Once Thought Subversive

Salvation Army Marks 80 Years

By EARL MOSELEY
Staff Writer

The Salvation Army in Hereford is celebrating the eightieth anniversary in Texas of the world wide Christian religious body with a semi-military structure.

In fact, the history of the Salvation Army records the fact that in its beginning in the United States, some of its officers were placed in jail because a segment of the people thought the organization was "subversive" due to their semi-military rigging.

But it wasn't long until this impression was proved to be entirely false. It was discovered that the Salvation Army provided food, shelter and clothing to the needy and administered to the spirit by bringing religion to many whom churches never reached.

In Texas, the first Salvation Army post was established in Dallas in 1889. From their small beginning, services have been extended to 554 cities and towns throughout the state.

In Hereford, the Salvation Army committee is composed of Lowell Sharp, chairman; Neil Cooper, vice chairman; B. F. Cain, treasurer; Mrs. Jewell Smith, welfare chairman; with Don Zimmerman, W. B. Dowell, Elroy Sharp, and John Poole on the board.

They class themselves as "volunteer civic-minded citizens." They administer the funds of the Salvation Army welfare program in Hereford. During the past year, their services have included fixing shoes, sending people to camp and other contributions to the local welfare.

In statewide services, under the Texas commanding officer

Col Paul Thornburg and service unit committee leader Dan Eddy, they provide disaster relief with 13 mobile units placed in strategic locations (the nearest unit covering Hereford is Lubbock), veterans and service personnel services, alcoholic treatment centers, home and hospital for unwed mothers, summer camps for boys, and others.

A distinctive feature of the Salvation Army is something not seen in Hereford. It is their street corner musicians.

General William Booth, a Methodist minister, began the work of the Salvation Army this way to bring the Gospel to the poor people of London's East End slums in 1865. His work was well received, and he organized the Christian Mission. In 1878, the Mission changed its name to the Salvation Army, designed uniforms for both men and women officers, and adopted the semi-military system of leadership.

The cause spread. The Salvation Army now operates in 86 countries and colonies. The Army was established in the United States in 1880, and today it operates more than 8,000 centers.

After Booth's death in 1912, his son Bramwell became general. He was succeeded by Edward J. Higgins. The founder's daughter, Evangeline, became the next general and in 1939 George Carpenter, succeeded her. Albert Osborn became general in 1946. General Wilfred Kitching was elected seventh general of the Salvation Army in 1964.

During World War I, the semi-military organization's mobile caissons became welcome sights on all fronts — and they have continued this service throughout the later wars. They were also partly responsible for the formation of the United Service Organizations (USO).

Whenever disaster has struck the familiar sight has become the Salvation Army's appearance and aid.

History also records that Texas never looked upon the Salvation Army as "subversive." Instead, the Army has had the respect of the Texas people since they first came to Dallas 80 years ago.

Fourth Fatality This Year Accident Claims Life of Countian

Mrs. Sandra Roberson Denney, 27, of Wildorado, became the fourth traffic fatality of the year for Deaf Smith County when the 1958 Ford pickup she was driving apparently went out of control on a dirt road Thursday afternoon and overturned.

In the car with Mrs. Denney were her three children, Richard Dale, 3, Tony Bryan, 5 and Robin Ann, 18-months and Mrs. Betty Lou Hollis, 16, of 213 Avenue J, Hereford. Two of the children, Richard and Robin Ann, received numerous cuts and bruises and Tony Bryan sustained serious cuts and bruises and was taken to Deaf Smith County Hospital where surgery was performed.

Mrs. Hollis sustained a broken collar bone in addition to cuts and bruises.

The second local resident to die in a pickup accident during the past two months, Mrs. Denney and her passengers were traveling south on a dirt road about 3 p. m. Thursday when she apparently lost control of the vehicle, allowing it to roll two-and-one-quarter times before it came to rest on its side. Mrs. Hollis told investigating officers when the pickup came to rest, she heard the youngest child crying and thought the other three were critically injured. She grabbed the crying baby by and hurried to the nearest farmhouse where she summoned help. During the time she was going to the farmhouse, a passer-by discovered the accident.

The accident occurred 8.5 miles east and 7.1 miles north of Milo Center.

Funeral services for Mrs. Denney were held Saturday at Gilliland Funeral Home here. The Rev. Jesse R. Nobel, pastor of the Palo Duro Baptist Church northeast of Hereford, officiated. Burial was in West Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Denney was born November 1, 1941 in Clinton, Oklahoma and came to this county in 1965. She married Leroy Denney on April 15, 1963 at Westway. She is survived by her husband, the three children and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Roberson, of Hereford.

Absentee Votes Total 54 Here

A total of 54 absentee ballots had been cast by closing time Friday at the County Clerk's office at the courthouse for the Tuesday voting on the nine proposed state constitutional amendments. It was announced by officials.

Deadline for voting absentee was 5 p. m. Friday at the County Clerk's office.

Voting for the nine amendments, ranging from important issues on the future of water in Texas to streamlining the state constitution, will get underway Tuesday at the 11 precincts throughout the county. Voters in Precincts 1 and 2 will cast their ballots at the courthouse; Precinct 3 at the J. E. McCathern residence, Route 4, Westway; Precinct 4 at the Simms Community House, Precinct 5 at Hereford Community Center, 100 Ave. C at Park Ave.; Precinct 6 at Ford School House; Precinct 7 at Dawn School House; Precinct 8 at Walcott School House; Precinct 9 at Bippus Community House; Precinct 10 at Palo Duro Church; and Precinct 11 at Central Elementary School, 406 W. Fourth St.

Football Tickets To Go On Sale

Roy Hartman, superintendent of schools, announced Friday that holders of past season football tickets will be given first opportunity to get reserve seats on a first come first serve basis beginning August 11 and lasting through Aug. 15.

Rows 18 through 30 in section C, along with all of section B, will be reserved seats, Hartman pointed out. He said that presently, they have received no information concerning the 300 chair-type seats which were requested some months ago.

The chair-type seats, which will extend from the 42-yard line to the 42-yard line, will be located in the prime section of the new stadium, extending from rows seven to 17. Persons who requested these seats will be notified later.

Hartman added that during the week of Aug. 18-22 all reserve seats that have not been claimed by past season ticket holders will go on sale to the general public.

This year's home schedule includes the Sept. 19 game against Plainview, the Oct. 3 game against Phillips, the Oct. 24 game against Canyon, the Nov. 7 game against Muleshoe and the Nov. 21 game against Dumas.

Building Permits Hit $315,800

Building permits issued by the city office during the month of July totaled $315,800, near the high posted for the month of June which was $348,950.

The largest single permit issued during July was for $250,000 for erection of a building for the First Baptist Church. There were 19 other permits issued for the month with one totaling $17,500 and three other high ones at $12,500.

Of the 11 issued, four were for erection of a residence, one for the erection of a building, one add to business and one add to residence, one move in residence, one move in mobile home, one move, alter and repair residence and one alter and repair office building.

A breakdown for the first seven months this year shows January with a total of $281,000, Feb., $215,700, March, $144,100, April, $1,000,000, May, $204,500, June, $348,100 and July with its total of $315,800, bringing the year's total to $2,515,200.

GSPA Calls For Referendum Vote

Grain Sorghum Producers Association board of directors voted Thursday to ask John C. White, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture, for certification to hold a referendum among grain producers in a 29-county area of the Texas High Plains and Panhandle.

If granted, grain producers will vote on an extended research and promotion program that will be designed to find ways to cut the cost of production and yield more profit. GSPA president A. W. Anthony Jr., a Friona farmer, said, "We are optimistic that upon passage of this referendum, an extended research and market promotion program will be developed, that will help our profits as grain farmers."

Anthony pointed out, "If we could find a way to cut just one greenbug spraying — which costs from $2 to $3 per acre — the eight pennies per acre invested by the average grain farmer in his research and market promotion program actually is nothing in comparison to benefits. Without such a program and with the new insects and diseases which are moving into this area, our days as grain farmers may be numbered."

On the same ballot the farmers will elect a Grain Sorghum Producers board. This 12-man board will have the responsibility of developing programs and seeing that funds represent in such a way that the farmers will get the most benefits from them.

Any farmer who produces grain may have his name on the ballot by submitting his nomination with signatures of ten other producers to the Grain Sorghum Producers Association thirty days prior to the referendum. The referendum is expected to be held in early October.

Anthony said, "This program will only take five cents per ton to finance properly. GSPA has been working in this area and much good has come from our work. But the 20 percent of the grain farmers who are GSPA members cannot, nor should they be expected to, carry the full load. All farmers will receive the benefits of this program and we feel they will want to have a part of it."

Public hearing will be held in Austin at 10:30 a. m. Monday. At this hearing, Commissioner White is scheduled to decide the merits of certification of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association in holding such a referendum.

Other decisions made at the GSPA board meeting included that the entire GSPA executive committee be elected to another term and that GSPA should continue its policy of seeking a continuation of the present feed grain program with improvement in income to producers.

Re-elected committee members were: Anthony, president; Pat Northcutt, Silverton, secretary-treasurer; M. A. B. Foreman, Felt, Okla., vice-president; K. B. Parish, Springlake, vice-president; and Melvin Barton, Dimmitt, vice-president.

School Budget Reading Corlis Selected Drive Chairman

A reading of the budget for the new school year and a revision of the current budget is scheduled to begin at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday by the Hereford Independent School District Board of Trustees in the board room of the School Administration Building at 700 Union.

The Tuesday meeting has been called especially for this purpose.

Regular school trustees meeting is scheduled on the following Tuesday. Superintendent Johnny Clark Jr., who has resigned to accept a similar position at Baytown, will be present at both meetings.

For United Fund
Cletis Corlis Selected Drive Chairman

Cletis Corlis, manager of the J. C. Potts Co. store in Sugarland Mall was appointed this year's United Fund drive chairman at a board meeting Friday and immediately indicated plans to get the ball rolling for the $38,000 goal to be reached in the coming campaign.

Local United Fund agencies who will be included in the campaign are Deaf Smith County Council on Alcoholism, Road Cross, Camp Life Council, Central Dairy, Cult League, Boy Scouts, Little League, Pony League, Salvation Army, Texas United Fund, and USO.

Serving with Corlis as the drive committee are Joe Shall embargo, Debbs Knox, Mrs. G. Hill St. and Mrs. Genevieve Miller.

Corlis reported to the board at its breakfast meeting in the Calson House that "the present financial condition in Hereford is very good, and since the present goal is only approximately $900 more than last year's goal we will do our best to set up a campaign which will cover the amount requested."

The committee met later Friday with Corlis and began the process of the organization in procedures.

President Calvin Goodin urged the cooperation of the various agencies involved in helping the United Fund board solicit the necessary funds. Officers of these organizations are to be invited for attendance at future board meetings.

Goodin also presented two Golden Rule Awards in Friday morning ceremonies. The first award was presented by 17. Winners in the junior divisions, Joanne Wagner and Carmela Burgess, also appeared in the district show, but juniors do not compete in district judging.

Miss Witkowski was one of four girls chosen from the district entrants, who came from 22 counties of the Panhandle. Judging by Extension Service agents from other districts was based on record books showing accomplishments in 4-H Club, as well as on construction and modeling of garments.

The Hereford High School girl modeled a city pant-suit she had made, with bell-bottomed pants and interchangeable skirt of gold, navy and white plaid blended fabric, navy wool tunic and gold rayon blouse. She chose a block-heel shoe with nail stud trim to complete her costume.

Cantons Hold Meet Friday

The Hereford Canton and Auxiliary No. 36 met at The Auxiliary Temple Friday night at 8 p. m. for dinner and a bingo party.

Hostesses for the meeting were ladies Ana Conklin and Alta Davis.

Members present were Raymond Gage, past grand master; Lady Theima Gage, past president of LATM of the World, from Circle Back, Texas. Chevaliers and Ladies Tom and Oona Berry, Jerrell and Polly Otwell, G. H. and Della DeLoach, Arnold Gross of Muleshoe, and Floyd Houston of Littlefield.

Also present were Ladies Alta Davis, Nellie Beauford, Adella Hollabough, Bessie Lawrence. Also Ben and Ana Conklin, A. R. and Ruth Rogers.

Guests attending were Mrs. Floyd Houston of Littlefield, Mrs. Frances Parker, and Mrs. Frances Green.

The next meeting is set for August 15.

HD Agents To Meet Thursday

AMARILLO — The County Home Demonstration Agents' Association of Texas annual meeting opening here Thursday will draw about 300 home economists and guest speakers to the Herring Hotel, including Argen Draper and Rita Hucker of Deaf Smith County.

Dr. John E. Hutchison, Extension Director at Texas A&M University, will keynote the meeting Friday and speak on the theme, "Orbiting Toward Professional Perfection."

Other speakers include Judge Mary Lou Robinson, 108th District Court, Potter County; Mrs. Wildring Edwards, Texas Tech University professor in home and family life; Mrs. Julia Spurlock, Amarillo, author and homemaker; Mrs. Florence Low, assistant Extension director for home economics at Texas A&M; and Dawn Duncan, home demonstration agent in Kaufman County.

The group will attend a barbecue and the "Texas" drama in Palo Duro Canyon, tour the Panhandle and share ideas in several workshop sessions. Officers, including Association President Vera Adams Tyler, attended a board meeting Wednesday.

A total of 5,488 harness horses changed ownership through horse auctions during 1968. They cost their new owners more than $17 million.

Miss Clark Is Honored In Farewell

Miss Joy Clark was complimented with a farewell party Friday when Miss Cathy Lookingbill was hostess to a dozen girls at the swimming pool of Hereford Country Club. The young honoree will leave soon with her parents, the Johnny Clarks, for a home at Baytown.

After a swim in the club pool, the group went to the home of the hostess' grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Sr., for casual conversation and picture taking. Mrs. J. H. Lookingbill Jr. served refreshments to her daughter's guests.

They included Misses Nancy Montgomery, Brenda Jolly, Caye Clearman, Shari Hughes, Cheryl Cole, Rojean Block, Judy Wilson, Jackie Pickens, Sharon Powell, Janet Lookingbill and Sarah Winkler of Baton Rouge.

Father Of City Woman Is Buried

Funeral services for William C. Barnes, 91, of McAlester, Okla., father of Mrs. Sadie Shirley of Hereford, were conducted in a McAlester funeral chapel Thursday afternoon after his death Tuesday in a hospital there.

A retired farmer and rancher, Mr. Barnes had lived in McAlester many years. He was born Aug. 4, 1877, in Hartford, Ark., and moved to Oklahoma as a child.

The Rev. A. L. Shumard conducted the funeral and burial was in Oak Hill Cemetery at McAlester.

Mr. Barnes is survived by his wife; three daughters, Mrs. Elma Law of Stratford, Mrs. Louise Larkin of Calif. and Mrs. Shirley; two sons, C. M. Barnes, of Odessa and Al Barnes of Bawville, Calif.; two sisters, two brothers, 16 grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

Board Of Regents Approves Changes

Canyon, Tex. — The School of Business at West Texas State University received a strong push Friday in its fast-paced efforts to keep up with the demands of business and industry.

The Board of Regents of the State Senior Colleges of Texas approved changes in two degree programs and authorized a new Department of Computer Information Systems for the school.

At its meeting in Alpine, the regents also approved reorganizing the existing single Department of Economics, Government and Sociology in the College of Arts and Sciences into three departments.

The proposed Department of Economics would become a part of the School of Business under Dean C. C. Callarman while the Department of Government and the Department of Sociology would remain under Dean Ray Malzahn's College of Arts and Sciences.

The Coordinating Board of the Texas College and University System must approve the proposed changes before they become effective.

The request to alter the two degree programs involve changing the name of "major in mathematics-business" to "major in management science" and the adding of a "major in operations research" in the existing master of business administration degree.

Dr. Walter H. Juniper, academic vice president, said the "name management science is more descriptive of the program" and "business and industry are familiar with the name."

"The change of the name will strengthen the demand from business and industry for our graduates of the program," he said.

The purpose of a major in operations research "is to provide students with training on the graduate level in quantitative techniques," Juniper said. "The increasing use of electronic computers and modern management methods by business and industry has created a growing demand for persons trained in quantitative techniques, capable of using mathematics, statistics and computer methods in solving management problems," he said.

The proposed Department of Computer Information System would be the fourth separate department in the School of Business. At present all data processing and computer science courses are in the Department of Business Administration.

"The rapidly increasing interest in computer science because of the demand for trained personnel by business and industry make the formation of the new department almost a necessity for proper operations," Juniper said.

In the last eight years, the number of students registering for computer science courses has risen from 153 to 1,430, with 400 of them majoring in that field.

Juniper said the single Department of Economics, Government and Sociology, headed by Prof. Herschel Coffee, has grown too large for continued efficient supervision by one department head.

He said Coffee would head the proposed Department of Economics and the other two department heads probably would be appointed from the present faculty.

The purpose in placing the Department of Economics in the School of Business is because most of the students registered for economic courses are School of Business students.

In a large number of colleges and universities throughout the United States, economics is located administratively as a part of business," Juniper said.

Adult Classes Now Enrolling

Adult Education Classes pre-enrollment is now being conducted by the office of the Superintendent of Hereford Schools where such enrollment may be made in person at 700 Union or by telephoning 364-0606.

Courses now enrolling are: Welding, Typing I, Typing II, Bookkeeping, Shorthand I, Vocational Office Education, Furniture Repair and Upholstering, Conversational Spanish, Speed Reading, Business English Composition, and Basic Adult English (Su Futro Con El Inglés) for people who speak no English and those who cannot read the language.

Additional courses may be offered as interest warrants.

Purpose of the pre-enrollment is to obtain the necessary information for classes to begin during the week of Sept. 1. Courses will be offered on one and two nights per week on a two-semester basis.

Fees range from $10 to $15 per semester, depending upon the courses which are taken. There is no charge for Basic Adult English (Su Futro Con El Inglés).

Social Security

Have you a question about social security? Address it to Travis C. Briggs, District Manager, Social Security Administration, 1006 Adams Street, Amarillo, Texas 79101. You will receive an answer in this column or by mail.

By TRAVIS C. BRIGGS
Q — I have had maximum earnings each year since social security started. It seems I should get the maximum amount of benefits.

A — All benefits are based on the average earnings of each worker. The maximum amount of earnings that has been taxed and used to determine the amount of benefits, has risen gradually from $3,000 a year to $7,800. This is only the second year in which the earnings base for social security credit has been at the $7,800 level. Each additional year at this higher rate will increase average earnings and therefore the benefit amount.

It will be some time yet before the "maximum" defined in the law can be paid.

Q — What are the amounts of family benefits payable by social security?

A — The maximum amount which can be paid to the family of a retired, disabled, or deceased worker ranges from $82.50 to $434.40 a month. The amount depends upon the worker's average earnings and the number of persons in the family who are qualified to receive the insurance. Three eligible persons, (worker, wife, and one child, or widow and two children, for example) can get as much as a larger family.

Q — I am a retired welder and have been offered a job at $160 a week. The job will last eight weeks, so I will make a total of $180. Will my social security checks be stopped because I will earn over $140 a month for two months?

A — If you do not earn more than $1680 in a year, you will be entitled to all your checks.

There 73,118 harness races contested in the United States and Canada during 1968.

As the August recess approaches, I would like to take this opportunity to discuss the current legislative picture in the Senate.

The Senate is presently debating this year's military procurement bill of which President Nixon's proposed Safeguard Anti-Ballistic Missile system is a significant part. Safeguard would provide protection for our land-based deterrent force of ICBM's from the threat of an attack utilizing a high degree of advanced and sophisticated technology.

As a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, I am familiar with the military procurement bill and with the proposed Safeguard system. I have devoted much of my time over the past several weeks to a concerted effort to secure Senate approval for the initial ABM deployment which the bill now before us would provide.

The Congress is also wrestling with the issue of tax reform. I have supported efforts to extend the surtax because I have believed that step necessary as a means of controlling inflation. None of us enjoys having to pay taxes, but the American people suffer much more severely from the affects of inflation.

We need responsible tax reforms which will treat the majority of taxpayers in the middle income group more equitably.

At the same time, all Texans should be concerned about efforts to reduce the depletion allowance for oil. The allowance encourages continued exploration for oil reserves at a time when experts are warning that our domestic oil reserves will have to be vastly increased during the next several years. A healthy domestic oil industry also strengthens our national security posture. If the foreign oil reserves which are now available to us and to our European allies were suddenly shut off, we would need to be able to rapidly increase our domestic production. If exploration does not go forward, we might find ourselves unable to meet such a crisis.

This is why I am working against efforts to reduce the 27 1/2 per cent depletion allowance for oil.

I am also working against efforts to eliminate the present tax incentive which encourages the sale of municipal bonds. The current law does allow wealthy individuals to receive tax free interest on the state and municipal bonds which they have purchased. Thus, the law encourages those wealthy individuals to purchase those bonds at a rate of interest much lower than they would otherwise demand. If states and municipalities are forced to compete on the open bond market and pay competitive high interest rates, it would be we, the taxpayers, who would have to pay additional state and local taxes to enable those governing bodies to pay those competitively higher interest rates.

Earlier this week, I introduced two bills which I believe should be of interest to all Americans. They will not rank with the Anti-Ballistic Missile system, and with tax reform or the extension of the surtax, as major pieces of legislation, but I believe each to be of great significance.

One is a consumer protection measure which would prohibit the sending of certain unsolicited merchandise through the mail. It would also authorize the courts to award triple damages in civil suits stemming from injuries sustained by contact with unsolicited merchandise received in violation of the bill.

Under existing law, you could receive unsolicited merchandise in the mail and then, unless you acted to reject the merchandise, be held legally liable for payment. My bill properly counters this particularly flagrant example of "buyer-be-aware" psychology. It would reverse the burden of action by removing it from the innocent and sometimes unsuspecting consumer, and placing it on the sender of the merchandise where it properly belongs.

The other bill I offered last week would authorized the commissioning of a statue of Astronauts Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin planting the United States flag upon the moon. I believe such a statue would be an appropriate reminder of the recent and historic lunar mission of Apollo 11.

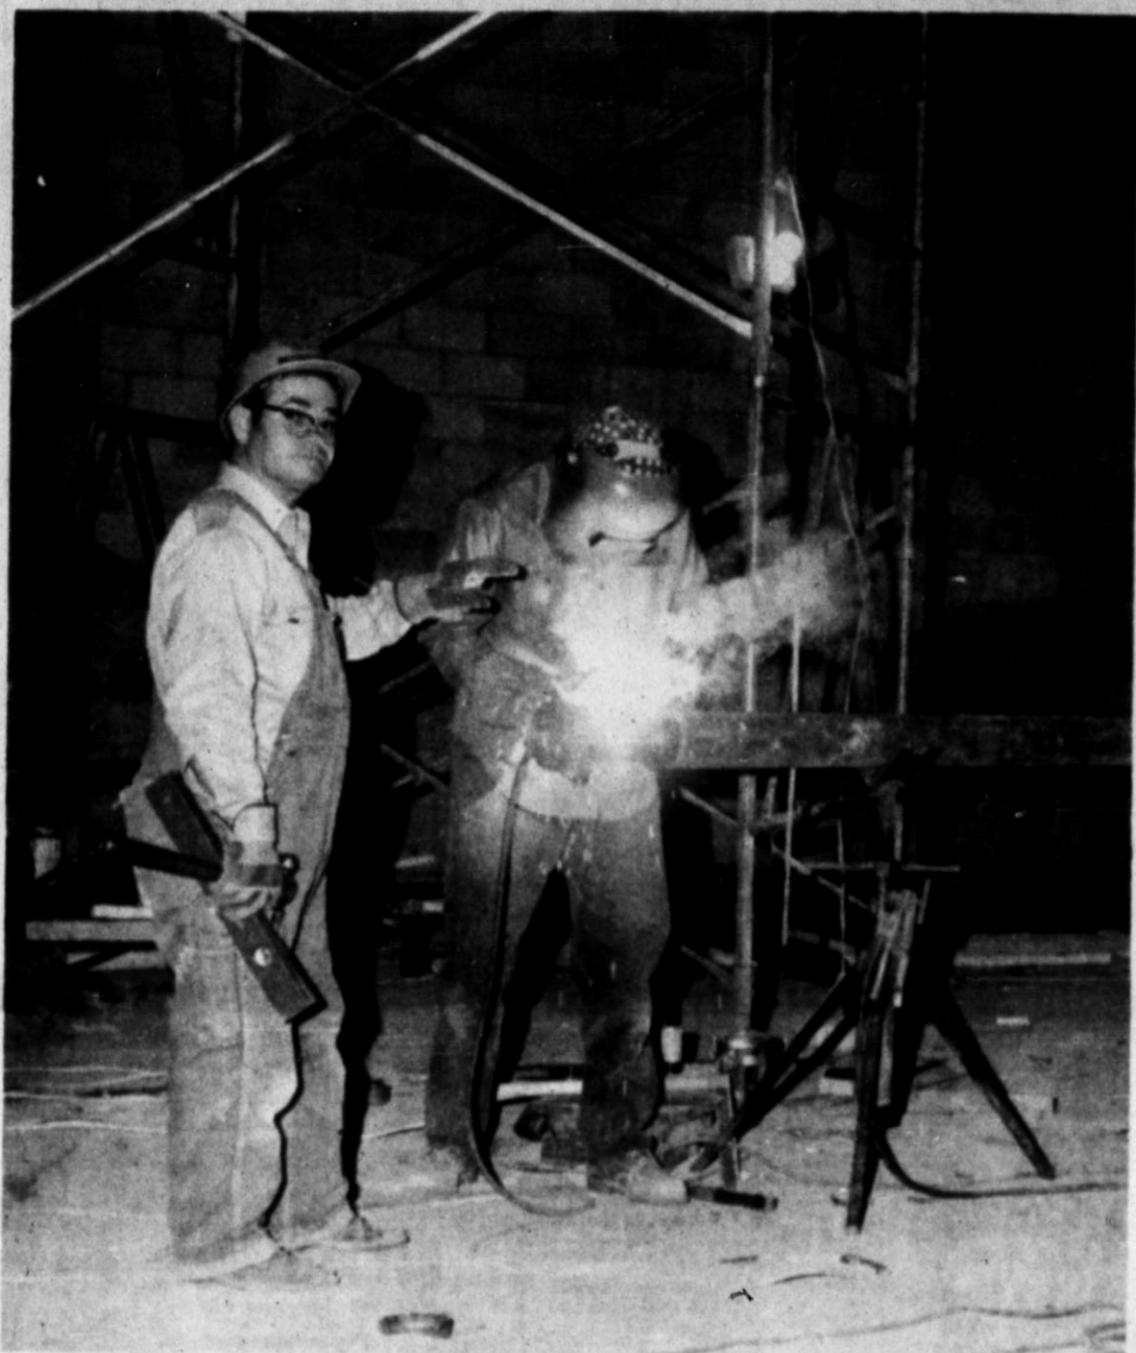

America is properly proud of that achievement. We in Texas can be particularly proud that our state could play such a vital role in that achievement as the home of the Manned Spacecraft Center.

I believe that an appropriate site for the statue provided for in my bill would be at the Manned Spacecraft Center near Houston. My bill, however, does not dictate a location for the statue for I do not want the bill to become a political football with various interests jockeying for the privilege of having the statue in their state.

The important thing is, that an American achievement of such great significance as the moon landing be appropriately marked for posterity.

Tea Compliment To Bride-To-Be

One of the week's parties for summer brides was a tea-shower Thursday afternoon with Miss Lou Ann Witkowski as honoree in the home of Mrs. Joe Reinauer on Harrison Highway.

Miss Witkowski and Whitney Rounds are to be married Aug. 16 in a ceremony at St. Anthony's Catholic Church here.

She received guests whom Mrs. Reinauer met at the door, and also in the receiving line were her mother, Mrs. Leo Witkowski; her fiancé's mother, Mrs. H. W. Rounds, and her sisters, Mrs. Joe Frank Huckert and Miss Jane Witkowski.

Callers registered at a table where Miss Rhonda Pummill, who was the honoree's roommate at Texas Tech, presided. Miss Moira McAndrews and Mrs. Bill Johnson, Mrs. Jim Marnell and Mrs. Larry Lance poured punch and served tea refreshments in turn.

Pink roses were the flowers on the table, which was appointed all in pink with crystal serving pieces. More of the roses made corsages for the ho-

Mrs. Huckert played organ selections during the afternoon. Guests from Plainview and Dimmitt were among the scores who called and presented gifts to the bride-elect.

Hostesses with Mrs. Reinauer were Mrs. Roy Pruitt, Andrew Kershen, F. A. Marnell, Walter Kuper, Frank Huckert, John Aikin, A. R. Dillard, George Turrentine, Eddie Rainauer, Frank Zinser, G. D. Caison, Paul Zinser, Ed Loerwald, Oscar Schwertner, Jim Pavlicek and Clinton Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Frances Parker, a Mr. and Mrs. Don R. Walker and children of St. Croix, Virgin Islands, Mrs. Walker is another daughter of Mrs. Parker.

Relatives who were here last weekend to visit the Islanders were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hudson of Amarillo; Mrs. R. E. Pugh, Mrs. Tommy Cox and children of Littlefield, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gee and children of Spade.

Don Bosch, who hit .171 for the New York Mets last season, came up as a pinch batter for the Montreal Expos with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth inning at Shea Stadium in the third game of the season. Bosch fled out to center field and his former teammates won 4-2.

BEAN-TIME FRIDAY — Some of the 425 people in attendance at the C Bar Ranch near Hereford Friday during the annual Texas Junior Hereford Association's field day are shown lining up to partake of the luncheon prepared by the local Rotary Club. The C Bar is operated by Jim and Colby Conkright. The event continued Saturday at Dublin, in Central Texas. —Staff Photo

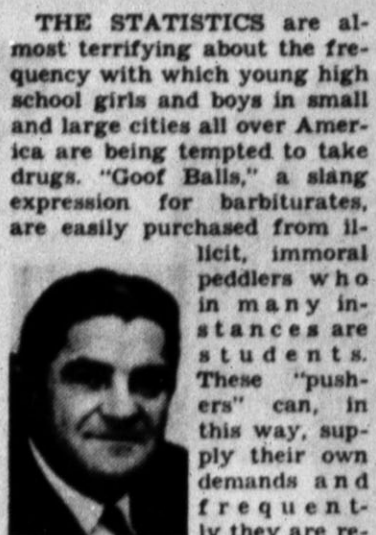

ACCIDENT VICTIM — This city police car, driven by officer Ed Curt-singer, sustained light damage when it was struck by another car last week at the intersection of Park Ave. and Highway 385. Highway patrolmen who investigated the accident estimated damage to both cars near $800. —Staff Photo

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Drug Temptation In Young

Dr. Coleman responsible for starting the dependent feeling in their classmates. These sleeping pills can produce a sense of drowsiness which should alert teachers and parents to the fact that the child may be "on" something.

The same peddlers of "goof balls" also peddle "pep pills," or amphetamines, which help to keep drowsy students awake. Before long, these youngsters taking barbiturates are caught in a trap of sleepiness to escape reality, only to be followed by the pep pills to keep awake.

The use and abuse of these drugs is exceedingly dangerous because of the body harm and personality changes they can induce. It is an admitted fact that "goof ball" and "pep pill" users are on the lowest rung of a ladder that leads to marijuana and then frequently to hard narcotic addiction.

Not until severe punishment is meted out to those immoral people who make these drugs available, can disaster be avoided in our young children. LSD, and any of these escapist drugs, are as easily purchased as a carbonated drink. Parents must be on the alert for any change of behavior if addiction to any drug is to be interrupted before it permanently sets in.

Cirrhosis of the liver is one of the major penalties paid by people who drink large quantities of alcohol over an extended period of time. It must be stated that cirrhosis is not limited to the alcoholic. Alcoholism is a disease that is no different from a chronic lung condition or diabetes.

Cirrhosis is a degenerative process by which the liver cells are destroyed and replaced by functionless scar tissue. Since the liver plays a most important role in taking toxic substances out of the blood, permanent damage to it does insurmountable damage to the rest of the body organs. There are, of course, other causes of cirrhosis but undoubtedly alcohol is the major contributor. Obstruction of the outflow of bile, chronic infections, hepatitis and some toxic metals may also cause cirrhosis.

There is no guesswork about this disease. People may think they have cirrhosis but not until a complete series of tests are done on the liver, a so-called "liver profile," can the exact condition be determined.

One of the most gratifying advances in medicine is that liver transplants and other operations are now available to people with advanced cirrhosis. Successful as these operations can be, it is to the prevention of this disorder that energies should be devoted.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH: The elderly need the single gift of being loved and wanted. They must not be disregarded or dislocated from society.

Five Hereford Schools' Staff In TAIR Meet

Hereford Schools superintendent Johnny Clark Jr. will give the invocation Tuesday at the beginning of the seventeenth annual TAIR (Texas Association for the Improvement of Reading) Conference at West Texas State University in Canyon. Mrs. Margaret Bell, English and Reading teacher at La Plata Junior High School, is scheduled to discuss "Reading Materials and Approaches" for junior and senior high school in the section meetings afterward in Windsor Room.

In the ballroom after the lunch period, Hereford High School band director Ben Golehon will direct the music during general assembly.

On the second day of the conference, which is a study of reading materials and approaches, reading skills and instruction, and text book exhibits for approximately 500 area teachers who are expected to attend, Robert Holman, Hereford assistant superintendent and president of Panhandle Area Council IRA, will preside at both the morning and afternoon sessions.

During the morning session, he and Mrs. Naomi Hopson, counselor, are to present "Oral Language Development" for kindergarten and primary instruction.

On the third and final day (Thursday), Holman is also slated to discuss "Teaching English as a Second Language" in the sectional meetings.

BACK WITH MAUCH

MONTREAL — Trainer Joe Lisio of the Montreal Expos is spending his seventh season as a major league trainer with Manager Gene Mauch. Lisio spent six years with the Philadelphia Phillies under Mauch after being with Spokane in the Los Angeles Dodgers system.

The St. Louis Cardinals finished sixth in 1966 then won two straight National League pennants.

ABC

What is the A.B.C.?

Chatting with a merchant the other day, we mentioned our "ABC figure."

"What," he asked, "is an ABC figure?"

Perhaps what we told him will also interest you.

This newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, an independent, nonprofit organization of nearly 4,000 advertisers, advertising agencies, and publishers.

Its purpose is to provide accurate and factual reports on the circulations of member publishers. In the advertising and publishing industry, the ABC insignia is often referred to as the "hallmark of circulation values."

At regular intervals, an ABC traveling auditor visits our office to check our records. The findings of this physical audit are embodied in an Audit Report published by ABC — the report literally tells us what our circulation is.

Virtually everything an advertiser should know about our circulation is found in this report, facts and figures without opinions.

Few retailers bother to ask to see a copy of our report, yet we want you to know one is available anytime you are interested in the quality and quantity of our circulation audience — the audience for your advertising messages.

What is an ABC figure?

It is our way of assuring you that you get full measure for your advertising dollar in this newspaper.

H.D. CHATTER Hostess Duty Lies Ahead

By Mrs. Argen Draet
Home Demonstration Agent

The state meeting of the County Home Demonstration Agents' Association of Texas meets in Amarillo next week. Rita Huckert and I will be busy most all week helping with the convention.

This is the Silver Anniversary of the agent's association. Home Demonstration Club women are honoring the agents with an anniversary tea on August 8. The theme is "Orbiting Toward Professional Perfection."

On Friday the 8th, I have charge of the tour for the men and children. We felt there would be a large number to attend and were slightly disappointed when so few signed up for the tour. Anyway, we'll be trying to tell some of the good things about our area. Rita is chairman for the barbecue in Palo Duro on Thursday night.

The Agents' Association has 240 members. The aim and objectives are:

1. Professional development may be fostered.
2. Advantages and opportunities of Home Demonstration Agents' profession be emphasized.
3. All Home Demonstration Agents in Texas may be encouraged to affiliate with the Home Demonstration Agents' Association of Texas.
4. The County Home Demonstration Agents' Association of Texas may make a worthy contribution to the National Home Demonstration Agents' Association.
5. Professional activities and services in all areas, which the Home Demonstration Agent serves, may be improved and enhanced.
6. The CHDAA of Texas may continue to promote a close working relationship with the Texas County Agricultural Agents' Association.

Along The Frio

The Bill Struves are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Rita, to Clifford Hargrove Jr. on Tuesday night in a ceremony at the Struve home. Members of the family and a few close friends were present, and the Rev. Sam Ogan, pastor of Frio Baptist Church performed the ceremony. The groom is here on leave from Army duty, having been sent home after being burned in an accident while on duty in Vietnam. The bride is presently completing a course in a Lubbock business school.

Mr. and Mrs. Dee Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. James Anthony, Friona were in Dallas to visit Six Flags during the weekend. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Opal Peek, parents of Mrs. Larry Taylor and Mrs. Anthony, at Clarksville. Also, they visited Mrs. Dee Taylor's step-mother, Mrs. Virginia Wages in Dallas.

The family of Leo Hall came to the Bill Struve home Thursday, staying there during preparation of funeral services for their husband and father. Mr. Hall passed away at home at Wilcox, Ariz., on Monday night. He had been in poor health but was thought to be improved enough to return to business duties, when an attack came suddenly. The Halls lived in this community near Easter, coming here during the 'forties. They moved to Wilcox over three years ago. He was the nephew of Mrs. J. E. Warrick.

Young People of Frio Church had a prayer retreat on Saturday. The activities included a program with guest speaker, Delta Eads and a friend from Oklahoma City and a discussion group Saturday morning at the Earl Harkins home. In the evening another meeting was planned at the Clark Andrews home with the Rev. Bill Foil, pastor of Friona First Baptist Church, as speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hart and their daughter, Mrs. Iva Williams, all of Clovis, were visiting the T. L. Sparkman Jr. home Wednesday. On Saturday with son Ralph Jr. they visited other relatives in Hereford.

County Agents In Houston Meeting

COLLEGE STATION — If you miss your local county agricultural agent from August 3-5, chances are good he is attending a mighty important meeting in Houston.

Some 250 county agents and their families are expected to attend the annual meeting of the Texas County Agricultural Agents Association scheduled for this period. It will be held at Houston's Continental Houston Hotel. Registration will begin at 1 p. m., today and a full slate of events will follow, reports Doyle L. Moore, Colorado County Agent and vice president of the association.

Highlighting the annual meeting will be the awards banquet Tuesday evening, points out Moore. "Men of the Year in Texas Agriculture" and "Distinguished Service Award" winning county agents will be recognized.

Six outstanding agricultural leaders from throughout the state will receive "Man of the Year" awards. They are C. C. Thompson, Colorado City; Dr. Raymond Anderson, Fort Worth; E. G. Cauble, Big Lake; B. C. Langley, Stephenville; Bill McReynolds, San Antonio; and Dr. J. K. Northway, Kingsville.

The seven Texas agents named by the National Association of County Agricultural Agents to receive their highest recognition honor, the Distinguished Service Award for 1968, and the counties they serve are: J. Foster Whaley, Gray; Mark A. Geeslin, Kent; E. E. Neal, Jr., Tittus; Oliver E. West, Glasscock; Billy F. Kidd, San Saba; Wesley Sherrill, Walker; and Charles E. Murphey, Austin.

Keynote speaker at the banquet will be the Honorable J.P. Wora, state senator from Meridian. He will be introduced by Senator Barbara Jordan of Houston.

A general assembly is scheduled for Monday morning, which will include a welcome from Harris County Judge Bill Elliott

Two Teachers In Workshop

Mrs. Vanna Thurlow, teacher of Cosmetology, and Alvin Smith, ICT coordinator at Hereford High School, will attend the statewide In-Service Workshop, which is conducted by the Texas Education Agency, beginning Monday at the Hotel Texas in Fort Worth.

The workshop will continue through Tuesday.

ings and installation of officers will include a welcome from Tuesday's business session, says Moore.

Entertainment and activities are planned for the ladies and young people who will attend the meeting, he adds.

rough Aug. 9.

The day trade teachers are to participate in an institute-type program for the purpose of providing methods toward updating technical information, the development of new skills, and to familiarize each instructor with new materials and teaching techniques.

Coordinators will engage in specifically planned leadership development programs which are to be conducted by selected, qualified authorities with considerable stature and experience in such programs.

Because of the nature of the programs being planned it is assured that each will be of tremendous value to all participants.

About the Amendments

The voters of Deaf Smith County will be asked to go to the polls Tuesday and cast their vote on nine proposed constitutional amendments, some, such as proposition number 2, concerning water development bonds which is of the utmost importance. However, because our Constitution is the instrument guaranteeing our liberties and since it is not simple or easy to revise, citizens have a great responsibility in voting to adopt or reject proposals on all nine amendments which we will briefly discuss here in the hope that you will better understand and will be better qualified to cast your vote.

Proposition 1, better known as "The Deadwood Amendment" has been proposed in an effort to repeal the obsolete, superfluous and unnecessary sections of the Constitutions. This proposed amendment would repeal a number of sections of the State Constitution which are obsolete or superfluous or unnecessary. Many of these have long ago fulfilled their purpose; for example, the section authorizing the Legislature to make appropriations for support and maintenance of a Texas Centennial which was adopted in the fall of 1932; and the section which allowed three-million acres of the public domain to be appropriated and set apart for the purpose of erecting the State Capitol.

This proposition is long past due and certainly should be approved.

Proposition 2 is probably the most important amendment that you will be asked to approve in this century, since the future growth of Texas will depend upon an adequate water supply. This constitutional amendment broadens the powers of the Texas Water Development Funds; eliminating the interest limitations on Texas Water Development Bonds; raising the authorized amount of Texas Water Development Bonds by $3.5 billion; extending maturity schedule on Texas Water Development Bonds; eliminating the procedures for curtailment and the curtailment date of financial assistance to be provided by the Texas Water Development Board.

As one sage so aptly put it, there are 11 million reasons why this proposition should pass — the future of the 11 million people of our state. Without passage of amendment number 2 we might as well forget all the rest for Texas will be without an adequate water supply, probably in less than 20 years. A "yes" vote on amendment number 2 is a must.

Proposition 3 has to do with the raising of salaries of the Lieutenant Governor, Speaker of the House and members of the Legislature. Admittedly, salaries for legislators is low and perhaps should be raised but when we speak of salary alone, it's a little misleading. Members of the legislature are paid now $4800 per year, plus a per diem of $12 per day, while in session, plus office expense. It is proposed to allow the legislature to fix its own salary, not to exceed the annual salary paid to a district judge from State funds. Judges now get $18,000 annually and their salaries were increased to $20,000 in September in General Appropriation Bill vetoed by Governor Smith on June 21.

The Lieutenant Governor's salary, if proposition 3 passes, and the salary of the Speaker of the House, will receive a salary fixed by the Legislature, not to exceed one-half the salary of the Governor; providing that the Legislature shall fix the salary of the other members, not to exceed that received by a district judge from state funds; and removing the 120-day limitation per diem for regular sessions.

We feel however, that the Lieutenant Governor, the Governor and the Speaker of the House have been playing politics during the past session of the Legislature, with the tax payer being the ultimate loser. We would prefer that they do their political squabbling during the campaigns and when the election is over, settle down to work for the people of Texas. Our personal vote will go against proposition 3.

Proposition 4 concerns the exempting of property of nonprofit water supply companies from taxation.

You will be asked to vote FOR or AGAINST: "The constitutional amendment to exempt nonprofit water supply corporations from taxation."

Section 2 of Article VIII of our State Constitution lists some types of property used for public purposes which the Legislature may in its discretion exempt from taxation.

This proposal would add to that list real and personal property owned by a nonprofit water supply corporation which is reasonably necessary for, and is used in, operation of the corporation in the acquisition, storage, transportation and sale of water as authorized as its sole legal purpose.

A typical example of the kind of corporation which would be affected by this would be a water supply company owned cooperatively by people in FHA financing housing facilities built in sparsely settled areas. There are 200 such water systems in Texas, with some 28,700 meters.

Proposition 5 concerns raising of State welfare ceiling from $60 million to $80 million annually.

This proposal would increase the amount of money which the state can contribute to match Federal funds for welfare payments from $60,000,000 to $80 million annually.

Last fall voters in Texas turned down a proposal to increase the amount of State funds for welfare assistance despite a ruling by the U. S. Supreme Court earlier in the year that states could not prohibit welfare payments to fatherless children when there is a "substitute father" in the home. Welfare rolls continue to grow, in part as a result of this court decision, and our State Department of Public Welfare has been forced to reduce checks to some recipients.

Certainly we could not, and would not want to penalize a dependent child in need, but if the welfare programs are ever to be brought under control it has to be done at a time like this when unemployment is low and average income is high. We would hope that the people of Texas never become so easily taken as to allow the creation of a welfare situation as has come about in states such as California and New York. We have done pretty well in taking care of those that are truly in need.

On the other hand, if this proposition is not passed, it will also affect those persons now drawing old age assistance and the permanently and totally disabled.

It's a hard decision to make and should be weighed carefully before going to the polls Tuesday.

Proposition 6 has to do with the removal of constitutional limits on interest rates to be charged on public debt.

This is a proposal to remove from our Constitution any limitation on the rates of interest which the State may pay on bonds issued pursuant to its constitutional authority. If this amendment is adopted, the rate of interest on any such bond issue will be prescribed by the issuing agency, subject to limitations which may be imposed by the Legislature. This amendment would be accomplished by adding a new Section 64 to Article III of the Constitution of Texas.

This is a very simple amendment but a very important one. For example, two other amendments which will be voted on at the same election would allow (1) an additional $200,000,000 in bonds to be issued for the State loan fund for students, and (2) an additional $3,500,000,000 in bonds to be issued for the development of our State water plan. Under our present constitutional provisions, interest of such bonds in each case has been limited to 4 percent. Both amendments would specifically provide that the agency which issues the bonds and handles the money received from their sale may, in the future, prescribe the interest rates the State will pay.

This proposition should pass. Proposition 7 concerns the broadening of authority for making assistance payments to survivors of public officers, employees and agents. This proposition also includes the "volunteer" workers of the state, such as those who have so diligently worked in Hereford to keep our insurance rates low — the volunteer firemen. This proposed amendment, would (a) enlarge the list of people who can receive State assistance and (b) add the

America to Celebrate 200th Anniversary in Seven Years

By BERT MILLS

Washington, D. C. — America will celebrate her 200th birthday in less than seven years and among the most exciting plans which may materialize to mark that anniversary is to create from scratch an entirely new Experimental City to serve as a laboratory for urban living.

This is no idle pipedream. Since first proposed to the White House in 1966, three Federal departments have invested a total of $240,000 in the plan, and private industry another $120,000. Billions more will be necessary if the project is completed, and much of the money will have to come from business firms.

Originator of the idea was one of the nation's top scientists, Dr. Atherton Spilhaus, former Dean of the University of Minnesota Institute of Technology, now President of the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia. He headed an American Academy of Sciences committee on pollution which found that the best solutions to urban pollution problems cannot be applied effectively in existing cities.

The publisher of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune, Otto A. Silha, a research-minded executive who has contributed greatly to newspaper production technology, grabbed that ball and has run with it. His dream is MXC, Minnesota Experimental City, located 100-150 miles from Minneapolis-St. Paul, with a population of 250,000.

Silha now has a steering committee of 22, most of them not Minnesotans, and many of them nationally prominent in such fields as economics, public health, sociology, engineering, city planning, urban problems, etc.

Controlled Climate Proposed
Among the existing new concepts proposed for MXC is a medical complex which would be completely enclosed to reap the benefits from a controlled climate. As Mr. Silha once expressed it, "this would be the Houston Astrodome multiplied by a factor of more than 100." It is technologically possible to enclose an area with a diameter of two miles, or more than 2,000 acres.

The medical complex would contain a general hospital, a specialized heart hospital, and a "secondary care hospital" for convalescent patients, nursing homes, a motel-like structure with private housekeeping facilities but ready access to nursing service, plus individual homes for those in later stages of convalescence.

This enclosure concept need not be limited to those with medical problems. For example, it might be adapted to those interested in outdoor recreation. Through climate control, you could go out your front door and play golf in an Arizona climate, and out your back door to ice skate or ski in typical Minnesota weather.

Transportation in MXC would be radically different. Automobiles might be banned from the central city. Free public mass transportation may be built in, like an elevator in a building. It might take the form of electrically-powered four-passenger cars.

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Johnson-grass farm reacts to the moon trip this week, in his own peculiar way.

Dear editor:

"Now that we've got the moon, what are we going to do with it?" a neighbor asked me yesterday.

I know this is a question a lot of people are asking but that's because they haven't put their minds to it.

Didn't they see those astronauts striding around up there? Take a step and go six feet instead of three before your foot comes down. Bound out of sight of the camera before you knew it.

Right off, anybody ought to be able to see that's the place to hold the 1972 Olympics.

It'd be sensational. Pole vault 50 feet, high-jump 20, while down here on earth athletes are straining themselves trying to see which one can be first to pole vault a measly 18 feet and high-jump 8. What's the record on earth for the shot put? Less than 72 feet. Up there I figure 200 feet would be a snap. Furthermore, no contest would ever be postponed on account of rain.

This is just a start. There are other uses for the moon. Think how easy it'd be to have a crop control program up there.

Also, how could you have an air-pollution problem when you've got no air at all?

Furthermore, you won't catch any cities dumping their sewage into lakes and streams up there.

Having to carry your oxygen in a back pack, think how few people would risk using up their supply singing with a rock-and-roll band. The hollering thus eliminated would justify a large portion of the moon costs.

Think the earth eventually will be paved over entirely with highways? The moon is paved already.

People aren't taking a broad enough view of the moon business.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

requirement that death must happen in connection with the hazardous nature of their duties.

This amendment will be in the best interest of the people of Texas and should pass.

Proposition 8 — Authorizing an additional $200 million in bonds to finance student loan program.

From the inception of the loan fund to May 31 of this year, 91,784 loans have been made, totaling $31,509,377. Of this amount $10,707,000 was loaned during the fiscal year 1968. In the first nine months of the current fiscal year, loans amounted to $15,572,293. At this rate, if the remaining bonds could be sold, demand for loans might soon use up all of the money available.

While the record is excellent, there has not been sufficient time since the program started for repayment of loans in any appreciable amount, and there is as yet little or no revolving fund. How much money will be needed, and how soon it will be required, is a matter of judgment. The Board recommended $200,000,000.

A good proposal that will eventually pay the state dividends.

Proposition 9, providing for annual sessions of the Legislature.

It appears that our Legislature can get things fouled up enough with the biennial sessions. We doubt seriously that annual sessions would help much. There's not much enthusiasm in this corner for proposition 9.

Talk of Texas

By JACK MAGUIRE

MODERN ODYSSEY — It was 59 years ago that two brothers, both prominent Texans today, set off on a series of remarkable travels that probably haven't been equaled before or since.

The Abernathy brothers were only five and nine when they made their first long horseback jaunt alone in 1910. With only raincoats and blankets strapped behind their saddles, they rode from their Guthrie, Oklahoma, home across Texas and up the Pecos Valley to Santa Fe, New Mexico. They made the trip to look at a ranch their father was interested in buying.

Later that year, the two youngsters saddled up again. This time they rode alone to New York, stopping over in Washington to be welcomed by President William Howard Taft. They made this trip primarily to meet an old hunting friend of their father, Teddy Roosevelt, who was returning from Africa.

Their third and most incredible trip was the one back home. In New York, their father purchased an automobile for them. The two youngsters, one a second-grader and the other too young to be in school, drove the car 1,500 miles back to Oklahoma.

Today Temple Abernathy, a Wichita Falls attorney, and L. V. (Bud) Abernathy, a Houston oil man, still recall the three trips (and others that they later made) as among the highlights of their lives.

EVERLASTING LIGHT — Fort Worth's Palace Theater boasts an electric bulb that has burned continuously for almost 41 years.

On September 21, 1908, a stagehand named Barry Burke screwed a new light bulb into a socket in what was then the Byers Opera House. It has never been turned off, yet it continues to burn.

Utility company experts, who say that 1,000 hours is a long life for the best quality light bulbs, have tried for years to figure out the secret of Fort Worth's "eternal light". They still don't know the answer.

BACKWARD PARTY — In 1899, when Houston decided to copy New Orleans' Mardi Gras carnival, the planners of the festival decided to make it unique by spelling everything in reverse.

The carnival itself became No-Tsu-Oh, or Houston spelled backward. The monarch was King Nottoc, or cotton in reverse.

Even the Negro citizens, who staged their own show, followed suit. By reversing the spelling of "colored" they came up with their own De-Ro-Loc Carnival.

CULTURE'S TOWN — Tehuacana, a Limestone County village of 161 people, has had its own college for the last 100 years.

Trinity University, now located in San Antonio, was founded in Tehuacana in 1869. When Trinity moved in 1902, its old campus was taken over by the Methodists. The Westminster College and Bible Institute still is in operation and is Tehuacana's principal industry.

65 YEARS AGO — 1904

George W. Curtis, special agent of the United States Department of Agriculture, spent Monday and Tuesday of this week in the vicinity of Hereford, gathering statistics and information relative to the present cotton crop. It will be remembered that Prof. Curtis was here during the two-day Farmers Institute held at the college building last winter and delivered an address on the practicability of raising cotton in the panhandle of Texas. At that time many of our farmers agreed to plant a specified number of acres and cultivate same under his directions; so the object of this last visit was to ascertain with what success they had met.

50 YEARS AGO — 1919

A. M. Jones and his brother-in-law, W. E. Dameron, who, under the firm name of Jones & Dameron, have already started one of the best herds in the country, have closed a deal with T. C. Ivey, whereby the latter sells every hoof he has on the famous Springvale Farm, east of Hereford, to those two enterprising young breeders, the total consideration reaching $135,000. Approximately 90 head of the famous Axiety strain cattle, with other considerations involved, bring Mr. Ivey in round numbers $1500 a head.

35 YEARS AGO — 1934

Raymond Hamilton paid Hereford a flying visit Saturday afternoon and stopped long enough to hi-jack George Reddoch of $70 while doing it. Texas' Number One bad man (following the recent deaths of his partners in crime, Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker), who recently broke prison, stopped at Reddoch's store and filling station at Ninth Ave. and Lee long enough to get the money. He was accompanied by a confederate, not yet identified. Reddoch positively identified the man who held him up as Hamilton from the pictures in the rogue's gallery at the Amarillo police station.

20 YEARS AGO — 1949

Hereford's hotel labor agitation came to an abrupt halt shortly after noon Wednesday when a delegation of 150 stockholders and Hereford workers concentrated their fury upon J. L. Henselee, secretary-treasurer, who represented Amarillo labor local 688 and also instigated a picket here Wednesday morning. The picket line was halted and work resumed on the Hotel Jim Hill. . . . The Deaf Smith County School Board met in special called session Saturday afternoon to rescind action taken early in July which consolidated Sims and Messenger with the Hereford School Board, and now combined Sims, Messenger and Walcott into one district.

5 YEARS AGO — 1964

"In every Frenchman's heart is a dream which consists of going to America — and especially Texas" — a dream to come true for Rene Batard, who will arrive in Hereford the latter part of August. Rene will be one of the two foreign exchange students who will attend Hereford High School this fall. American parents for Rene will be Mr. and Mrs. Gid Brown, 241 Star St. . . . Several Hereford men, who were arrested over the weekend by various members of the local law enforcement agencies, began paying the high price of "too much celebration" as they appeared before County Judge H. C. Williams, and answered to the charges against them. . . . At the Star: "I'm suggesting, Mr. President, there's a military plot to take over the Government of these United States next Sunday. . . . TEC Has Record Low

While such area cities as Plainview, Borger, and Pampa have a list of job applicants with the Texas Employment Commission that number between 300 and 400 each, Hereford's office is now down to a mere 28 applicants and they want more!

Lester Rape, manager of the Texas Employment Commission here, reported this unusual situation which has come about following the announcement that unemployment is less than one per cent in Deaf Smith, Castro and Farmer counties.

Rape said that of these 28 applicants now available, four of them are now employed and are searching for better jobs, seven were referred to jobs late Thursday afternoon and no report has been received as yet regarding their employment, and three are above 63 years of age.

He reported that this is the total number of male job seekers. No report is available immediately on female applicants.

Rape said that male applicants are needed now for permanent positions as construction laborers, carpenters, truck drivers, service station attendants, yard men, cooks, dishwashers, year-around farm hands, tractor drivers, to name a few.

Women can also be placed on many types of jobs, he said.

Rape urged all those who are available for work to file application at the TEC office, located in Hereford at Seventh and 25 Mile Ave.

Funeral Is Held For Ex-Resident

The funeral of Clifton Leo Hall, 54, of Wilcox, Ariz., formerly a resident of Hereford for 20 years, was conducted in Rose Chapel of Gilliland Funeral Home Friday by the Rev. Sam Ogan, pastor of Frio Baptist Church.

SUPPORTING YOUR TOWN

"No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns. This does not mean you should have a whole, half or even a quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a two-line space.

A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town by looking at the paper. This is the best possible town advertising. The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and the town. The man who insists on sharing the business that comes to town, but refuses to advertise his own, is not a valuable addition to any town. The life of a town depends on the live, wide-awake and liberal advertising business man."

P. S. How many new residents and out of town shoppers saw your name and business today; this week?

nger vehicles running in a continuous series to key points. Many such ideas, now technically feasible, are almost impossible to install in existing cities because of the difficulty of gaining right-of-way and the tremendous expense of getting rid of structures that already exist. A new city would have no such problems.

Differ from "New Towns"
MXC would be a great deal different from the more than 250 "New Towns" created in various suburban areas in recent years. Examples of these developments are Reston, Va., and Columbia, Md., both near Washington, D. C. These are real estate projects, designed to make money for the promoters, and they are concentrated in the outer suburbs of over-crowded areas.

MXC would not be a commuting community but would be outside an existing metropolitan area. And the motivation would not be private profit but the public good. Business would pay the bill, in return for the opportunity to try out new techniques without the impediments of regulations, restrictions, codes, and practices. Industry in MXC would be planned so that one factory works in concert with other plants, achieving economies not now possible.

Kathryn Pool Marries In Evening Ceremony

Miss Kathryn Louise Pool, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Pool, 511 East Fifth, and George Marcus Yarbrough, son of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Yarbrough of Portales, N. M., were married at twilight Friday in a ceremony read by the Rev. Russell Wingert, minister, at the Presbyterian Church.

After a wedding trip to New Mexico and Colorado, the couple will be at home August 10 at 9512 Mercer, Dallas.

Her father gave the bride in marriage at the altar where fresh foliage and the airy white blossoms of baby-breath made a background for the wedding party, lighted by tapers in seven-branched candelabra.

Miss Cathy Young was the bride's honor attendant and Miss Jan Ingram of Clovis, N. M., was bridesmaid. Steve Walley of Albuquerque served as best man and Alton Isbell of Portales as groomsmen.

The flower girl was Karen Coplen, daughter of the Ed Coplens of Roswell, N. M. Rings were carried on a satin pillow by Todd Manes, of Alamogordo, a nephew of the bridegroom. Ushers were Rick Collins and David Tanner of Portales, Howard Mater of Phoenix, Robert Walley of Albuquerque and Jimmy Young.

Wedding music was by Mrs. J. D. Neill, organist.

The bride's gown was fashioned with a shirtdress bodice of Chantilly lace, the leg-o'-mutton sleeves gathered to deep cuffs, and a floor-length skirt of silk organza over taffeta with wide pleats holding the fulness at a high waistline.

A chapel train of the organza edged with lace was attached with a bow at center back, and her tiered illusion veil floated from a Camelot cap of organza and lace. She carried a colonial nosegay of white daisies centered by miniature rose. Her mother's pearl necklace was worn as an heirloom piece.

Her attendants wore empire dresses with skirt of yellow moire taffeta and bodice of white crepe, with ruffles outlining the Sabrina neckline and long sleeves. Copen blue velvet sashes circled their waists, tied with bows and streamers in the back.

Streamered bows of the same velvet ornamented with tiny yellow roses made their headpieces and their nosegays of daisies had velvet tufts and streamers. The flower girl's frock was similarly styled, but with short sleeves and high neckline, and her bouquet was a miniature nosegay.

The bride's mother was dressed in a pale blue Italian silk linen ensemble with touches of white at the neckline and in accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a soft yellow knit in A-line style with blending accessories.

They received guests with the newly married couple after the ceremony in the church hall. Miss Camille Pavlicek was at the registry.

White net covered the refreshment table, the flounced skirt drawn up in swags around the top with clusters of daisies, blue bows and streamers. White satin wedding bells topped the three-tiered cake which was decorated with yellow sugar roses.

Miss Carole Clearman and Mrs. John Walden served the cake while Miss Sharon Garrison ladled punch from an antique cut-glass bowl. Paired candelabra, also heirlooms in the bride's family, held the central epergne arrangement of daisies, baby-breath and blue tapers.

For honeymoon travel, Mrs. Yarbrough wore a brown and white plaid linen suit with beige Italian silk blouse. Costume accents were in brown and beige and her corsage of roses.

She completed two years at Eastern New Mexico University after graduation from Hereford High School in 1967. A member of Alpha Delta Pi social sorority and the Campus Union Board of Activities, she served as secretary in the Little Sisters of Minerva, a women's auxiliary to Sigma Alpha Epsilon, the fraternity of which Yarbrough was president.

He was also president of his class in the junior year and was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. He attended ENMU four years and is entering Baylor Dent College at Dallas.

The bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Sarrels of Fort Worth, were here to attend the wedding.

Wedding guests from other cities included Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Jordan of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Pool of San Antonio, Mr. and Mrs. James Manes and son, Darin, of Alamogordo, Mr. and Mrs. Horice Freeman of Hagerman, N. M., Mrs. Dale Hudson of Roswell, N.M.

Also Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hestand, Randy Hestand, Mr. and Mrs. Cress Ingle and Mary Jeff Guthrie of Portales; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cannon of Clarendon; Mr. and Mrs. Hermand Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Honey, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Honey and Miss Glenys Honey of Lubbock.

Ending pre-nuptial entertainment, the rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at the Caison House Thursday evening.

Dinner was served to 30 at a table centered with white gladiolas, daisies, baby-breath and blue cornflowers.

Social Security

A young worker with children should ask for a free copy of a new pamphlet "Social Security Information for Young Families" available at the social security office, Travis C. Briggs, Amarillo social security manager, reported.

Perhaps it will help answer the worrisome question, "What would happen to my family if I should die or become disabled?" It also explains who is

TO WED HEREFORD MAN — Miss Sharon Marie Ernster of Cuero will become the bride of Stephen Thomas Hodges in a September wedding, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Ernster Cuero, announce. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Hodges of this city. The couple plan to make their home in Canyon, where both will be students in West Texas State University. Miss Ernster formerly attended Stephens College at Columbia, Missouri. Steve Hodges, who has attended the University of Houston, is studying toward a degree in finance at WTSU.

entitled to payments; kinds of work covered; how social security is financed; and gives examples of benefits.

The social security taxes paid by the worker and the employer each payday assure monthly cash payments for the worker and his family should he become disabled, and monthly checks for his family if he should die. This cash income often eases the burdens caused by the death or disability of a worker. The family can stay together and the children can finish their education. The benefits are the same for the children whether the mother or the father is the worker. Depending upon the worker's earnings covered by the law, benefits can range from $5 a month for one surviving child up to $434 a month for a family maximum.

Those wanting a copy of the booklet should write or phone the Amarillo social security office at 1006 Adams, telephone 376-5151. The office is open from 8:15 a. m. until 4:30 p. m. weekdays, staying open until 6:30 p. m. Thursdays.

At The Library

The Inventor Of Prohibition

Two new novels, spilling over with suspense, are now available at the Deaf Smith County Library. They tell the stories of prohibition and gambling.

KELLOGG JUNCTION

By Bart Spicer

There has never been gambling in this southwestern state, but a bill to legalize it now waits for the governor's signature. And thereby hands this story of love and violence, of hatred and friendship, of behind-the-scenes politicking, and of base motives in the rarefied air of the high country. Benson Kellogg Junction and whose blood is as blue as the Big Sky, spends every moment he can steal from his practice of the law on the ranch where he breeds fine horses and tries to shore up the crumbling facade of his marriage. Fire and a mysterious death in a local night-spot bring him into contact with Gonanza Enterprises and the enigmatic Chaffee, its apparent boss, who may be dealing in more than roadhouses and real estate. And when Luis, son of Benson's Mexican foreman and most loyal friend, is sacrificed to an unknown cause, Kellogg finally realizes that he is in a fight to the death, no holds barred.

Blue mountains, amber desert and emerald grassland provide the backdrop, human avarice and a sense of justice the drama, for this big, rich, highly suspenseful novel.

MILE HIGH

By Richard Condon

In telling the story of Edward Courance West, the man who invented Prohibition, Richard Condon lavishly creates the three generational saga of a powerful Irish-American family whose acquisition of wealth is also the history of American corruption. As fabulously entertaining as ever, this virtuoso spinner of truthful fables wins new honor as a profound historical reporter, a muckraker exposing the trip on which America got taken up the stream of the twentieth century.

With the super-patriot West, the reader is taken on a wild tour through realistically detailed scenes, often funny, often frightening, in seafront saloons, Mafia meetings, lush brothels, splendid homes, prodigal dinners here and abroad; in wardrooms, boardrooms, and bedrooms, and finally to the mile-high palace in upstate New York where this kingmaker and unmaker has reproduced an entire Swiss resort village, the Burgenstock.

In all its splendid connivery this is the tale of America's underside. West's father, Paddy fresh from Ireland makes his rapid way as shanghai of sailors, bordello operator, saloon keeper to become New York City's ward boss of bosses. Son Edward, lawyer, banker, gambling house proprietor, inherits much besides the West idea of welding gag to party and ruling both. But his most brilliant scheme is his own: the seduction of Big Business into support of legalized Temperance. Masterfully exploiting Prohibition through the illegal production and distribution of liquor, West not only amasses billions, he unleashes the most creative criminality the world has ever seen.

But now there is a third generation. Walt, the liberal architect, who has never met his father and longs for him, accepts an invitation to visit his new wife, the enchanting black painter Mayra. The confrontation between these two young idealists and an old man menaced by his own despair and fear illumines the almost allegorical melodrama of an extraordinary novel.

Stewart-Neie Wedding Solemnized In Dawn

In an early evening marriage service Friday, Miss Linda Kay Stewart was married to Bobby Gale Neie of Rio Grande City with the Rev. Charles Davenport, pastor of Claude Baptist Church, officiating in Dawn Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stewart of Dawn, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Neie of Rio Grande City.

Bouquets of white gladioli and pink carnations were placed with lighted tapers to form a setting for the ceremony in which Mr. Stewart gave his daughter in marriage.

Her maid of honor was her cousin, Miss Rosemary Stewart. Miss Alice Ann Caraway, another cousin, and Miss Janene Suttle were bridesmaids and her sister, Miss Betta Stewart, the junior bridesmaid.

Elvis Ray Neie of San Antonio acted as his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Milt and Neie, also a brother; Jerry Stewart, the bride's brother, and Charles Cason of Abilene.

Altar candles were lighted by Michael Neie of San Antonio, nephew of the bridegroom, and Kevin Davenport as Mrs. Carl Wimberley, organist, played a prelude of wedding music. She continued with the traditional marches and accompanied Miss Jennifer Barton of Abilene who sang Because, O Promise Me and Wedding Prayer.

The bride's gown was of peau de satin with a panel of galleon lace down the front, its rose pattern embroidered with seed pearls and crystals. Ruffled lace dotted with crystals bordered the panel and the deep inverted back pleat that extended into a chapel train. Ribbon streamers from a bow at the top of the pleat fell over the train.

Layers of illusion in her veil reached to the waistline from a flower headpiece of seed pearls and aurora borealis crystals. She carried a cascade of pink rosebuds on her bridal Bible.

'Something old' in her costume was an antique ring belonging to her paternal grandmother, and luck pieces were a blue garter made by her maternal grandmother and a coin in her shoe, brought from England by her father during World War II.

Her attendants were dressed in peach glow peau de satin in style similar to the bride's dress with the front panel of tiered lace. Headdresses were clusters of pink satin roses on circlet veils. Their flowers were pink carnations in nosegays.

For the wedding and reception the bride's mother wore an A-line dress of blue crepe with white yoke and blue lace stole. Her corsage was white carnations, as were those of the bridegroom's mother; Mrs. J. R. Oglesby and Mrs. W. J. Stewart, grandmothers of the bride, and Mrs. B. A. Purcell of Rio Grande City, grandmother of the bridegroom.

The reception was held in the Stewart home, where Miss Julie Neie of San Antonio, the bridegroom's niece, registered guests. A tiered wedding cake and punch were served from a table decorated in pink and white.

In the houseparty were Mrs. H. R. Stewart and Mrs. J. B. Caraway, aunts of the bride; Mrs. C. D. Watson of Dallas, sister, and Mrs. E. R. Neie of San Antonio, sister-in-law of the bridegroom; Mrs. R. L. Johnson and Mrs. Jerry Haley.

Leaving on the wedding trip, Mrs. Neie changed to a pink knit ensemble with accessories of white lace and patent leather. Her corsage was of roses from the bridal bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Neie will be at home at 2850 Hickory, Abilene, where he will continue studies in Hardin-Simmons University. Both have been H-SU students; she was a member of the concert choir and he is affiliated with Kappa Phi Omega. The bride was a 1968 graduate of Hereford High School.

The rehearsal dinner for the wedding party was given Thursday evening in the Calsan House, with Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Neie as hosts.

LCC Slates 4-Year Classes

LUBBOCK — Chester Wiggins, P. O. Box 8, Summerfield, one of the trustees at Lubbock Christian College, met with the board Saturday and authorized the administration to take necessary steps implementing operation as a four-year institution.

The action was hailed as "the greatest day in Lubbock Christian College history since the decision to establish the college."

Lubbock Christian College president, Dr. F. W. Mattox, said plans are to advance the class that entered in September 1968 so that it would be the first four-year graduating class in the spring of 1972.

LIONS CLUB PROGRAM — Gerald Ivey, Associate Director and General Counsel of Water, Inc. of Lubbock, spoke at Wednesday's noon luncheon concerning the Texas water problem. Lions and guests viewed a film entitled "Time For Action."

NOT HIS DAY
SANTA FE, N.M. — State Sen. Alfonso Montoya found frustration in a recent session of the New Mexico Legislature. The senate in the space of a minute adopted adverse committee reports killing six bills sponsored by the Democratic legislator. New Mexico's senate rarely has killed six bills in one day.

let alone six by one senator. Montoya is the brother of U. S. Sen. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M.

Miss Lynn Sowell Weds Eugene Roy Jennings

Silver and Turquoise

CORRINNE J. NEELY

Nothing could be more symbolic of the southwest, of which Texas is a part, than the blue turquoise stone in its silver mounting of Indian Jewelry.

The turquoise is the color of the skies in summer and in turn is reflected in the lakes and streams. The matrix, or the markings found in most stones represents the brown of the earth not covered by grasslands and forests.

The silver mountings, which hold the stones resemble the clouds in various tones, are usually etched or carved with Indian designs. More Indians live in the southwest than in any other area. And many vacationers buy this Indian art every summer.

Now that August is here the third and last deluge of the tourists for the year will take to the highways and byways for a summer vacation before school begins. Memorial Day was the first turn out and July fourth was the second.

Relation of these two subjects is simply this, thousands of tourist will be seeking and buying gifts and mementos of the country in which they will travel.

New Mexico and Arizona, home of many Indians will offer the most and the best authentic jewelry. In these states all Indians and many Anglos wear one or more pieces of Indian craft. But a surprising number of Texans do too. All curio, gift shops and trading posts, on or off the reservations, sell it in some form.

May the following serve you as a guide if you plan to travel westward and intend to buy turquoise and silver!

The Indian silversmiths belong chiefly to two tribes, the largest being the Navajo and the smaller the Zuni.

The Indians learned this art from the Spaniards long ago and have developed it as their own by creating their own designs and styles.

The handiwork of the two tribes is different and easily distinguished. The Navajos use larger stones, singly or a few in number to each piece in separate settings and supplement them with carved Indian designs. Their output includes rings, bracelets, necklaces and many smaller items for the tourist trade.

The Zuni use many small stones, separately set in silver to form the design itself, which is most often elaborate. At times the jewelry achieves a sunburst effect. Their rings, necklaces, bracelets, brooches are most all in this style.

Good Indian jewelry is expensive. Since it is becoming scarce it grows in value and popularity. There are fewer of the old silversmiths left and less of the young ones taking up the art.

Anything cheap is likely to be machine made or stamped and with an artificial stone. The best place to buy good and authentic pieces is at a quality store or from a trading post, on or off the reservation. If you are lucky you might find a pawned piece which has not been redeemed. This is your only chance to find a bargain.

The Navajos also make a beautiful sand-poured kind of jewelry, most often a bracelet, with no carvings or stones. It has the patina of age and is often taken for an antique. As its name indicates the melted silver is poured into a sand mold designed and cooled.

A tip on the green turquoise, and there are two kinds. The original green stone comes from mines of this kind of stone. But a blue turquoise with a large matrix may be a soft stone and will in time with exposure to oil and other substances turn green.

A new trend in Indian silver-smithing has been set to encourage the younger generation in the art. Craft groups in schools and universities are back of it.

This recent concept might be compared in jewelry as Swedish Modern is to furniture and decor. It is plain silver with no carvings, a single stone in a mashed-square design may be mounted on an distorted oval or circle backing of the piece of jewelry.

Even if you don't buy Indian art, as you travel through the southwest or visit there you will be aware of the turquoise skies, streams, the green of the forests and grasslands and the browns of the deserts. In the wide open spaces of the west there is often nothing else to see as you follow your highways and byways. But you will find here a peace and solitude to ease your tired body and nerves.

The double ring ceremony solemnized Friday at 6:30 p. m. was conducted by the Rev. Gerald Mann, pastor.

After a honeymoon to Southern Texas points, the couple will be at home August 10 at Ingleside, where he has accepted the position of first assistant football coach at Ingleside High School.

The traditional bridal motif of white and green decorated the church. Tall white tapers burning in 14 branch candelabra entwined with ivy formed the background for arches of greenery.

Presenting the program of organ music was Robert Bell and he accompanied Ben Gollehon as he sang "More" and "The Lord's Prayer."

CHANTILLY LACE ADORNS GOWN

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal sheath of peau de soie under a full cage of Chantilly lace fashioned with a wedding ring collar and petal-point sleeves.

A satin fold caught the empire bodice and was marked by a satin bow. The satin was repeated on the formal hemline of the gown and the cathedral train.

A forward cluster of lace petals embellished with seed pearls held her shoulder length veil of silk illusion. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls belonging to her mother.

Her bridal bouquet of white baby roses was carried on a bridal Bible with lace streamers.

Mrs. Larry Paschel served her sister as matron of honor and bridesmaid was Mrs. Lane Cooper of Canyon.

Gerald Brannon was best man and groomsmen was Larry Paschel. Ushers were Fred Martin and J. B. Sowell Jr. of Houston, brother of the bride.

Candlelighters were nephews of the bride, Steven and Mike Sowell of Houston.

Little Miss Jill Susan Paschel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Paschel, was the flower girl.

The bride's attendants wore identical formal gowns of royal blue candlelight crepe. The priness styled gowns were designed with a gathered pearl traced back panel flowing from the shoulders. Circlets of royal blue ostrich feathers made their headpieces. They carried royal blue votive candles surrounded by English ivy.

The flower girl was gowned like the other feminine attendants and carried a white lace basket of trailing English ivy and clusters of pom-pom mums.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Sowell chose a pink linen dress with jeweled necklace and sleeves and matching accessories.

Mrs. Green, mother of the bridegroom, wore a royal blue and turquoise silk dress and matching accessories. Their shoulder bouquets were of white lacy chrysanthemums.

COUPLE HONORED WITH RECEPTION

A reception was held honoring the bride and bridegroom immediately following the ceremony in the fellowship hall.

The serving table was draped with white net over satin and centered with the feminine attendants' nosegays and a candelabrum holding lighted tapers and lacy chrysanthemums. The four-tiered wedding cake was decorated with soft blue sugar bells and roses.

Mrs. J. B. Sowell Jr. served the cake and Mrs. Denzil Vaughn ladled punch. Mrs. Mike Miller registered the wedding guests.

For traveling the bride wore a royal blue embossed suit knit princess styled dress with white accessories.

A 1965 graduate of Hereford High School, the bride will receive her bachelor of business administration degree from West Texas State University in January. She received a certificate of secretarial proficiency in secretarial science at WT-SU and is active in Texas Business Education Association.

The bridegroom attended Hereford High School and McMurry College where he received a B. S. degree. He is a member of KIVA social fraternity.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smart of Norman, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Jim Brown of Burdett, Kan. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Walker of Panhandle, Mr. and Mrs. Brazos Darisco of Bryan, Mrs. I. H. Hathaway of Albuquerque, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Sasser, Misses Martha Mills and Denise Adams of Amarillo.

TO MARRY SOON — Miss Sherry Marie Hammond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hammond of Portales, N.M., is to marry Fred W. Ricketts, son of Mrs. Mary Ella Ricketts of Portales, in First Presbyterian Church of that city the evening of August 16. The bridegroom-elect is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ricketts of Hereford and has other relatives here. Mrs. Horace Hershey, Mrs. Forrest Ricketts, Mrs. Albert Ricketts, Misses Janet, Celia and Kerri Ricketts went to Portales Saturday to be guests at a shower honoring Miss Hammond.

Cockerham At Gunter AFB

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Perry W. Cockerham, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Cockerham of 412 Avenue G, Hereford, is participating in a U. S. Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps (AFROTC) field training encampment at Gunter AFB, Ala.

During the encampment, cadets become familiar with the life and activities on Air Force bases and can examine career opportunities in which they might wish to serve as officers.

Other highlights include survival training, aircraft and aircrew indoctrination, small arms training and visits to other Air Force bases.

Cadet Cockerham, a graduate of U. S. Grant High School in Oklahoma City, is a member of the AFROTC unit at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

THE IMPORTANCE OF DANCE EDUCATION

There are many reasons you may have been wishing you could arrange dance lessons for your child, and yet there may be other advantages you have not considered. Just what can dance classes under a properly trained teacher offer your child?

The right kind of dance training develops a sense of rhythm and a love for music, it improves posture and coordination, and it strengthens the body and feet of the student. It is recommended for congenital flat feet, sway backs and some other physical defects. It gives a child a sense of belonging and accomplishment, it helps him learn how to work with groups, how to take instruction, and if continued is good training in self-discipline.

Who will it help? All sports require rhythmic movement, and dance is that study of movement in time and space the basketball and football coaches are discovering is a great help to their players. There is the too-thin child who needs to develop those pipstem legs, or the too-chunky child whose puppy fat is slow to disappear — dancing classes are very good for those conditions. There's the tomboy with six brothers who knows more about climbing trees than how to walk like a lady, and the mouse who is afraid of school, where he will have to stand before the class and read, the overgrown elf and the emotional storm who need a physical outlet for their energy.

And last, but not least, there is the talented child whose sense of grace and rhythm cries out for development. For her (or him) there is the possibility of a career in dancing, or at least a hobby for a lifetime of enjoyment.

Best of all, our classes are fun and your child will learn to enjoy the fellowship of working with other boys and girls to pleasant music. Your child's education is not complete without some dance training.

A Dream Comes True For Former Hereford Resident And Husband

A nine-year dream came true for a former Hereford resident and her husband when his parents recently reached the United States from Cuba, after long efforts and many disappointments since the Castro regime took over.

The refugee couple are parents of Mario Arteaga of Mission Hills, Calif., whose wife is the former Ginger Dillehay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dillehay of Bonham. Dillehay once served as superintendent of Hereford Public Schools.

Mrs. Dillehay, in a letter to Mrs. Helen McCauley, sent a clipping from a Bonham paper telling of the senior Arteagas' arrival July 10 in Brownsville after a bus ride from Mexico, the final leg of their journey to freedom. They flew on to their son's home in California.

Mrs. Mario Arteaga and her two children had just returned home after a visit with the Dillehays. She had no idea at that time when, if ever, her husband's parents would be permitted to leave Cuba.

The Mario Arteagas came to the United States from Cuba early in June, 1960, and had made efforts ever since for others in his family to leave. His sister and her husband were finally permitted to leave two years ago, by way of Spain.

His mother, an American citizen, could have come at any time but preferred to remain with her husband when their sugar plantation and other properties were seized by the Castro regime. They were allowed only a small amount of money for living expenses and were not permitted to bring money with them, so they arrived in Texas penniless.

In a telephone conversation with the Dillehays from Brownsville, Mrs. Arteaga expressed their joy at reaching America with prospects for reunion with their children, and said their bus ride across the Rio Grande from Mexico was "a dream come true."

Linda Boardman Bride Annual XIT Rodeo Begins Thursday

In Afternoon Ceremony

Wedding vows were spoken by Miss Linda Irene Boardman and James Harvey (Joe) Cox of Floydada in an afternoon ceremony Saturday at the First Presbyterian Church, where twin seven-branched candelabra lighted the altar setting of green foliage and carnation blooms.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Herbert D. Boardman, Route 3, and the late Mr. Boardman. Mr. Cox is the son of Mrs. Virginia Cox of Floydada and the late J. H. Cox of Uvalde.

Raymond A. Higginbotham, a family friend, gave Miss Boardman in marriage in a service conducted by the Rev. Russell A. Wingert, pastor of the church, and the Rev. Andrew A. Jumper of Lubbock First Presbyterian Church.

Her sisters attended the bride, Mrs. Dean Stevens of Albuquerque as matron of honor and Miss Dee Ann Boardman as bridesmaid. Aubrey Neff of Lubbock was best man, Dan Hale of Floydada the groomsmen. Ronnie Partain of Hico and Dean Stevens the ushers. Denise Moxon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Moxon, was the bride's trainbearer.

Principal selections in the medley of organ music played by Mrs. J. D. Neill were Ich Liebe Dich (Greig) and Calm Is the Night (Brahms.) She also played the marches.

The bride's gown was of traditional white satin in A-line style, with deep squared yoke and elbow bell sleeves of the same lace which made a scalloped train attached just below the yoke in back. Her mother designed and made the gown.

blossoms.

A reception in the home and a dinner at the Alcove Restaurant followed the ceremony.

Mrs. Hamby is a 1965 graduate of Hereford High School and has attended Southern Methodist University, Tech and the University of Texas. She is a secretarial employe of Springfield Enterprises at Lubbock. Hamby completed high school studies in Plainview.

Her illusion veil fell over her shoulders from a sparkling tiara. She wore a single strand of pearls worn by her mother at her wedding, and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The honor attendant wore pink and the bridesmaid mint green, both in brocade, floor length, A-line with a wide back pleat. Their bouquets were pink carnations.

Mrs. Boardman's home was the scene of the reception after the ceremony. Mrs. Connie Urbanczyk served the wedding cake and Mrs. Dorman Duggan the punch from a table beautified with arrangements of pink roses and carnations.

Miss Dalphia Ogle of Lubbock was at the guest register. Others assisting the houseparty were Miss Sharon Melton of Lubbock, Mmes. Dave Moxon, Les W. Combs, Betty Rice, J. Robert Hickman, W. T. Thompson, George C. Warner and Raymond A. Higginbotham.

After a honeymoon trip to Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Cox will be at home August 12 on Route 5, Box 58, Lubbock. Both are senior students in Texas Tech.

Mrs. Cox, a graduate of Hereford High School, is a psychology major and will attend classes part time and also be employed as secretary to a Lubbock psychologist. A chemistry major at Tech, the bridegroom was graduated from Floydada High School.

Out-of-city wedding guests were Miss Margaret Collier of

One of Texas' biggest, oldest and most famous celebrations, the XIT Rodeo and Reunion, will hold its 33rd annual meeting beginning Thursday and lasting through Saturday in Dalhart.

Four rodeo performances are slated, three of the amateur rodeo performances produced by L. D. Ward of Trinidad, Colo., and the Little Britches Rodeo due to be unreeled the first afternoon of the annual celebration. The regular rodeo, with $1100 added in prize money, Floydada, aunt of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Renz of St. Louis, the bride's uncle and aunt; Mrs. Marvin Tritz of Dumont, another aunt; and Mrs. Walter G. Prather of Tulia, her sister.

will be held each of the three nights beginning at 8 p. m.

Included in the rodeo will be bareback bronc, saddle bronc, bull riding, bull dogging, calf roping, ladies' barrel race, kids calf scramble and the down team roping. The Koonsman Trick Riders and Tumbling acts will also perform each night of the celebration.

Five dances will be held featuring big name western bands and teen-age combos. Thursday night David Houston will play for the big western dance and Friday night, it will be Jim Ed Brown and Leon McAuliffe on Saturday night. These three dances will be at the Rita Blanca Coliseum outdoor dancing arena with room for 2,000 couples. Teen-age dances, at the XIT Rangers Club will feature the Pacers on Friday night and the Transcendental Minds on Saturday night.

Also included in the festivities is the big street parade at 2 p. m. Saturday, the world's largest free barbecue at 5:30 p. m. Saturday, the free watermelon feed at 5:30 p. m. Friday, the Pony Express Race at 4 p. m. Saturday and the Antique Car Show all day Friday and Saturday.

Another feature of the rodeo-reunion will be Saturday at 1 a. m. when the state historical marker at the Empty Saddle Monument will be dedicated, with Dolph Briscoe of Uvalde as the featured speaker.

Even in war, Saigon has an eye for beauty. Before a recent holiday, Mayor Pham Pju Khai ordered trenches in front of City Hall filled in and planted with flowers. He explained, "We'll empty some storage rooms under City Hall for use as a shelter, but leave the flowers out there. One must also do something for the spirit."

AUGUST BRIDE-ELECT — The marriage of Miss Sarah Ruth Putnam and Jerry Don Ward is planned for August 16 in First Christian Church, and the couple will be at home at 115 Gough. Miss Putnam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Putnam of DeQueen, Ark., is an employe of Deaf Smith County Hospital. Ward's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Ward, reside in Bovina. He is employed by Panciera Tire Company.

Miss Beene Is Recently Married At Plainview

The recent marriage of Miss Deborah Ann Beene, formerly of Hereford, and Ricky White Hamby of Lubbock, is of interest to friends here. The couple is at home in Lubbock, where the bridegroom is a senior history major in Texas Tech.

Place of the marriage was the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. Irvin Gaynor in Plainview. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Gaynor and the late Dr. Bruce G. Beene of Hereford. Mrs. R. E. Kaufman of Big Spring is the bridegroom's mother.

June Owens To Receive Degree

CANYON — June Marian Owens of Dawn is listed among the 398 candidates for degrees at the summer convocation of West Texas State University Aug. 21.

U.S. Senator Ralph W. Yarborough of Texas will deliver the commencement address which will be at Amarillo Civic Center Coliseum.

Miss Owens is seeking a bachelor of science degree. She is also a member of Alpha Chi national honor society.

Alpha Chi members must be junior or senior students who maintain a 2.0 grade point average or better.

The wedding ceremony was read by the Rev. Oran Smith, pastor of First Methodist Church at Halfway. Mrs. Smith played traditional musical selections on the piano.

Mrs. Darla Fleming of Lubbock was matron of honor and David True of Lubbock the best man. Dr. Gaynor gave the bride in marriage.

She wore a street length cotton lace dress and a brief veil held by a headpiece of satin and seed pearls. Her attendant's dress was of pink satin with jeweled neckline and belted back. The bride carried gardenias and Mrs. Fleming a nosegay of pink

60 Years Old, New Look

Family Making Dream Home Of Pioneer House

By SUE COLEMAN
Staff Writer

Carefully measured and plotted, plans of the upper and lower floors of the more-than-60-year-old house which the L. T. Johnsons are remodeling failed to match, sending them on a search which revealed 14 feet of lost space in a gable behind a closet wall.

THAT IS ONLY one of the discoveries they have made about the house at 711 North Lee, where a face-lifting begun by the Johnson family in February has transformed the exterior and is now under way inside. Setting no time schedule, they expect the work to be completed in "maybe a couple of years."

Outside work on the structure is almost finished; it stands smartly in fresh white siding, new-painted trim, black shutters and a concrete porch with sun-deck roof and black wrought-iron posts. The predominant red roof color is echoed in the red-painted front door and will appear again in a brick walk planned to replace the old concrete.

Now that the exterior's changed so the Johnsons are hearing compliments from passers-by as well as neighbors, they have turned their attention to the inside of the house and have begun tearing into walls, moving doors and charting plans for making just as big changes there.

THE DO-IT-YOURSELF

project began last winter when L. T. and Joyce Johnson began looking for a house big enough for themselves and their three teenagers, two girls and a boy. They wanted three bedrooms and an extra, more than one bath, family room and a separate dining room, plenty of kitchen space and a utility room. They soon found that to get all that in a new house, the cost would be prohibitive for their budget unless they were willing "to keep making house payments at the age of 72," as Johnson expressed it. So they turned to older houses.

The one at 711 Lee had been the home of the late Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Morgan for 18 years, and was a sturdy stuccoed building, well kept although it showed its age.

THE JOHNSONS were told that it was built by George Guinn in 1906 or 1907, one of four handsome residences built on the four corners of that street intersection by pioneer ranchers about the same time, all still standing, and that the Guinn family occupied it for four decades.

"A good many of our friends told us we were damfools to buy the old place," Johnson laughs, "so now we refer to it as Johnson's Folly."

They did not buy it heedlessly. Mrs. Johnson's father, a retired builder, checked the construction, condition of the building and its possibilities for remodeling, and they sought the advice of others who have done similar work on some of the city's older residences.

ESTIMATED COST of their home will be about half that of a new place with comparative living space, since they are doing most of the work themselves, they say. On the outside work, the only professional job was installation of the siding. They planned to do considerable work before they moved in. In only a short time they decided too much time was lost going back and forth, and that it would be preferable to live in a house "under construction." Daughters Gwen and Glenda were not happy about this at first.

"When our friends came, or brought us from school, they looked at the torn-up old house and said they didn't see why we wanted it — but now they say it looks great and are waiting to see what will be done to the inside," Gwen explains.

IN ADDITION to its six rooms and a bath downstairs and three bedrooms upstairs, the house has by today's standards much waste space in halls and attic, which the Johnsons will use. They expect to gain two added bathrooms and a great deal of storage space.

One bathroom, adjoining the master bedroom, will be located in space discovered by the Johnsons when their room plans did not match.

Built-in dressing tables and cabinets will be a part of this room; similar built-ins as well as closets will enrage the bedroom areas, making possible the removal of closets built out into the rooms at present.

RAMBLING HALLS will be curtailed to give more room space, upstairs and down, but one new hall will be built to give access to the stairway from the living room.

Already a tiny breakfast nook opening from the kitchen has been walled off and made a part of a utility room which will be further enlarged by taking out the partition between it and the enclosed back porch.

A breakfast bar will be built in the big kitchen, where Mrs. Johnson has started woodwork refinishing by putting a black-and-white 'antique' finish on cabinets.

Perhaps the biggest job of all will be a lowering of ceilings so that ducts for the cooling and heating system can be put between the new and the present ceilings. The large northeast bedroom downstairs will be opened to the dining room for use as a family room.

IN ONE FORMER remodeling, a wall between living room and a big entrance hall was removed to enlarge the former, but it was apparently a supporting wall and the ceiling has sagged there. To restore the support, an open room-divider will be built with posts from floor to ceiling.

A large fireplace across a living room wall will replace the small one. Space now in a hall will be added to the downstairs bath and more kitchen cabinets will be built to complete work on the lower floor.

After it is all done, another phase is planned to include a patio and pool in the backyard. Some yard work has been carried on while the family's efforts have centered on the house, and the flowers are blooming in a bed across the front porch where concrete was poured not long ago.

NOTHING IN THE Johnsons' past experience prepared them for their current career as builders, except that Mrs. Johnson has refinished furniture and painted woodwork.

The furniture, including an oak sideboard and a matched pair of black tin trunks which came with her grandparents in a covered wagon to the Dimmitt area in pioneer days, fits nicely into big rooms of the house.

Both of West Texas families, the couple was married last year. Johnson, whose parents live in Friona, has been with the Holly Sugar plant here about three years. Mrs. Johnson teaches French and Spanish in Friona Schools.

Her children are Gwen and Neal Duncan and Glenda Morse. In addition to their lively presence, the household includes miniature dachunds and Siamese cats.

IT IS AUGMENTED now by guests; Rosemary Burkhardt of Spearman is visiting Gwen and Glenda, and two sisters from Ecuador are making a summer visit. They are Odila Guevara, teacher of English in the American School of Quito, who shared a home with Joyce Johnson when both were students in West Texas State University a few years ago, and her sister Nilda.

The latter, a nurse, is taking advantage of the Licensed Vocational Nursing class in progress at Deaf Smith County Hospital to brush up on nursing techniques as they are practiced here, in contrast to those in the large hospital in the Ecuadorian capital where she is employed.

Guests in a house where tools and loose boards are scattered and hammering is heard until bedtime, are welcomed by the Johnsons who intend to enjoy living while work progresses toward their dream-home goal.

Meanwhile, they look across the street westward and chuckle, as they see work beginning on another of the old houses on the corner where Bill and Rose Ann Smith have lately moved. The Smiths were among the friends who laughed loudly when the Johnsons bought their place.

Accident Occurs At Intersection

An accident at the intersection of Park Avenue and Avenue B last Wednesday, resulted in an estimated $285 damage to the two cars involved.

A 1968 GMC pickup, driven by Louis Woodford received $185 damages and a 1965 Plymouth driven by Raymond Flores received $100 damages.

The accident occurred around 10 a.m. Wednesday when one of the vehicles, traveling west on Park Ave., was struck by the other vehicle which had run the stop light at the intersection.

Investigating officers issued a citation for failure to stop for red traffic signal.

FLYING TEETH

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Frank F. Goetzmann's new teeth gave him a pain in the wallet.

He was cruising a city expressway when he sneezed, and both plates sailed out the window.

With traffic zipping along at 50 miles an hour he couldn't stop, nor could he find the teeth later when he retraced his route.

The only thing was to order another set from the dentist.

"Now I drive with the windows closed," Goetzmann said.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — I occasionally entertain customers by taking them on a fishing trip. Can I deduct anything for the cost of operating my boat?

A — Unless you use the boat more than half the time for business purposes, only gasoline, oil, and other out-of-pocket expenses incurred during the trip for it may be deducted.

If the boat was used more than 50 per cent for business, a portion of your costs of operating the boat, such as depreciation, repairs and general operating expenses, may be taken as a business expense. Records showing the date of each business use, number of persons entertained and similar information must be kept to establish that the boat was used more than 50 percent for business use.

Q — My son is working this summer for the first time and wants me to open up a bank account for him in his name. Do I use my social security number or his to identify this account? He's just 14.

A — Use your son's Social Security number. Interest earned on the account is income to your son and therefore should be identified by his account number.

Q — I made a payment on my taxes which is not reflected in the bill you sent me. What should I do about it?

A — Reduce your bill by the amount of the payment and pay the balance. To enable us to properly credit your account indicate on the bill the amount of your payment, the date paid and where it was sent.

When making tax payments write your Social Security number and the kind of tax you are paying on your check or money order.

Q — If I don't make a contribution this year to the self-employed retirement plan my partner and I have set up for our business will the plan lose its favorable tax status?

A — No, the fact that you make no contribution to the plan this year will not disqualify it. If you have any other questions about your plan, send a post card to your district director of Internal Revenue and ask for a copy of Publication 560, Retirement Plans for Self-Employed Individuals.

Q — My college says in a brochure it sent me that if I make a charitable donation of stock on which I show a profit, I won't have to pay any tax on that profit. Is that right?

A — Yes, a tax deduction may be taken for the full market value of the stock on the date the donation was made. And there would be no income tax on the increase in value.

Q — Does the taxpayer get paid any interest on the amount due him when the government is late issuing an income tax refund?

A — Yes, interest is added to overpayments that are not refunded within 45 days of the due date of the return or the date the return is filed, whichever is later. The interest rate is 6 percent per year.

SURPRISE CATCH

DURBAN, South Africa — Angler Cecil Podmore caught a crocodile when he cast his line into the surf from a local beach. The baby croc, about three months old, was apparently washed into the sea by the nearby Umgeni River.

BOARD TAKES REFIN

LOS ANGELES — Instead of a "mother general," a newly formed board of directors has been elected to govern the Roman Catholic order of the Immaculate Heart Sisters, now in the midst of extensive reforms.

CALL FOR A CAUSE

LOS ANGELES — Instead of "Dial-a-Prayer," ministers & laymen are operating a "Dial-an-Issue" project here in which telephone information on current issues of social justice is provided to all callers — a new message each day.

GARDENER ON THE PROWL
EDISON, N.J. — A resident of a nearby suburb, who tends his lawn every weekend, decided to walk around the neighborhood to see how green was his neighbors' grass.

Wearing his gardener's clothes — dirty pants and an old sweatshirt — he strolled for about 20 minutes, stopping at several homes to gaze at yards. A police car pulled up and the patrolmen asked what he was up to.

When the man explained, the police said they received calls about a suspicious looking character in dirty clothes.

People just don't walk around much anymore, the police remarked.

L'Allegra Has Summer Coffee

A midsummer coffee broke the seasonal lull for L'Allegra Study Club members Thursday morning with a social interlude and a discussion of programs for the year to come.

Mrs. J. H. McCrary and the club president, Mrs. Gene Cope, were hostesses in the McCrary home on South Main. Zinnia blossoms, with shades of pink emphasized, brightened the rooms.

Fresh fruits were served from a scalloped watermelon rind with rolls and coffee, before the business discussion led by Mrs. Cope.

Preliminary plans for the club's main fund-raising event of the year, a tasting luncheon, were outlined. Mrs. John E. Smith and Mrs. Jerry Terrell will be co-chairmen and the date has been set for Nov. 20.

FRUGALITY

HAVANA — The Committee for Defense of the Revolution (CDR), whose tasks are myriad, reports that through April the CDR has collected: 5,323,765 used bottles; 2,656,080 pounds of scrap paper, and 5,605 ounces of old postage stamps.

The CDR, to which an estimated one of every four of the 8.2 million Cubans belongs, has as its main duties keeping tabs on those who don't belong to the CDR, and running about 55,000 small businesses the government nationalized in 1968.

A possible "Round the World" theme was discussed.

Mrs. James Carnahan, vice president and yearbook chairman, announced programs for the 1969-70 season on a variety of topics grouped under the general title, Potpourri.

They include talks by Dr. H. A. Cavness on the West Texas Eye Bank, by the Clinton Jacksons on their recent trip to Pakistan, by a representative of narcotics bureau at Amarillo and of the Satellite Day Care Center here. A style show and a visit to Colony Catherine are also among the programs planned.

Mrs. Cameron Gault was elected parliamentarian to fill an office vacancy. Mrs. Jeff Carlile received congratulations from other club members on the birth of a daughter this summer.

Others present at the coffee were Mmes. Bobby Veigel, Buddy Bloomer, Terrell Hodges, Dennis Farley, Hazen Woods, Sam Lesly, Bill Warrick, Rudy Metz, Dennis Lomas, Gary McQuigg, Gerald Payne and Terrell.

NO PARTY

BOULDER, Colo. — Burglars didn't get a chance to have a party with the 25 bottles of champagne and 30 quarts of whiskey they stole from a restaurant. They hid the loot in a field, but a householder nearby found it and notified police even before the burglary was discovered.

NONVIOLENT NONCOOPERATION

JAIPUR, India — Rajasthan state Chief Minister M. L. Sukhadia has appealed to India women to adopt the Gandhian technique of nonviolent noncooperation — against their husbands to prevent overpopulation.

"Tell your husbands to produce more wealth and NOT more children," he told a conference of tribal women.

Indian leader Mohandas Gandhi utilized nonviolent noncooperation weapon against the British rulers during the freedom struggle.

Board Maps BSP Plans For Year

As far ahead as the 1970 Valentine ball and spring rituals, planning for the coming year in Beta Sigma Phi groups here was done in an executive board meeting of the sorority's City Council Thursday evening.

Mrs. R. J. Cramer, Council president, entertained the board in the backyard patio of her home, directed talk of plans and announced committee appointments.

As a prelude to the 1969-70 season, the Council will give a tea this month for members of all three local chapters. The board recommended that Council meetings be set at 8 p.m. on the second Tuesday of each month through the new year.

Dates fixed for events the Council will host include Feb. 14 for the annual Valentine ball, Nov. 4 for fall rituals, Apr. 7 for spring rituals and Apr. 30 for the Founders Day dinner.

It was announced that Mrs. Carl Hollingsworth will make the new yearbooks.

SUMMER WORK SESSION — Mrs. R. J. Cramer, president of Hereford Beta Sigma Phi Council for the coming season, invited executive board members to her pleasant patio Thursday evening for coffee and discussion of plans for the sorority year ahead. Seated at the table from left are the hostess; Mrs. J. D. Ham-

Pugh are on the selection committee.

Mrs. Harold Kids will serve again as general chairman for the ball. Mmes. Spangler, Harold Beauchamp and Melvin Fowler are on the ceremonies committee, Mmes. Larry Summers and Delbert Bainum the dine and dance committee, Mmes. Larsen and Duke Powell the invitation committee.

In charge of decorations will be Mmes. John Gilliland and Hollingsworth, with Mmes. John Gray and Jim Cramer as co-chairmen and Mmes. Bob Pittman, Kendall, Gerald Burney, Dave Heck and Max Goforth assisting. Mmes. Edwin Axc, Hamblen, Laing and Beauchamp are on the committee to remove decorations.

South African farmers have increased the volume of agricultural output by 92 per cent in the last 20 years and the industry is now the second largest single earner of foreign currency in the country.

Wedding Date Fixed

Engagement of Miss Judith Jenkins of Seabrook to Jerry W. McCathern of Hereford is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell E. Jenkins, 4444 NASA, Seabrook. McCathern is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McCathern Jr. of Westway.

The couple, both senior students at the University of Houston, plans to be married in a noon ceremony Sept. 6 in the Religious Center Chapel at the university.

The Hereford man and his fiancée are both majoring in music. He won honors as a musician during his years in Hereford High School, from which he was graduated in 1966.

There are 22 producers of synthetic rubber in the U. S. today. Approximately 61 per cent of the synthetic rubber produced is consumed by auto tires with the other 39 per cent going into such major rubber uses as conveyor belting, hosing and cushioning, according to the International Institute of Synthetic Rubber Producers.

Candles haven't always been used merely to spread light. King Alfred ordered the manufacture of time-keeping candles, six of them sized to burn in 24 hours. In both England and the American colonies, the saying "sale by the inch of a candle" signified an auction where people could bid until a length of candle burned out.

Marriage Vows Recited In Home

Miss Dolly Dyan Duvall and Ray Ernest Belue Jr., both of Atlanta, Ga., came to Hereford for their wedding in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Duvall, 318 Star, Wednesday evening, then left for a New Orleans honeymoon.

The bridegroom is the son of Ray Ernest Belue Sr. of Spartanburg, S. C. and Mrs. Hazel Young of Augusta.

Against a background of a tall candelabra flanked by baskets of white chrysanthemums, the marriage ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Sam Ogan, pastor of Frio Baptist Church. The bride's father gave her in marriage.

Attending the couple were the bride's brother, Gene Duvall and Mrs. Duvall as best man and matron of honor. Candles were lighted before the service by Suzanne Duvall and Jerry Robbins.

Miss Duvall wore the wedding gown which her matron of honor had worn as a bride, an empire dress of snowflake organza over satin, embroidered with seed pearls and crystals on the bodice front and at the hemline. Sleeves were long and a chapel train was held by a bow at the back of the cameo neckline. Her veil fell from a pearled coronet and her bouquet was of white roses. She wore a gold costume pin and carried a gold mesh compact which had belonged to her maternal great-grandmothers.

Her attendant was dressed in yellow linen, a simply-cut frock with fullness held in wide pleats. Her corsage was of white roses, as was that of the bride's mother who wore a tan linen suit.

A reception in the home followed the wedding, with a number of relatives and friends as guests. Miss Patty Robbins was at the registry table. Mrs. Billy Lytal served the cake and Miss Nancy Ratliff of Amarillo poured punch.

The couple will be at home at Route 2, McDonough, Ga., near Atlanta. Mrs. Belue, a 1962 graduate of Hereford High School and a former student at North Texas State University, is a stewardess with Eastern Airlines.

The bridegroom is with Berkeley Tech of Atlanta. He was graduated from Georgia Southern University and will be a law student in Emory University next term.

Guests from other cities for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Milner, Mrs. Bill Barnett, Lisa Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ratliff, all of Amarillo; Mrs. M. G. Duvall and Mrs. Eunice Ratliff of Hollis, Okla.

Named to the coordinating committee, with Mrs. Teresa Larsen as chairman, are Mrs. Ernest Wade and Mrs. Hollingsworth of Alpha Alpha Chapter, Mrs. Pat McDonald and Mrs. Pat Parker of Xi Epsilon Alpha, Mrs. Bill Lyman and Mrs. Bob Pugh of Kappa Iota.

On the contact committee, from chapters in the same order, are Mmes. Charles Laing, J. D. Greeson and Larsen.

Hostesses for the Valentine ball will be Mrs. Cramer and the chapter presidents, Mrs. Hicks Roberson of Alpha Alpha, Mrs. Dean Haeker of Xi Epsilon Alpha and Mrs. Joe Frank Huckert of Kappa Iota. Co-hostesses will be the respective treasurers, Mmes. Gary Braden, C. D. Fitzgerald Jr., Bill Kendall and Bob Spangler.

A change is being made this year in the method of selecting the Valentine queen. Each chapter will elect its candidate in September, then their pictures will be judged by out-of-town judges to determine the queen. Mmes. Ollene Williams, James Shearer, J. D. Hamblen and

Outside Help Given TEC Here

Texas Employment Commission in Hereford is now receiving aid for the recruitment of students for the auto mechanics and farm equipment mechanics classes here from both Amarillo and Borger, manager Lester Rape reported.

Although the farm equipment mechanics class has not begun here as yet and the local office still does not have the required number of students for its beginning, Rape said that they were "giving it an extra push" with outside aid and advertising and felt there is still every possibility that it will start on Aug. 18.

He said that there are now 19 students in auto mechanics, which is already underway.

"Actually, the two mechanics classes are very similar," Rape pointed out, "except for the irrigation engine instruction in one of them. Both courses could have been called auto mechanics."

Those who desire additional information on either course (both offered under the Manpower Development and Training Act) are asked to contact the local TEC office at Seventh and 25 Mile Ave.

CHANGES IN PROGRESS — The house at 711 N. Lee, upper left, as it looks today and, center left, as it was before changes began in February, is undergoing a massive rejuvenation at the hands of the L. T. Johnsons. One of the city's sturdy homes dating from early in this century, it is being made into a comfortable modern residence with more than enough room for the family of five. Seated on the sundeck in the upper view are the Johnsons' daughters, Gwen Duncan, left, and Glenda Morse, right, with a guest, Rosemary Burkhart of Spearman between them. Mrs. Johnson, upper right, stands beside the refrigerator which was given antique style doors to match kitchen cabinets in the first phase of interior remodeling. Johnson, center right, leans on the present small mantel and points to the wall where a large fireplace will be built across one end of the living room. Two visitors from Ecuador, Nilda and Adila Guevera, play with the family pets, lower left, in front of the handsome entrance door which has been refinished with a painstaking gluing of trim and even carving of new sections. The teenaged son, Neal Duncan, lower right, stands at the foot of the stairway, which has its railing partly torn out for remodeling. (See story on page 8)

Brashear Back In Vietnam, On "New Job"

Marine Lance Cpl. Gene Brashear, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. George E. Brashear of 311 N. 25 Mile Ave., has returned to South Vietnam after spending a few days on Okinawa in late June and reported that he now has a "new job."

L. Cpl. Brashear said that he is now handling "medi vacs" (wounded) from the field to the ship. "I spend almost as much time on the ship as I do in the bush, but it's an easy job," he said.

He also reported that his Marine company has received another Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry for its actions in battle.

"I was duly impressed with the moon walk," the young Marine also said, "and wish I could have seen it on T.V."

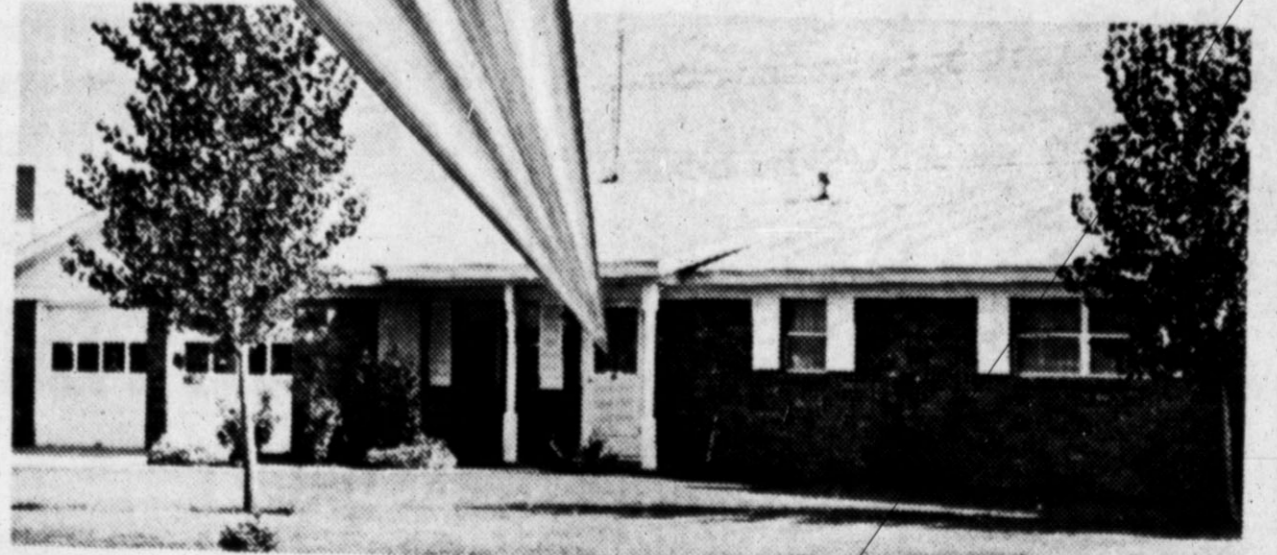

His Vietnam duty tour was begun in January.

Congressman Bob Price has been assigned to the Subcommittee on Manned Space Flight of the Committee on Science and Astronautics. He still retains his membership on the Subcommittee on NASA Oversight as well as his membership on the House Agriculture Committee and two Agriculture subcommittees. Here are his comments on this assignment: "I have been informed today that I have been named to membership on the Subcommittee on Manned Space Flight. In view of events of the past weeks, I consider this a most exciting assignment and an honor. I trust my previous training in aeronautics as a jet fighter pilot for five years will be useful in this new position.

"To explain something of the jurisdiction of Manned Space Flight Subcommittee, just as its name suggests, its work is differentiated from that of other

Shower Is Event For Janice Head

Preceding her wedding which is planned for this weekend, Miss Janice Head was honored with a shower Thursday in the Community Room of First National Bank. She and Conley McCutchen are to be married Friday in Westway Baptist Church.

Shower hostesses were Meses. Robert Boyd, H. E. Owens, Merlin Kaul, C. A. Saulcy, Gerald McCathern, Cecil Morrison, Willie Nunley, Jerry Landers, G. C. Merritt Sr., James G. Martin, Olen Baird, Joe Landers, Jackie Lee, Frank Zinsler Jr. and Ray Coleman, and Miss registered.

For CAC Board

Latin, Negro, Anglo To Meet

Hereford Community Center, located across Park Ave. from the City Park swimming pool, has been designated the site of three separate meetings beginning at 8:30 p. m. Monday for Latin, Negro and Anglo citizens of Deaf Smith County who will elect a total of six members to the permanent board of the newly-formed Community Action Corporation here.

Already elected to the 18-member CAC board are five of the six members representing public office holders and the entire group of six who are to represent private citizens.

Community Action Corporation, which is 90 per cent financed by the Office of Economic Opportunity, is directed under the law to have all members who are to represent the underprivileged to be elected from the ranks of the people whom they will represent on the board. Board members of the public office holders and private citizens are prohibited against voting their own selections in order to fill this remaining one-third of the representation.

Reason advanced for this law is that the underprivileged have more confidence to ward board members they have selected themselves than of a board someone else has elected for them. Pointed out is the purpose of CAC, for all people to work jointly in the self-help program aimed toward aiding the local underprivileged in obtaining better employment and health standards through educational and understanding means.

Roland Barton, who has been acting as temporary chairman of the Hereford CAC, stated that the election of permanent officers for the board and the hiring of a Neighborhood Center Coordinator will not be accomplished until these three special meetings have been conducted and their board members elected.

Four of the six board members representing the underprivileged are to be elected from the Latin community. One member each is set for election from the Negro and Anglo communities.

Barton and members of the CAC steering committee, who have worked to form the local organization since April, have reported that the three Monday night meetings are extremely important "not only toward the project itself but in its continuing here successfully in its future goals" and have urged all the people in the county to attend the meeting concerned with their own racial background.

The Latin members of the community are set to hold their meeting in the main ballroom at the Community Center. The Negro community will have meeting space in the northwest side of the same building and the Anglo community space in the southwest.

Admittance is at no charge and no one will be barred from participation.

Of particular interest in the meetings is the invitation aimed toward the Latin community. It was pointed out that a number of them will not see the notice in the Hereford Brand (due to their natural inability to read English) nor will they hear about it on the local radio station. The committee requests that all Latin members of the community who have read and heard of the meeting to please pass the word "in Spanish" to their fellowman.

Alex Torres of Texas Employment Commission is in charge of arrangements for the Latin meeting. Rev. C. W. Allen of St. John Baptist Church has set up the meeting for the Negro community and farmer Tom Albracht the Anglo meeting.

Texas' Future Hinges on Water Amendment Ballot August 5

Texas voters will ballot Aug. 5 on a constitutional amendment that would provide the State of Texas the capability to authorize the issuing of $3.5 billion in water development fund bonds for Texas' share of the $9 billion Texas Water Plan.

Their decision on this first Tuesday in August will chart the course Texas will follow into the next century—a course leading to unprecedented economic growth and prosperity for the entire state, or a path leading to decline and stagnation caused by the lack of adequate water for the state's villages, towns and cities, its industries, and for its irrigated agriculture.

The Amendment—Number 2 on the ballot—authorizes an increase in the Water Development Fund of $3.5 billion; removal of the 4 per cent interest rate limitation on the Fund's bonds and authorizes the rate to be set by legislative enactment; expands use of the Fund for the development of water resources for the State, both within and without the limits of the state; removes the Dec. 31, 1982 cutoff date for use of the bond funds to assist political subdivisions of the state to develop their water resources; empowers the Water Development Board to contract with federal agencies, other states, foreign countries—such as Canada—and others for the development of water resources and the bonds would not be used for gifts or grants. They would be repaid—with interest—by the users of water. The Texas Water Plan is based on the concept that all reimbursable costs of water developments would be repaid by those who use the water.

Planners from the Texas Water Development Board estimate that Texas, after a full development of its water resources, will have a shortage of 12 to 13 million acre feet annually by 2020. An acre foot is 325,581 gallons.

To overcome this anticipated shortage, the Texas Water Plan proposes the importation of some 13 million acre feet of surplus water each year from the lower Mississippi River to meet an estimated requirement of 32 million acre feet for growing cities, industries, and agriculture.

The immense Texas Water Plan proposes the construction of 67 dams and reservoirs—with 33.6 million acre feet of conservation storage and 16.1 acre feet of flood control—at an estimated cost (in 1967 dollars) of $2.4 billion. Remaining costs would amount to some $6.5 billion.

The Texas Water Plan sketches a massive network of transstate transmission canals spanning north Texas and the Gulf Coast, connecting pipelines, pumping stations, and power plants—possibly nuclear powered.

The 500-mile concrete-lined northern canal would begin in the upper Sulphur River basin of east Texas and extend westward past Lubbock in the High Plains, turn south and west to the Trans Pecos where a pipeline would connect with the canal for movement of municipal and industrial water to El Paso. The Trans-Texas division would carry about 10 million acre feet of water a year for northern and western Texas.

In addition to serving the Northeast Texas basins, the cities of Dallas, Fort Worth, Lubbock, San Angelo, Abilene, Odessa, Midland, and other communities, the division, with its offshoot pipelines, would provide irrigation water for north central Texas, the High Plains, and the Trans Pecos

See TEXAS FUTURE, p-7

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE CITIZENS OF TEXAS

The availability of an adequate supply of water has always made the difference between prosperity and want--between plenty and famine. For these reasons, water has played a major role in the Texas story--has been the essential element in placing a State known for wide open spaces in the position of sustaining the Nation's third largest population by 1985; a high rate of growth in business, industry and finance; and the Nation's third largest agricultural industry.

Our State's growth projections in these areas nearly defy imagination, and yet experts tell us that these projections and future prosperity cannot be realized unless giant steps are taken now to assure Texas' future water resources.

The Texas Water Plan was developed to make maximum use of the available water in our State and to provide for additional out-of-state water as needed. This work has taken place during all of our administrations as Governor of Texas. The plan comes to its first real public test on August 5 when you, the voters of Texas, are being asked to approve Constitutional Amendment No. 2, which will authorize the Texas Water Development Board to sell up to $3.5 billion in additional bonds over a forty year period, in amounts as needed, and as authorized by a two-thirds vote of the State Legislature--money that will eventually be repaid by water users.

We urge you to vote for Constitutional Amendment No. 2 on August 5. It may be the most important vote this generation of Texans will cast.

Sincerely,

Signatures: Preston Smith, Allan Shivers, Price Daniel, John B. Connally

... Texas' Future

area. The 418-mile Coastal Canal and the Coastal Division would carry about 4.8 million acre feet annually, plus the amount supplied to metropolitan Houston and San Antonio by subsystems.

Rio Grande waters from Amistad Dam at Del Rio would move to Maverick and Webb counties and to the vegetable-growing Winter Garden area around Carrizo Springs.

As needed 220,000 acre-feet of supplemental surface water for San Antonio could be provided from reservoirs in the Guadalupe and San Antonio rivers basins. Houston could be provided with additional surface water from the Brazos, the San Jacinto, the Trinity and the Neches river basins.

The Coastal Canal would supply municipal and industrial water for the Corpus Christi-Kingsville area and irrigation water for the Coastal Bend.

The Coastal Division would also provide 2.5 million acre feet of additional fresh water each year to the valuable bay and estuary system and to wildlife refuges, thus maintaining and enhancing their sports, commercial and aesthetic value to Texas and to the nation.

Timing of the developments proposed by the Texas Water Plan is an extremely critical factor, say Water Development Board planners. "Our best estimates indicate that by or before 1990 some of our metropolitan areas--Corpus Christi, San Antonio, El Paso--will need supplemental water to meet their growing requirements," said Howard B. Boswell, executive director of the Board.

"By 1985 ground water supplying irrigation on the South Plains will have been depleted to the point that agriculture will be increasingly dependent on dry-land farming," Boswell added.

"If this occurs, the entire state will suffer economic losses in investments, banking, insurance, transportation, markets for agricultural equipment and supplies, and the loss of population," he added.

Texans old enough to vote in the Aug. 5 election remember well the drought of the 1950's and what it's like to be without water. Water rationing was the rule in most Texas towns and cities. Lakes dried up. And farmers saw their land crack from the dry heat and crops die. Pastures dried and died, and ranchers sold their herds.

Texas water planners hope to ease the plight of Texans, should drought strike again, by the development, conservation and wise use and management of the state's water resources. Supporters of the Plan and Amendment No. 2 are hoping Texans recall the dry, dusty days of 1950-57 on Aug. 5.

"THANK YOU!"

The publishers wish to take this means of saying "thank you" to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, the Texas Highway Department, the Texas Tourist Development Agency, the Santa Fe Railroad, Central Power and Light Co., Aluminum Company of America, and the Texas water Development Board for photographs used in this edition. Their cooperation is greatly appreciated.

Water Development Not New in Texas, Neither Is Financial Plan

Planning the wise use of water is not new in Texas. Neither is financing the development of the state's water resources although providing funds for water development projects is not as old as the development and wise use of the state's water resources.

Spaniards, in 1680, began the wise use of water resources of the land now called Texas when they began the first irrigation of crops near what is now El Paso. Indians in the area planned the use of their meager water resources long before the Conquistadores invaded the land and settled there. Planning, development, and use of Texas' waters has continued in some manner to the present.

Development of the State's water resources moved slowly during the '30s and '40s with most of the development being done by cities, river authorities, the Crops of Engineers and the Bureau of Reclamation.

The drought and floods through which Texas passed during 1950-57 gave impetus to planning the conservation and management of Texas' water resources.

The flood waters of the Spring of 1957 had barely receded when the Legislature passed the Water Development Act, establishing the Water Development Board. The people of Texas, recognizing their responsibilities and approved an amendment to the Constitution which provided $200 million to aid political subdivisions of the State to develop, conserve, and manage their water resources.

Since that time, cities and towns, river authorities, and water districts in all sections of Texas have received some $100 million in loans and commitments for the development of their water supply resources. Projects are located from Northeast Texas to the Lower Rio Grande and from the Panhandle to Southeast Texas.

The Texas Water Development Fund and its purposes have had the overwhelming support of Texans. In 1962, the Constitution was again amended and the Water Development Board, in the name of the State of Texas, was authorized to acquire conservation storage space in reservoirs to be constructed on Texas streams. This provided for the optimum development of the limited number of dam and reservoir sites in the State.

Four years later—in 1966—Texans again approved an amendment to the Constitution, this time increasing the $200 million Water Development Fund to $400 million and expanding use of the Fund by the Board to construct any system of works necessary for the filtration, treatment, and transportation of water from storage to points of wholesale purchase and distribution. This new authority assured the State's participation in the full development of its water resources for the benefit of all sections of Texas.

Late in 1957, the Legislature during a called session, passed the Planning Act of 1957, creating the water planning division within the then Board of Water Engineers. This function was transferred to the Water Development Board in 1965 by the Legislature when it charged the Board with the development of a Texas Water Plan for the entire State.

The Board in mid-1966 presented the preliminary Texas Water Plan. After 27 public hearings and a series of public meetings, the Board staff began revision of the Plan to meet objections voiced during the public hearings.

In December 1968, the Texas Water Development Board released the Texas Water Plan, as a flexible guide for the orderly development, conservation, and wise management of the State's water resources to meet the needs of Texas to the year 2020.

The total estimated cost of the Plan based on 1967 construction cost levels is $9 billion. It is estimated that the State's share of financing will be some $3.5 billion.

To provide the State's share of the cost, the 61st Legislature authorized an amendment to the Constitution which would authorize the Water Development Board, upon authorization by two-thirds of the membership of the House and the Senate, to issue $3.5 billion in bonds. These bonds will be issued in increments over a 40 to 50 year period as the need arises and implementation of the Plan progresses.

Officials of the Texas Water Development Board and supporters of the Amendment, Governor Preston Smith's Committee of 500, which includes former Texas governor John Connally, Price Daniel, and Allan Shivers, and Lt. Governor Ben Barnes and Speaker of the House Gus Mutscher, points out that the proposal for the State to provide interim financial assistance to aid development to water supply projects is not a new program, but one that has been effectively used in Texas for a dozen years. It is an expansion of a program that has already been approved three times by the voters of Texas, they explain.

The only difference in Amendment No. 2 and previous amendments is the amount of money and the broader purposes for which the funds can be used.

Heretofore, the Water Development Fund was designed and used to develop the water resources of the State in piecemeal fashion. It is now proposed to achieve full development of our water resources in orderly fashion for the benefit of the State's

Questions and Answers

Q. What is the Texas Water Plan

A. It is a flexible guide to the development, management and use of Texas' water resources and an imported supply to meet the State's water requirements to the year 2020.

Q. Who will benefit from the Plan

A. The people of Texas

Q. Will the Plan provide adequate water for Texas

A. Yes. Estimates indicate that Texas will need 32 million acre feet of water annually by 2020 for cities and towns, for industry, for agriculture, and for all other beneficial uses. The Plan provides for the full development of Texas' water resources and importation from the lower Mississippi River of 12 to 13 million acre feet of water each year to supplement the State's supplies.

Q. What is the cost of the Plan

A. About $9 billion (in 1967 dollars)

Q. What is Texas' share of the costs

A. $3.5 billion

Q. Who will pay the costs

A. Those who use the water

Q. Where will Texas get the money to finance its share of the Plan

A. From the sale of Water Development Fund bonds

Q. Will this be tax money

A. No. Although the investment in the construction of the Texas Water Plan will require support from the general revenue fund of the State for meeting bond obligations during the interim period between development of water supplies and development of local water user capacities. General revenue support will be particularly heavy during the 13 years (1978-1991) when it is estimated that an aggregate amount of $630 million will be required to pay debt service. It must be remembered, however, that the general fund should receive income to repay these advances. Over the life of the Plan, about 50 years, the State will recover all of the expended funds.

Q. Will the bonds be issued at one time

A. No. The bonds will be issued, upon two-thirds approval of the Legislature, over a period of 40 to 50 years.

Q. Is this method of financing water development in Texas a new program

A. No. In 1957, the voters of Texas amended the constitution and established the Texas Water Development Board and the Water Development Fund and authorized $200 million in Water Development Bonds. In 1966, the voters increased the fund to $400 million. Since then, some $100 million has been loaned or committed to political subdivisions of the state for the development of water supply facilities

Q. Is the Fund used to provide gifts or grants

A. No. The funds loaned must be repaid the State with interest.

dwindling water resources and to provide import water from outside of Texas.

The purpose of the Amendment is to provide the State with the financial capability that will be needed to place Texas in a strong position to discuss with the Congress and the federal agencies federal participation in the full development of Texas' water resources and place Texas in a position to have control of the development, management and use of its water resources.

Funds from the sale of bonds will be used to provide the interim financing necessary for payment of $2.3 billion of construction costs of that part of the Texas Water Plan allocated for municipal and industrial water; $600 million would be used for carrying on the present program of the Board which provides financial assistance to political subdivisions of the state for development of their water resources; $65 million would be used by the Board for storage acquisition in reservoirs not associated with the Texas Water System; and $500 million would be earmarked for contingencies.

The Amendment would also remove the present Dec. 31, 1982 cut-off date for the present program of financial assistance by the Board; it would empower the Board to contract with the federal agencies, other states, and foreign governments—such as Canada—for the development of water resources and facilities.

Board officials emphasize that the bonds would not be issued at one time, only in increments as needed over a 40 to 50 year period for implementation of the Plan. The bonds and debt service would be repaid from proceeds of sale of water to users. The Water Plan is based on the concept that all reimbursable costs of water development would be repaid, with interest, by users.

Such financing would require support from the general revenue fund of the state for meeting bond obligations during the interim between development of water supplies and development of local user capabilities.

General revenue fund support will be needed most during the 1978-91 period when it is estimated that the general revenue fund will be called upon to advance an aggregate amount of $630 million to pay debt service.

Beginning in 1992, however, the general fund should receive income to pay future principal and interest costs and start repayment of these advances.

The prestige of the State and its leaders has been placed behind the efforts to provide Texas with a plan—an effective plan—for meeting the State's water requirements into the next century. The decision is now up to the people of Texas.

2020 VISION

FORESIGHT is essential for progress. And a current advertisement of Philco effectively makes that point by saying, "For years, America's been shortsighted about its future water supply. We're helping to give California 2020 vision."

Texans today face the choice between nearsightedness and looking forward to future supplies of the essential element to support people, growing plants and industrial plants—water.

As the advertisement says, "Funny thing about water. There's so much of it around, people have wasted it, polluted it and frittered it away for years. And suddenly, there's water, water everywhere—except where it's needed."

California State Water Project is the subject of that advertisement, and reluctantly Texans must admit that in some ways the Far West has been more foresighted than we have.

But our leaders have come up with a sound, forward-looking Texas Water Plan which is so important for all parts of the state that it has been endorsed by many Texas leaders.

Among those actively engaged in working for the plan to provide water needs in Texas at least until the year 2020 are Gov. Preston Smith, former Governors John Connally, Price Daniel and Allan Shivers, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and Speaker Gus Mutscher of the Texas House. There are many others all over the state who know our region and its needs.

Some conservationists who are concerned about ecological changes of environment have voiced opposition. A few have even intimated that Texas—especially West Texas—should not try to grow in population, agribusiness and industrialization. This, we suggest, is myopic.

The News agrees that wildlife, marine life and other assets should be preserved and is confident that the sound leadership involved in the Texas Water Plan will work toward that end without sacrificing the needs of people.

First essential step toward acquiring 2020 vision is approval of Amendment No. 2 on the ballot in the Aug. 5 election. Texans who will be vacationing then should arrange to vote absentee for Amendment 2; those who will be at home should be sure to go to the polls on Aug. 5. (Dallas News)

Amendment No. 2

Someone has said—facetiously, yet seriously—“there are 11 million reasons to vote for Constitutional Amendment No. 2 on Aug. 5—the People of Texas.

The Amendment, approved overwhelmingly by the 61st Legislature, broadens the powers of the Texas Water Development Board and the purposes of the Water Development Fund; eliminates the interest limitations (4 per cent) on Texas Water Development Bonds; raises the authorized amount of Texas Water Development Bonds by $3.5 billion; extends the maturity schedule on Texas Water Development Bonds from 40 to 50 years; eliminates the Dec. 31, 1982 cutoff date for financial assistance by the Board to political subdivisions for the development and improvement of their water supply systems; and empowers the Board to contract with the federal agencies, other states, foreign governments—such as Canada—and others for the development of water resources and facilities.

Voters of Texas will have their say on the proposed amendment to the Constitution on Aug. 5.

Basically, the proposed Amendment would provide the State of Texas with the capability to finance its share of the cost of the Texas Water Plan, estimated to be (in 1967 dollars) $9 billion. The balance of the costs initially financed by the federal government.

An important aspect of the Texas Water Plan, however, is that the entire projects' cost will ultimately be paid by water users. So the real question is not “Who will pay?” but, rather, “Who will advance the money?”

In this respect the State is performing the function of a banker supplying funds for interim financing. All costs to the State, both principal and interest, will be recovered—although the recovery will be spread over a long period of time.

Before any of the $3.5 billion in bonds could be issued—they will be issued over a period of 40 to 50 years—two-thirds of the Legislature must give approval. The bond funds will not be used for gifts or grants. Funds provided for the development of water resources must—and will—be repaid the State with interest.

Of the State's estimated $3.5 billion share of financing, $2.3 billion is earmarked for development of municipal and industrial water supplies; $65 million is earmarked for the cost of storage acquisition in reservoirs not a part of the Texas Water System; $600 million is set aside for future loan programs of the Texas Water Development Board; and $500 million for contingencies.

Approval of the Amendment on Aug. 5 will give the State the flexibility needed in the full development of the State's water resources for the benefit of the people of Texas.

Water Plans Will Meet State's Needs

Texas is entering a new era in the development of its water resources, an era unequalled in the state's long history.

To meet the water requirements of booming, dynamic Texas and its projected growth of 30.5 million people in the year 2020, the Texas Water Development Board has prepared a $9 billion master plan for the development of Texas water resources.

Highlighted by far-sighted proposals to transport surplus waters from the Mississippi River and moisture-rich east Texas by giant canals to parched west and south Texas and parts of New Mexico, the Plan represents more than a decade of intensive study and an expenditure of about $10 million. Estimated state share of overall project costs (in terms of 1967 dollars) is $3.5 billion. Federal and local funds would pay for the rest.

The Plan provides for the construction of 67 dams and reservoirs and alternates, huge transmission canals and pipelines, pumping stations, and power facilities for the movement of vast quantities of water annually to water-deficient area—about half of Texas—to meet the needs of towns and cities, industries, and agriculture. Other beneficial water requirements will also be met by the Plan.

Three divisions—the Trans-Texas, Coastal, and Eastern—form a dramatic part of the Texas Water Plan.

The Trans-Texas Division will supply municipal, industrial and agricultural requirements in the Northeast Texas basins, the Dallas-Fort Worth area, the North Central sector, the South Plains, Trans Pecos, El Paso, and eastern New Mexico.

A total of 10.3 million acre feet a year will move through the huge system from an Interstate System and from Northeast Texas across the top of Texas holding reservoirs on the Caprock near Lubbock for distribution to the Plains, Trans Pecos, El Paso and Eastern New Mexico. New Mexico will receive 1.5 million acre feet of out-of-state water while 7.5 million acre feet will be allocated to agriculture along the route served by the Canal. Municipal and industrial users will receive 950,000 acre feet of water to satisfy their requirements.

The Coastal Division will supply some 4.5 million acre feet annual water for municipal and industrial uses, for irrigation, the bays and estuaries and for wildlife refuges from the Sabine River to the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Estimated water requirements west and south of the Brazos River, plus inflows into Galveston Bay but excluding Houston and San Antonio requirements, are 1.8 million acre feet for irrigation, 2.5 million additional acre feet for bays and estuaries, 433,000 acre feet for municipal and industrial supplies, and 60,000 acre feet for fish and wildlife.

Water supplies for Houston can be met by several alternatives, including combinations of supply from the Brazos, Trinity, San Jacinto, and Neches river basins, ground water, and water from the Coastal Canal.

Cuero, Cibolo, and Goliad reservoirs, with Cannon reservoir and a pipeline system, part of the Coastal Division, can, through systems operation, supply San Antonio with 220,000 acre feet of water annually to supplement available ground water from the Edwards Aquifer.

The Winter Garden area, southwest of San Antonio, can be served by conveyance of releases out of Amistad Reservoir on the Rio Grande. Water supplied from Amistad to irrigators in these areas will be replaced in the Lower Valley by deliveries through the Coastal Canal.

The Eastern Division of the System includes facilities which will be required to move water imported from out-of-state sources to the Trans-Texas and Coastal divisions.

Subject to the results of feasibility studies, the Board proposes that design and construction begin in the following sequence:

- (1) Storage facilities in South-

AN EDITORIAL: Texas Water Plan a "Must"

— ARLINGTON CITIZEN

TEXANS ON AUGUST 5 will determine the course our state will take into the next century. One course, begun nearly two decades ago and ready for action now, will provide adequate water resources to keep Texas moving ahead with vision and determination. The other leads to stagnation and decline because of an inadequate water supply.

WHAT IS AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO?

Amendment No. 2 authorizes the Texas Water Development Board to issue $3.5 billion in bonds to finance Texas' share of the cost of the Texas Water Plan. This money is not to be used to provide gifts or grants, but will provide temporary financing which will be repaid by water users. The Amendment also removes the 4 per cent ceiling on Water Development Bonds.

WHAT IS THE TEXAS WATER PLAN?

The objective of the Texas Water Plan is to provide adequate water to maintain the growth and prosperity of Texas into the next century when it is estimated that we will have a population of 30.5 million people. The Plan provides for the full development of our water resources and the importation of surplus water from the lower Mississippi River for distribution to areas with declining water resources.

WHO IS TO PAY FOR THE PLAN?

Cost of the $9 billion Texas Water Plan - Texas' share is estimated at $3.5 billion - will be shared by local, state and federal governments, with those who ultimately use the water paying much of the costs of the Plan.

WHY DOES TEXAS NEED A WATER RESOURCE PLAN?

By the end of this century - in just 31 years - Texas will not have enough water to supply its growing cities, its expanding industry, and its irrigated agriculture. To assure an adequate water supply, the state has prepared a plan for the full development, management and use of its water resources - and an imported water supply - to serve Texas to the year 2020 and to assure all Texans water to meet their needs.

WILL THE PLAN PROVIDE ADEQUATE WATER FOR TEXAS?

Yes. With our current major reservoirs (157), the proposed full development of our water resources (67 dams and reservoirs) and an imported supply of water, Texas can meet its water demands to the year 2020.

WHO WILL BENEFIT FROM THE PLAN?

The people of Texas will benefit from the Texas Water Plan. The Plan provides for meeting all essential and beneficial water requirements throughout the state. The Plan will provide water for domestic and municipal uses, for industry, for agriculture, for recreation, for our bays and estuaries, and for other beneficial purposes. The Texas Water Plan will provide Water for Texas!

Look At It With 2020 Vision

Texas Can Rightfully Claim to be 'Land O' Lakes'

Move over, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Texas is hard after your claims to being the "Land O' Lakes."

Texas today has more square miles of inland water than any other state in the Union. And with the mammoth Texas

Water Plan now off the drawing boards and the state policy for the future development of the state's water resources, Texas—particularly East and Southeast Texas—could well become the nation's water wonderland.

The variety of recreation available in Texas is unsurpassed among the 50 states. Whether vacationists and recreationists want only a few hours of fun, a vacation of several weeks, or permanent retirement, they have an almost endless choice in Texas.

Texas today has 157 major reservoirs constructed or under construction. And these lakes offer abundant opportunities for recreation, be it fishing, water skiing, swimming or just plain loafing along their scenic shores. The Texas Water Plan proposes the construction of 67 major dams and reservoirs, or alternates, during the next 50 years or so to provide water needed by the people of Texas for their cities and towns, their industry, and for their agriculture. These reservoirs will also serve other useful and beneficial purposes, including recreation.

And the 35 counties that most of East Texas stand to gain immeasurable benefits from the Texas Water Plan. The Plan proposes the construction of 28 dams and reservoirs in this historic and exciting section of Texas in addition to the other facilities needed to provide water for Texans.

The benefits to East Texas—today and in the future—are staggering. Not only does the Plan provide an assured water supply for East Texas villages, towns and cities; and the industry that abounds throughout the region, it will provide a more viable economic base which will not be limited because of lack of water.

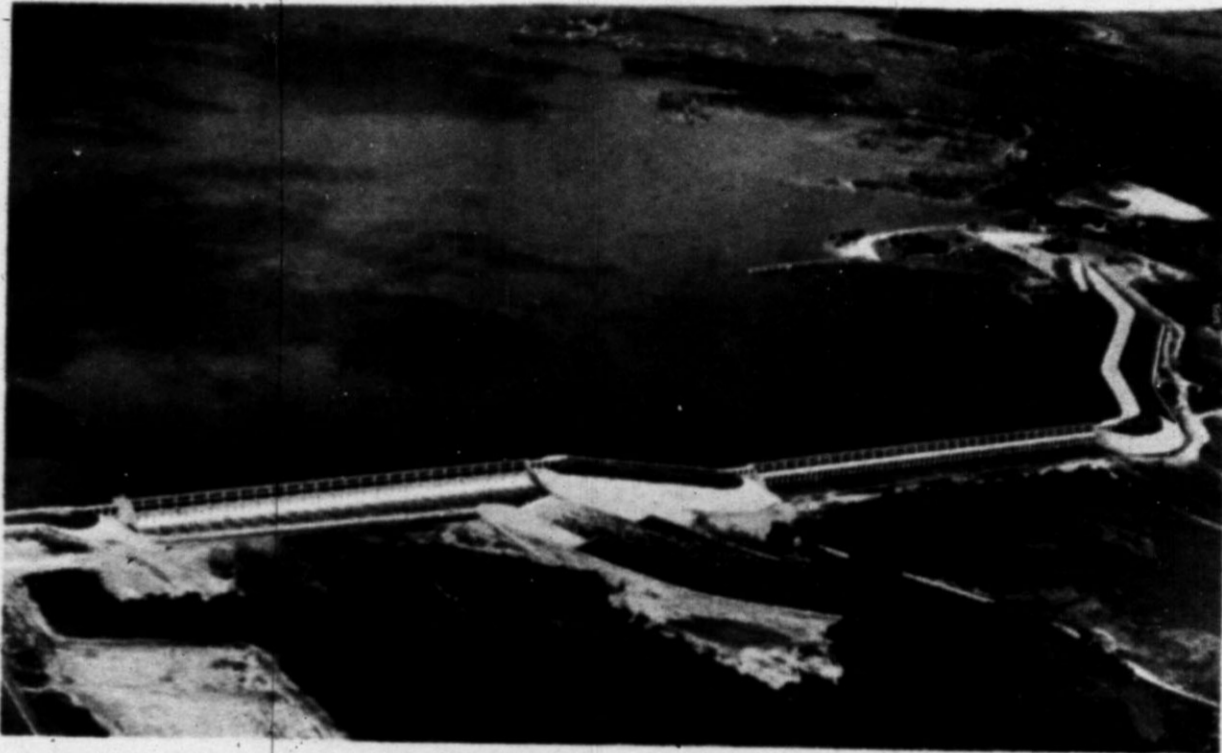

The Texas Water Plan is based on the premise that there will be no interference with vested rights under existing water permits. The basin of origin provisions of the Texas Water Development Act provides for protection of intrabasin needs. There is no comparable protection in federal law or policies nor in other Texas statutes that provide such protection.

Reasonable intrabasin needs for all beneficial purposes developing within the next ensuing 50-year period will have absolute priority of right over exportation for out-of-basin demands except on a temporary interim basis.

Not only will these reservoirs provide an assured water supply for the future, many other economic benefits will accrue to the region.

During construction of the 28 dams and reservoirs and other facilities proposed by the Texas Water Plan in the region, more than $2.2 billion will be expended. This will contribute greatly to the economy of East Texas by providing jobs, demands for services, and sale of supplies by merchants and others in the region.

Recreation benefits to the region are expected to exceed $180 million annually by 2020 after full development of the water resources in East Texas.

west Texas and the Coastal Canal from the Lower Rio Grande Valley, building eastward. The Plan calls for construction of the dams and cannal to begin in 1975, with delivery of interim supplies of water from these projects scheduled in 1980 into the Coastal Canal.

Construction of the Eastern and Trans-Texas divisions, with their reservoirs and transmission facilities, is scheduled to begin in 1977, with first delivery of water in 1985. It is anticipated that construction of the import system will begin in 1980, with delivery of water coming in 1988.

Water available as surplus from the Northeast Texas basins would move westward first, supplying the requirements of the Dallas-Fort Worth complex as needed, and other West Texas requirements.

As facilities from the Mississippi River are completed, additional water to West Texas, plus the 1.5 million acre feet annually for New Mexico, would be moved through the Trans-Texas Division facilities as rapidly as municipal demands increase and as irrigation distribution systems facilities are constructed to serve the land.

When the Coastal Canal is completed east to the Sabine River, Mississippi River water can be brought directly into the Coastal Division to supplement eastern basin water providing 2020 project requirements in the area supplied by the Coastal Division.

Projects proposed by the Plan include dams and reservoirs to meet local water requirements throughout the state and to provide flood control and other benefits to the area and to the state. Navigation, hurricane protection projects, upstream watershed-protection pro-

GOV. PRESTON SMITH

GOV. JOHN B. CONNALLY

GOV. PRICE DANIEL

GOV. ALLAN SHIVERS

Governor, 3 Former Governors Head Blue-Ribbon Panel for Amendment 2

The men who talk Texas, live Texas and epitomize the sterling qualities of Texas leadership are manning the ramparts on behalf of Constitutional Amendment No. 2.

This proposal is expected to reflect the combined influence of the state's finest on election day, August 5. Heading the massive effort to implement the 50-year water program are the four governors whose regimes marked inception of the vast Water Plan and the successive step to make it operational.

In order of service the Chief Executives are Governors Allan Shivers, Price Daniel, John B. Connally and the present Governor, Preston Smith.

Speaking of his predecessors, Governor Smith said,

"I know of none in Texas who have individually or collectively contributed more to the development and conservation of the state's vital water resources than these former governors. Each during his tenure provided the leadership and gave the time and energy to the development of our water resources. Texas has benefitted from their devotion, and future generations of Texas will be the beneficiaries of their vision and leadership."

"The availability of an adequate supply of water has always made the difference between prosperity and want—between plenty and famine. For these reasons, water has played a major role in the Texas story—has been the essential element in placing a State known for wide open spaces in the position of sustaining the Nation's third largest population by 1985; a high rate of growth in business, industry and finance; and the Nation's third largest agricultural industry.

"Our State's growth projections in these areas nearly defy imagination, and yet experts tell us that these projections and future prosperity cannot be realized unless giant steps are taken now to assure Texas' future water resources.

"The Texas Water Plan was developed to make maximum use of the available water in our State and to provide for additional out-of-state water as needed. This work has taken place during all of our administrations as Governor of Texas. The plan comes to its first real public test on August 5 when you, the voters of Texas, are being asked to approve Constitutional Amendment No. 2, which will authorize the Texas Water Development Board to sell up to $3.5 billion in additional bonds over a forty year period, in amounts as needed, and as authorized by a two-third vote of the State Legislature—money that will eventually be repaid by water users.

"We urge you to vote for Constitutional Amendment No. 2 on August 5. It may be the most important vote this generation of Texas will cast."

Chairmen of the Governor's Committee of 500, comprising leaders from all parts of Texas are:

- Attorneys - Joe Kilgore, Austin
- Agri-Business - Harold Hinn, Dallas
- Cities - Steve Matthews, Austin
- Contractors - Jim Richards, Austin
- Coordination - Rep. Bill Clayton, Springlake
- County Officials - W. D. Henson, Dalhart

JULIUS!

READY TO GO, SIR?

YOU KNOCKED YOUR HAT OFF

OOPS! I'M SORRY, SIR

OW!

GOSH! I'M REALLY BUTTERFINGERED TODAY!

I DIDN'T GET MUCH SLEEP LAST NIGHT. MY NERVES ARE SHOT

DO YOU EVER HAVE DAYS WHEN YOU FEEL UNCOORDINATED LIKE THIS, GENERAL?

GENERAL...

WHILE FLASH AND ZARKOV INVESTIGATE A SERIES OF FREAK HAPPENINGS... TO FIND WHAT IS CAUSING THEM...

... SEIZING ANYTHING IN ITS PATH!

ZARKOV!

WHAT ON EARTH IS GOING ON? LOOK OUT THERE... THE PLANTS ARE ALL GROWING WILD!

WATCH OUT...

THESE THINGS ARE ALIVE! I CAN'T TEAR THEM LOOSE!

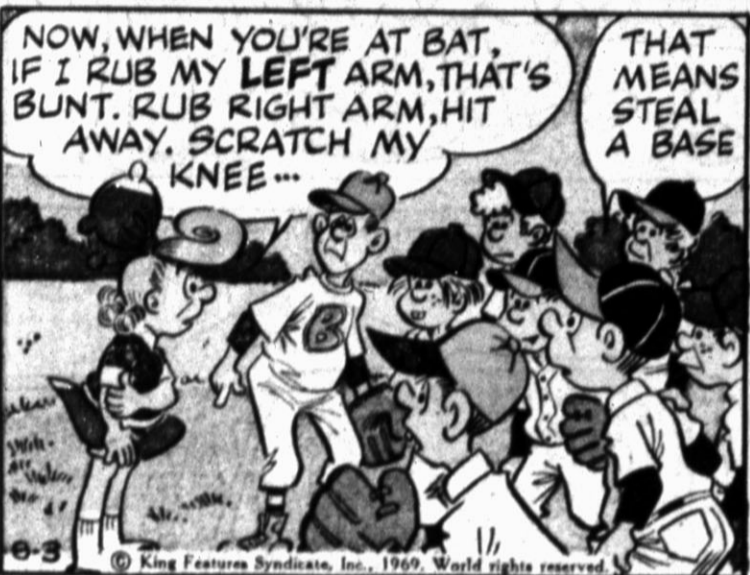

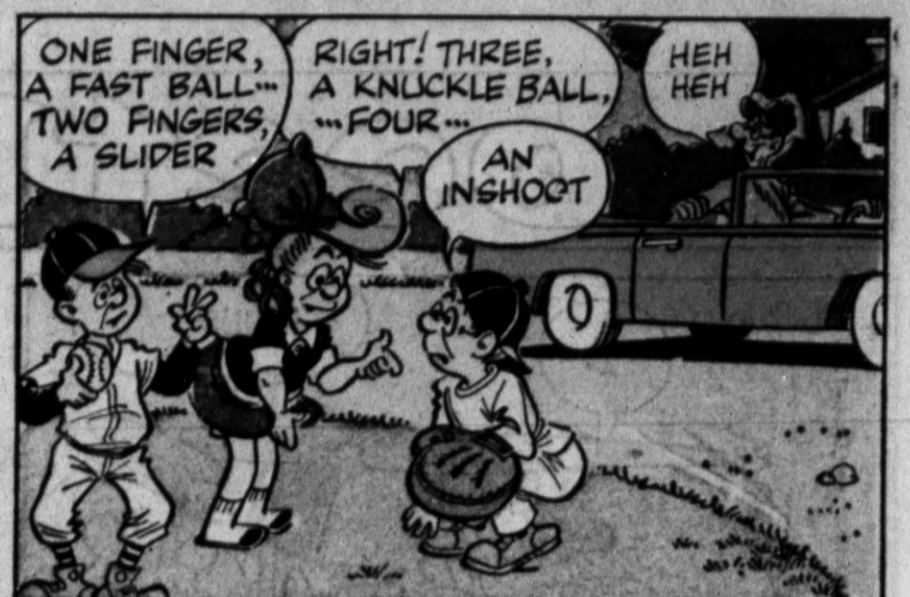

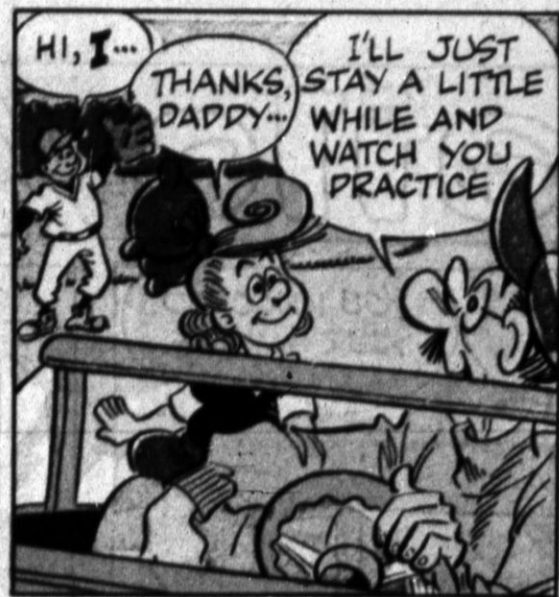

FLASH - STAY BACK! THIS ACID COULD TAKE YOUR SKIN OFF!

WHILE, IN DOWNTOWN CENTRAL CITY... THE DESTRUCTIVE VEGETATION SPREADS.. OUTWARD AND UPWARD! THE CITY IS PARALYZED!

YOU FIGURE THAT MEXICAN GOVERNOR'LL REALLY UP THE ANTE TO TEN GRAND FOR HIS SON'S RETURN, EARL? THAT POSTER PROMISED ONLY ONE THOUSAND!

SEND THE TELEGRAM, I'M SURE HE LIKES THE KID A LOT!

HERE IS THE WATER, AMIGOS!

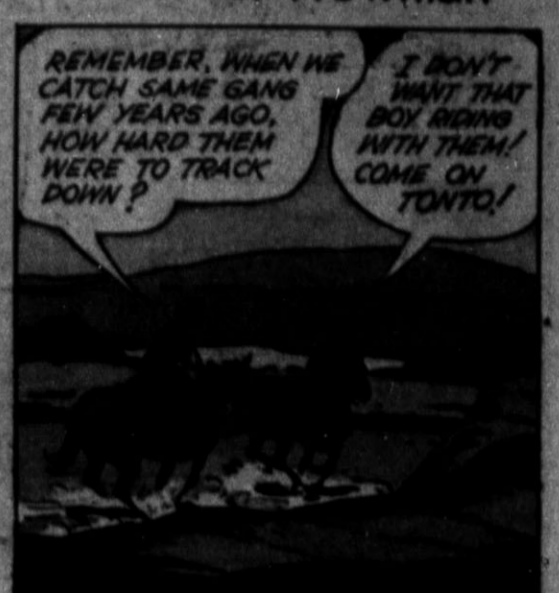

GOOD, PEDRO! YOU WANTED TO RIDE WITH AN OUTLAW GANG AND I FEEL THINGS WILL WORK OUT FINE FOR ALL OF US!

MEANWHILE...

OUTLAWS WHO TAKE PEDRO ENTER STREAM HERE!

THEY'RE COVERING THEIR TRAIL, TONTO. LET'S FIND WHERE THEY RODE OUT OF THE WATER!

REMEMBER, WHEN WE CATCH SAME GANG FEW YEARS AGO, HOW HARD THEM WERE TO TRACK DOWN?

I DON'T WANT THAT BOY RIDING WITH THEM! COME ON, TONTO!

BUT SOON... NO SIGN OF WHERE THEM LEAVE STREAM!

PEDRO'S NEARLY PERFECT ENGLISH SUGGESTS A CULTURED OR WEALTHY FAMILY! HE MAY HAVE LEFT HOME AND I WANT TO FIND HIM BEFORE HE GETS INTO TROUBLE!

ELSEWHERE...

THERE! THAT FEEL OKAY, PEDRO?

SI, SI, EARL! YOU WILL PERMIT ME TO RIDE THIS EXTRA HORSE? BUT WHERE DO WE GO?

TO TOWN, PEDRO! THERE'S A BANK WE WANT TO HIT! I FIGURE YOU CAN HELP US PULL THIS JOB!

ME, AMIGO? BUT NOW?

CONTINUED...

I'M INVITED TO A TV QUIZ SHOW! Oooo! I MUST GET DOLLED UP

GOOD LUCK!

Musical notes in a thought bubble.

WHAT EXCITING EVENT TOOK PLACE TODAY IN HISTORY?

TV QUIZ SHOW.. BE A GOOD SPORT

TODAY I GOT A FACIAL?

WRONG! SO HERE'S YOUR PRIZE!

WHICH FACIAL DID YOU LIKE BEST?

WALT DISNEY'S MICKEY MOUSE

THESE PANCAKES SHOULD BE GOOD! MINNIE GAVE ME HER SPECIAL RECIPE!

AGH! AWFUL! GUESS I DID SOMETHING WRONG!

THEY'RE KINDA RUBBERY!

BING BONG

TAKE THESE OUT AND GET RID OF THEM!

I CAME OVER TO JOIN YOU FOR BREAKFAST!

AFTER GIVING YOU MY PANCAKE RECIPE, I GOT HUNGRY FOR SOME!

UH... YOU'RE TOO LATE!

SEE? THEY'RE ALL GONE!

WELL, I'M GLAD YOU AND MORTY ENJOYED MY RECIPE!

UNCA MICKEY... LOOK!
