SANTA FE SERVICE MATTER NOW IN HANDS OF COURTS

TO COOPERATE Towns Along Line Submit Data to Panhandle-Plains Organization

The Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce, through Hamlin Palmer, traffic manager, is still working vigorously on the matter of the re-establishment of double daily train service between Amarillo and Clovis. It will be remembered that the Santa Fe secured an injunction in the district court of Travis county to prevent the railroad from ordering these trains restored. Mr. Palmer is working with the commission and the attorney general's department in securing necessary data to argue the matter when it comes to a hearing. Mr. Palmer writes the Hereford Chamber of Commerce, in part, as follows:

"Referring to letter of Mr. Wallace Hawkins of the Attorney General's Department under date of May 7th regarding the annulment of trains numbers 14 and 117 on the Santa Fe west of Amarillo.

"As you already know and as explained by Mr. Hawkins' letter, the question involved here is the obligation of the Railroad Company to the public as a common carrier to furnish necessary service, but of course the question of remuneration to the Company is also a prominent factor. The Railroad Company will probably be able to show that the travel on these trains increased to some extent from 1917 until about June 1920, after which it declined very considerably. I am simply judging by general conditions elsewhere. The Attorney General's office is in position to compel the Railroads to furnish him the figures, and we will not be under any necessity to show this feature.

"It is now some two months since these trains were taken off and the people west of Amarillo ought to know pretty definitely by this time just what the effect has been and be able to judge as to whether or not the conveniences and necessities of the public have suffered to such an extent that we can make a good showing before the Court. "After reading Mr. Terry's letter to the Commission under date of March (Continued on page five.)

Registered Sales Showing Optimism And Draw Crowds

A. M. Jones and Ray Barber returned Thursday from a trip into Kansas and Oklahoma where they attended two registered Hereford cattle sales. The first sale was that of Del D. Brownback of Hartner, Kansas, held on May 17. Sixty head in good condition were sold for an average of $240. A yearling Beau Blanchard bull brought $1025. A string of Beau Randolph stuff was included, bringing three times as much in the ring as the rest of the herd, showing that the breeders of the country still have their eyes peeled for real blood and pedigree.

On the 18th Messrs. Jones and Barber took in the Frank Cheadle sale at Cherokee, Okla. This herd is headed by a Bright Victor bull, a brother to one now in the Jones & Dameron herd. The sale animals were not in the best of condition, and the sale was held in a wheat farming community, which cut down the average somewhat. Large crowds attended both sales, and spirited bidding was noted. Colonel Gross, the man who sold the cattle here recently, officiated at both places. A spirit of optimism and a tendency toward better times was noticeable at both sales.

JOHN McFARLIN IS FIGHTING BATTLE TO HOLD HIS OWN

Reports from the bedside of John McFarlin, whose spine was fractured in an automobile accident last week, are to the effect that he is about the same, with little change in his condition. A definite diagnosis cannot be made until the plaster of paris cast is removed.

Capacity House Greeted Seventh Graders When Play Presented Tuesday

That the people of Hereford are interested in the public schools was evidenced Tuesday evening when a capacity house greeted the outgoing seventh grade class and welcomed the incoming high school freshmen.

The class numbering forty-two bright boys and girls was presented for graduation by Miss Helen Sisk. The class colors were purple and gold, and the class motto, "Governed by Judgment Rather than Impulse." Class honors were won by Inez Ott.

The program included the play "Everyyouth" and presentation of certificates of graduation by Mr. Fertsch. The play was an allegorical sketch whose wholesome moral lesson was attractively clothed in a charming story of special appeal to youth. It pictured vividly, life, as it comes to the average boy, with the opportunities and temptations which it puts squarely to "Everyyouth", leaving the choice of good or evil entirely to his own volition.

The part of "Everyyouth" was excellently taken by George Beams. His stage presence was good, his voice carried easily to all parts of the house, and his work in general was a true interpretation of the character of the well-intentioned, pleasure-loving boy.

Wayne Bowers was perfectly at home in his role of "Work" and he put into the part all of the practical, matter-of-fact expression it demanded.

Vice, with its insidious allurements, was well represented by Marlin Gilliland. His voice and manner being well adapted to his part.

Roger Wilkinson had the jolly, care-free air so fitting for his impersonation of "Pleasure". With just the right amount of self-assurance he was the typical idle "young-man-about-town." A clever picture of "Care" was shown in the work of Robert Anthony whose genial appearance and manner emphasized the lesson he sought to portray. Newell Hughes, as "Truth" was an excellent character. His air of straightforward manliness added strength to his part. Hill Garrison gave an ideal interpretation of "Reason". He looked as well as acted the part which seemed but the expression of his natural self.

Temptation, Conceit and Vanity impersonated by Lucille Hicks; Gwendolyn Price; and Mozelle Hill, were so dainty and bewitching as to most adequately portray the alluring appeal of these evil influences. Their pretty costumes made more emphatic by contrast the inner ugliness which their work so well portrayed.

Happiness and Love were admirably represented by Mary Valentine and Georgia Karr. Girlish and sweet their attractiveness gave force to their excellent performance.

Miss Grace Skelton Will be the New City Clerk

Miss Mabel Schwartz, City Clerk, who has so efficiently held that position since Miss Annie Price departed last year for the Pacific Coast, has resigned, effective June 1. Miss Schwartz desires to complete her University education.

At a special meeting of the City Commission Friday morning, Miss Grace Skelton, teacher in the schools and sister of C. A. Skelton, was selected to fill the office.

The city has been unusually fortunate in the selection of the last two incumbents. Both Miss Price and Miss Schwartz filled the place efficiently and satisfactorily. Miss Skelton, who comes highly recommended, will find one of the best municipal office systems in the country at her disposal, and her many friends are confident that she will amply fill the shoes of her two predecessors.

Travis Dameron Delivers Pleasing Talk to Class In Graduation Ceremony

It is no truer that "all the world loves a lover" than that all the world loves a high school graduate and at the opening of the exercises for Senior Commencement on Wednesday evening seats were at a premium, the district courtroom being crowded in both auditorium and gallery.

Again, the "red and white" of the "red and white" of the seniors spoke the significance of the occasion and made very attractive the large assembly hall, and again, the class—the largest ever graduated from the Hereford High School—thrilled the audience with the thought of the value of high-minded youth, as they took the seats of honor on the platform.

The program was opened by the singing of "America" followed by Rev. Sharp in invocation; then, Daniel Bell, class salutatorian, in a brief address, very eloquently welcomed the audience.

Two numbers by the high school glee club were, charmingly rendered—and were followed by the class address by Travis Dameron.

As a high-school boy of only a few years ago and a young man of recognized worth, Mr. Dameron was the choice of the audience for class day speaker, as well as the choice of the class, and was given hearty applause (Continued on Page Five)

REVEREND SHARP IN BACCALAUREATE ADDRESS AT SPUR

Rev. J. R. Sharp of the Presbyterian church of Hereford returned home on Tuesday, after preaching the baccalaureate sermon for the High School commencement exercises at Spur, Texas, last Sunday morning.

Superintendent W. C. Cameron of Spur was formerly an old friend and associate of Rev. Sharp at Tulla, Tex.

Mr. Sharp reports that it rained all the way down, but in spite of the inclement weather the house was filled to capacity and the baccalaureate exercises drew words of appreciation from the audience. Eight graduates were included in the Spur class.

OLD SCOTCH STILL IN CUSTODY HERE; PARTY IS INDICTED

All six of the people arrested by Sheriff Purcell Tuesday night were indicted by the Grand Jury about noon Friday. The bills charged all with having liquor unlawfully in their possession, and two of them with unlawfully transporting liquor.

The four men, and two women, together with sixty cases of old Scotch, the Reo truck and the Cadillac touring car captured by the local officers Tuesday night are still in the custody of Sheriff Purcell. The grand jury has been working steadily on the case ever since the capture.

The names given by the parties are: Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Price, who were in the truck; and Mr. and Mrs. Preisser, T. J. Price and H. O. Moreland in the Cadillac. They state they come from Hutchinson, Kansas.

It is undeniably true that the truck load was brought from El Paso across the entire state of New Mexico. A number of government officials and other officers have been here, but the Sheriff states that he will retain possession of the property until lawful federal demands are made upon him for the release of the liquor, truck and car.

There has been some wonderment expressed locally why the county should prosecute the case instead of the Federal courts, and also some disposition to criticize for the apparently unnecessary expense involved in such prosecution. In discussing the matter with Sheriff Purcell, he takes this view point: That if District Court and the grand jury had not been in session just at this time he probably would have passed it up to the Federal authorities to avoid holding the bunch indefinitely. But with the grand jury working and the criminal docket set for Monday, the cases could be handled swiftly. The state laws give from one year to five years in the penitentiary for such offenses, while the Federal laws are conflicting and a maximum fine of $1,000 and a short jail sentence imposed. The sheriff has repeatedly given evidence to the Federal authorities of illegal liquor transactions, and tendered his own aid, without apparent result. Meanwhile, he is hauled out of bed night after night to risk his life, and that of his assistants, in stopping cars coming through and then, if he does make an arrest, as in this instance, and the case is turned over to Federal authorities, that is the last that is heard of it, or else a light fine and sentence is imposed and the offenders continue in their unlawful work.

The sheriff is getting tired of no results from such risks and so much work and is determined to put a period to unsatisfactory public service.

JIM CLARK PULLS OUT ANOTHER BIG FISH—5½ LBS.

Another big bass was snared on the Tierra Blanco last Sunday. J. J. Clark was the lucky man this time. Mr. Clark was accompanied by C. A. Skelton and the pair were whipping the waters on the Slaughter place.

At first it was reported that Clark's catch exceeded that of A. Herbst the week before. The Herbst fish weighed six and a half pounds; but Mr. Clark stated that his fish panned out to be a five and a half pounder. A tin can was fitted in the mouth of the fish, which was put on display at the drug store.

Junior Chautauqua Pleases Kids Parade is Staged

Miss Edna Cole, of Spring Hill, Kansas, arrived in this city the first of the week and immediately went to work to organize the Junior Chautauqua. On Thursday morning a parade was staged led by a drum corps. The object of this organization is to make Hereford a clean and a more healthful place in which to live.

This organization will also police the town for the entire year. The amusement end is secondary. The children will be taught games, a story hour will have its place and at the end of the week a progressive review, embracing the entire week's work will be in order. At the close of the Junior Chautauqua, officers will be elected for the entire year and an effort will be made to make the organization permanent. Miss Cole states that it is her first experience in this particular kind of work, but being a teacher in public schools, has had wide experience in educational work. The parents need to take a deeper interest in this junior work, if the children are to get the full benefit of the Chautauqua.

THIRTY-SEVEN FINE FAT STEERS LEAVE HERE FOR MARKET

The Brand man had the pleasure of looking at 37 head of the fattest, roundest, slickest, prettiest Hereford calves, coming two, at the stock pens Friday morning that have been shown here in many moons. They were as pretty as a litter of speckled pups.

The shipment has been fed by J. W. Brumley, brother of G. W. Brumley, since last November, and have had nothing but ground kaffir with a little meal. It is said to be the finest job of feeding performed in this county to date. The cattle were shipped to market Friday afternoon.

Mr. Brumley was not expecting to make any money on this stuff, fine as it is, as they were bought on a high market. If they had been purchased on the present market and fed the same way they would undoubtedly have made a nice profit for the feeder.

BLACKLEG EXPERTS SPEND DAY HERE CONSULTING AGENY

Dr. Frank R. Jones and Dr. Thomas P. Haslan, both connected with the Globe Laboratories of Fort Worth, Texas, spent a portion of Wednesday in Hereford, visiting with Norton & Powelson, local agents for the Purity Blackleg serum, which is made by the company with which the visitors are connected. Dr. Jones is Sales Manager and Dr. Haslan scientist for the company.

Dr. Jones is an old pal of the Brand editor, both having formerly been together in the Extension Service of the A. & M. College. The Hon. Clarence Ousley, former head of the Extension work, is now Vice President of the Globe Laboratories, which cover an eleven acre tract of land just north of the city limits of Fort Worth.

DISTRICT COURT'S CRIMINAL DOCKET SET FOR MONDAY

Regular work proceeded in the District Court this week. The criminal docket was set for Monday, May 23. In the case of S. L. Harman vs. The Industrial Transportation Co. et al, judgment was rendered for defendants. Jack Buster vs. John W. Gordon is now on trial.

What's the difference between the Chautauqua and a street carnival? Charles H. Plattenburg, Chautauqua lecturer, answered the question Thursday night in a manner which ought to convince any dissenter.

"Feed your children trash," said the lecturer, "and they will want trash when they are grown. I knew a boy, raised in the Alabama hills, who had nothing to eat or drink in his early years but corn. MUSH for breakfast, mush for dinner, mush for supper. Years later, when he had made money and was wine'd and dined at a banquet, he asked for MUSH when facing a turkey dinner.

"Take the young lady outside in the ticket booth. Is she a painted creature of the streets such as you will find in almost any street carnival? On the other hand, she is working her way through college and is a lady of the highest type to be found anywhere. Take your Superintendent here, Mr. Taugarden. Is he a 'barber' and 'splier,' such as you find leading the ordinary street carnival? On the contrary, he is a university graduate, and a gentleman to his finger tips. Take this program this year: do we offer you and your children a show of Fat Ladies, and Wild Men of Borneo, and Snake Dancers, and hokey-hokey artists? On the contrary, Charles F. Horner went to Honolulu and hired these boys who have so delightfully entertained you this afternoon with clean, artistic and pleasing music and humor; he went to California and secured Dr. Ng Poon Chew, Chinese Mark Twain, who will leave you a message that will bear fruit; he went to New York and brought you "Broadway Jones," the greatest drama that Cohen ever wrote; he brings you John Temple Graves, the (Continued on page five.)

Musical Contest Features Closing Of Year's Work

Miss Mattie Swisher, head of the music department of the public schools, closed her year's work with a musical contest in which the pupils of the seventh grade and high school participated. It was held in connection with the work in musical appreciation.

The contest tested the ability of the pupils to recognize the victrous rendering of compositions with which they had had opportunity to be familiar, to give, also, the name of the composer and to spell it correctly. Twenty-five selections for the high school and fifteen for the grammar school were chosen and from this number, fifteen were used in the final contest in high school and ten in the grammar school.

In the high school, the first prize, $25.00, was won by Lois Brazil; the second, entitled "Music in the Home," went to Luella Gilbreath. Mozelle Hill won first prize, $25.00, in the seventh grade, and Eunice Parker, second, $10.00. Paul Patterson, an eighth grade pupil taking music with the seventh grade, was not eligible, but as his paper was especially good, he was also given a prize of $10.00.

Those in the high school ranking between 90 and 100 are: Emma Belle Elliott, Eberta Reed, Nora Beams, Gladys Beams, Nola Bramley, Bessie Sanders, Leila Roberson, Lenis Anthony, Louise Rayzor, Thelma Tyues, Dollie Ward, Leona Bishop, Kathleen Hawkins, Joyce Corbett, Eva Skelton, Forrest Corn, Gladys Bryant.

WE NEED HIM

The Hereford school board is considering the question of employing a teacher in agriculture and kindred subjects the coming year. If he is employed the government and state agricultural departments will pay half the salary. If he is secured in all probability he will be able to teach manual training or some other subject and at the same time look after the athletic work of the schools.

We have a competent school board that is strictly on the job, and it is certain that if in their judgment the move is a wise one and can be financed, such a man will be employed. We are willing to leave it to the board.

We are hoping that conditions will be such that the deal goes through. One has to visit other counties where agricultural and live stock work is taught to really appreciate what such a thing means to a community. The boys are taught to handle pigs, and baby beaves, the Babcock test for milk, and a thousand other practical things, and at the same time their young minds are trained to look at stock-farming as a thing to be enjoyed, to be carefully studied, as a future means of livelihood that will be profitable and at the same time their young minds are trained to look at stock-farming as a thing to be enjoyed, to be carefully studied, as a future means of livelihood that will be profitable and at the same time pleasurable.

In other words, there is a touch of interesting nature injected into school work that instantly appeals to the boy and removes the idea of drudgery over books from his mind.

It's a great study to interest the boy—it's a great study to develop a future practical and successful live-stock enthusiast. It's a great study to produce better future citizens.

Here's hoping we secure the subject for the Hereford Public Schools.

tion," of course, but we believe that any man's newspaper worthy of the name is worth $2.00 per annum to put out, and to the public that reads it. This is not intended as a criticism of the Star; in this column we are endeavoring to discuss problems affecting the newspaper industry as a whole, and we believe this subscription question a fundamental one. The sooner the publishers and the public realize that the newspaper business is a business and not a charitable undertaking the sooner will the profession attain the dignity and commercial standing it deserves in the business world. All the figuring we have ever been able to do shows that a man cannot publish fifty-two issues of a newspaper under $2.00 and make anything. If we are wrong, we are willing to be shown. If anybody disagrees with this view—pull the trigger.

Thanks, Fellows!

The Hereford Brand is issuing twice a week now. The Brand is a good paper, enjoying a good patronage, and Hereford is a good town. A semi-weekly publication has many advantages over the weekly paper and the town that affords advertising sufficient to maintain a semi-weekly paper is stepping ahead in the arc of industrial supremacy. The Cleo school, after a very successful and profitable term taught by Miss Ruth Rippy, came to a close last Friday evening. A few of the ladies were present at the closing exercises and, with the pupils, enjoyed the feast of cake and lemonade provided by Miss Rippy. The school program was rendered Saturday night to a large and attentive audience. Miss Ruth is a very energetic young lady and has been a great help to our Literary Society, as well as to the school children. We hope she will accept our school for another term, as she will be missed by our community.

Well, the long looked for rain that has been so badly needed, came at last. We have had in all since Friday night, a little more than one inch of rainfall, which fell slowly and all went into the ground. The farmers of Cleo will be a very busy set of men for the next few weeks, as we haven't any planting done yet. Our wheat harvest will be a small job this year though, as the dry weather has cut the crop very short.

We are informed that at least three of our present faculty have accepted positions in the school and will be with us again next term. Prof. Golden will succeed Prof. Richberg as superintendent, Miss Pool will hold her present position as home economics teacher, and Miss Wilson will remain in charge of the primary department. We have not learned whether or not Miss Eicke will return to the intermediate department.

On the second day of Chautauqua we will have the Hazeltine Gypsy Singers, with Miss Edna Hazeltine as leader and coach, and each member of the group an accomplished artist. The afternoon program will consist of recitals of the famous music donated to the Nopads of the earth and at night they will give a beautifully staged, wonderfully costumed operetta of gypsy life, entitled "The Gypsy Maiden." In addition to this we will also have, in the afternoon, a Half Hour of Southern YES, they can go together. To the average buyer high prices mean high quality. Many stores gain a reputation for high quality by charging high prices.

Our store is one example of the fact that high quality and low prices CAN go together. Let us prove it.

Juniors Go Fishing

The high school juniors enjoyed a jolly picnic and fishing party Wednesday afternoon. With Miss Lottie Shore as chaperone, they went to the dairy, a big truck providing means of transportation. Fishing was only one of the many diversions that furnished a most enjoyable afternoon for some twenty-five young people.

Club Elects Officers

At a business meeting held Monday afternoon, officers for the Music Study Club were chosen for the ensuing year as follows: president, Mrs. C. C. Ferson; 1st vice president, Mrs. Homer Fox; 2nd vice president, Mrs. C. H. Dyar; secretary, Mrs. Thompson; treasurer, Mrs. Roy Stocking. Chairman of the program committee is Mrs. John Williams, and the advisory board is made up of Mesdames G. A. F. Parker, W. A. Price and Homer Wilkinson.

Sixth Grade Picnic

Making the most of the closing school days, the pupils and teachers of the various grades have enjoyed picnics, fishing trips and other delightful parties during the last week, most of them being outdoor affairs. The sixth grade, with Mrs. G. A. F. Parker, their teacher, spent the greater part of the day Saturday picnicking and added to an entertaining program of outdoor sports a wonderful picnic luncheon. The day was most heartily enjoyed by almost the entire room.

Supt. Fertsch Honored

Supt. Fertsch was given a delightful surprise, Monday evening when the seniors went in a body to his home and presented him with a handsome gold watch bearing the inscription, "Presented to Mr. Fertsch by the Senior Class of 1921." Mr. Fertsch had no idea of the nature of their visit until James McEntire, the class president, apprised him of the fact in a neat presentation speech. Although overcome with surprise and pleasure, Mr. Fertsch responded heartily expressing his appreciation of the gift and of the spirit which prompted it. The remainder of the evening was spent in playing forty-two.

Junior Class Party

A red letter event in the social life of the junior class of the high school, was the class party given Friday evening at the home of one of their number, Olive McMin, who lives near Sumnerfield. Undismayed by the fact that in addition to its being Friday, it was also the thirteenth, the gay company of young people commissioned the big truck so often used by the schools and although rain seemed imminent, drove to the McMin home in the early evening. Here, the big green lawn invited to outdoor sports which were enjoyed until interrupted by a downpour of rain. An indoor program with music and a variety of games completed the jolly evening, whose pleasures were closed by the serving of delicious ice cream and cake. Guests of the class were Misses Alpha Kemp, Ethel Williamson, Velma Read and Olive Wilson.

Bye Witherspoon who represented "Trouble". In the garb of a witch, her clever acting adding to a voice of quality and modulation well suited to the part, she was most impressive.

In the struggles of "Every youth" against his better judgment and his final victory over evil influences was a potent lesson most delightfully told.

The play was given under the direction of Miss Mattie McCurkin. Following its closing curtain the entire class took their places on the stage and were given certificates of graduation. Those receiving certificates were: Inez Ott, George Beans, Hill Garrison, Roger Wilkinson, Roy Boyd, Eunice Parker, George Parker, Wilson Glyce, Walter Tice, Wayne Bowers, Newell Hughes, Robert Anthony, Leland Lee, Howard Foster, Georgia Robinson, Leah Clark, Gwendolyn Price, Lucille Hicks, Mozelle Hill, Lena Gilliam, Mary Valentine, Leah Thurmond, Edna Hopper, Lonnye Witherspoon, Margaret Ricketts, Alice Womack, Ilda Barnes, Price Barrett, Malcolm Casels, Lorene Hughes, Claude Harelson, Georgia Karr, Clements Novake, Iva Parker, Bertha Parker, Paul Rudd, Leona Schultz, Taylor Thurmond, Beryl Witherspoon, Beauron Wade, Stockton Robinson, Leo Maxwell.

Dameron's Address

when he responded to the introduction of Supt. Fertsch.

In most happy manner the speaker talked informally to the class, as one young man to another. He spoke of the significance of the closing of school and reminded them of the boarder field of work and study into which they were entering. "Instead of your dog-eared school histories," said he, "you will now have to do with history of your own making. You must, henceforth, be individual as you have not been before. Your paths diverge and each will write his own record." Speaking of the value of an education, Mr. Dameron quoted the forceful words, "Without it, what is man? A splendid slave, vacillating between the forms of an intelligence derived from God and the degradation participated in by brutes. It is at home, a friend; abroad, an introduction; in solitude, a solace; in society, an ornament."

"But," he declared, "all learning is not confined to the class room. The university of hard knocks is a most excellent instructor."

Three principles laid down by the speaker as basic for success were: first, work for what you get; second, answer a real need, and third, believe in yourself. In closing he commended the teaching of Christ as a safe guide to real success.

The address was full of good things and was well received.

Next on the program was the valedictory by Mary Hicks. Worded after the phraseology of Marc Anthony's funeral oration, it was a good production and was well delivered.

As a closing number Supt. Fertsch, in a characteristic speech, presented diplomas to: William Emmett Alban, Lillian Pearl Golden, Emma Belle Elliott, Howard Eldon Golden, Mary Belle Ham, Charles B. Burkett, Audrey Stella Carroll, Mattie Elizabeth Mounts, James McEntire, Nora Ermine Beams, Guy S. Gilliland, Beniah Beatrice Davis, Annie Fitzhugh Parker, Granville B. Chandler, Lelia Florence Orr, Gwyneth-clyn Hazel Rambo, Robert Frank Axe, Maudie Inez Hodges, Lela Lorena Robinson, Keith Stegall, Victoria Wilson, Virginia Morgan, Daniel Graftou Bell, Mary Hicks.

Plattenburg Hits Hard

finest orator in the United States," etc. "Is here a comparison? Need I go further with intelligent people? Remember what I said at the beginning: Feed your children trash and you reap that kind of future citizenship."

P-h-e-w! Are there any in that audience who will say now that they do not favor signing the guarantee for 1922?

The opening program of the 1921 Chautauqua gives a good idea of what the whole will be. It was a dandy. Vierra's Hawaiians are musicians and humorists. Their repertoire was varied, they sang excellently and were all artists. The little fat fellow at the piano was a clown of the first order and kept the audience chuckling from start to finish with his antics, as well as marvelling at his musical perfection. The violinist was a bearcat—they were all good and worth the money.

Charles H. Plattenburg, at night, talked on Home Town Loyalty—and discarded his gloves when he began to talk. The talk was a telling one—he hit a lot of us solar plexus blows that stung—because he told the truth. He used plain language about ordering from mail order houses. His theme was to the effect that the country is slowly becoming depopulated because the small towns are dwindling, and showed conclusively that people who inhabit these small towns MUST pay their community debt in the way of civic loyalty if they hope to prosper themselves and "maintain that great middle-class army that is the solid backbone of this country." Talks such as Mr. Plattenburg gave are badly needed in every small town in the United States.

He is telling the truth in a way that makes men and women think.

Friday's program will be the Musical Grenadiers in the afternoon and evening, with Henry A. Adrian as lecturer in the evening. Mr. Adrian tells of the wonderful work of Luther Burbank, the plant wizard.

A good audience greeted the performers at both performances Thursday. Superintendent Teagarden announces that the committee has determined to change the time of the evening performances to 8:15 p. m. instead of 7:45, as originally announced.

Trains Or No Trains

17th, I think that the Railroad Company is going to make a prominent feature of the automobile travel, which has been and is off-setting the service of these trains. We ought to be able to post ourselves as to the extent of this travel and know just how much of a figure it is going to cut.

"Another item to be taken into consideration in addition to the matters mentioned by Mr. Hawkins is the concessions that have been given to the Railroad Companies in the way of bonuses, if any, given the P. & N. T. Railroad Company in the beginning. Amarillo gave this Company $30,000 and considerable land in town. This has bearing upon the obligation of the Company as a common carrier. Another thing, which we may anticipate is the showing, which the Railroad Company will make of a decline in population.

"I am writing you because I think it would be a good idea for the different communities to know just what the others expect to do in this case, and the character of testimony they expect to offer. I think we should get after it promptly. Mr. Hawkins advises me that the case will not come up until he is prepared to bring it up. I should like very much to hear from each of you."

BUSINESS MOVING RIGHT DIRECTION

Major movements in business are in the right direction and several recent developments, including the apparent lessening of political uncertainties, have a favorable bearing on the future, according to Dun's weekly review of business and industry. Changes in the situation do not come quickly. It is pointed out and bad weather conditions have held back to some extent what might have been expected in the way of seasonal improvement. But a rise in English and French exchange, for one thing is considered significant of an improved international outlook, while better bank statements and lower money rates have reflected the strengthening of the general financial position.

"Such tendencies as these," the review continues, while largely offset by labor troubles and other unsatisfactory features, are encouraging and provide a basis for a more confident sentiment. Except in isolated instances the more helpful feeling has thus far not been productive of any essential change in buying disposition, although the frequent repeating of moderate size orders serves to reduce the proportion of idle machinery in certain industries and to bolster somewhat the purchasing power."

A LITTLE GIRL AND AN IDEA

When Miss Kate R. Swineford, a resident of Drewry's Bluff, Va., was sixteen years old, she became possessed with an idea that fathers were not receiving a square deal. And so thoroughly did she believe in it that she went alone to the Governor of Virginia and laid her plea before him. He accepted it and set aside the second Sunday in June to be celebrated as Father's Day. Since then several States of the Union have taken the matter up, and it bids fair to become a national event, all because of a little girl who stuck to her idea.

HARD TIMES

A portrait painter sat in a French cafe sipping his wine. His small bottle was finished and he was about to order more when his eyes rested on a newspaper lying near. He read the headline "Hard Times are Coming." "Hard times," he said, "we must economize" so instead of calling for a fresh bottle he called for his bill.

The landlord, knowing the artist's habits, surprised that the order for the second bottle was not given, approached his customer and said, "Not going so soon? Is my wine not good?" "Excellent," said the artist, "but hard times are coming and I must economize."

"Hard times," said the landlord, and he scratched his head, then he called his wife. "That new silk dress you ordered," he said, "you must make cotton do." The artist tells me hard times are coming. We must economize. Cancel your order and buy something cheaper."

When the landlord's wife canceled her order she told the dressmaker what her husband had said. "We must prepare for hard times," she said. "Hard soothe him. Staring at him from a nearby chair was the newspaper he had seen two days before. He picked it up, scanned it more closely and found that it was two years old.

Moral: Times are what we make them. Life is a circle through which cheerfulness or dejection flows. The stream does not stop but passes on, leaving something of what it has or taking what we have to give and reaching us again poisoned or purified by contact with us and those we've helped or harmed.—Southwestern Shoe Findings.

Thresh Your Own With an Ideal

In addition to four larger sizes of Rumely Ideal separators, we can supply you with a small 22 x 36 Ideal designed specially for individual use.

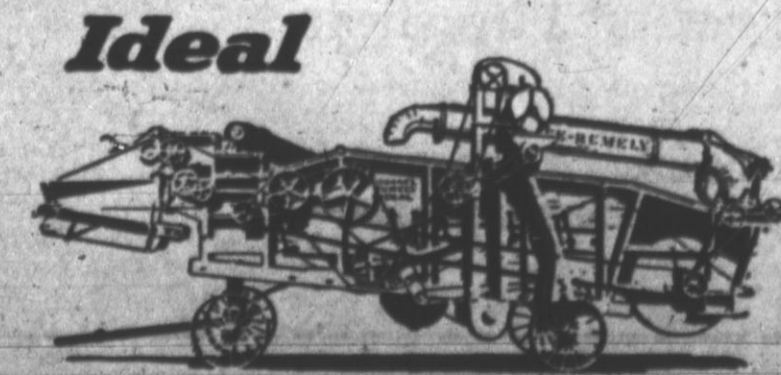

And this small machine is identical with the larger members of the Ideal family in point of design, construction and quality. It has the same features of fast, clean threshing—the same freedom from bunching and winding—the same principle of a steady, even flow of straw through the machine from the time the bundle is pitched to the cylinders until, free of all grain, it leaves through the stacker.

Convenience in adjusting and oiling is another big factor in Ideal satisfaction. All bearings, concave adjustments and regulations of the blast are on the outside of the machine, also all oil and grease cups, where you can take care of them even when the Ideal is running.

There are five sizes in all—22 x 36 up to 36 x 60. And there is a proper size of the guaranteed kerosene-burning, oil-cooled OilPull tractor to fit each size Ideal.

Drop in some time and let's talk it over.
