Reagan, NATO Leaders Convene for Summit

By JAMES GERSTENZANG
Associated Press Writer

BONN, West Germany (AP) — As tens of thousands of protesters took to the streets, President Reagan and NATO leaders mixed alliance summitry with Middle East peacemaking efforts today in an attempt to halt Israel's drive into Lebanon and prevent a widening war in the Middle East. In an unexpected development, Saudi Arabia's foreign minister, Prince Saud al-Faisal, flew here for hastily arranged talks with Reagan, British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and officials of France and West Germany who met with other leaders for the one-day meeting of North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries. Reagan sent a message to Israel Prime Minister Menachem Begin demanding an immediate cease-fire in Lebanon, according to State Department spokesman Christopher Ross in Washington. He also said Reagan had been in touch with Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev before sending the message.

The summit was expected to produce a statement on Lebanon, according to a member of the U.S. delegation, Richard Burt, assistant secretary of state-designate for European affairs. "It's a logical suggestion" that was made by Mrs. Thatcher, Burt said.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes, accompanying Reagan, refused to reveal details of the message. "I won't go into the content, except that it is consistent with our previous position. We want a cease-fire. We want an

100,000 Protest Reagan Visit

BONN, West Germany (AP) — More than 100,000 protesters streamed into Bonn today and painted the town red with bright "Reagan Go Home" stickers to demonstrate against plans to deploy new U.S. missiles in Europe and other nuclear arms policies.

At the rallying point, witnesses said a young man set fire to himself and tried to slit his throat before he was taken away by helicopter with what police said were third-degree burns.

Police provided no immediate estimate of the crowd, which headed to a large park across the Rhine River from the heavily guarded Chancellery, where President Reagan and 15 other NATO leaders were discussing nuclear arms policies at their summit meeting in the West German capital.

However, a police spokesman said one of the five columns of marchers that poured into Bonn numbered at least 60,000, and rally organizers said another 70,000 were assembled in the park.

Huge crowds poured across a bridge named after the late President Kennedy — and now festooned with "West Germany out of NATO" — to the rallying point on the east bank of the Rhine.

Many of the demonstrators wore bright red "Reagan Go Home" stickers that also were plastered on traffic lights, walls and baby pushchairs. Some shed their shirts in the heat and painted their flesh with "Reagan to Hiroshima" and other slogans.

Reagan and the other NATO leaders could see none of the demonstration from the chancellery, amid some of the tightest security arrangements ever seen in Bonn.

At least 17,000 federal border guards and police brought from as far away as Munich were on duty. The sky buzzed with police helicopters.

Security worries were increased by a dozen bomb and firebomb attacks on U.S. firms and military bases in West Germany and West Berlin in the past week.

The Revolutionary Cells, the ultra-left terrorist group that claimed responsibility for the most severe of the attacks, promised "a hopefully loud, eventful and unforgettable reception" for the American president.

Israeli Forces Said Preparing To 'Storm' Lebanese Capital

By The Associated Press

Israel blasted PLO targets in Beirut from the sea and air today and dropped leaflets warning that Israeli forces were about to storm the Lebanese capital and that Syrian troops should leave "within a few hours." President Reagan urged Israel to cease fire and withdraw from Lebanon.

The Tel Aviv command announced it shot down eight more Syrian MiGs and an assault helicopter in eastern Lebanon, and upped the number of MiGs it claimed it shot down Wednesday from 22 to 29. By Israeli count this brought the number of downed MiGs in four days to 44. Syria has admitted 16 MiGs downed and claims 19 Israeli jets downed.

Despite the bombing runs on Beirut and near its airport, there was no sign the Syrians were leaving Beirut, and the official radio of Yasser Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization declared: "We shall fight from house to house, from room to room."

"The enemy is bombing our camps, our women, our children. But we shall fight, fight, fight," screamed the newscaster of the Palestine Liberation Organization's Voice of Palestine radio.

The Palestinian newscaster also announced that Arafat had just received an "important message" from Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev. He did not elaborate, but Arafat appealed to Brezhnev Monday to intervene and curb the Israeli invasion that was launched Sunday to push Palestinian forces back from the Israeli border.

PLO communiques said several residential neighborhoods in southern Beirut were hammered by the unabating air assaults that also hit areas around the airport and its highway. The PLO said its forces turned back Israeli attempts to land troops at Beirut airport.

Israel Radio said Reagan sent Prime Minister Menachem Begin an urgent demand for a cease-fire and that Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. would travel to the Middle East Friday and shuttle between Jerusalem and Damascus seeking a cease-fire.

Since the Israelis opened the attack Sunday, Syrian forces were drawn into the fighting as Israeli forces neared Beirut and the Bekaa Valley to the east, a stronghold of Syrian forces that went on to Lebanon in a peacekeeping role after the 1975-76 Lebanese civil war.

Israeli Cabinet Secretary Dan Meridor in Jerusalem said Reagan sent a letter written "in a friendly spirit" and replied to it.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes, traveling with Reagan on his summit trip in Europe, said Reagan sent a message to Begin.

Syria's state radio claimed Israeli jets today strafed convoys of travelers from Lebanon to Syria at a border checkpoint in northern Lebanon, killing 57 travelers and wounding 75.

State Tax Collections Surpass $1 Billion

AUSTIN, Tex.—State Comptroller Bob Bullock said this week that state tax collections topped a billion dollars for the month of May, the highest monthly total in Texas history.

The $1,013,475,464 deposited in the state Treasury during the month was nearly $100 million more than last May's deposit and $25 million above the previous high deposit of $988 million that Bullock put in the Treasury in February.

"There may be some clouds on the horizon for our state and national economies," Bullock said. "But the sun is still shining in Texas and Texans are making hay while it does."

Bullock said part of May's record tax payments came from quarterly prepayments made by the state's largest taxpayers along with month-end minerals tax collections. Major taxpayers have an incentive to prepay taxes they collect because they are allowed to retain a percentage of collections for paying

Workers Indexing History Names

Another milestone in compiling the Deaf Smith County history book, "The Land and Its People," was reached this week as volunteer workers completed listing more than 15,000 names for the index.

Names from each of the 1,215 family histories in the book, from stories of the county's beginning and its progress through the years, each community and its schools, churches, clubs and businesses, are all listed for inclusion in the alphabetical index which will add to the book's value as a reference volume.

Stories for the book are now in the hands of the printers, and book orders are being taken as long as it is in preparatory stages.

Troyce Hanna, chairman of Project County History, reminds families whose stories will appear in the book that the time for orders is limited, and that more than one member of a family will want one of the books in the future, if not now.

"Some families have ordered books for each child, even for small children who are not interested in their history at present, but will want to trace the family's roots later", Mrs. Hanna said. "One former resident of Hereford, a member of a pioneer family, ordered eight copies for Christmas gifts to her grandchildren."

"The books make excellent gifts for birthdays, anniversaries and other occasions," Mrs. Hanna added. Gift certificates are also available to present before publication.

Orders must be accompanied by payment, $36.75, $39.50 if the book is to be mailed. They may be taken to the project office in the E.B. Black Historical House, which is open from 9 a.m.-1 p.m. each day, or mailed to P.O. Drawer 2297.

"The final date for ordering will be determined by progress of the printer's work, but we know that not much time is left, so we urge those who want the books to get their orders in now," Mrs. Hanna said.

No Gas Shortage Seen This Summer

By JACK KEEVER Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements' energy adviser says despite what Americans may hear from the press, there should be plenty of gasoline to go around for summer vacation travel.

"It would not surprise me to see the Texas press and the national press start talking about gasoline shortages this summer," Ed Vetter told the Texas Energy and Natural Resources Advisory Council Wednesday.

Vetter said he had asked the council's staff to put together a report on motor fuel supplies.

"Interestingly enough," he said, "Exxon, Gulf, Mobil, Phillips, Shell, Texaco, Conoco and Chevron, which are the major suppliers of gasoline in the state, are putting their dealers on some kind of allocation."

"The allocation tends to be 100 percent of the contract requirements, and there's no reason to believe that there's going to be any fuel shortage, if everybody does not panic."

Vetter said there is a 30-day supply of gasoline on hand, on a national average. This is relatively low, he said, because the supply in May 1979 — "before trouble arose" — was 32 days.

"However," he said, "there is an enormous amount of crude oil."

He said refineries are running below capacity and could increase production to match a rising demand.

Council members voted Wednesday to oppose any additional domestic energy tax, saying if an energy tax is absolutely necessary it should be placed on imported oil.

Texas' top statewide elected officials on the council — Clements, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Speaker Bill Clayton and Attorney General Mark White — all supported the resolution.

Since the resolution deals with domestic taxes, it would not cover a tax on oil imports, which has been proposed in Congress to reduce the federal budget deficit projected for next year.

Hobby said more energy taxes would increase the disparity between the money Texas sends to Washington and the amount it gets back.

The council was told a $5-per-barrel tax on imported oil would raise $12 billion in 1983.

Although such a tax would increase incentives for domestic oil production and would reduce imports, the council staff said it also would cost consumers up to $30 billion per year and would raise the inflation rate by up to 1 percent and the unemployment rate by as much as 0.3 percent.

Clements said the import tax "is the most likely and the most desirable" of the proposals before Congress.

Those proposals include a barrel tax on imported domestic oil; an increase in the federal gasoline tax; a tax based on the energy content of fossil fuels and a 30 percent national severance tax on crude oil.

Dan Matheson, director of state-federal relations for Texas in Washington, said Congress was not giving serious consideration to a national severance tax. "Basically, its considered to be outrageous," said Matheson, "which it is."

Physician Surplus Predicted by 1990

DALLAS (AP) — A special task force predicts Texas, plagued for years by a shortage of doctors in rural areas, will have a surplus of physicians by 1990 and suggests a possible freeze on new medical school admissions — or an outright closure of some schools.

The prediction of a national glut of physicians is new to Texas, where a shortage of doctors has been a reality for years for rural residents.

Authorities say 12 Texas counties have no doctors and 73 counties have more than 3,000 residents for each physician.

But the Governor's Task Force on Higher Education said the ratio of doctors to residents in Texas has improved to one doctor for every 590 people.

Dallas County has one doctor for every 434 residents and Harris County has one doctor for every 436 people, the committee said.

Bullock Rep Here June 16

AUSTIN, Tex.—a representative of State Comptroller Bob Bullock will be in Hereford on June 16 to assist area taxpayers and answer tax questions.

by the Graduate Medical Education National Advisory Commission is 1-520.

"There is no question that we are getting saturated in Dallas," said Dr. Charles Sprague, president of the University of Texas Health Science Center.

The number of doctors practicing in Texas has jumped from 13,855 in 1970 to 22,900 in 1980, according to the committee.

The panel also concluded that Texas does not provide enough post-graduate training for its medical students. Figures released recently show 57 Texas medical school graduates, whose education cost taxpayers $8.4 million, were forced to go out of state for training.

The task force also reported a surplus of dentists in Texas, but noted there are vacancies for 10,000 nurses at hospitals throughout the

Update thursday

State Says Voter With Down's Syndrome Wrongly Denied Ballot

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Secretary of State David Dean says a provision in Texas election law prohibiting "idiots and lunatics" from voting only applies to those judged mentally incompetent by a court of law.

In an opinion released Wednesday, Dean said a Hidalgo election judge was wrong in denying a city election ballot to a voter who has Down's Syndrome.

The voter was registered and had cast ballots in other elections in the same precinct for seven years, Dean said.

The judge was probably acting "in good faith" said Austin Bray, counsel to the Secretary of State and author of the opinion. The voter could bring charges against the judge, he said. Wrongly denying a voter a ballot carries a penalty of up to a $500 fine.

But because the law was unclear at the time of the incident, Bray said, "as a practical matter, in this particular case, I don't think there's much the person can do."

Bray said the secretary of state's office has "occasionally" heard complaints of mentally retarded people being denied ballots. The clarification was needed, he said, because election judges have wide discretion and the language is too vague.

"I don't know if (the election judge) meant any ill will because he knew how the person was going to vote, but that provision in the law could be abused," said Bray. "Conceivably, (an election judge) could say, 'You're an idiot for who you're going to vote for and you're not allowed to vote.'"

"Just because a person is the slow boy on the block, ... while you may not think his judgment is not too sharp, he still can exercise his right to vote," said Bray.

Computers On Edge Of Sales Explosion

HOUSTON (AP) — Sales of personal computers are creating stiff competition within the industry and will begin to force prices downward, experts say.

"Tremendous growth is dead ahead," said Benjamin M. Rosen, a New York researcher and a member of a panel of experts at the National Computer Conference.

Rosen said only 2 percent of the expected market for personal computers has been reached.

"That means there is 98 percent to go," said Rosen. "This is just a mere prelude to the future."

Egil Juliussen of Future Computing Inc. in Richardson, Texas, said prices for both personal computers and the programs are heading downward rapidly. By 1990, he said, $300 should buy a computer with four times the capabilities of today's models.

Juliussen said only about 2 percent of the households in America now have personal computers, but that number should increase to 20 to 25 percent by 1987.

By the end of the decade, the personal computer market should log $16 billion in sales, with about 40 percent of the sales through computer stores, he predicted.

More than 62,800 persons have visited the Astrodomain site of the computer conference since it opened Monday. The trade show will end Thursday night.

Police Say Man Had Less Than $1,000, Not $1 Million

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — A man whose abandoned motor home was found in a restaurant parking lot was not carrying some $2 million in cash and gold as earlier reported, authorities said Wednesday.

Police detective Jeff Lester said Clifford R. Nicholson, 37, of Clovis, N.M. was believed to have less than $1,000 with him.

Police detective Bruce Hite had said earlier this week that Nicholson had closed a land deal in Clovis before disappearing and was thought to be carrying cash and gold with him.

But Lester said Wednesday that Nicholson only had expense money.

"We don't feel necessarily that there is foul play involved," Lester said. "There certainly was not any large amounts of cash to entice any type of foul play."

"His wife has verified that he did not have any large amounts of cash," Lester said.

Nicholson was last seen about noon last Thursday in Amarillo by his lawyer — who was drawing up paperwork on a corporation Nicholson was forming — Lester said. Nicholson's motor home was found Sunday in an Amarillo restaurant parking lot.

Paul Harvey News Escape Hatch for Bad Guys

Our federal agents may sweat over a case for months, years. Painstakingly, at high personal risk and with exhausting effort they backtrack a criminal investigation to "Mister Big."

This time they have pursued and cornered a criminal kingpin. With him out of circulation, a criminal empire will crumble.

Their evidence more than adequate for prosecution they close in, lock him up.

Within hours he's paid his bail, is out of jail and out of the country.

When Jose Fernandez was arrested in New Orleans, a Cuban charged with 13 counts of drug-smuggling and conspiracy with intent to distribute marijuana in the United States, bail was set at $20 million.

His lawyers managed to talk that down to half a million.

Jose Fernandez, believed worth $30 million to $40 million, could have taken that bond out of petty cash. He did — and promptly disappeared — probably to Spain.

Attorney General William French Smith calls bail-jumping "a national disgrace."

Robert Jernigan Jr. and two associates were involved in a $40 million drug smuggling operation. When their bail was set at $500,000, $200,000 and $100,000 — they paid it and their present whereabouts are unknown.

Historically, bail in excess of $100,000 may have been adequate to keep felons behind bars, but these big-league narcotics smugglers are likely to carry that much cash.

Bruce Graziano is federally charged with separate conspiracies to import 43,000 pounds of marijuana. He was released on $300,000 bond. Present whereabouts unknown.

And the DEA officers who chased him down — after spending two years on a multi-state undercover investigation resulting in 155 indictments in three states — have to feel like fools!

Police in Chicago will tell you that Jose Herrera of Durango, Mexico is a major heroin trafficker.

His bond was set at a million dollars. I don't know if you know but one needs pay only 10 percent cash on such a bond. He showed up with four $25,000 cashier's checks.

Present whereabouts unknown.

And the list goes on and on. Just in Miami, there have been more than a hundred big bond-jumpers in recent months.

Britain Suffers Heavy Losses

By The Associated Press

Argentine planes inflicted heavy casualties on British forces southwest of Stanley, raising speculation that the assault on the Falklands capital might be delayed further, and Argentina claimed its troops also repelled a frontal attack on their main defense line.

"This is obviously some setback. But until we have assessed the situation, we do not know how much this will change our plans," the commander of the 5th Infantry Brigade, Brig. Tony Wilson, told a reporter after Argentine air strikes set two big landing ships crowded with troops afire and damaged the frigate Plymouth and a small landing craft.

The Times of London said some British sources believed the final assault on Stanley, anticipated since last weekend, might have to be delayed "such is the extent of the disaster."

The Argentine planes set the 412-foot landing ships Sir Galahad and Sir Tristram afire with bombs, rockets and cannon fire as they were putting 5th Brigade troops ashore Tuesday in a narrow estuary at Fitzroy Sound, 15 miles southwest of Stanley.

British defense officials said casualties were "substantial," but no official figures were available yet. A correspondent with the task force reported in a dispatch passed by censorship that 39 of the Sir Galahad's crewmen were missing — the heaviest British loss reported in the war so far — and many others were burned or wounded.

There was no estimate of casualties among the troops being landed by the two ships or aboard the Sir Tristram. Each ship had a crsry said the each could carry 500 troops.

The Defense Ministry said there were only five wounded aboard the Plymouth, but a correspondent with the task force said a number of troops were feared killed aboard the small landing craft that was damaged.

The Defense Ministry claimed British fighter pilots and naval gunners shot down seven of the Argentine Skyhawk and Mirage raiders.

British communiques and correspondents' reports made no mention of any ground action around Stanley. But the Argentine Joint Chiefs of Staff reported "intense combat" in the center of the Stanley defenses Wednesday, an eight-hour artillery duel, damage to two British Harrier jets attacking Stanley and the downing of "enemy helicopters and personnel operating in the Mount Kent area," 15 miles west of Stanley.

The communique also claimed British commandos were driven off when they tried to land at Port Harriet, three miles south of Stanley.

British correspondent Michael Nicholson of Independent Television News in an eyewitness account of the air attack at Fitzroy Sound said a formation of Argentine planes swooped down, taking the British by surprise.

"As the bombs exploded, many men were brought ashore with burns. Many trapped on the wrong side of the ship jumped overboard. I saw men swim underwater away from the ship to avoid the burning oil," he said.

Harris County Cracking Down on DWIs

HOUSTON (AP) — A drunken driver coming into or leaving Harris County's northside this weekend will face a formidable law enforcement task force lined up with citation pads in hand and a paddy wagon ready to cart violators to jail.

As many as 100 police officers and 35 units will participate in saturation patrolling of major thoroughfares as part of the first coordinated crackdown of city, county and state agencies against drunken drivers.

The traffic safety blitz is the combined work of the Texas Department of Public Safety, State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, Harris County Sheriff's Department and the Houston and Pasadena police departments.

"Instead of eight or 10 units in that area, there will be 35 to 40," said Department of Public Safety Lt. Harold Couch, a member of the Traffic Safety Awareness Task Force. "We will not only be looking for drunk drivers but for all violations that might endanger motorists' safety."

The effort, announced Wednesday, will begin Friday about 6 p.m. and continue until about 6 a.m. Saturday. It will be coordinated from a central post to prevent agencies from overlapping patrol areas.

Officials admit that carefully combing one area will not solve the overall problem.

"I don't think this will solve the problem but by concentrating on one area the public will at least be aware that we are trying to do something," said task force chairman Jim Freeman of the state highway department.

Couch said the DPS has individually attempted similar blitzes without lasting success.

"We have never been able to establish a deterrent but we hope with a concentrated effort of all agencies, we'll create one," Couch said.

Law enforcement officers have studied statistics to formulate their task force activities.

"Statistics tell us that most drunk drivers hit the road about 8 p.m. and they are still out there until about 5 a.m.," Couch said. "We plan to be out there to meet them at 8 o'clock."

The county recorded 691 traffic fatalities in 1981, and National Safety Council studies showed more than 50 percent of those were caused by drunks. Freeman said about 25 percent of all traffic accidents in the state occur right here in Harris County.

Major C.W. Rust of the Harris County Sheriff's Department, said drunken drivers would be taken to the Humble, Texas, jail to be charged. If the jail gets too crowded, Rust said, a paddy wagon would be available to take traffic offenders directly to the Harris County jail.

"We hope we don't have to arrest anyone," Rust said.

He said police decided to publicly announce the blitz in advance because "We hope to increase the public awareness of the need for safety."

Ben Kennedy of the Houston Police Department, vice chairman of the task force, said officers would not set up road blocks or make random stops of vehicles.

member from Longview, said the most cost-efficient way to reduce the number of doctors in the state is to close one or two medical schools, such as the Texas A&M University College of Medicine or the Texas Tech University Health Science Center.

Although Strong said both schools are "inefficient," he admitted that "doing away with A&M is politically a hot potato."

But critics say the doctor-to-resident ratio is misleading and question whether the study considered other trends, such as doctors practicing fewer hours and the growth in the number of elderly people, who require more health services.

Wellington Smith, president of Austin-based Texas Doctors Group, a private medical recruiting company, said portions of the state still have a shortage of doctors.

"You get a bunch of eggheads involved and there appears to be plenty of doctors in Texas," Smith said. "But there is still a maldistribution of doctors. People in West, South and East Texas still need doctors."

Iran Rejects Iraqi Peace Offer

Bert Wallace, director of the Comptroller's Revenue Processing Division, said he has expected tax collections to top the billion dollar mark for several months. Monthly collections during 1982 have been running about 20 percent higher than last year's, Wallace said.

The month's total passed $1 billion with the Comptroller's final May deposit to the Treasury on the 28th, Wallace said.

Meanwhile, tens of thousands of people streamed into Bonn, painting the town red with bright "Reagan Go Home" stickers in protest of his Pentagon buildup and NATO plans to deploy new U.S. missiles in Europe. Dystrophy Swim-A-Thon Set Monday

The fourth annual Elks Against Dystrophy Swim-a-thon will be held Monday, June 14, from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Elks Pool, 1509 16th St. Participation is open to anyone. To qualify, swimmers must collect pledges for each lap they complete during the swim-a-thon. Pledge sheets may be picked up at the pool. Donations may be "pledged" and collected after the swim-a-thon or collected in advance to be turned in before the event begins at 2 p.m.

Those swimmers collecting at least $10 will receive a t-shirt transfer and certificate from Jerry Lewis. All swimmers turning in $75 or more the day of the swim-a-thon will win a Jerry Lewis wristwatch.

Refreshments will be provided for all participants. A trophy will be awarded to the person who swims the most laps, and first through third place grand prizes will be given to those swimmers raising the most money. First place is an Atari video game. The first place winner will also be invited to appear on a local segment of the Jerry Lewis Telethon.

Participants under 18 years of age should have their parents sign a release form which may be obtained at the pool along with the pledge sheets.

For further information, call the pool at 364-4511 or Harry Stevens, chairman of the MDA swim-a-thon this year, at 364-1840. Co-chairman is Robert Holmes.

Ready for Swim-a-thon

at the event. The fourth annual swim-a-thon will be held at the Elks Pool, 1509 16th St. from 2-5 p.m. Monday and is open to everyone. Pledge sheets should be picked up at the pool as soon as possible. (Brand Photo.)

Ann Landers

Embarrassed By Sweet Tooth

Dear Ann: A couple of friends and I were dining recently at a chic North Side restaurant. After dinner we decided to have dessert. One of my friends ordered the chocolate eclair shell with ice cream inside and hot fudge sauce on top. The shell was served with what I thought was a generous dollop of hot fudge, but my friend asked for two more portions of sauce. I thought I would sink under the table from embarrassment!

That's not all. On the way out she bought a couple of chocolate truffles (very rich chocolate candy) and ate them on the spot!

Should I say something to her? She has a very trim figure, but I'm afraid she will harm herself by eating all that chocolate. Please answer, Ann—I think my friend needs help fast.

Dear Chagrined: Say something to her if it will make you feel better, but it won't change anything. She has heard it all before. More bad news. Your friend also loves lemon pie, caramel custard and any flavor ice cream.

The good news is that she's in excellent health, exercises vigorously every morning for 30 minutes and can lick her weight in wildcats. Any more questions?

grandparents cope with a 20-year-old son's illegitimate child? The mother is satisfied with being a single parent. Our son says he has no intention of marrying her, but they remain friendly and he brings the child gifts. Incidentally, our son lives at home.

Are we narrow-minded because we do not wish to accept the child as our own? Last week our son offered to bring some pictures of the baby, but we said we didn't care to see them. Why should we have anything to do with the child? Please respond.—Illegitimate Grandma, U.S.A.

Dear Grandma: You sign yourself "illegitimate." Why? Your son's child is your grandson. You are a legitimate grandmother. The fact that your son did not marry doesn't alter your status.

In my opinion you should open your home and your heart to the child. The little guy should not have yet another door slammed in his face because his parents have chosen a far-out lifestyle. (P.S. That line about your son bringing the child "gifts"—big deal. What about support? He has a legal obligation to take care of the boy until he reaches his majority. Where's his sense of decency?)

Dear Ann Landers: These remarks are for that physician's wife in New England. She said her clergyman saved her sanity because he was willing to listen to her problems when her husband would not.

I am a clergyman's wife whose sanity was saved by a physician who was willing to listen to MY problems when my husband couldn't find time. I am willing to bet we both have the same troubles: children, his mother, and HIM—yes, not enough attention. He is always somewhere else when I need him.

There's one significant difference, however. I paid my husband for listening to me, and he charges plenty. Other noticeable differences: your home, your car, your clothes, your children's camps and your financial security if he should go first. I'll sign this: A Mississippi Minister's Wife Dear Mississ: Considering the respect clergymen get and the hours they put in, they are the most underpaid of all professionals. Whoever said life was fair?

Art Guild Installs Officers

Ten members of the Hereford Art Guild met in a called meeting at the Community Center Tuesday evening to elect and install the 1982-83 officers.

Carrie Mae Doak, as chairman of the nominating committee, submitted the following slate of officers: Hilda Haven, president; Opal Elliston, first vice-president; Leola Cook, second vice-president; Nell Culpepper, secretary; Carrie Mae Doak, treasurer; and Lucile Naylor, reporter.

There officers were elected by acclamation and duly installed.

The club will meet in the home of Hilda Haven, 239 Elm, at 10 a.m. on July 27 for a coffee and social hour and to discuss plans for the new year.

Now You're Cookin'

By LINDA CAUDLE
Family News Editor

As a member of the Hereford Garden Club and First Baptist Church, Mrs. R.L. Ethridge finds ample opportunity to use her talents and two main hobbies, cooking and gardening.

Mrs. Ethridge also holds memberships in the American Association of Retired Persons and Hereford Senior Citizens, but says that she keeps so busy with other things that she is not too involved with either of these. She does most things independently, like taking food and other gifts to shut-ins and the sick and bereaved.

Each fall the Hereford Garden Club holds a bazaar. "That's probably when I bake the most," notes Mrs. Ethridge. "I also enjoy cooking for Pioneer Day, and this year took several dishes and a flower arrangement."

"All of my family was here for Christmas," adds Mrs. Ethridge, "so I did a lot of cooking then too." She usually bakes bread about five or six times a month.

In the past, Mrs. Ethridge has decorated for weddings, doing various types of floral arrangements for ceremonies in Hereford and area towns such as Levelland and Vega. She does flower arrangements for her church quite often and most of the flowers come from her yard or friends' yards.

She is a master judge in her flower show work, which is as far as one can go in judging. She has been a master judge for about 12 years, and has taken several refresher courses in Oklahoma City, Santa Fe, and Abilene, which are sponsored by garden clubs through a state and national network. Mrs. Ethridge has been a member of the Hereford Garden Club since 1945.

She also cans a lot, having a large vegetable garden in her back yard, as well as all kinds of fruit trees. Sewing is another of her hobbies, and she enjoyed taking a Stretch and Sew class several years ago.

Mrs. Ethridge has worked in the fifth and sixth grade Sunday school department at First Baptist Church for over 20 years, and says that she has enjoyed being around the children and that they are "good for you."

Something else that Mrs. Ethridge has been working on is writing several family histories for the Deaf Smith County History Book. She wrote a special memorial tribute to her late husband, R.L. Ethridge, who was employed with the telephone company here.

Mrs. Ethridge has been in Hereford since 1918, when she moved with her parents from near Wichita Falls. She has three children, Clayton Gene Rutter, who lives with his wife and two sons in Austin; Clela Kay Rutter, a beauty operator in Amarillo; and Nelson Lee Rutter, who resides with his wife and daughter in Clovis while their son, Ty, is living with his grandmother here in Hereford for the summer and working at a chemical company.

The following are some of Mrs. Ethridge's favorite recipes, the last three being somewhat unique, and the Krispy Cookies a favorite with those who are privileged to taste her baked goods.

KRISPY COOKIES

- 1 c. oleo
 - 1 c. brown sugar
 - 1 c. white sugar
 - 2 eggs
 - 1 tsp. coconut flavoring
 - 2 c. rice krispies
 - 1 tsp. salt
 - 2 c. flour
 - 2 c. oatmeal
 - 1 c. coconut
 - 1 tsp. soda
- Cream oleo and sugar; add eggs and flavoring and beat well. Stir in dry ingredients.

Drop by teaspoonsfuls onto greased cookie sheet and bake at 350 degrees for 8 to 12 minutes.

SOFT BUTTER

- 1 lb. oleo
- 2 c. buttermilk
- 2 c. butter flavored Wesson oil

Beat above ingredients with mixer a long time.

SUMMER SAUSAGE

- 1 c. warm water
- 1/2 tsp. onion powder
- 1/2 tsp. garlic powder
- 1/4 tsp. pepper or peppercorns
- 2 Tbsp. Tender Quick
- 2 tsp. liquid smoke

Combine above ingredients and then mix thoroughly with 2 pounds ground beef. Form into rolls, wrap in foil (shiny side in) and chill overnight.

Pinch holes in foil to allow drippings to drain off. Cook on rack with drip pan underneath for 1 hour at 350 degrees.

CHESTNUT MEATBALLS

- 2 c. soft bread crumbs (2 1/2 slices)
- 1/2 c. milk
- 1 Tbsp. soy sauce
- 1/2 tsp. garlic salt
- 1/4 tsp. onion powder
- 1/2 lb. pork sausage
- 1/2 lb. ground beef
- 1 can water chestnuts (chopped)

Combine bread crumbs, milk, soy sauce, garlic salt, and onion powder. Add beef, pork and water chestnuts. Mix well.

Form into one-inch balls and place in 15 1/2 x 10 1/2 x 1 inch baking pan. Bake 18 to 20 minutes at 350 degrees.

Serve with hot mustard sauce or sweet and sour sauce. These freeze well.

FALL TARGET — Come fall, ABC will launch an all-out prime-time offensive to topple CBS from its lofty Nielsen perch. For the past two years, CBS has easily won the fall-spring Nielsen ratings race with a combination of innovative programming and slick promotion.

In order to accomplish its goal, ABC axed several series that had begun to show signs of weakness including "Mork and Mindy," "Taxi," "Strike Force," "Today's FBI," "Code Red" and "Barney Miller."

Series that bowed as second-season entries, survived the axe and were added to the fall schedule include "Joanie Loves Chachi," "9-5" and "T.J. Hooker." Like NBC, ABC will try and lure younger viewers with doses of comedy and action-adventure series.

The comedies include "The New Odd Couple" starring Ron Glass and Demond Wilson ("Sanford and Son") in an all-black version of the early '70s hit series; "Star of the Family" headlining newcomer Kathy Matsnik as a teen-age rock star; and "For Better or Worse" featuring Richard Crenna and Patty Duke Astin as a married couple who try to retain their senses of independence.

The action-adventure series are "Tales of the Brass Monkey," a series patterned after "Raiders of the Lost Ark" and starring Stephen Collins and Barty DuBois; "The Quest" with Perry King, Noah Beery Jr., Ray Vitte and Karen Austin as heirs to a throne in a mythical Mediterranean kingdom; and "Matt Houston" headlined Lee Horsley as a playboy detective. There will also be a "reality" series based on "Ripley's Believe It or Not" books.

At press time, ABC had not announced its back-up series, but it's anticipated that the network will put at least two other series into production later this summer to insure itself against instant failure by one of its fall shows.

One fall show that could be quickly canceled is "The Greatest American Hero," which will be entering its third season. ABC has moved it against CBS's "Dallas," whose past ratings have always crushed the competition.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

Did you read the story a few weeks ago about the man who picked up $1.2 million that had fallen of an armored truck? Six days later, he had spent $196,000 of it and was on his way to Acapulco. When he was caught and hauled into court, he pleaded not guilty by reasons of "insanity."

If a million two wouldn't make you crazy, what would? I tried that plea once with my husband and it didn't wash. He said I had a choice. I could either take the Ultrasuede skirt back or be committed in it.

I tried "I blacked out" when I bought my food processor. That didn't work either.

About three years ago I used, "When I opened my purse my credit card fell into that little machine and charged a silk dress to me before I knew what was happening." He said it was the closest I ever got to an insanity plea.

Actually, there's not a woman in the world who would be surprised or impressed by someone spending $32,666 a day. Shopping is our life. It's what we do best and no one is more aware of the selling traps than we are.

Beginning at the front door of a shop or a store, the bright lights hypnotize you into a relaxed euphoria. As you walk down the aisles, handbags, boxes of cookies and nightgowns are placed near the edge of the counter so that when you brush by them you knock them off and experience the pleasure of holding them in your hand.

We don't have a chance. The advertising industry spends billions of dollars a year trying to figure out how they can get us to open our purses. I'm a cheap shot.

Meet a compulsive buyer. I buy in haste and repent at leisure. I can rationalize everything I buy from slacks that don't fit to polo scorecards.

Following the birth of one of the children, I was given a check by my mother to spend any way I saw fit. I ran through the department store for three days getting near to a purchase, then rejecting it for something else. Eventually, I paid the phone bill with it, but it got the color back in my cheeks again.

My friend, Mayva, read the story about the man who carried around $1.2 million and said, "How could any rational human being spend $32,666 a day?"

Mayva hasn't priced lettuce lately.

Annual Convention Held This Week

Women educators from over Texas will meet in Austin Thursday through Sunday for the annual state convention of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society International. Attending from Hereford will be Margaret Bell, Ann Cummings and Alice Christman.

Action at this 53rd state convention will project a profile of change. In response to current educational concerns, leaders of seminars will focus on such subjects as 80's awareness, professional advancement, leadership and international concerns.

Alpha State president Ruth Williams has announced that the theme, "Act that each tomorrow will find us farther than today," will bring members to consider purposeful change in personal goals as well as in Society issues on an international level.

Founded in Texas for women educators of outstanding achievement, Delta Kappa Gamma now has 3,000 chapters in 22 countries. Representing this far-reaching emphasis, a special guest at the Texas convention will be Miss Dorothy Dunlap of Pueblo, Colo. who is the Southwest Director of The Delta Kappa Gamma Society International.

As the International representative, she will speak at the Founders' and Presidents' Dinner Saturday night. Ann Cummings, president of Delta Ki will be presented along with other Chapter Presidents Throughout the state.

POWER TO ENJOY

By Bob Wear
Living includes problems and difficulties, but living also includes the enjoyment of all good things. This enjoyment is not the shallow, momentary, superficial feeling of self-indulgence. It is the deep, abiding, and energizing feeling of satisfaction found in full understanding of life, in the recognition of and the gratitude for blessings.

It is right to enjoy life, and wrong not to do so. Some folks seem to think that a wholesome manner of living cannot be enjoyed; however, all factual information supports the view that it is the only life style that can be enjoyed.

We can enjoy our family life, our work, our efforts to serve others, our opportunities for self-betterment, and every other phase of honorable and upright living. The capacity or power to enjoy the good things is part of our true nature, and it can be developed to the point of constant dominance.

The futility of life, without the "power to enjoy" is expressed in the following: "There is an evil which I have seen under the sun, and it lies heavy upon men: a man whom God gives wealth, possessions, and honor, so that he lacks nothing of all he desires, yet God does not give him power to enjoy them; this is a striving after the wind; it is a sore affliction."

There are good things to enjoy, and it is intended that they be enjoyed. We are taught that our Creator gives us richly all things to enjoy. Therefore, having the power to enjoy and the things to enjoy; it is not necessary to live on any lower level of life. All of this, of course, embraces the necessity of living in harmony with honorable, just and true principles of thought and action.

In consideration of the way we have been made, and of the provisions made for us; we see that we have the "power to enjoy" all good things. Of course, we can refuse or neglect to use it; but this is surely an unwise choice. This potential capacity, like all others, must be nurtured and cultivated in order for it to serve its rightful purpose.

Enjoying life is living, because the good things in life lose their real value to us unless we do enjoy them.

Order Of Eastern Star Welcomes New Member

The Hereford Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, met Tuesday night at the Masonic Temple with Worthy Matron Bonnie Hartley presiding. Wilma Townsend became a new member.

The Chapter was invited to installation ceremonies on June 17 of the Lamson Chapter at Hale Center.

It was reported that a letter had been received from the Grand Examiner saying that 18 members had received certificates. The auditing report was given by L.J. Clark. The books were reported in proper order. Junior Past Matron Linda Knowles gave a report on the past year. Beverly Brooke, secretary, also reported on the past year's activities, stating that the chapter currently has 201 members.

It was reported that Shirley Barber has gone home from the hospital.

Twenty three members were present, including hosts, Linda and Larry Knowles, Clara Brown, and Johnnie and O.R. Sanders.

Figureheads

Figureheads are about as old as sailing itself. The art grew from the ancient custom of decorating ships' bows to invite guiding spirits to dwell in the vessels. Throughout the centuries, nations and peoples decorated their ships' bows. During the Commonwealth of England, the ship Naseby carried an image of the lord protector himself, Oliver Cromwell.

Grishams Observe 60th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. A.G. Grisham will observe their 60th wedding anniversary Sunday with a reception in their honor hosted by their two sons. Friends are invited to call from 2:30 to 5 p.m. at their home on South Main. No gifts, please.

Children of the couple are James Leon of Clovis, N.M. and Milford Ray, a missionary in South America currently stationed in Santa Fe, Argentina, on furlough. Miss Lillie Alvin Gunn and A.G. Grisham were married June 19 1922 in Canyon. They lived in the Wildorado Community for several years before moving to Natalia, Texas.

They returned to Deaf Smith County in 1947, where they were engaged in farming and moved to their present home on South Main in 1964.

Rebekahs Hold Memorial Services For Ola Mae Green

Hereford Rebekah Lodge number 228 met in regular session Tuesday evening at Odd Fellow Hall. Memorial services were held for Ola Mae Green, who had been a member of the lodge many years.

Members of her family were special guests as the charter was draped during the ceremony. Family members present were Virginia Easley, Sue Gilliland, Billie Easley, and Claudia and Dr. Duffy McBrayer.

Plans were made to serve the Odd Fellow Circle meeting Monday, June 14, with Noble Grand Roberta Combs presiding.

Sick members and friends were reported and cards were signed.

Gene and Helen Bishop were presented a gift in honor of their recent marriage. A gift was also given to Jim Shaw in appreciation of the many good deeds he has done for the lodge.

Leona Sowell was hostess to Ursalee Jacobsen, Irene Merritt, Beth Hall, Edna Mathes, Glessie Shelton, Mr. and Mrs. Bishop, Mary Belle Manning, Kee Ruland, Lavita Fitzgerald, Lydia Hopson, Guy and Bessie Lawrence.

Also C.D. Fitzgerald, Fred Ruland, David Rettman, Elmer Combs, Bessie Saulcy, Ruth Rogers, Eugenia Combs, Ada Hollagaugh, Verna Sowell, Susie Curtsinger, Dorothy Lundry, Billie Simes, and Ms. Combs.

Trice Earns Eagle Scout Badge Honor

Chris Trice, 15-year-old son of Billy and Carolyn Trice, has earned the Eagle Scout Badge from Troop 50 Boy Scouts.

Trice completed 36 merit badges and 10 skill awards in earning his Eagle honor. He is a member of the Order of the Arrow and has served as scribe, assistant patrol leader and leadership corp.

His Eagle projects was painting improvements in Dameron Park. He painted three merry-go-rounds, three slides, three see-saws, a circular curb, several posts, three swing sets, two picnic tables and two benches.

He is a member of Central Church of Christ. He is in band and was on the honor roll in school. He works at K-Bob's.

West Scores Equal To Senior

Dale West, a seventh grader at La Plata Junior High, obtained Scholastic Aptitude Test scores comparable to college bound seniors and was honored at ceremonies at the University of Texas June 5.

The son of Joe and Mary West, he took the test in January as part of Duke University's academic talent search. The search involved over 18,000 students and covered 16 southern and midwestern states. He was chosen to take the test out of the Pegasus program. Students honored in Texas were required to have scores of at least 500 out of 800 on the math portion or 430 out of 800 points on the verbal portion or 52 out of 60 points on the Test of Standard Written English.

West was granted a one course tuition scholarship from Baylor University.

He also received several books: "The Bibliographical Guide to the Study of the Literature of the U.S.," by Clarence Ghodes for having a SAT verbal score between 550 and 640; "Relativity," by Albert Einstein for having a score between 600 and 660; and the New Webster's Dictionary of the English Language for having an overall SAT score between 1,000 and 1,200.

Lung Association Helps Children Control Asthma

Asthma is the most common chronic disease of childhood. Over 60,000 children in Texas suffer from asthma, and the disease is responsible for over 25 percent of all school absenteeism.

The American Lung Association of Texas, which has worked since 1907 to help Texans fight chronic lung diseases, has now announced a new program to help children control their asthma. It's called "Superstuff."

"Superstuff" is an 86-page educational and self-help kit designed to help children control their asthma, to build self-esteem, to lead as near normal lives as possible.

control their disease, but it offers great fun and humor for asthmatic children ages 7-14.

Among the "Superstuff" contents are a T-shirt iron-on; a mobile; stickers; a paper doll with costumes; puzzles; funny rhymes and riddles; a mystery story about a haunted house; a poster and many other items that teach about asthma.

Along with that is a musical record, "Ease Up," which helps children relax and "breathe right;" interviews with parents; answers to questions about asthma; and a 16-page "news magazine" for parents that is full of information on how grownups can help children with asthma.

A $10 contribution is requested from recipients of "Superstuff" to cover the cost of printing. To order, contact the American Lung Association of Texas, 7701 North Lamar, Suite 104, Austin, Texas 78752-1088.

With the aid of "Superstuff," many young Texans will have the opportunity to control their disease...by helping themselves.

The term "cowboy" was first used during the Revolutionary War and referred to a band of American Tories who robbed patriots of their cattle.

Gulf An Obstacle Course to Larger Vessels

By BRIAN FORD Beaumont Enterprise & Journal
BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — To the average landlubber, the Gulf of Mexico may seem a vast expanse of water free of obstructions. To the shipmaster of a large vessel, the Gulf can be an obstacle course of offshore drilling platforms.

Coast Guard officials and ship captains agree that if the number of offshore drilling platforms continues to increase, more ships will be forced to use a network of ship safety fairways established in the 1960s.

Cmdr. Fred Halvorsen of the Coast Guard Marine Safety Office in Port Arthur said 550 charted stationary platforms and 40 mobile platforms dot the area under the jurisdiction of the Port Arthur office. Its jurisdiction runs roughly from High Island to Lafayette, La., and extends about 120 miles offshore.

The rigs are beneficial to passing ships to the extent the stationary ones can be used as navigational aids but are "detrimental in that they restrict the movement of mariners," he said.

While platforms have as much of a right to be in the Gulf as ships, Halvorsen said, "they certainly obscure radar usage." At a Coast Guard investigative hearing into the recent collision between the African Pioneer, a Liberian freighter, and the Delta Norte, a U.S. barge carrier, a Delta Norte officer testified that just before the collision, about 30 platforms were visible on his radar scope.

The rigs may have made it difficult for the officer to discern a moving object and, thus, may have contributed to the accident, Halvorsen said.

All offshore platforms are required to have navigation lights, he said, but some of the rigs are so well lit they may obscure the sighting of one ship by another.

The last serious accident in local waters between a vessel and a platform occurred Aug. 21, 1980, when the Texaco tanker North Dakota impaled itself on an oil well jacket about 115 miles south of Morgan City, La. The crash occurred early in the morning, and after the gasoline-laden vessel struck the rig, a fire engulfed the front of the ship. The crew abandoned ship, and the fire lasted for several days before a fire-fighting crew could put it out.

After an investigation, the Coast Guard found that the captain of the North Dakota had not utilized the latest Coast Guard information to chart the location of the rig.

The rig, however, which was still under construction and rose about 18 feet above water, was dark when the accident occurred because a hurricane had knocked its light out of service.

Halvorsen said owners of offshore platforms must give notice of rig locations to the Coast Guard, which in turn prints the information in its Notice to Mariners, a weekly publication. Mariners are required to use the data to keep up-to-date charts.

James Manrey, a retired Texaco captain with 28 years experience as shipmaster of the Texaco Montana, a 604-foot tanker, said the density of oil and gas rigs along the Gulf Coast has forced many ships to travel farther away from the shore.

"If a rig is properly lighted, has all the safety features, I have no problem with that rig," Manrey said.

Safety fairways for vessels were implemented in U.S. waters in 1968 to help ships navigate around offshore platforms, Halvorsen said. The fairways, leading from various ports out to sea, are 2 miles wide. No platforms are allowed within the fairways, although many are built adjacent to them.

Most U.S. ships do not use the fairways, Halvorsen said. Instead, they "run the rigs," moving between platforms.

Manrey, who was "here from the beginning," said he "did not feel I had to go out into the fairways."

Almost all foreign vessels sailing the Gulf rigorously stick to the fairways. "The European is conditioned to use the fairways," Halvorsen said, since in European waters, shipmasters can be fined heavily for straying from the established lanes. The same requirement does not apply in the Gulf, he said.

In Europe, many fairways were established just after World War II, Halvorsen said. Ships tended to stick to them, since the waters outside the lanes had not been swept for mines.

Both Halvorsen and Manrey said if rigs began to multiply farther out in the Gulf, more ships may be forced to use the fairways. By avoiding the fairways, Manrey said, "you save a few miles, you save your company money, but if you wreck your ship, you're not saving your company money."

Capt. James Baker, vice president of the west Gulf division for Lykes Brothers Steamship Co. Inc., said platforms "changed the whole pattern of navigation in the Gulf."

During the '50s, he said, rigs were confined to shallow waters and provided useful navigational aids for vessels sailing along the monotonous Gulf Coast. "They were sort of welcome," he said.

Until recently, keeping the sea clear of objects that block the paths of vessels has been a paramount concern, Baker said. "Now, we've found ourselves building obstructions to navigation," he said, adding the platforms "are not close together, but there's an element of risk."

If more ships use the fairways, Baker said, the lanes should be widened. "The fairways are only 2 miles wide, which is really pretty skinny," he said. "It's really not that much area."

But Baker doubts the fairways will be made wider, since several rigs already abut the boundaries.

As a result of the Coast Guard's investigation of the Delta Norte-African Pioneer collision, which happened at a fairway entrance, the local office will recommend to Coast Guard headquarters that fairway use be reviewed, Halvorsen said.

Separate lanes of traffic may result from the review; or possibly, the current lanes will be widened and auxiliary lanes be created, he said.

Boaters Urged To Follow Guidelines

AUSTIN—Texas boaters are urged to follow several simple boating guidelines throughout the summer by the Boating Trades Association of Texas. "This week has been set aside to focus the attention of all boaters on the importance of following basic safety precautions," said Rick Smith, BTAT Public Relations Committee chairman.

Members of the recreational marine industry throughout Texas and the country are stressing the theme "Wear your life preserver (PFD). A friend for life!" Texas Governor Bill Clements has signed a proclamation declaring the week of June 6-12 as Texas Safe Boating Week.

"Personal flotation devices are required by law to be aboard all boats, but they won't do any good if they are not worn," Smith said. "Today's flotation devices are lightweight and comfortable, and in no way restrict a person's maneuverability. Another simple way to prevent boating accidents is to be aware of and practice proper boating procedures," Smith said.

This year, BTAT is co-sponsoring "Better Boating" courses in high schools throughout the state in cooperation with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. "Texas has recently become the third largest boating state in the country due to our rapidly increasing population and excellent boating facilities," Smith said. "It is extremely important that boaters, especially first time boaters, know to properly handle their crafts. That is why we are committed to helping make this valuable course available to as many students as possible."

Other groups such as the United States Power Squadrons, American Red Cross, the Texas Safety Council, Boy Scouts of America and 8th U.S. Coast Guard District also offer courses and materials to person interested in boating.

The Boating Trades Association of Texas is comprised of dealers, manufacturers and distributors of boats, motors, trailers and marine accessories. BTAT is nationally recognized as one of the strongest and most active associations of its kind.

"UNTIL WE GET the budget under control, we have no right promising continued tax cuts," says Sen. Russell Long, the ranking minority member of the Senate Finance Committee. The Louisiana Democrat wants to repeal the final 10 percent tax cut scheduled to take effect on July 1, 1983, as well as the "indexing" of tax brackets scheduled to begin in 1985.

Reaction to Story On Drugs Expected

By DENNIS D'AGOSTINO Associated Press Writer

The first reactions are bearing out at least one of Don Reese's contentions: that it would be said he had exaggerated the extent of a cocaine problem in the National Football League.

At the end of his magazine article about alleged widespread cocaine use by NFL players, Reese said, "Rather than reform, what is more likely to happen is that the NFL will say I've exaggerated everything here."

In a copyright story in the June 14 issue of Sports Illustrated, Reese said that "Cocaine can be found in quantity throughout" the NFL. Reese, 30, played for Miami (1974-76), New Orleans (1978-80) and San Diego (1981) as a defensive end. He and former Dolphins' teammate Randy Crowder, a defensive tackle, spent a year in jail during 1977-78 after pleading guilty to selling cocaine to undercover agents.

In the article, Reese wrote that there were drug problems on all three teams he played for, and named several NFL players with whom he played as cocaine users.

San Diego owner Gene Klein dismissed Reese's allegation that the Chargers have "a big drug problem" as "ludicrous ... total nonsense."

"We're not claiming we're lily-white," Klein told The Associated Press in a telephone interview Wednesday. "There's no question in my mind that pro athletes are using narcotics and chemicals, just as other parts of our society are. Our policy has been to help anyone who comes forward. But we can't be their keepers." Klein said he feels "sympathy for Mr. Reese. He's obviously down at the bottom, the dregs of humanity. I understand Sports Illustrated picked up his drug rehabilitation bills and paid him $10,000 for the story. That's checkbook journalism and I don't agree with it."

Sports Illustrated publicity director Jane Gilchrist said that the magazine had been approached by Reese, who offered to do the story. "We may pick up the tab for the detoxification program he has undergone, or maybe part of it," said Gilchrist. "Anyone who is not on the staff and does a first-person story, as he did, gets paid for it, and the pay may take that form. As far as I know, Reese has been paid only $100 to $200 for expenses so far."

In the article, Reese said that Chargers' Pro Bowl running back Chuck Muncie introduced him to free-basing cocaine, a procedure where the drug is heated and the fumes inhaled.

Reese said Muncie "has to be a superman to do what he does on the field and use coke the way he does off it."

Klein said he has seen "no shred of evidence" that Muncie has been involved in drugs. Repeated attempts to locate Muncie were unsuccessful the last two days.

The Chargers' office said his whereabouts was unknown, and several calls to Muncie's attorney also went unanswered.

Estacado Faces El Campo in Opener

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Palmer, which won a state championship in 1979 and advanced to the finals the next two years, was matched in the opener of the schoolboy baseball tournament today against Krum, a tournament newcomer.

Palmer's roster includes tournament veterans such as shortstop Dennis Robinson, the team's leading hitter at .472, and pitcher-outfielder Wayne Mathis.

Krum lists four hitters over .440, including junior pitcher Barry Clearman at .605.

The tournament has a new look with half of the 20 teams making their first tournament appearance.

Semi-final games today in A, 2A and 3A were scheduled for Burger Center, a high school field, and first-round games in 4A and 5A were set for Disch-Falk, the home field of the Texas Longhorns.

All five championship games Friday are scheduled for Disch-Falk.

Riviera, another 1979 champion, returns in 2A, along with Pottsboro, a semi-finalist in 1980-81. Riviera edged defending champion Shiner, 2-1, to gain the tournament.

In 3A, the only tournament veteran is Crockett, which was a semi-finalist two years ago.

Class 4A includes 1981 runner-up Lubbock Estacado and Austin Westlake, which returns five players from its 1980 championship squad.

The other two semi-finalists are El Campo, which won state titles in its two previous appearances in 1962 and 1968 and Weatherford.

Shortstop Hector Limon carries a .578 batting average for Estacado, and pitcher Joe Benavidez is hitting .550. During a recent 10-game stretch, Estacado outscored its opponents 111 to 6.

Junior Dirk Tidwell, who pitched in the tournament for Westlake as a freshman, has a 13-2 pitching record with an earned run average of 1.13, and catcher Rex Robinson is hitting .418.

Three of the four 5A teams have won at least 30 games, and Fort Worth Southwest comes to the tournament with a 29-10 record.

Houston Sharpstown, a 1977 champion, is 30-4, Texarkana 33-4 and San Antonio Jefferson 35-4, with 13 shutout victories.

Here is the first-round tournament schedule:

Jays' Gamble Pays Off; Bosox Edge NY, 4-3

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

It was decidedly against accepted baseball strategy — but Toronto Manager Bobby Cox did it anyway.

With the Blue Jays trailing the California Angels 4-3, Barry Bonnell led off the bottom of the ninth inning with a single. Lloyd Moseby came to the plate and just about everyone in Toronto's Exhibition Stadium expected him to try to punt Bonnell into scoring position.

But he didn't. Moseby instead swung away at the first pitch from reliever Doug Corbett, 1-6, and lashed a triple to right center that tied the game. The Blue Jays later won it 5-4 on Al Woods' bases-loaded groundout.

"I told Lloyd to go up there and take his cuts," said Cox. "But I told him to take a hard look at the signs in case I switched off."

"But, I don't know — I was 99 percent sure I'd have him swinging the whole way. He's been swinging a pretty hot bat lately ..."

Moseby said he knew the Angels would be looking for the bunt.

"I'm sure he (Corbett) thought I was in a bunt situation for sure. He threw me a low fastball and that's right in my zone. When I hit the ball I thought triple all the way. I wasn't going to stop at second — I was going for third all the way," he said.

Before the Blue Jays won the game for reliever Joey McLaughlin, 3-3, the Angels had taken a 4-3 lead in the eighth with the help of a throwing error by Toronto catcher Ernie Whitt. Rod Carew doubled with one out and moved to third on Bob Boone's single. When the relay throw came home, Whitt tried to get Boone, who was racing to second, but his throw sailed into center field, allowing Carew to score easily.

Earlier, Don Baylor and Reggie Jackson hit homers for the Angels, Jackson's a two-run shot. The Blue Jays got solo homers from Whitt and Damaso Garcia.

In other American League action, Boston edged New York 4-3, Seattle nipped Texas 4-3 in 11 innings, Kansas City whipped Minnesota 8-5, Oakland turned back Chicago 5-4, Baltimore defeated Milwaukee 8-3 and Detroit beat Cleveland 2-1 in the opener of a doubleheader before the nightcap was suspended in a 3-3 tie after 14 innings.

as Boston beat New York for its fifth straight victory.

Reid Nichols had a double and a single, scoring Boston's second run and driving in the third in helping to send the Yankees to their fifth straight loss.

Perez's third homer of the season against Tommy John, 4-6, leading off the Boston second inning moved the 40-year-old veteran past Johnny Mize into 29th place among baseball's all-time home run hitters. He trails Hall of Famer Joe DiMaggio by one.

Hurst, 2-1, gave way to Stanley in the sixth.

Mariners 4, Rangers 3
Richie Zisk's RBI single in the 11th lifted Seattle over Texas.

Manny Castillo opened with a single, moved to second on Bruce Bochte's sacrifice and scored when Zisk singled off reliever Steve Comer, 0-3, the fourth Texas pitcher.

Ed VandeBerg, 4-1, pitched the final 12-3 innings for the victory.

The Mariners sent the game into extra innings when they tied it in the eighth on Bochte's RBI groundout.

"I had a chance to put us ahead in the eighth inning and Steve Comer got me to ground out on a good pitch," Zisk said. "So I had fire in my eyes the next time up."

Royals 8, Twins 5
Kansas City's Amos Otis hit a three-run homer in the third inning, sparking the Royals to their eighth straight victory.

By BOB GREENE AP Sports Writer

Steve Carlton let his arm do the talking, and that had the Chicago Cubs talking to themselves.

Carlton hasn't talked to the media since the 1978 playoffs. And not even a 16-strikeout performance Wednesday night in the Philadelphia Phillies' 4-2 victory changed that.

"Steve Carlton comes from a different mold," said Philadelphia Manager Pat Corrales. "They threw that mold away."

"It's amazing that a man that age (37) can throw that hard. But he's always in good physical condition. He's just a great athlete. He works at it. That's why he's stuck around being great this long."

The 16 strikeouts were a one-game major league high for this season. Gaylord Perry had whiffed 13 for Seattle against California in April.

In other NL games Wednesday, Houston stopped San Francisco 6-1, Montreal defeated St. Louis 5-1, the

New York Mets nipped Pittsburgh 3-2, Cincinnati edged San Diego 4-3 and Atlanta crushed Los Angeles 11-5.

Catcher Bo Diaz and third baseman Mike Schmidt slammed home runs to power the Phillies' offense.

Diaz said Carlton, 7-6, had command of all of his pitches. "Most of the time, though, he went to his breaking pitches. He also had great success with his fastball," Diaz said. "He was so sharp that nobody could beat him tonight. I've caught him 12 or 13 times, and this was the best stuff he's had."

Carlton struck out Ryne Sandberg four times; Junior Kennedy and Steve Henderson three times each; Keith Moreland and Jody Davis twice each, and Ferguson Jenkins and Larry Bowa once each.

Carlton shares the major league record for most strikeouts in a nine-inning game with 19. He did it when he pitched for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1969. Tom Seaver duplicated the feat for the New York Mets in 1970, and Nolan Ryan struck out 19 with California in 1974.

Diaz gave the Phillies a 2-1 lead when he slammed his 10th homer of the year in the second inning. Schmidt then led off the fourth with his fifth homer, handing the loss to Jenkins, 3-8.

Astros 6, Giants 1
Joe Niekro hurled a three-hitter for his 150th career victory as Houston downed San Francisco.

"In the last inning, I threw only one knuckleball. I threw it only about 50 percent of the time in the whole game and usually use it 70-80 percent of the time," said the 37-year-old hurler.

"They should outlaw that pitch. It's not fair," said

Giants Manager Frank Robinson.

The Astros had eight hits, half of them in the third inning when they took a 3-0 lead.

Houston got its fourth run in the fifth on doubles by Niekro and Ray Knight, and completed its scoring in the ninth when Craig Reynolds hit his first home run of the year, a two-run shot.

Expos 5, Cardinals 1
Gary Carter's two-run homer, his 11th of the season, powered Montreal past St. Louis. Bill Gullickson, needing last-out help from Jeff Reardon, got his fourth victory in nine decisions.

Mets 3, Pirates 2
Pinch-runner Rusty Tillman raced home on Hubie Brooks' bases-loaded grounder to short to cap a two-run ninth inning and give New York its victory over Pittsburgh.

Trainers Respect Cooney

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Eddie Futch and Ray Arcel, the two elder statesmen who are preparing Larry Holmes for Friday night's defense of his World Boxing Council heavyweight championship, don't expect challenger Gerry Cooney to be any pushover.

"Gerry Cooney is young, strong and ambitious," said Futch, who, at 70, is the junior member of this training tandem. "He's got power in his left and he's learned how to use his right."

Arcel, who is 82 years old and has been in the business of boxing for most of that time, echoed Futch.

"We're in with a strong, young bull who wants to be champ," he said. "We're not underrating him."

Victor Valle, responsible for preparing Cooney for this richest bout in boxing history, thinks Holmes' braintrust is approaching this thing sensibly. "Gerry changes from a human being to a beast in the ring," he said. "You can see it in his eyes. I can tell when I give him his last instructions."

Friday's fight comes almost two months after it was originally scheduled. The March 15 date was postponed when Cooney hurt his left shoulder in training. But Valle says his man is 100 percent now.

He said he thought Cooney's injury may actually have helped the challenger's preparation for the biggest fight of his life.

"It helped him develop his right hand more. Now he can hurt you with either hand," Valle said.

Holmes' people are aware that Cooney packs a punch. But they're convinced their man can handle it.

"Larry has the tools, the knowledge and the experience," said Futch. "He knows what he has to do. Larry is a disciplined fighter. He will do what he has to do to win. I'm looking for a good fight and a successful conclusion."

Valle has the proper respect for Holmes' abilities, evidenced by 10 knockouts in 11 defenses since he won the championship from Ken Norton four years ago.

"He moves well. He's got good jabs and he punches good. But Gerry fights better against better fighters," the trainer said.

Holmes took Wednesday off while Cooney went through a final workout before today's weigh-in. The challenger seemed relaxed afterwards. aid he weighed 224 pounds after Wednesday's training session and that he would come into the fight at 227 or 228.

As he talked with reporters, he toyed with a hand puppet which he said two children had given to him. Occasionally he would answer questions in a high-pitched voice, gesturing with the puppet. Cooney was asked when he would finish Holmes.

"The first chance I get," he said.

Pros Approach Open With Different Methods

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Some leading golf pros, such as Bill Rogers, Ray Floyd and Lee Trevino, say the best way to prepare for the U.S. Open is to sharpen their games Danny Thomas-Memphis Classic this week.

Others, led by Jack Nicklaus, Tom Watson and Craig Stadler, prefer to skip this week's PGA Tour stop to practice at Pebble Beach, site of next week's Open.

Rogers, the current British Open champion, said he must play this week to assess his game.

"I need to play. I need to

BERLIN (AP) — Alberto Juantorena, Cuba's double gold medalist in the 1976 Montreal Olympics, scored his third victory in seven days at the "Olympic Day" track meet in East Berlin.

Juantorena, winner of the 400-meter and 800-meter races in the Summer Games six years ago, ran the 800 meters in 1 minute, 45.87 seconds to beat East German Hans Joachim Mogalle, 1:46.10, and Olaf Beyer, the European champion, 1:46.27.

One world-best performance for the year was recorded, as East Germany's Ilona Slupianek won the women's shot put with a heave of 70 feet, 9 3/4 inches.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Steve Wunderlich rolled 1,467 for six games to take the first-round lead in the $95,000 City of Roses Open on the Professional Bowlers Association tour.

Wunderlich scored 278, 247 and 259 for a 784 series in his first three games and finished the round with games of 213, 267 and 203 to average 244.

Frank Ellenburg was second, totaling 1,412 with a best game of 275 locate my swing, to build up my confidence, to be tournament tough," said the 1981 PGA Player of the Year.

"I can't understand Watson skipping two straight weeks before the Open," Rogers said. "It's unbelievable."

Floyd, the winner of the 1969 PGA Championship and the 1976 Masters, said he can recall not playing the week before a major only two or three times in his two decades on the Tour.

"I played great the weeks before I won the PGA and the Masters. That's what has influenced me," said Floyd, the winner of the Memorial two weeks ago who was off last week.

"I want to play this week. I don't want any surprises in my game, when I get there next week. I imagine the location here keeps a lot of people from playing this week," said Floyd.

Trevino, two-time Open champion as well as a PGA title, thinks there's another reason pros bypass the $400,000 Memphis stop beginning Thursday at the Colonial Country Club.

"They don't want to go from these Bermuda grass greens to the slick, bent grass greens next week. Distance

McWhorter Wins Flight

Helen Ann McWhorter of Hereford defeated Verdell Hicks of Lubbock 4 and 3 Wednesday to take Fourth Flight honors at the 47th Annual Women's West Texas Golf Tournament in Midland.

Another Hereford linkster, Theima Marsh, came close to the Consolation title in the Sixth Flight, but fell to Fay Humphries of Brownwood, 6 and 5 Wednesday.

In the Championship Flight of the tournament, semifinal pairings today had Juanita Jones of Amarillo facing Liz Norton of Midland and Penny Hughes of Farwell matched up against Linda Jones of Del Rio.

In addition to the semifinal matches today there will be Lame Duck play.

Wariness of Foreigners Byword to Chinese

By VICTORIA GRAHAM
Associated Press Writer

PEKING (AP) — "We have friends all over the world," goes the ubiquitous slogan, but the recent deportation of an American woman discloses China's deep seated suspicion of foreigners and China's own roadblocks to friendship.

Lisa Wichser, a 28-year-old English teacher, was accused of spying and stealing secret documents. After intense interrogation she said she confessed to unknowingly having innocuous "state secrets" and to certain "relationships" with Chinese.

After returning to the United States Friday night, Miss Wichser, whose parents live in Indianapolis, called her week-long detention "a nightmare, something I don't understand." She had been in China two years collecting material for a thesis on agricultural changes since 1969.

While all the details and underlying causes of the case are not known, Miss Wichser, finally, may just have gotten too close to the Chinese people for the comfort of authorities. She was fluent in Chinese, had many Chinese friends and was engaged to marry a Chinese man, who is now under detention.

Her case has put both Chinese and foreigners, from Chinese hotel room boys to foreign researchers, on their guard and reminded them to keep their distance. Wariness of foreigners is a by-word in China, frequently enforced by internal directives, warnings by superiors and horror stories in the press about crime, drugs, divorce and moral bankruptcy in the west.

Several months ago China gave wide publicity to the case of an editor sentenced to five years in prison for telling a foreign journalist the date, place, agenda and discus-

Storms, Winds Batter Midwest

By DAVID L. LANGFORD
Associated Press Writer

Storms blasted through the Midwest with 100-mph winds Wednesday, firing a broadside of tornadoes and torrents of rain that sent rivers gushing over their banks into towns and cities.

Hundreds fled the floodwaters in Kansas and Missouri as thunderstorms which have pounded the Plains off and on since early May renewed an assault with sions of a party meeting. The warning was clear.

Both cases arise in a period when China aggressively is throwing open the door to foreign technology and investment but trying to slam it in the face of western decadence, bourgeois democracy, tight pants, love songs and pornography.

China's love-hate, superiority-inferiority feelings toward foreigners have long been documented. The suspicion of foreigners is ancient, China long called them barbarians and the word for foreigner literally means "outsider."

8-inch rains and hail the size of baseballs.

Thousands of homes and businesses lost power in Kansas City and other towns such as Moberly, Mo., where winds clocked at 100 mph snapped trees and power lines.

Police in Rossville, Kan., used volunteers with boats and four-wheel drive vehicles to help evacuate some of the town's 1,100 residents.

Today China still tries to prevent meaningful contact between Chinese and foreigners, except on a superficial tourist level or on professional exchanges.

China's former propaganda chief Wang Renzhong recently warned there are foreign spies in China, a warning that has been picked up in the provinces. Some school authorities, too, have warned Chinese students that foreign students may be spies and to be cautious and vigilant.

Chinese and foreign students, like Chinese and foreigners in general, are segregated in their living quarters as a rule.

School authorities also have been ordered to squelch any romance between Chinese and foreigners. It is not uncommon for the Chinese to be ordered to break off their relationship and even be detained and interrogated about the political and moral nature of their connection with a foreigner.

Most Chinese must have special permission from their work unit even to go to dinner with a foreigner, including foreign journalists. Chinese at every hotel must register when they walk in and everyone knows if they are going to see a foreigner — plainclothes police are watching. Too much mingling very likely can prompt a police inquiry.

Chinese guests must register at the gates of foreigners compounds. They must be escorted in by the foreigners or present an invitation card — a practice many Chinese consider intimidating and degrading in their own country. Authorities say it is for the "protection" of foreigners.

A Chinese professional woman told her American working colleague that she and her husband debated for hours whether to invite her home for a New Year's meal. They decided not to and the woman later said apologetically that their neighbors might talk and report them.

Another Chinese woman who had extensive contacts with foreigners passed a promotion exam with high marks. She was told, however, that she would not get the promotion "because you know too many foreigners."

She put out the word to her foreign friends. "Please don't call me any more."

Young people and intellectuals, however, still crave contact with foreigners and an opportunity to speak their minds without fear of reprisal. Strolling and talking in the park, they say, is fairly safe and then they disappear in the crowds.
