County Board Approves Maps

Members of the Family Living Sub-committee with Leo Forrest, chairman of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Program Building Committee, spoke to County Commissioners Court Monday afternoon prior to publication of a new county map.

In another important move, the commissioners reported that C. O. Wilkins, for several years Veterans Service Officer for Deaf Smith County, will retire effective Jan. 1, 1969.

Also, County Attorney John Aikin appeared before the court in order to clarify legal opinions in regard to Wilkins' replacement. County Clerk B. F. Cain requested this move before he agreed to accept the duties of the office on a temporary basis.

The county has a retirement order (No. 1629) which requires its employees to relinquish their duties after age 65 or at such time as a suitable replacement can be found to fill the position following age 65. Commissioners pointed out that Wilkins is now advanced in age beyond the requirement by a few years and had no complaints whatever toward his work. Cain reported that he had no desire whatever to replace him and would only do so following an investigation into the law. When the law was clarified by Aikin, the commissioners appointed Cain to the position.

Wilkins, who is a barber in the Hotel Jim Hill, has also operated the Veterans Service from that point.

Chairman of the Family Living Sub-committee Mrs. Gene Cope detailed the importance of the new county map on the basis of population growth here and the number of newcomers who are now and are scheduled to arrive in the near future. She pointed out that landmarks will be included on the map for easy reference, which will pinpoint such locations as the feed yards and other places of importance to truckers, while keeping the plan entirely non-commercial.

C. E. Coleman of the Ink Spot appeared with cost estimates on the printing and the commissioners agreed to order 5,000 such maps with additional orders planned for the future.

"What is a landmark?" he came an important question before the committee and the See COUNTY, Page 2

South Hereford School To Be Hexagon Compact Type

By EARL MOSELEY
Staff Writer

Hereford Independent School District accepted a bid on its $750,000 bonds for a new elementary school and football stadium improvements, with its trustees approving a building format for the school, and urged superintendent Johnny Clark Jr. to file application for an international field study trip to the Scandinavian countries during the latter part of April and early May. Bid accepted on the bonds was awarded to John Nuveen & Co. Inc. of New York and Chicago and Moroney, Beissner Co. of Houston, with a gross interest cost of $336,350, with a net of $336,340 from a $10 premium.

Interest rate is figured at 4.2710. From 1969 through 1975 it is 5 per cent, 1976-77 it drops to 4 per cent, 1978-79 it rises to 4.10 1980-81 to 4.20, 1982 to 4.25, and 1983 to 4.30.

Bob L. Davis, vice president of Columbian Securities Corp. of Texas in Amarillo and financial advisor for the Hereford schools reported that the Dow-Jones index was 4.68 this week and that the accepted bid was "very good" under current bond markets.

Eleven bids were received — all higher than the accepted bid — which went as high as $346,752.50 from the Mercantile National Bank in Dallas jointly with the National Bank of Commerce in Dallas. Next lowest bid was $338,290 from the First National Bank in Dallas jointly with the Texas National Bank of Commerce in Houston.

Nuveen-Moroney, Beissner bid was the last bid to be opened by Davis for the trustees and administrators.

Immediately following acceptance of the low bid, Herbert Brashear of Brashear, Goyette, Raper Architectural Engineers of Lubbock, presented revised plans at the Monday afternoon meeting in the school administration building of "compact hexagon" type (six sides with no windows) designed for 26 classrooms. Trustees gave their approval to the design, although it was pointed out that additional corrections will be made before construction begins.

No definite date has been announced for the actual beginning of construction.

The new elementary school, to be located in South Hereford on land owned for some time by the school system here, also has no definite "situation on the property" pending further discussion between Clark and City Manager Dudley Bayne regarding See SCHOOL, Page 2

Vandalism Is Heavy To Cars

Six separate cases of vandalism to cars were reported to Hereford police late Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning.

The incidents, which consisted of cutting tires on all six vehicles and broken windows on one of the six, occurred in the parking lots at La Plata Junior High School and the First Baptist Church between 7 and 10 p.m.

George R. Pearce of Amarillo, who had attended the basketball game at La Plata Junior High School, found that someone had cut all four tires on his 1968 Buick Skylark. Damage was estimated at $50 to each tire.

Thomas Beil of Amarillo, who also was parked at La Plata, had the right front and right rear tires of his 1968 Chevrolet cut with some type of tool. Damage was estimated at $100.

Marlin Gilliland of 409 East Sixth had the right front tire of his 1963 Buick cut while it was on the north side of the parking lot at the First Baptist Church. Damage was estimated at $75.

Lynton Allred of 204 Douglas had all four tires on his 1968 GMC pickup sliced while it was parked at the church. Damage was thought to be $150.

Gene Campbell reported that two or more tires on his 1966 Thunderbird had been cut while it was parked at La Plata. There was no immediate estimate of damage.

Four tires on the 1966 Chevrolet owned by Rocky Lee of 304 Centre were cut and the left front window was broken out while the car was parked at the church. Damage to the tires was estimated at $200 and the window, $75.

Lubbock To Be Bi-District Site

Lubbock has been selected as the site for the Hereford-Kermit bi-district playoff, scheduled for Saturday at 2 p. m. in Jones Stadium, in Lubbock.

Head coach and athletic director Larry Wartes attended a meeting in Lubbock Saturday morning where he met with the Kermit coach and selected the date and place for the game.

Kermit goes into the bi-district playoffs with an impressive 9-1 season mark and Hereford, an even 5-5 record.

Hereford, after losing to Dumas Friday, 13-6, and being forced into a three-way coin toss to determine the district representative, won the right to represent this district. Kermit, on the other hand, won their district (7-AAA) outright by a pending Seminole 44-26 last week.

"In view of this fact, we recommend for the 1969 crop either or both:

1. A 50 cents per bushel increase in support price for wheat with a comparable increase in feed grain price supports to be announced at See ZINSER Page 2

Alcoholic Council To Buy Two Films

Two film strips with recordings — "Alcohol: A Dilemma For Youth" and "A New Look At The Old Sin" — will be purchased for local showings by the Deaf Smith County Council on Alcoholism, and a "special concentrated effort" will be put into the organization's plans for an Alcoholic Information Week some time in either February or March, according to Gene Fooks, chairman of the United Fund agency.

Other films have also been suggested for showings in local civic clubs and schools, with advance screenings by local church ministers for their aid in promoting the project.

Rev. Ronald Harpster, pastor of Avenue Baptist Church and member of the council, has been named in charge of arrangements toward selecting the special week in late winter or early spring for the increased activities to further enlighten the residents of the alcoholic problem.

Fooks is pastor of Central Church of Christ.

Special attention is to be placed toward the teenagers in Hereford, the membership decided. However, the program will be presented to all ages. A speaking engagement has already been planned with the Hereford Knights Club at their Dec. 5 meeting.

It was pointed out that it has been some years since the council has had a November meeting. Fooks said this meeting was held Tuesday at the agency of the sponsoring.

Company Has Burglary Attempt

Imperial Livestock Supply Co. located near the east city limits, was broken into sometime during the night Tuesday, but company officials could find nothing missing early Wednesday.

The burglary attempt was reported to the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's office about 8 a. m. when employees had found a window broken out of the front of the building as they reported for work. It appeared, officers said, that the burglar went in from the front and out the back.

Investigation in continuation in the incident.

Zinser Re-elected President DSCWG

Frank Zinser Jr. was re-elected president of the Deaf Smith County Wheat Growers Association during the annual meeting of the organization Tuesday night at the Hereford Community Center.

Eldred Brown was re-elected vice president, and Raymond Schlabs was chosen the new secretary-treasurer. Jay Boston, the past secretary-treasurer, declined to take the office again.

After discussion led by Leo Witkowski, a director, those in attendance approved resolutions to be presented to the Texas Association of Wheat Growers during its convention here Dec. 9 and 10. (See separate story in this issue).

In their statement, the group explained that "The Deaf Smith County Wheat Growers find it economically impossible to continue to produce wheat at present price levels. It is a public disgrace that current wheat prices are 25 cents per bushel lower than a year ago and 50 cents per bushel less than two years ago while production costs have steadily increased.

"Wheat used in the U. S. for domestic consumption has been, and is, supported at 100 percent of parity, which is proper and in line with price levels of other segments of the economy. The price for that 60 percent of production which must be exported or held in carry-over position continues to be the downfall of a fair price to the producer.

"In view of this fact, we recommend for the 1969 crop either or both:

Plans Discussed For City-County Charity Clinic At Tuesday Night Meeting

By EARL MOSELEY
Staff Writer

Charity clinic plans, discussed for two and a half hours Tuesday night at the Hereford Community Center by ten local doctors and 20 area residents, revealed a need here for such a clinic. Most of the doctors present expressed views that it was a move in desperation to curb possible major epidemic outbreaks here that they would find "impossible to curb under present conditions."

Also discussed was whether such a clinic should be located in quarters previously used as a clinic in St. Joseph's Mission at the Labor Camp or near the Deaf Smith County Hospital, and who should foot the bill of an estimated $35, 000 per year expense the clinic would need for operating expenses. There was talk of a possible bond issue in lieu of sponsorship.

Doctors present at the meeting were unanimous toward donating their services for the clinic's operation. At meeting's end, the entire group was in accord on the necessity of clinic facilities but were aware of many problems which would have to be ironed out before plans could be completed.

Decision was reached that a steering committee be appointed whose responsibility it would be "to get the project off the ground." It was expected that this committee would be appointed before the end of the week.

One of the most pressing problems of Hereford is revealed as a shortage in the medical ranks. But they illustrated that, although short in numbers, they could treat more patients by far through a clinic than in their private offices (because much of the responsibility would "fall on the shoulders of the nurses") and that they would still be in a position to serve their regular patients without inconvenience. Only the dentists felt that they could better serve the indigent patient through the equipment in their own private offices.

And the personal attitudes of the people of Deaf Smith County were also brought into the "friendly debate" — ranging from deep pride to extreme prejudice. One doctor reported to the Brand following the meeting that members of the medical profession in the county treat numerous diseases here "that are considered medieval everywhere else" because other counties "nipped these diseases in the bud many years ago." He pointed out that many residents of Deaf Smith County are not properly informed on necessary health programs.

Their key phrase was that "this health problem doesn't just affect a few people here but everyone."

DR. C. E. RUSH SPEAKS
Dr. Clyde Rush took the lead at the meeting by announcing to the group of local pastors, Red Cross representative, County welfare agent, Chamber of Commerce manager, and private citizens that "we need your help to establish a clinic. There are people in Hereford who feel like they cannot see a doctor, and many do not get the care we think they ought to have. We need a place where they can be seen without expense at all. But it brings up problems."

Dr. Rush pointed out that local doctors have received a lot of bad publicity. "A lot of people from other towns have said we do not take care of our own people. True, we are short-handed. We have not gone out seeking those who are ill. But we have done our best." He stated that a clinic here would rectify much of this false impression along with supplying an urgent need. He related the story of the beginning of the clinic at the Labor Camp. "It worked in the Labor Camp mainly. But it wasn't successful. At least, it gave us a start. There is a location, but it is out of town."

He explained that when he first arrived in Hereford he was given a tour of the Labor Camp by Virgil Dodson (who was present at the Tuesday night meeting) and then places in the city "that were just as bad. But wherever they are, they ought to be treated when they are sick."

Dr. Rush said that it was problematical for doctors here to treat all patients. "But we have the need. The Catholic Church has done a great deal for these people — but the doctors have actually done it. The doctors have treated these patients and have had to pay their own nurses, X-ray and lab technicians."

He posed the question: "Is this treatment the doctor's responsibility or is it other people's?"

The expense of nurses and a social worker were brought out at this point along with the selection of charity patients. "Who and how much should they pay for the services? All treatment has to be paid for in some way." Federal aid was discussed — "but they will tell us what to do" — and state aid, "— but they wouldn't be able to supply the people needed or the people to operate it."

He said, "That leaves two people — the city and the county. I believe the city and county ought to take a hand in the support of the clinic."

Dr. Rush listed the cost of a new clinic building at $50,000. "Of course, using St. Joseph's Clinic wouldn't take that much."

OTHER DOCTORS SPEAK
Dr. J. H. McCrary reported that he and Dr. Howard Johnson had brought the clinic matter up with the Deaf Smith County Hospital board, last month. "The hospital is running in the black but on a very small margin, and they are in no position to take on a load right now." But he felt that the county hospital would permit the use of their lab and X-ray facilities, and pointed out that they would not consider making house calls from St. Joseph's Clinic "because that is second-rate medicine. But we are sitting ducks for epidemics here."

Transportation problems involving transporting necessary patients and information between St. Joseph's and the hospital was said to be no problem. It was reported that a number of people had already volunteered their services in this behalf.

Dr. Johnson emphasized that any clinic here must be efficient "because of the doctor shortage. We all have obligations to our private practices and must utilize our time."

Sister Yvonne, principal of St. Joseph's Mission School, pointed out that she has learned that many of the residents in the Labor Camp will go to doctors at Friona and Dimmitt "because of a lot of prejudice here." But Dr. Johnson replied that the doctors here treat just as many of them who have already been to other towns for medical services.

Bill Thompson, Chamber manager (who pointed out later that he appeared not as the official representative of the local chamber but as a private citizen) stated that he was opposed to the location of a clinic here in the Labor Camp, "because it would be one more reason to continue the Labor Camp. The camp is not necessarily permanent." But the Rev. Fred Howard, vicar of St. Thomas Episcopal Church, said, "As a practical reason, it is not where patients are treated, but what we are faced with in the community to bring doctors and the clinic together. If the Labor Camp is bulldozed away, a lot of prayers will be answered. But we've got to start somewhere. We don't have the $50,000 for a new clinic. Can we work out the logistics there?"

Eugene Brink, pastor of First Christian Church, inquired about public health nurses. Dr. Rush replied that Hereford is not large enough.

Dr. McCrary said that the doctors did not want to run the clinic on a trial basis — where next month it might be gone. "We want to run it with a steel framework."

The Rev. Simeon Heine, pastor of St. Anthony's Church, stated that he felt the title "free clinic" should not be used. "Change the name to the City-County Clinic — the C. C. C. Make it a community project." He also stated that should they decide not to use the St. Joseph's Clinic facilities, that the church would donate any of the equipment there for a clinic elsewhere in the city. "The Labor Camp is a stopgap, the other is long-range."

Mrs. Jewel Smith, County Welfare supervisor, said, "I wonder if the city and the county knows how much we owe the doctors here? I know better than anybody how much we send over to them — the same with the hospital — and they have never turned anybody down. They have done a magnificent job. And I have never heard them grumble. I can understand how a doctor can see his own patients in his own office — and see indigents there too and have his own patients go elsewhere. I agree with Dr. Rush. We need more local support."

POINT OF SUPPORT

Thompson asked if the clinic matter could be taken before the chamber. Unanimously, the answer was yes.

Thompson said, "When this town is sold on the need for something, they get it. If you need the clinic near the hospital, let's get it! If the leadership of the city is sold on the project, it will be done."

He pointed out that Deaf Smith County has never turned down a need when the people fully understood the problem. An example was the Community Center, where the meeting was being held. "The people here felt that a Community Center was needed. So they built one. Look at everything else here."

Thompson indicated that the best approach to the problem was a full explanation to the farmer and agri-businessman here, and gain their support. Dr. McCrary said, "We have an unusual community. Some people here can afford almost anything — some others can afford almost nothing. The situation here is similar to the Rio Grande Valley. There is no concept of the problems. I am almost afraid we are going to plow up a snake that we can't fight." He compared Hereford to the recent epidemic problem at Austin and said that this county would not now have the same facilities to fight the problem as Austin has, even on a smaller scale.

Thompson agreed with The Rev. Heine and stated that those at the meeting should "quit referring to the project as a charity clinic and call it a Public Health Center and free clinic in connection. Hereford would be the first city of its size to have one."

Dr. D. E. McBrayer pointed out that the project should be boosted by a number of organizations and not the Chamber of Commerce alone. Thompson agreed and the members of the group decided to contact all civic clubs for support "to get the ball rolling."

Dr. Rush concluded, "I feel encouraged."

Panhandle Family Featured In Film

A Texas ranch family — the Solon Higginses of near Dalhart — is one of four families featured in a new U. S. Department of Agriculture movie to be leased next week.

The 20-minute color movie, "Heritage of the Plains," will have its Texas premiere on an Amarillo television station, KV-II, on Saturday, Dec. 7 at 5:30 p. m.

The film depicts the experiences of the four landowners as they plan and carry out a complete soil and water conservation program on their holdings under the Great Plains Conservation Program.

Featured with Solon Higgins, his son Rusty, and grandson Ted, are the Art Pember family of Ness City, Kansas; the Darl Hacker family of near Torrington, Wyoming; and the Hall brothers, Don and Wallace, of near Beach, North Dakota.

The four owners, all with problems typical of the Plains with its recurrent drought, high winds, dust storms, intense rainstorms and other emergencies, began their work under the federally sponsored program in 1958.

The four developed full-scale farm or ranch conservation plans with technical help from the USDA Soil Conservation Service and used federal cost-sharing from SCS to push ahead faster with the needed work. They repaired damaged cropland and range areas, switched hazardous cropland to grass, fenced for better grass management, developed stockwater and performed other needed soil and water conservation work. The Higgins ranch was infested with yucca, which restricted the grass cover. Control of the yucca was a major objective in Higgins' plan.

Grandson Ted Higgins was a 3-year-old "hand" when the first filming was done, with special saddle and stirrups to fit. In the closing scenes he is an experienced member of the outfit.

Pember is the third generation of Pembers on the Kansas farm homesteaded by his grandfather. He had begun conservation work but the special Great Plains program helped him to complete the job. Darl Hacker was developing a ranch made up largely of unsuitable cropland on farms abandoned in the 1930's. The Hall brothers had enough grass for a stable ranching operation but much of it was too far from water.

The Great Plains Conservation Program, which was authorized by Congress in 1956 with $150 million to be spent on sound conservation work, is being used by soil and water conservation district cooperators in 421 high-risk counties in the 10 Great Plains states. More than 30,000 landowners have entered the program and have planted nearly 2 million acres of cropland to grass. Nearly 10,000 have completed all needed conservation work. The program ends in 1971.

Organizations wishing to show the film locally may contact Wilton Green at the Soil Conservation Service office, 315 West Third.

commissioners. Each was advised that the sub-committee would meet again on Dec. 2 and that all suggestions would be appreciated toward the locations of "all landmarks" which should be included at time.

With Mrs. Cope were Mrs. Leo Witkowski, Mrs. A. J. Bezner, and Mrs. Paul Corbett. Also appearing with them were Juston McBride, Rita Huckert, and Forrest.

Wilton Green of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service presented the commissioners with individual copies of "Soil Survey of Deaf Smith County," with additional copies for the tax office in an effort to help them compile future tax evaluations. Green reported to them that his office had 1,500 copies of the survey to be distributed here and would appreciate their helping him pass this information along to interested people in the county.

Commissioners approved a water and gas line in Precinct 1 on the T. J. Parsons place, and a gas line on the A. R. Dillard place in Precinct 2.

an early date by the new Secretary of Agriculture.
2. An export certificate of $1 per bushel.

RESOLUTIONS

1. WHEREAS, this association feels it was the intent of the Agricultural Act of 1965 that all producers receive full parity for domestically consumed wheat.

THEREFORE, we recommend that domestic certificates be paid on the difference between local county loan rate and parity rather than the difference between national average loan rate and parity as is currently paid.

2. WHEREAS, it seems certain that present representatives of the U. S. Government at International Grains arrangement meetings will be replaced with the change of administration next year, thereby disrupting continuity.

THEREFORE, we recommend that bona fide wheat producers continue to be made official members of the U. S. — I. G. A. team.

3. WHEREAS, wheat programs after the 1970 crop will possibly be changed.

THEREFORE, we recommend that contact be made not only by this association but also by the National Association of Wheat Growers with the incoming administration for a workable program that will be economically feasible and fair to wheat producers in relation to other segments of the economy.

4. WHEREAS, it has been a long standing policy of this association that commodity organizations best represent the interests of each commodity.

THEREFORE, we recommend the formation of a National Wheat Board, which would formulate all policies concerning wheat production and marketing. Programs and policies passed by this board would become law unless vetoed by the Congress of the U.S.

A majority of the representation on this board to be made up of bona fide wheat producers. The members would be elected on a non-political basis by wheat farmers.

5. WHEREAS, a limitation of payments for farm program participants will likely occur in the 91st session of Congress.

THEREFORE, we recommend that the President of the National Association of Wheat Growers appoint a committee comprised of one member from each member state to study and recommend a workable system of limitations. This committee to work with other farm groups. Be it further recommended that conservation payments, commodity loans, and processor certificates be exempted in computing maximum payments.

6. WHEREAS, due to the lack of a strategic reserve of wheat in 1966, wheat producers of this country have suffered from low wheat prices for two years because of over production caused by excessive allotment increases for the 1967 crop.

THEREFORE, we recommend the establishment of a National Strategic Wheat Reserve under the following guidelines:

a. C. C. C. held stocks and farm stores.

b. C. C. C. stocks be isolated from the market at a release price of no less than 100 per cent parity, less the value of the processor certificate.

c. C. C. C. stocks to be acquired in the market place.

d. Total level of reserve stocks be approximately 400 million bushels.

e. Wheat producers to have first chance to contract one-half of this 400 million bushel.

7. WHEREAS, due to contract expiration, land placed into the soil bank in past years is now coming out of retirement. This land is going back to wheat production and contributing to the build up of carry over stocks, and further depressed prices.

THEREFORE, we recommend that under any new soil bank or land retirement programs that regulations be included in the law which would allow direct payment benefits, but would restrict actual production of the historically based crop if a surplus exists at the termination of the contract.

8. WHEREAS, many land purchases are being made by parties and corporations not receiving their main income from agriculture, and

WHEREAS, these outside interests are using farm losses to reduce income tax burdens of business other than agriculture, and

WHEREAS, this type of procedure places outside interests coming into agriculture in unfair competition with the farmer.

THEREFORE, DSCWGA favors legislation which will prevent agriculture losses from being applied to other business incomes to offset income taxes.

9. WHEREAS, national average support price of wheat is quoted at $1.25 per bushel and loan price is the same $1.25, but cannot be attained until loan maturity date. At this time the producer has approximately 10 months storage against the wheat; so instead of $1.25, he actually received only $1.15 per bushel and 10 cents storage.

THEREFORE, we recommend that loan rates announcements actually reflect the true loan value and not loan plus storage.

10. WHEREAS, wheat flour has become non-competitive price wise with corn flour, soy flour, and milo flour due to the processor certificate on wheat of 75 cents per bushel. This situation has caused much substitution of corn and milo flour in baked products.

THEREFORE, we recommend a processor certificate of comparable value be applied to corn, soy, and milo flour used domestically for human food.

11. WHEREAS, per capita consumption of wheat in the U. S. is steadily declining.

THEREFORE, DSCWGA continues to endorse the principle of the Wheat and Wheat Foods Foundation and strongly urge the continued efforts in promoting the wheat and wheat products in the American diet.

12. WHEREAS, farm programs change from year to year and there is a continuing need for communications between farmers and ASCS.

THEREFORE, DSCWGA recommends that county ASCS offices continue to have yearly county wide meetings for each major commodity grown in each county.

14. WHEREAS, wheat currently speaks with three voices through National Association of Wheat Growers, Great Plains Wheat, and Western Wheat Association, and

WHEREAS, it is imperative that one voice should speak for wheat to accomplish our goals.

THEREFORE, DSCWGA strongly urges the continued work toward the goal of one U. S. wheat organization.

15. WHEREAS, wheat product exports represent an important market outlet for growers as well as processors, and

WHEREAS, the wheat processors are required to pay the same certificate liability on all wheat processed for export as for domestic use of wheat, and

WHEREAS, this situation causes wheat products to be non-competitive with other cereal grain products on a bid basis.

THEREFORE, we recommend that millers not be charged for certificates on flour for export under donation program.

The DSCWGA also recommended "that the USDA make full use of the provisions contained in Public Law 480 and urge that wheat be made available to hungry people on a regular and continuing basis."

ding street improvements in the sector. However, the city commission has already agreed to "fully cooperate" with the school system in their construction plans.

But the architect, trustees and administrators voiced doubts that construction will be completed in time for occupancy in September 1969. They reported that it will largely depend on the construction workers who will be involved in the project, who have as yet not been contracted. The estimated time loss was from 2 to 4 months after the beginning of the school term.

Clark pointed out, however, that it is imperative that the plans of the new school design be "gone over thoroughly" prior to the beginning of the construction starting date, in order to eliminate costly mistakes and additional delays.

Trustees concurred that the new school is revolutionary in design and will be the "pattern setter" for the Panhandle and Plains.

It was brought to light that the American Association of School Administrators had invited Clark to "join a select group of approximately 30 administrators" for a field trip to Scandinavia, April 20 through May 12, 1969.

Clark had previously been invited to participate in such a field trip to Russia while still superintendent of the Oltion schools but had by-passed it due to his joining the Hereford schools during that same year. The trustees urged him to file application at this time.

Purpose of the trip was explained "as a study of the schools of Denmark, Norway and Sweden. It will include an examination of the curriculum, standards of achievement, methods, organizational patterns and administrative techniques."

The group will function as a seminar team and a brief session prior to departure will be held. Seminar discussions will follow day-to-day observations.

New Manager At Credit Union

Milton Russell Durham will become manager of Hereford Texas Federal Credit Union on Dec. 2, it was announced Wednesday.

Flake Barber, who has been manager for the past several months, has resigned to enter private business.

Durham is a native of Waurika, Okla. and has attended Cameron College at Lawton and Arlington State College at Arlington, Tex. For the past three years, he has been associated with Cuna Mutual Insurance Society and was previously with the Synamoid Company for three years.

Heavy Damage In Accident

A collision at the intersection of U. S. 385 and Thirteenth Street about 10:50 p. m. Saturday resulted in an estimated $1,000 damage to two vehicles and slight injuries to one person.

Involved in the collision were a 1966 Plymouth driven by Oscar Lee Williams of 922 S. Main and a 1968 Chevrolet pickup driven by Roberto Nino of Dumas. There was an estimated $400 damage to the Williams car and $600 damage to the pickup.

Officers said Williams was going west on Thirteenth and started to cross the highway into the Blow and Go parking lot when he was struck by the pickup as it headed north on U.S. 385.

Williams was slightly injured in the accident, but did not leave the scene. Nino received a citation for driving while intoxicated.

AUSTIN HIGHLIGHTS

Smith Setting Up His Staff For Take Over Of Top Spot

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN — Lt. Gov. Preston Smith is making arrangements to take office as governor on January 21.

He already has selected some of his official family. Jim Oliver of the Legislative Board, which Smith now heads, will become the director of the executive budget office.

Jerry Hall, chief of the Capitol Bureau for Newspapers, Inc. — the Austin, Waco, Port Arthur and Lufkin dailies — will become Smith's press secretary.

Certain to have a top job, either as secretary of state or as chief administrative assistant, will be Harold Dudley, who managed Smith's campaigns.

SCHOOL — New members of the Legislature came to Austin for two days to learn the ropes about the legislative process.

Speaker-to-be Gus Mutscher of Brenham, with the help of the Legislative Council, arranged the orientation sessions.

Turn-over in the legislature this year was low. Only 30 new members were named to the 150-member House, and only three new senators among the 31-member Senate.

POVERTY — With 28.8 percent of the Texas families having incomes under $3,000, well above the national average of 21.4 per cent, Gov. John Connally feels that Texas should continue to make every effort to find and cure the cause of poverty.

In his report on operations of the Texas Office of Economic Opportunity, the governor said that $113,038,642 in Federal money was allocated to anti-poverty programs in Texas during the year ended August 3.

COURTS SPEAK — On January 8 the State Supreme Court will review an Amarillo man's suit against a TV station as negligent in manufacturing a brake assembly on a new Ford truck that hit an Amarillo couple's car.

Trinity River Authority was loser in its effort to enforce a condemnation award for property it sought in San Jacinto County. Supreme Court overruled the application for mandamus.

Another loser was a Lubbock man trying to collect damages for arm cuts suffered when he accidentally rammed a fist through a liquor store glass door. Supreme Court declined to reverse court of civil appeals rejection of a jury award of $2,524.

High court refused to order District Judge Woodrow Laughlin of Alice to throw out pre-trial findings of a retired special judge in a South Texas couple's suit against an Alice hospital.

Secretary of State Roy Barre recommended that Governor Connally deny a request for an extradition warrant for Paul A. Moskos, one-time Corpus Christi financier, paroled to Arizona after serving a federal prison sentence for selling securities without a license.

Medical certification from a doctor still will be required on those claiming benefits as being totally disabled. A pilot program has been under way in the Austin, Nacogdoches and Houston areas. It will be expanded statewide by July 1.

APPOINTMENTS — Governor Connally named Judge James F. Parker chief justice of the Ninth Court of Civil Appeals in Beaumont and picked Beaumont attorney Quentin Keith as an associate justice on the same court.

Glenn Biggs, former Abilene businessman, has been named president of National Western Life Insurance Company of Austin of the board of Mid-West National Life Insurance Company of Tennessee.

Oil Year Bright — For the fourth straight month the Railroad Commission left the allowable unchanged at 41.3 per cent of potential, permitting a December maximum production of 3,027,299 barrels daily.

December pattern will average out the year at 44 percent of potential which (by the old standard) means 164.3 million flowing days — highest since the 171-days of production during the 1956-57 Suez crisis.

Five of 14 major Texas crude oil buyers asked bigger allowable, three less and six the same.

LAND BOOM — Buyers aplenty showed up at the Veterans Land Board's sealed-bid sale at which 233 repossessed tracts were offered to high bidders.

Total number of bids were 898, and the board accepted the high bids on all the tracts except four. One 74-acre farm in Guadalupe County drew 90 bidders.

Board even managed to sell a 50-acre tract in Maverick County on which no bids were received the first four times it was offered. It was one of the "block deals" from the veterans land scandals of the 1950's, and this time it drew 10 bidders.

WELFARE — Social workers for the State Department of Welfare soon will begin to spend their time trying to help solve the problems of people on welfare, instead of checking on their income.

A new policy was announced by State Welfare Commissioner Burton Hackney, after the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare decided to try the new system nationwide.

Persons applying for federal-state grants because they are needy will merely fill out a declaration form, and they will be accepted.

Hackney said states that have tried this system, and then tested it by spot-checking, have found that very few people give untruthful information.

So the time of the highly-trained social welfare workers can be spent trying to arrange job training or other programs to help get recipients off the welfare rolls. In the past, much of their time has been spent in a "policeman's role," checking to make sure that those who get old-age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the needy blind or totally disabled, did not have hidden sources of income.

Medical certification from a doctor still will be required on those claiming benefits as being totally disabled. A pilot program has been under way in the Austin, Nacogdoches and Houston areas. It will be expanded statewide by July 1.

APPOINTMENTS — Governor Connally named Judge James F. Parker chief justice of the Ninth Court of Civil Appeals in Beaumont and picked Beaumont attorney Quentin Keith as an associate justice on the same court.

Glenn Biggs, former Abilene businessman, has been named president of National Western Life Insurance Company of Austin of the board of Mid-West National Life Insurance Company of Tennessee.

EAGLE SCOUT AWARD — Roger Barrett, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Barrett of 210 West Fifth, received his Eagle Scout badge during ceremonies Monday night at the First Christian Church.

Letter To The Editor

Dear editor, Our farmers are being paid large sums to keep land out of production. Why can't our government buy land from the large operator, and sell it to the farm laborer on longtime payments.

Our government should see that it is made possible for a man to own a farm, and not be forced to work for a landlord. The only reason anyone could want to farm more than he can do by himself is cause he is in temperate, avaricious, or vanity.

We go to other countries to fight communism. If we will show them our government is one of the people by the people and for the people they will want a government such as ours.

don't want that to happen in their country. We don't have just one dictator in this country, here we have thousands all united in an effort to keep the laborer from ever having a farm of his own.

The landlords are our dictators telling our gov what they want did. We should stop all soil bank payments except to those who do their own farming.

The Texas Highway Department has agreed to a traffic count at the intersection of Moreman and U. S. 385, city officials have announced.

The city requested the traffic count for purposes of putting up traffic signals at the busy intersection. It is not known when the traffic count will be taken.

ful to buy land purely for speculative purposes. This situation of big farms and speculation has crept up on us without us knowing how serious would be its consequences. Capitalism isn't evil in itself but its operation independent of Christian principles has tended to promote a ruthless individualist spirit, which has had tragic consequences for the whole economy (more some otherday).

Herd To Face Kermit Saturday

At 2 p.m. In Jones Stadium

by MARSHALL DAY
Sports Editor

Ancient history will be revived this Saturday when the Hereford Whitefaces find themselves playing in the state high school football playoffs in Lubbock against the highly regarded Kermit Yellowjackets.

The trip to Lubbock will mark the first time in 17 years since the Whitefaces have been able to step outside the district boundaries with the district representative role under their belts. Dumas, who has dominated district 1-AAA since its origination, is now replaced with a team that has starved itself for a good many years for a bi-district berth. Now Hereford has its chance, and is looking forward to taking advantage of it.

Kermit, by the same token, has suffered through ten long, dry years for a district championship and have at last come up with one. What started out as a bad year for the Yellowjackets, didn't stay that way long. After the first game of the season, which they lost, they came back and have won nine straight. They go into the game a heavy favorite over the Whitefaces and the locals are looking to make a few experts eat their own words.

For his second year at the helm of a Whiteface team, head coach and athletic director Larry Wartes has been rewarded well for his time, as he has also rewarded fans for their time this year by providing the golden thumb that won the coin toss for the district representative. Wartes has accomplished, with his team this year, what four other coaches had failed to do — enter the state playoffs with a Whiteface team. Now, he hopes to head this team even further if possible.

Despite the unimpressive record by the Whitefaces going into the game, it is evident that they have played better ball than it indicates. Their losses this year — five — puts them into the state playoffs with the worst record of any team. These five games, though, were all close-scoring ones with the margin of victory slim for the Whiteface opponents. Hereford has scored 188 points while they have been scored on for 101 in the regular ten games.

Kermit, the number nine ranked team in the state, has seen fit to put 276 points on the board and allowing their opposition a mere 96, an average of 27.6 points per game on offense and 9.6 allowed by their defense.

The Yellowjackets field a relatively small defensive unit with the average player weighing in at about 168 pounds. Their lack in weight is greatly offset by their tremendous speed and ground game that has aided their nine-game winning streak.

On defense, the Jackets have another small group of players, but again their size is redeemed by their speed. Their heaviest player on the defensive crew is 191 pounds with only two others tilting the scales over 170.

Kermit will field four two-way starters — Pat Spinks, who was the leading scorer for the Jackets last year on the varsity squad; Bobby Brown, who sees action as a guard on offense and a line backer on defense; Howard Porter, the number four scorer in district 2-AAA; and Bobby Neely, who goes as a tackle and then as an end.

"Kermit has a real well balanced attack," said coach Wartes, "but they don't have any single outstanding player for them. They play as a combined unit and go with the pass when necessary and have a very good ground game."

Hereford, who began the season as the third-rate underdog in the district, will pit their towering defense against the Kermit offensive aggregation which is noted for its fine plays that have gained them a spot in the state's top ten in AAA competition. Only once in the past eleven weeks have the Whiteface defenders allowed their opposition more than 16 points on any one occasion. Kermit has, offensively, never been stopped with less than 14 points in any game. In seven of their games, the Yellowjackets have scored not less than 32 points, with their biggest margin of victory coming over the hapless Ft. Stockton Panthers, 50-14. In the Ft. Stockton game, the Kermit team scored 42 points in the first nine minutes of the game, then went on to their easy win.

Kermit's 276 points thus far this season have been amassed against teams such as Monahans, Seminole, Ft. Stockton, Denver City, Austin High of El Paso, Carlsbad, N. M., Hobbs, N. M., Pecos, Andrews and Brady. Hobbs, who was the only team to win over the Jackets, won 24-14 while the only other teams holding the Kermit team down in scoring were Monahans, who lost 14-6 and Carlsbad, who lost 15-6. Kermit defeated Austin High of EP, 32-14; Denver City, 35-6; Brady, 33-0; Pecos, 36-6; Andrews, 47-15; and Seminole, 46-26.

Hereford enters the game with few injuries as of Tuesday, but as Wartes commented, "we just can't say anything until Friday, because you never can tell when some little old something can come up and one of the boys winds up hurt."

The opportunity of making history has already beckoned the Whitefaces once this year with their first district 1-AAA championship, and all the chips will be on the table again as they will attempt to make it for the second time in as many weeks when they meet Kermit Saturday. The bi-district tilt is scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. in Texas Tech's Jones Stadium, in Lubbock.

McCutchen, Manchee, Tomasi Win Bowl Tickets In Football Contest

Leon McCutchen edged past a field of guessers in the final week's football contest of the year to win the first place prize of two tickets to the Cotton Bowl game on New Year's day in Dallas. McCutchen wound up the eleven week's guessing with a total of 127 correct guesses.

Second and third place guessing for the two single Bowl tickets ended up a tie with John Tomasi and Mal Manchee each getting a total of 126 games right. Each will receive one ticket to the Cotton Bowl classic.

Others who wrapped up the contest in good form were Therese Albracht, Cawthon Bryant, Darrel Dirks and Don Lane, all with 123 correct guesses for the year; Bob Renfro, Clyde Schmer and Waldo Baxter, all with 124; and Ronnie Roberts and John David Bryant, both with 125.

In the final weekly contest, Cheryl Arney, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Arney, of 101 Douglas, out-guessed all other entrants with a perfect entry form of 16 correct guesses. Not only did she get all the games correct, but she came the closest to the tie-breaker score as she missed it by only nine points.

Miss Arney received the $8 first place prize money for her guessing while second place money went to Wynn Buck, of Sherman. Buck got 15-of-16 correct as did Cawthon Bryant who was third in the contest, but came closer to the tie-breaker than did Bryant. Buck missed the decider by 13 points and Bryant by 16.

Walcott Cagers Open District Play With Wins

Walcott's boys and girls basketball teams opened district play Monday night with each team collecting wins over Springlake.

The girls team breezed to a comfortable 31-13 win over the Springlake group of females while the boys edged the opposition, 31-28. Cage coach Ed Easley commented on the game that "both teams played real aggressive defensive ball and I was real proud of the guards and forwards on the girl's team."

Walcott will meet Farwell in their next district contest Monday, Dec. 2, at the Walcott gymnasium. Gametime is set for 5:30 p. m. for the girls' game and the boys will play immediately afterwards.

This is the first year in the history of the Walcott school that their basketball teams have participated in district competition. Also included in the same district are Springlake, Farwell, Bovina, Vega and Sudan. The six teams will play a home-and-away schedule before entering the district tournament which is scheduled for Feb. 14-16 at Bovina.

Whiteface Cagers Lose First Two Games Of '68 Campaign

Suffering from a lack of height, the Whiteface basketball team has been met with rough going in their first two games of the 1968 campaign. They dropped a 47-37 decision to Caprock last Saturday night and fell before the onslaught of the towering Palo Duro Dons Tuesday, 74-44.

In Tuesday's contest, the Herd cagers jumped to a quick lead in the opening minutes of the game and staved off the Dons for the remainder of the first quarter to hold a two-point, 13-11 lead. The dons then exploded mid-way through the second period to take a lead they never relinquished.

At the end of the third period, the Whitefaces found themselves trailing by nearly 20 points. A short-lived rally was halted by the Palo Duro defense as they played ball control the rest of the game, with the final score ending with the Dons victorious, 74-44.

High pointer for the locals in the game was Santry Rush who netted eight points. He was closely followed by Dusty Duncan and Percy Mays who had seven points each.

Last Saturday, in the season opener for the Whitefaces, they lost a hard-fought game to the AAAA Caprock Longhorns, 56-37.

Caprock surged out front by 14 points in the first period of play, then coasted for 19 points in the second stanza while the locals fought for nine points in the first and 14 points in the second quarters. Dusty Duncan led the attack in the first period as he registered seven of the Whitefaces nine points. He then added six in the second period to account for the narrowing of the Caprock lead.

Caprock was slowed by the Whitefaces' full-court press in the second half as they were held to only 16 points while the locals grabbed the same number, though not sufficient to overtake the visitors. Jim Rakestraw put the majority of the Herd points on the board in the second half as he burned the net for seven of the 16.

High pointer for the Whitefaces was Duncan with 16 while Rakestraw also hit in the double figures with 11.

In "B" team action for the two games, the locals won their first game then dropped the second game to the Palo Duro Don's "B" squad. Saturday night, they edged past the Caprock team 39-38, but fell Tuesday, 49-39 to the Palo Duro team.

John Sparks and Mike Wartes led the "B" team attack in the Caprock game with 12 points each while Alan Wagner, Danny Hicks, Donnie McDermitt and Gary Lemons also accounted for the remainder of the scoring.

The "B" teamers trailed by one point in the first period of play then came back to take a one-point lead themselves at the end of the second quarter, 18-17. Caprock then came back in the third stanza to take a three point lead and then the locals played catch-up ball in the final period until they overtook the visitors for the final 39-38 score.

In the Palo Duro game, the "B" teamers Wartes again was in the double figures in scoring with a high of 13. He was followed by Lemons with 10 and Wagner with nine.

The Hereford group led by one point in the first period, but that was as close as they ever got to winning the game as the Dons burst forth for 19 points in the second period while holding them to only 10. From then on out, the game was never close for the Dons as they continued hitting from all over the floor to sew the contest up with a final tally of 49-39.

Both the varsity and "B" teams will next see action when they travel to the Amarillo tournament this weekend. They are scheduled to play Friday afternoon for their first game.

OUTDISTANCED — Hereford cagers found themselves on the short end of the game with the Palo Duro Dons Tuesday night as the Don's overpowering height proved too much for them to handle. In the top photo, Bill McMinn looks on as two Palo Duro players out jump him for a rebound. In the bottom picture, Dusty Duncan loops one up as a Don attempts to block it.

Davis, Head Are Players Of Week

Oren Davis, Whiteface end, and James Head, defensive linebacker, were selected as the players of the week for the game against the Dumas Demons last Friday.

Head was credited with nine tackles and assists, with two or three of them termed as "pretty good licks". Head is a junior who weighs in at about 155 pounds.

Davis, who did an outstanding job at the offensive end blocking station, was also credited with one pass reception which covered 19 yards. He is a senior who tips the scales at 155 also.

THANKS
Are we as truly thankful as we should be? Do we know the real measure of gratitude? Have you ever taken an invoice of all the many blessings that are yours? TRY THIS! PLEASE... then with an open heart of deep gratitude, offer humble THANKS to the Father of all our blessings.

"Give us this day our daily bread," is prayed in many languages by millions of people around the world every day of their lives. Some pray in quiet desperation. For them the answer will not come, but here in the United States of America we murmur it in an unconcerned manner because we have food in such abundance. Are we thankful enough? Remember those less fortunate and be grateful with a full heart on our national holiday of Thanksgiving."

Mrs. E. O. Barton, President of Texas Garden Clubs.
This is also a season we can share some of our blessings. We can all give love and understanding and show our concern, in such a manner that it will be accepted. As the world's population increases, and we hear of others, heartaches, and needs, these two attributes of the human spirit become more necessary than ever before. Let us each resolve to make this a Thanksgiving which will be written on the tablets of our hearts as one of sincere THANKS and sharing with others. Remember that there are many who do not need material gifts, but they do need a bit of cheer, an expression of appreciation, words of encouragement, a sincere token of love. A letter to one of our men in service would be a very fine expression of THANKS and sharing.

African Violets
Yes I have a pretty, sweet pink one 'Pink Perfection' which is now in bloom that I can use on this Thanksgiving Day for a gift of thanks and appreciation. When I mention these violets that are now blooming I want to say THANKS to a dear friend who started them for me, from leaves, Potted them and brought them safely to me now I am enjoying their beautiful blossoms. Thanks Essie... they are sure pretty.

Last Tuesday, when we Garden Club members were on our way to Borger to attend the North Zone meeting we talked about African Violets. Mrs. Ray Johnson our club president said in the course of the conversation that she was going to organize a Society for African Violet growers in our area. (NOTE If you are interested call Mrs. Ray Johnson 276-5383 or Glad 364-1343) After organization, the local society can be a unit of The American African Violet Society.

I asked Mrs. Johnson (Billee) some questions relative to her experiences with African violets, and these are some of the answers she gave me.

"Why did you start growing African Violets?" answer because it was a project of our Garden Club, and other people encouraged me to grow them."

When did your interest increase? answer. When I started sharing them with my mother. She had grown them when she was physically able to do so, and she enjoyed them so very much. Each day she would tell me of the new buds and of the open blossoms, and that they needed food, or to be moved. Her interest encouraged me, and they made her shut-in days more pleasant.

How many did you start with? answer, I started with six (6) potted plants and several leaves which I grew small plants from, then friends shared with me.

How many do you have now? About forty (40) potted plants. Where do you like to keep them the most, or what light exposure do you find the best? answer, Oh I keep them in all the rooms some have a north light exposure, others in a south window, some in the east windows, and in livingroom near a west light exposure. I do believe that the windows should be screened or a glass curtain should be used, to sift the light and break it down if too intense.

Are your plants in bloom now? answer, yes they are, all of them are blooming beautifully. I even thought the other day that I would cut a bouquet of them for you, the stems are so long that they would make nice cut flower. They also press beautifully, and can be treated in a manner that they can be used to make beautiful pictures or stationary.

What size pots are they in? answer, They are usually started in 4 inch pots then I get them into larger pots as soon as I can, as this promotes growth and blooms. I am now doing some experimenting. As soon as I can I will transplant the plants to six inch pots (clay) and then into 8 inch pots, as they grow and adjust to the transplant I will keep the buds and blossoms pinched, and not let them bloom until they are in 8 inch pots: I am growing these for show purposes. This is a suggestion I found in the African Violet Magazine.

What are your favorites? answer, Since I am doing the experiment I chose my four favorites, they are "Pack O' Blooms" (purple) "Lillian Garrett," (pink) "Pink Dale," and "Blue Abundance." At this time they measure about 18 inches across, and some of the blossoms have been as large as a silver dollar.

What is the best food for them? answer, I use many different kinds I have learned that it pays to change the fertilizer. Some of those which I use are: Hypronex, Fish Emulsion (this can be used only in summer when the windows can be opened, because of the odor created) Rose Food (liquid) and other recommended violet foods. I am constantly looking in magazines and stores for different kinds. Another thing I do which I believe is really good, is that I feed them each time I water them. However it is good to not overwater. Then I give them a mist bath every day. Since we have to have the temperature rather high in our house during winter, I have learned that this mist spraying is excellent for the violets.

You really like them don't you? answer, Yes I do, I find them most interesting, responsive, and satisfying, and not too expensive to acquire and raise."
Billee, had a lovely display of African Violets at The Hereford Garden Flower Show, at the Friemel Home, those of you who saw it, will well remember how well they were grown and how beautiful they were.

Happiness
Am real happy that all the bulbs of The Pioneer Study Club have been sold, and that I have all of mine delivered. Many have been planted. The Pioneer Club Park, has been planted with bulbs, and the iris have been divided and planted. This will be a beauty spot in the spring. Mrs. Hromas and her committee are doing an excellent job of Beautification in the park. Other bulbs were planted. A large number were planted in the cutting beds at The Camp Fire Lodge. Mrs. O. G. Hill Sr. directed this, and she also assisted in the planting of over 300 bulbs at The Blue Bonnet School. There will also be other bulbs planted at the Post Office. I had enjoyable visits as I completed my deliveries, (they will be a large planting of daffodils at The Family Medical Clinic) especially enjoyed visiting with Mrs. Harding. She plans to use her hycinth bulbs in planter urns on the patio. The fragrance and pastel beauty of these will be so nice. The colorful ears of corn in the shucks, which she had tucked here and there was most interesting and added charm to the living area. It is truly GOOD to visit with, and know your neighbors. We all should visit more.

REDUCED THRU SATURDAY! FOREMOST P.L.M. WHITEWALLS WITH FULL 4 PLY POLYESTER CORD!

36 MONTH GUARANTEE WITH 18 MONTH FREE REPLACEMENT

Penneys guarantees every Foremost tire against all failures in use — this guarantee lasts for the entire guarantee period stated for each tire. If the tire fails during the guarantee period, return it with your guarantee certificate and Penneys will, at its option: (1) repair the tire, (2) replace it with a new tire, or (3) give you an immediate refund. If we replace the tire during the free replacement period, there is no charge; if we replace the tire after the free replacement period, you pay 50% or 25% less than the current selling price of the tire including the Federal Excise Tax (see guarantee against failure chart for details).

GUARANTEE AGAINST TREAD WEAROUT Penneys guarantees every Foremost tire (except the 72 series) against tread wearout for the entire guarantee period. You benefit as follows: if your tire wears out during the first half of the guarantee period, return it with your guarantee certificate and Penneys will replace your tire with a new tire (the charge for this will be 50% of the current selling price including Federal Excise Tax); if your tire wears out during the second half, the charge will be 75% of the current selling price including Federal Excise Tax. These guarantees do not apply to commercial use of tires.

Here's how your guarantee against failure works:

Hungarian Folk Music Is Music Club Subject

Modern research into Hungarian folk music by such composers as Bartok and Kodaly which has resulted in a conflict of opinion with the findings of Liszt and Brahms a century ago, was discussed by Mrs. Paul Lyons in her talk to Music Study Club Monday afternoon.

Mrs. J. C. McCracken and Mrs. Lowell Sharp were hostesses in the former's home. Mrs. Wes Fisher, vice president, conducted the business period.

Music to illustrate the talk included a piano solo, Thapsodien by Dohnanyi, played by Mrs. McCracken, and a vocal solo by Mrs. R. C. Godwin, a Liszt composition titled Es Mus Ein Wenderbares Sein, with Mrs. C. W. Palmer as accompanist.

The club chorus sang a hymn, Glorious Things of Thee Are Spoken, by Joseph Jaydn, and practiced other songs with Mrs. Palmer conducting and Mrs. Tom Burdett playing accompaniment.

Other members present were Mmes. J. R. Allison, Bill Bradley, W. T. Carmichael, E. L. Coombes, B. Y. Crosthwait, W. E. Dameron, J. T. Gilbreath, T. W. Roberson, A. J. Schroeter and A. O. Thompson, and Miss Frances Dameron.

The next meeting will be held Dec. 9 in the home of Mrs. Steve Clements.

Sunshine Club Sets Yule Party

Meeting in the home of Mrs. A. M. Carmack Tuesday evening, Sunshine Club members planned for their annual Christmas party, to be held the evening of Dec. 10 in Mrs. Edith Sheppard's home.

THE WINE AND THE MUCIC, by William E. Barrett. This new novel by the author of Lillies of the Field probes with rare sensitivity and depth into the crisis of a young priest who faces a soul-shattering decision — whether to remain a representative of God in the Church he loves so deeply, or to leave the priesthood and marry an attractive divorcee who has opened his heart in a way he never dreamed possible.

Here is a fascinating story that is both moving and pertinent in a world where age-old concepts are being scrutinized as never before.

MANY A GREEN ISLE by Agnes Sligh Turnbull. The chief claim of importance of the town of Marsden is the presence in it of Marsden College, which has been educating the sons and daughters of solid, conservative citizens for almost a hundred years. It is a small college, neither rich nor famous, but with tradition and atmosphere and the background of a large and beautiful campus.

As head of Marsden's department of English, Gavin McAllister leads a busy and constructive life. Twenty years earlier he made the choice between romance and ambition and has never regretted his decision. Better — far better — marriage to Cecily and a job in an educational backwater than the Ph.D. which would have led to scholarly advancement. For fate has been kind to Gavin — an ideally happy marriage, four charming children, good friends, a sense of accomplishment in his profession. Even the coveted Ph. D. seems to be within reach. With all well at home, he has been able to save almost enough to enable him to take a year off from teaching and work on his dissertation.

Suddenly, this quiet idyll is shattered by two strokes — independent of each other, yet remotely connected. Everything that Gavin has believed in and worked for is threatened: his family, his career, his position in the community. In his response to these threats and his refusal to compromise with what he feels to be wrong, Gavin shows the stuff he is made of. With courage and wisdom he and Cecily are able at last to emerge from "The Deep Sea of Misery" and regain their own "Green Isle" of safety and happiness.

This is a warm and charming story but it is more than that; for it has in it a profound conception of life's values, which, we feel, will make many readers grateful to the author for having written it.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Wrong Medicine

Given a prescription for her arthritis, a woman took it to the corner drug store to be filled. But the druggist mixed a wrong ingredient into the medicine. As a result, the woman suffered a severe reaction—and later filed suit for damages.

"Don't blame me, blame the doctor," protested the druggist in court. "His writing on that prescription was so illegible it was hard to be sure what he meant. So I filled it according to my best judgment."

But the court held the druggist liable anyhow, blaming him for not checking with the doctor before going ahead.

By and large, pharmacists are held to a standard of care commensurate with the importance of their ancient profession. As one judge put it:

"People trust not merely their health but their lives to the knowledge, care and prudence of druggists."

For that reason, the pharmacist who is careless in filling a prescription is usually responsible for the consequences. There have been damage verdicts not only for wrong ingredients but also for incorrect proportions and for misleading directions.

On the other hand, even when a druggist does make a mistake, he is not liable if there is no causal connection between his mistake and the ultimate injury. Take this case:

A druggist sold a customer a powerful purgative, without properly labelling the bottle. The customer, well aware of what he had bought, mischievously slipped some into a friend's coffee.

For the unhappy consequences to the friend, the druggist was held blameless. The court pointed out that his faulty label had no connection with what happened, because the prankster would have done the same thing even if the label had been right.

Furthermore, a customer must show a reasonable regard for his own safety. In another "wrong medicine" case, the customer made his purchase from a young, inexperienced clerk while the regular pharmacist was out of the store.

Here the clerk, after bringing out a bottle, confessed that he didn't know what he was selling. Nevertheless the customer insisted the medicine must be what he wanted because it "smelled right."

A court ruled afterward that the customer himself was guilty of negligence, for buying medicine by using his nose instead of by using his head.

Miss Laura Gilliland receives wings

Flight Hostess Wings Earned

Miss Laura Gilliland, 22-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Gilliland of Carpenteria, Calif., has received her golden wings from Trans-World Airlines Hostess Training Center in Kansas City, Mo. and is now a TWA Flight Hostess.

Miss Gilliland is the great-niece of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Manjot of Hereford and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pink H. Gilliland of Amarillo.

Miss Gilliland spent her junior year of college at Aix-En-Provence in France. The summer after her junior year was spent with a French family in their castle on the France-Switzerland border.

Miss Gilliland received her B.A. degree from the University for Women at Santa Barbara, Calif. last June. She is now stationed in Chicago and since she is able to speak a foreign language, she hopes to become an international hostess.

4-H DELEGATION READY FOR NATIONAL CONGRESS — Every section of Texas will be represented in the 39-member delegation to the 1968 National 4-H Club Congress. The "cream-of-the-crop" 4-H'ers will be in Chicago from Dec. 1-5 for the event which brings together 4-H champions from every state in the nation.

Cummins, Agency director of school transportation, points out.

"Four children have already been killed this year in accidents involving school buses, all of them little tots in the first three grades," Cummins adds.

School buses were involved in a total of 209 accidents during 1967-68, including eight fatalities and 48 injuries, according to Department of Public Safety records.

Nearly half a million children ride school buses 481,475 miles each school day in Texas, traveling 7,755 routes from big city neighborhoods to the scattered farms and ranches. A total of 399,040 of those daily miles are ridden on surfaced streets or highways while the remaining 82,435 extend along dirt roads.

One key safety suggestion zeroes in on young children, recommending that school bus drivers escort children in the first three grades across streets and roadways at all times. Other rules detail safe methods of boarding the school bus, discharging pupils who live on the right-hand side of the road or across the highway, how students should cross the highway to meet or leave the bus in safe areas, use of flasher lights, and backing (more importantly, not backing) the bus when delivering students.

Art Technique Shown To Guild

Painting in enamel on copper, an art form in which he has done some notable work, was demonstrated by Jon Birdsong to Hereford Art Guild members Tuesday evening. The meeting was in the art room of Stanton Junior High, here Birdsong is art instructor.

He completed a piece in his demonstration, and presented it to Mrs. Ray Cowser as a door prize. Mrs. Birdsong assisted in the registration and was introduced as a club guest.

Plans for the Guild's annual arts and crafts show and sale were completed in the business session, with Mrs. Mark Schaffner presiding. The downtown show is scheduled Dec. 6-8 in the building at 305 North Main. It is open for entries from artists and craftsmen of this

Gift Shop Visit Is Paid By Club

Theme of Young Mothers Study Club's program Tuesday evening was Around The World In 60 Minutes, carried out by a visit to the Chandelier Gift Shop for a look at the varied imports there.

Mrs. Jack Renfro, owner of the shop, and Bob Kite of the staff acted as hosts, showing some particularly interesting items and answering questions about others.

Club members enjoyed seeing Christmas decorations from other lands as well as the gift items. Refreshments were served after the "shopping" hour.

Mrs. Don Brush arranged the program. A short business meeting was held at the Caisson House afterward, with discussion of plans for the club's Christmas party Dec. 10.

Mrs. Glen Brown was welcomed as a guest. Members present included Mmes. Bud Thomas, Charles Springer, Ray Simpson, Chesley Johnston, Travis McPherson, Lynn Pittard, Raymond Gerk, Charles Brown and Jim Arney.

The public is invited to see the exhibit at no admission charge, and to shop for Christmas gifts or for paintings and art objects for their homes.

Mrs. Bruce T. Brown is chairman of the hanging committee and Mrs. E. A. Guinn of the finishing committee.

Hostesses for the Tuesday meeting were Mrs. O. Wertenberger and Mrs. Ruby Lee Hickman. Exhibiting artists were Mmes. S. S. Dodson, Charles Newell, E. W. Young, Wertenberger, Guinn and Cowser, and their work was evaluated by Mrs. Juston McBride.

Others present were Mmes. Alvin Smith, Joe Wade, Robert Veigel, Hilrey Aven, N. D. Bartlett, Si Darling, Victor Elliston, and Miss Lucille Park.

NO SUBSTITUTE — There is no substitute for the beauty of a natural Christmas tree provided care is exercised at the time of purchase and the way it is used. Bill Smith, Extension forester, suggests an early purchase in order to get a fresh tree. Then store it in the shade and keep it moist by frequent spraying with water. Keep it in water after it is placed until discarded. Local county agents can supply a copy of L-722, "Safe Use of Christmas Trees."

County Welfare Head Is Speaker

Mrs. Jewel Smith, administrator of the County Welfare Department, told of the work of her office and of welfare needs in Deaf Smith County, as guest speaker to Lone Star Study Club Tuesday afternoon.

The meeting was in the home of Mrs. Hardy Benson, with Mrs. Vivian Major as co-hostess. Mrs. G. W. Newsom was the program leader who introduced Mrs. Smith.

Statistics and other facts about the welfare department's duties in this county were presented in Mrs. Smith's talk. From her list of families in need of aid at Thanksgiving, the club had chosen the name of a widow and her children as recipients of the gift of food collected at the meeting.

The program began with a devotional talk titled "We Thank Thee, Lord," given by Mrs. Floyd Dunavant.

Plans were made for a Christmas gift to Kim, the girl "adopted" by the club at Girlstown. A letter from Kim, thanking members for birthday gifts, was read.

Mrs. D. A. Rice of Alexandria, Va., sister of Mrs. J. J. Durham and Miss Mildred Elliott, was introduced as their guest.

Other members present were Mmes. Jim Higgins, John Jacobsen Jr., C. D. Kelton, Vivian Major, S. A. McCathern, E. D. Warren, S. S. Williams, Glenn Witherspoon, Robert Thompson, V. E. Dodson, Bruce Brown, Jim Bookout and R. G. Blue.

Young Guest Entertains At Supper

Her dramatic reading which won an award from Freedoms Foundation, "I Am The Nation," was presented by Mary Rando, Friona school girl, at the Thanksgiving supper hosted by the Rebekah Lodge Tuesday evening in the IOOF Hall.

Three couples from Friona were guests with Miss Rando at the supper, given for Rebekah and Odd Fellows Lodge members and their families. A turkey menu was served to 60 persons.

Mrs. Ben Conklin headed the hostess committee, which had as members Mrs. Leonard Davis, Mrs. Orpha Nickerson and the Rebekah noble grand, Mrs. A. N. Hopson.

Lane-Hobbs Vows Spoken In Ceremony At Adrian

ADRIAN — Miss Joan Marie Lane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Lane of Adrian, became the bride of Sammy Lee Hobbs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hobbs of Vega, in a double ring ceremony Saturday evening in the Adrian United Methodist Church.

The brides attendants were Misses Suzzette Sisk, Carol Sue Perrin of Hereford and Tanya Travis. Best man was Grover Fleming of Hereford; groomsmen, Doug Sanders and Bob Williams of Vega; ushers, Robert Lane, brother of the bride, and Jerry O'Conner of Vega.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white French satin, handmade by her mother. Rose appliques of seed pearls were scattered down the front of the dress and the chapel train was of Chantilly lace. She wore a veil of French illusion.

A reception in the church fellowship hall followed the service. After a wedding trip to San Antonio, the couple will be at home in Vega.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Mayfield and children of Dimmitt, the Tom Tyler family of Panhandle.

New School Bus Rules Outlined

AUSTIN — Ten suggested safety rules for unloading and loading buses are being sent to superintendents across the state by the Texas Education Agency.

These safety rules were drawn up with one objective: to cut the number of accidents involving school buses on Texas city streets and country roads.

The need for greater school bus safety is underlined by the accident statistics, Richard M.

Latest Books Are On School Loan

Under a new plan just adopted by the Hereford Independent School District, students can now take home — directly from the classroom and for an unlimited time — the latest books by leading publishers.

These hardback, cloth-bound books are not text books. Called "curriculum enrichment" books, they are for general reading purposes in the home or for use as reference sources in doing homework.

Alkman School Principal D.C. Martin, in announcing the new program, said that the new books are leased rather than sold to the schools. Because the participating company replaces missing or damaged books, the unusual "rent-a-book" plan should prove highly economical for local schools, the principal stated. In addition, the plan makes available large numbers of books in many homes where the student does not normally have access to them, he continued.

Responsive Environments Corporation, developers of the unique concept of leasing books and making them available in the classroom for home use, is also the creator of the widely-used Talking Typewriter. This is the computer-based technological learning system that teaches children to read by talking and in other ways responding to the learner.

Under the terms of the unusual book-leasing plan, books become the property of the school after a four-year leasing program. This could cut the cost of high-quality books for school use by as much as 50 percent versus the price of outright purchase. At the end of the contract period, additional books can be ordered at a price which can provide a substantial hedge against the constantly escalating cost of school books. There is no charge for financing or shipping, reported the principal.

The handsome, library-bound books include such substantial reference works as dictionaries and encyclopedias. Also available to students are cloth-bound books covering such subjects as history, geography, science, social studies, art, music, and sports.

Fundamental goal of the REC-developed plan is to encourage the child to read — and to read in the home as well as in school. To make books as readily available as possible, the student need not go to a central library or engage in a complicated "checking out" procedure. In most cases, all he has to do to get a book is take it off the shelf in his classroom, the superintendent explained.

As REC guarantees to replace all lost and worn out books during the leasing period, the teachers will feel free to encourage youngsters to take the books home for extended period of time such as during spring and winter holidays, and during the summer vacation. The books also may be used in adult study groups, the educator said.

In addition to encouraging the child to read at home, there are several other important objectives of the program, Martin said. The fact that the child is on the honor system — does not have to check out the books formally — should breed a sense of responsibility.

Because the student can select his own books rather than having them assigned to him, he can create his own individualized reading program. This means not only that he will have more interest in the program, but that he can set his own pace, the superintendent explained. The fast learner will not be held back by the slower learner, and the slower learner will not be frustrated in his attempts to keep up.

Recognizing that the reading abilities of children in the same grade can vary as much as five reading levels, there will be a wide assortment of books at varying reading levels in each classroom, said Martin.

C. Mike Gilrod, national executive director of the book-leasing program for REC, said that if leasing arrangements similar to his company's were made for text books and other high cost items, it would make it a great deal easier for the community to keep up with the expanding cost of education.

Other school systems served by REC's book-leasing program include districts in California, Texas, Ohio, Indiana, New York, New Jersey and New Hampshire.

A recent experiment conducted in Mt. Vernon, New York, documented the success of the book-leasing program in encouraging students to read more — and to do so at home, reported Mr. Gilrod. In this experiment 50 books were placed unassigned in each classroom. All a student had to do to take a book home was just to select one. After the program had been in effect for several months, the children were reading as many as 10 books a month, and reading with comprehension.

Tests conducted after the early phases of the program indicated that the good reading habits of the children continued. The experiment was detailed at length in "School Management," a professional publication serving the education field.

Report Given On Religious Meet

George Humphries, presiding minister of the Hereford congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, returned Sunday from a three-day seminar which was held in Pampa for 17 congregations of Jehovah's witnesses.

An audience of 858 heard Lester Dugan, chairman of the convention deliver the discourse, "God's Way is Love," on Sunday. Some of the witnesses came as far as Woodward and Altus, Oklahoma for the seminar.

Humphries, a 1959 graduate of the Watchtower Bible School of Gilead, and presently presiding minister of Jehovah's Witnesses in Hereford, spoke to 650 delegates assembled Friday evening. Humphries and his wife, Lorraine, went to Chile in 1959 as missionaries and remained there until 1963.

On Saturday, 26 witnesses became ordained ministers by symbolizing their dedication to God through water immersion.

The immersion followed a discourse by Dugan which pointed out the responsibilities of Christians after baptism and how it is mandatory that they remain morally clean although the world has become corrupt.

Humphries said that the discourse on Sunday on "God's Way is Love," was particularly interesting as it pointed out some of the many ways in which Jehovah has expressed his love. Dugan also proved from the Bible that God has many other blessings in store for mankind, such as the one mentioned in Psalm 37:11 which indicates that God will still usher in an "abundance of peace" for this people that obey His word.

"The witnesses were refreshed by the convention," Humphries stated. He added, "they are more determined now than ever to continue aiding persons to learn more of God's Kingdom and the fact that we are living in the last days." Dugan's final talk, "Why So Much to Do," ended the three-day assembly.

H. D. Club Service Work Of Year Is Impressive

Mrs. Curtis Traweck stirs her special chili

Girlstown residents, a college girl studying on a scholarship, needy local families, servicemen in Viet Nam and patients in veterans hospitals are among the beneficiaries of varied service projects reported by county Home Demonstration Clubs Monday.

At the annual meeting of Deaf Smith H. D. Council, at which 1969 committees were named, reports were made on projects of the past year. The picture was presented, literally, in a series of slides showing work and results of the projects.

Outstanding was a cash scholarship given by Dawn H.D. Club, which earned the money serving dinners to the Lions Club which earned the money serving dinners to the Lions Club of that community Dawn Club also sponsored a Girlstown resident and members sewed 19 bed jackets and robes for veterans hospitals in a Red Cross program.

Blippus Club sewed pajamas and robes for veterans, cleaned the community building and set flowers around it. Messenger Club "adopted" two senior citizens for special attention throughout the year.

Cultural Club was cited for its large contribution to the Red Cross program; members made and filled 50 ditty bags for servicemen as well as sewing for hospitals. Aid was given a high school girl, a contribution to the American Field Service and canned food was sent to Girlstown.

North Hereford Club sponsored a girl at Girlstown, brought her to Hereford for a visit and gave her a birthday party. The club also gave a birthday party for a senior citizen.

Aid to a local family was the main project of Progressive Club, which provided food and gifts for special occasions. Cash was given to the AFS and United Fund.

A 4-H Club in the county was sponsored by West Hereford Club, which also made ditty bags and sent dress material to Welfare Office to be given to a needy family.

The girls working on the project were Laurie Allen, Quin Martin, Cindy Byers, Jenny Farnahan, Kathy Close, Sheryl Figly, Janie Shefy, Leann Shepherd, Kim Simpson, Pam Tomasi, Sharla Thomas, Gayle Tucker, Debbie Walterscheid, Gay Wesson, Bonita Wilcox and Gloria Mays.

Girlstown Westway Club's big project was collecting sewing and handwork material to be used by the patients in a state mental hospital; some 500 pounds of material was shipped.

Wyche Club made and filled ditty bags with gifts for servicemen. Candy and cookies were sent to men in Viet Nam by Young Homemakers Club, which aided a needy local family with food. Ford Club made 50 ditty bags, donated to AFS and bought a refrigerator and other items for Ford Community Building.

All clubs had family parties during the year; many gave community parties, contributed to various drives and gave neighborly aid to residents of their communities.

Mrs. O. L. Williams presided for the council meeting in the county courtroom. Committee reports were heard, including announcement by Mrs. J. G. Gandy, president-elect, that 1969 yearbooks will be ready soon.

The district meeting of Texas H. D. Association was announced for March 25 at Amarillo, and a training meeting Jan. 30 at Perryton.

Committees for next year were named as follows: Education, Mmes. Paul Corbett, C. F. Homfeld, H. L. Hershey, Bill Page and Andrew Ker-shen; yearbook, Mmes. Jimmie Bradley, Leroy Bodkin and Miss Mary Bradley.

Finance, Mmes. H. D. Fowler, Louie Olson and E. C. Hewitt Jr.; reporters, Mmes. Leroy Johnson, W. J. Leub and J. D. Gilbert Jr.; recreation, Mmes. J. E. Sorrells, Tex McKnight and Dean Bryant.

New Turns Given Sale At Church

Women of St. Thomas Episcopal Church, staging a one-day Holiday Festival in the parish house Saturday, will rely on their reputation for good food and distinctive gift items to bring patrons of past years to their sale.

Instead of the bazaar and luncheon which have featured previous annual benefits, there will be three main features this year Sale of Mrs. Curtis Traweck's homemade chili, sale of baked products and a gift bazaar offering handmade items for persons of all ages.

Hours are from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. A special event will be the awarding of a door prize, a handsome jewelry tree made and decorated by Mrs. Gene Parsley.

Mrs. Ross Cooley is in charge of the gift sale which will include numerous items of home decorations which she has made. Mrs. Vera Pratt is chairman of the baked goods table, where cakes, pies, cookies and special breads for meals of the holiday period will be offered.

The Wa-ci-nah campfire group met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jack Allen, 117 Centre, for their Thanksgiving ceremonial.

These Are Your Questions

CAN DISEASED tonsils cause rheumatic fever and heart disease?

The possibility of developing rheumatic fever because of chronically diseased tonsils is not very great. I emphasize this because I find that too many people live in terror of this possibility every time they have an infection of the tonsils.

It is a known fact that infections caused by streptococcus bacteria are responsible for rheumatic fever. But there are so many other factors involved in the cause of this disease that the constant fear of it can be far more destructive than a mild attack, even if it does occur.

There are very specific reasons why infected tonsils should be removed. Repeated infection, glands in the neck, high fevers and infections of the ears are sufficient reasons for their removal without the additional burden of fear of rheumatic fever. Sane, sensible reasons for the removal of the tonsils can be presented to the patient without introducing the terrifying suggestion that rheumatic fever "may" occur if they are not taken out.

Since there is some relationship, all foci of infection should be removed. This rule is a healthy one wherever chronic infection persists. Rheumatic fever happens to be a specific disease that involves many distant organs of the body. The joints, the heart and the lungs can be affected as a complication of rheumatic fever.

The operation, tonsillectomy, is so safe that if a streptococcus infection is present the advantages of having the tonsils removed are great, and obviate the possible secondary illnesses.

What is meant by a molluscum infection of the skin? Molluscum contagiosum is a very mild infection of the skin that involves the face, the eyelids, the chest and the inner surface of the thighs.

The exact cause is not known, but it is suspected that poor hygiene and interchanging of towels, personal clothes and bathing suits may be the way it is transmitted.

It is recognized readily by the skin specialist because of the presence of little growths on the skin from which can be extracted a semi-fluid, fatty material. It is important that this condition be treated actively before further infection occurs and leaves scarring of the skin of the face. The tiny tumors are readily removed and the condition must be pursued vigorously while the hygiene is improved.

Are fissures of the rectum the same as hemorrhoids?

No, they are not the same, but sometimes they occur together. Hemorrhoids are really enlarged veins which drain the area around the rectum and are frequently caused by chronic constipation and straining.

A fissure is a cleft or a slit that occurs on the skin or on the lining of the mucous membrane. A fissure-in-ano is a crack in the membrane around the rectum usually due to straining at stool. When neglected it can form a chronic ulcer and when it is persistent, may be associated with bleeding. If the condition is to be cleared up, the underlying cause must be remedied.

Farm-Ranch Club Meets For Lunch

A Thanksgiving luncheon in the home of Mrs. W. W. Gilbreath of Dimmitt entertained Farm and Ranch Club recently. Guests, Mrs. O. B. Stone and Mrs. C. C. Franklin of Melrose, N. M., gave the program, a demonstration on making plastic flowers.

Members voted a cash contribution to Project Christmas Card, the annual project of Hereford Medical Auxiliary to benefit Deaf Smith County Hospital. They also decided to give refreshments to the satellite school for handicapped children.

Plans were made for the annual Christmas party, the time and place to be decided by the social committee of which Mrs. C. T. Douglas is chairman. The next meeting will be in Mrs. Douglas' home Dec. 19.

Miss Doretha Franklin of Melrose was another guest who had lunch with seven members. Mrs. Franklin held the floating prize.

Walcott PTO Has Meeting

Members of the Walcott PTO met recently where they discussed the possibility of assisting the athletic program of that school in obtaining backboards for the basketball court.

On the program for the meeting was Suzanne Oglesby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Oglesby, who spoke on America and Patriotism. Also, a group of boys played various popular and western guitar selections for the meeting. Members of the group included Paul Timberlake, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Monroe; Lee Line, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Line; and Phillip Carnahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Carnahan.

FROM MEXICAN CUISINE—Cheese-stuffed tortillas and tomato sauce are baked in a shallow casserole.

LET'S COOK SOMETHING!

Enchilada Casserole

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Cooks love casseroles. And we can hardly blame them. So convenient to prepare ahead, put in the oven and heat.

One of the most interesting casseroles you can make is inspired by Mexican cuisine—a savory combination of cheese-stuffed tortillas baked with tomato sauce. Call the result enchiladas and plan a company supper menu around this savory dish.

For a starter you might have tiny browned meat balls; an avocado spread (mashed avocado, lemon juice and minced sweet onion) to serve with crackers; cooked shrimp marinated in a dressing of olive oil, lime juice, garlic, salt and pepper; and a crisp munch of celery sticks and radishes.

For dessert choose a compote made with fresh or frozen fruit (or a combination of the two) and Mexican wedding cakes.

CHEESE ENCHILADAS

- Salad oil
- 1 medium onion, finely diced
- 3 cans (each 8 ounces) tomato sauce
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 teaspoon oregano
- 3 teaspoons chili powder
- 2 cartons (each 8 ounces) large-curd creamstyle cottage cheese
- 1/2 pound Monterey Jack cheese
- 1 cup finely diced scallion (green onion), including green tops
- 12 to 14 corn tortillas (fresh, frozen or canned)
- Grated mild cheddar cheese, medium-fine
- Knife-shredded iceberg lettuce

In a 1 1/2-quart saucepan heat 2 tablespoons salad oil; add onion cook gently, stirring often, until softened but not brown. Add tomato sauce, salt, oregano and chili powder. Simmer, covered for 15 minutes.

Meanwhile mix together the cottage cheese, Monterey Jack cheese and scallion; set aside.

To an 8-inch skillet add enough oil to cover the bottom generously; place over moderate heat when oil is hot add a tortilla and fry, turning once, just long enough to soften—a few seconds; do not fry crisp; drain on paper toweling. Soften remaining tortillas the same way.

As tortillas are softened, place about 1/4 cup of the cheese mixture in center of each; roll up. Place seam side down, in an oblong 3-quart glass baking dish (13 1/2 by 8 3/4 by 1 3/4 inches) or similar utensil. Pour hot tomato sauce mixture—reheating sauce if necessary—over the stuffed tortillas.

Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven until hot through—15 to 20 minutes.

Remove from oven and sprinkle generously with the cheddar cheese. Have shredded lettuce in a bowl so eaters can help themselves to a topping of it for their portion of the enchiladas.

Makes 6 servings.

Note: In testing this recipe, we used 14 canned tortillas that were 4 inches in diameter. If frozen tortillas are used, defrost before preparing as directed.

Her skill as director was evident in the smooth production of the comedy by a cast which wasn't too experienced on stage. She volunteered for the job when HCP was hunting a director for its first show, and members are congratulating themselves at having her at the helm.

MY FRUSTRATING experiences with a crippled camera last week had one bright spot, a good picture of Mrs. Jim Hamilton and her two attractive children. Daughter Melanie posed graciously but her younger brother, Robby, was in no mood for picture making.

Coaxed to sit in the picture he did so unhappily, and was just plain walking out when the camera was snapped. He was too cute, though, to cut out of the group—don't you agree?

A very merry Thanksgiving to all, and may your serving of turkey be your favorite piece!

LOTS OF HEREFORD homes have visitors today; one with a full complement is that of the Calvin Goodins. Their son, Gary, is at home from Abilene Christian College, bringing a couple of friends whose families live too far away for a weekend visit — Kurt Engstrom and Mike Wieland, of Chicago and Milwaukee.

Then there are Mrs. Goodin's parents, the Perry McMinn's, and her husband's parents, the J. J. Goodins, and assorted other relatives from both families to make a real Thanksgiving reunion.

DOWNTOWN MONDAY I ran into Betty Martin with a bad case of laryngitis. "I went to the ball game," she whispered, and that explains it.

She also said L'Allegria Club hadn't finished its count of profit on its sampling luncheon held last Thursday, of which she was chairman, but more than 300 persons had lunch there, so club members hope for a nice check to present to the Opportunity Fund at WTSU.

Mrs. Rodney Camp Feted At Pretty Tea-Shower

Mrs. Rodney Camp of Canyon, who was Miss Ruth Davis of Hereford before her recent marriage, was complimented with a bridal shower Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Martin Reid Moore, 231 Elm. Yellow and white were the colors emphasized in decorations, with a candelabra arrangement of daisy mums centering the tea table. Corsages of yellow pom-pom mums were worn by the honoree and members of the houseparty. The bride received guests with her mother, Mrs. Abe Davis, and her husband's mother Mrs. Clark Camp of Amarillo, after Mrs. Moore had greeted callers at the door. Miss Mary Ellen Schofield was at the registry table; Miss Carole Critchlow poured coffee and spiced tea. Fruit cake slices, tea sandwiches and mints were served. Hostesses with Mrs. Moore were Miss E. Herbert Bruns, Glen Hendrickson, Otto Garlitz, Thomas Brisendine, Mary Stapp, A. M. Yocum, F. A. Marnell, D. W. Palmer and Harley Davis.

Miss Clark Exchanges Vows With Rondal Long

The marriage of Miss Donna Lynn Clark and Rondal Vee Long was solemnized in a ceremony of beautiful simplicity at twilight Tuesday in Ward Hall of First United Methodist Church. The Rev. Clifford Trotter, pastor, read the service.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Earl A. Clark, 621 Avenue H, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Long, 235 Avenue D.

Mr. Clark gave his daughter in marriage and her only attendant was the bridegroom's sister, Miss Becky Long. Larry Hair acted as a best man and guests were seated by Johnny Brownlow.

White and gold chrysanthemums were arranged as a background for the wedding party. Music was by Robert Wert, soloist who sang O Perfect Love, and Mrs. Clifford Trotter, who played piano accompaniment, a prelude of wedding songs and the marches.

Designed on slender lines, the bride's gown of white crepe had bell sleeves of scalloped lace which was fastened at the shoulder line with rosettes. A Dior bow marked the empire waistline at center front.

A pout of silk illusion fell to her shoulders from a headpiece of lace petals. Her only jewelry was a pendant, a gift of the bridegroom. The bridal bouquet was of white pom-pom chrysanthemums.

Gold crepe made in similar style to the bride's dress was worn by the maid of honor, who carried a single gold chrysanthemum.

Mr. and Mrs. Long left immediately after the ceremony on a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N. M. The bride traveled in a grey wool dress, A-line style, with navy accessories.

She is a 1966 graduate of Hereford High School, now employed by the J. C. Penney store here. Mr. Long, an ensign in the United States Navy, was graduated last spring from West Texas State University. His high school work was done in Hereford.

While he completes his military service, Mrs. Long will continue to reside in Hereford.

Guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Harry House of Wichita Falls, Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Wright and children of Plainview, as well as family members and friends of this city.

New Members Enroll At H.D. Club Meeting

New members and guests were welcomed at the recent meeting of Messenger Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. Elmer Northcutt, which ended in a birthday party honoring Mrs. S. N. Thweatt and Mrs. Gene Bradley, members.

Mrs. George Bumpass and Mrs. Bob Hammock were enrolled as new members. Guests were Meses. Paul Corbett, Clyde Queener, Minnie Eunnona and Jerry Northcutt.

Mrs. Corbett gave the program on Decoupage, showing several examples of that craft as she explained the method of mounting pictures or documents and adding an "antique" finish. Mrs. Hammock told where suitable pictures for this treatment may be obtained.

A Christmas jigsaw puzzle game opened the program, with the prize going to Mrs. Jerry Northcutt. Mrs. Bill Page held the floating prize.

Skit Given At Club's Guest Night

A comedy skit by Bob Holman and Roy Hartman entertained members of Hereford Study Club and their husbands who were guests at a recent meeting in Mrs. W. H. Gentry's home. Mrs. Art Stoy and Mrs. Noble Howard were co-hostesses.

Mrs. Tommy Braddy introduced the entertainers after Miss Gladys Setliff, club president, had welcomed guests to the dinner. Holman, assistant superintendent of Hereford schools, also spoke seriously, giving information on some new phases of the school curriculum.

Tables were decorated in Thanksgiving motif for the dinner, which was served to 16 couples. Another husbands' evening is planned in the club for the next meeting, Dec. 14, when a Christmas program is scheduled.

Hobby Results Are Viewed By YHT Members

Antiques and cleverly-decorated old household items in the home of Mrs. H. V. Fields were admired by members of Young Homemakers of Texas who met there recently to see the results of Mrs. Fields' hobby of restoring or decorating quaint furnishings of past years.

After the visit, they went to the high school homemaking department for a business session and refreshments. Mrs. Jim Culpepper reported on arrangements for the club bake sale which was held Wednesday.

Mrs. Formby Is Guest Reviewer

Mrs. Clint Formby repeated a popular book review as she gave her warm interpretation of Sam Levenson's story of a happy family, Everything But Money, for El Llano Study Club members Monday evening.

Mrs. Pete Caviness was hostess in her home for the program by the guest reviewer. Mrs. Formby puts the humor and common sense of Levenson's book into her review, which presents the picture of an immigrant family in a large city during the hard times of the 1930's.

The book depicts the author's own family, with its emphasis on the parents' insistence that their children study hard, work hard and earn a better place in life than they themselves enjoyed — an aim which was realized in a family of successful men and women.

"We would be classed as underprivileged by a social worker, but we didn't know it," he writes, adding "Mama had to contend with a slum environment in which it might be difficult to bring up children, but on the other hand the environment had to contend with Mama."

Mrs. Boyd Foster presided for a short business session in which a Christmas party was planned for Dec. 16 in Mrs. Labry Ballard's home. A holiday gift for a local needy family was discussed.

Members present included Mrs. Bill Michael, Raymond White, Gerald Mann, John Jacobsen Jr., O. G. Hill Jr., Ben Childers, Larry Brown, Jim Bookout, Ivan Block and Ballard.

NFO Is Seeking Improvement In Area Vegetables

Members of the Deaf Smith County NFO (National Farmers Organization) took steps Monday night which they feel could bring about needed changes in the county's vegetable industry — possibly even save it.

During long discussion it was brought out that other states and areas in Texas have been critical of produce from the Hereford area, the main reasons being that culled vegetables often are sent out labeled top grade and some vegetables are harvested before they are ready just because the price is high at that time.

A seed potato committee was set up to investigate the price of seed potatoes and all other aspects of the crop for benefit of the NFO members. Charles Schlabs was chosen chairman of the committee, with Wendel Clark, Luther Lesly and James Hund being named to the committee.

A marketing committee which will study all vegetables, with emphasis on the grade, quality and supply (quantity) being grown in this area, will be headed by Edwin Axe. Members of the committee are Hicks Robertson, George Turrentine and Sam West.

A committee made up of Dave Downy, J. D. Gilbert and Pat Smith also was elected to study the corn and ensilage crop. There have been problems in harvesting and marketing of the crop and members felt a committee could find solutions to the problems.

CONTINENTAL GRAIN

BUSTING OUT ALL OVER — Activity in Deaf Smith County has been busting out all over during recent months, and the grain business is no exception. This photo was taken Monday on the north side of Continental Grain Co., 101 S. Lee. Company officials declined to discuss the apparent structural failure. This was the second elevator in the county to experience such difficulties this month. A portion of Tri-County Elevator Co. of Black collapsed Nov. 14, spilling out 2½ millions pounds of grain. —Staff Photo

County Soils Are Described In New Soil Survey Booklet

Numerous copies of the information-packed booklet, "Soil Survey of Deaf Smith County, Texas," still are available to interested persons, Wilton Green of the local Soil Conservation Service office has announced.

The booklet, explained Green, contains information that can be applied in managing farms and ranches; in selecting sites for roads, ponds, buildings, or other structures; and in appraising the value of tracts of land for agriculture, industry or recreation.

All of the soils of Deaf Smith County are shown on a detailed map in the survey booklet, with the map consisting of many sheets made from aerial photographs.

Individual colored maps showing the relative suitability or limitations of soils for many specific purposes can be developed by using the soil map and information in the text.

Green pointed out that farmers and those who work with farmers can learn about use and management of the soils in the soil descriptions and in the discussions of the capability units and range sites. Game managers, sportsmen and others concerned with wildlife will find information about soils and wildlife in the subsection "Use of Soils for Wildlife."

Ranchers and others interested in range can find, under "Use of Soils as Range," groupings of the soils according to their suitability for range, and also the plants that grow on each range site.

Engineers and builders will find under "Engineering Uses of Soils" tables that give engineering descriptions of the soils in the county and that name soil features that affect engineering practices and structures. Continuing, Green explained that scientists and others can read about how the soils were formed and how they are classified in the section "Genesis, Classification, and Morphology of Soils."

Newcomers in Deaf Smith County may be especially interested in the section "General Soil Map," where broad patterns of soils are described. They may also be interested in the section "General Nature of the County."

It was explained that major fieldwork for the soil survey

78 Industrial Firms Opened

There were 78 new industrial firms recorded in Texas during the July-September quarter, according to the Texas Industrial Commission, Austin. Source for the figure is "Texas Industrial Expansion," a publication of the Bureau of Business Research The University of Texas.

Biggest numerical ainer in new industry during the period was Houston, with 15 new firms. The second highest number of new firms was recorded by Austin with 8. In third place was Dallas, with 4.

Several smaller towns also gained new industries, with Friona, Edinburg, and Huntsville each recording two during the quarter.

James H. Harwell, Executive Director of the Texas Industrial Commission, pointed out that numerical gains are really only a superficial indicator, since even one relatively small plant may bring a large economic gain to a small community.

The Texas Industrial Commission lists new industrial firms in the State, by cities, in their monthly newsletter, published as a service to Chambers of Commerce and professional industrial developers.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — Is a gift of food or clothing to a charity deductible? I gave some things to some Boy Scouts when they came through our neighborhood collecting for a local church.

A — Yes, gifts of food, clothing and other property to a charitable group are considered a contribution which may be deducted. The amount of the deduction would be the fair market value of the property donated.

Q — I'm working a few hours a night in a local department store. Is there any way I can stop them from taking Social Security tax out of my pay since my regular job gives me full coverage?

A — No. Each employer is required to withhold Social Security taxes on the first $7,800 of income paid each employee during 1968.

If more than $343.20 is withheld from your wages for Social Security in 1968 because you worked for two or more employers, the excess should be taken as a tax credit on your 1968 income tax return.

Q — I'm a full-time student and don't expect to have a paying job anytime before the end of the year. Can I file my tax return now to get back the money withheld from my paycheck last summer?

A — No, an income tax return cannot be filed until the end of the tax year. Even though you may not work or receive income during the rest of the year, a tax return is required to be filed on the basis of a full tax year.

Q — My income is quite a bit higher than I expected it to be this year. Is it too late to file an estimated tax return?

A — No. If your situation changes after September 1 you should file declaration of estimated tax and make the required payment by January 15. To obtain a copy of an estimated tax declaration sent a post card to your District Director and ask for Form 1040ES, Declaration of Estimated Tax for Individuals.

However, if you file your 1968 return and pay in full the balance of tax due by January 31, 1969, you need not file the required declaration or make the January 15 payment.

Q — Does IRS have the legal right to seize somebody's property or bank account for unpaid taxes?

A — Yes, Federal tax law provides several actions that IRS can take to protect the government revenue when a taxpayer refuses to satisfy his obligations voluntarily.

Before enforcement action is taken, a person who owes taxes is given ample opportunity to voluntarily pay his tax liability. A taxpayer is sent several written notices and invited to visit IRS offices to discuss the matter. If in response to any one of these notices the taxpayer cooperates, no enforcement action is taken. Only when all attempts to gain the taxpayer's cooperation in regard to the settlement of his tax liability have failed, does IRS initiate levy action to enforce the law.

Q — I'm having calendars printed up this year and plan to give them to my customers. Is this a deductible business expense?

A — Yes, however, the law limits the amount you may deduct as business gifts to a total of $25 for any one individual during the tax year. For the purposes of this provision, the customer and his spouse are generally considered one individual.

That means you can't give a $25 gift to a customer and a $25 gift to his wife and be able to deduct them both as a business expense.

Gifts which cost $4 or less are not subject to this $25 rule if your name is clearly and permanently imprinted on them and they are distributed in quantity. This would cover items like the calendars you plan to give away.

Uncle Sam's Selective Service

Editor's Note: Below are questions now being asked at boards. The answers are by Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 209 W. 9th Street, Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q — I enlisted in the regular Navy at 17. For that reason, I did not register with a draft board. I'll soon retire after 20 years of service. Must I register with Selective Service when I'm separated from active duty?

A — No. Members of the reserve components of the armed forces, the Coast Guard, and certain members of the Public Health Service are exempt from registration only while on active duty. Members of the regular components of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Environmental Science Services Administration, and Public Health Service are exempt from registration while on active duty and after they are retired.

Q — How is the term "necessary employment" defined in regard to II-A occupational deferments?

A — Except for apprenticeship, a man's employment industry or other occupation, service in office, or activity in research, or medical, scientific, or other endeavors, are considered to be necessary to the maintenance of the national health, safety, or interest only when these conditions exist: (1) the man is, or but for a seasonal or temporary interruption would be, engaged in the activity; (2) he cannot be replaced because of a shortage of persons with his qualifications or skill in the activity; and (3) his removal would cause a material loss of effectiveness in the activity.

Q — Will two years of Peace Corps duty satisfy my military obligation?

A — No. The place now has been discovered to have been built on top of an Iron Age settlement. It was razed by the invading Suevi tribes in 468 A.D.

For God So Loved The World

Be Ye Thankful

The human is at his best when he prays... when he reaches up to the Divine. That's when time becomes part of eternity.

As when the pilgrims were struggling to make a go of it and even more so, we need to pause, take stock and thank God. Gratitude is a high virtue. Our cause to praise God is great. Our fathers bequeathed us rich land, good example and sustaining ideals. We must not inherit one without the other. The generous harvest of every year is ours and His. And His is the larger part for God has always been at work. What have we done to merit such blessing? We should join the call to worship this Thanksgiving Day, in the church of our choice... Consider why we should prosper as no other people on earth, fall on our knees and speak loud our thanks to the God of all. Your own soul will be aglow and your Thanksgiving dinner will have more taste if you will first remember Him, and if you will feed and clothe some other person, in His Name. This stimulating fellowship with God and our fellows could make this our greatest Thanksgiving Day. Then, "Come, ye Thankful people, come, and raise the song of Thanksgiving."

Concerning Veterans

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q — I desire to change the beneficiary on my government life insurance policy. Do I have to send my policy back to VA for this?

A — No, you need not return the policy. Merely write your nearest VA regional office or the office to which you make your premium payments. Your letter will be accepted as a change and you will be sent the appropriate forms to list your designated beneficiaries in a more official manner.

Q — Are widows of World War II servicemen who died on active duty or from service-con-

Two Churches Present TANE Speakers Here

Texas Alcohol Narcotics Education (TANE) representatives will speak in two Hereford churches on Sunday.

Hereford churches that will have TANE speakers include the Assembly of God Church and the Wesley Methodist Church.

TANE speakers, ministers and laymen of several Christian denominations, speak in some 2,500 churches in Texas each year.

The organization is dedicated to the prevention of problems that arise from the use of alcohol, narcotics, and other dangerous drugs. TANE programs include public school assembly programs, publishing, production of audio visual aids, legislative information service, free film lending library, and an annual school on alcohol and narcotics studies, sponsored jointly by TANE and Baylor University.

TANE's books and film strips, geared to prevent alcohol and drug problems, have been distributed throughout the English-speaking world. Some are being translated into other languages for use in the Far East and South America.

A non-profit, educational organization, TANE is supported financially by Texas churches of 19 denominations.

"The speaker's purpose in visiting a church is not to reach drunks and narcotics addicts, but to report to the church on alcohol and drug problems, what can be done, and what is being done about them," said Rev. Albert F. Tucker, TANE Executive Director.

nected disabilities still eligible to file applications for G. I. home loans?

A — Yes. Entitlement for these widows will not expire until July 25, 1970.

Q — I am a widow of a veteran and receive pension benefits for myself and my children. I am planning to get married soon. I understand that I will lose my benefits, but will the children lose their pension too? What if they should be accepted by my future husband?

A — Your children will not lose their benefits when you remarry even if they are adopted by their stepfather.

Delegates will begin discussions on a policy program Thursday evening. State policies are derived from resolutions approved by 116 county and local Farmers Union organizations. The final Texas Farmers Union program approved by the delegates will be taken to the National Farmers Union convention early next year.

Featured during general sessions on Friday will be H. S. "Hank" Brown, president of Texas AFL-CIO, Gilbert Rohde, president of Wisconsin Farmers Union and L. J. Losers Will Win In Club Contest Losers will be the winners in a contest which started last week for members of Sugar Blues TOPS Club, and will continue for six weeks. Purpose of the contest is the same as the purpose of the club, weight loss for its members.

The 18 members of the Hereford club will keep weight records for the six-week contest period, and those who gain in that time will be hostesses to the losers at a low-calorie salad supper.

Weekly meetings of the club, a unit of a national organization, are held in Community Center at 7 p. m. each Monday, open to any interested residents of the area. The name of the club is indicated in the initial letters which spell TOPS — Take Off Pounds Sensibly.

Concerning Veterans

The President has signed a new law giving educational benefits to widows or wives of veterans who died of service-connected causes or were totally and permanently disabled because of military service. Jack Coker, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco, said today.

After December 1, 1968, when the new law goes into effect, these widows and wives will be eligible for the same VA educational assistance now available to sons and daughters of veterans who died or are permanently and totally disabled as a result of military service, he added.

This marks the first time in the history of veterans' benefits in the United States that widows and wives will be authorized a VA educational assistance allowance, the VA Manager pointed out.

Payments will range from $130 a month for full-time training (up to a maximum of 36 months) down to $60 for half-time training.

The new law also gives veterans separated from service after January 31, 1955, one-and-a-half months of education and training entitlement under the current Post-Korean GI Bill for each month of military service after January 31, 1955. This is a change from the present ratio of one month of entitlement for each month of service.

Unchanged, however, is the maximum of 36 months of entitlement.

Under another provision of the law that goes into effect the first of December, veterans with 18 months or more of service after January 31, 1955, who have satisfied their military obligation, will be entitled to 36 months of VA educational assistance.

Other provisions of the new law:

*Increase from 36 to 48 months the aggregate period for which a veteran may receive educational assistance under two or more Federal veteran benefit programs.

*Authorize the payment of the VA allowance to veterans in flight training on a monthly rather than quarterly basis.

It is estimated that during the first full year this new and ex-

Expanded education and training program is in effect the number of widows and wives in training will average nearly 9,000 monthly, Coker said.

He estimated the first full year cost of the new law at $71 million.

The site of the 1969 U. S. women's amateur golf championship has been changed from the Colonial Country Club in Fort Worth, Tex., to the Las Colinas Country Club in Irving, Tex., near Dallas. The dates are Aug. 11-16.
