

PREHISTORIC MAMMOTH UNCOVERED — This mastodon was discovered by Texas Highway Department maintenance foreman H. L. Newman of Hereford extending from a bar ditch 14 1/2 miles north of the city on U.S. 385. When it was being uncovered, the engineer called the Amarillo office. Bill Harrison of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum at Canyon was contacted and made an inspection Tuesday afternoon. Harrison estimated the age of the mammoth — assumed to be buried on its back revealing huge teeth and a tusk — as being between 10,000 and 15,000 years old. Wednesday it was taken to Canyon. Clinton Jackson of Hereford happened to be passing at the time of the excavation and made these pictures Tuesday.

Museum To Expand

With the expansion of the present displays and the addition of some new ones, the Deaf Smith County Museum will be open from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. during August 30 through June 7. This period has been proclaimed as Museum Days by Mayor Jim Sears.

A special exhibit displaying the Tape Wyche collection of clothing, cowboy gear and chuck wagon equipment will be a permanent part of the new expansion.

The Wyche collection will be a part of the livery stable which is to be built on the grounds behind the museum. The livery stable, which will be a close reproduction of early Hereford stables, will include the chuck wagon now on display.

There are hopes to obtain an old car to be displayed in the livery stable which is the display area for forms of transportation and related items.

An old caboose, donated by the Santa Fe Railroad, will also be a part of the livery stable. The caboose will be restored to look like the original which slept a crew of five, complete with iron stove and coal bin. The public will be permitted to enter the caboose and climb to the look-out port.

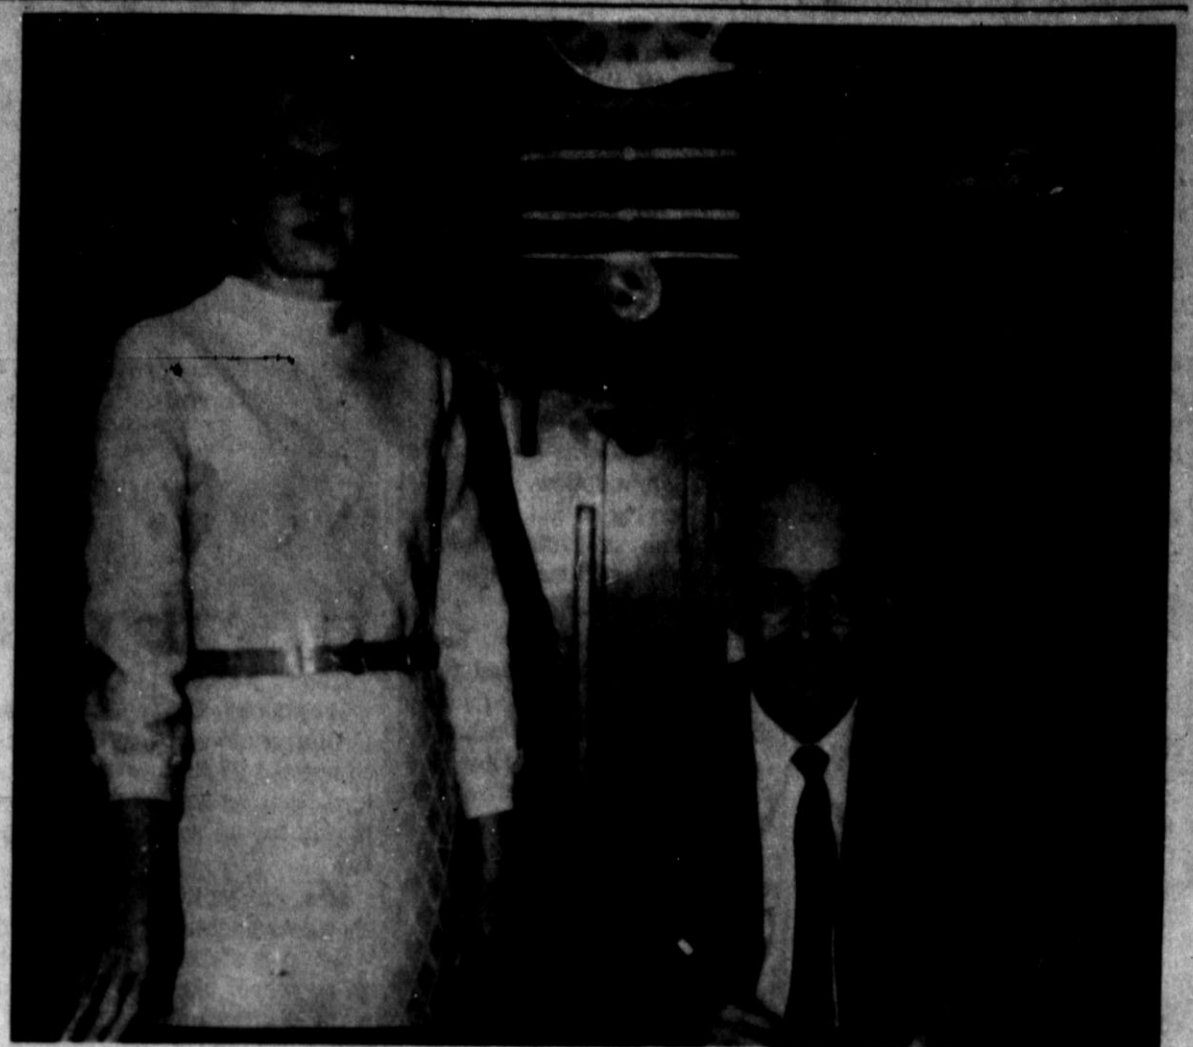

With the removal of the chuck wagon from the inside of the museum, enough space will be available to construct a general store. The store will resemble the early Hereford stores with cracker barrels, bolts of material and coffee grinders.

A complete rearranging of the interior of the museum is also being planned. The household items and other items are already in the museum and will be placed in new exhibits.

Sketches of the livery stable and pictures of Hereford in the early 1900's will appear in the Sunday Brand.

The museum is presently open from 2 p. m. until 5 p. m. on Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays.

With the new expansion, the museum directors feel that they will have a wide range of items to depict the way of life in this town and county in the early years of this century.

MUSEUM DAYS PROCLAIMED — Mayor Jim Sears is shown with Mrs. Juston McBride, officer of the Deaf Smith County Historical Society, as he proclaims August 30 through June 7 as Museum Days. The museum will be open every day of the week from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. during that period. The public is urged to visit the museum which is to have some interesting expansions. See story in this issue. —Staff Photo

Forrest Dinner Honoree

Leo Forrest of Hereford will be honoree at a banquet at 8 p. m. Thursday, June 5, in the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn. Forrest retired after 24 years as manager of the Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative on May 1.

The appreciation banquet is open to the public, according to Sloan H. Osborn of Friona, president of the board of directors of the electric cooperative. Tickets are on sale at $4 each and may be purchased from any director, or at the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce offices, or by writing Mrs. Kay Cockrum, P. O. Box 671, Hereford 79045.

Ticket sales will close June 2. During the quarter of a century that Forrest served as manager of the local cooperative he served on many area, state and national committees and was influential in setting policy for the REC. He also traveled to South America with the REA in its efforts to link the continent together through electrification.

Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative showed substantial growth in all phases of activity under his leadership, especially in additional farm-home and large power development, Osborn said. Under Forrest's management, advance loan payments of $2,229,630.58 were made to the REA and the line coverage increased from 500 miles in 1945 to 2,500 in 1968.

Post 192 Offers Memorial Flags

Ira Ott, of American Legion Post 192, reminds local residents that flags will be furnished by the Legion for veterans' gravesites Friday, in commemoration of Memorial Day.

American Legion members will be stationed at each of the local cemeteries so that families of veterans may pick up their flag any time during the day.

Veteran officials stated that due to the incomplete list of veterans' gravesites, members of the families are requested to pick up a flag for the site in order that no qualified veteran is overlooked.

Flags may also be picked up at Wilkins Barber Shop in the Hotel Jim Hill and veterans will pick them up after the holiday is over.

Diplomas marking completion of 12 years of required scholastic study will be presented to 191 graduating seniors at Commencement exercises set for 8 p. m. tonight at La Plata Junior High gymnasium.

Processional music for the occasion will be by the high school concert band under the direction of Ben Gollehon and the invocation will be given by Patricia Hill. The combined band and choir will follow with Williams' "The Nation's Creed," also conducted by Gollehon.

Salutarian Martha Morgan will give her address to the body followed by Kathy Fooks' valedictorian address. Jane Witkowski, senior class secretary will then present the school with the senior class gift.

G. W. Michael, who will serve as principal for the final time at Hereford High school prior to moving to Belton to accept a similar position, will make the presentation of awards to the seniors. His presentation will be followed by school superintendent Johnny Clark's presentation of the class, which will set the stage for the presentation of diplomas by Raymond White, president of the Hereford School Board of Trustees.

Bill Devers, high school choir instructor, will follow the presentation of diplomas with the singing of the class song, "I Believe," and the senior class will then sing the school song. Benediction will be given by Miss Fooks and the concert band will play "Toccata and Fugue in D Minor" and end the ceremonies with the recessional music.

Selected as the class song for the 1969 graduating seniors was "I Believe" and the class colors are blue and silver. The blue carnation is the class flower and the class motto, taken from Matthew 7:7 is "ask and it shall be given unto you, seek and ye shall find, knock and it will be opened unto you."

Having served as senior officers for the past year are Patricia Hill, president; Miss Fooks, vice president; and Miss Witkowski, secretary. Class sponsors included Joe Smith, Mrs. Dene Young, Mike King, Mrs. Pic Thompson, Lynn McLarty, Pat Hughes and David Bornstein. Coordinator was Mrs. Billye M. Buck.

Seniors wearing gold tassels during the ceremony are so identified as members of the National Honor Society. Selected as the junior class honor attendants were Paul Hendon and Mary Sue Neff.

Baccalaureate services were held last Sunday in the gymnasium at La Plata with the concert band providing processional music and the Rev. Homer T. Goodwin giving the invocation. Gene Fooks, minister of the Central Church of Christ, delivered the sermon and the Rev. Robert M. Williams gave the benediction.

Recessional music was provided by the concert band while the high school choir also sang "Choose Something Like A Star," under the direction of Devers.

Graduating seniors whose pictures do not appear in this issue of the Brand include Jane Blea, Jane Gomez, Elgin Williams, Steve Robbins, Tony Martinez, Max Griego, Angel Gomez, Raymond Casarea, Wanda Whitten, Charlie Marquez and Rosa Rodriguez.

Art Stoy, president of the Hereford Little League, has announced that the games originally scheduled for tonight have been cancelled due to graduation exercises.

Both minor and major league games will be played Saturday evening, Stoy reported, unless coaches decide otherwise.

Pioneer Celebration Is Slated For Friday

By MARSHALL DAY

Staff Writer

Pioneers from throughout the area will have "their day" here Friday when the annual Mid-Plains Pioneer Day celebration is held at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn, beginning with registration at 9 a. m.

Registration, to be handled by Pioneer Study Club and Wyche and Cultural Home Demonstration Clubs, will launch the day-long event and the official meeting of the pioneers will begin at 10:30 a. m. with the call to order by Claude Ricketts, president of the Mid-Plains Pioneers.

The Rev. Ron Harpster, of Avenue Baptist Church, will give the invocation and Hereford Boy Scouts will conduct the Presentation of Colors. Jimmie Allred will give the welcome address and will be followed by the response by the Rev. Roy Nunn, of Childress.

Formly of Hereford, the Rev. Nunn is presently semi-retired, occasionally filling in at the church in Childress. He and his wife, the former Frankie Baker of Hereford, are planning to retire to Waxahachie where they have recently bought a home. Born in Arkansas in 1897, the Rev. Nunn attended the McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago and received his B.A. degree from Trinity University, San Antonio.

The Rev. Nunn is also the author of a book, "Texan by Choice," a story of his father.

Following the response by Nunn, Ricketts will then recognize all senior citizens and those who have traveled the farthest to attend the celebration. Persons from as far away as Florida, Pennsylvania, Washington, Kansas and South Dakota attended last year's festivities.

The major highlight of the Pioneer Day celebration will be the naming of the "Pioneer of the Year" by Clint Formy, manager of KPAN radio. The "Pioneer of the Year" is selected from nominations sent in to the radio station by other pioneers. No limit was set on the length of the nomination, but Formy did point out that the nominations had to pertain entirely to the pioneer being nominated. Deadline for sending in nominations was 5 p. m. Tuesday.

At last year's celebration, the late F. H. Oberthier was named the "Pioneer of the Year," and was also the oldest in attendance at the event, having been going on his 99th birthday. A record crowd of nearly 700 persons attended last year's Pioneer Day celebration where, along with other activities, the official flag for the city of Hereford was presented.

Reading of the minutes and the treasurer's report, by Mrs. Lucille Olson, will follow the naming of the "Pioneer of the Year" and immediately afterwards, the election of officers for the coming year will be held. Following the election of officers, a basket lunch, provided by local pioneers, is scheduled at the Bull Barn. All out-of-town guests are reminded that they need not bring food for the occasion as it will be provided by local persons.

Open house at the Deaf Smith County Museum is another highlight of the day as it will be open for visitors throughout the day, beginning at 10 a. m.

In addition to registering guests, the Wyche and Cultural Home Demonstration Clubs will also handle greetings and provide information along with the Pioneer Study Club. Free coffee and doughnuts will be served to all guests at the Bull Barn.

Commissioners Hear Food Stamp Plan Discussed

County Commissioners Court had a busier day than usual Monday as the four commissioners had various people waiting in line for presentation of various items for consideration, along with regular court business.

Most of the morning session was consumed with a presentation of the food stamp and food commodity programs.

Commissioners made no definite agreement on either program for Deaf Smith County Monday. However, they reported that they were in favor of the food stamp program and said that a letter will be written to the Texas State Department of Welfare for additional information.

One question which they have requested clarification is, will the county or state have charge of the program through the hiring of the employees?

Herbert Halliday of the State

Welfare Department told the court earlier that the food stamp program is the newer of the two programs, and stated that the stamps were not actually stamps but coupons.

Halliday pointed out that recipients of the food stamps first had to "put up some of their own money" and would then receive the coupons on a bonus basis. The coupons would be sold

See Commissioners Page Two

Stamp . . .

Continued from Page One on a specified day each month, he said, and low income families who met various requirements — such as cooking facilities — would be eligible. Coupons would also be redeemable only for eatable foods grown or manufactured domestically.

Local welfare cases are eligible, Halliday reported, and produced a record which showed that there are approximately 404 here now who are receiving public assistance payments. "Perhaps 600 people here would be eligible to participate. Most will be the older people who cannot be gainfully employed. The others will be low-income families where the head of the household does have a job."

He pointed out that the program is not designed for "free-loaders."

County Welfare Administrator Jewel Smith, who was also present, reported that she had inspected the food stamp program now underway at Clovis, New Mexico, and said that those who are involved with the program there "like it very much."

The commodity program was explained as having the same requirements and is not a surplus program. However, it is a distribution program of foods "bought off the open market."

Difference between the two programs is that the commodity program can be approved for operation immediately, but the food stamp program must be federally approved "which will take from 30 to 60 days." However, there is little question that the federal government will approve it, Halliday said. "Should this county agree to include it here, the federal government will no doubt follow its present plan of trying to aid the householder who is under-employed and the older citizens who can no longer work."

Afterward, Mrs. Henry Sears, Mrs. Juston McBride and George Stambaugh appeared before the commissioners in behalf of drainage problems and the delivery of the 40,000 lb. Santa Fe caboose to the museum grounds. Commissioners agreed to check into these problems for a solution. (The railroad has agreed to retain the caboose until such time as the museum can make the necessary move, it was reported. But a portion of the museum grounds will flood under present conditions during rains.)

Homer Henslee then went over the new county budget details with the court, who officially reset the 1969 tax rate of 80 cents as the statutory rate, .15 road and bridge special, .16 county special, .05 water district, and 1.90 Walcott School district. The tax figure has not been completed as yet, following the passage of the $500,000 hospital bond issue last week.

Request by the Hereford Civil Defense unit for an antenna to be installed next to the Sheriff's office at an approximate cost of $150 was placed under consideration.

A water line application was approved for L. A. Haschke on section 80, block B-5 in Precinct 1.

County Attorney John Aikin appeared with the commissioners to bring them up to date on legal affairs involving the county.

VOE Program To Begin Second Year

Vocational Office Education (VOE), a new program that has completed its first year at Hereford High School, is already preparing for its second school term.

Mrs. Pat McDonald is the teacher-coordinator for the program which permits senior students to go to school one half day a day work in offices during the afternoon. On-the-job training is combined with classroom supervision in simulated office laboratories using the latest in office equipment.

The eight students enrolled in VOE the past school term have been employed by Chamber of Commerce, Orval Watson Ford Sales, Dr. M. C. Adams, First National Bank, May Department Store, Steve Messenger and Co., Sam Nunnally Real Estate and Lloyd Pool Insurance and the Hereford Brand.

Mrs. McDonald commented, "Each of these employers has provided a valuable training station this year and I would like to take this opportunity to thank each one for the fine cooperation I have received."

Since there are approximately three times as many students enrolled for VOE for the coming year, Mrs. McDonald has asked that anyone who can use a student to work part time in an office next year to contact her. She may be reached after August 1 at Hereford High School, 364-4456 and during the summer at 364-2473.

Though formal classroom instruction begins in the fall when school starts, many of the students enrolled are eager to start work in the summer either on a full time or part time basis.

Summer work can prove most helpful to the employer during vacation schedule in the office. Retention of the same student employee during the school year in the afternoon also has much merit said Mrs. McDonald.

Plea For Mechanics

Texas Employment Commission in Hereford is still searching for 15 students each for an auto mechanics and farm equipment mechanics, which is set to begin here in June in cooperation with the Hereford schools.

These classes were originally planned for Amarillo. Lester Rape, manager of TEC, reported that these classes will put nearly $100,000 into the local economy. Actual cost and training allowances will run between $40,000 and $50,000 here. The classes are to be conducted 8 hours per day, five days per week, with a training period lasting 32 weeks, Rape said. Age requirement is 18 years or above with at least an eighth grade education.

He has urged all "who have a real interest in being mechanics" to contact the TEC office at Seventh and 25 Mile Ave. immediately. "These classes cannot begin unless we can enroll a qualified number," he said. "This is far too important to both the trainee and the local economy to let it pass."

Classes are likely to start in mid-June, he reported.

"We bought the Maverick as a second car when a tree fell on our import. Maverick handles better and feels solid and safe on the road. When I hit a bump in the other car it was like going over a mountain. Maverick really flattens them out and I'm getting 25 miles to the gallon."

"Instant Lawns" Becoming Popular In Hereford Area

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

A long dormant idea, spurred by the request of one man, has put Hereford on the map once again as having the only Kentucky bluegrass "sod farm" between Denver, Colo. and Dallas. Don Teague and Edwin Axe, partners in the newly formed Green Acres Turf Farm, whose office is located at 622 E. Park Ave., have one of the most up-and-coming businesses in the area in their farming of Kentucky bluegrass. Designed to produce "instant lawns" for new homes or for older ones needing a little touching up. Teague, first come in contact with the new grass when he was in Washington, D. C. some years back, and was intrigued with the idea of how well the grass would work in the Hereford area. When he sold his house to Edwin Axe last year, Axe tried the new grass out on his lawn and it proved stable enough for this climate and he and Teague purchased more of it from the farm in Denver.

Comments and popularity in the grass was slow to spread at first, but the demand rose with time and before long people were wanting it in larger quantities than they could provide without taking a loss. During the first few months of growing the grass, about 2500 square yards were sold at an average of one dollar per sq. yd. — a loss of about ten cents per sq. yd.

Around the first of September of last year, Teague and Axe plunged head-first into the sod farm business and planted about 30 acres of the Kentucky bluegrass near the Westway community. Numerous problems plagued the pair from the outset of the "sod farm," but an eventful, trial-and-error six weeks later, the place began to take shape.

The grass, a cool-weather type, withstood the freeze in early October last year which killed all of the weeds. By the first week in March of this year, things were well enough under control that Teague and Axe ordered a special sod cutting machine from the farm in Denver, cut their first strips of the grass, and laid their first lawn in Hereford.

As is the case with the tiny acorn . . . the two men soon found that the new grass was in such demand that a good sized business grew from that first lawn. At the present time, Teague estimates that some 25 lawns have been installed in the Hereford area plus others in Boise City, Okla., Bovina, Amarillo, Clovis and even as far away as Liberal, Kan., where people of the Christ Lutheran Church saw an advertisement on television and traveled all the way to Hereford in trucks and took the grass back to Liberal themselves. Following the laying of the instant yard, the church people turned right around and had their first picnic on the grass.

When the two men first launched the project of planting the 30 acres near Westway, they got curious looks from passer-bys and people of the community when they saw them leveling and grading 30 acres of land. Shunning the looks and comments of others, the pair got the grass growing, but were met with the problem of keeping it mowed. At first, Axe and Teague had one small riding mower, for the entire 30 acres, but after a few sweeps with it, it had cut its last blade of grass and they were forced to buy a more durable type riding mower.

Besides having the problem of keeping the grass mowed, the partners were hampered by neighboring farmer's cattle getting into the pasture and eating up their profits.

Due to the grasses' rapid growing cycle, about 25 persons are required to keep it mowed and cut for installation, Teague said, and after installation on a buyers yard, it must be watered repeatedly the first few days until it has time to take root. Thereafter, the grass must be mowed at least twice a week and watered less often than the conventional type.

St. Anthony's CYO Plans Prom

The Christian Youth Organization, CYO of St. Anthony's Parish, is planning their Annual CYO Prom on Friday evening, June 13, beginning at 9 p.m. and continuing until 1 a.m.

Tickets will be on sale soon and can be purchased from Sandy Betzen, 258-7277, Juanita Reinart, 276-5341, or from Brother John at St. Anthony's Rectory on 25 Mile Ave.

Price for tickets are $3 each. This ticket is good for one person and his or her date. Tickets will not be sold at the door. The dress for the occasion is semi-formal.

Mary Ann Vance is the director for the decorations to be prepared for the prom. Miss Vance and her committee have decided to use a Roman Garden theme for the prom with a touch of astrology, to bring out a theme for the age of Aquarius.

The prom will be held at St. Anthony's Auditorium on Park Ave. Tickets may be purchased by anyone who is in high school. For table reservations contact Sandy Betzen, Juanita Reinart, or Mary Ann Vance, Miss Vance's phone number is 364-2316.

About three pounds of the substance is sufficient to treat an acre foot of water. Rotenone contracts the capillaries of the fish's gill filaments, and, as a result, the fish suffocate.

In their effort to get more oxygen, fish rise to the top of the water where the oxygen supply is the greatest. If fishes aren't moved at once they will die.

Biologists say bass which have been captured immediately on their first rise to the surface after rotenone treatment and placed in fresh water for recovery have been later used as brood fish in State fish hatcheries.

First Phase Of Lake Renovation Complete With Recent Fish Kill

CANYON — Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists have completed the initial phase of a complete renovation of Buffalo Lake in the Texas Panhandle.

Airplanes and boats spread 7,000 pounds of powdered rotenone and 450 gallons of liquid rotenone on the lake. The biologists say they were aided by a drought which has reduced Buffalo Lake from 18,150 acre feet to approximately 4,000 acre feet.

Jack Crabtree, Department biologist in charge of the project, estimates the kill destroyed in excess of 95 per cent of all the carp, goldfish, and hybrids of carp and goldfish which infested the lake.

Crabtree says the need for the treatment was clear. Although there were sure to be others, the only game fish found after the treatment were two small channel catfish. "There were literally millions of carp washed up on the bank," he said.

Many of the fish were carted away by the approximately 4,500 persons who witnessed the kill, for both food and fertilizer. What was left will be cleaned up by personnel of the Buffalo Lake Wildlife Refuge.

According to Crabtree, the only possibility of there not being a 100 per cent fish kill would be the runoff from rains which would dilute the rotenone.

The runoff into the lake started about 7:30 p. m., after the treatment ended at 3:30 p. m.

To take care of the spawn of any remaining rough fish, 30,000 fingerling walleyes and 30,000 yearling channel catfish will be released in about two weeks when the lake is fit to receive them.

The Department will later add 30,000 fingerling channel catfish from the San Angelo Hatchery.

Crabtree says the lake will be closed to fishing for about a year, but will be open for boating and other water oriented activities.

Rotenone is derived from the roots of certain plants throughout the world and has been used for centuries by primitive men in their fishing for food.

Local Pioneer Looking For Ninetieth Division Vets

By EARL MOSELEY
Staff Writer
One Deaf Smith County pioneer, W.J. (Bill) Smith of 513 Ave. J, is currently searching for an estimated 30 World War

I veterans in this area who are members of the old Ninetieth Division — just how many of them are now living I do not know." But Smith and Marvin H. Watts, chairman at Tulsa, Okla., are searching for all those who remain in this vicinity to attend their annual reunion this year at the Lake Texoma Lodge — an ultra-modern facility — at Kingston, Okla. on Highway 70. The reunion is scheduled for Nov. 6 through 9, but Smith said that reservations are now being made. "We can get our best rooms and cottages," he said.

It is the fiftieth anniversary since the ending of the war. Smith, who was born at Princeton, Missouri, on Aug. 3, 1891, will celebrate his seventy-eighth birthday in slightly more than two months. He moved to a ranch west of Dimmitt when he was eight years old (Feb. 3, 1899) and into Hereford in August 1905, "where I have lived off and on ever since."

When he entered the Army in 1918, his eldest son William was the first baby born to a serviceman in Deaf Smith County. Later there was a daughter.

And Smith, who is a member of the Hereford American Legion, VFW, DAR, 40 And 8, "and just about every other veteran's organization," kept a diary of his experiences in the service! Moreover, he was a musician. He played trombone in the 357th Infantry Band.

In fact, Smith was a member of the first band which was organized in Hereford in 1901, and he played professionally with it during its first engagement at Canyon in 1903.

"My family moved to Hereford in 1905 so that three of us children could go to school," he said. "Before that we had to ride a horse to Dimmitt. My father, William 'Peach Orchard' Smith (who got his nickname from his three large crops in those days), operated a water pumping station for the Santa Fe Railroad here — which he had for five years before going back to farming, then moving back to town in 1910."

But he had a post office position at Plainview when World War I began. He returned to Hereford and married the former Gladys Walters. "I was with the second bunch from Deaf Smith County," he said. "I took my training at San Antonio. They established Camp Wilson there — named for then President Woodrow Wilson — and was shipped out. I took my last shot in New York — after I had been in the service only three weeks!"

ORIGINAL DIARY

From his diary which was a printed in Germany, Smith recorded an on-the-spot account of his training, shipment overseas — and what he did after he got there through service at St. Mihiel, Meuse-Argonne, and the Defensive Sector:

28. June: Beautiful morning. Not a cloud to be seen. Quiet sea. Ship crew began painting the ship. Some noise. I went to sleep on upper deck about 4 p. m. The gun crew shot two rounds. The first shot almost scared us to death!

1. July: Called out at 2:30 a. m. to stand two. Was light enough to see all ships and destroyers. Sighted land 3:30 a. m. Ireland on south-Scotland on north. First land we have seen since the 20th. At Liverpool harbor 8:36 p. m. Band playing Stars and Stripes Forever. Anchored for night waiting for the tide to come in.

5. July: Le Havre, France, 7 a. m. Marched through the city and played. The Belgium Council made us a small talk on how glad they were to see us. Arrive camp 10 a. m. Played for wounded Americans at hospital on our way to camp. Most of us got a vapor bath.

8. July: Beautiful day. Most all boys took bath in Bourgogne River. Beannie got drunk and cussed Mr. Wagner out. He got quiet and went to sleep. The boys undressed him and threw him in the creek. Water cold as ice. Poor boy almost froze.

23. August: Huns captured one man out of Company K. He was on outpost. We captured two Huns.

25. August: I went to the YM-CA this a. m. Not much doing. Gabe and I went up to front through some woods that all was left were bare trees and stumps. Boocu shell holes.

29. August: Heavy firing all night. Several planes out observing.

3. September: Several Bosh planes out. They set fire to one of our balloons. Some excitement. First REH since we came to the front. Bosh began shelling our hill at 1:36 p. m. Some music shelling road. Two French soldiers wounded.

12. September: Went over top 6 a. m. Barrage closed about 10 a. m. About 1,000 prisoners and 50 officers captured by our regiment. 28 planes went over our lines in close formation.

17. September: Bunch went up to St. Marie farm to bury dead. Buried nine Bosh and started to dig grave for some of our boys. Fritz began shelling us. Killed two, wounded one. Luck we got out alive. Bosh plane came over and opened up machine gun on us.

22. September: Buried 12 Bosh, five Americans. Went over top with pick and shovel. Guard on outpost wanted to know what we were doing out there. Said we were in No Man's Land. Only short distance from Hun's front lines. We sure beat it to the rear!

3. October: Had big feast 3 p. m. Bacon, sugar syrup, corn, spuds, toast, and real coffee. Sgt. Howard from Co. K dined with us. First mail for over a week.

14. October: Hiked 14 kilos, fell out. A truck train soon came. We loaded in and started northeast directions. Passed through Toursey, Sorey, Void, Bur-Le-Duc, Lerouville, Vadonville, Souilly, arrived Dombasle. Hiked to Camp Sivery arrived 8:30. Mud knee deep.

21. October: Rained all night. Dug-out leaked. Fritz shelled us all day. Orders to move to the front. Arrive position 11:30. Fritz shelled the road we had to go up. Some doing. Mule pack train passed us. About 100 prisoners passed coming from front.

26. October: Buried 48 Americans in one grave. Shelled all day. Several planes out.

4. November: Gone again. Arrived Montigny 12 a. m. Bosh left here this morning. Still fire in the stoves. We can see the Bosh on the other side of Muse River.

10. November: Crossed the Muse River at Villers Devant. Arrive Mouzay 4 p. m. About 500 French civilians. First time they have been from under German power for over four years. Bosh left here about 3 a. m. Not many to be found.

11. November: Some good good peace news. They say peace has been signed and hostilities would cease at 11 a. m. All the civilians celebrating. Have heard a shell since about 10:30 a. m. 11 month 11 day 11 hour. Peace was in effect at that time.

OCCUPATION ARMY
Afterward, Smith went to Germany in the Army of Occupation. For three months, he was on guard duty at Colongue on the Rhine. "Across the river on a tall cliff was Kaiser Wilhelm's rest home — one of the nicest places I was ever in," he said. "We crossed to it on a boat, and I became the third American ever in that building."

He returned to the United States. "I landed at Newport News, Virginia, with a case of double pneumonia and stayed in the hospital for three months. When I was over that, I was sent to a recuperating camp at Little Rock and was finally discharged there."

Smith said that when he returned to Hereford, he found that "it was pretty hard to find a job" and went tramping over the area with Harley Sadler Shows, playing the trombone. But after a year he went back to farming.

He was Magnolia Wholesale agent in Hereford for eleven years, then he operated the first motel (Smith Motel) in Hereford. For his wife's health, they moved to Riodosa, New Mexico, for a while, then he went with the International Harvester Co. for ten years. He and his father went into business together and operated the Smith Grocery in Hereford for five years. "Then I wheat farmed for about six years. Afterward, my wife and I were in the motel business at El Paso for about ten years — the Red Mill, one of the oldest there — before we moved back to Hereford on Feb. 1, 1967."

Smith said, "I guess this will be our last move." Well experienced in the motel business, Smith has assured all veterans that the lodge set for the reunion on Lake Texoma is "one of the best." He said that all Ninetieth Division veterans in this area should contact him.

Southwest Heritage

CORRINE J. NEELY

The second number of volume three of Southwest Heritage magazine is out. Under editor Jerry Sinise's comments, the first is in memoriam of Harry Gilstrap. You will remember Mr. Gilstrap was part owner and a fine historian of this magazine. He will be greatly missed by both the staff and the readers.

This edition has carried forward under the present editor in excellent style using material by old and new free lance writers.

John L. McCarthy's article entitled, Goodbye, Little Dogie, is timely and can be enjoyed both by the new generation as well as the old.

For those who collect or read books on the southwest, Mary Kate Tripp's Book Review section will probably encourage them to rush out and buy all of the ones which she has so capably sampled for us.

Joe H. Smith Jr. our school-teacher historian has written a little publicized subject in his article, The Plains Plazas. It deals with the Mexican sheepmen who moved in after the Indians, for a brief interlude, before the big cattle ranchers came to the Panhandle.

New authors in this edition are Charles Mann who writes of Arizona and Betty Bennett who tells of Colorado mining days. The scope of the magazine is widening both in writers and history of other states.

A particularly good tale is the Pack Train Trader: The Fred Smith Story by Maurice Kildare. The Pegleg Stage Robbers by Robert S. Weddle is exciting and will appeal to those who like this kind of a western story.

Other pieces with unusual slants are by Lee Myers, Robert M. Utley, Charles W. Mooney and a short by Gladwell Richardson.

Most of this edition's stories have been illustrated rather than adorned with old photographs as in the past. Area people will be particularly interested in Kenneth Watt of Tulia. He illustrates his first story and does the front cover as well.

Tom Wethington Services Today

Funeral mass for James Thomas (Tom) Wethington, 49, of Nazareth, a nephew of Mrs. Loretta Warren of Hereford, will be at 10 a.m. today in the Holy Family Catholic Church of Nazareth. Burial will be in the Holy Family Cemetery of Dimmitt.

Mr. Wethington died Monday in the Veterans Administration Hospital at Albuquerque. He was born at Waterflow, N. M. and was a veteran of World War II. He was a farmer and a member of the Holy Family Catholic Church.

Other survivors include his wife, Thelma, sons, Bernard and Melvin of the family home, James, of Lubbock and Herbert, on leave from Vietnam; daughters, Janeta, Elizabeth, Roseann, Delphine and Geri Lynn, all of the home; his mother, Mrs. Melvina Wethington of Farmington, N.M.; sisters, Mrs. Clarence Birkenfeld of Nazareth, Mrs. Mildred Alderick, Mrs. Martina Gail Soud and Miss Bernadine Wethington, all of Farmington and Mrs. Roy Nichols of Waterflow; brothers, Emanuel, Herman, Jim and Jack all of Farmington, Ed and Wendel, both of Waterflow and Bill of Kirkland, N.M. and several nieces and nephews of Hereford.

Council Maps Future Plans

Deaf Smith County Council on Alcoholism evaluated their previous two meetings when they met at noon Wednesday at the Chaparral in Sugarland Mall.

Meetings under discussion were the effects of the information delivered by the two representatives of the Amarillo council and later from Harold Hill of Baltimore, Md.

On this basis, the council, under the chairmanship of Rev. Fred Howard, proceeded toward making plans for future meetings, secretary Hazel Rayburn reported.

Cost Of Parenthood In County Would Astound Most Parents

(Special to the Brand)
 NEW YORK. — What is the price tag on the average 18-year-old in Deaf Smith County? How much have his parents spent over the years in the process of raising him from a gurgling infant to a young adult? Few parents have even a remote idea of the amount. They have never thought of their children in those terms. All they know, in a general way, is that they have been both costly and priceless.

Had they paused along the line however, to tally up the bill, they would have been astounded. They would have found that their expenditures in the 18 years ran well into five figures. For the average family, nationally, it came to $28,700.

The latest figures on the cost of parenthood, from the Department of Agriculture and others, show that income is the determining factor, in most cases, in how much is spent by an individual family in bringing up its children.

Where net income is between $7,000 and $9,000 per family, as is the average in Deaf Smith county, the outlay per child is approximately $29,200 to age 18.

A major part of it is for food. The figures, adjusted for price changes, show that the average child consumes about $7,300 worth during the 18 years.

Fortunately, this cost, as well as most others, are spread out over the years.

One that cannot be handled in that way, however, is the initial one, in connection with the birth of the child. Medical fees, hospital bills and baby equipment call for an outlay of about $700 on average.

The subsequent, growing up expenditures include clothing, $3,000, transportation, $3,950, medical and dental, $2,000, and personal care, $900.

There is also the portion of housing costs attributable to the child, as well as incidentals ranging from dolls to baseball bats and bicycles to lipsticks.

For the 300 or so boys and girls in Deaf Smith County who are reaching 18 this year, how much of an expenditure do they represent?

Based upon the average amount per child locally, the grand total is $8,760,000. And that is only up the point at which they are ready to enter college.

"TEXAS" RIDES AGAIN — Rehearsals will begin for the fourth season of "TEXAS" Sunday at WTSU in Canyon and later at Palo Duro State Park. First performance is booked June 27 with a Gala International Celebration.

"Texas" Begins Rehearsal Sunday

Actors — Dancers — Singers — Technicians — Staff — will gather Sunday to begin a month of rehearsals for the 4th season of the "TEXAS" production — the musical drama of Texas History by Paul Green which plays during the summer months in the Palo Duro Canyon State Park.

The cast and crew includes people trained in more than 17 Colleges and Universities. They hail from five states and have had work with numerous private instructors. Rehearsals in the early stages will take place in the Branding Iron Theatre in the Fine Arts Building on the campus of WTSU in Canyon and performers in the "TEXAS" production receive summer theatre credits at the University.

After some opening comments and announcements; greetings from the officers of the Texas

Panhandle Heritage Foundation and the staff of "TEXAS", the cast will start its month of rehearsals — 8 hours a day — 6½ days a week. These rehearsals have two purposes. One is to prepare polished performances of the great spectacle which is attracting attention at many points. The second is to build up enough endurance in the members of the cast so that actors can run the great distances backstage at the Pioneer Amphitheatre and reach their places on the stage without being breathless.

The fourth season of "TEXAS" will open June 27 and run through September 1, 1969. Opening night will be a Gala International Celebration.

For tickets and information, write to "TEXAS", Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015.

Talk of Texas

By JACK MAGUIRE
DOWN MEMORY LANE — It has been virtually a ghost town for more than 30 years, but old Sutherland Springs once was known as "The resort city of the South."

Sixty years ago, as many as six special trains operated daily from San Antonio hauling vacationers 30 miles southeast to the Wilson County spa that was, by all odds, "the greatest natural pleasure and health resort in Texas." Its hot mineral springs fed the South's largest swimming pool and its modern 52-room hotel offered gourmet meals.

Through the mid-1920's, Sutherland Springs was a favorite watering place for the tired, the ill and the wealthy. Then something happened. The local bank failed. The elegant hotel closed. Visitors quit coming and residents moved away. Old Sutherland Springs died.

Today, on the opposite bank of the Colorado River, there is a new Sutherland Springs of some 200 souls. But the old resort town is gone, as are most of the memories of the community that built its life around the still-running hot sulphur springs.

Colony Is Set To Open Sunday

Colony Catherine, which has been featured in Interior Design Magazine, Texas Parade, and John Fischer's 1968 Christmas List in Harper's Magazine, is located on forty-two acres of land on the Prairie Dog Town Fork of the Red River, twelve miles south of Amarillo, Texas.

For many years, the site was a favorite camping ground of the Plains Indians, and occasionally Indian artifacts are still found here. Today, Colony Catherine provides working and living areas, consultation, and national marketing for producing artists, designers, and craftsmen.

Peter Napoleon Boutique, which carries a distinctive line of Colony-produced items, is open to the public Monday through Saturday from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m., June 1 through Labor Day. A daily conducted tour of the buildings, and demonstrations in ceramics, sculpture, silk-screening, and other crafts will begin at 2 p.m., Monday through Saturday from June 1st through Labor Day. Group tours for any other time may be arranged by appointment. All tours last between 1 and 1½ hours and are conducted by a member of the Colony organization. A fee of $1 per person is charged.

Year Completed For Pre-School Class At Church

Pre-registration for four and five year old children in First United Methodist Pre-School is open now for next fall, after completion of the school's first year with a closing program Monday evening.

Parents and friends of the children attended the program in which the small pupils presented some of their activities, and refreshments were served. Mrs. Joe Hamilton is the teacher for four-year-olds and Mrs. Flake Barber for the five-year-old group.

The school year coincides with the public school term here and observes the same holidays. Classes meet Monday through Friday in the nursery and kindergarten rooms of the church educational building on Miles Street.

Children five years old by Sept. 1 of the school year, attend classes from 9 to 11:30 a.m. daily Monday through Friday. The four-year-olds may attend five days, three days or two days a week.

For pre-registration or further information, parents are invited to telephone Mrs. Marie Ches-shir at the church.

TRAVELING TEXAS — Henry Dean and Hal Ainsworth of Houston have always set a great store by museums. So not long ago, they turned the old Dean Brothers General Store at Magnolia, in Montgomery County, into one of the state's most unique museums.

Opened in 1902 by the three Dean Brothers, the store was

Wheat Report Looks Good

Wheat Harvest Control Office of the Texas Employment Commission reported that wheat continues to make good progress in most areas of the state, with the recent moisture contributing heavily toward increasing the yields in many areas.

For Hereford, Farwell and Dimmitt they have reported that the irrigated wheat acreage looks good and should yield average or above. "The continuing rains have been beneficial to the dryland acreage. The hail damage has been light and the green bugs are presently being controlled by spraying. It appears the harvest will be delayed until about June 15."

Other areas of the Panhandle-Plains sector have virtually the same report. However, hail damage has been reported in Plainview, Floydada, Silverton, and Tulla. Spearman and Perryton may feel a shortage of labor for harvesting, the wheat office reported.

LCB Finalizes New Rules For Private Bottle Clubs

By VERN SANFORD Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, TEX. — Filibusters began to slow the tide of legislation passed by the Senate as the June 2 adjournment deadline closed in. However, bills continued to roll through both houses in staggering volume on the local and uncontested bills calendars.

A minimum-wage proposal landed in conference committee. A one-year appropriations without one-year appropriations will knowing whether Gov. Preston Smith will veto it.

While bills to create a University of Texas at San Antonio, a UT of Permian Basin in the Midland-Odessa area and a University of South Texas at Corpus Christi ran into senate filibusters, other new school measures went to the governor. Among them were UT at Dallas, medical schools at Houston and Lubbock and a future site left to UT regents, a UT dental branch (probably in San Antonio) and nursing schools at San Antonio and El Paso.

An amended version of the implied consent bill to require breath tests of suspected drunk drivers found its way to the governor's desk. UT regents were given authority to curtail enrollments. A proposed new constitutional amendment (SJR15) would allow the legislature to establish a uniform method of assessment of ranch, farm and forest lands.

CUB RULES FIRMED — Liquor Control Board announced its final version of new rules to clamp down on private bottle clubs, effective September 1.

Club "guests" cannot pay cash or share in club services unless in the company of a member or present on his personal invitation. Clubs also would have to maintain written records showing when members were admitted or removed, have a membership committee or governing board to pass on memberships and operate with at least 25 members.

Other new rules include keeping permanent records of all transactions involving the pool system or maintaining separate storage lockers for each member if operating under the locker system, filing quarterly reports to Texas LCB on pool transactions and requirement that regular food service be provided.

THE EYES HAVE IT — A battle that has raged for almost 20 years between the chain store and independent optometrists has been tentatively resolved by the final passage of a "compromise" bill worked out by Sens. Jack Strong and Tom Creighton. Bill sent to the governor spells out a stiff code of ethics and advertising for the industry — something the non-advertising operators have wanted for years.

Big feature provides that there will be no more "one price" ads.

On another health front, the legislature has sent to the governor a bill to license and regulate the hearing aid industry. It was passed with the full approval of the industry which worked closely with the lawmakers on perfecting the bill.

AG OPINIONS — Texans not registered as voters cannot serve as school district trustees, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin ruled in a new opinion requested for Honey Grove (Fannin County) schools.

"In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

"A Legislator can run for office where pay was increased by legislative session when he was a lawmaker if the term doesn't overlap.

"Employment of adult probation officers is not subject to county commissioners' court approval.

"A school board of trustees does not have the authority to suspend a student for any act, such as possession or use of dangerous drugs, unless the board has adopted a rule, regulation or general policy covering such conduct or unless the act violated state statutes covering "incorrigible conduct."

"National Guard Armory Board may act independent of the State Building Commission on development of armory construction and related projects and awarding of bids.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION — State Advisory Council for Vocational Education has unveiled its new master plan for new directions in educating students for industry. The three-part program calls for spending the state's $16 million federal allocation for vocational education. A formal public hearing on the plan will be held June 7 at the regular meeting of the State Board of Education.

What will the new plan do for the students? John Guemple, assistant Commissioner for vocational and adult education, explained it this way:

"The state plan puts new strength in the standards of the vocational and adult programs, sets up special advanced courses for highly skilled craftsmen in junior colleges and James Connally Technical Institute in Waco, and even affects the preparation of teachers themselves. Texas operated more than 8,300 programs in September of this year.

APPOINTMENTS — Governor Smith has named three former governors as co-chairmen of a committee to lead the campaign for the $3.5 billion Texas water bond constitutional amendment. Ex-Govs. John Connally, Price Daniel and Allan Shivers will head drive.

Smith appointed former Sen. Wardlow W. Lane of Center judge of 123rd district to fill an unexpired term.

Retired Supreme Court Judge Meade Griffin was sworn in as special judge of Court of Criminal Appeals. He will sit in for Judge Leon Douglas as case where Douglas disqualifies himself.

Sen. Tower Gives Views On President's Draft Stand

As you know, President Nixon recently asked Congress to make extensive revisions in our current military draft procedures in order to minimize its disruptive impact on the lives of our young men.

I was pleased to see that the President's recommended legislation closely paralleled a bill which I introduced last year and re-introduced in January of this year. My bill is now before the Senate Armed Services Committee.

My bill, and the President's requested legislation alike, would reverse Selective Service Policy and take younger men, those 19 years old first. Both would also limit the time of draft vulnerability for each young man to one year, barring national emergency. Under the existing system, a man is vulnerable to the draft anytime from age 19 through age 26.

In addition, both the President's proposal and my bill would allow continued educational deferments, but would place the individual in his one year of prime vulnerability at the end of his deferment.

The major difference between my bill and the legislation proposed by Mr. Nixon is that his proposal includes a method of random selection within the prime vulnerability age group, while my bill does not.

I am not opposed to a fair method of random selection, however, and the method suggested by the President seems eminently fair.

I have pointed out several times in the past that the President has the power to make extensive revision in Selective Service System procedures through executive order without Congressional action.

However, President Nixon apparently desires the support of Congress on this matter which affects so many Americans. And I believe it proper at this time for the President to seek Congressional support in the form of legislation.

As Congress considers draft revision, it can be expected that there will be those who will encourage an all voluntary armed business course to be completed this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Vogler and sons of Houston came during the weekend to visit a few days with their parents, the E. F. Voglers of this community and her mother, Mrs. Agnes Perry, and other relatives in Hereford. They are on their way to Dayton, Ohio, where he will take six months training in computer servicing and then will return to Houston. He has been training for several months in office machine servicing there.

Billfolds For That Graduate Names Stamped in Gold Free COWANS force. President Nixon himself has noted that he will favor an all voluntary armed force when that becomes practical. He has appointed an advisory commission to develop a comprehensive plan which will attract more volunteers to military service and he expects a report from this commission by November.

In the meantime, it is clear to me that an all voluntary armed force will not be sufficient to meet current military needs.

Even if we are able to withdraw the limited number of troops from South Vietnam which may be possible this year, we still could not meet our requirements with an all volunteer armed force.

Overall, I believe there is sufficient support in the Senate for passage of legislation basically in line with the President's request.

Mr. Nixon's proposal for random selection seems to me to be as fair a method for selection as possible and it merits full consideration.

The proposal calls for a national lottery each year to arrange each day of the year in an order of priority. Young men experiencing their one year of prime vulnerability would be called upon by the draft as their birth dates coincide with the year.

If June 12th, for example, was placed at the top by the lottery, those men born on June 12th would be called first. And if January 6th was drawn last, men born on that date would be called last and possibly not at all.

Mr. Nixon's plan would not establish a national lottery for the actual drafting of men. The national lottery would only establish the priority list for days of the year. Each local draft board would then follow that priority list in meeting their induction quotas.

The most vital need for draft revision, however, is the one limiting to one year of prime vulnerability for each young man.

As a young man leaves his years of basic schooling he faces many decisions which will shape the remainder of his life. He must decide whether he should attend college, what career field he chooses to enter, sometimes whether he should get married.

These decisions are serious enough, without the young man having to worry about whether the draft will jerk him out of civilian life immediately or whether that might come sometime in the next seven years.

Establishing a single year of prime draft eligibility will enable our young men to plan their lives with more certainty.

It is enough for the nation to require that a man serve involuntarily. It is asking too much of him to demand that he be subject to call momentarily throughout a 7-year period.

MALLAIG, Scotland — The picturesque harbor at Mallaig, one of the busiest herring fishing ports in Britain and a principal gateway to the Hebridean Islands off Western Scotland, is to be improved at a cost of 400,000 pounds ($960,000).

GLASGOW, Scotland — A "furry" motor car belonging to a Scottish businessman shows this notice in the window when it is parked: "You can touch it. It won't bite."

If you touch the car, you find the "fur" feels something like the nap of a billiards table.

The effect is achieved by painting the car with epoxy resin, then depositing man-made fibers on it by a high voltage electricity technique.

The car owner, R. B. Whitehead, runs a Glasgow firm that normally provides this kind of finish for interior walls of hotels and bars.

When Europeans arrived in the United States, some 60 million bison ranged grasslands from Canada to Mexico and from Pennsylvania to Oregon.

Chamber Warns Wig Offers Questionable

Women receiving offers in the mail that they have "won" a wig would do well to think twice before responding, the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce said.

W. T. Thompson, manager of the chamber, said the offer may be one of a number of promotions of "free" wigs spring-

PRICE OF PALACES

LONDON — It will cost more than 1 million pounds ($2.4 million) to maintain Britain's royal palaces in 1969-70, the Ministry of Public Building has announced.

That includes such items at Buckingham Palace as 12,000 pounds ($28,800) for a new elevator and 5,000 pounds ($12,000) to clean the chandeliers.

ing up across the country. He said the National Better Business Bureau, with which the chamber is affiliated through membership, advises consumers that the offers frequently have strings attached.

NBBB said the promotions operate this way:

Postcards announcing the offer may be concentrated in one area at a time. Each recipient is told her winning number shown on the card was chosen by a member of the sponsor or "club" making the offer.

In one case, the card claims a wig of "100 per cent human hair" worth $89 will be given free, except for styling, handling and postage charges, generally $2.91, $2.94 or $2.96, payable in advance. The amounts and the conditions vary from promotion to promotion, but all are based on an offer or a "free" wig.

According to complaints received by NBBB, persons who send in the money are told that for an additional $17 they can get two $8.50 Wig Styles. Customers are guaranteed refund of styling fees if not satisfied.

However, complaints have been forwarded to NBBB by chambers and local Better Business Bureaus from persons who say they received no response after sending in the handling fees or got no money back under the terms of the guarantee.

The conditions of a free offer as defined in NBBB's volume on advertising practices "Do's and Don't's in Advertising," are as follows:

1. The item or service is available without cost or obligation, or 2. The item or service is available on payment of not more than the actual mailing costs, provided the cost is disclosed in immediate conjunction with the word "free," or 3. If another item is to be purchased to obtain the free article, (1) the cost of the purchased article may not be increased, (2) its quality or quantity may be decreased, and (3) the free item is offered for a limited time.

Because the experience of customers responding to the free wig offers indicates that it is rarely, if ever, possible to obtain a wig under these terms, says NBBB, they do not constitute free offers as advertised.

...and what's more, we always will be!

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q - I have my refund. Does this mean my return was all right and will not be audited?

A - No, it does not. The fact that you have your refund indicates only that your return contained all the required information needed to process it.

IRS generally has three years from the filing deadline of the return to examine the return and propose an adjustment in the tax liability.

For this reason, keep your tax records for at least three years from the due date of the return. Some records, such as those relating to the acquisition of a house or other property, should be kept longer.

Q - I lost my refund check. Can I get it replaced?

A - Yes, report the loss to the IRS Service Center where you filed your return. They will send you the forms needed to apply for a replacement check.

Q - I forgot to deduct my medical expenses when I filed my 1968 tax return. Is it too late to do it?

A - No, it is not too late to amend a 1968 return. To make a change, obtain a Form 1040X, Amended U. S. Individual Income Tax Return, from your local IRS office and enter the information called for. It is not necessary to file a completely new return.

Q - Is a gardener considered household help? If so, will I have to withhold social security taxes on wages paid?

A - Wages paid to a gardener are subject to social security taxes. If you pay him cash wages of $50 or more during a calendar quarter then you are required to file a Form 942, Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees, and pay social security taxes.

Income taxes, however, do not have to be withheld from wages paid gardeners and other household help.

Q - My son is taking a job this summer and plans to put most of the money he earns in the bank to pay his college expenses in the fall. If he earns

Concerning Veterans

June 1 is the third anniversary of the post-Korean GI Bill education and training program.

During the past three years, more than 1,148,000 veterans and 83,000 servicemen nationwide entered training under this program, Jack Coker, manager of the Waco Veterans Administration Regional Office, said today.

In Texas, more than 68,739 veterans and servicemen entered training during the past three years, some 43,390 of which went to college and 23,383 entered schools below the college level.

In Texas, more than 68,739 veterans and servicemen entered training during the past three years, some 43,390 of which went to college and 23,383 entered schools below the college level.

There were also 1966 veterans entered as on-the-job trainees since October 1, 1967, when this benefit went into effect.

This spring more than 33,454 veterans in Texas were enrolled in training. This is an all-time high for the three-year-old post-Korean GI Bill, Coker said. More than 21,770 were enrolled in institutions of higher learning.

To be eligible for post-Korean GI Bill education and training from VA, a veteran must have had at least 181 days of service, part of which was after January 31, 1955, and have received an other than dishonorable discharge, Coker said.

A recent change gives a veteran an one-and-one-half months of educational entitlement for each month of service with a maximum of 36 months entitlement. Veterans eligible under two or more VA programs may have a total entitlement of 48 months education.

Veterans who have not completed high school may receive full V A educational assistance while earning their high school diploma without having any of this time charged to their maximum entitlement to college training, Coker emphasized.

He reminded post-Korean and Vietnam era veterans in Texas that they must complete their training by May 31, 1974, or eight years after separation from service, whichever is later.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Texas lawmakers at work were some of the "sights" of Austin seen by Mrs. James A. Brown the first of the week while she was in the capital visiting her son, Larry Todd, his family and other relatives.

Expected to return home today, Mr. and Mrs. Brown have been fishing after he joined her at Stephenville, where she visited in her father's home later in the week. She went down by plane Thursday of last week.

ABOUT THOSE Red Cross swimming classes for this summer, and the schedule announced in Sunday's Brand, please don't telephone the number listed there for further information from service, whichever is later.

By mistake, instead of Mrs. C. E. Rush's phone number, Dr. Rush's office number was in the story, and a doctor's telephone is busy enough without any extra calls.

Mrs. Rush, the Red Cross water safety chairman here and the person who can answer your questions, can be reached at 364-1603.

A FAMILY get-together at Mrs. Mary Skypala's home, Saturday evening honored her daughter, Wilma Connally, here from Dallas a few days. Mrs. Connally visited her son, Butch Connally, and his family, other relatives and numerous friends while she was here.

She left Sunday morning, accompanied by her mother, for Dallas. After a few days there, Mrs. Skypala will attend commencement at Temple High School, where a granddaughter is graduating. Then she will go to Schulenburg for a family reunion June 22. She plans to return to Hereford around July 5.

Present at the family supper Saturday evening were the Butch Connallys, Michelle and Lisa; the Ellwood Skypalas; Ed Skypala; Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Skypala, Kathy and Greg; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dirks, Derek and Tiffy; Mrs. Fred Ruland, Shelly and Robin; the Jim Marnells, Doug and Todd, and Eddie Skypala.

TREES THAT break out into bloom are my favorites; shrubs may have flowers just as pretty, but a tree has so many of them! The locust trees have been beautiful, and their perfume is an extra beauty.

Now the catalpas are covered with their big white flowers and you're lucky if you have one in sight. Coming to work I pass the 400 block on Lawton, where there are several large trees, capped by the huge one in the James Witherspoons' backyard, which must be the biggest in town.

BUILDING FOR DEAD KYOTO - Shortage in burial land has brought about a 10-story ferro-concrete building in Kyoto, West Japan, purely to house the dead.

The Nishi-Honganji Temple constructed the building, which is complete with a hall for worship.

The Japanese practice is to cremate their dead and have the ashes either enshrined at home or buried in a family plot.

Ashes of the dead are contained in specially made urns placed in cabinet-size repositories.

Prices of a repository range from 300,000 yen (about $833) to $1,000,000 yen (about $1,777).

over $600 will we lose our dependency exemption for him?

A - If your son is under 19 at year end or will be a full-time student during the year, the amount of money he earns will not disqualify him from being claimed as your dependent as long as you furnish more than one-half of his support and the other dependency tests are met. He must file his own return, however, if he earns $600 or more during the year.

Q - Do you have to be a doctor or a lawyer to set up your own retirement plan?

A - No, other persons in business for themselves can take advantage of the tax provisions allowing them to deduct contributions to a self-employed retirement plan. This includes people who have their own business and also those who have income from part-time self-employment which is in addition to their regular job.

Publication 566, Questions and Answers on Retirement Plans for the Self-Employed, gives more information on these plans. Send a post card to your District Director for a free copy.

LET'S COOK SOMETHING

Charm In Bread-Making

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

"Making bread has, for me, a certain therapy," says Mrs. Marlin Gilliland, adding thoughtfully, "I think it's making anything from start to finish, so you can see that you've accomplished something."

"So much of our work is in areas where the outcome can't be seen at once," she continued, speaking as a homemaker, "and of course it's an old saying that our work is never done."

"We often feel that we don't have time for things like bread-making, but there is a satisfaction in serving good bread to the family; and when my mood is none too happy I can improve it by going to work and turning out a few nicely-browned loaves."

She makes the bread by a recipe which is easy to follow and much faster than old-fashioned methods. Another thing she likes about it, not much kneading is required. If the dough is set to rise in a warm place, only three or four hours are needed to make this bread.

It is especially good for toast Mrs. Gilliland says, and has a slightly sweet taste.

YEAST BREAD

Dissolve 2 pkgs. dry yeast in 1/2 cup warm water. Heat 3 cups milk, 1/4 lb. margarine or shortening, 3/4 cup sugar and 2 1/2 tsp. salt.

Let cool, then add 3 eggs, beaten, and the dissolved yeast. Add flour to make a stiff dough; it takes 8 or 9 cups.

Knead slightly. Let rise to double in size. Punch down and shape into three loaves; let rise again until double in size.

Bake 30 minutes at 350-degree temperature.

IN ADDITION to her role as homemaker, which includes a good deal of baby-sitting with her four grandchildren, she has a share of duties in the family business, Gilliland Funeral Home, now being conducted by a second and third generation of the Gillilands.

She calls herself a trouble-shooter, saying that she fills in on various jobs for "whoever is too busy with something else to take care of that particular job right at the moment."

The Gillilands are on call day and night, and they live next door to the funeral home building, in an attractive apartment with a green lawn bordered by beds in which flowers bloom most of the time.

THE GLASS-fronted entry holds a collection of potted plants on which Mrs. Gilliland exercises her "green thumb," sometimes taking care of a plant which has not thrived so well for another member of the family.

By profession Mrs. Gilliland is a registered nurse, who came here in 1934 to be employed in the local hospital as superintendent of nurses.

"And for the entire first week I was here the hospital didn't have a single patient!" she laughs as she contrasts that with present activity in the much larger hospital.

HER TRAINING as a nurse was received in Plainview, where the hospital then had a nursing school, and later she had special training at Baylor Hospital in Dallas for giving anesthetics. She had completed high school studies at Lockney.

She grew up in Floyd County as Eva Virden, one of a family living on a farm, helping with the farm work and often going three to five miles to school until she was in high school, when she lived in town to attend classes.

The year after she came to Hereford the brown-eyed nurse whose ready smile shows a deep dimple, married Marlin Gilliland, a member of one of the city's pioneer families. One of her major duties at the hospital was to administer anesthetics, and she continued that work after her marriage.

FOR A NUMBER of years, however, she has concentrated on her home and working with other family members in the business, accompanying her husband on trips which he is required to make frequently, and acting as baby-sitter.

Her two children are daughter Marlene, Mrs. Charles Watson, and son John Gilliland. Each of them also has a daughter and a son; the Watsons' children are Tina and Terry, the John Gillilands' Suzie and Matt.

Admitting that she was "once a joiner" who held memberships in several women's clubs, Eva Gilliland says her unpredictable work hours would make her a poor member now, so she has dropped memberships, even in the church women's organization which she formerly served as an officer. She retains only her volunteer job as teacher of a woman's class in First Baptist Church, and she makes a point of attending church services when possible.

In temperate regions, buds that open in spring usually are formed by the preceding July.

Mrs. Marlin Gilliland plants are her pets

MET LACKS MONEY FOR JAPAN

NEW YORK — The Metropolitan Opera has announced that it has declined an invitation to appear at the Osaka World's Fair in 1970, because of money.

The projected cost of the six-week trip was to be $2,400,000, of which the Japanese had agreed to pay half. The Met had obtained commitments for about half of its share of the expenses, but efforts over the past two years to raise the rest have been unsuccessful.

Neill Completes Training Course

Leo Neill, serviceman for Oglesby Implement Company, International Harvester dealer of Hereford, has just completed an intensive one-week training course on diesel fuel injection systems, power steering, hydrostatic drives and torque amplifiers at International Harvester Service Training Center near Tifton, Georgia.

Classes were small enough for each serviceman to receive ample personal direction in "learning by doing." By actual troubleshooting the equipment and working with it, they were prepared to quickly diagnose and correct service problems.

The service training center was originated to enable dealer service specialists to acquire training in the professional skills needed to meet today's demanding requirements of complex farm and industrial machinery.

LEST WE forget

God has a destiny for America, and only eyes of Faith can read that destiny. Were it not so, all those who have, and will pay with their lives the last full measure, will have died in vain. We need only to look at our cemeteries to have our manhood shocked and our Americanism awakened. Our allegiance would be strengthened by that look. We can never recompense for the supreme sacrifice and heartache the spilling of each drop of blood caused. But every American should bow his head in shame when he dares not to salute our Grand Old Flag. Please let us, this day, rededicate ourselves and say a benediction for all those who have and will lay themselves, in our behalf, between our wonderful country and all her foes.

Lest We Forget.

Carrothers Puts Down Statement

"Government officials have an obligation to the public to assure themselves that statements they make to the news media are correct" said Jack Carrothers, president of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association, in commenting on a statement made by Arnold Chase, Deputy Commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Chase said in his comments associated with cost of living increases: "It appears that at least some of the food price increases were the result of withholding action by farmers." Chase said, "The increases come at a time when prices for these commodities, particularly livestock, usually decline, and there appears to be some voluntary withholding to bring about higher prices."

Commenting on Chase's remarks, Carrothers said, "Livestock feeders in this region and throughout the nation are marketing fed cattle with a shorter feeding time today than ever in history. Slaughter weights of fed cattle are at or near record low levels because of this reduced feeding time."

Carrothers said, "It is out of order for a Department of Labor official to be critical of livestock price levels when on April 15, 1969, the index of prices received by farmers for livestock and livestock products was up only 20 percent compared to the 1957-59 average. Wage rates paid by livestock producers, on the other hand, had increased 77 percent during the same period. Beef cattle prices in April of this year were only 85 percent of official USDA parity, which could hardly be classed as exorbitant."

Kenneth Dilldine, general manager of Glover Packing Company, which has plants at Amarillo, Texas; Roswell, New Mexico; and Hernando, Mississippi, stated, "We are having a difficult time in finding a sufficient quantity of fed cattle which have adequate time on feed to meet our kill requirements. Feedyards throughout the area are very current, and there is obviously no withholding on the part of cattle feeders."

Bill Mosley, head buyer for the packing plants, said: "The demand for fed cattle from buying Committee and members of Congress be thoroughly knowledgeable and up to date on aircraft of today and the future. I know from my own experience, the part that military aircraft plays in maintaining our nation's international posture; and as I learn more of our progress in space, I am firmly convinced of this importance in keeping the United States in a position of superiority in either war or peace."

The Seminar will last four days in Paris, France, and following this assignment, Price is expected to participate in briefings to the members of the Science and Astronautics Committee and Members of Congress, and in reports to the people of the Panhandle.

School Transfer System Changed

AUSTIN — Texas parents who wish to transfer their children from one public school district to another — without changing their own place of residence — have been given a new route by the State Legislature.

This new plan is outlined in detail by the Texas Education Agency in a letter mailed to school superintendents throughout the state Monday. The act, passed by the 61st Legislature and signed by Governor Preston Smith on May 9, repeals transfer methods which have been in effect since 1925 and 1935.

Parents will no longer apply for transfer to the county superintendent. Instead, they will now go directly to the superintendent of the school district they wish their children to enter. The parent or guardian of the child must apply in writing at the receiving school superintendent's office. If the district agrees to receive the non-resident student, the parents or guardian will be notified in writing.

The old June 1 deadline for filing transfer applications will be extended, probably by several weeks, when the State Board of Education meets in Austin June 7, Agency officials explain.

not exceed the difference between what it costs the school district to support a student and the state funds received. This amount will be based on the per student costs during the 1968-69 school year. The state per capita funds for each child transferred out of his home district will travel with him. Average daily attendance, if any, recorded in the home district during the previous 8-year will also be transferred.

The new law, which goes into effect immediately, applies to all Texas school children over six and under 21 years of age who are not high school graduates.

It said 59.9 per cent of the motorcycles exported went to Southeast Asian countries, 24.4 per cent to North America and 14.1 per cent to Europe.

Humor Is In New Book

A humorous story about a family and their billion dollar foundation, a novel set in Portugal and another novel about ten couples in a New England community are three new books now available at the Deaf Smith County Library.

Move over, Mame! You've been replaced by Lydia Fennessey (nee Lena Leach), who elbowed her way up from a tacky luncheonette in Mackinaw City, Mich., to glittering stardom as the self-proclaimed (and hotly contested) First Lady of the fabulously rich Fennessey family. And Lena — oops! — Lydia is not about to be thrown over, thank you — not by any mindless sister-in-law with a paid-for title, not by old Gramps in the attic, who parlayed a recipe for home brew into vats full of money, and certainly not by some young upstart tutor named John Wesley Smith, as if he were a walking Sunday Night Young People's Group, of all things! Too ridiculous! All this you will read in HOW FIRM A FOUNDATION, by Patrick Dennis.

And ridiculous it is — as well as madly, widely, sidesplittingly funny — when John Wesley, brimming with ideas for good works, bumbles innocently into the considerably less than innocent world of the Fennesseys and their billion-dollar foundation "for the Furtherance of the Arts and Sciences" (and the Fennesseys). He thinks he's going to be Director of Projects. The Fennesseys think he's going to tutor their offspring. And the Internal Revenue Service is beginning to have some thoughts of its own.

Prudence dictates that the foundation quickly develop a social conscience, and the Fennesseys throw their enormous all into the arts, with Lydia, Gramps, John Wesley, a wild Irish poet, and a host of greater and lesser Fennesseys getting into the uproarious act.

Any resemblance to any foundation living, dead or infirm is purely coincidental.

THE WINDING STAIR by John Aiken Hodge. This book leads to adventure, romance, and suspense, all subtly woven into the fabric of history in this exciting novel.

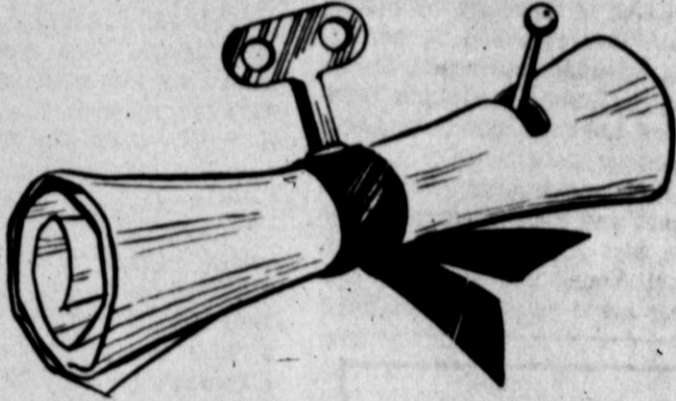

The place is Portugal; the time is the beginning of the nineteenth century — when time was running out for that sunny little country as the shadow of Napoleon lengthened over Europe.

COUPLES

by John Updike. This novel concerns the interactions of ten couples in an out-of-the-way New England community called Tarbox. The circle of acquaintance is felt as a magic circle, with ritual games, religious substitutions, a priest (Freddy Thorne), and a scapegoat (Piet Hanema). The action runs from the spring of 1963 through the following spring.

Judy Summers Is Bride In Evening Ceremony

Miss Judy Carolyn Summers and Gary Thomas Gore exchanged marriage vows Tuesday evening at the candlelight altar of First United Methodist Church with the Rev. Clifford Trotter, pastor, reading the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Summers, 500 East Third, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. Gore, 148 Centre. Both have been students in Texas Technological College, Lubbock, and are employed with Institutional Directories in that city.

They are taking a honeymoon trip to West Virginia and Kentucky, and will be at home later in the summer at 2408 Auburn in Lubbock.

Apricot gladiolas filled a large basket centering the church altar, and other baskets set on either side with sunbursts of green foliage and branched candelabra, as a background for the wedding party.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride had as her honor attendant her sister, Miss Peggy Summers. Gordon Golden of Lubbock was Gore's best man.

Bridesmaids were Miss Penni Jones and the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Thomas Brashear. Jimmy Young and Thomas Brashear acted as groomsmen and a Johnny Mars of Friona, Earl Jackson and Danny Boyer as ushers.

Completing the wedding party were cousins of the bride, Dee Ann Summers, daughter of the Jerry Summers of Dimmitt, as flower girl and Kevin Horton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Horton of Las Cruces, N. M., carrying the rings.

Candles were lighted by Miss Patricia Summers of Dimmitt and Art Horton of Las Cruces.

For the musical prelude, Don Baugous was organist and Ben Gollehon vocal soloist. The wedding songs were Twelfth of Never, One Hand One Heart and O Perfect Love.

The bride wore a gown of snow-white satin with empire waistline and A-line skirt, portrait neckline and short sleeves. Appliques of French lace and seed pearls ornamented the dress and the full-circle train which flowed from the waistline where it was held by a satin bow and streamers.

Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls borrowed from Miss Jones, and she carried the handkerchief carried by her mother as a bride.

Her bouffant veil floated over her shoulders from a cluster of chiffon roses and white satin petals embroidered with seed pearls. Her bouquet of gladiolas and feathered mums had touches of color in apricot sweetheart roses.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids were dressed in empire frocks of green chiffon over satin and tiered tulle veils attached to roses of the chiffon. They carried cascades of apricot gladiolas.

After the ceremony the couple and their parents received guests in the church fellowship hall. Mrs. Robert Montgomery of Amarillo served the wedding cake and Miss Nancy Douglas of San Antonio ladled punch.

Glenn Watts showed guests to the registry. Others who assisted in the houseparty were Mmes. Johnny Brownlow, O. Z. Golden, Roy Boyer, Charles Laing and Jack Mitchell, Misses Debbie Angelo and Melinda Watts.

Wedding bells topped the four-tiered cake which formed a part of the table decor. White feathered mums were arranged with a silver candelabrum as the centerpiece.

For travel Mrs. Gore changed to an empire dress of apricot knit, worn with white accessories. The sweetheart roses from her bridal bouquet made her corsage.

She enrolled at Tech after graduation from Hereford High School in 1966. Gore is also an HHS graduate and attended Oklahoma State University before he transferred to Tech.

Wedding guests from other cities included the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Summers of Clovis, N. M., Mrs. Terry Horton, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Summers.

Glady's Garden

By Gladys Howton Manjeot

What is so fair as a day in May, when the roses are blooming, the iris gleaming with a sheen of beauty, and birds singing in the leafy trees? Pretty wonderful!

However, there is not all beauty and pleasantness in gardening. As in many other things there are enemies. The time has arrived for the gardeners to wage a consistent effort to conquer these enemies. . . insects and diseases. Diagnosing plant trouble is a process of elimination. First look for the obvious.

Is the plant especially susceptible to certain insects and diseases? Any plant which has been attacked by insects will show some signs of such. A successful gardener should determine what type insect has damaged the plant or plants, either the leaves, blossoms or stems. The signs will be quickly noticed and diagnosed. There are too primary kinds of insects, the chewing and sucking and to eliminate these, controls must be used.

Insects must be controlled, because they can soon weaken or completely destroy useful plantings. At best their efforts will deface foliage and necessitate extra care in nursing victims back to vigorous growth and production. If the damage goes noticed, then plants will be completely destroyed and replacement involves money expenditures as well as time to re-plant — and time lost in the growth and production of the plant.

Insects also transmit diseases from one plant to another, and even though they may not directly attack them, their presence is a potential threat to the entire garden.

Simple fundamentals regarding pest control is early learned. They are (1.) Which spray or dust to use, (2.) When to use them, (3.) How to apply them.

Follow the which, when, a n d how, and insect control becomes a breeze!

Please remember even though these rules seem simple they are vital. If error is made, sometimes drastic results occur. Don't sell yourself, your plants, and others short in application of controls.

Always keep in mind that it is very important to read all directions of the mix you are going to make use by application or mixing of ingredients composed of the insecticides. Before the lid is taken off the box, read all the directions carefully. Follow the directions, remember that twice the amount of pesticide won't do twice as much good — plants can be damaged severely by over dosage. Burned foliage and damaged blossoms or fruit will be some of the results.

Thorough coverage is important. Underside of the leaves must be covered with a spray or dust-as well as the upper- as so often the insect is hiding underneath the leaf.

Last year, I never did control the insects on my ornamental chard until I turned the leaves and carefully sprayed all underneath.

Insects are clever they have all kinds of hiding places. Some hibernate in the soil and come out at night, others cling to twigs, and some lay eggs so that others will hatch and carry on the work begun by their parents.

Timing must be considered. The best time to spray or dust is in the early morning. Second best time is late afternoon. The basic rule is to avoid heat and wind. A good additional rule to follow is to spray or dust immediately after a rain.

Many lost the full effect of their spraying these past few days because rain came and washed off much of the spray. It is well to use a sticking ingredient in the spray when applying. My mother often used a heavy soap suds in the spray to make it adhere to the plant. Remember that many pestides are harmful to humans and animals. Avoid breathing the vapors or dust. Do not use them around food utensils, food preparation areas, table tops where foods are served, or where children play. Wash all exposed parts of your body with warm water and soap immediately after spraying or dusting. Dispose of empty containers immediately. Never re-use an empty container, or transfer other pesticides from its original container to another container. If this should be done, then be sure the container is properly labeled, plainly and then tightly closed.

Some people protect themselves by using long-sleeved smocks or shirts, slacks, boots, and gloves; preferably rubber or rubber-lined. Many are allergic to insecticides and it is therefore very necessary that all areas of their body be protected.

It is further suggested that all sprays and dusting compounds be stored in locked cabinets or chests. These should be so located that children or animals cannot reach or unlock the locks. My husband Art cautioned me the other day about this very thing I had been spraying, and putting out poison, and had forgotten (for the time that we now have a dog (we are keeping Fritz, who is our grandchildren's dog). Art took care of the situation, and then admonished me to be careful.

I had also had a bad experience in the afternoon. I was spraying with malithion. The wind suddenly started anew and turned directions and before I could change the spray some of it was blown into my face. I stopped immediately and washed and cleaned the exposed areas of my skin that had been hit.

Another thing the gardener must know is what kind of an insect has damaged the plant. Was it a chewing or a sucking insect? After this is determined, then the type insecticide must be used.

Chewing insects feed on plant tissue and leave tell-tale evidence of their presence by the physical damage they do to flowers and foliage. They can range from large holes, tiny holes like bird shot would leave, severing of stems from the plants at the ground line, and then hide out in the soil during the day. Some work on the roots — especially when in the larval stage.

It is therefore necessary that the gardener know the signs and from what kind of insect they came.

Some of the chewing insects are flea beetles and other beetles, cutworms, inchworm, caterpillars, grasshoppers army worms, and cankerworms.

SUCKING INSECTS
Their damage is harder to spot instead of eating tissue, they pierce it and suck cellular sap inside it. It is known that usually these are found in profusion, therefore making it easier to see them. Aphids are one of the worst sucking of the insects, they are tiny pear-shaped bad things that multiply with a-larming rapidity. Green, brownish or black, these insects can almost always be found in roses.

Another one that is bad is thrips. They are tiny grayish insects, and if suspected, they can be found by taking a blossom or leaf and shaking it over black paper and the tiny insect will fall and can be seen with the naked eye. These are especially bad on gladioli (that is why I have cautioned to be sure and treat corns before planting).

Leaf hopper is another sucking insect. One that is real bad on evergreens is the mite or red spider. These are seldom seen, but their damage can be noted by the turning of the leaves to yellow then burned brown. White flies are sucking insects, and when you see the miniature moths, the damage is done. The nymphs of the flies do the damage clustering on underside of leaves, excrete honeydew which causes sooty mold. Preventive spraying in the spring is the best method to control these.

Timing is important in insect control, and most commercial producers recommend that their product be used at seven to 10-day intervals-or every five days if weather is wet. Season-long applications are seldom necessary with each insect species. It is necessary, however, to at least spray three times. First to get the old ones, then to get the young ones which have hatched out between sprayings or dustings, then for the eggs or larvae that has been deposited on the leaves or stems, or in the top soil.

I would recommend consistent treatments during the entire growing season, if you wish to have lush beautiful and bountiful flowering plants and producing vegetables.

Diseases will be discussed later.

HAVE YOU SEEN? The sign on the Hereford Credit Union grounds? It is clever and should make us all ashamed of our litter and our lack of controlling it: "Don't flaunt your litter."

The roses (climbing) at the Will Black home, 449 Ave. D; the beautiful yellow climber at 410 Long; the array of lovely blossoms at 308 and 310 Ave. C; the magnificent Peace Rosebush at Mrs. Logan's on 4th St.; the Elsie Polson's, and Sierra Roses at 301 and 303 Westhaven Drive; the beautiful yellow blooming shrub (Laburnum), 108 Centre in the Lipscomb yard other colors are pretty too.

So many pretty elegant flowerers are in our home town, be sure and enjoy some of their beauty.

I have a pretty dainty old fashioned wild rose in our back yard, along with a Rosa Agacia tree. The blending of color with the gorgeous purple iris creates a lovely picture.

The joys of gardening brings happiness, and enemies makes us GLAD we can fight them.

BRITISH WITHDRAW
NEW ORK — The Royal Dorset Yacht Club of England has withdrawn its 1970 challenge for the America's Cup, reports the New York Yacht Club.

Experienced observers abroad have speculated that present economic conditions in England were factors in the decision.

The British withdrawal leaves the French and Australians as the only challengers for the 12-meter yacht race set to be held off Newport, R. I., next year.

New Chairman, Delegate Named

Delegates to the Texas Home Demonstration Association convention in Dallas Sept. 16 were chosen and a new county THDA chairman was named by Deaf Smith County H. D. Club women Monday afternoon.

The THDA session followed a County H. D. Council meeting in the county courtroom. Mrs. Paul Corbett of Cultural Club was elected county THDA chairman for 1970, to succeed Mrs. N. A. Brown.

Mmes. Dean Stallings, Wayne Sifford and Brown were the delegates picked for the state convention, with Mmes. Steve Melwes, T. B. Thomas and Grady Parsons as alternates.

Rooms have been reserved for the Deaf Smith delegation, and a chartered bus trip is scheduled. A rummage sale is planned in July to finance the trip. County delegates were elected from club nominees, who were guests at the meeting, each introduced by her club president. Ten clubs had 100 percent representation at the council. Mrs. C. T. Goheen, 4-H Club representative, reported that a camping trip is planned for county 4-H members June 11-13 at Rita Blanca Lake. Mrs. Melwes gave a report of the recent workshop on colors. Mrs. H. D. Fowler made the finance report. Mrs. J. C. Morrison announced that Westway Club, of which she is president, will collect fabric scraps again this summer, as it did last year, to send to a state hospital for patients' handicraft work.

After the meeting, a surprise party was given Mrs. Floyd Coleman, who is leaving her work as Hereford Brand society editor at the end of this month. Mmes. Leroy Johnson, W. J. Lueb and J. D. Gilbert Jr., the committee on reporters, were hostesses.

Punch and homemade cookies were served, and gifts from the various clubs, many of them handmade articles, were presented to Mrs. Coleman with an expression of appreciation for her work in H. D. club publicity.

Other members who registered were Mmes. S. N. Thweatt, Bill Page, Elmer Northcutt of Messenger Club; Miss Mary Bradley and Mrs. Carl Schroeder, West Hereford; Mmes. Raymond Smith, Tex McKnight and

John A. Smith, Ford; Mmes. Dick Golden and H. D. Fowler, Dawn; Mrs. Andrew Kershen, Westway.
