by a dozen close friends this week in the home of Miss Ann McKee, with Mrs. J. T. Musser as co-hostess.

Miss Scott and the Rev. James Q. Montgomery of Roswell, N. M., have set March 22 as the date of their marriage. The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mrs. John Moody.

The shower was in casual mood, with refreshments served informally, the gifts presented and packages opened.

Celebrating March 3 as their tenth anniversary of moving into the present location, the Central Church has set a goal of 600 for Bible classes which begin Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

"This is 100 more than our previous goals this year. And after the morning worship service is over, everyone will be urged to stay for lunch."

Members of the congregation have been urged to bring lunch for their family and a little extra for guests. Lunch will be spread and all will eat together," Fooks said.

A religious singing in the church building is planned at 2:30 p. m. with many former members of the church expected to return to Hereford for the Sunday homecoming.

Regular evening services will be at 6 p. m.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Spring may or may not be here. The first robins — flocks of 'em — have been hopping around in the yards several days but that doesn't prove anything much in West Texas. But the other morning when it was thawing again after another freeze, I heard what I'm almost sure was a mockingbird.

IF IT WASN'T, the sparrows have certainly improved their vocal range. And if it was, maybe spring has really come because mockingbirds aren't winter animals, to my knowledge. Anyway the sudden freezings and equally sudden thawings of the past few weeks are in the best tradition of West Texas weather.

Since most people are going to talk more about the weather than anything else, most of the time, aren't we fortunate to live in a place where it is spectacular enough to keep us from being bored, even by people (sort of like me today) who can't seem to talk about anything else?

GOOD IDEA DEPT.: Announcement of a program to be given in three Eastern New Mexico cities this week by a new choral group caught my eye. Reading further, I discovered that the group, formed of 27 singers from five cities, embodies one of my pet theories. The theory is simple, just that a community needs to use the talents of its residents after

Local Women To Attend Meeting

Mrs. Henry Sears, Mrs. Justice McBride, and Mrs. George Turrentine, members of the Deaf Smith County Historical Survey Committee, are planning to attend the second official Texas Small Museum Institute in Fort Worth on March 15 and 16, held by the Texas State Historical Survey Committee.

The meeting is being held because of the growing interest across Texas in the establishment and maintenance of museums, both large and small.

All phases of museum operation will be discussed and workshop sessions using the Children's Museum facilities (nationally recognized for its trendsetting programs and exhibits) will be held. Topics for the workshop sessions include educational programs, exhibits, natural science astronomy, accession, budgeting-financing and gift shops.

The Institute is open to all interested in museums and their workings. The registration fee is $12.50. Those interested in attending should contact the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, P. O. Box 12276, Austin Texas, 78711, for further details.

they grow out of high school. It's fine to encourage students with good programs of music, art and drama in the schools, and with community support of performances by the youngsters.

But to me, it's too bad to drop it all the minute school is over. Hereford must have scores of adults who sang in school choruses, played in bands, acted in student plays, developing talent which there is now no outlet for.

A VERY FEW musicians play in dance bands; quite a few people sing in church choirs, that's about all. There should be much more, and the chorale referred to above is an example of one solution.

It was organized with the express purpose of using the talents of some who enjoyed making music in college and weren't ready to quit. Getting ready for a new year, the Fine Arts Committee of the Chamber of Commerce here has plans to tackle the problem and here's hoping it gets the backing it needs. One field in which it is interested, which has been much neglected here, is drama.

Anybody else for a bit of histrionic effort? Offhand, I can think only of Kay and John Claypool, who would like to continue their college experience in a pleasant form of recreation, onstage or backstage.

There must be others. If so, a note or a phone call to me, and I can put you in touch with someone that just might help you get something moving. Wouldn't it be fine if we could see a good, live play once in awhile by the Hereford Community Theater? Or whatever you want to call it.

Public School Week In Adrian

Pat Blankenship, superintendent of schools, has announced that Adrian School will observe Public School Week during the week of Monday through Thursday.

School will be dismissed Friday for the District 9 Texas State Teachers Association meetings in Amarillo.

Public school week will begin with an invitation to all to attend open house beginning Monday at 7 p. m.

At 7:30 p. m. the Adrian P. T. O. will meet in the school auditorium. We are honored to have Dr. and Mrs. Strickland from Amarillo to discuss the Regional Media Center and the Continuous Progress School, said Blankenship.

Refreshments will be served following the P. T. O. Meeting. Parents are also invited to visit the class rooms at any time during the week.

WHAT'S COOKING? — Pioneer Natural Gas manager Dale Young is given a sample of the 4-H Subject Matter Cooking group's food Monday afternoon, during the fourth meeting in a series of six, which will end with a special luncheon for the mothers of the members. With Young are Beth Bezner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bezner; Suzie Hickman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hickman; Carmela Burgess, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Burgess; and Debbie Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Armstrong. Members not present were Layne Young and Darla Payne. Cynthia Hanna is the Jr. leader of Foods Subject Matter Unit III, member of the Ford 4-H Club. Classes are held at the Pioneer Natural Gas Kitchen.

Clubwomen Will Attend District TFWC Meeting

Programs for the annual convention of the Top of Texas District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, have been received by members here and several clubwomen plan to attend the meeting at Borger Thursday and Friday, March 21-22.

Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Sr. as third vice president will preside for the Texas heritage breakfast scheduled Friday morning. Her annual report will be heard with those of other district officers at the opening business session Thursday afternoon. She will also attend the executive board session and luncheon Thursday.

Mrs. Ray L. Johnson, a life member of the District Federation, will conduct the memorial service on Friday morning's program. Several other Hereford women are chairmen of district committees, whose reports will be made at the convention.

This is an election year, when officers for a two-year term will be chosen. Current president is Mrs. Guy Crawford of Borger, who was elected when Top of Texas clubs convened here in 1966.

Pioneer Study Club, Summerfield Study Club and Deaf Smith County Federation of Women's Clubs are the groups in this county affiliated with the District Federation. Speakers on the Borger program will include Ben Barnes, speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, at the Thursday evening banquet which will be followed by the Fine Arts program, and Dr. Leon Hill of Amarillo at the Friday breakfast.

The Awards Luncheon at 1:30 p. m. Friday will close the convention.

John Higgins, who came to Hereford in 1888, found that it took every man in the country to hold court then. If one man failed to show up, court was postponed. They also took along chuck wagons and camped in the court house until court adjourned.

AT the LIBRARY

New Book by Herefordite Junior Dear

Gladys Miller, of Hereford and well known to many of us, has always had a good imagination and a way with words. She has put both these talents to work to create a character of a young boy who has the leading role in the book, Junior Dear. This, her first book, is now off the press and was released Thursday.

Junior Taylor is a Texas Tom Sawyer who with his pals, the Vanoy twins, lived somewhere in the Texas Panhandle in the "dirty thirties." Or better known perhaps the Dust Bowl Days which was then followed by the depression. You would think this was a dull time but it never was for Junior, his family, friends, and close pals, the twins. They found — or made life exciting.

That Gladys both loves and understand boys is easily seen in the thoughts and doings of the young trio. Junior, who was a hero in his own dreams became one in his community. The little town which might have been any one of a number of towns in this plains country of Texas has the name of Murdock.

Although several characters of the story may remind you of certain local inhabitants the author assures us that, they, too, are fictitious.

We found the book made good reading for both adults and children. The tale moves along convincingly and with a number of unusual exciting episodes. One of the most hilarious scenes deals with a gaggle of tame geese and an unknown factor. The secret of the old Jackson house and the unexpected ending of a last-day-of-school picnic in the Palo Duro Canyon are most convincing, while the secret sin of one character turns out that she was ahead of her times. The result of a fire proves the loss involved was worth the cost. The haunted house which furnishes a most frightening experience for Junior and the twins ends with a solution which could probably happen only in the west.

These hints and highlights promise you engrossing reading. If you know Gladys you will feel her spirit of gaiety and happiness — and most probably those who do not know her will feel it also. She has dedicated it in part to her most able co-worker, Margaret Bell. The rest of the dedication is to the mothers of all Junior Dears.

Missionary Conference Begins Wednesday At Baptist Church

The Missionary Conference beginning Wednesday night at the Greenwood Baptist Church will feature missionaries Bill Tarter of India, Graham Jarrell of Old Mexico and Clifford Fish-crab of New Mexico, and "possibly other speakers," according to Rev. Al Baum, pastor of the church.

The Greenwood Baptist Church is located at Greenwood and Moreman in the northwest portion of Hereford. Missionary Tarter has had India closed out for him by the Communists, as the country has been for all missionaries. Because of this condition, he has

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis West. The wedding will be held on Saturday in Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Thomas and Jeannie spent Friday night with Mr. and Mrs. Benton Bolin in Olton. They were there for Tonya Sue's third birthday. Others helping to celebrate the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Bud Thomas and Allison, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Combs and Rhonda. On Saturday the Thomas drove to Lubbock to visit his brother and family Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Thomas Jr., and their mother Mrs. B. H. Thomas, Sr.

Missionary Bill Tarter

plans to distribute transfer radios there and broadcast sermons to the Indians from the border, on the same order as "The Voice of America" programs issued by the government.

The conference is scheduled each night for meetings through March 10. Rev. Baum has extended an open invitation to the public for each of the meetings. Services will begin at 7:30 p. m.

The theme of the meetings will be "To the Regions Beyond." Rev. Baum announced. Slides will be shown and special reports made on the mission fields. Also, weather permitting, there will be a native luncheon served, with an Oriental taste.

Some good cooks who use wooden paddles for making butter balls find the paddles work well when they are soaked in ice water long enough to chill them thoroughly before they are used.

Undersea Life Is Topic Of Lone Star Program

The new science of oceanography, in which research is being done with the possibility in view of human habitation under the sea, was the subject for Lone Star Study Club's program Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Baker Womble.

The program began with reading of a poem, Spring, by Mrs. Thelma Chisum, and ended with a social period when Mrs. Robert Thompson, an associate member, poured coffee and tea from a table decorated in springtime color.

Mrs. Jim Bookout was the speaker who told of recent findings by Jon Lindbergh and other undersea explorers who have made studies at depths formerly considered inaccessible to man. They have found that life can exist at least to the depth of the continental shelf if not in deeper spots, she said. Mrs. Bookout named colleges where oceanography is now being taught.

Also present were Meses. H. E. Henslee, R. G. Blue, Coy Phillips, John Jacobsen Jr., Vivian Major, J. J. Durham, Jim Higgins and Ray Suit and Miss Mildred Elliott.

Mrs. S. S. Williams presided for business in the absence of Mrs. Hardy Benson, president. A group of members volunteered to act as hostesses in Deaf Smith County Museum during open hours next month.

In search of health for himself and daughter Ida Mae, R. J. Kibbe moved his family to Deaf Smith County in 1901.

Church Leader To Speak Here

The local Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints will host Elliott C. Howe, president of the Texas Mission of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints at a public gathering Monday at 7:30 p. m. Howe will speak on "The Revelation of the Book of Mormon, and the Holy Bible." This is the first time that the local church has hosted President Howe, who heads the Texas Mission which comprises the northern half of Texas with about 200 missionaries under his direction. Howe is well-versed in the Bible and the Book of Mormon and has held many responsible positions in the Church. The local church has extended an invitation for all people to come out to the church and learn of its teachings.
