Computer Firm Has Directors Meeting

Computer Data Processing Inc. of Hereford hosted members of Agricultural Computing Company here Friday afternoon at a board of directors meeting. Morris Easley, president of CDP Inc. and manager of systems implementation for ACC, described it as "an informational meeting, bringing them up to date on the agricultural picture. And frankly, it looks good."

Easley added that the meeting was also to familiarize the ACC people with Data Processing.

Easley started his company in Hereford four years ago. He said there is no limit to application and that no business was too small to utilize a computer.

He pointed out that companies are required to keep volumes of records which can be handled by computers. While the computer is handling the records, it can also give management information. He predicted that every business in the country would be using a computer in some way in the near future.

Computer Data Processing was started here primarily to serve the businesses of Hereford and the surrounding area. The new company will not be confined to Hereford but will be an area project because the transmission system makes it possible to serve other areas, Easley said.

During the last week of July, several announcements were made at the organizational meeting of shareholders of Agricultural Computing Co. They named a temporary board of directors, a temporary slate of officers and temporary operating management. They also announced their intent to purchase Computer Data Processing Inc. and continue it in operation in Hereford.

The July meeting also included a plan to develop a technical advisory committee and the intent to award Data Automation Company of Dallas a systems design and business management contract.

Bill Nelson was named Chairman of the Board of Directors.

Other board members are Walker H. Bateman III of Amarillo, Sam A. Thomas Jr. of Amarillo, T. M. Brooks of Dallas, Easley, Joe Harrison of Dallas, Virgil Marsh of Hereford, Bob Hill of Amarillo, and Keith Lafon of Amarillo.

Acting officers named were Bill Nelson, president; Sam Thomas, acting vice president; Richard Freehling, acting secretary; and T. M. Brooks, acting treasurer.

Easley said then that this move would give the added resources needed for expanded services to existing customers and for reaching new ones, which had not been feasible prior to that time.

Of the meeting Friday, Easley added that they are now "moving fast from necessity" and that there should be much information forthcoming on activities in the near future. He said that he was optimistic from See COMPUTER Page 2

Local Farmers Gross More Than $36 Million In '67

NEW YORK (Special to the Brand) — From the standpoint of gross income, Deaf Smith County farms yielded more in the past year than did farms in many parts of the country.

Related to the size of the local farm population, the results were better than average, according to a nationwide survey of farm and ranch operations.

Credit for it is attributed to increased output, made possible by generally favorable weather conditions, by greater mechanization and by more intensive use of fertilizers and insecticides.

They more than compensated for the reduced acreage under the Government's diversion programs.

The facts and figures, showing how the local farm community fared in comparison with others, are contained in a comprehensive survey of farm incomes, released by the Standard Rate and Data Service.

It reports total receipts in Deaf Smith County from the year's farm marketings at $36,162,000. This was the gross amount, before deductions for operating costs.

It consisted of the cash returns from the sale of crops and livestock, together with Government payments and the value of home-grown products consumed on the farm.

Expressed in terms of the local farm population, the gross income per capita was 4.8 percent higher than the previous year.

Of the amount received locally from the sale of farm products, Department of Agriculture figures indicate that about 59 percent of it came from crops and 41 percent from livestock, poultry and dairy goods.

Despite the bountiful harvests, however, the squeeze on the farmer continues. He finds himself caught in the usual bind of higher operating costs with no corresponding rise in prices.

County Has 11 August Wrecks

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 11 accidents on rural highways in Deaf Smith County during the month of August, according to Sergeant W. E. Wells, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in eight persons injured and an estimated property damage of $10,876.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first eight months of 1968 shows a total of 65 accidents resulting in one person killed, 29 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $48,178.

September first marked the beginning of the 1969 Motor Vehicle Inspection period. Motorists are urged to have their vehicles inspected during routine visits to garages and thereby eliminate the necessity of having to wait in line at a later date for an inspection sticker.

The Sergeant stated, "With the hard summer driving coming to an end, Fall is an excellent time to have vehicles safely checked for the winter months ahead."

Castro County had 13 accidents during the month, with two killed, five injured and damages totaling $9,680. Oldham County had 16 accidents, one killed, 10 injured and damages totaling $20,360, and Parmer County had 16 accidents, with one killed, eight injured and damages totaling $10,107.

Gunshot Victim Is Improving

Dick Rogers, 22 of 321 Avenue K, was listed in good condition Saturday afternoon at Deaf Smith County Hospital, where he is recovering from gunshot wounds in the midsection.

Rogers was shot three times Sept. 6 outside the Cougar Club, 133 Bennett. Charged with assault with intent to murder was Jesus Ybera Huerta Jr., 21.

Also, Charles Anderson, burglary of the Big T Pump Company — hung jury; William Hampton, DWI second offense — 18 months in prison; Otho Noland, DWI second offense — 5 years probation; Mose Sawell, armed robbery of the J. P. Jones Texaco — 10 years in prison; Elois Soliz, felony theft — 5 years in prison; J. O. Judge Archie McDonald presided during the court session, and Bill Hunter was prosecuting attorney.

Plans Continue On United Fund Drive

Paper work necessary for United Fund kick-off plans is being completed, according to Johnny Clark Jr., drive chairman. Less than a month away, the annual United Fund drive will involve nearly all citizens in one way or another, he said.

"This is a community project, planned to raise funds for operation of community activities," Clark said, "and that makes it the responsibility of all of us."

Debbs Knox, president of United Fund, is assisting Clark in organizational matters. Knox was drive chairman for United Fund two years ago when the goal was reached faster than in any town in the entire state.

"More important than this state recognition," Knox said, "is the fact that the goal was reached and this means that the clubs and organizations do not have to conduct campaigns of their own during the year." He went on to explain that the whole purpose of UF is to do all fund raising in the fall of the year and this frees volunteer workers during the year, prevents citizens having to evaluate charity drives and be bothered with door to door solicitations.

Knox explained that the board of directors for United Fund had given some of the organizations permission to conduct fund raising campaigns this year because they did not get their budget requirements from United Fund, since last year's goal was not reached.

These groups have all been carefully screened as to needs and as to actual activities conducted.

All have been determined to be valid charity groups, working for necessary goals for people in this town and county.

Gene Fooks, chairman of the admissions committee said that he and his committee started work early this summer and arrived after long sessions with representatives of these groups.

An example noted by Knox is the increased budget of Hereford Camp Fire Council. When broken down, this budget seems small for the operation of training and activity programs for nearly 500 young girls. Thirty-one volunteer leaders give of their time all year long and 20 assistant leaders give their free time to help.

Some of the costs for conducting youth activities on a large scale are building insurance, general office supplies, and maintenance, but with the bulk of expense actually being tangible costs directly related to children's activity. Sports and games equipment is set up at $50. This is a very small amount for this many girls. Handcraft supplies budget is $200 for all programs. The bus used by all groups costs $500 a year to maintain. Other expense for the program is proportionately small.

Representatives of the council pointed out to the budget committee that four years ago, 140 girls participated in the program. Now nearly 500 are participating.

Other groups will be discussed in ensuing issues.

Letter To The Editor

While attending the football game last night, even though I regretted the Whitefaces lost; I was very impressed at the opening of the game when prayer was offered and then the National Anthem.

If we expect to receive God's blessings in any walks of life, or even in winning the war in Vietnam we must ask God's blessings and guidance.

I asked one of the principals here a few years ago if we were going along with the idea of going away with prayer in our school system; the answer was NO. While attending a program at one of the elementary schools, I noticed the pledge of the Allegiance to the Flag, but no prayer. I feel that our children ought to know who made it possible for us to have a flag; but don't misunderstand me, it's fine to honor the flag, but let's not make it appear that God is dead, because he's not.

I made mention of that to one of my sons and he replied "Daddy, that's the law." I am wondering, if a bill was passed to close our church doors, would we be stupid enough to do so? We ought to obey God rather than man. Acts 5:29.

Clayton Maps Out Campaign Issues

By EARL MOSELEY
Staff Writer

State Representative Bill Clayton of Springlake, who is up for re-election in the 72nd District which includes Deaf Smith County, spoke to a group here Saturday morning at a Caisson House breakfast concerning the issues in his campaign.

Rep. Clayton is opposed in his race by a Hereford businessman, Frank Ford Jr. Clayton spoke mainly on his record in four previous terms in office.

On industrial development, he noted that within the last six years he has been active in legislation "to advertise the advantages of the state in different areas" for plant location and travel. He stated that Texas was well down the list in industrial construction when he first entered the legislature but as of this year, had risen to number one nationally, "even surpassing California."

He said that he had worked closely with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce through this development and in the voting on Industrial Revenue bond. "I also helped pass the bill enabling the financial backing to new industry, which had been lacking in the past."

In the field of education, he stated that he was one of the co-authors of the bill that created the Coordinating Board for higher education. "Although we have had good colleges in the past, we now have an opportunity to strive for 'excellence' in the state. And in the field of public education, I have supported every pay raise for teachers during the past six years — and have supported the tax bill to pay it."

Clayton said that he had worked with some of the school superintendents in this district in the recruiting of teachers and understood their problems — which included "the hiring away of teachers here by New Mexico, because they are usually paid more money there."

He pointed out that he was active toward getting the Connolly Technical School of Waco four years ago and had worked on the same plan for Amarillo Air Force Base when it is completely phased out.

But he said, "I have generally agreed with the Coordinating Board (for higher education) — but have disagreed on their junior college districting." He felt there is a need for two junior colleges in the 4-county district in which Hereford is a part and said he is working on a plan to redistrict this area so that it will be possible.

Clayton spoke on his part in agriculture, saying "We have been very fortunate." "We stressed the $60,000 for research in castorbeans at Plainview for this area. And he pointed out the $25,000 for feasibility of wool, mohair and cotton research passed four years ago — "to see how we could keep this business from being stolen from us." They now have a sizeable amount of money for research on this at Texas Tech rather than Texas A&M. He felt that Texas Tech was more familiar with the local situation and

"We appreciate the opportunity," continued Godwin, "to demonstrate to our state — its people, its legislature, and its water development agency — that we place a high value on our water resources, how important water is to our thriving economy, and that we are united in the effort to achieve imported water. We are indeed fortunate to receive the outstanding recognition of our problems and needs by the water development agency and the legislative water committee."

Young Farmers To Get Recognition

September 14-21 has been officially designated as Young Farmers Week in Texas by proclamation of Governor John Connally.

The proclamation signed last week gives additional recognition to this rapidly growing farm group. Young Farmer work is sponsored under the auspices of vocational agriculture departments in high schools across Texas and the Texas Education Agency.

Over 250 Young Farmer chapters have been organized on local school district or county wide basis to carry out educational activities which will help the members keep abreast of the technological advancements in the field of agriculture and to develop greater skill and efficiency in management, production, and marketing. Governor Connally points out in the proclamation that, in addition to educational activities, Young Farmers incorporate in their planned chapter programs civic and community service projects and leadership activities that are designed to improve their communities, State, and Nation, and to promote the welfare of all citizens. He further points out that through these efforts they are helping to strengthen the economy of our country and are promoting good citizenship.

In closing the proclamation the governor predicted that as the organization continues to grow it will play an increasingly important role in the life of rural America. Wayne Nelson of Mildred is President of the State Association of Young Farmers which has a membership of over 4600.

Perfect Attendance Recorded At Messenger Club's Meeting

All the members of Messenger Home Demonstration Club were at the first fall meeting Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Bill Page, and Mrs. George Bumpass of Hereford was a guest. Argen Draper, County H.

D. Agent, also was present to give the program. Her subject was Lemon Pie Kitchen, and she traced the steps taken in making a pie in an ill-arranged kitchen, then in one with convenient storage for ingredients and utensils. Speaking of the placement of kitchen equipment, she said the range and refrigerator should not be more than six feet apart.

Possible money-making projects were discussed in the business period with Mrs. J. E. Sorrells presiding. Reports were made on several residents "adopted" in past years as the club's Senior Citizens. Mrs. Elmer Northcutt read a letter from Mrs. J. E. Rouse, now with a sister at Kemp.

She also said J. L. Smith has moved to Friona and is living near a daughter. Mrs. Sorrells told of a recent visit to Mrs. Edna Culver in Kings Manor and Mrs. S. N. Thweatt of a visit with Mrs. G. W. Pinkerton at her home.

Mrs. Northcutt will be one of

S. A.'s top hammer thrower despite the handicap of a crippled arm.

How Much Will Be Paid By SS?

"I must have paid you folks many thousands of dollars since 1936; how much are you going to pay me when I retire next month?" is a query all social security interviewers hear time and time again. This series of short articles is designed to work out some answers for readers of this newspaper.

The person reaching age 65 in December of 1968, having paid the maximum social security tax of $3,016 as an employee since 1936 or $3,829.29 as a self-employed person since 1950, will be due a monthly retirement benefit of $158.20 per month starting with January 1969. If his wife is 62-63-64 or 65, she will be due from $59.30 to $79.10, depending on her exact age. The couple's total, from $207.50 to $237.30, means the tax payment will be recovered in less than 15 months for a former employee and less than 19 months for the retired self-employed persons.

But what of the person now aged 22 and paying the maximum social security tax from now until age 65 is reached? What will it cost him and what will it pay him, under present legislation? See the next article soon to appear in this newspaper.

credibly story is a reminder to the world that love recognizes no barriers. The Olympic torch had been extinguished for another four years, but two young people had kept it aglow in their own lives, and in doing so they touched the hearts of people everywhere. Latest books in the library:

Year's Work Forecast As PCCW Installs Officers At Supper

First open meeting of the newly-reorganized Parish Council of Catholic Women of St. Anthony's Church was held for installation of officers and a forecast of the year's activities, at a pot-luck supper in the parish school auditorium Thursday.

Mrs. Paul Zinsler took office as president, Mrs. Andrew Ker-shen vice president, Mrs. Jimmie Jesko secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Freedy Cooper parliamentarian in a ceremony conducted by Mrs. George Turrentine. She stressed humility, love and mutual aid as the qualities most needed for leaders of the organization.

Work of the five commissions of the PCCW was explained. Turrentine is general chairman, Mrs. William Gilleland chairman of Family Affairs; Mrs. Tommy Albracht of Church Community Commission; Mrs. Bud Paetzold of Community Affairs; Mrs. Leo Witkowski, International Affairs; Mrs. A. C. Stengel, Parish Affairs.

Representatives of St. Anthony's Guild, the Antonian Circle and Christian Mothers, the three organizations which make up the PCCW, each gave a short outline of programs planned for the year.

Mrs. Zinsler was named delegate to the national CCW convention to be held in Denver, with Mrs. Turrentine alternate. For a diocesan convention in Amarillo, Mrs. Albracht and Stengel are delegates, Mrs. Larry Walterscheid and Mrs. Wern Koelzer alternates.

Mrs. John Pitman announced the meeting of Hereford Church Women United Nov. 1, when St. Anthony's Parish will be hostess. She said the idea behind CWU can be summed in the words, "Love God and love thy neighbor as thyself."

The Rev. Simeon Heine, S. A., new pastor at St. Anthony's, was introduced and expressed his pleasure in coming to Hereford. He reminded the members of changes brought about by recent Vatican conferences, which greatly stress a new role for women in church work.

"This is the age of women; if we are going to accept the role offered, we must be ready for the responsibility," he said as he offered his aid in the building at a later date for a similar discussion. Stan Knox, one of our deacons, tape recorded the discussion. If you want a copy of the recording or if you want to listen to the original, you can make arrangements with Stan at the Stan Knox TV and Music Shop.

"Many have suggested that a follow-up be made on this discussion, and that further exploration be made to open other doors of understanding. This is our plan. But, remember, we are plowing new sod. Therefore, of necessity we shall move cautiously and slowly. But we must keep trying as long as we stay within God's revealed will."

Fooks is author of a book, "Fellowship of Believers," which is an eclectic approach to Christianity in this manner.

Special Services Please Minister

Gene Fooks, minister of the Central Church of Christ in Hereford, reported on last Sunday night's meeting at the First Baptist Church:

"In all my years of preaching, I have never seen the goodwill and religious fervor so high as it was last Sunday evening."

"At the 6 p.m. worship hour, Johnny Clark, superintendent of Hereford Public Schools, brought us an inspiring lesson on the kind of men needed for the challenges of our time."

"We were dismissed, and all who wished went to the First Baptist Church for the discussion. Their sanctuary, which holds about 800 people, filled up fast. The Baptists were wonderful hosts to us as well as to people from Dimmitt, Canyon, Clovis and other communities. Gerald Mann, their new pastor, was a good moderator, making us all feel most welcome and relaxed. They were kind enough, and respected our convictions enough, that the congregational singing was without the piano."

"Everyone that mentioned it to me thought the singing, led by Bill Devers, was great — and some said 'heavenly'. We discussed our likenesses and differences in good faith and in good humor. Neither of us failed to express our true convictions on our faith in God, His Son, and His word. This was done in love and in kindness. When it was over, every body shook hands and expressed their gratitude that such a friendly discussion could come about. Every heart was filled with joy and the building was filled with happy believers."

"After the discussion was over, our hosts invited all who wished to their fellowship room for refreshments. The Baptists have agreed to come to our

Kid Party Given Madre Mia Club

Reverting to childhood looks, members of Madre Mia Club came to the fall social meeting which began their new season dressed as children, and found their meeting place decorated with balloons and toys.

The "kid party" was given at the annual breakfast, held in the home of Mrs. Herschel Black, club president. Yearbook committee members were the hostesses.

Mrs. Black greeted members dressed in a blue-checked gingham frock, white socks and Mary Jane slippers, with a bow in her hair.

Similar costumes were worn by all in the group which had breakfast at a table covered in a red checked cloth, the center heaped with toys. Mrs. David Honea was given the costume prize, a red lollipop.

In a short business meeting, plans were made for a rummage sale which was held Saturday to raise funds for club projects. The next meeting was announced for Sept. 26 in Mrs. Dean Herring's home, where Mrs. Juston McBride will be guest speaker.

New yearbooks were distributed and secret pal gifts were exchanged to reveal the identity of pals who were assigned for the summer months when the club was not meeting.

Members present included Mmes. Lynton Allred, James Gentry, Wayne Lady, Bill Lankford, G. C. Merritt, Bill Nelson, Bobby Owen, Harvey Penner, Don Walsler, Waldo Baxter, Parris and Herring.

Shelter Survey To Be Held In Area

In a Friday morning meeting of the Civil Emergency Planning Committee, plans were outlined for a survey to be conducted in Deaf Smith County to find out where places of safety can be found in case of an immediate emergency.

It was recommended at the meeting that the defense committee conduct a survey of the county to locate all private and public disaster shelters. These shelters, after having been located, will be mapped out on a master map so that officials will be able to tell persons where they are to go. The survey will determine what the people-capacity is for each of the shelters and also to determine how many people are already "contracted" to use them, through acquaintance with the owners.

Bill Thompson, manager of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, which assists the committee, said that the reason for this survey is that, in some towns it has happened that no one knew where a shelter was and confusion resulted. Also, he said, it has happened on occasion that following an emergency, people were trapped in a shelter and died due to the fact that no one knew that it existed.

Thompson hopes that eventually a master map will be worked out so that people will know where and when to go in case of an emergency.

He also pointed out that results of the survey will be examined and designated as shelters if they meet the qualifications of one. "Though basements are considered good shelters by many," Thompson stated, "this is not always the case. A good shelter is one that does not have gas or water lines in it."

People who have made plans to use their basements as shelters are advised that gas or water lines could possibly break during a storm or tornado causing the persons to become trapped in the place where they sought shelter and safety.

The survey will first be conducted through the KPAN radio and the Hereford Brand, with forms to be filled out, cut out of the paper, and sent in to the Chamber office.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

In a few days high school principals through the nation will get a letter from the Internal Revenue Service. Every year at this time IRS proves they do, indeed, give something away. About 750 schools in the Northern half of Texas will order free teaching material for more than 100,000 students. Across the nation, more than 25,000 schools will order for 4 1/2 million students. Our nation's teachers, with the help of Internal Revenue's Teaching Taxes material, puts these students a jump ahead of the rest of us in preparing our income tax return each year. In view of their own experience, most of the parents feel that the young folks sure need this kind of learning. The parents also readily understand why the students make far less errors than their parents after the income tax course. In some communities they offer this training for adults. Maybe your memory of April 15 is still strong enough to get you to promote a little tax training for adults in your community.

BOOSTER CLUB

The Whiteface Booster Club has met twice since the latter part of August and now number only around 35 members strong, or maybe it should be weak.

It seems rather pitiful that a town this size, and with the athletic program that it has, the people can not find a little time each week to put aside in helping with this worthwhile organization. You can look at other area towns that are nowhere near the size of Hereford and find some of them have Booster Clubs that have membership that makes the one here in this town look kind of pathetic. It seems to me that they care a lot more about their boys and their athletic program than the people here do.

At the last meeting of the group, very few persons showed up and the ones that did seem likely to be the ones carrying the load for the year to come. It was at this meeting that they decided that it was time for something to be done about the present membership quota. They stressed the idea that membership is not wanted just because of membership itself, but rather for the help the members can give toward the programs that the club initiates during the athletic year. They want men who will help at the various games, give assist in any undertaking that the club may decide on and give the club the drive that has been lacking for some time now.

RADIO AWARDS

And tying something else in with the Booster Club, at the last meeting, Darrell Rose, (Rostie), sports announcer at KPAN radio, presented a number of local businesses with framed certificates for their participation in the boosting of football, basketball and baseball through broadcasts on radio.

Those received awards were Hereford Butane, McNeil Furniture, Farr Better Feeds, Borden's, Wards' Restaurant, Sunset Food Center, Panciera Tire and Supply, Hays Implement, Owen's Cleaners and Caviness Packing Company.

NEW STADIUM

Like a lot of things that hit the air with static and apprehension, so has the idea of constructing or remodeling the present football stadium seating arrangement.

It started off as a small thing not to long ago and has grown in proportion to the size that it is now a thing that everyone must face. Hereford does need a new football stadium and people are either going to have to realize this and do something about it, or face the consequences and embarrassment that it could bring in the near future.

With this being the first year that the football program and schedule has been upgraded since Hereford's entrance into 1-AAA ball, they have prepared to meet opponents that are highly respectable and are unaccustomed to playing on a field where the fans have to put up with fading paint, a low altitude view and splinters for a couple of hours. If Hereford is to continue to host such teams, they are going to have to do something about the present stadium before it is too late.

It looks like, if things continue along the same line as they have in the past few years, that Hereford will be forced into Class AAAA ball whether they like it or not. And there is not going to be a team in the area AAAA district that does not have a stadium somewhat better than the one here, and if and when Hereford is forced to go AAAA, it will mean a good deal of embarrassment to the town's people if a new stadium is not built or some reconditioning done on the present one.

Major League Bowling To Start

Major League bowling will begin the winter season with games at 8 p. m. Tuesday at Sunset Lanes.

L. J. Clark, secretary of the Major League Bowling Association, urged all men who are not on teams and want to bowl to be present so they can be placed on teams Tuesday night.

ed on teams Tuesday night.

Also, if there is any group that can work up a team which he has not contacted, that team is asked to contact Clark or call Sunset Lanes before Tuesday night.

Clark reminded bowlers that those wishing to compete in the state bowling tournament in Amarillo next spring must either have last year's average or have bowled 21 games by then.

Harvester Aerial Attack Nips Herd In 12-6 Opener

By MARSHALL DAY

Staff Writer

A faulty pass defense and a spirited bunch of Pampa Harvesters proved too much for the Whiteface gridsters Friday night as the Harvesters edged the locals 12-6 in the two teams' first football outing of the season.

Despite the shining performance of the Herd's 142-pound halfback, Elgin Williams, the locals could not stop a persistent aerial attack by the Harvesters as one pass resulted in a touchdown and another set up the deciding tally.

Taking the opening kickoff, the Whitefaces could not manage gains sufficient enough to make a first down and were forced to kick the ball. The ball exchanged hands again after a couple of good defensive plays by Donny Fangman and Tony Gorman that threw the Harvester quarterback for heavy losses.

Williams began his line-tearing maneuvers on the Herd's second possession as he took the ball for eight yards, just falling short of a first down. Again Hereford was forced to punt but regained the ball following the steadfast defense of the Herd against the Pampa line.

Williams then showed the crowd his stuff as he carried the ball five times in helping gain three quick first downs for the Whitefaces. During the five times that he took the ball against the Pampa line, he gained a total of 28 yards. Bill Cole, quarterbacking the Herd in their first game, sent Williams right back at them following the changing of ends of the field and the first quarter. Williams, having set the ball to rest on the Pampa five-yard line, took the pigskin on the second play of the second quarter and hit paydirt for the first tally of the contest. The extra point was no good as it went short and to the right.

Holding a six point lead, the Herd kicked off again, and Pampa, after gaining one first down was forced to kick again. The Whitefaces then took the ball on their own 34-yard line and a three-yard gain by Cole along with two carries by Steve Andrews, which garnered 10 yards, placed the ball on Hereford's own 46-yard line. Williams latched onto the ball again and, looking as if he might go all the way, scrambled for a 24-yard gain before losing his footing and being downed on the Pampa 30-yard line.

A penalty cost the Whitefaces five yards on the next series of plays, and in an effort to get them back, Cole attempted a pass which was deflected and intercepted by the opposition on their own 30.

The ball changed hands two quick times following the deflected pass as Gorman jarred the ball loose from the Harvester quarterback and Hereford recovered, and then Williams had the ball jarred loose from him and Pampa recovered. After recovering the fumble, Pampa could not move the ball and was forced to punt and again the first-game jitters moved in as Pampa's quarterback fumbled the ball on next two plays but managed to retain possession of it by covering it.

Williams and Fangman teamed together on the next series of plays for the Whitefaces and moved the ball to the Pampa 40-yard line before they were penalized for off-sides. Again trying to come out of the hole, Hereford had a pass intercepted by a Harvester on the Pampa 10-yard line. Time ran out for Pampa as the buzzer signaled half-time with the score standing 6-0 in favor of Hereford.

Pampa took the opening kickoff of the second half, but after getting no gains, were forced to punt. The ball then changed hands four more times before the Harvesters began to find the air more rewarding than the ground attack and picked up 30 yards on two 15-yard passes. The third pass was another for 15 yards and that was all it took as the Harvesters' end managed to hang onto the ball and come down in the end zone for the tying score. Pampa then tried a two-point conversion, but an onrush of Whitefaces thwarted the effort, leaving the score at 6-6 at the end of the third quarter.

Twenty-six plays into the fourth and final quarter were all it took for Pampa to put the icing on the game as they hit for three quick first downs on the air attack again, then rambled their way up the middle for a first-and-goal on the Hereford one yard line. A plunge over the top resulted in a six pointer for the AAA Harvesters and a final lead of 12-6. The point after failed as a result of a bad snap from the center.

Hereford gained possession of the ball one more time, but could not move it. They tried for a fourth-and-three play but the Harvester defense held them to no gain thus giving them the ball for the final seconds of the game which they ran off the clock.

Unofficial statistics for the game indicate that Hereford gained 189 yards rushing on 44 carries while Pampa was held to 71 yards on 35 carries. In the passing department, the Whitefaces attempted five passes, had two intercepted and completed one for a total of four yards, while the Harvesters put the ball in the air 18 times, had no interceptions and completed seven passes for approximately 102 yards. Pampa had 11 first downs while Hereford had eight, unofficially.

The Whitefaces were charged with 25 yards in penalties while Pampa registered none. The penalties against Hereford were 15 yards for unsportsmanlike conduct, five yards for off-sides and another five yarder for illegal motion.

The next game for the Whitefaces will be next Friday, Sept. 20, when they travel to Plainview to be entertained by the Bulldogs. Game time is 8 p. m.

HARVESTER HOLOCAUST — Action for the season opener against Pampa was fast and furious for both teams, but the locals came out on the short end of a 12-6 game despite tips given by Pat Hughes, Whiteface coach.

Satellite Day Care Teacher Is Chosen

Mrs. Maxine Thompson of 316 Western has been selected as teacher for the Satellite Day Care program in Hereford, according to Burtis Hollis, director of education and training for the Amarillo State Center for Human Development.

Mrs. Thompson, who was one of 17 applicants for the position, was interviewed by Hollis Thursday afternoon. She will begin her orientation Monday in Amarillo, along with teachers selected for Dumas, Perryton, Tulia and Clarendon.

Classes will begin in Hereford on Friday, Sept. 27. At this time, there are a reported 16 pupils in the classes with a possibility of others to join them.

A site for the classroom has not yet been determined. However, eight different Hereford churches have already offered such space, according to temporary chairman Jewel Smith, and decision is delayed only to select the most suitable location for the purposes.

Satellite day care classes are for the mentally retarded preschool and postschool individual who is not in the public school special education program.

Advisory committee officers and members were named Thursday.

Mrs. Nedra Higginbotham of 832 W. Park was elected Volunteer Coordinator. Hollis described this post as the most important on the committee. Mrs. Higginbotham will act as liaison between the volunteers and the classroom.

Volunteer teacher-aids will be asked to assist the teacher with each class, Hollis said. Such volunteers will be needed to donate their services on one specific morning each week for three hours — or an afternoon period of the same length — hopefully for a period of three months. Such Hereford people are asked to contact Mrs. Higginbotham as soon as possible.

Other officers elected were Neil Cooper, chairman, and J. Edward Line, secretary-treasurer. The Rev. Fred Howard is vice-chairman.

Members of the advisory committee are Mrs. Smith, D. O. Chausy, Bruce Coleman, Rev. C. W. Allen, Abel Ortiz, Alexene Garlitz, Mrs. Andrew Karsen, Mrs. Jhon D. Pitman, Earl Mosely and Dr. Howard Johnson.

Mrs. Thompson said that she "always thought that she would like working with these children" and was very happy when notified of her selection as teacher.

After a short stay here in 1961 she and her husband David moved to Hereford in early 1962. They have an 11-year-old daughter LeAnne — whom she "simply forgot to mention was adopted" on the application supplement she submitted "because we don't think of her as being adopted" — who has cerebral palsy. They have another daughter, Darla (their own), who is eight. And they previously raised two nieces.

About their daughter LeAnne, she said, "The adoption laws in Minnesota (where they previously lived) are different than the ones in Texas. You have to have the child one year in your home before the agency makes its final decision on the adoption. We noticed her problem prior to that and were so afraid they wouldn't let us keep her (because of the cerebral palsy.) But they did."

The position as teacher did not require a teacher's certificate nor more than a high school education. Mrs. Thompson does not have any college credits. But Hollis and the advisory board felt that "proper understanding of the child's problems" were far more important in this assignment than college credits.

The board wholeheartedly approved Hollis' selection of Mrs. Thompson.

Thompson is in the car wash business here.

Holly Sugar Makes Changes

COLORADO SPRINGS— Donald E. Murdock has been promoted to chief chemist at Holly Sugar Corporation's Hardin, Montana factory, according to Lloyd W. Norman, general chemist and director of research.

He replaces W. D. Preston who has been transferred to Holly's Shoup factory in Hereford, where he is being trained to become chief chemist, replacing Clyde Schmer who is being trained to become assistant factory manager at Shoup.

Murdock joined Holly on a full-time basis in 1964 as first assistant chemist at Hardin. Prior to that time, he had been self-employed from 1950 to 1956 in farming and ranching, and from 1953 to 1960, owned his own trucking business.

He has worked sugar campaigns at Hardin since 1956 and worked one campaign at Santa Ana in 1962. He attended Lodge Grass elementary and high schools and the University of Denver and Montana State University.

He and his wife, Dolores, and daughter, Babette, live in Lodge Grass, Montana.

Debi Walden Is Contestant For Queen Title

Miss Debi Walden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Walden, is among eight girls from over the Plains area who will compete for the title of West Texas Pork Queen of 1968 in a contest at Lubbock Monday sponsored by the West Texas Pork Producers.

Winner of the contest will enter a state contest Oct. 7 at the State Fair of Texas at Dallas, and the state winner will go to national competition in March at Chicago. The Lubbock event will be staged in the South Plains Electric Co-op auditorium.

The Hereford Whitefaces lost a heartbreaker Friday night to the Pampa Harvesters after scoring first and leading through the first half. But the boys looked good and are showing a lot of promise. It should be a good year for the Whitefaces in spite of Friday's loss.

Meanwhile the normally powerful Dumas Demons took a drumming at the hands of the Palo Duro Dons and Perryton, the team that may well emerge as the most powerful in district play, was not scheduled to play until Saturday night, too late to be included in The Sunday Brand.

In looking over the statistics, we note that Hereford gained more yardage on the ground than did Pampa. The Harvesters however, were clicking well with their passing attack which enabled them to chalk up 12 points and win the game.

The Herd will play Plainview

Friday night at Plainview.

Gene Fooks, minister of Central Church of Christ, and Gerald Mann, pastor of the First Baptist Church tell us that the Baptist Church building was packed Sunday night for the discussion between the two ministers. We have heard some wonderful reports from those who attended and understand that there may be another such meeting in the near future. The discussions centered around the book "Fellowship of Believers," written by Fooks and published recently by Pioneer Book Publishers of Hereford.

The book can be purchased at The Christian Book Store, The Hereford Brand, Cooper's Market, Piggly Wiggly McDowell Drug, City Drug or Harold Close Walgreen Drug.

It won't be long now until kick-off date for the United Fund Drive. The drive is scheduled to begin Monday, October 7. Johnny Clark, Jr. is drive chairman.

—HB—

Also mark your calendar for Sunday, Sept. 22 and be sure to attend the open house at the new Camp Fire Lodge, located between Avenue H and I on 14th St.

The new building is a joint venture of the Hereford Lions Club, Hereford Rotary Club and the Jim Hill Estate. The Hereford Kiwanis Club has also helped with a contribution of $1000 to be used to defray cost of furnishings. Other clubs and organizations have pledged gifts also, and we understand that the Veterans organizations have volunteered to contribute a flag and lappole. This project, started by the Hereford Rotary Club some three years ago, has apparently turned into a community effort.

By the way, Jack Allen, Camp Fire Council president, tells us that we now have close to 600 girls and adult leaders involved in the program. That, incidentally, is a bunch — even for a building with 4600 ft. of floor space.

Contractor for the building was D. C. "Doc" Miller and Carl McCaslin Lumber Co. The building is located in North Park and will belong to the City of Hereford, with exclusive rights for the use given to the Camp Fire Council as long as the program exists in Hereford. We hope that's a long time.

—HB—
And then there's the story about the motorist who became lost up here on the Texas plains and stopped at a service station in the little city of Earth to ask directions. "I'm lost," he said to the attendant. "Where am I?"

"Earth," replied the attendant.

"I know that you idiot," he replied, "but where on earth."

Research Shows 1492 Trip By Columbus Was His 2nd

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. — Did Christopher Columbus talk a queen out of half the world by a then-legitimate business trick?

A deduction made by Dr. George F. Carter, a Texas A&M University dean, could lead to another deduction indicating Columbus did.

If Columbus acted as it appears, he was well within the bounds of business ethics of his time. Today the Securities and Exchange Commission might kick Columbus off the New York Stock Exchange in the light of the Texas Gulf Sulphur "disclosure" case.

Dr. Carter's deduction is that Columbus visited America before his "public" voyage.

"The chances are good that he had been here before his so-called 1492 discovery," Dr. Carter said in a recent interview. He bases his views on writings by Columbus before 1492 that he encountered 60-foot variations in high and low tide on one of his trips.

The only place in the world with such variations is the Bay of Bundy in Newfoundland, said the dean.

Well. That opens up all sorts of paths.

Did Columbus know he had a good thing, then return to Europe and keep silent while making a big deal with a world power?

If you pile deduction on top of deduction that is what comes out.

True, he finally headed south of Newfoundland, presumably deliberately, saying he could find a route to the Orient. That may have been his intention. Or he could have speculated that he could find greater riches in a climate warmer than Newfoundland.

Portugal turned Columbus down. But Spain's Queen Isabella bought Columbus, package deal.

And what a deal it was! She provided him with ships and sailors.

But these were just a pittance compared with the other things he got in the agreement.

Columbus received a large share in any trade from any land he found, the governorship of this land, the title of admiral, noble rank, and the right to pass all these benefits to his children.

It is generally believed Isabella sold the family jewels to finance the trip. Not so. The royal treasury dug up the money. It amounted to only $14,000 anyway.

Columbus was well on his way to escaping one of the world's great fortunes when some of the colonies he founded got into trouble, causing him to lose favor at court. The court stripped him of many benefits.

He died in comfortable circumstances financially but a very poor man compared with the riches Spain reaped because of his first public trip.

Dr. Carter is a geoscientist and author of the widely used college textbook, "Man and the Land" (Holt, Rinehart and Winston.)

The A&M dean notes that any trip Columbus made to the Americas was a very late one. For people were crossing the Atlantic and Pacific for many centuries.

Anthropologists at one time believed the Indians found in America were Orientals who came across the Bering Straits about 10,000 years ago. Now they must modify their views.

It generally is accepted that the Norse visited American long before Columbus. Dr. Carter says there is no question of this and that they brought their wives to America as early as 1000 A. D. and the wives had babies here.

"This legend that Virginia Dare was the first white child born in America is nonsense," Dr. Carter says.

The Norse themselves apparently were late arrivals, too. For instance, a recent Louisiana State University Press book by Vincent H. Cassidy, "The Sea Around Them," tells of early and forgotten voyages.

Dr. Cassidy says many Mediterranean people may have reached America. But they were very careful to preserve their sea route secrets and their knowledge died when their nations faded.

The Romans, who settled as far northwest as the British Isles, "Tell you they knew about Iceland and Greenland and when you are in Greenland you can see America," said Dr. Carter.

Dr. Cassidy points out that adventurous Celtic Roman Catholic priests roamed the North Atlantic for years, using their trips as vacations. The Pope stopped this by ordering that any vacation pilgrimages be made to Rome. Thus the priests, discoveries were not exploited.

A pot of Roman coins of the 125-175 a.d. era has been found in Iceland.

The dean uses an array of pre-Columbian evidence to support his views of very early arrivals. These range from plants to art and architecture and discoveries by that relatively new archaeologist's tool, the Carbon 14 dating yardstick.

He maintains that Asiatics brought the coconut to America and took the sweet potato back with them. He says these plants could only be carried by humans.

Dr. Carter says there is no evidence to show who carried the plants. So he turns to the arts.

He cites an ancient flute found in Peru which he says is the same type as those found in China. It even has a scale for Oriental music.

The totem poles found in North America are the same art form as that of the Chinese Shang Dynasty of 2000 B.C., he says, adding that Chinese art influence also is evident among the Indians of Mexico and Peru.

Architecture in the Mayan country of Mexico has a distinct appearance of that of India and Cambodia, Dr. Carter says.

And a California archaeologist has turned the American human time machine back in one vast discovery.

This was at the Calico diggings in California's desert. Dr. Ruth D. Simpson, project field director there, said evidence of man dating back 80,000 years has been found.

Dr. Simpson said further work is expected to roll back man's arrival date on this continent even further.

Dr. Carter said a discovery within the last five years in Ecuador nails down more evidence of early arrivals and who they were.

The discovery was pottery. The Carbon 14 dating system, which can determine age by the amount of loss of radioactivity of an object, shows the pottery was made about 2500-3000 B.C.

And, "with its distinct appearance," said Dr. Carter, "it might as well have been stamped, 'Made in Japan.'"

Water, Inc. Seeks To Alter Statute

The Basic Reclamation Law was adopted by Congress upon recommendation of President Theodore Roosevelt in 1902. The primary purpose was to encourage settlement of the semi-arid lands in the Western United States. The act provided for federal development of irrigation and for sale of irrigation water to the settlers.

The real essence of the 1902 act with regard to irrigation water for private land owners was that the water could be obtained from the project for not more than 160 acres and in return the land owner was obligated to pay his share of the construction costs in interest-free annual installments over a period of years. The interest-free financing of construction costs represents a subsidy in favor of the private land owner. The 160 acre limitation limits this subsidy to single ownership of not more than 160 acres.

The limitation of not more than 160 acres in a single ownership, the hardship endured in development of the farm lands and the contribution to the economic development of the nation seemed a fair trade for the financial assistance afforded by interest-free construction costs.

Imposition of this outmoded acreage limitation upon the farmers in reclamation projects today is contrary to the spirit of the democratic free enterprise system. A business man seeks to expand and develop his operation as much as possible to increase his profits. Under the 160 acre limitation a farmer is constrained from expansion by the provisions of a law which was applicable 66 years ago but which is now as out of date as the family farm dependent upon a span of mules for power. Why should a farmer who makes a success of his business and who wants to expand his holding be forbidden to do so? The limitation hampers the nation's growth and hinders the efforts to meet future food and fiber needs of the growing world population.

This limitation does not effect the plains area farmers who do their irrigation with ground water. When this ground water source is exhausted and surface water is imported to the plains, this limitation will be important and efforts are under way by a number of states to have this limitation modified.

Water, Inc. is lending support to the efforts to increase the acreage which can be irrigated by a single land owner under the provisions of basic Reclamation Law. This is another example where we must all lend our strength to the efforts which are vital to the water import program.

Officers Elected At FFA Meeting

Officers for the coming year were elected in a meeting of the FFA Monday night in the high school Agriculture Department.

Those elected to serve for the year were: James Simpson, president; Joe Paetzold, vice-president; Jimmy Clark, reporter; Steven Olson, secretary; Jimmy Christi, treasurer; and Galen Jack, sentinel.

Also during the meeting, Jess Robinson, sponsor of the club, presented James Simpson with his Lone Star Farmer Degree and nominations for club sweetheart were made.

Adrian Resident Describes Tour Of Duty In Vietnam

By EARL MOSELEY
Staff Writer

Army Captain Don W. Morgan, who is at home now in Adrian after a tour of duty in Vietnam — and before being stationed in Germany, stated that the current peace talks in Paris will amount to nothing, in his opinion, until after President Johnson is out of office. Capt. Morgan based his opinion on the change-over in any big business. He said that "no one would transact anything that would require a big decision knowing there would be a change in the high command, until the change was completed." He felt that they would be successful afterward.

was awarded the Air Medal for combat aerial support of ground operations.

A dental officer in Headquarters and Company A of the First Infantry Division's First Medical Battalion, Dr. Morgan entered the Army in June 1966 and was last stationed at Fort Lewis, Washington, before arriving overseas in June 1967. He holds the Army Commendation Medal.

And Capt. Morgan told the Brand that he had volunteered for Vietnam duty. He believes that the United States should stay in Vietnam until there is an "honorable peace."

He pointed out that this was an unpopular war all over the world, and that it was a political and not a military war. But if this country pulls out of South Vietnam before an honorable peace "there will be great loss of prestige in all the other Asian countries (who now favor us) and we will lose all of them."

The captain felt that we should use "destructive force if necessary" on the North Vietnamese. "The United States States would lose prestige for three or four days, but then it would be forgotten."

The 28-year-old officer graduated in 1958 from Adrian High School. He then attended Shriner Institute at Kerrville for two years and received his BA degree from the Baylor University of Dallas College of Dentistry.

He is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha and Xi Psi Phi fraternities and received his Army commission through the Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

His wife Marianne is originally from Fort Worth.

On the subject of the various riots and demonstrations which have occurred in the United States as the war has continued in Vietnam, he said, "Of course it can upset you." But he personally was not distressed by it, feeling that the demonstrators were disorganized "searching for an iron hand, but not able to do anything on their own initiative."

However, much discussion was centered upon the Yippies (which number approximately 800 throughout the entire U. S., according to reports) and news reports in the Berkley Barb, a copyrighted newspaper supported and distributed by the Yippie movement, which indicated in an issue prior to the Democratic convention in Chicago that there would be two, maybe three, chartered buses leaving San Francisco for this destination and that trouble was expected to erupt upon arrival.

Mention was made that the rise of Hitler and Nazism and Stalin and the Communist Party had manifested itself through similar groups in Germany and Russia. (Reports indicate that "Communists, leftist agitators, radical students groups and so-called peace organizations contributed almost $20,000 to finance convention week disorder.")

Capt. Morgan said that he "could not be expected to remember the rise of Hitler and Stalin" because of his age, but that he could remember Korea, Hungary and the present situation in Czechoslovakia. They are all like Vietnam.

And he added that "many of

Electronics Is Part Of Army

Electronics, as a branch of physics, is still in its infancy. No one can imagine what the newest ideas and applications of the basic electronic theories will produce.

Today's young man desiring training in his ever-expanding field can receive information about it from SFC Bert Pinales, the local U. S. Army recruiter.

The Army is presently seeking men interested in radar repair. This exacting profession requires knowledge of electricity and radar, as well as electronic theory.

These theories, as well as extensive practical training, is taught during a 32-week course at the Army's Signal School, Fort Monmouth, New Jersey. The radar repairmen must be able to read and understand circuit and block diagrams, schematics and technical manuals. He must know how to use sophisticated tools and test equipment in isolating malfunctions. His every day is filled with oscilloscopes, meters, echo boxes, signal generators and other test devices used in repairing vital radar mechanisms.

Complete information on qualifications for this highly technical field and the more than 300 other job training opportunities offered by the Army can be obtained from SFC Bert Pinales. His office is located at Post Office Bldg. RM 322, in Amarillo, Texas.

SFC Bert Pinales can be contacted at the Local Board in Hereford each Tuesday.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Is anybody still living here who was a member, or leader, of the first Camp Fire Girl Group in Hereford? Or was it long ago enough that nobody wants to admit it?

PLANS FOR FORMAL opening of the new Camp Fire Lodge have turned memories back to the beginning of the girls' organization here, but like most organizations, its history is in the memories of the founders — not on paper.

We'd like to collect some of the facts, and would appreciate a call from someone with a solid memory for dates and names.

The new building, incidentally, is the Camp Fire Lodge — not hut. The latter name hardly fits the beautiful brick structure that will be the scene of open house next Sunday. Mrs. Bill Dameron, publicity chairman for the board, is firm about use of the term, Lodge.

"We just hope nobody confuses us with the Elks or Masons," she says, "but our use of 'Lodge' is different. It was the name used by many Indian tribes for their council houses, and since the Camp Fire program is strong on Indian lore, it's quite suitable."

PEOPLE WHO NOT only cut the weeds, but plant flowers in their alleys merit one of Corinne Neely's "brass buttons" — she says in her family the highest praise for a job well done was the expression, "You get the brass button for that."

Even if alley plantings are seen by no one except the neighbors they are worth while, but those at 214 Aspen are more showy. In that just-building part of town there are vacant lots across the alley, facing Northwest Drive, so motorists on that street can see the bright row of canna-lilies and petunias along the back lot line. Two brass buttons are in order.

IT'S NICE TO have Kathleen Palmer back in town after her summer away up north. She has some good tales to tell, too, of vacation days in her island home up on the Canadian border in, and sometimes even wild and an occasional moose wander in, and sometimes even stiffer animals.

Once a young bear swam over to the island, but hurried off when she clattered a tin can while her dog, Silver, barked noisily. Silver enjoyed the summer, too, making the acquaint-

Club Begun For School Secretaries

Officers were installed in a new organization, the Peak of the Panhandle Chapter of Texas Educational Secretaries Association, at a recent meeting in Friona High School. The club is made up of school secretaries from Hereford, Dimmitt, Friona and Farwell.

Doris Lindsey of Dimmitt took office as president in an installation ceremony conducted by Mrs. A. L. Manjeot of Hereford. Bettie Masie, vice president, and Betty Priest, secretary-treasurer, are both Hereford members. Barbara Morrow of Friona is parliamentarian.

The next meeting was set for Oct. 14 in Hereford. Hereford secretaries who are members include Dorothy Mercer, Bobbie Kitchens, Margaret Daniels, Geraldine Frank, Joan Womble, Yvonne Simpson and Carolyn Clark.

From other cities, Dorothy Middleton, Virginia Jennings and Betty Brown are from Friona; Wilson Graef, Dimmitt; Georgia Ruedell, Farwell.

WHEN SHE IS promoting gifts for Girlstown, Viola Williams has proved one of the best solicitors in the business, and she doesn't mind a lot of teasing, and being called a beggar or even a moocher.

During a drive for groceries now in progress over the area to stock the larder at the girls' residence home at Whiteface, she is especially interested in securing the donation of some beef. So when Mrs. Charlie Burk, just passing the time of these days, she may have been sort of surprised at the reply, "Right now I'm rustling a few cattle!"

Not too surprised, though, to retort, "Well! Maybe that's what happened to those calves of ours that disappeared!"

ANY STAPLE groceries will be welcome in the drive, Viola explains, although each town where there is a Girlstown representative is being asked specifically for a certain type of food. In Hereford, it is syrup, jelly or preserves to satisfy the girls' sweet teeth.

Already, a ton of Holly sugar has been given by employees at the Holly plant here and members of the American Federation of Grain Millers. Gifts needn't be that big; one glass of jelly will help.

It takes a lot of groceries to feed 50 or 60 girls, and Girlstown has applicants who can't be admitted until more funds are available, and since the biggest expense is for food the solution seems to be gifts of food. Almost anyone can give a can or box of some food staple.

Legion Auxiliary Plans Workshop

The Hereford American Legion Auxiliary reported that a committee workshop will be held later in the month with County Home Demonstration Agent Argen Draper as leader. Yearbooks will also be printed in time for the next meeting. Mrs. S. T. Wiseman reported. The meeting was a covered dish dinner last Tuesday evening with Legion members and two visitors from Claude present. The hostesses were Mrs. Bill Gilleland and Mrs. Wiseman.

Contributions may be taken to Viola's home, 404 Western where they are being stored in her garage until the Girlstown truck comes by Oct. 1. If she isn't at home, Viola says the food may be left in or by the garage; she'll find it!

3 Homemakers Receive Awards

Three Hereford women took part in the Area I Young Homemakers Convention, held Saturday at Wayland Baptist college in Plainview.

Recognized for outstanding service to the organization were Mrs. Beryl Burelsmith and Mrs. Dean Bradley, both former advisors in the local area.

Mrs. Larry Dobbs, also of Hereford, was presented a citation for outstanding leadership as vice president of Area I. She was to have installed new officers Saturday night. Some 34 chapters of Young Homemakers were represented at the meeting.

Week . . .

September 16-20

CAMPAIGN GOAL is a sellout of memberships in Hereford Community Concerts — all 900 seats in the high school auditorium — during Membership Week which begins with a kickoff dinner in the Caison House at 8:00 p.m. Monday. Mrs. Joe Reinauer, 1968 campaign chairman, and 15 team captains are leading the drive for new memberships. Renewals were made last week.

INSTRUCTION TO WORKERS in the drive was given by Mrs. Wayne Thomas, upper left, at a coffee in the Wheeler Sears home Monday. Several dozen workers have been enlisted by team captains to assist in seeking memberships from new residents in the area, and those who were not members last year. Admission to Community Concerts is by membership card only; no single admission tickets are sold. Mrs. Thomas is president of Hereford Community Concert Association.

HEADQUARTERS OFFICE for the week's drive, the only time in the year when memberships will be sold, is in Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce offices. Mrs. Reinauer, in picture at upper right, confers there with Bill Devers, seated left, vice president of the Association; Jeff Carlile, treasurer; and Ben Gollehon, standing, a member of the board.

Five handsome homes of Deaf Smith County, in town and country, will be open on the annual Tour of Homes sponsored by Garden Beautiful Club Oct. 4.

Most are new homes, and the Higgins house has recently been enlarged. Attractive yards as well as the houses themselves will be a part of the show, to which the public is invited.

Tickets will go on sale soon by members of the sponsoring club, Garden Beautiful members will make flower arrangements to place in each of the homes, but there will be no judging of arrangements this year.

Water Association Tackles Big Agenda

The Board of Directors of Deaf Smith County Water Association met for breakfast at 6:30 Thursday at the Caison House for a business session. Twenty-one people were present, and business was conducted by Board members Hilroy Aven, W. P. Axe, Labry Ballard, Dudley Bayne, B. T. Brown, Bruce Burney, Paul Coneway, R. C. Godwin, Charles Hoover, Andrew Kershen, Virgil Marsh, Palmer Norton, J. D. Pittman, Denzil Pulliam, Austin Rose Jr., J. H. Sears, and Billy Wall.

R. C. Godwin, President of the organization, reported on recent activities of the association, which included visits in Austin with Howard Boswell, Executive Director of the Texas Water Development Board, Harry Burleigh, Chief of the Austin Division of the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation, and Rep. Bill Clayton, member of the Texas Legislature and Chairman of the House Interim Water Study Committee. Godwin said that consideration will be given to the use of Buffalo Lake as a major storage reservoir in the water importation project.

Mention was made of the program to be given by the county water association during the luncheon of the crops field day on Sept. 20. Howard Boswell will be the main speaker on the program. Godwin also referred to the legislative hearing to be conducted at the county Bull Barn on Oct. 5 by the House Interim Water Study Committee and that the local water association secured the services of Water, Inc. in hosting the meeting, which will involve all of West Texas.

A motion was passed that DSCWA present testimony, in coordination with surrounding counties if possible, at the hearing on Oct. 5. For assistance in the preparation of testimony at the hearing, Godwin appointed a committee of W. P. Axe, Ray Cowsert, Palmer Norton, Denzil Pulliam, Henry Sears, and J. W. Witherspoon. Board members discussed the various items on the hearing agenda and decided that testimony should include maintaining the private ownership of underground water and the inclusion of Deaf Smith County in the area to receive imported water in the first phase of water deliveries.

Following discussion of the county association's involvement in the water importation program, Henry Sears made the motion that DSCWA should fully support and contribute to the efforts of Water, Inc. in providing imported water to the entire area, while maintaining a strong county organization to insure proper consideration of needs of the local area. Austin Rose seconded the motion, and it passed unanimously.

Andrew Kershen commended the efforts and leadership of Rep. Bill Clayton in the Texas Legislature and commented that the county water association owes a debt of gratitude to Clayton for success received by the local area for being included in the first phase of water importation.

In other business, Kershen announced that his Conservation Committee is coordinating efforts in the construction of a dam within the county which would contribute to water conservation and recreation. He requested financial assistance from DSCWA to support the raising of funds, and Board members unanimously agreed to help, pointing out that water conservation is just as important as water importation.

They pointed out that the Brand was the first to receive this news, outside the family, in Hereford. It was only done then through direct questioning.

Tatom did not say how soon the decision would be made regarding the final Texas selection.

But he did say that the FWA was "specifically working with this and other countries through agriculture. We use agriculture as a means of communication. Farmers," he emphasized, "can talk to other farmers."

Tatom lives at Riverton, New Jersey, which is 10 miles north of his office in Philadelphia. He may be reached at 1201 Chestnut St., Philadelphia 19107 — for those in Deaf Smith County who would like to offer their personal recommendations.

Talk of Texas

By JACK MAGUIRE

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE — Elections in early Texas sometimes were decided by those who could fill out the most ballots in the shortest time.

In 1883, Edwards County called an election to decide whether or not the county seat should be moved from Bullhead to Leakey, a few miles to the southwest. Citizens voted in each of the two communities, and also at a town known as Barksdale.

Most of the voters cast ballots not only for themselves, but for all of their friends — including many who had died long ago. The final tabulation — which indicated considerably more votes cast than there were people in the county — selected Leakey as the county seat.

Thirty years later, Real County was formed out of Edwards County and Leakey became the capital of the new county.

GOURMET NOTE — Big Spring may be the only city in the U. S. where every restaurant lists rattlesnake steak on the menu.

Snacks of snake are not staple items the year around even at Big Spring bistros, however. They are available in the Howard County capital only during the annual Big Spring Rattlesnake Round-Up held every spring.

This year, an estimated 500 pounds of snake steaks went at 50 cents a plate.

BINDING ARBITRATION — Strikes were uncommon in early Texas, but wage disputes were not. And when work stoppages did occur, there were no rules which labor and management followed in reaching a settlement.

In April, 1873, as the Houston & Texas Central Railway was building north toward Denison, nine muleskinners decided to walk off the job. The railroad construction boss not only refused them a raise, but also withheld pay they already had earned.

The "strikers" retaliated by going to a farm outside of Denison where mules owned by the railroad were stabled. They demanded the animals and a bill of sale from the custodian, mounted up and proceeded to ride away on their "wages."

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY — John Neely Bryan, who founded Dallas, exiled himself from his town for six years because he mistakenly believed that he was a murderer. Bryan founded Dallas in 1841 and sold his interest in the town a decade later to Alexander Cockrell. Then, in 1855, Bryan fled Dallas because he believed that he had killed a man who had insulted his wife. He roamed throughout the West during this period, returning finally in 1861 when he discovered that there was no warrant for his arrest.

Couple Is Studied For Pakistan Trip

Lyle Tatom, executive secretary of Farmers and World Affairs of Philadelphia, Pa., was in Hereford Monday and Tuesday.

Farmers and World Affairs is described as a non-profit educational organization founded in 1956. It works primarily in co-operation with national farm organizations to help the American farmer become better informed, more concerned, and more effective in building a world of peace and freedom.

Overseas, FWA does some work in technical assistance as part of its work in furthering international relations.

Tatom said that FWA is supported by private individuals, grants, etc. in the United States and some contributions from foreign countries, largely through the sale of farm surplus items. He explained that it takes no stand on political questions, whether domestic or foreign, but believes the well-being of our country is dependent on the democratic participation of well-informed citizens.

FWA has selected farmer groups to tour and make studies of Pakistan, India, Egypt and Venezuela. On his first visit to the Texas Panhandle, Tatom said that he was visiting with the Clinton Jacksons of North Highway 385.

Why? He replied that there is a possibility that the Jacksons will be selected to go to Pakistan shortly.

"But the choice," he explained, "is one out of three couples from Texas." No definite decision has been made as yet regarding the Jacksons. "I have come to Texas as part of the process of locating a couple to go to Pakistan — two couples are leaving in January."

He said that FWA works all across the country, but one family has been allocated for this trip from Texas.

Jackson handles Farmers Union Insurance here. He and his wife Jerry reported that they would be very interested in making the tour through FWA. But they are now in the process of keeping their fingers crossed.

Will your water heater's next birthday be a happy one?

It's not uncommon for a water heater to reach the age of retirement on its 10th birthday. Some may just dribble water... others rupture with resulting damage and yet others fail to put out as much hot water as they did in their youthful years. If your water heater is approaching its 10th birthday then it's time you talked to your Public Service manager about the value of a modern electric replacement. And, incidentally, should an electric water heater ever need servicing, your Public Service manager will take care of it for you.

Local Sports Facilities Should Match City Growth

The recent announcement by Wilson & Co. that a contractor had been chosen for construction of a meat packing plant in our community has been welcomed by community leaders who see this as another step in the continued growth of Hereford and the Magic Triangle area.

Certainly, securing the Wilson & Co facility will mean just that. Hereford will continue to grow and prosper.

But with this continued growth will come problems, too, and the time to start working on the ultimate solutions is long before the problems become acute. Foremost among the many will be classroom space in our local schools. Enrollment figures at the close of the first week of school has given us a good indication as to what we should expect in the years to come. The record enrollment topped the 5000 mark up almost 400 over the same period last year, and at last report, was still climbing. This is a substantial increase, and construction hasn't even started on the proposed new plant.

Of course, school officials are doing their best to keep abreast of the classroom problem and we understand that they are now studying possible locations for new schools and are trying to determine just how many additional classrooms will be needed in the immediate future. Before long, we will surely be asked to go to the polls to approve a bond issue for the additional classrooms.

We're also pleased to note that the board is giving some consideration to enlarging and modernizing the football stadium.

Our schedule this year calls for competition with at least two AAAA schools, and it may not be long before we are placed in the higher bracket ourselves. When this happens, we can expect larger crowds at the games, provided of course, we have a place to put them. Already, out of town fans are finding it difficult to secure desirable seating in the visitor's section at the local stadium and as we begin to compete with the larger schools the situation can only get worse. Fans from out of town will not come to Hereford and chances are, the larger schools will not care to compete in a city where adequate seating is not available for the fans that come to watch them play. Our athletic program will suffer.

Thousands of dollars have been spent in the past few years to upgrade the basketball program, including a new gymnasium designed to seat 1800 people, but precious little has been spent to improve the situation at the football field.

Certainly, when the chips are down, classrooms should come first, but athletics is an important part of the overall school program and should not be ignored. We believe the local citizenry would welcome, and support, a bond issue to improve the football stadium.

Independent?

A SMALL TOWN EDITOR in New Hampshire prints this very illuminating statement in his masterhead each week: "Independent, but not neutral." We think we'd like that man!

Independence is wonderful, but oftentimes it needs qualifying. The beatnik sitting in a rundown cafe, with his guitar leaning on his table, is making a profound statement to his girl friend, in a cartoon we saw in this morning's paper, "As long as my family keeps sending me my allowance," he said, "I intend to live a free and independent life!" Independent of what? — of whom? And yet too often, similar absurdities have lodged themselves in the inner recesses of the human cerebrum, we fear.

Not being neutral can sometimes present the traveler with a rough journey, but at least he's going somewhere; while the man in neutral can't move at all unless, of course, he's going downhill!

Now if he chooses to go uphill, he can only do so if someone else hauls him. But then he loses that independence which he professes to cherish!

Just being neutral has no merit to speak of. It reminds me of a barnacle which has attached itself to a ship. The barnacle gets a free ride, but it slows down the vessel. The Arlington Citizen

... How Come, Uncle?

"HEY, UNCLE SAM, how much does it cost to rear a kid? You allow us tax-paying parents only $600 a year to clothe, feed, house and train a youngster. In your Federal Job Corps you spend $7,000 a year! Now which is the correct figure? Either we're allowing you too much or you're not allowing us enough.

"You allow tax-paying parents $600 deductions for the care and feeding of each child. Yet, under the Cuban refugee program you assume minimum upkeep requires $1,200 a year — and if the Cuban boy or girl is attending school an extra $1,000 a year.

"How come you short change the home folks, Uncle? In the austere environs of a federal prison, you have discovered that it costs — to maintain one person, with no frills, no luxuries and no borrowing Dad's car — $2,300 per year. By what rule of thumb do you estimate that Mom and Dad can do it for one-fourth of that amount?

"Under Social Security, you pay $158 a month to maintain the elderly. What makes you think we can maintain our young'uns for $50 a month? And Uncle, your Vista program (Volunteers in Service to America) spent $3.1 million last year to train only 202 trainees. That indicates that the cost of maintaining and training one youth for one year is more than $15,000. Then how come we taxpayers get an exemption of $600 to maintain and train one youth for a year?

"Or let's see how much you spent upkeeping one youngster in military uniform. Clothing upkeep, $4.20 a month. House, $55.00 a month. Food, $30.27 a month. That comes to $1,074.04 a year. How in the world do you expect parents to provide all these things plus clothes, recreation, books, medicine, for $600 a year? With your figures, Uncle, you admit it can't be done.

"Is it possible, Uncle Sam, that you expect us parents to manage more efficiently than you do? With all our expenses, we American individuals have more than enough in savings to offset our debts. You don't.

"Regardless of how we try to rationalize and explain you and excuse you, it is still a hurtful affront when you allow us working, dues-paying home folks only $600 a year to rear a legitimate child, while you, under ADC, will pay more than $900 a year to upkeep an illegitimate one."

THE FOUR HORSEMEN

School Days

After a summer of violence and discord, it is good to enjoy something simple, silly, and in all ways light-hearted. The perfect spectacle on the University of Texas campus in Austin, and on other campuses I'm sure, is sorority rush. And man oh man, is it a gas!

The girls all get to school a week early to start their sorority fling. Judging from their excitement, their super awareness, their super concern as social creatures seeking out the "right" people and the "right" attitudes, an observer would discover that making it with the sorority of her choice has to be the answer to many a young lady's biggest dream. . . at least in this stage of the game.

Guys having their own "rush" events find the biggest attraction to usually be the girls' rush party going on at the sorority house across the street. Girls are on silence — not a word to the boys — and the boys just sit, and stare, and drool over the sweet young innocent freshmen girls who have oh so much to learn.

You would have to see to appreciate; the girls going through rush will line up on the sidewalk leading to the sorority's front door. And they just stand there, waiting for the older girls who will make their snappy welcome by running out to greet them.

Clapping and singing, the girls make a spectacle fit for a grade school playground. Every new "little" girl is awed at her warm welcome to the Greek house. The boys across the street are still sitting, still staring, and now they turn their smirks into laughter. The older girls eye them with a cold, glassy stare — how dare those awful boys laugh at them!

When rush is over, the girls really get down to business. Lessons have to be learned quickly so that the girls won't make a faux pas as they begin their fairy-tale freshman year.

For girls who protest that they don't smoke (as they are being shown the proper way to accept a light), the reply is "don't worry, my dear, you will." And every new chick is at once identifiable by the obvious flick of the hair, the upturned chin, the casual exhalation of smoke that she learned from her older sorority sisters.

And lessons also give the novice a proper introduction to alcohol. For the girl who can't stand the stuff, and for the girl who is an absolute sot, the rule is the same — just take one drink, and learn to hang onto it so that you can't be offered another. For those who worry about the drunken college set, I assure you that a drunk girl rates no higher here than anywhere else.

Social life for the pledge rates a high priority. Friday nights are strictly for matched dates, to keep the girls in circulation and to show them just what's available later on. Girls must know when to speak, how to speak, and of course, to whom they should speak.

Games played by the Greek set in college activities can be condemned as snobbish, as less than challenging, as nothing short of selling the souls of unsuspecting college hopefuls. For the moment, however, they give some people the only change to participate as an integral part of a social group intent on discipline of its members. Boys laugh at the freshmen pledges, but they don't laugh at the seniors who emerge as graceful, well-mannered adults who have individual personalities to match.

New Census Study Reveals Big City Population Growth

By BERT MILLS

Washington, D. C. — America's changing face is revealed in dramatic fashion by a new set of government population estimates, on a county-by-county basis.

For the first time, the Bureau of the Census has been able to develop comparable figures for all the more than 3,900 counties in the U. S. In the past, the only reliable and comparable county statistics have been those obtained by the nose-count taken every 10 years.

The Federal government can't afford to wait a decade for Census figures on how many people live where. A new technique, based on birth and death statistics, school enrollment, and occupancy of housing units, has been employed to meet the need of four U. S. agencies for more up-to-date figures.

Although the estimates now being published are for July 1, 1966, and are therefore more than two years after the fact, they replace eight-year-old information obtained in the 1960 Census. A good deal has happened since then.

19 of 20 States Gain

Of the 20 states covered by the initial report in the three-part series, all except West Virginia gained population between 1960 and 1966. California led by adding more than 3 million people, a gain of 19.6 percent in a 6 1/2-year period. Florida chalked up a 19 percent rise, but added less than one million in population.

As might be expected, the principal growth in the six-year period was in the metropolitan counties. For example, California has 22 metropolitan counties and 21 of them boasted a higher population in 1966 than 1960. The sole exception was San Francisco County, where the flight to the suburbs produced a 3.5 percent decline.

But even in booming California, not everything is up. In addition to San Francisco County, there were five less populous counties which lost population during the period measured. All except Humboldt County, which has 101,300 people, are sparsely populated. Alpine County, on the Nevada border, has only 400 people, up three from 1960.

1 County Triples Population
California and Florida do not hold all the records for population growth. Example A is Vernon Parish, Louisiana, which more than tripled its population between 1960 and 1966. From about 18,000, it grew to over 59,000 — a 223 percent increase. The report does not explain why but investigation revealed the Department of Defense reopened Fort Polk, near Leesville, La., and is training Army infantrymen there for Vietnam.

For sheer numbers, California cannot be denied. Nine of its metropolitan counties added more than 100,000 people each in the 1960-66 period and Los Angeles County alone picked up more than three-quarters of a million to reach an estimated population of 6.8 million. Percentage-wise, this was a modest 12.8 percent or less than two-thirds the state average.

Growth of the Federal government is reflected in the figures for suburbia outside Washington D. C. The two adjacent Maryland counties, Prince Georges and Montgomery, gained 197,600 and 99,600 people, increases of 55.3 and 29.2 percent. Across the Potomac River in Virginia, the major growth was in Fairfax County, with a population jump of 122,900 or 48.7 percent.

For consistency, New Jersey, Connecticut and Delaware take the prize on a statewide growth basis. Not a single county in any of these states failed to add to its population in the six-year period.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

THE BOOTLEG

—Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his hindweed lum sizes up the Russian-Czechoslovakia situation this week, more or less.

Dear editor:

Finding out what the people think and then saying it for them is supposed to be one of the finer points of successful politics, but knowing what they'll believe and won't believe ought to rank near the top too.

This occurred to me after I finished reading a two-weeks-old newspaper reporting on the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia.

According to it, the Russians sent their tanks and troops storming into Czechoslovakia about 3 o'clock one morning, captured the whole country, made off with the President and other officials, and announced to the world they'd done it because the Czechs had asked them to.

I am afraid the Russians have been talking to each other too long. They must have been the original investors of, along with the airplane, the submarine, the steam engine, and the ABCs, the credibility gap.

It's as though a bunch of bank robbers, having held up the bank and made off with the money and the president and cashier, announced to the world they'd done it because they'd been invited to.

It'd just be hard for the public to believe this, and even harder for it to believe the gunmen believed it would believe it.

But if the gunmen did believe the public would believe them, then obviously humor has been set back a thousand years.

I'll admit I don't understand the Russians, but on the other hand I doubt if the Russians understand you and me, and it may turn out they don't understand the Czechs either.

They have named it Progressive School, District No. 3; and it's located on Progressive Ave., seven miles northwest of Hereford. And, not a whit behind the men folks in progressiveness, the good ladies of that school district know how to put up a progressive dinner, that can't be beat on earth! Last Monday at noon, the enterprising folks in this thriving school district, formerly known as the Berve School district, held their dedication services for the new building just completed. The building has two rooms and is 24 x 56 feet in size.

Will Important Issues Be Decided Before Election?

THE AUTUMN OF A CONGRESS

It always is difficult for Congress to do its work in the midst of an election campaign. Too often legislation becomes wrapped in emotion. Too seldom does good law result. Nevertheless, the seriousness and complexity of our national problems made it impossible for Congress to finish its work before the national nominating conventions. So, here we are in September and October. I frankly hope we can finish up on a few "must" measures and adjourn soon until January. It is clear that before January the people of the United States will have rendered some ballot box judgments on just what direction they want our nation to go. Only laws passed after January can reflect that new direction, and I think the people are entitled to have any major decisions postponed until their judgment has been rendered.

We will have to finish up on a few items left over from the spring. Work must be concluded on a Higher Education bill and on the drastically curtailed Foreign Aid bill. And, there still have to be funds appropriated to run the Defense Department, the Labor Department, and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

A law to help control misuse of drugs needs to be perfected, as does a compromise gun-control bill. And, of course, there is to be extended debate on the suggestion that Abe Fortas be approved as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

A NEW SUPREME COURT CHIEF JUSTICE

It is inconceivable to me that the honest, law-abiding majority of citizens in this country should be forced to live in perpetual fear of chaos, anarchy, riots, physical assault on their persons and property, and the assassin's bullet. Law and order must be returned to this country; there is no reason why law and order cannot be returned to this country.

The Supreme Court as the third branch of our government bears part of that responsibility.

It is time for the Supreme Court to expend a little more effort to protect society from the criminal. It is time for the appointment of a Chief Justice who will recognize the absolute necessity of drawing a proper balance between the protection of individual rights and the protection of our society from those who wish to destroy it.

The Chief Justice, in his role of leadership and authority, cannot afford to be above the really basic problems of America, the threat of disintegration and decay within, the violence and destruction which are spreading the plague of fear. No society — least of all a free society — can subsist if the challenge of illegal violence is not met with all the force of legal authority necessary to subdue it. Hence, the Chief Justice of the United States must be a man who will exercise his leadership to put the legal and moral force of the Court behind the massive effort which must be made against lawlessness.

The Supreme Court has in recent years failed in its responsibility to take proper cognizance of the urgent problems which face the country today — the most important of which is the dire need to protect society from criminals.

I feel it is essential, therefore, that we have as Chief Justice in these trying times a man of more moderate philosophy and persuasion than Mr. Fortas so that our Supreme Court can regain the respect and confidence of the American people.

And, I feel that the new President elected by the American people in November should have the responsibility of appointing that new Chief Justice.

COMMUNISM VERSUS LIBERTY

The Soviet Communists gave us a pretty good lesson last month in the trustworthiness of tyranny. The cruel oppression of the Czechoslovak people by the armed forces of Russia's Warsaw Pact jangled a complacent world like a burglar alarm in the night. We were reminded again that the Iron Curtain remains iron and that the Soviets — who are about to achieve strategic military equality with the U. S. — act only in their own self-interest and despite world opinion.

It was at very least a sobering reminder to some in Washington who have professed to see a "detente" of good will and restraint between the West and Russia. Our hearts go out to the people of Czechoslovakia. We understand their aspirations. We admire their courage. And, although American military intervention is neither wise nor feasible, I for one hope that the very great moral and economic power of the United States can be utilized in such a way that someday the freedom-loving Czechs and Slovaks and other captives of communism may regain their liberty.

Vietnam remains, of course, the most tragic example of Communist violence. I'm pleased that General Westmoreland has returned to Washington to become Army Chief of Staff, and I have talked with him a number of times about what needs to be done to bring peace in Vietnam. It is clear that we must end the war honorably and consistent with both our limitted immediate aims and our long-term goals for a peaceful Pacific. I think we can arrive at a negotiated settlement, but to hasten that end our Vietnam effort must be made more effective. We need a new strategy that does not waste our military superiority, that allows the South Vietnamese to do more for themselves, that begins to "de-Americanize" the conflict, and that is not hostage to the mistakes of the past and not built on past errors. We have not been out-fought, but out-thought in Vietnam.

KEEPING GUNS FROM CRIMINALS

Texans have been sending me a record volume of mail in recent weeks sharing with me their views on guns and gun control. If you have written me and have not yet received a reply, I hope you will be patient. The volume of mail has overwhelmed my office's capacity to reply promptly.

In any event, I have already told you in many speeches around the state that while I am in agreement with the need for mailing restrictions on all sorts of firearms, I am not in favor of federal licensing or registration of guns.

There is, however, another very important area of federal concern. And, that is the need for prompt action to disarm not law-abiding citizens but criminals. I have, therefore, joined in sponsoring a bill which directly attacks the gun all of us are most worried about — the gun in the hands of the criminal. My bill would make it an ad-

Sunset Keglers Hold 1st Games

Members of the Sunset Keglers jumped out to an early season start Monday as they held their first league games at Sunset Lanes.

Justice Realtors picked up the "High Team Series" in the league's first outing as they rolled a 2152. Team Number 10 won the "High Team Game" with a total of 780, and Anne Radney captured the "High Individual Series" with a 521 roll along with the "High Individual Game" which she netted with a ditional, punishable crime to use any firearm in the commission of any felony that breaks federal law.

Mandatory jail sentences for armed crime would be a direct, frontal, inexorable attack on the professional criminals in our society, particularly those who repeat armed crimes over and over. It is these guns an orderly society must control.

The FBI has told us that the national crime rate shot up 16 percent last year; that each American stands a 71 percent better chance of being a crime victim than he did eight years ago. We have a violent crime every minute; a murder every 43 minutes; an assault every two minutes; a burglary every 20 seconds.

It is time to let the punishment fit the crime. And jail is the proper punishment for armed crime.

Standings for the first week show four teams are running neck-and-neck for the first place spot with three wins and one loss each. They include Justice Realtors, Hereford Insurance, Team No. 3 and Hereford Welding.

Two teams occupy second place and they are Sunset Lanes and the Medics, both with

Betty Drager Is Shower Honoree

A bride-elect whose wedding is planned for Sept. 22, Miss Betty Drager, was complimented with a shower Thursday evening in First National Community Room where six friends were hostesses. Miss Drager, daughter of the R. E. Dragers, Route 3, will be married to Charles Thomas. Wearing a pale yellow linen dress with a corsage of carnations tied with green ribbons, she greeted shower guests with her mother and her fiance's mother, Mrs. A. L. Thomas of Dimmitt. Both the mothers had carnation corsages smaller than the honoree's.

Miss Linda Worley registered callers during the evening. Misses Valerie Denny and Glenda Sims served refreshments from a table where the floral decor was in royal blue and emerald, colors to be emphasized at the wedding.

Hostesses were Mes. W. L. Carter, Dennis Sims, R. G. Thurlow and David Drager; Misses Linda and Glenda Sims.

Concerning Veterans

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q — I understand that President Johnson recently signed into a law a bill increasing VA compensation payments to veterans with service-connected disabilities. I am rated 100 percent service-disabled. How much of an increase will I receive and when will it go into effect?

A — As a veteran with a 100 per cent service-connected disability, your monthly VA compensation payment will be increased under Public Law 90-493, signed by President Johnson on Aug. 19, 1968, from $300 to $400 if your disability was incurred in time of war and from $240 to $320 if incurred in peacetime. The increase will go into effect on Jan. 1, 1969, and should be reflected in your January check which you will receive around Feb. 1, 1969.

Q — Late last March President Johnson signed a law which, I understand, not only protects me against any loss in my VA pension due to the Social Security increase I received this year, but also increases my pension as the result of a new income scale the VA uses. My pension check is still the same. Why haven't I received an increase?

A — Because any increase to which you may be entitled as the result of the change in the income scale will not become effective until Jan. 1, 1969, under Public Law 90-275, signed by the President on March 28, 1968. The provision protecting your pension against any reduction due to increased Social Security benefits before 1970 went into effect at the time the law was signed. However, the $200 increase in income limitation and change in monthly VA pension checks were deferred by law until the first of next year.

Q — I am a disabled veteran eligible for vocational rehabilitation and would like to know if I can take part-time training. I would like to train for a better paying job, but can't afford to quit my present job and take full-time training because I have a wife and two children to support.

A — Since July 26, 1968, as the result of Public Law 90-431, it has been possible for service-disabled veterans in need of vocational rehabilitation to take part-time training and be paid a proportionate assistance allowance by VA. The present full-time allowance is $110 monthly for a veteran with no dependents, $150 for one dependent, and $175 for two or more dependents. Under the new law, the allowance for three-quarters time training will be $80, $110, and $130 respectively. For half-time training the allowance will be $55, $75, and $85.

Check with your nearest VA office.

Concerts Group Is Continuing Drive

Campaign headquarters for Hereford Community Concerts' 1968 membership drive will be at Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce offices, where renewal of memberships is in progress this week and new members will be enrolled for five days after the kickoff dinner Monday night.

Mrs. Joe Reinauer is drive chairman for this, the second season of Community Concerts in Hereford, and is being assisted by team captains and a large group of volunteer workers who will invite new residents of the county and others who were not members last year, to enroll.

Workers received kits of material from Mrs. Reinauer, and brief instructions from Mrs.

Wayne Thomas, president of Community Concerts Association here, at a coffee Monday morning in the Wheeler Sears home. Further information will be given by a representative of the national organization, Elizabeth Taylor, at the kickoff dinner.

It will be held in the Caison House, for board members of the Association and drive workers. Mrs. Taylor will remain here through the week to assist in the campaign. The board will meet again at the close of the campaign and select programs to be given during the season.

Already booked is an appearance of the Norman Lubbock Choir Feb. 23. The number of other concerts, and the artists to appear, will be determined by

Washington Report

From Congressman BOB PRICE 10TH DISTRICT, TEXAS

1222 LONGWORTH OFFICE BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C. • 225-2704

In the aftermath of reaction to the demonstrations, disorder and violence during the two National Conventions, the Washington Star carried a front page story of a Texas Negro couple that was like an April shower after the stench of hippy dissension in Chicago and riots in Miami.

David and Beatrice Neal of Moody, have over the past 38 years raised some 50 youngsters — only one was their own — on their 76 acre Central Texas farm. These were homeless children, some whose mothers just couldn't take care of them, several orphans, and others who were court wards from broken homes. Now 68 years old, Neal is proud of the fact that he never has accepted a dime from any official agency to help raise what he calls his "pickup" children.

Eleven of them are at home now. They range in age from 4-year-old Lawrence to 18-year old Quince — nicknamed "Bubber" — the one child the Neals ever had of their own.

A visitor is impressed at once at seeing so many kids so well-mannered, so well disciplined and at the same time so full of life.

Garnett D. Horner of the Star staff visited the Neals and says that by government definition, the family would be close to the poverty line, "but you'd never guess it from their approach to life." These adopted children, the story continued, learned of warm family love, of such old-fashioned virtues as always to be honest — with themselves as well as with others. And they've learned to work for what they expect to get in the world.

Neal has a simple credo — "I've found out through life that if a fellow is trying to do the right thing he'll get by."

Admission to concerts is by membership card only, and only during next week will memberships be available under rules of the Association.

Residents wishing memberships are invited to telephone the headquarters office if they are not contacted by a campaign worker. Price of a membership is $10, and at least three concerts are guaranteed.

Sitting in a rocker on her shady front porch, Mrs. Neal tells how she is about to take in another youngster — a five-month-old boy whose mother has to work and can't take care of him.

"It would be kind of nice to have a baby around the house," she grins.

This Negro couple exhibits no race consciousness — neither false humility nor "black power" militancy.

"I don't care nothing about what color no kid is, or anybody else," says Neal. "I do what I can for them, I was raised that way."

He has harsh words for anyone who doesn't want to work for a living. "You take lots of people — I can name you 50 right now, offhand. They'll go somewhere and get a job for 20 days, and then sit and draw compensation. And that's what's ruined the world."

The Neals' house is a patchwork affair. Many years ago Neal started it as a two-room house. But as he and his wife picked up children, he added to it. "Nothing fancy," concedes Neal, "But it's a home."

Neal is working now — for about $1.50 an hour — at a grain

Grazing Starts On October 1

Farmers who diverted acreage under the 1968 annual feed grain and cotton acreage diversion programs will soon be able to graze this acreage without losing program benefits, Frank J. Bezner, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, has announced.

The starting date for such grazing will be Oct. 1, 1968, marking the end of the period during which the no-grazing provision was in effect. This provision does not apply to acreage diverted under long-term land utilization programs such as the Conservation Reserve and the Cropland Adjustment Program.

elevator about a mile up the road. In the Fall, he says he will work at the cotton gin. Then he will make the rounds of stock shows in Central Texas, caring for horses.

The Neals raise most of their own food on their 76-acre Central Texas farm. Each spring, they raise up to 500, frying chickens. They raise and slaughter their own beef and pork. They have two milk cows and a garden in which they grow their own vegetables.

So in the face of the sickening immaturity displayed by the "new-left" dissenters and the angry urging to insurrection by the black militants, the story of the Neals lights a new ray of hope for the rule of reason in America.

They had a Mexican lunch at the Li'l Charro Cafe, and a brief business session. Secret pals of the past year were revealed and names drawn for new pals and prayer partners.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — I didn't receive my estimated tax bill for the third quarter. What should I do?

A — You should make your third quarter estimated tax payment by the due date, Monday, September 16, even if your installment notice has not arrived by then. To make sure your payment is properly credited, put your social security number on your check or money order and indicate what the payment covers.

With the new tax surcharge in effect, you may have to adjust your 1968 estimated tax. The surcharge will increase this year's tax by 7½ percent for many individual taxpayers. A worksheet to help taxpayers make this adjustment is available at local IRS offices and was included with the third quarter estimated tax notices.

Q — I did not have to file an estimated tax declaration this year because enough was taken out of my paycheck to cover my taxes. Does the new surtax change that and should I file an estimated declaration now?

A — In July employers started withholding income taxes at a higher rate to keep taxpayers on a current, pay-as-you-go basis. The additional amounts withheld should approximate the final tax liability for most taxpayers.

If you did not file an estimated tax declaration for 1968 because withholding was expected to amount to 80 percent or more of your tax liability for the year you may want to review your tax situation. It is possible that the tax surcharge, which can increase your tax by 7½ percent, will make you liable to a penalty for underpayment of estimated taxes.

Local IRS offices have copies of estimated tax forms and worksheets taxpayers can use to figure their 1968 tax liability under the new tax law.

Q — I joined a country club this summer so that I'd have a place to take my customers to play golf. Can I deduct my country club expenses as a business expense?

A — Some of your country club expenses may be deductible as a business expense. These would include the cost of your business lunches and any other entertainment expenses you have which qualify as a business expense.

If you use the country club more than 50 percent of the time for business purposes then you can also deduct that portion of your annual dues which is directly related to the active conduct of your business. Membership or initiation fees paid once for membership privileges are generally considered a capital expense and are not deductible.

To show you use the club more than half the time for business purposes keep a record of the days and your family use the club's facilities, and indicate whether for business or personal purposes. You do not count the days the club is not used in determining whether it was used more than 50 percent for business.

Q — Tips are a good part of my weekly earnings. Do I have to keep a record of them for tax purposes?

A — Tips are income and must be reported on your tax return. They should also be reported to your employer when they amount to $20 or more in a month. Based on these reports, your employer will withhold the necessary income and Social Security taxes from your regular wages.

Use Form 4070, Employee's Report on Tips, available at IRS offices, to report tip income to your employer.

25-Year History Of Dawn Church To Be Observed

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Twenty-fifth anniversary of Dawn Baptist Church, which was organized Sept. 12, 1943, will be celebrated with a homecoming and special services next Sunday, Sept. 22. Three of the 27 charter members and several former pastors are expected to be present.

Invitations have been mailed to former members whose addresses are available; others who have attended the church are invited to the special anniversary service at 2 p. m. in the church sanctuary.

Lunch in Dawn Community Center will be served at noon, and regular morning services will be conducted by the Rev. Jerry Haley, pastor. The Rev. Charles Davenport of Claude, a former pastor, will be the speaker for the afternoon service. Programs are all open to the public.

On the anniversary program committee are the pastor, Music Director Douglas Morris, Mrs. R. T. Stewart and Mrs. Carl Wimberley. The food committee includes Mmes. Leroy Johnson, Eldon Owens, H. S. Fuller and Virgil Owens; the table arrangements committee, Mmes. William Wimberley, Rea Cox, Pat Miller and Haley.

Dawn Baptist Church grew from a Sunday School organized in 1940 by the Rev. Clarence Wylie of Canyon, a Presbyterian Sunday School Missionary. Late in 1942 a group of Baptists received permission from First Baptist Church of Hereford to establish a self-supporting mission and the Rev. Hardy Stevens, a student at West Texas

State College, served as pastor, conducting two services a month.

When the church was formally organized, 21 of the members were transfers from the membership rolls of First Baptist of Hereford. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wimberley are the only resident charter members remaining; the other two are Mrs. L. M. Harris of Amarillo and Mrs. L. M. Ritter, address unknown.

Other charter members in addition to the pastor and his wife were Messrs. and Mmes. Lloyd Bentley, Edgar Lemons, Henry Hamblin, Frank Smith, H. E. Miller, C. Aubrey Wimberley; also Mary Frye, Wilma Jean Miller, Helen Oglesby, Walter Lemons, Marion Barlow, Jo Jed Miller and Hershel Miller Jr.

The church meeting place was Dawn School building, and the Sunday School was still a union organization until the church erected its building on land donated by W. E. Neal of Amarillo. The sanctuary was completed in April, 1946, and a parsonage was bought that year.

The education building was added in 1960, a cabin at Amarillo Assembly Grounds was bought in 1962 and a new brick parsonage early this year. Church grounds now comprise 12 lots in Dawn and total property valuation exceeds $60,000.

Church records show a total of 386 members over the years, 178 received by baptism. There are 65 resident members now. Total budget for the years 1943-67 was almost $220,000, and gifts to missions amounted to $41,312.

Present officers include Mrs. William Wimberly, treasurer; Mrs. Stewart, church clerk and pianist; Leroy Johnson, chairman of deacons and Sunday School superintendent; Mrs. Cox women's Missionary Union president; Mrs. Carl Wimberley, Training Union director and organist.

Deacons are H. S. Fuller Sr., Carl Wimberley, R. T. Stewart, Reece Stewart, Virgil Owens and Johnson. Others who have served as deacons were Lloyd Bentley, H. E. Miller Sr., Johnnie Womble, Lloyd Airhart, William Wimberley, W. D. Jernigan, Edgar Lemons, N. R. Miller,
