

Storm Front Leaves, But More Coming

By The Associated Press
Storms that lashed Central and South Texas Sunday night growled away into the Gulf before dawn Monday. But nature was mixing up more.
Hardest hit was the South Texas ranch town of Encinal, where a bouncing tornado shattered buildings and damaged homes. Luckily, nobody was hurt.

2 Guards Hurt In Reformatory Riot In Michigan

ONTARIO, Mich. (AP)—A riot broke out at the State Reformatory today when four inmates seized two prison guards and demanded to see the warden.
Two other guards were injured and were taken to the reformatory hospital.
The riot, confined to one building of the prison which has 1,000 inmates was quickly brought under control.
Warden Garrett Heys told the inmates he would not talk with them until they released the hostages. They did so and were taken to Heys' office.
The inmates reportedly wanted to see the warden regarding a complaint about a guard.
Four squads of state police were rushed to the prison to stand by in case the guards needed assistance.
One of the guards was reported injured when an inmate struck him down with a chair. Names of the injured were not available immediately.
Police reported the disorders at no time spread to other buildings. The reformatory is a medium security prison with more than a thousand inmates.

County Buys Truck-Tractor

Bid of Driver Truck and Implement Company was accepted this morning for supplying the county with a new truck-tractor.
Driver's bid of $3,754.06 was the lowest of three which met the specifications for the truck. It was on an International truck.
Bids also were received from Industrial Motors of Abilene, $8,170.15 on a White truck, and West Texas White Truck Equipment Company of Odessa, $7,777.05, also on a White Shroyer Motor Company of Big Spring submitted two bids on GMC trucks, but commissioners rejected the offers because the vehicles failed to meet engine displacement specifications.
No bids were received for furnishing the county with a 4,000-gallon water tank. Commissioners discussed the advisability of purchasing a tank on the market, in the absence of competitive bids.
Foster Dickey, county engineer, reported that four trucks purchased recently from Jones Motor Company are to be delivered this week. He said he had committed the county to the payment of an additional $25 on each vehicle for repainting to a uniform color, an action to which commissioners objected.

Heart Attack Kills Spindletop Pioneer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A heart attack yesterday killed 92-year-old Pattillo Higgins, who discovered and promoted the famed Spindletop oil field near Beaumont.
Virtually penniless during the Spindletop exploration from 1892 to 1901, Higgins later sold his holdings in it for more than three million dollars.
Many oilmen said he had an untarnished ability to spot potential oil fields.
Higgins was one-armed as a result of an accidental shooting during his youth. He quit school in the fourth grade but studied geology and related subjects throughout his life.
He used his Spindletop profits to promote highly productive fields at Goose Creek, Barber's Hill and elsewhere.
Pattillo Higgins Jr. said his father predicted virtually all pro-

Evidence Points To Faulty Vaccine In Polio Outbreak

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Some evidence focused on faulty vaccine today as a possible cause of a polio outbreak in Idaho, which reported its sixth death of the year from the disease.
Dr. Louis P. Gebhardt, a University of Utah physician and bacteriologist who led the tests in Utah, Colorado and Wyoming during the field trials of the vaccine last year, reported on tests "which showed probably a very, very small amount of live virus" present in samples of the vaccine made by Cutter Laboratories and used in Idaho.
In Washington, Surgeon General Leonard Scheele said on a TV-radio interview that with proper techniques live virus should not get into the vaccine, but he was unable to give any report on Dr. Gebhardt's findings until the full report is received by the National Institutes of Health.
Dr. Gebhardt said his tests and results were as follows:
1. No live virus was found among samples of the vaccine when tested directly by placing it in a tissue culture.
2. Susceptible monkeys injected with vaccine samples from one of the two lots used in Idaho showed no signs of polio. Four monkeys were injected.
3. One of four monkeys injected with samples from the other lot died of polio 14 days after injection. The other three have shown no signs, although all were injected May 7.
4. Two other monkeys which were injected with portions of the spinal cord from the killed one came down with paralysis.
5. Type 1 virus was isolated from portions of the spinal cord of the killed monkey after placing them in tissue cultures.
Dr. Gebhardt said he also has tested other Cutter vaccine used in Utah and Idaho and found it safe.

Butler Aides In Peace Move

DALLAS (AP)—Sponsors of the Texas tour of National Democratic Chairman Paul Butler made an apparent gesture toward party harmony today, issuing invitations to all elected officials to support Butler's trip.
The invitations went to officers ranging from justices of the peace to Gov. Allan Shivers.
They were sent after James Sewell of Corsicana, chairman of the Democratic Advisory Council, wired local arrangements chairmen urging that the invitations be sent.
Shivers, Sewell said, had already said he would "be able to support the Butler trip due to pressure of business."
"If Gov. Shivers now finds that the pressure of business has lessened, and he would like to attend one of the dinners or luncheons honoring Mr. Butler, then I'm sure Dist. Atty. Tom Moore of Waco will issue him an invitation," Sewell added.
Moore, a leader in the Ralph Yarborough campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor last year, was denied a pay raise earlier this year when Shivers vetoed a bill giving him the increase. Shivers described this bill at that time as unfair.
Butler will be in Texas June 14-18, with stops scheduled at Lubbock, Big Spring, Dallas, Tyler, Waco, McAllen, Weslaco, Corpus Christi and Houston.

Ford, CIO Reach Wage Agreement

Scelba Leads Reds 2 To 1 In Italian Elections

PALERMO, Sicily (AP)—Premier Mario Scelba's pro-Western Christian Democrats led the Communists by nearly 2-to-1 in scattered returns today from this island's regional assembly elections.
Returns from 390 of the island's 4,201 voting sections gave the Christian Democrats 68,043 votes to 36,793 for the Communists.
The fellow-traveling Socialists of Stalin peace prize winner Pietro Nenni were trailing heavily in these first returns. They got only 14,319 votes.
Counting of the 2,377,585 ballots cast was proceeding in the island's 4,201 voting sections.
In the 1951 regional elections, Christian Democrats won 39 of the 90 regional assembly seats, Communists and fellow-traveling Socialists, then in one ticket, also won 39 seats.
The total vote — 645,161 — was slightly under the 666,266 garnered by the Christian Democrats. This year's election is being closely watched as a possible indication of Italy's political currents.
The turnout of nearly 2,400,000 voters in yesterday's election was expected to favor the democratic center parties, which make Italy's national government also.
Yesterday's voting was to elect the island's semiautonomous Regional Assembly. Of those eligible, 88.59 per cent voted. This was 5 per cent higher than in the last regional election, four years ago.
Most observers expected the final results to show a drift away from the Communist left.
American voices played a big part in the election.
On the island where almost everybody has a relative in the United States, thousands of letters from the immigrant kinfolk urged the defeat of communism.
American dollars were another factor. During the campaign Italy received more than 120 million dollars in aid or loan to be spent in Sicily or other regions of Italy's poverty-stricken South.
The last Regional Assembly election was a neck-and-neck race. The Christian Democrats polled 31.21 per cent of the vote and the Communist-Socialist alliance 30.22 per cent. The result in the 90-seat assembly was 30 seats for each of the two big groups.

Final Day Near For Legislature

AUSTIN (AP)—Only two major jobs faced Texas lawmakers as they returned to work today with final adjournment of the 54th session just around the corner.
The key measure in a long-range water saving program urged by Gov. Shivers as a top-priority legislative task was still stalled in the House. It calls for issuing of 100 million dollars in bonds to help pay for local conservation projects.
The House has balked at accepting a property tax method of financing bonds, standing firm for a water user tax.
Action was also incomplete on proposals to plug loopholes in the veterans' land program administration. Both houses have voted to submit a constitutional amendment to the people in November to extend the program with another 100-million-dollar bond issue. But legislation to make sure the money is well spent and to thwart possible efforts to profit fraudulently from it is not yet agreed upon.
There could be a last-minute battle over loan shark legislation, and it conceivably could delay the final closing of the session. But the outlook was that legislators coming back from weekend recess would be ready to quit soon.
The House has already voted Tuesday at 6 p. m. as the certain hour for adjournment. To make it stick, the Senate would have to concur.

Guaranteed Wage Plan Is Accepted

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co. and the CIO United Auto Workers reached agreement today on a historic guaranteed wage plan and other contract terms.
The settlement was expected to halt immediately widespread walkouts that idled 68,000 of Ford's 140,000 workers across the nation in the past 12 hours.
The guaranteed wage plan is the biggest ever negotiated in American industry.
It may set the pattern for the entire automotive industry and perhaps other basic industries.
Armed with the Ford agreement, the UAW went back to the bargaining table with General Motors today to press for a contract settlement there. The GM contract expires tomorrow.
Walter Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers Union, emerged from a conference grinning and told reporters:
"Well, we've got an agreement, fellows. It's a good agreement."
Reuther called it "the largest economic package we've ever negotiated." He said the "package" was worth in excess of 30 cents per hour per employee.
The average auto worker now earns about $2.10 an hour.
Reuther said the agreement provides a boost in Ford pensions to a maximum of $261 a month, including social security. It also provides better hospital-medical benefits, he added.
"The Ford package," he said, "contains the principles upon which we are going to build a guaranteed annual wage."
Reuther and John S. Bugas, Ford vice president for industrial relations, congratulated each other and shook hands.
Bugas said the Ford Company had agreed to go along with the guaranteed wage plan only after "a considerable internal debate" within the Ford Company.
"We think it is significant," Bugas said. "We think our plan will be particularly useful in the automobile industry."
Reuther was asked when he intended to enter the negotiations with General Motors Corp.
"Well, boys," he said, "I'm going to get a day's rest and then go over to GM."
Bugas said he was particularly "proud" that the Ford agreement had been reached without a strike. He apparently meant a full strike, because some Ford plants had experienced walkouts.
"This has been one of the roughest and most complex bargaining sessions I've ever been in," Bugas said. "But I think it was well worth it."
As the settlement was announced, the UAW sent telegrams to Ford locals around the country asking them to call off any strikes that have begun or not to go through with any walkouts already planned.

DELINQUENCY Russian Parents Have It Bad, Too

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Foreign News Analyst
Teen crime gangs, student brawlers, youthful drunkenness, loose morals, and all that goes with post-war juvenile delinquency are rocking the nation—the Soviet nation, that is.
They have it bad there, too.
Elders—in this case the Communist party elders—are shaking their heads and wondering where the younger generation is going to wind up. Bawling out in the party press are an everyday affair.
These are older kids from the best families, by Soviet standards, sons and daughters of Communist party officials, scientists and others whom the press terms "respected citizens."
The parents—just like parents in the United States—pride themselves on being by it all, and the Soviet press blasts laxity in parental control.
For decades there has been going on ever since the war, but it has reached a peak in recent years. The Soviet press infrequently carries articles about crime, except when it seems necessary to single out certain culprits as horrible examples. But the press this year has been full of teen crime stories. Here are some examples:
In Leningrad, juvenile gangs beat up schoolmates, terrorized teachers and disrupted neighborhoods. Komsomolskaya Pravda, the newspaper of the Young Communists, said it was "a suffragette of the capitalist past and poisonous American influence," even though the Soviet public is carefully shielded from everything American.
In Moscow, a gang of boys from Public School 535 ambushed and beat up the son of Col. S. I. Khlystov, why? Because the boy's sister snatched on their activities.
In Leningrad, idle youngsters of well-off bureaucratic parents, just for the thrill of it, adopt American names like Jane and John, borrow the old man's car and raise Cain around the town. One of these went so far as to dub himself "Rockefeller Jr." George—that was his real name, nagged Papa into buying him a Zim, an expensive Soviet automobile. Bawling him out, Leningrad Pravda said he was fond only of dancing and easy life.
"When he needed money for himself and his drinking companions, he drove through the streets in his Zim, picking up taxi fares."
Just last week, Komsomolskaya Pravda carried an article entitled "On Our Streets." It complained that Moscow boys were becoming bandits because in their teens their parents neglect them. Take Igor G., for example:
Igor, said the paper, was attacked by classmates, who took his hat and demanded a ransom of 10 rubles ($2.50). He could pay or be beaten up. Igor raised the ransom by stealing books from his father's library and selling them. Then Igor got a protector, a tough schoolmate nicknamed "Biscuit."
But Biscuit was a gang leader and frequenter of beer halls. He assigned Igor to get him a pistol, saying he needed it in "physical culture and defense" training work. Igor got the gun, somehow, and Biscuit's gang used it to hold up a woman on a suburban train. Igor and others of the gang landed in the hoosegow.
There was the case of the young girl at a party, who was asked by a young toughie to dance. She refused his rude advances, so he socked her on the jaw. And who did the socking? Of all people, a member of the Young Communist League!

THE OLD PLOT NEVER FAILS

CHRISFIELD, Md. (AP)—Maryland's crab industry has put sex appeal to a new use among the crustaceans.
For decades fish have been used to attract peeler—female crabs into crab pots, but the fish also attracted eels, toadfish and other undesirable passers-by.
Now, male crabs used as live bait bring the peelers swarming to the traps. From there the females go to packing houses.
Meanwhile, the male crabs remain in the crab pots, still luring them in.

Court Overtums Peters Ouster

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled today that Dr. John P. Peters was wrongfully fired as a government consultant on loyalty grounds.
Chief Justice Warren wrote the court's majority opinion which ordered the Civil Service Commission to strike from its records a finding by the old loyalty review board that there was a reasonable doubt as to Peters' loyalty.
The court also ordered the Civil Service Commission to expunge from its records any ruling that Peters is barred from federal employment because of the board's finding.

Puzzle Prize Larger; Area Now Restricted

Notice to Cashword Puzzle Fans—
Your puzzle this week starts carrying a larger prize. And there are some new restrictions as to eligibility.
With this week's puzzle an EXTRA $50 (in addition to the base prize) will be paid to the winner who is a regular subscriber of The Herald, whether by mail or home delivery, in Big Spring, or in towns where there are regular Herald agents.
Eligibility is being limited to those residents (including military families) of six counties in the Big Spring area: Howard, Martin, Mitchell, Borden, Dawson and Glasscock. Thus, even mail subscribers of The Herald who happen to live outside these counties would not be eligible in the Cashword Puzzle contest.
Full rules are published with this week's Cashword on Page 11. It is suggested that these rules be read carefully.
But the big news for people around-about is that there's some extra cash at stake now. The payoff for the winner can be bigger than ever before.

Adlai Calls For 'Ornery' Folk

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson said today that what we need in this divisive century are unpredictable "ornery" characters rather than "well-adjusted" personalities.
He told 471 graduates at Smith College's 77th commencement we need more "idiosyncratic" people—"that rugged frontier word" which occurs to me—those "who take open eyes and open minds out with them into the society which they will share and help to transform."
The 1952 Democratic presidential candidate—who gave no hint of his future political plans—said that since Western rationalism and Eastern spiritualism met in Athens collectivism in various forms has collided with individualism time and again. And he added:
"This 20th Century collision, this 'crisis' we are forever talking about, will be won at last not on the battlefield but in the head and heart."
Stevenson said modern dictators are reviving a very "ancient and encrusted way of life. Hitler discovered it. The Fascists knew it. The Communists are busy brainwashing all over Asia. And what they are washing out is precisely independence of judgment and the moral courage with which to back such judgments."
"And here are, alas, some leaders in our country who certainly have a brainwashing gleam in their eyes when they meet with an unfamiliar idea."

The bride chose a navy blue suit with white accessories for a wedding trip to Galveston. She wore white orchids. The couple will make their home in Dallas.

Steel Workers To Open Wage Talks Tuesday

PITTSBURGH (AP) — With U.S. Steel Corp. as the initial target, the CIO United Steelworkers will begin negotiations tomorrow with the basic steel industry for a "substantial wage increase."
David J. McDonald, president of the 1,200,000-member union, and other top officials of the Steelworkers organization will meet with a U.S. Steel committee headed by Vice President John A. Stephens.
McDonald said he plans to open negotiations with five other major producers immediately after talks get under way with Big Steel. He will head negotiations with all six steel firms.
The big union will be free to call its 600,000 members in basic steel out on strike at midnight June 30 if a settlement is not reached. Wages are the only issue up for discussion.
The other five steel companies scheduled to meet with the union in Pittsburgh are Bethlehem Steel Corp., Republic Steel Corp., Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. and Inland Steel Co.
McDonald said he will press for a settlement with all six producers at once.
Most union and industry observers expect the union to get a wage hike. They also expect the steel industry to increase the price of steel to offset the added labor cost.

Rail Strikers Reject Back-To-Work Plea

LONDON (AP)—Britain's striking railwaymen today rejected Prime Minister Eden's broadcast back-to-work plea.
Their leaders accused the Conservative chief, returned to power in a general election less than two weeks ago, of getting a lot of his facts about the strike wrong. They said his appeal did nothing to change the situation.
Eden warned in a nationwide broadcast last night that the nine-day-old strike of 67,000 locomotive engineers, firemen and cleaners is pushing Britain toward an economic smashup.
He appealed to the strikers to go back to work and then start negotiations again on their claim for more pay.
But Noel Pinches, president of the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, told newsmen today that Eden's appeal "will find no favor" with his union executives.
Pinches claimed his union had already called off one threatened strike on the promise of wages talks which did not reach agreement.
Meanwhile, leaders of the striking stevedores union called a conference in London today to consider their next step in the costly walkout by 20,000 men which has partly tied up seven seaports for two weeks.
The dock strike stems from a jurisdictional squabble for bargaining rights involving the stevedores and the giant Transport Workers Union. Close to 200 freighters are idle.

Inquest Opened In Death Of Newsman

SINGAPORE (AP)—Coroner K. T. Alexander opened an inquest today into the killing of United Press correspondent Gene Symonds by rioting Chinese school students May 12.
The coroner's court was told by police witnesses that Symonds had ignored police warnings against entering the riot area. He died the following day after a savage beating at the hands of the Communist-inspired rioters.
"If we go on like this," he said, "we shall smash up our hard earned prosperity."
"There is little unemployment as yet, but you cannot stop most of the trains in a land like ours without soon bringing some factories to a halt," he warned.
"As the output of one factory drops or stops, others are affected in turn. The longer the strike lasts, the more unemployment there must be in spite of all we can do."
Eden warned that the walkout was also endangering Britain's vital export trade.
"When you lose export orders, you lose future markets, too," he said. "That is how the stoppages are weakening the nation—just when it is getting strong and prosperous again."

Yank Turncoat Has Change Of Heart

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—A 24-year-old American soldier who, as a prisoner of war, chose to remain behind the Iron Curtain rather than return to his young wife and daughter in Olympia, Wash., has had a change of heart.
Now he wants to come home.
Mrs. Otho G. Bell says she is encouraging her husband to return. "And if he's sent to prison, I'll get a job near the prison so I can see him from time to time," she says.
The status of Otho G. Bell is beclouded, legally. He was one of 21 American prisoners of war who refused repatriation, but stayed with Red China.
Mrs. Bell said his letters indicated that he apparently had been told that two American POWs who at first declined to return to the United States, then did, had been executed. Actually, the pair was sentenced to prison.
Mrs. Bell is living at Olympia with their 4-year-old daughter Paula, whom Bell never has seen. He shipped overseas with the 2nd Infantry Division in 1950 before the

Mrs. Green suffered severe cuts of the legs. Green, blown into an adjoining room, suffered minor bruises.

Probably Quit Smoking And Live Longer

By ALTON L. BLAKELEE
Associated-Press Science Reporter
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Men who quit smoking cigarettes probably cut their risk of dying of lung cancer compared with men who keep on smoking, the American Cancer Society reported today.
Its study finds the cancer death rate among a group of ex-smokers was only half that of smokers.
But society officials said that due to the small numbers of smokers and ex-smokers involved, it cannot be "proven beyond reasonable doubt" that quitting reduces the risk of lung cancer. They declared more evidence is needed.
This is a main finding in the latest report of a continuing society study of nearly 100,000 men, aged 50 to 70, and their smoking habits and what they die of.
Speaking for the tobacco industry committee, Hartnett said, "Statistical experts point out that this study ignores important environmental, geographical, occupational, physical and emotional factors that affect disease and longevity."
He said that in his opinion "it is obvious that cancer authorities realize no link has been proven and do not accept this study in statistics as the answer to the lung cancer problem."
Just a year ago the first report, indicating cigarettes play a role in lung cancer, was announced by Doctors H. Cuyler Hammond and Daniel Horn, director and assistant director of the society's statistical research, at the annual meeting of the American Medical Assn. That first report covered 20 months' time and deaths of nearly 5,000 men.
Today's report at the opening of the AMA's 1955 session covers 32 months and studies of deaths—whether from cancer or other causes—among more than 8,000 men.
Some of the conclusions of Hammond and Horn:
Lung cancer is rare among men who have never smoked.
The death rate from lung cancer increases with the amount of cigarettes smoked. The rate is appreciable even among men who smoke less than 10 cigarettes daily.
Regardless of whether men live in big city or rural areas, the rate is high among smokers, and low among nonsmokers.
Among men who smoke two packs or more daily, heart disease is the most common cause of death, and lung cancer is second. In these men, lung cancer accounts for one in eight deaths.
In the general male population of this same age lung cancer accounts for 1 in 30 deaths. Among

Sharks Not Yet Brought To Gaff

Section 11, Article XVI, of the Constitution of Texas reads as follows: "All contracts for a greater rate of interest than ten per centum per annum, shall be deemed usurious, and the first Legislature after this amendment is adopted, shall provide appropriate pains and penalties to prevent the same; but when no interest is agreed upon, the rate shall not exceed six per centum per annum."
This provision has made Texas the happy hunting ground for loan sharks, by giving rise to various evasions and dodges which have produced cases of 1,000 and 1,200 per cent interest being charged small borrowers. Legitimate loan companies have been handicapped in rendering service to their clients, but the loan sharks have had a field day. Some states have curbed unconscionable money-lending practices by legalizing a higher rate of interest and thereby enabling responsible companies to make a living and at the same time serve small borrowers without exacting their eyeteeth.
A resolution was introduced in this session of the Texas Legislature for a constitutional amendment authorizing the law-making body to raise the interest rate above 10 per cent with suitable safeguards to prevent abuses. Its putative aim was to pull the teeth of loan sharks.

The Senate this week got into a debate on the bill, and ran into a filibuster by opponents of the resolution. How it will wind up isn't apparent at this time, but the prospect is that another attempt to end the reign of the loan sharks in Texas will come to naught, and the 1,000 percent boys will continue to exploit those people who are least able to stand it.
Various past efforts of the Legislature to cure this evil have come to naught. Unless this bill will result in protecting the interest of small borrowers, it's no good. If it does offer the hope of improvement, it may have some merit. This much is certain: something should be done about a situation that is disgraceful and inexcusable.

Velvet Glove Can Be More Deadly

Newsmen who have been tagging along behind the trio of Russian bigshots in Yugoslavia have gained the impression that the real Mr. Big in Russia is, after all, Nikita Khrushchev, who holds the job of secretary-general of the Communist Party, a powerhouse job he inherited from Stalin.
They have noted that Khrushchev does nearly all the talking while his two companions, Premier Bulganin and deputy premier A. I. Mikoyan, just stand around and wait for the great man's pleasure. The three men have acted like visiting firemen, making themselves agreeable to all and sundry, and giving the impression they're enjoying a holiday. Once when the auto tour of Yugoslavia was held up by a flat tire, Khrushchev and Mikoyan wrestled each other by the roadside like a couple of boys.
This dramatization of Khrushchev as the real boss of Russia is a reprise, for while he was originally cast in that role by the outside world in the early days of the present "government by committee" regime, of recent weeks there had been surmise that Nikita, after all, was a second-stringer, and somebody else — nobody affected to know his identity — was really pulling the strings.

Maybe this is part of the play to create the impression Russia is no longer dominated by a single dictator of the Stalin type. One thing is certain: Russia's long-term goal remains the same, world conquest; but Stalin's methods having placed the world on its guard, the current dictatorship, whether single or collective, is employing a new approach of sweetness and light designed to disarm the world.
This is taking many forms. The Austrian peace being an outstanding example. This week there was another. Russia sent $5 million in gold to Tehran in satisfaction of Iran's claims against Russia, and will send $8 million in goods additional, for use of Iran's railroads by Soviet troops.
Will the new method work? This much is certain: it is far more dangerous than Stalin's. It is the velvet glove concealing the dagger.

Radio Propaganda Having Effect On Russians

BONN—Not very far away from here—at Munich—there's a work in operation of profound importance to the free world. It's called "Radio Liberation." Unlike the "Voice of America" or "Radio Free Europe," both of which also perform a valuable service in the "cold war," this enterprise is carried on by refugees who talk directly to the people in their homeland.
The best testimony to the effectiveness of "Radio Liberation" is the intensive efforts of the Soviet regime to jam the transmitters and prevent people behind the Iron Curtain from listening to these broadcasts, which are delivered in seventeen languages for the nationalities inside the Soviet Union. Now broadcasts have just been begun to the Soviet people in the Far East.
With the exception of a few American advisers and technical assistants, the program staff is made up entirely of former citizens of the Soviet Union. Several are onetime listeners who have fled from the Communist dictatorship. Unlike those broadcasting on other projects which are recognized as "foreign," the speakers on "Radio Liberation" use such terms as "we Russians" or "we Ukrainians" and, when they criticize the Soviet system, they do it as members of the family and as fellow citizens—not as outsiders.
Robert F. Kelley, who was for many years in charge of the Russian desk in the Department of State, is deputy to the president of the "American Committee for Liberation From Bolshevism" and heads up the work in Munich. He described the activities of his group to this correspondent as follows:
"The over-all objective" of "Radio Liberation's broadcasts is to deepen and widen the gulf between the peoples of the Soviet Union and their Communist rulers. With this end in view, the broadcasts seek to increase the stress and strain and the tensions which exist in the Soviet Union and to sow the seeds of disaffection where it does not now exist. Consequently, "Radio Liberation" seeks to encourage in the Soviet Union the spirit of resistance to oppression, to fortify anti-Communist sentiments, to bring home to the peoples of the Soviet Union that they have friends in the free world and to develop among them a sympathetic attitude towards western democracies. An effort is made to reduce to a minimum the collaboration of the peoples of the Soviet Union with their Communist government and to develop an attitude of non-cooperation and such passive resistance as will not entail punishment of the participants.

"The activities of the 'American Committee For Liberation From Bolshevism' are based on the concept that the peoples of the Soviet Union are our potential allies in the worldwide struggle against Communism. There is no question but that disaffection exists on a wide scale in the Soviet Union in varying degrees, ranging from incipient disaffection with existing conditions and doubts as to the realization of Communist ideals, lack of sympathy with present problems of the Kremlin and so on, to complete disillusionment and fierce hatred of the Communist regime.
"It is in the interest of the free world to integrate the opposition of the peoples of the Soviet Union to the Communist rule, however passive and ineffective such opposition may be at present, into the struggle of the western democracies against the Kremlin."
This work is carried on with considerable difficulty and with some danger. The Soviets have been trying to intimidate and terrorize the broadcasters, and during the past year Communist agents have been especially active in trying to undermine the operation. Six months ago one of the most capable leaders of "Radio Liberation" was murdered and another member met a mysterious death which has never been satisfactorily explained.
Efforts likewise may be expected from inside Germany to try to sabotage the project. Already Communist sympathizers have raised the point that such broadcasts should not be permitted by foreign committees but the government authorities have refused to listen to such objections. Meanwhile, the steady stream of refugees from behind the Iron Curtain continues and they all say that the "Radio Liberation" broadcasts are giving hope to many persons, who spread their ideas by word of mouth. There is no way of estimating what many some day grow from little seeds dropped here and there inside the satellite countries as well as in the Soviet Union.
"Radio Liberation" is supported not by any government but by the people in various countries. The American committee is composed of Howland H. Sargeant, formerly assistant secretary of state for public affairs, and a board of prominent Americans, with headquarters at 4, East 45th Street, New York, where comprehensive records of the work being done are maintained.

Ike Moves Toward Big 4 Meeting

WASHINGTON—The Eisenhower administration's view of the Big Four meeting has moved from negative (not wanting it) to something between negative and positive (agreeing to it but cautioning not to expect too much of it).
Secretary of State Dulles cannot be said to have played up the importance of this meeting—perhaps in Geneva July 18—among President Eisenhower and his opposite numbers in Britain, France and Russia.
Even a mild and perhaps true statement by Vice President Nixon, pointing out how important the conference may be, did not draw endorsement from the State Department, whose views are Dulles' views.
Last week Nixon said the meeting may be man's last chance to avoid war. When Dulles' press officer Henry Studam was asked for comment, he said: "I'll make no comment."
The administration's attitude seems to be getting under the skin of Sen. George, the Georgia Democrat who urged the meeting before Eisenhower agreed to it. Yesterday George said: "We ought to approach this with a positive attitude."
Dulles has taken pains to say: "Don't get your hopes too high about this conference. Then if it fails, you won't be disillusioned."
Eisenhower describes his role at the conference this way: He and the other top men won't make decisions. They'll just discuss problems in general. When it comes to tackling specific problems, the foreign ministers will do that.
There is also some political usefulness in the administration's approach to the conference.
If the Republicans got the people steamed up about the meeting and it failed, the Democrats could try to blame them for it and the voters in the 1956 elections might show their disappointment.
By promising he would not fall into the trap of appeasement at the meeting, Eisenhower seems to have pleased those among his Republicans who sounded afraid to see him meet the Russians. At least they've been fairly quiet since.
"But, by indicating beforehand he will make no final decisions, Eisenhower may be setting another kind of trap for himself.
What will he do if the Russians at the meeting suddenly confront him with proposals which have some air of reasonableness, particularly to Britain and France."

but require a decision by Eisenhower if the conference is not to fail.
Since this isn't wartime, with its need for secrecy, the meeting will have propaganda value for all sides. Much if not all that happens will be made public, either by leaks or statements by the four powers.

Self-Pity Worst Affliction

NEW YORK—The Oddity Almanac, Editorial: A Senate subcommittee recently announced it would launch an inquiry to find out why so many poor people remain poor.
A member of this Almanac's staff, seeking a quick answer to this problem, interviewed a number of poor people hanging out in a nearby pool room, and came up with this report:
"Four out of five said they remained poor because, unlike Congress, they lacked the power to vote themselves a 50 per cent increase in salary whenever funds sank low in their piggy banks."
Perhaps Congress in the course of its inquiry can also investigate another matter: Why some poor legislators remain poor—instead of getting better.
(Editor's Note: Opinions expressed in Boyle's Almanac editorials do not necessarily reflect the views of this paper. Boyle himself—or Marilyn Monroe, so far as we can determine.)

Decline of the Human Race Note: A leading New York hotel says that martinis now outsell Manhattan cocktails 6 to 1 in its men's bar—only a few years ago it was the other way around. On strolls along the avenue, you can reach over and give the arm of a passing senorita a tweek, if you're in a flirtatious mood. Make sure she's "eligible," however, and not apt to retaliate with a right cross.
Located at the tip of Cornish peninsula is a tiny island called St. Michael's Mount where, the natives will tell you, Jack-the-Giant-Killer actually wrestled with a gargantuan character named Cormoran.
About two centuries ago, the skeleton of a man who, in life, stood eight feet tall, was found in a dungeon cut in the solid rock of the island.
And visitors are pointed out the pit, beside the steep cobbled path leading to the island's castle, where Jack trapped his foe.

The Cornish peninsula, in case you're wondering, is part of England.
If you like to play mental games, think what it would be like if (1) Texas had never joined the union, (2) a string of mountains ran from Roswell, N.M., about where Lamesa is now located to a spot east and north of Abilene, (3) Texas Tech had been located in Big Spring rather than Lubbock, which it almost was.
In recent letter to an Iowa, attorney Joel Westbrook of San Antonio, legal counsel of Cpl. Claude Bachelor, the Texan Army convicted of collaborating with the North Koreans, had this to say:
"I really don't believe I am exaggerating when I say it is vital to the survival of our way of life that we come to understand the peculiarities of the Communist mentality as well as their techniques for working on the mentality of free men."
One of the most romantic stories I've heard recently concerned Charles Durand, a Frenchman who arrived in this country and settled in Louisiana around 1820.
When it came time to marry off his two daughters, Durand imported spiders from China, which weaved webs around the driveway to his house.
Then he imported gold and silver dust from California and sprinkled it over the tiny threads the spiders had spun. The bridal party drove down the archway.

Marquis Childs Strikes Hurting Britain's Trade Position

LONDON—This small island with its teaming industrial population is faced with still another of the crises that from time to time since the end of the first World War have challenged its power to survive.
In order to exist, Britain must keep a constant flow of vital supplies coming in from the seas and moving over a complex network of railways. A dockers' strike that began a week ago and, now a railway strike have begun to curtail that flow.
That was the overriding threat in the general strike of 29 years ago. And one of Hitler's main objectives in the Battle of Britain was to starve the British people into submission by sinking all ships carrying food, petroleum and other essential supplies. At the low moment when Britain fought alone in 1940-41 only a few days' food supply remained to be distributed under subsistence rationing.
Remarkable in this newest crisis was the mild tone of the proclamation issued by the Conservative Prime Minister who had only two days before received for the first time in his long public career a mandate in his own right to head the government. In his Sunday broadcast Sir Anthony Eden spoke no words of blame or condemnation, contenting himself with pointing out that the railway strike was largely due to a conflict between unions, each seeking to out-ride the other in getting pay increases for locomotive firemen and engineers. The pacific and reasoning tone of Eden's remarks were in contrast to the emotional rhetoric that often colored the speeches of his predecessor, Sir Winston Churchill.
But Eden, who served for so many years as foreign secretary, made no secret of his concern over what the current strikes could do to Britain's position in the world. He pointed to the increasing competitiveness for markets and the harm that would be done if British industry were slowed even temporarily by a lack of supplies. He could have documented this with facts and figures showing how Britain has been pushed out of many markets by competition from West Germany. Low labor costs and the docility of German unions have been a factor in enabling a resurgent German industry to invade world markets so successfully. Nor has West Germany been compelled to provide a costly military establishment such as Britain has sustained in the decade since V-E Day. British and American divisions now in Germany are part of the NATO defense force to hold Communist imperialism in check.

As though by mutual consent, neither side in the election campaign sought to make an issue of the threatening labor disputes. There was, however, a hint of economic trouble to come, particularly in the cotton textile industry of Lancashire, as competition from countries beginning to industrialize, such as India and Pakistan, have denied Britain traditional markets. While whispers of an economic recession in the fall have been heard, the Labor party did not exploit the possibility of dangers ahead to try to scare voters away from the Conservatives.
Timed with the Whitsun holiday and the only two sunny days this island has seen in at least two weeks, the strike was calculated to cause the maximum of irritation. The government's first emergency measures were planned to enable London, as the administrative and communications focus of the island, to continue to function. This in itself is no small undertaking, with virtually no commuter trains to bring one million and a half to two million commuters to their jobs in the vast, sprawling city.
Eden has been plunged at once into the kind of trouble that plagues the head of a modern state in which the powers are precariously balanced, with the government under the necessity of trying to insure that relative justice is done to all. The enlarged Conservative majority of 59 seats in the House of Commons was hailed as greatly increasing the Prime Minister's prestige on the eve of Big Four talks. But now he must cope with an industrial dispute which exposes again the vulnerability of Britain's position in the world.

Hollywood Review Spanky MacFarland Found

HOLLYWOOD—Found: Spanky MacFarland, 27, the "missing" member of Our Gang. He's back in Hollywood to resume his acting career.
Ever since the old Our Gang was revived on TV as The Little Rascals, folks have been tracking down the whereabouts of the former child performers.
All were located except Spanky. He was reported as doing everything from driving a bakery truck in Fairbanks, Alaska, to operating a gas station in Barstow, Calif.
The amateur sleuths can relax. Spanky, as chubby and jolly as when he led the mischief makers in the Hal Roach comedies, has returned here from his Dallas home. After 11 years away from it, he wants to be an actor again.
"I just want a chance to show producers what I can do," he says. "I may be overconfident, but I feel I can handle anything they give me. I know that 13 years of acting in movies must mean something."
Spanky grew up in the picture business. Born in Dallas, he was modeling for department store and soft drink ads when he was 3. He doesn't know exactly how he came to films, but his best guess is this: An aunt sent his picture to producer Roach, who said to "bring the boy to Hollywood."
He was born George, but Our Gang writer Bob McGowan dubbed him Spanky and he's been that ever since.
He doesn't remember much of his film days — "To me, it seemed a normal way of life; I thought everybody made movies."
Spanky was in the Gang from 1931 to 1944, when the series started to fade. One day he told his parents: "I'm tired of acting. I want to go back to Texas and just hunt and fish."
And so the MacFarland family returned to Dallas and resumed a normal life. "I know now it was a mistake," said Spanky. "But you couldn't tell me that then. I was a headstrong kid."
He finished high school and went into the Air Force in 1947, serving as special service private-first class for Texas bases. In 1949, he went to work for Chance-Vought Aircraft in Dallas and served in material there and at the guided missile project at Point Mugu, Calif.

He gave up the job after the marriage to his high school sweetheart broke up. They had one son, Greg, now 4 and, the spitting image of Spanky as a lad.
"I came back to Hollywood in September 1953," Spanky said, "but I couldn't find any acting jobs. Not even a half day's work. So I went back to Texas and goofed around. I helped out a friend who had a Tencing business, and I did some work in oil."
The great success of The Little Rascals on TV prompted Spanky to try Hollywood again. This time he had better luck. Through a mutual friend, he contacted George Gobel and was signed for the latter's show June 25. He hopes to land a job in George Stevens' "Giant." Stevens directed Spanky in the Our Gang years ago.

Stick To Bows

ROSLARE, Ill. — Joe Scott Jr., 13, accidentally wounded himself with a .22 caliber pistol while engaged in a search for arrowheads.

Nonpolitical Politics

LINCOLN, Neb. — Partisan politics crept into Nebraska's non-partisan Legislature when Gov. J. Hugo Aronson of Montana appeared before the body.
In a brief address, Aronson noted he is only the third Republican to be elected governor of Montana.
"I'm here," asked Aronson.
"Aren't there any Republicans in here?" asked Aronson.
Members of Nebraska's unicameral one-house Legislature are elected on nonpolitical ballots.

Emergency Theft

RICHMOND, Va. — When one of the newer city vehicles was stolen police expressed confidence the culprit couldn't conceal it very long. It wasn't missing long. The snow, white ambulance, complete with siren and red blinker warning light was found abandoned a few hours later in northern Virginia.

Problem Parents

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Putting the blame on parents for all the trouble children get into has its serious drawbacks, says University of Michigan psychiatrist Dr. Ralph D. Rabinoivitch.
Parents, he says, are becoming afraid to ask for help for problem children because of shame and the fear they themselves may be punished for the child's offense.

No-Roach Kills Household Pests

There's no roach like a dead-roach, the Gaston Johnston Corporation declares, but with the really hot weather rapidly approaching there's likely to be quite a few live roaches and other insects racing around the premises. Thus, Gaston Johnston calls attention to its well-known product which the company claims makes dead roaches of live ones. The product is designed to kill roaches before they enter that gleaming bathroom or crawl around over-fresh foods.

The amazing new liquid is called Johnston's No-Roach.

Just brush the colorless, odorless, stainless liquid near cabinets, sinks, and baseboards. Applied to such spots, the coating attracts roaches within the room. They walk across the coating, contacting the chlordane, and within two or three hours become paralyzed and die. The coating remains effective for many months to kill any strays and thus prevent reinfestation. To kill the waterbugs that crawl into your home from sewer pipes, brush No-Roach around the drain openings. To keep ants out, brush No-Roach across window sills and door sills. Ants will not cross this invisible barrier. Pour a few drops into ant hills to eliminate their nests.

It is important to remember that roaches and ants are found near food and cooking utensils, and that contaminating sprays should never be used in such areas. But No-Roach may be brushed just where you want it. You don't have to move your pots and pans away from the area.

Guard against crawling insects, this modern No-Roach way. It is available at Safeway, Furr Food Stores, Piggly Wiggly, Red & White, Cunningham & Phillips, Collins Bros. and other local drug and grocery stores in eight ounce, pint and quart sizes.

King Sets Honeymoon

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Libya's 66-year-old King Idris made preparations today for a honeymoon he hopes will give him a crown prince. The monarch's other spouse, Queen Fatima, was reported sulking in a village 115 miles northwest of the Egyptian capital.

The King was married yesterday to Alia Abdel Kader Lamoulou, daughter of a wealthy Egyptian cotton planter of Libyan origin. Before the ceremony Idris paid a dowry of 10,000 pounds ($20,700) to the bride's family.

Fatima is 49 and has been married to the King 22 years. All five of their children have died, and relations between the couple have been strained for several years. Molesters are allowed four wives. However, Fatima and her family were so opposed to the King's marrying that one of her nephews last year assassinated the court minister arranging the match. The killer later was tried and executed.

Atom Poisoning Claims Called 'Irresponsible'

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — Lewis P. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, said today it seems an "act of irresponsibility" for anyone to claim radiation from atomic tests is poisoning the air and guaranteeing "future generations of monsters."

"Actually," he said, "there is no evidence at this time to indicate that our weapons testing... has increased radiation levels... to an extent which would afford warranty for such extreme statements."

Strauss' remarks were in a speech prepared for delivery at the opening session of the annual meeting of the American Medical Assn.

"In general," he continued, "the increased radiation for all people everywhere, as a result of all tests to date—ours, Great Britain's and the Soviet's—has added only fractionally to the natural background radiation to which we all have been subjected since the beginning of time. This increase... has been about equal to that of one medical chest X-ray."

In the light of present knowledge of radiation effects, he said, "it would seem to be an act of irresponsibility for anyone to assert that the atmosphere is being poisoned, or that we will surely have future generations of monsters, all attributable to atomic radiations."

Strauss said, however, "in the event of war involving the indiscriminate use of... nuclear weapons—as opposed to limited, controlled testing—the radiation danger to civilian populations would be very great."

Storms Cover Central U. S.

By The Associated Press

Central United States had another day of violent thunderstorms and tornadoes. Some of the squalls prevalent between the Rockies and the Mississippi River spilled over into the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley regions.

The weather was mostly fair in the Southeast and west of the Continental Divide. Temperatures were generally seasonable, although it was 49 at Laramie, Wyo., Butte and Lewistown, Mont.

There were a few light showers along the Atlantic Seaboard from Delaware to Maine.

Locally severe storms produced tornadoes in the vicinity of West Union, Iowa, and Valley City, N. D., the Weather Bureau said. There were no immediate reports on damage.

A tornado destroyed farm buildings in a small area near Decorah, Iowa, yesterday. A dozen twisters caused like damage in Kansas and Nebraska. There were no reports of human casualties.

Several homes and other buildings were demolished and a school building unroofed by a tornado at Encinal, Tex., north of Laredo.

Match-Eating Bender Ends In Tummy Ache

MIYAZAKI CITY, Japan (AP)—Doctors at the Nichinan Hospital removed more than 300 chewed up matches from the stomach and intestines of Mitsuru Nagao, a 31-year-old woman barber. She said she had craved—and eaten—matches ever since she was a small girl and they had never made her sick until three days ago.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Chinese. Their skins are light brown, or yellowish brown, in addition, the nation contains a small percentage of Hindus and Moslems who came from India to settle, along with some, half-wild tribesmen.

Q. Is it true that the women of Burma wear metal rings around their necks?

A. Not in general, but some of them do. This is a special custom among the Karen tribesmen who live in mountain country.

Q. What are the neck-rings made of, and how many are worn?

A. Brass is the common material for the rings. A Karen girl is likely to start with only four or five rings around her neck. Then year by year, she adds to the number, bringing about a stretching of her neck. At length she may wear 20 neck-rings, with a weight of 12 or 15 pounds.

Don't Be Too Eager

The girl with beauty and talent and the virtues of an angel gives her most concentrated effort to making a success of her romance, only to lose her love to a girl not half as patient, kind, and thoughtful, or considerate.

It's an old story. You've seen it in the movies and you've seen it in your own school. —And if you're the girl you throw yourself across the bed and sob out "Why?"

The ones you don't want flock to your door in droves, but he—the only one that mattered—got away. Why?

Of times it is because you have a Dr. Jekyll and Miss Hyde personality. You may not even realize it, but when you are with dates that don't especially rate, you are relaxed and at your best. York jokes are funny and your dancing is smooth.

When Prince Charming is your host part of you goes numb and part of you begins to flutter. You are afraid you will say or do the wrong thing. You stiffen and become unnatural and paralysis of the personality sets in. Trying too hard defeats your own purpose. Here more practice in dating is your solution.

Being thoughtful and cooperative sound like virtues, but a girl can be too eager to please. It sounds ridiculous, but it is a fact and it explains why the con-artists and hard-to-please girls have such a string of beaux.

All people are built around a core of conceit. The male of the specie is an especially good example. He is drawn to the girl who makes it possible for him to see himself as worthwhile and important. Note, she does not tell him, she creates circumstances which show him off to advantage. Here she employs the age old trick of asking help in some endeavor in which he is talented, or at least capable.

Waiting on him hand and foot and always agreeing with his plans, may sound nice, but he will soon tire of you if you do it. In dating you there is no challenge or sense of accomplishment.

Being able to win a hard-to-catch girl flatters a man's vanity and having to toe the mark to keep her interested keeps him interested, too.

Being too tame and submissive reduces his conquering manliness to nothing and lets him see himself in an unflattering light.

The angel's disposition is better adapted to heaven than earth. A man is a generous helping of vanity. A wise woman knows it.

Yank Arrested By Czech Reds

WAIHHAUS, Germany (AP)—West German border police today reported the arrest at this border point of an American sergeant by Czech frontier guards.

"They said the sergeant and two soldier companions, apparently on a sightseeing trip to the border, stepped near the frontier yesterday. Then the sergeant moved forward to take a picture of the Czech border hut.

German police said he strayed a few yards into Czech territory and was immediately arrested by Czech guards. They said a few minutes later he was seen in an army truck headed toward the interior of the country.

Czech border officers told the Germans that the case must be handled by American authorities. U.S. Army authorities in this area declined comment.
