Senate plans for veto

AUSTIN (AP) - If Gov. Bill Clements vetoes lawmakers' school finance reform bill, the Senate Education Committee chairman says he wants a public hearing featuring the court master who could take over the issue.

Clements has withheld his threatened veto of the bill while his staff negotiates with legislative leaders. If they reach an agreement, the bill could be called back by the Legislature and changed.

If there is no compromise, and the bill is vetoed, Sen. Carl Parker said Thursday he would propose a public hearing to include court master William Kilgarlin "so the people will know ... it's not a game between the Legislature and the governor."

"It is a vital issue that will affect every one of our lives ... I think we need to air publicly what the consequences of not having passed some bill that would extract us from court supervision would have on everybody," said Parker, D-Port Arthur.

Parker said he also wants his committee and the House Public Education Committee to hear from superintendents of school districts that could lose state money if a court plan were imposed.

The hearing would coincide with promised efforts by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, to muster the two-thirds vote needed to override a veto if negotiations aren't successful.

The Texas Supreme Court in a unanimous opinion last year ruled the school finance system unconstitutional and told the state to devise a way to make more money available to property-poor school districts. The $13.5 billion-a-year system relies on state aid, local property taxes and some federal money.

If lawmakers and Clements don't enact a plan by June 1, Kilgarlin will propose one to State District Judge Scott McCown, who is overseeing the case.

Because McCown mandated that the master's plan be within current state revenues, Kilgarlin said that could mean diverting state aid from property-rich to property-poor districts.

The Democratic-controlled Legislature and Republican governor are in their third special session to try to overhaul the school finance system. The last session ended without a plan after Clements vetoed a half-cent sales tax increase needed to pay for last session's $555 million reform bill.

Lawmakers' current plan is similar to last session's, but it wouldn't necessarily require new state revenue. Without sufficient new money, however, state aid could be shifted from property-rich to property-poor school districts.

Lewis said lawmakers talked with Clements about a possible package to raise $450 million for education and another $80 million to address funding shortfalls in human service programs.

Pesticide test is Monday

Farmers and ranchers that apply and supervise the application of pesticides can receive training and take the licensing examination at a meeting at 9 a.m. Monday at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn in Hereford.

The training will prepare producers for the Private Applicators License exam which will be administered immediately following the training.

The training and recertification of producers who supervise the application of pesticides is required due to changes in the Texas Pesticide Laws passed in the last regular session of the Texas legislature. The new regulations require the licensing of private applicators that previously had a private applicator certification.

Producers that have a private applicators certification can continue to purchase and apply pesticides on their own land; however, they cannot supervise other employees that may be applying pesticides.

The training program will be conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The licensing examination will be given by the Texas Department of Agriculture immediately following the training. The license will cost producers $50 and is payable at the time the test is taken.

Persons needing more information about the training and examination may call the Deaf Smith county Extension Service Office at 364-3573.

Garden is dedicated

The Hereford Community Garden was dedicated Thursday, as volunteers hope to help Hereford's hungry feed themselves for the third straight year.

The garden is across from San Jose Catholic church on Blevins Street in east Hereford. Its crops of potatoes, onions, tomatoes, peppers, squash, carrots, chiles, spinach and radishes have been donated to local nursing homes, Deaf Smith General Hospital, and to persons in need.

"The people feel better having the garden here," said the Rev. Darryl Birkenfeld, who led the garden's blessing on Thursday. "It give people a chance to work together for something good. We have some people who live nearby who see everything grow and have a chance to get what they need, there always seems to be plenty for everyone who needs something from the garden."

The goods grown in the garden are organically grown. There are no chemicals used, and drip irrigation is used to conserve water. This year, the garden is beginning a rotation system, with every other row left empty. That provides a place for workers to walk without stepping in plants, and that's where next year's crops will be grown.

The skipped rows have cotton burrs on them to help conserve ground moisture and to add a bit of nitrogen to the soil.

Marigolds around the garden's perimeter helps keep the non-beneficial insect population down.

Several volunteers have worked in the garden. Nellie Pena and Laura Balderas, who were at the dedication ceremony, have worked all three years in the garden.

Community Garden is dedicated

The Hereford Community Garden was blessed Thursday as it begins its third year of production. Persons participating in the blessing sprinkled soil from all four directions, asking God's blessings on the garden.

Four persons arrested

Hereford police arrested four persons on Thursday, including a man, 17, for evading arrest when he fled from officers attempting to question him about a beer theft; a woman, 20, for theft after being caught shoplifting a purse full of makeup and although she fled the store when confronted, she was chased several blocks until she was caught; a man, 60, for public intoxication; and a man, 56, for driving while intoxicated and no liability insurance.

Deputy sheriffs arrested a man, 26, for domestic violence. The man and a woman were throwing electric hair clippers at each other and when the man threatened to strangle the woman with the cord, she called the police.

Police were called to Deaf Smith General Hospital to investigate a stabbing. A woman told police her husband had attacked her with a knife, cut her hand and torn the telephone from the wall when she tried to call the police.

Other reports on Thursday included a man arrested for the theft of livestock; a woman in the 400 block of Long telling police that some checks which were stolen from her earlier were forged and cashed by an unknown person; woman in the 100 block of Bradley told police her stereo had been stolen, but later the stereo was returned and the woman decided to drop charges; sexual assault of a 14-month-old girl is being investigated; and a woman in the 400 block of Ave. E reported a boy trespassing on her property.

Hereford police issued five citations and responded to one minor accident on Thursday.

Key Club game tonight

The Hereford Key Club will host its annual benefit basketball game at 7:30 p.m. today at Whiteface Gymnasium.

Key clubbers will face Hereford coaches in the game, which will benefit the Casey Smith Memorial Scholarship and Gene Y. Brock Scholarship funds. There will be an auction at halftime and a concession. Admission is $2 per person.

Chance of storms today

Tonight will be cloudy with a 30 percent chance of thunderstorms, possibly a few severe. The low will be in the middle 50, with south wind decreasing to 10 to 20 mph and gusty by midnight. Lake wind advisories will be required during early evening.

Saturday will see decreasing cloudiness becoming fair and warm by noon. The high will be in the lower 80s with southwest wind 10 to 20 mph and gusty.

This morning's low at KPAN was 61 after a high Thursday of 77.

Today in History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, May 18, the 138th day of 1990. There are 227 days left in the year.

Ten years ago, on May 18, 1980, the Mount St. Helens volcano in Washington state exploded. The blast took 13,000 feet off the top of the mountain, left 57 people dead or missing, devastated 150 square miles of forest and blew an ash cloud around the world.

On this date:

In 1804, the French Senate proclaimed Napoleon Bonaparte emperor.

In 1860, the Republican Party convention in Chicago nominated Abraham Lincoln for president.

In 1969, astronauts Eugene A. Cernan, Thomas P. Stafford and John W. Young blasted off aboard "Apollo 10."

In 1982, a jury in New York City convicted the Rev. Sun Myung Moon, founder and leader of the Unification Church, of tax evasion. (Moon ended up serving 13 months in prison.)

Ten years ago: In the South Korean city of Kwangju, townspeople and students began a nine-day uprising that was finally put down by troops. (The government says 192 people were killed, but opposition groups say hundreds more died.)

One year ago: Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev concluded his historic visit to China, which officially marked the end of a 30-year Sino-Soviet rift.

Retiring teachers, administrators honored

Teachers and administrators who have announced their retirements from the Hereford Independent School District were honored Thursday with a retirement tea at the Hereford Community Center. The tea was sponsored by the Classroom Teachers Association.

Money issues slow German reunification

AP News Analysis
By MARK FRITZ
Associated Press Writer

EAST BERLIN (AP) - Germans who once joyously embraced at the broken Berlin Wall are now checking to see if they still have their wallets.

The wistful dream of creating a greater Germany has been overshadowed by grim estimates of the costs, both human and economic, of merging a strong economy and a desperately weak one.

In the past eight days, East German teachers, train workers, farmers and textile workers have held sporadic strikes to demand job protection as the nations are unified.

The strikes were the latest in a growing tide of labor unrest in the country, where many people want free market wealth but are worried about giving up socialist subsidies.

Meanwhile, West Germans who once invited their Eastern neighbors into their homes are now upset by the appetite of their dinner guests.

Voters in two West German states last weekend dealt West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl a stunning setback that was seen as a mini-referendum on unification.

Not only did his governing coalition lose both states, it lost control of the upper house of Parliament, which must ratify some of the laws that will be passed for unification.

The opposition Social Democrats, who favor a slower pace of unification, won both states and control of the upper house.

West Germans fear higher taxes, deflated buying power and rising interest rates as the cost for bailing out the ailing East German economy and converting it to a free market.

East Germans fear widespread unemployment, Western-style prices for basic necessities and second-class citizenship in a united Germany.

With this backdrop, Kohl and East German Prime Minister Lothar de Maiziere are preparing to sign a treaty billed as a blueprint for economic and social unification that is to take place July 2.

The centerpiece is the circulation of the West German mark as the official East German currency.

De Maiziere secured a major victory by getting Bonn to agree to a 1-1 conversion for wages, pensions and small savings accounts of East Germans.

But East Germans still will only make about one-third of the salaries of West Germans.

Economists also estimate that 500,000 to 2 million workers will lose their jobs as East German factories, now run by the state, are forced to deal with operating losses and foreign competition.

The treaty intentionally leaves vague many of the key aspects of unification, including how property and factories that now are all state-owned will be converted to the public sector.

Some East Germans fear West German investors will buy up the nation after July 2.

Kohl wants Western investors to have an incentive for investing in East Germany's moribund industrial sector, while Maiziere wants some limits on how much property West Germans can own.

Obituaries

FLAVIL OLVO HODGE
MAY 16, 1990

Flavil Olvo Hodge, 80, of Clarendon died Monday, May 14, 1990. Among his survivors is a daughter, Nedra Sue Cosper of Hereford.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday in First Baptist Church with the Rev. Truman Ledbetter, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Citizens Cemetery by Robertson Funeral Directors.

Mr. Hodge, born in Jacksonville, lived in Lakeview 13 years before moving to Clarendon in 1950. He married Clara Geneva Moore in 1933 at Memphis. He had been a farmer most of his life. He was a member of First Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife; two daughters, Lovelle Parker of Irving and Nedra Sue Cosper of Hereford; a sister, Flossie Short of Denton; six grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren.

Bush's life was not threatened, says jury

LUBBOCK (AP) - Otto Lakas, the son of a former Panamanian president, spent a month in jail for "shooting his mouth off."

After being found innocent of threatening to kill President Bush Thursday, Lakas didn't want to do any more talking.

"I better not say anything," Otto Lakas said while leaving the U.S. District courthouse. "Talking is how I got into this mess."

Lakas was accused of threatening to kill Bush in a discussion with the managers of a pawnshop where he was looking at a gun.

Lakas, a 21-year-old architecture student at Lubbock Christian University, could have faced a 5-year prison term had he been convicted.

Lakas clenched his fists and looked toward the ceiling, tears rolling down his cheeks as the verdict was read. The jury deliberated only 15 minutes.

"I am very happy," Lakas said. "I don't want to comment any more than that, but I am glad to go back home" to Panama.

Demetrio Lakas, who was president of Panama from 1972-78, testified Thursday that death threats in Panama "are a way of expressing ourselves." After hearing the jury's decision, he cried and hugged his wife Elizabeth.

Manchee is honored

Mike Manchee, left, was named the highest-ranking male in the Hereford High School Class of 1990 at Thursday's annual Senior Assembly. HHS Principal Terry Russell presented Manchee with a special plaque.

Falling natural gas prices cost Pickens

DALLAS (AP) - T. Boone Pickens, one of the highest paid executives of the '80s, will start the new decade with no paycheck because of low natural gas prices.

In a meeting Thursday with stockholders of Mesa Limited Partnership, Pickens noted that his salary is tied to cash distributions, which the company had suspended because natural gas prices were so low.

Pickens said the distributions would be resumed when natural prices improved, but the temporary elimination was necessary to protect the company's financial integrity.

In response to questions, Pickens estimated the distributions could be resumed by 1992 or 1993, when Mesa is predicting natural gas prices will reach about $3 per thousand cubic feet (mcf).

Pickens said natural gas prices would have to reach $2.50 per mcf to sustain a preferred distribution of $1.50 a year and hit $3.50 to support a $1.50 annual payout to common unitholders. Mesa expects prices to average $1.65 this year.

"These measures have been tough on Mesa unitholders, as well as Mesa executives," Pickens said, noting 90 percent of his net worth is tied up in Mesa. "My compensation is based on 1 percent of distributions, so with no distributions, I receive no salary in 1990."

Last year, Pickens was paid $1.8 million based on distributions of $180 million, Mesa spokesman Jay Rosser said.

According to Business Week magazine, Pickens was the sixth highest paid executive of the 1980s, pulling down $56.9 million from 1980-89.

"1990 will be another tough year," Pickens predicted, saying, "Mesa will focus its attention on debt reduction."

Pickens admitted he may have paid too much in 1988 when he bought mid-continent gas reserves from Tenneco Inc., a move responsible for much of Mesa's long-term debt.

He also conceded past distributions to unitholders may have been excessive in light of falling natural gas prices, "but if distributing money to shareholders is a mistake, it's a burden I can shoulder," he said.

The distributions have been maintained through profits from other Mesa investments.

"The Tenneco purchase and the doubling of our reserve base to 2.6 trillion cubic feet of natural gas equivalents ... from 1985 to 1989 will pay off in the coming 18 to 24 months," Pickens said. "Our day will come."

"If I wasn't confident about the growth potential of the natural gas industry, I would have sold out long ago," he said.

Rosser said an overwhelming number of the 300 shareholders at the meeting said they supported Mesa's decision to remain a limited partnership instead of converting to a corporation. Limited partnerships have lost favor somewhat in recent years with changing tax laws.

There are many unique ministries designed to serve needs in the Hereford area.

The "taxi" service is designed to take anyone to and from any church in Hereford and to meet other transportation needs.

Persons needing the service may call 364-0359 seven days a week. There is no cost for the service.

The service is available during the week for persons needing a ride to or from anywhere, just call 364-0359. In an emergency, call 364-3869.

The study of the book of Joshua will continue at 9:15 a.m. Sunday. All interested persons are invited.

The Ministry of Manual Labor, or "MML", is going strong with projects ministering to the needs of the community. It meets at the Senior Center at 9 a.m. each Sunday, and all men interested in the program are invited.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Sunday has been designated as Youth Sunday and the youth will be conducting the regular 10:30 a.m. worship service at the church. The scripture lesson will be John 14:15-21.

Sunday's sermon will be given by Scott Robinson, Joey Malamen and Cameron Gulley. The Offertory will be "Choose to Love" with the music led by Greg Coplen and the words read by Matt Coplen. Scott Robinson will give the Words for God's Children.

On Monday, May 21, the Women's Bible Study will be held at the church with Helen Rose serving as leader. The study is the book of James.

The Vacation Bible School planning session will be held at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 23, and the Centennial Committee will meet at 7:30 p.m.

Attorney to speak Saturday

The Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship of Hereford will be holding a banquet dinner Saturday at 7 p.m. at the Hereford Community Center. Jack Yates, an attorney from Abilene, will speak at 7:45 p.m.

Yates is an honor graduate of both Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene and the University of Texas Law School at Austin and has served as student body president at Hardin-Simmons. He has served as an associate editor of the Texas Law Review and was an officer in the Judge Advocate Generals Corps of the United States Army for three years.

The public is invited to attend.

The youngest actor to win an Oscar was Tatum O'Neal at age ten for her role in Paper Moon.

83 girls to compete in pageant

There will be 83 young girls competing in the annual Little Miss Hereford Pageant Saturday in the Hereford High School auditorium. The event is sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Women's Division.

As in the past, the pageant will be staged in two parts. All Cutest Miss division contestants will be presented at 5 p.m. and the remaining division contestants will compete beginning at 7 p.m.

"Under the Sea" will be the theme of this year's event. Tickets are priced at $2 per person and can be purchased at the door.

Townsend earns Academic All-State honor from TGCA

Brienna Townsend of the Hereford Lady Whiteface basketball team has been named to the Texas Girls Coaches Association Class 4A Academic All-State team with a grade-point average of 95.3, according to Lady Whiteface coach Dickie Faught.

"This is a great honor not only for her but for our overall program," Faught said. "Brienna provided a lot of leadership for our team this year. She has shown the same dedication and work ethic on the court as she has in the classroom. I'm thrilled that she has received this recognition." The senior guard started every game this season for the Lady Whitefaces, serving as team captain, and was one of five team members selected Academic All-District 1-4A. Townsend led the team in assists at 1.7 per game (50 for the year) and was the second most accurate free-throw shooter with a 59.1 percent success rate from the line. She was also among the team leaders in steals with 34 (1.2 per game) and averaged 3.3 points per game.

Kosub tabbed for Mizuno All-Star volleyball match

Hereford's Libby Kosub will step onto the volleyball court for the final time as a high school player Saturday when represents the Lady Whitefaces in the Inaugural Mizuno Texas High School All-Star Game on the campus of Texas Wesleyan University in Fort Worth.

The game, which is one of 32 across the country sponsored by Mizuno Sports, will showcase 26 players from around the state. "This is truly an honor," Lady Whiteface coach Brenda Reeh said. "It's nice to have another showcase for some great talent. Many players who won't be involved in the Texas Girls' Coaches Association All-Star Game will be in Fort Worth this weekend.

Most of the players who will be in Fort Worth have signed to play in college," Reeh added, "so it ought to be an exciting display from some of Texas' best players."

Kosub, who earned All-District 1-4A, All-State and Academic All-State honors during her senior season, has signed a letter-of-intent to play at West Texas State University in Canyon.

During her career Kosub set six school records in volleyball and was a two-year starter as the team made back-to-back appearances in the state playoffs.

PGA Tour's lone lefthander leads at Colonial NIT

FORT WORTH (AP) - Arriving in town on a wounded wing and a prayer, and feeling just a "little silly," left-hander Russ Cochran says he was woefully unprepared for this week's PGA adventure.

"The first time I hit a ball in a few weeks was Monday," he grinned. "I didn't expect much."

So it was a slightly astonished Cochran who took a one-shot lead into today's second round of the Colonial National Invitation golf tournament, one of the tour's premier events.

"I was really happy and a bit surprised," Cochran said Thursday after firing a 5-under-par 65 to stake an early claim on his first victory in eight years on the PGA circuit.

Playing with a mysterious "rib injury," Cochran rolled in a treacherous 25-30 foot birdie putt on the 17th hole and dropped a 15-footer at 18 to seize his cushion over former Colonial champion Corey Pavin.

"I kinda had a prayer answered at 17," he laughed. "I hit a bad putt ... I had no idea where it was going to go. It went in."

Five players were two shots back at 67: Scott Hoch, John Mahaffey, Tom Purtzer, Richard Zokol and Billy Mayfair.

Curtis Strange opened with a 68, Ben Crenshaw a 69 and Payne Stewart a 70. But some of the other top players did not fare well despite the absence of a blustery Texas wind that Colonial veterans have come to know and hate.

Tom Kite, with a 3-under-par 32 going out, shot a stunning 41 on the back side. His 73 left him eight strokes off the lead and tied with defending champion Ian Baker-Finch.

Tom Watson carded a 71, Lanny Wadkins a 72, Larry Mize a 73, Ray Floyd a 74 and Mark O'Meara a 75. Mark Calcavecchia and Bob Tway posted 76s.

Although a non-winner, Cochran, 32, a rangy, personable Kentuckian, recorded his best showing ever in his last tournament, the USF&G Classic in New Orleans where he injured his rib swinging a 6-iron on the next-to-last hole.

"I felt a little silly," he confessed. "How can you hurt yourself playing golf? And playing well?"

Whatever, he said the injury was so painful he couldn't even practice putting for two weeks. He showed up in Dallas but withdrew from the Nelson Classic, then skipped the Memorial in Ohio.

Cochran said the rib area was still so tender that he was forced to swing "nice and easy," and the injury might well be a blessing of sorts in painful disguise.

"Maybe I just needed to take a couple of weeks off," he said.

A victory here would more than double his current winnings, $85,486, and in one swoop the $180,000 first prize would exceed his earnings in any single year on the tour.

Certainly it would be a popular victory - with lefties. Cochran is the only left-hander on the tour, and he takes more than a little ribbing for "playing from the wrong side."

"It doesn't bother me," he said. "In a funny way, it gives me my own identity. It's nice to have lefties pulling for you. I get a lot of support from that."

The final two rounds of the Colonial will be televised Saturday and Sunday by CBS.

State tourney competitors

Robert Jimenez (left), Sammy Ruiz, Brian Torres, Marie Crox and John Arsola, all students of the Crox Taekwondo Studio in Hereford, recently competed in the Texas junior State Tournament in Dallas. Crox and Torres were gold medal winners while Jimenez picked up a silver and Ruiz a bronze to qualify for the National Junior Olympic tournament scheduled for July in Fort Worth. Arsola finished fifth in his division at the tourney. Ruiz also qualified for international competition in the 14-year-old age group.

Spurs looking to spoil Blazers' home cooking

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Portland, it's your serve.

The No. 1 homecooking series of the NBA playoffs returns to the Memorial Coliseum court of the Portland Trail Blazers on Saturday at 2:30 p.m.

The survivor of this best-of-seven semifinals series between San Antonio and the Blazers earns a shot at the Phoenix Suns in the Western Conference finals.

Willie Anderson's career playoff high 30 points gave the Spurs their third victory in HemisFair Arena, a 112-97 drubbing of the Blazers who are 3-0 at home.

"San Antonio hasn't won in our place in a couple of years," said Portland's Terry Porter. "The pressure is on them now."

San Antonio begs to differ. "Forget the homecourt," Anderson said. "If we start good against them they will fold in Portland."

David Robinson of the Spurs said "Portland has got to be tired of us by now. We have a lot of young guys. We just need to translate the way we play here to the way we play in Portland."

Robinson scored 24 points and Terry Cummings added 18 for the Spurs. Portland was led by Jerome Kersey with 22 points and Cliff Robinson with 20.

Anderson, who had averaged only 15 points against Portland, had a hot shooting night despite a dislocated left thumb. He said he owed it all to a pep talk from Cummings.

"I was worried about my left thumb but Terry told me a story about a big night he had playing with Milwaukee one time with a dislocated thumb," Anderson said. "That made me feel better. I couldn't hold the ball but I had a good shooting night."

Anderson hit 13 of 19 shots and four of four free throws.

He also was involved in an altercation with Portland's Clyde Drexler, who was ejected for hitting Anderson on the chin with an elbow. "Clyde is always giving out those cheap shots," Anderson said. "He was getting frustrated because he was having a bad night. He was doing a lot of crying and whining out there. I'll get him back someday."

Drexler was ejected from the game by referee Mike Mathis with 3:01 to play in the third period for hitting Anderson.

Drexler said he didn't know why. "I was just knocking his hands off and the next thing I know I'm in the locker room," Drexler said.

The incident provoked a verbal exchange between Portland coach Rick Adelman and San Antonio coach Larry Brown.

Brown said "I was on the court because I was upset over a blatant cheap shot. I wasn't mad at Rick." All Adelman would say about the incident was "It makes it tough when you have two centers out with injuries then they throw out our best player."

Adelman said he's glad the Blazers have the homecourt edge for the final game.

"In HemisFair Arena the Spurs are on another level," Adelman said. "Now it all comes down to one game in our place. That's where we want it."

Drexler, who scored 35 points in Portland's 138-132 double overtime victory on Tuesday night, scored only four points.

"Right now our thoughts are on game seven," Drexler said. "We've played each other six times now and everyone knows what each other is going to do. We get tired of seeing each other."

Buck Williams, held to 12 points, said Anderson was too hot to handle.

"Willie had a phenomenal game," Williams said. "He just dissected us out there. We just hope that homecourt edge, that homecourt hex holds one more time in Portland."

Wayne Cooper didn't play for the third consecutive game for Portland because of back problems. Kevin Duckworth has missed all games of the series with a broken right hand.

However, Duckworth has had a smaller cast placed on his right hand and could possibly be available.

"We've played each other so many times that tempers are becoming short and the fouls are becoming hard," Brown said. "In game seven, we have to start off strong and aggressive. They will for sure. It should be something."

If Portland wins, it will be the Blazers first appearance in the Western Conference finals in 13 years. The Blazers went on to win the NBA title against the Philadelphia 76ers.

San Antonio hasn't been in the Western Conference finals since 1983 when it lost to the Los Angeles Lakers 2-4.

Key Club game set for tonight

The Hereford Key Club will hold its annual benefit basketball game at 7:30 p.m. today at Whiteface Gym.

Proceeds from the game will benefit the Casey Smith Memorial Scholarship and the Gene Y. Brock Memorial Scholarship.

The event, which pits Key Club board members against Hereford coaches, will also include a halftime auction.

Tickets for the game are $2 each with pre-schoolers admitted free.

Suns celebrating getting chesty

PHOENIX (AP) - The Phoenix Suns keep bumping off opponents in the NBA playoffs - and bumping chests to celebrate.

One year after the world champion Oakland Athletics made forearm bashing a baseball fad after each home run, the Suns are trying to do them one better.

After a big basket or defensive play by a Phoenix player, the scorer or defender bumps chests with several teammates.

"It's like a high-five slap only a little more physical," said center Mark West.

Suns swingman Dan Majerle can chest-bump with the best of them, but said the idea came from All-Star guard Kevin Johnson.

The bumping has caught on with kids who can be seen using it on playground basketball courts around the city.

Phoenix coach Cotton Fitzsimmons said he sees nothing wrong with it "as long as no one gets hurt and you're not doing it to embarrass the other team."

"The chest-bumping is a fun thing. We're not putting anybody down. I don't want our guys ever to embarrass the other team with that in-your-face kind of stuff that some other teams do. I don't like that."

Atlanta halts Heaton's win streak, 6-1

By The Associated Press

As unlikely as Neal Heaton was to have an 11-game winning streak, it ended thanks to an even unluckier source.

Heaton began the season with a 61-83 career record. And it was only that "good" because of a five-game winning streak at the end of last season.

After coming up with a new pitch called a screw knuckle change, the Pittsburgh left-hander reeled off six consecutive victories this season, the first Pirates pitcher in 61 years to get off to that kind of a start.

But it all ended Thursday night at the hands - and bat - of Greg Olson, a career minor-leaguer who is finally getting a chance to show his wares in the majors.

The 29-year-old rookie catcher, who was released by the New York Mets organization after the 1988 season and by the Minnesota Twins a year later, drove in five runs with his second and third major-league homers as the Atlanta Braves beat Pittsburgh 6-1 and handed the Pirates their third consecutive loss.

"This is the first time in my life I've ever hit two homers in a game - not in Little League, not in Babe Ruth League, not in the minors," said Olson, who hit only 17 home runs in eight minor-league seasons. "It's something that just happened."

In the only other National League games, the St. Louis Cardinals blanked the Cincinnati Reds 3-0 and the Houston Astros edged the Chicago Cubs 5-4 in 11 innings.

Olson gave the Braves a 2-0 lead in the second inning when he hit a 415-foot homer over the center-field fence following a single by Andres Thomas. He added a three-run shot off Randy Kramer in the eighth.

Winner Derek Lilliquist (2-4) scattered eight hits, walked one and struck out one in seven innings. Joe Hesketh pitched the last two innings for his first save and the fourth victory in five games for Atlanta.

Cardinals 3, Reds 0

Jose DeLeon held Cincinnati to four hits in 7 1-3 innings and scored the only run off loser Tom Browning after a third-inning triple. DeLeon (3-2) walked two and struck out seven before giving way to Ken Dayley, who finished the eighth. Lee Smith came on for his second save after the first two batters reached base in the ninth. He fanned Herm Winningham with the bases loaded to end the game.

Browning (3-4) gave up one run and four hits in seven innings. The Cardinals took the lead in the third when DeLeon blooped a hit to right field that bounced past Paul O'Neill for a triple. Ozzie Smith singled DeLeon home.

The Cardinals scored two insurance runs in the eighth off Tim Birtsas. After consecutive singles by Ozzie Smith and Willie McGee, Terry Pendleton drove in a run with a groundout and Pedro Guerrero doubled home the other.

Astros 5, Cubs 4

Houston's Eric Anthony hit one of the longest home runs in the Astrodome's 25-year history, but the Astros snapped their six-game losing streak on a much shorter drive - pinch-hitter Ken Oberkfell's bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the 11th inning.

With the score tied 4-4, Houston loaded the bases against Jose Nunez (1-4) on a double by Ken Caminiti, an intentional walk to Glenn Wilson and a sacrifice bunt by Rafael Ramirez, with Ramirez reaching first when the Cubs failed to force Caminiti at third. Oberkfell batted for Casey Candaele and hit a 3-2 pitch to right field.

Dave Smith (2-2) was the winner with one inning of hitless relief. All the Cubs' runs came off Houston starter Mark Portugal and were unearned. Houston pitchers retired the last 19 Chicago batters. Chicago starter Mike Bielecki yielded the first four Houston runs.

Giles utilizes time well

By RICK WARNER
AP Sports Writer

Given a rare start, Brian Giles rewarded Seattle with an even rarer performance.

Giles, a 30-year-old utility infielder who spent the last three seasons in the minors, hit a grand slam and a three-run homer Thursday as the Mariners beat the Toronto Blue Jays 14-6.

"Everytime I put this uniform on I expect to play at some point in the game," he said. "It's just a matter of trying to stay focused. I was just trying to hit the ball hard."

Giles, who started the season with an 0-for-17 slump, has three homers this week after hitting only six previously in his major-league career that has included four teams since 1981.

"Brian's been taking a lot of extra batting practice and taking extra ground balls at every position," Seattle manager Jim Lefebvre said. "You're happy for a guy like that."

Elsewhere in the American League, it was Milwaukee 6, California 3; Minnesota 4, New York 1; Chicago 7, Baltimore 3; and Detroit 7, Texas 5 in 10 innings.

Giles hit a three-run homer off starter Jimmy Key (4-2) in the third inning and his first career grand slam off reliever Frank Wills in the fifth. Seattle starter Randy Johnson (3-2) went seven innings, giving up seven hits and striking out seven.

Brewers 6, Angels 3

At Milwaukee, Robin Yount and Dave Parker spoiled Dave Winfield's California debut with consecutive RBI singles in the seventh inning.

With one out and the score tied 3-3, Paul Molitor and Gary Sheffield singled off reliever Willie Fraser (0-2).

After Yount drove in Molitor with a single, Parker chased Fraser with his third hit of the day to give Milwaukee a 5-3 lead.

Winfield, who joined the Angels hours after reaching an agreement that completed his disputed trade from the New York Yankees, pinch hit in the eighth and grounded out with two men on.

Paul Mirabella (2-0) pitched 12-3 scoreless innings for the victory.

Twins 4, Yankees 1

At New York, rookie Kevin Tapani allowed one run in 7 1-3 innings for his third straight victory.

Heavy showers before the game left the field drenched, and the wet grounds helped both teams score a run.

Tapani allowed seven hits, struck out five and walked none. Rick Aguilera pitched the final 1 1-3 innings for his 10th save.

Brian Harper and Kent Hrbek hit solo homers for the Twins. White Sox 7, Orioles 3 double keyed a five-run seventh inning that helped the White Sox win their sixth straight.

At Chicago, Sammy Sosa's RBI

Ozzie Guillen singled with one out in the seventh, stole second and scored the tying run on Sosa's double off reliever Brian Holton (1-1). Kevin Hickey came in and walked Lance Johnson before being replaced by Mark Williamson, who walked Ivan Calderon and Ron Kittle to force in Sosa with the go-ahead run.

Johnson scored on a wild pitch. First baseman Randy Milligan then booted Carlton Fisk's grounder, allowing Calderon and pinch runner Rod McCray to score.

Mickey Teuleton's two-run homer in the top of the seventh had given the Orioles a 3-2 lead. Reliever Barry Jones (6-0) got the victory.

Tigers 7, Rangers 5

At Arlington, Chet Lemon doubled home the go-ahead run in the 10th inning as the Tigers completed a three-game sweep.

Pinch hitter Mark Salas opened the inning with a walk and was replaced by pinch runner Tracy Jones, who stole second and went to third when catcher Mike Stanley's throw went into center field.

Lemon then doubled off reliever Jeff Russell (1-3), scoring Jones to give the Tigers a 6-5 lead. Mike Heath followed with an RBI single.

Detroit reliever Mike Henneman (1-3) pitched the final 1 2-3 innings for the victory.

Rangers call up hot-hitting Russell, send Kreuter down

ARLINGTON (AP) - The Texas Rangers have purchased the contract of catcher John Russell from their Oklahoma City farm club.

To make room for Russell on their roster, the Rangers optioned catcher Chad Kreuter to the American Association club.

The 29-year-old Russell has been swinging a hot bat after being picked up by the 89ers on May 7. He is batting .409 with four doubles and two homers in six games.

Russell, who hit .182 in 74 games for the Atlanta Braves last season, refused an outright assignment to Richmond at the beginning of this year and became a free agent.

Kreuter had been hitless in 18 at-bats this season with the Rangers.

Cook cooks for Phillies

HOUSTON (AP) - Dennis Cook, a Texas boy who is fast becoming the ace of the Philadelphia Phillies pitching staff, likes to keep things simple. Like his changeup. Like his attire. Like his life.

From the thick Southern drawl that makes it hard for him to even order a pizza in Philadelphia to the four-door Chevy truck he drives, Cook is more rural than a Texas backroad.

While most of his teammates posed for the club yearbook in coat and tie, the irreverent Cook can be seen wearing a feed-store hat and holding a stringer full of bass. Did someone say unpretentious?

His goal in life? Run a goat farm in the Hill Country.

Teammate Pat Combs still remembers watching the University of Texas in an NCAA playoff game when Cook called time as a hitter and went to the dugout in search of a wad of chewing tobacco. "He got right back in the box and hit a double," Combs said.

They don't come much simpler than Cook, a native of Dickinson. But that doesn't mean the 27-year-old left-hander isn't complicating matters for opposing hitters.

After six starts, he was a perfect 5-0, a record that easily could have been 6-0 had Philadelphia's offense not faltered last week in the Astrodome against Houston.

Curt Ford was thrown out at home by Astros right fielder Glenn Wilson to preserve a 2-2 seventh-inning tie in a game Houston went on to win. As it was, Cook had to be satisfied with allowing only one earned run in six innings.

"I threw a solid game," Cook said. "But I'd have liked to have thrown a better one."

Despite battling the flu, he threw a 103-pitch six-hitter to beat San Francisco 4-1 Sunday to lower his impressive earned-run average to 1.46, the second-best in the National League.

Quite a departure from a year ago. After being traded from San Francisco last June along with pitcher Terry Mulholland and third baseman Charlie Hayes, Cook struggled and finished 6-8 with a 3.99 ERA in 16 starts with Philadelphia.

Cook blamed his lapses on the loss of his slider. But Darold Knowles, Phillies pitching coach, noticed Cook's hard-boiled intensity and suggested he turn it down a notch.

"He was a perfectionist," said Knowles, who threw in the majors for 15 years and played on Oakland's three world championship teams from 1972 to 1974. "He can't stand it if he makes a mistake. But if you start fighting yourself, that's exactly what we don't want."

"Last year he was trying to throw the ball by everybody. The idea is to get them out, not see how hard you can throw it."

Cook doesn't throw all that hard ordinarily. His fastball, usually in the high 80-mph range, pales in comparison with fellow former Longhorns Roger Clemens and Greg Swindell. But he throws a good slider, has developed a simple changeup and learned the split-finger pitch from Giants manager Roger Craig before leaving San Francisco.

Craig was so taken with Cook in Sunday's game that he said the left-hander "is pitching his way onto my All-Star team."

If We Ran This Ad On Radio, You'd Only Have 30 Seconds To Hear It.

Now you'd only have 25 seconds, and you wouldn't be able to go back and look at the opening line or pause (19...18...17...) to consider its significance. You wouldn't be able to spend a lot of time with this advertisement and it wouldn't be able to spend a lot of time with you. In fact, if we tried to say just this much in a 30-second radio advertisement, throwing in only a brief mention that newspapers offer coupons, give you great flexibility of size, and can leave a lasting impression on your customers, we'd run out of...

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

WISE KING SOLOMON: A GREAT LOVER OR—A GREAT DIPLOMAT?

1 KINGS, CHAPTER 11, TELLS US... "SOLOMON LOVED MANY STRANGE WOMEN... THE DAUGHTER OF PHARAOH... AND WOMEN OF THE MOABITES, AMMONITES... ETC., ETC... AND SOLOMON HAD 700 WIVES, 300 CONCUBINES!"

SOLOMON FIRST MARRIED AN EGYPTIAN PRINCESS, THE DAUGHTER OF PHARAOH SIAMON XXI 19TH DYNASTY (976-958 BC.) WITH A FATHER-IN-LAW LIKE THIS, HE DIDN'T HAVE TO WORRY ABOUT TROUBLE ON HIS SOUTHERN BORDERS—IN FACT, EGYPT CONQUERED THE PHILISTINE STRONGHOLD OF GAZA, GIVING IT TO SOLOMON AS A WEDDING PRESENT!

ALL OF SOLOMON'S WIVES WERE PRINCESSES OF OTHER COUNTRIES AND FROM THESE MARRIAGES CAME GREAT TREATIES AND COMMERCE—SUCH AS CEDAR FROM LEBANON, TO BUILD HIS TEMPLE, FROM FATHER-IN-LAW, KING HIRAM OF TYRE!

HAVING THE RULER OF ALL HIS NEIGHBORING COUNTRIES AS A FATHER-IN-LAW, SOLOMON WAS SAFE FROM ATTACK AND SPENT ALL HIS TIME AND ENERGY IN MAKING HIS KINGDOM THE RICHEST IN THE NEAR EAST—IN THE ENTIRE 40 YEARS OF HIS REIGN, ISRAEL NEVER HAD TO GO TO WAR!

IT WORKED SO WELL, HE EVEN MARRIED OFF ALL HIS CHILDREN IN THE SAME MANNER!

NEXT WEEK: A MAN CAN WIN A BIG FIGHT JUST BY HOLDING HIS HANDS UP!

Shopping centers entertain

The next time you go to a shopping center, you may find yourself in an old train station or bowling alley with a lot to do that keeps you and the family entertained. In Salt Lake City, for example, someone had the idea of turning an old trolley garage into a shopping and entertainment center called Trolley Square. It's now the city's second most popular attraction, drawing 70,000 visitors weekly.

People in train stations like Cleveland's Terminal Tower used to be called shoppers. Today, in a growing number of cities they're called shoppers. Among the cities in which train station malls have been built are Chicago, Indianapolis, Washington, Pittsburgh and St. Louis.

In New Jersey, a faded art deco theater reopened as a 40,000-square foot shopping center and is playing to standing audiences of shoppers.

Shopping centers across the country are also big on entertainment, reports a spokesman for the International Council of Shopping Centers. One in Tennessee has a carousel and a miniature golf course. In Alabama, an ice rink was made the center attraction at a shopping center. In Illinois, the last railroad roundhouse intact the United States will soon become a shopping mall.

Give a kids' kitchen party

NEW YORK (AP) - How can you avoid the stress - and the mess - of your child's birthday party? Hold the party in the kitchen. "Kids love kitchens," says Sherry Warchalowski, co-owner of Party Magic in Cape Cod, Mass. "It's the one room of the house where you don't have to worry about ice cream sundaes dropping on the sofa, cake crumbs littering the rug, and sticky fingers marking the dining room table."

Warchalowski says the perfect children's party is the easy party - and the one in which the children themselves can participate. "Involving the children in the creation of the party helps the child feel he or she is planning the best party ever," she says.

Other Party Magic tips:
- Have a theme.
- Keep it small. One rule of thumb: invite one more guest than the age of the birthday child.
- Keep it short. Ninety minutes is just enough time for the children to arrive, do an activity, have a snack and go home happy.
- Keep it simple. Avoid planning too much to do.

"When it comes to activities, never offer a choice," Warchalowski says. "You will inevitably end up with chaos. The whole idea is to have fun - for both you and the children!" She suggests letting the guests make their own party food treats - with adult supervision.

WACKY KOOL-AID POPCORN BALLS
9 cups popped popcorn
1 cup light corn syrup
1 cup sugar
1 envelope Kool-Aid unsweetened soft-drink mix, any flavor
Place popcorn in a large, lightly buttered bowl.
Have an adult bring the corn syrup, sugar and soft-drink mix to a boil in a saucepan. Boil over medium heat until mixture separates into a hard thread when dropped into very cold water, about 6 to 7 minutes. Remove from heat and pour over popcorn, mixing quickly to coat well. Let stand 3 minutes. Shape into 1 1/2-inch balls. Makes about 3 dozen.

Warchalowski and Party Magic co-owner Sally Tucker cater parties and sell party supplies at their Cape Cod shop.

Science Circus planned

Science Circus, a collection of over 40 hands-on exhibits, premieres Saturday, May 19, at the Don Harrington Discovery Center in Amarillo. Among the exhibits, which will be on display until Sept. 16, is the hair-raising electrostatic generator shown above. Price of admission is $3 per person. The circus will be open Tuesdays through Saturdays at 10 a.m. and at 1 p.m. on Sundays. Exhibits may also be viewed on Memorial Day and Labor Day.

If you start with a penny and double your money every day for a month, you'll end up with more than five million dollars.

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP) -

Celebrity divorce lawyer Marvin Michelson saw a man stricken in a courtroom and resuscitated him.

"I looked at him, and frankly it looked like he was gone," Michelson said Tuesday of the man, accountant David Atkins.

"I just tried the best I could and gave him CPR for four or five minutes. Finally, his eyes fluttered, there was some movement and he regained consciousness."

Atkins, 60, was treated at a hospital and released, said his brother-in-law, Dale Greene. A doctor said Atkins' condition may have been caused by new blood pressure medicine, Greene said.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I read the letter from the daughter whose father had been unfaithful to her mother for 50 years, I had to write. She said her mother was wrong not to let her kids know that their father was a louse. I disagree. My dad didn't cheat on Mom, but he was an alcoholic for 40 years. He was mean and abusive to every member of the family, but Mom chose to stay with him.

As a child, I tried to earn my father's love by washing his car, shoveling the snow and getting good grades in school. I cannot remember him giving me a single compliment or praising me for anything. He criticized Mom's cooking, her housekeeping and her appearance. Once I got so angry when he was belittling Mom that I asked, "How can you tolerate such shabby treatment? Why do you let him talk to you like that?" She didn't answer. After a few years, I accepted the fact that Mom would never admit he was a terrible husband and a rotten father. We had a silent understanding not to talk about him.

In retrospect, I realize that in order for Mom to maintain her dignity and keep our family together, she had to believe that deep down, Dad really did love her, but he was so crippled by his own miserable upbringing, he just couldn't accept love nor could he give it.

I hope you will print this letter for all those indignant kids out there who are in similar situations. I now realize that Mom was pretty darned heroic, and I respect her for her courage and her loyalty to a man who didn't deserve it. No name, please. Just -- Uniontown, Ohio

DEAR UNIONTOWN: A letter such as yours is far more effective than all the "professional" advice in the world. Thank you so much for writing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Can you stand one more letter about the high school girl who was angry with her parents, because they moved to another part of the country when she was a junior, and she had to leave all her good friends?

My son-in-law, who is a career military man, was transferred to Florida after a five-year assignment in Alaska. "Ben" and my daughter thought their 13-year-old daughter had made the transition well, until my son-in-law's commanding officer called him into his office and asked if there were any problems at home. Ben replied there were no problems that he knew of. His commanding officer then handed him a copy of a letter that my granddaughter had written to Nancy Reagan asking her why her daddy, who had spent 18 years in the service of his country, had to be transferred from beautiful Alaska to rotten Florida.

Two years have passed, and my granddaughter has fallen in love with Florida. She is at the top of her class, has won many scholastic honors and has adjusted beautifully.

I believe the key was that her parents became aware of a potential problem and handled it correctly. They encouraged their daughter to participate in school activities and make new friends right away instead of yearning for the old ones. She also was made to realize that many others in her school were new, just as she was. Knowing that she wasn't alone made her feel better. Just sign me -- Nana, Denver

DEAR NANA: Right on! Thanks for a letter that should help many people (young and old) feel more confident about leaving a place they love.

Gem of the Day: A shortcut is often the quickest way to arrive at a place you weren't going to be. Lonesome? Take charge of your life and turn it around. Write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "How to Make Friends and Stop Being Lonely." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.15 (this includes postage and handling) to: Friends, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $5.05.)

Hoffman presents program

The North Hereford Extension Homemakers Club met Wednesday at Sirloin Stockade with Marcella Hoffman presenting the opening exercise on "Aging Gratefully".

Roll call was answered by "What I do when I do what I please".

The next meeting will be held on Sept. 6. Members present were Edith Higgins, Peg Hoff, Evelyn Crofford, Hoffman, Naomi Briscendine, and Martha Lueb.

American patriot Paul Revere died in Boston in 1818.

Children should be seen

If you're like many parents, your closets and basement probably contain over 200 drawings brought home from school by your youngster at various ages, over 30 report cards and tons of photos of your children at all ages. They're also likely to hold your daughter's ballet shoes and some of those wonderful letters from the grandparents.

Happily, a new campaign is underway in the nation designed to keep these irreplaceable mementos from getting overlooked, damaged or lost. The theme of the campaign is "Children Should Be Seen", and encourages parents to display those keepsakes and artwork by having them framed.

Among the many items that can be custom-framed by a retail member of the association are children's birth announcements, plaster handprints, scout merit patches, report cards, the game-winning baseball, athletic ribbons or graduation diplomas and tassels. When it comes to children, if it's worth remembering, it's worth framing.

Hints from Heloise

OLIVE OIL

Q. Olive oil is reported to be good for you and I do like the flavor, but I have one question. How do I store it? — Pat McMurray, Tulsa, Okla.

A. Olive oil actually keeps longer than other edible oils and it's easy to store. Keep it in an airtight container and store it in a cool, dark place, protected from light.

It doesn't need to be refrigerated, but it can be if you wish. Refrigeration may make it thick and cloudy, but bringing it back to room temperature will lighten it again.

Olive oil is healthy and good-tasting, and there aren't many things that are both, so enjoy it! — Heloise
