Temporary Officers Chosen To Work With County NFO

Gerald McCathern, Frank Zinser and Ron Crist were chosen temporary officers of the National Farmers Organization during the charter meeting of the county group Thursday night at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn.

McCathern will serve as chairman, Zinser as vice chairman and Crist as secretary until next meeting of the group July 25. Time for that meeting, which will include wives of the members, has been set for 9 p.m., but the place is not definite.

NFO members delayed electing permanent officers until more of the members could be present. Only 12 of the more than 50 members were present Thursday night. There also were some 15 other persons present. John Oster of Ethan, S.D., charter member of the original NFO, spoke at length to the group, describing the history of NFO and what it has done recently.

Looking over the small crowd, Oster said "one of the biggest fallacies in agriculture is the lack of interest farmers have shown in marketing responsibility. We use all of our time to produce it, then scream when prices go down and they tell us the reason is we have too much."

"One basic reason we can't get a fair price," he pointed out, "is that too many are willing to sell at the going market price."

Oster explained that the NFO started out in 1955 as a protest group and has grown at such a rate that some people are calling it the largest agriculture organization in the United States.

Many persons criticize NFO for holding back a product, said Oster, "but unless you're willing to use the holding action, you don't have a bargaining organization. Everyone uses it."

KC Members Will Meet Here

TEMPLE — (Special) — Approximately 110 Knights of Columbus in the Panhandle region will meet in Hereford July 21 at Hereford Council 2778 Hall on Country Club Drive.

Purpose of the all-day convocation beginning at 8 a. m., according to Willard Green of Temple, head of the 32,000-member organization in the state, will be to outline and help implement programs of community and religious action for 1968-69 by the Catholic men's councils in the Panhandle region.

Leading the conference will be David M. Poundstone of Amarillo, assisted by John Kratochvil, Charles A. Gallatin and Ernest Brockman.

During his description of NFO, Oster stressed the role the organization has played in raising prices of meat, grain and milk. "We should know what we're going to get for it (the product) when we plant it," he continued. "The law of supply and demand is not working for the American farmer."

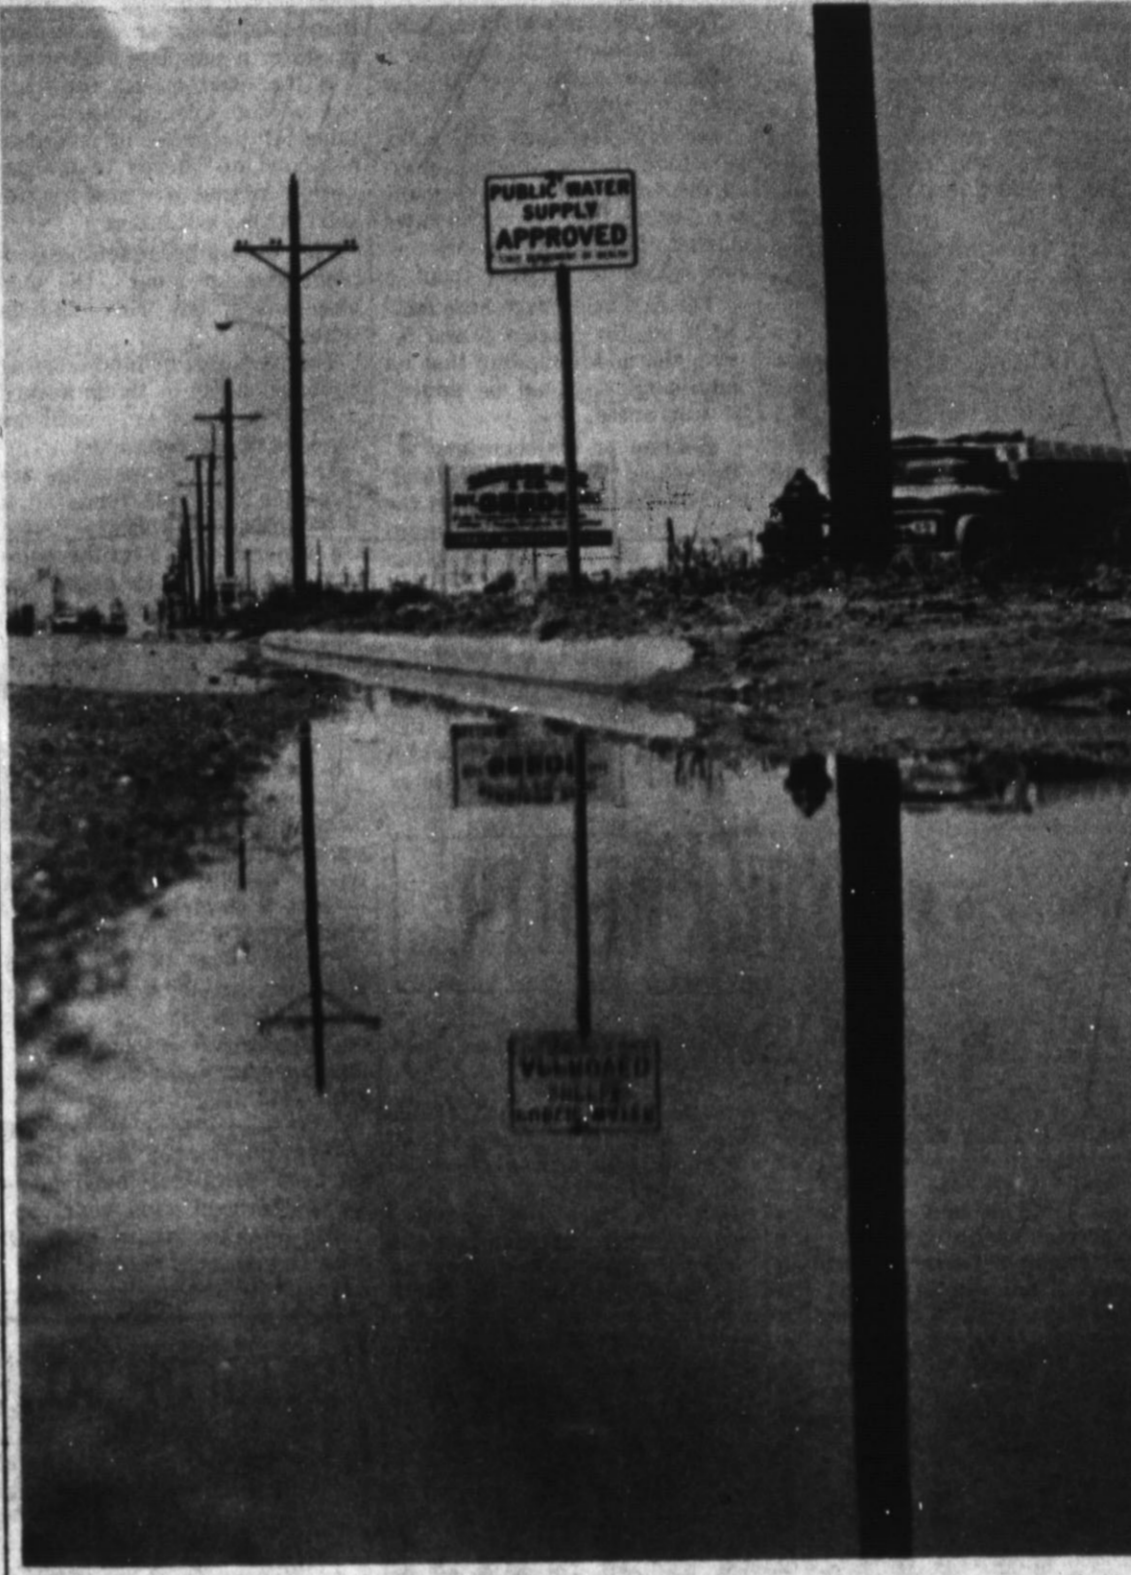

The situation today, said Oster, "is not just a farmer's problem. It's a businessman's problem too. Whenever a business folds, it is because the farmer has no money. Whenever you have a prosperous agriculture, you have a prosperous economy."

A list of the NFO members in Deaf Smith County was read and those present chose the temporary officers to coordinate activities. Oster said he is preparing to charter other counties in the Panhandle and will be back to Hereford July 25 for the next meeting of the local group and help charter it.

Absentee Votes Are High For Tuesday Election

On the final afternoon of absentee balloting for the revenue bond issue, the City of Hereford Clerk's office registered 46 such votes.

The $500,000 revenue bond issue for water facilities at Wilson and Company and vicinity will be balloted upon Tuesday at The Hereford Community Center on Park Avenue. There will be no other polling place. Voting will begin at 8 a. m. and the polls will close at 7 p. m.

Harvest Festival Tournament Is Set

The annual Harvest Festival Tournament sponsored by Hereford Duplicate Bridge Club will begin Thursday evening at Community Center and continue through Sunday afternoon, with Mrs. Pat Robbins as tournament chairman.

A special award, new in this year's tourney, is a traveling trophy named in honor of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Hill, who were instrumental in establishing and developing the Harvest Festival event here. This trophy will be presented to the player making the most master points during the tournament.

Trophies will be awarded to first place winners and master points will be given in accordance with the American Contract Bridge League schedule for sectional tournaments. A large number of players from other cities are expected to join Hereford bridge enthusiasts in the games.

Entry fees have been set at $2.50 for each session, $6 for Masters and Open play, including dinner between sessions. Any prospective entrant who needs a partner is invited to notify Mr. or Mrs. John E. McCleskey.

Opening the tournament will be a one-session event, Men's and Women's Pairs, at 8 p. m. Thursday. A two-session Masters and a two-session Non-Masters are set for Friday, with the first session beginning at 1:30 p. m. and the second at 8 p. m.

Open to all players, Saturday's first session will begin at 9:30 a. m., qualifying round for the open at 1:30 p. m. and final round at 8 p. m.

The tournament will end at 5:30 p. m. Sunday after a Team of Four event beginning at 1:30 p. m.

Rains Just Keep On Falling Here

Rains have come steadily in the past three days, making the moisture this week the highest recorded in several months. Crops have fared well under the rains, area farmers said.

KPAN radio station reported 1.95 in. of rain in town since Thursday, making the total for the year 6.86 in. Moisture for June totalled .33 in., while July moisture has already hit the 2.15 in. mark.

Bill Ellis, 12½ miles north of town, said he got a half inch of rain Friday night. "It was a nice shower and will really help the crops," he said.

Southeast of Hereford, Leo Witkowski recorded 1½ in. of moisture Friday night, Thursday night, he got .25 in. During the day he received .15 in., making a total of .40 in. for Thursday.

Witkowski said the rain came at a most opportune time for the crops.

Half inch was reported by Phillip Miller, 18 miles west of the city. He got .33 in. Thursday night and .13 in. Wednesday night, making a total of .96 in. for the three day period.

Gene King south of the city recorded .03 in. Friday night and a half inch each Thursday and Wednesday nights.

Lions Carnival Begins Thursday

A week of entertainment, rides and game booths begins next Thursday as the Lions Club Carnival gets underway for another year.

The annual event, sponsored by Hereford Lions Club, will run until the following Saturday, July 19-27.

S. B. Rhodes, who has brought the carnival to Hereford for the past 15 or 20 years, will again furnish rides. Hereford Lions Club members will sell tickets for the rides.

Sixteen booths, along with numerous rides, make up this year's carnival. Manned by members of the Lions Club, the booths include two concession stands, a bear pitch, a basketball pitch, a doll rack, number darts, bingo, foreign exchange booth and others.

The carnival will be open nights only with the possible exception of Saturday afternoons.

Money raised by the Lions Club through the carnival will go for the club's numerous yearly projects. The group sponsors a youth selected for the U. S. Band, Boy Scouts, Campfire Girls and the Crippled Children's Clinic at Kerrville.

Construction Bids Mailed, Bond Vote Will Be Watched

Bids and specs have been sent to four different bidders for the Wilson & Company plant according to Dewey Lyons, vice-president in charge of operations, in a message to Henry Sears, president of the First National Bank of Hereford.

Sears reported that the Wilson company's plans are running on schedule and that the bids would be opened on August 23 for the construction here. "Lyons said they thought they were all good bidders," Sears said, "and they are just as enthusiastic as we are about coming here. They feel that they can start construction as soon after September 1 as possible."

But Sears pointed out that Lyons and the Wilson & Company "are just waiting for the vote."

He indicated that this was in reference to the revenue bond issue election scheduled for Tuesday. Should this bond issue fail to pass, it would be impossible for the plant to be constructed here.

One Injured In Two Car Wreck

Karen G. Bagley of 509 Avenue G was reported to be in good condition at Deaf Smith County Hospital Saturday afternoon receiving treatment for injuries received in a two-car accident Thursday morning at the intersection of U. S. 60 and Funston Street.

Miss Bagley, 23, was going south preparing to turn east off Funston when her 1963 Chevrolet collided with a 1960 Chevrolet driven by Jose Hernandez Mirales of 512 Brevard. Each car had approximately $150 damage. Mirales was going west on U. S. 60.

Miss Roberson Is Working For Her Doctorate

Miss Sandy Roberson is attending St. John's College at Santa Fe, New Mex., this summer. She is working on her doctorate in literature.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. DeWard Roberson, 402 Union, Miss Roberson will teach this fall in the Clear Creek School System in Houston.

Sears urged the Brand to impress upon all Hereford qualified voters to go to the polls Tuesday and elect this bond with a wide majority — "to show Wilson and Company that we really do want them to come here, that we are behind them one-hundred per cent."

Wayne Thomas, chairman of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Industrial Development committee, reported that "Lyons is not the type of man who can be easily enthusiastic about various projects but he is enthusiastic about Hereford." He wants Hereford people to show their appreciation by turning out to vote.

Sears said that the Santa Fe interests have been reportedly in contact with Wilson & Company about their plans, and their answer has been "it's up to Hereford."

School Budget Approved, No Increase In Taxes Seen

By EARL MOSELEY Staff Writer

No increase in taxes was announced for the new school budget at the Thursday night meeting of the Hereford Independent School District board of trustees, which also contained the information that there would probably be no tax increase for the construction of a proposed elementary school for the September 1969 semester.

Approved was a budget totaling $2,597,323 for the 1968-69 term, as compared with an estimated budget total of $2,593,727 at the end of the current term.

Superintendent Johnny Clark Jr. pointed out to the trustees that the only big change in the new budget as compared to the previous year was the $40,000 listed for teaching supplies, against $33,000 that was spent in the same category during the past school year.

Considering the additional teachers and improvements the school system has had and will undergo, the trustees approved the new budget on its first reading with the opinion that the administration has done a remarkable job.

Superintendent Clark also pointed out that due to the surplus amount in the school's interest and sinking fund, there may be no need for an increase in taxes for the proposed new elementary school next year. "Only some state legislation, such as a raise in teacher's salaries, would make this necessary," he said. He reported that at this moment and continuing the trend, there would be enough money in the fund to cover a tax bond without having to get it from the taxpayer's pockets.

The athletic budget for the coming year will run $17,000 against the $19,000 listed for last year. Also it was pointed out that the school band program would be $600 cheaper next year, because there would be no All-State concerts scheduled. The band expense total during the 1967-68 term for trips only (which did not include the equipment) was $2,100. "This is our largest expense," trustee Hugh Clearman stated, "and most people do not understand this. They feel that the band is practically no expense at all, usually."

Clark told the trustees that the migrant and kindergarten program would be 100 per cent financed by state aid during the coming year, with a large increase in the available funds. Under the migrant program, the total would be $180,950 in addition to the Title I allowance of $90,000.

"Hereford is one of the few state school districts that will receive an amount more than the $90,000 for this program," Clark said. "We really had to work to get it and must put it to use for the migrants and kindergarten students. It can't be handled as a step child. We will need an administrator with this program."

Allotted for kindergarten was $71,400 and buildings in the amount of $102,900. The total reached $355,250. A committee was appointed to inspect portable classrooms in Dallas, Houston and Austin, in lieu of their construction here around September 1. There will be two such structures at Central and Northwest and one each at all the other local schools.

Clark issued the figures that this year there were 83 students enrolled in pre-school for the non-English speaking, with a high of 105 and 103 enrolled at the present time.

School tax assessor Orpha Click reported that "last month was the highest month for delinquent tax collections ever made" for the Hereford schools. He said last $8.45 per cent of the current taxes had been collected (96.11 per cent with the discounts subtracted) and that they were "way ahead this month compared to the same month last year."

Clark reported that the school system was in good shape for teachers. "All the elementary school positions are filled, except we have one teacher who might be drafted."

But he said that there was one vacancy at Stanton Junior High, for a Social Studies-English teacher. At the high school, they still had to fill the positions of an English-German teacher, math, vocational office training, electrical trades, cosmetology, and two speech therapy teachers. "And of course see SCHOOL, Page 2

Martinez Receives Bronze Star Medal

Army Sp-4 Oscar Martinez, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Amadeo Martinez of 211 Harrah in Hereford, received the Bronze Star Medal on June 19 near Pleiku, Vietnam.

Spec. Martinez received the award for gallantry in action while engaged in ground operations against a hostile force in Vietnam. He and two other men extinguished a fire that had been set by the Viet Cong and were credited with preventing the destruction of their main ammunition dump at Pleiku.

Martinez had been mentioned for the Congressional Medal of Honor for this act, but was ineligible because he was not actually under enemy fire at the time the act was performed at the ammo dump.

However, he has received the Purple Heart and the Combat Infantryman Badge previously, along with the Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry with Gold Star, the Vietnamese Cross and Vietnamese Service Medal Bronze Star with "V" for Valor.

Assigned with Headquarters Company, 3rd Battalion of the 4th Infantry Division's 12th Infantry, he entered the Army in March 1967 and completed basic training at Fort Bliss, Texas. Martinez was stationed at Fort Polk, La., before arriving in Vietnam last August.

Candidate Will Visit Hereford

Paul Eggers, Republican candidate for governor, will visit Hereford Wednesday as part of a campaign bus tour through the Panhandle.

Eggers is expected to be in Hereford from 8 to 8:30 a. m. He will meet people around the downtown business district.

"I'm looking forward to meeting people in all walks of life and discussing with them the major problems that confront our state," Eggers said.

The GOP candidate is a 49-year-old tax attorney who has practiced law in Wichita Falls since graduation from the University of Texas School of Law in 1948. He is chairman of the Taxation Section of the State Bar of Texas and a member of the American Bar Association. "I believe," Eggers said, "Texans want to elect a governor this year who will provide vigorous, responsible leadership. This is what we need to develop the potential of this state." He and his wife, Frances, have a son, Steven, 10.

Children May Be Screened For Signs Of Retardation

By EARL MOSELEY
 Staff Writer

Arrangements were completed Friday morning for the screening of pre-school and post-school aged children who may have mental development problems within the Hereford area, in advance of a possible satellite day care program.

Satellite day care classes for the mentally retarded are now located at Borger, Pampa, Childress, Dimmitt and Dalhart.

In early 1968, the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation began operation of two demonstration regional mental retardation centers. Two sites — Amarillo and Beaumont — were selected on the basis of need, availability of community resources, amount of interest and enthusiasm in local support, and a suitable site.

Amarillo directors Burt Hollis and Russell White spoke to a group of Hereford school workers, ministers, public school representatives, and civic-minded citizens, following an introduction by Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Manager W. T. Thompson, on the satellite program in the Panhandle area.

the Latino and Negro segment of the population. Earl Moseley was placed in charge of publicity for both the newspaper and radio.

It is important that parents understand, the two men pointed out, that if a child is slow in development, such as in sitting up, crawling, walking, talking, etc., there is a possibility of mental retardation, and they should consider referring their child to the screening program for a complete evaluation.

The screening date here has been set for August 5 and 6, with the understanding that an additional day can be added if warranted.

New Telephone Directories Include 2 Dialing Changes

Information on two important dialing changes for Hereford Direct Distance Dialing will be included in new telephone directories to be delivered this week.

1. The digit "1" must be dialed first on all Long Distance calls dialed direct by Hereford customers.

"These changes are part of Southwestern Bell's continuing efforts to improve telephone service for Hereford," he added.

2. Area code 806 will not be dialed on calls to other telephones in the 806 Area.

With use of "1" to begin all DDD calls, Hereford will join the nationwide program to make DDD procedures uniform, Tarbet pointed out.

"Elimination of the use of Area Code 806 in dialing other telephones in the same Area Code will simplify most DDD calls made in Hereford," Tarbet continued.

Clark reported that teachers Johnny Houston and Roger Huber have returned from the Introductory Physical Science program (IPS), after 14 days at the workshop through the expense of IPS.

A report was made on Beachcraft C-45 twin engine motors for the Aerospace Science class.

The Data Processing people had also worked up a report and sent it to Clark. The DP people recommended that the Hereford schools go in with the 1620 computer, and the trustees approved this for one year beginning in September 1969, when they would possibly go into the larger 1401 type.

He said that DP is predicting this course in junior highs in five years.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

The Risk of Delaying Surgery

TWO YEARS ago I was told that I needed a gall bladder operation for the removal of stones. I am the mother of three children and seem to be in perfect health except for the gall bladder. When the attack occurs I am worthless and the pain is so great that I beg for an operation.

As soon as the pain disappears I find that I become so terrified of surgery that I'm in a constant state of panic. I have tried treatments with drugs but get nowhere. How can I be helped?

Dear Mrs. E.: You had taken the first giant step in the proper direction when you wrote to me and expressed your fears about an operation. You might have been spared a great deal of your anxiety if you had spoken to your own doctor two years ago and gained the benefit of his assurance.

Your story is so typical of patients who come to my office and say I should have taken your advice a long time ago and had the tonsils removed. "Please can't you do it today and get it over with?"

They know perfectly well that the operation can not be performed during an acute infection. When they recover they go right back to the delaying tactics till they get into trouble again. This is exactly what you are doing with your gall bladder, a condition for which an operation has been recommended.

Can you conceive of anybody really wanting to be operated on? I can't. And I know very well that I would react as you did but just long enough to come to my mature senses. The repeated attacks not only do an injustice to you and to your family but may be responsible for converting a relatively simple operation into a complicated one. Then the operation becomes more difficult and the recovery period lasts longer.

I am certain that the treatments you have tried were given by responsible people. But surgery when necessary can be the simplest form of treatment.

It is understandable that you are afraid of surgery. Ask your surgeon about the operation, the safety of the anesthesia and the recovery period. You will be surprised to learn that many of your fears were unfounded and that the dangers you considered were unrealistic.

I have known patients who even go outside recognized practices of medicine looking for a "special cure" to avoid surgery. Balancing these unreliable opinions against the expert advice of your physician can be far more dangerous than your operation.

Yet you can be helped because you have faced the fact that your judgment up to now has been false. Go back to your doctor, reestablish that important relationship. Now follow the advice he gave you two years ago. Do this without shame. Many others behave exactly as you did. Soon you will be on your way to recovery.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH — Heart disease is rarely hereditary. Don't spend your life in fear if someone in your family has had it.

Dr. Coleman welcomes letters from readers, and, while he cannot undertake to answer each one, he will use questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Coleman in care of this newspaper.

Holly Film To Be Premiered Friday

A 30-minute color film shot last November in Hereford, California and Colorado of "Farther Than The Eye Can See" will be shown here Friday at the Jim Hill Hotel.

The movie was filmed mostly at the Holly Sugar Corp. Shoup plant and shows the movement of sugar beets from the field to the consumer. Hereford will be the spot for the first public showing of the film in the United States.

Leading roles were played by local persons. Gerald Shipley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Shipley, 425 Ave. K., and Bud Snyder, lab technician at the local plant are featured. Bruce Brown, local plant manager, plays that part in the film.

Film time is 8:15 p. m. with a second showing at 9 p. m. if necessary. Twenty copies of the movie have been accepted by the Texas Education Agency for showing over the state as an educational film. Alfred C. Parker, director of public relations for Holly Sugar, said.

The film story has Brown inviting Snyder and his "son" to tour the plant to see how beets are processed. Shots of the plant from the air, sugar beets fields and feed yards are other scenes.

Pickup Leaves Accident Scene

A half-ton pickup truck which knocked down a light pole near the intersection of Aspen Street and West Park Avenue early Monday still is being sought by Hereford police.

Eyewitnesses told police that the pickup was going west on West Park Avenue (Harrison Highway) about 5:35 a. m. when it jumped the curb, travelled down the curb and struck the light pole, breaking it off from its base.

There was approximately $100 damage to the pole and light transformer owned by Southwestern Public Service Company.

The pickup, eyewitnesses said, made a U-turn and proceeded east, leaving a trail of water to Texas Avenue. There was extensive damage to the vehicle.

Scrawled Sign At Pandale Says "Population Varies"

PANDALE, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Highway Department hasn't even put up a sign. So someone scrawled one and nailed it to a cedar post.

It reads: Pandale, Texas. City Limits. Population Varies."

The Texas Almanac is more kind. It says Pandale has 20 persons. But that would be counting a flock of travelers passing through at the same time. The travelers would have to be lost, for there is no primary highway here.

Its main distinction except for the scenery is that it contains one of the few one-teacher, one-room schools remaining in the state, says the Texas State Teachers Association.

One of the population is Mrs. J. D. Forester, the teacher. She has five pupils although the school proclaims that it teaches eight grades — if it has an eighth grader.

Pandale is in Val Verde County about 200 miles northwest of San Antonio. Its nearest big city is Langtry, population 83, about 30 mi. south. That school boasts two teachers.

Mrs. Forester can stand on the porch of the school and see every other building in town. There is the two-story ranch house of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mills Jr., but they spend most of their time in Del Rio.

There is the store run by Al Mills, brother of Henry. A windmill stands guard.

The other structure is Mrs. Forester's house trailer in which she lives five days a week. She spends her weekends in Del Rio, 70 rugged miles away.

The population of Pandale does vary — going from a as many as perhaps four down to almost no one.

School days more than double the population. That's when the Velasquez children come in. Their father works on the Bunker ranch five miles from school and up in the hills.

The country is hilly, nearly mountainous, growing little except scrub cedars, a little grass and plenty of rocks.

Not far away is the Pecos River, often calm and sometimes wild. It went so wild in 1954 it washed away an earlier schoolhouse.

The road between Pandale and Langtry is little more than a pair of ruts which dip low into the canyons and rise high across the lonesome beauty of the hills.

Ranchers mostly raise sheep. There is always talk of oil drilling but nothing much has come of it yet. The people here love their land. One of the typical ranchers is Larry Arledge, president of the three-man school board. He might have stepped out of the Old West, real or filmed.

Mrs. Forester is in her second year of teaching at Pandale. She stresses to her little brood the necessity of staying in school and getting an education.

The Velasquez children in some ways pick their own subjects. "I had started Esperanza (16 years old) on a little geography and Joe overheard us and became interested. He asked if he could stop what he was doing and join us and so I invited him to take part," said Mrs. Forester.

"They had never heard of Spain and Portugal nor how Columbus discovered America and so they have become very interested."

The state of the school's teaching aids is shown in that they must learn geography on a globe about the size of a grapefruit. It shows New York and Rome but not Pandale, but few maps do.

Little Mary, 6, still hardly speaks English. Linda, 7, knew no English when she started. How did Mrs. Forester, who doesn't speak Spanish, teach Linda?

"Heavens, I don't know," said the teacher. "I started her out by using flash cards to teach her a few words and she just came along."

The others who entered the school are Gloria, 8, in the second grade and Esperanza, in the seventh grade. Joe is in the fourth grade.

Mrs. Forester said the children are intelligent and eager but their school attendance has been sketchy in the past and there has been a language barrier. Sometimes there are reversals. Esperanza, because of language difficulties, could not understand the "new math" — a problem encountered by many of her educated elders. But she did all right in the old math.

Mrs. Forester is happy that she can experiment with teaching the children but it doesn't keep her from becoming lonesome. "It's the quietness — you can hear a pin drop and sometimes it gets so quiet you can hear the mountains talking to each other," she said.

Television? "There's no TV way out here and the radio won't pick up anything." Actually, she isn't alone —

"Sometimes the deer nearly drive me crazy at night rubbing up against the trailer house."

Concerning Veterans

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q — I served four years in the Navy from January 1961 through December 1964. Am I a veteran of the Viet-Nam era?

A — Yes. All service after August 5, 1964, other than active duty for training as a reservist, is considered Viet-Nam era service.

Q — I have received a widow's pension providing benefits for myself and two minor children for several years. This VA award is based upon my husband's military service. I have just remarried. Will my children still be eligible to receive benefits from the Veterans Administration?

A — Yes. Your children will continue to receive pension benefits from the VA as long as their unearned income is less than $1,800 a year for each child. These benefits will be paid until they reach age 18, or age 23 if they are in college. You should report promptly to the Veterans Administration your remarriage to prevent an overpayment of pension benefits.

Q — I will not be released from active duty until late this summer, just in time to enroll in college for the fall semester. Can I get a certificate of eligibility from the Veterans Administration now so that I can present it to the school when I enroll?

A — No. In applying to the VA for a Certificate of Eligibility for G. I. Bill educational benefits, you must furnish a copy of your Report of Separation (DD Form 214) with the application. And you cannot obtain this necessary form until you are actually separated from the Armed Forces. However, this should present no problem. Your application will be handled without delay by the VA regional office where your records will be maintained. And you will receive an educational assistance allowance dating back to the time you started school.

Q — I plan to enter college under the G. I. Bill in September and intend to take one three-semester-hour course. With a wife and three children,

I must also work. Will I receive extra training allowance for my dependents?

A — No. A veteran enrolled for less than half time can be paid the cost of the course only but not to exceed $30. Three semester hours are one quarter time for an undergraduate student. Thus you will not receive additional training allowance for your dependents.

Q — I am a World War II veteran receiving VA service-connected disability compensation for blindness of both eyes. I have never received the $1,600 automobile allowance. Is it possible to receive this benefit now?

A — You may now be eligible for this benefit. You should file a claim with the Veterans Administration regional office which maintains your records. The "Veterans Pension and Readjustment Assistance Act of 1967" signed into law last Aug. 31, removes the time limit in which eligible veterans can apply for this benefit.

Q — I am thinking of selling my home which I bought with a G. I. loan. The loan has not been paid in full. If the prospective buyer defaults, will I be liable to the Veterans Administration for the unpaid amount of the loan? Is there any way I can be released from this liability?

A — The answer to both of your questions is yes. If you sell your home, which has not been paid for, and the buyer defaults on the G. I. loan, you will be liable to VA for any amount VA must pay the lender under the loan guaranty contract.

However, the VA generally will release you from all further liability to the Government if the buyer of your home will assume full liability for the repayment of the loan in a written agreement required by VA. You should write to the VA office that guaranteed your loan before you sign a sales contract and ask for the necessary forms and instructions on how you can be released from personal liability on your loan.

Q — Will the new surtax on incomes which is retroactive to last April 1 apply to the educational allowance I receive from the Veterans Administration under the G. I. Bill?

A — No. Educational allowance, compensation and pension, and even G. I. insurance dividends are exempt from taxation, including the new surtax.

The only taxable VA payment is the interest earned on G. I. insurance dividends left on deposit with the VA. This is not considered a veterans benefit and must be reported as earned income.

Q — A deceased veteran had active service in both World War I and World War II. Will a burial allowance of $250 be paid for each period of service?

A — No. The Veterans Administration may pay up to, but not more than, $250 toward this veteran's burial expenses. The claim for reimbursement of his burial expenses must be filed with the VA within two years of the veteran's burial. His family should contact the nearest VA office for assistance in obtaining this burial allowance.

Q — I was recently separated from active duty after three years of service. However, I now belong to an Organized Reserve unit which trains two days each month and two weeks each summer. Will this Reserve service increase my education and training benefits or add to the time in which I can use my G. I. Bill home loan entitlement?

A — No. The Post-Korean G. I. Bill, which grants veterans such as you with active duty after Jan. 31, 1955 both education and training and home loan benefits, excludes Reserve training from this program.

However, you are already entitled to the maximum of 36 months of education and training benefits by virtue of your three years of active duty.

You must complete this training within eight years after leaving active duty. And you have 20 years from the date of your separation from military service to use your G. I. Bill home loan entitlement.

Veterans retired from the Armed Forces for disability who have not filed a claim for compensation from the Veterans Administration were reminded by the VA today that they may be losing money.

Many retired disabled veterans do not file claims for VA disability compensation because they mistakenly believe that they will lose all military retirement benefits if they do.

This is not the case according to Jack Coker, Manager of the VA Regional Office in Waco.

Even though retirement pay and compensation cannot be paid at the same time, the veteran has the right to elect whichever benefit is greater and may switch from one benefit to the other whenever it is to his advantage to do so. If he waives his retirement pay and elects to receive VA disability compensation, he is still eligible for all basic retirement benefits such as commissary privileges and dependent medical care.

Severely disabled enlisted men generally will receive greater financial benefit by electing VA compensation rather than retirement pay, Coker said.

There are other benefits which retired disabled veterans who have not filed for VA compensation should consider, he pointed out.

Any time you have a question about any of your veteran benefits, check with your nearest Veterans Administration office for the answer and assistance.

Rev. William Baker

Pioneer Pastor Dies At Age 94

The Rev. William Morgan Baker, 94, of Waxahachie, pastor of First Presbyterian Church here from 1907 to 1919, died in a Dallas hospital recently and was buried at Waxahachie, his home since he left Hereford.

The early-day minister had continued acquaintance with many Hereford residents. He was among former residents who attended the annual Mid-Plains Pioneer Reunion here in 1967, when he had a part on the program.

He was a native of Arkansas, grew up in McGregor, Tex., and was educated at Trinity University and McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago. He married Miss Retta Chapman of Waxahachie in 1894 and after her death in 1940, married Mrs. Bessie McDaniel of that city in 1944.

He is survived by his wife; two daughters, Mrs. R. T. Nunn of Stamford and Mrs. C. V. Wilkinson of Pryor, Okla.; three sons, W. A. Baker of Waxahachie, Paul Baker of San Antonio and Sloan Baker of Houston; 10 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

His funeral service was conducted by his son-in-law, the Rev. Mr. Nunn of Stamford.

County Has 11 June Accidents

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 11 accidents on rural highways in Deaf Smith County during the month of June, according to Sergeant W. E. Wells, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in no persons killed, two persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $6,517.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first six months of 1968 shows a total of 47 accidents resulting in one person killed, 16 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $33,747.

During the first six months of 1968 in Texas there were 1472 traffic deaths, or four less as compared to the 1478 traffic deaths for the same period of 1967," the Sergeant stated. However, if past trends continue the last six months will probably raise the 1968 total to one percent over the 1967 total of 3,367 deaths.

The Sergeant also stated that a training school for 120 new patrolmen with the Texas Department of Public Safety will start July 30.

To qualify for employment in the uniformed services of the DPS, a man must be between the ages of 20 and 35, not less than 5 feet 8 inches tall, have a high school education or its equivalent, be in sound physical condition and be a citizen of the United States.

All interested young men who can meet these qualifications are urged to contact the nearest DPS patrolman or DPS office for complete details concerning the position of a patrolman, training and benefits.

Castro County had a total of three accidents during June, with four injuries and property damage totaling $3,478. Oldham County had nine accidents, with six injured and damages totaling $9,925. Parmer County had 10 accidents, with one person killed, 10 injured and damages totaling $10,095.

Seventeenth Century Port Royal, Jamaica, was described as "a headquarters of buccaneers and pirates as well as cross-roads of trade."

Yale University spent eight years authenticating a pre-Columbian world map, drawn in brownish ink on parchment. The existing map was copied by a Swiss monk in 1440, but probably was based on much earlier documents.

Capers come two ways, packed in brine and in salt. As a general rule, the salt should be rinsed off the capers before using.

Astros Trip Sonics For League Title

The Hereford Astros walked their way to the championship of the 1968 Tri-City Colt League Friday night as they collected 12 bases on balls in defeating the Hereford Sonics 5-3.

The Astros scored a run in the first inning of the "must" game when Bill McQueary doubled and then came home on a passed ball. In the bottom half of the first, the Sonics tied up the ball game as Keith Duncan scored on a double by Donny McDermitt.

The Astros went back into the lead in the top half of the second when they received four bases on balls from Sonics pitcher Keith Anderson. They kept that lead until the bottom of the third when Anderson redeemed himself by bringing Gary Lemons across home plate with a single. Lemons had doubled.

Three walks and a single gave the Astros a 5-2 lead in the fifth inning, and a rally by the Sonics in the bottom of the sixth inning fell short. In the last scoring punch, John Sparks doubled for the Sonics and went home on a passed ball.

Alan Wagner was pitcher for the Astros, giving up the three runs on five hits and five walks. Anderson started for the Sonics and was relieved in the fifth when Ishmo Urias came in. The Astros got their five runs on four hits. There was one error in the game.

During the season, the Astros beat the Sonics three of the four games they played. The Astros, however, lost to Dimmitt and that gave the Sonics a chance for the title.

The Astros finished the season with a record of 10-2, while the Sonics had an 8-3 mark going into Saturday night's game with Dimmitt.

FIRING 'EM UP — Coach Jack Waggoner is shown giving his team — the American Legion Redbirds — last minute instructions in a game played here last Sunday. The team has won three straight games and has a chance to play for the district crown.

Lake Meredith Walleye Spawn

BORGER — Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists report evidence that the walleye stocked in 1965 in Lake Meredith, 30 miles north of Amarillo, have spawned, according to Department biologist Jack Crabtree.

The walleye, or yellow pike perch, is the largest member of the perch family, and may grow 36 inches long and weigh 25 pounds. They are indigenous to the great lakes area with the greatest numbers caught in Lake Erie.

Crabtree says that while no tiny fry have been located, adult fish removed from the lake by biologists and anglers show jump rope for girls, 10:40 a. m.; 3 legged race and baseball throw, 11 a. m., and bubble gum blow, jacks and egg in a spoon, 11:20 a. m.

Following lunch the events will include pass the orange, baby buggy race and shot put, 12:30 p. m.; tug of war, 12:50 p. m. and team sports such as kickball (7-9) baseball (10-12) and flag football (13-15), 1:10 p. m.

A representative between age 16 and 19 from each church in Hereford is requested to be at another planning session at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Company.

It is hoped that each church will sponsor a team in the Olympics for the team sports event. During the last meeting, there also was discussion about holding a beauty contest.

Most Texas Congressmen Find DC Life Too Costly

By PEGGY SIMPSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Of the 25 Texans in Congress, just under half-one senator and 10 representatives live in the District of Columbia. The others live in the suburbs of Maryland and Virginia.

Living in the district is expensive for families, congressmen and their aides report. Renting or buying houses is almost prohibitively expensive unless one settles for neighborhoods occupied primarily by single persons or the elderly.

Of those who live in the district, only Rep. Bob Eckhardt sends his children to public schools. The others either have no school-age children or send them to private or parochial schools.

Eckhardt said he does not know how many of his House colleagues from other states send their children to public schools in the district. He said he had been told that the number was five of the 435 members.

"I've always thought of public schools as the major system of our nation," he said. "I don't rule out the value of prep schools or private schools for some purposes, but we've got to not shut the public schools aside — and this goes for congressmen as for anyone else."

Sen. and Mrs. Ralph Yarborough live in an apartment near the Capitol. Sen. John Tower and his family live in Bethesda, Md.

Living in the district in addition to Eckhardt are Reps. Omar Burleson, George Bush, John Dowdy, O. C. Fisher, Henry B. Gonzalez, Wright Patman, J. J. Pickle, W. R. Poage and Olin E. Teague.

Reps. Eligio de la Garza, Jack Brooks and John Young live in McLean, Va.

Reps. Earle Cabell, Jim Wright, George Mahon and Ray Roberts live in Arlington, Va.

Other commuters are Reps. Abraham Kazen Jr., from Bethesda; Joe Pool, Falls Church, Va.; Bob Price, Wayneswood, Va.; Graham Purcell, Alexandria, Va.; and Richard White and Bob Casey, both Chevy Chase, Md.

Red Cross To Begin Classes

The third session of Red Cross swimming classes will begin Monday, July 22, and run through Friday, August 2.

Instruction will be offered in all groups of Beginners, as well as Intermediate and Swimmer classes.

Hours will be as usual, the Red Cross reported. One class will be held from 10 to 11 a.m., and the second class from 11 until noon.

However, at this third session, there will be an extra class from 9 to 10 a. m. for Beginner 1 swimmers only. It has become necessary to accommodate as many children as possible, in order to meet the tremendous demand.

All classes will be held at the City Pool.

Registration for all children's classes will be held at the City Pool on Friday, July 19, from 9 to 10:30 a.m.

However, it was reported that there are very few openings left in the 9 to 10 a.m. Beginner 1 class, and the other hours for Beginner 1 are already filled, due to the overflow of applicants for the first two sessions.

Adult classes for all groups will begin at 6 p.m. on Monday, July 22, with registration to take place at that time.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

As part of the Federal estate and gift tax law, Congress has provided a system for giving your money away without paying tax, or by paying less tax than the estate tax would be later. Briefly, the rules are: You can give each of your children, grandchildren, etc., $3000 each year without paying any gift tax or being liable for estate tax later (unless you die within three years after the gift). Out of community property, you and your spouse can give $3000 each or $6000 to each child, grandchild or other beneficiary. By filing a gift tax return, Form 709, with the Internal Revenue Service you can give $30,000 tax free out of your estate. Of course, in community property this would be doubled to $60,000 tax free from both spouses. This must also be more than three years before date of death. So, if you and your wife have three children who are all married, and you have nine grandchildren, you can give your 15 heirs $6,000 each, tax free, or $90,000 a year. By filing a form 709 with Internal Revenue you can use your $60,000 exemption (two 30,000 life time exemptions), you can pass $150,000 out of your estate the first year and $90,000 a year thereafter, tax free, provided you live for three years after the gift. If you are making an estate plan, it is probably advisable to consult an experienced Federal estate and gift tax consultant.

Funeral Service Scheduled For Hereford Youth

The funeral of Ricky Jon Williams, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Jack Williams, 107 Westhaven, will be conducted at 4 p.m. Monday in Rose Chapel of Gilliland Funeral Home by Dr. J. I. Bishop, Baptist minister from Plainview, and the Rev. Gerald Mann, First Baptist pastor. Burial will be in West Park Cemetery for the youth who died Friday morning at the family home. Victim throughout his life of cystic fibrosis, he had at various times been a patient in hospitals here and in other cities.

Despite his illness, he had continued his school work in elementary school and La Plata Junior High here. Born April 19, 1953 in Madison, Va., he had been a resident of Hereford since he was a year old. He was a member of First Baptist Church.

Survivors in addition to his parents are a sister, Jo Lynn, and a brother, Jay, of the home; and his grandmothers, Mrs. D. O. Williams of Amarillo and Mrs. Mark Disch of Madison.

Kindergarten Is Slated To Open

A kindergarten for children aged four and five is being started by Mrs. Gerald S. Burney, who is enrolling pupils now at home, 910 E. Third. Enrollment will be limited, she said, to a group small enough to be taken on excursions as well as to receive individual attention during school hours.

Mrs. Burney said her aim in the school is "to give each child a wider experience, enable him to see, touch and know the world in which he lives, and state his own impressions of each experience." She plans to encourage play and handicrafts in which the child uses material found in his home.

Experience in teaching children of kindergarten age in her church school, and planning a curriculum for the group, has produced her desire for such a class in her home, she said.

By 1903, pretty girls were standard calendar ornaments.

Saute lots of onion and green pepper and heat with tomato sauce and drained kidney beans; sprinkle with grated cheddar cheese and serve with hamburgers.

If you want to braise chicken in the oven, use slow (325 degrees) heat and a covered casserole or baking dish. If the baking dish has no cover, cover tightly with heavyweight foil. For a young roasting chicken, allow about 1 1/2 hours braising time.

Hydrology is the study of water.

By MELVIN YOUNG

You may be getting a little tired of hearing about the proposed water revenue bond issue coming up Tuesday, but undoubtedly, this is one of the most important ever to face Hereford voters. Hinging upon passage of the revenue bonds will be the future industrial growth of Hereford.

Agriculturally, this is one of the finest areas in Texas and we certainly would not minimize the importance of agriculture to our economy. But by the same token, let us not minimize the importance of industry that we have secured for Hereford has been agriculturally oriented, it would appear that we have not only gotten additional payroll for our citizens, but an additional market for the products grown in the area. And this will be especially true with the coming of the Wilson & Co. meat packing plant.

There are, at this time, at least three more cattle feeding installations on the drawing boards, and with the beginning of construction at the Wilson & Co. site, we can assume that there will be many more since it is logical for these people to locate within a reasonable distance of their markets.

At the same time, they will be building in the midst of the best milo growing area in Texas, and it is safe to assume that in the not too distant future, we will be feeding all the grain sorghum grown in this area. Farmers will be able to market their grain right here, at a profit, not having to worry about freight, government programs or what-have-you. Certainly, with the coming of this industry, our agriculturally based economy will be enhanced. It's a winning combination if we've ever seen one.

There are many other advantages to the coming of Wilson & Co. also, and we're sure that somewhere down the road, there will be some problems too. There always are, and always will be. But it's a lot easier to overcome your problems in a healthy, growing economy, than in a depressed situation.

The $590,000 revenue bond issue which we have been asked to pass, will assure Hereford of this continued healthy, growing economy. And it will assure us of an ample water supply for whatever additional industrial plants that might want to locate between the city and the Wilson & Co. property. It will assure us of ample city water for our citizens for many years to come as well. Our city fathers have over the years, continued to secure additional water rights around the city and have done an excellent job in keeping the system abreast of the growth. In fact, a little ahead. Our maximum usage of water in any one day came back in the middle 50's when the city only had 11 wells. With the present 19, plus the three additional on the Wilson & Co. property, we should be in good shape for many years.

With these things in mind, let's go to the Community Center Tuesday and give Mayor Ray Cowser and the city commission a whopping big vote of confidence by approving the revenue bond issue by the biggest vote in the history of Hereford. Certainly, the future of Hereford is in your hands.

New Pastor Begins At First Baptist

Rev. Gerald Mann will assume pastorate of the First Baptist Church of Hereford today.

What does he believe? "That there is not anything in the world more important than human beings. I believe you should show that you have love for your fellowman — show that you love God through your love for other people."

Rev. Mann, who is 30 years old, married and the father of two young daughters, has been pastor of the First Baptist Church at Seabrook, Texas, for the past two years. Seabrook is situated on Galveston Bay, near the site of the NASA Manned Spacecraft Center. He reported that "probably 99 per cent" of his congregation there were employees of the space center, and he understood that an astronaut was to become a member of that church today.

"I wanted that to happen before I left," he said, "but it didn't happen until now."

Originally from West Columbia, less than 30 miles from the Gulf of Mexico at Freeport, he graduated from high school there in 1956. Afterward he attended Baylor University at Waco, Kilgore Junior College, and graduated from the University of Corpus Christi in 1960.

Mann lettered in football and baseball four years and served as president of the student body at U. C. C. He has a Master of Divinity degree from Southwestern Seminary at Fort Worth, "and I have completed all my work for ThD except the thesis."

He was also in Youth Revivalism for a while in the Southern Baptist Convention. Prior to Seabrook, he served as associate pastor at the Spring Branch Church in Houston.

Rev. Mann said that he feels that "preachers should be as people. I feel like there's got to be a place where a preacher can be a human being. A preacher needs to be set free to simply be himself. Don't misunderstand. I don't mean that he should be immoral. I mean that he should place himself in such a position as to have a better understanding of the changing times."

He stated that he believed that each man should have his own personal experience with God, and that the outer person was as important as the inner person. "I think Baptists historically have tended to emphasize the negative aspects of religion almost to the point that we have created an image of narrowness and bigotry. We have lost touch with the younger generation because of this negative emphasis. Young people are asking questions which cannot go unanswered. But in order to answer these questions we are going to have to be honest. We can no longer hide behind pious aims and clichés. If an honest answer shakes our foundations, then we need new ones."

He said that the day of the soap box is gone. "But I still think that preaching is the main thing. However, too long we have been saying, 'Don't, don't, don't.' I feel that we should tell people as Christians what they can do — to get better acquainted with God. We must also add social concern to our evangelistic emphasis. The Rev. Gerald Mann—New pastor at the First Baptist Church.

Church must have something to say about the social ills of our times."

Rev. Mann stated that he was very ecumenical minded. "I hope we can come to the point of joint activity with the other churches here. However, I don't think that we will ever come to a one-world church, but harmony is what we have to work for."

Three months ago, he pointed out, he preached at St. Paul's Catholic Church at Nassau Bay, across from NASA. "I spoke for an hour and was questioned for an hour. There was no animosity." On Thanksgiving, he had spoken at the Episcopal Church.

The First Baptist Church here has been without a pastor for several months. Dr. I. J. Bishop of Wayland College has been acting as interim pastor since the resignation of Rev. B. L. Davis.

Auto Newsletter Lauds Lawrence

The efforts of a Hereford man have been recognized in the July quarterly of the Panhandle Plains Auto Club. The article reads:

"Someday there will be a major highway stretching from the far north to the Panama Canal and beyond. PPAC President Guy Lawrence, Hereford, will be one of the men who made it possible.

"Lawrence is Vice President of the U. S. 385 Association, a group of individuals who are working to make the north-south route a reality.

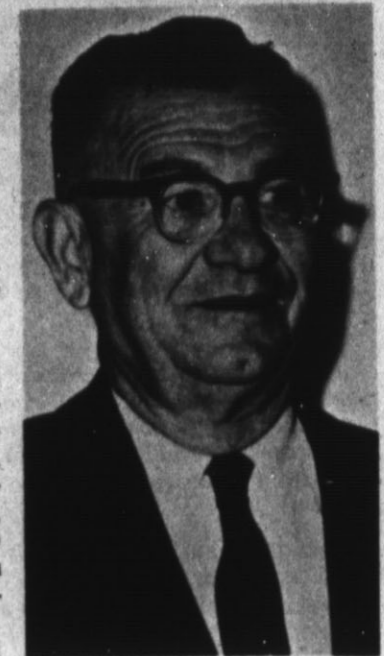

"At a May meeting of the group in Muzquiz, Choa, Mexico, Lawrence met with Harley Rhodes, Burlington, Colo., past president of the association, and T. C. Tubbs, Crane, Tex., the current president, to discuss the U. S. 385 situation with Mexican government officials.

"In June, a meeting was held at Weyburn, Saskatchewan, Canada. Association members met with Provincial government officials to discuss plans to co-number the Canadian portion of the route to coincide with the 385 designation in the U. S.

"We were happy to have a large delegation from Mexico at our meeting in Canada," Lawrence said. "I truly feel this is a genuine expression of interest from the three nations involved. We ultimately will have a genuine international highway."

"Funds to promote the highway are exclusively from private sources, he pointed out. When the plans for the highway are finalized, it will be a clear example of initiative and free enterprise. . . and the hard work of men like Guy Lawrence."

Progress goes on . . . Chinese elms go down.

Big Chinese Elms Yield To Progress

A Deaf Smith County landmark yielded to progress during the past week, much to the regret of John Paetzold.

In order to make room for the new highway being constructed just southeast of Hereford, a mile of Chinese elm trees more than 25 years old were uprooted. The highway will run from a point on U. S. 60 just east of Hereford to U. S.

385 south of Hereford toward Dimmitt.

Paetzold explained that he had purchased the tree plants in Slaton and set them out in the early 1940s. At that time the five-foot plants were set out on the west side of the road — one every 20 feet for a full mile.

The trees, which Paetzold and other local residents watched grow through the years, were thinned out somewhat during the last major ice storm this area had. At that time, Paetzold took out every other tree.

When the trees were uprooted by the heavy machinery last week they ranged from 40 to 50 feet tall. "It took 25 years to grow them and about three hours to take them down," Paetzold said wistfully.

"I've seen the entire process of the trees. I saw them grow from the start," he recalled. "But it's progress we have to put up with and they served their purpose."

"You can't keep down progress," he emphasized. "I'm glad to get the highway through here."

Paetzold's landmark was located at his farm 5½ miles south

Kim Gripp brought home another trophy last weekend. His most spectacular feat was winning first in the senior division for calf roping in the Quarter Horse show in the Hereford Rodeo Arena. He is especially proud of the silver tray award. He also received a cash award.

He also won honors in other events in the show. Kim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Spicer Gripp, now has a collection of 17 trophies, numerous plaques and ribbons. They represent honors in barrel racing, cutting horse contests and showmanship, won mostly on his own horse, Nifty Adois. He sometimes rides his father's horse, Skipper Ruby.

6 Homers Are Hit In Women's Game

Blue-Belles outlasted the Sunshine Girls 16-11 in Thursday night's action in the Women's Softball League. The contest was a wild one with a total of six home runs hit by the two teams.

The Sunshine Girls jumped out to an early lead in the first inning by scoring four runs to three for the Blue-Belles. Jo Ann Ferguson of the Blue-Belles hit the first of her two home runs in this inning. Another Blue-Belle, Doris Walterscheid, also hit a four bagger in this inning.

After the Sunshine Girls built up a 7-3 lead at the end of two, the battle was tied 7-7, 8-8 and 9-9 for the next three innings. In the bottom of the sixth, the Blue-Belles came alive when Carol Newton hit a triple and came all the way home on an over-throw. The Blue-Belles racked up seven runs this inning. The Sunshine Girls could get only two more runs for the final score 16-11.

Pitchers were Nena Mendez for the Sunshine Girls and Nancy Morgan and Ruth Dobbs for the Blue-Belles. Doris Perry and Brenda Short both hit home runs for the Sunshine Girls. The other home run for the Blue-Belles was hit by Ruth Dobbs in the sixth with two runners on base.

The Blue-Belles were victorious again in Friday night's game as they fought to a 12-7 victory over the Kitty Stompers. The Belles used two substitutes, Joy Morton and Dale Devitt, because three of their regular players were absent.

Nancy Morgan and Ruth Dobbs shared the mound duties for the Blue-Belles and Loretta Ellerd was the pitcher for the Kitty Stompers. The Blue-Belles led after three innings 3-0 and at the end of four 8-2. After five innings of play the score was 12-7, and it remained there for the remainder of the contest. Games next week will be played on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday.

Tests Set For Peace Corps

Hereford and area residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are invited to take the Peace Corps Placement Test at 1:30 p. m. Saturday, July 20 at the Post Office Building in Amarillo.

The Placement Test is used by the Peace Corps to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. It measures general aptitude and ability to learn a language, not education or achievement. The test requires no preparation and is non-competitive; an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

Persons interested in serving with the Peace Corps should fill out an Application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before the test. Applications are available from post offices or from the Peace Corps in Washington D. C. 20525.

Thousands of Volunteers are currently serving in Asia, Africa, Latin America and the Pacific Islands. Peace Corps programs which will begin this fall will utilize people with education, agriculture, health and community action backgrounds, to work with the people of the emerging nations in self-help projects. Volunteers with technical skills need not have college degrees to qualify for Peace Corps service.

They will be gathering at Wilson, Okla., during this weekend.

IMPORTANT NEWS FOR HEREFORD CUSTOMERS TELEPHONE

Starting Friday, two important dialing changes will be in effect for Long Distance calls dialed direct from Hereford.

- The digit "1" must be dialed first on all Long Distance calls dialed direct by the customer.
- Area Code 806 will not be dialed on calls to other telephones in the 806 Area.

These two changes are part of Southwestern Bell's constant efforts to improve telephone service for Hereford.

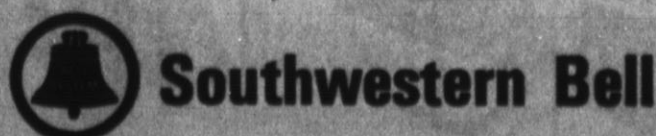

Use of the digit "1" to start all DDD calls will join Hereford in the program to make DDD dialing procedures the same across the nation. Dialing "1" will immediately provide access to the DDD network.

Elimination of the use of Area Code 806 in dialing other telephones in the same Area will simplify most DDD calls made in Hereford. For example, to dial 376-9881 in Amarillo, Hereford customers will dial only "1", then 376-9881.

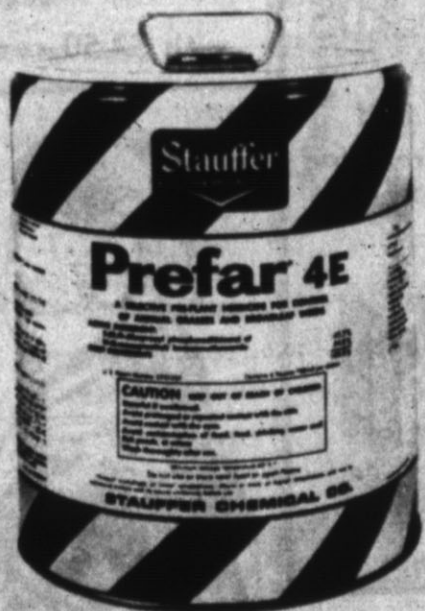

However, the Area Code still must be dialed for telephones having Area Codes other than 806. For example, to call 747-5311 in Dallas, Hereford customers will dial "1", Area Code 214, then 747-5311.

(Dialing "1", and eliminating Area Code 806 apply only to Direct Distance Dialed calls. Operator-handled calls will be placed just as they are now.)

The use of "1" on all DDD calls, and the elimination of Area Code 806 in dialing DDD calls will make Hereford's Direct Distance Dialing service even faster and more convenient than it is now.

To The Citizens of Hereford:

We Urge You To Go To The Polls

TUESDAY, JULY 16th

And

VOTE FOR

THE PROPOSED WATER REVENUE BONDS

1. The proposal is based on REVENUE BONDS. In a nutshell, this means that the bonds will be retired from moneys taken in through the City Water Department . . . and that they will not create any additional burden on the taxpayer.
2. Passage of the proposed improvements will also represent MORE JOBS and CONTINUED GROWTH . . . unless the water improvements issue passes, Hereford progress will come to a halt, probably in the immediate future, due to lack of ability to provide increased water service.
3. The occasion also affords us an opportunity to say "Thank You" to our unselfish leaders community leaders and to Wilson & Company, meat packers, who are investing several million dollars in this area . . . based upon their confidence of our probable growth and future progress.
4. Most of all, though, passage of the water improvements program means that our present investments in property as home owners will continue to maintain a stable value . . . with a splendid probability of improved land values in years to come.

With these things in mind, it is our hope that you can see fit to vote FOR the city improvements next Tuesday. ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Film Points Out Need For Civil Defense In Hereford

By PENNY YOUNG
Staff Writer

The importance of civil defense to a community such as Hereford was stressed during a meeting Friday of the Civil Emergency Planning Committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

A film entitled "Town of the Times" showed committee members how citizens of a typical American town debated the necessity of a fall-out shelter in their community.

City officials in this imaginary town discussed this subject from several different angles, coming up with the conclusion that although it may cost quite a bit, a fall-out shelter was definitely needed. What faced them, the film showed, was winning over one man, and the community.

"Why should we spend our good money on something that we may never even use? Why should we even be considered as a major target area for the enemy? Why should we want to live afterwards? What would there be for us after an attack," were questions asked in the film.

"To answer the last question, lets start with life," it continued. "People have to go on living after such a disaster. Fall-out shelters are an insurance. If a person should decide to take a trip sometime, he, or she, would want to take out a travel insurance policy in case of accident, so that the people he leaves behind may go on living without difficulty. A fall-out shelter works the same way. It's an insurance of life, so that we may go on living after disaster without difficulty."

The film also presented points on different types of shelters and what to do in case of attack. A school may in a sense be used as a shelter because of its thick walls, but this would offer only a percentage of protection. Even if these were used the film asked, what would people have to eat, what water would they drink?

Through the United States Civil Defense Department, shelters may be stocked with preserved food and water and placed in city shelters, but a shelter has to first be designated as safe. Windows must be walled up, and the walls should be extra thick to prevent the penetration of radiation and ventilation. Food, water, and a type of radio service has to be provided.

After an attack, or after an H-bomb hits, the film brought out, a person within 12 miles from the blast has a chance to survive. The first signs of a nuclear explosion are flashes of blinding light from which the person should realize that he has three seconds to get behind something solid to decrease the intensity of burning. About five seconds of heat persists, then the person has 30 minutes to get to some type of shelter, preferably a community shelter well provided for.

Within two weeks after the explosion, the radio-activity will have settled enough for persons to emerge to the top level.

Food in stores that hadn't been covered at the time of evacuation would be disposed of by experts. Canned foods, wrapped meat (if it hadn't been spoiled from lack of refrigeration) packaged foods and other wrapped items would be safe. Water underground, in a pump, or in a well would be relatively safe for drinking. A few days after the explosion, radiation in rivers, lakes, and streams would be settled enough for use.

After the film Friday, Chamber of Commerce manager, W.

T. "Bill" Thompson pointed out that in Hereford there are five or six places for a good fall-out shelter, but they are not stocked with supplies.

"This movie points out," commented Thompson, "very dramatically, the need for civil defense in our community. Of all of our shelters designated, not a one of them is supplied — stocked with food or water. We do have five or six licensed shelters. Of course, we are not considered a main target area for the enemy, and any bomb headed this way would have to be off target, but we do have to worry about radiation rays given off after an explosion and we are near enough to the target areas that this problem could turn into one of deep concern."

The question was asked, "Since this material, or supplies comes from the government, what measures would we have to go through to get it?"

"First," stated Thompson, "the owner of the building in which the shelter was situated would have to designate room for the supplies. Then the shelter would have to be investigated, to see if it gives protection. Our post office could be supplied, but because of the two ground windows on the far side of it, the necessary protection is taken away. The Hotel (Jim Hill) basement would be good, but our biggest problem in that would be ventilation."

"In our community, all schools have gymnasiums, corridors, restrooms and other such rooms available in case of emergency. Although the first aid supplies are limited, they are there. Qualified personnel in the area of first aid training will be on hand and each school will have a radiological trained person during the school year 1968-69. There are three nurses in the school system available for first aid help."

"Equipment that would be available to the community in case of disaster are 14 vehicles with two-way radio equipment, radio base station with a 40-mile radius to vehicles with a frequency of 47.78 on a low band, a Ford tractor with accessories, a digger mounted on the base of a two-ton truck — 46-foot lift, a 7.5 kilowatt portable generator, and trained personnel — first aid, fire fighting, and heavy equipment.

Heavy equipment that is available, it was brought out, include one crawler tractor with a dozer blade, one front end loader, and five flatbed dump trucks. Emergency equipment — three portable two-way radios, battery operated; one generating unit, four police sedans, one police wagon, two emergency vehicles with power plants and resuscitators, and four fire trucks.

Personnel would consist of six medical doctors, six nurses, two x-ray technicians, and seven office workers.

The city has in possession, two x-ray units, one gel counter (portable), one counter and scaler, (semi-portable), three pocket dosimeters, one Victoreen R-meter, and three laboratory technicians.

Even though the post office is really inadequate at the time for protection, it is rigged for handling communications in emergencies and phone lines have been installed and arrangements made for emergency installation of generator and radio antennas.

In case of emergency, all school cafeteria personnel have been alerted to go directly to designated cafeterias and start food preparations. Anyone having his home destroyed or damaged should go to Stanton Junior High cafeteria or LaPlata Junior High cafeteria. Regular meals would be served there.

If necessary, Bluebonnet or Shirley cafeteria will be set up as a field kitchen to prepare hot coffee and sandwiches to be sent out to rescue workers. Hot soup and soft diets will be prepared at Northwest or Aikman cafeteria to be transferred where needed.

Vehicles and drivers will be needed to transport food. In case the Stanton cafeteria is destroyed or damaged, preparation will continue in the second choice cafeteria. In case of severe damage to the city, all cafeterias will be in operation if possible.

All this is in preparation for after the nuclear blast it was stressed. What the city needs now are safe places for people to reside during the radiation danger.

In conclusion, Thompson said "Our city is in desperate need of fall out protection. Our schools have been evaluated, and it was decided that the only one that could give the required protection from fall out would be LaPlata. "But it's basement is so small that it could accommodate only a few people. Central school has a fairly large basement, but the age and structure of the school being considered, the city decided that fall out protection would do very little good if the school fell in."

"What would our city do in case of disaster of this sort? Where would the people go?"

Shower Is Given For Bride-Elect

Miss Billie Jo Witherspoon, whose marriage to Tommy Reiter is to take place Friday, was complimented with a shower in the home of Mrs. Jimmie Jesko Thursday evening. Approximately 65 friends called during the reception hours to present gifts and wish the bride-elect happiness.

She greeted guests with her mother, Mrs. J. William Witherspoon; her sister, Mrs. John Hammett, who is to be matron of honor in the wedding, and her fiance's mother, Mrs. C. J. Berend.

Nieces of the honoree, Melissa Hammett and Lynette Sherman, were at the bride's book where callers registered. Miss Mary Stoy and Miss Lynda Jacobsen served punch and party sandwiches from a table covered with white lace and centered with a dramatic floral arrangement in avocado green. Hostesses with Mrs. Jesko were Mmes. Alfred Smith, Wilbur Davis, Gilbert Yosten, Maurice Tannahill, George Schulte, Art Stoy, John Jacobsen Jr., Robert Betzen, Ewald Berend, M. L. Heavin, Felix Fetsch, George Springer, Bill Paetzold, Jim Marnell and Don Zimmerman.

Library Tells Of 3 Novels, Other New Ones Are Listed

Employees of the Deaf Smith County Library have described briefly three of the newly arrived novels and list here numerous other new books just in and ready for local residents to read.

THIS RAW LAND
By WAYNE SHORT
Wildlife Abounds Here: Deer, black bear, brown bear, grizzlies, mountain goats, as well as moose up the mainland river valleys. Countless seals and sea lions, whales, killer whales, and porpoise feed and live in the inland waterways. It is a fisherman's and bird hunter's paradise.

This is a land of strange contrasts. I can be lonely as a loon's demented laugh floats across an isolated bay; sometimes it is breath takingly beautiful; and it can be a violent land, too, just waiting to catch you in a weak moment and kill you.

Into this raw land I brought my young wife — and this is the story of the life we made there.

Wayne Short was no stranger to the Alaskan Panhandle. Just after World War II he had gone north with his father and mother and two brothers to make a home on a lonely Alaskan island. He recounted their remarkable story in "The Cheechakoes." Now in this exciting sequel he tells how he brought up his family in a violent which has rightly been called America's Last Frontier.

Armed only with faith in themselves and a will to survive on their own terms Wayne Short and his bride, Barbara, made a home for themselves and for their children in the wilderness.

This Raw Land is a book full of lore of nature and the outdoors. There are dangerous encounters with bears, dramatic stories of fishing and danger on the sea and of trapping in the frozen wastes of the far north. But most of all it is a memorable story of family life under challenging but uniquely rewarding circumstances.

IN EULALIA BOURNE'S
new book "WOMAN IN LEVIT'S"
—Eulalia "Sister" Bourne has loved and cherished both "kids and cows," chief actors in the true life story of a modern pioneer woman, ever since she took up country school teaching and a grazing homestead in the 1890's in the San Pedro Valley of Southern Arizona.

business had been allowed to go its own way — that is downhill. . . farm products were unsalable, livestock was worthless . . . a teacher making a salary of $150 a month was a potential employer and a lender of currency. So I bought 50 cows for $15 a piece. I was in business."

"Sister" relates other experiences — with the "superior" male, newborn calves, tough auctioneers, drought and flood, good neighbors, and naughty hunters. She writes with warmth, and a feeling, not only for the rough, but for the ridiculous side of everything from bucking horses to blue jeans. "The first fall that I undertook to brand my own cattle, while the struggling beast squirmed and fought, I would call upon heaven in various ways, choked with smoke from burning hair, spattered with blood, gobs of black smear and dehorning paint. . .

"Back in the classroom on Monday there were waiting. . . the friendliest, most anxious-to-please children I ever met. As a group they had never saluted the flag, memorized a poem, had a book read to them, or gone on a school expedition to the outside world. The big world was only over the mountain. But for most of the Redington kids, it might as well have been over the Pacific Ocean."

"After three decades of trying to upgrade quality in both kids and cows, the glow still comes "when you see your calves or your kids stack up well with their contemporaries. And for "Sister" the environment of choice is still the ranch.

For the readers who enjoy science fiction, a new book by ARTHUR C. CLARKE, 2001 A SPACE ODYSSEY, will give all its readers a thrill. YOU will find you are hurtling across the abyss of space on an expedition to unexplored planets. Your only companion is a fellow astronaut: the three hibernants who lie in a deep freeze sleep will not be awakened until their skills are needed.

An essential member of your crew is Hal, the electronic, almost-human brain that ceaselessly guides your course. For months your atom-powered craft Discovery has been carrying you away from earth at a hundred thousand miles an hour. You are now farther from home than any man in history.

Your living quarters with-in the 400-foot-long spacecraft is a centrifugal drum equipped with an electronic library of literature and music. Here you relax, eat, exercise, sleep, and chat with Hal, the conversational computer who never forgets anything—not even your birthday.

Your mission is of such importance that it has been surrounded by the deepest official secrecy. You are probing a fantastic frontier, following a trail that has led to the outer edges of the Solar System. You are searching the stars for evidence that Man is not alone.

On the Earth-colonized Moon, deep in the crater Tycho, a discovery has been made that has shattered the human concept of the universe. You are journeying toward something. You do not know what it is. You only know that it has been waiting for Man to find it for three million years.

Arthur C. Clarke has produced a work that compares with Jules Verne prophetic novels. He creates the cosmic desolations and splendors that man will someday see as he travels gigamiles into time and space. The interplanetary craft of 2001 are scientifically exact projections of future space vehicles. And the mission, man's lonely search among alien stars for his intelligent equal, or master, is fantasy today. But gathering evidence indicates that this wild surmise may well be fact tomorrow.

Group Will Look At Poverty Stamps

Government Affairs Committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce will discuss Food Stamp Authorization (H.R. 18249) at its noon meeting at the Hickory Log Tuesday.

Harlan Vander Zee is chairman of the committee. Subject matter for the House Resolution has been furnished the committee by Don A. Goodall, Legislative Action General Manager of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Goodall has requested action from citizens to Congress to support a section of the resolution which would prohibit strikers from receiving food stamps which are intended for the poor. Goodall maintains that "most Congressmen are completely unaware that Federal food stamps are being misused by strikers."

tend the current Feed Grain Program four more years, and House Bill 17126, extending it for one year. Bill Nelson, executive vice-president of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association, said that his organization is supporting these actions.

"Heavy political transaction is expected between those supporting the farm bill and those pushing for extended Food Stamp Programs — the poor man's campaign. Whether there is a farm bill passed at all this year may depend on the final degree of mutual support of the interested members, in both the House and Senate, of these two versions."

Nelson continued, "A limitation in payments' amendment is almost certain to be attempted in both the House and Senate. Texas has more farmers doing a big job of complying with the government program and in turn getting payment of $5,000 or more than any other state. More important to you and the producer is the fact that 44 per cent of these payments are in a few selected counties of the High Plains. If payment should be limited, the direct loss of income in the High Plains would be staggering."

The Government Affairs Committee will arrive at a policy toward these bills, subject to the later approval of the Chamber of Commerce.

Eleven geology students and their professors from Baylor University ate lunch Friday afternoon at the Deward Roberson's home, 402 Union.

Roberson's son, Gary, was in the group taking a four-week field trip through Mexico, Utah, Arizona and Colorado. They were on their way back to Baylor in Waco.

Gary, a senior geology student at Baylor, will be home Monday.

Miss Roberson Is Working For Her Doctorate

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Deward Roberson, 402 Union, Miss Roberson will teach this fall in the Clear Creek School System in Houston.

Hereford Residents Express Opinions About Proposed Gun Registration Laws

By VICKIE INMAN
Staff Writer

Since the assassination of three national leaders within the last five years, proposed gun registration laws have become spotlighted on the political scene. Ensuing controversy, nationwide and local, surrounds the subject as it is being considered in Congress.

Out of 47 people selected at random from the telephone book, 26 were against, 16 for, 3 had no opinion and 2 had mixed feelings about gun registration laws.

The most active protester was H. M. Boozer, 439 N. Main, who has written several letters to Congressman Bob Price, Senator Ralph Yarborough and President Johnson. He is already planning to write other congress men and senators protesting the passage of such laws. Boozer stressed that the right to bear arms was a provision of the Constitution and that any change restricting firearms would require a Constitutional amendment. "All they need to do is put laws we already have into effect," he said.

Chief of Police Marshall Padgett echoed the same opinion. "Instead of legislating more laws, they should enforce the ones they have."

Many said that gun registration laws would affect only those people who don't break the law.

Man Seeks To Help Persons Who Have Uncurable Illness

BURKBURNETT, Tex. (AP) — J. L. Mason's personal nightmare began six years ago while he was driving on a highway near Burk Burnett. "Suddenly I saw two roads," Mason recalls. "I had to put my hand over one eye so I could get home."

He is interested in beginning a local chapter of the national Myasthenia Gravis Foundation, based in Los Angeles.

"I feel there may be other persons in this area like me. If we could get together regularly, it might be good therapy. I would have given anything to have been able to talk over my problems with someone rather than having to find out everything on my own."

Mason gave up his job as manager of a Burk Burnett lumber company four years ago. Shaving is a herculean effort. He can't brush his teeth without using both hands. At times he can't put on his own clothing.

Mason thinks a doctor might become interested and use the group of cases for study.

A chapter of the kind Mason mentioned has been operating since 1956 at Hale Center, Tex. Patients from a large area of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico are members of that group.

Mason, 39, one-time up-and-coming businessman and active church worker, has myasthenia gravis (MG). He says physicians tell him more than 100,000 persons in the U. S. are affected. It's sometimes fatal. It is best described as a malfunction between the nerve and the muscle. There is no cure.

The chapter has a pill bank which dispenses medication to patients at cost. That makes a great savings for Myasthenia Gravis sufferers, who must take daily medication.

In 1934 a woman doctor in England discovered a medicine that could restore some muscular function in a patient for a few hours. In 1935 an MG clinic was established at Massachusetts General Hospital.

There are now special treatment clinics in New York, Chicago, Baltimore, Los Angeles, Indianapolis, Kansas City and other medical centers.

A California researcher recently reported curing the disease in guinea pigs.

Free Passes To War Film Have Been Mailed To Area Residents

Approximately forty passes have been mailed to parents and wives of Deaf Smith County armed forces veterans to attend the showing of "The Green Berets" at the Star Theatre in Hereford, as the guests of the Hereford Brand.

Those who are eligible and have not received their invitation through the mails are asked to send a card to: "The Green Berets," P. O. Box 673, Hereford, Texas 79045. There is no wish for anyone to be slighted.

"The Green Berets," the first large-scale motion picture with a Vietnam war background is booked for a one-week's showing at the Star beginning Thursday, July 24, according to Star Manager Francis Hardwick.

Hardwick has told the Brand that there will be absolutely no charge for the parents — and wives in cases where the veteran is married — or the children of the parents under 18 years old to see the picture, when the local serviceman has had Vietnam combat experience is now in Vietnam, or is expected to be in Vietnam soon.

However, admission for these families is by invitation only. For others who wish to see the picture, the adult admission is set at $1.25, for students with cards 85 cents, and children under 12 will be 50 cents, according to Hardwick.

Due to the national feelings of the public toward the war in Vietnam, it was very uncertain that there would be any "box office appeal" for "The Green Berets." Only one other picture, "A Yank in Vietnam" in 1964, has been released on the same subject and it was not a financial success, according to all published reports. Yet John Wayne attempted the picture through his own company, Batjak.

The question is, why would a longtime top box office star with an established image of an American cowboy assume a change in character and take the chance of having a failure?

In the first place, Wayne is not merely a "cowboy" actor. His only Academy Award nomination was for his role as a tough Marine sergeant in "The Sands of Iwo Jima" in 1950. But "Duke" (his nickname) has had many other diverse parts, and has appeared in pictures for almost all studios and many top producers (including himself.) He was a seaman in The Long Voyage Home, Reap the Wild Wind, Wake of the Red Witch, The Sea Chase and Blood Alley. His part was that of a Communist investigator in "Big Jim McLain" and a football coach in "Trouble Along the Way." And he was in the air with The Flying Tigers, The Flying Leathernecks, Jet Pilot, Island in the Sky, and The High and the Mighty.

"Duke" has played the part of a severely handicapped Navy man in "The Wings of Eagles," as Townsend Harris, the first American consul in Japan in "The Barbarian and the Geisha," slapstick comedy in "North to Alaska," Davy Crockett in "The Alamo," went to Africa for "Hatari!," to Spain for "Circus World;" and has played parts on a small cameo basis in such all-star cast pictures as "The Longest Day" and "The Greatest Story Ever Told." Moreover, he appeared as himself in a George Goble comedy, "I Married a Woman," as a henpecked husband!

But he started as a "cowboy" — and he started at the top. In 1931 — fresh out of the University of Southern California — director John Ford starred him in a big western titled "The Big Trail." But very few people ever saw the picture. It had been photographed on 65-millimeter film instead of the standard 35mm, which required theatres to install new equipment for showings. And the Great Depression had just struck the country deeply and theatre owners did not have the money to do so. So the picture was shelved.

Then he restarted at the bottom. Until 1939 when he made "Stagecoach" for Ford, he made small westerns and serials on what was called Poverty Row in Hollywood — cheap pictures which had from 3 to 5-day shooting schedules. Later, he appeared in a number of B pictures for Universal, playing everything from a trucker to a logger. Even after "Stagecoach" made him a big star, he still had to finish out his contract with Republic Pictures in small westerns as one of the Three Mesquiteers.

There was a time shortly afterward that he, Randolph Scott and Marlene Dietrich made two pictures as a trio. In the first one, "The Spoilers," he played the good guy and Scott the bad, and in the second, "Pittsburgh," he was the bad guy and Scott was the good — to even things up.

FORMER VEGA RESIDENTS — Dr. and Mrs. Vernon T. Watley, formerly of Vega, and now of Pineville, Kentucky are shown with one of the actors in the internationally acclaimed outdoor drama, "The Book of Job." The performers are made up to look like living mosaics. "The Book of Job," which was featured at two World's Fairs, is presented nightly, except Sundays, through August 31st.

John Ford had much to do with giving him his "cowboy" image — in such Ford pictures as Three Godfathers, Fort Apache, She Wore a Yellow Ribbon and Rio Grande. But Ford took him out of his cowboy suit in "The Quiet Man."

Some of his other westerns are In Old Oklahoma, Tall in the Saddle, Angel and the Badman, Red River, Hondo, The Searchers, Rio Bravo, The Comancheros, The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance, The War Wagon and El Dorado.

But he has not always played the "cowboy" by a long shot, which is evidenced here. He even played a Chinese Khan in "The Conquerors" and a soldier of fortune in "Legend of the Lost."

Wayne has also appeared in pictures where he was not actually the top star since "Stagecoach": "Reunion in France" with Joan Crawford, "The Lady Takes a Chance" with Jean Arthur, and "Without Reservations" with Claudette Colbert.

Actually, John Wayne is a professional actor. Perhaps his kind of professionalism was needed to make "The Green

Rates Reduced On Some Phone Calls

AT&T has announced, effective August 1, a reduction in long distance rates for interstate calls covering distances greater than 506 miles.

The latest reductions will lower rates for station-to-station daytime calls, placed between 7 a. m. and 5 p. m. Monday through Friday, from 5 to 10 cents for the first three minutes.

"This rate reduction will save customers approximately $20 million annually," Bob Tarbet, manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, told the Brand.

Only last November, AT&T reduced interstate rates by $100 million annually.

"Since World War II, the consumer price index has risen 77 per cent," Tarbet pointed out. "That means, in bread-and-butter terms, that whatever cost 20 cents in 1945 now costs 35 cents today.

"But the bread-and-butter of communications — long distance telephone service — today costs about half as much as it did in 1945, thanks to this 23rd reduction in rates since coast-to-coast service began in 1915."

Tarbet noted that in 1915, when it was first possible to call from New York to Los Angeles, it cost $20.70. After World War II, the cost was $4.

"Under the new rates, a three minute call from New York to Los Angeles on daytime station-to-station rates will be $1.70," Tarbet pointed out.

"Already," he noted, "customers can call interstate station-to-station anywhere in the U. S. between 7 p. m. and 7 a. m. weeknights and all day on weekends for $1 or less."

DALE JOHNSON, public relations man for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, spoke to Kiwanians Thursday at the noon meeting on the exhibitions and attractions at the HemisFair.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — My daughter is going to help out in my store this summer. Do I treat her as any other employee for tax purposes?

A — Yes, her salary is subject to the same withholding requirements as your other employees if she is 21 or over. If she is under 21, then you withhold just income tax and not social security.

Q — The salary you pay your daughter can be treated as a business expense to the extent it is what you would pay a person not related to you for performing the same services.

A — Are wedding gifts taxable? A — The recipient of gifts is not subject to income or gift taxes. However, the giver may be liable for gift tax if gifts to one person in a single year exceed $3,000.

Q — Is it true you could lose your tax deductions for a business trip overseas if you take a vacation at the same time?

A — Yes, there are situations where business deductions for over seas travel can be affected by the amount of time devoted to sightseeing and other non-business activities.

Under certain circumstances, the cost of transportation, including meals and lodging, to the place of the business meeting and back to the taxpayer's home will not be allowed in full as a business deduction.

Rules for handling business deductions in these circumstances are explained in Publication No. 463, "Rules for Deducting Travel, Entertainment and Gift Expenses."

Send a post card to your district office for a free copy.

Q — A mistake in my social security number held up my refund for weeks. Why is this number so important?

A — Because so many taxpayers have the same name, your social security number is the only positive identification of your account with IRS. Names change, too, as marital status changes.

Congress passed a law several years ago requiring individuals to use tax identification numbers. Social Security numbers were selected for this purpose because most taxpayers already had one.

This number should be placed on all individual tax returns filed, correspondence with IRS concerning returns, payments for tax liabilities and similar documents. The number should also be given to corporations and savings institutions to identify dividend and interest payments.

John Tower Speaks Out

Putting The Profit Back In Agriculture Is Major Goal

The American farmer, with his energy and ingenuity, has historically produced a food and fiber supply in excess of the demands of our own exploding population and also has supplied millions of people around the world.

The farmer is one of the largest purchasers of American-produced products, buying in excess of 5 Billion dollars worth of equipment annually.

He is a bedrock of our national prosperity.

Unfortunately, while our national economy has soared to record heights, farm earnings have sunk to record lows.

Total farm debts have risen from 25 Billion dollars in 1960 to some 50 Billion dollars today. Farm production costs have risen 31 percent. Farm prices today are 9 percent lower than in 1940.

The farmer has thus been forced to substitute credit for income and savings for profits. A majority of farmers have been forced to live only off the value of their land. The farm population has been reduced by 4 million persons since 1960. It is a wonder there are any farmers left; fortunately there are.

If the forecasts of leading economists and sociologists are true, there exists the possibility, in a few short years, of terrible famine in a large part of the world. How we react to this food crisis will affect the destiny of our civilization.

We must pay close attention to these problems. We must recognize the American farmer, and we must put profit back in agriculture.

The Agricultural Act of 1965 was a basically good law, but administration of the Act has created the dilemma we observe today. With less farmers today we find Agriculture Department employees have increased to an all time high — to a ratio of one USDA employee for each 100 persons on the farm.

I think our farmers must obtain a stronger and more direct voice in the operation of the Department of Agriculture. High positions in that Department should go to men with broad farm experience. Reorganization of the Department is an absolute necessity.

Farmers must have the opportunity to run their farms with minimum government interference. Our farm policy must be designed to meet the challenges of the 70's and must discard the antiquated philosophies of the 30's.

Our farm program must be developed to give the farmer freedom to manage his farm and an opportunity to earn a fair share of the national net income.

Some people see the farm program as a likely place for heavy budget-cutting this year.

And, many well-intending, but misinformed persons have made a great issue of farm subsidies and of payments to cotton farmers. It is necessary to correct this misunderstanding.

The cotton farmer's support payments are a vital part of his income. For the great majority of farmers they represent not only all their profits, but also a significant part of their cost in producing cotton. Any sudden denial of payments to larger farmers would put out of business our most efficient and pro-

Wichita Falls Sheriff Has Made English Boy A Deputy

WICHITA FALLS — People in Birmingham, England, had better be good or they might find themselves in the clutches of the Texas law. For that city now has a deputy sheriff from Wichita County, Tex. age 6.

The deputy, who has a deputy's card from Sheriff Jim Voyles, is Neil Taylor.

The path to his appointment began a few months ago when he wrote a letter with only the address: "The Sheriff, Wichita Falls, Texas, U. S. A." His older sister had been a member of some riding clubs and wanted to contact similar organizations in the United States. She was given the addresses of the American Association of Sheriff's Poses and Riding Clubs. A Wichita Falls resident was secretary of the association at the time. But it was her kid brother who wrote Sheriff Voyles. Neil said, "Daddy told me that Wichita Falls was the home of all the sheriffs in America and the posses. They have a club there. So I thought the sheriff of Wichita must be the most important."

write and tell me if I can buy a sheriff's badge and Stetson hat and outfit? I like to watch the western films on television and like playing cowboys and Indians."

His letter came across the desk of Mrs. Kitty Hopson, the sheriff's civil deputy, who lost her son in 1964 just prior to his 14th birthday.

With the sheriff's permission, she sent Neil a card making him an honorary deputy. Her letter said:

"We are glad you wrote us. I am the sheriff's civil secretary and they call me 'Miss Kitty.' If you watch one of our western shows called 'Gunsmoke,' you will know who I am." She also asked for his clothing sizes.

Back came a letter to "Dear Miss Kitty," it said in part, "I took your letter to school to show my teacher and all my friends. They thought it was a smashing."

State Rep. Dave Allred of Wichita County obtained information from the Texas Department of Public Safety about the Texas Rangers to send Neil.

Told of this, the youngster inquired, "Do Texas Rangers look the same as sheriff's deputies but instead of riding in motor-cars they ride on horses?"

Neil sent Miss Kitty photographs of himself shooting it out with the badmen among the rose bushes of Birmingham.

SWPS Official Tells Kiwanians About HemisFair

Dale Johnson, public relations representative from Southwestern Bell Telephone Service, spoke to local Kiwanians Thursday at the noon meeting, showing slides and informing members of the HemisFair in San Antonio.

Johnson noted that the HemisFair began April 6th and will run through October 6th.

Confluence of the Civilizations is the HemisFair theme and the symbol, a white circle with the two paths that meet in the middle depicts the junction of the old and new worlds.

Thirty foreign nations participate in this fair, with pavilions to display certain high points of the country, cultures and industries. The fair is situated on a 92-acre plot in the heart of San Antonio. When the fair leaves it will be used to benefit the city of San Antonio.

The Tower of the Americas stands close to 620 feet high and transports people from the bottom to top in a glass front elevator within a period 45 seconds. While dining, or viewing the scenery, the tower will rotate and within an hour, will revolve back to where it started.

Ray Todd, president, discussed the district convention that will be held in the Convention Hall at the HemisFair this year.

Rusher-Johnson Vows Spoken By Candlelight

Wearing a gown which has become the traditional dress for brides in the Kenneth O. Rusher family, Miss Kathy Rusher exchanged wedding vows with William Dale Johnson in a ceremony at twilight Friday in First Christian Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth O. Rusher, 138 Avenue B, and Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Johnson of Route 1.

The Rev. Eugene Brink, minister, conducted the service in the altar setting of summer blossoms and candles. A center aisle roped in white led to a towering arrangement of daisies and gladioli placed between circular candelabra and baskets of palm leaves. On the communion table were three symbolic candles; arched candelabra were set on either side at a lower level.

Sisters of the bride, two of whom have worn the wedding gown before her, were her attendants. Miss Gail Rusher was maid of honor; Mrs. Shannon Torgler of Ordway, Colo., who fashioned the gown and began the tradition, and Mrs. Robert Horton of Colorado Springs were bridesmaids.

Ernest Flood, who has been the bridegroom's college roommate, was his best man. Whitney Rounds and Roy Kuop were ushers.

A cousin of the bride, Brenda Carter, daughter of the Kenneth Carters of Ordway, was the flower girl and Russell Rusher, another brother, the ring bearer.

Satin brocade is the material of the bridal gown, which has a fitted bodice with cameo neckline and long sleeves, and a skirt with fullness from unpres-pleated at side and back, shaping into a slight train. Her pearl necklace was the bridegroom's gift.

A rose of the brocade held the illusion veil, edged and appliqued with lace, which extended to form a full circular train. She carried a Bible with a satin and lace cover she made, and on it a shower bouquet of daisies with the same blossoms in smaller size fastened to the white satin streamers.

Princess gowns of tangerine crepe were worn by the attendants, floor length and with short sleeves. Headpieces were of daisies with flowing ribbons of tangerine satin; bouquets were daisy nosegays; gloves and shoes added snowy accents.

The bride's mother chose a yellow linen ensemble with yellow and bone accessories, while the bridegroom's mother was dressed in green crepe. Both had white carnation corsages with tangerine decoration.

Before the ceremony Miss Linda Lohr and John Lohr sang a duet, Hawaiian Wedding Song, with Mrs. Joe Hacker as organ accompanist. Mr. Lohr was soloist for The Lord's Prayer and Mrs. Hacker played other organ selections and the marches.

After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Rusher were hosts at a reception in the church fellowship hall. Miss Sandra Tennant of Langdon, Kan., was at the guest book.

Miss Anna Johnson and Miss Lynn Sowell served the wedding cake and Mrs. Ernest Flood the punch. Miss Fanelda Williams assisted.

The four-tiered cake decorated in white and tangerine and topped with bride-and-groom figurines held a central spot on the table, which was covered with white lace over tangerine. White wedding bells were arranged with a pair of tangerine candles to complete the decor.

For the wedding trip, Mrs. Johnson changed to a summer dress with ruffled white sleeveless bodice and gray drndl skirt. Color appeared in her yellow belt, shoes and gloves. After July 16 the couple will be at home on Route 4.

Both are students at West Texas State College, she a sophomore speech therapy major and he a junior majoring in English education. Both were graduated from Hereford High School, where the bride was a member of the National Honor Society, Future Nurses and A Cappella Choir, and the bridegroom president of Future Farmers and Future Teachers Association.

She is employed as a bookkeeper with Howard Gault Company and he with Westway Fertilizer.

Out of city guests at the wedding included Shannon Torgler, Robert Horton, Mrs. Kenneth Carter; Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Allen of Friona.

The rehearsal dinner, with the

Voters Get Chance Tuesday To Decide Future Of City

The citizens of Hereford are being asked this week to go to the polls and vote for a $590,000 Revenue Bond issue, recently called by the Hereford City Commission.

Probably this is the most important bond issue that has ever faced the voters of this city, since the continued industrial growth of the area hinges on its passage. Yet it will cost us nothing.

Our business and financial leaders have gone to considerable trouble over the past years to secure industry for Hereford and have been quite successful in their efforts. The Holly Sugar Company plant located some three miles west of our city attests to the success of these men. And now, Wilson & Co., one of the world's largest meat packing firms, has chosen Hereford as the place to locate their plant. The location of the Wilson & Co. plant will mean continued prosperity for an area that has, even at its lowest ebb, been economically head and shoulders above other areas of the state. It will mean an additional payroll (from the Wilson employees alone) of more than $2 million annually, and will, through allied industries that will locate here, bring in millions more. If economists are correct, the above $2 million will turn some seven times before leaving the community, which will mean approximately $14 million additional gross sales in our community. It will mean through the location of additional feed lots, a market for locally grown grain sorghum. Farmers will be in a position to receive a better price for grain, plus the added advantage of not having to pay a freight bill to the market place. The wage earner will benefit through increased wages and availability of jobs. And of course, the businessman will reap the benefits of increased sales as additional people move into our area.

Wilson & Co. has long been one of the top firms in the meat packing industry, and in coming to Hereford they have asked for nothing except the opportunity to buy water from our city facilities, at a negotiated volume rate, which will return a reasonable profit to the city of Hereford. They have asked for nothing else, and have been offered nothing else.

To meet the needs, the City Commissioners have now called a Revenue Bond election to provide $590,000, not only to provide water at the Wilson plant, but to expand our own water facilities and to assure us of sufficient water for additional industry that may come our way. A portion of the money will also be used to update and enlarge our present sewage facilities.

Since these bonds are of the "revenue" type, they will be retired in their entirety by revenue received from sale of water to Wilson & Co. By law, these bonds cannot be retired from taxes, therefore taxes will not be raised. And since the city has a contract with Wilson which will more than pay back the entire indebtedness, there will be no need to raise water rates.

Certainly, Hereford is at a crossroads. With the passage of this bond issue Tuesday, we can expect not only to have the Wilson & Co. plant but many, many more allied industries that will be attracted by the mammoth meat packing firm. If the bond issue fails, then we are saying not only to Wilson, but to all other industry "we're not interested in having you in our community."

We think it is imperative that every tax paying citizen of this community exercises his right Tuesday to give an overwhelming approval to the revenue bonds. The future of Hereford is in your hands.

MAIN STREET, U. S. A.

Lyndon's Biggest Booster Now Has To Run On Record

Washington, D. C. — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's severest handicap as he seeks to capture the White House is that he is forced to run on the record of President Lyndon B. Johnson at a time when a number of major Administration policies are unpopular, especially Vietnam.

This is so because Humphrey has been a busy and loyal Vice President. Except for Johnson himself, the Minnesotan has been the most articulate advocate and most ardent defender of the Great Society. HHH has been LBJ's greatest champion — and now he is stuck with all those words he has spread on the record.

For Humphrey to turn tail and run off in another direction — as he has been strongly urged to do — would be transparent hypocrisy. Any such reversal would be all too apparent to voters, who would brand Humphrey a turncoat and an ungrateful opportunist. Among other things, Humphrey needs all the help he can get from President Johnson.

There is no exact parallel in history for Humphrey's plight. Until the recent past, Vice Presidents were figureheads who did not participate in Administration policymaking and often did not know what was going on at

Of Cowards And The American Dream

As some people blame Herbert Hoover for the Great Depression, there are some people who will blame all the nation's current ills on alleged liberal lawmakers. One active conservative group which promotes candidates for office recently proclaimed that "it is clear that you cannot rectify the 65 years of liberal errors in a day... but there are changes in the air."

Here are the charges expounded by the Americans for Constitutional Action (ACA): (1) loss of national sovereignty and deterioration of our national defense; (2) disregard for law and order; (3) ruinous fiscal and monetary policies; and (4) the renunciation of our faith in the American dream.

Deterioration of our national defense: with a defense budget that has swelled to accommodate the Vietnamese conflict, these people can hardly say that the defense department isn't getting enough money. The loss of national sovereignty and deterioration of defense are not just consequences of "liberal" politicians. They are the consequences of technology, business-labor coalitions advocating war and "yellow peril" theories. The military-industrial complex that Eisenhower warned the Americans of has arrived in full force. If this is what the ACA is referring to as deterioration, they have a valid point.

Disregard for law and order is a hot issue; crime hurts the black as well as the white, the poor as well as the rich. A police chief's crackdown on crime in one major city's black neighborhoods brought sighs of relief from residents plagued by hoodlums. However, this type of "law and order" should not be applied to people exercising their rights as free citizens by demonstration and public assembly. Promiscuous use of police power has resulted in bitterness and disrespect for this agency of the "establishment." If policemen were paid decent wages and trained professionally, conservatives and liberals alike could sleep sounder at night. However, before deriding minority groups for overt disregard of politically-biased "law and order," we should recall the Boston Tea Party. Change would never be accomplished if we didn't have somebody with the guts to buck the establishment.

Ruinous fiscal and monetary policies have not been the policy of "liberal" politicians. During what economists refer to as the "glorious Eisenhower years," the United States faced recession and economic stagnation. Balanced budgets do not solve problems of this type, they only worsen them. Economic growth in the United States has been dynamic since 1964; just because pressures created by an expanding defense budget have overheated the system doesn't mean that economic growth is bad. Somebody will always have a sharp tongue for government fiscal and monetary policies, no matter what the state of the economy.

The American dream has been a nightmare for some of this country's minority groups. Those not members of the WASP community (white Anglo-Saxon Protestant) have emphasized glaring imperfections in our system. Because a few changes are being made doesn't mean that the dream is being obliterated... it's just being extended to a few more people.

Change is a dynamic factor in American democracy; it has saved us from ourselves before (during the depression) and it can do it again. Established people with a lot at stake are often afraid of change, afraid that it might hurt them somewhere (like in the pocketbook). If groups like the ACA could ever furnish enlightened, dynamic policymakers who weren't cowards hiding behind a shield of conservatism, perhaps more people would listen to them.

FCC Announces New Policy That Would Silence Press

THE FEDERAL Communications Commission recently announced a new policy that could silence any radio or television station that it holds guilty of racial discrimination in hiring or programming, according to United Press International.

Furthermore, it has proposed a rule requiring that broadcasters seeking a license or renewal must show not only that they do not discriminate, but that they are committed to "racial understanding."

And what does "racial understanding" mean, exactly? That's a very good question — the answer would appear to be that "racial understanding" is what the FCC says it is at the time.

The bar against discriminatory hiring is not unlike those pertaining to other business firms — it differs in that it is being pushed by an agency with the power of life or death over part of the free press. The real bombshell in this bundle is the apparent plan of the federal agency to police content of programming to force conformity with the administration's political policy.

THIS USE of the licensing power would go far beyond regulation; it would represent a blatant example of dictating content to the press. What the FCC seems to be telling the broadcasters is, "You must not only do as we say in hiring, but say as we say in your programming or you won't be allowed to say anything over the federal government's air."

Any station accused of not programming for minority groups gives, in the FCC's view, "clear cause for exploration by the commission in the form of a more searching scrutiny of the (license) application in this important aspect."

The FCC has declared that it is raising the question in context of "the conscience of the broadcaster." It even nods briefly at the obvious fact that it has no jurisdiction to police the conscience of a citizen.

Then, having done so, the FCC went right ahead with the standard Washington backup that is deployed when bureaucrats fear that the conscience won't react as they want it to do. The broadcaster was told to let his conscience be his guide, then reminded that, if his conscience doesn't guide him right, the FCC is likely to put him off the air.

The broadcasters are threatened with ruin if they don't program for minority groups. With a presidential election coming up, there can be little doubt as to the specific minority group referred to here. But the nation is made up of myriads of minority groups and most of them vote.

ARE WE GOING to see television stations driven off the air because they fail to have prime-time programs tailored to the Burmese-American taste?

Will radio stations lose their licenses because they have overlooked content specifically aimed at Scots-Irish Presbyterians?

Will the FCC shut down the broadcaster who neglects to feature a proper quota of Latvian performers?

That proposal to require the broad-

THE BOOTLEG — Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm reflects on a sidelight of the Paris Peace Conference this week.

Dear editor:

I was out here yesterday morning studying about doing some farm work and wondering why it is people are always hijacking airplanes but nobody ever hijacks a tractor when a newspaper started blowing along the ground toward me and I watched it hoping it'd get near enough so I wouldn't have to get up and luck was with me and it fell right in my lap right side up, so I started reading. The tractor probably wouldn't have started anyway, maybe it will tomorrow, although I've never believed in putting off till tomorrow what you can put off till the day after that, and I'm not prejudiced against next week.

A headline caught my attention: PARIS PEACE TALKS MAKING PROGRESS.

It's about time, I said, and read that while nothing definite has been agreed upon and North Viet Nam was still saying the way to end the war is for us and South Viet Nam to surrender, still an atmosphere of cordiality is believed developing because the representatives are now taking longer coffee breaks together.

"Today's coffee break lasted 48 minutes," the report said, adding that this is interpreted as a good sign.

This is a new wrinkle in international diplomacy and it may have worldwide reverberations. I can see office workers in a thousand cities now, including maybe Hereford, stretching their coffee breaks out to 48 minutes and claiming they're doing it in the interest of international peace. With two of these breaks a day, you can see what a strong effort this will be toward settlement of international conflicts. There may be more peace workers in this world than anybody ever dreamed of.

Of course it may cause business to go broke but you can't have everything.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

the White House. Under those circumstances, a Vice President could strike off in new directions when he became a presidential candidate.

It used to be that the Vice President presided over the Senate, as the Constitution provides, and did very little else except to wait around and see if anything happened to the President. Presiding over the Senate is not a taxing job. Now adays, routine sessions of the Senate are presided over by a freshman Senator as part of his indoctrination process.

Nixon Began New Trend

Ironically, it was Humphrey's probable opponent next November, Richard M. Nixon, who was the first real working Vice President. President Dwight D. Eisenhower was a delegator in the military tradition. He sent Nixon to the far corners of the world, gave him executive responsibilities, and kept him informed of all Administration plans and policies.

Nixon spent 8 years as V. P. in training to become President. Naturally this meant that when nominated in 1960 to succeed Ike, he had to run as the heir apparent, on the Eisenhower record. This was no great handicap since Ike remained a hero and Nixon barely missed being elected in the closest race in recent history.

When John F. Kennedy nosed out Nixon and became President, the Kennedy choice of a Vice President was a doer, Lyndon-B. Johnson, who was virtually a living legend for his accomplishments on Capitol Hill. Presiding over the Senate was the least of Johnson's varied duties as V. P. He traveled the globe, participated in program planning, and ran several programs himself.

Johnson was as well briefed as any Vice President could be when it came his time to move into the White House. After serving more than a year by succession, Johnson's 1964 campaign was an extension of Kennedy's program, dressed up with some new lables and including numerous unfulfilled Kennedy plans.

Having had personal experience as Vice President, Johnson knew both the frustrations and the opportunities of being second-in-command. He picked another doer as his V. P., and put him to work, Hubert Humphrey. See MAIN STREET Page 8

THIS NEW PLANT

★ INCREASED JOBS AND WAGES FOR WORKING PEOPLE!

The new Wilson & Co. packing plant will employ between 250 and 300 workers, and this means that there will be more good paying jobs available for those who wish to continue to make their homes in Hereford and will help to keep our young people in Hereford. This is just a part of the picture. With the coming of Wilson & Co., other industry will be attracted to Hereford which will mean more and more jobs for more and more people.

★ ADDITIONAL SALES FOR THE BUSINESSMAN!

More people in the Magic Triangle area will mean more money to be spent in local stores. The business community in Hereford has temporarily outgrown the population, but with the additional people coming into our area, the businessman can expect to increase his volume of business.

And it's Not Going to Cost You A Red Cent

As we have tried to bring out earlier, these bonds are Revenue type bonds, and will be retired by revenue from sale of water to the Wilson & Co. plant. As a matter of fact, the city will make a profit on the water used, plus the fact that the new system will be tied into the present city water system, allowing the city the use of three additional wells whenever needed and will assure a sufficient water supply for other industries locating between Hereford and the Wilson plant. You just can't beat a deal like that.

Farmers, who may soon be faced with a diminishing Farm Program, can be assured that additional feed lots attracted by the Wilson & Co. facilities, will feed millions of pounds of grain, giving us a market within the three county area for our products without the additional cost of freight. Farmers in this area can produce the milo and other products needed for feed —provided they have a market for it. The Wilson & Co. facility, indirectly, will guarantee that market.

★ INCREASED SELECTION OF GOODS, LOWER PRICES FOR CONSUMER!

Consumers, who complain of a lack of selection in Hereford, in spite of the number of stores, will enjoy the benefits of increased stocks, brought about by bigger volumes. Linda Lemons Married To Hoyt D. Lovelace

Miss Linda Louise Lemons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lemons, 501 North Lee, and Hoyt Dewayne Lovelace, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Weaver E. Lovelace of Lubbock, were married in a ceremony Friday evening conducted by the bridegroom's father, pastor of Bethel Baptist Church, Lubbock.

After a trip to the New Mexico Mountains, the couple will be at home at 4103 Cline Road, Amarillo. Both will be employees of the Amarillo Public Schools next term.

Scene of the marriage was First Baptist Church sanctuary.

has been part and parcel of the Johnson Administration. One would need a microscope to detect policy differences between LBJ and good-soldier Humphrey.

Vietnam is the Big Problem
Vietnam is undoubtedly Humphrey's biggest problem. Unless peace is achieved by November — a slim hope at best — the probable Democratic nominee is saddled with an unpopular and increasingly costly war. It is bound to cost him votes, both at the convention in August and at the polls in November.

Nixon's position on Vietnam is not the same as Humphrey's but neither is there a strong contrast. The big edge the Republican candidate possesses is that he does not have to defend an unpopular and unsuccessful policy. Nixon can even shift his stand but Humphrey appears locked in by his torrents of words in the past, and by the necessity of supporting Johnson's policies.

where candelabra and baskets of green foliage formed a background. Two pair of nine-branched candelabra made a central arch; two spiral candelabra made a central arch; two spiral candelabra with 18 branches were placed on each side.

Tapers were lighted by Laura Beth and Kent Lovelace, niece and nephew of the bridegroom, as pre-nuptial music was presented by Beryle Lovelace, his brother, and Mrs. Lovelace, of Tokyo, Japan. Mrs. Lovelace accompanied her husband as he sang O Perfect Love and The Lord's Prayer, also played an organ medley and the traditional marches.

Mrs. John Sooter was her sister's matron of honor; another sister, Miss Sandi Lemons, and Mrs. Eddie Gandy of Canyon were bridesmaids. Pete Pederson of Beaumont was best man, Rodney Flanagan of Amarillo and Beryle Lovelace the groomsmen.

Ushering guests to their pews were John Sooter, and Sheldon Marsh, Dave Burson and Don Martz of Amarillo. The candlelighters served as junior attendants in the wedding party and Joyce Lynette Bridges, daughter of the Merl Bridges, was the flower girl.

Miss Lemons, given in marriage by her father, wore an A-line gown of white imported linen with Venice lace in double rows at the hemline, on short bell sleeves, outlining the wide neckline and edging the Watteau train which was sprinkled with appliqued lace daisies.

Her veil, worn by her sister as a bride, was a pouf of illusion floating shoulder length. She carried a nosegay of white roses circled with daisies and a lace frill, tied with white ribbons.

Her attendants' poppy red gowns were of yum-yum chiffon and taffeta, floor length, trimmed in braided cording of poppy and avocado taffeta. Each carried a white basket of daisies.

The wedding reception was in Conkright Building of the church. The crystal bowl of punch with heart-shaped ice cubes was set at one end of the table, which had a poppy-hued cloth overlaid with lace, and at the other end was the colonnaded cake, four tiers decorated in cupid and bell design, set on a base formed of four heart-shaped cakes.

Mrs. Rodney Flanagan served the cake and Mrs. Sheldon Marsh the punch. Mrs. Jerry Tisdale and Miss Elizabeth Gandy were at the registry table.

Assisting in the houseparty were Mrs. Ed Sowell and Mrs. Carl Wimberley of Dawn; Mmes. Walt Beavers, Luther Lesly, J. B. Haile and W. H. Gentry.

After the reception the bride changed for travel to a blue linen dress with jacket, blue and white accessories.

She received her BS degree this spring from Hardin-Simmons University, where her activities included membership in Delta Social Club and selection as Ranger Sweetheart. She was graduated from Hereford High School in 1964.

Mr. Lovelace is a candidate for the M Ed. degree in August, holds a BS degree from Tarleton State College and is a graduate of Knox City High School.

H.D. CHATTER

By Mrs. Argen Draper

'Fowl Play' Is Protested

Daylight saving time is having some side effects on all phases of farm life. Farmers' and farm wives' dispositions have really suffered severe setbacks from the extra hour in the day. But I have been very shocked at what has happened to Tom Draper's poultry flock.

THE MOTHER HEN is emotionally upset from having some one discover her nest before the eggs hatched, and from the day of birth, the baby chicks have had to be in overdrive as the old hen is so fleet on foot and runs madly all over the farm.

The fittest of the hatch have survived physically but their nerves are shattered. Every night at an hour that should be a decent roosting time, half the chicks go to the barn and screech at the top of their lungs begging and pleading with their mother to come to bed.

She will run in all directions and scratch frantically to take advantage of the last few daylight moments. As the chirping and screeching continue from the barn, the old mother continues going in circles.

Finally, about 10:30 or 11 the poultry family settles in silence or else I have lost consciousness as I serve what was not intended, but has turned into our family midnight supper.

AND, THERE is another crow I have to pick with those fine feathered friends, both poultry and people. I concerns a game rooster.

Keith Duncan and I had a fishbait worm-bed started in a very, we thought, secluded place. It was planned and started very scientifically according to Extension Bulletin, Raising Earthworms for Fishbait, L-196.

This loud-crowing rooster had never before been in the yard as he caused his disturbance by long distance from crowing at odd hours. You guessed it, he made his first trip to the yard and the fishbait bed and scratched up and ate every worm.

...SO, IS IT any wonder I was so unpleasant and undiplomatic when Mrs. H. M. Boozer volunteered to give us a peafowl?

She said it was a lovely bird with a very docile disposition. Too, (more salesmanship), it is a very large domesticated Asiatic pheasant.

I think the trait of being domesticated was the final blow. There is simply too much togetherness with the whole lousy poultry project. Mrs. Boozer, thanks, but no thanks.

BEFORE THERE is a community project for turning in guns, some of you send me a good recipe for chicken and dumplings and I'll begin phasing out this diversified farming, as it has been carried, shall I say, a mite too far.

Chicken breasts that are coated with batter and deep-fat fried are good served with sautéed pineapple rings and crisp cooked strips of bacon.

SCOUTS HAVE OUTING — Thirty members of Pack 50 of the local Boy Scouts organization recently spent a full and exciting day at Camp Don Harrington, between Canyon and Amarillo. The scouts, sponsored by the Hereford Lions Club, left Hereford at 9 a.m. and returned home at 11:15 p.m. the same day, but in between were many hours of activity, as evidenced by the photos. Accompanied by Mrs. Don Baugous, Den mother; Mrs. Gerald Hamby, Den Leader Coach, and Bob Spangler, Scoutmaster, the boys had two meals out and stayed for the Tribal Tapping Out ceremonies at the Camp. Any boys interested in joining the scouts are asked to call one of the local leaders.

Trip Into Past Continues For Longtime City Resident

Editors note: This is the second in a series of articles written by Mrs. Corinne J. Neely during what she describes as her "Journey into the Past." The narratives are being printed in each Sunday Brand.

SHOW LOW, ARIZONA FIRST STOP

By CORINNE J. NEELY
Show Low, Arizona — This was my first stop in a journey into the past, in which I sought to prove that Marquand's title of a book, "The Point of No Return," now an often quoted phrase, was not true.

After some decades I returned to the Whiteriver country of Arizona, where I once worked as a young teacher, on the Whiteriver Apache Indian Reservation.

Enroute to my job long ago, I passed through the little town of Show Low on what was then called a stage, but it was nothing more than a mail truck, carrying passengers. The little Mormon village, then, as now, was nestled among the pines and lakes.

On my return visit to Show Low, I was to stay with a friend and her husband whom I had never met. She had arrived in Whiteriver as a teacher the same year that I had. We have kept our friendship alive all these years by occasional letters and rare meetings.

Now, my hosts have retired to this area, which in summer serves as a resort for the worn, weary, and those seeking relief from the heat of the hot country. Many other retired people from the Indian service and other professions now dwell here year-round, or like my friends, remain until January then move to warmer climes for the winter.

The Hills, who originally came from Washington state, sold their home and possessions there to settle here on a pine-covered, 100 foot lot. They own two, one for protection, where their friends often leave their trailer homes during the summer and drive back and forth from their homes. These lots contain cedar trees along with the pines, other shrubs, flowers, and many kinds of birds.

They own a two-bedroom mobile home which is foundationed here and is adequate for their needs. It was here I was to spend two wonderful weeks. Other than the mobile, they have a new Travel Trailer which will bed four and has all the facilities needed for a complete way of life when they desire to travel. This they use when they go to Mexico for fishing in the winter. Also on hand is a camper-trailer with pick-up truck for shorter or nearby trips on the rivers, or it can be used to pull one or both the camper and travel trailer. In a double garage on their lot is a nice bedroom for extra visitors. In all, they can and often do bed as many as eleven friends. They have many guests throughout the summer.

The man of the house has built a fence around their home lot and huge rocks make a foundation. She is seeking to build and has a good start on a natural garden of shrubs, small trees, vines, and wild flowers. The last is being supplemented with some tame flowers, to see if they will survive in the thin-layered, lava soil, in the high altitude of 7,000 feet.

Their outdoor equipment is for informal entertaining and large groups. It is made up of a chaise lounge, and a hammock, a rock fireplace, a grill on wheels, tables which once served as wire spools, and outdoor chairs. The mobile house has a wooden deck and once had an awning. Last winter, seven to eight feet of snow broke this down. They are now considering replacing it with a living room over the deck, either for indoor or outdoor living. You see many such combinations in this area.

The little town of Show Low boasts of a population of 1,250 to 2,000 in the winter months, but it increases after Memorial Day to 10,000 part-time or full-time summer residents. Most own lots and trailers, but some rent. It is unbelievable until you begin to wander or drive through the new additions off the main highway or into new developments.

If they wish to fish nearby, it will be mostly at lakes, or they can go south to the Apache Indian Reservation. There many streams flow to make the Whiteriver and the Blackriver which converge to make the Salt River near Phoenix. A great many of the locals have sworn off fishing until after Labor Day since now there are more fishermen than fish, though the people at the fish hatcheries are busy dumping fish into the rivers.

The most beautiful of all streams I was to see on this trip was one called Paradise Creek. I had heard of it in the past, but had never visited it until now. The name is very apt and I could spend many words describing it but instead I want to tell what a small world we live in.

It was here on this creek above the lumber town of McNary that we saw a Texas license. My friend dared me to speak to my brother Texans, so I went over and said to the man, "As one Texan to another, where are you from?" It was a small town near Beaumont, miles away from my home but he said, when I told him my town, that he worked with electric co-ops and knew Leo Forest. His name was Harper and he had once lived in McNary. When I accused him of not speaking as a Texan, he admitted he spoke more like a "Georgia Cracker," but when his wife came out, I knew without a doubt she was a Texan.

Late August Wedding Is In Prospect

Talk of Texas

By JACK MAGUIRE THE CHICKEN SALAD CASE - It took the Supreme Court to decide who has to pay for any chicken salad the Governor of Texas may decide to serve at the Executive Mansion.

On February 11, 1915, the Legislature appropriated $2,000 per year for two years to cover expenditures for fuel, lights, water, ice and food (including chicken salad and punch) which O. B. Colquitt had incurred during his term as Governor. The Attorney General took a look at the appropriation and ruled that it was invalid. Eventually the case went to the Supreme Court. The judges ruled that the Legislature could appropriate for utilities and ice at the Mansion, but that groceries like chicken salad had to be paid for by the Governor.

RAILROAD FARE - Will Clayton, Houston's late, great cotton merchant, took his lunch daily in the public dining room of the Union Station. Although he was one of the city's wealthiest citizens and could have eaten anywhere he chose, Clayton liked to watch the passenger trains arrive and leave while he discussed business matters with his staff.

FRONTIER PHARMACOPOEIA - Bullfrog butter once was a favorite cure for burns. A bullfrog was placed on its back atop a pound of raw butter. The mixture then was placed in an oven and baked until well done. The resulting ointment supposedly would heal any burn.

SWEET SAFARI - Hunting bee trees is an unusual sport in Texas. In East Texas, where the hardwoods grow among the pines, bee trees are hunted with the same devotion that nimrods use in stalking wild game. Trees are found by making a bait of sugar, water and honey, waiting until a bee finds the bait and then following it to the tree where the hive is located. If it takes a bee six minutes to make a round trip between the bait and the hive, hunters figure that the tree is a quarter mile away. They keep moving the bait in the direction of the bee's flight until it leads them to the hive. It often takes days of moving the bait and watching before the hive is located. Once the tree is found, it is marked with an X until late spring - the time when the honey is best.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS - When Hidalgo County in the Rio Grande Valley was formally organized in 1852, the county government was expected to operate all of its services on a total budget of $20 per month, plus certain fees charged residents. The income came from a tax of $5 per month levied by the county on four ferries operating on the Rio Grande.

SILLY SUPERSTITIONS - Every hunter worth his salt used to be out with his gun on New Year's Day. It was believed that any hunter who drew the blood of a wild animal on the first day of the year would have a good hunting for the entire 12 months.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN

Well off the ground. That's an expression that describes quite aptly the status of Hereford Community Players while it is still in the process of organization.

AFTER THE Community Concerts program was launched successfully last year, an amateur stage group seemed like the logical next step in bringing live entertainment to Hereford audiences and the Community Players show every sign of being just the thing to fill the bill.

Credit is due chiefly to Amy and John Gilliland, Kay and John Claypool for the enthusiasm required to begin any such organization.

They are being abetted by the Orval Watsons, who have been members of such a group in another city, the Chick Hoberts, Ruth Warner, the Ray Cowserts, Sylvia Parsley, the Ross Cooleys — the list could go right on through more than 40 names which make up the charter roll.

BEGINNINGS go back to the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce directors who were looking forward to a local theater when they put the Claypools and Gillilands on the C of C Fine Arts Committee, knowing that both couples were stage-struck from past experience as actors, backstage workers and directors of plays.

They were counted on to recruit others with the same tastes, and the result is all that could be desired. And of course it couldn't have been achieved without sturdy backing from the Fine Arts chairman, Mary Jo Godwin, and the fact that stage enthusiasts keep springing up here and there.

It will take all that have enrolled and many more to realize hopes of the Players to become an asset of which the county may be proud, to fill an entertainment gap and to supply an outlet for the many talents needed in staging drama.

AFTER MENTIONING in this column recently the annual Pinnell-Royal family reunion to be held at Lake Cisco late this month, I've learned that Bunny

Watts is a member of the family and it was her mother, Leona Pinnell Seavey of Dallas, who sent us the announcement of the big reunion.

The Watts family may not get there, Bunny says, because 'one of the children will be at a camp over there and another one in a game over yonder — you know how it is in summer!'

Former Resident Feted During Vacation Visit

Mrs. Dennis Barnard, a summer visitor from Tucson, Ariz., who formerly lived in Hereford, renewed friendships at a coffee Wednesday morning when her daughter, Mrs. Hilton Higgins, entertained at her home north of the city.

Mrs. Barnard, now a teacher in Tucson schools, taught in elementary schools here during her residence in Hereford and has many acquaintances among former pupils as well as her contemporaries in age. She is ending a two-week visit in the Higgins home.

Mrs. Bill Hutson and Mrs. Sam West assisted Mrs. Higgins in serving coffee, as did Mrs. Edwin Goodall of Breckenridge, who is a visitor with her parents, the Ray Coneways. Daisies and roses lent a midsummer air to table decoration.

Guest list for the informal morning party included Mmes. Howard Gault, J. C. McCracken, S. S. Dodson, J. R. Allison, Jim Bookout, Marcus Latham, Don Davidson, Merlin Kaul. Also Mmes. Charlie Holt, Linton Wilson, J. T. Gilbreath Jr., James Higgins, J. R. Higgins, A. B. Higgins, W. L. Davis Jr., Wayne Phillips, J. W. Robinson, Byron Durham, Robert Veigel, Charles Springer and Jim Monroe.

Two young visitors who accompanied Mrs. Barnard to Hereford were among the guests. They are Mrs. Higgins' niece, Becky Brown of Tucson, and her friend, Susie Roney of Willcox, Ariz.

COME OUT, ONE BY ONE-- WITH YOUR HANDS HIGH!

AFTER THE POSSE TAKES OVER--

LIKE I SAID, DYNAMITE, BEFORE TRYING THE GREATEST RAIL ROBBERY OF YOUR CAREER, YOU SHOULD HAVE RETIRED THAT LONE RANGER WHEN YOU HAD THE CHANCE!

Featuring His Pal Rosco Sweeney

by ROY CRANE

DID YOU EVER SEE ANY REAL COWBOYS, MR. SWEENEY?

DID I? I WAS ONLY 19 WHEN THEY ELECTED ME SHERIFF OF DODGE CITY BECAUSE OF MY LIGHTNING DRAW, STANLEY.

GOLLY! DID YOU EVER CATCH ANY BAD MEN? LOT'S OF 'EM, STANLEY. "SURE-SHOT SWEENEY," THEY CALLED ME - AND MANY'S THE SHOWDOWN I HAD ON MAIN STREET.

BUT I'LL NEVER FORGET THE TIME I STOOD UP TO BLACK BART, THE FASTEST GUN IN THE WEST. I REMEMBER WAITING FOR HIM IN FRONT OF MY OFFICE AT HIGH NOON...

THE STREET CLEARED WHEN BLACK BART SHOWED UP - WE STARTED WALKING TOWARD EACH OTHER... COLD SWEAT RAN DOWN MY BACK. FAST AS I WAS, I KNEW I COULD NEVER OUTDRAW BLACK BART.

WE WERE AT POINT-BLANK RANGE WHEN HE MADE HIS MOVE. I AIMED FOR THE MUZZLE OF HIS SIX-GUN AS WE DREW AND FIRED SIMULTANEOUSLY!

BLAM!

MY AIM WAS TRUE. OUR BULLETS MET HEAD-ON IN MID-AIR AND DROPPED HARMLESSLY TO THE GROUND BETWEEN US.

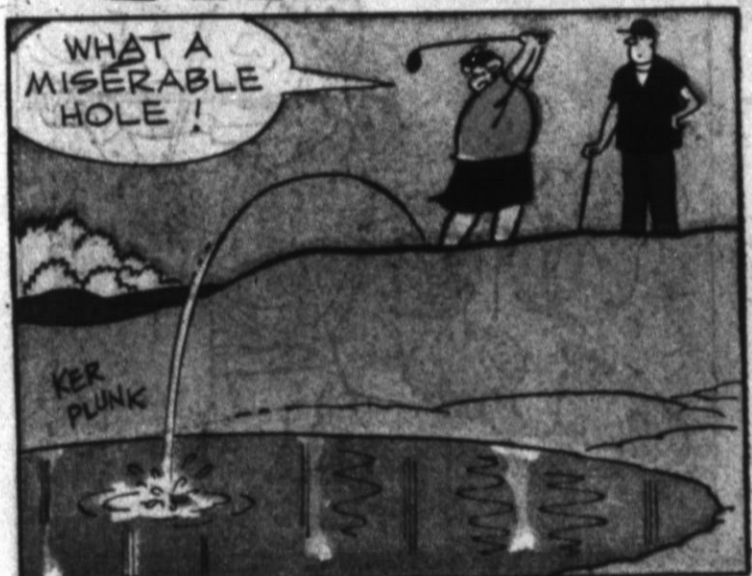

BLACK BART WAS SO ASTONISHED THAT HE DROPPED HIS GUN AND THREW UP HIS HANDS!

G'WAN, YOU MUST THINK I'M A PRETTY NAIVE KID IF YOU THINK I'M GONNA SWALLOW THAT!

WHAT A MISERABLE HOLE!

THAT'S THE FIFTH BALL YOU'VE HIT IN THERE - WHY DON'T YOU GIVE UP?

DON'T BE SILLY!

I REFUSE TO BE LICKED BY A STUPID PUDDLE OF WATER!

YOU'RE LICKED! ADMIT IT -

I WILL NOT!

O.K. - THAT'S ENOUGH! YOU'LL NEVER MAKE IT. LET'S GO!

YOU GO ON - I'LL CATCH UP WITH YOU -

I KNOW I CAN DO IT THIS TIME!
