Fruit, Vegetable Harvest Being Slowed By Weather

By PENNY YOUNG
Staff Writer

Accumulating moisture in the air for the past few days has played its part in slowing the pace of packing onions and potatoes for the vegetable growers and packing companies around Hereford.

As long as it stays moist, most of the companies will have to delay the packing of onions as they won't clean with the moisture.

Reinauer and Sons Inc., located just off U. S. 385 and U. S. 60, had planned on beginning their onions Friday according to the weather, and the potatoes will be started Monday.

Colville and Wilson, which began packing onions last week at its site on west Highway 60, is planning on beginning potatoes this week. An official commented that "potatoes look real good from what we can tell at the present time, but it's hard to say on the onions right now."

Prices on the potatoes are about $4.25 on Number 1 reds. Griffin and Brand, west of the city, will begin with both potatoes and onions Monday, but the weather seems to be the major factor in whether or not they can begin. It has been a hindrance and the cause of their slow pace at the time.

Potato packing for Howard Gault, Growers, Packers and Shippers, 108 S. Sampson, has been set for the first of this week depending on weather conditions. However, onions won't come in until October as they are the short seeded. Prices being received by farmers from the Gault company are about $4 on the US 1A red potatoes. A worker from the company stated that about 200 bags per acre is the yield and the quality of the potato is "great" from what he could tell.

Don Deck, owner of Deck's Produce east of the city, had this to say about the quality of the produce and the yields:

"The quality of the onions looks excellent and the yields average out light — no heavy yields. Some of the poor fields might not make 100 bags an acre and it goes from that to about 350 an acre in the better fields."

Prices on FOB (Free on Board), Hereford for the produce company run on yellow onions — the small medium $2.50; large medium $2; and jumbo $2. On the white onion — small medium, $2; large medium $2; and jumbo $3.75.

Hereford Growers and Shippers, 121 S. Witherspoon, have started potatoes, but onions will maybe begin next week.

"A lot of the companies around Hereford have already begun packing their onions," states Allen McClure, "But ours just aren't ready yet. As for the quality of our produce, it's the best that we've ever had in years. The size and color. See FRUIT Page Two

Postal Receipts Have Risen Due To Population, Rates

Hereford Postmaster Nolan Grady has released the official postal receipts statement for the fiscal year 1968, which he has listed an estimated increase due to the postal rate increase (16.6 per cent of quarters 3 and 4) and an increase due to Hereford's population growth (ten per cent plus).

Stamp sales, according to Grady's report, listed $143,629.90 for 1968. The last fiscal year's sales total was $127,394.07 — with a monetary difference of $16,235.83.

Patron postage meters totalled $47,081.33, which is $5,419.17 over last year. Post office postage meter came to $19,054.95, and registered a $3,580.22 beyond the 1967 total.

Second-class postage was $1,221.23 over 1967 with $11,272.51. Controlled circulation postage soared to a figure of $12,569.31 above 1967. This postage totalled $26,748.89.

Permit imprint postage increased $6,907.82 for third class and $443.45 for first class, with 1968 individual totals of $18,155.74 and $3,366.39.

Post Office box rent came up $1,308.93 with rentals amounting to $8,238.31.

Permit imprint application fees rose $30 to $75. Bulk mailing fees went from $570 to $840. Money order fees decreased $691.05 under the last fiscal year with a $6,321.30 total, one of only two items which indicated a drop. The other decrease item was "Correction of Mailing Lists" with a total of a mere $4 — $3.80 less than in 1967.

There were less refunds listed than in 1967 than in the fiscal year — $102.54 against $105.16.

The grand total for 1968 came to $284,920.38. In comparison with the 1967 total of $237,549.05, the actual dollar increase has been $47,371.43.

Estimated increase due to the rate increase was set at $22,000. Increase due to growth is $25,371.43, according to the official figures.

Holly Movie To Be Shown Here

"Farther Than The Eye Can See", a film depicting the movement of sugar beets from the field to the consumer, will be shown in the Jim Hill Hotel July 19.

The world premiere of this film, which was shot mostly at the Holly Sugar Corporation Show plant last year, will have a first run showing at 8:15 p.m. and another at 9 p.m. if necessary. This will be the first public showing of the 30-minute, color film.

Several local persons play leading roles in the film as Bruce Brown, local plant manager, plays that role in the film, Gerald Shipley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Shipley, and Bud Snyder, lab technician at the local plant.

The film, which was shot here last November, with other parts shot in California and Colorado, tells the story of the processing of the beets as seen by Brown when he visits Snyder and his "son".

The Texas Educational Agency has accepted 20 copies of the film for showing throughout the state as an educational item, announced Alfred C. Parker, director of public relations for Holly Sugar.

The public is invited to attend the showing of the film as there will be no admission charge.

Secret To Hereford Growth Is Given By Local Attorney

By EARL MOSELEY
Staff Writer

Deaf Smith County is listed by the State of Texas as fourth in the population explosion (while many other counties are declining instead of increasing). This county is surpassed only by Randall (Amarillo and Canyon), Montgomery (considered in the Houston metropolitan area), and Denton (considered as being in both the Dallas and Fort Worth metropolitan areas). The Texas record shows that the population is becoming more and more centralized around Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio — and Hereford.

Why Hereford? Hereford has no large university. Hereford is not connected to any large city. Hereford does not have a single national office for a large insurance company, a military post, a tourist attraction site or even a skyscraper. Furthermore, it is a dry county.

What, then, does Hereford have that attracts industry and population?

"The story of Hereford is a lot of fine people — going back more than a half-century," Wayne E. Thomas, an attorney who moved to Deaf Smith County when he was one-year-old, stipulated in earnest. "A certain attitude of the people of Hereford is responsible for its progress and growth — a contagious attitude."

Thomas, who has been active in securing businesses for Hereford over a period of time and rated as one of the growing city's better "public relations men," insisted that "my part has been simply a small part in a very large picture."

When interviewed concerning the arrival of the new Wilson and Company plant, he related that the idea of a meat packing industry here was not really original, since the plan had begun shortly after the Hereford Feed Yards went into operation, about 1960. "And even though overtures have been made to several packing firms, the first was Wilson in 1965 when a group from Hereford went to Chicago."

For Wilson's future here, Thomas again stressed the history of the county: "Let me say that our economy is strong by reason of its agriculture. Every industry here, with rare exception, has been related to agriculture. And Wilson is no exception. It has been more or less a chain reaction. The development of the cattle feed yard industry has been a direct increase in profits to agriculture which created better prices for milo, ensilage and other farm commodities."

He said that he had absolutely no doubt that the feed yards benefitted the farmer.

"It provides an immediate local market of demand nature for products grown here. In contrast, milo grown elsewhere has a freight differential when it is transported."

Thomas noted that in the past most of Deaf Smith County's milo was being shipped to California. "That added a substantial freight amount. But Wilson being here will have no freight charge — and the local farmer will have a greater net profit than he has ever seen before."

"Just as surely as Wilson and Company will create a stronger demand for cattle in the area — and additional feed yards — then it follows that the demand for milo and ensilage will be greater, thereby benefiting the farmer." Thus the chain reaction.

But he pointed up the profits for other business interests. "All will benefit from this industry (Wilson) with the arrival of a year-around payroll that results from it. The increased dollar volume of business is obvious."

"This will not only involve Wilson employees, but other feed yards and activity it will ensue."

He stated, "I don't know of any new industry that might be attracted to Hereford that would more benefit the economy."

Thomas, who grew up on a stock farm 28 miles northwest of Hereford in Deaf Smith county and lived there until he entered college, emphatically stressed that he was not overlooking any industry that was already located here.

"We are historically known as a cattle country, however. This (the coming of Wilson) is the culmination of a dream of the early settlers and pioneers. It serves to stabilize this area in the cattle industry."

But he said that he thought one of the real steps forward in the progress of the county came early in 1940 with the vegetable industry. "I am always mindful of the importance of their progress. In addition to the direct benefits of the vegetable industry and Holly have brought to the area, they have also brought to the area a large labor supply — which has made it possible for Wilson and Holly to locate here."

He termed this advancement a "footnote to history."

"Of course, I would not overlook the significance of the Holly Sugar Corporation's plant here on the economy of the community," he pointed out.

"This I think is most important," Thomas said. "At a recent industrial conference called by Gov. Connally, among those present were Mr. James Ling, board chairman and chief executive officer of Ling, Temco, Vaught Crop., and John D. Harper, president and chief executive officer of the Aluminum Corp. of America. Each man spoke on the characteristics, factors and features of a community which attracts industry. After listing obvious factors that would make it inherent for plant location — such as, raw materials, climate, freight, etc. — each of these business leaders headed the list with the attitude of the local citizen toward their participation in industry."

"They said that unless the See SECRET Page Two

Youth Not Hurt In Car Accident

A 16-year-old Hereford youth escaped injury in a car accident Friday night at Pullman Switch near Amarillo.

Jimmy Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Clark 348 Centre, lost control of his car on the slick, rainy road as he was returning from a horse show in Clarendon where he won some awards.

The trailer attached to the car swerved and the car and trailer overturned.

Mrs. Clark said her son was not injured when the car overturned because he was wearing his seat belt.

One of the two horses in the trailer was cut and bruised. Welding torches were used to cut off the top and ends of the trailer to get the horses out.

Mrs. Clark said injuries to the horse were not serious. No damage estimate for the car or trailer was known.

Clark won a first in showmanship and second at barrels at the Clarendon Quarterhorse Show Friday.

Ladies Division Of Chamber To Meet Tuesday

Wayne Thomas, chairman of the Industrial Development Committee, will be the speaker for the meeting of the Women's Division of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. The division has scheduled the meeting and luncheon at the Hickory Log Tuesday noon.

DRIZZLING RAIN induced owners and spectators to don raincoats Saturday at the Hereford Quarterhorse Show held in the Hereford Rodeo Arena. Quarterhorse owners from Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Colorado, participated in the show. O. G. Hill, at right, took first place Saturday morning with his stallion, Blue Caliente, in the 1968 Stallions Division.

city actually welcomed the industry with enthusiasm, the industry would locate elsewhere! "In other words, the physical requirements and natural resources for industry location is present usually in several locations. But the distinguishing and determining factor in the location of industry lies principally in the community's attitude toward it."

Whereupon, Thomas returned to the beginning — the people of Hereford:

"No doubt the attitude has been demonstrated without exception here, historically. It has been this intangible factor that has made Deaf Smith County excel.

"First is the fact that we have an unusually fine political atmosphere here, free from greed, all trying to serve the public need instead of serving themselves and their friends. This is true of the city and county governments and the school board.

"Second is the united effort on the part of all groups and citizens in the area. Rather than breaking down the factions of the area that do not benefit the whole, we have the ability to unite when the need arises for the benefit of the whole."

Thomas said that he could list comparisons with other places who have failed to advance with progress, but felt there was no need to go into that. Instead, he said:

"We also have an attitude in our banking. This is a vital factor — perhaps the most vital. Any town's population can be all for progress, but if the town's bankers are not behind it they can never succeed. Here in Hereford, we have bankers who are willing to listen to plans of progress, who are willing to see people in other places about this progress, and stand behind the people when they want this progress."

He made it clear that the presidents of both Hereford banks, Henry Sears and Harlan Vander Zee, were this type of banker and that the progress which Hereford has made can be largely credited to them.

here could not have expanded and grown without the banking efforts and their enthusiasm."

Sears, he explained, who had a large hand in the location of the Wilson plant here, helped start the Hereford Feed Yards as an initial stockholder, and has gone all over the country "selling" it and other industries to influential people.

Thomas was no less profound in his consideration of Vander Zee's efforts toward Hereford's welfare, in the time he has been in the city.

But Thomas interposed: "The real crux of what the people do with the revenue bond election — they, themselves, are saying with their affirmative vote that they want continued progress. They are also saying that they are enthusiastically inviting Wilson and Company to the Hereford area."

Actually born at Silverton in 1928, Thomas can be credited with being Hereford's own "salesman". "I dearly love Hereford," he said. "It's a wonderful place to bring up your children."

Thomas, the son of the Zerrell Thomases, went to elementary and high school at Adrian, where he graduated in 1944. He was class valedictorian. That year he entered West Texas State at Canyon and received his B. A. degree in 1947 — at the age of 19. He and Mary Hodges, a native of Canyon who had also received her bachelors degree, were married in September of that year. And they both taught — in elementary and high school — during 1947-48.

But in the fall, Thomas entered the University of Texas Law School, and graduated in 1951 with an LL.B. He has been editor of the Texas Law Review, and graduated with honors — Order of the Coif, the highest honor that can be received. He finished third in his class.

Upon graduation and passing the bar, however, he returned to Hereford — in the practice of law in May 1951. In June 1952, he was called to active duty in the Air Force Reserve, as an officer in the judge advocate general's office where he served as legal officer "for about a year and a half."

But in the later part of 1953, Thomas again returned to Hereford, where he has remained since then.

To illustrate his point, Hereford is where he has raised his three children, David, 14; Shyla, 11; and Trent, 4.

He has been a partner in the law firm of Witherspoon, Alkin, Thomas and Langley since 1953, which is now made up of 9 local attorneys. His law practice is professionally complete with honors.

But he has a long list of Hereford civic honors. Thomas has served on the hospital board since 1954, including its presidency. He was also president of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce in 1965 when the Wilson plant started. Since that time, he has been chairman of the Industrial Development Committee.

He has been active in the Lions Club since 1951, and has served on the Boy Scout District Committee, president of the United Fund one year and chairman of the local chapter of the American Cancer Society. For many years, he has taught a Sunday school class for men ages 25-35 at the First Baptist Church.

He, along with others, has been named one of the Outstanding Civic Leaders of America, and is currently president of the 69th Judicial District Bar Association, which covers six counties including Deaf Smith. He obviously has the best in-lor are very good."

Albert Maxwell, manager of Hereford Growers and Shippers, figures the yield per acre to be about 360 bags on the potatoes.

"This is the best that we've ever done on yield," he comments, "in fact, this is the best that we have ever had on quality also. A lot of people won't believe that we are doing this well, but it's the truth. Our prices are $4.25 on the reds."

Ken Wiley, manager of the Hereford Produce Co. on Dairy Rd., said that potatoes were started last Monday morning.

"Everything this year is outstanding in quality," he states. "We've been working on one field for one week and can't give any amount as to the yield per acre but it looks about average. I'd rather not mention any definite prices either. If I said something now, the next hour it could be different. Prices change so fast, but the market looks good."

Jorde Potato Co. west of the city hasn't as yet started their potatoes but they are hoping to begin in about 10 days.

Packing potatoes began Monday for Koozer Produce on the Dimmitt Highway and salesman John Estes feels that this year's produce is very exceptional and that the market prospects are good.

"I don't have any idea what the yield is going to be, but the quality is better," he determined.

Al Trautmann Growers-Shippers plan on beginning potatoes Monday and sales manager Harold McComb makes this statement: "The quality looks real good from what we can tell. We don't know yet about our prices, or what our yield per acre is going to be."

My present trip was planned to see old friends and old places where I had once lived. I chose to go by train as I had done on the first trip and because the passenger train is fast fading from our way of life. I wanted one more trip aboard!

Though I am not addicted to trains as was the gourmet-writer, Lucius Bebee, Wes Izzard, or my late husband, I hate to see their passing as a mode of travel. After 15 years of no rail travel, I left Hereford on the newer high-level coach. I had never ridden in one before, and found it much nicer than the old type used on my first trip.

The most remarkable part of the journey was the impressions of the people who traveled on the train. The majority were older people of the middle class and most looked like farm people of the mid-west between Chicago and Texas. Many were much older than I, though I condition with good vision and must be a citizen of the United States.

And he stood up for the Wilson Company. "Hereford is not giving Wilson anything. The fact is, Wilson has made it crystal clear that they don't want any gifts or contributions — but simply that they want to locate in Hereford as all of its citizens are located here."

Thomas concluded, "That's the healthiest beginning you could ever have."

Local Resident Is Making Return Trip To Her Past

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mrs. Corinne J. Neely has been a writer, book reviewer and frequent contributor of historic material for many years to the Brand. In this issue she begins a series of stories a "trip into the past." Forthcoming stories will be published in the Sunday Brand.

TRAIN IMPRESSION
A Trip Into the Past
By CORINNE J. NEELY

After deciding to make a return visit into my past, of forty years ago, in Arizona, I tried to formulate a plan that would duplicate my first trip into that state. At that time I went to teach school on the Whiteriver Indian Reservation and had received my appointment after a civil service examination.

Why did I choose such a place and among people of whom I knew nothing? I had read one of Zane Gray's books, so popular in that day. It dealt with the Indians of that time. Its theme was on the level of "Lo, the poor Indian." Truly, I do not think it was the hoping to help him, as much as the adventure itself that appealed to me.

I certainly achieved the last wish and hope that I had some influence for the betterment of the people with whom I worked. One thing is certain, Arizona left its mark, and I have a deep love for the country which I have never been able to forget.

My present trip was planned to see old friends and old places where I had once lived. I chose to go by train as I had done on the first trip and because the passenger train is fast fading from our way of life. I wanted one more trip aboard!

Though I am not addicted to trains as was the gourmet-writer, Lucius Bebee, Wes Izzard, or my late husband, I hate to see their passing as a mode of travel. After 15 years of no rail travel, I left Hereford on the newer high-level coach. I had never ridden in one before, and found it much nicer than the old type used on my first trip.

The most remarkable part of the journey was the impressions of the people who traveled on the train. The majority were older people of the middle class and most looked like farm people of the mid-west between Chicago and Texas. Many were much older than I, though I am now retired.

condition with good vision and must be a citizen of the United States.

"Among the many benefits that patrolmen enjoy," Moore pointed out, "are two weeks annual vacation, all holidays provided for by the Legislature, modern liberal retirement systems and group hospitalization and life insurance plans, traveling expenses and longevity pay, and uniforms and all the necessary equipment to perform their duties."

Many were either going to California to visit families or were returning home, having visited families in the mid-west. Only two young families were on my coach. One was a couple with three girls from Amarillo and the other family was of tall, blonde Polish descent. They were returning to their home in San Jose, California. They had two girls and a boy and were a very friendly and charming family. They spent most of the day in the dome so I did not see much of them.

I was amazed to see a couple across the aisle with two wicker baskets of food. The man, in sock feet, ate and slept most of the day. I thought this phase of train riding was passe. Up the aisle a man wore lace shoes, a style which I had not seen for years and had no idea that they were still made. None of the older people dressed in current styles, so I felt overdressed in a three-year-old blue suit. There were some young people who passed through, wearing western clothes, tight pants, or short shorts. One, in the twenties, visited up and down the aisle barefooted, on the carpeted floor.

To eat in the diner meant an hour standing in line. I did not think it was worth it, so I had a sandwich and coffee along with others who felt the same way.

I always watch and listen for amusing incidents (a trait I have cultivated for many years because of my lack of humor.) The tops on this trip was overheard from a little girl who sat behind me. She was tired of the long ride and being so confined so she asked her mother if she might go out in the yard to play. When this request was refused she asked to turn on the T.V.

There was one not so amusing incident which I will not repeat here because it involved the touchy subject of civil rights. In fact there were two such incidents.

When I bought my ticket for Arizona I wanted to get off in Holbrook where I had first stopped on my trip long ago, but the powers-that-be refused such a request as it is no longer a stopping point. So, I went some 35 miles beyond this point to where friends met me and we back-tracked by automobile.

Both friends were stationed at Whiteriver the same year as I had been. One was a teacher and the other was an office worker. Both now live in Show Low, one as a rancher wife, the other and husband are retired. I was to visit the latter, an ex-teacher and a friend of the vintage of 1927.

Beauty Spots Chosen For July

The Beautification Committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, headed by Mrs. Bruce Brown, has announced the Beauty Spots of the Month for July.

The non-residential beauty spot for the month is the Post Office, while the residential beauty spot is the home of sisters Mrs. G. P. Owen and Miss Della Stagner.

Photographs of the beauty spots will be in the Brand Thursday.

Board Members Of Red Cross Meet Tuesday

The July board meeting of Deaf Smith County Red Cross Chapter is scheduled at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the Community Room of First National Bank, J. R. Johnson, chairman, announces.

New board members for the 1968-69 year were recently named, and Johnson was re-elected chairman. All board members urged to attend this business meeting.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — I notified the post office when I moved but my refund still hasn't come. What should I do now?

A — Write the IRS service center where you filed your return giving your present and former address, Social Security Number, and date of filing.

Q — I need someone to represent me on my tax case. Where can I find someone?

A — Contact your local accounting, bar or tax practitioner association. They can give you names of persons qualified to represent you.

Q — Is the room and board you receive as a camp counselor considered taxable income?

A — No, it is not as long as the room and board are furnished on your employer's premises and for his convenience. Acceptance of the lodging must be a condition of your employment.

Q — I just opened a savings account for my daughter. Should I use my social security number to identify the account or do I have to use her number?

A — Use her number.

Q — I just discovered I made a mistake in figuring my sick pay exclusion when I filed my 1967 return. Can I use the Form 148-X to correct this?

A — Yes, you can. You should also complete and attach a copy of Form 2440, Statement to Support Exclusion of Sick Pay, showing how you compute your corrected sick pay exclusion.

Copies of these forms and necessary instructions for filling them out can be obtained at local IRS offices.

Q — I've heard that there's a tax advantage when you give shares of stock instead of money to a college. Why is that?

A — There is a tax advantage when a donation is made of stock that has increased in value since it was purchased. A tax deduction may be taken for the full market value of the stock on the date the donation was made.

Donations of this sort enable the taxpayer to avoid paying tax on the increase in the value of the stock and get an income tax deduction for it.

Q — I run a dry cleaning store. How often do I have to deposit the taxes I withhold from my employees' wages?

A — Deposits of income tax withheld and employee and employer Social Security taxes must be made semi-monthly when they amount to $2,500 or more for any month in the preceding calendar quarter. Employers whose monthly total of these taxes is $100 or less are not required to make monthly deposits.

However, if the total taxes for a quarter (reduced on any deposits) are more than $100, the unpaid balance of these taxes must be deposited by the last day of the month following the close of the quarter.

Before Communist China overran Tibet in 1950, the mountain-guarded plateau covering 480,000 square miles had a population of three million.

In 1919 the city of Denver opened a 160 acre auto camping site with running water and plumbing.

Trustees Will Meet Thursday

The Hereford Independent School District board of trustees will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. this week, instead of the usual second Tuesday in the month.

The budget hearing for the coming year has been officially set for this date.

Former Resident Tells Of Okinawa Murder Mystery

By Vickie Inman

Teaching in Okinawa can be surprising. Miss Brenda Beasley, 24, just back from teaching third grade on Okinawa had a memorable stay, marred slightly by a murder mystery and a touchy political situation.

Miss Beasley, 100 Centre, and her three roommates at Okinawa were accidental witnesses in a murder investigation and just as accidentally, the center of an international incident.

The four came home from school March 29 and found their Okinawan maid murdered, a murder which still has not been solved.

They were never considered as suspects, but since an Okinawan had been killed on a military base, the situation became touchy.

The political atmosphere in Okinawa at the present is confused. Japanese influence on the island is great, and many groups are trying to get Okinawa under Japanese rule once again. The United States has one of the largest military posts in Okinawa, serving as a training and supply center for Vietnam, and is not anxious to lose its hold over the island.

Leftist protesters played the murder up big in their campaign against the U.S. Miss Beasley said. The incident was widely publicized in Japan on radio and in newspapers.

When the time came for the girls to return to the U.S., the leftist group tried to keep them in Okinawa. "They thought we would be able to tell them something," Miss Beasley said.

"We might be called back if they ever find out what actually happened," she said. "It's doubtful, though."

The murder occurred two months before their return. "I put a damper on our tour," she recalled. They had all the locks changed on their doors and put two safety locks on one door.

"I never felt any danger for myself. It was just the fact that it happened."

Okinawans are a superstitious people, she said. Many refused to go in the house after the murder. Some of the superstitions were attached to the girls as well.

"Some of the native maids on base would go to the other side of the street when they saw us coming. If we visited homes on the base, the maids would try to go into another room if they were there when we came."

While the murder certainly was the focal point of Miss Beasley's stay, she looks on the three trips she made to Hong Kong, Tokyo and Bangkok as the highlight of her whole year.

Characterizing Tokyo as "a city of rush," Miss Beasley said she was shocked because it was so modernized. "It's like any other big city until you get on some of the back streets."

Clothes in Hong Kong caught her attention. "You could just go wild on clothes there if you had the money."

Bangkok, the largest city in Thailand, was her favorite. "The people seem to be more at ease, quieter." Again, she enjoyed shopping in the Southeast Asian country, calling it unbelievable.

She didn't take many trips on Okinawa, because "it's just not that big." Okinawa is a small island, 67 miles long and from 2 1/2 to 19 miles wide. Accordingly, the island-wide speed limit is 30 miles an hour.

Okinawa is one island in a chain of 140 known as the Ryukyu Islands. The islands fall into four main groups, three of which, including Okinawa, are under the U. S. administration.

Okinawa, the "Keystone of the Pacific," is the most important island. It is located 970 miles southwest of Tokyo and 830 miles northeast of Hong Kong.

"Teaching in Okinawa is a lot different because you are away from the life of the United States. As far as the children are concerned, it's just the same. It's the atmosphere that's different."

The people are a mixture of Chinese and Japanese, mostly Japanese. "As a whole, the people were very, very friendly. I made some Okinawan friends and they were happy that Americans were there."

The whole island is almost made up of military, she said. As a result, it's very Americanized.

"You could tell the American influence when a group protested American rule. They would be carrying signs."

The Japanese tradition that men always come first is still in effect. Women wear Western clothes, but a lot still wear the Japanese kimono. The religion is Buddhism.

The diet of the people consists of rice and vegetables. Restaurants had a good variety of Japanese food, which Miss Beasley said she learned to like.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Beasley, 100 Centre, Miss Beasley is a 1962 graduate of Hereford High School and a 1965 graduate of Hardin-Simmons at Abilene. She taught in Roswell, N. M., and Sacramento, Calif., before going to Okinawa.

Miss Beasley got her job teaching third grade in military dependent schools through the Department of Defense. She is considered a civilian military employe and has all the privileges of someone in the service.

In August she will leave for Germany for her next teaching job. Until then, she has a quiet, relaxing summer planned.

Frio News

Rev. Jake Armstrong, former pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, Friona, was guest preacher at the Sunday morning worship at Frio. He and his family plan to go soon to Olympia, Wash., to begin a Baptist mission. He is a native of the Abilene area, and preached for two years in Germany just prior to coming to Friona.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Sparkman visited her brother, F. J. Springer, and Mrs. Springer at Kress Sunday.

J. D. Walton of Fritch visited the Sam Ogans Friday, taking lunch with them. He had been to El Paso to take a car to their son, Ronnie, who is stationed there in the army.

Jerry Blackburn arrived home Friday for a two-week leave from the army. Jerry took his basic training at Ft. Bliss and has been at Ft. Huachuca in Arizona several weeks. He is to be stationed at Ft. Hood after July 14.

Mrs. Herbert Bruns and children, Mrs. Owen Andrews and Mrs. Herb Schmidt went to visit the Glenn Andrews near Eter Friday. Mrs. Schmidt remained until Sunday when her husband came to her. The Schmidt sons, Tommy and Dale, are helping the Glenn Andrews with harvesting. A house on the Andrews-Brunns farm east of Hartley is being remodeled for the Schmidts, who expect to move late this summer and farm the place. Dale plans to enroll as a senior at Dalhart High School. The Schmidts recently sold their farm west of Westway for a feedlot operation.

The David Yandells, Mrs. Johnny Robison, Mrs. Mike Baird, Mrs. Olin Parris and Mrs. G. W. Parker spent Sunday at Tahoka, where Mrs. Parker visited her sister, Mrs. Dovie Isbell, and the others attended a school reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace White, Gary, Mike and Rohonda of Big Horn visited Sunday.

Its cast includes three women and three men to play English college students, two older men and an older woman, plus a butler who may be any age.

The leading role, that of a student pressed into service to masquerade as a friend's elderly aunt, has been interpreted by many stage and screen comedians, in more recent years by Jack Benny for a successful movie.

The setting is in an English college in the 1890's, and the Hereford Players plan staging and costumes to bring out the period flavor which is necessary to point up the comedy situations.

loxi, Miss., came Thursday to spend a couple of weeks with the Clark Andrews and Mrs. E. B. Berryman and other relatives in this area. Mrs. Berryman, who had been with the Whites in Biloxi since early April, returned home.

Olin Parris visited his brother, Clytus Parris and family at Cincinnati while he was there on business the first of the week.

The Arthur Blackburns visited Mrs. Carl Hyser in Neblett hospital in Canyon Sunday afternoon. She is a sister of Mrs. N. E. Gass.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Danley and Tena went to San Antonio last weekend to attend the HemisFair.

Hal Andrews of Eter came home with the Herbert Schmidts Sunday evening and visited his grandparents, the Owen Andrews, Kirk and Rocky Andrews and others of the relatives. He went home Wednesday with the Herbert Bruns as they drove up to visit Hal's family, the Glenn Andrews. The Bruns and the George Zetzsches spent the weekend on a camping trip to Red River.

Mrs. Charles Self took intermediate girls from Frio Baptist Church to summer camp at Floydada the first of the week. Making the trip were Rohnda Stephan, Cherie Mason, Melissa Johnson and Shannon Self. Young Peoples camp was attended by Mrs. Earl Harkins, sponsor. Genie Robbins, Andrew Aze, and Judy Harkins the latter part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Cipriano Vigil and Mr. and Mrs. Owen Andrews made a business trip to Tucumcari and other points in New Mexico Monday.

Spending the Fourth of July with the Jack Grays, the Bobby Herons and the Charles Danleys.

A group of people from Frio Baptist Church had a Fourth of July picnic at Dameron park in the evening. About 40 persons attended.

Mrs. Verna Frye returned home Saturday night after a three-week European tour of nine countries. The tour group included 41 persons. Mrs. Frye's traveling companion was Mrs. Merle Campbell of Hereford. Countries visited included England, France, Netherlands, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, Spain and Portugal. Meeting Mrs. Frye in Amarillo at the airport were her parents, the Wesley Browns of Dimmitt and the Frye children, Shandy and Hilton. Also going were Mr. and

All-Stars Are Chosen In Pony League Play

After finishing up their season last week, the Hereford Pony League teams were weeded out and players that are to make up the All-Star team were named to represent each of their teams.

Playing twice a week for six weeks, the teams battled it out for the league championship with the White Sox taking the title by a two game margin over the second place finishers. Standings ended with the White Sox, managed by Denzil Vaughn, taking first with a record of 9 wins and 3 losses; the Tigers and Indians, managed by Reese Dawson and Wayne Fuller, respectively, tying for second place with records of 7 wins and 5 losses; the Twins, managed by Bob Gage, fourth with an even 6-6 mark; the Red Sox, managed by Edward Allison, fifth with a 4 wins 8 loss record; and the Orioles, managed by Danny Boyer, sixth with a 3-9 record.

Selected to the All-Star team were 15 boys representing every team in the league. These boys included Eugene Suttle of the Twins; Larry Driver, of the White Sox; Walter Olson, of the White Sox; Frankie Bezener, from the Red Sox; Louie Bara, from the White Sox; Randy Cathren, of the White Sox; David Spain, from the Twins; Danny Higgins, of the Twins; Keith Kitchens, from the Indians; Rudy Gonzales, of the Orioles; Sammy Ramirez, of the White Sox; Monty Smith, of the Twins;

City Olympics Are Scheduled

Plans for the first Hereford City Olympics were outlined in a meeting held last week by members of interested church groups and persons.

Events for the olympics will be divided into three age group brackets with the 7-9 competing in water balloon shot put, 50-yard dash, broad jump, 220-yard relay, discus, kickball, three-legged race, stick horse race, tricycle race, tug-of-war, egg in spoon race, bubble-gum blowing contest, 440-yard walk, jacks, jump rope, and a sack race.

The 10-12 age group will compete in the same events as the 7-9 with the addition of the 440-yard relay, 100-yard dash, a baby buggy race and bicycle baseball. The 13-15 age bracket will do what the other two age group do with the addition of high jump, pass-the-orange, flag football and tricycle race.

Scheduled to be held August 10 at the high school football field, each church is requested to have a team to participate with no overall prizes to be given out. All competition will include both boys and girls and any organization wishing to sponsor a team and participate is urged to.

Charles Allison, from the Red Sox; Eddie Gage, of the Twins and John McNeely, of the Indians.

Manager of this year's Pony League All-Star team will be Denzil Vaughn with Cuby Kitchens serving as coach.

Players were announced Friday night at a meeting at the Pony League Park where they were named off and as they were, they were given their All-Star caps along with instructions as to when they were to practice and when they would play. Also at the meeting, Charles Allison was awarded the Sportsmanship trophy for outstanding sportsmanship throughout the season.

The district tournament has been scheduled to be held in Hereford this year and will be played during the week of July 22-27 at the Pony League park. Teams to be in the tournament will be Borger, Anton, Castro County, Littlefield and Hereford.

The winner of the district tournament will then go to the regional tournament in Tulsa, Oklahoma. This tournament will begin on July 30 and will be played during that week.

Everyone is urged to attend the district tournament that is to be held here as the Pony League has not received the amount of interest and recognition that many of the other local baseball teams have during the past season.

AWARD PRESENTATION — Charles Allison was presented the Sportsmanship Trophy for his play throughout the season during the naming of the Hereford Pony League All-Stars. Bob Spangler presented the award. This year's team will be managed by Denzil Vaughn, with Cuby Kitchens serving as coach.

17 From Here To Attend Camp

A recent report from Dr. John E. Green, West Texas Music Camp Director, states that 17 students from Hereford will be attending the summer band camp this month July 14-26.

More than 800 junior and senior high school band and orchestra musicians from Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Arizona, and California have enrolled for the West Texas Camp being held on the WT Campus in Canyon. Texas students come from many towns and cities in the Panhandle region as well as more distant areas such as Houston, Victoria, Richardson, El Paso, Midland, Odessa, and Monahans.

A select faculty of 45 teachers, including eight of the music faculty at WTSU, has been assembled to instruct at the camp. Performance groups will include seven concert bands, three reading bands, three stage bands, an orchestra, and a choir.

Dr. Clarence Sawhill from the University of California in Los Angeles will conduct the high school Honors Band. Dr. Gary Garner, director of bands at WTSU will be in charge of the reading band program; Donalds Todd, concert violinist at WTSU, will conduct the camp orchestra and Bill Moffitt from Michigan State University will present a marching band clinic for band directors on July 20 and 21.

Ben Gollehon, band director at Hereford High School, has been engaged as a member of the staff and will be directing the camp choir and teaching music appreciation.

Light Damage In Evening Wreck

An accident occurred Wednesday afternoon at the intersection of U. S. 385 and Park Ave. which resulted in approximately $200 damage to the two vehicles involved.

A 1964 Ford, driven by Don Melvin Gregory, of Amarillo, received $125 damages and a 1967 Chevrolet pickup, driven by Jaudon Oneal McCathern, sustained $75 damages when the McCathern vehicle turned left off U.S. 385, into the path of the northbound Gregory vehicle, according to police reports.

Investigating officers issued a citation for failure to yield right of way to a vehicle.

Well, someone finally got their heads out of the air and did something about that silly eligibility rule that brought so much heat into the air last week. It may not have been the most successful "something," but it did manage to salvage a great number of players who would otherwise have found themselves facing a year of ineligibility.

The rule stating that an athlete could not sign a letter of intent and play along side a high school athlete during the summer without making the high school athlete ineligible, was given a reprieve when the higher ups decided to suspend the rule until September 1 when it will then go into effect again. But, that was as far as it was able to go.

The House State Affairs Committee, which rules on almost everything you can think of, turned down a request for a committee to be formed to probe into the controversial matter. At least a couple of men thought it was of great concern that they ought to have something done about it but they stepped on like a couple of bugs when they asked for a committee to study the "authority, justification, jurisdiction, financing, responsibility and organizational structure" of the UIL.

Central point and victim of this ruling is the summer American Legion Baseball teams that are scattered throughout the entire state. District 18, the one in which Hereford is a member, has faced the possibility of losing somewhere around 21 players from the seven teams that make up this district. Though Hereford's Redbirds would be the team likely to profit from this rule by losing only one player via letter of intent signing, the other six teams would find Clarendon losing 2, Canyon dropping 4; Tullia 3; Tascosa, 3; Caprock 3 and Groom, hit hardest of all, losing 5 of their 13.

It was ruled in the past that the only way a team could replace a player was through death of that player. They changed that to death and draft this year but, if the eligibility rule were to stay into effect, a number of the teams would not have enough players to fill their roster after the commission decided that the signees of letters were not eligible.

Though something has been done to stymie the effects of the rule, it will undoubtedly go back to work in September when everything will be it's usual, hectic, controversial self.

Not many days and games left for the local baseball teams as many of the leagues will play their last games during the next week or two. Many of the teams have just about finished, but there are a couple that have the promise, and players to fight their way past the local scene.

The little Major league all-stars will compete for sectional honors in the near future when they go to Canyon for a tournament there. If by some chance they should win there, they will find themselves battling it out in Borger in the district tournament.

Though looking a bleak finish in league standings, the Hereford Irrigation League Rebels could pull it out of the bag if they hooked it up and the Amarillo Graham Plows fell a time or two. They are currently holding second place down, about two games out of first.

For the first year, the Hereford Colt League teams have fared rather well as the Sonics and Astros are sharing first place in standings and it will be very hard for one of these two teams not to represent Hereford in the District tournament. Some have rumored it around that Hereford will be the sight of the Colt League tournament, though it has not been confirmed.

It looks as if baseball is finally taking a hold on the local scene and from the outcome, good teams are in the making and a good future for the sport is in the air.

Lyn Bogle And Bride Are At Home In Colorado

Mr. and Mrs. Lyn Bogle are at home in Center, Colo., after a mountain resort honeymoon following their recent marriage in Holy Family Catholic Church at Nazareth.

Mrs. Bogle was Miss Pamela Kay Pohlmeier of Hereford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Pohlmeier of Nazareth, before the marriage. Mr. Bogle, who farms at Center, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bogle of this city.

The Rev. Wilmer Rechel officiated for the wedding. Maid of honor was Miss Linda Pohlmeier and best man, Norman Harder of Hereford. Other sisters of the bride, Misses Brenda and Monette Pohlmeier, and Miss Carol Schulte were bridesmaids.

Rick Reinart and Kerry Struve of Hereford and J. C. Pohlmeier were groomsmen, Johnny Husman and J. D. Harder of Hereford, ushers.

Wedding music was by Leonard Conrad, organist, Jim Bell and Mmes. Bill Hill, Dennis Heiman and Virgil Pohlmeier, vocalists.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a slim-lined gown of white satin with lace bodice and sleeves and matching lace applied on the fingertip veil. Her diamond pendant necklace was borrowed from her grandmother, Mrs. John Stork.

Bridal attendants were dressed in red crystalline with white lace empire bodice. They wore red roses in their hair and carried white mums.

The bride's parents were hosts for the wedding dinner and a dance afterward, in Nazareth Community Hall.

Mrs. Bogle has been employed here with Palmer Norton Insurance Co. She attended West Texas State University after graduation from Nazareth High School. Mr. Bogle, a Hereford High School graduate, attended Texas Tech.

Preceding the wedding a shower honoring the bride-elect was given in the home of Mrs. Gordon Elliott, with Mmes. Virgil Marsh, Don T. Martin, Jack Ellinwood, Kenny Gearn, Palmer Norton, Richard Pickens, Dick Jaegels and Gerald Hale as other hostesses.

Receiving guests with the honoree were her mother, her bridesmaids and Mrs. Guy Bogle. Miss Sherry Marsh was at the register and Miss Linda Pulliam served red punch and cake decorated with white sugar bells and red ribbon. Red carnations centered the linen cloth.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Friend:
The Special Session of the 60th Legislature was concluded about 1:00 p.m., July 3rd, and it was a hectic thirty days. Liquor-by-the-drink (Mini-bottle) took much of our time. The House passed the bill, over my opposition, by a 3 or 4 vote majority. By working with Senator Doc Blanchard, Senator Jack Hightower and Senator Grady Hazlewood we furnished enough material and information to help them defeat the bill in the Senate. The "Mini-bottle bill" would have been a shame and a disgrace to the citizens of Texas. Also defeated was a bill by Representative Jack Ogg of Houston, to allow sale and consumption of alcoholic beverages until 2:00 A.M. instead of the present curfew of 12:15 A.M. There was also a liquor reform bill introduced, but it failed to pass. I hope something can be done in this area at the next regular session.

The appropriation bill which was passed by both houses of the legislature will adequately finance all State agencies and departments for the next fiscal year, plus increases in college faculty salaries, and a provision to expand vocational training. There were appropriations for swine and vegetable research in the High Plains Area.

The Rev. Homer T. Goodwin, pastor, will officiate and burial in West Park Cemetery will be directed by Gilliland Funeral Home.

Mr. Rice, who came to Hereford in 1926, died in a local hospital Saturday morning. He was born May 22, 1884, in Exeter, Neb., and married Ola F. Bowls Nov. 4, 1910 in Nebraska. He first came to Texas in 1909, but had been living in Alberta, Canada, before the move to Deaf Smith County.

Survivors are his wife; three daughters, Mrs. Ruth Hagar and Mrs. Caroline Hagar of Hereford and Mrs. Elizabeth Dean of Dallas; a son, the Rev. Charles Rice of Houston; a sister, Mrs. Eva Botsford of Hereford; a brother, Norman L. Rice of Seattle; 12 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Hot weather and picnics call for more care to be taken in handling food. Food poisoning can dampen a picnic spirit quickly — and the only safeguard against it is caution. Poisoning can be caused by handling food too much improper cooking and leaving food exposed for several hours.

Foods prepared in advance and left outside can be infected with organisms which multiply quickly and do not affect food taste, smell or appearance.

Since you can't tell if a food is safe to eat, extra precautions are necessary. Foods most vulnerable to poisoning are potato salad, egg products, fish, ground beef, poultry, pork products, sauces, dairy products and pastries, especially custard and cream pies.

FOOD DEFINITELY should not be kept at room temperature more than three or four hours. It may be cooler or warmer, but room temperature is critical.

Principal cause of food poisoning, staphylococcus bacteria, can be spread by unclean hands and utensils. The cook can spread the bacteria by a sneeze or cough. Other bacteria also cause poisoning.

Flies, which spread salmonella infection, are another major source of contamination. But when spraying for insects, be sure to cover all food and dishes.

MORE ON FREEZING combination dishes: Do not overcook foods that are to be frozen. Foods that are to be heated before serving are best if only partially cooked; meat should be tender but still firm, vegetables slightly underdone.

Use as little fat as possible in gravies and sauces. Fats have a tendency to separate, but if used in smaller proportions, they will recombine when heated.

Fried foods are apt to become rancid after one to two months of storage. Use seasonings sparingly as some of them change during storage. Pepper gets stronger. Cloves may become stronger and discolor frozen fillings. Garlic becomes stronger during storage and onions gradually lose flavor. Green pepper sage and pimientos increase in strength.

IT IS IMPORTANT to cool cooked foods promptly to prevent continued cooking. Foods to be done by Texas Tech. Money was also appropriated for the building of the Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratory that was created last session.

We passed a tax bill, to cover the additional expenses of State Government for the next year, that will add a one-cent increase to the sales tax, and a seventy-five cents, per thousand dollars, increase in the corporation franchise tax.

Although there were some things in both the appropriation and tax bills that I didn't like, it was apparent towards the end of the session that these two bills were all that we would be able to pass.

I'll be at home for a few days, and then I will be going to Detroit, Michigan, to represent the State of Texas at a water conference.

Sincerely,
Bill Clayton

lose flavor rapidly when held at high temperature. And warm foods invite bacteria growth, says the Texas A&M University nutritionist.

She suggests submerging the cooking pan in ice water to hasten cooling. After cooling, package in moisture-vapor-resistant material immediately. Pack all types of cooked foods as solidly as possible to avoid air spaces in the containers.

Enhance the flavor of meats, poultry, seafoods, precooked foods and vegetables with monosodium glutamate (MSG).

CASSEROLE DISHES containing macaroni, spaghetti, noodles and rice may be frozen. To serve: bake in 350-degree F. oven 40-60 minutes. You can move the baking dish directly from the freezer to the oven with little danger of breakage.

You can freeze almost any type of creamed dish except those containing hard-cooked eggwhites. Avoid overcooking and cool rapidly in pan of ice water. Don't store longer than two to four months.

Package prepared foods in amounts suitable for serving. You may safely refreeze frozen foods that have been thawed if they still contain ice crystals. Thawed foods spoil faster than fresh foods.

Thawing and refreezing may lower the eating quality of some foods, particularly fruits, vegetables and prepared foods.

CRUNCHY COFFEE CAKE

MRS. BAXTER LONDON

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
Two-thirds cup sugar
1 tsp. baking soda
1/2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1 cup buttermilk
1/2 cup (1/2 tub) margarine
2 eggs
1/2 tsp vanilla
1/2 cup grape-nuts cereal
One-third cup sugar
2 tsp. cinnamon

Combine flour, two-thirds cup sugar, soda, baking powder and salt in mixing bowl. (Sift in bowl together) Add buttermilk, eggs, margarine and vanilla. Blend at low speed on mixer or by hand; beat one minute at medium speed or 150 strokes by hand.

Combine cereal, one-third cup sugar, and cinnamon together. Put one-third of batter in greased 9 inch square pan, sprinkle one-third cereal mixture over batter. Continue layering, end-

Wilson & Co. Buys Baltimore Supply Company

CHICAGO, Ill. — Wilson & Co. Inc., announced today that it has acquired George's National Park Cemetery.

The Rev. Leon Sewell of First Baptist Church at Weatherford and the Rev. Ronald Harpster of Avenue Baptist Church officiated. Dr. Cronin, 32, a native of Hereford, died Wednesday morning in Weatherford.

He was born here Aug. 15, 1935, and a number of relatives still reside here. They include his mother, Mrs. Hazel Bruner, 431 Western, and a brother, W. T. Bruner.

Other survivors are two sons, John Thomas Cronin II and James Thurmond Cronin of Bryan; another brother, Gilbert Bruner of Tulsa; four sisters, Mrs. Nelly Ruth Wrey of Pampa, Mrs. Rose Mary Evans of Lubbock, Mrs. Molly Ray Sonders of Pasadena, Tex., and Miss Margaret Bruner of Tulsa.

The chemistry instructor had received a grant in oceanography, announced last January, from the Society of Sigma Chi for a yearlong study of differences in the colors of water in oceans, lakes and rivers.

Beef & Provisions Co., Inc. of Baltimore, Maryland, a hotel and restaurant supply company.

In announcing the acquisition, Roy V. Edwards, Wilson president and chief executive officer, said, "We are pleased that this well-known and highly regarded Baltimore hotel and restaurant supply company will become a part of our Wilson & Co. organization. The high standards of quality and service will be maintained, and plans are being considered to further expand the company's processing operations so that an even larger number of customers can be served in the future."

All of the employees of the company including George J. Andreadakis, former owner, will continue in their jobs, and the company will operate as a subsidiary of Wilson & Co.

Jehovah's Witnesses Continue Preparations For Conference

It was announced by George Humphries, local presiding minister, that Gerald D. Grizzle, circuit minister for Jehovah's witnesses and who has visited the Hereford congregation on many occasions, has been appointed to an official position for the coming assembly of Jehovah's witnesses to be held in Pueblo, Colorado, July 11-4.

"Mr. Grizzle informed us of some of the pre-convention arrangements that must be made," Humphries said. "This will be typical of many of the annual assemblies to be held in many cities in the United States and Canada as well as several others in foreign countries."

Humphries states, "We expect over 6,000 persons from nearly 100 congregations in a seven-state area to attend, and no doubt delegates from much further distances will also travel to Pueblo."

Grizzle, a full time circuit minister, travels throughout the western Texas and the Oklahoma panhandle area, visiting the various congregations, aiding in organizational matters, making suggestions as to how members of the congregation can better perform their ministry. He has served as circuit minister for the past three years in Arkansas, Texas and Oklahoma and has been active as one of Jehovah's witnesses since 1947.

"It requires the help of many departments to make an assembly successful," Grizzle said, "I will organize the refreshment department at Pueblo which during an assembly must always be available and efficient. Not only is spiritual food a necessity during such a gathering but material food is necessary too."

Grizzle also stated that the many meetings and assemblies held by the Watchtower Society earthwide are designed to teach and aid the Witnesses in better methods in order to interest people in having Bible studies in their homes and to emphasize the fact that man's hope for peace on this earth will not come from man, but must come from God.

will earlier in the summer.

Shivering when you step outside after sundown, reaching for another blanket during the night turning on heat to take the early morning chill off a room — these may not be much fun in November, but aren't they wonderful in July?

Even if the temperature gets back up to 110 in a day or two, the breath of autumn we've enjoyed lately will help us get through the summer.

A NOTE FROM Leona Pinnell Seavey of Dallas asks that notice be given of the annual national reunion of the Pinnell-Royall families at Lake Cisco July 19-21, "because there are lots of Pennells, Pannells and Royalls in your neck of the woods."

Announcement of the reunion adds that the families, closely allied by intermarriage, date back more than 2,000 years to their origin in Normandy.

Theirs is not the usual informal organization to manage family reunions; they have a national board of directors with Floyd J. Pinnell of Dallas and Jackie Royall of Mansfield as co-presidents.

If there are some family members in this area who are going to the Lake Cisco get-together, it will be nice if they let us know about it.

IN ALL THE hand-wringing comment on the sad state of our nation after assassination of two prominent political figures in recent months, one of the most cogent is that of Paul Crume in his Dallas News column.

His writing is mostly humorous, some of the best in Texas newspapers these days, I think, and not just because he has kin-folks in Hereford. But he sometimes makes a serious point and this is one worth thinking about.

"The only thing that is wrong with America, really, is that we have lost the idea of the gentleman as hero," Crume writes. "...our attitude has eroded from believing that all men are equal but that talented men have more responsibilities than others. We have come to believe that the man with power, however stupid, is right."

He goes on to remark that political assassinations are not an American phenomenon, that "politics by assassination" was the normal way of changing governments through most of the world's history, and that the idea of chivalry, the noble knight, the perfect gentleman, evolved slowly — and it's a pity if we lose it now.

Banner Is Now At Conference

Gerald M. Banner, Prudential Insurance Co.'s agent here, is attending the company's regional business conference today through Wednesday in Hollywood, Fla.

The business conference will be attended by field representatives invited from district offices in Texas, Kansas and Missouri.

Purpose of the conference is to provide instruction in specialized insurance subjects.

Conference sessions will be held in the Diplomat Hotel. They will be conducted by executives from Prudential's Southwestern Home Office, with headquarters in Houston, Tex.

Late Afternoon Wedding Read In Wesley Church

Miss Prescilla Grossenbacher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Grossenbacher, 112 Avenue H, and Gary L. Wright of Fort Hood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Wright of Fayetteville, Ark. were married in a late afternoon ceremony Saturday in Wesley Methodist Church.

Fan arrangements of white stock and blue hibiscus at the altar formed a setting for the ceremony read by the Rev. Robert Williams, pastor, as Mr. Grossenbacher gave his daughter in marriage.

The couple was attended only by Mr. and Mrs. Donnie McDonald, the bride's uncle and aunt. Gene Brownlow served as an usher and Mrs. Don McDonald lighted candles.

Miss Cheryl Solomon, organist, accompanied Miss Linda Brooks as she sang "Whither

Thou Goest and Twelfth of Never, also played a medley of love songs and the traditional marches.

Miss Grossenbacher was married in an ensemble of white dress and matching coat, floor length. Heavy lace overlaid the dress bodice and the short sleeves of the coat, finishing them in scallops. An inverted pleat gave fullness to the coat back, topped at the high waistline by a Dior bow of the fabric.

A double bow trimmed with seed pearls was the headpiece which held her bouffant shoulder-length veil. A pearl tear-drop necklace and earrings completed her costume and she carried a cascade of white carnations.

The matron of honor wore a powder blue crepe dress in empire style, sleeveless, trimmed with satin in the same color. Her bouquet, similar to that of the bride, was of white carnations with blue touches.

After the ceremony, the couple and their parents received guests in the church fellowship hall. Mrs. W. N. Mitchell of National City, Calif., aunt of the bride, was at the registry table.

Miss Barbara Brownlow served the wedding cake while Miss Vicki Brownlow laid the punch. Covered with a white cloth ornamented in a silver wedding bell design, the refreshment table had a centerpiece of blue stock and daisies. The two-tiered cake was decorated all in white.

Karen and Tony Mitchell, the bride's cousins, handed rice bags to guests, to shower the couple as they left the reception. For a trip to Arkansas before going to a home in Killeen, Mrs. Wright changed to a blue-trimmed white suit with white accessories. The couple expects to be at home after July 25.

The bride, who formerly attended Hereford schools, was a 1967 graduate of Harlingen High School and was graduated this year from a business college in Amarillo. She was a band member in high school here.

Stationed at Fort Hood, the bridegroom has completed a period of duty in Vietnam during his two-and-a-half-year service in the U. S. Army. He was graduated in 1965 from Monzano High School, Albuquerque.

In addition to his immediate family, wedding guests from other cities included Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ennis and family of Clovis, N.M., Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wright of Jonesboro, Ark.

A pre-nuptial courtesy for the bride was a recent shower with Misses Virginia Brown, Penny Young, Linda Brooks, Levenie Benefield, Connie Bryant and Vi McDonald as hostesses in

Officers Of Auxiliary Are Elected

Mrs. LeRoy Williamson heads officers elected for next year in a recent American Legion Auxiliary meeting. She will succeed Mrs. Grant Hanna. Mrs. J. D. Love and Mrs. Bill Smith were named vice presidents, Mrs. J. G. Gandy secretary-treasurer.

A special meeting at 8 p.m. the Flame Room of Pioneer Gas Company.

The honoree wore an aqua suit with matching shoes and a corsage of white blossoms. Her mother chose a whipped cream crepe dress in aqua, worn with white accessories.

Cake wedges decorated with tiny bells were served with punch from a table covered with lace over a sea-green cloth. The floral arrangement was in pastel shades of green.

July 16 was planned, a salad supper at which Anna Johnson and Richard Aven, local representatives to recent Girls State and Boys State at Austin, will report. All former Girls and Boys State delegates are invited for this program in the Legion Hall.

Aug. 22 was the date set for the annual Harvest Dinner at which Auxiliary members serve a meal featuring Deaf Smith County products, a yearly benefit event.

Delegates chosen for the Texas Department convention in Houston Aug. 9-11 are Mmes. Williamson, Truitt Wiseman, Lawrence Carlson, Cecil Wilkins and Hazel Sparks, with Mmes. Ira Ott, Lova, Smith, Ross Stark and Hanna as alternates.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Wiseman, reporter-historian; Mrs. J. E. Young, sergeant-at-arms with Mrs. Charles Hood, assistant; Mrs. R. E. Drager, chaplain. Mrs. Wilkins and Mrs. Ott were named executive board members.

Concerning Veterans

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q - I served four years in the Navy from January 1961 through December 1964. Am I a veteran of the Viet-Man era?

A - Yes. All service after August 4, 1964, other than active duty for training as a reservist, is considered Viet-Nam era service.

Q - I have received a widow's pension providing benefits for myself and two minor children for several years. This VA award is based upon my husband's military service. I have just remarried. Will my children still be eligible to receive benefits from the Veterans Administration?

A - Yes. Your children will continue to receive pension benefits from the VA as long as their unearned income is less than $1,500 a year for each child. These benefits will be paid until they reach age 18, or age 23 if they are in college. You should report promptly to the Veterans Administration your remarriage to prevent an overpayment of pension benefits.

The Benedictines have long been called schoolteachers to the world.

AUSTIN HIGHLIGHTS

Traffic Safety And LCB Are Capitol Conversation Items

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN — "Heads up" driving can save many lives in Texas during this long July 4 holiday weekend, Texas Department of Public Safety advises. DPS hopes to help bring about a reduction in the estimated toll of 38 expected to die in traffic tragedies during the four-day, 102-hour period.

"Operation Motorcade," designed to place special emphasis on dangers of holiday travel, began at 6 p. m. Wednesday and will continue through 11:59 p. m. Sunday.

DPS will tabulate traffic fatalities during this period and release totals three times daily to news media in order to keep dangers prominently in minds of drivers.

"It is a known fact that the unusually crowded conditions of the highways on Independence Day holidays makes driving more hazardous than usual," Acting DPS Director Wilson E. (Pat) Speir reminded.

On the average, said Speir, one person will be killed in traffic every two and a half hours on Texas highways streets and roads.

As part of its overall effort to lower the anticipated toll, DPS is utilizing additional personnel from other uniformed services to augment the regular Highway Patrol force during the entire weekend.

But drivers themselves must take the most important effort, cautioned Speir. Despite mechanical defects, inadequate highways and other accident-causing factors, the vast majority of all wrecks and fatalities are traced directly to misbehavior, misjudgment, recklessness, negligence and drinking while driving.

LCB RAPPED — Former Liquor Control Board Administrator C. Stevenson Jr. took the brunt of the blow from the report on the investigation of the LCB by Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin and the Department of Public Safety.

Attorney general found that Stevenson had not been watching the shop, had accepted expensive gifts from persons in the liquor and beer industries and had failed to see that the liquor laws were uniformly enforced.

Report refused to condemn the practice of legislators practicing law before the LCB and failed to condemn the three-man liquor board for not staying atop the shoddy operations of the agency.

Investigators said that most of the difficulties of the Stevenson administration now have been overcome under Acting Administrator O. N. Humphreys Jr.

LEGISLATURE WINDING UP — Bitter debate in the Senate slowed the pace of special session. Senate finally passed a sales-franchise tax increase and sent the revenue bill back to the House, which in turn sent it to conference committee to write a final version.

While Senate mulled taxes and mini-bottled liquor-by-the-drink bill, House passed bills to extend drinking curfew in large cities to 2 a. m. (local-optional in smaller towns); authorize semi-mandatory breath tests for drink drivers; and triple out-of-state tuitions (to about $600 a semester) at state-supported colleges and universities. Resident student tuitions remain the same.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED — Gov. John Connally named Garrett Morris of Fort Worth to the State Highway Commission to succeed H. L. Woodward of Coleman, a new federal district judge.

Connally selected Marion T. Key of Lubbock to replace Morris on the Public Safety Commission and named Jack Kullgen of Waco to Woodward's chairmanship on the Highway Commission.

Other appointments by Connally include: Ford Albritton Jr. of Bryan to Texas A&M University Board of Directors; William H. Atkinson of Texas A&I University Board at Kingsville, reappointments to Lewis W. Maples of Victoria; and Robert E. Davis of Waco to Texas Library and Historical Commission with reappointment of Fred Hartman of Baytown.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES — Pinball or marble machines which show number of free games won are illegal, Attorney General Martin has ruled.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that: "Cities under civil service police systems have no authority to create a police reserve of amateur friends of the force, but special officers can be summoned in time of emergency."

"A commissioners court does not have to advertise for electronic services to prepare tax rolls when the annual change is less than $2,500 paid out of current funds."

"A persons cannot serve as director of Texas Turnpike Authority and political party precinct chairman (acceptance of Turnpike post would automatically vacate precinct chairmanship)."

"A motor carrier may not transport gravel from gravel pits to processing plants under specialized motor carrier permit."

"Company which delivers metal belonging to its customers for galvanization without additional charge is not transporting property for compensation or hire in violation of law."

COURTS SPEAK — City of Midland cannot collect from the surety company of its contractor for defects in a swimming pool, but it may sue the contractor directly, Supreme Court held.

High court held four Houston attorneys and a society of lawyers can seek a court order against a Houston organization which aims to provide legal services to poor. Lawyers said they objected to Houston Legal Foundation's attorney referrals, advertising and interviewing of prisoners in jail.

Attorneys for an Austin boot-black will ask U. S. Supreme Court to review its ruling that a man can be jailed for repeated drunkenness. They argue alcoholism is a disease demanding treatment.

TORNADO DEFENSE — U. S. Weather Bureau and Texas Department of Public Safety have initiated a program for improved public preparedness against tornadoes.

Program involves a "distant early-warning system" by the bureau, then communication of the alert by the DPS and action by trained local officials to prepare the endangered communities.

"Meetings with city and community officials, state and local law officers, disaster agencies and others will be held throughout the state in the future to work out the details necessary for the best possible protection of life and property," a DPS spokesman promised.

GRANT APPROVED — A $42,900 Federal grant has been approved for Valley View Park in the City of Dallas to provide additional outdoor recreation land for use of the general public, according to Will Odom, chairman of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

These funds will be matched by the City of Dallas in an $85,800 project to acquire 17.4 acres of land adjacent to the 8.7-acre existing park. The city park is located in the community of Northwood within the City of Dallas.

Odom said this project marks the 27th approval of funds for local, city, county and river authority parks in Texas since the land and Water Conservation Act was passed in 1965.

SHORT SNORTS

Rep. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi has called for a 12-member committee to study the Court of Conciliation of Los Angeles County, to see if such a plan can help keep Texas families together and the divorce rate down.

Ambassador Ed Clark of Austin and Sen. John Tower of Wichita Falls have been elected board of trustee members at Southwestern University, Georgetown.

Republican state representatives designated Rep. Charles R. Scoggins of Corpus Christi their floor leader.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith appointed Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells to Senate finance sub-committee.

Railroad Commission raised the statewide oil allowable to 48.4 per cent of potential for July, compared with 45.2 per

Author Sees Only Ugliness In Our County Courthouse

Abraham Lincoln came to the profound conclusion that "you cannot please all of the people all of the time," and just to prove his point comes an infamous reference to the Deaf Smith County courthouse in James Michener's new book, "Iberia, Spanish Travels and Reflections" (page 489).

Mr. Michener, in this part of the book, is discussing Pamploma and the monstrous cathedral, and Ventura Rodriguez, when he makes what Deaf Smith residents might well consider a maligning statement — and we quote: "He proceeded to tear down the existing Gothic facade and to erect in its place a Greco-Roman horror that makes the once gracious building look like the courthouse of Deaf Smith County, Texas. It is so bad it must be seen to be believed. I had very much hoped Robert Vavara would choose to photograph it for his book, but he said, 'It's so ugly that no film can do it justice.'"

This statement by such a renowned and successful author comes as a shock to many of us. As a matter of fact, we have heard nothing but praise for the Deaf Smith County courthouse since it was renovated a few years back, and the trees were removed so that it could better be seen by those passing in the area.

Worse still is the fact that it cuts down to size quite a few of us stupid people who have always considered the structure the most beautiful in the Panhandle, and one of the more beautiful courthouses in Texas. To suddenly discover that we have such poor taste will be a blow to more than a few egos through West Texas. While Mr. Michener is certainly entitled to the privilege of not appreciating the building, we do wish he had given his reason, primarily because it would afford many of us an opportunity to argue in behalf of our poor taste.

We might also mention that local admirers of our courthouse are not entirely alone in their appreciation of "Deaf Smith County's Magnificent Temple of Justice," which was recently awarded a medallion by the Texas State Historical Committee.

There is also the possibility that Mr. Michener bases his judgement through the modern school, which holds that nothing is worthwhile if it has been paid for, and we do qualify on this score. The Deaf Smith Courthouse, in fact, was spawned through foresight and progress, and came into existence when local tax payers decided to spend far more than was necessary to create an attractive building (they thought). And therein lies an interesting story.

Back in 1909, a lot of people thought we needed a new courthouse, but this group did not include all of the county officials, some of whom felt that we could not afford to go so far in debt. Consequently, when a petition required that an election be held, the issue came up in the amount of $125,000 instead of the original $75,000 which sponsors had been talking. Both sides went to work and the issue passed by a margin of 308 "for" and 167 "against." It is said that one opponent predicted that it would take 500 years to pay off the debt.

Because it wasn't easy to spend $125,000 back in those days, the county imported Georgia marble for the structure, and expanded it to such a commodious size that in 1968 it is still ample to serve the community. And whether Mr. Michener likes it or not, it would cost several millions of dollars to replace the structure today. Remodeling a few years back, including elevators, air conditioning and general improvements ran far more than did the original cost of the structure in 1909.

Consequently, though the Deaf Smith courthouse may be a horror to the famous author, it does have quite an interesting history.

The thing that hurts us most, though, is the fact that such a world famous author could visit Hereford, Texas, and The Brand did not even mention the occasion in its columns. Not only has our sense of artistic appreciation been completely undermined — because we still think the Deaf Smith County courthouse is a lovely sight to behold — but our professional ability has also been exposed as decidedly lacking.

All of this is contingent upon Mr. Michener ever having been in Hereford, Texas, of course, and we have no reason to believe that a man of such reputation would lower himself to spreading such vitriolic criticism without ever having seen the structure. The same naturally applies to Robert Vavara, whoever he happens to be.

American Indian Problems Show Continual Decrease

By BERT MILLS

Washington, D. C. — American Indians have been in the national spotlight recently because a band of them participated in the Poor People's Campaign and demonstrated at the Supreme Court against a decision unfavorable to Indians.

There are about 600,000 Indians in the U. S. today, including Aleuts and Eskimos. More than half of them live in trust lands under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Interior. All Indians born within the U. S. are American citizens, under a 1924 law.

Indians are not wards of the government, although Indian property is held in trust. Indians are not restricted to their reservations but may move freely like other citizens. They may vote and hold office. Rep. Benjamin Reifel (R., S. D.), a Sioux is in his fourth term as a member of Congress.

Indians do not automatically receive Federal aid. Tribes or individuals may be reimbursed for losses resulting from treaty violations or encroachments on lands or interests reserved to the tribe. Tribes or individuals may receive government checks for income from their land or resources.

Indians may own property, and since 1953 they have been able to purchase liquor like other citizens, in off-reservation areas. Prohibition remains in effect on most reservations, but 55 tribes have exercised their right to local option.

Birth Rate Double U. S. Average

When Columbus discovered America, the Indian population was estimated at 84,000. Four hundred years later, the total was reduced due to a smallpox epidemic and war casualties to about 243,000. Since then the trend has been strongly upward.

The Indian birth rate is about double that of the rest of the U. S.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs was established in the War Department in 1924, and has been a part of the Interior Department since its creation in 1949. The Bureau seeks to help Indians attain economic self-sufficiency. The 1968 Budget of the Bureau of $241 million.

Few of the 296 Indian reservations have enough resources to support their residents. These reservations range from tiny to huge. The Navajo Reservation in Arizona, New Mexico and Utah comprises 14 million acres — larger than several states combined. There are 10 other reservations with more than 1 million acres. Four are in Arizona, two each in Washington and South Dakota, and one each in Wyoming and Montana.

Indian lands are used to grow crops, raise timber, and to produce mineral and petroleum products. Some lands are leased for commercial and recreational development. Efforts are being made to encourage non-agricultural enterprises.

$667 Spent Per Indian

In addition to the $241 million budget of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, a number of other Federal programs aid Indians. Total annual spending is about $400 million, or about $667 a year for every Indian. The militant tribesmen, such as those recently demonstrating in Washington, do not regard that as nearly enough.

The Department of Health Education, and Welfare, which has a Division of Indian Health, spent $111.6 million on Indian programs last year. Various War on Poverty programs administered by the Office of Economic Opportunity, added another $32 million, and the Department of Commerce about $26 million. Lesser amounts were allocated by four other departments.

The educational level of Indians is on the rise but much remains to be done. In 1960, more than half of the Indians could not speak, read, and write English. The illiteracy rate was down to 25 percent by 1950 and to 12 percent in 1959. However, there are no Indian colleges and only five Federal schools offering vocational training beyond the high school level.

For those interested in further facts on the Indian problem, the Bureau of Indian Affairs has produced a new pamphlet called "Answers to Your Questions About American Indians." It is on sale for 25 cents from the Superintendent of Documents U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402.

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm reviews some problems but few answers in his letter this week. He's not alone.

Dear editor:

Several times lately I've read in copies of newspapers that have turned up out here on this bindweed farm that this or that candidate is seeking to find out what the grassroots opinion is on a given matter.

"A man has to go to stay close to the people, to get down to the grassroots," a candidate will say as he boards a plane for another part of the country, but invariably he's standing on concrete and is in the air before the plane reaches the end of the paved runway, where the grass begins.

It is just as well. You might say I live pretty close to the grassroots, in fact so close I could reach them with a hoe if I was a mind to, but any candidate who is planning on coming out here to get my opinion might as well stay at home.

I can list the problems all right:

Viet Nam, Crime, Riots, and College students.
Gun laws, Taxes and debt, Inflation, Traffic and Pollution.

But when it comes to supplying the answers, I can tell the candidates they could as well stay at home and beat their head against concrete as coming out here and beating it against the ground.

While it's preposterous for a politician to try to keep his ear to the ground when he's living in a high-rise apartment building — nobody can lean out of a window that far — still, even if he could, or if he couldn't and topped, he wouldn't hear much.

Out here, we've got far more problems than answers. I had always thought it was Washington's role to have far more answers than problems. Times are mixed up.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

most efficient manner in which the collections might be made.

In fact, when one weighs all of the factors, it seems to us that the State of Texas, rather than the cities, counties and school districts is the agency basically at fault. Collection of property taxes on automobiles could most easily be accomplished with the sale of license tags each year if the state would refuse to authorize license plate sales until the personal tax had been satisfied with each tax agency. Since tags are already sold through county collection agencies, it would be quite simple to add the additional tax amounts.

Meanwhile, it is interesting to observe the current Lubbock approach to this serious problem, and it is even more encouraging to note that we do have officials at the local level who are willing to stand up for justice and equality in tax distribution. In our opinion, they deserve at least a pat on the back.

Send Me Your Tired, Your Poor

Senator Eugene McCarthy's suggestion that the Statue of Liberty face the United States rather than the Atlantic Ocean may have gotten a few laughs, but I wonder if the man doesn't have a good point figuratively speaking. The words associated with the famed statue, "send me your tired, your poor; your huddled masses yearning to be free; your wretched refuse from your teeming shores." may sound great on the Fourth of July, but that's about the only time. Irony in those phrases almost demands that they be thrown away forever, considering not only our immigration quotas and restrictions but our own attitudes toward the poor and underprivileged here at home. Imagine this appeal to the poor people of the world, while our own little pockets of poverty overwhelm us. Times have changed since the France gave us the landmark statue for New York harbor.

As years have passed, technology has almost literally consumed opportunities for personal economic advancement of any meaningful nature. Those who refuse to believe this should try getting a job in the nation's cities, where the poor evidently are concentrated. Jobs today require skills; uneducated people have no way to fill the jobs.

In years past, when immigrants streamed into the country in vast numbers, people not even speaking the same language could get jobs in factories in the north. Labor, great amounts of it, was needed, and about the only requirement for employment was that you had a warm body. Demand was homogeneous with supply. Draw two lines on a graph, find where they intersected, and there you had a price for labor.

Now, however, an economist would have to draw the demand line for labor on one graph, the supply line on another. The two are completely separate. Demand is for educated, skilled labor. The supply is uneducated, unskilled poor people who probably can't even read the "help wanted" columns in a newspaper.

Politicians may toss a few peanuts to the unskilled now and then, but not for very long at a time. Job Corps, Neighborhood Youth Corps, Community Action agencies, National Teachers Corps, all were condemned as waste. Criticisms may have had solid grounds, but seldom would they offer positive alternatives.

So what about the Statue of Liberty, face turned to the world, appealing to "send me your tired, your poor. . ." Perhaps she should just crumble into the harbor, since no one is interested in underwriting her offer.

50 YEARS AGO — 1918

Earl E. Wilson of this city was notified last week by wire that a man supposed to be his brother, Clarence, had been murdered at Wellington, Kansas, and he left at once for the scene of the trouble. He returned to Hereford Saturday with news that he had identified the body as that of his brother. Wilson stated that his brother was employed by the Independent Harvester Association of Kansas and was looking up harvest hands for this organization. He had secured the services of about 12 men at Cherokee, Oklahoma, and was enroute to Belleville, Kansas, where he was to turn over the hands to the farmers for whom they were to work. They had arrived at Wellington and were to take another train to Wichita, then to Belleville. But they found that the train they were to take was six hours late. Therefore, they boarded a freight train. Two men entered the car on the road and told them to stand up against the wall, as they were going to rob them. One of the robbers shot Clarence Wilson in the right arm. He then turned and again shot Wilson, the bullet entering the right lung under his arm.

What came near being a serious fire loss at the Reed Williams home last Fourth of July terminated in only a bursted hot water heater and a basement full of water. About 7 a. m., while the heater was in operation, a gas explosion occurred, bursting the boiler and immediately extinguishing the flames caused by the gas exploding.

Fire of undetermined origin did about $1,000 worth of damage to the house occupied by Raymond A. Jacobs, 212 Kibbe, Saturday night. About the same amount of damage was done to furniture, firemen estimated. The Jacobs family had gone to New Mexico for the weekend.

A snake-hunting trip on Tierra Blanca Creek ended with the infliction of a 22 rifle slug in the left ankle of C. D. Fitzgerald, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Fitzgerald, Sr., Monday evening. The 17-year-old football on the Hereford Whitefaces football team is still in Deaf Smith County Hospital, but the injury is not believed to be serious, according to the attending physician. A Lamesa boy working on his uncle's farm near Hereford this summer was electrocuted Monday when the control line to the model plane he was flying hit a 7,000-volt high line. Dayle Reid, 18, was rushed to Deaf Smith County Hospital after the accident, but he was dead on arrival.

Bulging racks of Hereford potatoes began streaming in from the fields last week as harvest got into full swing. Many processors were beginning to work crews during the night in order to keep up with the heavy work load as truck after truck brought potatoes in from the fields. Vegetable growers and dealers here termed the 1963 harvest as excellent.

Hereford police are continuing their investigation into the Thursday morning fire at All American Acceptance Corp., 116 S. 25 Mile Ave., in which loan records were destroyed. Burned in the blaze were active and paid-up loan ledger cards, which usually stayed on a reception desk as a convenience to both the customer and the corporation. Frank Tovar, an employee of the Defense Personnel Support Center of Fort Worth who has a seasonal purchasing office in the building, discovered the fire when he came to work about 7:30 a. m.

Area Cities Are Watching Lubbock's Tax Collecting

The City of Lubbock is currently in the midst of a proposed tax collection program on personal property, which should be of interest to every taxing body in the State of Texas. In a nutshell, the plan centers around collection of personal taxes on automobiles, and it represents a flaw in taxation which has likely been discussed by more city, county and school district taxing agencies more than any other single item during the past 25 years.

Levies are made on automobiles by most taxing bodies, just as they are made on other personal property. Collections, however, are another thing. When total collections are summed up, it generally turns out that the land owner and home owner pays the automobile levy in order to keep his real estate titles clear, whereas many of those who own no real property let their automobile assessments go delinquent; the same situation, in many cases, applies to refrigerators, furniture and similar personal property.

The owners of real estate, who already bear most of the local tax program (city, county and school), have understandably been a bit upset over the situation for years. Their general complaint is "unfair taxation."

Lubbock's proposal to cure the situation is based upon seizure and sale of those automobiles on which city taxes are not annually paid. The plan is a harsh one, indeed, but it was on this platform that some of the commissioners were elected, and they are evidently quite serious in their proposal. The plan will, of course, still miss many of the automobiles when people move to other areas prior to tax paying time, and if one stops to consider how many cars are mortgaged to finance companies and banks, the situation presents another problem with which the city must reckon.

While justice indicates that the City of Lubbock is right in its conclusion that the taxes should be collected, we cannot help but wonder if this is the

Hobbies Keep Local Couple On Honeymoon Trip After Marriage

By PENNY YOUNG
Staff Writer

Floyd Payne, manager of the Hereford Municipal Pool and math teacher at Hereford High School, was born in Tulsa, Oklahoma, raised in Uvalde, graduated from high school at Del Rio in 1960, attended college at Sul Ross in Alpine, and graduated from there in 1964.

Payne was a math major at Sul Ross and minored in Chemistry. In high school, the only reward or honor that he remembers is placing in the Interscholastic League slide rule contest.

"I enjoyed math," he says. "When I got in college I seriously considered majoring in chemistry and minoring in math but when I got to thinking about it, I decided that I liked math better — so I switched."

In May of 1964, Payne married and moved to Hereford. He began teaching math in Hereford schools in September of 1964. During that summer, Payne worked in Reimers vegetable shed. He has been teaching in Hereford now for four years and for the last two years has been in charge of transporting students to the Interscholastic League contests.

During college, Payne took up photography and was a photographer for the college annual and paper.

"I enjoy photography and like to take pictures of things now and then. When in college," Payne states, "I won third place on a picture that I had sent to state. Once I took pictures to illustrate a book called 'About the Southwest,' but to my knowledge, it hasn't been published. For most of my photography now, I use a Kodak 35 millimeter and a small twin lens reflex. I like shooting scenery pictures most of all and of course, pictures of the family."

Payne now resides with his wife and daughter Sharon, who is nine months old at 205 Jewel.

During college, he had obtained his lifesaving certificate, and began working at the pool in Hereford in the summer of 1965. During the winter of 1966, Payne got his Water Safety Instructor Certificate from West Texas University, and this qualified him for the job of manager. In the summer of 1967, he was made manager of the Hereford Municipal pool.

"My job consists mainly of training lifeguards and my help. Generally I make sure everyone does his job so that the children swimming are as safe as possible. We've had to pull a few kids out of the water, but none have ever been in real serious trouble. I also teach swimming lessons for Red Cross."

Fishing is another hobby enjoyed by Payne, and when asked what kind of fishing that he liked, he said, "I enjoy fishing and just fish anywhere that there is water." Then he added, "I really think that I like fishing for catfish best."

Golf is another hobby, but the most enjoyed entertainment for him and his wife seems to be television. About once a week with the golf, then at nights, relaxing in front of the television. He enjoys reading, but only magazines and newspapers. They take the Readers Digest and Payne seems to like reading that best.

Teaching at Hereford High School for the next few years are his plans at the time.

"I don't really have any specific plans now. I'm taking courses at WT and this course will finish my master's and I will

FLOYD PAYNE, manager of the Hereford Municipal Pool, possesses a talent for work other than swimming. Teaching math classes in Hereford High School is one, and working with photography is a constant hobby.

Miss Karen Gray Weds In Albuquerque Church

The marriage of Miss Lura Karen Gray, relative of Hereford residents and daughter of a former resident, to John Randolph Leebrick Jr. was solemnized Saturday afternoon in Asbury Methodist Church at Albuquerque, home city of the bride and her parents.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob L. Gray of Albuquerque, granddaughter of the late Mrs. W. R. Scheihagen and niece of Mrs. Byrdie Dee Fellers of Hereford. Mrs. Gray formerly lived in Hereford and her daughter has visited here frequently. The bridegroom's parents live in Old Lyme, Conn.

Miss Gray was a sophomore student in Texas Tech last term, and Mr. Leebrick received his BA degree there in January. After a honeymoon trip to El Paso, the couple will go to a home at Champaign, Ill. Mrs. Leebrick plans to enroll at the University of Illinois.

The Rev. Clement E. Lewis read the ceremony in which Mr. Gray gave his daughter in marriage. Her attendants were her cousin Mrs. R. G. Tippett of El Paso, matron of honor; Miss Julie Haas, maid of honor and Miss Drenda Williams of Fort graduate at the end of the summer. After I've got my master's, I think that I want to go on working for my doctor's degree. My wife is working on her bachelor's right now. She's planning on majoring in elementary education."

Payne will continue teaching courses at Hereford High School and will teach about what he has been working with in the past. Related Math I and II, Algebra I & II, Geometry, Trigonometry, and Analysis are the courses that he is now teaching. Last year, Payne was made head of the math department from grades one through twelve.

Worth, bridesmaid, Jack Basey of Columbus, O., was best man; Don Fellers of Amarillo and Dick Fellers of Bovina, the bride's cousins, were groomsmen.

Her sisters, Misses Nan and Nell Gray, presented wedding music.

The bride wore an A-line gown of white linen, entrain, with Venise lace shadowing the Digoire bodice and brief sleeves. A double crown of lace held her illusion veil. Her bouquet was of daisies and yellow roses, and she carried a lace and linen handkerchief which belonged to Mrs. Scheihagen.

Attendants' frocks were yellow voile trimmed with lace and their bouquets similar to the bride's.

For the reception in fellowship hall the table was centered with a family heirloom bowl of frosted crystal filled with daisies and yellow roses, flanked by yellow tapers. Fresh daisies topped the wedding cake, which was served by Mrs. John Roberts, Misses Marilyn Turner of Fort Worth and Toni Parker of Lubbock. Miss Nell Gray and Miss Janet Murdoch of Lubbock poured punch.

Tiny yellow net bags of rice were tied to a miniature tree on the registry table where Miss Valerie Gray presided. Out-of-city guests included Mrs. Fellers of Hereford, the Dick Fellers and Don Fellers families, and the bride's grandmother, Mrs. J. D. Gray of DeLeon.

Eggs and rabbits heralded the spring season centuries before the first Easter basket was filled, the National Geographic Society says. Persians, Phoenicians, Greeks and Romans all associated eggs with the waking earth. The Chaldeans of ancient Babylonia chose the rabbit as a spring fertility symbol.

"IT'S OVER THE LINE!" — Rev. Al Baum, pastor of the Greenwood Baptist Church held a horn-toad race for the final day of Vacation Bible School, at Jaycee Park at noon Wednesday. There was also a picnic as part of the activities—and several toad winners.

All Family Of Browns To Gather

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Brown, 335 Ave. A, will welcome all their children and grandchildren today for a family reunion which will continue as out-of-town relatives visit through the week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Zellner and their four children are coming from Albuquerque, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Y. Bacle and two children from Los Angeles. Mrs. Zellner is the former Nellie Jean Brown, Mrs. Bacle the former Inez Brown.

They will be joined for the family get-together by the children who live in Hereford, daughter Francene, Mrs. Darven King, with Mr. King and their two children, and son David Brown.

Marriage Is Planned

The marriage of Miss Nita Wanie Neeley of Olton to Pvt. Ronnie E. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jones, Route 5, is to be solemnized at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Hart Camp Baptist Church near Olton. Friends of the couple are invited to the wedding.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Omar J. Neeley of the Hart Camp community.

Talk of Texas

By JACK MAGUIRE

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY — Napoleon's dream of someday ruling the world stretched to a small colony on the Trinity River near where Liberty now stands.

It was called Champ d'Asile and was established in 1818 by General Charles Lallemand who had been exiled with the French emperor. Lallemand hoped to build a military colony of French patriots that would aid Joseph Bonaparte to win the crown of Mexico.

Once established, the Texas colony spent most of its time in military drill and almost none on farming. Food soon ran short. And when the colonists learned that the Spaniards were sending an expedition to investigate their activities, the group fled to Galveston Island and the protection of Pirate Jean Lafitte.

Lafitte felt a patriotic duty to help his countrymen, but he didn't like the attention their presence attracted from the Spanish. He hastened them on their way by giving some of them a ship and sending the others packing to Natchitoches and Alexandria, Louisiana.

Thus ended the Napoleonic era in Texas.

WHEN MEN WERE MEN — Women were never allowed to touch a gun in the old days. Many hunters believed that the touch of a woman's hands spoiled the accuracy of a gun forever.

FIGHTING WORDS — Texans don't like their brags about their state demeaned, especially by outsiders. And sometimes visitors have to learn the hard way.

In 1933, a reporter checked into a Sweetwater hotel, went into the dining room and ordered a beer.

"Where are all the cows?" he asked. "There are signs all around saying that this is the Hereford capital of the world, but I haven't seen a single cow."

A deputy sheriff at another table answered the question by putting the reporter in the city's drunk tank for the night. The next morning, the judge fined him $17.50.

IT TAKES ALL KINDS — Harris County, with well over a million people, is troubled by wolves.

On the northwest outskirts of Houston, where there still is open prairie, Charles H. Grisbee traps or shoots about 20 gray wolves each year. He hangs the carcasses from a barbed wire fence at the intersection of Jackrabbit Road (Farm Road 1980) and Clay Road under a tourist-stopping sign that reads "Wolf Corner."

At the candlelight altar of First Methodist Church, Miss Jeanette Roe and Roy Walden repeated wedding vows Thursday evening with the Rev. Matt Matthews, associate pastor, conducting the ceremony.

After a honeymoon in New Mexico, the couple will be at home next week in this city.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Roe, Route 1, and Mr. Walden's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Walden of Clovis, N.M.

Set on columns flanked by seven-branched candelabra baskets of white gladiolas and daisies formed a background for the bridal party. Family pews in the church were marked with white satin bows.

Miss Cynthia Hanna, cousin of the bride, was her maid-of-honor and Craig Walden of Clovis acted as best man. Ushers were Grant Hanna and Bud Mullinix of Clovis. Kristi Williams was the flower girl who walked before the bride carrying a basket of rose petals.

Miss Joette Hanna lighted candles at the altar as John Morris Fielder played a prelude of organ music. Troy Gandy of Boys Ranch sang the solos, Bless This House and Wedding Prayer.

The bride's portrait gown was the one worn in her own wedding by her sister, Mrs. Gandy. The Chantilly lace bodice, fitted at the natural waistline, was fashioned with scallops of the lace, re-embroidered, at the squared neckline and the wrists.

Fully gathered tiers of lace and tulle in pannier effect added bouffancy to the lace-edged tulle skirt, which was poised over hoops. Her veil drifted to the waist from a headpiece of lace petals ornamented with seed pearls and sequins.

She carried a bridal Bible with a cluster of miniature daisies tied with pale yellow streamers. As a luck piece she wore her mother's wedding band.

The maid of honor was dressed in yellow, with sheer nylon covering the lace empire bodice and forming the floor-length skirt. Gloves of formal length complemented the short sleeves. Her bouquet was a cascade of daisies. The flower girl wore a similar frock in miniature.

Miss Debra Mullinix of Clovis registered guests before the wedding. They came from Clovis and Albuquerque, N.M., Canyon, Amarillo and Boys Ranch as well as Hereford.

Mr. and Mrs. Walden left immediately after the ceremony for the New Mexico trip, the bride wearing a gold knit suit with matching accessories and the corsage from her wedding bouquet.

She is a secretarial employee of the Hereford City Police Department, and is a graduate of Hereford High School. Mr. Walden on the police force here, attended Clovis schools.

Out-Of-City Guests Here At Wedding

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding of Miss Theresa LeGate and Rickey Hutson last Sunday included the bridegroom's grandparents, Mrs. Grace Hutson, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Carpenter, all of Elk City, Okla.

Other of the bridegroom's relatives were Mr. and Mrs. Tony Sanders of Elk City, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy May of Roosevelt, Okla.

Friends here from other states were Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Ross, Mr. and Mrs. John Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leach of Garden City, Kan.; the A. C. McKinleys of Texhoma, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Clint Cross of Syracuse, Kan., Randy Galloway of Nowata, Okla., Miss Beth Crumb of Oklahoma City.

From Texas cities were Mrs. Lucille Hutchins of Canyon; Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Hamilton Jr., the Bill Dilworths and daughters, Kathy and Teresa, Misses Jeanie Jacob and Sally Pumphrey of Amarillo.

Also Miss Margie Matthews of Seminole, Miss Elizabeth Kelly and Lewis Miew of Briscoe, Richard Kendall of Burger, Bob Tolleson of Stinnett, Joe Murphee and Johnny Mars of Friona and Kyle Sheets of Farwell.

Look Who's New

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Salas Garcia are the parents of a daughter, Clara Beth Teresa, born July 1, 7 lbs. 10 1/2 ozs.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wayne Mauldin are the parents of a daughter, Edith Lawasia, born July 2, 6 lbs. 8 3/4 ozs.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Russell are the parents of a daughter, Mary Frances, born July 2, 7 lbs. 12 3/4 ozs.

Mr. and Mrs. Jose M. Lopez are the parents of a son, Lee Roy, born July 2, 6 lbs. 6 ozs.

Mr. and Mrs. John Howard Claypool are the parents of a son, Coe John, born July 2, 7 lbs. 14 1/2 ozs.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Carroll Davis are the parents of a son, Matthew Wayne, born July 5, 8 lbs. 12 1/2 ozs.

Tonga's 325-pound monarch, Taula'ahau, is an enthusiastic surfer, fisherman, and scuba diver.

September Vows Planned

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Wylie of Route 3, Friona, announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Gay, to J. Hilton Henderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim H. Henderson, 702 Irving.

The wedding is planned for the afternoon of September 1 at Tenth Street Church of Christ in Friona, with all friends of the couple invited.

Miss Wylie and fiance are both junior students at West Texas State University, Canyon. She was graduated from Friona High School in 1966 and Mr. Henderson from Hereford High School.

Relatives Of Vietnam Vets Will Be Guests For Movie

By EARL MOSELEY
Staff Writer

Deaf Smith County parents and in the case of those who are married — the wives — of servicemen who have had any connection with the war in Vietnam will be the guests of the Brand Publishing Company for the showing of "The Green Berets" at the Star Theatre in Hereford during its showing here July 24-30.

Originally, Star manager Francis Hardwick requested a 25-cent service charge for such guests (which would have gone into the Commonwealth-Frontier Theatre circuit's Employees Benefit Association), but this fee has been dropped altogether in view of the importance of the showing.

"The Green Berets" is the first big-scale motion picture concerning the war in Vietnam. It stars John Wayne as the head of a Special Forces unit who takes charge of a strike camp located in Viet Cong territory near Da Nang. With his unit is David Janssen, as a newspaper reporter with reservations about the war. Others in the cast are Jim Hutton, Aldo Ray, Raymond St. Jacques and Bruce Cabot. With a length of two hours and 21 minutes, the film is in color and Panavision.

Within Deaf Smith County there have been three casualties during the past eight months — James Pavlicek, Arthur Tijerina and Tom Galvez. There have been a number of others who have suffered serious wounds there, and still others who have served there as members of all branches of the Armed Forces. Yet, a spokesman for the American Red Cross recently told Hereford members that "in the past, we had all the community backing in the world. But it is not true today. During World War II, there were all kinds of movies about what was going on and the people were up on what we were trying to get through to them. But how many movies have you seen about Vietnam? Vietnam has gotten no such publicity."

(Only one other movie has been made about the Vietnam war — "A Yank in Vietnam" in 1964, which was produced, directed and starred in by Marshall Thompson. A modest feature in black and white, it was seen by few Americans according to all published reports.)

John Wayne, who co-directed "The Green Berets" with Ray Kellogg, is not new to giving directions from behind the camera. He previously directed "The Alamo" on location in Bracketville, Texas, in 1959, which became a blockbuster hit throughout the world later and gave a fairly accurate account of the battle for Texas Independence.

Whether "The Green Berets" is an accurate account of the war in Vietnam or not could only be attested to by the real veterans of the war there. Wayne shot his new picture on location at Fort Benning, Georgia and in the Carolinas — with little actual camera work in the Vietnamese war zones. However, the director-star has made actual visits there through the U. S. O.

Boxoffice Magazine, published exclusively for theatremen, says: "The Green Berets" has been garnering lots of controversial prerelease publicity, and now that's it's here, the controversy will no doubt be heightened. As a war film, it's entertaining and fairly standard, but because it deals in a simplistic way with the most unpopular war in American history and a war whose victims will be dying at the very moment it is being screened, it's bound to create strong feeling on both sides."

Hardwick explained that it will be necessary to have an increased admission charge for the regular public for the picture — to $1.25 for adults, 85-cents for students with cards, and 50-cents for children. This situation, he said, is the result of showing the picture along with the larger cities. "It still represents a saving of 50 cents for those who might travel to the other cities now to see the picture," he pointed out.

He also explained that the film exchanges will often "pull" a booking on a new picture in smaller towns without a higher admission "if the picture catches on big in the cities" and force them to show it much later. "The Green Berets," he reported, has become a top picture throughout the nation — and in Texas — and his slight increase in admission should prevent a cancellation of booking here, in lieu of holdover bookings in the larger cities.

The list of Vietnam veterans is incomplete for Deaf Smith County. Those who wish to see "The Green Berets" as guests of the Hereford Brand should mail a postal card to: "The Green Berets," Post Office Box 673, Hereford, Texas 79045. There is no wish for anyone entitled to the guest admission to be slighted.

The Star Theatre will admit the mothers and fathers of local servicemen who are now in Vietnam, have had duty in Vietnam, or are scheduled for Vietnam duty, along with the wives and all children under 18 of the parents.

The war in Vietnam has been called "The Unpopular War" in many circles.

History shows that Vietnamese tribes first settled in the Red River delta about 400 B. C. China conquered these tribes during the 100's B.C. But in 939 A. D. the tribes revolted and created their own empire. At about that time, the Vietnamese began to push south from the Red River region. By the late 1700's, the Vietnamese occupied all present-day Vietnam.

Between 1600 and 1800, the Vietnamese fought many wars with their neighbors in southeastern Asia and with the Chinese.

French Roman Catholic missionaries began to arrive in Vietnam during the 1600's. The Vietnamese rulers tried unsuccessfully to prevent them from establishing missions. Persecution of the missionaries increased during the 1800's and Napoleon III sent a fleet to Vietnam in 1858. The French first seized Saigon, then conquered Cochinchina and made it a French colony in 1864.

During the next 20 years, the French gained control of Annam and Tonkin, and made them protectorates. By 1893, France had also extended its control to include Laos and Cambodia. These two territories and the three divisions of Vietnam made up French Indochina.

Japan occupied French Indochina during World War II. At the end of the war an independent government was established. Called the Democratic Republic of Vietnam, it was led by Ho Chi Minh, communist leader of the Vietnam League for Independence. France recognized the republic as a free state in the French Union.

But France withdrew its recognition in December 1946, when fighting broke out between France and the "Vietminh." The fighting at first seemed to be a rebellion against the French, but it developed into a struggle between the communist and Western powers for control of Southeast Asia.

Most Vietnamese resented the French more than the Vietminh, and refused to cooperate in the struggle against the communists. To gain support of the Vietnamese people, France restored to power the former emperor of Annam, Bao Dai, in 1949. Fighting continued until 1954 when the Vietnamese defeated the French at Dien Bien Phu, in western Tonkin. The 55-day siege of this fortress cost the French about 16,000 casualties. The Vietminh lost about 20,000.

In 1954, an international conference at Geneva, Switzerland, divided Vietnam into two parts, near the 17th parallel. Northern Vietnam remained communist.

The United States offered financial and technical assistance to the new Republic of South Vietnam, during the second term of President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In 1959, communist-supported guerrilla forces from North Vietnam called "Viet Cong" began moving into South Vietnam, terrorizing the rural people. The United States sent military advisers to South Vietnam to help train the Vietnamese troops that were battling the communists.

President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Vietnam proclaimed a state of emergency on Oct. 18, 1961, because of increased Viet Cong guerrilla fighting. In March 1962, South Vietnam began a program to move thousands of rural people into fortified villages to protect them from Viet Cong guerrilla bands. In addition to giving large amounts of aid, the U. S. government permitted its military advisers to accompany Vietnamese soldiers into combat. John F. Kennedy was then President of the United States.

In 1963, opposition grew to the government's repressive policies in South Vietnam. People demonstrated and rioted in Hue and Saigon. Several Buddhist monks burned themselves to death in protest against alleged persecution by the government. The U. S. urged Ngo Dinh Diem to change his policies, but he refused, at the urging of his brother. On Nov. 1, 1963, a military junta led by Lieutenant General Duong Van Minh overthrew the government. The rebels killed Ngo Dinh Diem and his brother. At the same time, Madame Ngo Dinh Nhu was in the United States trying to rally support for Ngo Dinh Diem. She was granted asylum in France.

A 23-member Revolutionary Military Council set up a provisional government with Duong Van Minh as chief of state. The government abolished martial law, promised a new constitution and free election later, and pledged a stronger fight against the Viet Cong.

By 1964, nearly 175 U. S. military advisers had lost their lives in Vietnam. Over 15,000 U. S. military men were then serving there. Despite U. S. aid, the South Vietnam Army was unable to beat back the communists.

Late in January 1964, another military junta led by Major General Nguyen Khanh overthrew the ruling military council. He became premier and retained Duong Van Minh as chief of state, and formed a 35-member military council to help run the country.

And the fight has continued, with U. S. Military aid, against the Viet Cong since that time.

The American Association of Museums lists 4,595.

Concerning Veterans

Q — I will not be released from active duty until late this summer, just in time to enroll in college for the Fall semester. Can I get a certificate of eligibility from the Veterans Administration now so that I can present it to the school when I enroll?

A — No. In applying to the VA for a Certificate of Eligibility for G. I. Bill educational benefits, you must furnish a copy of your Report of Separation (DD Form 214) with the application. And you cannot obtain this necessary form until you are actually separated from the Armed Forces. However, this should present no problem. Your application will be handled without delay by the VA regional office where your records will be maintained. And you will receive an educational assistance allowance dating back to the time you started school.

Girls Are Ready To Leave For Exciting Summer Trip

By VICKIE INMAN
Staff Writer

Canoeing and hiking trips through the wilds of Montana and Minnesota are set this month for three girls in Horizon groups in Hereford.

Representing Hereford at the biennial national conference July 8 to 27 of Horizon Clubs in Estes Park, Colo., will be Miss Kay Golden, 17, Miss Cynthia Lea, 16, and Miss Rhonda Stewart, 16.

The three are scheduled to leave Sunday morning, July 7, for Denver where they will spend the night before traveling to Estes Park. They are going by car with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Lea, 405 Ave. L.

Conservation is the theme of the Horizon convention this year. Over 1,000 girls from all parts of the United States will attend.

Four days will be spent in conference sessions at Estes Park; then the girls will split into 16 travel groups for 12-day trips into different areas of the United States.

Destinations range from the Ozark mountain rivers to the Southern Pacific coast, and as far north as the International Peace Park on the Canadian border.

Groups will be traveling by boat, canoe, horseback, bus, plane, jeep or covered wagon.

After the trips, the groups will return to Estes Park for four days to compare notes. Reports and discussions of the various trips are set for this time.

Miss Lea and Miss Golden are in the group studying conservation along the boundary waters between Minnesota and Canada. Members of the group will fly from Estes Park to Minneapolis for a three-day trip on Minnesota lakes. The girls will then back pack into Canada and visit forest rangers and Indian reservations.

Back packing means the girls will carry everything they are taking in a pack strapped on their back.

Miss Stewart is going to Waterton River and Glacier National Park in Montana on the Canadian border. Her group will be taking a pack trip into the wilderness areas and on into the International Peace Park to camp and hike.

Since the girls will have to carry their belongings at some point during their travels, they aren't taking a great deal. Warm, rugged clothes are the rule since their hiking trips will take them into cooler climates.

The three were chosen on the basis of overall club records and general knowledge about conservation of natural resources. About 15 to 20 Horizon girls registered for the trip. Only three could be chosen from this area.

Selection was based on the girls' written reports; interviews; reports from Horizon Club leaders, parents, school representatives; and activities in club, school, church and community.

Miss Stewart, the daughter of Mrs. Zelma Stewart, 707 Blewins, works as an assistant at the library. A junior next year, she has been a member of Bluebirds, Camp Fire and Horizon since the third grade and is now a member of Cuntinta Horizon Club. Miss Golden is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. Z. Golden and a member of Wa-cun-ya Horizon Club. She joined Bluebirds in the second grade and went on to Camp Fire and Horizon. She will be a senior in high school next year.

Miss Lea is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lea and will be a junior next year. She has been active in Camp Fire since the fifth grade. She is a member of Cuntinta Horizon Club.

Hereford Included In State Survey

AUSTIN — Pollsters for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department his week began household surveys in Dallas, Fort Worth, Amarillo, Houston, Port Arthur, San Antonio, Beaumont and Orange in an effort to determine the type of outdoor recreation preferred by Texans.

These cities are the first of 113 cities and towns and 39 counties chosen at random to determine how much of what kind of outdoor recreation is and can be utilized by Texans.

Cities where interviews are scheduled to begin next week include Austin, Midland, Odessa, Lubbock and El Paso.

Upon completion, a total of 5,000 families throughout the State will be interviewed.

Addresses and residential blocks where the interviews will be taken were chosen on a random block basis by Texas A & M University to encompass the wide range of income, age, education level and occupational fields.

Information obtained from these surveys will be used in updating the State of Texas Comprehensive Outdoor Recreation Plan which is required for participation in Federal funds available under the Land and Water Conservation Act of 1965.

The data collected will also be made available to the various governmental and private suppliers of outdoor recreation areas for their uses in formulating or confirming decisions related to providing outdoor recreation facilities for the public.

Mark Gosdin, park services director of the Department, says many aspects of development in our State park system depends on information gained in the survey.

Gosdin said each Better Business Bureau and Chamber of Commerce in each of the 113 cities had been notified of these surveys. In addition, each pollster has been provided an identification card which will be presented on request.

Cities to be included in the statewide survey are Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio, Houston, Amarillo, Midland, Odessa, El Paso, Lubbock, Abilene, Wichita Falls, Temple, Belton, Killean, Waco, Austin, Beaumont, Port Arthur, Galveston, Texas City, La Marque, Corpus Christi, Brownsville, Harlingen, San Benito, McAllen, Pharr, Edinburg, Borger, Pampa, Hereford, Plainview, San Angelo, Big Spring, Del Rio, Pecos, Sherman, Denison, Vernon, Corsicana, Tyler, Marshall, Huntsville, Bay City, Laredo, Beeville, Kingsville, Perryton, Dumars, Stinnett, Post, Lufkin, Brownwood, Texarkana, New Braunfels, Uvalde, Eagle Pass, College Station, Morton, Colorado, Ballinger, Brady, Big Lake, Fort Stockton, Quanah, Bowie, Nocona, Plano, Lewisville, Ranger, Ennis, Crockett, Clarksville, Hillsboro, Marlin, Teague, Llano, Taylor, La Grange, Crystal City, Cleveland, Liberty Day, Palacios, Refugio, Raymondville and Premont.

Also included are Sunray, Fritch, Lorenzo, Vega, Hale Center, Stanton, Eden, Dell City, Fort Davis, Knox City, Honey Grove, Pilot Point, Leonard, Saint Jo, Detroit, Washkom, Cooper, Zavalla, Hubbard, Rosebud, Three Rivers, Schulenberg, Boerne, Nixon, Sealey, Bellville, Hull, Woodville, Goiland and Orange Grove.

WHERE DOES FOOD DOLLAR GO? A big share goes to labor. Of the total cost of moving food from the farmer to the housewife, wage earners in the food industry get an estimated 50 percent.

On Monday the Happy Workers 4-H Club entertained with a covered dish supper at the Community Center. The members honored their sponsors, the West Hereford Home Demonstration Club women. The girls entertained with songs and with an apron review. Guests were Mrs. Wes Bradley, Mrs. D. R. Grimes, Bertha Rowe, Alice Cox, Mrs. John Jacobsen Sr., Evelyn Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Coy Radney and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fox and family, Rita Huckert, Argen Draper and Mr. and Mrs. Ell Anders and family. Club members were Ruth Fowler, Linda and Late Campus, Shirley and Estelle Anders, Karen Fox, and Kathy Radney.

Neil Leub, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lueb, is home for two weeks vacation from his school Spartan School of Aeronautics in Tulsa, Okla.

Recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lueb was an aunt which Mrs. Lueb had not visited in over thirty years or any of her family. Katherine Erdman of Lincoln and a son of Grants, New Mex., Mr. and Mrs. Joe Erdman and Sister Mary Carmelita of St. Louis, Ill., spent several days in Hereford.

Gary and Karen Jones of Colorado are spending several extra days here with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wagner. Mrs. Lynn Jones was here on a visit but returned to Colorado to prepare for a move.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wright and Judy and Dawn recently returned home from a week's visit in Omaha, Neb., where they visited with his sister and family Tech Sgt. and Mrs. David Self. Terri Self returned to Hereford for an indefinite time visiting with paternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Self and maternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Thomas visited in Post over the weekend with his mother and husband Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Thuet, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Red Floyd of Las Vegas, Nev., Mr. and Mrs. Wagoner Johnson and John and Jerry, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Thomas and children, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Thomas, Vicky and Benny of Goldsmith. On Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hedrick and John Bill and Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Thuet, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Hendricks of Amarillo joined the group.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Ethridge returned to Hereford on Wednesday after spending some time at Glorieta at the Church Lodge for a Training Study course.

Mr. and Mrs. John Leub of Boulder and Mrs. Dennis Green and children of Littleton, Colo. have returned home after visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lueb.

Mrs. M. C. Kaul and Mrs. Bess Werner spent Friday in Amarillo visiting with Mrs. Werner's brother Gordon Ridgeway and Mrs. Gordon Ridgeway. Both live in rest homes. Friday was his birthday so they helped him enjoy the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Durstine of Friona were Sunday afternoon guests in the M. C. Kaul home. The Durstines had been at Conchas Lake for two weeks.

Mrs. Red Floyd and Mrs. L. G. Thuet, Sr., of Las Vegas and Post spent Tuesday here with their niece and granddaughter and family Mr. and Mrs. John Bob Drake, Michael and Whitney. Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Thomas, Deborah and Dan and J. C. Morrison and Judith joined them in the afternoon.

The Westway HD Club met on Thursday afternoon at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn to help package quilt scraps for a Mental Hospital in Wichita Falls. Club members took a break and adjourned to the kitchen where Argen Draper gave the program on Food Poison and Food Spoilage. Members present were Mesdames Fred Sherman, Andrew Kershen, Donald Douglas, J. C. Morrison, T. B. Thomas, Albert Lamb and a guest, Mrs. Pauline Matson.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Holland of Norman, Okla., spent Wednesday night visiting with Mrs. Bess Werner. The Hollands are the former owners of the old Prisoner of War farm south of Hereford. They were in Hereford on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Auten and Beverly returned home on Tuesday from a week's visit in Omaha, Neb., with their son Capt. and Mrs. Jimmy D. Auten, Jamie Jonathon, and Jason. Both families drove to Council Bluffs to visit with Tech. Sgt. David and Mrs. Self. On the trip home the Autens stopped in Wichita, Kan., to visit with his nephew and family, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Auten, Dwight, Richard, Gene, and Kelly.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Saulcy left on Friday to visit in Portales with her brother and family Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Davis. Mr. Davis was unable to attend the J. J. (Pappy) Davis reunion held at the Municipal Beach Park in Carlsbad, New Mex., held on Saturday and Sunday. Mrs. Johnny Ballard of Almagordo joined the Sauleys. Three New Novels In County Library

Novels dealing in evil, a fight for life, and the passions, pressures, and problems of working at the "Aviation Cross-Roads of the world," all can now be found in the county library, librarians have announced.

Phyllis A. Whitney's new book HUNTER'S GREEN lives up to the expectations of her readers. In this story Eve North returns to Athmore after three years' separation from her husband Justin; she finds the great estate - and Justin himself - vastly changed. Eve too has changed. She knows now the mistakes she made in her marriage in the past, and she now dares to win back the love of her own husband. Like another Eve, she wanders into the gardens of Athmore, unsuspecting.

Yet she has reason to fear. Justin's brother Marc had once before placed her in a compromising position in that place of secrets - the green velvet room. Justin had believed Marc and never forgiven her. Now Marc waits for her at Athmore. Then, too, she has been warned that Justin has made up his mind at last to divorce her in order to marry Alicia Daven - the cool, serene Alicia whose quiet assurance comes from generations at Grovesend, and who has always taunted the American Eve with her tempting of Justin.

Old Daniel - just before he is sent to his death - tries to warn Eve. It is he who carved from the green-black yew a totemic garden, one of the marvels of Athmore. The dark trees are clipped into the shape of chessmen, at a game forever in play. The black rook stands poised in readiness, like a hunter ready for the kill, challenging the white king. Daniel cries to Eve, "It's the black rook's play!" - but he dies before Eve can learn his fateful meaning. Eve finds herself entrapped on a chessboard of evil, unsure of her next move, yet aware that the black rook will move again - this time to destroy her.

The story of DONBAS, by JACQUES SANDULESCU, is an incredible real account of escape from a Russian labor camp: an adventure story of unusual warmth, spirit, and optimism.

During World War II, the author was a 15-year-old boy in his native Rumania, which was then under German occupation. When the Russians advanced across the country, driving the Nazis before them, Jacques was picked up by the Soviets on his way to school. Along with hundreds of others, he was herded into a crowded freight car and transported to Russia to work in the dreaded slave labor camps.

Jacques was sent to a coal mine. Despite the beatings, the inadequate housing, the overwork, and the incredible cold, he survived.

Then he was injured in a mine cave-in, and immobilized. He seized a desperate slim chance and, despite his injuries, escaped.

In the dead of winter he made his way across Russia to ward safety. He was weak, hungry, and alone. But in a most surprising way he was helped on his journey to freedom by many Russians. Finally, he reached an American hospital in Allied-occupied Germany.

This is a brutal story, yet a heartwarming and affirmative one. In adversity the boy became a man, and his will to survive, his refusal to be dehumanized, made him a most unusual and appealing hero.

AIRPORT, by Arthur Haley, is a fictional story - fast paced, exciting, richly textured with memorable characters. Yet we think you will find it more than a story. It could be about your airport too. Lincoln International Airport calls itself boastfully: Aviation Crossroads of the World. Yet those with inside knowledge - like Mel Bakersfeld, the airport's brilliant yet career-jinxed general manager - are aware of grave deficiencies. Operational areas are outmoded to the point of danger: air traffic control is overtaxed; the supposedly-modern terminal has become a whitened sepulcher.

Against this background is set a dramatic, behind-scenes story of seven eventful airport hours during a mid-winter snowstorm, and of the men and women - with pressures, passions and problems of their own - who share them.

You will meet: JOE PATRONI, cocky and genial airline maintenance chief, striving to clear a disabled aircraft from an urgently needed runway; Air Traffic Controller KEITH BAKERSFELD, suffering stress, and conscience stricken by the memory of an air disaster for which he was responsible; TANYA LIVINGSTON, passenger relations agent (and attractive divorcee) whose suspicions, triggered by a sharp-eyed CUSTOMS INSPECTOR, reveal and unsuspected crisis; CAPTAIN (and check pilot) VERNON DEMEREST, arrogant, admired by women, and despising "ground bound penguins," especially Airport Commissioners; ELLIOT FREEMANTLE, crusading lawyer, leading a group of home owners incensed by airport noise; GWEN MEIGHEN, a hot tempered English brunette from Stewardess Row; ADA QUONSETT, a prim old lady who explains her so-easy techniques as an aerial stowaway; D. O. GUERRERO, a psychotic with a homemade bomb, and many others.

Clayton Will Attend Confab AUSTIN - State Representative Bill Clayton of Springlake is in Detroit this week attending the Second Annual National Conference of State and Federal Water Officials.

Clayton, Chairman of the Interim Water Committee of the Texas House of Representatives, was designated to attend the conference by House Speaker Ben Barnes.

Barnes has often cited Clayton as "the most knowledgeable public official in Texas on water conservation and development."

The water conference being held Tuesday through Thursday (July 9-11), will include reports and workshops on interstate water problems, state programs and problems, municipal problems and flood control.

Congress created the Bureau of Standards in 1901.

Washington Report

From Congressman
BOB PRICE 10TH DISTRICT, TEXAS

1223 LONGWORTH OFFICE BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C. • 205-3756

Since President Johnson limited bombing of the North last March 31, the Communists have renewed their attacks on Saigon civilian centers as well as military and supply centers and added massive rocket attacks. They have, according to Department of Defense estimates, infiltrated more than 29,000 troops into the south during the month of May alone, the highest of any month since the war began.

Some American officials had hoped for evidence by now that the North Vietnamese were actively considering moves toward de-escalation to match President Johnson's limitation on bombing over much of North Vietnam. But now the evidence is only that Hanoi is holding out for further U. S. concessions as the talks continue in Paris.

A U. S. Naval commander said that from a purely tactical military viewpoint, he saw no point in resuming the bombing as before, under the same target restrictions. "Of course, if we were allowed to take out Haiphong, that would be a different matter," he added. "But that is a political decision."

And that is a decision I advocated more than two years ago and still do. Haiphong is North Vietnam's principal port and main supply point for Soviet and Red Chinese war materials entering the country. As a fighter pilot in the Korean war, I know the frustration of allowing the enemy a sanctuary for supply and troop concentrations.

A recent paper drafted by the Republican Task Force on National Security headed by Neil H. McElroy and Thomas S. Gates, Jr., both of whom served as Secretary of Defense in the Administration of President Eisenhower, is titled "Gradualism — Fuel of Wars." The paper said of U. S. policy in Vietnam:

"Ironically, gradualism — designed to prevent intensification of war — does the very opposite by preventing timely use of force against aggression. While 'flexible response' blunts our first reactions, gradualism assures the aggressor that our subsequent reactions will also be cautiously phased to prevent over-application of force. Skillfully and patiently applied, the process can hardly fail to nourish a skirmish into a major war."

"Moreover, after each carefully restrained exclamation, gradualism dictates a 'pause.' This ingenious stratagem is in effect a one-sided military recess during which the enemy is impertuned to recalculate his risks and contritely review his indiscretions as his own depredations continue. The 'pause' occurring when the aggressor's force has been at least temporarily stalemated by our military effort, actually enables the enemy to recoup his strength at his most vulnerable moment. Thus rejuvenated by successive pauses, the struggle continues and intensifies.

"America's laboratory for testing the gradualism experiment has been Vietnam. There it has failed — it has prolonged and escalated the war. It has permitted North Vietnam to acquire the weapons, supplies and training from the Soviet Union and Communist China needed to maintain and expand its war-making capability and to withstand punishing attack. It has preserved the sanctuaries in which the Communists can safely regroup and reinforce. It has denied our own military the strength and decisiveness the circumstances have required. ... America's overwhelming power has been fended off, not by the enemy, but by our own hand."

President Eisenhower has reportedly voiced his opinion that when a nation applies force as we have in Vietnam, then the force should be overwhelming. We have the capability to apply such force which we should know by now is the only language the Communists understand or respect. It is long past time that we did so.

Rites Held For Grandchildren Of Local Couple

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Sherrill of Rt. 2, Hereford, were called to Lubbock to attend funeral services of their twin grandchildren.

Graveside services for Jerry Shane and Tammy Elaine Walton, twin son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Walton of Lubbock were held at Resthaven Memorial Park Wednesday at 4 p.m.

Funeral arrangements were under the direction of the Franklin Bartley Funeral Home. Rev. Elvin M. Waters, pastor of the Chapel Mission, officiated.

Survivors other than their parents and grandparents is a sister, Donna Jeannette, of the home.

The Waltons had lost another set of twins about 18 months ago.

Vickie Inman Is On Dean's List

Vickie L. Inman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burke Inman of 416 Star St., has been named to the Dean's List of the School of Journalism, University of Missouri-Columbia, for the 1967-68 winter semester.

Miss Inman is one of the 187 students who were named to the list. In order to be named to the Dean's List, a student must have at least a 3.0 grade average on a 4.0 scale. Approximately 28 per cent of the students in the School of Journalism were named to the Dean's List.

Miss Inman is currently employed at the Hereford Brand where she is receiving two hours credit toward her degree for her summer work.

At West Point, the plobe thrives, resigns, fails or is fired; he never "fades away." Post Edgar Allan Poe and artist James Abbott McNeill Whistler are two who didn't make it.

The fungus family contains no chlorophyll, produces spores instead of seeds and has no flowers or true roots.

W. T. CARMICHAEL, recently installed as president of the Hereford Rotary Club; presents to Les Combs, out-going president, a diamond pin in appreciation for the past year he served.

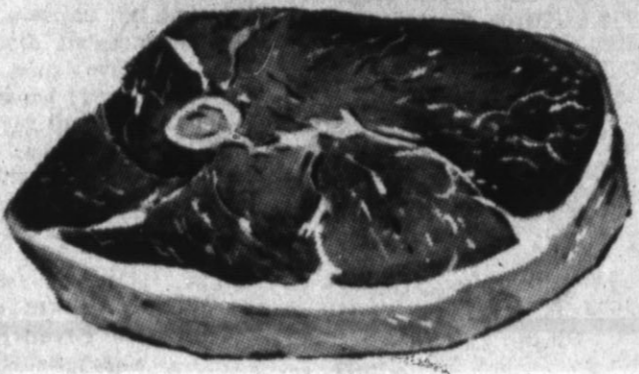

CAMPING OUT — Hereford Boy Scouts have been putting the newly donated land, which was given to them by the VFW and the American Legion, to use the past few weeks. They have been having camp-outs and holding other activities in the park.
