Reagan calls for fair, simple tax bill

Everything You Ever Wanted To Know...

The Department of Energy has opened an information office in Hereford, located at the former Top Property building at Main and Hwy. 60. The office will provide information about the proposed nuclear waste repository. Office hours are 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays.

Texas House resolution calls for DOE to forget nuke dump in Deaf Smith

AUSTIN (AP) - House lawmakers say they want the federal government to give Texas a Navy battleship port but to keep a national nuclear waste dump.

Voting Wednesday, the House also invited Vice President George Bush to speak to a joint session of the Legislature on Feb. 27.

The three motions - all quickly approved on voice votes - made for one of the longest sessions so far this year in the House, about 20

Rep. John Willy, R-Angelton, asked all House members to support the six Texas coastal cities that want to be home to a battleship. A total of 16 cities from Florida to Texas are seeking the new Navy port. The resolution, already approved in the Senate, got voice vote approval in the House.

Rep. David Hudson, D-Tyler, won approval for his resolution asking the U.S. Department of Energy to forget about putting the nation's high-level nuclear waste dump in Deaf Smith County. A site in

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says there's nothing wrong with the younger generation that becoming taxpayers won't cure.

Sometimes even parents have to be practical. A father out in the northwest part of Hereford noticed that his son was watching TV rather than doing his homework.

"Son, turn off that TV and study your lesson."

The boy immediately turned off the set and began thumbing through a math book. A few minutes later, the boy asked, "Dad, can you explain what a hypotenuse really is?"

The quick-thinking father replied, "Turn on the TV!"

The widening of Hwy. 385 from Moreman to just past 16th Street should serve as a real asset to the community and the businesses along the way. Along with the paving to be done by the state, the city will install storm sewers that should alleviate drainage problems in the area. A shopping center is planned at 15th and 385, and there has been speculation about a shopping area across from Sugarland Mall.

At the same time, the City of Hereford announced plans to build a new fire station. The present station readers, too.

is in an old building, part of it constructed in 1926. The explosion at a milk plant, located on Main and Hwy. 60, some years back did damage to the south wall. The present station is cramped for space, and the new facility will surely be welcomed by the Volunteer Fire Department!

The Associated Press wire service has filed a story about Hereford for release in Sunday newspapers. What's it about? You probably can guess-the nuclear waste dump ques-

The lengthy article, which probably will appear in many newspapers across Texas and other states, deals primarily with the opposition of county residents. Tonya Kleuskens, president of People Opposed to Wasted Energy Repositories (POWER), is quoted extensively. Others quoted include County Judge Glen Nelson, Mayor Wes Fisher, and landowner Wayne

There are really no new developments reported in the article, just a review of what's happened and what some people think. It's a rehash for outsiders, but we think it will make interesting reading for our the Panhandle county - about 30 miles from Amarillo - is among three finalists. The other sites are in Nevada and Washington state.

Hudson's resolution echoes the fears of area residents who are concerned about the region's water supply. He told the House the dump could endanger the Ogallala and Santa Rosa aquifers, the major sources of water in the area.

Hudson asked House members to pay closer attention to the resolution than they usually do for such actions.

"This isn't for the basketball team or the Boy Scouts," he said of U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, has scheduled a Monday public hearing in Hereford concerning the nuclear waste dump.

Rep. Ed Emmett, R-Kingwood, won voice vote approval for the resolution clearing the way for Bush's speech.

U.S. House Majority Leader Jim Wright of Fort Worth will address the Legislature on Monday.

Lenders denounce farm credit plan

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) -Lenders and lawmakers denounced the government's latest farm credit plan as inadequate, but Iowa Gov. Terry Branstad says he's been assured more help is on the way from a "bottomless pit" of federal money. Agriculture Secretary John Block, announcing the plan Wednesday in Washington, said at least $650 million would be made available for farm ment would ease regulatory pressure

The aid package is in response to pleas from farmers who are squeezed between high interest rates and declining prices for their crops and land, which often is used as collateral for loans.

The plan calls for bankers to "write down" or reduce enough of a farmer's loan principal or interest to bring payments within reach, in return for federal loan guarantees on part of the remaining loan.

As farm foreclosures mount and farmers stage mass protests, pressure has mounted for legislative relief. Thomas Olson, president of the Lisco State Bank in Nebraska and chairman of the Independent Bankers Association's committee on farm banks, predicts 5 percent to 8 percent of farmers in Nebraska will fail this year, regardless of federal Although farmers were hoping for some $3 billion in assistance, Block said of the $650 million, "We think it will satisfy the need." He also said more people would be hired to speed government paperwork in time for planting and loan payment deadlines in the coming months.

"I doubt that's enough to totally do the job," said Don Hopwood of Petersburg, Ill., past president of the loan guarantees and that the govern- Illinois Bankers Association agriculture credit committeee

> Hopwood, senior vice president of the First National Bank of Petersburg, said his bank would be willing to write down some interest costs, but not principal. "It's totally inadequate," said Democratic Iowa House Speaker Don Avenson. "Basically, they have abandoned 10 percent to 15 percent of the farmers in the Midwest.

"I would have felt much better about it if they had expanded the loan authority," said Leo Wagner of the Iowa Farm Bureau. Sen. Tom Harkin, D-Iowa, called it

"spitting in the ocean" because no more money was made available. But Branstad was more sanguine about the package's prospects. "I'm pleased that we have finally gotten some significant action," he said, adding that he's received "private assurances" from Block that more aid will be available.

Plans draw hesitant support from Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Reagan's appeal for tax simplification, the only new initiative in a State of the Union litany of revived firstterm proposals, is drawing hesitant support from a Congress preoccupied with deficit-reduction.

In the first congressional address of his second term, Reagan Wednesday night proclaimed a "Second American Revolution" that would include "historic reform" of the nation's tax code.

Reagan indicated that his proposal would be a modification of a flat-rate plan advanced by the Treasury Department, but that it would allow homeowners to continue deducting home mortgage interest payments. It should not be "a tax increase in disguise," the president said in his nationally broadcast address.

Many House and Senate members suggested that tax revision would have to be put on a back burner while Congress wrestles with ways to reduce deficits soaring above $200 billion.

"I prefer one at a time," said Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole, R-Kan, suggesting that deficitreduction had the highest priority. However, he said Reagan could probably win approval for the tax plan if he "gets behind it" in a major lobbying effort.

Reagan did not endorse the Treasury Department plan as such, but said he was directing newly sworn-in Treasury Secretary James

T. Baker to begin working with congressional sponsors of a flat-rate tax plan so "together we can pass, this year, a tax bill for fairness, simplicity and growth."

He said his plan would lower tax rates "as low as possible by removing many tax preference" and would propose a top rate "of no more than 35 percent."

The president's fourth State of the Union speech restated such familiar Reagan themes as smaller government and family values, and he gave lawamkers a pitch for major elements of his new budget - with its call for a $30 billion increase in defense spending and $39 billion in domestic spending cuts.

"Tonight was a night of eloquent generalities. Tomorrow he must begin to inform people as to the sometimes difficult realities of the Reagan revolution," said House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass.

Although Republican congressional leaders have been near unanimous in their criticism of the high level of defense spending in Reagan's budget proposal, the president told Congress: "We must not relax our efforts to restore military strength ... Spending for defense is investing in things that are priceless: peace and freedom."

Eulogio Garcia, serving 27 years for a Harris County conviction of burglary of a habitation with intent to commit theft, was stabbed Wednesday morning at the Darrington Unit in Brazoria County, Texas Department of Corrections spokesman Phil Guthrie said. Garcia, 24, was stabbed during a recreation period in the unit's administrative segregation yard, Guthrie said.

About eight other inmates and a guard were in the yard when the stabbing occurred, the spokesman said.

"We believe an officer may have been in a position to see who did it," Guthrie said. "He may have seen the whole thing."
Officers recovered two eight-inch strips of metal in the incident.

Texans laud Reagan's speech

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Reagan's State of the Union address was "show biz at its best" or "the most moving speech he's ever made," depending on the party affiliation of the Texas congressman reacting to it.

Although partisan responses surfaced among the delegation after the speech to Congress Wednesday night, most praised Reagan for seeking bipartisan cooperation.

"It was a very strong speech. I've heard President Reagan speak many times and I've never heard him better," said Republican Sen.

Gramm said the most important thing about the nationally televised speech was that it allowed Reagan to take his message to the American people. "The Democrats are going to find something to critize no matter what he does," said Gramm. "But the most important critic tonight was not sitting in the House chamber. The important critic was sitting in his or her living room at home listening to the president. weighing what he was saying against what they've observed in their own lives and in their families' lives over the last four years. "I think this was the imporant first salvo in a long a difficult battle. I'll put my money on Ronald Reagan if somebody will put theirs on (House Speaker) 'Tip' O'Neill," Gramm said.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen called the speech "positive" and "upbeat," but like other Democrats, criticized Reagan for not mentioning the

"I think this was the most moving speech the president has ever made, as far as the State of the 'Union," said U.S. Rep. Steve Bartlett, R-Dallas. "I think in many ways he held out the olive branch to Congress."

"I thought the president's speech tonight was vintage Reagan," said Rep. Jake Pickle, D-Austin. "The effect was upbeat and it was showbiz at its best."

Blood supply plentiful, despite AIDS

WASHINGTON (AP) - There is no widespread shortage of blood despite the public's fear of contracting AIDS through transfusions. says a new report on the nation's blood supply by the congressional Office of Technology Assessment.

"AIDS has shaken the public's confidence in blood supplies far beyond its actual risk to blood recipients," the report says, "yet no widespread shortages have resulted, and both donors and blood collection organizations have generally responded to the challenge."

The report was released Wednesday by Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of the House Energy and Commerce Committee, which requested it.

The study cautioned, however, that "it remains to be seen if AIDS will have a long-lasting effect on blood resources."

Lawrence Milke of the Office of Technology Assessment told a press briefing on the report that about 1 percent of AIDS cases have been connected to transfusions, or about 100 cases over the last several years. There are between 10 million and 12 million transfusions a year, he said.

AIDS is a deadly, incurable disease that strikes mainly homosexuals, hemophiliacs and drug addicts.

Westmoreland blames fellow general

NEW YORK (AP) - Gen. William C. Westmoreland suppressed a 1967 cable showing greater enemy strength in Vietnam because it would have been a "political bombshell" if it had reached Washington, according to a retired two-star general.

The testimony of retired Maj. Gen. Joseph A. McChristian, the highest-ranking military officer to testify on behalf of CBS, was even harsher than the remarks he made when he appeared in the documentary that sparked Westmoreland's $120 million libel suit against the network.

And according to McChristian, an unhappy Westmoreland called him two days before the Jan. 23, 1982, documentary and chastised McChristian, who served as Westmoreland's chief intelligence officer for two years, testified Wednesday that in May 1967 he showed Westmoreland a cable he was about to send to intelligence officials in Washington. The document reported communist strength in Vietnam was much greater than had previously been believed.

Legislators tackle water crisis

'There is no more vitally important issues before this Legislature," said Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, co-sponsor of the Senate water package with Santiesteban.

The two water programs are the outgrowth of coordinated efforts by Gov. Mark White, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Speaker Gib Lewis, plus extensive work by the House and Senate committees.

Not everyone is happy over the legislators' efforts.

"This insane bill would create a super hierarchy of bureaucrats," said Paul Peters, a Gonzales County farmer before the Senate committee.

Rodney Reagan of Uvalde suggested to senators the state's money would be better spent by increasing rainfall through weather modifica-

The House Natural Resources Committee voted 9-0 to send a water bill and companion constitutional amendment to the House floor. The plan would establish a bond program to raise funds for a variety of water development and conservation projects. The constitutional amendment portion of the package would be placed before voters in November.

The House plan calls for $200 million in water supply projects, $200 million for sewage treatment projects, $200 million for buying and developing sites for reservoir projects and $200 million for flood conmillion bond insurance program to help cities or agencies that want to get better credit ratings for their water projects.

The Senate package, which also entails a water bill and companion constitutional amendment, calls for $200 million in bonds for hardship water supply loans, $200 million for hardship water quality loans, and $400 million for state participation in local water and waste water projects. A pending amendment calls for $200 million in bonds for flood control, which is not in the House bill.

"I feel strongly the Senate must consider the flood control amendment in order to have a viable vote statewide on the constitution change," Montford said.

The Senate constitutional amendment would allocate $5 million for a pilot program which, if successful, could lead to $200 million in water conservation bonds for agriculture two years from now.

The Senate bill would delete the $250 million guarantee program in the House bill. Montford's bill also proposes a cost-sharing program for farmers similar to one suggested by Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower, which is not in the House

Craddick said the House package, "was put together not just by this committee but over a two-year period. Explosives suspect killed in police chase

SHERMAN, Texas (AP) - An order to "blow him off the road" ended a 100-mph chase in Grayson County as law enforcement officers opened fire on a man racing down Texas Highway 82 wired with plastic explosives and shooting a submachine gun.

Thomas Francis Wood Jr., 40, was pronounced dead at a site four miles east of here about 45 minutes after officials spotted his van, believed to be stolen, and gave chase about 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Wood reportedly hurled plastic explosives at pursuing officers, but none of them exploded. Grayson County Sheriff Jack Driscoll said the man also was armed with a submachine gun which he fired at pursu-

'We gave him every opportunity to stop, and we didn't even return fire when he threw those devices. But when he opened on my men, I ordered them to open on him," said Driscoll.

The van was spotted at a Denison residence that was under surveillance by law enforcement officers after an anonymous caller told police the man had a quantity of explosives, narcotics and a machine gun, the Denison Herald reported. When Wood left the house, officers followed. When he realized he was being followed, he hit speeds of 105 mph, the newspaper reported.

About 45 minutes after the chase involving some 12 law enforcement vehicles started, Driscoll gave the order to "blow him off the road," the newspaper said.

Justice of the Peace Tom Richardson pronounced Wood dead at the scene, but the body was not removed immediately because of the

At one point, officers blocked the exits off Highway 82 and commandeered an 18-wheel truck to pull across the highway as a blockade. The van was stopped before it reached the blockade, however.

A female passenger in the man's van, identified as Theresa Weiler, 25. was also injured and taken to a local hospital, deputies said.

After serving for two years as cochairman of the blood drive committee in the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce, Bettye Owen currently is chairman of the tour committee.

As chairman, she is responsible for setting up tours for Hereford residents of interesting sites usually in an outlying area. The tours are scheduled throughout the year.

With the blood drive, Owen kept running files of donors and those needing replacement from Hereford who were in either Amarillo or Deaf Smith General hospitals.

"We had a committee who called about 150 people a month to remind them to give blood," she said.

With her experience behind her, Owen has helped this year's blood drive officers get started. When working with the blood drive herself, she found the contact with the local people rewarding.

"To think people would share part of themselves with someone else is really exciting," she said. "It's just the idea that they wanted to help someone who needed help."

Owen volunteered for the blood drive committee because she had heard that it was an active committee and she wanted to be involved. She joined the Women's Division five years ago because she knew some of the women in it, and felt it would be a good opportunity to do something for Hereford.

"My husband was also already active in the chamber, so that might have had a little to do with my joining," she added.

Owen also is the current president and a charter member of La Madre Mia Study Club.

Stranger to Lions chosen Detroit coach

By HARRY ATKINS AP Sports

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) - After weeks of criss-crossing the country to find a new coach for the Detroit Lions, Russ Thomas finally selected Darryl Rogers, who said he knows virtually nothing about the team.

Rogers said Wednesday he agreed to leave Arizona State University for the job after working out final details during a telephone conversation with Thomas, the general manager of the National Football League club.

Rogers replaces Monte Clark, who was fired Dec. 19 after a 4-11-1

"I can't tell you one thing about the Detroit Lions," Rogers said. "I can't tell you anything. I don't know their schedule and I don't have their roster. I do know who their punter is (Mike Black, who played at Arizona State under Rogers two years ago).

"I just hope we can be successful. I have not talked to them about offense and defense. I've just talked about contract."

His signing, though, was greeted with pleasure by some players.

"With Darryl's reputation as a passing coach, everyone knows he likes to throw the ball and all the quarterbacks will be excited," said backup quarterback Mike Machurek during a weight-lifting session at the Silverdome.

"He definitely likes to throw the ball," said running back Ken Jenkins. "That can only make our running game better. With Billy Sims coming back 100 percent from surgery, we should be right in contention for the Central Division title next season."

Rogers, 49, a former coach at Michigan State University, received a five-year contract but terms of the deal were not disclosed.

The announcement in Tempe, Ariz., by Rogers ended almost two days of confusing and often conflicting statements from both Arizona State and Lions officials. At his news conference, Rogers explained that the deal wasn't made until Wednesday morning after his meeting with Arizona State Athletic Director Dick Rogers started his coaching career at Hayward State in 1965 where he was 3-7. From 1966 through 1972 he led Fresno State to a 43-32-1 record; from 1973-75 he was 22-9-3 at San Jose State and then 24-18-2 at Michigan State from 1976-79.

Arkansas thwarts No. 4 SMU

Freshman Byron Irvin's faltering jump shot perked up and was good for 18 points in Arkansas' 69-66 Southwest Conference basketball victory over fourth-ranked Southern Methodist University.

In other SWC basketball action Wednesday night, Houston broke a four-game losing streak with a 94-80 victory over Texas, Texas A&M slipped past Baylor 78-74, and Rice edged Texas Christian, 62-61.

"It's been on vacation," Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton said of Irvin's jump shot. "He hit some big shots over their zone. At halftime, I told our team Byron was shooting so well we needed to get the ball in his Irvin had 18 points and made nine of 12 from the floor, only one of those inside. Arkansas' Charles Balentine, who had a career-high 29 points in a 63-60 overtime loss to SMU earlier, scored 17 points, including 13 in the second half.

Wednesday night's victory kept Arkansas alive in the conference race, improving the Razorbacks to a 7-3 tie with Texas A&M in the league and 16-8 overall. For SMU, now 8-2 and 18-3, the game kept alive the Mustangs' losing streak in Barnhill Arena. The Mustangs have not beaten the Razorbacks on their turf since 1976.

"I've been dreaming for a day like this," Irvin said. "To play this well against one of the best teams in the nation is special. I guess you could say that about our whole team."

SMU Coach Dave Bliss said the game was hard-fought, and praised Irvin's performance. "And Arkansas is, of course, a great team at home," Bliss said. "I always thought that the conference race was still a race. I never counted Arkansas out. The Balentine layups and Irvin jumpers were critical."

Freshman Kenny Hutchinson calmly made two free throws with 16 seconds remaining to give Arkansas a 67-64 lead.

When I came back in the game late, Coach Sutton told me they would foul me," said Hutchinson, who has been averaging less than 50 percent from the free-throw line. "I knew I had to hit two clutch foul shots and I was ready to hit them.

"While I was one the line, Carl Wright spit at me. The refs didn't see it, but I didn't let it bother me. I just shot the ball."

SMU's Jon Koncak then made a rebound basket with seven seconds remaining, but the Mustangs didn't foul for five seconds and then Arkansas center Joe Kleine made two free

"Charles Balentine did a great job on the boards in the second half. I gave him a do-better speech at halftime, reminding him he had 10 rebounds in the game at Dallas," Sutton said.

Koncak, who led all scorers with 22 points, wrapped two rebound baskets around a loose-ball bucket by Balentine. Balentine's two free throws made it 63-60 with 2:51 left.

SMU's Larry Davis cut it to 65-64 with 23 seconds left when he hit one free throw, but missed the second and Irvin tied up Koncak. Kleine was fouled seven seconds later.

The game marked the return of Arkansas' Williams Mills, who was suspended from the team for three games by Sutton for disciplinary problems. The crowd of more than 9,000 gave Mills, who scored six points, a standing ovation when he hit the court.

"It feels great to be back in a Razorback uniform," Mills said. "I plan to be in one for a long time. I think my little vacation helped both me and the team in the long run. The standing ovation the crowd gave me was great. It made me feel good to have the fans welcome me back."

The Cougars are now 14-8 for the season and 6-4 in SWC play. The Longhorns dropped to 11-9 and 4-6 in league play.

Houston coach Guy Lewis credited his team's press that forced Texas into 20-plus turnovers for the night.

"I decided to play man press because we played zone press the first game and that didn't work," Lewis said. "Anderson played with a lot of enthusiasm counting both ends of the court."

Kenny Brown scored 23 points to pace Texas A&M to a 78-74 victory over Baylor. Carlos Briggs led Baylor with 21 points but missed a shot from the corner just before the final buzzer that would have tied the game at 76. David Glover fouled Winston Crite on the rebound and Crite made two free-throws with no time on the clock.

A&M, 15-6 overall and 7-3 in the SWC, posted its 14th straight homecourt victory over the Bears, 8-12 and 1-8. The last Baylor win in College Station was in 1971 in overtime, and the Aggies have won 25 of the last 29 meetings with Baylor.

"What we wanted to do is go to Carlos Briggs on a baseline jumper," Baylor Coach Jim Haller said. "That's what we did but the shot just didn't fall."

Briggs said, "When it released from my hand I thought it was going in. It just hit the side of the rim and rolled off."

A&M Coach Shelby Metcalf praised Baylor's play.

"I've never seen a team as improved over the first time we played them," Metcalf said. "Hey, they're a team of the future. They played well.

Christian. The win broke a 7-game Owl lossing streak and upped their record to 9-11 overall, 2-8 in SWC play. TCU fell to 12-9 and 4-6.

Dennis Nutt scored 17 points for the Horned Frogs.

Rice Coach Tommy Suitts said, "I guess we might say that we got it in the hole just often enough to win. I was really proud of the way our team hung in there and fought back."

"Rice has always played us tough," TCU Coach Jim Killingsworth said. "I don't know why we can't seem to play any better against them. Tonight they were quicker and they crashed the boards better than we did and that got us in a

Sports Edito "It wasn't pretty," said Hereford basketball coach Mike Fields

What wasn't pretty to Fields was the way the Monterey Plainsmen up-ped their District 3-5A record to 12-1 — via an 88-35 boys basketball vic-tory over the Whitefaces in Lubbock on Tuesday night. But Fields was specific about what wasn't pleasing to the eyesight.

"Yeah, but when you play a team that's as good as Palo Duro, it doesn't matter where you play," said Fields, adding that he didn't know what to expect from his Whitefaces or from the Dons. Hereford's coach had a tone of optimism in his voice, though.

'We got blown out by (Albuquerque) St. Pius in the Palo Duro tournament (87-43 for the championship) and came back and played Coronado real close the next game," Fields said. "So I don't know. Sometimes when you get beat as bad as we did against Monterey, it helps get you

Fourth place at stake

By DENNIS BALL

Since the Monterey Plainsmen wrapped up the District 3-5A girls crown Tuesday night, the Hereford Whitefaces can wind up in the next best position.

Well, maybe not next best. But the Herd can finish among the upper half of district teams with a win over Palo Duro Friday. The Whitefaces host the Dons at 6 p.m. in the HHS gym, and a win by the local girls would see Hereford take fourth among the nine Currently, the Whitefaces and Dons are tied for fourth at 9-6.

"If we had won the games against Plainview (a 49-47 loss for Hereford) and Amarillo (a 31-30 loss for Hereford), we'd be playing for the playoffs on Friday," Hereford basketball coach Larry Sowers said Wednesday. "But after we were knocked out of it, we set a goal for ourselves to win 10 games this season. And we can do that Friday."

So the incentive is there for the Whitefaces on Friday. Incentive also was present Tuesday night when Hereford faced Monterey. But for the Monterey entered the game needing a win to clinch the district championship. The Plainsmen beat Hereford, 71-51, claiming first-place

"They had a lot of incentive," Sowers said. "It was their last home game of the year, the last time the seniors would play there, and they knew they could win first place in district.

"They do what they have to. They're used to winning and they like it. A team like that expresses all your weaknesses.'

Monterey had nine players score in the ball game, compared to only five for Hereford. Sowers echoed the thoughts of Monterey coach Tim Tasker, who said the Plainsmen won through team effort.

"He (Tasker) doesn't have anybody you can key on," Sowers said. "Nobody stands head and shoulders above anybody else. They've just got a good ball club. They'll make you make mistakes. And once you make the first one, it's easier to make you make the second

Hereford will have to overcome those mistakes Friday if it is to capture fourth place. In the last game with Palo Duro (Jan. 8), the Whitefaces trajled at half, 24-21, then managed to open a 35-29 lead at the end of the third quarter. However, Hereford had to fight off a fight off a PD comeback before winning 46-42.

"We didn't all play with intensity last time," Sowers said. "And if Palo Duro gets rolling...

"I hope our kids will be ready to play. It's our last home game, the last game for the seniors, and we were embarrassed a little by Monterey. Maybe they'll be ready.'

Palo Duro was an 88-38 winner over Lubbock Tuesday night.

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) - Ed McMahon could have altered his usual "Here's Johnny" introduction of his boss Johnny Carson to "Hairs Johnny" when Carson strolled on stage with a beard after 23 years as a bare-faced host of the "Tonight

"I've been off the past week," Carson explained on Tuesday night's show. "First weekend, I didn't do much. That's why I didn't shave. It's kind of nice to rest the face. Two days later, I was still resting the face."

Carson, 59, said the scruffy, salt-and-pepper whiskers would be temporary, however, because they would clash with some of his stock comedy characters.

Carson has only once deviated from the tailored suits and sports jackets he wears each night. That was years ago, when Carson showed up in a trendy Nehru jacket, which "lasted one night," said publicist Joe PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) -Princeton University sophomore and actress-model Brooke Shields will lead an aerobic dance class for students, faculty members and alumni starting next week, a university spokesman said.

"It is my understanding that she wanted to do this," spokesman George Eager said on Tuesday.

Ms. Shields will teach two classes a week for a maximum of 35 students, Eager said, refusing to say when the classes are scheduled to begin or how many people have signed up for the non-credit course.

Eager said the course will be held on campus, but would not elaborate because "we might be creating a security problem."

NEW YORK (AP) - History has repeated for Simon Estes, the bassbaritone who sang the "Porgy and Bess" role of crippled Porgy on crutches eight years ago in Zurich.

Estes, who tore cartilage and tendons in his knee in rehearsal Tuesday, said he would appear in crut-ches again in tonight's Metropolitan meets Opera premiere of the George Gershwin folk opera.

Stage directions call for Porgy, who is onstage for much of the threehour opera, to play the role entirely

Estes, who said his injury was "ex-tremely painful," said he sang many of more than 30 Zurich performances on crutches after a similar knee injury in 1977.

Nathaniel Merritt, staging the Met's production, had to make lastminute changes in the Act III fight scene between Porgy and Crown, Bess' former lover.

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) -Singer Margaret Whiting, who first sang the hit song "Moonlight in Vermont" for lonely GIs 42 years ago, made her first visit to the state this

Miss Whiting introduced the song in 1943. It was composed by Karl Suessdorf.

Hospital Auxiliary

Members of the Hospital Auxiliary met Monday in the Deaf Smith General Hospital conference room for their monthly meeting with Theda Seiver, president, presiding.

Lupe Cerda, treasurer, gave her report for January and minutes from the November, December and January meetings were read by Bertha Dettman, secretary.

Grace Covington reported that the members had worked 204 hours in December and 262 hours in January.

Jim and Cecelia Brorman were welcomed as new members by those present. They included Baxter and Gwen London, Bonnie Sublett, Helen Brown, Covington, Etoile Manning, Nell Culpepper, Cerda, Seiver, Dettman, Jane White, Karen Barela and Irene Reinart.

Boy should be monitored

Since your column is read by millions we can think of no better way to check out a recent miscarriage of justice. It makes absolutely no sense that there should be a reward for murder but apparently there is, and a sizable one at that.

Here is the story as it appeared in the Dallas press:

Killer to Get Inheritance An honor student who shot his parents to death three years ago will share in their $1.2 million estate after he is released from an exclusive birthday.

David Randall Keeler killed William A. Keeler, president of Arco Oil and Gas Co., and Anita Faye Keeler in 1981. Mental health

Pineapple tops

DEAR POLLY - I've heard of people growing house plants from pine-apple tops. Can these tops produce pineapples? - HELEN

DEAR HELEN — If growing conditions are right, your houseplant pineapple may indeed be coaxed into producing a fruit. The following suggestions come from "Gardens for All" by the National Association of

Cut the crown off a pineapple about an inch below the leafy top. Remove the fleshy part and let the crown dry for about 10 days.

Plant the crown in a five-gallon container with good drainage and a soil pH of from 4.5 to 5.5. Place the container in a very warm, bright, sun-ny place in the house. The plants need temperature of between 80 and 90 degrees. A greenhouse, of course, would be ideal.

Fertilize with a soluble fertilizer about once a month. Water lightly once or twice a week.

When plants start to flower, stake them to keep them from falling over. It takes at least 18 months for the plant 'o mature enough to produce a flower. If a bloom doesn't appear by this time and the plant is thriving otherwise, enclose it in a plastic bag, along with an apple, away from the sun for a few weeks. The ethylene gas produced by the apple may encourage flowering. After several weeks, remove the plant from the bag and put it back in the sun. If you are successful in producing a pineapple, harvest it when it is yellowish and fragrant. — POLLY

DEAR STRUCK: I cannot believe that David Randall Keeler will walk out of a mental hospital, collect his share of the million-dollar-plus psychiatric facility on his 18th estate left by the parents he murdered, and not be subject to any kind of periodic check by the mental health professionals.

Obviously the boy had serious behavioral problems. He should be monitored closely while making the adjustment from hospital life to private citizen. I hope some caring relatives will be on the scene to make sure David gets emotional support as well as professional counseling.

Institute founder says

Tighter discipline rules for students will hinder progress

AUSTIN (AP) - The public school reform bill passed last summer has made some progress and a proposed bill calling for tighter discipline rules for students will only hinder that progress, the founder of the American Institute for Learning said.

Richard Halpin, executive director and founder of the Institute, told the House Committee on Public Education or. Wednesday that a proposed bill introduced by Bill Haley, D-Center, would not solve the problem of disruptive children.

Haley's bill, which was sent to a subcommittee, gives flexibility to teachers in removing disruptive students from classrooms and suspending them. School districts could suspend students for up to five days or send them to

Opponents of the bill said it will only add to the number of school dropouts. "Texas has a 35 percent dropout rate in high schools and this proposal will only add to that rate," Halpin of Austin said. Nationally, Texas is ranked 43 in the most number of high school dropouts, he said.

Lanetta Cooper, a private attorney in Austin, said the proposed bill will discourage school officials to meet with parents of disruptive

Portions of the Haley bill also drew questions and opposition from committee members. Rep. Ernestine Glossbrenner, D-Alice, said allowing suspensions is frequently not a good idea because students with drug problems "could have more contact with drug traffickers."

"It puts children in the streets. I'm opposed to that,"

Alex Moreno, D-Edinburg, said he is "concerned that throwing these kids on the street is going to increase the burglary rate.

Rep. Gregory Luna, D-San Antonio, said he fears school districts might overuse the power to suspend. But John Quisenberry, president of the Texas Association of School Boards. said suspensions can be a students' and parents' atten- classroom.

education reform bill pasted last summer has left educators confused about what they can do to control discipline problems in classrooms. "Local districts are unsure about what is expected of them, so in too many instances they are taking the worst possible course - they are doing nothing. You've tied the boards' hands," Quisenberry, of Odessa, told the committee.

He said local school board members are "helpless and confused about their powers and responsibilities ... This bill gives districts a full range of discipline alternatives so that they can choose a punish-ticular misbehavior." Quisenberry said he likes the bill because it specifically makes drug and weapon possession grounds for expulment appropriate for a par-

"How can we convince our students that these are serious problems unless we treat them as serious problems?" he testified.

Teacher organizations have complained that the school reform bill left them powerless to remove disruptive students.

"Whether it is real or only perceived there is a general concern among teachers that their ability to appropriately address discipline problems in their classrooms has been diminished," said Becky Brooks, president of the Texas State Teachers

She said provisions in the Haley bill "clearly state" that teachers can send disruptive students to the principal's office.

Jeretta Thompson of Carthage, president of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association, said the bill needs a provision to protect teachers against principals who do nothing more than send the "very effective" way to get student back to the

"The problem most frequently reported by our members relating to discipline is the unwillingness of building principals to back up the disciplinary recommendations of teachers," she said. "Students quickly learn under these circumstances that their teacher is armed only with empty threats without the support of the

Brooks said her association favors an appeal system allowing teachers to go to their superintendents if principals refuse to act.

GOOD NEWS FOR JEWS: GOD LOVES YOU

Does this mean that God has rejected His Jewish people forever? Of course not! His purpose was to make His salvation available to the Gentiles, and then the Jews would be jealous and begin to want God's salvation for themselves. Now if the whole world became rich as a result of God's offer of salvation. when the Jews stumbled over it and turned it down, think how much greater a blessing the world will share in later on when the Jews, too. come to Christ

As you know, God has appointed me as a special messenger to you Gentiles. Hay great stress on this and remind the lews about it as often as I can, so that if possible I can make them want what you Gentiles have and in that way save some of them: And how wonderful it will be when they become Christians! When God turned away from them it meant that He turned to the rest of the world to offer His salvation; and now it is even more wonderful when the Jews come to Christ. It will be like dead people coming back to life.

And since Abraham and the prophets are God's people, their children will be too. For if the roots of the tree are holy, the branches will be too. But some of these branches from Abraham's tree, some of the Jews, have been broken off. And you Gentiles who were branches from we might say, a wild alive tree, were grafted in. So now you; too, receive the blessing God has promised Abraham and his children, sharing in God's rich nourishment of His own special olive tree. Romans 11:11-17

AUSTIN (AP) - The Senate has voted to make young Texans wait an extra two years to take a legal drink, but the new 21-year-old limit may never become law even if the Legislature enacts

The bill raising the drinking age from 19 to 21, effective Sept. 1, 1986, was sent to the House on voice vote Wednesday over protests that it would reinstate Prohibition for young adults.

Bill Sarpalius' measure had two apparent purposes — to save lives by reducing traffic accidents and to avoid the loss of $107 million in federal highway funds.

Sen. Kent Caperton told Sarpalius in Senate debate, "If we pass your bill, once again Texas is going to have a young-adult Prohibition. It's Prohibition, exclamation point, for young adults."

Federal law would reduce the amount of highway funds for Texas in 1987-88 if Texas fails to raise the drinking age to 21. That federal law, which applies to all states, is being challenged in court by South

Raising the drinking age, however, would cost Texas $49.4 million in state tax revenue over two years and $9.3 million in local tax revenue. Also, $6.5 million would be needed to hire additional personnel to enforce the lower drinking age, according to the Legislative Budget Board. Four years ago, Texas raised its drinking age from 18 to 19, and Sarpalius, D-Canyon, said the new bill has identical provisions in that a person under 21 could sell alcoholic beverages but could not buy or consume such beverages. The measure was passed only after the Senate approved an amendment, 16-13, that Sarpalius said would "take out the heart, liver and spleen of this bill."

The amendment by Sen. Edwards, Chet D-Duncanville, has these basic provisions as reflected in Senate debate and an impromptu news conference by

- If the federal law should be held unconstitutional by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals or the U.S. Supreme Court before the effective date of the state law in 1986, the drinking age would remain at 19. This means the law may never become effective in Texas.

- If the state law goes into effect and the federal courts later rule the federal law unconstitutional, the state law raising the drinking age would expire at the end of the next regular legislative session, or about the end of May 1987. This assumes that the 1987 Legislature does not reenact the law.

- If the state law goes into effect and the federal law is upheld by the courts, the drinking age in Texas would revert to 19 when the federal sanctions on highway funds expire. Unless the federal law is changed, those sanctions would end Sept. 30, 1988.

Sarpalius acknowledged that his statistics "did not jibe" with those circulated by the Texas Student Lobby, but he said after the drinking age was raised to 19, the death rate among 18-year-olds in Texas dropped 19.4 percent. He said that law and antidrunk driving laws passed in 1983 probably have saved 874 lives in Texas.

"The real issue here is not money," Sarpalius said. "The real issue is saving lives."

Edwards said "if saving lives is the sole criterion" for the bill, Sarpalius should support an absolute ban on handguns, which have killed 223,000 people since the mid-1960s, and a ban on cigarette smoking, which kills 350,000 people a year.

"You cannot isolate this issue for only political purposes," said Edwards. Caperton, D-Bryan, said,

"We're kneeling under to a clear case of (federal) blackmail. I don't think you can call it anything else. Before we give into blackmail, we should challenge the federal govern-

AUSTIN (AP) - The state law barring the sale of beer to drunken customers is unconstitutional because it could prohibit beer sales to either the "soused or the sober," according to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals. In a 6-3 decision, the court on Wednesday struck down the law as vague and ripe for abuse by the police. The ruling came in an appeal filed by a Houston man fined $200 for selling beer to a drunken patron. David Leon Cotton's appeal complained that an "overzealous police officer can determine that anyone shows 'evidence of intoxication' and can use the proscription as a subterfuge for the arrest" of Alcoholic Beverage Commission license-holders and their

The appeals court agreed. The law makes it illegal to sell beer to "a person showing evidence of intoxication." That could include almost anyone, according to the appeals court "Slurred speech, bloodshot eyes, a staggering gait or simple drowsiness are each individually 'evidence of intoxication,' but common experience teaches us that each may be demonstrated by the intoxicated or the abstemious, the soused or the sober." Judge Chuck Miller said in the majority opinion.

Miller agreed there is doubt in the law as written. "A statute which forbids or requires the doing of an act in terms so vague that men of common intelligence must necessarily guess at its meaning and differ as to its application violates the first essential of due process of

"We would have to take a look at where we stand on intoxication in light of this ruling," he said. Miller's opinion said the current law might make it illegal to sell a beer to customers with alcohol on their breath.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D. Angina pain

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have taken Aldoril for high blood pressure for 10 years. About two months ago I started to have pain in my jaws. My dentist took X-rays and could not find anything wrong. Then I went to my family doctor, who said I had angina. He told me to stop taking Aldoril and put me on Cardizen. I haven't had much pain since.

I didn't know that angina pain could occur in the face. I don't have pain in my chest. Do you think this is serious? I'm 72.

DEAR READER — Yes, you can have angina (heart pain) referred to the jaw. It is more likely to do that it you also have dental problems, but it can go to the jaw even if you have no dental problems. In such cases, the pain in the jaw usually occurs when one exerts oneself and goes away with rest. It also can occur in the jaw without exertion.

The pain pattern of angina is quite varied. The pain distribution is the same as noted with a myocardial infarction (heart attack). It is diagnosed as angina when it is of short duration, usually a few minutes. It does not damage the heart muscle. However, the cause is inadequate cir-culation to the heart muscle due to an obstruction in the coronary arteries. This is usually from fatty-cholesterol deposits, but a coronary artery can also go into spasm.

Angina pain can also occur only in the pit of the stomach or just in the shoulder. About a third of people who have a myocardial infarction have no pain, or the discomfort may be so slight that it is ignored or thought to be mild indigestion.

Angina pectoris does mean heart-disease. Almost everyone in your age group does have changes in the coronary arteries. Your high blood pressure is also a factor. Think of the angina as a warning that enabled you to get treatment and prevent a more serious problem.

You will want to read about angina in The Health Letter 17-10, What You Need to Know About Heart Attacks. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, selfaddressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York,

DEAR DR. LAMB - My 26-yearold son has had severe itching, espe-cially on the thighs after bath or shower for the past two years. He has been treated with Optimine, Atarax and Benadryl, and was told to use baby oil. One doctor said he has too much histamine under the skin, which causes the itching and hives after a hot bath or shower.

Could you give us more information on this condition and suggest what he might do? None of these medicines have helped and the itching is terrible. DEAR READER — All of those medicines are antihistamines. First try to define exactly what causes the problem. He should take a bath with water at body temperature and use no soap, or anything but water. He should let himself dry without using a towel, so there will be no mechanical rubbing and no contact with anything that might cause an allergic-type

If he has no itch, he should take a shower with body-temperature water only. If all is well, he can take a hot bath only, and then a cold bath only; some people itch after exposure to cold water. Then he can try using the towel, which may have detergent on it that he is allergic to. Finally, he can use soap. If you can identify the cause, perhaps you can eliminate it.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am very worried and upset. I had a complete hysterectomy and both ovaries removed when I was 42 and was put on hormone pills until I was 48. Then the doctor took me off.

Featuring:

My neighbors told me that if I don't get back on the hormones, my bones will get paper-thin and crack. The doctor won't give me any hormones, since she is afraid they might cause cancer. I'm 56 now and feel good; I only get mild hot flashes now and then. I had a polio as a child, but I can walk and drive a car. I use a walker walk and drive a car. I use a walker to get around, since I have arthritis.

DEAR READER - If your doctor really believes that giving you female ormones will cause cancer, she is out of date. You can't get cancer of the uterus, since you don't have one. In addition, studies sponsored by the national Centers for Disease Control failed to show any relationship between taking female hormones and developing breast cancer. Ask your doctor what cancer she is talking

A very large study of 1,610 women with breast cancer and 1,606 without breast cancer, conducted by the Boston University School of Medicine was reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association (Volume 252, page 63, 1984). It showed that there was no relationship between taking estrogen and develop-ing breast cancer. Taking estrogen didn't make any difference in those women who had a special risk of developing cancer, either. Doctors who are still concerned about estrogen and breast cancer should familiarize themselves with this report.

Women who have taken combined estrogen-progestin birth-control pills have about half the risk of endometrial cancer of the uterus as women who have not used these medicines. I have discussed these changes in thinking, based on more modern investigation, in The Health Letter, Special Report 12, Oral Contraceptives and Postmenopausal Estrogens, which I am sending to you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newpaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Yes, there is ample evidence that estrogen helps to prevent bone loss in women near and after the menopause. Women who do not take estrogen need a significant increase in calcium intake, perhaps 1,500 milligrams a day.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Six weeks ago developed floating things in my eyes. They used to just float around the eye area, but now they are directly over the pupil, causing blurring of my vision.

Would vitamins get rid of these? When I am reading, I have to move my eyes, and the floaters disappear for a few seconds, but they

DEAR READER - See an ophthalmologist without delay. Your eyeballs are filled with a material that is a lot like gelatin. As one gets older, part of it may liquefy. This may leave strands of material that cause floaters, or the change in refraction of light rays that occurs may cause floaters.

The more serious problem is when Tloaters signal a condition leading to retinal detachment. This is why such a symptom should not be ignored. If it is the onset of a detachment, it needs immediate treatment.

Clots and debris within the gel-like substance may also cause floaters, but they don't usually move as freely as you describe.

Counselor added to Amarillo staff

The Rev. Ann Winans Carson recently joined the staff of the Samaritan Counseling Center of Amarillo as a pastoral counselor. Rev. Carson comes to Amarillo from a similar position with the Pittsburgh Pastoral Institute in Pittsburgh, Penn., where she had served as a pastoral counselor since 1977.

Rev. Carson received her B.A. from Southern Methodist University in 1953. She has done graduate work at Perkins School of Theology, and received her M. Div. from Pittsburgh Theological Seminary in 1977. Also in 1977 she received her M.S.W. from the University of Pittsburgh. She has completed course requirements for her Doctor of Ministry in Pastoral Care at Pittsburgh Theological Seminary and will be granted that degree upon completion of her doctoral paper.

Rev. Carson is an ordained Presbyterian minister, and has been received into the Palo Duro Presbytery of the Presbyterian Paul Hopkins, executive director. Church. Prior to coming to Amarillo she also served as pastor of the Oakland Presbyterian Church in Weirton, W.Va. As a pastor she has been active on several committees at the Presbytery and Synod levels, including the Personnel Committee, the Committee on Ministry, and the Committee on Women and the Church.

Rev. Carson has been an active pastoral counselor and psychotherapist for eight years. She received clinical training and supervision through Family and Children's Services in Tarentum, Pennsylvania and through the Pittsburgh Pastoral Institute. She holds

What is an IRA?

IRA stands for Individual Retirement Account. An IRA is a special savings account which is tax-deferred. This means you pay no federal taxes on annual contributions or the accumulating interest until funds are withdrawn at retirement.

Am I eligible for an IRA?

If you're a wage earner or you're self-Amployed you can start an IRA. Contributions are limited to earned income only. Income from other sources such as investments and inheritances may not be sheltered in an IRA. Contributions may not be made for or after the year in which you reach 701.

What if I'm already covered by a Pension Plan?

A New laws now permit every wage-earner even those covered by company pension plans to start their own IRA.

How much can I contribute to my IRA? A Every year you can contribute up to $2,000 or 100% of compensation (whichever is less) to a regular IRA.

Must I contribute the full amount every year?

You can contribute any amount your Abudget allows. In fact, if you choose. you need not make any contribution in any given year.

Q Can I use my IRA funds as collateral for a loan?

A Pledging an IRA as collateral for a loan would subject the amount pledged to be treated as a distribution and that portion subject to taxation and penalty.

When do I pay taxes on my IRA?

A When you begin making withdrawals, you will be taxed on only the amount you withdraw each year. The remaining funds continue to earn tax-deferred in-

When can I make withdrawals?

A Withdrawals (distributions) are permitted anytime after age 591; but must start not later than the end of the taxable year in which you reach 7012. After age 5912 you may make withdrawals even if you continue to earn income. It is not necessary to be retired in order to make withdrawals.

What is a spousal IRA?

A Spousal IRA is a dual account IRA specifically for married couples with one non-employed member. To qualify for the higher Spousal IRA maximum of $2,250, you and your non-employed spouse must file a joint return. Yearly contributions may be unequally divided between the accounts provided the total contribution does not exceed $2,250 and neither account is allocated more than $2,000.

My spouse is employed, can we both have separate IRA's?

A Yes, and each of you may contribute up to $2,000 or 100% of compensation (whichever is less). You can each take your respective deductions on a joint return or separate returns.

O How does my IRA save me tax dollars? You save taxes in three important ways: Your annual IRA contribution is fully deductible from your gross income. The more you save in your IRA the bigger.your deduction.

All the interest you accumulate in your IRA remains tax-sheltered until you with-

When you retire and begin making withdrawals from your IRA you will probably be in a lower tax bracket.

Q What is the deadline for opening my IRA?

A You can open or make deposits to your IRA anytime up to and including the due date of your tax return for the previous lax year (April 15th).

Q Can I withdraw my IRA funds if I become disabled?

A Yes, if you are disabled you may make unlimited penalty-free withdrawals.

What interest rate will my IRA earn?

Depending on the IRA plan you choose And due to interest rate fluctuations, it is necessary to quote interest rates on a daily basis — call us for the most recent rates available.
