

Texas Reagan-Bush Tour Starts in Hereford

GOV. BILL CLEMENTS

Hereford will roll out the red carpet for Gov. Bill Clements and former Gov. John Connally when they come to town Wednesday to launch a statewide "Texas Roundup for Reagan-Bush" tour.

First-lady Rita Clements, as well as Mrs. Connally, are scheduled to be with the governor's party. Connally's appearance was confirmed today, following a report that a scheduling conflict might prevent his appearance.

The rally, set at the Bull

Barn from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Wednesday, is open to all interested persons. It is not a fund-raising event and coffee and donuts will be served. All persons are asked to enter at the east door of the Bull Barn.

The event will kickoff a 23-city tour of the state. Hereford is the opening spot and, perhaps, was selected because of its role as an agricultural center in the Panhandle.

Wayne Thomas and Garth Thomas, co-chairmen for the Hereford rally, have invited citizens from an eight-county area—Deaf Smith, Dallam, Hartley, Oldham, Castro, Parmer, Lamb and Bailey.

The Hereford Chamber Singers will provide music at the rally, and the C of C blue-coated Hustlers will welcome the governor's party and other visitors. Chamber president Ken Rogers will also welcome out-of-town guests.

While the rally starts at 10 a.m., the governor's party is due to arrive at the Bull Barn about 10:25 after flying into Hereford. The press corps accompanying the governor, along with area media people, will have a press conference with Gov. Clements from 11:30 to noon.

The governor's party is slated to make a brief ag tour after lunch. The GOP leaders will fly to Amarillo at 2 p.m. for a rally at Tradewinds Airport, then go to Pampa for a barbecue Wednesday night from 7 to 9. After the three Panhandle visits, the tour will continue around the state.

Amarillo Mayor Jerry

Hodge, regional chairman for the Reagan-Bush campaign, is coordinating the Panhandle meetings. Wales Madden and Nadine Gregg are in charge of the Amarillo rally, while Jim Campbell and Bobbie Nesbitt head the activities in Pampa.

Serving on the local host committee for the rally were Wayne Thomas, Garth Thomas, Earnest Langley, John Thames, Frank Barrett, Frank Ford, O.G. Nieman, Carroll Newsom, Wes Fisher, Clint Formby and Bud Thurber.

Militants Threaten To Kill Americans

Varied Reactions

From left, Jay Hodge is happy, Robin Baldwin sad and Cookie Reyes undaunted. They're all reactions of Hereford High School students as classes in the 1980-81 school year begin. There were 4,983 students taking their seats in Hereford's nine schools on Monday, the first day of school. That compares with 4,220 who registered last week. On the first day of classes last year, the school district counted 5,094 students. (Brand photos by Paul Sims)

Anderson Tabs Lucey

By LEE BYRD
Associated Press Writer
John B. Anderson, the unhappy Republican, has signed on an equally disenchanted Democrat as a running mate, but he still may be left a lonely bystander when it comes to the presidential debates of 1980.

Anderson capped days of speculation by naming former Gov. Patrick J. Lucey of Wisconsin to the No. 2 spot on his independent ticket Monday. Lucey, once President Carter's ambassador to Mexico and then a campaign leader for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, declared that he remains a dedicated Democrat, but "Jimmy Carter has no chance at all" to win this fall.

Kennedy, after meeting the president at the White House, saw things differently. He said Carter's odds are "increasingly better every day," and he publicly embraced the administration's economic policy, once the target of his severest criticism, as having been improved to the point that he views it as "a step forward."

being planned to improve President Carter's chances for re-election.

"Since the issue of the American hostages is a key factor in U.S. policy as the presidential election approaches, the Americans are planning somehow to escape the mortal consequences of this development and to free the hostages before the crucial decision by the Islamic Consultative Assembly," said a statement from the militants broadcast by Tehran Radio.

"If world-devouring America embarks on the slightest military move before the fate of the spies has been decided, both the attackers and the spies will all be dispatched to hell on the spot."

The militants who seized control of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran last Nov. 4 said they were on "full alert" and were moving the hostages they hold to new locations. Those held in the towns of Shiraz, Gorgan, Zanjan and Qazvin have already been moved elsewhere, they said without elaboration.

Carter Administration officials heatedly denied a report last week by Washington columnist Jack Anderson that the United States was planning a military invasion of Iran. But Defense Secretary Harold Brown declined to say whether there might be another rescue attempt.

Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, the leader of the Iranian revolution, has empowered the new Iranian Parliament, or Majlis, to decide the fate of the hostages. But three months after it first met, the assembly is still dealing with organizational matters at a snail's pace, and there is no indication when it will get around to the Americans.

Speedy Trial Sought

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Writer
HOUSTON (AP) —

Lawyers for Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton hope to convince a federal judge to keep a Sept. 8 trial date for the veteran legislator, who says a quick acquittal of Briab charges is needed to put his political career back on track.

A speedy trial motion and a request to try Clayton separately were among a stack of about 40 pretrial motions still facing Judge Robert O'Connor today.

O'Connor refused Friday to dismiss extortion, racketeering, fraud and conspiracy charges against Clayton, Deer Park labor leader L.G. Moore, and Austin law partners Randall B. Wood and Donald W. Ray.

The FBI Briab investigation, aimed at alleged corruption among public officials and labor leaders, resulted in the June 12 indictments against the four defendants.

The judge said defense arguments of manufactured jurisdiction and government misconduct in the 10-month FBI undercover operation prompted "grave concerns," but he felt there were very many "grave factual considerations" for determination by a jury.

Clayton and his attorney, Roy Minton, expressed pleasure at O'Connor's ruling, saying that a quick trial and acquittal, not a dismissal, are needed to salvage the speaker's political future.

Minton said he would fight to keep the Sept. 8 trial date and gain a separate trial. He said a trial for Clayton alone probably could be completed in three to four weeks while a single trial for all four defendants could last two months or longer.

The Sept. 8 trial date is up in the air since Mike Ramsey, Moore's lawyer, also is scheduled to be involved in another trial on that day. Normal federal procedure would give precedence to the other trial since it was set first.

O'Connor refused to dismiss the charges after five long days of testimony, the playing of secretly recorded conversations and heated final arguments.

When polled by O'Connor, defense and prosecution attorneys indicated no plans for additional pretrial testimony (See CLAYTON, Page 2)

HISD Hikes Tax Rate

By PAUL SIMS
Hereford Independent School District's board of trustees Monday night set the tax rate for the 1980-81 fiscal year at 78 cents-64 cents for general maintenance and 14 cents for bonded indebtedness.

In other business during the special meeting, the school board voted to balance the 1979-80 budget by approving several amendments. That action will increase the 1980-81 surplus by $6,550.

The new 78-cent rate will result in a tax increase of 4.83 percent for homeowners who have not improved their properties during the last year. Most school district taxpayers will fall into that category.

The new tax rate also will raise the school district's total tax take by 8.13 percent.

In approving the amended budget, trustees increase total estimated revenue from $5,853,200 to $5,893,600 and decreased expenditures from $5,682,500 to $5,547,500.

Because of new bookkeeping procedures required by the Texas Education Agency, $171,240 was deleted from the 1979-80 budget.

Blood Bank Slates Stop

The Coffee Memorial Blood Mobile will be in Hereford Wednesday from 3-6 p.m. at the Hereford Community Center.

A total of 68 pints are needed for local accounts, and there will be several older accounts needing donations.

Accounts needing blood replaced are as follows: Myna Mae Love, 4 pints, Northwest Texas Hospital; Elizabeth Fry, 8 pints, Northwest Texas Hospital; Opal Glenn, 4 pints, High Plains Baptist Hospital; Barbara Manning, 8 pints, High Plains Baptist Hospital; Francisco Perez, 16 pints, St. Anthony's Hospital; Dora Ruiz, 8 pints, Deaf Smith General Hospital; Harry Bennett, 12 pints, DSGH; and Jessie Wagoner, 8 pints, DSGH.

The public is encouraged to go by the Community Center and donate 1 pint of blood for the local accounts.

The Hereford Bull joins other citizens of the community in welcoming Gov. Bill Clements and former Gov. John Connally to our community today. We're happy these "big guns" of the Republican Party chose to make Hereford a starting point in a statewide tour.

We hope they take a message to Ronald Reagan on the importance of agriculture to our national economy. The so-called farm vote may be small, but it's only because consumers don't seem to realize who is buttering their bread.

Some personal notes to our guests: Governor Bill, please explain the word "parity" to Mr. Reagan!

Gov. Connally, this may be the year that a passel of Democrats finally forgive you for switching to the Republican Party!

You think Carter is not low in the polls? We chatted to Jay Boston Sunday, and even this staunch Democrat is a member of the "dump Carter" crowd.

But, we doubt Carter has turned him sour enough to cast a Republican ballot. Those who know him well figure there's no way he can mark the GOP side of the ballot. Jay wouldn't tell us for sure, but he may be leaning toward John Anderson.

County Asks for $14,000 in TYC Funds

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Deaf Smith County commissioners Monday voted to apply for $13,986 in state Texas Youth Council funds, which will become available only if the county does not send juvenile offenders to TYC's correctional program.

"TYC sends us so much money not to send kids to TYC," Juvenile Probation Officer Luis Rangel told commissioners.

available money made it too enticing to turn down.

"We can do better by sending these kids to other places anyway. Say a kid's 14 and he goes to TYC. He'll probably be released within four months. We've got four kids now in other placements, and they've been there for over 11 months," Rangel said.

The funds cannot be used to supplement the juvenile probation office. The state allocates TYC money for expenses involved in placements, travel and medical, dental and psychological examinations and treatment.

Commissioners, who met briefly during one of their most routine meetings of the year, voted to advertise for bids to purchase a bobtail truck for Precinct 1.

Jim Wilhite of Mobilcomm offered to sell the county a used radio repeater for the Westway station at a cost of $3,250, which Wilhite said was $1,350 less than the cost of a new unit.

Wilhite said that Westway's present 20-watt repeater had to be adjusted after a change in the weather or a power surge.

"It's costing the county a lot of money in service calls when we have to adjust that thing," Wilhite said.

He told commissioners that the 70-watt repeater he was offering would not have to be repeatedly adjusted.

Commissioners tabled action on the proposal.

The owner of 8½ acres of land north of Hereford told commissioners that the county had maintained a road on his property against his wishes.

Driver Killed

As Truck Hits House

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — An autopsy was ordered on the body of a truck driver whose tractor-trailer rig ran off a highway interchange and crashed into the back of a house, police said.

Two residents of the house narrowly escaped injury Monday when the refrigerator truck left the roadway, ran through a fence and knocked down a utility pole before ramming through the wall of a rear bedroom.

The truck driver, identified as Paul O. Crail, 53, of Liberal, Kan., was pronounced dead on arrival at Amarillo Emergency Receiving Center, investigators said.

Police theorize Crail may have suffered a heart attack as his rig was traveling down an interchange ramp that connects Interstate 27 and Interstate 40 in the downtown area here.

The occupants of the house, identified as Jimmy Holbert and his mother, Pauline, told investigators they were sitting in a front living room at the time of the accident.

Polish Strikers

To Resume Talks

GDANSK, Poland (AP) — The Polish strikers said they would resume negotiations with the government today after the Communist regime made another concession and restored telephone communications with the Baltic strike area.

The government changed its stand Monday after the strikers refused to continue negotiations until there was full telephone service. They shouted, "No! No! No!" when asked by their leader if they would drop that demand.

The announcement that the government had agreed was made by Lech Badkowski, a spokesman for the Inter-Factory Strike Committee, who said the concession paved the way for the resumption of talks.

Anna Walentinovic, a strike leader, said a call from Gdansk to Warsaw went through in about five minutes.

Leszek Walesa, head of the committee which represents some 150,000 striking workers in the Baltic industrial region, said the strikers might reciprocate by eliminating some of their remaining demands.

Jury Questions

Carter over Aircraft

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal grand jury planned to question Billy Carter about allegations that improper influence was exerted on the White House to obtain the delivery of eight C-130 aircraft to Libya, sources said.

The president's brother was to testify before the grand jury today and sources said he would be questioned about a 1978 State Department briefing given to a friend, Henry R. Coleman, about the sale of the transport planes to the North African nation.

A U.S. Senate subcommittee already has heard testimony on Billy Carter's ties with Libya from Billy Carter and Coleman.

Billy Carter has received $220,000 from the Libyan government. He has described the payments as loans and has denied he exerted influence on the White House.

Chrysler To Pay

Parts, Labor Costs

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. will pay for parts and labor in certain repairs on Plymouth Horizon and Dodge Omni cars if needed in the first two years or 24,000 miles, the company said today.

Several reports last week said Chrysler would pay for parts only. Spokesman Tom Jacobowski called those reports "incorrect" and said he did not know where they originated.

Chrysler said only a "limited number" of Omnis and Horizons, of which about 750,000 have been built, were likely to experience problems in the areas covered — distributors, front wheel bearings, oil pumps and differential transfer shaft bearings in the transaxle.

Those items normally are covered in the usual 12-month, 12,000-mile warranty.

Chrysler released a letter to Omni-Horizon owners asking that they send the original repair order to the company to be reimbursed for their expenses in repairing the items; owners should keep a copy of the order, Chrysler said.

Texas Briefs

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Persons arrested on driving while intoxicated charges get to see a "horror show" every morning after being held overnight in the Austin City jail.

Sponsors of the slide show, with narration, are the Austin police and Municipal Judge Steve Russell.

The show is a collection of color slides showing gruesome results of traffic collisions involving drunk drivers in Austin the past two years. Police say it is a graphic collection of mangled, sometimes headless and burned torsos.

"The program is not aimed at scaring people," said Maj. Kendall Thomas, head of the uniformed traffic division. "We are just trying to make people aware that they can kill or get killed if they get behind the wheel of a car when they are drunk."

"We try to emphasize on people that what they are seeing are not just pictures of pieces of meat lying on the road, but that it used to be a human being and that things like that can happen to them," said Russell.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Public hearings will be held in five Central Texas cities this week over plans of Southern Pacific Transportation Co. to close its railroad freight stations in those cities.

The hearings, Monday through Thursday, will be held in Llano, Beeville, Yoakum, Caldwell and Giddings, by Examiner James Houchins of the Texas Railroad Commission.

Southern Pacific proposes to take agents and stations out of the five cities. Customers who want to ship or receive freight would have to arrange by telephone for trains to stop. The company said this would be a savings of $67,000 a year.

arrive on Sept. 4 and spend the next day campaigning in San Antonio, Archer said.

Archer added that Bush, and presidential candidate, Ronald Reagan both are scheduled to both appear in San Antonio on Sept. 16 and then make a swing through South Texas, ending with a $1,000 per person fund-raiser in Houston.

HONDO, Texas (AP) — Mayor Woody Glasscock, who gained national headlines a few years ago by asking unemployed persons to come to his city, is protesting that the U.S. Census Bureau undercounted the population of the town.

Glasscock said that the census count of 5,883 "shows an increase of 396 persons over the past 10 years. This a 7.2 percent increase and we feel there are more people in the city limits."

He said the census showed 143 vacant houses and "we firmly believe that with the housing shortage we have here, there are not that many vacant houses in Hondo."

Glasscock, who later ran unsuccessfully for Congress, gained national attention in 1978 by sending a tongue-in-cheek letter to President Carter complaining the city's unemployment rate was not high enough to qualify it for federal funding. He said Hondo had too many industrious, hard-working people and would welcome hard-core unemployed persons who refused to work so it could get some federal grants.

BETRAM, Texas (AP) — The third annual Oatmeal Festival, a sort of a protest of the methods used by mapmakers, is scheduled Saturday in this town located about 40 miles northwest of Austin.

The festival was begun three years ago to protest the removal of Oatmeal, Texas, population approximately 33, from state road maps. Oatmeal's townspeople said if they could draw enough attention to their community, perhaps the mapmakers would put Oatmeal back on the map, according to Laura R. Draeger of the National Oats Co.

Highlights of the festival will include an oatmeal sculpturing contest, a world championship 3-minute oatmeal eating contest and an oatmeal bake-off.

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas County officers raided two homes, arrested seven persons and confiscated more than 14 ounces of cocaine valued at about $40,000, according to Dallas County Sheriff's Capt. Jack Gillis.

"We believe another pound and a half of coke (cocaine) was sold shortly before we raided," Gillis said.

Gillis said the raids, arrests and seizure came after a three-week investigation by officers who followed a tip from an informant who said the cocaine was being delivered to Dallas from Florida.

"Any time you're talking about cocaine, you're talking about a major operation," Gillis said.

Gillis said the cocaine is being smuggled into Florida by a firm that is a front for a nationwide smuggling operation. He said the firm has branch offices nationwide, including one in Dallas. He refused to name the firm.

Local authorities are working with the Drug Enforcement Administration in their investigation, he added.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Vice presidential candidate George Bush has agreed to speak to delegates at the Republican State Convention scheduled here Sept. 5-6.

City councilman Van Henry Archer, chairman of the Reagan-Bush campaign in Bexar County, said that Bush would spend the night in San Antonio and then address a session of the convention on Sept. 6.

Alaskans Going To Polls Today

By JEAN KIZER
Associated Press Writer

Just 21 years after winning a hard-fought statehood battle, Alaskans were going to the polls today to decide whether their relationship with Uncle Sam has been a success.

Meanwhile, voters in Alaska and two other states were casting their ballots in senatorial and congressional primaries.

Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., who was formally denounced by the Senate last year for financial misconduct, was in his first runoff election, seeking his party's endorsement for re-election. In Oklahoma, 11 Democrats and five Republicans were seeking nominations to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Sen. Henry Bellmon, a Republican.

In Alaska, Sen. Mike Gravel faced two challengers in the Democratic primary. Democrats were also selecting a candidate to face the state's only congressman, Republican Rep. Don Young, in November.

The referendum proposal being decided in the Land of the Midnight Sun calls on the governor to form an 11-member Alaska Statehood Commission to study "alternative forms of association possible between the United States and the people of Alaska."

Among the alternatives would be a return to territory status. Alaska was a territory before becoming a state in 1959.

Another possibility was secession from the union, but there appeared to be few backers for that plan. And a third proposal was for the state to demand that the federal government give up some of its authority over its vast holdings of land in Alaska.

Congress is considering legislation to place more than 100 million acres of federal land under protection as conservation areas and that has stirred bitter opposition from advocates of greater development in the state.

In Georgia, meanwhile, Talmadge, a 23-year veteran of the Senate, faced the first runoff of his political career against Lt. Gov. Zell Miller.

Sarpalius Announces Headquarters

Bill Sarpalius, Democratic candidate for the Texas State Senate, held a press conference Monday announcing the opening of his Amarillo headquarters.

The Hereford Democrat discussed the progress of his campaign and how he is continually "working on a grassroots level." He also outlined the formation of teams of volunteers in towns throughout the district.

Sarpalius reported that he has visited all the towns of the 31st District at least five times now and plans to continue his "shoe-leather campaign."

The candidate touched on what he termed the main issues of the campaign, and expressed his concern regarding "the lack of representation by our current state senator."

Sarpalius claimed that "to be an effective voice for the people of the Texas Panhandle, you must make yourself available to the people. I do not intend to be seen only at election time."

Knifing Incident Reported Monday

Hereford police are investigating an early Monday morning stabbing incident which put a man in the hospital with stab wounds to his chest and back.

Cornelio Martinez, who resides at Apt. 53 of the Blue Water Garden Apartments, said he was at the Greentop Courts on Whittier St. around 2:45 a.m. Monday and became involved in a fight.

Martinez was stabbed twice in the chest and once in the back. Police said that, although details of the stabbing are sketchy, they do have a suspect.

Martinez was listed in stable condition at Deaf Smith General Hospital this morning.

Jacinto Tarin, 206 Whittier, told police he was hit in the head with a brick by a relative. Tarin was transferred to St. Anthony's Catholic Hospital in Amarillo for treatment.

Police said no charges have yet been filed in connection with the Sunday morning assault.

Antonio Cortez, 811 S. Schley, told police that his landlord started to pull a gun on him and the two got into a scuffle at a residence on S. McKinley.

Cortez reportedly struck the other man in the face, knocking him to the ground. The man was taken to Deaf Smith General Hospital where he received stitches.

Police said they did not know if charges would be filed.

Cortez later reported that someone set his pickup on fire. The two incidents are believed to be related, according to a police spokesman.

James Edmonson, 715 Irving, said that a case and half-gallon of beer had been taken from his kitchen, along with his wallet, which contained $100. Police said the items were later found in the back of Edmonson's pickup.

LTD Motors, 901 E. 1st, told police that four wheels and tires, with a total value of $400, had been taken from a pickup over the weekend.

Herschel Black, 218 N. Texas, said Monday morning that he noticed a young white male walking away from Black's pickup, which was parked in front of his residence.

Black went outside, noticed the door of the pickup was open but said that nothing was taken from inside.

Police investigated a criminal-mischief report Monday. Hereford Cablevision reported that someone had fired either a BB or pellet gun at a company pickup.

Police wrote 38 traffic citations Saturday through Monday.

Anders on

ward." In Los Angeles, Republican nominee Ronald Reagan and running mate George Bush took pains to clarify their policy toward China and Taiwan, insisting that the flap over their contradictory remarks in recent days resulted more from semantics than substance. Reagan, moreover, charged that Carter, not him, had been hypocritical on the issue.

But Reagan and Carter appeared headed toward a meeting of minds on at least one score, namely that of restricting any White House debates to themselves. The president has made it clear all along he would prefer to meet Reagan alone, and Carter campaigners say they are eager for as many as six debates.

Reagan said Monday he would prefer just two debates, one on foreign policy and the other on domestic issues. But, in any case, both sides confirmed they planned to discuss today the possibility of one-to-one confrontations, possibly outside the proposed format planned by the League of Women Voters. The league wants three debates, starting Sept. 18 in Baltimore, and has indicated it would invite Anderson as the third participant if he achieves a 15 percent showing in the national polls by Sept. 10.

Anderson, a Republican congressman from Illinois for 20 years, has fallen below that mark lately but hoped his selection of Lucey would give him the spurt needed to enter a prime-time television showdown with Carter and Reagan.

Lucey, in Washington, declared Anderson has a real chance to win. "I am not a champion of lost causes or hopeless crusades," he said. "John Anderson's campaign has made tremendous strides."

At the same time, said Lucey, "I am a Democrat today, I was a Democrat yesterday...and I expect to be a Democrat on Nov. 5," the day after the election.

Kennedy said he talked with Carter about the president's new economic blueprint, to be announced later this week, and sees it as a major improvement over previous administration positions. The president still "does not go as far as I would go" toward stimulation of new jobs, said Kennedy, but the plan is superior to the "unacceptable" approach of Reagan.

Kennedy declared also he would "campaign and campaign actively for the president." The Massachusetts senator took the occasion as well to call Reagan's "two-China" stance an issue which "raises serious questions in the minds of the American people about the competency of a Reagan administration."

But Reagan, in Los Angeles, said his call for an "official" U.S. link with Taiwan was designed to end what he termed the hypocritical claim of the Carter administration that no such relationship exists.

China long ago made a disruption of formal U.S.-Taiwan ties a condition for its own diplomatic relations with America. When full diplomacy was finally exchanged a year ago, the United States dropped its embassy in Taiwan and established, instead, a private foundation to handle American interests. The foundation is funded by the U.S. government and staffed by State Department employes on leave.

Bush assured the Chinese leadership that Reagan would not disturb that fragile setup, but Reagan himself declared that "I would not pretend, as Carter does, that the relationship we now have with Taiwan is not official."

Still, he added, he has no intention of re-establishing full diplomatic relations with Taiwan, in the sense of exchanging "an embassy and so forth." But he does favor the lifting of terms which he called petty and demeaning to the Taiwanese, such as the bar against meetings between U.S. and Nationalist China representatives in government offices, Reagan said.

Reagan said that nothing in the Taiwan Relations Act prohibits "official" ties. But the Senate Foreign Relations Committee clearly stated that the purpose of the bill was to maintain "unofficial" relations.

Vice President Walter F. Mondale said Reagan's position "carries with it potentially disastrous consequences for our national security" by jeopardizing the developing Sino-American relationship and gives "cheer to only one major nation on earth, the Soviet Union."

except on defense motions for exclusion of some of the wiretap conversations.

Most of the more than 100 tapes involve the government's key informant, Joseph Hauser, who began cooperating with the FBI after two insurance swindle convictions.

Operating out of a fictitious insurance office set up by the FBI in Beverly Hills, Calif., Hauser sought the reopening of bids on a $76 million insurance contract for Texas state employees.

The government alleges Moore, after meeting Hauser, sought advice from Wood and Ray on the status of the state contract and then introduced Hauser to Clayton.

Clayton is accused of having received a $5,000 downpayment for a $600,000 bribe Hauser and Moore allegedly promised him for his assistance. Clayton has said he intended to return the money.

An FBI agent testified last week that he could find no record of Clayton reporting the $5,000 as a campaign contribution.

Minton argued an office holder need not make such reports until 45 days before formally announcing plans to seek election to another office.

Armstrong Outlines Tour Stop in Hereford

John Armstrong of Kingsville, chairman of the Texas "Roundup for Reagan-Bush" tour, held a press conference in Hereford Monday afternoon to outline plans for the first tour stop in Hereford Wednesday.

The Roundup, said Armstrong, "is designed to identify as many Reagan-Bush supporters as possible, make sure they are registered before the Oct. 3 deadline, and encourage them to go to the polls on Nov. 4."

The 23-city tour, added Armstrong, is a strategy to seek support from rural areas of the state. Later, the emphasis, will shift to the urban areas.

Armstrong announced that the appearance of former Gov. John Connally was "not definite," but he was hopeful schedules could be arranged so that Connally could be here.

Armstrong has devoted much service to state and national livestock industry organizations. He is the immediate past president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers, and also served as president of the Santa Gertrudis Breeders International.

He was appointed to the Texas Animal Health Commission in 1975 and now serves as chairman of this board. Armstrong was recognized by Progressive Farmer magazine as 1979 Man of the Year in service to Texas agriculture.

A managing partner of the John B. Armstrong Ranch near Kingsville, Armstrong is executive vice president of

Today Marks 50 Years of Women's Right To Vote

By ALLISON RYAN
Society Editor

"We have waited," she told them. "We stood aside for the Negro; we waited for the millions of immigrants; now we must wait till the Hawaiians, the Filipinos, and the Puerto Ricans are enfranchised;...educated women have been compelled to stand aside and wait. How long will this injustice, this outrage continue?"

Susan B. Anthony included this statement in a speech before the U.S. Congress in 1869 concerning women's right to vote. This "injustice, this outrage" continued for 51 years before women suffrage was granted.

Today marks the 50th anniversary of the passage of the Nineteenth Amendment which granted all women in the United States the right to vote.

According to Marjorie Thomas, Deaf Smith County Clerk Deputy, 335 people have registered in the county since the May Primary. Of the total, about 50 percent are women.

The fight which gave these women the right to vote lasted more than 80 years.

Small groups of women began fighting for the right to vote as early as 1840 when a women's right convention was held in Seneca Falls, New York. Women issued a Declaration of Sentiments announcing themselves men's equal.

In the early 1850's three women, Susan B. Anthony,

Elizabeth Stanton and Lucy Stone joined together developing in part the women's rights movement in the United States.

At the time women were more involved with temperance than separate women's rights. However in 1852 at another women's rights meeting the idea of property rights, civil rights and the ballot took hold.

At each temperance meeting women such as Anthony and Stanton spoke of women's rights. Both wore bloomer outfits rather than the conventional long dress. Less courageous temperance women began to wonder if they should associate with such strong minded women.

Discontent in the Women's State Temperance Society began to form. At the annual meeting in 1853 Anthony and Stanton were criticized because they did not confine themselves to the subject of temperance and talked to much about women's right.

By-laws at the meeting were amended to make men eligible for office. Men were barred from holding office because Anthony and Stanton who drew up the first by-laws wanted to make the society a proving ground for women and were convinced that men holding office would take over the management and women, less experienced would yield to their wishes.

This proved to be right as men began to do most of the talking, called for a new name for the society and insisted all discussion of women's rights be ruled out.

This was Anthony's first rebuff by women whom she had sincerely tried to serve. Women such as Anthony continued their work even though men and women alike criticized their work and newspapers often laughed at these women fighting for suffrage.

In 1856 the women's suffrage movement was put aside as anti-slavery issues and the possibility of a civil war took precedent. The women instrumental in fighting for women's rights now turned their energies towards Negro Suffrage.

Ten years later came the first demand before Congress for women's suffrage. Women wanted to be included with Negro suffrage. However, the 14th amendment passed ignoring the women's right to vote.

In the Eastern states the fight continued for women's suffrage, but four Western states were taking steps to grant women the right to vote.

For many Western women pioneering did not end with the conquest of the land. They were now determined to have a hand in shaping its future. Alone and in groups they became forces for social change. By the end of the century many Western women had won the right to cast a ballot and some were holding public office.

Wyoming Territory was the first government in the world to grant women political equality in 1869. Legend has it that on that history-making occasion, the men of Wyoming proposed a toast: "Lovely ladies, once our superiors, now our equals."

When Wyoming was seeking admission to the Union in 1890, the women's suffrage clause in its proposed state constitution met opposition in the U.S. Congress. When it appeared no compromise could be reached on the issue, some Wyoming women wired the territory's representative giving him permission to withdraw the clause if necessary.

The men refused their offer, "We will remain out of the Union a hundred years," the Wyoming legislature declared, "rather than come in without the women." On March 26, 1890 Wyoming was admitted into the Union.

More Western states followed Wyoming including Colorado who extended suffrage to women in 1893 and Idaho in 1896. Idaho followed before the turn of the century. In Oregon after a long and bitter fight men finally gave women the right to vote in 1912.

Debates and rallies for women's suffrage continued in the Eastern states while women were voting in the West.

Anthony, who is considered the most instrumental person in seeking women suffrage, was asked at the turn of the century if she believed women in the United States would ever be given the vote. She replied, "It will come. It is inevitable. We can no more deny forever the right of self-government to one-half our people than we could keep the Negro forever in bondage. It will not be wrought by the same disrupting forces that freed the slave, but come it will, and I believe within a generation."

In 1906, Anthony died, but she left a rally cry "Failure is impossible" that inspired women to continue the campaign for fourteen more years.

On Aug. 26, 1920 women were enfranchised throughout the United States by the Nineteenth Amendment which stated: "The right of citizens to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

Registering to Vote

Jaunita Higgins and Marjorie Thomas, Deaf Smith County Clerk deputies, assist Terri Johnson in registering to vote. Though often taken for granted, women have only had the right to vote for 50 years with the passage of the Nineteenth Amendment Aug. 26, 1920.

Ann Landers Inconsiderate Husbands

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been reading you for years and have often thought I'd like to write, but I never dreamed my first letter would be to tell you off. You said if a husband dreads going to the hospital with his wife when she is ready to deliver, he shouldn't be forced to go. You went on to say that some men are more trouble than they are worth. They fall apart, sometimes faint and their wives have to take care of THEM.

I heartily disagree. Any clod who can't get his butt out of bed and take his wife to the hospital when she is in labor, either in his own car or in a taxi, is the slime of the earth. How a husband could send his wife to the hospital in a taxi to give birth is beyond me.

You are the one who is always suggesting counseling. If ever counseling was indicated, a kook like that is a prime candidate. How come you fell asleep at the typewriter?—Peoria Gripe

DEAR GRIPE: I believe that every husband should not only take his wife to the hospital, but stay with her and witness the delivery. It is a wondrous and thrilling experience that no father should miss.

I realize not all men are equal to it, and those who aren't should not be dragged. They get in the way and can be a nuisance. Moreover, their wives derive no emotional support from their presence. I do agree, however, that the least a husband can do is TAKE his wife to the hospital, either in his own car or in a taxi. To send her alone is pretty darned tacky.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I loved your recent definition of maturity, but will you please add this line: "Maturity is being able to keep from clobbering your kids when you can't find the Scotch tape (AGAIN) so you can paste up your definition of maturity in a spot where they will see it."—Newsday, L.I., Reader

DEAR L.I.: Beautiful. I'll add it when I rewrite the definition for the umpteenth time.

I'm glad you wrote because it gives me an opportunity to inform my readers that the person who asked me to repeat my first definition of maturity (it appeared in 1962) tacked on four lines which he found in Dear Abby's column. They are: "Maturity is the ability to do a job whether or not you are supervised, finish a job once it is started, carry money without spending it and be able to bear an injustice without wanting to get even."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been divorced four years. My sons are seven and nine. Two years ago I began to date a wonderful man. He gets along well with my boys and treats me like a princess. He wants me to marry him in December.

When I told the boys, the younger one said, "Terrific!" The older one started to cry, and sobbed, "No, no—I want you to marry Daddy." This is out of the question. My ex-husband has a bad temper, and we fought constantly. I feel a strong obligation to my children and need some counsel. If my child is going to be miserable, I would rather not marry. Please help me.—Las Vegas Conflict

DEAR CON: If you allow your nine-year-old son to run your life, you should have your head examined. Any woman who would pass up marriage with a man she loves because her children don't like the idea is out to lunch. Look ahead a few years. When your boys want to go off and have a life of their own, they will go. And they should. And you should, too. Happy orange blossoms.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Community Blood Drive Slated Here

A community blood drive involving Avenue Baptist Church, Temple Baptist Church, and the Morning Kiwanis Club will climax Wednesday at the Community Center from 3-6 p.m.

Members of the above groups will be donating blood to create an account for their own organizations. All members of these groups are encouraged to donate a pint of blood in their groups name.

These accounts will be used in the future for members of their groups who may have a need for blood.

Heading up the drive at Avenue Baptist is Larry Bain. The leader at Temple Baptist is Joe Thames, and the Morning Kiwanis Club is headed up by Robert Stewart.

Everyone is urged to respond to the communities needs even though they may not be affiliated to any of these organizations.

This project is the last phase for Terry Morris, Life Scout member of Troup 51 for requirements on his Eagle Rank in Boy Scouts.

Photographing Summer Vacation Memories

By: AGNES TAYLOR
Assn't. County Extension Agent

When photographing summer vacation memories, try to include people in scenic shots. People in scenic background shots can enhance nature's beauty and add to your memories of the trip. Also, it's a good idea to include people in scenic pictures to provide a size comparison.

For example, it is recommended when taking scenic pictures of mountains, trees, statues and lakes, place the person or persons in the foreground, 15 to 20 feet from the camera. This provides a size and scale of reference for the scene.

Encourage people in the picture to engage in some activity and not just stand stiff and unnatural. Any form of activity, including talking or laughing, will add to the picture.

Above all, when photographing vacation scenes, don't forget to include yourself in some pictures, too. Don't be afraid to pass your camera to someone else and ask them to take your picture. Most people will be happy to assist.

Boys and girls 9 to 19 in the 4-H photography program are encouraged to learn by doing and to participate in interesting activities that involve their photographic skills and abilities. Photography can be an interesting hobby as well as a profitable profession. Many members are using their skills on school and community newspapers, as private business ventures, and are serving as consultants to younger club members.

Members are eligible for awards arranged by the National 4-H Council. Medals of honor are awarded to four members from each county, and one member from each state receives an expense paid trip to the National 4-H Congress each year in Chicago, Ill. Six national winners are awarded $1,000 scholarships, and an additional $500 scholarship is given to recipients who maintain high grade point averages.

Additionally, members are encouraged to participate in 4-H photo exhibitions leading to the national exhibition in Chicago during 4-H Congress. 4-H photography leaders are eligible for special recognition in each county.

More information on 4-H photography and other 4-H programs is available from the County Extension Service.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Telephone Reunion Slated in October

October 11 has been slated as the day of the annual Hereford Telephone employees reunion. The reunion is scheduled to be held at the Community Center.

This was announced recently by the planning committee which consist of Rosemary Thomas, Virginia Thomas, Betty Driver, Margie Yeager, Evelyn Blankenship, Aileen Montgomery and Donna Gooch.

There will be visiting and

At Wits End

By ERMA BOMBECK

My husband and I were sitting around the table after dinner the other night when he broke the silence by asking, "What's your feeling about blowing up Jack-in-the-Box?"

I slammed down my coffee cup and shouted, "Can't we have one meal in this house without pressure? That's not a decision to make in a day. A person needs time to think about something that important. Give me a break!"

Now, for those of you reading this column in the cool pines of the mountains where the air is fresh and a little fire takes the chill off the house in the evenings, you will not understand a word of this piece.

But those in the Southwest deserts, the plains of Texas, the East and the Midwest in temperatures that exceed 105 degrees will marvel at my self-control.

Excessive cold weather isn't pleasant. It makes you move faster, seek crowds for warmth and actually creates a camaraderie of discomfort.

But people in hot weather are sure they have been singled out by God for (a) not tithing, (b) not tipping, (d) not missing their children at camp. For their punishment they have been sentenced to Solar Hell.

Hot weather makes you mean. If everyone doesn't get into the car at precisely the same instant...four doors slamming as one...it will set you off.

If you answer the door and the people say hello and introduces themselves before entering, you want to grab them by the throat to smash in the set.

I don't want people telling me to remember this next winter.

I don't want people making jokes about my potholer mitts that I wear to touch the steering wheel and turn the ignition.

I don't want friendly tips on how to keep cool by putting a cucumber over each eye or running my wrists under cold water.

When I'm hot, just let me wallow in self-pity, be irritable, and occasionally vent my anger on a stranger with dry underarms. ("You call yourself an American!")

As I crawled into bed, I said to my husband, "I've thought about Jack-in-the-Box and I think we should waste him."

"Good night," he yawned.

I yelled, "What do you mean by a crack like that?!"

The 'Dallas' Phenomenon

Why the unprecedented fascination with the TV program "Dallas?"

The only similar phenomenon involved a program called "$64,000 Dollar Question" 25 years ago and that was nothing compared to this.

Unable to explain it, personally "fascinated by the fascination," I've been asking around: "What is the reason for this unprecedented public preoccupation with 'Dallas'?"

I've received some interesting responses.

It is unnecessary to retrace the several manifestations of public interest in the program: the shooting location overwhelmed by sightseers, official waging in Vegas and London over "who shot J.R.," a new contract for actor Larry Hagman at $100,000 per episode...

The greater mystery than "who shot J.R." is the fact that in this series the hero is the villain: it's the bad guy getting the applause. J.R. Ewing is everywhere being called "the hero you love to hate."

There is other evidence of public fascination with villains. Judging from the masks, T-shirts and toys, the most popular character of the Star Wars series is despicable Darth Vader.

This is a 360-degree turnaround from the traditional triumph of goodness over evil.

Psychologist-physician Paul Meredith suspects that our sardine society is becoming increasingly "aggressive."

"Since our melting pot became a pressure cooker, and since most of us are helpless to strike back at real enemies, our suppressed hostility can be expressed best through surrogate villains."

A minister in Pensacola, Fla., the Rev. David Scrimshaw, suspects that the popularity of J.R. Ewing—who mercilessly misses the women in his life—may be a backlash against the liberation of women.

A Michigan banker theorizes that the program's popularity may offer an outlet for subconscious hate.

I've a letter from a young woman in St. Joseph, Mo., which may make more sense than any of the more scholarly diagnoses. Trish Luke says, "I just love to see those rich people miserable!"

She may have hit the nail with her head.

There is a public preference for "bad news" because it helps the reader or the listener to feel himself to be "better off."

Garish headlines on any newsstand attest to the public appetite to learn about somebody "worse off than ourselves."

The public was treated to the tribulations of the super rich when the Hunt brothers went into hock.

That does not explain the popularity of the anti-hero, J.R.

For those of us who grew up in a land where Little Nell always escaped and the good cowboy always won and bad guys never did—we are incapable of comprehending any perversion of that precept.

The Newspaper Bible

HAPPINESS IS...

Happy is the man who doesn't give in and do wrong when he is tempted, for afterwards he will get as his reward the crown of life that God has promised those who love Him.

And remember, when someone wants to do wrong it is never God who is tempting him, for God never wants to do wrong and never tempts anyone else to do it.

Temptation is the pull of man's own evil thoughts and wishes.

These evil thoughts lead to evil actions and afterwards to the death penalty from God.

So don't be misled, dear brothers.

But whatever is good and perfect comes to us from God, the Creator of all light, and He shines forever without change or shadow.

And it was a happy day for Him when He gave us our new lives, through the truth of His Word, and we became, as it were, the first children in His new family.

Dear brothers, don't ever forget that it is best to listen much, speak little, and not become angry;

For anger doesn't make us good, as God demands that we must be.

So get rid of all that is wrong in your life, both inside and outside, and humbly be glad for the wonderful message we have received, for it is able to save our souls as it takes hold of our hearts.

And remember, it is a message to obey, not just to listen to. So don't fool yourselves.

For if a person just listens and doesn't obey, he is like a man looking at his face in a mirror;

As soon as he walks away, he can't see himself anymore or remember what he looks like.

But if anyone keeps looking steadily into God's law for free men, he will not only remember it but he will do what it says, and God will greatly bless him in everything he does.

Kitchens Rallies Past Salinas for City Title

By Mauri Montgomery
Brand Sports Editor

Few words were spoken, the clubhouse was uncharacteristically quiet as the championship flight of the Hereford Men's City Championship Golf Tournament sat down to watch their scores being scrolled up on the IN column of the stat sheet Sunday.

Some shook their heads in disgust, while others simply retreated into the chairs and stared—recounting the sortie they had just completed. But the winner of the affair, in this instance Kelly Kitchens, made his appearance last among the field.

It wasn't that the guard for Wayland Baptist's cage squad and former Whiteface athlete wanted to make a grand entrance, although no one could have blamed him for doing so after coming off a two stroke disadvantage to win the tourney outright on the 18th hole of play, but he just didn't like to leave his clubs lying around—so he stuffed them away for the next tourney while the others (his opponents) stewed about the turn of events.

Kitchens, two strokes down behind defending champion James Salinas with three holes left in the final round's play, pinched off pars on the remaining trio of holes (Salinas could manage only bogeys in that final segment) in order to cap the winning slot of the championship flight with a 143.

"I really can't believe Salinas bogeyed those last three holes," said Kitchens following the two day event at Pitman Municipal Golf Course. "It's not like him to do something like that, at least I've never seen him give up that many in a row since I've played with him."

"I was two shots behind him going into No. 16 and when he bogeyed that hole the second nine — mistakes that could have been avoided and one's that ruined my game and chances for a win.

"I don't know, if I could put my game all together just once, I might be able to shoot pretty good," he said. "But it's (my game) always up and down. Today my driving was terrible, and other days it place berth. Jerry Wilborne capped a fourth place finish after the 36-hole medal play contest with a 148 while Bob Baker and Mike Hill battled it out for fifth place. Baker tapped in a 154 and Hill followed with a 155. Raymond Schroeder drove in combined totals of 84-76 for a 161 nd Miles GoForth brought up the end of the championship field after tallying an 83-81-164.

and 17 I figured, then and only then, that I could win the thing outright," he said. "We were all tied up after No. 17 and that had been my best shot of the day as far as making up lost ground."

"But that's the way I like to be—in the position to make up ground rather than to defend a lead," Kitchens said. "I was four over par after four on the final round and I ended up being five over which was pretty good I thought considering I hadn't played in individual competition since high school. I've played a lot of golf this summer, but it has been in partnerships and there's a difference between both forms of competition."

And if the championship flight lead or win came as a surprise to Kitchens, it transformed into utter dismay for the reigning champion James Salinas.

"I'll tell you what, it hurts to lose three holes in a row when you're ahead by only two strokes," said Salinas after a disappointing second round.

"I'll tell you what, it hurts to lose three holes in a row when you're ahead by only two strokes," said Salinas after a disappointing second round. "I advanced to a two shot lead after the first nine today and then I just started making mental mistakes on may be my putting. I held that two-shot lead going into No. 16 and then I hit my worst tee shot of the day and landed about five feet from the creek. And that's where I started falling apart."

After bogeying the 16th and 17th holes, Salinas hit his tee shot into a dirt coated rough on No. 18, followed with a second equally disastrous shot across the next fairway next to a tree, and then two putted the final hole for a bogey and second-place 144 score for the tourney.

"Kelly really hit some good iron shots coming home and that's where he caught me — when I was making those terrible shots," Salinas said. "It's tough to defend a title when you want it so bad. I really didn't care about the prize money as much as I did about having my name on that trophy again for another year. I shot one stroke worse than I did last year, and after seeing the results of this one, I guess I should have shot the same score again. At least it might have gone to sudden death and that would have been better than dropping the lead away with three straight bogeys."

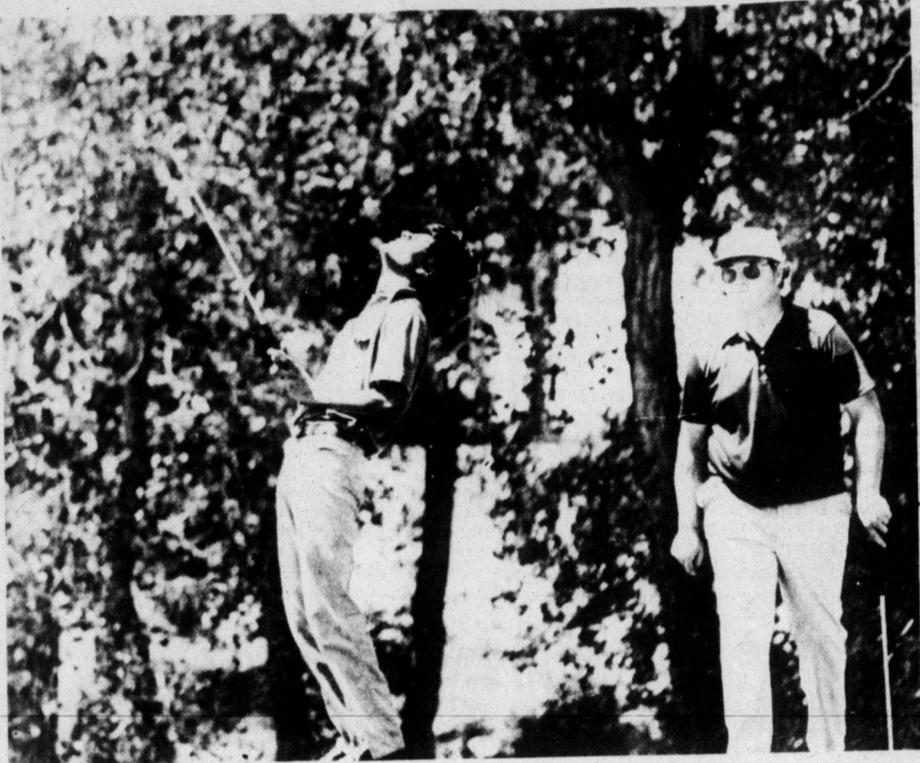

Other championship flight competitors making a bid for the title this year included; Terry Russell who came in behind Kitchens and Salinas after posting a two-day total of 146 for rights to the third

"I Missed"

Defending champion James Salinas leans back in dismay while opponent Terry Russell looks on, following a missed putt on the final hole of the Hereford Men's City Golf Championship Sunday. Salinas had led the championship field by two strokes going into No. 16 in the second round of play, but that lead dwindled in favor of Kelly Kitchens as Salinas bogeyed the last three holes of tourney play for a second-place 144. (Brand photo by Mauri Montgomery)

Exciting Cougars Seek More Consistency on Team This Fall

HOUSTON (AP) — There were mysterious ingredients that went into the Houston Cougars' baffling 11-1 record and Southwest Conference football championship in 1979.

Like: —Defensive tackle Hosea Taylor leaping high to block an Arkansas field goal attempt in the final seconds to preserve Houston's 13-10 victory.

"Their center stayed down," Taylor recalled. "I jumped up on his back and the ball hit me in the head. They taught us to get the job done the best way we could."

Or: —Flanker Eric Herring's circus catch that resulted in a last second victory over Texas A&M.

"I knew the pass was going to be high and I went up with too many scoring opportunities last season. We got inside Baylor's 10-yard line three times without scratching."

Quarterback Terry Elston, who came off the bench to engineer most of the comebacks, has moved into the starting assignment this year and he says he's ready for the challenge.

"I don't feel any different right now, except that I've had to work a lot harder," Elston said. "I was okay running last season but the question was could I pass. I worked hardest this summer on passing and I think I'm better."

In addition to Herring, Elston will have speedy split end Lonell Phea as a regular target this season.

"He can scald the earth," Yeoman said of Phea. "He got behind Nebraska a couple of times in the Cotton Bowl and if they're not careful, he'll get behind everybody. He's a little like the roadrunner. I haven't seen him run down yet."

HOUSTON: down yet." Nor has Yeoman often seen opponents take advantage of mammoth Taylor and his mammoth teammate, defensive tackle Leonard Mitchell.

"Leonard is the better athlete of the two," Yeoman assesses. "He's got the great change of direction. Hosea I think is more intense and they've both got excellent speed."

Mitchell, a double letterman in football and basketball, dropped basketball last season to go through UH's weight program.

"He's so much stronger in his upper body than last year," Yeoman said. "If he can get his upper body strength to match his leg strength, he's going to be an awfully hard youngster to block."

'Meet Herd' Night Set

Hereford athletic director and head football coach Don Cumpston announced Monday that the Annual Meet the Herd Night, which is sponsored by the Hereford Booster Club each year, has been scheduled for tonight at 7 p.m.

The activity is designed to acquaint Hereford fans with Hereford players, coaches and cheerleaders for the upcoming fall grid season.

A schedule of events for the affair includes the playing of the school fight song by the Whiteface Band, opening remarks by Booster Club President Bob Josseland, introduction of cheerleaders by Cumpston, yells by the cheerleaders, coaches presentation of players, the Herd's demonstration of play utilization, and closing remarks by Josseland.

The event is open for anyone who is interested in attending.

Gold Sox Win Again; Still 2 Games Back

By The Associated Press

Frankie George's three-run homer and shutout pitching by Mark Thurmond helped the Amarillo Gold Sox take a 5-0 Texas League baseball victory over the San Antonio Dodgers Monday night.

In other Texas League games, Arkansas shut out Jackson, 1-0; Tulsa shut out Shreveport, 2-0, and Midland beat El Paso, 12-6.

Former Texas A&M pitcher Thurmond's mound opponent was former University of Texas pitcher Ricky Wright. Thurmond definitely came out on top, giving up only four hits. He also struck out six and walked four. Wright lasted two innings, giving up four runs on eight hits. Thurmond is 9-9. Wright, the losing pitcher, is 7-10.

Frank Hunsaker singled home Stan McCauley with the game's only run in the eighth inning as the Arkansas Travelers shut out the Jackson Mets, 1-0. It was Hunsaker's third hit of the game.

John Stuper, 7-2, who allowed only three hits, was the winning pitcher. The loser was Brent Gaff, 8-9.

Two of Jackson's hits were bunt singles by Ed Cuervo. Arnold McCreary singled home a run and another scored on a squeeze play as the Tulsa Drillers shut out the Shreveport Captains, 2-0.

Ted Davis, 9-3, was the winning pitcher. Mike Glinatsis, 4-11, was the loser.

Dave Stockstill had a solo home run as the Midland Cubs beat the El Paso Diablos, 12-6. Midland trailed 6-0 in the third inning.

The victory kept the Cubs two games ahead of the Amarillo Gold Sox in the Texas League West.

Cards Best Astros

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A summer in new surroundings has failed to produce a season of serendipity for reliever Don Hood of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Nonetheless, in the closing weeks of his first campaign as a free agent, the former American League left-hander is demonstrating an unwillingness to concede defeat.

"For me, it seems like I can't ever prove myself," Hood said Monday night after fashioning a four-hitter and halting the Houston Astros' 10-game winning streak 3-1.

"So I just have to keep battling. I think the basic thing you have to look at is the nucleus of this club. We've still got some great players. I'd like to be a part of it — if they'd let me."

The element of doubt expressed by Hood, a 30-year-old hurler with a 3-5 record who toiled six years in the AL, would not seem to be unfounded.

Antacids affect absorption

DEAR DR. LAMB - I recently read on the reverse side of a bottle of Di-Gel concerning the drug interaction precaution of taking Di-Gel and tetracycline. Can you explain the reason why the two can't be taken together? I'm presently taking tetracycline on doctor's orders and use Di-Gel occasionally.

DEAR READER - Most antacids interfere with the absorption of tetracyclines. The net result is you don't get the medical benefits that your doctor wants you to get from the tetracycline itself. One approach to this is to increase the dosage of tetracycline but this is not something that you should do yourself.

I'm not sure why you're taking Di-Gel and if you have complaints that justify use of antacids, you should talk to your doctor about them. In the meantime, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 10-4. Use and Abuse of Antacids. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Don't switch to using some other antacid just because of what you found out about Di-Gel. Most antacids have the same effect in regard to absorption of tetracycline.

I would suggest that you and your husband start with a marriage counselor. If you need additional consultations, the marriage counselor may be able to refer you to the proper place in your community. Meanwhile, if it doesn't embarrass you too much you might go to some bookstores, perhaps in a nearby large city, and see if you can find some good up-to-date books on sex. There have been so many of them written in recent years that you shouldn't have a problem finding some. Read them through and encourage your husband to do likewise.

The other point I'd like to suggest is not to try to hide this difficulty and fail to discuss it with your husband. If both of you accept it as something that you need to work on together to improve the situation, that will be a big step in the right direction.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I'm a 25-year-old woman with a 13-month-old daughter. I've been married for six years. Before my daughter was born I had fairly good sex drive. Since her birth I have no sex drive and absolutely no desire for sex of any kind. When I do

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN - Pretrial hearings in the Texas Brilab investigation opened in Houston last week, a rough-and-tumble judicial football game played in a political windstorm.

While House Speaker Bill Clayton's lawyers fight for his political life, the campaign season winds are beginning to build from a whistle to loud hum.

Clayton, along with others, faces charges of extortion, racketeering, fraud and conspiracy in connection with an alleged scheme to award a lucrative state insurance contract in exchange for campaign contributions.

Clayton's lawyers sought to have the case thrown out of federal court into a state court on jurisdictional grounds last week, and several of the "Brilab tapes" of conversations with Clayton and other key figures were played in the courtroom.

Among other revelations, the press learned that the FBI informant in the case, Joseph Hauser, was paid $65,000 by the government for his role in the sting.

The federal judge, upon ending the pretrial hearings Friday, was expected to rule with little delay on whether the case should be dismissed on the grounds of entrapment, federal government misconduct, or artificially created federal jurisdiction.

Bullock Subpoenaed

State Comptroller Bob Bullock was subpoenaed last week to testify Sept. 3 before a Travis County grand jury probing charges his former chief deputy used state employees and equipment to conduct private business.

Bullock himself is not a target in the investigation into the activities of former Bullock top aide Ralph Wayne.

Two grand juries have already probed the allegations within the past two years, and Bullock has labeled the action a political witchhunt. He and District Attorney Ronald Earle, both former state legislators, have waged colorful, verbal media exchanges since the first investigation.

Medicaid Insurance

A New York insurance firm may launch a lawsuit if a Texas state agency reneges, as expected, on its award of the lucrative state Medicaid insurance contract.

The 3-member state Human Resources Board was to have met Monday to reconsider previous action giving the contract to Bradford National-Corp. of New York, and award it, instead, to a company owned by Dallas millionaire H. Ross Perot.

Perot's company held the contract last year but lost it last month to low-bidder Bradford. Perot then met privately with each of board members, who later agreed to reconsider the award and publicly indicated it would go to Perot's company.

Perot, who gained fame with a daring rescue raid into Iran two years ago, heads the Governor's task force against drug abuse.

Skeletons, Closed Doors

The Brilab tapestry may become a background for more charges of misconduct by state officials, whether founded or not, as opposing political forces try to discredit one another. It is a season when rivals begin to fire their best shots.

One of the men running for Clayton's seat, should Clayton be forced to step down, is Rep. Gib Lewis of Fort Worth, who last week answered to charges he took $500 from a lobbyist to buy gift watches for a legislative committee.

The lobbyist produced a $500 check, which Lewis discredited, saying he paid for the watches in 1977 with his own personal check. Un-

Consultant To Decide Medicaid Contract Fate

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The State Board of Human Resources has decided to hire a consultant to help it choose between a New York firm and H. Ross Perot's insurance company for Texas' $2 billion four-year Medicaid contract.

Former Attorney General John Hill, representing Perot, called the conduct of the New York company's chairman "outrageous and irresponsible."

By a 2-0 vote Monday, with Raul Jimenez of San Antonio abstaining, the board delayed its final decision until Oct. 15.

Monday's four-hour board meeting was filled with angry charges and countercharges as Perot's National Heritage Insurance Co. and Bradford National Corp of New York City vied for the contract.

Bradford maintains it received a legally binding contract when the board voted July 15 to give its Medicaid business to Bradford.

"I did not feel I was awarding any contract," said board Chairman Hilmar Moore.

The board decided Monday to pay a consulting firm up to $100,000 to evaluate the bidding process, size up the bids and tell the board which one would be the least costly for the taxpayers.

National Heritage has held the group insurance contract to pay medical bills for 700,000 Texas welfare recipients since 1977 and says it has saved the state millions of dollars through cost control measures.

Staff members of the Department of Human Resources and a hired actuary, said Bradford's bid came out $20 million to $50 million less than Perot's over the four-year contract period.

Bradford's chairman, Peter Del Col, asserted National Heritage's bid was "tainted" by Perot's one-on-one visits to each of the three board members after the July 15 action.

Moore interrupted Del Col to assert that Del Col had telephoned him at his home in Richmond about the contract.

"No, never. I don't even know where you live," Del Col shot back.

Moore said the man on the telephone called between July 15 and July 19, identified himself as Del Col and asked what was happening with regard to the contract.

"It was probably somebody from EDS (Electronic Data Systems, parent company of National Heritage)," Del Col said. He offered to take a lie detector test to prove he did not make the call.

Perot told reporters, "I am sure when the dust clears, somebody from Bradford called Hilmar Moore. I'm sure it was not Peter Del Col."

As for Del Col's assertion it probably was someone from EDS, Perot said, "We don't do things like that. Anybody who knows anything about EDS knows that."

Hill said it was clear from the record of the July 15 action that nobody thought the board was entering a binding contract. Nothing was signed, but the staff was instructed to work on contract terms with Bradford.

Del Col has threatened to sue the board if it gives the contract to National Heritage, and Hill said, "Let it come, Mr. Del Col, let it come."

Hill was highly critical of Del Col's news conferences and newspaper advertisements last week attacking the board's change of mind after its July 15 decision.

"I highly resent the outrageous and irresponsible conduct of Mr. Del Col in this matter. If he represents the philosophy of that company (Bradford), that is something this board needs to evaluate. Can you imagine a company that would take out thousands of dollars of newspaper ads to hold this board up to public ridicule, defamation and downright libel?" Hill said. Texas has the only Medicaid system in the nation in which the state buys a group insurance policy to pay the medical bills of welfare recipients. About 700,000 persons are covered.

Perot won the contract away from Blue Cross in 1977 and insists his company should get to keep it another four years on the basis of performance and anticipated savings.

"You'd know more about a plumber before you had him come out to your house than the staff knew about Bradford," he said.

Anderson Admits Changes

By MIKE SHANAHAN

Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John B. Anderson has not exactly been a model of consistency during his 20 years in Congress. He's the first to admit it.

"My philosophy evolved," says the Illinois Republican who is seeking the presidency as an independent. "When I came to Congress in 1961, I was labeled a conservative — correctly because of many positions that I espoused. There is little question in anybody's mind that today I am a moderate."

In many minds, doubt remains about the meaning of Anderson's congressional voting record as a measure of his political philosophy.

Labor unions, for example, fervently oppose Anderson, saying he consistently fought programs they considered key tests for friends and enemies in Congress.

AFL-CIO President Lane Kirkland, asked if organized labor might support Anderson over President Carter, replied: "Good God, no!"

Dick Murphy, a lobbyist for the Service Employees International Union, says simply, "On the incendiary issues, he has been absolutely wrong."

Among those issues are Anderson's votes against a 1978 labor law reform bill and opposition to a proposal that would permit a single striking union to close an entire construction site.

But over the last 10 years, Anderson repeatedly has broken with conservative Republicans and voted for social and foreign affairs legislation, such as federal funding for abortions, ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment, the Panama Canal treaties, the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT), all major civil rights bills of the 1960s and federal controls on handguns.

In short, Anderson's public record is a moving target.

Part of the ambiguity arises from Anderson's initial days as a rock-ribbed conservative who gradually moved to the center, then increasingly joined Democrats on social issues, while voting with conservative Republicans on economics.

One person who knows Anderson well in the House is Rep. Tom Railsback, who represents an adjacent and similar Republican district in Illinois.

In an interview, Railsback said Anderson's change in political outlook over the years is genuine and can be explained as a broadening, greater concern for national versus local issues.

"John Anderson has always had good political instincts and I think, like a lot of us, he became more concerned about national issues," he said. "He is not a right winger and I don't think he ever was a right winger."

Only during the last several months of his presidential campaign has Anderson appeared to make superficial political appeals to enhance his liberal image and play down his conservative voting record in Congress, Railsback said.

Railsback, who will campaign in support of Reagan, says nonetheless, that Anderson's basic instincts would make him a good president.

As Anderson campaigns, the most consistent question about his record comes on an amendment to the Constitution, which he first proposed as a freshman House member in 1961, then again in 1963 and 1965.

Now dubbed the "Christian Amendment," it suggests that the U.S. adopt Christianity as a national religion.

"This nation devoutly recognizes the authority and law of Jesus Christ, Saviour and Ruler of Nations through whom are bestowed the blessings of Almighty God," the amendment said.

It was qualified to declare that there was no intention to establish a national religion. Specifically, "This amendment shall not be interpreted so as to result in the establishment of any particular ecclesiastical organization, or in the abridgment of the rights of religious freedom, or freedom of speech and press, or of peaceful assemblage."

Congress would also be encouraged to exempt non-believers from any requirement that they pledge themselves to Christianity.

"It was a mistake," Anderson says now. The congressman says he did not then understand the full implications of the legislation.

Critics ask how a politician with a graduate degree in law from Harvard could have put his name on legislation that violated traditions of church-state separation.

And as late as 1971, Anderson was a co-sponsor of a proposed constitutional amendment to permit prayer in public schools. He now notes that later in 1971 he changed his view and voted against a school prayer amendment.

Anderson also has a mixed record on environmental issues.

Environmentalists note that Anderson has said his administration would license no new nuclear power plants until tough new safety rules had been put in place for the nuclear industry.

But a review of his voting record shows the nuclear industry has had no more loyal ally in Congress than Anderson.

Similarly, Anderson correctly portrays himself as an opponent of the Vietnam war. But he consistently voted against cutting off funding for the war.

He now says he wanted to give then-President Richard M. Nixon time to negotiate an end to the war without interference from Congress.

One action dramatizing Anderson's reputation as a political free spirit came in 1974 when he became the first Republican to publicly call for Nixon's resignation in the midst of the Watergate scandal.

Anderson also voted for the Kemp-Roth 30 percent tax cut bill, now embraced by Ronald Reagan. But now Anderson says in campaign speeches that it was a bad idea that would result in arbitrary cuts in the federal budget without any resulting benefit to the economy.

As the chairman of the House Republican Conference, Anderson said, he felt obligated to vote for the tax cut bill without any real personal conviction.

Coleman Named To Panel

Bruce Coleman, Deaf Smith County Commissioner, Precinct 3, has been named a member of the National Association of Counties (NACo) Criminal Justice and Public Safety Policy steering committee.

The one-year appointment was made by NACo president Roy Orr of Dallas. NACo's 12 steering committees form the policy-making arm of county government. Each committee is composed of approximately 40 county officials.

Each committee usually meets at least four times a year. Their recommendations on county legislative goals are presented to county officials from across the nation at NACo's annual conference. If approved, the recommendations become part of the American County Platform—the organization's official policy document.

Since the association was founded in 1936, its goals remain unchanged: to improve county government, to act as a national spokesman for counties, to serve as a liaison between counties and other levels of government, and to achieve a public understanding of the role of counties in the federal system.
