To Intensify Milo Hold-Back

NFO Farmers Declare War

By Earl Moseley
Staff Writer

Approximately 800 grain farmers from 23 area Texas counties, along with four Oklahoma counties, three each from New Mexico and Kansas, and representatives from Iowa and Minnesota, were informed by National Farmers Organization director John Oster and Texas NFO president Don Kimball in a meeting Tuesday night at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn that their recent $3-million contract with West Friona Grain Co. has been placed under fire through the National Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service under government loans and urged fulfillment of the West Friona agreement at all costs.

Following many questions by the milo farmers involving the legality of the loan and NFO contract set-up, standing votes were called on the storage fulfillment which appeared almost unanimous that a "grain holdback movement" would be instituted by them immediately "in order to guarantee the farmer a fair market price for his commodities."

Area farmers along with many who live north of Moore County and south of Lamb County promised to deliver extra milo to West Friona Grain as soon as possible.

Deaf Smith County NFO president Gerald McCathern told the Brand during the high-voltage meet that "this is proof the farmer is tired of being pushed around."

Oster announced there are to be similar meetings in the grain belt states on this holdback movement within a few days. Legality between the NFO contract and the government loan was also pointed out. "But under the contract no individual allocation has been made to any producer. What is illegal is to place grain under loan in a contract price. The contract is now between the NFO and the buyer with membership approval. You are operating on the honor system."

Oster said the West Friona contract is for 130-million pounds of grain. "Go to your ASC office and apply for your loan. The only commitment now is the authorization for NFO to negotiate for you. We will sit down and negotiate with any one who wants to talk contract."

He explained that elevator operators have reportedly contacted several Texas U. S. Representatives on the NFO contract matter and have a sked them to "curtail this activity" through the ASC.

"We (NFO) are making an all-out effort at this point to step up negotiations on all farm commodities. We are calling on every farmer in the nation to 'join the NFO fight and store that grain!'"

Oster received much applause when he stated: "Ever hear those words, 'holding action'? Farmers are fed up with empty promises. Stocks are now lower than they have been in 15 years. I think the USDA sometimes figures crop yields on visual more than actual."

TARGET PRICE MADE
Kimball said they are "thinking of a target price of at least $2.30 per hundred and contracts to benefit all members." But he said that it is necessary now to "hold the grain as long as it takes to get a fair price."

But Oster pointed out to the NFO membership that it is illegal to ask the support of other NFO members.

Sugar Content Is Reported Low

For the second time within one week, the sugar beet industry has been the victim of a let-down, this time coming from the low amounts of sugar content that has been reported from the Holly Sugar plant for early harvest beets.

Holly agriculture manager Bob Ginn reported Friday that a meeting of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service board members and members of the sugar board was held Thursday afternoon to discuss the sugar content which is very low in crops this year.

"The 10.6 per cent sugar content, which is quite low," he said, "is due to several reasons, but mainly from the heavy rains this area has had since mid-August through September."

"The rains have increased the nitrogen content of the soil," he explained, "along with leaf spot, which has taken hold and infected the fields pretty badly."

While early sugar crops were the main concern of the meeting, Ginn also stated that the overall sugar beet crop is susceptible to a low sugar content, but feels that this may not occur. "We feel," he said, "that the low ones could come along and measure up to the acceptable sugar content later on."

The agriculture manager also added that due to the increase of nitrogen in the soil, which created an imbalance of chemicals in the beets, steps have been taken at the plant to find a way to overcome this problem.

It is believed by members of the boards, that the low sugar content is due, not only to the heavy amounts of rain and the leaf spot, but also to the infection of the beet roots from an over-abundance of moisture. "It wasn't only the heavy rains and disease," Ginn explained, "but a combination of several factors which has caused the decrease in sugar content of crops."

James Witherspoon, executive secretary of the Texas-New Mexico Sugar Beet Growers Association, told the Brand Friday that even though the sugar content is down considerably, it "should come along soon and could very easily reach 12 per cent before the beet season is over."

"Regardless of the sugar content," Witherspoon commented, "the farmers are going to have to harvest their crops because that 10.6 percent is going to be better than taking the government payments."

The sugar beet industry is expected to bring about $15 million to the Panhandle area, and could go higher should the sugar content decide to do the same.

KEY FACTORS — Making the difference in the win Friday night against the Dalhart Wolves was the running of Paul Loerwald, top photo, who made both Whiteface touchdowns, and, bottom photo, the defense which held the host team to very little yardage on the ground. —Staff Photos

Whitefaces Stymie Dalhart Team, 14-0

Offensive ball control, along with the running of senior running back Paul Loerwald, who accounted for both Whiteface TD's, enabled the locals to gain a hard fought win over the determined Dalhart Wolves Friday night, 14-0.

Control of the ball for the Whitefaces, coupled with their steady-fast defense, allowed the Wolves possession of the ball for an unofficial 39 offensive plays while the Herd held the ball for an unofficial 81 offensive plays. Loerwald tacked the first Whiteface score on the board in the second quarter with only 25 seconds remaining in the half when he scampered for four yards and pay dirt. Santry Rush added the point after to give the Whitefaces a 7-0 halftime lead.

Both the Whitefaces and the Wolves were unable to move the ball in the first quarter as only one penetration was recorded across the mid-field mark. This penetration came when the Wolves, taking a Hereford punt into the wind, took over on their own 40 and in four plays, took the ball to the Whiteface 42 where the drive died at the hands of the Herd defense.

The locals made their first penetration across the mid-field mark minutes into the second quarter, but the drive splattered out at the Dalhart 24 when three passes by junior quarterback

Mike Wartes fell incomplete.

Dalhart took over the ball on their own 24 and on the first play from scrimmage, were handed a five yard penalty making the down at first and 15. In an attempt to get away from their own end zone, the Wolf field general went to the air against a strong wind and Whitefacer Richard Lyons intercepted the ball on the Dalhart 37.

From the 37, the Whitefaces began grinding out yard after yard on runs by Ricki Ward, Lyons and Loerwald to push the pigskin to the Dalhart four where Loerwald took it over for the score.

Dalhart got a break in the third quarter when they recovered a Hereford fumble at the Whiteface 20 yard line, but the threat for a score was short-lived when the Whitefaces recovered a Dalhart fumble three plays later on their own nine.

The ball exchanged hands twice before a second scoring drive was put together by the Whitefaces late in the third stanza. Starting from their own 20 yard line, the locals, giving the ball to Loerwald on four straight runs, took the ball out to their own 36 then crossed the half way stripe on a pass reception by Keith Duncan. Following a penalty against them, the Whitefaces were faced with a second and 15 when, after two short gains, Wartes faked a jump pass and raced around right end for the first down at the Dalhart 30.

From the 30, it was pass and rush and easy going as the Herd drove steadily toward the Dalhart goal line. The drive was highlighted by a 16 yard pass to Rush which set the ball to rest on the Wolves' 20-yard line. Runs by James Head, Lyons, Ward and Loerwald drove the ball to the one and then Loerwald carried it over for the second Whiteface TD. Rush added the point after to make the score stand at 14-0 with 9:11 remaining in the contest.

Hereford, after getting the ball back deep into the final period, made another attempt at scoring but a strong Dalhart stand at their 18 forced the locals into a field goal situation. Rush attempted a 25-yard boot, but the ball was blocked and Dalhart took over from their own 15 with seconds remaining.

The Wolves then went to the air in an attempt to get on the scoreboard, but made it only to their own 42 before time ran out.

Hereford, whose record now stands at an impressive 4-1, will be open next week as they prepare for the district opener against the Canyon Eagles at Whiteface Field, Oct. 24 at 8 p. m.

Rotary Governor Speaks Monday

Rotarians will welcome the governor of this Rotary District, Judge Charles L. Reynolds of Childress, at noon Monday in the Hotel Jim Hill.

Judge Reynolds will address the Rotary Club of Hereford, one of 48 in his district, and will confer with Charles Frye, president of the Hereford Rotary Club and other club officials, to obtain information on the group's plans for its service activities and to offer suggestions on Rotary administrative matters.

The judge is one of 298 Rotary governors throughout the world who are serving as representatives of Rotary International in districts composed of member clubs. Each district leader is responsible for supervising the clubs in his area. Rotary, an international men's service organization, has more than 657,000 members in some 13,901 clubs in 146 countries.

A member and past president of the Rotary Club of Childress, Judge Reynolds is presiding Judge of the 100th Judicial District of Texas. He was elected Governor of District 573, Rotary International at the Rotary convention in Honolulu, Hawaii, in May 1969, and will serve until June 30, 1970.

Though a seasoned Rotarian before his election to the office of district governor, Judge Reynolds attended an eight-day international assembly last May at Lake Placid, New York, at which all Rotary governors for 1969-70 attended in-depth seminars to plan for their job.

One of his biggest jobs will be to hold a district conference of all Rotary clubs in this area, Frye said. The conference will be held on April 23-25, 1970, in Plainview.

MARS Still In Business Here

Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce manager W. T. Thompson reported that MARS is still available for messages to servicemen overseas at no charge.

He said that families of overseas servicemen may send general messages of 25 words or less anywhere in the world. For this service, Thompson has asked area families to contact him at his office or his home.

The only messages which are restricted are commercial and death notices. Navy personnel cannot be contacted aboard ship but may be when they are landbased, Thompson said.

UF Total Rises

Latest report on United Fund pledges and collections released Thursday indicated the new total is $26,297.92 — which is $11,791.06 short of the 1969 goal of $38,000.

However, it was reported that there are still a number of cards which have not been "worked" and the possibilities of reaching the goal are still possible, according to UF president Calvin Goodin and drive chairman Cleo Corlis.

Percentages of collections released by vice-president Joe Shollenbarger at the fourth major check-in Thursday showed that Commercial A is over its goal with 110 per cent, Commercial B is 61.1 collected, Commercial C 57.5, Schools 84.5, Utilities banks and attorneys 65.3; City, County, state and federal employees 51.9; Rural 54.2, and Advance 95.5.

Goodin explained that $1,575.56 of the utilities, banks and attorneys total was actually "Rural" amounts collected from farming and ranching interests who live within the city. This amount was collected by Jonny Cloud of the First National Bank.

Entire total is now 68.9 per cent collected.

Next major check-in date is Thursday at 10 a. m. in the Hereford State Bank board room.

Firemen Prevent Heavy Damages

Because of the alertness of the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department, two fires were brought under control last Thursday before they had a chance to cause much damage.

According to Hereford Fire Marshal Terry Hale, smoke was reported rising from the La Plata Beauty School on East Highway 99 about 9:30 Thursday morning. The fire department rushed to the scene and within minutes had the smoke under control. The smoke was caused by faulty wiring in the motors of a newly installed heating system.

Hale reported that there was no damage to the building.

Around 4 p. m. Thursday afternoon, a minor fire was reported at 208 Star Street, the home of Leland Fletcher. The fire apparently started when pillows lying around a light bulb caught fire in the closet. Hale reported that the damage was very light at this fire also.

(Continued from Page 1) farm organizations and non-members to participate in a holding action. However, he pointed out that "you can ask them to join NFO and support our efforts."

During the question and answer session which covered about half of the 90-minute session, Oster replied that the grain producer was probably not "bothered" last year because their contracts were not public information.

He also made his position clear that the county ASC is "currently following national opinion, the county ASC offices are on our side. They are farmers like you and me. But they have to follow orders."

An ASCS officer from Hugoton, Kan., was asked to speak from the podium. He explained that only producers are eligible for loans.

It was explained that the government loan program was to initiate orderly marketing, so as not to dump all commodities on the market at the same time.

Penalty for any misinformation on the loan agreement carries a heavy fine and prison sentence.

McCathern reported that "grain has been coming into West Friona every day" and has been in the process of delivery for some time.

Grain Checkoff Results

The grain sorghum referendum, which means an assessment of up to 5 cents per ton aimed toward research and promotion and a 12-member board to oversee the operation, appears to have passed in the 29-county area, including Deaf Smith, with 74.1 per cent of the voters in favor of the system.

Results will not be official until Monday. Balloting deadline was Oct. 6.

A total of 185 million bushels of grain were grown by farmers in this 29-county area last year. It is estimated that $250,000 will be made available to the research and promotion program in the coming year.

Grain Sorghum Producers Association gave their endorsement to the check-off program. House Bill 764, which made the referendum possible, was sponsored by Rep. Delwin Jones of Lubbock.

La Platans Grab 2 Wins, One Tie

La Plata's seventh grade team had to settle for a tie in action last week against the Friona team while the eighth and ninth grade teams collected wins over their opponents.

The seventh grade came from behind in the fourth quarter to notch a 14-14 tie with their Friona opponents while the ninth grade squeezed by the Canyon White team, 8-6 and the eighth grade won another close one over the Friona eighth, 16-8.

For the seventh grade, Doug Charest put the locals on the board first with a 40-yard scoring run, but the extra point failed leaving the La Platans with a slim 6-0 lead.

Friona scored their first touchdown of the game in the first stanza and completed their extra point attempt for the go-ahead score of 8-6. They then scored again in the same period but their extra point attempt failed and they led 14-6 at the half.

Trailing 14-6 going into the final stanza, the locals struck for six points on a two-yard plunge by Marvin Harris and the try for the tying points was good for the final 14-14 score.

Terry Yerby, Mike Crim, Harris, and Barry Allen were noted for outstanding defensive play during the contest, which brought the seventh grades' record to 1-0-1 for the year.

The La Plata eighth grade brought their record to the 2-0 mark as they defeated the Friona eighth, 16-8.

James Harris scored the first La Plata TD when he rambled over from short yardage following a 40-yard run by James Waits. Harris also added the extra points on an end run for an early 8-0 La Plata lead.

Jim Marsh scored the deciding touchdown in the second period on a 30 yard scamper around left end and Wayne Schumacher ran for the extra points.

Friona scored their only touchdown of the game in the fourth quarter on a 40 yard run and the score ended 16-8 for La Plata. Noted for their outstanding defensive play were Willie Glass Paul Rudd, Harris and Marsh.

The undefeated La Plata ninth graders held off a two point try by the Canyon White team in the late moments of the fourth quarter to take their win Thursday evening, 8-6.

Danny Harris scored the only touchdown of the day for the Mavericks when he dashed over from short yardage in the third period. Larry McNutt scored the deciding extra points.

In the final stanza, the Canyon team drove to the La Plata end of the field and plunged over for the score, but their attempt for the extra points failed and the locals won the game, 8-6.

This week, the seventh and eighth grades will host Plainview Tuesday in games starting at 5:30 p. m. and the ninth grade will host the Dimmitt team here Thursday at 5:30 p. m.

Crop Reports Are Needed Now

During the last half of October, some 35,000 Texas farmers and ranchers will receive a crop questionnaire from Cary Palmer State Statistician for the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service in Austin.

This is a joint endeavor of the Texas Department of Agriculture and the Statistical Reporting Service, USDA, to provide a program of county estimates for Texas, James Gouley of Farmers Home Administration reported.

There are 254 counties in Texas and each farmer in each county is an important part of the State's agriculture, Gouley said reports are needed from farmers receiving questionnaires to provide accurate estimates for Texas crops.

Each farmer is urged to fill out his questionnaire carefully and return it promptly in the self-addressed envelope to the Agricultural Statistician. This will do much to provide the accurate data needed for the state.

County data bulletins for 1968 are now available by writing the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, Box 70, Austin, or by writing John C. White, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture, Post Office Drawer BB, Capital Station, Austin, Texas, Gouley said.

WT Uses Grant For Disadvantaged

CANYON — Help for the disadvantaged school children of the Texas Panhandle-Plains is being planned at West Texas State University.

The planning is being done by the School of Teacher Education under a $25,000 grant from the U. S. Office of Education. The grant, covering a 20-month period ending Aug. 31, 1970, was issued under the Education Professions Development Act of 1967.

Dr. Emmitt D. Smith, vice president for research and development and Mrs. Louis Beckman, 244 Elm, and Mr. and Mrs. Elbert L. Vance, 135 Beach.

development at the university, is one of 12 persons named by the U. S. Office of Education to serve in implementing the act.

He will attend a meeting of the 12-member panel in Washington, D. C., Nov. 4-6 at which programs conducted during 1969 will be reviewed.

Smith said he will report on the programs in Florida which he studied on a visit there in July.

"There is a need for properly prepared teachers of the denied (disadvantaged) in Amarillo and Lubbock," said Dr. Kenneth Laycock, dean of the School of Teacher Education.

"There are approximately 1, 800 denied children in Amarillo and 4,500 in Lubbock," he said. "Approximately 300 teachers serve these two school populations. Of this number, about any of these teachers have been teaching in situations where the majority of children are of a different race."

Laycock said, "Very few if any of these teachers have completed training programs designed to prepare teachers of the denied."

He added: "A thorough examination of the teacher education program at West Texas State University reveals no effort to recognize the uniqueness of preparation for teachers of the denied. All elementary teachers are prepared from the same mold. This predicament is not unusual in the State of Texas nor in the nation."

Laycock said there is a great need for developing and field testing a model preparation program for teachers of the denied. The University will ask the U. S. Office of Education for $175,070 to finance the first year of the proposed three-year Focus Teacher Education Program, he said.

The project will be operated by the university, the Lubbock and Amarillo independent school districts and the PESO Education Service Center.

The proposed program would serve 85 counties ranging from the northern border of the Panhandle, south to Del Rio, west to El Paso and east to San Saba County in Central Texas.

Eat More Pork

By Mrs. Argen Draper
Home Demonstration Agent

The average American will consume about 152 slices or almost 7 pounds of bacon this year — about 2½ slices more than he did last year.

American Meat Institute points out that fat in bacon contributes the characteristic bacon flavor and texture. Even though the common belief seems to be that "the leaner the better," too much lean may result in a tougher, less desirable product.

Generally, packers provide three or four different selections of sliced bacon, according to Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist. The top selection slices are uniform and have the best ratio of lean to fat. They are selected for size and location of fat and lean streaks. The slices from the lower selections of bacon have the same flavor but the slices are less uniform and may be a bit less tender or slightly more coarse in texture. Mrs. Clyatt says in some cases the lower selections may contain fewer slices a pound because of wider, heavier slices in the package. The different selections can be distinguished by appearance and by price, she says.

In most instances, the packer's name prominently is displayed on his top selection.

But only enough bacon for one week, Mrs. Clyatt advises. For peak aroma and flavor, bacon should be used within five to seven days of home storage. Bacon should be stored in its original wrapper in the refrigerator.

Bacon slices separate easily if the package is removed from the refrigerator about five to ten minutes before using. Bacon may be frozen for short periods of time, but for best flavor, Mrs. Clyatt does not recommend long storage in home freezers.

The misuse of electricity or using defective wiring and equipment can be costly, cautions W. S. Allen, Texas A&M University Extension agricultural engineer. Many fires are caused by such carelessness, he adds.

Here are questions, posed by the engineer, covering electrical hazards often found in the home.

—Is the right size fuse (15 amps for lighting circuits) in use? Do you use a new fuse, never substitutes, when one blows?

—Do you use extension cords within safe limits of their capacity? Safe limit for the most commonly used lamp cord is 500 watts.

—Are extension and appliance cords replaced immediately whenever insulation shows signs of fraying or cracking? Do you see that cords are never run under rugs or hooked over nails —Are appliances checked periodically to be sure they are in good operating condition and taken out of service for repair or replacement at the first sign of trouble

—Is your TV antenna installed where it cannot fall across power lines, and is it equipped with a properly grounded lightning arrester

If there are "no" answers on the list, take corrective measures immediately, Allen advises.

Accident Count Given By THP

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 15 accidents on rural highways in Deaf Smith County during the month of September, according to Sgt. W. E. Wells, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in no persons killed, seven persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $285,645.

The rural accident summary for this county during the first nine months of 1969 shows a total of 125 accidents resulting in five persons killed, 87 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $285,645.

The month of October will bring about a drastic change in driving habits. With the return to Central Standard Time on October 26, many motorists will find themselves going to and from work in darkness. The increased hours of darkness will hide dangers otherwise visible during the daylight hours.

The sergeant listed some factors why driving is more hazardous at night than during the day. (1) Reduced visibility prevents drivers from seeing hazards. (2) It has been longer since most drivers have slept and the resulting fatigue increases perception reaction time. (3) It is easier for drivers to become confused and panic. (4) More drinking drivers will be on the road.

These factors in varying degrees coupled with high speed cause accidents that would not occur in daytime.

Engineer Bids For Canadian Water

Lewis G. Smith, a water resources engineer who was in Hereford last week prior to a speaking engagement in Lubbock before the Texas-New Mexico Local Society of Engineers, reported on his long-range concept toward an interregional aqueduct system for diverting a small part of the Canadian surplus Arctic-flowing water southward for the future benefit of the Canadian Prairies and the more arid western half of the United States including this area.

Smith was here visiting with G. Palmer Norton, publisher of his paper, Toward a National Water Plan.

Smith was retired in December 1966 from service with the United States Bureau of Reclamation. At his retirement, he was general engineer in the Project Investigations Division, in the office of the chief engineer in the Project Investigations Division, in the office of the chief engineer at Denver, Colo. His service began in 1935. Since that time, he has also covered assignments in water resource planning and development in Pakistan, Korea and Ghana, under the Foreign Aid program of the State Department.

Smith told the Brand, "We have been working actively with the Canadians on this plan. I made four trips into Canada last summer. I was impressed by its growing benefits to Canada — this joint approach between the two countries from MacKenzie River Basin sources."

This source would feed excess water via rivers and channels into this area.

But he stated, on an economic plane, "In these days of military expense, the military has provided an economic flywheel to the nation's economy. But when we find a peaceful world, we are going to have to find an economic replacement for the military spending — and if we have any future at all, it will have to be through a peaceful world in this nuclear age. If the expenditure for a major water scheme was substituted for our current military effectiveness, this water plan will be feasible."

Smith continued, "I don't think it is too unrealistic to assume that we will have a peaceful world. But it means we will have to develop a whole new attitude toward water. We are in a world now of a whole new order of magnitude."

The Naval Air Station in Alameda supports fleet squadrons, naval aircraft rework programs and provides dockside services and support for assigned and visiting ships.

He offered as an example to his "selling approach" to the Canadian water plan, "it has been estimated that our nation should invest some $80-billion in new power generating facilities during the next 20 years. I say it is just as realistic for the Western United States to use an equal or greater amount for future water facilities."

He concluded: "Because water is certainly as important to us as power. And they are also closely related in irrigation." Smith still lives at Denver.

Sophomore flanker John Dobbs of the Air Force Academy football team is the son of Bobby Dobbs, former Army player who coaches the University of Texas at El Paso.

SUPPORTING YOUR TOWN

"No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns. This does not mean you should have a whole, half or even a quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a two-line space.

A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town by looking at the paper. This is the best possible town advertising. The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and the town. The man who insists on sharing the business that comes to town, but refuses to advertise his own, is not a valuable addition to any town. The life of a town depends on the live, wide-awake and liberal advertising business man"

P. S. How many new residents and out of town shoppers saw your name and business today; this week?

Job Openings Are Open With FBI

The Dallas Office of the FBI through its Special Agent in Charge, J. Gordon Shanklin, has advised of excellent job opportunities with the FBI in Washington, D. C. for young people, male or female, who are at least sixteen years of age, United States citizens, high school graduates, and able to pass a rigid investigation of loyalty, reputation, and character.

The Dallas Office of the FBI clerk is $4,360 (GS-2) per year, win a raise in 30 days to $4,917 (GS-3) per year, if their work is found satisfactory. Only a twenty word spelling test is required for clerk applicants.

Applicants for the Clerk position are considered for the fingerprint clerk position which starts at $4,917 (GS-3) per year. Those individuals found acceptable for the fingerprint clerk position and who progress satisfactorily in such position are considered for promotion to $5,522 (GS-4) per year after six months and to $6,176 (GS-5) per year after one year in fingerprint work and to $6,882 (GS-6) per year one year later. This means it is possible for a fingerprint clerk who develops satisfactorily to reach a salary of $6,882 per year after only two years of service.

Gun Control Law Explained

DALLAS —The Gun Control Act of 1968 was passed by Congress to help Federal, State and local law enforcement officials in their fight against crime and violence. Carl Booth, IRS Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Chief Special Investigator for Texas said Friday, adding that it was in no way intended to hinder the activities of hunters and sportsmen.

As an example, Booth said hunters and sportsmen can purchase ammunition in any state, and likewise can carry their own firearms across a state line as long as they are not convicted felons, or under indictment for a felony; fugitives from justice; unlawful users of drugs; or mental incompetents.

Further, Booth said hunters, sportsmen, competitive shooters, or anyone legally using a gun in a state other than his home state can acquire another firearm if his rifle or shotgun is lost, stolen, or becomes inoperative.

He said the law requires only that the buyer in these circumstances make out an affidavit for the dealer's records, and provide the dealer with the title of the chief law enforcement officer in the locality where he lives.

A typist enters on duty at a salary of $4,917 (GS-3) per year, and applicants for this position must be able to pass a ten minute typing test of 45 words per minute and a twenty word spelling test.

A stenographer is paid a beginning salary of $5,522 (GS-4) per year, and applicants for this position must pass a three minute dictation test given at the rate of eighty words per minute, pass a ten minute typing test at the rate of 45 words per minute; pass a twenty word spelling test; and successfully pass a twenty question vocabulary examination.

Many young men and women continue their college education on a part-time basis in the Washington, D. C. area while working at these full-time jobs for the FBI. Young men who obtain a four year college degree from an accredited college and who have been employed in a clerical capacity with the FBI for one year and meet the other requirements, are considered for the Special Agent position at a starting salary of $10,252 (GS-10) per year.

The FBI provides counseling services to its new employees to assist them with housing, transportation, and other needs. If close friends or young married couples apply at the same time and are found acceptable, every effort is made to afford them appointments at the same time.

The FBI does not come under Civil Service in that the FBI has its own application form, tests, investigations and hires its own employees rather than drawing them from a Civil Service list or register.

Completed applications should be sent to the Special Agent in Charge, FBI, 200 Mercantile Continental Building, Dallas, Texas 75201, telephone 741-1851, as soon as possible as processing of such applications can commence as much as six months prior to an individual's availability.

Upon receipt of a completed application, the interested applicant will be contacted promptly and arrangements made for personal interview and appropriate tests at a time and place convenient to the applicant.

Any individual interested in becoming a part of this highly respected organization of the Federal Government may obtain an application and additional information by writing or calling the Dallas FBI Office at the address and telephone number mentioned above. The many be-enefits of working for the FBI, such as annual leave, sick leave, health and life insurance and retirement benefits should be thoroughly considered in choosing a career.

From Congress

BOB PRICE 10TH DISTRICT, TEXAS

Vietnam is once again being debated on the floor of the Congress. In both the House and the Senate proposals have been made to withdraw our troops either unilaterally or by a fixed timetable. In contrast, Administration spokesmen in Congress have proposed that we Vietnamize the war on our Vietnanone has been forthcoming. The negotiations have made no progress since the first of the year, and they remain stalemated at this writing. North Vietnam can endlessly block our efforts to end the war at the bargaining table, by rejecting all of our peace overtures.

I do not think any of these proposals are resolving the Vietnam problem in our favor. For this reason, I have added my name to a growing list of Congressmen who are urging the President, by letter, to increase military pressure in Vietnam. This war has dragged on far too long. The United States has poured billions of dollars into the war-torn country, and thousands of our finest young men have sacrificed their lives in the continuing struggle. I had hoped for a breakthrough in the Paris peace talks, but

In my opinion, we have tried everything to bring this war to a successful conclusion but the one sure thing; namely, increased military pressure. I think we should try this sure-fire method. I have urged the President to resume bombing North Vietnam with round-the-clock saturation bombing of communications, food, and supply lines. The port of Haiphong, as well as road and rail lines connecting North Vietnam and China, should be bombed and closed for the duration of the war. In addition, South Vietnamese rangers should take the offense and conduct commando raids into North Vietnam so that facilities vital to the enemy can be destroyed.

I believe there is no excuse for not stepping up our military activity. War is a mean business; and there is only one victor. At present, we are preventing ourselves from winning this war by hobbling the military. However, despite the restraints placed on their operations, our soldiers in the field are doing a magnificent job. Let's take off the gloves. Let's use our military muscle and win this dirty war. Then we can concentrate on solving our other pressing national problems.

Dean Opposes Unemployment Farm Payments

WACO — Extension of unemployment compensation to farm workers is highly impractical because of the temporary and seasonal nature of most farm work, according to Sidney Dean of Victoria, president of the 110,000-member Texas Farm Bureau.

Dean wrote these comments to the two Texas Congressmen on the House Ways and Means Committee now considering a bill (H. R. 12625) which would add a number of amendments to the federal unemployment com-penation statutes. Dean asked the Congressmen, Reps. George Bush of Houston and Omar Burlison of Anson, to oppose the measure.

"In Farm Bureau, we believe that extension of unemployment compensation to farm workers is highly impractical because of the temporary and seasonal nature of most farm work," Dean said. "As you know, we hire students, housewives, retired people, unemployed persons, or friends and neighbors who work their own farms most of the time."

"We fear that some of the farm labor we employ would be tempted to work just long enough to qualify for unemployment compensation payments and then quit just when we need them most. Our experiences with certain welfare programs has taught us about such possibilities.

"Adoption of this proposal would force a record keeping chore on farmers which would be most unwelcome, difficult and time-consuming. Costs of such a program would be disproportionate to value received under the circumstances," the Texas farm leader said.

One of the proposed amendments in H. R. 12625 would extend unemployment compensation to agriculture, specifically covering any farmer who employs four or more workers on 20 days, provided that each of the 20 days is in a different week.

Tower Discusses Draft Outlook

The current draft system forces our young men to remain susceptible to the draft for as long as seven years. This span of years prohibits our young men from planning their futures with certainty exactly at the time in which they are facing the most important choices of their lives.

I believe that a young man should be able to plan for his education, to plan for the start of his career, and the beginning of married life-free of the fear of sudden and drastic alteration due to military induction. Now that is why I so strongly favor limiting the time of prime draft vulnerability from seven years to one.

Sen. John Tower

Mrs. Ronnie Wilson ... loves music

Newcomers In Profile

Accomplished Musician

By BARBARA SWIMMER
Women's Editor

Music has been a hobby of Mrs. Ronnie Wilson's as long as she can remember, and she is an accomplished pianist and organist. She played the piano and organ at church in the small town in Kansas where they lived until moving to Hereford about a month ago and her love for music is shared by her twelve-year-old daughter Pam who is a seventh grader at La Plata Jr. High.

Moving here from Attica, Kan., a small farming community near Wichita, where they had lived all their lives, has been quite a change for the Wilson family, but a pleasant one, says Mrs. Wilson. "I guess this is the friendliest town I've ever seen, we just can't get over the warmth of the people of Hereford," Sharon Wilson stated.

The Wilsons also have a nine-year-old son, Rod, who is a typical all-around boy and they are expecting another child in January.

The extra advantages of living in a larger town appeals to the Wilsons and they are extremely proud of the fine school system here.

Rod has joined cub scouts for the first time and Mrs. Wilson has acquired the job of assistant den mother.

Other hobbies of Mrs. Wilson's are reading and sewing. She makes most of her own clothes and those of her daughter's. When they lived at Attica, Mrs. Wilson worked as lab tech in the hospital there. A small town of 700 people with a hospital without a doctor can sometimes be very frustrating, she says. It's nice to be in a larger town where you don't have to drive 16 miles for medical treatment.

The Wilsons have been busy working in the yard of their home at 140 Beach, which they both enjoy, as well as doing some remodeling in the house.

Their home is full of lovely oil paintings, which were painted by Mrs. Wilson's father who lives at Attica. Sharon says she has always wanted to be an artist but has decided to leave that department to daughter Pam, who also shares her grandfather's hobby.

Ronnie Wilson is employed by Gebro Distributing Co. of Hereford, and the family attends the Methodist Church here.

I believe we have been in need of revision of our military draft laws for some time and I am pleased to be able to report to you now that major reform in our selective service system is in sight.

I proposed draft reform legislation last year and introduced my proposal again at the first of this year. Last spring, the administration asked Congress to pass legislation quite similar to that which I had introduced.

While the press of other legislative business in Congress is likely to prevent passage of a draft reform bill this year, I welcome the administration's recent decision to proceed with plans to revise our selective service system through executive order.

The administrative branch of our federal government has always had the power to make changes in our selective service system but has until recently been hesitant to act.

Now President Nixon and Defense Secretary Laird say they are willing to institute reforms which will limit the length of time our young men will experience prime vulnerability to the draft to a single year.

In brief, the administration appears ready to institute essentially the same changes I put forward when I introduced my bills.

In addition, the administration also has expressed a desire to establish a lottery to provide a system of random selection among those young men of prime eligibility when the number of such young men exceed our nation's military manpower requirements.

I am not opposed to a lottery system but current legislation prohibits the administration from establishing such a system without Congressional action even though it is free to make the other desired changes.

Secretary Laird has said that if Congress fails to act to remove the restriction against a lottery system this year, the administration will institute another election method allowable under existing law which the administration calls the Moving Age Group.

Under this system, each young man would experience prime vulnerability to the draft for a 12-month period beginning at age 19 or upon expiration of a student or other type deferment. During the first year of operation, men classified 1-A who are 20 through 25 years of age would also be included.

Draftees would then be selected each month from among those who are then experiencing their 12 months of prime vulnerability.

Each month, the individuals who have been in the prime vulnerability pool the longest time would be selected. But also each month the day of the month used for determining the exact 12-month period of prime vulnerability would be changed administratively. Thus a degree of change would be injected into the system without the actual use of a lottery.

As you can tell, the Moving Age Group system is complex and would be difficult to administer. It would be much simpler to institute a fair method of genuine random selection from a pool in which each individual would remain for only one year.

Due to the protracted period of time required for Senate passage of the military procurement bill earlier this year, the Senate Armed Services committee, of which I am a member, is only just now getting ready to begin sessions on the military construction authorization bill. This means the committee will have no time this year for an exhaustive study of a draft reform plan.

The House, however, may act this year to approve legislation which would lift the existing restriction against establishment of a lottery system by executive order. If the House passes legislation confined only to the removal of that restriction, the Senate Armed Services Committee would be able to act on it quickly and seek Senate approval as well.

I am hopeful that this limited legislation will be passed by Congress this year.

It is of primary importance of course that our draft system be revised as soon as possible to at least limit the period of prime vulnerability to a single year and I welcome the administration's announcement that it will establish the revision early next year by executive order if necessary.

"The Army Green"

By Mc BERT PINALES
U. S. Army Recruiter

What would you say if I told you that the name National Guard did not originate in the United States?

It was coined during the French Revolution when authorities formed an organization to preserve law and order and named it the "National Guard of Paris." Its commander was none other than the Marquis de Lafayette.

When Lafayette came to the United States in 1824, he was met by the Eleventh New York Artillery Regiment.

One of the smaller units in the regiment had decided to form its own organization and was looking for a suitable name. An officer proposed that the name National Guard be used in honor of Lafayette. It was adopted as the unit's name and soon state militias all over the nation started calling themselves National Guard units.

The answer is yes. Military training is suspended for servicemen and women of various faiths on the special days of their faith.

PLAN NOW FOR WEST POINT
High school graduates who would like to go to West Point might consider joining the Army and applying for one of the Army appointments. The Army even runs a special prep school for young men interested in attending West Point. Those selected attend a ten-month course of instruction aimed at helping the soldier qualify in academics and physical aptitude for entrance into West Point. ### TAX MAN SA MISEZ:

The Internal Revenue Service is asked very often to recommend a good tax practitioner. Congress has carefully spelled out that Internal Revenue and its employees WILL NOT recommend any practitioner.

There are a number of ways that you can determine if a practitioner is well qualified. There are five generally well qualified groups:

(1) Of course, attorneys who specialize in tax work have professional qualifications. (2) Certified Public Accountants also have certification that they are qualified professionals. (3) The Internal Revenue Service, as prescribed by law, gives an examination to determine qualifications of other practitioners (other than lawyers and CPAs) to practice before the conference stations of IRS and the tax courts.

Each year in September this examination is administered, and there are a dozen or so who qualify in each District throughout the country. Naturally these people have proven their competence in the tax field when they qualify in this examination.

(4) Former Internal Revenue employees who are professionally qualified are also issued a card to practice after appropriate investigations. These former IRS employees cannot work on any case which they investigated in IRS. (5) To be a Public Accountant in Texas you must meet qualification standards established by the State Board of Texas. (Many Public Accountants specialize in tax work and are qualified.)

There are many other tax practitioners who work from a full time basis to a few days a week around April 15. Many of these people have very high qualifications and exceptional competence. Others have none. The best way to evaluate these people is to check their educational qualifications, their experience, and their reputation.

It should be obvious that if a man was a grammar school dropout and has worked as a ditchdigger for 50 weeks of the year, that he is not likely to be well qualified to prepare your tax return.

Under this system, each young man would experience prime vulnerability to the draft for a 12-month period beginning at age 19 or upon expiration of a student or other type deferment.

During the first year of operation, men classified 1-A who are 20 through 25 years of age would also be included.

Draftees would then be selected each month from among those who are then experiencing their 12 months of prime vulnerability.

Each month, the individuals who have been in the prime vulnerability pool the longest time would be selected.

But also each month the day of the month used for determining the exact 12-month period of prime vulnerability would be changed administratively.

Thus a degree of change would be injected into the system without the actual use of a lottery.

As you can tell, the Moving Age Group system is complex and would be difficult to administer.

Group Plans Community Day

A meeting of the Churches Women United board was held last week in the home of Mrs. John Pitman, where the group discussed plans for a "World Community Day."

At the meeting, the group elected to schedule the special day for November 7 at a noon luncheon at the Hereford Country Club. The program will be a panel discussion, moderated by the Rev. Fred Howard concerning community problems.

Those attending the meeting last week included Mmes. Claude McDougal, Werner Koelzer, Walter London, Jr., Father Simon Heine, the Rev. Howard and the Rev. Gene Brink.

Steve O'Neal, a rookie from Texas A&M, got off a 98-yard punt for the New York Jets in their game against the Denver Broncos. The ball hit the 30-yard line and bounded to the Denver one.

The popularity of pizza and cheese dips has revived Americans' interest in cheese, so long identified with European eating habits. We are rediscovering cheeses that were familiar to our grandparents. Besides the old favorites like cheddar (American) and Swiss cheese, your supermarket dairy department also displays exotic cheese from all over the world. There is the caraway-laden Kuminost, a Scandinavian favorite suitable for snacks. There is the pizza-makers Mozzarella, prized for its mild flavor and the ease and smoothness in melting. Of course, there is the French Roquefort used in cooking and salads. The much abused German Limburger cheese can't be beaten with crackers.

Beauchamp-Jones Wed In Candlelight Ceremony

In one of October's most beautiful weddings, Miss Toni Dawn Beauchamp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Beauchamp and Robert Harvey Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jones, pledged their marriage vows on Friday at First Christian Church. The 7 p.m. double-ring ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Eugene Brink, pastor.

Among the large assemblage of wedding guests were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. E. E. Hawkins of Amarillo and the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. G. T. Jones, residing here; his great-grandmother, Mrs. Beulah Robison; and his grandfather, Harold Robison.

The chimes of the organ heralded the bride's entry into the sanctuary on the arm of Mr. Beauchamp. Then to the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, played by Mrs. William Penn, they proceeded down the bridal aisleway, where white satin bows marked the family pews.

IMPRESSIVE ORGAN, VOCAL SELECTIONS

During the seating of the guests Mrs. Penn offered a program of nuptial music and then accompanied Bill Penn as he sang More, Twelfth of Never and Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Penn's selections included "Dearly Beloved" (Kern), "I'll Walk Beside You" (Murray), and "Why Do I Love Thee" (Kern).

Centering the altar area was an arrangement of coral gladiolas and white chrysanthemums flanked by three-tiered candelabras holding white votive candles. Surrounding the nuptial setting were arrangements of palms.

LOVELY CHANTILLY LACE ADORNS GOWN

Toni's formal demi-bell silhouette gown was exquisitely fashioned of white peau de soie and Chantilly lace. It was designed with a pearl encrusted Chantilly lace bodice with a high-rise collar and long sleeves. The lace was repeated on the formal hemline and applied at random on the A-line skirt. A crown of Chantilly lace, studded with crystals and seed pearls held her nylon illusion mantilla which extended into a chapel train. Pearl traced lace bordered the train and she carried a cascade bouquet of white gladiolas.

Her only jewelry was pearl earrings, a gift from the bridegroom.

ATTENDANTS WEAR EMERALD GREEN

Miss Nancy Turner of Brownfield was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Mark Jones of Littlefield, Miss Gail Dobmeier, Nazareth; and Miss Luann Kendall of Hereford.

THE BRIDEGROOM'S ATTENDANTS

The bridegroom's attendants were Ronnie Jones, of Honolulu, Hawaii, brother of the bridegroom; Clay Gable, Leveland; and Mike Beauchamp, brother of the bride, Hereford.

THE REHEARSAL DINNER

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Jones Thursday evening at the Calson House for about 30 members of the wedding party.

THE WEDDING PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Fletcher, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Budd, Amarillo; Mrs. Verdi Beauchamp, Dumas; Mr. and Mrs. R.B.

RECEPTION FOLLOWS CHURCH CEREMONY

Immediately following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Beauchamp honored the couple with a reception in the Fellowship Hall.

The prettily appointed reception table was laid with emerald green satin overlaid with white net. Coral tapers were secured in crystal holders, illuminating the four tiered wedding cake decorated with coral roses and topped with wedding bells.

How America's red-white-and-blue collar workers help keep America strong.

In May 1941, top representatives of America's labor unions met with Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Secretary of the Treasury, and pledged their support of the Payroll Savings Plan for U.S. Savings Bonds.

Today, organized labor still endorses and actively supports the program. And the Payroll Savings Plan, just an experiment in 1941, now proudly boasts 8 million members, mostly union people, sharing a personal interest in their future and their country's.

With the Payroll Savings Plan, saving for the future is downright easy—and painless. How can you spend money you don't even see?

When you sign up, a small part of your money is tucked away every payday. Automatically. And starts earning you interest of 4.15% on every Bond you buy and hold to maturity.

Bonds grow quickly. So when you need the money for important, personal things, the money is right there—ready to help pay for them.

Important things like a new home, education, that dream vacation—or your retirement.

Most important, Bonds are helping our men in Vietnam. Buy Bonds on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work and you'll find yourself in pretty good company. And dollars ahead.

CLASSIFIED MAKE YOU MONEY

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers. Q - Floods did considerable damage to our home. Will I be able to deduct these damages on my income tax return? A - You may be able to take a casualty loss deduction to the extent the loss exceeds $100 and was not compensated by insurance. Generally, the loss is the difference in the fair market value of the property before and after the flooding. Details on this provision of the tax law are contained in Publication 547, Tax Information on Disasters, Casualty Losses and Thefts. Send a post card to your District Director to obtain a free copy. Q - You sent my son a letter about his failure to file a 1968 tax return. Can he wait until he gets back from his military duty in Vietnam before filing it? A - Yes, if he was on active duty there when the return was due, he may postpone filing his income tax return until 180 days after leaving Vietnam. Notify the IRS office which sent the letter to your son about this combat duty. Q - Our local fire department had a raffle on a new car recently. Can I deduct the tickets I bought on the car as a charitable contribution? I didn't win it. A - No, the cost of the raffle tickets you bought are not deductible as contributions. The cost of such tickets is only deductible to the extent of your winnings. If you had won the car, you could deduct the cost of your tickets, but the fair market value of the car would have to be included in income. Q - Since my divorce, I continued to support my children even though my ex-wife has custody. Can I continue my withholding exemptions for them. A - If you are entitled to claim the children as dependents, you may take their exemptions for withholding purposes. For more details, ask for Publication 901, Your Exemptions and Exemptions for Dependents, free at your local IRS office. Q - Do you have to withhold Social Security tax on money given a maid for carfare? A - Yes, the Social Security tax applies to the total cash paid a household employee, even though some is paid for transportation. Tax payments for the July, August, September quarter are due October 31. Any person who has paid $50 or more cash wages in a quarter to an employee for household services (cleaning, gardening, etc.) must file a return using Form 942, Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees. Q - I've been offered a job overseas. If I take it, will I still have to pay U. S. income tax? A - If your job is with the U. S. Government, you will be subject to U. S. income taxes. However, income from a job with a foreign company or an overseas branch of a U. S. company may be fully or partially exempt from U. S. income taxes. The IRS has published a booklet covering these situations which is called Tax Guide for U. S. Citizens Abroad. For a free copy, send a post card to your District Director and ask for Publication 54.

La Madre Mia Club Is Collecting Camp Fire Uniforms

At a Thursday evening meeting of the La Madre Mia Study Club held in the home of Mrs. Don Walser, members voted on a service project to collect Camp Fire uniforms for some 35 camp Fire youngsters who are unable to purchase them. Anyone that has uniforms not in use, is asked to call Mrs. Waldo Baxter at 364-4546 or bring them by her home at 120 Aspen. Mrs. Walker Parris was co-hostess for the meeting. The program for the evening was presented by Mrs. Terry Hodges, a club member and a registered nurse. In the program, entitled "Health Garden," she related the importance of good health and good eating habits with the correct nourishment. She discussed the various changes in medicines and stated that people here in the west still seem to keep a family doctor while there is more specialization in the East. She also stressed the importance for young mothers to stay in good health and have an annual check-up. In a business session, conducted by Mrs. Baxter, president, a thank you note was read from Miss Paula Jackson, acknowledging the club's contribution to the Opportunity Plan at W. T. Following the reading of the bi-laws and constitution by Mrs. Ray Don King, Mrs. Jerry Don Glover was welcomed as a new member. Members voted to sponsor a third grade Bluebird group at Bluebonnet Elementary school. Others attending were Mmes. Herchel Black, Charles Frye, C. D. Adams, John Smith, Carl Carlile, Richard Ward, Harvey Penner, James Gentry, Dave Honea, Eugene Sparks, Gerald Martin, Don Lane, Charles Watson and a guest, Mrs. Ray Seale. Presidents Jackson, Pierce, Folk, Cleveland, and Buchanan used this particular pew. A total of 17 Presidents were assigned pews in the historic Capital church.

Moore-Rickman Cain And Hair On TCU Alumni Board

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald D. Henslee, 123 Star, was the setting for the pretty wedding of their daughter, Martha Ann Moore, to Johnny Lee Rickman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Rickman, Route 3. The Rev. Clifford Trotter, pastor of the First United Church, officiated for the 7 p. m. ceremony on Saturday.

Marking the place of ceremony in the living room was an arrangement of coral carnations complimented by green tapers. The bride wore a beige wool street length dress with a low-cut waistline and pleated skirt.

The long sleeves were enhanced by gold bottom trim and she wore a coral rosebud corsage.

Mrs. Don R. Henslee registered guests at the reception following the ceremony.

The prettily appointed serving table was centered with a two-tiered columned cake decorated with coral and green rosettes and surmounted by wedding bells. Green tapers flanked the setting. Presiding at the table were Mmes. Thomas W. Sweeney, John Newton and Thad Keyes.

Following a wedding trip to points in New Mexico, the couple will be at home at Route 3, Hereford.

Cain And Hair On TCU Alumni Board

FORT WORTH — Two Hereford residents are among approximately 100 Texas Christian University students who have been selected to serve as members of the Campus Alumni Board.

Philip Cain, son of B. F. Cain of 104 Elm, is a junior pre-med major.

Don Bill Hair, son of W. R. Hair of 209 Star, is a sophomore math major. He is the chairman of the Spirit Committee and secretary of the Baptist Student Union.

Selection of new members is conducted by former CAB participants.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. George L. Mager and Amy, Amarillo.

Students must have a good grade-point average and have attended TCU for one year. They also must be of a sophomore, junior or senior standing. CAB chooses members who participate in campus academic and social activities.

Mrs. Betty Jean Stocker, alumni affairs assistant director, serves as the group's coordinator and Rusty Werme, president of the student House of Representatives, serves as CAB chairman.

Members will assist the Alumni Affairs Office with the Homecoming Coffee with the Chancellor and the barbecue honoring valuable, distinguished and honorary alumni. The students also have chosen two projects of their own for the year. David Holmes heads a committee to build a "Frog Mobile" to be used in parades and tours for visiting dignitaries. Jeff Harp and Rick Wittenbracker are in charge of a TCU marquee to be purchased through funds raised by CAB.

Gold fever has flared up, at one time or another, in nearly every part of the world from Afghanistan to Zambia. The lure of gold triggered the exploration of the Americas and sped settlement of California, the Yukon, Alaska, Australia, and New Zealand. At one time, gold mining rivaled sugar as the national industry of the Fiji Islands.

Concerning Veterans

Up to $250 for the burial expenses of an eligible deceased veteran will be paid by the Veterans Administration without regard to whether the internment is in a national cemetery or a private burial place, according to Jack Coker, Manager, VA Regional Office, Waco. The VA spokesman said that the allowance is payable in the case of wartime veterans, including those who have served after August 4, 1964, but he added that peacetime as well as wartime veterans are eligible for burial in any national cemetery that has available space. The only requirement is that their last period of active duty must have ended with an honorable discharge.

National cemeteries open in this state are Fort Bliss National Cemetery, El Paso, Texas, and Fort Sam Houston National Cemetery, San Antonio, Texas.

Administered by the Department of the Army, the benefits include grave site and actual internment in the national cemetery, including opening, closing and marking the grave.

The Army also furnishes a headstone or grave marker for deceased veterans buried in unmarked private plots.

Where To Start?

Rail passenger service has been deteriorating over the years to a point where few even think of using the trains for travel these days.

It hasn't always been so, and in some of the metropolitan areas, where traffic congestion is becoming one of the major problems it appears that trains may be staging a comeback. It has been demonstrated between Washington and New York that people will ride the trains — if good service and equipment is offered. Air travel is becoming more hazardous each year, and with the number of autos in use today, you're taking your life in your hands every time you get out on the road.

There has to be a solution to the traffic congestion, and it is just possible that the railroads will supply the answer.

Certainly, out in the wide open spaces of the Southwest where major cities are hundreds of miles apart, the problem is not so severe, and it may be years before rail travel will become popular again here, but the time has already come along the Eastern Seaboard when something must be done. The railroads should take advantage of the opportunity and supply the fast, comfortable service that can be obtained in many of the foreign countries. Of course they need to start with a modernization program on their equipment, and next, probably through the efforts of the labor unions, to teach a little courtesy to the conductors and other rail employees that must come in contact with the traveling public. Too many railroad employees feel they are doing you a favor to allow you to ride the trains, and frankly, unlike the company executives, probably don't give a "tinkers damn" whether you travel with them or not.

On second thought, perhaps the railroads should start with the personnel first — and the equipment second.

Defense Planners Should Weigh Facts

The current Congressional resistance to Pentagon spending obviously stems in part from the dissatisfaction of some Congressmen and their constituents with the war in Vietnam, the continuing arms race, and disclosures of wasteful practices in military procurement that seem to verge on the criminal.

The tightened security is clearly overdue. It could be carried, conceivably, to excessive lengths if it threatens defense programs that are vital to the national security, and some of the militarists claim that point is being approached. Even so, we think the limited crackdown has been warranted and that it ought to be continued.

We see some merit, for example, in a bill by Senators Walter Mondale of Minnesota and Clifford Case of New Jersey that would scuttle Navy plans to build another nuclear-powered aircraft carrier.

Some of us served on a carrier during World War II and, while they are mobile, they are highly vulnerable to enemy attack. They are also expensive. While the ship itself would cost no more than $400 million or so, at today's prices, an attack carrier with its supporting fleets and back-up vessels might run to $4 billion or more.

That much money would build, as Russia has demonstrated, a lot of submarines or several ground-based air installations. It is far too pat to say that the experts are better prepared to judge the defensive value of a nuclear carrier, as opposed to land bases or submarines, than are the lay critics. That is clearly true but it has also been demonstrated that the experts are often biased.

This seems to us, in any case, a choice that should be weighed before the contracts have been awarded and the money released. The United States now has only one nuclear carrier, the Enterprise. It is sleek, fast, and — as warships go — luxurious. But despite its vaunted mobility, it's too big to get through the Panama Canal. — Asheville Citizen

Dark Side Of The Moon

The wealth of scientific, astronomical, space and astrology — sical information to be gleaned from the Apollo 11 moon landing may not be fully savored by an admiring world for months and maybe years. No so with another by-product of man's most remarkable journey.

Down in Nashville, global center of country music, publishers are braced for an outpouring of lunar doggerel reflecting the heroic accomplishments of Neil Armstrong & Co.

"They'll come in by the sack loads in the mail, and people will bring them in off the streets," predicted one recording firm spokesman. Some, of course, may survive long enough to be recorded. In a way, this should not be surprising. Great events in history have long been celebrated in song and verse, and long before man ever dreamed of riding a soaring rocket to the moon, this celestial body was a favorite. — Toledo Blade

CAN'T AFFORD THE FEATURES

Talk of Texas

By JACK MAGUIRE

STREAM OF TREASURE — The Neches River, which meanders through several southeast Texas counties on its way to the Gulf, is still a mecca for those who seek buried gold.

For generations, more stories have been told about gold being dumped into the Neches River, buried along its banks or secreted in caves above it than about any other single locality in the state. Treasure hunters, armed with faded maps supposedly handed down from early settlers, still look for the booty.

In 1835, for example, Mexicans fleeing Nacogdoches after news of Santa Anna's defeat at San Jacinto, supposedly buried three mule-loads of gold at the Neches crossing near where old Fort Teran stood. Another story says the same band of Mexicans dumped a casket filled with gold into the river.

Several searchers claim to have located treasure caches in the river and in the caves along its banks. If any of the gold has ever been recovered, however, it has been kept a secret by the finders.

RANGER LORE — Captain M. T. Gonzaulas of the Texas Rangers, the famed "Lone Wolf" who is said to have killed 75 men during his 31-year career, liked to have a barber shave him — but only in a sitting position.

Gonzaulas always refused to recline in a barber chair. He wanted to be sure that he wouldn't be bushwhacked while lying back for a shave.

PRICE WISE — Rooms in Houston's most unique, most exclusive "hotel" cost only a dollar a day — and a full course steak dinner in the dining room goes for only a little more.

The "hotel" is the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus train which is sidetracked for weeks each year while its passengers perform a mile away in the Astrodome. Although the circus performers may stay in hotels, most of them prefer to live aboard the train.

Stars of the show have their own private compartments aboard, while lesser lights are assigned berths in the "boys' car," "girls' car" or the "clown car." All take their meals, however, in the diner — "pie car" to those in the circus.

SCHOOL DAZE — Texans looking for an education these days can get it either in school or in jail.

For some years now, the Texas Department of Corrections has been the state's most unique independent school district, accredited to issue high school diplomas to penitentiary inmates who complete the required courses. This year, in cooperation with Alvin Junior College, the Ramsey Prison Unit awarded the first college degree in the history of the panel system.

It went to a 37-year-old scholar serving a life term for murder.

TRAVELING TEXAS — One of the oldest courthouses still in use is the Shackelford County capitol at Albany. The native limestone building is 86 years old.

65 YEARS AGO — 1904

Owing to my inability to make a canvass of the county and the near approach of the election, and being comparatively a stranger to a large number of the voters living in the county, and in truth, not really wanting the office, I have decided to withdraw from the race for the office of treasurer of the county, and in doing so I wish to sincerely thank those who have promised to support me. Respectfully, F. Herron.

The 1919 Fair Was A Ding Hummer! With slim attendance the first two days, due to cold and cheerless weather, the sun suddenly came out in all its glory Saturday, a tremendous crowd seemed to spring out of the ground, and the Hereford Free Fair of 1919 wound up with a blaz of glory and enthusiasm. . . First Lt. Fred Oberthier, son of F. H. Oberthier of Hereford, has received his discharge from the Army and arrived in Hereford Wednesday. . . A small blaze inside the projecting machine at the Star Theatre last Monday night destroyed a roll of picture films and put out a lot of smoke. Otherwise no damage was done.

35 YEARS AGO — 1934

Tax rolls for the City of Hereford have been completed with an increase of more than $50,000 in the total evaluation. The rate for 1934 taxes is unchanged, $1.45 per $100 valuation. . . "Dr. Monica" is the title of Friday's film for the Star. But there are no hospital scenes. Kay Francis is in the title role. It is a strong story taken from a noted Polish play and presents an unusual triangle. Warren William, Jean Muir and Veree Teasdale are in the supporting cast. Sunday's attraction brings back together Lew Ayres and Janet Gaynor in "Servants' Entrance." They were last teamed in "State Fair."

20 YEARS AGO — 1949

Eight years of hoping and searching ended happily in Hereford Monday night when a daughter who had been adopted by foster parents finally found her own mother. Mrs. C. I. Rudd, of Hereford, forged the final link in the chain for Mrs. Virgil Mills, 19, of Fort Worth, who was separated from her mother when she was eighteen months old. Mrs. Mills (her name was then Billy June Reece) was adopted here in Hereford almost 18 years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Skinner who later moved to Breckenridge. The youngest lived with her foster parents there and didn't know she was adopted until she was 11 years old. Billy June finally ran away from home when her foster parents wouldn't tell her who her parents were. They found her, of course, and she remained there until she married and moved to Fort Worth. About a month ago Mrs. Mills found her adoption papers while looking through some old papers belonging to her foster mother. The search commenced then and ended here. She first went to see her foster aunt, Mrs. Noel Worley, here in Hereford. Mrs. Worley sent her to the Luke Field Grocery store, where Mrs. Rudd is employed. The girl told her story and Mrs. Rudd recognized her as being the Reece baby whom she had kept six months prior to her adoption. She took the girl home and called her mother, who had remarried and is now Mrs. Kurt Griffin of Amarillo.

Electoral System, A Dangerous Blot?

By BERT MILLS

Washington, D. C. — Congress has earned few accolades for its performance this year but if it does nothing more than complete the half-finished task of passing a Constitutional amendment to reform the system by which we elect our President, it will have earned a high place in history.

Electoral reform has been sought for most of the nation's history. As far back as 1823, Thomas Jefferson called the electoral system "the most dangerous blot on our Constitution." Recent national polls have shown about 80 percent of the people favor a direct popular vote for President.

Recently the House debated the vote reform issue for eight days, concluding that the Electoral College should be scrapped in favor of a direct vote. Two other reform plans were considered and rejected during the debate but the big surprise was the final vote — 339 to 70, a margin of nearly five to one.

Congress cannot change the Constitution simply by passing a law. A proposed amendment to the Constitution requires a two-thirds vote by both the House and Senate, plus ratification by three-fourths of the states.

So there remains a long road ahead but the first big step has been taken by the House.

Nixon Urges Senate Action
President Nixon was among those who was pleasantly surprised by the over-whelming vote in the House. He had not believed it possible that Congress would back a direct vote system. In a special message last February, he favored a proportional distribution method, as the least controversial reform which seemed to have the best chance of adoption.

But in the light of the House action, the President has endorsed the method voted by the House and urged the Senate to concur. He warned: "It is clear that unless the Senate follows the lead of the House, all opportunity for reform will be lost this year and possibly for years to come."

"Accordingly," he added, "because the ultimate goal of electoral reform must prevail over differences as to how best to achieve that goal, I endorse the direct election approach and urge the Senate also to adopt it." He warned that "contrary views are now a luxury" and that the need for reform "should be our controlling consideration."

Speed is important because when Congress agrees on the terms of a prospective 26th Amendment, 50 state legislatures must act. Even if the Senate concurs in the House action this year, there would be little time for 39 states to adopt the amendment in time for the 1972 Presidential election. Some legislatures will not even meet until 1971.

Senate Committee Holds Key
Next battleground for the Constitutional amendment is the Senate Judiciary Committee. This is one of the busiest committees in Congress and does not act in haste on major matters. It is now pondering the Supreme Court nomination of Clement F. Haynsworth.

Citizens anxious for electoral reform could improve the chance for Senate action this year if they would write their Senators, endorsing H. J. Res. 681, the House-passed resolution to amend the Constitution to require direct election of the President and abolish the Electoral College.

If there is the strong public sentiment for vote reform, it is particularly important that Judiciary Committee members get the word from back home. The Chairman is Sen. James O. Eastland (D., Miss.) and the ranking minority member Sen. Roman L. Hruska (R., Neb.). If Congressional action is not completed this year, all chance for final adoption in time for the 1972 election will disappear.

THE BOOTLEG — Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Johnson-grass farm gets over into the field of sports this week. We're not sure he should.

Dear editor:

I don't usually have anything to say about sports, it's too serious a field for me. I stick with Congress, farming, international affairs, metropolitan incompetence and things like that, but like a good many million other people I've been watching professional football on television and near the end of a game the other Sunday a sudden thought hit me.

The score was 17 to 21, the home team had the ball and the 17 points and needed a touchdown to win, a field goal wouldn't do it, but there were only 31 seconds left and the team had no times-out left.

The quarterback was passing successfully and the receivers stepping out to bounds to stop the clock, the fans were all standing up and roaring and the announcer was straining his voice, but it was just too far to the goal line and time ran out. A few more plays and they might have made it.

Now here's a situation the owners and players of professional football are overlooking, when you remember it's a cash deal all the way around for everybody on both sides.

Why couldn't the team that's behind with 30 seconds to go stop the clock and offer the other team say $50,000 for more minutes of playing time? It'd be an offer hard to turn down, what with the players all having families and such.

Where'd they get the money? Where's the fan who wouldn't give a dollar to see his team get one more chance to win? Just pass the hat and out of 75,000 people in the stadium, 50,000 would kick in immediately with a dollar apiece, some even more.

If the team then got the drive going again but needed a few more times-out to conserve the extra 2 minutes, why couldn't it buy a few at say $5,000 apiece? I understand a team is allowed 3 times-out in each half, but how many games have you seen when a few more in the closing seconds might make the difference between winning and losing? Professional football could increase its income thousands of dollars a season just by selling additional times-out at $5,000 a throw, not to mention the larger amounts from selling extra time near the end of a cliff-hanger.

Come to think of it, why couldn't a baseball team buy an extra inning when it's behind 3 to 2 in the ninth? This thing has unlimited financial possibilities.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Federal Birth Control

Talk is cheap, and that's about all he public has heard from Washington concerning economies in government.

Expenditures keep going up and there is considerable speculation that the Federal government may spend up to $200 billion this fiscal year, which began July 1. While that figure is almost incomprehensible, it's not difficult to see why the budget keeps rising when individual cases are considered.

For example, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has announced a grant of a quarter of a million dollars to Indiana to provide planning for the poor in the state's metropolitan areas. The $244,000 grant will provide counseling, medication and birth control devices. The public is assured by Dr. Joseph F. Thompson, who will have charge of the grant, that "there is no coercion involved. A woman must request the information or equipment before we give it out."

The lack of coercion doesn't answer the religious and moral objection many Americans have to the use of artificial methods of birth control. It is ironic that a number of people who are so eager to encourage young men to opt out of military service on religious grounds are also so persistent in getting the Federal government to force others to subsidize birth control.

We believe that birth control is a private matter among individuals and should be neither encouraged or discouraged by the government. It's another expense contributing to the high cost of government when the need is for a little common sense about the use of the taxpayer's money. — Indianapolis News

Washington Report

From Congress
BOB PRICE HEREFORD, TEXAS
1323 LONGWORTH OFFICE BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C. • 205 3706

Panhandle Congress- Job Price testified Tuesday on the price of beef before the House Government Operations Subcommittee on Special Studies. The Texas Republican stated that, "the price of beef is more a reflection of the cost of marketing beef than it is the cost of producing beef. It is for this reason that I suggest that those complaining about the so-called 'high-price' of beef examine the problem more closely. If they do so, they will discover that the causes of the problem lie elsewhere than the farm, the ranch, or the feed lot. He said, "it is instructive to compare the rise in beef prices since the early fifties, with that of other consumer items. The record is clear that through the years beef prices have risen slower than the prices of dairy products, fruits and vegetables, rent, homes, clothing, medical care, recreation, and public transportation. Price stated, "based on its price record, beef is a real bargain. Over the past twenty years, general inflation has brought about price increases for all goods and services of more than 40 percent. Despite this radical increase, beef today sells at a more favorable price than existed 18 years ago: Today, one hour's labor buys 3 1/2 pounds of beef; ten years ago the same labor bought less than 3 pounds of beef; and twenty years ago, the consumer purchased approximately 1 pound of beef for one hour of labor. During the past twenty years, per capita disposable income increased 50 percent. Yet today, the average American family spends only 17 percent of its disposable income on food, as compared to the 1959 figure of 25 percent. When one considers that 2.3 cents out of each disposable dollar is spent on beef, the favorable position of today's consumer becomes obvious.

Capt. Johnson Commissioned In Air Force

SPANGDAHLEM, Germany — Captain Dennis J. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Reed of Murfreesboro, Tenn., has received a regular commission in the U. S. Air Force at Spangdahlem AB, Germany.

His wife, Maribeth, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Gilliland of Rt. 4, Hereford. Capt. Johnson previously held a USAF reserve commission as an Officer Training School graduate. He was named for regular status on the basis of his duty performance, education background and potential as an Air Force officer.

He is serving as a navigator-bombardier at Spangdahlem with the 39th Tactical Electronic Warfare Squadron, a unit of the U. S. Air Forces in Europe.

The captain, a 1960 graduate of Murfreesboro Central High School, received his B. S. degree in mathematics in 1964 from Middle Tennessee State University.

the food processing and distributing industries, labor costs alone have increased well over 45 percent when compared to the standard 1957-59 averages. In addition, the cost of land, labor, equipment, and money has risen dramatically over the last few years. Finally, the modern convenient see-thru packaging coupled with the increasing variety of cuts that the consumer is demanding has increased the price between the beef producer and the dinner table.

Price observed that the cattle industry is meeting this cost-price squeeze head on. Cattle producers have brought in professional managers and animal-nutrition specialists to run their business; they are reacting faster to changing market conditions; and, they freely acknowledge that they must continue to update their operations if they are to survive.

He declared, "I think it is of vital importance to note that the cattle industry is meeting this challenge and altering its traditional modes of operation within the free market system. Cattlemen are not asking for price supports, they are not asking for willing to rely on competitive market forces to establish the price level, and they are willing to succeed or fail on that basis. This is truly the spirit of American enterprise and American ingenuity. This rugged individualism, typified by the American cattle producer, is what has helped make our country great. Price concluded that, "because the cattle industry operates in the free market, the price a cattleman ultimately receives for his product is determined by the price the consumer is willing and able to pay at the retail level. The consumer is presently demanding a lot of beef in terms of both quantity and quality. The American cattle industry has met this demand, and can continue to meet this demand, but only on a basis which permits the industry to realize a reasonable return on its investment. If, however, the price of beef does not continue to follow its present course in the market, the cattle industry will have no alternative but to reallocate operations and diversify resources to more profitable uses. If this occurs, production will be reduced, and beef prices will be driven skyward."

FB Speaker Wants Price System Plan

WACO — A Farm Bureau spokesman said most producers realize that a return to the market price system is the only way to reverse current downward trends in prices and exports.

Ed McKay, national legislative director for the Texas Farm Bureau, reminded county Farm Bureau leaders in an "action-requested" letter this week that the House Agriculture Committee has concluded hearings and is now writing a farm program to be presented for vote in the House. McKay requested that county Farm Bureau presidents and national policy execution chairmen contact their Congressmen to support Farm Bureau's proposals for a farm program.

"All other farm proposals before Congress are wide open to imposition of strict limitations on payments or on acreage allotments or both," McKay said. "Most producers feel that any additional limitations would be the final straw in putting them out of business. Most producers realize that a return to the market price system is the only way to reverse current downward trends in prices and exports."

The Farm Bureau's program, introduced in Congress as the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1969, contains five major amendments to the present Food and Agriculture Act of 1965, McKay said. These are:

(1) Title I extends present Food and Agriculture Act of 1965 for 5 years with two changes. The first change would set price supports at 85 percent of the average market price received by producers during the immediately preceding 3 marketing years for cotton, wheat, corn, oats, rye, barley, soybeans and grain sorghum. The second change would reduce the total amount of money spent on farm program payments by 20 percent each year for five years. This money would be spent instead on a land retirement program.

(2) Title II terminates existing cotton, wheat and feed grains programs after 1975, and sets a permanent price support of 85 percent of the preceding three years market price average for these commodities.

(3) Title III reserves the market place for producers by at least 150 percent of the loan rate plus carrying charges, prohibiting sales of Commodity Credit Corporation stocks. Provision would be made for disposal of stocks going out of condition.

(4) Title IV extends the present cropland adjustment program of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965 and specifies that at least 10 million acres will be retired each year from 1971 through 1975. Whole farms would be retired through a competitive bid basis for a period of ten years.

(5) Title V authorizes a retraining program for producers with gross annual sales of not more than $5,000.

Concerning Veterans

On the fourth anniversary of its inception, the nation's largest group life insurance program is providing coverage for 96.4 percent of eligible members of the Armed Forces of the United States, VA Administrator Donald E. Johnson said today.

Supervised by the Veterans Administration, the Servicemen's Group Life Insurance program covers more than 3,700,000 servicemen — the largest under any single group contract.

SGLI, established in 1965, provides $10,000 life insurance coverage to servicemen at a cost to the insured of only $2 per month, Mr. Johnson said.

Automatic coverage is provided for each serviceman unless he indicates in writing that he does not want a policy. Only 1.6 percent of the eligibles have chosen not to be covered, and most of those covered take the full amount rather than the optional $5,000 amount that costs only $1 per month.

The primary insurer is The Prudential Insurance Company of Newark, N. J. On a formula basis prescribed by VA, 591 companies participate as reinsurers and converters.

Coverage under the program continues for the serviceman until 120 days after his separation from service and no premium payments are required during this period. At any time while the coverage is in force, the group insurance may be converted to regular individual insurance in any participating commercial insurance company.

SGLI is the newest of the various G. I. insurance programs, and it is by far the cheapest to administer. Since the beginning of the program the entire costs have been shared in the ratio of 46 percent for the serviceman and 54 percent by the Government for each $2 paid by the serviceman.

Total cost to the Government during the last fiscal year was $111,763,883.

Administrative costs are only 46 cents per year for each serviceman insured or a total of $1,582,329 for the last fiscal year including $250,963 for VA's expenses.

OCTOBER IS NATIONAL

COOPERATIVE MONTH

October Is Cooperative Month

Two figure of speech claim attention as the nation observes Cooperative Month during October. One is "Links in Progress," theme for the observance.

"Island of economic hope," a phrase of President Johnson's, is the other. Together, the two word pictures dramatically highlight the story of progress through cooperatives. They summarize progress such as that constantly stressed and achieved by the rural electric cooperatives of Texas and their goal of "Helping Texas Grow!"

They point also to islands of hope such as that now being sought by 700 farmers who are members of a grain cooperative at Dimmitt. Through the cooperative, these Texas farmers have started building a corn processing plant. When it is completed, they will process their own grain, producing starch, dextrose, glucose, oil, gluten feed and meal.

The farmers, by building a plant which they could not possibly have built except through a cooperative, will increase considerably their own profits from their crops. In addition, they will give a tremendous boost to the economy of their area. In this way, cooperatives are certainly "links in progress" and "islands of economic hope."

In many other areas and many communities, cooperatives are an important part of our economic life rather than "merely islands of economic hope."

Rural electric and telephone cooperative members are well aware that these co-ops are an established and important part of their economic lives.

Other cooperatives now serve rural people as well as city and town folks with housing, food health care, credit, insurance, drugs, furniture products, and even news.

More than 60-million Americans share ownership in our nation's cooperatives, which do an estimated $20-million worth of business each year.

These cooperatives pay a $1-billion transportation bill annually. They buy electricity and water-often in huge quantities. Annually, thousands of cooperative dollars go for insurance and bonds. Interest, paid to banks on borrowed money, to investors on stocks and bonds, and to others who help provide the billions of dollars needed to keep the cooperatives going, helps boost non-cooperative businesses, too.

The rural electric cooperatives in Texas have long exerted a beneficial effect on their areas. Many of them are the largest businesses in their areas, employing the most people and paying the largest amounts of taxes.

The electric cooperative in Texas alone supply more than 400,000 rural families and enterprises with electricity. And while providing this service — which no other utility was willing to provide — the rural electric cooperatives have stimulated the Texas economy by millions of dollars through their purchases of materials to construct and operate their systems.

Electric cooperative members, in turn, have purchased from four to five times this much in equipping themselves to use this service — an added impetus to the economy reaching from Main Street to Wall Street.

Indeed, many cooperatives in the United States are much more than "merely island of economic hope." But the phrase still applies in some areas of this nation and especially in other countries.

The United States government has joined in fostering these islands of hope in other nations through efforts to help them establish rural electric cooperatives. Concerning this, the President has said:

"We have built well and soundly in the cooperative segment of our own economy. It is from this substance of real and enduring free enterprise that we are giving heart and hope in the developing countries — not only through the efforts of our government but through the individual efforts of cooperatives and the people within them."

For such reasons, it is clear that cooperatives have been and will be links in progress and islands of economic hope. They provide the unity in which is found the strength needed when the task is too big for individuals alone. And the members of all cooperatives, in this Cooperative Month as in all other months, can take full pride in their accomplishments.

But it's a month for re-dedication as well as pride. It's a good time to resolve to participate fully as a cooperative member so as to assure more progress and even brighter hopes.

People Join Hands To Bring Progress

Rural families used co-ops to electrify U.S. farms. The first electric co-ops were organized in 1936, when only 11 percent of the nation's farm families had central-station electricity. Now 98 percent have such dependable electric service, and co-ops serve more than half of them.

Through cooperatives, New York City families have remade lower Manhattan. Their housing co-ops have replaced the slums with graceful buildings, parks, and playgrounds. Families who live there pay 20-25 percent less than they would to rent similar apartments.

Farmers have used co-ops to gain some control over the cost of their supplies. Where they've built strong co-ops, they've held the price line since 1957-59 — fertilizer down 3 percent, feed down 8 percent, electricity down 3 percent, tractor fuel up only 3 percent. Where co-ops are weak, prices have risen sharply. A tractor costs 13 percent more than in 1957-59, a corn planter 25 percent more, twine 20 percent more.

Co-ops pioneered consumer credit. Loans used to be made to persons who could pledge sufficient collateral. If you didn't need money, you could borrow it. Credit unions changed this. They emphasized the borrower's character, his ability to repay. Fifteen million credit union members own 22,000 of these self-help credit co-ops, and they have there on deposit $8½ billion.

After World War II, church, labor, farm, co-ops and civic groups agreed to pool their relief efforts overseas instead of setting up separate agencies. They organized the world's most famous co-op, CARE, the Cooperative for American Relief Everywhere. Through this co-op, Americans have contributed $215 million for food, clothing, blankets and self-help tools.

The man who has prepaid his doctor bill more likely seeks regular physical checkups. That's why group health plans emphasize prepayment as well as group-practice, direct service health care. As a result, their 5 million members are hospitalized 40 percent less often than Americans generally. These co-ops point the way to health.

The cooperatively-oriented mutual insurance companies — those that seek to stimulate meaningful policy owner control — introduced the first practical group policies. These co-ops were also the first to merit-rate the rural residents and thus cut farmers' auto insurance costs.

60 Million Own Co-Ops

More than 60 million Americans share ownership in cooperatives. City, town, and rural people use these co-ops to get housing, food, health care, credit, insurance, drugs, furniture, and petroleum products. Rural people use cooperatives to get electricity and telephone service, chemicals, and steel products. All of this cooperative business totals $20 billion dollars a year.

Businessmen also use cooperatives to serve their special needs — druggists, grocers, hardware men, clothiers, and other independent merchants. Associated Press, the world-wide news gathering agency, is a publishers' cooperative.

The distinctive mark of a co-op is that it serves the people who own it: its customers. It's locally-owned, not-for-profit, serving its member-owners at approximate cost. They have a voice in determining the quality of goods and services they get and the prices they pay through their co-ops.

In cooperatives, 60 million persons participate more fully in this country's free enterprise system. They find it a good way to get things done.

The 'What' Of Co-Ops

A cooperative is a private, non-profit enterprise, locally owned and managed, and incorporated under State law. It is owned by the members it serves, and each member has one vote in its affairs.

Many cooperatives have adopted plans whereby any revenues in excess of expenses are capital and are assigned to the individuals on a patronage basis. They provide for retiring this capital as the boards of directors determine.

Under the by-laws of practically all cooperatives, there is one annual membership meeting each year, at which consumers elect a board of directors from among their membership. The directors elect their own officers and employ a manager to run the Co-op. Employees are responsible to the manager, the manager is responsible to the board, and the board is responsible to the membership at large.

Efficiency Marks Cooperatives

Efficiency is a lot more than just a word to rural electric people. It is a key to the survival of their electric systems.

When you serve just 10 percent of the people of the United States, scattered over one-half of the nation's land area, as rural electric do, you've got to be efficient — or go out of business.

The efficiency of America's rural electric cooperative and consumer-owner power districts takes many forms; continuous training of management personnel, keeping up with technological progress, seeking new and better ways of preparing today for the changes due tomorrow.

But to rural electric people, efficiency also means something else. It means working with the rest of the community to improve the total quality of rural living — a kind of "social efficiency" which goes far beyond dollars and cents.

Social efficiency means that rural electric people test every activity by asking: "Is it good for our membership and our community?" If the answer is yes, it's a good bet rural electric are doing it.

And, with the continuing help of Rural Electrification Administration loans, rural electric people are also working to assure that their efficiency benefits the entire nation.
