

City Commissioners Discuss Annexation

By PENNY YOUNG
Staff Writer
City Manager Dudley Bayne and Mayor Ray Cowsert were presented a petition this week, signed by the majority of residents living in the south part of Hereford just off Main, with a request to enter the city limits.

the Community Center with the explanation of the planned meeting. "We are meeting here tonight," he explained, "in order to talk to the residents of this area about annexation into the city limits. A petition of the majority of the residents has been presented with this designated request. It is not the policy of the city of Hereford to force anyone in the city limits, but if the majority of the citizens wish to come in we will consider. Now there are two ways to be annexed. One way is voluntary where everyone in the area signs a petition such as it is here. The second is that the city has the right to annex an area by certain legal procedures." There are certain benefits, obligations, expenses, and ordinances that all citizens in the city limits must live by, Mayor Cowsert explained. Then he detailed the expenses involved. He pointed out to the residents that the city would lay water, sewer and gas lines in alleys and proper places. The people would be subject to police and fire protection, garbage collection, and other conveniences. Anyone within 300 feet of the main sewer line must connect and the fee for a tap is $5. Water tap is $75 and sewer charge for one month is $1. Trash fees are $1.25 per month and all citizens are required to have a barrel with a lid. Water bill is $3 a month.

Citizens of Hereford are subject to ordinances, building codes, stock laws, and payments of tax, he noted.

City Attorney Earnest Langley defined the meaning of the zoning laws to the non-citizens. "The city is divided into zones or areas," he explained. "There are certain zones where only one-family dwellings can be built, zones for apartments, duplexes, little stores, big stores or factories. The area in which you live is mostly residential and would be zoned as such. This is to prevent someone from coming in and building a factory in your back yard," Langley said.

Residents were also informed that a house must locate a required length from the street and there has to be a side and back yard. A two-family dwelling must be situated on a lot of certain size. The ordinances are designed to prevent people from building too close together, promotes good welfare and keeps the property values up, Langley said.

All small businesses, trailer parks and such can remain where they are for non-conforming uses; however, any additions or repairs to damages cannot be made under the zoning law unless the area is re-zoned as a business area, Langley said.

Pavement would be put in by the city, these at the meeting were told, presenting a problem for the area because the houses are so close to the roads. A few would have to be moved elsewhere. Street lights are furnished by the city if 75 percent

Problems Caused By Lights Result In Their Downfall

The red lights installed Friday afternoon at the intersection of U. S. Highway 385 and Park Avenue are coming down today, Dudley Bayne, city manager, said.

The lights were put up Friday afternoon and by that night one had been knocked over by a car. The boy who hit the light also paid for it.

Bayne said the lights were put in the places suggested by the highway department. Engineers took a look at the lights Wednesday morning and said they were in the wrong spots and would never work. So, down they come.

Cost for what could be termed a blunder will be minimum. The City will send the light still standing back while the other one has been paid for by the boy who knocked it down. Other than labor costs, around $100, the only expense will be freight charges, Bayne said. The intersection will be back to normal this morning, without additional red lights, Bayne said. Until engineers come up with a way to make the intersection wider, Bayne said the City will just "back off for the time being" on the problem. Bayne said something would have to be done at the intersection to get traffic moving better. Cars and trucks turning left from Park Avenue are sometimes stalled through two or three lights before they can turn. Bayne indicated that the right-of-way on the west side of U. S. 385 may be moved back for the needed room. The controversial lights, almost in the middle of each inside lane, raised the ire of area truckers who were unable to get big semi-trailers through the intersection. Robert Wagoner, owner of Wagoner Trucking Co., called the lights a safety hazard. He said there was no possible way for 50-ft. trailers to get around the

Concert Groups Sets Season Drive

Kickoff date for Hereford Community Concert Association's membership drive for the 1968-69 season will be Sept. 16, with a dinner scheduled that evening at the Caison House, team captains decided at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce office Wednesday.

Mrs. Joe Reinauer is drive chairman for the Association's second season. New members will be enrolled only during the week of Sept. 16-21, and concerts are open only to members. Present members may renew their memberships in the week beginning Sept. 9, Mrs. Reinauer explains.

Scheduled as the feature attraction of the coming season is the Norman Luboff Choir, which will appear for a Sunday afternoon concert Feb. 23. Three concerts are guaranteed for the season and a fourth is possible if the budget permits.

Memberships will be sold to the limit of the seating capacity at Hereford High School auditorium, where programs are held.

According to policies of the national organization of Community Concerts, admission to concerts is by membership card only. No single admission tickets are sold, but use of a membership card is transferable. Hereford memberships are priced at $10 each.

Only after the annual drive for members, when board members know exactly how much money is available, is the concert schedule filled. Artists are booked at once for the year's programs, and the schedule is announced.

Last year in its initial season the Hereford Association presented concerts by organist Dick Leibert, pianist Peter Nero and the Texas Boys Choir.

Mrs. Wayne Thomas is president of the Association now, succeeding Dale Young who led the organization through its successful first year.

He will be one of the team captains in this year's drive. Others are Bill Thompson, Dr. M. C. Adams, Mmes. Frank Ford Jr., Earnest Langley, Clint Formby, Ivan Block, Ray Polan, Elmer Kimball and Lynton Allred.

Team captains to work in nearby communities include Mmes. John E. Smith, Donald Hicks, Keith Howard, Steve Bavousett and Henry Sears. Each captain will choose workers to assist in enlisting members.

Workers will get material to be used in the drive, at a pickup coffee Sept. 9 in the Wheeler Sears home on Harrison Highway.

McIntosh Is Top Texas TB Leader

Charles McIntosh, the new executive director of the Top of Texas Tuberculosis Association, has recently completed a training course at the Texas Tuberculosis Association office in Austin. His office is in Amarillo and he has charge of the tuberculosis campaign now being conducted in Hereford.

McIntosh said that area organization, which is stressed in the course, emphasized that the Top of Texas Association is a Panhandle of Texas structure, covering 26 counties from Dalam to Childress, and from Lipscomb to Parmer, which includes Deaf Smith County.

"Whereas in the past the Panhandle has had spotty and insufficient anti-tuberculosis programs, the new organization can not provide a continuous and coordinated program for the Panhandle through pooling the entire area's resources," McIntosh said.

And so, help is now needed in Hereford — where there are current tuberculosis victims, as reported by Dr. C. E. Rush. All individuals and clubs who wish to participate are asked to contact Mrs. Jewel Smith, County Welfare Administrator, at 364-1584.

People are needed here to assist in mailing literature, arranging transportation for x-rays, and a future campaign for tuberculosis contributions. Women's civic and social clubs are especially invited to contact Mrs. Smith.

Rose Is Elected To Grain Board

In a meeting at the Caison House Tuesday night, Austin Rose became the first man from Hereford to be elected to the board of directors of the District 3 Producers Grain Corporation. Rose, who has an 11 year record of involvement in cooperative work, won the election over three other opponents for the district board post. District 3 covers a large area that extends from Tucumcari, N. M. to Canyon.

Some 60 members of the Producers Grain Corporation were present at the meeting at the Caison House.

Interviews Set For DE Classes

G. C. Graves, the new Distributive Coordinator of Hereford High School, has just returned from a state workshop in which over 400 other coordinators were in attendance. Ninety-six were attending the workshop for the first time as new coordinators.

David Treadwell, who will be teaching the pre-employment lab for Distributive Education at HHS also attended the workshop.

The pre-employment lab will be open this year for the first time for students in Hereford. It will be offered to sophomores, juniors and senior students of Hereford High School.

Graves is a graduate of Texas Tech where he received his Master's Degree in 1952. He has had many years of business and teaching experience. He said that it is his hope that he can "contribute a small part" in guiding the high school students' here.

Treadwell received his degree at West Texas State University in May 1968. He has been a student teacher in bookkeeping and business law from March through May. A graduate of Wheeler High School, he is 24 years old.

Distributive Education is a special training program for juniors and seniors in high school who are interested in sales and retailing work. The training has two parts — academic training at school during the morning and practical on-the-job training during the afternoon.

Graves said, "As a businessman, he may wish to cooperate with the school by hiring a Distributive Education student to work in his place of business during the afternoon."

"He might ask, 'As a businessman, what will my participation in the program cost me?' In the long run, this program will cost him nothing — will result in saving him money. As the operator of a business he can appreciate the value of getting efficient, well-trained young people who are interested in business and make them available. These students have a great potential, and it is our hope that between the businessman and the school we can make them into valuable full-time employees of tomorrow."

He said the Distributive Education student gets one hour of flexible training each day designed to fit the mode of the student, the business and the community. Generally, it contains business fundamentals and selling skills.

Graves would like to interview any student at the Distributive Education classroom Monday through Friday during the month of August. He will be in the classroom between 9 a.m. and 12 noon each day. An appointment can be made by calling 364-4456.

It is hoped, he said, that all students will be placed within the next two weeks.

County Commissioners Act On Varied Bull Barn Uses

By EARL MOSELEY
Staff Writer

In business ranging from a Lateral Road Fund request to the advertising of bids for two maintainers, County Commissioners Court also spent a lot of time during their Monday meeting on the subject of drinking and dancing at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn.

The commissioners agreed for the Junior Riders Club to use the Little Bull Barn on Friday and Saturday nights of this week for what had been described to them as "a strictly public dance." However, they specified that two officers be employed by the club on both nights for the purpose of controlling any public drinking.

On behalf of the Mexican Fiesta for its Independence Day, scheduled for September 14, 15 and 16 at the Little Bull Barn, the commissioners ruled against the dancing scheduled for the night of the fifteenth — because it was Sunday.

Arthur Gonzales, who spoke for the Fiesta, explained that dancing was a definite part of the celebration on Coronation Day and that this day traditionally fell on Sunday every few years. He stated that they had danced on Coronation Day the last time it had fallen on a Sunday at the same location without protest. But County Judge H. C. Williams and each of the commissioners professed no direct knowledge of the affair. Gonzales further explained that musicians had already been contracted to play for the three nights and would have to be paid whether they played or not. The commissioners suggested that the dance for the coronation be postponed until Monday night. The entire point of their position, they explained, was that a large number of Deaf Smith County residents were opposed to dancing, especially on a church night.

The commissioners also pointed out that in past years only the Junior Riders Club and the Mexican Fiesta had gained permission at the Bull Barn for any dances at all.

Under discussion was a possible definite policy for all bookings at the Bull Barn at their first meeting in October.

Commissioners Earl Holt, Marcus Latham, Bruce Coleman and Donald Hicks expressed the opinion that they were trying to be completely fair to everyone and such a move was perhaps the only possible means of solving the problems of the Bull Barn in the future.

The Paisano Lions were given permission to hold a second carnival this year, immediately prior to Mexican Independence Day — Sept. 11 — 14 — on the Bull Barn grounds. Their spokesman indicated that they wished to hold it annually on these dates hereafter. The commissioners stipulated that only one such carnival would be permitted annually beginning next year.

-Dr. Noble L. Ballard was appointed County Health Officer.

-Mrs. Jewel Smith made a report on County Welfare, including the purchase of a new Amana 17-foot freezer for welfare food storage.

-Mrs. Lorene Newman, County librarian, discussed the present space available for her department in the Court House.

-Architect Oscar Schilling of Amarillo was paid an additional $100 for work on the Deaf Smith County Hospital's new additions.

-Marvin Harvey of Blue Cross-Blue Shield told the commissioners that premiums on county employees had decreased 12 cents.

-Bob Davis of Amarillo was in court to prepare the bid announcement (included in this edition of the Brand) for two diesel-powered motor graders, one each for Precinct 2 and 4. Bids will be opened on Sept. 9 at 2 p. m.

The Lateral Road Fund request with the Texas Board of County and District Road Indebtedness was in the amount of $29,336.20 for Deaf Smith County for improvements during the coming year.

A new Chevrolet was purchased for the sheriff's department for $2,225.00, with a trade-in of a 1968 Ford.

The commissioners announced that the reading of the budget for the coming year was set for Monday, August 26 at 10 a. m.

School Trustees Approve Enrollment Eligibility Age

By EARL MOSELEY
Staff Writer

Three weeks in advance of school opening here, the Hereford Independent School District board of trustees met Tuesday night and approved a policy for pupils eligible to attend — which now makes it possible for those over school age to enroll: "Any person who resides within the limits of the Hereford Independent School District, is six years of age or older September 1 of the year in which he enters school, and who has not passed his 21st birthday, is eligible to attend the Hereford Public Schools without payment of tuition.

"An adult over 21 years of age, married or single, may be permitted to enroll in Hereford Public Schools on recommendation of the High School Principal and school counselors and on approval by the Superintendent of Schools. It shall be judged by those making the recommendation that such applicant has exemplified preeminence in moral standards, integrity in public action, and commendable purpose in desiring to enroll. Such students shall be restricted in participation in school activities on the same basis as married students and shall come under the same policies as all high school students relative to grading, attendance, and discipline. Such students must pay tuition at the rate established by the Board of Trustees. Said rate shall be $20 per semester for each one-hour course, beginning with the 1968-69 school year. This rate shall be in effect until such time as officially revised by the Board of Trustees."

They heard Clark report that there were six positions on the faculty yet to be filled — and "four of them they would be hurting from" because of the scarcity of qualified teachers in those fields. Needed are 2 math teachers, gun at Northwest and Central schools in advance of the others, and that the purchase was completed on property in the west part of Hereford. Other reports indicated that they had rejected a price on the purchase of other property.

The trustees elected new teachers: B. J. McDonald, Mary L. Whiteside, Patricia Prichard, Mar Lois Skypala, Patricia McDonald, Julia Wert, Marjorie Southward, Rose Wright, Ruth McDowell, Dinah Golbert, Lydia Garcia, Fred Upshaw, Lois Laubhan, Janice Doyle, Billy Joe Pearson, Mary M. Jones, Maarki Beblis, Lester Leon Payne, Olga Montgomery, and Ruth Jennine Hodnett.

They accepted the resignations of teachers Zella Mae Crump, Luene Lane, Marvin J. Lane, Mary Ann Austin, John McFadin, Larry Morris, Sue Clifton, Martha Russell, Don Phillips, Jack Waggoner, Adan C. Salgado, Marion Gamertsfelder and Jonelle Click.

Burke Inman, owner of Inman Trucking Co., agreed with Waggoner. He said there was no possible way for trucks to get through the intersection with the lights in the middle without causing a traffic jam by backing up in the middle of the street.

Inman coped with the situation by rerouting his trucks through Ranger Drive, a residential section, around the block, then back to the highway.

Manager of the ICX line Hereford, Les Betts said 40-ft. trucks could not turn onto U. S. 385 without hitting the lights. His trucks were also rerouted around the block. Betts suggested the present lights be rewired to include a left hand arrow signal.

Wagoner said the corner was not a true right angle corner anyway. He suggested lights be installed overhead or before the intersection.

Inman saw no solution to the problem unless overhanging lights were installed or the street shade wider.

"Area truckers know how to get around the lights, but a strange trucker wouldn't know how to get around the intersection," Inman said. Now that the lights are to be removed, trucks coming from New Mexico can turn south on the U. S. highway.

What do trustees and school officials do during the summer months while students are on vacation? Very much the same hard work that is accomplished throughout the entire year.

Tuesday night's meeting was presided over by Vice-President R. C. White because it was impossible for President Olin Parrish to arrive until after the meeting had started, due to other business commitments. The same was true for Dr. A. T. Mims. The other trustees are Ed Loerwald, Hiley Aven, Hugh Clearman, and Bill Gentry.

Superintendent Johnny Clark Jr., assistants Bob Holman and Roy Hartman, and Transportation Supervisor Tom Harkey are likewise represented.

They heard teachers Johnny Fuston and Roger Huber make a report on the IPS Workshop they had attended at Golden, Colorado (which will be featured in the Sunday Brand's special school section.) They brought up-to-date the current annual budget, which will end on Aug. 31. There were reports on the tax office procedures, the preschool buildings which have be-

Meetings Are Set By Local Farmers

Two important meetings have been scheduled by the Deaf Smith County Chapter of the National Farmers Organization to take place in Hereford, members of the organization have announced.

The first of the two meetings is set to take place at 9 p. m. Friday, August 30 when the chapter gathers in the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn. All residents and businessmen of the area are invited to the meeting where NFO members are planning to answer any questions which may arise concerning the organization.

An area-wide meeting is also scheduled for Sept. 2 and will be held at the Bull Barn. Tagging the meeting as "Golden Dollars for the Golden Spread," members of the local chapter have extended invitations to residents of the Panhandle, South Plains, Oklahoma Panhandle and Eastern New Mexico.

Beef, potatoes and beans will be provided at the September meeting by Deaf Smith County farmers where there will be a free barbecue for those attending the meeting.

Erhard Phinstone, Vice President of the National Farmers Organization, has accepted an invitation to attend the meeting and to speak also. It is also

AFS Student Arrives Here

Theo ten Have, (AFS) American Field Service Exchange Student from Holland arrived in Amarillo by plane Tuesday night at 10 p. m. Upon descending from the plane, he was met by his American parents and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McCathern, Mike, Kathy, and Kolleen. The McCatherns farm for a living and their home is approximately 10 miles out in the Westway Community.

The new exchange student first heard about this program in his school where he received further information on the subject from inquiry. A girl in his class had been to America and it seemed interesting and something that he would like to do. A short interview so that officials would know a little about him, then the selection and the letters to New York. After acceptance, it was finding a town and a family to stay in. 60 per cent of the AFS students were placed.

When Ten Have first arrived in New York, he had this to say about it:

"When you first see it, you don't realize that you are in America. I learned something about it at home and it wasn't a big shock."

The trip home wasn't much for sightseeing with tired eyes and a weary feeling but Ten Have did remember all the lights. Our big cars seemed to surprise him also.

In Holland, we drive small cars. Volkswagens are the favorite, then Opels, and some French and Italian cars. If someone in Holland drives a large car, he is thought of by others as rich or trying to show-off. Big cars just aren't common."

Cattle in Holland is raised in small numbers with around 20 head per farmer and most of them at that are milk cows.

"I did notice the large quantity of cattle when we came in. All over the country."

Our language is a little hard to understand at first but the presence of American movies in Holland prepared Theo for our 'slang' and Texas accent.

Photography is a favorite of Ten Have and cycling and swimming take up leisure time also.

Cycling seemed to be the more participated in of the three sports and hobbies, as Theo was a member of a cycling club that a group of boys began just this year. Cycle contests are frequent around the country. In France, one of the largest cycle contests called, "Tour de France" is becoming a favorite of cycle fans. It is held every year and this year, a Dutchman pulled the race out of the hat with 1st place.

Jowell Residents Set Reunion

Jowell community residents, past and present, will gather for their annual reunion Sunday afternoon at the old Jowell Schoolhouse, which is now used as a community building. Alvin Smith, chairman of the reunion association, announces.

A basket lunch will be spread at 1 p. m. A short business meeting and a variety program is planned for the afternoon; there will be time for conversation and renewing of acquaintances by former residents of the neighborhood.

Summer reunions have been held the past five years for those who formerly lived in the community southeast of Hereford, and those living there now, Smith says.

sport that is a favorite of both Holland and Norway. Being the champions in this sport, the countries compete each year for world champion. Every boy in Holland ice skates some.

Soccer, which is baseball here, is played frequently by boys of all ages. It is not unusual to find a group of boys playing this game in the streets some afternoon, Theo said.

Theo is 17, and says that he is especially going to enjoy having two sisters, Kathy and Kolleen, as he was minus this in Holland.

"I'm going to like it here in Hereford," he commented, "and I'm going to like my family a lot."

Continued From Page One of the area on each side of the street is developed. Taxes were the main concern of the residents. In addition to school, state and county taxes they already pay, a city tax rate of $1.40 would be assessed. The property is first appraised for tax purposes and taxes are assessed on 45 percent of the market value of the property. Fire insurance rates will naturally decrease with the annexation because of the added fire protection of the city. Citizens entering the city limits this year would have to pay taxes beginning January of next year, Bayne said.

"How long before the facilities are put in if we are annexed?" asked one lady.

The law states that within three years after annexation, facilities must be completed, the question was answered. However, the facilities would probably be completed no later than three months, Cowsert said. "Do we have to tap on to the main water line?" another question went.

"Anyone having a well that is still in good shape," reassured Bayne, "may keep the well without having to tap the main water line, but all taps within 300 feet of the sewer line are required. Residents living on butane will have to do away with this and connect to the installed city gas lines."

"Will the alleys be opened up?"

"Yes," Cowsert answered, "the city must have alleys for construction purposes."

"I live in a congested area," commented one lady. "If the alleys are opened, it will become a public road."

"I own a large lot," stated another. "Do I have to give 20 feet of my land to the city for construction?"

"Yes, it will be necessary," returned Mayor Cowsert.

"My house sits right on the corner of Sampson street, at the end," said one lady. "If a road is put through, my house will have to be moved or it will come right up to my door."

"I'll have to move a small rent house," said another.

"What about trailer parks?"

Red Cross Begins Making Gift Bags

Gift-making time is here in the Red Cross program to supply a gift for every U. S. serviceman in Viet Nam at Christmastime, Mrs. R. B. Hutson, local chairman, announces. Material has arrived at the Red Cross office, 319 Sampson, for 250 ditty bags to be sewed and filled with small gift articles. Women of the Hereford area are asked to make the bags, working individually or as members of club or church groups. Those who make the bags are asked to fill them if possible; others who cannot help with the sewing are asked to contribute some of the contents, or money for their purchase. This is the fourth year that Deaf Smith County Red Cross Chapter has joined others over the nation in work on "Operation Shop Early" so the gaily-colored bags of gifts may be distributed by Red Cross field workers in combat areas at Christmas. A number of women who have sewed bags each year are calling at the Red Cross office for the red cotton material of which bags in the 1968 program will be made. Cultural Home Demonstration Club, which received a national citation for similar work last year is already at work on a project to make and fill 50 bags. Each bag will carry a holiday greeting card with names of contributors and the county Red Cross chapter. The bags must be ready for shipping before Oct. 15, so they are to be in the Red Cross office early in October, Mrs. Hutson said.

She is chairman of Service to Military Families in Deaf Smith County Chapter. Persons wishing further information about "Operation Shop Early," or material to work, may inquire of Mrs. Hutson or at the Red Cross office.

For filling the bags, at least eight of these items are suggested as suitable: Mailing-size voice tapes, small plastic snapshot holders, small tins of nuts or candy (vacuum packed), comb plastic cigarette case, terry washcloth in dark color.

Also nail clipper, plastic toothbrush holder or soap case, small address book, small package of writing paper with self-seal envelopes, windproof-type cigarette lighter with package of lighter flints, small pen knives.

Also ballpoint pens, pensize flashlights with batteries, small sandwich-type plastic bags, "wipe and shine" packet shoe polish, pocket games such as small decks of cards, chess, etc. pocket or diary-type calendars, "wash and dries."

Other comparable items may be included, but the list forbids these items: Gifts in breakable containers, food packed in non-vacuum containers, medicaments including foot powder and insect repellent, alcoholic beverages, printed or advertising materials, reading materials. (Red Cross staff in Viet Nam advise there is an ample supply of paperbacks available to servicemen).

Thompson Goes To Pampa Meet

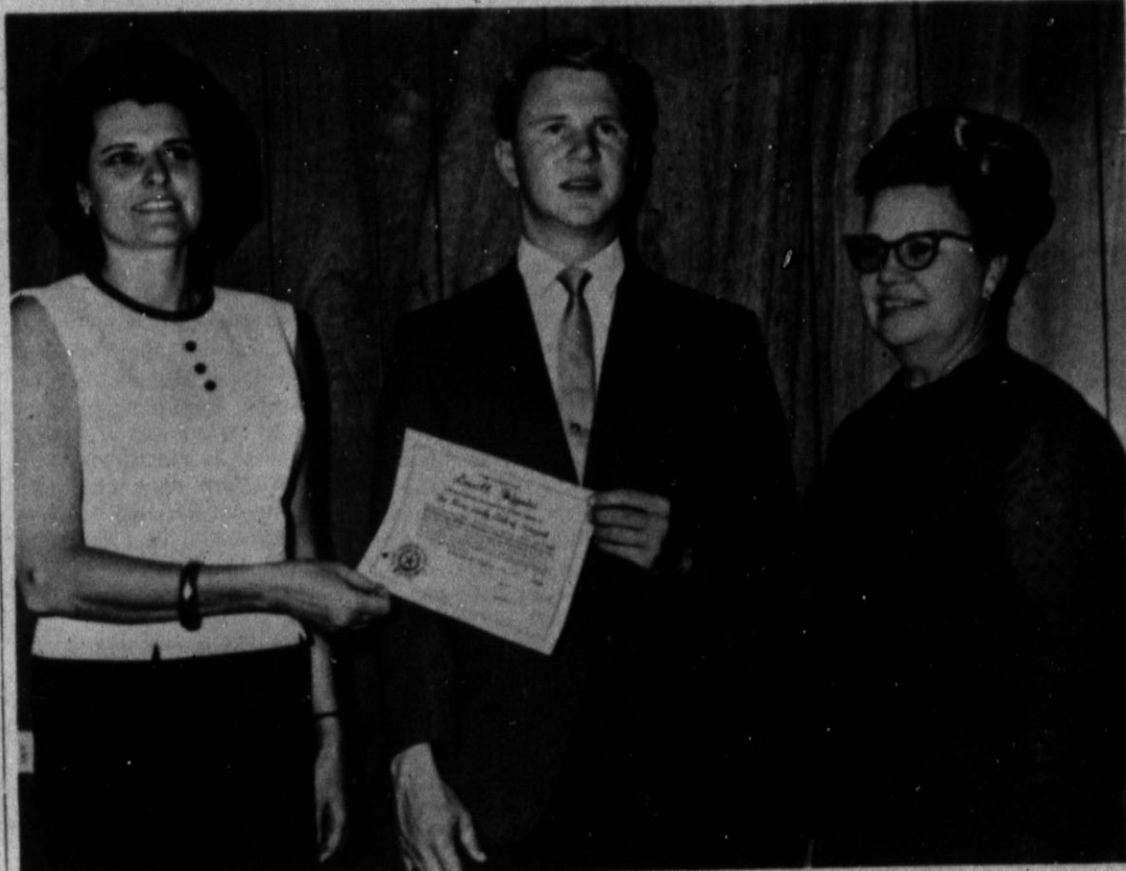

Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Manager W. T. Thompson will be one of the speakers at the Chamber of Commerce Executive Association of West Texas (CCEAWT) meeting in Pampa on Monday and Tuesday.

Also on the program will be Lt. Gov. George Nigh of Oklahoma.

Thompson said the meeting will center primarily on professional improvement topics.

Two Local Youths Attend Seminary

Suzanne Oglesby who recently returned from Texas Farm Bureau High School Citizenship Seminar July 30-Aug. 3 at Baylor University in Waco is eager to tell others what she learned.

Miss Suzanne Oglesby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Oglesby, 114 Fir, along with Robert Grady, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Grady, 116 Ave. J, were chosen to represent Hereford at the citizenship seminar attended by 425 high school students through out Texas. Both are seniors at Hereford High School.

"Once you come back from a seminar like this one, you feel like a completely different person," Miss Oglesby said. "You want to do something to make the place you live in a greater place."

Lectures began at 8:30 in the morning and usually ended around 8:30 that night. "If you can imagine 425 teen-agers sitting in their chairs for that length of time and being completely silent, you know the lectures had to be good," Miss Oglesby said.

The group's second speaker had been a slave in Russia for 16 years. Another lecture was given by three convicts from the prison at Huntsville. Other speakers were the president of Hardin College at Wichita Falls and an FBI agent, W. Cleon Skousen, author of The Naked Communist. Those at the seminar were encouraged to tell others what they had learned when they returned to their hometowns. Miss Oglesby said she was eager to talk to church groups, civic organizations, clubs or any groups that ask them.

During the four-day seminar, Miss Oglesby took 47 pages of notes and Grady took an equal amount. "We are so full of information, we are just popping," Miss Oglesby said. "We are available and we want to talk." They already have speeches written and can give anywhere from a 10-minute to a three-hour talk.

A survey to be taken at the end of the year will measure the amount of work and success each student had in passing along the information they learned at the summer seminar. The top four in Texas will return to next year's seminar and conduct a panel discussion.

At the end of the seminar, the students divided into groups and staged a talent show. Miss Oglesby, who said someone volunteered her, sang and accompanied herself on the piano for her group's skit.

Three books studied were Animal Farm by George Orwell, The Naked Communist by W. Cleon Skousen and How We Live by Fred G. Clark and Richard S. Rimanoczy.

Martinez Describes Death In Vietnam

By EARL MOSELEY
Staff Writer

Oscar Martinez, who has been awarded the Bronze Star, the Purple Heart, the Combat Infantryman Badge, the Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry and Vietnamese Service Medal Bronze Star with "V" for Valor stemming from action against the enemy in Vietnam, returned to Hereford Monday night on furlough before going to California on September 6. He is an Army Spec-4.

Moreover, Martinez had been recommended for the Congressional Medal of Honor when he, a major, and two other men, alone, extinguished a fire in their main ammunition dump at Pleiku a few months ago — which could have completely destroyed the entire sector. (Although this act had been actuated by the enemy, the firefighting was not actually done under enemy "fire" which ruled out the Medal of Honor on a technicality.)

Martinez was asked why he took the risk of almost certain death when he volunteered to help put out the fire.

"I don't know," he answered somewhat seriously. "At the moment, all I could think about was putting out that fire."

That was the only question the 21-year-old Hereford man was asked. There was no official interview. It was conversation in his car at the Arrowhead Drive-In — with a Coke in his hand. And in the course of the conversation he told of things which he saw happen in Vietnam that spanned from verification of Russian participation in the war there to the superstitions of the Viet Cong — to "things you wouldn't believe."

It was a transformation to a climate of intense heat and humidity, where "eighty per cent of the wound cases that involve gangrene do not have a chance to survive, no matter what is done for them."

Martinez said that he was a machine-gunner — and machine-gunners are always situated in advanced positions where they can fire from 800 to 1,200 rounds-per-minute. They see a lot of death and they cause a lot of death.

He showed a deep wound across his shoulders and neck, and he explained the reason he had not been killed at that moment. Another G. I. was coming to his side bringing fresh rounds of ammunition. He saw him fall. As he did, he craned around to see what had happened. A doctor told him later that the sudden change in his body position had saved his life. "My life was saved by a dead man."

Martinez was in the hospital for two-and-a-half months. He also has a case of malaria.

He said that the men always had a premonition of death before it happened. "I don't know that anyone would believe it but it's true. They will tell you goodbye." He said that on the day he was badly wounded he gave his wallet to another G. I. to mail home — if he didn't come back.

Martinez described some of the G. I.'s who reached the breaking point and would "freeze" in the midst of action. They had to try to "slap them back" into reality. And he told of another G. I. who lost his bearings and ran across the enemy lines. "And you know, we could hear him screaming all night long." The next day they found him hanging in a tree.

But he said the sight of death at first "really got you" but it wasn't long until you got accustomed to it.

He pointed out that the Viet Cong were barbarians, that they would kill even the little children (which he said the American servicemen paid a lot of attention to) without hesitation. "They all carried grenades in their pockets. But they never threw them. The grenades were to be used only in case they were captured — to destroy themselves."

But he clearly emphasized the fact that they were not necessarily fighting the Viet Cong guerrillas. He had been involved in fighting the "crack North Vietnamese troops" with heavy Russian tanks and artillery "out of Cambodia." He stated that the Russian communists were definitely involved.

Never one time did Martinez mention any of the medals he had won. But he did mention another G. I. who had remained on top of a bunker under heavy shelling, and for his actions did receive the Congressional Medal of Honor. "And he got letters from people in the United States — who said that he was a murderer! You don't know how something like that hurts morale. But this fellow said that the first thing he was going to do when he returned to the States was to go see these people."

And he said that it was hard to try to understand the riots and demonstrations back home, when they were over their fighting. It was also hard for the South Vietnamese to understand it too.

Furthermore, upon his return to the United States the airplane he was on was supposed to have landed in California. But it was understood that civilians there had recently opened fire on some of the returning G. I.'s. Therefore the plane had been re-routed to Seattle, Washington — where they landed in a restricted area — without civilians.

Martinez has been credited with eleven official kills by the Army, but said there were others that were not counted because there was no way of checking it out for certain. And that is the job of any serviceman in any war throughout history. Who has ever looked forward to it? But it is kill or be killed.

However, he said that he had been promoted to sergeant — for one week. But he had been "busted" back to Spec-4 because he had refused an order to place his men on a mission he believed to be suicidal. There had even been a fight over it. "I wasn't court-martialed or anything like that. I was merely demoted in rank."

He also mentioned the fact that they had a lot of trouble with "green C. O.'s" who would come in not realizing the tactics of the enemy. One of them was a maneuver termed "the horseshoe," where they could be partially encircled. "It's hard to get the message over to them that you can't 'follow' the enemy into anything. It will turn out to be an ambush."

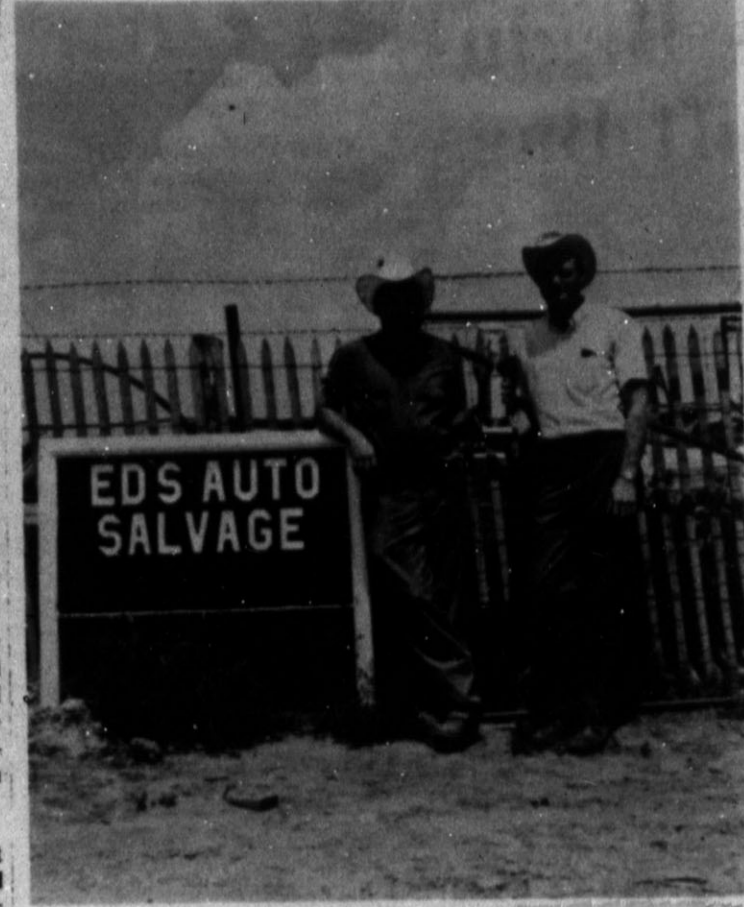

Martinez said that the people here should realize that more deaths have occurred there during the past two years than ever before.

But he described the Viet Cong as highly superstitious people. They especially have a thing about skeletons. "A skeleton was uncovered and set up in our perimeter. That night the Viet Cong sent one of their men into our perimeter to check us out. The bones of the skeleton was highly reflected by the moon and stars. The next morning, this Viet Cong spy was found dead near the skeleton. There wasn't a mark on him. Our doctor said he had died of a heart attack. We all laughed."

The American G. I. can gain the confidence of the monkeys there and make pets out of them, he said, but these same monkeys are very leery of the Vietnamese people. He said that was also true of cats and dogs.

But the G. I.'s have tiger problems!

Oscar said that he saw two men at night who were being dragged away by tigers. No one could risk a shot at them, because of the danger of hitting the G. I., so they had to go over and strike them on the nose. He said that both men recovered.

And there are snakes! Aside from cobras, he described a snake there that was so deadly that a person who is bitten by one of them cannot take more than two steps before dropping dead. This snake paralyzes the nervous system.

And he also described the steepness of some of the hills in Vietnam. Some, he said, took days to climb. But on the down hill side, they could slide down on their 80-lb. packs!

But Martinez said that they occasionally had a preacher or a priest there. However, this was not always possible. When they were not available, they had begun their own Bible readings.

"All the men seem to be much closer to God there." Oscar is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Amadeo Martinez of 211 Harrah.

Some two dozen holidays are celebrated annually in the United States Virgin Islands. They range from Three Kings' Day — marking the end of the two-week-long Christmas Festival — to Supplication Day July 25 — when residents pray they may be spared tropical storms.

Two Groups To Tour Hereford

Two separate tours of Deat Smith County livestock and feed yards will be conducted here this weekend.

Approximately 35 people will be here from Vernon on Saturday, following their arrival from the Missouri Beef Plant at Friona. They will dine at the Caison House before touring the Holly Sugar Plant and feed-yards.

On Monday, some 65 people will be here from the University of Nebraska at Lincoln. They will tour the Hereford Feed Yards, where Paul Engler, former Hereford resident and now of Montana, will be their host.

Chamber of Commerce Manager Bill Thompson said that the Hereford Hustlers would usher for both groups at the Caison House. The group from Nebraska will have their noon and evening meal there.

How To Reduce Non-Crop Weed Costs

It's been said that the only good weed is a dead one. And that goes for weeds around the farm as well as on crop land — especially when you consider the time and money they can cost.

For example — weeds along field borders, fence rows, and roadways are a major cause of weedy crops. They can produce thousands of seeds which can move directly onto your crop land.

What's more, these weeds along with those around the farmstead act as a cover for destructive insects and rodents. Then, too, in late summer and fall, when they dry out, weeds around farm buildings become a dangerous fire hazard.

What's the answer to weed control in non-crop areas? Traditionally, it's been to either mow or hand hoe. As many growers know, this takes time away from crops — especially since the job must be done several times a year. And this is costly.

To solve the problem, many growers have begun treating non-crop areas with herbicides. Applied by sprayer, granular spreader, or even by hand for hard to reach areas, an effective non-selective herbicide such as Pramitol will control most weeds after they have emerged. It even gets the tough varieties like Johnsongrass, Bermudagrass, bindweed, and crabgrass — and it keeps the area weed-free for a full season.

What's the best time to go after non-crop weeds? Many growers say that right now is the ideal time — when planting is finished, spray equipment is still geared up, and before weeds are too tough and woody.

So, to get rid of these troublesome weeds and the hazards they cause, treat now. It helps beautify the farmstead, too.

Deaf Smith County Has 5 Government

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 — For its size, does Deaf Smith County have more or fewer governmental agencies than other communities? How many such bodies are there throughout the county with power to pass rules and regulations affecting local residents?

A new report on the subject, issued by the U. S. Census Bureau, makes possible a comparison of the local governmental structure with that found in other areas.

The data was gathered from all parts of the country as part of the "1967 Census of Governments." It underscores the fact the community affairs are being directed less and less by county, municipal and township governments and more by autonomous or semi-autonomous subdivisions.

To a growing extent the controls are being delegated to school districts and to special districts with responsibilities over public housing, water supply, toll roads, flood control, fire protection and the like.

In Deaf Smith County, the report shows, there are now 5 units of government in operation,

4 of them with property taxing power. They consist of 1 municipal government, no township government, 2 independent school districts, 1 special district and the county government itself.

The number is exactly the same as was tabulated in 1962, when the previous Census of Governments was taken.

By way of comparison, there was a reduction of 12 percent in the number of local governments throughout the United States as a whole in the five-year period.

The West South Central States had a rise of 1 percent while the number in the State of Texas went up 3 percent.

From the standpoint of population, Deaf Smith County is listed as having one agency of government for every 3,200 local people. The average else-

Season To End For Softballers

In a closely contested battle played Monday night, the Blue-Belles avenged an earlier loss by defeating the Sunshine Girls 12-11 after eight innings of play, then turned around on Tuesday night and met defeat at the hands of the Kitty Stompers by an 18-7 margin.

After taking a 3-1 lead after one full frame of play, the Blue-Belles saw their lead diminish to one run after three as the score stood at 6-5.

After increasing their lead to two runs in the fourth inning, the Blue-Belles were practically struck by lightning when the Sunshine Girls sent five runners across the plate to take a 10-7 lead.

In the sixth, the Belles closed the gap to 10-9 then took the lead in the top of the seventh on a two-run homer. However, the Sunshine Girls tied the game up in the bottom of the seventh and sent the game into extra innings.

In the eighth, Joe Ann Ferguson connected for a four-bagger for what proved to be the winning run as the Belles held their opposition scoreless in the bottom of the eighth.

Tuesday night saw the Belles fall to the onslaught on the Kitty Stompers by a resounding score of 18-7, with Loretta Ellerd picking up the win and Ruth Dobbs absorbing the loss.

The Belles led 2-0 at the end of one, but the Stompers took a 4-3 lead after two innings and held them scoreless while picking up ten runs of their own in the following three innings. During the sixth, both teams got four runs for the final 18-7 score.

Action for the season will end with Friday night's game and then Tuesday, August 20, the teams will have a "mix-up" games and then have an ice cream supper.

An active separatist movement has persisted in Wales ever since Henry VIII welded it to England in 1536.

FISHING LINES

By DICK WOLFF
SEARCH IN THE SUN FOR PERMIT

My guide's pole pierced the clear topaz water quietly as our skiff glided over the shallow tidal flats of Content Keys and the rays of the 10 o'clock sun pierced our thin cotton shirts depositing their considerable heat into our shoulder blades. We had been out an hour straining our polaroid-shielded eyes to see through the white brilliance of the sunlight as it flashed off the blue waters that held our quarry. This is the way you go for permit — blinking, squinting, trying to see beneath the surface to detect that deep bellied blue and silver form mucking at grass roots for a meal of crab and shrimp. Unless the waters are really shallow, then the fish "tail" and give themselves away.

Then if you are lucky, you get close enough to lay in a bait. Lucky indeed — permit spook easier than bonefish and the scrape of a pole on coral and they're gone and you're left squinting again in the bright sunlight.

But these were live permit waters and I had for a guide one of the best in the Florida Keys. We knew that now as the tide flooded the flats we would see a few of these great pompano, despite the glare and eyesore.

Our problem was to get close without spooking the fish. Then and there is no more trouble-some fish in salt water fly fishing than the permit. He's bigger and tougher than the bonefish and when he's feeding on the bottom he seldom looks away for other food — hardly ever for a fly.

I took full advantage of my large capacity Abu Delta 5 reel, backing a floating nylon line (10-F) with 100 yards of 20 pound test Bonnyl. If I were fortunate to get Mr. Permit to go for my pink shrimp fly, I felt safe my nine-foot, heavy-action Conolon 2639 rod would give me the backbone needed for his long runs and hard hitting.

We had just slid past a grassy hassock when we caught sight of them. About 40 yards off, six to eight dusky tails breaking the surface, moving slowly and heading across our point. We judged we had time to draw within 20 yards of where they'd pass. Hardly making a ripple, we poled to our destination and I lay out my first fly in advance of the feeders and it began to sink as softly as I hoped it would.

The school was just getting to the fly when I began the retrieve in slow, foot-long jerks. If anything causes a permit to hit a fly it's the competitive instinct at work in a feeding school. Three of the lead fish ignored the fly. Another jerk, as number four passed, and then, whom, number five tore out of the school with my fly in his jaw.

Within seconds the school had disappeared but I had trouble in my hands. My line was down to the backing, the rod tip had gone low to the water. Getting the handle under my forearm I took command of the rod and set a firm drag. I couldn't afford to give him slack because I knew the inside of his mouth was as tough as the horseshoe on a baseball and a taut line might be all that was keeping the hook in his mouth.

I was an hour with him. I could feel him bang his head on the bottom trying to throw out the hook. He was big and deep when I brought him to the side of the boat. My eyes burned from the glare of the sun off the water and my shirt was black with perspiration. When we dropped him in the bottom of the boat he fell out of his mouth and I wondered if I had caught him or he had come willingly at the end just to spit my hook at me.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — I've been audited several times, but none of my friends have been audited once. Am I on a blacklist of smething?

A — No, you are not. Computers screen all returns and identify those with certain characteristics for examination. When your return, or the returns filed by your friends are processed, the computers are prepared to look for certain characteristics. There is no "blacklist" used by IRS to identify returns for examination.

Q — Can I have my tax withholding reduced when I reach 65?

A — Yes, persons 65 and over may claim an additional exemption for income tax withholding purposes. To do this fill out a new Form W-4, Employees Withholding Exemption Certificate, and give it to your employer. He will tell you when the change will go into effect.

Q — Our apartment was rifled by burglars while we were away on vacation. Since we do not have insurance, can we deduct our losses for tax purposes?

A — Yes, a deduction for a theft can be taken on your return. However, only the loss in excess of $100 can be deducted.

To establish a theft loss you must be able to: (1) show the date the theft was discovered; (2) show the property was stolen and not lost or mislaid; (3) establish ownership; (4) show evidence of the cost or other basis of the property; (5) show any amount taken or allowable for depreciation; and (6) show the amount of insurance or other compensation for the loss received or recoverable.

Q — My mother gave me title to her home as a present. Will any tax be involved?

A — Gifts are not taxable to the person receiving them. However, the person making the gift may be liable for gift tax if the value of the gifts to one person is more than $3,000 in any one year.

The gift tax law also allows each person to make a total of $30,000 in tax free gifts which may be spread over a period of years or used in any one year in addition to the $3,000 annual exclusion. Your mother may be entitled to use this provision of the law in the situation you describe.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Gonzales Pesqueda are the parents of a daughter, born August 13, 7 lbs. 15 ozs.

my regular job?
A — No. The law requires each employer to withhold social security tax on the first $7,800 in wages paid each employee. If more than the maximum has been withheld from your combined salaries, then the excess may be taken as a credit on your income tax return.

Q — I'm attending a church convention as a delegate this summer. Can I take a charitable deduction for my expenses?

Hopeful News In Medicine

THE BRAIN, contrary to general knowledge, is a very hardy organ. It is surprising how astonishingly well the brain tolerates manipulation during surgery. It is far more stable than are the intestines which react violently to the slightest handling.

Tumors of the brain have responded remarkably to brilliant new technical surgical advances. This is due particularly to the many tests, X-rays, and neurological examinations that pinpoint the exact spot where a tumor can be found. Surgery and X-ray therapy have been the two strongest means to attack tumors of the brain. Just as there are benign (non-cancerous) tumors, so there are malignant or cancerous tumors of the brain. These need very intensive treatment to insure success.

Now there is a remarkable drug which holds forth great promise against cancerous tumors of the brain which might otherwise have proven fatal. The drug mithramycin is still the subject of great experimental studies and will be until its excellence and safety is confirmed.

Dr. Joseph Ransohoff of the New York University Bellevue Medical Center enthusiastically reported successful treatment of dangerous brain tumors in a fairly large series of cases. At a meeting of the New York Academy of Sciences reports were presented of patients who have survived for almost four years with this new and encouraging drug. This drug, like all others that are used in experimental studies will be confirmed before its use is accepted everywhere. The horizon constantly widens.

Dr. William E. Haast of the Miami Serpentarium developed a technique for milking the coral snake and with a group of colleagues sought, found and milked the snakes for venom. The United States Public Health Service, in conjunction with the Wyeth Laboratories, now have a new antivenin in sufficient amount for any emergency. This new antivenin is remarkably effective against bites by coral snakes found in the southern and Gulf Stream states.

There are thousands of unsung heroes who spend their lives in the scientific world concentrating on the tiniest problem, the solution of which brings greater health to humanity. I was impressed by the selfless devotion of a group of experts who went deep into the forests of Brazil to collect the venom of coral snakes in order to save the lives of the twenty or thirty Americans who are bitten each year by this deadly snake.

The coral snake is such a pretty looking specimen that frequently it is used by children as a plaything. They hardly suspect that this delicate creature could be so poisonous. This indeed is a great human kindness given by the many who have cooperated in this unselfish endeavor.

Australian Visits Warner Seed Here

John Turnour visited the Warner Seed Company in Hereford Tuesday from his home in Coomalie Creek, 56 miles south of Darwin, Northern Territory, Australia — his first visit to Hereford on his first visit to the United States.

Did Turnour think Hereford appeared unusual?

"It looks like a normal American town," the Australian farmer replied. "I think where I come from is the strange place."

He explained that where he lived — in the extreme north central tip of his homeland — it is called the Dry Tropics. It receives only 48 inches of rain per year, all in seven months.

Revival Is Set To Begin Sunday

Kenneth Copeland, evangelist from Tulsa, Okla., and Joe Conner, music director at Amarillo, are to conduct a revival at the Christian Assembly at 138 West Third St.

Opening service for the revival is Sunday, August 18 at 8 p. m. and will last ten days. The non-denominational revival has extended invitations to all persons to attend.

HERE TODAY, GONE TOMORROW — One stoplight at the intersection of Highway 385 and Park Avenue lived a short life. The two lights were installed in the middle of the highway during the middle part of last week. By the time Friday rolled around, one had been knocked down by a car. The one in the background still stands.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Into Thin Air

Violet kept a valuable brooch in a jewel box, to which her maid had easy access. One day the maid suddenly left town. And immediately afterward, Violet discovered that the brooch was missing too.

But when she put in a claim under her theft insurance policy, the company refused to pay off. "It's true she is covered for theft," conceded the company in a court test. "But she has no solid proof of any theft. The police never did locate the maid for questioning."

Nevertheless, the court upheld Violet's claim. The judge said the disappearance of the brooch, plus the additional circumstance of the maid's hasty departure, was enough indication that a theft had indeed taken place.

Such circumstantial evidence is often sufficient to establish an insurance claim for theft. In fact, under many modern policies, you are protected also against "mysterious disappearance"—even if there are no additional circumstances pointing to theft.

Take this case: A movie patron, after washing up in the men's rest room, absentmindedly left his gold ring on the wash basin. By the time he remembered and came back for it, the ring had vanished into thin air.

Here there were no clues at all to the fate of the ring. Nevertheless, the loss was held collectible under a "mysterious disappearance" clause. The court pointed out that, although the man knew where he had left the ring, there was mystery as to what happened to it afterward.

On the other hand, disappearance alone—with nothing puzzling about it—is usually not covered by theft insurance. Thus:

A housewife noticed that her diamond ring was missing from her finger, shortly after she had been struggling to unclog the garbage disposal. In this case, a court ruled that she could not collect for "mysterious disappearance." The judge said it was pretty obvious that she had simply lost the ring down the drain.

Of course, you can buy protection for even an ordinary, non-mysterious loss. But if you want that broader kind of coverage, you should make that clear to your insurance counselor at the time you take out a policy.

ceptional use of his opportunities.

"I am very grateful to Mr. George Warner for his time in looking after us in Hereford, and to the Soil Conservation Service — primarily Mr. Bud Smith who is with me here from San Antonio," he said.

Unfortunately, Turnour was in Hereford only one day.

SELECTIVE SERVICE
Q — What changes were made in the Selective Service law and regulations because of the National Security Council's recommendation and the Director of Selective Service's acceptance of that recommendation?

A — None. The effect was to keep the same policy with regard to the deferment of graduate students and deferment for occupation.

Q — We are very curious as to the classification given by the draft board to the son of one of our friends. Is this public knowledge?

A — Both the current classification and the classification history are matters of public knowledge. Current classification is posted on a bulletin board for public inspection. The past classifications are in a public record called "Classification Record (SSS Form No. 102)."

What many a father has wished for — paternity leave — is a fact of life in Tunisia. LET'S COOK SOMETHING!

Girl Is Prize Baker

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Every year 4-H Club girls in the county prove that not all good cooks are adults, as they hold contests in various phases of food preparation and win prizes with delectable examples of their kitchen skills.

FROM THE ANNUAL summer bake show, several girls are selected to enter their products in the Tri-State Fair at Amarillo in the fall, competing with 4-H Club members from over the area. Top honors in this year's bake show were won by Mary Kay Wagner, who was named 1966 Bake Show Queen.

It was a loaf of brown-crust light, white bread which gave the 14-year-old member of Merry Maidens 4-H Club her rating as a baker. She was also judged on her over-all record in foods, as shown by her club record book.

Mary Kay, who will be a freshman in LaPlata Jr. High next term, has been in 4-H Club work six years and enjoys it for other programs as well as for practice as a cook. She has chosen photography as one subject matter group for special study, and is an enthusiastic shutter-bug.

SEWING IS ANOTHER field in which she credits 4-H Club with help in learning to plan her clothes and select materials in addition to the mechanics of putting a dress together. She makes some of her own clothes and helps her mother with others.

She helps with getting the family meals, too, Mrs. Wagner says, and in other ways around the house as a "right-hand man" to her mother. Usually the family, even her older brothers Ronnie and David, appreciate her efforts at cooking.

"They tease me sometimes," she admits, "but they usually eat whatever I cook!"

A YOUNGER sister, Joanne, is also a part of Mary Kay's family and has followed her older sister into 4-H Club membership. Her parents are the Lester Wagners.

She will enter bread and refrigerator cookies in the Tri-State Fair, where her record will again be reviewed. She was second place winner in the county bake show once before, when she was only a two-year 4-H member.

The club started her interest in cooking and gave her her first lessons. Then she learned more from her mother as she practiced at home, and last year as an eighth grader studied homemaking at school.

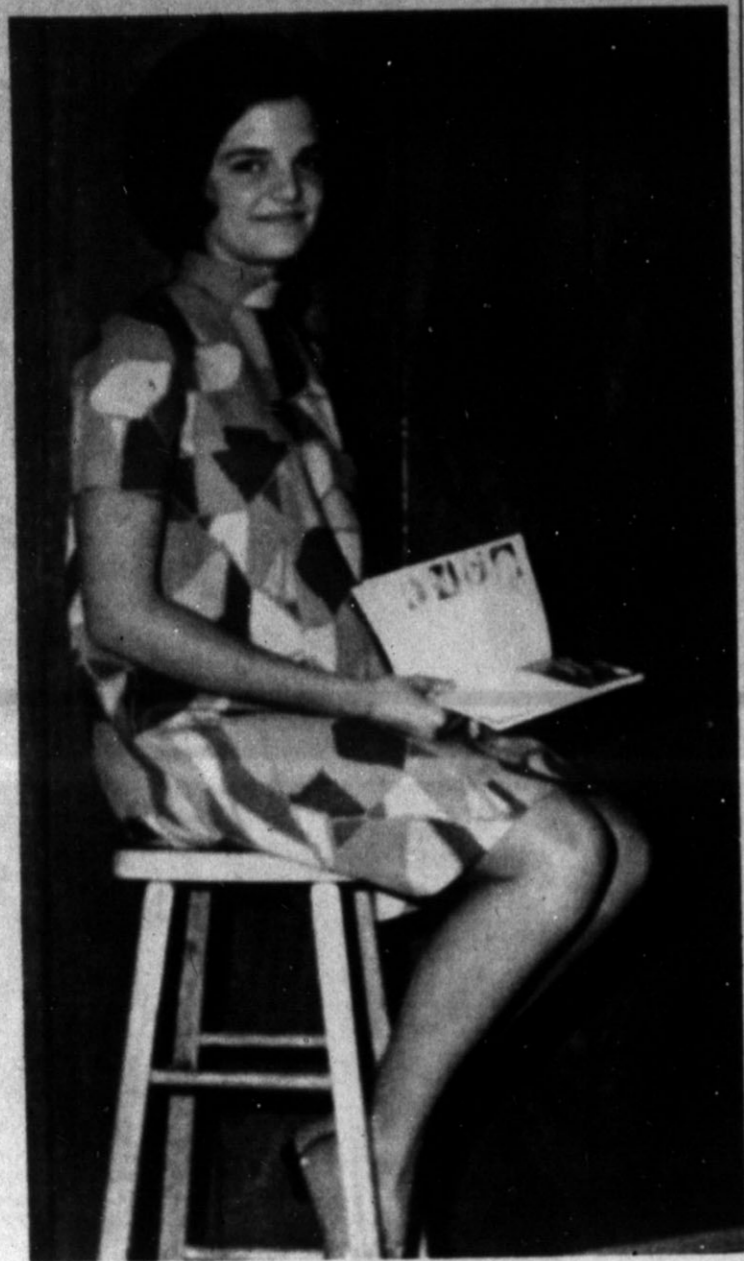

SHE PLANS TO continue that subject through high school, and will be in the Future Homemakers club this year. Looking forward to college, she has not decided on a possible career or definite course of study. She believes she would like to try for a place in the high school choir when she is eligible, as she has studied piano and likes music.

Swimming and bicycling are active sports that are favorites of the vivacious teenager. For a less strenuous hobby, she collects old U. S. coins and confuses with a laugh that she would even collect a few of newer make if she had the opportunity.

Like most good cooks, young or old, she is happy to swap recipes and supplies this method of making prize-winning yeast bread:

- WHITE BREAD (Standard Method)
- 1/2 cup milk
 - 3 lb. sugar
 - 2 tsp. salt
 - 3 lb. margarine
 - 1 1/2 cups warm water (105-115 degrees)
 - 1 pkg. yeast, active dry or compressed
 - 5 1/2 cups unsifted flour (approximately)

Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt and margarine. Cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast and stir until dissolved.

Mrs. Ella Burdine on 80th birthday

Add lukewarm milk mixture and 3 cups flour; beat until smooth. Add enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic, about 8-10 minutes.

Form into smooth ball. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover and let rise in warm place, free from drafts until doubled in bulk, about an hour.

Punch down. Let rest for 15 minutes then divide dough in half and shape each half into a loaf. Place each loaf in a greased 9x3x3-inch bread pan.

Cover and let rise again as before until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) about 30 minutes. Remove from pan and let cool.

SOMEBODY WAS wondering just how many weddings there have already been here this summer, and I was curious enough to count them.

Without taking time to sort out some performed in other cities but of interest here, I found 38 which have been covered by The Brand starting in May 25, opening date of the "school-is-out-let's-get-married" rush.

Not that all the brides and grooms are students, but quite a lot of them are so there will be another flurry of weddings in the next few weeks, before another term begins. Used to be the back-to-college interest was in new clothes; now it seems to be in a new husband or wife to take to the campus.

Anyhow most of this summer's crop of brides and grooms were out of high school, at least, and I can't remember a single couple that announced Six Flags or Disneyland as a honeymoon destination. Hopefully, that may signal a trend away from child marriages. Or maybe we just aren't getting those in the paper.

The number of military retirees in civilian life is increasing rapidly, according to the U. S. Department of Labor. With 55,000 to 60,000 military personnel retiring annually, the total is expected to reach one million by 1980.

By MELVIN YOUNG
Sooner than you think, it's going to be time to start back to school.

For the youngsters going to college for the first time, this will be quite an experience, and perhaps a few parents may also feel some pain... particularly in the pocket book.

This is the time to be on good terms with your banker.

Local schools will take up classes immediately after the Labor Day holiday, which is barely two weeks away. A number of the universities will begin classes the following week, and some around the 15th of September.

Have been thinking about renting a semi-truck to take our daughter's essentials to school. I'm sure we'll need it. After all, travel isn't the same as it was a few years ago. While packing the auto recently for a three-day trip, I was amused at the number of these essentials that one must take along. You know, a few years ago, a family put in a few bags, and away they went. Then came hair dryers. Today, each member of the family - with the possible exception of the father - must have an extra set of hair. And you don't just toss these expensive wigs in a paper sack. Heck no. Each set of hair has a special case which takes up additional room in the trunk.

You fellows with daughters know what I'm taking about.

While in Abilene this past weekend for the annual convention of the West Texas Press Association, we had an opportunity to play golf on both the Abilene Country Club course and the Dyess Air Force Base course. Having just taken up the game, this is the first time, we've ventured out on a course other than the local one. And just for the record, we have a pretty nice golf course in Hereford. Although the fairways on the Hereford course are not as nice as some others, the greens here are excellent - better than any we have seen. I might add also, that a water hazard, whether it's Tierra Blanca Creek, or just a man made lake, is just as hard to get over.

Tommy Bryant of Hereford was fishing in the stream out at Red River recently and not having much luck. Tommy is an ardent fisherman and thoroughly enjoys fishing for trout in the mountain lakes and streams. However, there are days when a fellow just can't do anything right, so Tommy decided to head back to camp. He reeled in his line and started to wade across the stream to get on the other side. About the time he got in the middle of the stream, his foot slipped and while trying to keep his footing he let his casting rod dip back into the water. A small trout hit the bait and Tommy reeled it in. Believe it or not, that's the only fish Tommy caught all day.

And then there's the story about the one that got away but that one sounds as fishy

Bride-Elect Is Feted On Visit

Bride-elect of a Dawn resident, Miss Sherry Bevins of Borger was honored at a shower in the Dawn Community Center Tuesday evening, with friends of that neighborhood and Hereford as hostesses. She is to marry Randy Tooley, son of the L. W. Tooleys, on August 23.

Miss Bevins and her fiancé are both students at McMurry College, Abilene. Her parents are the Jack Bevins of Borger.

Guests at the shower were received informally and presented to the pretty honoree, who came down from Borger Tuesday for as Harlan Vander Zee's cat-fish yarn.

the party. Mrs. David Combs, visiting from Illinois, and Miss Marlene Tooley, sisters of the prospective bridegroom, were at the bride's book where callers registered.

Hostesses were Mes. Morris Means, Edgar Sowell, Henry Solomon, Jimmy Bell, Ray Bosley, Doc Channer, Merlin Kaul, Carl Wimberley, H. D. Fowler, Jack Higgins, Wayne Higgins, H. S. Fuller and J. B. Caraway, who took turns pouring punch and serving cookies.

Six white candles lighted the table, which was covered with lace over yellow. Summer flowers in shades of yellow were used in the centerpiece.

Miss Pegene Cox Bride At Tulia

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Paul Campbell, married at Tulia Sunday afternoon, will be at home in Varsity Village, Lubbock, after a wedding trip ending Friday.

Mrs. Campbell was Miss Pegene Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton C. Cox of Tulia and formerly of Hereford. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Campbell of Waco.

The marriage was conducted in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rogers by the bride's cousin, Don Williams of the Colgate Church of Christ, Lubbock. Her father gave Miss Cox in marriage. Candelabra holding 15 tapers set in greenery and tied with yellow bows, backed the wedding party.

Mrs. Paul Cox of Plainview, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor and D. L. Campbell of Waco acted as his son's best man. Dub Campbell of Waco, brother of the bridegroom, and Paul Cox were ushers.

Before the ceremony a musical program was given by Miss Carole Crawford of Albuquerque and Barry Davis of Lubbock, soloists. They sang a duet, "Be With Us Lord," during the ceremony and Miss Crawford closed the service with a solo, "May Each Day."

Bell sleeves of lace, scalloped at the wrist, relieved straight lines of the bride's street-length white linen dress. A pouf of illusion fell to her shoulders from a double bow of the dress material above her forehead. She carried a nosegay of white feathered carnations circling a single glabella.

Her attendant was dressed in a similarly-styled aquamarine frock with elbow-length sleeves and portrait neckline. Her hair bow was of the dress material and her nosegay of yellow carnations.

A reception in the Rogers home was held after the ceremony, when Mrs. Pat Hubbard of Abilene registered guests, Mrs. Howie Owen of Fort Worth and Mrs. Joe Holley of Lawton, Okla., served refreshments.

The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with yellow flowers and a crystal bowl held gold punch. Between them was a silver and crystal epergne holding awa carnations.

Leaving for the honeymoon trip, Mrs. Campbell wore a toast colored dress with slightly gathered skirt, tucked bodice and sleeves with lace trim. Accessories were brown and her corsage was from her bouquet.

She was a 1964 graduate of Hereford High School and received her bachelors degree from Abilene Christian College this summer. She will teach third grade at Minnie Tubs Elementary School in Lubbock next term. At ACC she was vice president of Delta Theta and a member of the Student Education Association.

Mr. Campbell will be a senior at Texas Tech this fall after summer employment with Southwestern Bell Telephone Company at Fort Worth. He is secretary of Alpha Phi Mu, national honorary fraternity for industrial engineer majors. His high school work was done at Richfield High in Waco.

nee Delyse Dowell

Member Of Longtime Hereford Family Weds

Miss Delyse Dowell of Amarillo, member of a pioneer Hereford family, became the bride of Patrick Allen Custer in a double ring ceremony at Polk Street Methodist Church of Amarillo Friday afternoon, with Dr. Harry Vanderpool officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Dowell Jr., 3301 Paramount, Amarillo, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Doyle Rose and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Dowell of Hereford. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Burnside of Amarillo.

After a wedding trip to Taos, N. M., the couple will be at home at 1112 West 17th, Amarillo.

As an heirloom piece in her wedding costume, Miss Dowell wore a diamond lavalier which had belonged to her great-grandmother, the late Mrs. L. R. Bradley of Hereford, and was worn by her mother and sister as brides.

Her gown was a cage of Chantilly lace over a semi-fitted sheath of silk bombazine and her illusion veil was held by a pearl-trimmed cof. The bridal bouquet was of white roses and carnations.

Mrs. Gary Givens was her sister's matron of honor and Miss Dixie Lee Daniel bridesmaid. Sonja Renae Barnes was the flower girl. Ernest E. Barnes served as best man, David Lemons groomsmen, Gary Givens, Ed Frieze, Rife Walton, Ted Holloway and Bruce Hubbard ushers.

A reception in the church parlors was held after the wedding.

The relationship of education to job stability can be seen in the unemployment rate for young adults. According to the Labor Department's Manpower Administration, only 1.4 percent of 20-24 year-olds with a college degree were unemployed in March, 1967. The percentage rose to 5.3 for those with a high school diploma and to 10.5 for individuals in that age group with only an eighth-grade education.

For many years they lived on a farm in the old Askren school district near Dawn, and since retirement from active operation of the farm have resided in Hereford.

Hosts for the Golden Wedding reception were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Galley and children, Gary, Edwin, Eugene and Suzanne; Mr. and Mrs. Orval Galley and children, Janice, Robert and Paul. The two men are sons of the honored couple.

An antique gold flower arrangement centered the table, covered with ecru lace over gold, where the anniversary cake was served with orange punch and coffee.

Relatives from other cities here for the party were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Galley of Center, Colo., Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Galley of Moline, Ill., Clifford Belles of Malcom, Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Cabot of Artesia, N. M. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carney, Mrs. Ochs Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Galley and Kara of Amarillo.

GARDEN CLUB DIMENSIONS
Do people believe that garden club members only grow their favorite prize roses, make exotic flower arrangements, and glamorize spectacular flower shows?

Garden Clubber would have you to be aware of the new dimensions, which challenge the members of garden clubs. Some of the things involved in the busy life of a garden club member is: Conservation, Garden Therapy, Landscape Design, Civic Beautification, and Sharing with Others. Constantly they are challenged to create beauty, to bring beauty to those who are in need, and joy to the hearts of those whose lives they touch. Such a fulfillment involves many things, time, talents, and work, along with planning, planting, and using. For example much detailed work goes into Garden Therapy, creating of fragrant gardens for the blind, teaching the handicapped to arrange flowers, and also to grow them, countless civic beautification projects, which are shared throughout the National Council area.

Horticulture and flower arranging, are two objectives which the club member is involved and which the Flower Schools emphasize. For a change we will share some ideas for flower arranging.

One of the first things that the arranger must be aware of is that cut flower life can be prolonged. A great deal of time and effort is expended on a flower arrangement, and therefore it is logical that the arranger wishes it to last. Fresh cut flowers should be preconditioned before arranging, this is one of the most important steps in flower arranging. Even Iris and Hemerocallis will respond to conditioning and perform nicely at a flower show, for table arrangements or for gifts if conditioned correctly, otherwise they will soon droop and fade if not properly cared for. Bright blue morning glories will also respond to conditioning and last throughout a morning brunch or party.

Successful flower conditioning is dependent upon the following steps:

1. Make clean cuts with a sharp knife or shears. Dull tools will crush the stem and partially plug the water conducting tissue. Any method which will produce a clean cut surface is satisfactory regardless of whether the cut is slanting or at right angles. A slant is preferred. Crushing or splitting the stem to aid water uptake is effective only when working with flowers having old hard stems such as garden chrysanthemums. Even here cutting shorter stems to expose softer tissue will be more effective. In arranging flowering shrubs, with a woody stem it is advisable to crush the bottom of the stem, plunge into boiling hot water for brief moment, place underneath the faucet and let water run entirely over the cut material, then wrap in crushed newspaper, let remain an hour or two then place in deep water for a period of time, then arrange.
2. Other cut material should be placed in warm water (110 F) before any wilting takes place. To avoid wilting it is suggested that the arranger take a container of water from the spiket, preferably luke warm, to the garden and when materials are cut place them in the container.

3. Make sure there is sufficient water in the container so that one inch or more of the stem will remain below water after the flowers have taken up as much liquid as possible. Foliage which will be covered by water when arranged, should be removed as it deteriorates rapidly, and causes the water to sour and the cut flowers to fade. If in cutting the flowers or plant materials, there are two bloom stalks to the cut, then divide when placing in water, so that both blossoms will have equal chance to drink of the water when placed in the container. Do not remove all of the foliage as foliage will be needed to make a more attractive arrangement. Sometimes it is necessary to have additional conditioned foliage to complete an arrangement. This is also true of other fillers which will be used in the completion of an arrangement.
4. Completely cover the flowers with plastic film to retard moisture loss and place in a refrigerator or air-conditioned room. If in a refrigerator, then in the warmest place in the refrigerator. If in the air-conditioned room do not place in a draft or directly where air come into the room through the ducts. If time allows the cut materials should be kept thus for four or six hours. Be sure the flowers are cool and have taken up sufficient moisture to aid in their keeping. My friend Mrs. Ethel Newsum, is most adept at keeping flowers and conditioning them for arranging. She has taught me many things of which I am most grateful.

After flowers have been properly conditioned, then they are ready to be arranged without wilting in any type of container so long as the stem ends are covered by at least 1/4 inch or more of water. The arrangement should be kept out of drafts and direct sunlight, or near the fireplace or furnace outlet.

The value of chemical preservatives in the water varies with the kind of flower and the length of time you wish the flower to remain in good condition. Many of the so-called home remedies can actually decrease the flower life. The commercial preservatives are much more dependable when used according to the instructions on the container.

After an arrangement has been made and if you want it to keep exceptionally fresh for a special occasion, one can make the arrangement several days ahead. When completed wrap the arrangement container and all in plastic which has been wet (this aids in sealing air out and enclosing the moisture for the cut materials)

An attractive arrangement of flowers or plant materials will add much to the decor of a home. Add beauty to a dinner table, happiness for a shut-in, cheer to a sick friend, and happiness to the arranger. Keep

Recipe Shower Precedes Wedding This Weekend

Parties complimenting Miss Ann Mercer, whose marriage to Gilbert Sims is to be a Saturday event here, continued with a recipe shower Tuesday afternoon. Miss Carolyn Boynton was hostess in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Boynton, 128 Hickory.

In casual dress, the guests who were school friends of the bride-to-be played shower games talked informally and were served refreshments of finger sandwiches, chips, watermelon balls, cake and punch from a table decorated with pert daisy blossoms.

Each presented a favorite recipe for the bride's cookbook to the late afternoon party. In the group were Mrs. Mike Watts, Misses Patty Roach, Jana Cole, Judy Summers, Carole Coffey, Lynn Sowell, Karen Blackwell, Cynthia Leasure, Gayle Newell, Barbara Willis, Merle Carmichael and Donna Clark. Also Miss Susie Adrian of Earth, the hostess' cousin who is visiting in the Boynton home.

THE WIND BLOWS FREE

By VIAN SMITH

For six hundred years the Coldrick family, like other commoners who wrested a living from the rugged moors, had held the land as their right from the King and called no man master. Then, suddenly, by an act of Parliament, Lord Cochrane, the neighboring land and holder, was empowered to enclose their land with his own and so force the nine commoner families into either servitude or exile.

Lord Cochrane, to be sure, planned a bold program of improvement, but to Coldrick, the leader of the commoners, a man's independence and a heritage of land for his sons were something to fight for. So the conflict went deep and, inevitably, there was violence, with Coldrick's younger son the first to be sacrificed.

As the pressures intensified, the commoners one by yielded—even Coldrick's older son, Joseph, whose loyalty to his father was not as strong as his love for a young serving girl. All gave in, that is, except Coldrick. Indomitable even in his terrible loneliness, he made all the others with their new "security" seem pitiful, and at last Joseph and his bride followed his lead to a new land. What ensues is a superb saga of the anguish and courage of those who sailed in the emigrant ships carrying with them, dreams—and myths—of what they would find in America. It is a saga that build to a potent climax of martyrdom and hope.

A beautifully written re-creation of a place, a way of life, of men and women who were vulnerable yet staunch. The WIND BLOWS FREE brings a rare and pertinent affirmation of the human spirit's enduring need of freedom and self-respect.

The TRIUMPHS AND TRIALS OF LOTTA CRABTREE By DAVID DEMPSEY

To her thousands of admirers she was known simply as Lotta. Her name was a household word in the last third of the nineteenth century, her popularity as a comedienne unmatched, and her earnings unsurpassed in the theater. Strumming a before he even goes inside if his banjo and playing the gamin, first glance shows the exterior Lotta was the darling of the neighborhood in need of a paint job. Yet the sale might have been made if the owner had spent a few hundred dollars (far less if he did it himself) on painting the exterior. (You can get Andy Lang's helpful booklet, "Paint Your House Inside and Out," by sending 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Know-How, P.O. Box 477, Huntington, N.Y. 11743.)

The Internal Revenue Service gives a tax break to a home owner who paints a house specifically for the purpose of selling it. Since the details of this tax benefit are a little complicated in certain cases, get your local income tax office to advise you whether it will apply in your situation. But generally, if the painting is done to make the house attractive for sale—and within a reasonable period of time before the sale—you can add the cost of the painting to what are called "fix-up expenses" when tax time rolls around.

Painting a house before selling it thus brings three advantages—a quicker sale, a better price and a tax write-off.

AP Newsfeatures

Every once in a while you hear or read about an individual who makes a good income by buying old houses and selling them without ever living in any of them.

Inevitably, you will find that this person prepares a house for sale; that is, he doesn't sell it in the same condition in which he found it. In fact, he doesn't even buy a house in good shape, because if he did, he wouldn't get the financial break which he is constantly seeking. But he knows from experience that, by spending $2,000 or $3,000 in fixing up a house that he purchased at a bargain price, he can make a profit two or three times that amount.

The most important part of his expenditure, but not necessarily the largest, involves painting, either inside or out, or when necessary, both. Here again he knows from experience that a prospective purchaser likes a clean-appearing house. He often willingly overlooks certain obvious faults if the house looks nice. And nothing places it in that category more than paint.

Why is it, then, that so many home owners place their homes on the market without giving a thought to dressing them up? Real estate brokers tell us that, on the contrary, a home owner is likely to let a place run down as soon as it crosses his mind that he may sell the house in the ensuing year or two. This line of reasoning makes it far more difficult to sell the house and, even more important, results in a lower sale price.

First impressions play a vital role in home sales. A buyer the times. Her fame had diminished by 1924, when she died in a dingy Boston hotel—but her fortune had vastly increased. The ultimate disposition of that fortune became the subject of two acrimonious and bizarre trials lasting more than four years. More than one hundred persons, claiming relationship to Lotta and a share of her four million dollars, attempted to have the will set aside. Her morals as well as her sanity became legal issues. One witness went mad and took an ax to his wife. The entire nation followed the proceedings and was kept in suspense until the end.

The TRIUMPHS AND TRIALS OF LOTTA CRABTREE" deftly combines a fascinating history of an extraordinary theatrical era and Lotta's triumphs there-in with a vivid account of the courtroom drama that followed her death.

Those listed in the city were 432 Barrett, July 5; 601 Grand, July 11; 430 Barrett, July 14; 111 Bradley, July 24; and 133 Beach, July 30.

In the county, Bayne listed the Airport, July 7; a truck fire eight miles north of town; and a second truck fire two miles north, on July 22 and July 30, respectively.

Varying Phases Of Work Are Key To Prosperity Of Bryant Brothers

By PENNY YOUNG
Staff Writer

Tommy, Kenneth, and Dean Bryant began in 1955 in Dimmitt from sub-contracting construction work and pipeline gradually easing from that into a complete business. In 1959, they moved to Hereford and were originally located on the west side of town on Hwy. 60 two blocks north of the road. In 1965, they relocated the business east on Hwy. 60, where it is now located.

Repairing machinery, constructing machinery, fabricating material for construction jobs such as block gates or meter settings are part of the everyday work found in the business.

Bryant Bros. Construction doesn't work hand-in-hand with any company but they do contract from other companies such as Pioneer Natural Gas, Plato Natural Gas, Colorado Interstate, and People's Natural Gas.

"We hold a contract with Pioneer Natural Gas on their city plant work incurring the installation of gas lines to be installed in new city development areas," explained Kenneth Bryant. "There are 11 or 12 local towns and we keep a special crew busy almost year round."

At the present time, Bryant Bros. is in the process of constructing a new building to be located behind the truck shed. The building will hold a mechanic shop, a new welding shop and a new wash and grease room for the construction company.

"Hereford Welding is our building also," commented Bryant, "but we lease it to Carl Mosely. They also do some repair work and welding for us."

For opening ditches for the pipe-lines, the company uses ditching machines and then a huge plow for installing the plastic pipe. Bulldozers and back hoes are used, the back hose being used for installation of fittings. Welders weld the steel pipe together.

A binding machine is located in the business with which pipe is bent by hydraulic power. This machine is used in places where the terrain is low or there are frequent draws as the pipe must fit the contour of the ditch.

Bryant Bros. build most of the equipment that they need and right now, they are working on a truck to carry plastic pipe. The truck was originally a pickup and was converted into a truck.

A special type of wench truck that will have a two-way control over load line and wench poles is also being built, and they are thinking about installing a vibrator on the existing plastic plow. This vibrator is manufactured in Lubock by a company specializing in vibrators. These machines enable a tractor to move along at a greater speed where tight soil conditions exist or rocks slow the pace.

Wallace, "Snake" Adams has worked for the company for many years and came to Hereford with them from Dimmitt.

"He's a friendly guy," states Kenneth Bryant. "He seems to know someone everywhere he goes."

Jimmy Gilliam is another long-time worker for Bryant Bros. and is now employed as a pipeline welder. Gilliam has been with the company ever since it was formed.

For the last two or three years, John Pettey has worked with the company and was originally with the company off and on in the late 50's and early 60's. He is now acting crew foreman.

Another crew foreman is Jerry Brannon who has been with the three brothers since 1965. He is on a job at Dalhart at the present. Both Pettey and Brannon are heavy equipment operators.

George Springer, job foreman has been with the company since 1963 and other employees are Joe Smith, Red Smith, Roudolf Torres, Johnny Adams, Joel Garcia, Ben Garcia, Glen Mahew, and Bob Short.

"That about covers most of them," reflected Bryant. "The other men are part time workers and Spanish hands. We can usually go through the local employment office and pick up hand-skilled labor if we are in need of it."

The company sends a lot of the men on out-of-town jobs like the crew that they have working in Dalhart and in the Oklahoma panhandle installing gas lines for Plato Natural Gas.

I'm going to Rocky Ford Colorado to install underground irrigation pipeline at the James Autry Ranch and Farm, explained Kenneth Bryant.

The company is also building a sand blasting machine for their own use and for public use. The sand blaster takes off a film of corrosion, old paint or rust with sand, water, and air coming out at a high pressure to clean surfaces.

GE radio equipment has been recently installed in the Bryant Bros. pickups and they are now waiting the arrival of the new ones before they put them to use.

The wives of the three brothers may not participate actively in the business, but they sure do put up with the fishing trips, camping trips, and hunting trips taken by all three of the brothers when they can find time. Joyce, wife of T. L. Bryant, Barbara, wife of Dean Bryant, and Aleese, wife of Kenneth Bryant, travel with their husbands on most of the trips with the exception of hunting.

A pair of bird dogs are kept in the yard of the construction company, and are used by the brothers on hunting trips. The dogs are ironically called, Lady Byrd and Linda Byrd.

Jeeps are also kept on hand for hunting and mountain climbing and are sometimes used in the business.

During the open season, the brothers try to hunt all they can and have previously gone to Colorado. Tommy and Kenneth are planning a trip to British Columbia in the fall of 1969 and have about decided upon the guide that they wish to travel with.

A special trophy room is set up for deer heads, buffalo skulls, moose skins, and different types of birds. Kenneth is having a bobcat and rattlesnake mounted that he shot recently. Wild geese and pheasant make up the other trophies in the room.

"Tom is having a fish mounted that he caught at Conchas. It's a bass that weighed five or six pounds, I can't remember which. But I bet Tom could," mused Bryant.

The possession of the essential part such as a trailer truck chassis and engine, some time on their hands, and a need for such a vehicle, lead the brothers to put their heads together and come up with a Busmobile. The vehicle began with an old-fashioned trailer with the large windows in front and rather dirty living accommodations. With an engine and some cleaning up and redecorating of the inside, they came up with transportation and living in one package. The trailer part is equipped with a small bathroom, two bunks in the back, a kitchen table, refrigerator, and stove and sink. In front, on top of the red carpet, set two large plush chairs, one for the driver and one for the passenger. Shades are placed above the huge windows for privacy sake.

Every opportunity that comes up, the trailer is used — for hunting, fishing, and lake trips.

Not only did they build, or rebuild the trailer, but in 1958, they began a houseboat during their spare time and completed it in 1962. The boat is kept on Conchas Lake and is brought in every two years for repairs. It is mobile and easy to bring in.

Fifty foot long by 15 foot wide and approximately 18 feet from the top of the flat deck to the water is a rather large boat for anyone to undertake as a building project. It has its own power units, light generators and accommodates eight or 10 persons at a time. It moves at a speed of 12 miles an hour and is capable of moving in shallow water as low as four feet.

Actually, the structure has two stories including the compartment on top which will sleep two. It was originally steered from the top house but has since then been moved to the back. Dean Bryant has just recently returned from the boat-house after installing a new refrigerator and replacing the chairs and couch with new furniture.

If anyone really needs to know how they can keep their lawn mowed, all they need to do is confront one of the brothers with the question. Six lovely and noisy sheep in the work yard at the shop keep the weeds from getting out of hand and since a regular lawn mower with a real engine can't be used because of all the machinery, the playful sheep get a mouthful.

A pony is also kept at the

3 Local Youths Collect Ninths At State Show

Three Hereford youths fared well at the State 4-H Horse Show finals which were held in Will Rogers Coliseum in Ft. Worth Aug. 8-10.

Out of a total field of some 31 entries, James Lee collected a ninth in his halter class while Pat Cooper also nabbed a ninth place finish in her halter class in which 71 were entered. She also qualified for the showmanship class.

Jimmy Clark placed ninth in his halter class and qualified for the finals in barrels where he came out 10th in the tough competition field.

Around 120 entrants were entered in all of the performance classes and about 250 contestants represented the entire group at the state showing. The entrants represented the top 20 riders from the 12 districts in the state.

Accompanying the three to the show were Al Lee, Justin McBride, Johnny Clark and Mrs. Neil Cooper.

shop with the intention of riding every once in a while but that doesn't seem to be the intention of the pony.

"He's a mean little thing and Entries must be accompanied Kenneth." Dean bought him for the kids but he almost bucks them off every time they try to ride."

Belton Bryant, father of the three boys, helps around the shop waiting on customers and doing some yard maintenance. Although Bryant farmed in Littlefield and had nothing to do with the construction business, he does enjoy fishing which he does frequently.

Water Legislation To Be Publicized

Proposed water legislation will be made public in September. Representative Billy Clayton of the House Interim Water Study Committee of the Texas Legislature announced at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce meeting in Wichita Falls that proposed legislation authorizing the formation of Master Water Districts will be made public at press conferences to be held in Lubbock and Amarillo early in September.

Following public release of the proposal, public hearings will be held in Longview and in Hereford. The public hearings are needed, according to Clayton, to determine the thinking of the people affected by the plan. The public will be given the opportunity to express their wishes in the formation of their water import agency.

Representative Clayton indicated that after the public hearings were completed and redrafting of the proposed legislation, a bill will probably be introduced in the Texas Legislature during its next regular session starting in January.

The Hereford hearing is now scheduled for 9:30 A. M., October 5 at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn. It should be completed by 4:30 P. M. The East Texas meeting is scheduled for September 6-7, Texas Village at Lake o' the Pines. The East Texas and West Texas meetings will be followed by a hearing in Austin probably in November.

Vietnam Story Goes National

What happened in Hereford last month with "The Green Berets" showing to families of veterans of the Vietnam war in Deaf Smith County without charge has reached national publication this week.

The "lead" story in the Showmaniser section of Boxoffice Magazine describes the cooperation between Star Theatre Manager Francis Hardwick and the Hereford Brand in issuing the invitations.

This edition of the magazine is distributed into nearly every motion picture theatre in the United States and Canada.

Markets Active On Cabbage; Potatoes And Carrots Slow

Marketing conditions of vegetables in Hereford and other parts of the United States were outlined Tuesday by John Engle manager of the Fruit and Vegetable Market News office here.

The nationwide demand for potatoes was fairly good with some firmness for the Round Red varieties. The market for the Norgold Russet variety held about steady. Round Reds will be in shorter supply this week as some shippers have completed harvesting operations.

Hundred lb. sacks of Round Reds, U. S. No. 1, size A sold at $2.50 while U. S. No. 2 went at $1.75. Norgolds U. S. No. 1, size A sold at $2.50 with a few lots heavy to minimum size at $2.25. Some 20-25 per cent 10 oz. and larger ranged $2.75-3. Russets at 6-14 oz. sold $2.50-3.75 while the Baker size 10 oz. minimum went at $3.50. The non-size A or the 4-8 oz. potato sold from $1.75-2. U. S. No. 2 grade Norgolds also ranged $1.75-2.

Potatoes in the High Plains and Panhandle had a slow trade during the week. Round Reds improved at mid-week and were considered moderate through the weekend. U. S. No. 1, size A Round Reds were mostly $2.50 for the week. Norgolds ranged $1.75-4 according to size. Yields have been reported below normal. Supplies will be lighter this week and will decline sharply by the weekend as some shippers have finished for the season. Many others will complete harvesting operations this week.

Trade for cabbages in the High Plains and Panhandle was reported active this past week. Price trends were higher, opening at $1-1.25 and closing the week at $1.50-1.75 for 50 lb. mesh sacks. Offerings during this week are expected to remain light, which is about normal, and to continue at about the same levels.

Trade in carrots was slow last week for the region. Prices in the High Plains and Panhandle closed lower, with ranges from $2.50-2.75 for 48-1 lb. film bags. Offerings were light during the week but supplies are expected to increase slightly this week.

In other parts of the United States, the potato trade varied. Weather in the Delta District of California was mild with temperatures averaging slightly below normal. Full scale harvesting of Long Whites in that region continues to be curtailed by a slow demand and low prices. Quality was generally good with many lots acceptable for discriminating buyers. Price changes were minor and U. S. No. 1, size A closed at mostly $2.50 per hundredweight.

Trading was slow in the Yakima Valley and Columbia Basin of Washington. Some sheds were operating part time because of market conditions. Free on board (f. o. b.) price for 100 lb. U. S. No. 1, size A was $2.50-2.75. For the week of Aug. 12 Norgold supplies are expected to hold at about the same levels with a light supply of Russets as shippers start to harvest. Shipments to date for rail and truck are approximately 700 car lot equivalents ahead of last year.

Bippus Reunion Honors Naugle

The Rev. Eugene Naugle was honored on the annual Bippus community homecoming program Sunday at the church where he conducted services for Bippus residents from 1956 until the first of this year. About 90 residents and former residents of the community attended homecoming.

A memorial service for Rella C. Valentine, former resident whose death occurred recently, was conducted. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Morrison were recognized as the oldest settlers of Bippus present.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Fortenberry were the oldest residents in the crowd and Mary Leta Dorris of Clovis, N. M., the youngest person. She and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harlan Dorris, had traveled farthest to the homecoming program.

Mrs. Charles Higgins presented a sketch, "This Is Your Life, Brother Naugle, after the basket lunch, a period of visiting and singing. The morning message titled Homecoming was given by the Rev. Eugene Brock, Baptist minister who holds church services at Bippus twice a month.

He and Rev. Naugle, Methodist minister, alternated in conducting worship for several years, each visiting the community twice a month. The Rev. Don Travis, pastor of Adrian Methodist Church, related his memories of Rev. Naugle and dedicated songs to the honored minister.

In her talk, Mrs. Higgins traced Rev. Naugle's life from his birth July 16, 1891 in Collin County, oldest of the four children of William and Rebecca Naugle, both teachers. He attended high school and North Texas State Normal, now NTS University, at Denton; Polytechnic College, now Texas Wesleyan, at Fort Worth and Southern Methodist University at Denton.

He was a postoffice employe during student years at Denton and filled preaching appointments after being licensed to preach. He met Bess Griffith there, and they were married at Dallas Sept. 23, 1914.

They farmed and both taught in early years of their marriage. Rev. Naugle continued to preach and during World War I was in government employment. His first regular appointment as a minister in 1921 was to a circuit of four churches in Swisher, Castro and Hale Counties, which he served by riding in a buggy.

Later he preached at Hayden, N. M., while he and Mrs. Naugle taught and their daughter, Cathryn, started to school at the age of four. They moved to Greenville, N. M., then back to Texas where for 36 years he served a number of churches in Northwest Texas Methodist Conference.

During a two-year pastorate at First Methodist Church of Hereford he helped organize Wesley Methodist Church, was its pastor and later was assigned to Bippus-Westway Churches. He retired from the conference about ten years ago, but continued to serve the Bippus Church after it had no regular pastor.

Poor health forced him to end that work in January, although he hopes to be able to resume a schedule of preaching there.

Mrs. Naugle died here in 1962. Their daughter, now Mrs. Richard A. Batson, and her husband live at Lubbock where she is a counselor in Monterey High School. The Batsons have a son, Douglas, a junior student at the University of Texas.

In addition to his church, Rev. Naugle is a Master Mason and a member of Lions and Kiwanis Club, particularly active in the latter, which has honored him in recent years as Kiwanian of the Month and Kiwanis Workhorse.

Last year the Methodist Churches of Hereford, the Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis Club, Kings Manor retirement home where he now lives, Radio Station KPAN and the Hereford Brand joined to recognize his contributions as a citizen of the community by observing "Gene Naugle Day."

Also on the program were songs by a group of children and by the audience, including one titled Precious Memories, led by Millard Gregory in memory of R. C. Valentine.

Present from outside the county were the Douglas Herrington family of Levelland, the Jim Fishers of Lubbock, Don Travis and Grady Pridmore families of Adrian, Mmes. Glen Pulliam and C. L. Hutchins of Broadview, N. M., Blanch Osborn of Texico, N. M., and Elmer King of Springlake.

tern Idaho, Malheur County and Oregon was generally fair with an occasional shipper experiencing a fairly good movement. U. S. No. 1 of 4 oz. minimum 100 lb., size A Norgolds were $2.75-3. The movement this past week was slightly behind the same period last season. Shipments are expected to increase this week. A few Russets are expected to be harvested by the end of this week.

Anoka County, Osseo and Big Lake Districts in Minnesota had active trading this past week that lagged by mid-week and continued slow through the period. Prices on Round Reds were $2.75-2.85 with a few $3, but declined to $2.50-2.65 by the week-end. Shipments were normal the past week. Round Reds and Norland are now in full maturity and a good supply should continue through the season. Early Gems will increase from now on with fairly good maturity. Quality generally appears good with about normal yields reported.

Slow trading was reported for central Wisconsin. Prices for 100 lb. U. S. No. 1, size A Round Whites were $1.85-2.25 and Round Reds $2.60-3. Chipping Stock was $1.60-2. The movement was very light because of limited offerings. Harvesting during the past week was curtailed somewhat by rain. Hot and humid weather has also hampered shipments but they are expected to increase, weather permitting.

In the national scene for cabbage and carrots, moderate trade was reported in western north Carolina for cabbage, with prices

Waldo Jennings, Brenda Brock, Willie Kliever, Marvin Morrison, Carlos Vaughn, Estell Burrell, Charles Higgins and Clifford, Melva Fortenberry, Don Fortenberry, Janelle Clark.

From the Bippus neighborhood were the Clint Homfeld, Jack Weaver and Jimmie Bradley families; Messrs. and Mmes. Charlie Burk, John E. Hill and S. N. Thweatt; Margie and Marilyn Rodgers.

In eastern Pennsylvania points trading in the cabbage markets was slow. Approximately 50 lb. crates were $1.60-1.65 and 20 lb. sacks were $1.45-1.50. Supplies were ample for the light demand. Volume is expected to increase this week. Quality and size were good.

Carrots in the Salinas and King City District of California had light trade. The market is steady with 48-1 lb. film bags at $3-3.10. Supplies are moderate and expected to continue at about the same levels next week.

Prices on carrots at Michigan points declined during the past week. Prices on Aug. 4 for 48-1 lb. film bags were $3, for 24-2 lb. film bags $2.90 and 50 lb. sacks loose $2. On Friday, Aug. 9, 48-1 lb. film bags were $2.75, 24-2 lb. film bags at $2.65 and 50 lb. sacks loose were $1.75-2. Growing conditions are excellent and offerings will increase this week.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

For various reasons thousands of taxpayers end up receiving a bill from Internal Revenue Service for taxes and interest they owe but have not paid. It is good business to pay your delinquent tax bill promptly. As a matter of fact it is better business to pay when you file your return or before you receive a bill from Internal Revenue. Unless the tax statement is erroneous, most taxpayers will gain by arranging for the money to pay their tax account. If, due to an error, Internal Revenue sends you a statement for taxes that you do not owe, you should take immediate action to get the error corrected. In any case, don't try to play the "let-them-wait-a-little-longer game."

Many notable fraternity personalities will be present at this 31st biennial meeting. The convention's banquet on Aug. 27 will feature an address by Curtis E. M. Tate will give the keynote address at the convocation on Aug. 25.

The convention will open on Sunday, Aug. 25 with an interdenominational church service conducted by Dr. Lee F. Tuttle of Lake Junaluska, N. C., secretary of the World Methodist Council, and the speaker will be Dr. Seth R. Brooks, Washington, D. C. church leader.

More than one million men and women received jobs training or work experience in 1967 in such U. S. Government programs such as the manpower Department Job Corps, the Neighborhood Youth Corps, New Careers, and Operation Mainstream. Four years earlier, Federal manpower programs had benefitted only 75,000 individuals according to the U. S. Department of Labor.

Of the 87,000 men rejected by the Selective Service in 1967, Federal-State employment service personnel placed 18,000 in jobs or appropriate job training, according to the Labor Department's Manpower Administration.

Concerning Veterans

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q — I have been on active duty for 25 months. Am I eligible to attend school under the G. I. Bill?

A — Yes. You must have had two years of active duty service to qualify for training under the G. I. Bill.

Q — I have just completed four years of active military service. Am I eligible for flight training? I have had no previous flight training of any kind.

A — In order to qualify for flight training, a veteran, regardless of how long he was in active military service, must have a private pilot's license or be eligible for one.

Q — I am receiving military retirement pay for disability. I would be entitled to disability compensation from the Veterans Administration but don't want to waive my military retirement. However, I would like to pursue a program of education as a disabled veteran. Am I eligible for vocational rehabilitation training assistance from the VA?

A — You certainly may be eligible. It is not necessary that you waive your military retirement pay to qualify for VA vocational rehabilitation. Check with your nearest VA office for information and assistance.

The trained professionals follow a system — the end of this system is usually a levy on your bank account, a levy on your wages or seizure of your property for your delinquent tax account. The Revenue Officer is trained to be completely fair, but the tax law requires him to be very firm.

IF YOU ARE IN BAD NEED of a lawnmower, talk to the Bryant Bros. and see if they would consider letting you borrow their sheep which keep the grass and weeds from springing up around the company. Of course, they might not lend them because they do a fine job.

Uncle Sam's Selective Service

Editor's Note: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 209 W. 9th Street, Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q — It is my understanding that graduate student deferment may be given to those studying medicine. I have been accepted for enrollment in medical school. How do I proceed to get the deferment?

A — Write a letter to your local board requesting deferment, give the facts in your case, sign it, and give your Selective Service number. After you have commenced your studies, have your school send a printed form called "Graduate or Professional College Student Certificate (SSS Form No. 103)" to your local board. The school may also send a form of its own design. Assuming the school certifies that you are pursuing satisfactorily a full time course of study you will be qualified for classification in class II-S.

"If I have questions about bills, payment arrangements, or some other telephone matter, whom do I call?"

Here's the expert.

She's your telephone service representative. To many telephone users, she is the phone company. She answers questions, provides personal number booklets, directories and duplicate bills. She helps you get new phones installed. As a service representative, she has to be something of a lady executive, a bit of a diplomat and an expert in phone service. And she is. She was hired from a select group of applicants and put through an extensive training program. And she attends regular meetings to discuss customer service. Next time you need help on a telephone problem, just call the telephone business office. Your service representative will take it from there.

AUSTIN HIGHLIGHTS

Campaigning Begins Again Following GOP Convention

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN, Tex. — With the Republican convention out of the way, Paul Eggers of Wichita Falls got back to his campaign for governor of Texas.
And his Democratic opponent, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, got started on a round of meetings with delegates to the state Democratic convention to see what they want in the party platform.
Smith's 31 meetings with delegates from each of the 31 senatorial districts is an unusual approach to the party grassroots. He is asking the delegates to tell him how he should campaign to offset the growing Republican threat.
Democrats recall that in 1960, when then Vice-president Richard M. Nixon was the Republican candidate for president, the unknown Republican candidate for governor, William M. Steger, got 609,808 votes without even making a campaign. This time Eggers has been campaigning for months. He has been picking up support from dissident Democrats like Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo and, with Nixon on the top of the ticket again, he is considered a real threat.

missioners courts nor may they be headed by persons designated by commissioners courts, according to an opinion by Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin.
Opinion notes that under the Texas Constitution, commissioners courts shall deal only with county business and concludes that poverty programs are not within the constitutional boundaries of commissioners court power.
Of the 55 CAAs in Texas, only five are handled through commissioners courts, so the effect of this ruling is not expected to be major.
In another opinion, Attorney General Martin ruled that the governor may authorize spending of federal funds to build a residence for the superintendent of the Huntsville State Fish Hatchery.
Authorization does not constitute an increase in the appropriation but merely authorizes the expenditure of funds already allocated by the legislature. Martin said the superintendent's House burned after lightning hit it on May 19.
Governor Connally approved spending $25,000 in available federal funds to build a new residence.

Rotarians Hear Manor Report

Dr. Don R. Davidson, Executive Director of the King's Manor Founder's Association spoke to local Rotarians today on the subject, "Who Believes King's Manor Deserves Support?"
Davidson spoke on a few statistics of the home and pointed out that over $120,000 has been given to the home by the Founders of Hereford. Church gifts totaled at least $54,000.
Davidson also stated that organizing homes of this sort helps older people live a different and more interesting life in their last years. It keeps them from becoming introverts because of lack of hearing or eyesight.

For God So Loved The World

our own BARS

... sure they are! How pathetic to find both good and bad people imprisoned. Some are guilty. Some are innocent. Remember John Bunyan in jail? He gave us Pilgrim's Progress while behind bars. But there is another prison and no error is made in determining it's inmates. It is the prison of the soul, and everyone of us constructs his own cell. The cells of the spiritual prison are intolerance, self-centeredness, hatred, malice and falsehood. The law man will put you in a man-made jail if you break the rules, but you imprison yourself behind bars wrought by your own hands if you allow bad habits to dominate your life. The Bible plainly tells us of an Emancipator of souls, who will bring us to freedom and wholesome living if we dedicate ourselves to our highest potentialities. Why not begin this dedication in a visit to His Church.

Washington Report
 From Congressman
BOB PRICE 10TH DISTRICT, TEXAS
 1322 LONGWORTH OFFICE BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C. • 225-3726

The House of Representatives last week passed a one-year extension of the present four-year program which would expire at the end of 1969. The Senate had already approved a four-year extension.

But in addition to the extension, an amendment to limit payments to any one farm operator to $20,000 was also tacked onto the bill. The Senate had rejected limitation amendment attempts.

So if any extension is approved this year, it will have to be a compromise between the House and Senate versions of the bill and there is some question whether an agreement can be reached.

I supported a one-year extension of the farm program to give farmers the lead time needed to make essential plans for planting and marketing. At the same time it would provide the necessary interval in which the next Congress and the next Administration could formulate an effective farm program, a program which would improve the economic status of American agriculture, reverse the trend from costly government programs, & ensure an adequate food support at reasonable rates. I opposed any limitation of payments because I believe this will penalize those who are willing to take the risks and initiative involved in larger operations or in expansion. Also, it will force the larger operators into unlimited production and bring on lower prices for both small and large operators.

Why should the farmer who operates an efficient farm and has been willing to assume the debt and risks of a larger operation be penalized for trying to expand and better himself? Net income even to large farm operators is certainly far below the average returns for most other business and industry. I certainly do not believe the present program now in its third year, has done what it is intended to do in achieving a parity position for our farmers with other citizens in industry and commerce.

The parity ratio, which averaged 85 during the eight years of the Eisenhower Administration averaged only 74 for 1967 as a whole and is now down to 73. Even the adjusted parity ratio is the lowest it has been since the depression year of 1934.

The realized net farm income in 1967 was down nearly $2 billion from the year before — a ten percent cut in pay for farmers, while practically all other segments of industry were enjoying sizable pay increases to compensate for higher costs and prices. But the farmer is trapped by a vicious cost-price squeeze brought on by the inflationary fiscal policies of the past eight years — a $25.4 billion deficit for the 1968 fiscal year alone. What other industry or business can take such a reduction?

The American farmer has done more and done it better for the American consumer and hungry millions in other countries and realized less for his efforts than any other citizen.

He deserves better and the members of Congress must realize that this country cannot continue to prosper and solve the problems of the cities without first solving the problems of agriculture and revitalizing the cities without first solving the problems of agriculture economy of America.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — Our daughter went to work after graduating from high school last month. Can we claim her as a dependent as long as she lives at home?

A — The general rule is that you cannot claim anyone as a dependent who has income of $600 or more during the year. This rule would not apply to your daughter if she is under 19 or was a full-time student for any part of five calendar months of the year.

The other dependency tests must also be met. Among them is the requirement that you provide more than one-half your daughter's support for the year.

Q — I sold my house for about $3,000 more than I paid for it ten years ago. Will that $3,000 have to be declared as income?

CARD OF THANKS I would like to express our thanks to everyone for all the cards, food and flowers and for the kindness extended to me during my recent illness. Sincere thanks to Dr. Hicks and the nurses, also for all the prayers that were said in my behalf. May God so abundantly bless each of you. Mrs. C. E. Watts

WILLIAMS, County Judge of Deaf Smith County, Hereford, Texas, will be received at the office of County Judge until two o'clock P.M., on the 9th day of September, 1968, for the purchase of the following road machinery for the maintenance and improvement of the roads in and for said County:

Two (2) new diesel powered motor graders of not less than 125 H. P., fully enclosed cab, rain cap, heater, 14 foot hydraulic side shift blade with 2 foot extension, electric windshield wiper and defroster, electric starter, 13 x 24 tires all wheels, booster steering, fully equipped and ready for operation, hour meter, lights, f. o. b. Hereford, Texas.

Less trade-in Precinct No. 2 — 1 Caterpillar, No. 12 Motor Grader, Serial No. 8T-17-778. Precinct No. 4 — 1 Caterpillar No. 12 Motor Grader, Serial No. 8T-18-179.

The trade-ins may be examined at the County Barn in Precincts numbered 2 and 4, respectively.

SUCH PROPOSALS will at the same time be publicly opened and read before the Commissioners' Court.

A CERTIFIED CHECK or CASHIER'S CHECK in the amount of five per cent (5) per cent of the amount of the bid must accompany each bid.

IT IS THE INTENTION of the Commissioners' Court to pay all or a portion of the purchase price of such road machinery by the issuance of and delivery to the proper contractor or contractors the legally issued time warrants of said County, bearing interest at a rate not to exceed SIX PER CENTUM (6) per cent per annum, payable annually or semi-annually, which said warrants shall not exceed the principal sum of FORTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLAR ($45,000) and the principal of such warrants shall be payable serially, the maximum maturity date to be not later than December 31, 1973. The County has made arrangements for the contractor to dispose of such warrants herein mentioned at par value thereof, and all bidders shall be governed accordingly.

THE COUNTY reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to award contract to that bidder who, in the opinion of the Commissioners' Court offers the proposal to the best interest of the County, and the right is further reserved to waive all technicalities.

ALL BIDS will be retained by the County and will not be returned to the bidders. H. C. Williams County Judge, Deaf Smith County, Texas erty you should have the records to establish what it cost when you acquired it and the cost of any improvements you made to it. This might mean you would need records dating back 20 years or more.

Q — My mother paid tax on her Social Security pension last year. Is there any way she can get this money back?

A — If your mother declared her Social Security benefits as taxable income she is entitled to a refund. This is one of the things we look for when we process returns and a good percentage if these errors are caught.

Check your mother's return and, if she did pay taxes on her Social Security benefits, have her file a Form 1040 X, the form to amend your return. By using this form she need only enter the information that was incorrect and refigure the tax liability on that basis.

Copies of Form 1040X and instructions are available at local IRS offices.

Q — A friend of mine works as a car-hop at a drive-in. Does she have to pay tax on her tips?

A — Yes, all tips in any amount must be reported on her tax return. And if your friend's cash tips are $20, or more a month while working in one place she must report them to her employer. The employer will then withhold the appropriate amount of tax and Social Security on the tips from her regular wages.

Reunion Dinner Held By Former Residents Of Askren Community

Former residents of the Askren community in the east part of Deaf Smith County held a reunion at a buffet dinner in the Caison House Saturday, with several present from other states to join those still living in this area.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hershey arranged the dinner at the request of Cyrus Galley of Moline, Ill., made in a letter before he came for a visit to the Lester Galleys who were celebrating their Golden Wedding anniversary.

Galley acted as master of ceremonies for the dinner program, which featured reminiscences of past days in Askren, the community which was named for Mr. and Mrs. Jim Askren. Old pictures were displayed and the subjects identified during the evening.

Among memories recalled were those of summer holidays after the harvest, when residents of the community gathered for all-day picnics, bringing the basket lunches with enough food for noon and evening meals. Children played games or ran races, young people played baseball and their elders relaxed and talked on those occasions which sometimes lasted into the night.

The couple for whom the community was named came to this county in 1891; a barn they built that year is still standing on the place where they settled, and a house built later is now occupied by the Orval Galleys.

The Askrens lived in a dugout until their home was completed. After there were more residents in the community a school was built and Mrs. Lester Galley came from Iowa as a teacher before her marriage.

Pupils who attended that school one year were Margaret Hershey (Conklin) Horace Hershey, Howard Hershey, Arnold Hershey, Virginia Hardman, John Hardman, Cyrus and Walter Galley, Gladys and Cawthon Bryant and a boy from the White family.

In addition to the Cyrus Galleys from Moline and the Walter Galleys from Center, Colo., those at the reunion included Mrs. Mary Ellen Hershen Rick-
