NUMBER 15.

WE SHOW 54% OVER OUR QUOTA

The following constitutes a report of Deaf Smith County's Bond purchasers of the Third Liberty Loan issue. The names and the respective amounts purchased by each, toward Deaf Smith County's quota are given, and this publication, together with the folder published by the County Council of Defense of this county will give the total amount of bonds purchased by each individual, toward making this county's quotas, in all three of the Liberty Loan issues.

On reading this list, and the list of the purchasers of first and second Liberty Loans, we find there are still a number of persons in this county who are able to and have not purchased any of the bonds, and we respectfully ask the people to read these lists carefully and assist in insisting on those who are not doing their part to do so in the future and to make such instances so foreful that it cannot be resisted.

A casual glance at these lists is sufficient to convince you that many persons who have bought bonds, have not bought in proportion to their means and ability, and we ask the people of this county to insist on their assistance to the extent of their whole duty.

The quota for Deaf Smith County on the Third Liberty Loan was $112,300.00, and the total subscription is $173,050.00, making an over-subscription of 54 per cent on our quota.

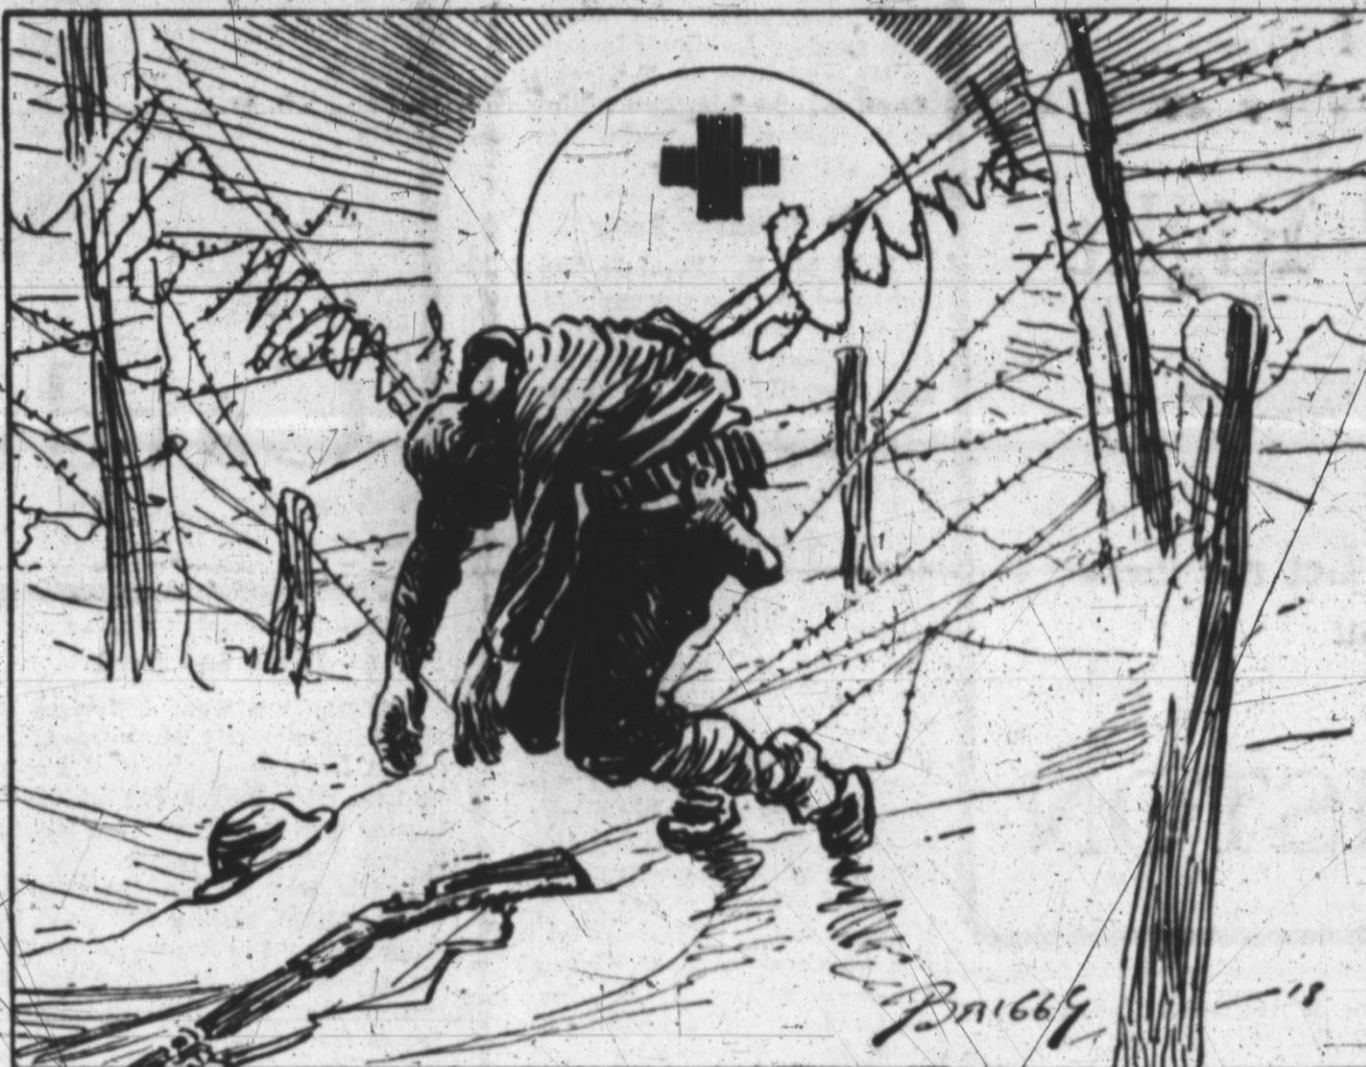

We were, however, about ten thousand dollars behind on our subscription to the first Liberty Loan. This would make an over-subscription for all three loans of $50,750.00, or an average of $16,916.66 over-subscription on each of the three loans. These figures, however, are on the basis of the minimum quotas.

$10,746 FOR RED CROSS, OUR QUOTA

President Wilson, in an official proclamation, has designated the week commencing on Monday, the 20th of May, as official "Red Cross Week." The entire United States is asked to give the sum of one hundred million dollars in these seven days. Deaf Smith county's quota is $10,796.

Henry Wilkinson, chairman for

GO TO CHURCH

Sunday Morning, May 10th

Perhaps you've never gone before, but go this time. Every church in Hereford must be filled. You must help win the war.

RED CROSS COMMITTEE

the county, has his committee organized and is awaiting the bell. Owing to the fact that the Chattanooga comes in at this time also, it is probable that mass meetings will be held after May 21st instead of before that date.

The pastors of the city will be requested to announce the event next Sunday, and every possible step will be taken to insure the success of the week's drive.

It is understood that Castro county has been attached to Deaf Smith for Red Cross purposes. Local Red Cross officials express their gratification at this, as Castro is always on the job, always friends the country over arrived Wednesday morning.

Out-of-town attendants at the home and church services were: Paul W. Bean, of Sherman, a brother of Mrs. Shirley, and Mrs. Bean; Mrs. Elster M. Haile, of Kingman, Kans., a daughter, and Mr. Haile and children; A. L. Shirley of Melissa, a brother of Mr. Shirley; Andrew Shirley, of Anna, a nephew; D. A. Shirley, of Canyon, nephew of Mr. Shirley; Rev. A. L. Clinkinbeard, of Palestine, brother-in-law of Mrs. Shirley; Dan F. Callahan of Wichita, brother-in-law of Mrs. Haile; Mrs. J. F. Haile, of Kingman, Ka., mother-in-law of Mrs. Haile; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bivins, and Mr. and Mrs. Miles Bivins of Amarillo. Mrs. Lee Bivins had been a girlhood playmate of Mrs. Shirley. Rev. Bush, who came all the way from Dallas, has served the Shirley family in his ministerial capacity since Mrs. Shirley was a small girl.

Mrs. Shirley was born March 21, 1863 at Farmington, Grayson county, Texas, of William H. and Harriet J. Bean. She graduated from the Mary Nash College of Sherman, and later took a post graduate course at Hamilton College, Lexington, Ky. She was the eldest of six children, only one of whom survives her—Paul W. Bean of Sherman.

Her marriage occurred on February 12, 1885 at Farmington. Four children were born to this union, Mrs. Elster M. Haile, Kingman, Kas.; Karl T. Shirley who resides near Vega; Miss Harriet, and one child that died in infancy. Mrs. Shirley was a devoted member of the Christian church from infancy.

Pall bearers were: L. Gough, Jno. L. Wilson, C. H. Dyar, F. H. Oberthier, E. E. Ramsey, W. E. Dameron, Will Ricketts, and R. J. Kibbe.

A great outpouring of the citizenship testified to the love, esteem and respect in which the deceased lady was held. For years Mrs. Shirley had been a leader among the Christian women of the county in every phase of religious and civic activity, and her loss will be keenly felt by the entire community.

The sympathy of the community as a whole goes out to the bereaved family.

MRS. T. E. SHIRLEY PARALYSIS LAID TO REST

After struggling over a week against dread paralysis, Mrs. Virginia H. Shirley, wife of T. E. Shirley, succumbed Sunday, May 5th. Mrs. Shirley had been stricken down on the Sabbath preceding, just as she was preparing to leave for church. Every human possibility was exhausted in the effort to save her, without avail.

Friends were received at the home Wednesday morning between the hours of 9 and 12 a. m., and services were held from the Christian church in the afternoon at 2:00 p. m. Rev. A. J. Bush of Dallas, officiating. An entire express car full of magnificent floral offerings from grieved

THIRD MONDAY ALSO FALLS ON MAY 20th

Monday, May 20th, 1918, is not only the opening day of the great Red Cross drive for $10,796 in this county, but it also has the distinction of being the regular THIRD MONDAY Trades Day for May.

The local Trades Day Committee, of which R. T. Evans is chairman, is planning to put the big pot into the little one on this day. Mr. Evans has been absent for some time, but is expected back soon. Announcement of cash and other prizes for this occasion, as well as leaders by the merchants, will be made in next week's issue of The Brand. Watch for it.

HOME GUARD NOW BEING ORGANIZED

Under the provision of a law passed by the last session of the Texas Legislature, any county in Texas can organize what is known as a Home Guard, to be composed of citizens over 21 years of age, subject to orders of the Sheriff in times of trouble, and for whom the County Judge acts as advisor, armorer, etc. This Home Guard may be armed, uniformed and equipped at the expense of the Commissioners' Court, where the Court cares to make such an appropriation.

Hereford already has over 150 prospective Home-Guards. Sheriff Purcell has taken the initiative in the matter and with the result that a great number of the leading citizens of the city have signed the muster roll.

County Engineer Huffman, now in Austin, will look into the State requirements, as seen by the Adjutant General of the State, and what the prospects are for securing guns for training work, etc. County Judge Hughes and every member of the local Court have expressed themselves as favorable to the project, and the results appear to be certain.

With the use of the old National Guard in Europe, Texas counties are stripped of any military protection whatever in case of internal disturbances of any nature, and eruptions from across the border, and Uncle Sam is urging that every county in the State organize its Home Guards and relieve him of such local responsibility during these war times. The physical benefit alone to be derived from active participation in the drilling is a big attraction for most of these who have signed the roster.

More details will be known next week. Those who have authorized their names to the roll to date are:

Guardians of the Nation

IN PEACE and war the Bell telephone girl at the switchboard protects life and property in each community. In danger and disaster, it is her quick response which summons aid and brings order out of chaos.

In the Bell System there are 100,000 operators whose presence at the switchboard adds to the security of the Nation.

More than 12,000 of these faithful operators have been especially trained to meet the requirements of the Government for telephone service.

Like the soldier on guard, the telephone girl is always alert and at her post of duty. Everything is done to make her physically and mentally fit for the splendid service which she renders to the company and to the public.

Lewis Lay Dead

Information was received in Hereford recently of the death of Lewis Lay, formerly well known in this city, and a friend of the family was kindly written the following for The Brand:

Lewis Lay died of pneumonia, on board the ship, a few days out from New York, while making his second trip to France. His remains were shipped to Lorena, Texas for burial.

Lewis was the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Lay. The Lay family were among the early settlers of the Plains, coming to Hereford in 1903. Their many friends all over the Plains country will wish to sympathize with them for the loss of their son who was among the first to answer his country's call and among the first to be taken to his heavenly home.

Lewis was a boy of sterling qualities, one whom his schoolmates admired and respected, one whose memory his teachers recall with affection and appreciation of his abilities and one whom his friends loved.

His friends, his school mates, and his teachers wish to extend their sympathy to the family, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Lay, Miss Beatrice Lay, Arthur and Della Lay.

Many Trained Workers Are Needed by Army and Navy

The civilian branches of the Army and Navy are in need of thousands of highly trained workers, and before the end of 1918 these branches must be increased by at least 20,000, according to the Civil Service Commission.

The Ordnance Department of the Army needs large numbers of mechanical engineers, draftmen, chemists, and metallurgists. Thousands of inspectors are wanted to pass on the quality of ordnance, ammunition, and other supplies. For office work statisticians, accountants, assistants in business administration, and specially trained clerks are needed.

The Quartermaster Corps wants several thousand examiners and inspectors, and passenger and freight clerks are needed. The Signal Corps is short of draftmen.

The Navy has an unlimited number of places for draftmen, and along list of positions for technical workers. Practically all branches of the service need stenographers, typists, bookkeepers, and clerks.

Men who are chained down by sickness and despair dreamingly look on, helpless—unable to start a thing. They waste away their days feeling they are a burden on the world.

There is relief for you, men! If you want to rejuvenate your whole body and feel good, take our tip and go to a live druggist and buy a bottle of Pep Systemic Pills.

NEW TRACTOR AGENCY HERE

McDonald and Wilkinson
Take on Line of Avery
Tractors

Homer Wilkinson and D. L. McDonald have just closed a deal with the Avery Company of Texas for a line of Avery tractors and power farming machinery. The line consists of six sizes of tractors, a size for any size farm, also seven sizes of grain threshers as well as the Avery motor cultivator and planter.

Messrs. Wilkinson and McDonald say the outlook for great tractor sales is very encouraging. Several have been sold to Deaf Smith county farmers who are using them successfully. In these days of war and scarcity of labor the tractor is positively making good.

Tractors, on account of the great demand, are demanding premiums all over the country—it is almost impossible to get them. By taking up a contract which was made with a dealer in the dry section of Texas these gentlemen are able to make prompt deliveries. A car load is on the way now, and will reach Hereford in a few days. The business will be transacted from the Ford Garage where Mr. Wilkinson can be found at all times.

WOULD NOT SELL SOW

The County Court has refused an offer of $175 for the sow purchased for them last season at $75.00, says County Agent Sherrill of Williamson County. This sow has produced a litter of pigs which sold for $150.

At the Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth an offer of $300 was refused for a bred gilt which I brought to this county with a car load from Kansas, and which were distributed among the club boys at $25 each. The above offer was made within eight months after the boy made the purchase.

These facts are only a few among many illustrating the possibilities of pig club work under the supervision of a wide-awake County Demonstration Agent.

SAVED THE COUNTY $5860.00

County Agent R. O. Tackett, of Lubbock County reports to the Extension Service of the A. and M. College, that during the past winter he purchased for the farmers of Lubbock county, 30 car loads of alfalfa hay at an average saving to the farmers of $112.00 a car, and over five hundred tons of cottonseed meal and cake at a saving of $5.00 a ton. This makes a total saving to the farmers of Lubbock County of $5,860.00. In other words, the efforts of Mr. Tackett in these two instances saved sufficient money to pay his salary for more than three years, and furnishes tangible proof of the value and efficiency of the County Agent. However, this work is only a small part of the results accomplished by Mr. Tackett, as he is forgoing to the front in all demonstration activities, and could a tabulated statement be made of the actual savings to the county through demonstration methods, the total would indeed prove interesting.

STAKED ALL UPON FOOD AND FEED

Geo. P. McClellan, County Agent in Atascosa County reports to the Extension service, A. and M. College of Texas, the case of several farmers who have made failures during the past 2 years, owing to the fact that this county suffered severely from the drought but are now staking their all upon the production of a food and feed crop as a matter of patriotism. He reports that these men are spending the last dollar which they can raise for seed and help, feeling that it would be traitorous not to plant food and feed stuffs, and do the best possible for the country at this time.

The patriots in revolutionary days were made of such material as that illustrated by the patriotism of the farmers referred to, and such a spirit can know no defeat, but will struggle and suffer fight until Kaiserism is forever banished from the face of the earth.

Statements to the effect that certain breeds of rabbits produce pelts of high market value are unwarranted. Raising rabbits for the fur alone would be unprofitable with any known breed, specialists say.

A. C. THOMPSON
AGENT

You know, of course, that the Maxwell Motor Car is the long distance champion of the world.

You have read that a "stock" Maxwell 5-passenger car ran for 44 days and nights without stopping the motor.

And that, in the 44 days non-stop test, the Maxwell covered 22,022 miles, at an average speed of 25 miles per hour.

But have you, up to now, realized the full significance of that performance?

Do you know that no other motor car in the world has ever equalled or even approached that performance?

In a word, did you take this test seriously when you heard of it?

Or did you set it down as a "selling stunt" to give the publicity man something to talk about?

It's worth your while to read and to study the conditions under which that test was made.

You know that the American Automobile Association (familiarly known as the "A. A. A.") is the official arbiter of every automobile test and contest.

But perhaps you didn't know that when a maker places his product under A. A. A. supervision he must do absolutely as told and abide by the decisions of the Board.

That's why there are so few A. A. A. Official Records!

This 22,000-mile Maxwell non-stop test was official from start to finish.

Therein lies its value to you.

It proves absolutely the quality of the car—of the very Maxwell you buy.

For verily this was a "stock" Maxwell. Listen:—

First: the inspectors disassembled the motor to see that no special pistons, valves, bearing metal or other parts had been used.

Every other unit was as critically inspected. Then the car was re-assembled under their own supervision.

As we had much at stake and the test was made in winter (November 23 to January 5) we asked permission to take certain little precautions against accidental stoppage.

Sounds reasonable, doesn't it?

But they refused permission to do any such thing.

For example:—They would not permit a rubber cover over the magneto—it wasn't "stock."

They refused to let us tape the ignition wire terminals—they are not taped on the Maxwells we sell—so of course it wasn't "stock."

Neither would they let us use a spiral coiled pipe in place of the usual straight one from tank to carburetor to guard against a breakage from the constant, unremitting vibration—it isn't "stock."

Nor to use a special high priced foreign make of spark plug—the run was made on the same spark plugs with which all Maxwells are equipped.

So rigid were the rules, we were unable to carry a spare tire on the rear—it wasn't "stock." A telegram to headquarters in New York finally brought a special permit to carry a spare tire.

"It isn't stock!" "It isn't stock!"

That was the laconic reply of those A. A. A. inspectors to every last suggestion that called for anything but the precise condition of the standard, stock model Maxwell that any customer can buy from any one of 3000 dealers anywhere.

We are glad now—mighty glad—that the rules were so strict and so rigidly enforced.

Any other car that ever attempts to equal that record must do it under official supervision—and comply with the same terms.

And it will have to go some.

For Maxwell set the standard when it performed this wonderful feat.

Maxwell complied with those rules—and made good.

Every drop of gasoline and oil and water was measured out and poured in by the inspectors themselves. They would not even let our man pour it in!

Every four hours the car had to report at the official station for checking.

And it had to be there on the minute.

And every minute there was an inspector beside the driver on the front seat—two more men in the rear. One got out only to let another in—day and night for 44 days and nights!

There was one technical stop.

It is interesting to know the circumstances.

Dead of night—a driving storm—a cloudburst—suddenly another car appeared in the road ahead.

In his effort to avoid a collision the Maxwell driver stalled his motor.

At least the observers thought it stopped and so reported.

The car did not stop, however, so its momentum again started the motor (if it had indeed stalled) when the clutch was let in.

The contest board exonerated our driver on grounds that his action was necessary to save life.

That shows you how rigid were the rules—how conscientiously applied by the observers.

You who have owned and driven motor cars—you who know how small a thing may clog a carburetor or a feed pipe; "short" a spark or stall a motor—will realize what a wonderfully well made car this must be to go through that test under those conditions—44 days—22,022 miles without stopping.

The exact amount of gasoline, of oil, of water used; the tire mileage, tire troubles, tire changes; the distance and the routes are matters of official record, attested under oath and guaranteed by the A. A. A.

(By the way, the average was nearly 10,000 miles per tire.)

Any Maxwell owner—or anyone interested may see those records.

And—here's the most wonderful part—though no attempt was or could be made for economy; the Maxwell averaged 22 miles per gallon of gasoline.

Some other car may, some time, equal some one of those performances. But to equal them all in the same test—that car must be a Maxwell.

THERE SHOULD BE special efforts in every community of the country this season looking to closer co-operation in the drive for food production. American farmers, live stock breeders and truckers should abandon the old hit-or-miss custom of operating every man for himself, get together, discuss the question of production with intelligence, and all pull together for a common object. The needs of the community should be developed and provided for. Where it is clearly seen that any particular crop must be increased or resort to shipping in from other points, this crop should be promptly speeded up. This is imperative if we are to comply with the government's request to draw as lightly as possible on transportation facilities. The government has urgent need for every available freight car in the country. If the farmers of the various communities can provide for the various needs of their respective centers, this will help greatly in releasing cars for government needs. Each community should also develop a fairly accurate estimate of the probable amount of any supplies it will have for export. The communities that attend to these matters will be the wide-awake centers, and will profit largely by their care.

HAPPY HOOLIGAN is in China, and it is a great pity he couldn't have taken his brother, Gloomy Gus, with him. But he left him on this side and we are still afflicted with him. We meet him on every corner. He is in evidence wherever men foregather, and his pessimistic forebodings are as a wet blanket on the brightest enthusiasm. He just knows we will soon be fighting the Huns from our shores. He can see no cause for satisfaction in the magnificent stand of the Allies in Flanders, but sees the German hordes already pouring over fair France. He bemoans the slowness of this country, but it is noticeable that he has done nothing to speed up operations, not even to the purchasing of a thrift stamp. He is a veritable rain crow, and as it is not permissible to kill him, he should be caged.

MOTHER'S DAY

I AM longing today for a whiff of perfume
From the old-fashioned roses and posies in bloom,
For the lilacs and pinks and the posies that grow
In the garden of Memory, row upon row—
For the hum of the bees and the wind in the trees,
And the old-fashioned pleasures of life, if you please.

For the old-fashioned pleasures I knew long ago,
E'er the callous had grown on the soul of me so,
And the bridge of my nose was a freckled brown span
Reaching down to the wrinkles where laughter began;
When my mirth was as true as the sun on the dew—
Oh, I long for the old-fashioned pleasures, don't you!

And I long for the patter of old-fashioned rain,
And the old-fashioned turn of an old-fashioned lane;
For the lilt of a laugh that was mine, long ago,
E'er the years had come over the heart of me so,
And the shower and shine of the morning were mine
With the truant ways, tangled with bramble and vine.

And I sit in the haze of my dreaming and long
For the old-fashioned smile and the old-fashioned song
Of the old-fashioned mother who tended, you know,
To the old-fashioned posies that grew long ago,
And my dreamings entwine like a tangle of vine
With the love of that wee little mother of mine!

A LITTLE PERSONAL HISTORY

There was once upon a time a horticulturist who married a young lady school teacher. This school teacher was broad minded but her duties prevented her from knowing all the great advantages that are derived from a life upon a farm.

Last year this horticulturist took his wife with him to attend the Farmers Congress just in order to give her a vacation and the pleasure of the trip, which in itself is a good motive and proper. But he did not realize that so much good would be done.

This wife attended one of the poultry lectures, got interested, met the leading poultry people of the State. From the knowledge and interest gained there, she kept on reading about poultry. As a result she now has started a little business of her own and so far is successful besides getting a great deal of pleasure out of it. The net result is that one more person has been added to assist the great problem of food production of the country.

In addition to getting interested in poultry, she learned much from attending the lectures provided, especially upon the topic of preventing poor health by attending the lectures of Dr. Covington. Then her acquaintance has been broadened from a local neighborhood one, to that of a Statewide one, and each State wide person represents the better talent of their own local communities.

This wife is going again this summer, this time not just for the mere trip, but to broaden her field of knowledge and also to find out more details about the matter she is interested in. Then it will be a pleasurable and profitable one, and not an expensive and idle one.

So you men who have not taken your wives before, be sure to take her this time. You will find it worth while. And you men who have never gone before, go this year and start right by taking your wife.

The Texas Farmers Congress will hold its 21st annual session at College Station on July 29th, 30th, and 31st, to which one and all are invited and urged to attend and especially those persons who are interested in agriculture. Take a lesson from the young lady school teacher who married the horticulturist and you will gain many valuable things from the Congress while enjoying a pleasant outing at the same time.

PINTO BEANS

Good money can be made in growing pinto beans at eight cents a pound, in this locality, according to a bulletin received at the local Santa Fe office from H. M. Bainer, who, as the railway company's agricultural and industrial agent, is a special representative of the United States food administration.

"While there is no assurance that this price, fixed by the food administration for the 1917 crop, will be paid for the 1918 crop, the newly created demand for pinto justifies heavier production of them," Mr. Bainer said.

"The food administration," Mr. Bainer continued, "has made a market for every pound of available pinto beans. In fact, the supply of all kinds of beans will be exhausted before another crop matures. For a time it looked as if a considerable surplus of the enormous crop of 1917 would be carried over for 1918, but the increasing needs of our people, as well as the needs of the allied armies and navies, will require all of them.

"The white, or navy, beans of Michigan and New York, the largest bean states in the Union, were badly damaged last fall by unfavorable weather conditions, making many of them unfit for shipment. In fact, the bad weather conditions of the past three harvesting seasons in these two

May 20th is the opening day of the great Red Cross Drive for One Million Dollars—to be used for the physical and mental comfort of Our Sammies Abroad.

There is not the slightest doubt in our minds as to what the loyal citizenship of this section will do about raising their quota—that's certain.

But we all forget, at times. This is just a neighborly reminder of the date.

SOCIETY AND CLUBS

MISS JUANITA CAYLOR, Phone 39 or 154.

On Wednesday afternoon, April 29, about 30 Methodist ladies met at the home of Mrs. Clarence Smith for the "May social" meeting.

Methodist Missionary Society. We were glad to enroll Mesdames C. A. Skelton, J. Walter Spradley, Jordan, and Oliver Fox, as members of our Society.

Plans are being made for a "Miscellaneous Sale" or a "Sacrifice Sale" which Mrs. George Brockbahn will have in charge, and of which a more detailed account will be given elsewhere in this paper.

For our Study lesson next week we will meet on Tuesday, May 14, at 4 o'clock at the church, instead of the usual time on Wednesday.

A special Tribute was then made to the "Mothers of the Missionary Society" by Mrs. Oscar Cardwell at the close of which three little girls, Gwendolyn Price, Mattie Lou Harrison and Frances Potts (dressed all in white), presented Mother Turrentine, Mother Betts, Mother Jacobs and Mother Terry each with a bouquet of White Carnations.

Reading: "To Mother"—Mrs. Eesa Harrison.

Solo: "Beautiful Beckoning Hands"—Mrs. Ralph Smith. A musical contest was next in order and after each lady was provided with pencil and paper Mrs. Jesse Stanford played the opening measure of ten old familiar hymns and the ladies were asked to guess the names of the hymns. Mrs. G. A. F. Parker making highest score.

Reading—Mrs. R. H. Lamb.

Mrs. D. W. Hawkins then gave a humorous reading in which she personified "Aunt Prue", which made a fitting close for the program which was planned in honor of Mothers' Day, and more especially for the Mothers of the Burns-Scott Mr. Burns and Miss Hallie Scott were united in marriage on April 22nd, 1918, at the Methodist parsonage, by Rev. Terry. Mr. Burns is a well known ranchman of Wildorado, Texas. Miss Scott has been teaching school in Wildorado the past term. Both are favorites among the young people of their community. Their Herford acquaintances wish them a most happy and prosperous future.

The Bay View Club enjoyed a very interesting meeting with Mrs. F. T. Bolson, Thursday afternoon, May 2nd.

Mrs. Chas. Donald gave an interesting discussion of "The Ballad", depicting the origin, development, and present achievement. Branching from that into the development of song.

Mrs. Stubbs gave in completion, "The advance of vocal art in America."

During the social hour delicious war-salad and iced tea were served.

The U. D. C.'s met on May 3rd with Mesdames Gabbart, Gibson and Gilliland as hostesses.

The program proved to be very interesting. The French Revolution was discussed by Mrs. Walter Dunlap. The German revolution by Mrs. Tynes. The Poland wars, by Mrs. Huffman. Victrola music made the meeting very pleasant, and at the close of the meeting a salad course was served.

The next meeting will be held with Mesdames McQueen, Chenoweth and Huffman as hostesses, at the home of Mrs. McQueen, on the 7th of June.

MISS O'MAHONEY WEDS RANCHMAN

Details have just reached Herford of the marriage of Miss Julia O'Mahoney, formerly a popular trained nurse of this city, and sister of Mrs. Walter Lupton. Miss O'Mahoney was married in San Diego, Calif., April 28th, to W. H. Harner, formerly a ranchman of North Dakota, but now retired. The ceremony occurred in St. John's church at San Diego, Rev. Father King officiating. The church was decorated in Smilax and Easter Lilies. The bride was dressed in a tan traveling costume. Only a few invited friends were present. The parents of the bride gave her away. Following the ceremony the bridal party departed for a trip through the Yosemite Valley, Yellowstone Park, etc.

STAR THEATRE

Mary Warren, the heroine in the massive Triangle production, "The Sea Panther," in which William Desmond is featured, has done the finest work of her career as Molly Tarpley, who falls captive to a pirate band. Amid the barbaric splendor of "The Sea Panther's" home, whither she is taken as a prisoner, she has an opportunity to display a wonderful assortment of raiment such as princesses of three centuries ago wore to set off their regal charms. "The Sea Panther" will be shown at the Star Theatre Monday, May 13th. J. Frank Glendon, favorite of screen fans through his splendid work in O. Henry pictures, adds to his reputation in "The Wooing of Princess Pat," the Blue Ribbon Feature, which will be the attraction in the Star Theatre on Thursday night, May 16.

Mr. Glendon is a Westerner, born and educated in Montana, coming in photoplay after nine years of success on the speaking stage. He has played featured roles in nearly every picture company of importance since settling down in New York City.

Gladys Leslie, the girl with the "million dollar smile," is the princess in the picture who marries a grand duke she never has met, to save her father's kingdom from hopeless war. Mr. Glendon is the duke, who finally awakens the love of the unhappy child of royalty.

Others in the cast are Bigelow Cooper, William Dunn, Charles Kent, Carleton King, Templer Saxe and J. Albert Hall.

A Big Sale Starts at Wilson's Furniture Store Friday, May 10

Lasts 20 Days

I find after moving into my New Building I still have more goods than I have room to show conveniently. For this reason only I am going to sell goods at a price that will move them.

I am happy to say to the trade, I have been in the Furniture Business just about one year now, and have sold about three times as many goods as I anticipated before opening up the New Furniture Store. There is a reason for this and I attribute same to the fact that while all merchandise was advancing in price I was and am still holding down high prices, and if you will come to my store these 20 days of furniture selling you will never regret it. Come and get a souvenir, one for every one in Deaf Smith Co.

Food Administration Further Limits Use of Wheat Flour

Under the new baking rules issued by the Food Administration, the substitute for wheat-flour content of all bread and rolls must amount to 25 per cent. The substitute content hereafter required in various products follows:
Sweet yeast dough goods, 33 1-3 per cent; crackers, 15 per cent; cookies and ice-cream cones, 33 1-3 per cent; cakes, 33 1-3 per cent; pies, 33 1-3 per cent; fried cakes, 33 1-3 per cent; pastry, 33 1-3 per cent; batter cakes, waffles, quickbreads, such as muffins and Boston brown bread, 66 2-3 per cent.

Under the new rules no public eating place may serve more than 2 ounces of bread and rolls or more than 4 ounces of quick bread to any one person at any one meal.

With customers who buy loaf bread, bakers are urged to promote the use of the three-quarter pound loaf, following the Food Administrator's request that the 12-ounce loaf be used where the 16-ounce loaf was used before.

Bakers are urged to introduce "quick breads" as a wheat-saving measure. These quick breads, including muffins, baking powder biscuits, corn bread, Boston-brown bread, griddle cakes, and waffles, must contain two-thirds wheat flour substitutes.

University Expenditures

Figures obtained from the biennial reports of the Board of Regents of the University of Texas and from the books of the State Comptroller's office show that the total expenditures of the University for its entire period of existence, up to the session of 1916-17 were $7,162,922.67, or an average cost per long session student of $197.28. During the period there a total of 36,307 long session students. These figures do not include expenditures for buildings, summer schools, the Department of Extension, and the Bureau of Economic Geology and Technology.

The total expenditures for the period of 1893 to 1917 for the medical department were $1,475,625.58; number of long session students, 5,737; average cost per student, $257.21.

Including the cost of buildings and the expenditures for summer schools, the Department of Extension, and the Bureau of Economic Geology and Technology—that is, including all University expenditures of whatever kind, the average cost per long session student for the life of the University is as follows: Main University, $234.36; Medical Department, $296.82; whole University, $244.22.

UGH, CALOMEL MAKES YOU DEATHLY SICK

Stop using dangerous drug before it salivates you! It's horrible! You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless vegetable Dodson's Liver Tonic tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless, so give it to the children any time. It can't salivate, so let them eat anything afterwards.

They're Deadly Foes to Gas Waste—the Chalmers Hot Spot and Ram's-Horn Manifold

These are days when the sagacious person is cutting out all forms of waste in his shop and in his home.

No doubt a condition that has sent thousands to see the new Chalmers with its two great devices that Hooverize gas.

One of them is the now noted Hot Spot, which cracks up and heats up the raw gas into a cooked condition for wonderful power results.

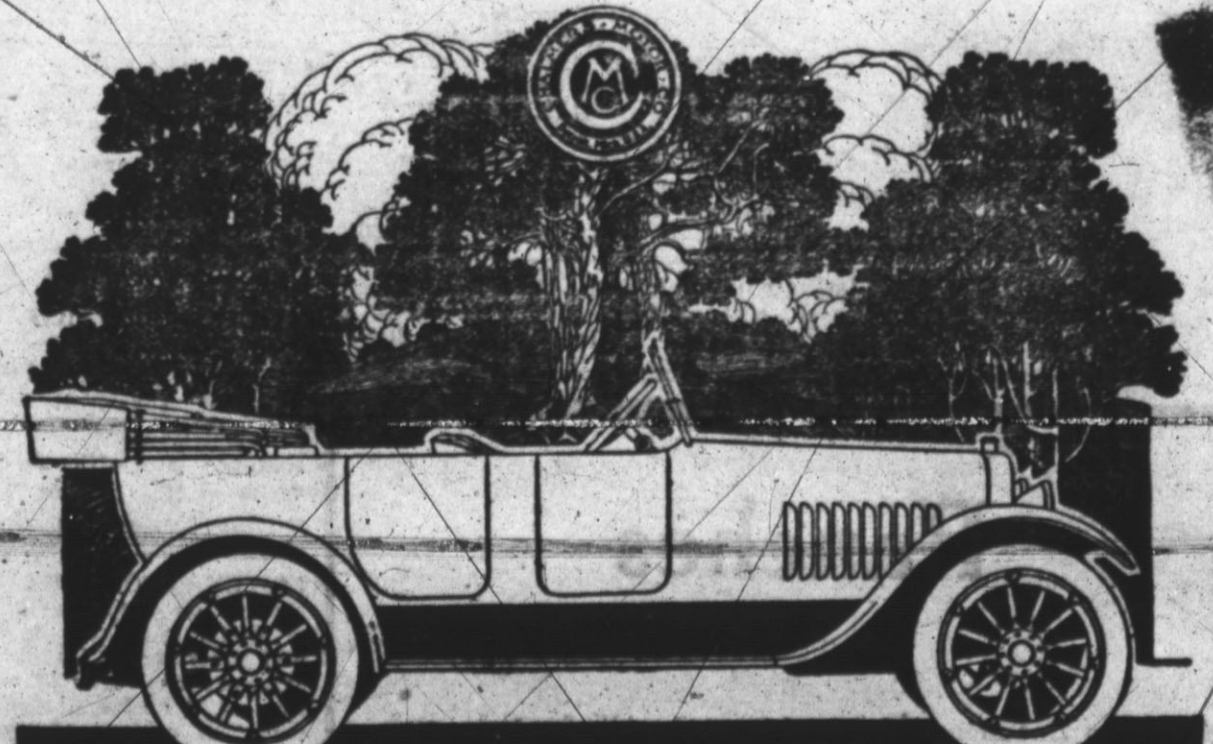

The other is the Ram's-Horn Manifold, which of the two is probably an even greater device.

For it takes the gas vapor from the Hot Spot and carries it 14 inches equi-distant to each cylinder without sharp turns, angles or pockets where the vapor might lodge.

So that at the moment of sparking, the gas is (like the charge in a large projectile) ready for 100% results.

There's so little that comes out of the exhaust in the form of unburned gas as to be negligible.

All the power goes into the crank-shaft and out of the rear wheels. And such a soft, luring power that it casts a spell of intense satisfaction the moment your foot touches the accelerator.

Enlisting Feb. 27, 1915, at Fort Slocum, he served for a time with the Engineers, then with the Motor Truck Group No. 1 that went with Pershing into Mexico. On his return to Fort Sam Houston he entered the government school for chauffeurs and mechanics and was afterwards selected by Major General Henry T. Allen as his private chauffeur. His appointment as second lieutenant, came as a surprise to young Campbell. He is now at Camp Colt, Gettysburg, Pa., at a training school for officers assigned to the tank service.

Camp Travis is to have a baseball league "by command of Major General Allen". So far as that goes, pretty nearly everything is by command of somebody at Camp Travis, but it doesn't take much disciplinary action to encourage the men to get into baseball. They take to it without any urging at all. But the powers that be have found that a good baseball men makes a good soldier, or at least a better soldier than a man who never played. So each battalion is to hold a series of games to decide the champion team; battallion champions are to contest within the regiment to decide the regimental winners; and then regimental teams are to fight it out for the honors of the division. Regulations have been issued for the selection of umpires, deciding of protested games, recording of scores. The Officers and men not on actual duty are expected and requested to attend the games whenever their teams play, as a failure to do so shows lack of "esprit de corps" essential for military efficiency," says the order from Division Headquarters. Well they are there when the game is pulled off—anybody who isn't absolutely deaf could tell that from a distance of a quarter of a mile. As for rooting these soldiers can put to shame any college that ever was. They have developed the capacities of the human vocal cords to an amazing state of effectiveness.

John H. Williams of Hereford, a private of Ambulance Co. 358, Camp Travis, was given a ten days' furlough to attend to business matters in Hereford.
A. T. Frye, who returned a few days ago from a visit home, received a telegram Monday, April 22, that his mother was dead. He got a five days' furlough to attend the funeral. He certainly has the sympathy of all the boys, as he is always where he belongs, whether it is at work or at play.
Corporal James LeGrand of Supply Co. 343, F. A., Camp Travis, formerly of Hereford, made a trip to Oklahoma this week on Government business. The only school of its kind in the entire world, located just inside the grounds of Camp Travis, was dedicated recently. It is the Southern Department Training School for War Work of the Army YMCA and is operated exclusively for the training of Y. M. C. A. secretaries for war work in the United States and on the battle fields of Europe. It expects to turn out one hundred graduate secretaries per month, the course of instruction embracing every phase of "Y" secretary activities. A. B. Nicholls, for ten years connected with the Boston City Y. M. C. A., which has a membership of 8,000 is dean of the new school. The first term began April 8, with fifty-three students enrolled, and ended April 29. The school will continue in operation until the end of the war, as the demand for Y. M. C. A. secretaries in this country and abroad is steadily increasing. Only men over draft age, or those within the draft age who are physically disqualified from army service, will be employed in the future, and hence men of character and standing in their respective communities who can qualify have a most excellent chance for this branch of work.

He used to be a chauffeur for the commanding general of the 90th Division, but now he has a huge war tank to drive and a gold black hat to wear on his hat. The promotion of this enlisted man to the rank of a commissioned officer is merely what is going on throughout the army, for if anything comes by merit it's advancement in the National Army. Sergeant Roy C. Campbell, as he used to call himself, has had several years service in the army, is the patriotic play to be presented by the children this season. The play is patriotic, helpful and interesting. The pretty play shows how Many Penny, Wasteful Winnie, heedless and careless, are carried off by the Robbers. They escape and tell Uncle Sam of the Robber's Cave. Uncle Sam, aided by Conservation Carrie, Red Cross, Thrift, Stamp and others, make a raid and the story of course, ends in a manner which will please all true Americans.

"LIBERTY'S TORCH"

CHAPTER XV.

Listening Post.

It was six in the morning when we arrived at our rest billets, and we were allowed to sleep until noon; that is, if we wanted to go without our breakfast. For sixteen days we remained in rest billets, digging roads, drilling, and other fatigues, and then back into the front-line trench.

Nothing happened that night, but the next afternoon I found out that a bomber is general utility man in a section.

About five o'clock in the afternoon our lieutenant came down the trench and stopping in front of a bunch of us on the fire step, with a broad grin on his face, asked:

"Who is going to volunteer for listening post tonight? I need two men."

It is needless to say no one volunteered, because it is anything but a cushy job. I began to feel uncomfortable as I knew it was getting around for my turn. Sure enough, with another grin, he said:

"Empey, you and Wheeler are due, so come down into my dugout for instructions at six o'clock."

Just as he left and was going around a traverse, Fritz turned loose with a machine gun and the bullets ripped the sandbags right over his head. It gave me great pleasure to see him duck against the parapet. He was getting a taste of what we would get later out in front.

Then, of course, it began to rain. I knew it was the forerunner of a miserable night for us. Every time I had to go out in front, it just naturally rained. Old Jupiter Pluvius must have had it in for me.

At six we reported for instructions. They were simple and easy. All we had to do was to crawl out into No Man's Land, lie on our bellies with our ears to the ground and listen for the tap, tap of the German engineers or sappers who might be tunneling under No Man's Land to establish a mine-head beneath our trench.

Of course, in our orders we were told not to be captured by German patrols or reconnoitering parties. Lots of breath is wasted on the western front giving silly cautions.

As soon as it was dark, Wheeler and I crawled to our post which was about halfway between the lines. It was raining bucketfuls, the ground was a sea of sticky mud and clung to us like glue.

We took turns in listening with our ears to the ground. I would listen for twenty minutes while Wheeler would be on the qui vive for German patrols.

We each wore a wristwatch, and believe me, neither one of us did over twenty minutes. The rain soaked us to the skin and our ears were full of mud.

Every few minutes a bullet would crack overhead or a machine gun would traverse back and forth.

Then all firing suddenly ceased. I whispered to Wheeler, "Keep your eye skinned, mate; most likely Fritz has a patrol out—that's why the Boches have stopped firing."

We were each armed with a rifle and bayonet and three Mills bombs to be used for defense only.

I had my ear to the ground. All of a sudden I heard faint, dull thuds. In a low but excited voice I whispered to Wheeler, "I think they are mining, listen."

He put his ear to the ground and in an unsteady voice spoke into my ear:

"Yank, that's a patrol and it's heading our way. For God's sake keep still."

I was as still as a mouse and was scared stiff.

Hardly breathing and with eyes trying to pierce the inky blackness, we waited. I would have given a thousand pounds to have been safely in my dugout.

Then we plainly heard footsteps and our hearts stood still.

A dark form suddenly loomed up in front of me; it looked as big as the Woolworth building. I could hear the blood rushing through my veins and it sounded as loud as Niagara falls.

Forms seemed to emerge from the darkness. There were seven of them in all. I tried to wish them away. I never wished harder in my life. They muttered a few words in German and melted into the blackness. I didn't stop wishing either.

All of a sudden we heard a stumble, a muddy splash, and a muttered "Donner and Hellman." One of the Boches had tumbled into a shell hole. Neither of us laughed. At that time—it didn't strike us as funny.

About twenty minutes after the Germans had disappeared something from the rear grabbed me by the foot. I nearly fainted with fright. Then a welcome whisper in a cockney accent—"I s'y, myte, we've come to relieve you!"

Wheeler and I crawled back to our trench; we looked like wet hens and felt worse. After a swig of rum we were soon fast asleep on the fire step in our wet clothes.

The next morning I was as stiff as a poker and every joint ached like a bad tooth, but I was still alive, so it did not matter.

CHAPTER XVI.

Battery D, 238.

The day after this I received the good tidings that I would occupy the machine gunners' dugout right near the advanced artillery observation post. This dugout was a roomy affair, dry as tinder, and real cots in it. These cots had been made by the R. E.'s who had previously occupied the dugout. I was the first to enter and promptly made a signboard with my name and number on it and suspended it from the foot of the most comfortable cot therein.

In the trenches it is always "first come, first served," and this is lived up to by all.

Two R. E. A. men (Royal Field artillery) from the nearby observation post were allowed the privilege of stopping in this dugout when off duty.

One of these men, Bombardier Wilson by name, who belonged to Battery D 238, seemed to take a liking to me, and I returned this feeling.

In two days' time we were pretty chummy, and he told me how his battery in the early days of the war had put over a stunt on Old Pepper, and had gotten away with it.

I will endeavor to give the story as far as memory will permit in his own words:

"I came out with the first expeditionary force, and, like all the rest, thought we would have the enemy licked in big time, and be able to get Christmas dinner at home. Well, so far, I have eaten two Christmas dinners in the trenches, and am liable to eat two more, the way things are pointing. That is, if Fritz don't drop a 'whizz-bang' on me, and send me to Blighty. Sometimes I wish I would get hit, because it's no great picnic out here, and twenty-two months of it makes you fed up."

"It's fairly cushy now compared to what it used to be, although I admit this trench is a trifle rough. Now, we send over five shells to their one. We are getting our own back, but in the early days it was different. Then you had to take everything without reply. In fact, we would get twenty shells in return for every one we sent over. Fritz seemed to enjoy it, but we British didn't; we were the sufferers. Just one casualty after another. Sometimes whole platoons would disappear, especially when a 'Jack Johnson' plunked into their middle. It got so bad that a fellow, when writing home, wouldn't ask for any cigarettes to be sent out, because he was afraid he wouldn't be there to receive them."

"After the drive to Paris was turned back, trench warfare started. Our general grabbed a map, drew a pencil across it, and said, 'Dig here.' Then he went back to his tea, and Tommy armed himself with a pick and shovel and started digging. He's been digging ever since."

"Of course we dug those trenches at night, but it was hot work, what with the rifle and machine-gun fire. The stretcher bearers worked harder than the diggers."

"Those trenches, bloomin' ditches, I call them, were nightmares. They were only about five feet deep, and you used to get the backache from bending down. It wasn't exactly safe to stand upright, either, because as soon as your napper showed over the top a bullet would bounce off it, or else come so close it would make your hair stand."

"We used to fill sandbags and stick them on top of the parapet to make it higher, but no use; they would be there about an hour and then Fritz would turn loose and blow them to bits. My neck used to be sore from ducking shells and bullets."

"Where my battery was stationed a hasty trench had been dug, which the boys nicknamed 'Suicide ditch,' and, believe me, Yank, this was the original 'Suicide ditch.' All the others are imitations."

"When a fellow went into that trench it was an even gamble that he would come out on a stretcher. At one time a Scotch battalion held it, and when they heard the betting was even money that they'd come out on stretchers, they grabbed all the bets in sight. Like a lot of bally idiots, several of the battery men fell for their game, and put up real money. The 'Jocks' suffered a lot of casualties, and the prospects looked bright for the battery men to collect some easy money. So when the battalion was relieved the gamblers lined up. Several 'Jocks' got their money for emerging safely, but the ones who clicked it weren't there to pay. The artillerymen had never thought it out that way. Those Scotties were bound to be sure winners, no matter how the wind blew. So take a tip from me, never bet with a Scottie, 'cause you'll lose money."

"At one part of our trench where a communication trench joined the front line a Tommy had stuck up a wooden signpost with three hands or arms on it. One of the hands, pointing to the German lines, read, 'To Berlin'; the one pointing down the communication trench read, 'To Blighty,' while the other said, 'Suicide Ditch. Change Here for Stretchers.'

"Farther down from this guide post the trench ran through an old orchard. On the edge of this orchard our battery had constructed an advanced observation post. The trees screened it from the enemy strips and the roof was turfed. It wasn't cushy like ours, no timber or concrete re-enforcements. Just walls of sandbags. From it a splendid view of the German lines could be obtained. This post wasn't exactly safe. It was a hot corner, shells pinking all around, and the bullets cutting leaves off the trees. Many a time when relieving the signaler at the phone, I had to crawl on my belly like a worm to keep from being hit."

"It was an observation post sure enough. That's all the use it was. Just observe all day, but never a message back for our battery to open up. You see, at this point of the line, there were strict orders not to fire a shell, unless specially ordered to do so from brigade headquarters. Blime me, if anyone disobeyed that command, our general—yes, it was Old Pepper—would have court-martialed the whole expeditionary force. Nobody went out of their way to disobey Old Pepper in those days, because he couldn't be called a parson; he was more like a pirate. If at any time the devil should feel lonely and sigh for a proper mate, Old Pepper would get the first call. Facing the Germans wasn't half bad compared with an interview with that old firebrand."

"If a company or battalion should give way a few yards against a superior force of Boches, Old Pepper would send for the commanding officer. In about half an hour the officer would come back with his face the color of a brick, and in a few hours what was left of his command would be holding their original position."

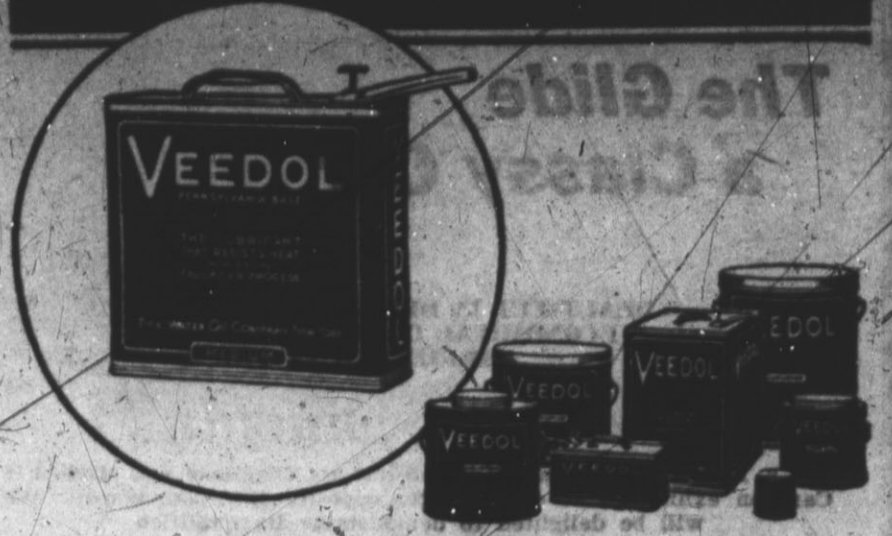

"I have seen an officer who wouldn't say a word—a for a thousand quid spend five minutes with the old boy, and when he returned the flow of language from his lips would make a navy blush for shame."

"What I am going to tell you is how I got away with it over the old scamp, and got away with it. It was a risky thing, too, because Old Pepper wouldn't have been exactly mild with us if he had got next to the game."

"Me and my mate, a lad named Harry Cassell, a bombardier in D 238 battery, or lance corporal, as you call it in the infantry, used to relieve the telephonists. We would do two hours on and four off. I would be on duty in the advanced observation post, while he would be at the other end of the wire in the battery dugout signaling station. We were supposed to send through orders for the battery to fire when ordered to do so by the observation officer in the advanced post. But very few messages were sent. It was only in case of an actual attack that we would get a chance to earn our 'two and six' a day. You see, Old Pepper had issued orders not to fire except when the orders came from him. And with Old Pepper orders is orders, and made to obey."

Have You Tried This Automobile Oil?

There are two ways to tell how good any lubricating oil is. One way is to make a test in the laboratory. The other way is to put it in your car and try it out under actual service conditions.

We know that Veedol will increase your mileage and save anywhere from $50 to $115 a year in operating expense.

Prove that out for yourself. Here's how you can do it. Clean out your automobile crankcase. Fill with kerosene. Run your motor about thirty seconds under its own power. Drain out all kerosene and refill with Veedol.

Then make a test run over a familiar road including steep hills and straight level stretches. You will find your motor has acquired new pick-up and hill-climbing ability. It will have less vibration and will give greater gasoline mileage.

Veedol will cost you more than the average oil. With a few gallons of Veedol you can drive 2000 to 5000 miles. That will give you ample opportunity to compare operating costs. It will prove the superiority of Veedol as emphatically as have laboratory tests.

CHURCH NOTES

The Christian Womans' Missionary Society held their monthly meeting with Mrs. J. R. Kibbe as hostess and Mrs. Pratt leader. The meeting was unusually good in attendance and the lesson, "The Immigrant in our Land" was very interesting and instructive. A social hour was spent during which the hostess served cream and cake.

Powelson, the cars began to arrive with members, until the hostess had received, very cordially, fifteen.
 After a sweet song service, led by Mrs. Mounts, Mrs. Dr. Hicks asked Brother McClurkin to take charge of the Bible study. He made the lesson unusually interesting and instructive. As one of our members remarked previously: "It was like going up in an airplane, and getting a bird's-eye view of the Bible."
 The regular business session followed. A good collection was taken for Sunshine fund. The day for sewing at the Red Cross, was changed from Saturday, to Friday. Mrs. Connell was made Captain. Mrs. Mank dismissed with prayer.
 Next meeting will be at Mrs. Beene's, with Mrs. Powelson as leader.

Every Little Bit Helps

Last week's rains put a green tint into the range grass, and put a lot of confidence into the owners of the grass.

All of which means renewed business activity, cattle trades, farm planting—more business generally.

More business activity naturally leads to thoughts of banking connections.

We welcome an opportunity to discuss their business affairs with any manor woman, who wants to conduct their affairs in an efficient, straight-forward, business-like way.

Business.

Would you like to do something worth while if you are a lover of C. E.? We have of course got to subscribe to the Red Cross, etc., but we must keep up our spiritual life also. You will be doing a good work if you will help us raise money to send a delegate to the great C. E. convention next month at Ft. Worth. We realize that we can not grow and do a great deal if we are not informed and the information our delegate will get from the great speakers will be worth while. Won't you help us raise $20,000? We will pay you back by being better church workers and citizens later on.

There will be another expert examination on Sunday, May 21. Those who wish to take at that time might do well to study up. Let us all take it and be an expert society.

In the hard-fought contest of the army and navy we wish to say that the army won. It perhaps has not rained enough or soon enough; anyway the Navy appreciates the good work the Army did by getting more comrades of the Quiet Hour, Tenth Legion; more subscribers to C. E. papers, etc. We know that both sides cannot win and we believe in contests for the fact that it accomplished such good work. The Navy will entertain you some day when sailing is easy.

WOMEN TORTURED!

Suffer terribly with corns because of high heels, but why care now.

Women wear high heels which buckle up their toes and they suffer terribly from corns. Women then proceed to trim these pests, seeking relief, but they hardly realize the terrible danger from infection, says a Cincinnati authority.

Corns can easily be lifted out with the fingers if you will get from any drug store a quarter of an ounce of a drug called freezezone. This is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. You simply apply a few drops directly upon the tender, aching corn or callus. The soreness is relieved at once and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, lifts out without one particle of pain.

This freezezone is a sticky substance which dries in a moment. It just shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. Tell your wife about this.

Amarillo, Texas, May 2, 1918.

Hereford Brand, Hereford, Texas. Gentlemen:

The Director-General of railroads has issued his general order No. 18A which reads:

"That all suits against carriers while under federal control must be brought in the county or district where the plaintiff resided at the time of the accrual of the cause of action or in the county or district where the cause of action arose."

It will be of interest to the public, and especially those having claims against railroads, to have this matter brought to their attention through the columns of your paper. The railroads, however, being under federal control, are not in a position to expect to pay for such publication. We are, however, taking this means to call the matter to your attention, thinking that you may consider it worthy of space in your paper since it limits the right of parties to maintain suits to the county where the cause of action arose and the county where the plaintiff resided at the time, thereby precluding non-residents coming to this state to file suits.

Yours truly,
 Magden, Trulove, Ryburn & Pipkin

The weekly luncheon of the Directors of the Chamber of Commerce was well attended May 6, those present being: Eli Dunlap, Treasurer, presiding, Carl Gilliland, L. Gough, Rat Jowell, F. H. Oberthier, Henry Wilkinson, Mayor Knight, Percy Welliven and Captain Middleton of the Cavalry Troop.

Mr. Jowell called attention to the fact that the Hereford Registered Breeders of the county proposed to hold an Auction Sale of registered animals on June 17th, the proceeds to go to the Red Cross. The directors agreed to stand the expense of printing a Pedigree Catalogue for the occasion and the actual traveling expenses of the Auctioneer to conduct the sale, if necessary.

Captain Middleton reported his troop completed and ready for muster, and expressed his thanks for the aid and cooperation of the club officials.

The Secretary reported that the A. & M. College was sending another Demonstration Agent to take the place of the former Agent who was unable to continue the work.

A number of other matters were discussed. President McDonald and Vice President Huffman were both out of town.

CHAUTAUQUA DATES ARE CLOSE AT HAND

Hereford's 1918 Chautauqua begins on Wednesday, May 15th. The attractions this year are high class, expensive and claimed to be the best in the land.

It has cost some of our citizens some money and is likely to cost them some more money to get this choice program for the uplift of ourselves and our children, unless the people rally around and patronize the entertainment. The public can buy almost any kind of an entertainment, but this particular entertainment is the RIGHT KIND for us all to see and for the children to see.

It is sincerely hoped the people will support and patronize this Chautauqua in the right way, notwithstanding the War.

REGISTERED SALE FOR RED CROSS

this occasion, and the committee was still going strong. A list will be printed next week. Meanwhile the Hereford Journal and other similar publications have promised free space in advertising this event, and it is hoped buyers will be here from all over the county. This county has the stuff, and is so recognized the world over, and for that reason this Sale will undoubtedly draw many outside buyers who are looking for the cream.
