Bootleg schools and stores are gone but Bootleg Corner remains as one of the Deaf Smith County landmarks.

Bootleg Corner is located 24 miles west of Hereford. The State of Texas officially designates the spot as Farm Roads 1038 and 214.

But the name "Bootleg" came long before the numbers (and long before the roads were even paved). In fact, the tag had its origin in the days when cowboys were riding back and forth between La Plata and points in New Mexico. The school house was sort of a camp for cattlemen, drovers and drifters — and it was also the spot where the moonshiners brought their whisky.

County Commissioner Bruce Coleman, who lives only a mile or two south of the corner on FM 214, reported that the area is still known as Old Moonshine Camp. "Of course, that's how the schoolhouse got the name Bootleg School."

According to Major A. J. Schroeter of the A. O. Thompson Abstract Co. at the Deaf Smith County Court House the actual name of the school was Messenger. It was built about 1916 seven miles west and four miles south of the "corner." But in 1921 or 1922 it was moved to five miles west of the corner store, the present approximate location of the Garcia community. But he reported that there were two other schools in the vicinity — both no longer in existence. One was Farwell School, two miles west on the left side in 1925, and Valentine School, approximately the present location of Walcott School. Walcott is seven miles north of the "corner."

But Commissioner Coleman, who had contacted several people on the details prior to the interview, said that there are "a number of stories" regarding Bootleg Corner and he had tried to piece them all together for the real one.

According to his information, the store moved from the area of the school to the present corner and

Louis Woodford, now living in Hereford, took it in 1932.

Woodford sold cream and eggs there, and all kinds of groceries, sold gasoline and fixed flats. It was the local general store located on the northwest corner of the intersection.

"Then about 1936, Mr. Short built a new store across the road south. Various people operated that store afterward. But in 1942, Woodford bought the store and the land it was on. He ran it for two years during World War II. It kept the Bootleg name. But it ceased to be a store when Woodford left. He sold the property to Jim Butler who later sold it to S. N. Thweatt, who owns the property at the present time."

Butler took down the Bootleg sign, but Coleman said, "You could still see an imprint of it for several years on the stucco."

Like the old schools, the store was torn down and hauled away.

"The Precinct 3 County Barn was constructed on the southeast corner," Coleman said, "and it has Bootleg painted in large letters on the side now."

Mrs. S. N. Thweatt, who is Brand correspondent for Garcia News and lives behind Bootleg Corner, was asked how the people in that vicinity felt about the name, Bootleg Corner?

"Only one person ever grumbled about it — and she was a newcomer," Mrs. Thweatt replied. "Personally, I think every one else is kind of proud of it."

Others were asked, are there still any bootleggers out there?

"No — not to my knowledge."

BIG SUBTRACTION

In the feature story under the headline, "School Cafeterias Are Big Business in City," which appeared in the Thursday edition of the Hereford Brand, the linotype machine accidentally dropped a digit and made it appear to be less a big business than it actually is.

Mrs. Ruby Smith, cafeteria director of the Hereford Public Schools, reported that she had a food bill last month of $18,730.51.

The machine subtracted $10,000 from the intended amount.

Two of the three Lubbock Negro men who were charged in the August 19, 1968 strong-armed robbery of a Hereford man, were found guilty of the charge by an all-male jury Friday, and sentenced to 25 years in the state penitentiary.

Linner Lee Younger, 29, and William Louis, Jr., 25, along with James Hodges, 28, were charged with robbery by assault in connection with the "pigeon drop" (confidence game) in which $12,000 was taken from Dave Broadwell, 340 West 3rd, Hereford.

The trial, which had been postponed several times for the benefit of the defense to prepare, was again postponed Tuesday when the state was granted a continuance because one of its witnesses was just recovering from infectious hepatitis. Judge Archie McDonald granted the continuance when the arresting officer, an Amarillo policeman, who found the stolen money in the trio's possession, was reported to have just gotten over the illness.

Broadwell, who reported the incident immediately after it occurred, told officers of the sheriff's department that three Negro men had approached him, discussing the cancellation or selling of some stock they had. When Broadwell told them he had decided not to buy the stock, the men took the $12,000 by force.

Descriptions of the three Negro men and the car they were believed to be driving at the time was radioed immediately to all area law enforcement agencies. Within an hour, an Amarillo policeman had spotted a vehicle fitting the description carrying three Negro subjects but when he attempted to stop the car to make a check, the driver of the car immediately raced away. The police officer then radioed ahead and the car was stopped between him and another Amarillo police vehicle.

A search of the car found

$12,350 wrapped in a handkerchief under the front seat and the men were taken to the Amarillo police station. Warrants were issued for their arrest by the local sheriff's office and Broadwell was taken to Amarillo where he picked the three men out of a line-up of five others.

The men were brought back to Hereford, arraigned before Justice of the Peace Ernest Wade, who set bond at $20,000 each and ordered them placed in jail in lieu of the bond.

Testimony in the trial brought out the fact that both Younger and Louis had been convicted of similar offenses twice before, and had served penitentiary terms.

Louis and Younger were represented by Jim Wright of Amarillo while Jerry Tucker, 69th District Court attorney, represented the prosecution. Hodges, the other member of the trio, was granted a severance as he will be represented by a Lubbock attorney at a later trial.

Schultz Will Speak Before Texas House

Harry Schultz of Dalhart, formerly District Judge of the 69th Judicial District, will testify before the committee on the Judiciary of the House of Representatives at Austin Tuesday in support of a bill to revise the laws on marriage and divorce.

Schultz is now a partner in the law firm of Fike, Hunter and Schultz.

Others who will testify on the bill are Angus McSwain, dean of the Baylor Law School who is chairman of the Family Law Section of the Texas State Bar Association; Prof. Loy Simpkins of the Baylor Law School and research director for the bar committee on Marriage and Divorce; and Prof. Joseph McKnight, SMU Law School, project director of The Family Code Project.

The bill to revise the laws on marriage and divorce was prepared by the committee on Marriage and Divorce of the Family Law Section of which Schultz is chairman.

Schultz said that the bill has been three years in preparation and the committee has devoted 11 meetings to its legislation.

LVN Program Set March 31

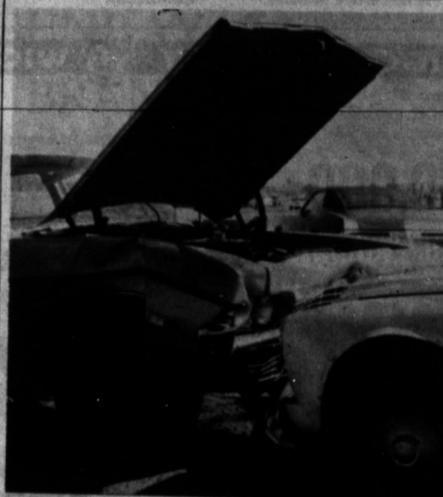

LVN Training Program is scheduled to begin in Hereford on March 31, according to Texas Employment Commission manager Lester Rape. Applications are now being taken for screening prior to the enrollment date.

He explained that persons interested in enrolling in Licensed Vocational Nursing should call or contact only the Texas Employment Commission in Hereford. The office is located at 700 25 Mile Ave.

The program is seeking those who are 18 years or older (no top limit) who are in good health and have at least a tenth grade education, Rape said. Essential training costs are paid, and some individuals may qualify for additional benefits. These might include a training or transportation allowance.

He pointed out that the program comes under the Manpower and Development Act of 1962, a federal act.

Training will be enacted at Deaf Smith County Hospital, operated through the Hereford.

Heart Sunday Nets $1,925

Despite the snow and bitter cold, the Heart Sunday volunteers have collected more than $1,925, according to Ray Todd, Chairman of the 1969 Heart Fund Drive.

Todd stated that because of the inclement weather, the drive had to be extended throughout most of the week, delaying final tabulation until now.

Those residents who were not at home are urged to mail in their contributions as soon as possible.

Todd expressed his most sincere appreciation to all the volunteers and to the people of Hereford for the donation of their time and money in support of the Heart Association. It demonstrates their strong conviction that the Heart Association's program of research, education and community service constitutes the most effective way of combating and eventually controlling this leading health menace.

Three Vacancies - Four Entries Phillips Files For Local School Board

New Hour For Trustee Meet

New hour set for the regular monthly meeting of the Hereford Independent School District Board of Trustees is 8 p.m. Tuesday in the school administration building.

Heretofore it has been 7 p.m. since the beginning of the past semester due to earlier darkness.

One of the items set for discussion is consideration for a change in the method of assessing student achievement in high school and for change in numerical letter grade equivalents for all grades.

Absentee Balloting To Begin

City officials remind voters that absentee balloting for the upcoming city election begins Wednesday and will continue through March 26.

The election will be held Tuesday, April 1.

Seeking the post of commissioner, Place 1, which has been vacated by Dick Barnard who elected not to run for another term, are Bill Patton and Troys Carmichael.

Others seeking election to vacated city posts include J. H. Sears Jr., who is running unopposed for mayor and Don Baugous, who is running unopposed for commissioner, Place 2. Sears is seeking the post being vacated by J. B. Pool who was installed as mayor upon the resignation of former mayor Ray Cowser last year.

Vacancies in Place 1 and 2 emerged when commissioners D. C. Kinsey and Dick Barnard declined to run again.

The remaining two commissioners who will serve out the remainder of their terms include Roland Barton, who took the place of Pool when he became mayor and Bartley Dowell.

Meeting Set For Banquet

Earl Stagner, president of the Whiteface Booster Club, has announced that there will be a planning meeting for the upcoming All-Sports Banquet Tuesday.

All mothers of athletes participating in any of the high school athletic programs are urged to attend the meeting so that plans and decorations can be worked up for the event. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 4:30 p. m. at the Community Center.

April 28 has been set as a tentative date for the banquet.

The fourth entry in the race for school board with only three vacancies came one day before filing deadline in the Hereford Independent School District Board of Trustees election, set for April 5.

Wayne Phillips, longtime Hereford resident, filed his intentions to run late Wednesday afternoon. A statement from Phillips said "with three children of my own attending Hereford Schools, I am interested in the continuation of a good school system."

Three candidates have already filed their intentions to run in the HISD election. Two incumbents, Olin W. Parris, current president of the board and Hugh L. Clearman, immediate past president, are seeking re-election, and the third candidate is Lowell Sharp, 69th Judicial District adult probation officer.

A third incumbent, Bill Gentry, decided not to run for re-election.

Born and reared in Hereford, Phillips received his degree at Texas A&M in 1948. He has been employed by Carl McCaslin Lumber Company for 20 years.

He resides at 108 Ave. I with his wife Dorothy and three school-aged children.

They are active members of the First Christian Church.

Three candidates, all incumbents, have filed for trustees on the Deaf Smith County School Board. They are Robert Strain, precinct 1; Grant Hanna, precinct 2; and L. J. Strafuss, precinct 4. Three places are to be filled.

Outgoing member on the Walcott board is Jim Monroe, who has filed his intentions for re-election.

Filing deadline for these two boards was Tuesday. Their election is also April 5.

Absentee balloting for all three elections begins March 18 and runs through April 1.

Escaped Convict Surrenders Here

After having second thoughts following his escape from the Roberts County jail in Miami Tuesday, convicted bank robber Ernest L. "Rusty" Huff surrendered to the Deaf Smith County sheriff's department late Wednesday afternoon.

Huff, who was given a 20-year term for the $20,000 armed robbery of the Miami First State Bank on March 3, 1967, and was serving time for that crime, was returned to Miami in December of last year to face three additional charges of robbery by assault, assault with intent to murder and theft. He was assessed a sentence of 25 years on the three additional charges and was awaiting transfer to Huntsville State Prison when he made his escape.

Reports stated that he had chipped his way out of his jail cell at Miami Tuesday and at the time of his surrender to local law enforcement officers, he had in his possession a file and hacksaw blade.

When taken into custody by the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's department, Huff stated that he had hopped a train from Miami and had gotten off when it came through Hereford. He said that he had planned to go to Canada, but second thoughts caused him to change his mind and turn himself in.

This was the second time that Huff had attempted an escape, the first being when he was recovering from a bullet wound he had received in a gun battle following the robbery. He fled the hospital room in Amarillo, but was apprehended about an hour later by highway patrolmen.

Following his arrest, Huff called Rufe Jordan, Gray County Sheriff in Pampa, and asked him to come to Hereford to pick him up. Officers arrived here from Pampa about 10:30 Wednesday night and took him back to Pampa where he was placed in jail.

Stanton Jr. High Presents Play

"Time Out For Ginger" will be staged by Stanton Junior High School students Thursday and Friday nights at 7:30 in the school auditorium.

The play, a comedy, centers around the escapades of teenager Ginger, a girl who wants to be on the school football team.

Directed by Mrs. Sheri Kerr, Special Education and Speech teacher at Stanton, "Time Out For Ginger" relates the girl's problems in her quest for the gridiron.

The problem is compounded by Ginger's two older sisters, her father and her father's boss, who object strenuously to a girl football player. Fourteen-year-old Ginger Carol is played by Jane Lyons.

It also creates problems for her boy friend, Tommy, who is played by Pat Swindell.

How Lizzie, the Negro maid (played by Carolyn Langley) and Ginger's mother (played by Debra Lee) help the girl solve her problems not only promises to be amusing but also touching to the heartstrings.

Others in the cast are Neil McAndrews as the father, Georgette Malouf as her 18-year-old sister, Elizabeth Word as her 16-year-old sister, Wayne Moton as the high school principal, Eddie Gage as the older sister's boy friend, and Eugene Suttle as father's boss.

The Underground Mind

By BARBARA SWIMMER
Staff Writer

A hobby turned into a profitable business for two young Hereford teenagers, is a psychedelic shop located on East Hwy. 60 appropriately named "The Underground Mind." Fourteen year old Roy Dale Messer and Gordon Gear, 15, and the proprietors of a weird and 'far out' little place where they market all sorts of do-dads, which in this generation, is tagged 'just wild.' Massive psychedelic posters of every conceivable fashion line the black painted walls of the shop with black fluorescent lights attached to the ceiling, causing extreme changes in the conscious mind, bringing on hallucinations.

Roy Dale and Gordon said they had seen psychedelic shops in other towns and decided to capitalize on a hobby which they enjoyed a great deal.

They already had their own bedrooms full of posters, which their mothers objected to, so they went to work painting and fixing up a room next to Roy's home for their pet project.

The boys started out with $15 dollars each for their first order of posters and on January 3, they were ready for business.

Wares which they have for sale to the younger generation include the posters, prism eye glasses, incense, psychedelic paint, charms and black lights. Most of their merchandise is ordered from California.

The boys are already making plans for expansion and are trying to find a location for their quaint market place closer to town. They have on order at this time, a shipment of lighting devices which they think is 'just wild,' to distort vision.

They eventually plan to be dealers for lighting equipment and strobes for supplying bands.

Roy Dale and Gordon are anxiously awaiting the grand opening of a discotheque on Park Ave. called the Generation Gap which they are 'dressing up' with their hallucinogenic lights.

The teenagers are very proud of their little business venture and when asked about their customers, one of the boys said "we've had two or three teachers out two or three teachers out."

Gordon and Roy Dale have rigged up a unique device which doubles for a burglar system and door bells that they don't have to spend all of their time in 'the shop.' When the front door is opened, an alarm is set off which can be heard in Roy's home

It's Time to Pull Together

The Deaf Smith County farm organizations may have started a grassroots movement that will eventually effect the course of agriculture if the idea can be conveyed to others throughout the state and nation. National farm organization leaders have been telling us for years that it is impossible to get the major groups to agree on a program to aid the embattled farmer, and it seems that more of their time has been spent in sniping at each other than in working to solve the farm problems. We think sometimes, that these leaders are interested only in building a large organization for the sake of perpetuating their own situations.

In Deaf Smith County, the impossible has been done and we can only hope that the national groups will sit-up and take notice. At a meeting held recently, local representatives of the National Farmers Organization (NFO), the Farmers Union, the National Wheat Growers Association and the Farm Bureau, sat down and discussed the problems of the farmer and agreed upon a course of action to alleviate the situation. The groups agreed upon 10 basic points and have gone to work to see that the representatives in Washington, as well as the national farm leaders get "the word."

A similar meeting was called in Castro County, with similar results. The neighboring group came up with almost identical recommendations even though the meetings were held separately and apparently without knowledge of the other. This leads us to believe that the county organizations are much more in touch with the problems and the ultimate solutions than are the so-called national leaders.

It behooves us then to further this spirit of cooperation and present a united front to the agriculture department and congress. Certainly we have wasted enough time on sniping and petty organizational differences with the farmer being the big loser.

Merchants too, might add their support to the farm groups, for indeed the bread is buttered on the same side. To paraphrase an old cliché, we might say that what's good for the nation's farmers, is also good for the nation's business community. We need to convey this feeling to our city cousins as well. They may not realize it, but after all, all wealth comes from the soil and when the farmers of this nation have their backs to the wall, it won't be long before the merchants will be in the same dire straits.

In Tribute to The Legion

During the month of March, The American Legion here in Hereford and throughout the Nation and even in many cities beyond our borders will climax its 50th Anniversary observance. It was March 15-17, 1919, that the Legion was founded in Paris, France, during a meeting of representatives of the various outfits which made up the World War I American Expeditionary Force.

A citizen-veteran organization conceived in duty to its fellow man, The American Legion has been a responsible contributor to American thought and deed during the years of our Nation's emergence as a world power. American Legion history of the past 50 years is filled with achievements in behalf of mankind through active, continuous campaigns to preserve the lofty concepts of Justice, Freedom, and Democracy.

However, there's an unusual aspect to the Golden Anniversary celebration of this organization of war veterans. Any 50th anniversary celebration is an appropriate time to reflect on past accomplishments. During its year-long Golden Anniversary observance, though, The American Legion is taking a somewhat "let-the-record-speak-for-itself" attitude. Instead, this gigantic fraternity of service is tuned to its Golden Year theme of "Forging The Future."

The first 50 years of American Legion existence have been years of ever-increasing waves of change for both the Nation and the world. Change is still the order of the day. Today's greatest challenge is whether man shall manage change or change manage man. It is to this challenge that The American Legion addresses itself during its Golden Year as it charts its course of service to a changing community, state, and Nation.

With a 2.6-million membership drawn from the veteran ranks of four wars — World Wars I and II, Korea, and Vietnam — The American Legion is dedicated to "Forging the Future" of a strong, vigorous, compassionate America of the next half-century.

Through its Golden Anniversary observance, The American Legion is declaring its confidence in the future of America, seeking wider avenues of involvement in meeting the challenge of change. To The American Legion and the Legionnaires of Hereford we wish to add our congratulations during their 50th Anniversary and best wishes for every success in "Forging The Future."

MR. NIXON'S OATMEAL

President Nixon, is an oatmeal man. According to his press secretary, Mr. Nixon, on his first morning in office, got to his desk at 7:30 o'clock (despite the late hours of the previous night) after consuming his "customary breakfast" of orange juice, oatmeal and coffee.

We don't know how the new-generation will accept this intelligence, but the fact that the President enjoys oatmeal in the mornings will win nods of approval from older citizens. This great country of ours was built on oatmeal breakfasts, though it must be admitted that a generous helping of hotcakes and a fried salt pork after the mush, no doubt had quite a bit to do with it.

One wonders if Mr. Nixon pours milk or cream on his mush. Thick country cream is better, if memory serves us correctly. — The Oregonian

New Program to Benefit Modest Income Families

By BERT MILLS

Washington, D. C. — Taxpayers have a $25 million stake in a new Federal program to make homeowners of more than 30,000 low income families who could never hope to own their own home without a subsidy.

The National Housing Act which Congress passed last year contains a provision intended to benefit those with modest incomes who are not impoverished but need government help to obtain decent housing. The program enables low income families to own their own homes by paying as little as 1 percent of the interest on an insured mortgage.

A few families have already become homeowners under this new program. The Federal Housing Administration recently told the story of one such family, the Willie Wrights of Athens, Ga., who have been living in public housing projects for 20 years. Their annual income of $6,500 makes them ineligible to continue as $69-per-month tenants in a government-subsidized apartment.

Willie is a Negro who has held a steady job with the same firm for 20 years. He is a repair and cleanup man for an automobile dealership. He earns $4,940 a year. His wife, Elise, adds another $1,560 by working parttime. They have seven children, four of them still at home.

The Wrights have a good credit record but could never hope to lay aside enough money to buy their own home. Even if they could scrape up the down payment, they would be unable to meet the monthly mortgage charges. Their parents and grandparents were never able to become home-owners. Subsidy is $39 Per Month

Willie and Elise, plus Charlie, Dorothy Ann and Fred, ranging in age from 11 to 20, now live in Spring Valley Estates. They occupy a three-bedroom house, with a $15,000 mortgage. The home was prefabricated and erected by a private concern. The cost is about $122 per month, of which the owners pay $83 and FHA $39.

Under the new law, qualified families pay 20 percent of their income, after deducting $300 for each child in the household, plus 5 percent for Social Security and other payments. For Willie and Elise, they get a house to call their own for just $14 more per month than their housing project apartment cost them.

The builder arranged a 7.5 percent FHA-insured mortgage of which FHA pays 6.5 percent direct to the lender. In most cases the mortgage limit is $15,000, but it can be higher in the case of exceptionally large families or in areas where building costs are abnormally high.

In general, families which can qualify under the Homeowner Assistance Program are those with incomes about one-third above the level of those entitled to occupy public housing. Many wage-earners are forced out of such projects when their incomes rise, and this is what happened to Willie Wright.

If Willie gets another raise, his monthly payment on the mortgage will rise proportionately, and the government subsidy will drop. The law provides that eligible families are to pay 20 percent of income. Hopefully, government payments will be eliminated entirely before the mortgage is paid off.

Congress Will Be Watching When Congress passed the National Housing Act, it authorized $75 million for the current fiscal year for the Home Ownership Assistance Program, with increases to $100 million next year and to $125 million the third year. However, when actual appropriations were voted, the sum was sliced to one-third the authorized amount. Obviously, Congress wants to see how the program works before putting up more money. FHA will ask for more money for next year.

Only a tiny fraction of the low income families in the nation can be helped by a program aimed at building 30,000 homes. However, if the Willie Wrights prove successful as home-owners, the scale could be expanded greatly. The law already allows 150,000 families to be added, and all it would take would be the commitment of more tax dollars.

Talk of Texas

By JACK MAGUIRE

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY — A chunk of rock that couldn't be traded for a good saddle horse built Texas' big pink granite capitol in Austin.

Robert S. Weddle, writing in "Southwest Heritage," tells the story of how G. W. Lacy, who owned Granite Mountain near Marble Falls, once tried to trade it for a saddle horse. He got no takers for the huge mass of rock in Burnet County.

In 1881, however, Texas began building a new capitol and Lacy and his partners decided to donate the granite needed. The state gratefully accepted the offer.

Nine years later, Lacy sold Granite Mountain for $90,000. From Lacy's 640-acre mountain that couldn't be traded for one horse has since come millions of tons of granite worth hundreds of thousands of dollars.

IT HAPPENED HERE — The nation's first oil refinery to be located west of the Mississippi River was at Corsicana, site of one of the state's first big petroleum finds.

The Corsicana refinery was fired on Christmas Day, in 1898.

THE UNCHANGING TIMES — Dallas still has 577 licensed boarding houses with from five to 53 boarders each. Each offers not only a room, but family-style meals.

WHAT'S-IN-A NAME? — Amichel was the first official name of the territory that was to become Texas.

In 1819, Francisco Garay, governor of Jamaica, sent Alonso Alvarez de Pineda to seek a new route to India and explore new lands. Pineda's explorations led Garay to seek a patent to all of the northern Gulf shore from Mexico to Florida, which included what is now Texas. He named the grant "Amichel."

THE GOOD OLD DAYS — When Governor James Stephen Hogg addressed a joint session of the Legislature as his new term began in 1893, he reported as accomplishment of his first term that no governor before or since has equaled:

"Taxes have been decreased 25 percent so that they are now lower than in any other southern state."

TRAVELING TEXAS — Sam Vaughan's general store in Jonesville, Harrison County, has been doing business at the same stand for 109 years!

It's one of the few places left in Texas where one can still buy such things as pot-bellied stoves and horse collars.

THE SIGNS OF TEXAS — In the window of an Abilene reducing salon: "Come in and Shoo the Fat."

... from the Brand's files

65 YEARS AGO — 1904

On Tuesday of this week our friend, F. Herron, called around to the Brand office and in the course of the conversation which took place Mr. Herron informed us that he was celebrating his fifty-sixth birthday. Of course there was nothing remarkable about this but when we were informed that he was fifty-six years of age and had only seen fourteen birthdays, we were somewhat puzzled until we happened to remember that it was the 29th of February, which only occurs every four years.

50 YEARS AGO — 1919

For the fourth year in succession Deaf Smith County registered Hereford breeders invaded the Buyers and Sellers at Amarillo, last week and skimmed the cream from the sales. As usual the Deaf Smith County quality could not be beaten. For months past there seems to have been a general agreement among the breeders of registered Hereford cattle in this county that the time had arrived when it was necessary for all breeders to get together, and work together for the common good, if the individual breeders were to get out of their business all that was possible.

35 YEARS AGO — 1934

No word as to the method of handling special relief for drought stricken counties as announced this week in Washington has been received by W. W. Chilton, county relief administrator. The fifteenth birthday of the American Legion will be celebrated by Hereford Post on Thursday, March 15, with a dance at the fireman's hall.

25 YEARS AGO — 1944

J. C. Mitchell of Hereford, like a lot of other soldiers, found leisure time enjoyment playing his guitar. In fact, that guitar turned out to be a real life-saver when he was stationed in the Aleutians. But when he got back to the State of Washington, he gave the instrument to a friend. Several weeks went by and Mitchell came home on furlough, dropped by the Hereford USO and found (you guessed it) his old guitar, complete with initials and other identifying marks. Mrs. John Olson, hostess at the USO, said that the guitar was left there by a soldier traveling through.

15 YEARS AGO — 1954

More than 100 Hereford music students will take part in the Junior Federation Music Festival for the seventh district, Texas Federation of Music Clubs, Saturday in Hereford. Miss Mattie Mae Swisher, district director of these festivities, will preside at the contest, which will have its formal opening at 8:30 a. m. Saturday at the First Methodist Church.

10 YEARS AGO — 1959

Resulting from a transaction Wednesday morning in which "substantial interests" in stock of the Hereford State Bank changed hands, Russell E. Caryer of Austin was named president of the Hereford State, succeeding Townsend Douglas in that post. With bid-opening time just four days off, the drive for funds to build a Community Center still is about 25 per cent short of its goal.

4H Members Can Take Course

COLLEGE STATION — 4-H members who will enter either their junior or senior year in high school in September, 1969, may attend the National 4-H Citizenship Shortcourse, according to Tom Davison, assistant state 4-H leader at Texas A&M University. Davison said the shortcourse, to be held at the National 4-H Center in Washington, D. C., June 15-21, will provide an opportunity for 4-H members to supplement the citizenship education and leadership development training they receive through the home, the school, the church, and their organizations. The shortcourse is designed to help participants develop a greater understanding and appreciation of our American heritage, and learn the basic functions of government at the national level. They will gain an appreciation and understanding of the international aspects of citizenship, and deepen their commitment to the democratic way of life. Davison said they would also develop skills for practicing and teaching citizenship in their local 4-H clubs. Sixty 4-H members may attend from Texas, along with eight adult 4-H leaders and two county Extension agents, Davison said. Thus, he added, each of the 12 Extension districts in the state can be represented by 5 4-H members. District agents are to submit to the state 4-H Club leader two applications of interested county Extension agents and two adult 4-H leaders. Final selection of agents and leaders will be made at the state level, he said. This program can strengthen our citizenship project, noted Davison. Those interested should contact the county agent for application forms.

An art show by pupils of Mrs. A. Petersen will be held at the studio in her home, 409 Irving, from 2:30 to 6 p. m. next Sunday, March 16. The public is invited to see the exhibit of paintings, most by adults but some by younger pupils.

Work will be displayed by Mmes. Bill Gentry, Harriet Cauble, Joe Kendall, Lisle Woodford, Cleo Corlis, Jack Higgins, Dee Wiseman, Adelle Stalling, Victor Elliston, Cecil Braly, Howard Gore, Mary French, Henry Benson, S. O. Other paintings are by residents at Kings Manor, members of a group which Mrs. Petersen taught there for a time, including Mmes.

Don Davidson, Lee Curry, Beulah Dobbins, Mae Voss and Dovie Tierney.

Pupils from other towns who will be represented are Mrs. Naomi Thomas of Claude and Mrs. Sam Gilbreath of Dimmitt.

Mims Listed On UT Team

Ed Mims, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. T. Mims, has been listed as a member of the 1969 University of Texas baseball team.

A sophomore, Mims was redshirted in the 1968 campaign and compiled a 4-0, won-lost record on the mound for the freshman team. Of him his coaches say, he is "one of the hardest throwers on the squad but must conquer his control problem. He is an excellent student and should be a great asset to the team this year."

In 1967 Mims saw mound duty in six games, pitching 21 innings and compiling an earned-run-average of a meager 1.27. During the games he sent 22 batters down swinging while issuing 15 base-on-balls.

Martin Is Set For American Legion Event

Hereford American Legion and Auxiliary Post 192 will jointly present Gerald Martin, operator of Hereford Flying and Agricultural Service who appeared in the motion picture "The Battle of Britain," in their 50th Anniversary Special Program on Tuesday, March 18, at 7:30 p. m. in the Legion Headquarters at Veterans Memorial Park.

Also planned on the same evening there is a covered dish supper.

"The Battle of Britain," still not released for showings in the United States, is the pictorial account of England's relentless bombardment by the Germans during 1939-40 and the turning point in the war through the efforts of the Royal Air Force — prior to the United States' entry into World War II.

With location filming done last year in Spain, Martin appeared as a German flier (and even flew English Spitfires in longshots.)

He is not only scheduled to tell of his experiences during the filming but will show slides that were taken in Spain.

Mayor John B. Pool officially signed a proclamation last week which designated March as American Legion Fiftieth Anniversary Month in Hereford. Earlier, Gov. Preston Smith had signed a similar proclamation for the State of Texas.

Indian Handicrafts are big export item

NEW DELHI — Indian handicrafts are important foreign exchange earners for India, official statistics here show.

They were expected to yield $86.7 million in 1968 or $13.3 million more than 1967.

This is almost equal to earnings for traditional items, including tea, jute and engineering goods.

Fancy jewelry in 1967 earned $40 million in foreign exchange.

Handmade woolen carpets rank next, with an expected revenue of $16 million in 1968.

No less than 1.2 million people are engaged in handicrafts work. The government is drawing up plans to improve their working conditions, including old age pension schemes.

Cynthia Hanna Is Winner Of HD Scholarship Contest

Miss Cynthia Hanna, a 4-H Club member for 10 years, has been awarded the Helen Swift Scholarship in the amount of $500 by the Texas Home Demonstration Association, according to recent announcements.

The award recipient is the 19 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Hanna of Hereford.

One of three awards given annually by the THDA, the winners were selected on the basis of their accomplishments in 4-H activities, demonstrations, leadership and personal development. Miss Hanna was interviewed last week by a committee of three judges who visited each of the top contenders in their home counties.

A 1968 graduate of Hereford High School, Cynthia is a second semester freshman student at Texas Women's University at Denton. She was in the top ten of her HHS graduating class.

She is a member of the Ford 4-H Club and has held all offices including president for two years. Her projects have included clothing, foods, citizenship and leadership. She has taken an active part in county leadership and is one of the older junior leaders. She was the 1966 Gold Star Girl, the 1967 4-H Queen and serves as secretary-treasurer of the District I 4-H Council. She has participated in Method Demonstration Contest and has attended the State Round up for three years.

She received the County Citizenship Award for 1966, and County Home Economics Award in 1964-1965 and was a district Dress Revue winner in 1967.

Miss Hanna said "my work on the District Council and other district activities has been very rewarding because of the learning experience as well as the friendship gained."

She is the recipient of scholarships from American Legion and Dawn Home Demonstration Club and won the Danforth Citizenship Award.

She is a member of the First United Methodist Church and is active in the Methodist Youth Fellowship.

She is a junior member of the American Legion Auxiliary and has served as vice-president, secretary and District Division sergeant-at-arms.

European Trip Events Told

Memories of her European tour last summer were shared with Bay View Study Club members by Mrs. Emil Dettman Thursday afternoon, when she was guest speaker at the home of Mrs. Bruce Burney.

Most interest by the clubwomen was shown in her account of time spent in Russia, where her tour took her to Moscow and Leningrad. She gave her observations of the people seen on Americans' guided visits around the Russian cities.

Mrs. Dettman traveled in 18 different countries during the 10-week tour. After her talk, she showed some scenes of unusual interest from the various localities.

A schedule was outlined in the business session, of hostess duties for Bay View members at Deaf Smith County Museum next month. A donation was voted to the National Cystic Fibrosis Foundation which is conducting a drive for funds through clubs.

Present were Mmes. R. B. Miller, Tom Sawyer, W. S. Kerr, Francis Hardwick, W. J. Gilliland, Coby Conkright and H. L. Benefield.

NEW GOLD RUSH
GOIS, Portugal — There's a gold rush atmosphere in this small village in the center of Portugal.

A gold streak was found nearby, would-be prospectors are flocking to the local registration offices and the town folk are dreaming of boom times.

Local inhabitants are hoping the find does as much for the town as the discovery of tungsten here did 30 years ago.

This is not the first time gold has been found in these parts. There is even a gold mine near Gois, but the company that owns it discontinued mining long ago because of the small profits.

Now the word is that the new discovery can lead to considerable exploitation, and might even prove important for the national economy.

The nation's first patent was given to Samuel Hopkins of Vermont in 1790 for an improvement in "the making of Pot ash and Pearl ash by a new Apparatus and Process."

Bread Recipes Are Given On Club Program

A recipe for an unusual yeast bread which was served at the meal was given North Hereford Home Demonstration Club after lunch in Miss Roberta Campbell's home Thursday. Mrs. W. J. Lueb was in charge of the program on bread making.

She had made tomato bread and brought it as her contribution to the luncheon. That recipe was among several she gave afterward.

Mrs. Roger Williams presided for business. Members were reminded to attend a county recreation workshop at 2:30 p.m. Monday in Community Center.

Mrs. Earl DeHart was a guest at the luncheon. Other members present were Mmes. Fred Barrett, Dick Barrett, Velma Salvino, Otto Massie and Paul Hoff.

Awtrey of Hereford; her sister and brother-in-law, the E. T. Wards of Portales, and two brothers, Fred E. Bryant of Anchorage, Alaska, and A. J. Bryant of Grady, N. M.

They all went back through Oklahoma and Arkansas, into Tennessee and Mississippi and visited friends in several cities while Fred Bryant was looking after business interests during his first visit to the "lower 48" states from Alaska in seven years.

They went as far as Oxford, Miss., then on the way back stopped at Hugo, Okla., the old home of the Bryant family, in Collin County to visit cousins, and finally in the Ceevee community near Paducah, where the Alaska resident was born.

The 12-day trip ended Wednesday. Fred Bryant left for a visit with another brother in Tucson and a stop in Tijuana, Mexico before taking a plane to fly home.

TIME TO BE HOSTESS to the club is frequently the inspiration for a house-cleaning, but not everybody goes as far as Roberta Campbell. She told the friends in North Hereford H. D. Club who had a luncheon at her house this week (and I think "bragged" would be the proper word to use there) that she got ready for the meeting by cleaning all her closets.

Anyhow it's an idea, and maybe it would be a good idea for me to invite a club meeting out to my house.

THE PROGRAM at that club meeting was on, bread-making, and Martha Lueb served some of the tomato bread that the H. D. women are learning how to make. I've been curious about it, and got Peg Hoff to give me the recipe. It should be real pretty and pink, and taste good to boot. Here's how it's made:

TOMATO BREAD

Combine and let stand in a warm place until it is bubbly: 1/2 cup warm water, 1 tsp. sugar, 1/4 tsp. ginger and 2 pkg. yeast.

Stir together in a large mixing bowl: 1 1/2 cups warm tomato juice, 1/2 cup sugar and 2 cups sifted flour. Add the yeast mixture and beat well.

Add 1/2 cup soft butter or margarine, 2 1/2 tsp. salt, 1 lb. celery salt, and 1 tsp. spaghetti sauce seasoning. Mix well and add 3 cups sifted flour. Stir until dough leaves sides of pan.

Sift another cup of flour on a pastry board. Pour the dough on top of the flour and knead thoroughly, 15 to 20 minutes, adding more flour if need to keep from being sticky.

Form a ball, place in greased bowl and lightly grease top of dough. Let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead slightly. Shape into four loaves and place in greased loaf pans, or make one loaf and shape remainder of dough into ball and place in round pan. Grease surface again and let rise until double in bulk, then bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees until browned (about 30 minutes for loaf).

TO PLAY FOR CONCERT ASSOCIATION — The Clebanoff Strings and Orchestra, a company of 20 instrumentalists, will present the final concert of the 1968-69 season for Hereford Community Concert Association next Saturday evening in the high school auditorium. This musical group, of a type popular in Europe but virtually unknown in America, is of a size between the usual small chamber orchestra and the regular symphony, and was formed by Clebanoff, its conductor and solo violinist, in 1957. It has since toured for concerts over the nation, played for television, radio and film backgrounds, and made numerous albums for Mercury Records. The conductor led his own string quartet before originating the orchestra, and has been concertmaster of both the Illinois Symphony and the NBC Orchestra. He began his career at the age of 20 as the youngest member of the Chicago Symphony.

Washington Report

From Congressman BOB PRICE 10TH DISTRICT, TEXAS

In his budget message to Congress before leaving office, President Johnson included a warning that "It may be necessary within the next few months to raise the present debt limit." President Nixon found when he took office that the public debt subject to limit was $364.2 billion — only $800 million below the statutory ceiling of $365 billion. Present estimates now indicate that borrowings needed to provide the Government with minimum cash balances essential for its operations will place the debt subject to limit at or above the legal ceiling by mid-April.

In a recent message to Congress, President Nixon said that these projections have been reviewed and updated on the basis of the latest revenue and expenditure flows but there was still inadequate leeway under the debt limit to meet all anticipated cash requirements through the middle of April. Therefore, the President said he would ask Congress to review the debt limit before mid-April and provide a reasonable margin for contingencies.

All department and agency heads, he said, are now reviewing their programs in a determined effort to reduce costs. "But we should not let our hopes for success in this effort deter us from the necessary action on the debt limit," the President said.

"Such cost reductions can have only a minor effect on expenditures in the next month or two, and it is in early March and again in early April that the treasury will be faced with the heaviest drain on its resources."

During both sessions of the 90th Congress — my first term — I supported all efforts to reduce Federal spending including my vote against establishment of the Kappel Commission whose recommendations resulted in the recent pay increases for members of Congress, Supreme Court Justices, Cabinet Secretaries, and other high-ranking Federal officials. I also opposed the 10 percent surtax which the President now says must be extended in his fight against inflation. When the so-called Revenue and Expenditure Control Act of 1968 which included the 10 percent surtax was passed, I said that I had opposed the bill because I believed — and shall still do — that our problem is, as it has been for the past eight years, Government overspending, not undertaxing.

The deficit for Fiscal 1968 was more than $25 billion and since the last balanced budget of 1960, the Federal Government has spent $60.6 billion more than it has taken in. The 1970 budget proposed by President Johnson and now under study by President Nixon predicted a surplus of some $3.4 billion. But this was based on extension of the 10 percent surtax and income from other proposals yet to be approved by Congress. The surtax alone would produce an estimated $9 billion so, obviously, without it there would be a substantial budget deficit.

A former White House assistant made the observation that one of President Johnson's defenses of the high spending outlays of his Administration was "carrying on a commitment made by President Eisenhower and continued by President Kennedy."

"Eisenhower got the credit card, Kennedy made a few purchases with it, and the big bills came to LBJ," he said. He didn't mention, however, the mass of domestic and other non-military spending legislation that was railroaded through the lopsided Democratic 89th and 90th Congresses by LBJ.

President Johnson insisted on guns and butter as he pushed his Great Society programs through Congress and refused to heed the warnings of inflation. So, more accurately, "the big bills are coming to President Nixon who has inherited the mess but has made it clear that he will do whatever is necessary to halt inflation and stabilize prices.

Like the withdrawal agony of a dope addict, the process will be painful. Until the economy can be brought under control and meaningful reductions in Government spending for non-military projects can be made, the "pain" will probably include a boost in the public debt ceiling, continued high interest rates and a temporary extension of the surtax. If successful, these measures, as distasteful as they are, will certainly be preferable to a continuation of cost-of-living increases which ran at a rate of almost 5 percent last year.

Jacksons Return Home This Week

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Jackson, Hereford, will be back from an eight-week tour of Pakistan on Friday.

They have been part of a team of eight U. S. rural leaders under the sponsorship of Farmers and World Affairs.

Starting in West Pakistan and later flying to East, the group traveled by plane, car, river launch, and jeep. They went to government and privately owned experimental farms, and saw many varieties of local agriculture in the villages. They visited steel, textile, and jute factories, and watched the new model fish harbor being built at Chittagong. They were the guests in many areas of the Ministries of Agriculture, and were hospitably entertained by Pakistanis who had visited the U. S. through the FWA exchange.

The current demonstrations in Pakistan caused minor changes in their itinerary, but they had no real difficulties, and were made welcome everywhere.

The Jacksons will be available to speak to interested groups on their experiences, and may be contacted directly.

This program, now in its tenth year, has sent 190 U.S. farmers from 39 states to India, Pakistan, the United Arab Republic, or Venezuela. FWA has brought 179 rural leaders from those countries here. These visitors have been hosted by American farm families in 37 states. FWA works with state Farm Bureaus, Farmers Unions, and Granges in selecting U. S. participants and in arranging the return visits.

FWA, a non-profit educational organization, seeks to help the U. S. farmer become better informed and more effective in helping to build a free and peaceful world. It is supported by contributions which are tax deductible, and some grants in aid of foreign currencies from the U. S. State Department.

Further information on the exchange and other programs is available from FWA, 1201 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa., 19107.

Clayton Reports On Water, School

The 61st Legislature has now completed its seventh week and there have been areas of real progress made toward legislation that will have lasting effect on Texas, and especially the West-Texas area.

Representative Bill Clayton was successful this week in passing through the House of Representatives a Constitutional Amendment that, if passed by the State Senate and voted for by the people, would be the first step in implementing the overall proposed water development program for Texas.

This amendment provides constitutional authorization for $1/2 billion dollars of bonds to be issued over the next fifty years, and would start a program to bring surplus water into the water deficient areas of Texas.

This amendment was proposed as the result of an intensive study that was made by the House Interim Water Study Committee during the last two years; Clayton was Chairman of the Water Study Committee that made these recommendations.

HOUSE BILL 300 — the package bill that came from the Governor's Public School Education Study Committee has been set for a public hearing on March 25, at 1:30 P.M., at the Press Table in the House of Representatives.

This is the bill that contains, among other recommendations, the proposal that the schools with less than 2,600 pupils be consolidated and also recommends that the school tax structure be drastically changed.

Representative Clayton has publicly stated that he will oppose the consolidation of the schools and also will oppose the proposed change in the tax structure.

Life Sentence Handed Nanez

Ernesto Nanez, charged in the October 20, 1968 rape of his 15-year-old daughter Lupe, was found guilty of the charge and sentenced to life imprisonment in 60th District Court Wednesday.

An all-male jury, after deliberating about 30 minutes, returned the sentence.

Testimony in the case by the daughter and her older sister related that it was not the first time Nanez had committed an assault on the young girl. The girl testified that the first attack occurred when she was nine years old and the family was living in Lamesa. She stated that Nanez had threatened the life of her mother if she told anyone of the incident.

Prosecuting attorney was Jerry Tucker and Bruce Miller represented the defense.

TO PLAY FOR CONCERT ASSOCIATION — The Clebanoff Strings and Orchestra, a company of 20 instrumentalists, will present the final concert of the 1968-69 season for Hereford Community Concert Association next Saturday evening in the high school auditorium. This musical group, of a type popular in Europe but virtually unknown in America, is of a size between the usual small chamber orchestra and the regular symphony, and was formed by Clebanoff, its conductor and solo violinist, in 1957. It has since toured for concerts over the nation, played for television, radio and film backgrounds, and made numerous albums for Mercury Records. The conductor led his own string quartet before originating the orchestra, and has been concertmaster of both the Illinois Symphony and the NBC Orchestra. He began his career at the age of 20 as the youngest member of the Chicago Symphony.

Washington Report

From Congress
BOB PRICE 10TH DISTRICT, TEXAS

In his budget message to Congress before leaving office, President Johnson included a warning that "It may be necessary within the next few months to raise the present debt limit." President Nixon found when he took office that the public debt subject to limit was $364.2 billion — only $800 million below the statutory ceiling of $365 billion. Present estimates now indicate that borrowings needed to provide the Government with minimum cash balances essential for its operations will place the debt subject to limit at or above the legal ceiling by mid-April.

In a recent message to Congress, President Nixon said that these projections have been reviewed and updated, on the basis of the latest revenue and expenditure flows but there was still inadequate leeway under the debt limit to meet all anticipated cash requirements through the middle of April. Therefore, the President said he would ask Congress to review the debt limit before mid-April and provide a reasonable margin for contingencies.

All department and agency heads, he said, are now reviewing their programs in a determined effort to reduce costs. "But we should not let our hopes for success in this effort deter us from the necessary action on the debt limit," the President said.

"Such cost reductions can have only a minor effect on expenditures in the next month or two, and it is in early March and again in early April that the treasury will be faced with the heaviest drain on its resources."

During both sessions of the 90th Congress — my first term — I supported all efforts to reduce Federal spending including my vote against establishment of the Kappel Commission whose recommendations resulted in the recent pay increases for members of Congress, Supreme Court Justices, Cabinet Secretaries, and other high-ranking Federal officials. I also opposed the 10 percent surtax which the President now says must be extended in his fight against inflation. When the so-called Revenue and Expenditure Control Act of 1968 which included the 10 percent surtax was passed, I said that I had opposed the bill because I believed — and shall still do — that our problem is, as it has been for the past eight years, Government overspending, not undertaxing.

The deficit for Fiscal 1968 was more than $25 billion and since the last balanced budget of 1960, the Federal Government has spent $60.6 billion more than it has taken in. The 1970 budget proposed by President Johnson and now under study by President Nixon predicted a surplus of some $3.4 billion. But this was based on extension of the 10 percent surtax and income from other proposals yet to be approved by Congress. The surtax alone would produce an estimated $9 billion so, obviously, without it there would be a substantial budget deficit.

A former White House assistant made the observation

that one of President Johnson's defenses of the high spending outlays of his Administration was "carrying on a commitment made by President Eisenhower and continued by President Kennedy."

"Eisenhower got the credit card, Kennedy made a few purchases with it, and the big bills came to LBJ," he said. He didn't mention, however, the mass of domestic and other non-military spending legislation that was railroaded through the lopsided Democratic 89th and 90th Congresses by LBJ.

President Johnson insisted on guns and butter as he pushed his Great Society programs through Congress and refused to heed the warnings of inflation. So, more accurately, "the big bills are coming to President Nixon who has inherited the mess but has made it clear that he will do whatever is necessary to halt inflation and stabilize prices."

Like the withdrawal agency of a dope addict, the process will be painful. Until the economy can be brought under control and meaningful reductions in Government spending for non-military projects can be made, the "pain" will probably include a boost in the public debt ceiling, continued high interest rates and a temporary extension of the surtax. If successful, these measures, as distasteful as they are, will certainly be preferable to a continuation of cost-of-living increases which ran at a rate of almost 5 percent last year.

Jacksons Return Home This Week

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Jackson, Hereford, will be back from an eight-week tour of Pakistan on Friday.

They have been part of a team of eight U. S. rural leaders under the sponsorship of Farmers and World Affairs.

Starting in West Pakistan and later flying to East, the group traveled by plane, car, river launch, and jeep. They went to government and privately owned experimental farms, and saw many varieties of local agriculture in the villages. They visited steel, textile, and jute factories, and watched the new model fish harbor being built at Chittagong. They were the guests in many areas of the Ministries of Agriculture, and were hospitably entertained by Pakistanis who had visited the U. S. through the FWA exchange.

The current demonstrations in Pakistan caused minor changes in their itinerary, but they had no real difficulties, and were made welcome everywhere.

The Jacksons will be available to speak to interested groups on their experiences, and may be contacted directly.

This program, now in its tenth year, has sent 190 U.S. farmers from 39 states to India, Pakistan, the United Arab Republic, or Venezuela. FWA has brought 179 rural leaders from those countries here. These visitors have been hosted by American farm families in 37 states. FWA works with state Farm Bureaus, Farmers Unions, and Granges in selecting U. S. participants and in arranging the return visits.

FWA, a non-profit educational organization, seeks to help the U. S. farmer become better informed and more effective in helping to build a free and peaceful world. It is supported by contributions which are tax deductible, and some grants in aid of foreign currencies from the U. S. State Department.

Further information on the exchange and other programs is available from FWA, 1201 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa., 19107.

Clayton Reports On Water, School

The 61st Legislature has now completed its seventh week and there have been areas of real progress made toward legislation that will have lasting effect on Texas, and especially the West Texas area.

Representative Bill Clayton was successful this week in passing through the House of Representatives a Constitutional Amendment that, if passed by the State Senate and voted for by the people, would be the first step in implementing the overall proposed water development program for Texas.

This amendment provides constitutional authorization for 3 1/2 billion dollars of bonds to be issued over the next fifty years, and would start a program to bring surplus water into the water deficient areas of Texas.

This amendment was proposed as the result of an intensive study that was made by the House Interim Water Study Committee during the last two years; Clayton was Chairman of the Water Study Committee that made these recommendations.

HOUSE BILL 300 — the package bill that came from the Governor's Public School Education Study Committee has been set for a public hearing on March 25, at 1:30 P.M., at the Press Table in the House of Representatives.

This is the bill that contains, among other recommendations, the proposal that the schools with less than 2,000 pupils be consolidated and also recommends that the school tax structure be drastically changed.

Representative Clayton has publicly stated that he will oppose the consolidation of the schools and also will oppose the proposed change in the tax structure.

In a recent message to Congress, President Nixon said that these projections have been reviewed and updated on the basis of the latest revenue and expenditure flows but there was still inadequate leeway under the debt limit to meet all anticipated cash requirements through the middle of April. Therefore, the President said he would ask Congress to review the debt limit before mid-April and provide a reasonable margin for contingencies.

All department and agency heads, he said, are now reviewing their programs in a determined effort to reduce costs. "But we should not let our hopes for success in this effort deter us from the necessary action on the debt limit," the President said.

"Such cost reductions can have only a minor effect on expenditures in the next month or two, and it is in early March and again in early April that the treasury will be faced with the heaviest drain on its resources." During both sessions of the 90th Congress — my first term — I supported all efforts to reduce Federal spending including my vote against establishment of the Kappel Commission whose recommendations resulted in the recent pay increases for members of Congress, Supreme Court Justices, Cabinet Secretaries, and other high-ranking Federal officials. I also opposed the 10 percent surtax which the President now says must be extended in his fight against inflation. When the so-called Revenue and Expenditure Control Act of 1968 which included the 10 percent surtax was passed, I said that I had opposed the bill because I believed — and shall still do — that our problem is, as it has been for the past eight years, Government overspending, not undertaxing.

The deficit for Fiscal 1968 was more than $25 billion and since the last balanced budget of 1960, the Federal Government has spent $60.6 billion more than it has taken in. The 1970 budget proposed by President Johnson and now under study by President Nixon predicted a surplus of some $3.4 billion. But this was based on extension of the 10 percent surtax and income from other proposals yet to be approved by Congress. The surtax alone would produce an estimated $9 billion so, obviously, without it there would be a substantial budget deficit.

A former White House assistant made the observation

that one of President Johnson's defenses of the high spending outlays of his Administration was "carrying on a commitment made by President Eisenhower and continued by President Kennedy."

"Eisenhower got the credit card, Kennedy made a few purchases with it, and the big bills came to LBJ," he said. He didn't mention, however, the mass of domestic and other non-military spending legislation that was railroaded through the lopsided Democratic 89th and 90th Congresses by LBJ.

President Johnson insisted on guns and butter as he pushed his Great Society programs through Congress and refused to heed the warnings of inflation. So, more accurately, the big bills are coming to President Nixon who has inherited the mess but has made it clear that he will do whatever is necessary to halt inflation and stabilize prices.

Like the withdrawal agony of a dope addict, the process will be painful. Until the economy can be brought under control and meaningful reductions in Government spending for non-military projects can be made, the "pain" will probably include a boost in the public debt ceiling, continued high interest rates and a temporary extension of the surtax. If successful, these measures, as distasteful as they are, will certainly be preferable to a continuation of cost-of-living increases which ran at a rate of almost 5 percent last year.

Jacksons Return Home This Week

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Jackson, Hereford, will be back from an eight-week tour of Pakistan, on Friday.

They have been part of a team of eight U. S. rural leaders under the sponsorship of Farmers and World Affairs.

Starting in West Pakistan and later flying to East, the group traveled by plane, car, river launch, and jeep. They went to government and privately owned experimental farms, and saw many varieties of local agriculture in the villages. They visited steel, textile, and jute factories, and watched the new model fish harbor being built at Chittagong. They were the guests in many areas of the Ministries of Agriculture, and were hospitably entertained by Pakistanis who had visited the U. S. through the FWA exchange.

The current demonstrations in Pakistan caused minor changes in their itinerary, but they had no real difficulties, and were made welcome everywhere.

The Jacksons will be available to speak to interested groups on their experiences, and may be contacted directly.

This program, now in its tenth year, has sent 190 U.S. farmers from 39 states to India, Pakistan, the United Arab Republic, or Venezuela. FWA has brought 179 rural leaders from those countries here. These visitors have been hosted by American farm families in 37 states. FWA works with state Farm Bureaus, Farmers Unions, and Granges in selecting U. S. participants and in arranging the return visits.

FWA, a non-profit educational organization, seeks to help the U. S. farmer become better informed and more effective in helping to build a free and peaceful world. It is supported by contributions which are tax deductible, and some grants in aid of foreign currencies from the U. S. State Department.

Further information on the exchange and other programs is available from FWA, 1201 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa., 19107.

ANTIGOURMET ACTIVITIES

Mrs. Leslie Faull first had her Commandeur Associe de la Commanderie des Cordon Bleus de France badge pinched. Next, a thief took a prize cake from her car. Then she filled the auto with gas to visit her son's school and somebody siphoned the tank dry. Finally a vandal broke off the car door handle and she couldn't get in.

Clayton Reports On Water, School

The 61st Legislature has now completed its seventh week and there have been areas of real progress made toward legislation that will have lasting effect on Texas, and especially the West Texas area.

Representative Bill Clayton was successful this week in passing through the House of Representatives a Constitutional Amendment that, if passed by the State Senate and voted for by the people, would be the first step in implementing the overall proposed water development program for Texas.

This amendment provides constitutional authorization for 3½ billion dollars of bonds to be issued over the next fifty years, and would start a program to bring surplus water into the water deficient areas of Texas.

This amendment was proposed as the result of an intensive study that was made by the House Interim Water Study Committee during the last two years; Clayton was Chairman of the Water Study Committee that made these recommendations.

HOUSE BILL 300 — the package bill that came from the Governor's Public School Education Study Committee has been set for a public hearing on March 25, at 1:30 P.M., at the Press Table in the House of Representatives.

This is the bill that contains, among other recommendations, the proposal that the schools with less than 2,600 pupils be consolidated and also recommends that the school tax structure be drastically changed.

Representative Clayton has publicly stated that he will oppose the consolidation of the schools and also will oppose the proposed change in the tax structure.

Life Sentence Handed Nanez

Ernesto Nanez, charged in the October 20, 1968 rape of his 15-year-old daughter Lupe, was found guilty of the charge and sentenced to life imprisonment in 49th District Court Wednesday.

An all-male jury, after deliberating about 30 minutes, returned the sentence.

Testimony in the case by the daughter and her older sister related that it was not the first time Nanez had committed an assault on the young girl. The girl testified that the first attack occurred when she was nine years old and the family was living in Lamesa. She stated that Nanez had threatened the life of her mother if she told anyone of the incident.

Prosecuting attorney was Jerry Tucker and Bruce Miller represented the defense.

Chamber Ladies Hold Executive Meet Tuesday

Needs for the Hereford Satellite Program were reviewed Tuesday at a noon executive meeting of the women's division of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

Reports on the final touches of beautifying Windmill Park were delivered by members of the Beautification committee and plans for a no-litter campaign are underway.

A report on the Satellite Program, given by Mrs. Hazen Woods, public affairs chairman, revealed several needs of the school according to Mrs. Maxine Thompson, teacher. Several items needed include a typewriter, iron and ironing board, a new sewing machine and funds to use for craft projects.

Anyone wishing to donate cash or materials for the crafts or woodworking projects are asked to contact Mrs. Thompson. She added that the school here is required to enter state competition in this category.

When news of the Confederate surrender reached Union lines, troops began shooting off their guns. Gen. Grant ordered them to stop, saying "The war is over; the Rebels are our countrymen again; and the best sign of rejoicing after the victory will be to abstain from all demonstrations in the field."

Clark Honored At Conference

The man who established a carpet mill to employ Oklahoma Indians — and then built it into a fortune-producing enterprise — keynoted the Texas Association of Distributive Education Clubs state leadership conference in Dallas Friday and Saturday.

Five school superintendents honored were John Clark Jr., Hereford Independent School District; C. E. Ellison, Killean; Philip Fowler, Donna; H. L. Irsfeld, Mineral Wells; and Edwin H. Irons, Tyler.

Clark, who has been superintendent of Hereford schools since 1965, attended the conference with Mrs. Clark.

Don Greve, founder and chairman of the board of Sequoyah Carpet Mills in Anadarko, Okla., addressed his remarks on "The Uncommom American" to some 1,400 high school students training to be tomorrow's leaders in retail, wholesale, and service selling occupations. Greve spoke Saturday in the Grand Ballroom of the Statler Hilton Hotel.

"This man differs from a lot of people in the way he made employment for Indians," said David Thompson, director of distributive education at the Texas Education Agency, a co-sponsor of the conference. "Other people wouldn't hire them. Mr. Greve did and, in the process, made a fortune."

The 23rd annual DECA conference had a theme right out of Jules Verne: "Up, Up and Away." Programs, identification badges, and table decorations featured the kind of airship Verne's hero flew across the continent to win his bet in "Around the World in 80 Days."

The young people attending the conference didn't make any bets, but they competed in 12 contests keyed to their talents in marketing and distribution. Trophies were awarded to the first-, second- and third-place winners in student of the year, marketing, creative marketing, outstanding training station student, advertising, job interview, public speaking, sales demonstration, area of distribution manual, chapter of the year, and merchandise information manual.

Winners of the new display contest were determined by votes of both adult and student judges, Thompson says.

First-place winners will compete at the national DECA meeting to be held May 5-8 in Atlantic City, N. J.

Two newly-established $1,500 scholarships were awarded.

warded two four-year scholarships to the University of Houston, with all books and fees paid.

John R. Guemple, assistant commissioner for adult and vocational education at the Agency, was one of a dozen persons honored for outstanding contributions to the DECA program in Texas at the 9 p. m. Saturday awards banquet.

Others who received plaques of recognition are Dolph Briscoe, Uvalde, banker and rancher; Francis Flynn, director of distributive education, The University of Texas at Austin; Representative George T. Hinson, Mineola; Dennis Hoover, Dallas Morning News; and former Governor Allan Shivers of Austin now chairman of the board of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The demand for spices was so great in the Middle Ages, the National Geographic Society reports, that rents and taxes were often paid with pepper, and a pound of ginger could buy a sheep.

Family First Interest

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Employment in banks, in "just about every department that banks have", has added up to a 12-year career for red-haired Mrs. Mike Patrick, who moved to Hereford a few weeks ago from Abilene and has got her family comfortably settled at 221 Greenwood.

SHE HAS WORKED in banks at El Paso and suburban Ysleta, at Plainview and Lubbock, but her job has been her second interest, the first was her family, which includes five children ranging in age from Keith, 12 and a La Plata Junior High student, down to three-year-old Shawn.

In between are Cynthia and Becky, both pupils at Northwest Elementary, and Kim, who will start to school next year.

Lubbock was the Patricks' home for several years before Patrick, with Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., was transferred to Abilene for a short stay. He recently came here as local manager.

PLAINVIEW IS his home town, but Mrs. Patrick was born in the small town of Plomot and grew up at nearby Lockney, so both are thoroughly familiar with this area.

The Patricks had a problem familiar to Hereford newcomers in finding a suitable place to live, and delayed their move a few weeks before they were located. Now they are in a new section of the city with a completely unimproved backyard challenging Pat Patrick's ability as a gardener. Fortunately, she says she enjoys yard work and is already planning projects for this spring.

She has gone enthusiastically about the business of getting acquainted here, has taken bridge lessons which resulted in a club for play twice a month, joined a knitting class and discussed formation of a golfing group with other interested women.

KNITTING IS an example of the handicrafts she likes, and she is always ready to try a new one. Gay Mexican paper flowers which fill a tall floor vase in her living room, and yarn cushions on the divan are products of recent activities, and she is gathering material to practice decoupage.

She likes to refinish furniture and says she gets double pleasure in finding odd pieces in second hand shops which can be finished to fit in with furniture already in use by the family.

Conversation pieces in the living room are an old rocking chair and a treadle-operated sewing machine, both formerly owned by Patrick's grandparents and now bright with new paint, sturdy and useful in their new setting.

Spanish scenes in paintings are a clue to another interest, the Spanish trend in decorating; she is buying furniture in modern Spanish style to set the mode in her home as she plans for the future.

There are 10,000 species of fern ranging from delicate, filmy plants less than an inch high to 80-foot tropical giant with palmlike fronds.

La Paz, the seat of Bolivia's government, is 11,910 feet high.

Slipped Disc

What is meant by the term "slipped disc?" When the body is exposed to cold or dampness, a disc in the spinal column may expand. An expanded disc is weak and more likely to be injured.

The injury could result from a sudden fall, a forceful blow, or excessive exertion. In this condition, the disc is said to be "slipped". When a slipped disc occurs its purpose, which is to serve as a cushion between vertebrae, can't be fulfilled.

Much discomfort, as well as reduced flexibility of the spine, results from this condition. If the injured disc is left alone, there is little chance it will heal itself. In fact, it's likely to grow worse. At the first sign of pain, consult a chiropractor. He is well-qualified to help you.

H.D. CHATTER
Scholarship Has History

By Mrs. Argen Draper
Home Demonstration Agent

There is much jubilation in home demonstration circles over Cynthia Hanna being awarded the scholarship of the Texas Home Demonstration Association. The local club women annually contribute to this educational fund.

THE FIRST THDA scholarship was given in 1927 to a 4-H girl from Harris County. Until 1942, it was called Home Demonstration Scholarship, then it was named Maggie W. Barry Scholarship.

One scholarship per year was given until 1950 when the second was the Helen W. Swift scholarship. The third was awarded in 1955 as THDA and in 1958 was named Bonnie Cox Scholarship.

These three organization specialists for Texas Agricultural Extension Service have given much time to organize and guide the club women's state group—the Texas Home Demonstration Association.

Many fine leaders have received training in the county, district and state THDA; their influence has been felt in many areas of work in Texas. I certainly appreciate the leadership development in all phases of women's work.

Congratulations Cynthia!! Her plans now are to be a home demonstration agent and I am confident she will be one of the best.

OTHER EXCITING news to us is in plans for the training for licensed vocational nurses. This has drawn much favorable comment and Lester Rape of the Texas Employment Commission tells me there have been a number of applications for the course.

If you are interested, write Texas Employment Commission, 7th and 25 Mile Avenue, Hereford. This is a 52 week course, classroom and hospital work; after the 52 weeks the students will take the State Examination for a license. There's need to act quickly as the course begins March 31.

JUDY NELSON of Segauache, Colo. shared this recipe with us. You'll think it is very good.

SOUR CREAM COFFEE CAKE
1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 cups flour
1 t. baking powder

1 cup commercial sour cream
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 t. baking soda
1/2 t. salt
1 t. vanilla

TOPPING
One-third cup brown sugar
1/4 cup nuts
1/4 cup sugar
1 t. cinnamon
Cream butter and sugar; add eggs one at a time; add dry ingredients one at a time. Pour half of batter into well buttered 9" x 13" pan. Repeat with the remaining butter and topping. Bake 40 minutes at 350 degrees.
