

10-Year Probated Sentence Is Given Hartsfield In Arson Trial

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

An all-male jury returned a verdict of guilty in the case of Edward Wesley Hartsfield Wednesday afternoon in 69th District Court, and then sentenced him to a 10-year probated sentence.

Hartsfield, 38, of Amarillo, was charged with arson in connection with the Feb. 5, 1967, fire of the Butcher Boy Market in Hereford, Monday, the first day of the trial, Hartsfield pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Hartsfield, along with Floyd Umsted, also of Amarillo, were owners of the market in Hereford. The Umsted trial was held in October of 1967 and he was found guilty to the charge of arson. He received a nine-year sentence in the state penitentiary.

Also charged in the same case was Floyd Ray Lebow, an 18-year-old youth who set fire to the building. Lebow pleaded guilty and was placed on a five-year probated sentence. Lebow was the chief witness for the prosecution in both the Umsted case and the Hartsfield case.

After the selection of the all-male jury on the first day of the trial, the prosecuting attorney, Hunter made the statement to the jury that the penalty for arson was "no less than 2 years and not more than 20 years in the state penitentiary." Following his statement to the jury, the defendant entered a plea of not guilty and the first witness — Lebow — was called by the prosecution.

Questioning began with the prosecution asking the youth when and under what circumstances he had met Hartsfield, to which he replied "About a year ago in a bar in Amarillo where I was filling up a cigarette machine." He then stated that Umsted had discussed the burning of the market about a month prior to the actual burning. On the night of the fire, Lebow explained that about 9 p. m. of Feb. 5, 1967, Umsted and Hartsfield picked him up at his home in Amarillo. They explained to him that the market had to be burned on that night because some men were coming to Hereford to inspect the building.

Lebow testified that from his house the three of them went to the Butcher Boy Market in Amarillo where Hartsfield left in his own car. From there they proceeded toward Hereford. Just outside of Amarillo they stopped and discussed the plan for the fire. Hartsfield, he explained, was to start the fire close to the Hereford airport as a diversionary move to draw the local fire department away from the market where he, Lebow, was to start the fire.

He further testified that just before arriving in Hereford, the three of them — Hartsfield in his own car and Lebow and Umsted in Umsted's car — stopped again and went through the steps that were to be taken. From there, Lebow and Umsted drove on into town where they went to the market. At the market, Lebow testified, Umsted went into a small inner office, collected some papers, then went to the cash register and took the money out of it.

Lebow then said that he began spreading gas around the back part of the building after Umsted had left, locking the door behind him. As he was throwing the gas around the room, he stated that he heard something and when he looked up, there was "a sheet of flames coming toward him." Lebow told how, when he saw the fire, he began running toward the front of the market but tripped and fell in the gasoline before he got to the door. After he finally reached the door, he found it was locked so he turned and ran back to the back of the building again. His clothes ablaze, he managed to escape through the rear door where he began stripping his burning clothes off and putting out his hair.

Having set a pre-arranged meeting place with Umsted, he testified, he arrived at the designated place but Umsted was no where around. He then found an old truck and crawled into it and rested a while before he walked to a near-by service station where he asked an attendant to summon an ambulance for him. An ambulance arrived and took him to the local hospital. He then was transferred to a hospital in Amarillo where he was kept under intensive care for about three months. The prosecution ended its questioning by asking Lebow whether or not there was to be any payment for his starting the fire, to which he answered, "They told me they would pay me $200 to burn the market."

The defense attorney then took over the questioning with the stressing of the question of whether or not Hartsfield himself was present at the actual burning. Lebow answered this with a negative answer. Then the defense asked him whether he had actually used some means of igniting the gasoline. When he answered no to this question McCarthy then asked that the jury be retired so he could discuss something of importance to the judge.

After the jury was sent out, McCarthy asked that a plea of not guilty be filed because no one had actually used a method of igniting the fire. He used ref- See HARTSFIELD Page 2

Bank Deposits Go Up In Both Banks

Bank deposits in Hereford as of April 18 total $27,731,898.64, an increase of $2,531,795.61 over the figure a year ago, the city's two banks reported in response to the bank call for the first quarter of 1968, as of the close of business April 18, 1968.

The total is less than the record high figure of $29,036,994.56 at the close of business Dec. 31, 1967, a time when deposits are customarily higher. However, First State Bank showed a slight increase in deposits since the beginning of this year.

Total resources of the two banks also showed an increase over the same period in 1967, with $31,554,897.21 this year compared to $27,824,435.28 on Apr. 25, 1967, when the bank call was made last year. Again, the figure was higher on the 1967 year-end report, $33,690,360.56.

First National Bank showed an increase in deposits to $19,116,435.49 this year from $17,673,373.01 last April. Hereford State Bank's figures were $8,615,463.15 as compared to $7,526,730.02 in April of 1967, and $8,603,073 at the close of last year. Deposits in First National Bank at year-end were $20,433,921.56.

Total resources of Hereford State Bank were up from the Dec. 31 figure of $9,528,306.75 to a total of $9,603,030.76, well above the $8,406,727.57 in April last year.

First National Bank's total resources of $21,951,866.45 compared with $24,162,053.81 on Dec. 31 and $19,417,707.71 on Apr. 25, 1967.

Band Concert Will Continue Fine Arts

In annual spring concert, the Whiteface Band of Hereford High School will present a variety of music in the style which has won it state honors this term, at 8 p. m. today in the school auditorium. Admission to the program is one dollar.

This year's concert has been set during Fine Arts Festival Week as one of the featured musical events.

Ben Gollehon, who has directed the band to a sweepstakes win in Interscholastic League competition and choice as Class AAA Honor Band of the state, will be assisted by guest conductors in this evening's program.

It will open with a band arrangement of the patriotic hymn, America The Beautiful (Ward-Dragon) and a Symphonie Movement by the modern composer Nelhybel. A member, Joy McCathern, will be soloist for Marcello's Concerto For Oboe, then the band will play Bonelli's Symphonic March.

Lowell Wiggins will be alto saxophone soloist for Misty (Burke-Garner) and Lynn McLarty, LaPlata Junior High School band director, will be guest conductor.

After intermission Gollehon will conduct the First Suite in E Flat by Holtz and Morceau Symphonique by Gullmant. In the latter selection, Don Baird of the music faculty at West Texas State University will be the baritone soloist.

Jim Priest, Stanton Junior High band director, will hold the baton for the next band number, Shadow Of Your Smile (Webster-Mandel), and Vince Johnson, student teacher at WTSU, for La Bamba De Vera Cruz (Tucci). The concert will end with another composition in Latin rhythm, Jalousie by Gade.

Members of the Band-Aides are conducting advance sale of tickets, and tickets will be available at the door this evening.

In connection with the concert, an exhibit of students' work from the high school art and industrial arts classes will be on view in the auditorium foyer.

Oratorical Contest Winners Selected

Richard Schilling, 14-year-old student at St. Anthony's School, talked his way to victory in the annual Hereford Optimist Club's Boy's Oratorical Contest Tuesday night.

Schilling, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schilling of Route 3, was the most dynamic speaker of the five contestants as he spoke on the official subject of the contest "The Golden Opportunities of Youth."

Second place winner was Larry Driver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floy Lee Driver of 415 Western and a student at La Plata Junior High. Kevin Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Young of 509 E. Fifth and last year's winner, was third. Young is a student at Stanton Junior High.

Other contestants were Matthew Huseman of St. Anthony's School and Sammy Ogan of La Plata. The five finalists were chosen among 43 boys who had participated in contests at their respective schools.

Schilling now will compete in the Zone Contest at 2 p. m. Sunday at the Southwestern Public Service Building, 6008 West 48th, in Amarillo. The three winners received trophies and all those who participated will receive "Participation Certificates."

Judges for the contest were Manson Waits, Rev. Eugene Brink and Dr. Milton Adams. Sponsors recognized for their work with the boys were Mrs. Jane Defoe of Stanton, Mrs. Joel Hodges of La Plata and Ralph Valet of St. Anthony's.

The boys were judged on personal qualities, material organization, over-all effectiveness, delivery and presentation. The top speech is reprinted here and the other two winning speeches will be in Sundays Brand.

What would be your reaction if you heard a young man or woman say, "What is there to do?" My reaction would be to think that his education has been terribly neglected, for if we keep our eyes open we find that the youth of today is surely blessed with innumerable opportunities!

For example, in the line of science, a youth has a large selection. He can become a chemist, biologist, computer-programmer, geologist and many others.

One might also decide to go into business for himself or for others. Here, too, there are See ORATORICAL Page 10

Sugarland Mall Has Crazy Days

Hereford shoppers are advised to expect anything when visiting Sugarland Mall today, Friday and Saturday, as the Mall merchants are celebrating "Crazy Days."

"During the three days, merchants and employees in the Mall stores will wear the craziest apparel they can find. There also will be a horse tank in which the merchants will be thrown throughout the afternoon.

The merchants, who have volunteered to do so, will stand trial with shoppers as the jury, and will be doused if the jury says they are not appropriately dressed for the occasion.

Shoppers also will get an opportunity to vote for the "best dressed" merchant during the three days. Each Mall worker will be wearing a "prison number," and the winner will receive $10.

There also will be numerous bargains, as evidenced by the advertisements in this issue.

4-H Members To Compete Saturday

Numerous Deaf Smith County 4-H members will compete for top honors Saturday in District 1 of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service during elimination contests on the West Texas State University campus at Canyon.

First place senior winners will be eligible to participate in the state contests scheduled during 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M University June 4-5.

The district contests will begin with a general assembly at 9:30 a. m. in the auditorium of the university's old Administration Building, according to Extension District Agents W. W. Grisham, Jr., and Mrs. Sue Farris, both of Amarillo. Winners will be recognized at an awards program at 3:15 p. m.

Ronny Enns, Dallam County 4-H'er, will preside at the general assembly while Cynthia Hanna of Deaf Smith County will be chairman at the awards program.

Youngsters will participate in 28 individual and team demonstrations and contests. Junior and senior contests will be held in most instances although only the senior winners will compete at the state level. To compete in the senior division, a member must be 14 years of age or older.

The quarter horse judging and livestock judging contests will get under way at 9 a. m. and all other contests will begin following the general assembly.

Demonstrations that will be a part of the day's competitive contests include civil defense, community improvement, cooperative, dairy, electric, farm and ranch management, field crop, forestry, horse, natural resources, poultry, safety, vegetable preparation and use and vegetable production and marketing.

Other contests include beef cattle business, clothing educational activity, entomology, food and nutrition educational activity, money management educational activity, poultry marketing, public speaking, range and pasture grass identification rifle, share-the-fun, soil evaluation and tractor operator.

Water For This Area To Be Topic Of Meeting Tuesday

Importing irrigation water from the Missouri River Basin will be featured on a program at the County Bull Barn in Hereford, at 8 p. m. Tuesday.

A new water transfer plan for the Great Plains region has been prepared by the R. W. Beck and Associates engineering firm. The primary purpose of the plan is to supply needed supplemental water to water-short farming areas of western Nebraska, eastern Colorado, western Kansas, the Oklahoma Panhandle, and the High Plains of Texas.

The program is sponsored by Deaf Smith County Water Association in conjunction with its annual meeting of the membership. A short business session of the association will be followed by presentation of the water resource plan by Paul R. Cunningham, supervising engineer of the Beck company from its Denver branch. The concept calls for the diversion of an annual average of 13 million acre feet of surplus water from the Missouri River below Fort Randall. The primary benefits of the project are irrigation, development of hydroelectric energy, and recreation.

At a proposed cost of approximately $3.5 billion, the project would deliver to the cooperating areas some 10 million acre feet of water annually for irrigation. An acre foot of water covers one acre of land one foot deep.

By a series of dams and reversible turbine pumps, the diverted water would be pumped, 200 miles up the Niobrara River to an elevation of 4,050 feet in the vicinity of Alliance, Nebraska. The main canal would carry the water 940 miles by gravity flow to its termination near Hobbs, New Mexico. Included in the Beck proposal is a pumped-storage project southeast of Amarillo to generate a capacity of 1,200 megawatts of electricity.

Legislative bills were presented in both the House and the Senate of the U. S. Congress on December 14, 1967, which would provide for the appropriation of funds for research studies for the project. Only surplus water in the Missouri River Basin is considered, and prime recreation is given to the right and future needs of the people in the basin who are effected by the proposed diversion. A taped interview with State Representative Bill Clayton will be included in the program. Clayton, who is Chairman of the House Interim Water Study Committee, will outline his plans concerning the organization of a water district, which would give the necessary authority in the area to contract for water in an importation project. Rep. Clayton plans to hold public hearings on proposed legislation permitting the organization of the water district. One of the hearings will be in Hereford according to Clayton, who will be unable to attend the meeting Tuesday evening due to recent illness.

R. C. Godwin, President of Deaf Smith County Water Association and a director of Water, Inc. has invited all interested people in the High Plains and other Great Plains areas to attend the meeting. "Forward-looking citizens are realizing more and more all the time," commented Godwin, "that our economy can not be maintained, much less continue to expand, without concrete plans to import supplemental water supplies. The fact of our depleting underground water demands it, and the magnitude of the task requires public participation, cooperation among various areas and states, and concentrated political endeavor. We are going to be involved in what Water, Inc. calls a 'people project.' We hope to have a large and representative turn-out Tuesday

Barber Is Credit Union Manager

Flake Barber has been announced as manager of the Hereford Federal Credit Union, it was announced by the credit union's board of directors. Barber will officially assume this duty on May 1.

Charles Bell has been managing director of the credit union since January 15. Bell has covered this assignment since shortly following the retirement of Mrs. Dyalitha Benson, a long-time holder of the position. Although a director, he has been associated with Southwestern Life Insurance Company as their local representative for the past nine years and served only until a qualified manager could be located. He intends to continue with Southwestern Life. Barber is a native of Hereford. He has been in Friona for the past nine years in the mortgage loan business. Already wellknown in Hereford, he accepted the new assignment here as manager. Barber and his wife, Sarah, have four children. The girls are Kelly and Tracy, and the boys, Tom and Bud. His plans are to commute between Hereford and Friona until school ends. In Friona, Barber has served two years on the board as secretary of their Chamber of Commerce and is a member and past president of the Lions Club.

Local Students Win IA Contest

Some 20 industrial students from Hereford were entered in the West Texas State University Industrial Arts Fair, held last Friday and Saturday. Division winners included Galen Evans in Drafting; and James Driskill in Power Mechanics. Second places awards went to Joe Don Daniels, Architecture; Gilberto Rodriguez, Metals; Charles Stone, Research (air-lawnmower); Ross Baird, Power Mechanics, and Rodney Dearing, cut-a-way of a Corvair engine. Paul Nash won third in Drafting.

Hereford finished second in total school points, with 69. The winning entries will be displayed at Sugarland Mall on Friday, in the old Holberts building.

County Lets Bids On Paving Project

J. Lee Milligan Inc. of Amarillo was announced by Deaf Smith County Commissioners Monday as low bidder for paving of a county road approximately 5 miles long. Milligan, who's bid was accepted after he had agreed to use crushed, cleaned gravel in the project, submitted a bid of 35 cents per square yard. There are approximately 58,667 square yards to be paved, making the cost $20,533.45. The only other bid was submitted by Jack Messer of Hereford, and it was for 38 cents per square yard. ferences to past cases and defined the differences between arson and attempted arson and the sentence differences between the two.
He stated that attempted arson held a sentence of one to seven years in the state penitentiary while the actual act of arson carried a sentence of two to 20 years in the penitentiary. To this, Judge McDonald overruled the motion and had the jury called back in.
Lebow then told the prosecution that he had been told by Umsted that he was to get $200 for setting the building afire. The defense attorney then took over the questioning.
Trying to stress the point that Hartsfield was not present at the actual burning of the building, McCarthy asked the witness to tell the jury so. McCarthy then discussed the locking of the front door by Umsted and questioned about how the fire started. To this Lebow answered that he didn't know how it started and that he had no cigarette which could have ignited the flame. The defense then excused the witness and Mrs. Corrine Moore was called to the stand by the prosecution.
Mrs. Moore's testimony consisted of her stating that she did not give permission to anyone to burn the Butcher Boy Market building, which she and her brother-in-law owned.

The next witness for the state was Gabriel Martinez who worked at the market as a clerk and butcher prior to its burning. When questioned concerning when he was last at the market before it burned, he stated that on the night of Feb. 4 he had worked until around 10 p.m. then had closed the doors and went home. About 12:30 p.m. of the same night he received a telephone call and was told that the market was on fire. He was then excused.
Terry Hale, who has been Fire Marshal in Hereford for the past three years, was the next witness for the state in connection with the market fire and the grass fire at the Hereford airport. "I received the first call about 10:56 on the night of Feb. 5 that said there was a fire at the Butcher Boy Market. Then later I noticed a glow in the east and was later informed that there was a grass fire east of town at the airport," he explained.
While Hale was on the witness stand, the state introduced its first three exhibits, photos taken by Bill Bradley on the Saturday following the fire. The pictures showed the building after it had been cleaned up another that showed an unburned round spot on the floor of the market where the half-full gas can was found, and still another showed a shirt, that had been partially burned, found lying near the scene. Exhibits of more pictures were introduced as Numbers 5, 6, and 7 and these showed the grass fire at the airport.
The defense took over the questioning of the witness at this time and asked Hale for his opinion as to what started the actual fire. He said the thought it was caused from a pilot from an over-head hot water heater. He also stated that there was only one five-gallon can of gasoline found in the building. The Lebow youth said that there were two when he entered the building.

Forrest Stradley, who was working at the First National Bank in Amarillo at the time of the fire, was called as the next witness due to the fact that the bank held several mortgages on the Butcher Boy Markets owned by Hartsfield and Umsted. An objection was heard from the defense attorney stating that such information should not be brought up unless the prosecution could provide mortgages stated. Due to this the jury was excused for a short break in order that the two attorneys and the judge could discuss the matter further.
After considering both points, Judge McDonald overruled the defense attorney's ruling and had the jury brought back in to continue with the case hearing.
In connection with the notes, Stradley stated that he had tried several times in vain to obtain payments on these but was always given promises or excuses by the defendant. "Finally one day I walked into one of the stores in Amarillo and found Hartsfield there with Umsted. Umsted told me that Hartsfield was his partner and I have had occasion to discuss the mortgage payment with Hartsfield after having met him there that time," he stated.
The first day of the trial ended with the excusing of Stradley.
The second day's proceedings began in a flurry of defense questions directed at Troy Moore, co-owner of the Butcher Boy Market building. The defense attorneys brought forth facts that proved that there was no written agreement signed by either Hartsfield or Umsted on the leasing of the building. The defense rested after bringing forth this fact and Moore was excused.
Feeling additional testimony by Fire Marshal Hale was needed, the prosecution re-called him to the witness stand where the questioning was short and to the point concerning the gas container found in the wreckage of the building after the fire. Hale testified that it was not known to him definitely at the time that it was gasoline but that a sample of it was sent to Owen Davis, Deputy State Fire Marshal, for chemical tests to determine its chemical composition. In regard to the can, Hale said that it had been misplaced sometime during the past year and could not be located.
Looking for more information concerning the cause of the fire, the defense asked Hale his personal opinion to which he stated he also thought it was due to the flame from the over-head heater unit.
After excusing Hale, Hunter then called upon James Riddle to testify about his investigation of the fire. Riddle, who is a fire investigator for American Insurance Agency in Lubbock, assisted in the investigation of the market and stated that he had formed the opinion that the fire was incendiary. He said there was an indication that there was "a low-velocity explosion which blew out three of the large plate-glass windows in the front of the building."
The next question directed at Riddle by the defense was whether he had formed an opinion as to the circumstances of the case and fire. His answer shook the entire courtroom as he said, "My opinion is that Umsted took the boy to the Market and gave him instructions as to where to throw the gasoline. The one place that Umsted told Lebow to throw the gasoline was in the hole in the ceiling, close to the heater. My opinion is that he had no intention of the boy escaping from the building and this is why he locked the door."
He further testified that many things led up to his deciding his opinion and these included the facts that the boy was to be paid that amount of money; the gas was already in the building; the locking of the door — and Umsted's failing to show up at the designated place where he was to pick Lebow up. Riddle was excused after this question and statement.
The eighth witness of the prosecution was Owen Davis who was called to give his expert advice and conclusions as to the cause and instruments of the fire.
Davis, who has been Deputy State Fire Marshal for 12 years now, stated that he believed that the fire was also incendiary and that, in answer to the question by the defense of how much gasoline it would take to cause the damage that occurred, he said anywhere from two to five gallons. "Considering no draft in the building that size, it could be anywhere from 30 seconds to two minutes, depending on the location of the flame, from the time the liquid was spread to the time it ignited," he stated.

Next called to the stand were Arthur Tiefel and J. W. "Jap" Dickerson, both of whom are members of the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department. Tiefel testified as to the condition of the building when he arrived and Dickerson, who is Fire Chief, was questioned in connection as to when he arrived at the scene of the blaze and to the grass fire which happened at the same time east of the city limits.
Bringing up the fact of the involvement of money shortage in the case, Hunter called Russell Durham to the stand. Durham, whose company delivered household goods, houseware, and school supplies to the Butcher Boy Market in Hereford, testified that the defendant had been approached by him in August of 1966 because the Butcher Boy Market account was getting behind to the extent that they owed the company $819.51 on back goods. He said that the company terminated extended credit and put the defendant and Umsted on a strictly cash basis. He further stated that the two men failed to pay any amount whatsoever on the account and that they still owed somewhere around the neighborhood of $1,000.
Kenneth King, IBM supervisor for Kimble Grocery Store, produced balances showing that Hartsfield and Umsted also had an unpaid account to them that amounted to $2,315.07, and they also put them on a cash basis but could not get their due money. Another witness, F. O. Roe, who runs a refrigeration sales and service, stated that a total balance of $1170.66 was also owed to them by the defendant and Umsted.
Following the noon break, Orville Bratton, General Insurance agent testified that on November 4, 1966, a policy was taken out by the defendants on the contents of the Butcher Boy Market. The total coverage of the policy was up to $20,000, he stated. The defense pointed out then that it was Umsted, and not the defendant Hartsfield, who gave the information for the policies and therefore, Hartsfield could not be connected with the policies.
Concerning the payment of delinquent employment taxes, R. B. Richards, supervisor for the Internal Revenue, was then called upon to take the witness stand.
"On the first or second of August, 1966, I talked to Hartsfield concerning the payment of $2,915.08 in delinquent employment taxes and made arrangements for them to pay $500 a week on every Friday until the balance was cleared," he said. He also added that the two paid two payments on the taxes and that was the last he heard from them until he met them both on January 4, 1967 and told them that he would have to take some of the goods from the store and sell them to get the money owed to the Internal Revenue.
Travis McPherson, deputy sheriff of Deaf Smith County, was introduced as the next witness for the prosecution. McPherson, who had been employed at the Butcher Boy Market prior to becoming deputy sheriff was asked his opinion as to the value of the fixtures in the store to which he set at being about $5,000.

Jumping back to the night of the fire, the prosecuting attorney asked McPherson what he did that night in connection with the fire. "I went to the Butcher Boy Market at about 11:30 and was there until about 12:15 a.m. directing traffic on the highway when I received another call about another fire east of town at the airport."
"I went toward the airport and formed a sort of roadblock to slow the traffic down because of the heavy accumulation of smoke across the highway. While I was directing traffic, Hartsfield, whom I knew at the time, drove up and I told him he had better get back to town because his store was on fire. He pulled off the side of the road and just sat there for about three minutes then, I went over and told him again about his store and he finally turned around and went back to town," he said.
After the prosecution stated it would rest, the defense recalled Lebow to the stand and brought up the question of what happened to the other five-gallon can which was supposed to have been in the building. The mystery of the can, though not solved, was believed to have been caused by the fact that one of the cans was plastic and had completely disintegrated in the heat of the fire. After getting this point cleared up, McCarthy questioned him about who made the plans for the fire and when Lebow answered that Umsted did and that Hartsfield was in no way connected in the plans, the defense stated its move to rest.
While the jury was excused for a short time, McCarthy gave reasons as to why he thought the indictment of arson should be changed to one of attempted arson. His reasons included that the court had allowed Hale to testify about a conversation with one or two unknown persons in front of the Butcher Boy Market and that his testimony was highly prejudicial in that someone told him that there was someone caught within the compounds of the building when he arrived at the scene of the blaze.
His second reason was that Stradley was allowed to testify and to introduce mortgages that had been executed by a note by Umsted instead of the defendant Hartsfield. His third reason for a change of the indictment was that under the statutes, the defendant could not be found guilty of arson because there was no connection between him and the actual setting fire of the market, and that Lebow went into the building under the instructions of the defendant Umsted.

The third day of the trial began late with the re-wording of the indictment before the defense attorney Hunter began his argument. Hunter stated that evidence presented in the case was definite proof of the guilt of Hartsfield and the jury should not but help find him guilty of the said crime.
Following the prosecutions argument came the argument by the defense attorney Carnahan. Carnahan based his argument on the fact that Hartsfield had no definite connection with the fire at the Butcher Boy Market and should thus be handed a verdict of not guilty. Following his statements, the jury retired for about 30 minutes before they reached their verdict of guilt to the charge of arson.
Following a noon recess, the jury returned to the courtroom to hear testimony by various defense witnesses before passing sentence.
Mrs. Hartsfield, wife of the accused, told the jury that her husband had not been convicted of a felony in his life, along with numerous other facts which the defense wished to bring forth. Hartsfield himself then took the stand where he was questioned concerning his past life which has been mainly connected with butchering.
After excusing Hartsfield, the defense called Lowell Sharp to the stand in accordance with their plea to the jury to grant Hartsfield a probated sentence rather than a prison term. Sharp, who is the district adult probation officer, gave the court a run-down on the responsibilities required of a probated adult and through this the defense set its plea for a probated sentence for the accused Hartsfield.
With the prosecution attorney not wishing to give summation for the penalty, the defense attorneys presented their remarks and stated that there "are three main reasons for passing punishment. They are, (1) because of what the defendant has done, (2) to deter others from doing the same thing, and (3) to reform him for the future." He further stated that due to the evidence brought up before them, concerning Umsted, they should not consider this but rather consider Bill Hartsfield.

Letter To The Editor

I read in the Brand last week where a small boy had to take Rabies shots because of a dog biting him.

I would just like to say this: I have lived in Hereford for 17 years and I don't think there is a nicer town anywhere, except for dogs everywhere.

I can remember when I walked to work every day with no worries of stray dogs. Today, anyone can't even enjoy a short walk around the block. Recently, my husband and I visited another city larger than Hereford for two weeks. Not one dog did we see anywhere except on leashes, I never realized how nice it was to be able to walk anywhere without worrying about dogs.

I know several older people who would love to be able to take walks if it weren't for fear of dogs. Including myself.

If large cities can solve the dog problem, why can't a nice town like Hereford make a law about dogs and ENFORCE it.

Rebels Slap Mules In Homerun Game

The first outing, though not an official game, proved to be a fruitful one for the local Rebel baseball team when they were hosted by the Muleshoe team in Muleshoe last Sunday afternoon. Sponsored by the Paisano Lions, the Rebels took to the road and found the opposition rather meek as they pounded out 26 hits which included six home runs and three doubles. The Muleshoe team was stopped with three hits and only one of these being for extra bases and that being a lowly double.

Leading the attack for the Rebels was Terry Hill who had a commanding day at the plate as he went four-for-five with two doubles and two singles. Alex Diaz, Ray Martinez, and Robert Wagner hit the opposition pitching for an even .500 mark as they all went three-for-six with Diaz and Martinez getting one homer and Wagner connecting for two round trippers.

The game looked as if it might be a close one for the Rebels in the first inning as they were able to push only three runs across the plate and the hosts stayed right in there as they managed to send two runners around the bags. But from then on out it was all Rebels as they allowed the Mules only one more lone run and they went on to add 19 more runs to their side of the scoreboard.

Seeing pitching duties for the local team was Lape Rameriz through the first three innings as Diaz then came in to get in a little practice against the Mules.

The other player to connect for two round-trippers was Gary Tucker as he went three-for-seven for the day.

The next game for the team will be this coming Sunday, April 28 on the local diamond. Game time is set for 2 p.m.

All-Star Game Played Tuesday

The Women's league basketball teams ended their play for the season last Tuesday night when an All-Star game was played in the high school gym.

With the combination of players from Dooleys Dollies and the Gay Grannies going against members from the Double J's and Lani's Lovelies, the group from the first two teams proved to be the most powerful as they came out victors by a score of 46-27. High pointer for the winners was Daisy Huntsinger with 23 while Zula Arney had 21 for the losers.

Referees for the game were Larry Walterscheid and Ed Schroeter and the teams expressed their appreciation for their volunteer work in calling the games and wished to thank them.

Study Continues On YMCA Here

The Recreation Committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday afternoon for a discussion of local YMCA summer camp. Don Blankenship, chairman of the committee, presided.

The committee will pursue the activity of conducting a survey relative to the community's interest in a YMCA. Rodney Laubhan was appointed to contact the Young Men's Christian Association concerning the design of the survey.

A summer day camp program was discussed. Applications for attendance at the camp for boys between 8 and 13 will be drafted and circulated through the schools, provided arrangements with the Veterans organizations for the use of Veterans Park be worked out, and that a supervisor be employed.

Present at the meeting also were Wayne Lawrence, Bob Spangler, Gene Loerwald, Dale Young, Mrs. Virgil Marsh, Buddy Bloomer and Bill Thompson.

21 Teams Enter Volleyball Tourney

A total of 21 teams had been announced to play in the Volleyball Tournament scheduled for the Hereford High School gymnasium on April 30, May 2, 3, and 4, for the benefit of the Revisit Center of the Institutes For the Achievement of Human Potential of Texas, Inc.

The men's entries are: Walcott Men's Team, Bill White, captain; Claborn's, Jim Maynard, captain; Friona; Men From Glad, J. T. Tice, captain, Hereford; The Old Men, Lowell Sharp, captain, Hereford; The Trojans, John Newton, captain, Hereford; The Wranglers, Joe Gamertsfelder, captain, Hereford; Channing Drug, Odis Henry, captain, Amarillo, and The Plow Boys, Terry Criety, captain, Hereford.

The women's entries are: Monsanto, Melba Smiley, captain, Friona; Red and Gold Rocketts, Laura Bartlett, captain, Bovina; The Panthers, Diana Dooley, captain, Hereford; The Mustangs, Doris Walterscheid, captain, Hereford; The Westernairs, Mrs. J. T. Tice, captain, Hereford; Ann's Cl a n, Charlene Richardson, captain, Vega; Beauty-ettes, Mrs. J. A. Donathan, captain, Wildorado; The Ammonia-ettes, Shirley Skarke, captain, Canyon; Pawnees-Caprock Flying Service, Becky Hall, captain, Vega; Graham Plow, Amarillo; Co-op Cadets, Louise Godsey, captain, Bushland; and Walcott Women, Juanita Harrington, captain, Hereford.

The only high school team entered is The 60-ers from Umbarger, with Tom Payne as captain. Under school rules, they will not be eligible for the trophies.

The Y. W. A. girls of the Avenue Baptist Church and the Tri-Hi-Y girls have donated their time to work in the concession stand on the four game nights.

Anyone who wishes to donate food to this contributory enterprise are asked to call either 364-4515 or 364-4009.

Shirley School Is Winner In Kiwanis Relays

The second annual Kiwanis Relays, sponsored each year by the Kiwanis Club for all elementary schools in the county, this year included Aikman, Bluebonnet, Central, Northwest, St. Anthony's, Shirley and Walcott entries, Calvin Goodin, the track meet director, reported.

The results Tuesday were: Fourth grade: Shirley, first place; Northwest, second place. Fifth grade: Northwest, first place; Aikman, second place. Sixth grade: Aikman, first place; Northwest, second place.

Goodin indicated that there was a total of 546 places in this meet. Three boys from each school were permitted to enter, and each of them could enter three meets, he said.

"We are very pleased with this," Goodin reported. "The Kiwanis Club definitely has plans to continue these relays annually."

Ray Todd is president of the Kiwanis.

Eagles Drop Herd For Second Loss

Even home runs couldn't quite pull the trick for the Whiteface diamond nine Tuesday afternoon when they met their second loss of district competition at the hands of the Canyon Eagles by a score of 7-6.

Tom McGowan, who connected for two round-trippers for the Herd led the attack for the locals as he was credited with five of the six runs batted in. Also to his credit was a double.

Mental errors proved to be the undoing of the Herd in the initial inning as they saw two of their players caught in run-downs when they were in scoring positions. Their defense held in the bottom of that frame but they themselves were still unable to push a run across the plate in the top half of the second frame.

In the bottom of the second inning, the Eagles exploded for what proved to their winning runs of the contest as they sent six men scurrying around the bases and across home plate before the frame was over.

Scoring went nil for the next two innings for both teams but in the third McGowan connected for his first homer with none on to make the score 6-1 in favor of Canyon. But fate came back and dealt the Herd another crucial blow as the Eagles took back that run in the bottom of the same frame by sending one of their own across the plate.

The top of the sixth saw a bases-loaded situation come up and McGowan stepped to the plate again and for the second time in the game, he barreled another across the fence to cut the oppositions lead to two runs. But, as fate would have it again, the Herd could not muster up those much-needed two as their rally in the top of the seventh fell short by one plate-crosser. The final score read 7-6 in favor of the Canyon Eagles.

Losing pitcher for the Whitefaces was Lynn Betts whose record now stands at four wins and three losses.

The next game for the Herd will be Saturday when they go to Dumas to play them in the two teams second clash of the season.

Golf Tourney Set For Sunday

The one-day invitational Memorial Golf Tournament will be held at the John A. Pitman Golf Course at Hereford on Sunday, it was announced by Bob Baker, the Pitman golf professional.

This tournament is designed to honor Mr. John A. Pitman, who did so much to help promote and build golf in Hereford," Baker said.

The course will be closed to all open play Sunday — only tournament play will be allowed.

The Memorial Golf Tournament will have a championship flight of 27 holes of medal play and those wishing to enter the championship flight may declare. The entry fee is $5.

All other flights, which will be 18 holes of medal play, will bring handicap cards with the best nine holes used to qualify for flights and counting on the final total.

Golfers may bring and play in their own foursomes, Baker said.

C. G. Witherspoon was Deaf Smith County's first clerk, and W. D. Witherspoon was its first treasurer.

Racing Tryouts Will Be Sunday

The Hereford Speedway Association will hold tryouts at 2 p. m. Sunday on a bigger and wider track as preparations continue for the upcoming racing season.

Bill Byers, association president and manager, invites all drivers to come out Sunday to try their cars. "We've got a reconstructed track," said Byers. "It's bigger, wider and should be a lot faster."

There will be no admission charge for the races Sunday.

The racing season will officially begin May 5, at which time admission will be $1. The Speedway is located about 2 miles east and south of Hereford, with signs directing traffic to the spot.

NEW! For clean Sorghum... spray weeds when you see them!

with BANVEL

VELSICOL announces Banvel herbicide for control of all hard to kill weeds of major importance in grain sorghum. This includes carelesslyweed (pigweed), sunflower, lambsquarter, purslane, morning glory and other annual broadleaf weeds. Banvel herbicide is applied post-emergence, so there are no wasted sprays in years when rain is scarce and weeds are not a problem. With Banvel you see your weed problem and then spray—all in plenty of time to give young sorghum plants plenty of opportunity to grow.

Banvel is sprayed onto weed leaves and translocates to the roots... for new, total control of weeds. Just apply Banvel between the 10th and 25th day after emergence of grain sorghum (approximately 4 to 12 inches tall).

Banvel is not dependent on soil moisture for its effectiveness; so its results are dependable. And it's a liquid that won't clog your sprayers; nor does Banvel need constant agitation.

Banvel increases yields. It's excellent for use on grain sorghum, wheat, barley, oats and field corn. Order Banvel herbicide to get full potential from your valuable, high-yielding sorghum seed.

See your dealer today. You'll be glad you did!

Annuals Presented Tuesday At HHS

The pudnour machine (round-up spelled backwards) worked diligently at the annual assembly Tuesday to try and produce the 1967-68 long-awaited annuals of the HHS students.

Steve Sigman, an annual staffer, calmly walked on stage to announce to the student body that they had decided not to make annuals this year, that it was absolutely too much trouble for the staff to put up with. So, in order to meet this problem and still have a year-book, the staff invented the pudnour machine, which supposedly produced the books automatically.

After about four tries and much coaching from the staff, the machine was supposed to have blown a fuse and wouldn't work. A very disappointed staff walked off the stage and left, as you can guess, a very disappointed audience.

Happy students managed to show their approval by shouts and a rather large and loud applause, while Patsy Smith, co-editor, and Kathy Young, co-editor, tried in vain to get "The annuals are in," came the few remarks that were heard over the bursts of applause, 'seniors, pick yours up at the ticket booths, juniors in bookroom, and sophomores on stage.'

However, before the masses of excited students and outstretched arms came to be, Patsy Smith read the forward which goes as follows:

"Round-up '68 presents the development of personality, the sportsmanship, the leadership, and the scholarship that you have gained at Hereford High School during this past year. You are Hereford High, and this book is for you and about you. The life you lead is a colorful one-seeking to understand, striving to succeed, endeavoring to lead, inspiring to excel, and challenging to achieve. This is the heritage of HHS. These intangible possessions have been passed down to you, yet they are unique to this year alone. Remember as you turn through these pages, that the events are symbolic — some Hereford High student was there — it could have been YOU."

Hereford adopted the commission form of government in 1912.

Judge and Mrs. James A. D-Day. He spent eight months in various German hospitals and four months at Stalag Luft I on the Baltic sea.

Judge Joy stated that he is the only candidate in this race with any actual judicial experience. He has served as City Judge of Abernathy, County Judge of Hale County and District Judge of the 64th Judicial District, comprised of Hale, Swisher and Castro counties since 1961.

During six calendar years as District Judge, he said, he has disposed of a total of 4,835 cases, completing 288 cases to the jury verdict. Only 25 of these cases were appealed to the Seventh Court of Civil Appeals and 20 of these have either been affirmed or dismissed, giving him a record of 80 per cent affirmed and 20 per cent reversed.

He stated that this 3-judge court has traditionally had a geographical and population balance with Amarillo having one man on the Court, Lubbock one and the general area one man.

He is seeking this area seat being vacated by Judge Alton B. Chapman of Floydada.

James Robinson topped the Fort Worth hog market in 1915 with his shipment of hogs fed on kaffir and milo, from Hereford.

To early-day cowboys, the D. R. Gass and Son store in Hereford was more than a place where they could buy boots and pants; it was a hotel.

Judge Joy is making his last tour prior to election day on May 4 in connection with his campaign for the office of Associate Justice of the 7th Court of Civil Appeals.

Joy and his party are making the tour of the large 46-county area by air. The judge spent four years during World War II as a pilot in the Air Force. He flew B-26's and on his 15th mission in the European theatre was shot down by enemy flack over France a month before

TIME CONFUSION

Every year more people seem to love their country for the same reason that Grandpa loved his old Jersey cow — because he can milk it.

—HB—

And like the old Jersey cow, it's subject to "going dry." The dwindling rural population in this nation has caused the politicians to turn their thoughts and energies towards the big cities and today more and more money is being "milked" from the federal government by those who have the idea that the government owes them a living. Of course, the urban area is where the vote is today — not on the farm, and the big vote centers are getting the attention of Washington.

Because of this, the very basis of the nation's economy is in danger, going largely unnoticed by those who supposedly represent the people of this nation. Certainly, Vietnam, the city ghettos and racial strife are a few problems that must be dealt with, but what so many Senators and Congressmen fail to realize is that all wealth comes from the land — and when agriculture is in trouble, the nation is in trouble. Some of the most respected economic historians are now saying that the U. S. is fast approaching the conditions, agriculture wise, that it found itself in the late 1920's. Agriculture then was taking a beating while the remainder of the economy was apparently booming.

But it doesn't take long for an ailing agricultural economy to have its effect upon the rest of the economy. It's happened before. We hope it will not happen again. But it's time to call the doctor. The patient is fast losing strength.

—HB—

Daylight saving time will be with us again this Sunday, so be prepared. The following, written by Helen Witt of Groom, Texas, and submitted by Mrs. Gene Fooks, tell the sad tale:

Band Recordings Arrive Tuesday

Along with the excitement of the 1967-68 yearbooks, the Hereford High School Honor Band records also came in. The records were passed out at the HHS band hall Tuesday.

The records consist of the pieces played by the high school band on many of their trips and at many of their concerts. Pieces such as, Symphony in B Flat by Hindemith, Symphonic Movement by Nellybel, Oboe Concerto by Marcello-Priest with Joy McCathern as soloist, Jalousie by Gade-Krance, and Enigma Variations by Elgar-Slocum.

The time has come, It's now a must, To daylight saving We must adjust.

We set the clock And rise at seven, Is church at ten, Or is twelve eleven?

Now let me see, My thoughts are crossed, We gained an hour — Or was it lost?

At what time will The day begin For those whose timer Seems built in?

Now school will start At half past when? At seven? Nine? It can't be ten!

Alas! It seems Confusion reigns 'Twixt clock and sun And hunger pains!

—HB—

And if I remember right, We blew it last fall and got everyone more confused than ever. Now let's see — do we move the clock up or do we move it back?

—HB—

There's always a joker in the crowd, and apparently in the Kiwanis Club the joker is Bobby Owen.

When a group of the local Kiwanians went to Amarillo recently to check some airline schedules, Mr. Owen politely asked the desk clerk if he had a "through flight to Umbarger."

Undaunted by this upstart, the clerk answered — and with a straight face — "no sir, but we have one to Tulla."

—HB—

By the way, the local Kiwanians are still making preparations for the big Governor's Ball which comes up on the 18th of May. They plan to outdo both the Lions and Rotarians, who have had district meetings here in the last couple of years, and we're betting that they do it.

Regardless, it should be a nice affair.

—HB—

What has become of that little old white-haired grandmother of yesteryear? Only her hairdresser knows for sure.

H. L. (Lee) Goats came to the Panhandle in the 1880's and operated a freight line from Amarillo to La Plata in the 1890's.

CRUSADE PROCLAIMED — Mayor Ray Cowser this week signed a proclamation designating the week beginning April 29 for the annual crusade of the American Cancer Society in this county. A house-to-house canvass to distribute educational material and collect funds for the Cancer Society's work will be made Monday by volunteer workers who will meet at 5:30 p.m. in Community Center. Mrs. Bud Thomas, standing, is chairman and Mrs. Lewis Block publicity chairman for the canvass.

Telephone Lines Accidentally Cut

Bob Tarbet, manager of the Hereford office of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, reported that the cable cut to their line east of the city was the result of the Santa Fe railroad digging their pipeline there. It was accidentally severed during this operation Tuesday afternoon.

Tarbet also reported that "it was the second time in a week" that the Santa Fe crew had accidentally cut the cable.

He said that telephone emergency crews had restored the service "in about two hours."

The most noticeable "cut" in the long distance service to the people of Hereford was loss of a portion of the Hereford-Canyon high school baseball game, broadcast here by KPAN through remote facilities of the telephone company.

Jeff T. Gilbreath first came to Deaf Smith County in 1899 because his father, J. A. Gilbreath, thought the High Plains a land of opportunity.

Wilson Selects New Manager

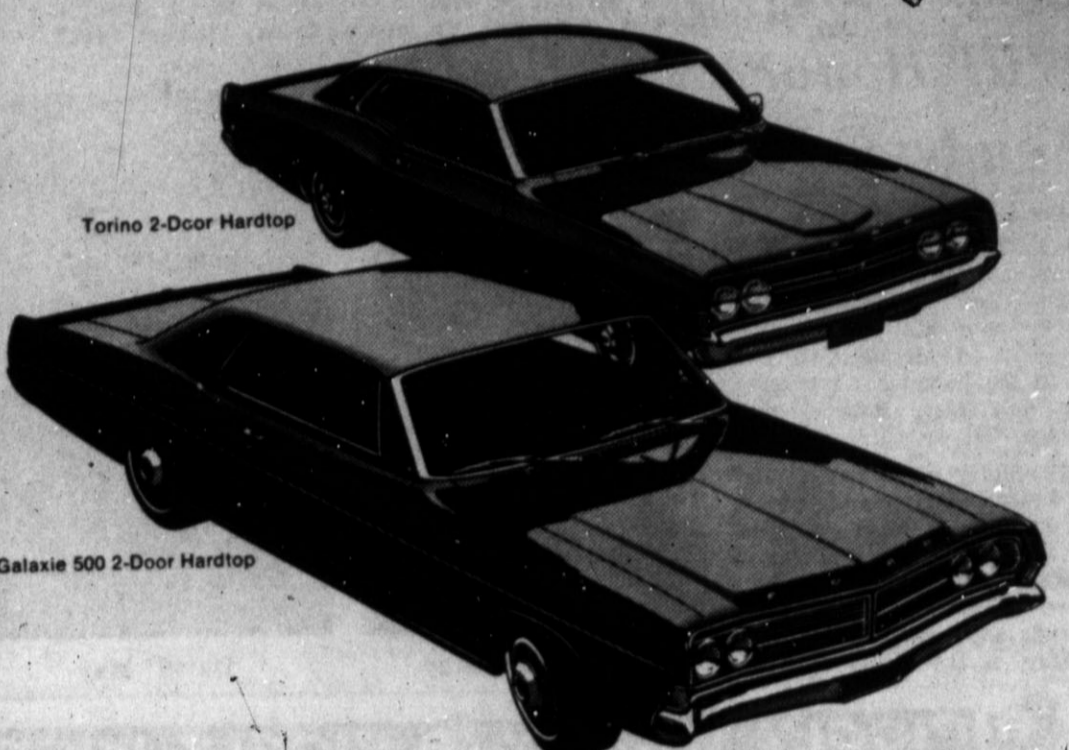

CHICAGO, ILL. — Dr. B. C. Breidenstein has been appointed manager, beef evaluation and processing division, of Wilson & Co., Inc., a subsidiary of Ling-Temco-Vought, Inc., Dallas it was announced today by Roy V. Edwards, Wilson president. In his new assignment, Breidenstein will report to E.A. Trowbridge Jr., vice president-fresh meats group.

Breidenstein will be responsible for formulating programs for further in-plant beef processing to satisfy the needs of food retailers as new beef marketing trends continue to develop.

Breidenstein received his Bachelor's Degree in agriculture from the University of Wisconsin in 1952, his Master's Degree from the University of Illinois in 1953, and his Ph.D. from the University of Illinois in 1955. He was a member of the University of Illinois faculty for 14 years, ten of which he served as head of the meats division in the College of Agriculture. Breidenstein is widely known through out the meat industry and in agriculture educational circles for his work in developing methods to accurately define optimum carcass value in terms of edible meat or retailable meat and quality. This method has led to substantial progress in relating these values back to live animal breeding stock improvement.

Breidenstein joined Wilson in 1966, and at that time was assigned special projects in the fresh meat merchandising area.

Coke Party Will Honor Newlyweds

Before they leave early next week for Virginia, where they were recently married and will make their home, Mr. and Mrs. David May will be honored at an informal Coke party in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Trowbridge, 841 Irving.

The party is planned from 3 to 5 p.m. Friday for his friends to drop in for Cokes or coffee, to meet Mrs. May and visit a while. Individual invitations have not been given; all his friends are invited to call.

May, a U.S. Navy fireman, is on leave and brought his bride, the former Miss Cheri Buckler of Seaford, Va., for a visit with his family. He is to report to his base at Little Creek, Va., next week.

Candidates Introduced To 125 At Political Rally In Walcott

Candidates for county and district offices were introduced to voters of the western part of Deaf Smith County, and spoke briefly at a political rally sponsored by Messenger Home Demonstration Club at Walcott School Saturday evening.

The club customarily sponsors such a rally preceding election day in general election years. About 125 persons were present for the informal program; Johnny Clark superintendent of Hereford Schools, acted as master of ceremonies.

Mrs. J. E. Sorrells, president of Messenger Club, welcomed candidates and community residents, and introduced Clark.

Candidates who spoke were: Nell Miller, Rose Soliz, Jerry Tucker of Dumas, Jack Wilson Ed Roberson, Bruce Coleman, J. T. Guinn, Jack Hazelwood of Amarillo, and Andrew Shuval. Joe Cox spoke for Jim Joy of Plainview and letters were read from Bill Clayton and Bob Price expressing regret that they could not be present.

Frank Ford, opponent of Clayton in the state legislator's race, announced that he and Clayton will speak at a later meeting, discussing issues of that race. Meanwhile, he was a member with Mike Porter, Jerry Tucker and Nocky Tyler, of a quartet which sang folk songs with Patricia Porter as piano accompanist.

Doughnuts, coffee and cold drinks were served after the speeches by Misses Barbara Brown, Linda and Debbie Sorrells. Cakes and cookies made by the club women were sold, and a quilt which they made was awarded to Jeff Coleman.

Mmes. N. A. Brown, Bill Page, S. N. Thweatt, Elmer Northcutt, H. D. Buse and Gene Bradley were members of the hostess club introduced by Mrs. Sorrells.

True to the t.v. westerns, the Panhandle cowboys of old wore big Stetson hats, boots and spurs; but they seldom wore chaps since they were worn usually to protect the legs from brush, and the open prairie offered no such hazard.

Phillips Will Head UF Drive Here for College

COLLEGE STATION — Wayne Phillips has been appointed 1968 chairman for Texas A — M's annual fund campaign in Hereford.

A & M Former Student Association resident Jeff Montgomery of Houston named the 1947 graduate to the leadership position.

A & M former students provide dollars for university programs of excellence not covered by state funds. Since 1942, $4.1 million has been given by former students for scholarships, fellowships, faculty salary supplementation, building programs and special projects.

During 1967, 20,000 A & M men gave $388,000 to the fund. Goal for 1968 is a gift from three out of four former students totaling a half million dollars.

In 1935, a National Geographic expedition explored and mapped almost 5,000 square miles of unknown terrain in the Yukon. Its members discovered 19 peaks more than 10,000 feet high and many extensive glaciers.

Funeral Rites Held Here For Early Resident

Funeral services for Mrs. Wallace Harris of Alpine, 60, the former Lula Corinne Smith who with her family lived in Hereford in early years of this century, were conducted in Rose Chapel of Gilliland Funeral Home Monday.

Burial was in West Park Cemetery. The Rev. Russell Winger, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, officiated for the service.

One of the children of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Smith, pioneer residents of Deaf Smith County who owned land just west of Hereford, she grew up here. Most of her married life was spent in New Jersey, but at retirement Mr. and Mrs. Harris moved to Alpine about two years ago. Her death occurred there Saturday.

One of her brothers, Ray E. Smith, lives at Friona and a nephew, John E. Smith, in the Friona Community. Other survivors in addition to her husband are a sister, Mrs. Ruth Poole, who resides in Virginia, and another brother, Paul Smith, in Arkansas.

With the ending of the summation for the defense, the prosecution then entered its statement saying "I don't think this is a probation type case, in my own opinion. Sure this 17-year old boy was placed on probation, but he suffered enough through his three months in the hospital after receiving serious burns, but this is not the same situation here."
Hunter ended his argument with the statement that the defendant should be sent to the state penitentiary for a reasonable length of time.
After having been out 25 minutes, the jury then returned with their sentence for punishment of 10 years probation.

many opportunities. One can become anything from a banker, wholesaler, salesman, grocer, printer, or carpenter to a farmer. On the other hand, one can be dedicated to working for others. In helping other people we can see opportunities ranging from a social worker to policeman, to clergyman, all the way to youth counsellor.
Now let us take a closer look at the area mentioned above. For instance, science, are there openings for newcomers in atomic science? Opportunities are infinite for both men and women alike. The need for new blood in this line is vast. It is one of the fastest growing categories in science. In its demand for man power it has seriously outstripped the supply. A few years ago merely a handful of scientists were dealing with the atom, but today more research is being done. On account of this, we youth have an opportunity to engage in this new and challenging line of work. Almost every type of scientist and engineer is welcomed in atomic science — physicists, mathematicians, chemists, biologists and so on.
As for youth service workers, if, on the shoulders of the new generation rests the future peace of the world and the preservation of our American liberties, then there is no career that beckons more persuasively than one entrusted with the task of helping equip young Americans for their vital role. There is possibly no calling that offers a richer sense of fulfillment to any man or woman. The degree to which America is now interested in its children is evident. It has demonstrated over and over its interest and willingness to pay for the best youth programs.

What exactly is a professional youth group worker? He is a specialist whose firm hands and mind give strength and direction to the nation's youth-serving organizations, which now have grown to become a significant part of America.
Throughout the U. S. hundreds of agencies are actively working with young people, molding characters, training minds, and influencing personalities. These include such organizations as the Y's, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire girls, 4-H Clubs, to name but a few.
But, whatever they are, these organizations have but one mission in common: to help young people grow into strong-bodied, healthy minded, responsible citizens, devoted to God, country, family and their fellow men.
The youth who avails himself of the opportunity of serving others is richly rewarded. For example, the clergyman fills a very special role in society. He walks among all kinds of people. To him come for guidance the alcoholics, the victims of broken homes, the pre-delinquent children, and many others. He it is who stays with these people and guides them. He helps the downtrodden, inspires the hesitant and heals the sick at heart. What more could anyone ask of life?

What I have just said could be applied to some extent to the medical doctor, the policeman, the social worker or anyone who is trying to uplift the world by helping others.
Going back to my beginning question, "What is there to do?" I hope I have answered it. There are many wonders awaiting for someone to come along and put them to use. We the youth are heading on that path. Through our efforts we hope to build a better world so that the youth of tomorrow will have even more and better opportunities than we now have.
Thank you.

Alcoholism Is Discussed During Meeting Tuesday

By EARL MOSELEY
Staff Writer
Fred Howard, vicar of the St. Thomas Episcopal Church, spoke to the Deaf Smith County Council on Alcoholism at the Hickory Log on Tuesday at noon, to a crowd of members large enough that an extra table was necessary.
Howard greeted the council as "fellow alcoholics, because it is a future potential that we all have." He illustrated it on the principle that everyone who carries a gun is not a murderer, unless they pull the trigger on a human being.
However, he pointed out that "the definition of the alcoholic is very difficult. Perhaps he is an alcoholic when he reaches the point of no return, when drinking controls him."
He centered upon some of the excuses of the practicing alcoholic: fatigue ("but liquor is not a stimulant but a depressant"), anxiety, frustration and hostility. And he explained three individual areas: physical, psychological and social.
"But once the alcoholic discovers one of these three weaknesses, he will take the others with him." He also emphasized that non-alcoholics have the same individual areas, and that ministers are involved with all three in their work.
"An alcoholic picks a crutch which is destructive instead of constructive," Howard said.
"Most people are raised with an inferiority complex." He said there are various ways in which people respond to an inferiority complex — the alcoholic will use it to stimulate his imagination. "A man who is not accepted for what he is — so he tries to be something else."
Howard also delved into the realm of homosexuality. "Many times the homosexual will become an alcoholic because alcoholism is accepted where homosexuality is not."
The traits of an alcoholic who has a destructive crutch are many, he said, but each has his own personality and characteristic. "(They) appear to be immature in facing the problems of life. This is prevalent in most alcoholics. They are high on the dependency of others."
But he countered, "We are all dependent upon somebody. But the alcoholic is excessively dependent. Usually he strongly relates to either his father or his mother. He does not want to make decisions on his own."
"The alcoholic resents authority, the system of things. He resents doctors, ministers, anyone who represents authority."
He said that many times the alcoholic is masochistic — a person who wants to hurt himself. "They can be sadistic too

DA Candidate Is Speaker In City

Jerry Tucker, Republican candidate for District Attorney of the 6th Judicial District, was guest of honor during a coffee Tuesday morning at the Caisson House.

Tucker, who is a practicing lawyer in Dumas, made a brief talk in which he outlined his background and qualifications for the position he is seeking. "I believe I have seen enough experience that I can rely on to have given me good training in law," said Tucker. "The broad experience has given me a keener sense of law."
Tucker listed one of his main assets as having been research law clerk for the late Federal District Judge Joseph B. Doolley for about one year. "It was more valuable to me as three years in law school," Tucker told the crowd.
Tucker said he had received his bachelor of arts and law degrees from Emory University in Atlanta, Ga., and had been editor of the law school's publication, which is regarded by lawyers over the nation as the authority in certain phases of the law.
He practiced two years in Georgia before moving to Amarillo, and has been in Dumas since. "A man needs a general background for this office and I feel I have this background."

Tucker stressed the importance of protecting law abiding citizens from lawlessness, stating that "they have just as much rights as the criminals." Also pointed out by Tucker was the fact that "anybody and everybody who comes up should not be eligible for probation. I support probation but we have to be selective in the way the law is enforced."

Tucker said he will "try to be energetic in prosecution of the law."

The 69th Judicial District includes Deaf Smith, Dallam, Sherman, Moore, Hartley and Oldham counties.

Hostesses for the coffee were mesdames Wes Fisher, Wes Owens, John Hambien, Curtis Traweek, C. F. Newsom, Keith Jorde, Joe Reinauer and Frank Ford.

— receive pleasure out of inflicting pain on others."
Howard asked, "what can we do?" He pointed out, "First, we've got to accept the alcoholic as a human being." They must be understood. However, he said they definitely want rejection — as an excuse to take another drink. "If you want to help, refuse to reject them. Stand your ground, but show square."
He firmly declared that the alcoholic must help himself, "otherwise he will play games all day long. If he is not convinced that he has to be cured, it will never happen. And we must realize that the cure might take a long time. We can offer the proper aids. But primarily, if we don't know what to do, step out and let somebody in who does."
Howard said, "Nobody has been more successful at this than the Alcoholics Anonymous.

Voting Rules Given For New Residents

County Clerk B.F. Cain has reminded new residents of Deaf Smith County that they must vote in the county clerk's office by Tuesday if they wish to participate in either the Democratic primary or the Republican primary to be held on May 4.

Any person who has lived in the county less than six months (who became a resident after November 3, 1967) must vote in the clerk's office during the period of April 15-April 30. He must be a registered voter either in this county or in the county of his former residence and must have lived in the state for a year. He will be required to present his registration certificate or to make an affidavit of its loss when he applies for a ballot.
A voter with less than six months' residence in the county will be able to vote on all statewide offices and on the referendum propositions on the primary ballot, and will also be able to vote on district offices for districts in which he has six months' residence preceding the election, but he will not be permitted to vote in local races.
Persons who now live in Hereford and who registered in the county of their former residence must have their registration transferred to Deaf Smith County through the office of the county tax assessor-collector of this county before they will be permitted to vote.
Cain said that voters living in Hereford who have moved from one voting precinct to another within the county since registering must also have their registration transferred through the tax assessor-collector's office by April 29 in order to vote in the May 4th primary. They will vote on election day at the regular polling place for the voting precinct of their present residence.
Voters living elsewhere in the county who have moved to a new precinct within the county also vote in the precinct of present residence, but they need not transfer their registration.
If a voter living in Hereford has lived in the county for six months but obtained his registration certificate in another county before moving to this county, he also must have his registration transferred by April 29. He will vote on election day at the regular polling place for the precinct of his present residence.

Carter Wins In Journalism Meet

Wes Carter, a senior in Hereford High School traveled to Odessa to the Regional Journalism Contest Friday and Saturday and placed first over about 20 other contestants.
The contest consisted of several divisions in news stories, headline stories, copyreading, feature story writing, and sports stories.
With several other contestants from Hereford, Carter entered in the news story and headlines division, but did place. He entered in the copyreading, placing third there, and also entered in the feature story contest, placing third in that division.
The judges graded the contestants by points and Carter, receiving a total of 187 points, managed to take first place. He will go to State in Austin May 2 and will compete May 3 at 9 a. m. against about eight others.
The students from Hereford entered in the Class AAA division and Hereford placed third in the over-all Journalism contest with a total of 187 points. The second place individual was from Sweetwater.

Annual Meeting Is Held By Teachers

The Deaf Smith County Texas State Teachers Association held their annual steak dinner meeting Monday night at the High School Cafeteria, where they presented their 1969 legislative program, had some unusual entertainment, and generally had a good time.

The dinner was well attended by Hereford teachers, administrators and school board members.

Charles B. Hamilton, a representative of TSTA who had been scheduled to speak here on February 12, delivered a short address. Hamilton had not appeared at the February meeting due to a snow that had made highway conditions hazardous.

He urged teachers to vote in the state primary of May 4, and that they should promote it strongly with all the people. The TSTA Legislative Program, he pointed out, has some very important points set for presentation to the 61st Legislature.

The program includes:

A full analysis of all the Committee's of 15 recommendations for the purpose of including in the TSTA Legislative Program all recommendations which are judged constructive and which should receive early legislative consideration.

A salary program to provide $1,000 or more base increase for every teacher with built-in steps ranging between $300 and $400 to attain professional level maximums and professional salaries for all teachers based on college degrees, advanced study, and years of teaching experience.

A bill guaranteeing sick leave protection for all teachers.

A practice teaching bill to provide a standard program for meeting the legal requirement for practice teaching involving colleges and the public schools which serve as laboratories.

A bill clarifying the Continuing Contract Program.

Other items based on recommendations from TSTA members, the State Board of Education and other interest groups.

Also, Amendment No. 9 will appear on the General Election Ballot on Nov. 5, 1968.

"Its approval by the majority vote will permit teachers to make deposits on full salary received. The adoption of the amendment will improve retirement benefits for every teacher because classroom teacher salaries will exceed the present limit in a very short time. A vigorous campaign involving TSTA local units, districts, and the state association will be required to pass the amendment."

Hamilton said that a survey showed that 91 per cent of the candidates for the House and Senate have agreed to back the TSTA program. "Five of the six major gubernatorial candidates are for it too." He listed remarks made by Dolph Briscoe, Waggoner Carr, John Hill, Preston Smith and Don Yarborough.

He did not announce the name of the sixth candidate.

Mrs. Mozelle Nell, Hereford High School librarian, told the large audience present that, due to the solemnity of the occasion, that the remainder of the program would offer "something on the serious side — food for thought." Whereupon, she introduced a trio made up of two Amarillo school principals and an engineer at Pantex (originally from the north), who billed themselves at one point as "A Yankee With Principals."

The trio presented pure unadulterated corn in numerous songs and parodies, from "You Get a Line and I'll Get a Pole" to "So, Long, It's Been Good to Know You." Garbed in bright hillbilly attire, they were well received by the audience. They were returned for an encore, "Goodnight, Irene."

One of the Amarillo principals in the trio said that the Amarillo music director had said they had set music back 50 years. "No," he corrected, "it's at least 75."

Funeral services for Clyde Cordray, 88, father of Melvin Cordray of Hereford, were conducted Tuesday morning in a funeral home at Sacramento, Calif. His death occurred Monday at his home, 5121 Roemer Lane in that city, after a brief illness.

The body was cremated and burial is planned later in Montana, where Mr. Cordray formerly lived. He was a native of West Virginia.

He is survived by his wife and twin sons, Melvin of 125 Kingwood, and Milton of Sheridan, Wyo.

Melvin Cordray was in California at the time of his father's death and went to Sacramento for the funeral.

TSTA MEETING — Charles B. Hamilton, left, a representative of the Texas State Teachers Association was in Hereford Monday night for the local TSTA dinner meeting. Shown with Hamilton is Don Blankenship, principal at Bluebonnet Elementary School, who will be first vice-president of the Hereford organization beginning in the fall. Gary Billingsley of Northwest School will be president.

Uncle Sam's Selective Service

Editor's Note: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 209 W. 9th Street, Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q — What facts are considered by the draft board in determining a man's classification?

A — Any facts in the man's file, whether on Selective Service forms or in other written communications, determine classification. Oral information must be summarized and placed in the man's file.

Q — I want my attorney to go with me when I have my personal appearance before the local board. Must I file his name with the board in advance?

A — You may not be represented before the board by anyone acting as attorney or legal counsel. No person other than you has the right to appear in person before the board, but the board may, in its discretion, permit any person to appear before it. If a man does not speak English adequately, he may appear with a person to act as interpreter for him.

Q — How many men have been drafted each year for the past five years?

A — For the nation as a whole, total inductions for each of the last five calendar years follow: 1963 — 119, 265; 1964 — 112, 386; 1965 — 230, 991; 1966 — 382, 010; 1967 — 227, 184. The Texas share of this is approximately 5 per cent.

Q — I'm in my final semester toward my baccalaureate degree and lack only nine semester hours. I understand, to be deferred in Class II-S, I must take 12 hours to be considered full time.

A — If you're in your final semester, less than 12 hours is considered full time.

Texans Should Prepare For Upcoming Tornado Season

AUSTIN — If you grew up in Texas 30 years ago, probably you "went to the cellar" when Spring storm clouds gathered.

There you waited in the dampness among Grandma's jelly and jam-filled Mason jars until the anticipated blow (which frequently did not materialize) was over.

Even though the safest place to be during a tornado is still in a cave or storm cellar, there are few cellars remaining even in rural areas of the state. And, the days of tornado-watching and forecasting by the head of the household are about over. Texans today depend on local weather bureaus to alert them to any approaching danger from tornadoes.

However, the Texas Safety Association warns the same danger is present in today's tornadoes as yesterday's. Weather alerts do give that extra margin of time that may mean the difference between life and death, but it's still up to every individual to take the safety measures necessary to protect himself in a tornado.

The Safety Association, which also reminds Texas that it's tornado time from now through September in Texas, offers these tips for survival in a tornado:

If you are in open country: "Move at right angles to the tornado's path. Tornadoes usually move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour.

"If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine.

If you are in a city or town: "Seek inside shelter, preferably along the inside walls on the lower floors of a steel reinforced building. Stay away from windows.

"If you are at home in a frame-type house, the southwest corner of the lowest floor, especially a basement, offers the greatest protection. People living in a brick or stone home should find other shelter.

"If time permits before a storm strikes, turn off the gas and electricity in your home. Open doors and windows on the north and east side of the house to help reduce damage to the building from outdoor pressure differences.

If you are in a school building: "In city areas: If the school building is of strongly reinforced construction, stay inside, away from windows. Remain near an inside wall on the lower floors when possible. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums with large, poorly-supported roofs.

"In rural schools: If the school building does not have strong reinforced construction, remove children and teachers to a ravine or ditch if storm shelter is not available.

If in an industrial plant: "Upon receiving a tornado warning, post a look out to keep safety officials advised of the tornado's approach. Advance preparation should be made for shutting off electrical circuits and fuel lines if the tornado approaches the plant. Workers should be moved to sections of the plant offering the greatest protection.

Anywhere that you are: "Keep calm. It does not help to get excited. People have been killed by running out into streets and by turning back into the path of a tornado. Even though a warning is issued, the chances of a tornado striking one's home or location are slight. As a rule, tornadoes cover such a small area that relatively only a few places in a warned area are affected. However, you should know what to do "just in case."

"Keep tuned to your radio or television station for latest tornado advisory information. Do not call the Weather Bureau, except to report a tornado, as your request may tie up telephone lines urgently needed to receive special reports or to relay advisories to radio and television stations for dissemination to thousands in the critical area.

For those who are still fortunate enough to have a storm cellar, the Safety Association has this advice:

"Be sure you have an air outlet to equalize the air pressure.

Keep cellar fit for use — free from water, gas or debris.

"Keep pick and shovel handy in case you have to dig out.

There are six buildings in Hereford which are licensed public shelters, and local residents are urged to go to these shelters only in time of emergency, which will be designated by the siren from City Hall or over the radio.

The buildings are Witherspoon Law Office, 140 E. Third; United States Post Office, 408 Main; Fullwood Office Building, 232 W. Third; Jim Hill Hotel, Third and Sampson; Holly Sugar Refinery Elevator, west of city, and all of the Hereford school buildings.

Other information may be obtained by calling Chamber of Commerce manager Bill Thompson at 364-3333.

In search of health for himself and daughter Ida Mae, R. J. Kibbe moved his family to Deaf Smith County in 1891.

A. J. Lipscomb came to the area in 1888 and filed on land here before Deaf Smith County was organized.

The Deaf Smith County Federation of Women's Clubs was organized at Summerfield on April 24, 1929.

Newcomer Lives Fully

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Vitality is the characteristic you remember after meeting Mrs. Fred Howard, wife of the new vicar of St. Thomas Episcopal Church, whose love of life is obvious in an account of her activities since the Howards moved here recently from Burnet.

BESIDES getting her family — husband and ten-year-old son David — settled in the vicarage and getting acquainted with members of the church, she auditioned for a place in the Amarillo Symphony Chorus and was promptly accepted.

She joined a basketball team in a women's league at the invitation of some neighbors, then broke an arm practicing in her own driveway so was assigned to the coach's job — and her team won the championship.

She took up the decoupage hobby and has just completed several pictures with the help of David. He was highly pleased when he found that she really wanted him to bang away with a hammer on the squares of wood she supplied, and so produced some "aged" wood in a hurry to serve as bases for her antique-looking pictures.

SHE "JUST loves company" especially the young people in whom her husband is particularly interested as a minister. And she works part-time as a licensed vocational nurse at the local hospital and a clinic.

The sparkling burnette is a native Texan, born in Houston as Mary Gregory, and graduated from high school in Austin. Then she married, while her husband was in the Air Force. After discharge he attended the University of Texas.

Apparently as energetic as his wife, Howard worked as a bookkeeper while he was a student, and also served as a pastor. He was a Baptist minister then, later changed to the Episcopal Church but has a brother who is still a Baptist minister.

THE HOWARDS adopted their son then, and Mrs. Howard "stayed home to take care of the baby," but she and her husband both worked later for the National Security Agency in the U. S. Department of Defense at Washington, D. C., and the family lived in a nearby Maryland town.

They made several trips through the northeast, to Canada and to New York City while they were living there, and Mrs. Howard feels that the experience was a very worthwhile one. Back in Austin for Howard's study at the Episcopal Seminary of the Southwest, she also enjoyed a job as secretary in the headquarters office of the Texas National Guard.

While they were living in Burnet she completed the course of study and practice, and became a licensed vocational nurse. She considers it an ideal vocation for a woman who wants to work only part-time so she has plenty of time for her home and family.

SOON AFTER she came to Hereford she learned that the Symphony Chorus at Amarillo wanted more members, and as she had liked singing in church choirs she decided to try out. One of the choir directors she sang under — "a very good one" — had been her only teacher in voice; she hopes to study more later.

Painting has been an interest "whenever there was time," so her experiments in decoupage were not entirely unusual. She has put an antique finish on several pieces of furniture, one an old-fashioned sideboard from her grandmother's home to make a handsome chest for the living room.

An old desk and a hall tree as well as a clock "that came in a covered wagon from Georgia with my husband's ancestors" have had their natural wood finish restored.

HER BROKEN ARM was an inconvenience to Mary Howard, but not too much of an obstacle. She found that she could do her household chores, shampoo and roll her hair, and even mop the floors although that was difficult to manage.

"The hardest thing to do," she laughs, "was break an egg with one hand. And I'd started knitting a sweater for my husband and couldn't finish it. Couldn't sew, either, but other things could be managed."

Since her son is old enough for Cub Scouts, baseball and other games, the Howard family finds plenty to do as a group. They enjoyed water sports at Austin; she is a water skiing enthusiast and can hardly wait to try snow skiing now that she is nearer to a ski area.

HER PARENTS have owned a sailboat, and a boat has a part in a summer trip she is looking forward to. Her father plans to go as one of a crew on a sailboat to Vera Cruz, Mexico, and Mrs. Howard and her mother will drive to that city to meet him, while David visits cousins near Austin.

As a cook, the minister's wife says she can hardly give her recipes to others, as she learned kitchen lore from a German grandmother and mother, and uses the old fashioned system of measuring by handfuls and "little bits."

A chicken salad that she ate at a church supper has ingredients she found unusual; she never did get the recipe, but made it by remembering what was in it. So she doesn't give quantities, just a list of ingredients to be mixed to taste, and she vouches for its delicious flavor.

CHICKEN SALAD
Mix diced cooked chicken, shredded cabbage, chopped celery, a few pineapple chunks and about the same quantity of diced apples, sliced stuffed olives and tiny pickled onions. Add your favorite salad dressing and serve.

Another trick for chicken or turkey salad she learned from a neighbor in Maryland, who made a celebrated turkey salad using white seedless grapes instead of the usual apple.

A HOT SNACK that she often serves visitors because it can be kept in the freezer and then heated quickly, is made by a recipe given her by another minister's wife.

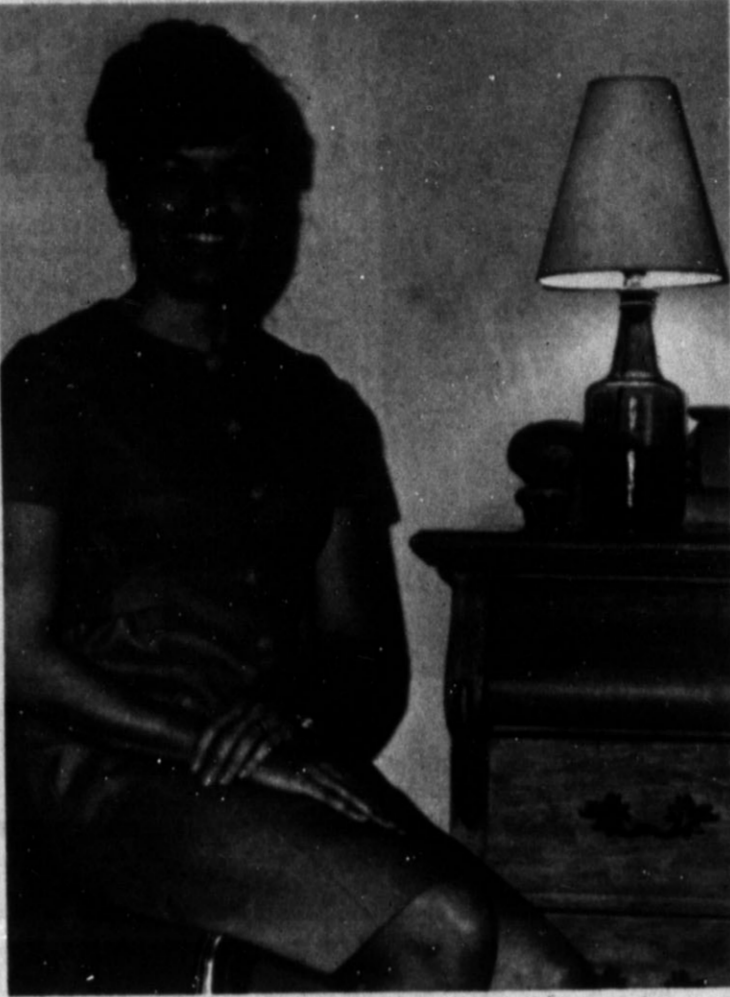

CHEESE-OLIVE BALLS
1 stick butter
1 cup flour
1 jar Old English cheese
1 quart stuffed green olives
Mix butter, flour and cheese, blending well. Chill. Mold a small amount around an olive. Bake on ungreased sheet at 400 degrees for 15 minutes. This recipe makes two dozen balls.

4-H News

Katie Laine, Finnish student attending Hereford High School in the American Field Service program, spoke to Dawn 4-H Club members at Community Center Monday evening. She talked of school, sports and teenage interests in Finland, and answered questions.

A picnic at the George L. Olson home was planned for the next meeting, in May. Valerie and Jimmy Christie were hosts, who served refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Christie, Mrs. Daisy Allison and County Agent Justin McBride were the adults present with Donna and Steven Olson, Twig Rose, Stephen and Jamie McAndrews, Charles Allison, Mike McCathern and Steve Robbins, members.

Group To Tour Here Monday

A group of 50 leading East Texas livestock producers, agribusiness representatives, bankers and agricultural leaders will be visiting Deaf Smith County on Monday morning, according to the East Texas Chamber of Commerce at Longview.

They will arrive at the Western Feed Yards at 9:50 a. m., with owner and operator Jim McAndrews and his four sons acting as hosts.

Western Feed Yards is the third oldest yard in the area of any size. It has a 2,400-head capacity in finishing pens, backed up with 6,000 head of cattle on grass, wheat, or in stubble fields.

At 10:30 they will arrive at the Hereford Feed Yards, with a 28,000-head capacity and building to 50,000. Paul Engler, general manager, and Dick Jaegels, manager, will host the group there.

This group, called the Trail Drive West, will then have lunch at the Caison House at noon.

COUPLE IN HOSPITAL

Both Mr. and Mrs. W. J. (Bill) Smith of 513 Ave. J are patients in Deaf Smith County Hospital this week. Their daughter, Mrs. Howard Turner of Roswell, N. M., is here visiting them. Smith is able now to have callers for short periods, but Mrs. Smith is still under a "no visitors" restriction.

Jerry Anderson
Anderson Ends Recruit Training

SAN DIEGO — Marine Private Jerry D. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Anderson of Route 3, Sumerfield, was graduated from eight weeks of recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot here.

He will now undergo from two to four weeks of individual combat training and then, after leave at home, will report to his first Marine Corps assignment.

The intensified Marine recruit training emphasizes rigid physical conditioning and survival techniques, both at sea and ashore, to develop self-confidence and endurance. Marksmanship with the M-14 rifle and 45-caliber pistol are equally stressed, and close order drill instills the traditions of Marine Corps teamwork.

A thorough study of basic military subjects, hygiene, first aid and sanitation, and the customs, courtesies, history and mission of the Marine Corps serve to polish the new Marine's recruit education and prepare him to join the Marine combat forces.

MR. TAXPAYER:

So many candidates today talk to us about caring for the poor and underprivileged, and the different ways we can give them money to help their station in life.

EUGENE LOCKE SAYS

the best way in the world we can help is to have more vocational industrial training for the poor and underprivileged to help them help themselves to get a job or a better job.

When EUGENE LOCKE was in Hereford on Tuesday, April 9, he made himself very clear that he did not believe in these give-away programs, but at the same time that he recognized the need to help them, and the way he would do this would be to provide the opportunity for the jobless to have vocational training for a trade so that they can become self-supporting.

I urge those interested in education, welfare and taxes to VOTE FOR EUGENE LOCKE.

He offers a practical solution without promising any minority group to spend your money to buy their vote.

Dawn Baptists Will Dedicate New Parsonage

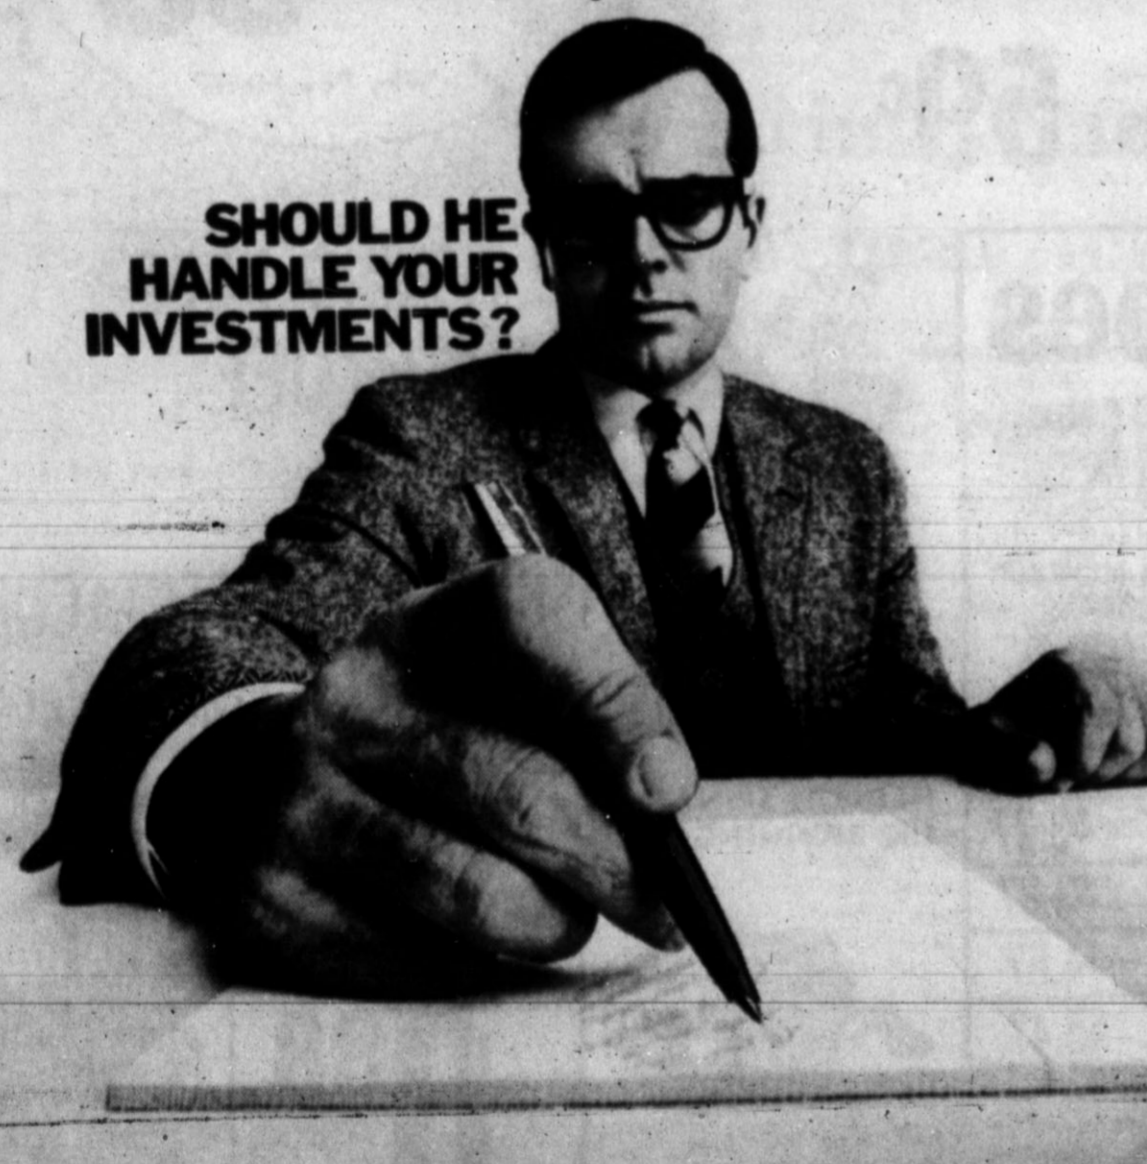

Dedication of a new parsonage for Dawn Baptist Church and a welcome to the Rev. Jerry Haley, who will become the pastor there May 1, is scheduled in a special service at 2 p. m. Sunday. The parsonage is recently completed, and the Haley family is expected to move into it immediately after the first of the month.

The Rev. Leon Hill of Amarillo, who is serving Dawn Church as interim pastor, will give the dedicatory sermon and the new pastor will assist in the service. Music will be directed by Douglas Morris.

Now pastor of Sanborn Baptist Church in Amarillo, Rev. Haley will complete his duties there this weekend.

The public is invited for the dedication service and for usual Sunday morning services at Dawn Church.

THE INDIVIDUALIST AT KIDDER, PEABODY

SHOULD HE HANDLE YOUR INVESTMENTS?

YES, IF YOU CAN TAKE NO FOR AN ANSWER.

He's no "yes man," so he'll disagree with you when he believes he's right. If you're an individualist you'll agree this is the intelligent way to do business.

Our registered representatives have been carefully selected. And then carefully trained by Kidder, Peabody management. We give them no formula, because no two investors, no two situations, are alike. But each is encouraged to incorporate the back-up of our wide range of financial activity with his own experience and judgment, and to bring this wealth of investment skill and knowledge to bear on recommendations for individual accounts. Here's what we mean:

Kidder is a major underwriter. In the last five years we managed or participated in 1350 corporate financings totaling over 25 billion dollars. This involvement tells us a lot about a lot of top corporations—and their managements. Further, during this time we negotiated more private financings than any other firm, finding new capital for growth-minded companies.

Kidder also ranks among the top half-dozen investment firms in the specialized fields of municipal finance, tax-exempt bonds, preferred stocks, and block sales.

This same professionalism applies to mutual funds, international financing, Euro-dollar securities, mergers and acquisitions, investment advisory service—and, most importantly, to the research department that supports these operations.

What do our customers derive from all this activity? We believe some of the best investment thinking today.

If you agree that the scope of the Kidder organization can improve your opportunities for making more accurate judgments and more profitable investment decisions, talk to one of our individualists. Tell him yes, you can take no for an answer.

Let's Elect A Man Capable of Handling the Job!

EUGENE LOCKE

Eugene Locke should be Governor of Texas.

LOCKE

Eugene Locke Should Be Governor of Texas

(Pol. Adv. - Paid for By Deaf Smith County Supporters of Eugene Locke, Virgil Marsh, chairman)

A man who has worked his way from the ground floor to solid professional success and who has labored many times in many places for his party, his community, his state and his nation, Eugene Locke is soundly qualified to chart Texas' course in the years immediately ahead.

The selection of a man to serve as governor of Texas for two years is never an easy task. No matter how calm the times, a state suffers without firm and astute leadership. This year as never before Texans can not afford an error in judgement.

The reader would find nothing new to him if we used this space to catalog the problems that face our state and nation. Challenges to our society weigh heavily on us all, and the time has passed for the hesitant word and the indecisive act.

This year's list of candidates for governor is filled with names from the past: men who point to years of experience in state government as the bulwark of their credentials. Yet these are the same men who watched as danger expanded on the horizon, apparently unable or unwilling to stop it's growth.

One man among all present candidates stands out. Known throughout the Texas professional community as a man of vision, competence and high courage, Eugene Locke has behind him a lifetime of imaginative and forceful problem solving. Fiercely independent in his search for a Texas future, Locke has never been placed in the role of the politician who has had too many opportunities to cast his allegiance, and his vote, with some special interest.

Deaf Smith County REC Has Had Phenominal Growth

By TYLER VANCE
Staff Writer

Only three percent of this area's farmers had electricity in 1935, when the Deaf Smith County Electric Coop was organized. Now, 31 years later, the local cooperative has just finished their most successful year, and are looking forward to even greater success in the future.

At the REC's annual meeting, to be held today at the Bull Barn, some $1,148,667 in capital credits will be returned to members. The credits are based on money paid in by the members in 1956 and 1957.

"Owned by those we serve" has been the standing motto of the Rural Electric Cooperative since its organization. Though closely associated with the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, the local organization chart its own course, and uses NREA only as a banker.

The vast progress made by the local REC can be seen when the 50 miles of line that made up the first local business is compared to the 2,398 miles of line that now exist. Today the Co-op is serving some 5,074 meters, including most of the major feed yards of the area and Holly Sugar.

The office staff of the local business now numbers 37, who receive a total annual salary of $241,679.

Heading up the staff is manager Leo Forrest. Forest has been with the local Rural Electric Cooperative since 1945.

When he first came, there were 810 members, and 490 miles of line. Some 5,200 meters are being served right now, with more expected in the future.

What's the story behind the some 78 Co-ops all over the state?

A copy of the "Pathfinder," dated July, 1935, gives the answer. The "Pathfinder" is the newsletter published by the Rural Electric Association. In this particular issue, an article tells of President Roosevelt's plan to grant loans to those power companies wishing to build lines to rural areas.

"The loans will be made for 20 years at three per cent interest, to private companies assisting the government in carrying out its program."

The object of the program was to bring economic benefit and living comforts to farmers another was to create new and profitable business for producer of supplies of equipment and appliances, and to provide useful jobs, directly and indirectly for the largest possible number of workers.

That was fine, but as Forrest recalls, "Power companies said all farmers that could afford it had electricity."

Most companies rejected the executive offer. The president tried for a year to get these companies to take the money with little or no success.

"Then in 1936, Sam Rayburn and Senator Norris of Nebraska drew up the REA act," continued the local manager. "Farmers built cooperatives and constructed lines with the federal money — people were doubtful, though."

The first loan to the local co-op was made on May 15, 1937. It totaled $700,000. By January 1, 1968, the Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative had borrowed $6,726,000. A loan of $1,013,000 on January 27, 1966 brought the total to $7,739,000. Of this total, $3,956,149 had been paid on the principal by January 1, 1968. Advance payments ahead of schedule by the co-op totaled $2,185,559.61, and interest payments amounted to $1,143,763.87. Last year, the REC paid $29,408.90 in direct taxes. (They do not pay a profit tax, because they are a cooperative.)

The re-payment schedule for loans from NRECA is set up on a three month base, on both principal and interest. Since the local REC operates on a profit making basis for its members, the loans are not needed for meeting expenses, but for expansion. The members capital in the Co-op is used to re-pay the loans. The rate of capital credit returned to members averages about 25 per cent. In other words, members of the co-op pay for electricity used, plus a small amount above expense. This money is used for expansion, and returned to them in the form of capital credit checks at the annual meetings. The money was formerly returned on a 10-year lag basis, but with special permission this year, 22 per cent of the 1967 amount is being returned to members.

Forrest has fond memories of the years that he has been manager, but he also recalled some experiences that aren't so pleasant. One is the ice storm of December 14, 1959.

Forrest remembers it this way:

"It was one of those things you don't want to live through but once. The lines started to load with ice. This occurs when the temperature is between 29-31 degrees, as measured some 6 feet from the ground, and a mild mist is falling. Rain had been falling and freezing on the lines for three days. I remember looking out about 8 a. m. and seeing the lines blowing in the wind. There was about a three-inch diameter of ice on them when my wife called me about 10 a. m. By 10:30, there was only one line left standing in the area we serve."

"During that day, we got calls from all over the area. Roads were impassible, and it seemed that the east-west lines were hardest hit because the wind was from the north. In all, there were some 966 pole failures, scattered all over the project. Telephone service was also out in Hereford. We had contracts with other co-ops to help us rebuild in such a case, but we couldn't reach them. Mr. Etheridge called me from the telephone company, said he had a radio, and offered to help if he could. I got him to call The Texas Electric Company, and order an extra carload of poles, and also ask them to telephone a message to Lubbock to get two complete construction crews by the next morning. Four crews were ready for work on the morning of the 15th."

"It was still sleeting and freezing, the bar ditches were knee deep in mud and water. Sometimes it was necessary to get a bulldozer to pull the truck in and out. By the 16th, three more crews came, making a total of seven. With these, we were able to restore power by December 23."

"Altogether, 10 sub-stations and 65 miles were out of operation. We found that dedicated personnel help a lot."

"People were frightened. We got dry ice by the truckloads for their freezers. Those who had to, came back a second time for more ice, and began to get scared, but as far as I know there was no report of food spoiling except in extreme north-west part of the county by a man that didn't come in for ice. On the whole, people were wonderful about it."

"Now, we have built up the wire, and added more tie-lines, so we think we will never have anything that serious again."

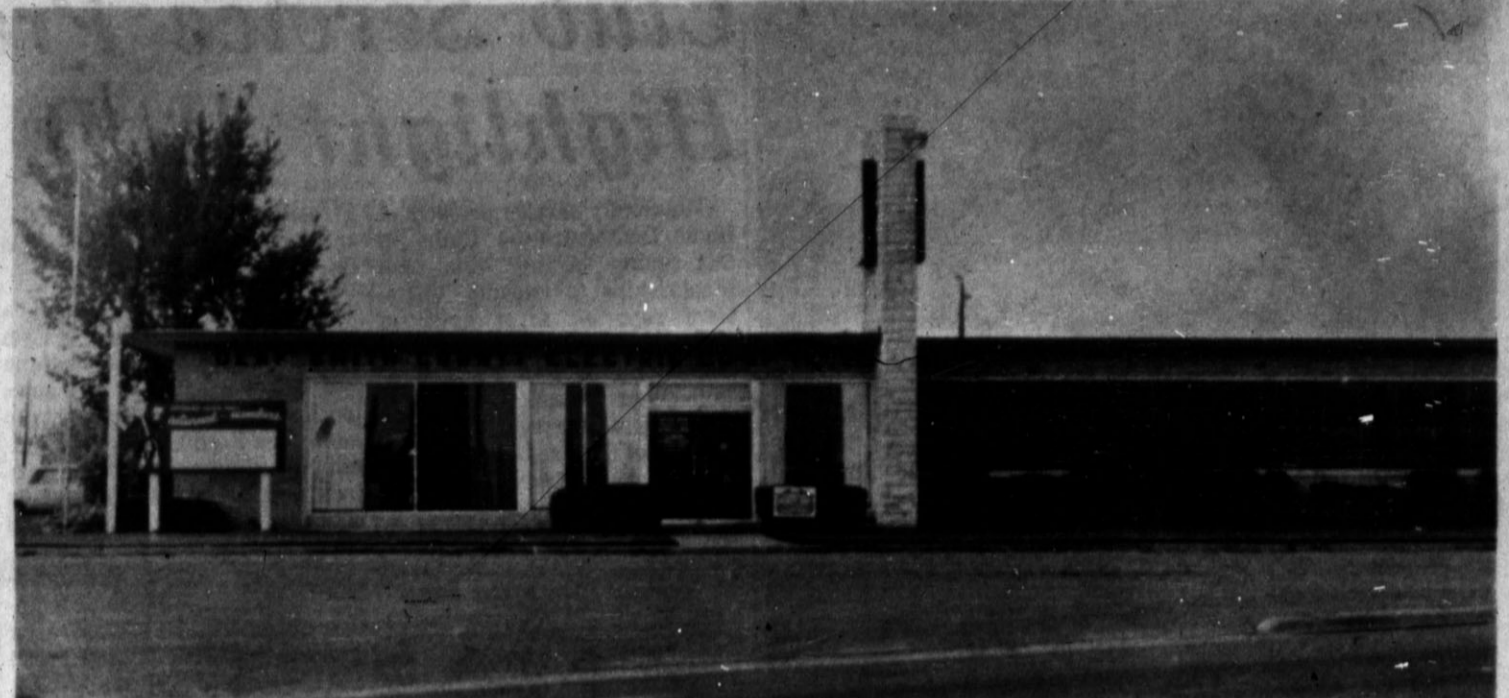

The local REC serves Deaf Smith, Farmer and Castro counties, along with a small portion of Oldham county. Forrest sees progress for the local REC.

"In 1967, we had the greatest line extension, meters receiving service and kilowatt hours purchased than ever before."

He described the REC as a growing concern, situation in the best farming areas in the United States.

REC's line and trouble shooters cover an average of 200 miles a day.

Today, some 2,000 REC members will gather to receive over $1 million in capita credits. After the meeting, many of the members will return home to watch television, or flip the switch on an irrigation motor,

All area residents are invited to attend a Panhandle Beef Cattle Improvement Conference, to be held Saturday at the Gouley Sale Arena on the Tri-State Fair grounds in Amarillo.

The conference, which will feature some of the top authorities in the United States, will begin at 9 a. m. and end at 3:45 p. m. Topics will include "Beef Breeders of Tomorrow," at 9 a. m.; "The Role of the American Hereford Association in Helping the Cowman," at 9:15 a. m.; "Judging Classes of Steers on Hoof," at 9:45 a. m.; "Judging of Breeding Cattle," at 10:45 a. m., and lunch at 11:45 a. m. courtesy of the Panhandle Hereford Breeders Association.

Also, "Vitamins and Mineral Requirements and Imbalances in Breeding Cow Herd," at 1 p. m.; "Name of the Game," at 1:15 p. m.; "Discussion of Carcasses and Differences of Fat Placement and Muscling," at 1:45 p. m., and "What I Raise" by Amarillo rancher Jay Taylor at 2:45 p. m.

Melvin Cordray of Hereford and the Holly Sugar Corp. will present "An Interview With a Feedlot Buyer" at 3 p. m. A question and answer period will conclude the day's program.

Sponsors of the conference are the Panhandle Hereford Breeders Association and the Texas Hereford Association.

Local Employees Honored By Firm

Four employees of the Hereford plant of Tide, Inc. were among those from southern states receiving awards at the firm's annual awards banquet in Edinburg recently.

James Spearman was awarded a master salesman certificate for surpassing assigned sales quotas for this year. Troy Fulton received a three-year safe driving award as well as a three-year service pin.

A pin recognizing 15 years of service with the company was presented to Sherman Iude, while a five-year pin went to Bob Lassiter.

Kiwansians Set Pancake Supper

"All you can eat" is the slogan members of the Hereford Kiwanis Club are repeating as they prepare for their annual Pancake Supper, to be held from 5 p. m. until 8 p. m. Saturday in the Hereford High School cafeteria.

Price for the supper will be $1 per person, with funds to be used in civic projects.

COOPERATIVE MANAGER — Leo Forrest has been manager of the Deaf Smith County Rural Electric Cooperative since 1945. In the accompanying story, Forrest describes the great ice storm which occurred in December, 1959.

Hearing Planned On Wheat Acreage

A hearing is scheduled to get the views on the 1969 wheat acreage, it was announced by Ralph T. Price, chairman of the Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee.

An informal hearing to establishing the 1969 wheat acreage allotment will be held in Amarillo on Wednesday, May 1. It is set for the Holiday Inn-West, 901 W. Amarillo Blvd., beginning at 10 a. m.

Price explained that the Amarillo meeting is one of a series announced by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman for the first week in May to provide farmers and other interested people an opportunity to express their views and recommendations on prospective wheat supplies, production and needs.

The hearings continue USDA's policy of consulting with farmers and others on vital program decisions. The Secretary has indicated that a frank appraisal of farmers and others on the production level needed for 1969 and its effect on farm prices is expected to provide important guidance in determining the 1969 wheat acreage allotment.

The Texas ASC State Chairman will be in charge of the Amarillo hearing, Ralph Price. Also attending will be members of the Texas ASC State Committee and State Wheat Program specialists.

ASCS Area Director F. W. Blesse and a program specialist from Washington will also attend. They will provide basic information on current wheat supplies and use.

Representatives from general farm organizations, wheat grower associations, independent and cooperative elevators, millers, and representatives from the grain trade, as well as individual farmers, are expected to attend.

Wilson And Co. Creates Position

CHICAGO, ILL. — Donald E. Roettger has been named to the newly created position of manager, trade and customer relations, Wilson & Co., Inc., Chicago, a subsidiary of Ling-Temco-Vought, Inc., Dallas. The assignment, effective April 22, was announced today by Roy V. Edwards, Wilson president.

In this new assignment, Roettger, who will report to C. R. Musser, vice president of sales, will work closely with retailers across the country. He will be responsible for establishing and maintaining a continuing trade relations program to achieve a closer coordination and cooperation between the company and its retail customers.

Roettger began his Wilson career in 1960 as manager, meat and grocery products advertising department. He was appointed manager of the food merchandising division in 1965, the position he held at the time of this promotion.

Charles N. Gancer has been promoted to manager, food merchandising division, replacing Roettger. Gancer joined Wilson in 1965 as brand advertising manager after more than nine years of advertising experience. He has handled many varied assignments at Wilson including the development of advertising programs for the Wilson's Certified Bacon line and many major full line promotions.

Nursing School Seeks Applicants

The enrollment date for students at Northwest Texas Hospital School of Nursing will be June 3, 1968. Students who have completed the prerequisite two semesters of college are eligible for enrollment. Applications should be made to the Director of the School of Nursing.

Recent announcement by officials of Northwest concerning change in the program has resulted in an increase of applicants wishing to enter school.

One of the major changes is that the school is now on an academic-year basis and the other is that Chemistry will not be a prerequisite course at Northwest after this year.

Over 100 applications are on file for the June class. These applicants are from some 40 cities in five states, including Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Missouri, and California. Several of these applicants are men. The opportunities for men in nursing far surpass those offered in many other fields.

Northwest Texas Hospital School of Nursing is fully accredited by the National League for Nursing and the Texas Board of Nurse Examiners. Repeatedly, graduates from Northwest have ranked among the top in the State on licensing examinations. Greatly expanded facilities have enabled the enrollment to more than triple in the past five years. Salaries for nurses have more than doubled in the last 10 years with starting salaries of from $550 to $600 a month.

Miss Roach On Tech Honor Roll

Miss Patty Roach, Hereford pre-med student at Texas Tech, has received a certificate for scholastic achievement with listing on the Dean's honor roll for the recent fall term of the Lubbock college, where she is registered as a first-semester junior. Miss Roach carried 17 hours of work with a grade point average of 3.35 of a possible four. She attended a dinner honoring high-ranking students Apr. 18. A 1966 graduate of Hereford High School, she is the daughter of

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis O. Roach, Austin Road.

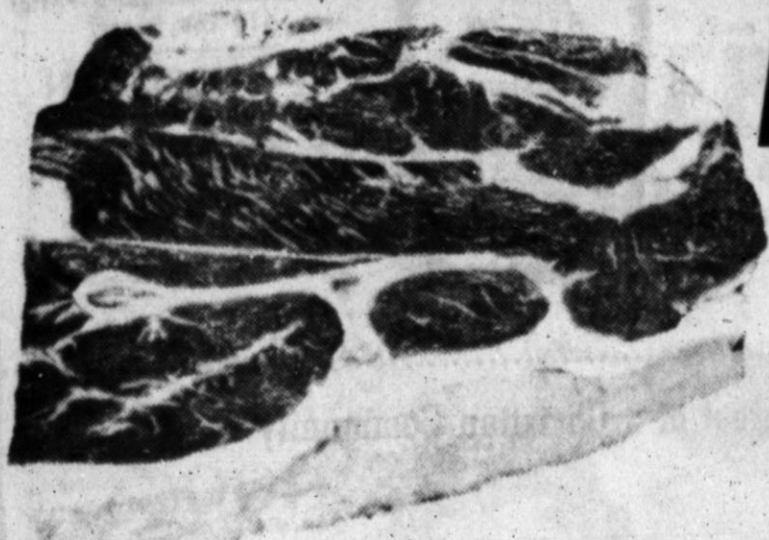

A pledge of the Women's Service Organization, Miss Roach will be initiated Saturday. This organization is dedicated to assisting with campus activities, civic projects, and promotion of goodwill for school and city.

In high school here Miss Roach was a student twirler and was very active in the Future Nurses Association, serving as a Pink Angel two hours twice weekly for three years, and received a scholarship given by the Hereford Medical Auxiliary. She also acted as student chairman for the March of Dimes.

Life Members Are Honored In Club Federation

Life memberships were presented to Mrs. O.G. Hill Sr. and Mrs. A. O. Thompson in recognition of their outstanding work as clubwomen, at the spring luncheon of Deaf Smith County Federation of Women's Clubs Tuesday in Community Center.

The annual fine arts program of the Federation was presented as a part of the city's first Fine Arts Festival Week. Date of the luncheon was advanced a week to fall during the Festival.

Officers for next year were installed, with Mrs. W. T. Carmichael becoming president to succeed Mrs. C. D. Kelton. Mrs. Ralph McCullough presented the life memberships and corsages to those honored.

Exhibits in the ballroom where luncheon was served, were of enamel-on-copper paintings by Jon Birdsong, art teacher at Stanton Junior High; also of ceramics and china painting by Hereford residents, displayed under direction of Mrs. W. C. Hromas.

Small pupils of Lewis Larrymore danced to illustrate his talk on Ballet And Other Dance Forms, a feature of the program arranged by Mrs. R.C. Godwin, Music Study Club president.

Instrumental ensembles from LaPlata Junior High Band which won awards in recent regional contests were also on program. Sara Bell, Connie Walker, Laura Pierce and Gary London formed a clarinet quartet, Lisa Williamson, Nancy Fisher and Kima Marsh a flute trio.

Mrs. A. L. Manjeot installed the officers, using vegetables as symbols in a ceremony spiced with humor. She presented Mrs. Carmichael, as head of the Federation, a cabbage head; Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Sr., first vice president, lettuce as a reminder of her duties in presiding — "Lettuce come to order"; Mrs. A. J. Schroeter her duties in presiding — "Lettuce come to order"; Mrs. A. J. Schroeter a carrot — "You must take carrot all times to plan good programs."

Mrs. Delmo Williams, secretary, who needs ears to hear all details of business transacted, was given two ears of corn; Mrs. Ray Cowsert, correspondent, was reminded with a large green paper to "put pep into your prompt replies to letters"; and Mrs. A. B. Higgins received celery, "the long green", symbol of the treasurer's post.

"Your work will come in bunches," Mrs. Lee Curry, historian, was told as she was handed a bunch of radishes. Mrs. Floyd Coleman, reporter, was given a tomato, its red color denoting "stop, and read." Mrs. Kelton, who will be parliamentarian, received an onion, "a good nerve tonic."

The group voted to buy a desk for the south foyer of Community Center. A committee which had been appointed at the request of City Manager Dudley Bayne to assist in choosing a gift for Community Center, from funds given by the Rockwell Estate for a memorial to the late Victoria Wilson Rockwell, reported that a painting will be selected to hang in the building. Mmes. Ansel McDowell, J. C. McCrackan and Manjeot are on the committee, with Bayne as an ex officio member.

Bud To Blossom Club members decorated tables for the luncheon. They were hostesses, with members of Summerfield and El Llano Study Clubs.

Club Votes In Party Interval

Officers elected for next season in El Llano Study Club are headed by Mrs. Boyd M. Foster as president. The election was held Monday evening in a brief business interval of a party at which member husbands were entertained.

Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Bill Michael were hostesses in First National Community Room. Supper was served and games of "crazy bridge" were played afterward, with table decorations in a cartoon motif featuring Snoopy, the dog of the comic strip, Peanuts.

Elected to serve with Mrs. Foster next term were Mrs. Raymond White as vice president, Mrs. Larry Brown secretary, Mrs. Ben Childers correspondent, Ms. Bob Word treasurer, Mrs. Ivan Block reporter, Mrs. Jim Bookout historian.

Mrs. Labry Ballard, whose term as president will end with installation of the new officers at a dinner meeting May 13, will be parliamentarian.

In addition to the hostesses and their husbands, those at the party were Messrs. and Mmes. Pete Caviness, Olen Caviness, O. G. Hill Jr., Cecil Hart, Clyde Coleman, C. R. Winget, Ballard, Block, Foster, and White; Mmes. John Jacobsen Jr. and Bookout.

CANDIDATE VISITS
District Judge and Mrs. James A. Joy of Plainview visited briefly in Hereford Tuesday afternoon, on one stop of an air tour of Panhandle cities in the interest of his candidacy for associate justice of the Seventh Court of Civil Appeals. They were enroute to Amarillo for an evening political rally.

The Deaf Smith County Court House, "a Magnificent Temple of Justice" to quote the Hereford Brand of 1912, was built in 1910.

The first known industrial use of gas occurred in 1840, when a Pennsylvania salt maker used gas heat.

FOR GOD SO LOVED THE WORLD

A Crown of Thorns

"They Crowned Him With Thorns"... what do we crown Him with? Long ago the crowd cried, "Crucify Him." Today, many would prefer to crucify The Son of God than to Confess Him. How is it with you? Do you scorn Him with proud rejection? Are you pressing the painful sharp points of the crown of thorns against His brow? Do you revolt against all His Kingdom stands for? Do you crucify Him anew each day and put Him to open shame?

Blessed to know that He accepted the crown of thorns. He was despised and rejected by men; yet He opened not His mouth. Will you TRUST your soul to Him, or will you THRUST your thorns in Him? Go to church this week. Trust Him, confess Him... help lift that crown of thorns; help carry that cross.

RELIGIOUS ART ON VIEW — Finale to Fine Arts Festival Week in Hereford will be the third showing of a display of religious art at First Christian Church, from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday, at no admission charge. Numerous visitors have already seen this interesting collection of prints, original paintings, sculpture and photographs when it was open to the public last Sunday and again Tuesday. Original work of local artists is included with prints of famous paintings. Mrs. Alex Peterson, left, and Marie Roberson stand with their own paintings; Miss Roberson's Christ Of The Andes and, in background, Mrs. Petersen's study of Christ, which they loaned for the exhibit.

Student Awards In Music Given

Awards to student musicians were announced at the meeting of Music Study Club Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. S. F. Clements, with Mrs. Gene Brink co-hostess.

The club voted to give its 1968 scholarship to Chris Hutcherson, Hereford High School senior. Hutcherson plays clarinet in the award-winning HHS band.

It was announced that scholarships from the National Federation of Music Clubs have been awarded to Joy McCathern, oboist, and Patsy McCutchen, who plays French horn, for their activities in the band which was selected Texas Honor band for Class AAA schools. Both were made honorary members of Music Study Club for four years.

Miss McCathern plans to attend Interlochen School of Music in Michigan this summer. Her brother, Jerry McCathern, will be an instructor in trumpet for the summer session there.

Senior recital for a piano student, David Kelley, will be sponsored by the club May 26 in First Baptist Church auditorium. Kelly is a pupil of Mrs.

Joe Hacker. He will be assisted in the recital by Miss McCathern.

For the program Monday, Katie Laine was guest speaker. She is a student from Finland, attending Hereford High School this year in the American Field Service program. She played two recorded musical numbers characteristic of Finnish music. One was Sibelius' familiar tone poem, Finlandia, which she explained is not the national anthem of the country, but is much loved by its people.

The vivacious student gave information about the geography, government, industries and educational system of Finland, then talked informally of her home town and family and answered questions.

Another high school girl, Kerri Dameron, sang three numbers, Villanelle (del Acqua), Little Shepherd Song (Watts) and Such Lovely Things (North). She is the daughter of Mrs. Bill Dameron and the voice pupil of Mrs. D. W. Palmer, both Music Study Club members, as are her grandmother, Mrs. W. E. Dameron, and aunt, Miss Frances Dameron. Mrs. Bill Devers accompanied her. Mrs. Frank Barrett was a visitor, and 19 members answered roll call. Mrs. R. C. Godwin presided at the meeting, which was scheduled especially during the city's first Fine Arts Festival Week.

HHS Class To Present Style Show

About 30 senior girls in Hereford High School, members of the personality and self-improvement class taught by Mrs. Tommye Bischoff, will present a fashion show during the lunch hour Saturday at the Caisson House.

They will model styles from La Boutique between the hours of 12 noon and 1 p.m.

A similar fashion show is scheduled for May 4, with costumes from Gaston's Store being modeled by the class members.

Until about 1900, only one nation—Great Britain—was urbanized. Now all the industrial nations have mainly urban populations, and the trend to city living shows no signs of declining.

Glady's Garden
By Gladys Howton Manjeot

VEGETABLE GARDEN Yesterday I spent most of the day working in the yard. It seemed the day had been made for just such pleasure. YES it was pleasant and many happy hours were spent among the plants, mowing and trimming the lawns. Finding new buds, new tender plants just peeking through the soil, and enjoying the loveliness of the blossoms.

Yes, to make the day complete I cut some of the pretty white tulips, the brilliant white iris, and clipped some ivy, and selected some sprigs of a very nice succulent, and made an arrangement. This we used on our table for lunch today (it also went to Sunday School).

Gardening is just wonderful. You can make it largely what you want to. It can be an art, a science, a hobby, a game, an easy-going avocation, or a serious pursuit. To me it is an infinite pleasure, and a creative visual art because it involves design, color, texture, form and scale.

At its best, whatever you make it, it's one of the most rewarding endeavors in the world. It is a hobby that is participated in throughout the world; all ages the young the old, the rich and poor, for all seasons and all climates.

There are many kinds of gardens; vegetable gardens, flower gardens, gardens made completely with annuals, gardens using all perennials, fragrant gardens, friendship gardens, herb gardens and Memory gardens. Any one of these would serve as a challenge to a gardener. For several weeks we will discuss one or more of these gardens.

The only way to properly start any kind of garden is to have a design. If it is an overall plan for the complete grounds, then a landscape design should be adopted, and one of the special type gardens be a feature of the landscape design. Design should suit the site and the purpose.

It is design that gives distinction, makes a garden remembered with a sharp and pleasing remembrance and challenge. Too often gardeners start with seeds, plants, bulbs, etc. when the proper start is GRAPH paper and a pencil. Scale, proportion, shade and sunshine, dimensions, water accent, color, type etc. all must be included when graphing the plan on the paper.

Let us think of the VEGETABLE garden. Does this call for a design? YES. A vegetable garden can be made beautiful as well as useful. I well remember the first time I visited Art's home, in Kansas. Soon after introductions and pleasantries were over, Dad Manjeot asked me to go with him to see his garden. The setting for the garden was near a beautiful grape arbor, and had as a background nice trees. Flanked on one side with a lily pool. The vegetable garden had been plotted and between the plots there was clean narrow paths.

On either side of the paths the vegetables had been planted in plots consisting of short rows, all being very accurately spaced and planted. One of these consisted of beets, all red, with an herb border; another was of golden wax beans, one of trailing plants such as cucumbers, or squash. The tomatoes had been placed near the back of the garden, and were properly staked. Beautiful egg plant with its lovely purple was bordered with carrots. I was fascinated by the pretty vegetable garden.

Not only was it good to look at, but the products there from were greatly enjoyed. Some of the vegetables were included in almost every meal. No not for breakfast; instead we had home grown honey, with whole wheat pancakes. I questioned Dad, who was a native born Frenchman, about the planting in the garden, and how well it was kept. He answered me in his broken English, that he learned the pleasure of gardening and the plan was one taught him in his native country. They do have beautifully planned gardens in Europe.

It is wise and conservative to grow some of the vegetables which you serve on your table. Vegetables can be a source of seasonal satisfaction for any gardener of almost any age in any size garden. Surely the small child observing the development of his first radish crop experiences no less a thrill than that felt by his grandfather or his own father. (Our son gained much knowledge from his grandfathers.)

One of the lures of such a garden is that one can almost make his own "menus" materialize from the ground, and anyone who has ever sat down to a salad just minutes out of his garden can scarcely be expected to stand for that inferior fare sold at the super market. There are More to Come on Glady's Garden several reasons for this attitude.

Commercial vegetables have to be of varieties that will withstand considerable travel and still offer eye appeal and flavor. They are usually cut or pulled before they have reached their peak of growth and therefore the flavor is impaired.

Just last week I was invited out to eat with two different groups, and from each group there was an expression of how good wilted fresh lettuce salad was, or how very delectable fresh strawberry pie can be. Also there is nothing comparable to oldfashioned tomato bread, or home made cucumber pickles.

Contrary to a persistent fiction, vegetables are easy to grow if given a suitable soil and adequate care from planting to maturity. Among the very few MUSTS, an abundance of sunlight is vital except for leaf vegetables, which stand up to half a day of shade. Heavy mulching to keep soil cool and moist and prevent weed growth. Speaking of mulch I saw a new introduction in one of the Nurseries, and am looking forward to trying it. I feel it is something that will prove most satisfactory. Mulching properly done, will save water, and also almost solve the weeding chore. Deep watering is the correct way to produce good vegetables.

If a sprinkler is used consistently the roots become shallow and the product will not be well grown, also causes some foliage problems. However it is advisable if there is much dust (after one of our dusters) the plants should be well cleaned by spraying or sprinkling, followed by DEEP WATERING.

If insects or diseases attack, apply chemicals according to directions. READ LABELS CAREFULLY, and always use those sprays or powders which are recommended for vegetables. If you haven't grown vegetables, DO, and you will be GLAD.

Some of the vegetables which grow well in our area are: beets radishes, beans, peas, spinach, cucumbers, carrots, eggplant, celery, lettuce, Zucchini squash (other varieties of squash the crooked neck etc.) tomatoes, parsley, Basil, onions, cabbage turnips, potatoes, (both sweet and Irish) asparagus, parsnips, dill, okra, and many others.

If you watch the almanac, and plant according to the MOON, remember that those plants which make under ground should be planted in the dark of the moon. And we are approx-ching this period. For those which make above the ground, should be planted in the light of the moon, and to do this there is only two days left, as it is almost dark of the moon.

Vegetables are a gardeners delight not only for food, but can be used in many ways in arrangements. An attractive basket filled with well grown red or yellow tomatoes makes a very appropriate arrangement for a breakfast or brunch table. Clever figurines can be fashioned from squash, potatoes, carrots, or celery, these are especially interesting and attractive for young people. Beautiful color combinations can also be arranged that are real striking for the patio meals.

HAVE YOU? SEEN?

The lilacs with their beautiful lavender spikes and sweet fragrance are really making Hereford an enchanting place. The white lilacs cannot be matched for loveliness or fragrance.

The Tamarack (salt cedar) is unusually pretty this spring, its festoons of dainty florets swaying in the breeze is lovely.

It seems the red tulips this year are the most beautiful ones that have been grown in the parks and gardens. Their luscious color, the velvety texture and the size is exceptional. Another well grown and showy tulip is the water lily type in a dainty pink color. They are extra good keepers, and withstand the winds real well. The peony type tulips are blooming now. They are later than the darwin and emperor types, and they are recommended for corsages and low mass arranging. It is a delight to make arrangements of the tulips, and they combine so well with the flowering shrubs. In using them for arrangements I would suggest that a large pin holder be used instead of the oasis. However if you do use oasis, then wrap it after soaking, and place it on a good pin holder. The stems of the flowers have a large water content, therefore are difficult to use in oasis (if the oasis is chipped and soaked it is better than the block type).

CARD OF THANKS
We would like to express our sincere thanks to our countless friends, not only for the deeds of kindness shown at this time, but for their friendship and loyalty through the years. We could never thank all the people for their prayers, flowers, blood donations, contributions to Wadley Blood Research Foundation, Cancer Society, Boys Ranch, King's Manor, the First Methodist Church and the many small acts of kindness bestowed upon our family in memory of our Wife and Mother. We know that she is grateful for each small deed and we wish to express our sincere appreciation for everything. Thank you very much. Sincerely, Cawthon, John David and Carol Bryant.

Shower Honors May Bride-Elect

Honoring Miss Donna Johnson whose marriage to Johnny Allen of Friona is to be solemnized May 9, a shower was given in the home of Mrs. Benny Cooper Monday evening.

Hostesses with Mrs. Cooper were Meses. Tommy Crawford, Clyde Whitaker, Melvin Young, Denzil Pulliam, Ernest Flood, Raymond Garrett, C. C. Combs, Alice Cooper, Al Smith, E. W. Allen and Clay Angelo and Miss Cheryl Solomon.

Callers during the early evening hours were greeted by Mrs. Cooper and received by Miss Johnson and her mother, Mrs.

Emmett Johnson, who introduced Mrs. John Allen of Friona, mother of the prospective bridegroom.

Springtime blossoms in varied pastel colors were arranged in a milk glass compote set between yellow candles, centering the refreshment table. The cloth was white and all appointments in milk glass. Hostesses served in turn at the table and the guest registry.

S. W. Crawford was a pioneer employee of the Santa Fe Railroad in Hereford. He came here in 1893.
