Burglars Hit Two Local Businesses

Break-ins at Carl McCaslin Lumber Company and Harman's Department Store netted burglars an estimated $2,500 in clothes and power equipment during a 48-hour period last weekend.

Clothes taken in the Harman's break-in, estimated at $1,478, were recovered Monday morning, left in the alley behind the Federal Land Bank. It appeared that the burglar had become frightened and fled, leaving the clothes. Woody Wilson, manager of the Federal Land Bank, discovered the clothes on his way to work.

Evidence at the scene indicated that the burglar, after breaking a five-foot-by-eight-foot plate glass window on the north side of the front entrance of the store, had entered the building, selected the clothing from several racks, and fled. His escape, also from the front window, was traced to Fourth St., then west on Fourth to the alley.

Other items from the clothing were found along this route.

Clothes taken included 11 dress suits, 45 pair of slacks, 45 pair of trousers and six shirts, all of various colors and sizes.

The break-in was believed to have occurred sometime between 6:30 a.m. and 7:30 a.m. Monday morning, as police had checked the area shortly before 8:30.

Weldon Jackson, employee at Carl McCaslin Lumber Company, reported to police last Friday.

Funeral services for Mrs. Sarah Clementine "Clemmie" Bachelor, 97, a longtime resident of Hereford who died early Tuesday morning at University Convalescent Center in Lubbock, were held Wednesday at 4 p.m. in Gilliland Rose Chapel, with Homer T. Goodwin, minister of the Hereford Assembly of God Church, officiating. Burial was in West Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Bachelor was born in Modena, Mo. October 25, 1871 and married W. T. Bachelor there in 1894. He preceded her in death in 1922. She came to Deaf Smith County in 1922 from East Texas. Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Harrell of Oklahoma City, three grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren.

Arrival Scheduled Saturday Pakistani Tour Set In Area Agri-Firms

By EARL MOSELEY
Staff Writer

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Jackson of Hereford, who have been placed in charge of a Pakistani team's visit in this area beginning Saturday and continuing through Wednesday, have released their proposed schedule of local events along with other information pertaining to the visitors.

This tour represents a real exchange for the Jacksons, they explained. Early this year they were on tour of Pakistan through Farmers and World Affairs Inc. The team of six who will appear here are also sponsored by the same organization.

Jackson reported that they are scheduled to arrive at Amarillo Municipal Airport at 1:37 p.m. Saturday via Continental flight 179. They are to have lunch in Amarillo but will be hosted at 8:30 p.m. for dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Witkowski after their arrival in Hereford on the same day.

They will attend church services Sunday morning escorted by the local host families with dinner arrangements planned at noon at the Caison House. Afterward, they will be driven to Boys Ranch at Tascosa for a tour of the facilities there, before returning for supper here with the Jacksons as hosts.

On Monday, the six Pakistanis will begin the morning with a tour of the Charles and Lynn Dale Long FHA farm with James Goudly in charge. Afterward in Vega the group will visit the Sunripe Inc. tomato greenhouse. Lunch will be hosted by the First State Bank of Vega.

Upon return to Hereford in the afternoon, they will tour the feedlots and the Andrew Kershner farm. A dinner will be hosted in the evening by the Hereford State Bank.

Following a broadcast on Radio Station KPAN at 9 a.m. Tuesday, they will be shown the Deaf Smith County Rural Electric Cooperative, Arrowhead Mills, the fertilizer plant, and Hereford Grain. After lunch at the Hereford Country Club with Hereford Grain as host, they will tour George Warn or Seed 70, and the Witkowski farm. Warner will act as host for the dinner later.

The six Pakistanis will leave for Amarillo Wednesday morning where they will tour the Production Credit offices. After lunch they will depart at 1:30 p.m. on TWA flight 315 for Los Angeles.

PAKISTANIS ON TOUR
Anisuzzaman Khan will be one of the six tourists in the group. Khan farms 80 of his 95 acres in Kushtia, East Pakistan, and his operation is mechanized. Farming is his primary occupation. He is also secretary of the Havedi Junior High School, and is a member of the Thana (County) Agricultural Development Committee. He is an active member of the Union Council.

Maqbool Ahmed Khan has an 880-acre mechanized poultry farm located in the hills above Rawalpindi, West Pakistan. A graduate of the University of Punjab, he is a member of the Mianwali Club and of Rotary. He is a bachelor.

Mohammed Mahtabuddin Khan has 70 acres of diversified crops. A member of the Divisional Council, he is also chairman of the Kalakopa Union Council. He is councillor of the East Pakistan Provincial Muslim League, and a member of the executive committee of the Dacca District Muslim League. He was director of the Agricultural Land Mortgage Bank in Rajendra, and is a graduate of the Rajendra College of Calcutta University.

Mohammed Bahasuddin Miah is from East Pakistan. Besides being a farmer, he has been elected chairman of his Union Council, and taught school for six years. During this same period, he was chairman of the Kalihati Union Cooperative Multipurpose Society. He attended Saadat College in Karatia.

Sardar Khalid Omar has a variety of crops and fruit orchards on a total acreage of 2,000. He has a B. S. in agriculture from the Agricultural University at Lyallpur. He is convener of the recently reconstituted West Pakistan Chamber of Agriculture.

Holly Contract Pends

Hereford Grain Millers Local 321 president, Joe D. Bowers, who has been in negotiations at Denver, Colo. with Holly Sugar Corporation officials and five other union locals for a new contract, reported upon his arrival here that the contract has not been signed but that all 68 members are still on their jobs at the local factory pending further negotiations on June 24.

Bowers said, "There is no reason to doubt that we will come to terms at that time." Their former contract expired in May. He reported that the agreement hinges upon the seniority and promotion clause which was contained in their old contract, which the union wishes to maintain.

Although a threat of a lock-out was reported last week over failure to agree on the new contract without this clause, Bowers said that company officials "didn't push the matter. And we have a bunch of happy boys here!"

He stated that this is not a personal matter in Hereford with any of the officials here but simply a company-wide contract negotiation session. He praised the local Holly officials through their understanding in the matter.

Depends On State Tax County May Not Increase Taxes

The four county commissioners increased the tax evaluation from 22 per cent to 24 per cent in their special meeting Monday morning, increased the personal property tax seven per cent, and reported that if the state tax reduction goes into effect July 15 (from 47 per cent to 42 per cent) the property tax rate for Deaf Smith County will remain "about the same" as it has been previously.

Tax advisor Bob L. Davis of Columbian Securities Corp., Amarillo, had previously predicted that county property taxes would increase approximately seven per cent here with passage of the $500,000 bond issue for an addition to the Deaf Smith County Hospital. The bond issue was passed last month.

However, the commissioners, with former County Judge Homer Henslee who is figuring the current budget and County Tax Consultant Vance Crume, reported that the previous estimate on county property evaluations last August was placed at a conservative figure of $46-million. Vance's current figure indicated that it will run closer to $53-million.

A reliable source in Austin reported that "although no action will be taken by the state until July 15, it is anticipated

Tour Guide is Miss Ruby Yeutter, whose association with Farmers and World Affairs dates back to 1961, when she guided the first group of Indian farm leaders on a tour of the United States. In 1962, she went to India as guide and participant with the U. S. team, and served in the same way with the U. S. team that went to Pakistan in 1967. She guided groups again in 1962 and 1968, and every group from Pakistan since 1963.

Miss Yeutter was born on a farm and has lived on a farm all her life. Until early in 1968, she shared actively in the operation and management of the farm operation. She now owns the 90-acre farm but rents out the acreage.

The Pakistani team has already spent a week of orientation in Washington D. C. and seen poultry farms at Ferguson, North Carolina.

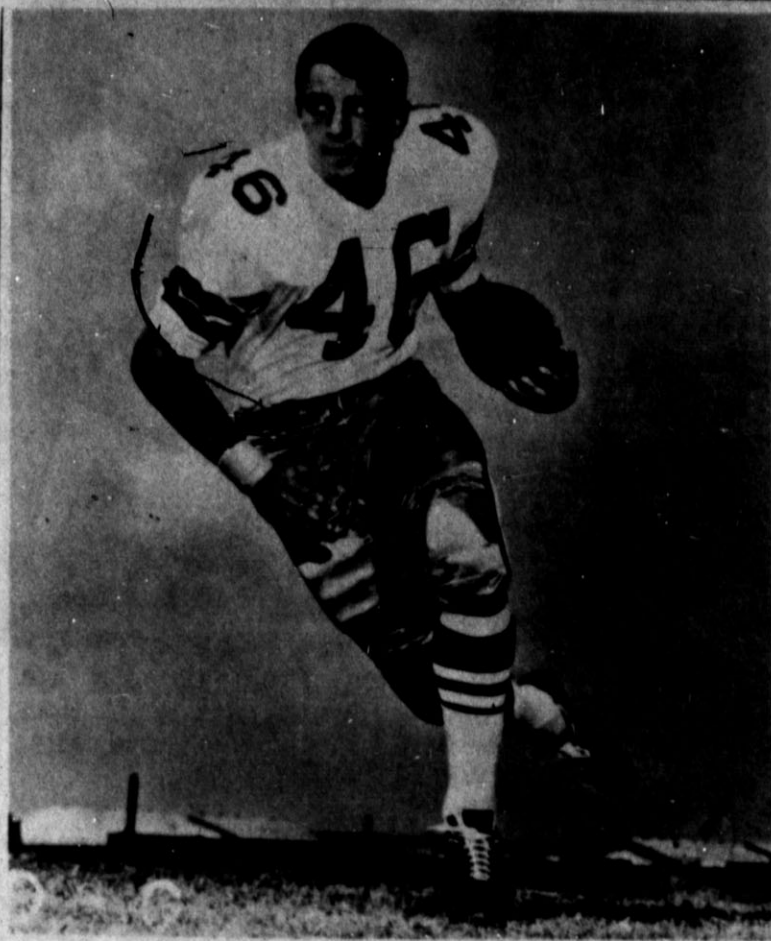

In Texas, they have toured the Rice Research Institute at Beaumont and Texas A&M University at College Station.

Upon leaving Hereford they will make a stop at Disneyland at Anaheim, Calif., then will see a variety of crops at Hillmar. Before leaving that state they are to have a sightseeing tour of San Francisco.

At Maize, Kansas, plans include observing wheat harvesting and storage, flood control, and the peach crop. Afterward, they will see agriculture at Elk River and West Concord, Minnesota.

A stop at Chicago is planned prior to a trip to Ceresco, Michigan, before returning to Washington D. C. Before leaving the U. S. they will tour New York City.

The tour began on June 7. It is set to conclude on July 24. FWA, a non-profit educational organization, was founded in 1956. It is supported by voluntary contributions. It does not engage in legislative activity or take sides on political issues, domestic or international. The farmers, here and abroad whom it serves, are encouraged to work for a free and peaceful world through their own organizations. They work closely with state Farm Bureaus, Farmers Unions, and Granges in this country.

Craig Baynham

Baynham, Maisel Slated To Speak

by MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

In a program to be aimed at the area youth, Craig Baynham, outstanding running back for the Dallas Cowboys, and John Maisel, former Oklahoma State University quarterback great, will be in Hereford Saturday.

All area youth, as well as adults, are invited to attend the ice cream supper to be held at the high school cafeteria, beginning at 5 p.m. and lasting till 7:30 p.m. No admission will be charged.

During his rookie year, Baynham was used to back up both Dan Reeves and Don Perkins at the running back positions, and as a kick-off return man. His first year, he returned a dozen kicks for a 27.6 yard average in regular season play, and he also had a field day in the Eastern Conference title game against Cleveland, scoring three times, once on a pass and twice on runs.

An outstanding sprinter at Georgia Tech, Baynham captained the track team and set the school mark in the century with a 9.6 which stood until 1966. On the football field, Baynham was a two-year regular as a wingback where he caught 30 passes and set the school record of seven touchdowns as a junior.

His senior year at Georgia was hampered somewhat by injuries, but Baynham did play in both the Gator and Orange Bowls.

Baynham spends much of his off-season time working with the Campus Crusade for Christ in which he actively participated in college.

Maisel, who was first string quarterback for the OSU Cowboys for two years, received his degree in 1963, majoring in general business and minoring in marketing and philosophy.

He entered the United States Marine Corps following graduation as a second lieutenant and served a stint in Vietnam where he received the Purple Heart. He was discharged a Captain in 1967.

Maisel is active in the Campus Crusade for Christ, the Christian Business Men's Association and the Dallas Cancer Society. His hobbies include handball and coaching.

Baynham and Maisel have worked on several programs together in the past.

Elijah Miles Buried Tuesday

Elijah J. Miles, who lived in Hereford most of his life, passed away in Lubbock Saturday where he had been a resident for the past two years. He had been ill for the past two weeks.

Interment was in West Park Cemetery in Hereford after services Tuesday at the North Side Assembly of God Church in Lubbock with the Rev. J. A. Thomas, a former Hereford pastor in charge, and Rev. Scott Mitchell assisting. In Hereford, Rev. Homer T. Goodwin, pastor of the Southlawn Assembly of God Church in Amarillo and Presbyterian of the North Plains section of the Assembly of God.

Mr. Miles was born on Feb. 28, 1895, at Johnstown, Oklahoma, and was 75 years old at the time of his death. He moved to Hereford in 1966.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Beulah Miles; three sons, Lee of Groom, David of Amarillo, and Billy G. of Lubbock; one daughter, Mrs. W. E. Githens Jr. of Sheridan, Wyo.; one brother, Ted of St. Helens, Ore.; and three sisters, Mrs. Lucille Schulz of Lakeland, Fla.; Mrs. Margaret Boling of Fullerton, Calif.; and Mrs. Mabel Nadler, also of Fullerton.

Mr. Miles is also survived by eight grandchildren.

Students Still Needed

Farm equipment mechanics class, which for some time after the announcement of a starting date here by the Texas Employment Commission had no applicants, now has a total of four candidates for enrollment, according to Ted Swindle at TEC.

Swindle also reported that the auto mechanics class now has ten possible trainees selected here.

However, each class is scheduled for an enrollment of 15 students. Furthermore, ninety per cent of this number must be enrolled by class starting dates or classes cannot begin, Swindle said.

Both classes originally had a mid-June starting date. A postponement was arranged whereby the auto mechanics class is now set to begin July 7 and farm equipment class on July 14. Whether another postponement can be arranged, if the 90 per cent enrollment is not reached on these dates, is questionable.

Programs for both classes are through the Manpower Development and Training Act of 1962. Enrollees must be 18 years old or above and have at least an eighth grade education. A training allowance will be paid to those who meet certain qualifications.

Swindle said that other area offices have been helping Hereford with these programs. He said that Amarillo has referred four students and Plainview one student for the auto mechanics classes.

Shur-Gro Feed To Be Seen By Thailand Man

Anek Boonyapakdi, who is in this area representing the government of Thailand, will inspect the facilities at Shur-Gro Liquid Feed Inc., southwest of Hereford about noon today, according to manager Roland Barton.

Henry Sears, president of the First National Bank here, made arrangements for Boonyapakdi's tour, which he said would possibly include other local points of interest. "But Boonyapakdi seemed to have a greater interest in liquid feed than any other industry," Sears said.

Boonyapakdi, who arrived in Amarillo yesterday for a two-day visit with his brother-in-law there, is managing director of small industries and senior industrial officer of the Department of Industrial Promotion for the Ministry of Industry in the Thailand government.

He is also scheduled for a tour of Amarillo agri-businesses. Bill Nelson, chairman of Geoponics International Corp. of Amarillo, also had a hand in the Hereford tour arrangements.

Damage Light In Sunday Collision

An accident at the corner of West Park Ave. and U. S. 385 Friday about 1:30 p. m. resulted in an estimated $500 in damage.

Damage to the 1962 GMC pickup, owned by Finis Harvey Lindsey, was estimated at $100 and the 1968 Chevrolet driven by Don Martin received an estimated $400 damages.

The accident occurred when one of the vehicles was traveling east on West Park and apparently did not observe the stop signal in his direction. When the driver did see the light, he attempted a right turn

Q — Ten years ago I obtained a VA guaranteed home loan under the Korean G. I. Bill. The guaranty limit was $12,500. I now want to get the loan to enlarge and improve my home.

Will the VA guaranty up to $5,000 of this loan, which is the difference between the former limit of $7,500 and the new $12,500 limit?

A — Under a law that went into effect May 7, 1968, the maximum VA guaranty was increased from $7,500 to $12,500. Therefore, a veteran who previously used $7,500 entitlement has a remaining entitlement balance of $5,000, provided that his eligibility for a G. I. loan has not expired.

Q — My wife died recently. She was the designated beneficiary on my National Service Life Insurance policy. Must I now designate in writing my children as the new beneficiaries, or will the Veterans Administration automatically pay the proceeds of my policy to them?

A — If the named beneficiary dies before the insured, the only provision for automatic payment is to the insured's estate. To avoid this the insured should make a new beneficiary designation, naming the children, the share he wishes each to re-

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — My income is up and I think I will have to increase my estimated tax payments. Do I have to file another declaration?

A — No, when you make your next installment payment of estimated tax adjust it to take care of the increase.

With your payment enclose the appropriate pre-addressed voucher sent you as part of your estimated tax package last February. The filled-out voucher for each installment identifies your payment and makes sure it is properly credited to your account.

Q — I filed my return showing a refund back in April. When can I expect my check?

A — Your refund should arrive in mid-June. Some returns filed at the deadline may not be processed completely until the first week of June.

Incomplete returns and those with errors take longer to process. Taxpayers are notified of the reason for delay in these cases.

Q — I just took a second job. Does Social Security tax have to be taken out of my pay on both jobs?

A — Yes, the law requires each employer to withhold Social Security tax on the first $7,800 of an employee's wages. If more than the maximum of $74.40 is withheld for Social Security tax in 1969, you should claim a credit for the excess on your income tax return next year.

Q — I'm thinking of buying some U. S. Savings Bonds and putting them in my son's name. If I do that, will I have to pay tax on the interest?

A — If the bonds are issued solely in the child's name, or in his name with you listed as beneficiary, then he will be liable for tax on the interest they earn.

Q — Can a farmer deduct the cost of a telephone he needs to sell his produce?

A — A business deduction may be taken for that portion of the telephone costs related to farm business. For instance, if the phone is used for farm business half the time then half the cost may be deducted.

Concerning Veterans

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA Office.

Q — In the last minute rush of final exams, packing and leaving college for the summer, I lost the certification of attendance card which I received from the Veterans Administration. How can I get a replacement? I know that I must return this NATURE.

The wonders of nature constantly challenges man, amazes people, inspires the thinkers, and satisfies our needs.
"The rain is God's thoughts sent to cleanse the air and refresh the earth; the mountains are God's thoughts piled high; the ocean is God's thoughts spread out; the flowers are God's thoughts in bloom; the dew drops are God's thoughts in pearls."
We are so dependent on nature for so many, many of our needs, yet man in his rush seldom takes time to think on these things.
GARDENER'S CHORE. Now that the rains have come the gardener will of necessity be very busy, as soon as the sun shines and the earth dries out a bit. Weeds will need attention. Do not let them get ahead of you. Pull and cult to rid the flower beds, the alleys and the gardens of these pests. Remember, it costs just as much to produce these weeds as it does the vegetables and flowers.

The continued rainfall will cause mildew. Some roses have already shown signs of mildew, and if this is to be controlled, it should be treated soon. Early in the spring we had gotten at a Garden Club meeting. It was to use Tide (the detergent) for mildew. We do not have directions, other than it is necessary to make the water to which the tide is added very bubbly with suds. If your spray container holds a gallon of water, start with that as a basic measurement, then add the Tide and stir until it is real soapy. Pour into spray receptacle and spray the affected parts generously.
Another suggestion for mildew control was to use Lysol. (This was given in Vera Deason's column in The Amarillo Daily News). Directions: 1 gallon of water to which you add two tablespoons of Lysol. Mix thoroughly, pour into spray and spray all plants generously. This mixture can be used in hot weather.
It is well to remember that we should not wait until we have mildew on our plants (it does not just appear on roses but many other plants.) Use the above suggested treatments or a commercial remedy as a preventive. Mrs. Deason recommends Zineb. I use Fertilome rose spray or Isotox. With these I also use a soapy mixture. This is to make the liquid stick to the foliage.

Start looking for bagworms. This is the time of year when they start making their appearance. They are moving about, feeding on the tender vegetation and new growth. This is the time to spray to control them.
Really, it is the one time when poison spray will be effective. If we delay, they will soon be going into the bag and then the spray will not penetrate into it. Each of these bags as they are developed will have deposited from 500 to 1,000 eggs in them. Effective spray for the bagworms is either Malathion or Sevin. Again let me caution, use according to directions and then carefully return the top to the container — close securely.
I found some tomato worms having a real nice picnic on the tomato vines. To control these it will be necessary to spray or dust . . . and do it now as these fellows make haste to complete their job and will soon strip a tomato vine.
This is a good time to spread the wood ashes that accumulated during the winter months. Slugs, snails and pillbugs will not crawl on the ashes or sand because of its coarseness — their underbodies are soft and will not tolerate the coarse sand or ashes. The ashes also will be good for plants, in that they tend to intensify the color of the blooms, especially delphiniums, larkspurs, and other spike growing flowers.

POLLUTION
Much has been said and written relative to air pollution. The following is taken from an article I recently read which referred to air-pollution in California:
Air sewage is destroying plant life in the major domestic-industrial — agricultural air pools in the United States. This destruction is reaching staggering proportions.
Scientists now say the life-giving process of photosynthesis in plants is under attack. Soon, if not already, the life-sustaining oxygen-hemoglobin process in animals and man may suffer a major onslaught.
Degraded air quality now occurs in more than half of the 50 states and is undermining the nations' agricultural economy through damage to livestock, agricultural crops and products.
Surveys show destruction of crops in California alone now exceeds $248 million a year. Between 20-40 per cent of this loss stems from reduction in crop yield.

The first signs of this pollution damage was noted in the pine forests. However, the first statistic relative to this pollution was noted on the East coast in 1860, on the pine trees. So this has been going on for some time, and is getting more damaging.
Acting as a yearly barometer for this invisible crop damage, which exceeds $15 million in three California air polluted Pools, experts refer to these pools as air-slums.
We could also have air pollution damage in our area. Steps should be taken to prevent this. . . our vegetable crops could suffer as well as other damages done.
SUGGESTION
Since we have mentioned air-pollution, this is a suggestion to purify the air in a room in the house where there has been lots of smoking (cigarette smoke). Pour 1/2 to 1/4 cup of vinegar into an open container and place several about the room. This is good to remember. If you are allergic to cigarette or cigar smoke, use the vinegar in the room in which you are entertaining.
Vinegar is also good to kill odors and keep the pipes free of soap refuse in the automatic washing machines. Mix two cups of vinegar with a small portion of water (about a cup full). Put it in the machine and operate it as usual. Do this every few weeks. This too is recommended for shower drains. It will aid in keeping down mildew and other stains and odors.

ATTENTION GARDEN CLUB MEMBERS
Park Bill backed by NRA, Audubon, Washington (AP): Two diverse groups, the National Rifle Association and the Audubon Society, have endorsed Sen. Ralph Yarborough's proposed Big Thicket National Park Bill. This involves approximately 100,000 acres in East Texas woodlands. Garden Clubs, and other interested groups have written many letters requesting that this acreage be set aside and that Big Thicket Park be created.

SUMMER WORKSHOPS: WANT TO LEARN TO ARRANGE FLOWERS?
Classes are being held at The Amarillo Garden Center on Wednesday mornings during June. Anyone interested may attend on payment of $4. Time 9:30 to 11:30 a. m.
AARS ROSE SELECTION
For the first time in a number of years, only one rose was selected to receive the coveted designation as an All American Rose Selection. Its name is "First Prize." It was introduced by Jackson & Perkins Co. The name describes the expectations held for it as an exhibition rose, but it also shows good promise as an excellent garden plant.
It is a hybrid-tea rose, rose-red in color. Buds are giants, 2 1/2 to three inches long and classically spiral shaped. It is not ed for its fragrance, and it lovely two-tone blending of pinks and reds under a waxy finish. When in full flower, it is an exquisite large blossom full centered and proudly stands erect on the sturdy stems, which have dark leathery foliage. Substance is heavy enough to give long bloom life both on the bush and for cut flowers.

The great-grandparent is Fashion. The family tree is further complicated or enhanced by the presence of great grandfather Independence, a bright scarlet floribunda. Other grandparent is Goldmasterpiece.
I am already searching out a place to plant First Prize in our garden.
NEXT WEEK, MINIGARDENS.
Take time for God's wonders; it is life's only lasting investment.

Keahey-Batard Vows Exchanged At Canyon

The marriage of Miss LaQueta Evon Keahey of White Deer and Rene' Marie Batard, an American Field Service student at Hereford in 1965, was solemnized at the Joseph E. Hill Memorial Chapel at Canyon recently with the Rev. Strauss Atkinson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Canyon, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Altus Keahey of White Deer and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roger Batard, Reze-Les-Nantes, France.

Two seven-branched candelabra with bouquets of white carnations and Emerald formed the background for the double ring service.

Mr. Keahey gave his daughter in marriage and Miss Frances Hillman, served her cousin as maid of honor. Miss Debra Cooper was bridesmaid and Richard Brown was best man. Serving as groomsmen were Carl Brown and ushers were Angel Hurtado and Charles Lawrence.

Anna Cooper was junior bridesmaid and Dwayne Hillman was ring bearer.

Mrs. Elizabeth Pepper, organist and Mrs. Lorna Schultz, pianist, presented a program of nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Gloria Brown as she sang "Because" and "Little Night Music."

Brocade satin made the bride's gown which was topped by a fitted jacket with long tapering sleeves and a high rounding neckline. The chapel train flowed from the back of the jacket at the waistline. The shoulder length veil of illusion fell from a caplet of silk organza rosettes. She carried a cascading arrangement of white roses atop her mother's Bible.

The feminine attendants were dressed identical in street length kelly green linen dresses and carried nosegays of feathered carnations.

The reception followed at the Baptist Student Center.

The refreshment table was centered with the three-tiered wedding cake, flanked by candelabra and white tapers. Mrs. Claudia Keahey served the cake and Mrs. Ruby Keahey ladled punch.

The bride is a graduate of White Deer High School and both are students at WTSU at Canyon.

Batard is a 1965 graduate of Hereford High School where he was an American Field Service student. He came back to enter West Texas as an English major after returning to France to complete his military service after graduation from high school.

Hill Sr., chairman for the civic development committee, by Sears Roebuck and Company for district and state awards for top development projects, as announced recently at the state convention of the Texas Garden Clubs, Inc. A check for $25 was given for the district award and $50 for state award.

CANYON, Tex. — The 17th annual reading conference for the West Texas State University chapter of the Texas Association for the Improvement of Reading (TAIR) will be held on campus August 5-7.

Consultants for the conference are Dr. Bernard R. Belt on, Professor of Education, Oklahoma State University, and Mrs. Peggy Brogan, managing editor of special education projects, Holt, Rinehart, and Winston, Inc.

General assembly for the conference will be at 8:45 a. m. and 1:45 p. m. each day in the ballroom of the WTSU Student Union Building.

Members on the local committee for the conference are Mrs. Frances Halter of Media Reading, Amarillo; Robert Holman, assistant superintendent of schools, Hereford; Dr. Helen Wilbur, assistant professor of education, WTSU; and Dr. Ruth Lowes, professor of education, WTSU.

A fee of $7.50 will be charged to those attending the conference for the full three days. The cost is three dollars for one day.

Dormitory accommodations are available throughout the conference. Those requesting dormitory accommodations should write to the dean of women at WTSU.

Reading conferences will be held in 12 colleges and universities in Texas during 1969. An estimated 10,000 will attend the 12 conferences, Dr. Lowes said. She estimates 500 will attend the WTSU conference.

TAIR was organized in 1947 as a department of the Texas State Teachers Association. Dedicated to a better reading program for Texas students, the organization held its first conference at Sul Ross State College, Alpine, in 1947.

Reading conferences vary in length from 1 1/2-4 days. Programs, planned by state officers with the help of local area committees, consist of lectures, panels, section meetings, demonstrations and exhibits of teaching aids.

Casting Begins For Summer Production

Casting for a summer production of Hereford Community Players will begin at 8 p. m. Friday, when teenagers and adults are invited to read for parts in the three-act comedy, The House at Pooh Corner, a play primarily for children. The reading will be held at St. Thomas Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Fred Howard, who will direct the play with assistance by Mrs. John Gilliland, will be in charge of the try-outs. She announces that the comedy has a cast of 11 and that any interested teenagers may take part in the reading. Both girls and boys are needed.

To participate in the play, the actors must be members of the Community Players. Non-members may join the group, either as individuals with payment of a $5 fee for a year's membership, or as one of a family group with a $10 fee for the entire family.

A membership year begins July 1, and those who become new members to participate in this play will be members through the 1969-70 year.

Tentative dates for presentation of The House on Pooh Corner are August 21-23. The comedy, which is of interest to adults as well as children, is by A. A. Milne, author of the stories about Winnie-the-Pooh which have delighted youngsters for many years.

The central character is a small boy, Christopher Robin, whose adventures with his animal friends make up the plot.

IN DALLAS — Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Shipman, 118 Ave. D, Hereford, are shown at the Statler Hilton Hotel in Dallas, where they attended a two-day conference for outstanding State Farm Insurance agents. Highlights of the convention include recognition ceremonies for outstanding agents and managers, talks by regional and home office executives, and a banquet honoring agents and their wives.

Santa Fe, in its 101st year is moving toward new ways to serve America's growing needs for faster and more efficient distribution methods. Talk about fast service. We give you Super-C, the world's fastest freight train. Now running as a market-tester for Piggy-Back and container cargos between Chicago, Kansas City and Southern California.

Talk about communications. Our microwave network and data center uses third-generation computers to keep constant control of car movements, and to help develop new methods that serve you better.

How about capital expenditures? During 1969, we're spending $190 million for new equipment, modernization of facilities and development of new projects.

For our equipment fleet we are acquiring 2,600 new freight cars, 90 high horsepower diesels, 25 remote locomotive control units, 1,263 vans for highway and Piggy-Back service, along with other vehicles.

We're completing a multi-million dollar expansion of our automated freight classification terminal at Kansas City.

We're expanding diesel shops, Piggy-Back and automobile handling facilities for Chicago, Texas and California.

Other major improvements include the replacement of 417 track miles with continuously welded rail and the construction of a 31-mile spur track to serve new sulphur deposits in West Texas.

And we're constructing 2,000 miles of Gulf Central Pipeline to transport anhydrous ammonia from producing areas of Louisiana to the farmlands of central U.S.A.

We want to serve you better, no matter how you want to ship: by rail, by highway, Piggy-Back or container, and by pipeline. And through industrial development, we can provide plant sites across 13,000 miles of one of the fastest growing sections of the U.S.A.

Raymond Hunt New President

Raymond J. Hunt will become president July 15 of both Gulf Central Pipeline Company and the Santa Fe Pipeline Company, subsidiaries of Santa Fe Industries Inc., John S. Reed, president, announced.

Gulf Central Pipeline Company is constructing a 2,000-mile line to transmit anhydrous ammonia from the Gulf Coast to the farm producing states of Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska and Indiana. Completion is scheduled for later this summer.

Santa Fe Pipeline Company operates a 108-mile petroleum products line between Amarillo, Tex., and Clovis, N.M., and is currently engaged in the promotion of "Chaparral Pipeline" to transmit natural gas liquids from West Texas to the Gulf Coast.

Hunt has been general manager of consumer marketing for American Oil Company in Chicago, Born at Detroit, he attended Wayne University and the University of Detroit. He joined Standard Oil there in 1946 and has served in various marketing positions in Chicago, Detroit, Minneapolis and New York. Prior to his present assignment he was vice president of Tuloma Gas Products Company, Tulsa, Okla., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Standard Oil of Indiana.

Hunt is a director of the National Fuel Oil Institute and the National Plant Food Institute.

about these first in view of their supreme importance in our quest for peace.

"Although, for obvious reasons, the briefings on the Paris Peace talks were unofficial, I can say that I left strengthened in the view I have long held: namely, that it is necessary to proceed with the conduct of the war independently of our hopes and fears of what will happen in Paris. This war is still in the balance; our resolve must be evident to the enemy, for it is our firm stand which will bring him to the conference table in a proper frame of mind. Also, I believe it is vital that military training of the South Vietnamese proceed so they may assume in the future an even greater share of their country's defense. In short, I believe the present talks are necessary, but our military action should proceed independently.

"During my meeting with Ambassador Shriver, we discussed France' internal political situation and the effect of events on NATO. I did specifically ask about prospects that the European Common Market will live up to its General Agreement on Tariffs and Trades. There has been some talk that the ECM tended to levy a 900 a ton tax on American soybeans. Ambassador Shriver replied by saying he did not think ECM would proceed with this plan.

AIR EXPOSITION

"The American pavillion was the most outstanding at the International Air Exposition. We had major exhibits on the Apollo program with a mock-up of the lunar module and the equipment we will place on the moon. Much of the exhibit was devoted to a display of equipment of all types by American aerospace firms. I did make contact with a number of representatives of the American aerospace industry and pressed my case for locating installations in the Panhandle. I believe they were impressed with my arguments and the many benefits of locating in the district.

"In all honesty, the Russian exhibit was disappointing from the standpoint of technological advance. They exhibited a troop carrier and several commercial liners but nothing of startling importance.

"The French and British exhibits were another story. The 'Concorde,' a joint venture of the two countries, is a supersonic airliner capable of achieving speeds of about 1,400 miles per hour. A New York-to-Paris flight would take only two hours, 28 minutes!

"One of the truly revolutionary aspects of the show was a demonstration of two VTOL (Vertical Take Off and Landing) aircraft. They take off by rising straight upward, and in a matter of minutes can assume a forward speed, in the case of one of them, of 700 miles per hour. They can fly sideways as well as forward and land by hovering in mid-air and then descending. The more versatile model is designed as a fighter and can also fly backwards. Our Government has ordered 12 of these for use by the Marine Corps.

"The trip was enlightening and most valuable in that I was able to familiarize myself with our military situation, the status of our negotiations, the latest in aeronautical equipment, as well as doing a salesman's job on the advantages of the 18th District for industrial location. Expenses for the trip were covered by use of counterpart funds, available only for official government business and spendable only in that country."

Blood Pressure Numbers

WHENEVER I ask my doctor what my blood pressure reading is he just says "It's good" without telling me the numbers. Why is this kept as a secret? Is the cause of high blood pressure known?

Mr. S. E. Minnesota Dear Mr. E.: I've said before that a doctor can't always win in his relationship with his patients. In some instances he is wrong when he is right and in others he is right when he is wrong.

When the doctor tells the patients the "numbers" they often complain that they were unnecessarily terrified. When he does not tell them the "numbers" then they are "scared to death" because they believe they are so sick that the doctor does not want them to know about it. I wonder what patients would do if they had to make the decision to tell or not to tell.

The fact that your blood pressure is good should in itself be a sufficient source of comfort to you. You can be sure that if high blood pressure were not responding to medication your doctor would be the first to tell you that something more drastic should be done.

Many people are confused by blood pressure readings. There is nothing mysterious about it. Blood that is circulating through the arteries of the body is being pushed with each pump of the heart. After each beat the heart then relaxes for a moment before it again begins to pump the blood through the arteries.

Under normal circumstances arteries are very elastic and expand with each beat of the heart. The blood pressure reading at the time that the heart beats, or pumps, is known as the systolic blood pressure. The blood pressure reading at the moment that the heart relaxes is known as the diastolic pressure.

It is for this reason that blood pressure readings are described as one number over another. A high top, or systolic number, does not necessarily mean trouble. In fact, in many cases the lower, or diastolic number, is even more important as a guide for the doctor in the control of certain kinds of high blood pressure.

The reasons for high blood pressure, or hypertension, are any factor that resists or interferes with the normal, smooth flow of the blood. In arteriosclerosis in the elderly, the blood vessels may become less elastic and be responsible for changes in the blood pressure. Occasionally, disease of the thyroid, or the adrenal hormone glands, can cause blood pressure changes. Chronic kidney disease may also be a responsible cause.

It is apparent, therefore, that the discussion between you and your physician should center about the cause and what is being done to control the high blood pressure, rather than around "numbers" that really have no basic importance to you.

It is particularly exciting to those of us who have been in the practice of medicine for a long time to see the remarkable advances that have been made in the control of severe cases of high blood pressure with modern drugs. These, with a controlled diet and a normal weight, have been remarkably effective in dramatically helping people with severe high blood pressure. The "numbers game" is not nearly as important as is the fact that you are under a doctor's supervision.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH—Hospital visitors are gracious but terribly exhausting when they remain in a patient's room for an unreasonable period.

Will Answer Money Question

By VERN SANFORD

Texas Press Association AUSTIN, TEX. — Gov. Preston Smith plans to answer the state's big money question Friday.

He is expected to announce on a statewide television hook-up whether he will veto the Legislature's one-year budget bill and if so, when the special session to mop-up the unfinished finance job will be scheduled.

At noon the following day, the Governor will present further views on the subject when he addresses the 90th Annual Summer Convention of the Texas Press Association at Saturday's luncheon at the Inn of Six Flags in Arlington.

Fate of the $60.4 million teacher pay raise hangs delicately in the financial balance which Smith can tip in several directions with a flick of his veto pen.

State officials are having a hard time agreeing on just how much money is coming in during the next year — and whether there will be enough for both the salary hike and the $2.8 billion one-year budget.

As though the situation were not complicated enough already, Smith could throw it out of balance by vetoing any one — or more — of five revenue-raising bills before him. Or he could square it up again by line-item vetoing of spending proposals.

He can, of course, veto the entire one-year bill and call legislators back to work promptly on a two-year budget. Many expect him to do just that.

BILLS CHALLENGED

Governor Smith left up in the air the fate of 41 bills and 13 concurrent resolutions passed at the last minute by the recent Legislature. He challenged their validity on two counts.

Smith said the measures — one of which created 28 new district courts — were not signed in the presence of the House and the Senate by the lieutenant governor and the speaker as required by the constitution. He contended that they were signed after the Legislature already had gone home. In addition, they reached him seven days later than they should.

A thorough study will be made of their legal status before he acts, pledged Smith. Legislative leaders contend that a logjam of bills caused processing delays that are commonplace at the end of sessions. They say that other governors have not complained.

EDUCATION

Twenty-three college and university educators from around the state have sent Governor Smith a letter asking that he not veto the bill that will increase the cost of education to students by $10 a semester. They are the presidents and chancellors of the various state supported schools. They point out that vetoing the bill will cost the state $4 million a year.

State Board of Education has appointed fifteen representatives from the state's educational profession — including college administrators, classroom teachers, superintendents and principals — to a commission to study standards for the preparation of school administrators. Appointments are for two years and the group is charged with finding ways to train the people who will eventually run the school systems.

Governor Smith has announced the establishment of three continuous programs of meetings and conferences with high school, college and non-student young people in order to gain "positive understanding and solution to the main problems facing our state."

These three new organizations include: the Governor's Conference College Leaders, to consist of college and university student body presidents and other campus leaders; the Governor's Hall of Honor of the Texas Youth Conference, made up of all presidents of major high school youth organizations in the state; and a Governor's Council on Young People, concentrating on out-of-school young people, emphasizing career problems and an understanding of the democratic system. Boy's State, sponsored by the American Legion, and Girl's State, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, both aimed at teaching top high school students the ways of Texas government on a "learn by doing" theory, held their annual meeting Austin.

BOND CAMPAIGN MAPPED

Committees to ramrod a campaign for a $3.5 billion water development bond issue have been formed under the direction of Governor Smith and former Governors Allan Shivers, Price Daniel and John Connally.

Smith called for a statewide education campaign, warning that the state "stands on brink of water deficiency" unless an imaginative, positive program is carried out.

Austin Attorney and former Ambassador to Australia, Ed Clark, heads the finance committee. Barnes will be chairman of senate participation and House Speaker Gus Mutscher directing activities of state representatives. Membership in overall campaign committee includes all but nine Texas legislators. Legislative "holdouts" include two senators and seven representatives.

COURTS SPEAK

An Amarillo woman won a Supreme Court order of a new trial in her suit against a doctor for malpractice. Court said the doctor should have called in a specialist.

Supreme Court agreed that the city of Houston should get a new trial of its suit to force the Houston Independent School District to pay building inspection fees.

A Nueces County oilfield worker hurt in a well-testing accident got Supreme Court approval of a $74,598 judgment.

Former Richmond State School superintendent filed a $160,000 federal court lawsuit against state hospital-school system officials, claiming he was dismissed from the job for political reasons.

DREDGE PRICE PROPOSED

Parks and Wildlife Department personnel suggest a price of 10 cents a cubic yard for fill material dredged from shallow coastal waters for shoreline buildup.

Not only the price, but the whole idea of dredging ran into criticism at public hearing.

APPOINTMENTS, HONORS

Governor Smith appointed C. B. Maynard of Bastrop, judge of the 21st judicial district, filling the unexpired term of the late Judge John S. Simmang of Giddings.

Rep. Ray Lemmon of Houston was the special representative of House Speaker Gus Mutscher at the Marine Technical Society's convention of Oceanography held Monday at Miami Beach.

Mrs. Malcolm Milburn of Austin has announced as a candidate for vice chairman of the Republican Party of Texas.

State Education Commissioner Dr. James W. Edgar was presented the first Civil Air Patrol Aerospace Education Leadership Award.

Pecos Group Visits

A delegation of 24 men and one woman from Pecos, attended a noon luncheon at the Hereford Country Club Wednesday as a part of a Panhandle feedlot tour sponsored by the Pecos Chamber of Commerce and Community Public Service Co. Fort Worth.

Henry Sears, president of the First National Bank, was the speaker to the group during the noon luncheon.

The group toured packing plants and feedlots on their 200 mile tour through the center of the world's largest concentration of fed cattle, seeking first hand information of commercial feeding.

The Pecos area, in its embryonic stage, has a total of some 50,000 head of cattle, as compared to numerous feedlots in this area who have that many at a single time. The group was seeking to obtain information to "generate some additional interest in cattle feeding in Pecos". Presently, the larger lots in the Pecos Valley have only about 10,000 to 14,000 head of cattle on feed.

Delegates making the tour also visited the Missouri Beef Packers Plant in Friona before returning to Amarillo where some flew back to Pecos and others remained until today.

Water Inc. Film Will Premiere

LUBBOCK — "Time For Action," a 27-minute film featurette produced by Water Inc. explaining in detail the need for water in Texas, will have a premiere showing July 1 at 4 p.m. in the Koko Palace, 5201 Ave. Q, Lubbock, with area news media, Chamber of Commerce managers, Water Districts, and other persons interested in water improvement invited to attend.

The film is to be offered later for showings in area civic clubs and other groups who may be interested in the history of water development and what the

APARTMENT HOUSE FISHING

Whenever a tree falls into a lake or stream, it becomes a giant, luxury apartment house.

The first occupants to move in are minnows and small fish seeking shade and shelter. Close behind will be crayfish, hellgrammites, caddis nymphs, frogs, worms and many other forms of aquatic life.

This abundance of natural food soon attracts some keener-size fish and several of these will probably make the fallen-tree their home.

Sharp-eyed anglers take advantage of logs and stumps in the water, say the fishing authorities at Mercury Outdoors, and their fishing success improves when they learn how to use these underwater housing developments for fish.

In addition to providing shade, fallen trees (and those fished for) downed trees serve fish as protection from prey animals and as shade from the sun.

Largemouth bass like to lie under a log just where it enters the water and catch small frogs as they leave the water to sun themselves. A bass bug — or top water plug — cast so that it glances off the log will often tempt a bass into thinking it's his next meal.

The position of the sun makes a difference as to which side you should aim your cast. Most fish like the shade, therefore it's best to drop the first cast on the shady side of a log or stump. If a fish is at home, that's probably where you'll find him.

During the hours when the sun is almost directly overhead, fish move into deeper water along the log. They're reluctant to leave their feeding table and protection. When this happens, the Mercury lads suggest that it's time to change to a spinning rig and work the deep water at the end of the log.

Keep these tips in mind next time you see a fallen tree in the water. It might just be an apartment house for fish.

Sen. Tower Discusses The Water Plans, Public Works

I would like to talk with you this weekend about the continuing need for water development and control projects in our state and the difficulty of providing for all these needs at a time when our federal government faces virtual monetary crisis.

We can all see the need for projects to provide flood protection when rivers and streams swell and overflow into our cities and towns. We can see the need for hurricane protection when our coastal communities are faced with flooding as the result of uncontrolled rising tides. Much of Texas is faced with insufficient water supplies to meet the increasing demand for water for farming, for our industries, and even for drinking water in some of our major rivers in order to foster the economic growth of our state.

At the same time, we can see the need for reduced government spending when we compare the buying power of our incomes today with the amount of goods and services we were able to purchase with the same number of dollars at the beginning of this decade.

Our federal government has practiced deficit spending for too many years and now I believe we are faced with the choice of operating within our income or experiencing monetary collapse.

The Johnson administration last January proposed spending $54,912,000 for civil works projects of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers in the state of Texas. These are primarily flood control and navigation projects. The budget for fiscal 1970 sent to Congress last January did show a small surplus, but, on careful review by the Nixon administration this proved to be in error — there was no surplus.

The Nixon administration recommended substantial budget reductions and provided for a

Generation Gap Reported Here In Summer Jobs

Texas Employment Commission in Hereford reported that they are continuing "to receive a good number of applicants for summer jobs" through their Youth Employment Service (YES) program and that there has been "a steady increase from local employers in summer help."

"Unfortunately, there seems to be a 'generation gap' in the types of jobs some of the teenagers will accept," Ted Swindle reported. "But it is not as pronounced now as it has been in past years. Girls do not seem too interested in day work or house work — boys shy away from yard work. Some of them do not realize their economic value in the current trade market."

But Swindle did report that girls have responded well to babysitting and that boys have been more willing to do farm work — "from tractor driving to stacking hay. And many of them have found jobs at the feed yards."

He said that many of the younger boys here have wanted to become stock boys at grocery stores. "But there are not enough jobs of this type to go around."

However, he stressed that the local TEC office is still in the process of trying to fill all types of jobs in this bracket. Hereford employers are asked to call them at 364-2776 when they have any type of a summer job available.

surplus for fiscal 1970 of $5.5 billion. Mr. Nixon recommended a reduction of $7.9 million in Texas civil works projects. The reductions were made according to priority decisions of the administration based on a nationwide outlook. And the effect on Texas was much less severe than in many other states.

Although water development and control projects made up only a small portion of all federal expenditures, we must expect some reductions in these projects.

But the affected projects are vital ones and they should receive all the funding Congress can provide within the limits of fiscal responsibility.

There are some 75 water development and control projects in Texas for which federal funds are requested for fiscal 1970 by the administration. The Nixon administration did not recommend deletion of any one of these projects.

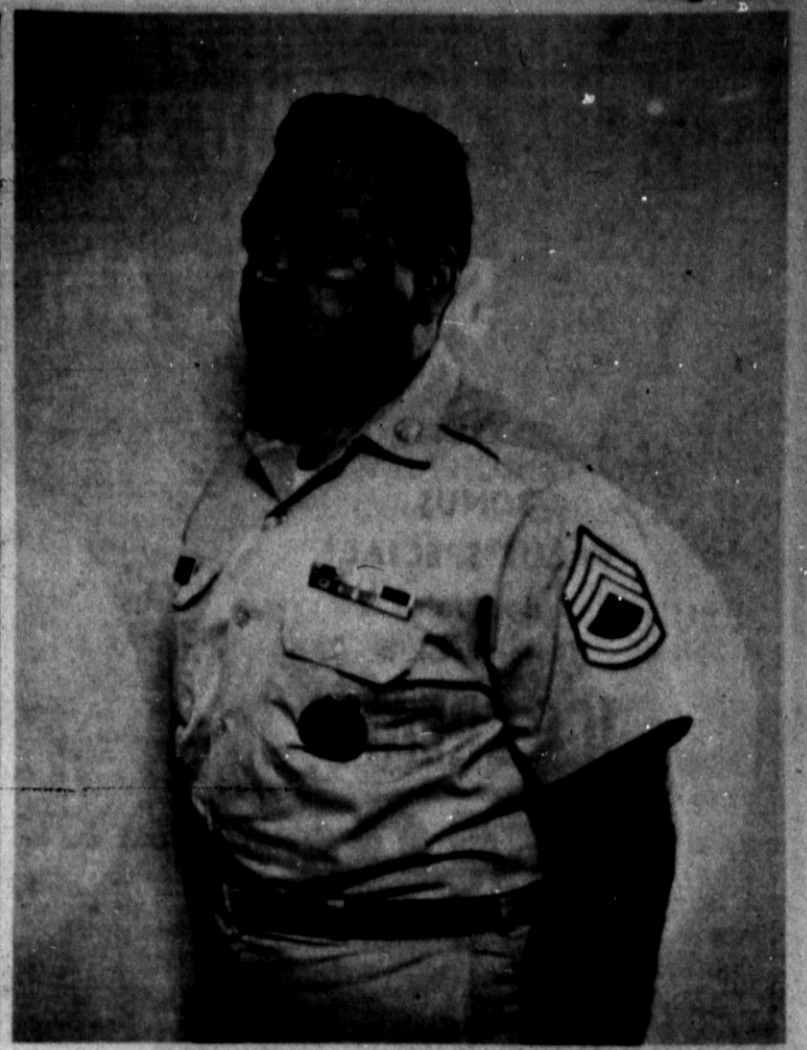

In addition, a dozen other Texas projects received authorization from Congress last year, but neither the Johnson nor the Nixon administration requested any funds for them this year.

The Nixon administration requested no funds for projects not already in the January budget proposals for any state in the nation.

Congress is now considering the administration's budget request. It is appropriate that Congress set priorities among civil works projects just as it sets priorities in other areas of expenditures.

In the testimony I presented recently to the Senate Appropriations subcommittee on public works projects, I requested funds for each of the Texas projects recommended in the President's budget at least at the level requested by the President.

In addition, I asked the subcommittee to give full and careful consideration to increasing the appropriation for fiscal 1970 for those projects whose recommended funding was reduced by the Nixon administration. I did not recommend a return to the level of funding originally requested by the Johnson administration, because in my opinion that would be unwise at this time when our nation faces a monetary crisis. But I did ask the subcommittee to strike a compromise for those Texas projects in which funds requested differed between the Johnson administration request and the revision requested by President Nixon.

AWARDED PLAQUE — Sergeant First Class Humberto Pinales, a local U. S. Army recruiter and writer of "The Army Green" column for the Hereford Brand, was recently awarded the Outstanding Recruiter plaque during ceremonies conducted at the semi-annual U. S. Army Recruiting Training Conference held in El Paso. In competition with 33 recruiters located in 16 recruiting stations in the Amarillo Recruiting Main Office area, Sfc. Pinales exhibited outstanding performance of duty by exceeding his assigned objective by 150 per cent. His weekly column, which he has had to forego for the past month due to "pressing business elsewhere," will return in the Brand next week.

I believe this was a reasonable request and one that is consistent both with the vital needs of our Texas communities and with the monetary situation facing our federal government.

There are many water development and control projects which are vitally needed in our state. There is much to be done, even addition to those projects which will receive some funding this year. There are important projects now only in the conceptual stages which have not even yet been authorized by Congress.

At the same time, the demand on the federal dollar is great.

It is my hope and my expectation that the efforts toward fiscal responsibility on the part of the new Nixon administration will meet with success. I hope these efforts will result in less pressures upon the federal dollar in future years; and I hope there will be additional funds available for water development and water control projects in the future.

All Texans can be assured that I will continue to support these vital projects for Texas.

MOB VIOLENCE

The Great Teacher, in a great sermon, taught well, the lesson of self control. If we curb anger we need not worry about murder. Anger is the motive power that leads to murder. How terrible to know that every angry man is a potential murderer. Everyone who is angry with his brother shall be liable to judgment. Matthew 5:22. How wild, how intemperate, how satanic, how malicious is an angry mob. They are men gone amuck and no human can expect fair treatment from the hot headed. We are a Christian Democracy. That means everyone of us takes the place of the king or the police officer. We are, under God, keepers of the peace and of order. When the mob gathers, don't join them. Take your place by the lonely, the threatened, and insist the appointed officer deal with him. For every man merits justice in America.

IT'S CALLED TRIFLE but it's an elaborate dessert of sponge cake, fruit and custard garnished with whipped cream, cherries and almonds.

LET'S COOK SOMETHING

Trifle Hearty Dessert

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

AMERICANS HAVE their own ways of concocting the dessert called Trifle — so popular in the British Isles. And here's the latest version of this sponge cake, fruit and custard sauce combination that we've tried. Only part of the sponge cake is used in the Trifle, so you'll have extra cake on hand to serve some other way.

INDIVIDUAL-STYLE TRIFLE

Sponge Cake Layer
1 can (13½ ounces) pineapple tidbits, drained

Soft custard
1 large banana, sliced
½ cup (1 pound) apricot halves, drained

1 can (1 pound) maraschino cherries and toasted almonds

Using a 2-inch cookie cutter, cut 8 rounds from Sponge Cake Layer. (Use remaining cake in another dessert.) About an hour before serving, place 1 cake round in the bottom of each of 4 individual dessert dishes. Top with pineapple, some of the custard, another cake round and the bananas. Pour 2 tablespoons of sherry over each dessert; top with remaining custard and the apricots. Refrigerate. At serving time, garnish with whipped cream, cherries and almonds. Makes 4 servings — large ones.

SPONGE CAKE LAYER

One-third unsifted regular flour
¾ cup cornstarch
3 large eggs, separated

¼ teaspoon salt
One-third cup sugar
1 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
On wax paper, sift together the flour and cornstarch; return to sifter; reserve.

In a large mixing bowl, beat egg whites and salt until foamy. Gradually beat in sugar; continue to beat; if necessary, until whites hold straight stiff peaks when beater is slowly withdrawn.

In medium mixing bowl, thoroughly beat the egg yolks and the water; fold in beaten egg whites.

Into clean large mixing bowl sift the flour-cornstarch mixture. Fold in egg mixture, then melted butter. Turn into a greased 13 by 9 by 2 inch cake pan. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven about 12 to 15 minutes — until cake shrinks from sides of pan and no dent remains when slightly touched with finger. Loosen sides of cake from pan; ease out on large wire rack;

turn right side up; cool.

SOFT CUSTARD

Combine ¼ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch and ¼ teaspoon salt in double-boiler to p. Gradually add 2 cups milk, mixing until smooth. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens slightly. Cover and continue cooking 10 minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Blend a little hot mixture into 1 well beaten egg, then stir all into remaining hot mixture in double-boiler top. Cook over boiling water 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Blend in 1 teaspoon vanilla. Cool; cover and chill. Makes about 2 cups.

Presented At Recital

The home of Mrs. Joe Hacker, 325 Star, was the setting for two recitals recently when she presented five of her piano students, one Wednesday evening and the second on Friday.

Presented at recital Wednesday were Jane, Diana and Philip Zinser, children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zinser Jr. They played compositions from the early classics to the modern period.

Phillip also presented four of his compositions, "Summer to Autumn," "Scottish March," "Fancy Faling" and "Nocturn."

On Friday evening, Deann Caison and Jim Aikin were presented in their recital. They closed their program with a Haydn two-piano concerto. Deann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Caison. Jim's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John D. Aikin. Refreshments were served to the students families and friends.

The Detroit Tigers made 15 fewer errors than any other team in the American League in 1968.

At The Library

A New Life Elsewhere?

New at the Deaf Smith County Library this week is a delightful story of a man seeking a change in his life. Look into it today.

AWAY FROM IT ALL

By SLOAN WILSON
Away From It All is Sloan Wilson's first book of nonfiction. In it he tells what happened to him when he decided to abandon the comforts of his career as a successful novelist had brought him in order to pursue a lifelong dream. On one level the book is a rollicking account of how he, together with his young and attractive second wife and their two-year-old daughter, moved aboard a boat on which they intended to live while cruising to the Bahamas. But on a deeper and more meaningful level it is the story of a man approaching middle age who admits that he is bored with his way of life, and has the courage to do something about it.

Nowhere are Sloan Wilson's magnificent story telling skills better illustrated than in the sense of reader identification that this book evokes. Who will not recognize the problem of prosperity without satisfaction, the sense that convivial drinking is becoming a habit, the knowledge the old friends are no longer as young and charming as they once were? And who has not thought of breaking out of the mold and trying to find happiness through a new start?

Admittedly not everyone has an Irish father-in-law who can charm the seagulls out of the clouds while driving his family to distraction. Nor does everyone have a wife who will take kindly to the idea of living at sea. But many people have sons worried about the Army, daughters whose thoughts about about love and marriage do not coincide with their own, and dreams of a more simple and physical life. It is Sloan Wilson's special talent that he is able to take his own feelings and experiences and find the particular in the universal and the universal in what is uniquely his own.

As the book makes clear, attempting to fulfill a dream has hazards all its own. Joy alternates with disappointment; frustration, with accomplishment. The dangers of nature, the possibility of illness or accident while at sea, mechanical failures in moments of crisis, dependence upon the honesty and help of strangers — these are only a few of the real adventures that the dreamer does not envision. But even if he did, he would not, especially after reading AWAY FROM IT ALL, abandon his dream, for as Sloan Wilson and his family found out, to seek what you want and to have a goal toward which you move are the most important things in life.

The millions of readers who have met Sloan Wilson only through this best-selling novel such as THE MAN IN THE GRAY FLANNEL SUIT and A SUMMER PLACE are in for a PADUCAH, Ky. — Tourists often are confused by the fact that one of the six geographical regions into which the state is divided is called the Pennyrile. How did it get that name?

Pennyrile is nothing but a colloquial spelling of pennyroyal, a tiny plant with strong minty, aromatic odor that grows profusely in the region stretching from the Cumberland River along the southern borders of Kentucky to about Tompkinsville.

delightful experience in AWAY FROM IT ALL. For here, he and his family emerge as fascinatingly, as vividly as the characters in his novels, and their story is all the more satisfying for being true.

Capt. W. F. Bell Residents' Kin Receives Medal In Vietnam War

Capt. William F. Bell, New Canaan, Conn., recently received the "Combat V Device" for his Bronze Star Medal in recognition of achievements while serving with the Marine Corps in Vietnam.

He is the grandson of Mrs. Marcus Bell, King's Manor, and the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce L. Miller, attorney.

The device, symbolic of Capt. Bell's second Bronze Star award, was accompanied by a citation for "heroic achievement in connection with operations against the enemy while serving as a volunteer reconnaissance-reaction for leader in defense of Hoi An City" during an attack in January, 1968.

Bell also holds the National Defense Service Medal, the Vietnam Service Medal with Two Stars, the Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry with Silver Star, the Presidential Unit Citation, the Vietnamese Honor Medal (First Class) and the Navy Commendation Medal with the Combat V.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

On Saturday morning, June 14, someone ran over and killed my little brother's dog on the corner of Grand and Ave. D. The guilty party did not have the courtesy or kindness to stop and report what had happened. In all probability, the dog ran out in front of him and he couldn't stop. The blame surely is not all the driver's fault, but only the driver is responsible for not telling us what had happened. This letter is to that driver. In case you have forgotten, a dog is a little boy's closest and most intimate friend. Only a boy's dog knows all his secret paces and even more secret thoughts and hopes. And there is no sorrow like the sorrow of the same little boy when he loses that dog. The last you could have done, Mr. Driver, was stop and say, "I'm sorry. I didn't mean to take your friend's life."

I hope that you never have to feel the sorrow my little brother feels at his loss. You obviously would never have the courage.

Sincerely,
Dian Wilson Belbeck

Guess it's never going to stop raining. I've never seen it fail yet, to set in raining just about harvest time, and not let up until the grain is on the ground.

Hate to date myself, but I can well remember back in the dirty fifties when we almost forgot what rain was. There was a hardly any irrigation back then, up in the northern Panhandle where I came from, and I remember how it took only about thirty minutes from start to finish, to harvest the grain. It actually took about an hour, because it usually took at least half that time to find it.

This rain every day is hard on little boys who have to stay indoors until it stops. Sometimes I think it's harder on mothers -- especially when the children move their entire menagerie into the house.

Nothing surprises me anymore around our house. My boys think it's a shame for any of their little varmints to be out in that nasty ole rain. It might drown them. Would you believe we have the only frogs in existence that can't swim???

An article I read recently, which I enjoyed very much, I thought I would share with my readers. Here 'tis.

"Listen son: I am saying this as you lie asleep, one little paw under your cheek and the blond curls stickily wet on your forehead. I have stolen into your room alone. Just a few minutes ago, as I sat reading my paper, a strifling wave of remorse swept over me. Guiltily, I came to your bedside.

These are the things I was thinking, son: I had been cross with you. I took you to task for not cleaning your shoes. I called out angrily when you threw your things on the floor.

At breakfast I found fault to you gulped your food. You put your elbows on the table. And as you started off to play, and I made for my train, you turned and, waved a hand and called "goodbye Daddy!" and I frowned and said in reply, "hold your shoulders back."

It began all over again in the late afternoon. As I came up the road I spied you down on your knees, playing marbles. There were holes in your stockings. I humiliated you before your friends by marching you ahead of me to the house. Stockings were expensive -- and if you had to buy them you would be more careful. I imagine that, son, from a father!

Do you remember, later when I was in the library, how you came in with a sort of hurt look in your eyes? When I glanced up over my paper, impatient at the interruption, you hesitated at the door. "What is it you want?" I snapped.

You said nothing, but ran across in one tempestuous plunge, threw your arms around my neck and kissed me, and your small arms tightened with an affection that God had set blooming in your heart, and even neglect could not wither. And then you were gone, pattering up the stairs.

Well, son, it was shortly afterward that my paper slipped from my hands and a sickening fear came over me. What has habit been doing to me? The habit of finding fault -- this was my reward to you for being a boy.

And there was so much that was kind and good and true in your character. The little heart of you was as big as the dawn itself over the wide hills. Son, I have come to your bedside in the darkness, and I have knelt there, ashamed.

It is a feeble atonement, but tomorrow I will be a real daddy! I will chum with you, and suffer when you suffer, and laugh when you laugh. I will bite my tongue when impatient words come, I will keep saying as if it were a ritual, "he is nothing but a boy -- a little boy!"

I am afraid I have visualized you as a man, yet, I see you are still a baby. Yesterday, you were in your mother's arms, your head on her shoulder. I have asked too much, too much.

"He that cannot forgive other, breaks the bridge over which he himself must pass if he would ever reach heaven; for everyone has need to be forgiven." (Herbert)

In Federalist Party Jane Zinser Voted RR Commissioner

AUSTIN — Jane Zinser of Hereford High School, a citizen of the American Legion Auxiliary Bluebonnet Girls State, now in progress in Austin at the St.

Edward's University, was elected Federalist Party Nominee for Railroad Commissioner in the June 14 election.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zinser Jr. and was sponsored to Girls State by the local American Legion Auxiliary Unit 192.

Girls State was organized as a national Americanism activity in 1937 by the American Legion Auxiliary. Non-partisan and non-political, the purpose of the Girls State program is to provide citizenship training for girls of high school age, to afford them an opportunity to live together as a self-governing group and to inform them of the duties, privileges, rights, and responsibilities which they will assume when they become adults. They learn the problems of government by performing the same duties as office holders. Citizens are selected at local levels principally on a basis of character and leadership from students who have just completed their junior year in high school each year.

The 1968 session of the American Legion Auxiliary Bluebonnet Girls State has grown from an experimental conference of 94 girls, held at Baylor University in 1941, to become the largest single extra-curricular-educational program for high school girls in Texas. This year, 430 girls are in attendance, plus two from Mexico City, making a total of more than 8, 400 girls in Texas who have participated in this top-level citizenship program.

Former citizens of Girls State and members of the Texas American Legion Auxiliary comprise 60 members of the staff and counselors who volunteer their services to direct and lead this program. The director, Miss Frances Goff of Houston, is Director of Special Projects for The University of Texas. M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in Houston. The Associate Director is Mrs. T. J. Manning of Houston, Counselor of the Clear Creek High School in League City. Associate Director for Education, Miss Virginia Kennedy, is an Urban Research Consultant in Houston. Chairman of the Auxiliary Girls State Committee is Mrs. J. B.

Whitley, 48, was discovered by searchers face down in approximately 14 inches of water. She had been the object of an extensive search since her car was discovered stuck in the mud Saturday night.

Mrs. Whitley had started for Matador late Saturday and apparently began walking back to Afton after her car became stuck. The automobile was discovered by Nelson Rape of Afton, who also found her body about daybreak Sunday.

She was pronounced dead by Justice of the Peace Horace Nichols of Dickens. The body was taken to a Matador funeral home before being transferred to the Hawkins Funeral Home of Henrietta where funeral arrangements are pending. She is survived by her husband J. M. (Sam) Whitley, a daughter Cindy who is a senior at Patton Springs High, a brother Frank Wines of Seymour; sisters, Mrs. Lucille Brothers of Adrian and Henrietta, Mrs. Pete Green of Henrietta, Mrs. Louise Saugher of Lead Hill, Ark. and Mrs. Catherine Vernon of Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Lee Blankenship of Ft. Worth visited his parents last week, the Webb Blankenships.

Funeral services for Jarrett R. Kline, 52, of Houston, father of Mrs. Gary Royal of Ft. Hood, Tex. were held Saturday in Houston.

Mr. Kline died Friday, June 13, after a long illness. He was preceded in death by his wife about eight years ago.
