HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

This morning's Herald brings you the answer, in official form, to that old, old question: just how much does the Texas & Pacific Railway Company's annual Big Spring payroll amount to?

Since Big Spring was founded its residents have known that the Texas & Pacific formed a foundation stone of community business. Rapid development of West Texas' resources has in the past decade, especially within the past five years, greatly increased not only the payrolls but capital investments and operating expenses—not to speak of receipts—of this prospering system, has been evident.

Now, Mr. Jensen, general passenger agent, acting for President John L. Lancaster, informs The Herald that total local expenditures of the company in Big Spring during 1929, including payroll and material and supplies, taxes and rentals, totaled $2,140,322.

The Texas & Pacific's 1930 payroll should not fall below that figure. Besides, it is putting more than $500,000 into a complete new division terminal here right now. Full equipped this terminal will cost around one million dollars.

That is just one of the reasons, folks, why our town is going to have lots of good health this year and the next and the next.

Here's a problem: the City Federation must have a large, first-class band to furnish music during the Fiesta of Progress in May. There is no regularly functioning band here at this time. The Federation does not want to have to go outside of the city for a band. It does not even wish to go outside of Big Spring for a band director.

We already a 60-piece band could be organized right here provided all who capably play band instruments get into the same set of harness and started pulling.

Your humble servant, although out of service for quite a spell, might even try pumping a baritone again if he could find a horn.

How about getting together, some of you band men. Call a meeting and welcome every person who can play. Get ready for the Fiesta of Progress—and when it's over we'll have a high-class band for keeps.

Legion Leaders To Visit Here Tuesday

All American Legion members and ex-service men are invited to meet a group of Texas department officials here Tuesday noon at the Rotary club luncheon. Reservations for places at the luncheon should be made with Dr. C. W. Deats, local Legion commander, by Monday night. Ernest C. Cox of Corsicana, commander of the Texas department; Executive Committee members Albee and B. H. Murphy, San Angelo, membership chairman of this district, will arrive shortly before noon. They are making a tour of the entire state in the interest of the Legion.

Colorado Farmers For Cut In Cotton Acreage

COLORADO, Tex., Mar. 8 (AP)—Farmers, miners and business leaders of this district at a meeting today endorsed the proposed plan of cotton acreage reduction. Seventy-five farmers present agreed to plant at least a third of their acreage in feed crops, and miners agreed to buy cotton strictly upon staple. Bankers told the farmers that hereafter they would look with disfavor upon request for loans with which to buy feed.

Mrs. O. E. Wainwright left Saturday for Wichita Falls to visit her parents.

HOUSE OF RIX FINISHES 25TH YEAR IN CITY

PIONEER FAMILY IDENTIFIED WITH MANY ENTERPRISES

The Rix Furniture and Hardware Company last week celebrated its 25th business anniversary in Big Spring, for it was 25 years ago last Monday that Harvey L. Rix, president of the company, and pioneer of West Texas, first established himself in business here.

Mr. Rix had his experience in seven years with J. & W. Fisher, Inc., where he had charge of the furniture, hardware and part of the grocery department, and served as buyer for the first two named departments.

The furniture and hardware business seemed to come naturally to the Rix family for B. C. Rix, father of Harvey L. Rix, had operated for six years a hardware and furniture store and mortuary establishment here in 1890 and when the father retired in 1905 the son took over the business, the interim having been spent with the Fisher department store.

The firm name used was "Harvey L. Rix" and within five years, in 1910, it was changed to Harvey L. Rix and Company and B. C. Rix was added as a member of the firm. Following incorporation as the Rix Furniture and Undertaking Company, the firm was enlarged to include J. A. Rix, now president of the Rix Furniture Company of Lubbock.

County Treasury In Good Condition Report Indicates

Every fund on the books of Howard county contains a comfortable cash balance, the aggregate sum being $199,909.56, according to the report made the commissioners' court Saturday by E. G. Towler, county treasurer. The report rendered was drawn at the close of business February 28.

The general fund contained the largest cash balance with $55,891.68, but the highway fund with $38,939.33 was not far behind. Other funds on the county books showed the following cash balances in the report: Jury, $6,521.87. Road and bridge, $36,070.54. Road bond fund ($100,000 issue), $10,047.19. Special road bond fund ($300,000 issue), $29,507.84. Courthouse and jail bonds, $8,042.52. Jail warrants, $4,946.59. Paving warrants, for pavement around the courthouse block, $3,159.14. Permanent improvement fund, $2,764.67. Courthouse and jail warrants, $1,034.23. Viaduct warrants, Gregg Street viaduct, $2,968.13.

Many of the funds, particularly those providing for juries, roads and bridges, and permanent improvement, reveal an inflated balance as compared to December and January reports because of tax money deposits made during January and February. It will be necessary for commissioners to spend some of the money now on deposit retiring warrants, paying interest on bonds, providing for sinking funds and other essentials during the next 10 months of administrative expense. However, the report reflects a healthy financial condition throughout.

Pipeline Measure Sent To Governor; New Rates Sought

FORT WORTH, March 8 (AP)—With their first big objective, enactment of the pipe line measure, practically realized, the executive committee of the Independent Petroleum Association of Texas Saturday planned an intensive membership drive. To take in every part of the state as a prelude to their second principal effort.

The pipe line measure has now passed both houses of the legislature, and is awaiting Governor Moody's signature. The independents believe he will sign the bill.

The second objective will be a fight before the railroad commission for a horizontal reduction of pipe line rates, which the independents charge that the rates, which the law directs the railroad commission to fix on a basis which will yield a fair return, now pay for the entire cost of the line in a few months time.

THIRTY DAYS OF MOURNING IS ORDERED

PRESIDENT HOOVER ISSUES PROCLAMATION TO NATION

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—President Hoover tonight officially announced the death of William Howard Taft in a proclamation calling upon the nation to observe a 30 day period of mourning with flags at half mast.

"It becomes my sad duty to announce officially the death of William Howard Taft, which occurred at his home in the city of Washington, on the eighth day of March, nineteen hundred and thirty, at 5:15 o'clock in the afternoon.

"Mr. Taft's service to our country has been of rare distinction and was marked by a purity of patriotism, a lofty disinterestedness and a devotion to the best interests of the nation that deserve and will ever command the grateful memory of his countrymen.

"His private life was characterized by simplicity of virtue that won for him a place in the affection of his fellow countrymen rarely equaled by any man. In public and in private life he set a shining example, and his death will be mourned throughout the land.

"As an expression of the public's sorrow, it is ordered that the flags of the white house and of the several departmental buildings be displayed at half-staff for a period of 30 days, and that suitable military and naval honors under orders of the secretary of war and the secretary of the navy may be rendered on the day of the funeral.

"Done at the city of Washington on this eighth day of March in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and thirty, and of the independence of the United States of America, the one hundredth and fifty fourth."

"HERBERT HOOVER."

DEATH STRIKES HIGHEST COURT TWICE IN DAY

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—The death of William Howard Taft, the only man in the nation's history who had been both president of the United States and chief justice of the United States, ends a public career that spanned 50 years. But, aside from that, it marks the passing of a kindly man who—in the cloistered precincts of his private life—was a devoted husband, a proud father and an adoring grandfather.

Justice Sanford Dies Shortly Before His Former Chief

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—Death took Justice Edward L. Sanford today after an illness less than three hours.

The distinguished son of Tennessee had left his home after breakfast, seemingly in excellent health and cheerful as usual. He was looking forward to joining his supreme court colleagues at noon in honoring Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes on his eighty-ninth birthday. He never reached the court.

After treatment, the jurist collapsed in the office of a dentist. Medical aid proved of no avail. He was rushed back to his home and Mrs. Sanford in an unconscious condition. Uremic poisoning was given as the cause of death.

He had served on the supreme court since 1923. Mr. Sanford will be buried in his native city, Knoxville, Tennessee. The funeral party plans to leave here tomorrow at 10:35 p. m. The body will be taken from the station

Mr. Little told the rural teachers assembled for the meeting that citizenship is the foundation on which all educational institutions are founded and that school children taught the elementary principles of good citizenship become the conscientious scholars and the best material for successful business men.

Senator Seeks Data On Imports Of Petroleum

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—A resolution by Senator Thomas, democrat Oklahoma, calling upon the secretary of the treasury to furnish the senate with the names of companies importing oil into the United States and the amounts imported was adopted today by the senate.

Thomas introduced the resolution to obtain data for use when he makes a second attempt next week to obtain a duty on crude oil and petroleum products in the tariff bill.

An amendment by him, to impose a duty of $1 a barrel on crude oil and fifty per cent ad valorem on petroleum products has been rejected, but he announced he would offer another proposal to make the duty on crude oil 80 cents a barrel and 40 per cent ad valorem on petroleum products.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Edwards left Saturday for the Stock Show in Fort Worth.

FUNERAL TO BE TUESDAY

Only Man Who Occupied Two Highest Offices Succumbs

ARLINGTON BIER

Sadden Change Too Much After Days Of Lingered At Brink Of Death

WASHINGTON, March 8. (AP)—William Howard Taft, 72, former president and former chief justice, died at his home here late this afternoon.

He passed peacefully from life, unconscious, after weeks of illness. A stroke from hardening of the arteries preceded death by a half hour.

By his own request, he will rest in Arlington cemetery, the citadel of the nation's heroic dead. The funeral services probably will be held Tuesday at All Souls' Unitarian church which he attended.

Hoover Visits
President Hoover was foremost among the many who went sorrowfully tonight to the residence on Wyoming avenue where the only man in history to hold America's two highest offices slept in death. The president announced a thirty day period of official mourning.

At the point of death for many days, suffering hopelessly from a combination of ailments, Mr. Taft surprised physicians by the vitality of his last hours. But at 4:45 this afternoon a sudden stroke, while he was alone except for his nurse, heralded the end.

Fifteen minutes later, Dr. H. G. Fuller reached the bedside, but turned away with a shake of the head. Mrs. Taft, summoned from another room, took up her station near at hand for the last vigil. At 5:15 o'clock death snuffed out at last the flickering flame.

The only daughter, Mrs. Helen Taft Manning, was away for a short automobile ride when death occurred. The two sons, Robert and Charles, both of Cincinnati had left Washington after spending several days at their father's bedside.

The official bulletin issued by Mr. Taft's chief physicians said: "The former chief justice died at 5:15 p. m. A sudden change in his condition occurred at 4:45 p. m. from which he failed to rally."

Immediately the news was telephoned to the White House, President Hoover tendered to Mrs. Taft the entire facilities of the executive mansion. It was undecided tonight whether the body would lie in state in the east room, at the capitol, or elsewhere.

The President and Mrs. Hoover, like the many others who called at the Wyoming avenue home, remained but a few minutes talking with the little group within. Almost at the moment the White House limousine drew up before the house, Chief Justice Hughes arrived from the opposite direction. Members of the cabinet, diplomats and Mr. Taft's associates on the supreme bench were among the many who followed.

But one who had called there many times during the long illness was absent tonight. Associate Justice Sanford, until today apparently in perfect health, eight years Taft's junior, had suddenly preceded his former chief in death. And by another strange turn of fate both Tate and Sanford passed on when another member of the court, Oliver Wendell Holmes, was observing his eighty-ninth birthday.

Final funeral arrangements will not be made until the sons reach Washington, probably tomorrow. Plans had been made tonight for the attendance of all of the ranking officials of the government.

SORORITY CONVENES

The Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority met Thursday evening in the Federation clubhouse with Mrs. L. C. Dahms hostess for the occasion. After a short business session the study hour was placed in charge of Miss Georgia Kirk Davis, educational director.

Miss Clara Cox gave a splendid and thoughtful review of Francis Hackett's Henry VIII, extracts from which follow: Hackett supports the general belief of his contemporary biographers that new light should be shed upon the characters of the past. Taking modern knowledge of psychology and the intimate machinery of the mind as an hypothesis, he shows Henry VIII not as a reprobate, lost to all the finer feelings; but as a young weakling swayed by the customs of early England and its profligate populace. Later, as Henry VIII developed under the tutelage of his elders, as was to be expected, he embraced the ideals of the period, and even assumed the lead in the voluptuous profligacy of the court. The days of Nero were no less abandoned than those of this period in English history. After the sacrifice of Katherine of Aragon, each successive queen played her part in the debacle which ended the reign of Henry VIII. The greatest things that came out of his reign were the embryo Church of England and the birth of Elizabeth who was to steer the Ship of State with an iron hand.

Miss Roberts Gay followed with a brief resume of the life and accomplishments of Gibbon, the master historian. Miss Gay read some excellent examples Gibbon's style as a writer.

Mrs. E. E. Eldridge, who is especially interested in Russian literature, read a scholarly paper on two great Russian writers, Gogol and Dostoevski. Her analysis of early Russian literature, and its comparison with the modern trend in Russia was skillfully done.

At the conclusion of the hour the members engaged in a round table discussion of the subjects.

The hostess served a fruit cup and delicious home-baked cake.

The next meeting, with Miss Georgia Kirk Davis as hostess will be held March 20 at the clubhouse.

Estelline Completely Subdued In Final; Breck Eliminated

AUSTIN, March 8. (AP)—Denton walked off with the state high school basketball championship here tonight, winning easily over Estelline, 30 to 11.

Denton outplayed at every turn the boys from Hall county—way up in the Panhandle—who travelled probably the greatest distance to participate in the two day tournament, which opened yesterday with 13 teams competing for the supreme honors.

Box score for Denton vs Estelline. Denton 30, Estelline 11. Includes stats for FG, FT, TP, Rebounds, and Officials.

MORE TALK The West Texas conference idea originated by Texas Tech, and taken up by Simmons University, West Texas teachers, El Paso miners and two or three other schools, has popped into the center of discussion again following the ruling handed down in the disputed basketball game between Southwestern and Simmons.

ADVISABLE It does seem advisable to form the West Texas conference for Lubbock, El Paso and Alpine are too far removed from other schools in their respective conferences to maintain a keen interest in championship play.

ANOTHER REASON Another strong argument in favor of the West Texas conference, so far as Simmons is concerned, is announcement that Presbyterian colleges will be consolidated at Sherman, the home of Austin college, a member of the Texas conference.

HOT STOVE LEAGUE SPITTERS ABOUT CITY BASEBALL LOOP; PARK ASSURED BY F. F. GARY

Refinery Officials Express Interest In Circuit; Railroad Shops To Have At Least One Nine If League Formed

Despite a stiff north wind that produced the strongest sand-storm of the season, the Hot Stove League was able to function in Big Spring Thursday afternoon for the first time this season.

A local baseball enthusiast was caught in the act of canvassing the city in the interest of a City League, to be composed of six or eight teams to give the citizens a diversion this summer while throwing pop bottles and coconuts and munching peanuts at the rate of three for five cents.

Present Status Here's the status of baseball in Big Spring as far as prospects go. The West Texas League apparently has died a natural death while the fans and amateur performers are looking forward as keenly as ever to extra inning games and speaking to the umpire in an off hand manner.

Various citizens expressed themselves strongly in favor of the City League. J. A. Adams, local merchant, had the following to say: "In my opinion there is nothing as far as sport goes that will take the part of baseball. It is keenly competitive, of interest to old timers as well as members of the younger generation and assures the lad that is proficient a lucrative profession. I am strong in favor of a City League and I cannot see why a fast amateur circuit will not pay in this city."

Out at the Richardson Refinery, L. C. Moore former Texas Aggie star, discussed freely the situation as he sees it. "We have some wonderful talent employed here, and you can rest assured that the refinery will be able to place a capable team on the field," Mr. Moore said.

The question of a park was settled by calling upon F. F. Gary. This gentleman was in a reminiscent mood, recalled the days when the Texas and Pacific team of Big Spring was considered one of the strongest in semi-pro ranks.

Several of the organizations of sponsored teams last year have not been heard from as yet. In this classification are the Laundrymen the Rig Builders, and others. The Humble Oil and Refining Company has already expressed the likelihood of having a team.

LUBBOCK WINS SNYDER TRACK CARNIVAL CUP

SNYDER, March 8.—Lubbock's galloping track squad of 32 men outdistanced competitive athletes to take first place in the first annual West Texas invitational track and field meet held here Saturday in which 300 thinly clad representing 24 schools participated.

Fluvanna's class B track squad led by Charles Bly, who scored 17 1/2 points single handed, led other schools of its' division to the tape and copped first honors by scoring a total of 31 1/2 marks.

The Steer track squad from Big Spring was unable to cope with the mass of entrants and as a result captured only one first with Edwards in the low hurdles and a second place ribbon by the same athlete's ability over the high sticks.

Lubbock amassed a total of 26 1-2 points to carry off top honors among class A schools. Colorado was second with 23, Slaton third with 20 points and Snyder, the host team, finished fourth among class A teams with 17 1-2 tallies.

Blackwell, the little school in southern Nolan county that went to the finals in the divisional district basketball tournament here last month finished second among class B schools with 25 points; Sylvester was third with 23 credits and Dunn occupied fourth place among class B institutions with 20 1-2 points.

Norwell, Slaton high school miler who copped that event in the state meet last spring, was high point man among class A tracksters and in addition stepped the long distance event in the remarkable time of 4 minutes and 42 seconds.

Charles Bly, Fluvanna boy who did the dashes and middle distance events with the same efficiency, was high point man among class B entrants copping a total of 17 1-2 points during the day.

Weather conditions were ideal during the entire meet. The track was fast and Snyder proved an efficient host city. Approximately 2,000 people turned out to see the 300 high school track and field athletes prance through their paces.

Tennis Club Is Preparing For County Tourney

Tennis enthusiasts at the high school, numbering approximately 20, organized a club late last week and elected Zillah Mae Ford, member of the doubles team that represented Big Spring in the district meet at Abilene last year, president.

New equipment consisting of balls and nets have been secured and those interested in the club are practicing each evening after school hours preparing for the county tournament that will be held in Coahoma next Friday and Saturday.

'Ken Taylor,' Successful Poet, Here As Insurance Salesman, Declares He Doesn't Really Want To Be A Poet

By CURT BISHOP

The writer glanced up as he entered the room. So this was Kenneth Taylor Hoffman, poet, prose writer, playwright, blackface comedian, radio artist, announcer, and insurance agent. So this was the genius who is known to thousands of fans under his pen name of Ken Taylor.

In appearance he scarcely looked the part. A pair of laughing blue eyes were his outstanding features. One noticed the fashionable cut of the dark suit, the slouch hat, the friendly smile. He spoke rapidly, easily, changing subjects swiftly, and trying to avoid all mention of his writing ability, the thing we wished to know the most about.

"I do not want to be a poet, he explained. "Most poets I know are lazy. Take Edgar Guest for instance. I know him personally. A pretty good fellow, but then he doesn't get much out of life. That's all he knows is writing. He has never done a man's work in his life."

We thought of Taylor's poem, "A man's man."

"Life is a panorama, inspiring, grand
That has room in its cast for a man's man."

He spoke of his radio work with a laugh.

"I had no intentions of being a radio artist. I was manager of a station in Illinois one time when one of my entertainers phoned that he would be unable to give his number. No one was due in the studio for fifteen minutes. I gave a presentation of two negroes, two bits and six bits, that I had learned years before in hicktown vaudeville acts. At first it was only a fill in, but later the public liked it so well that I went on with it until my voice went back on the line. Then I came to Texas to recover my health."

Mr. Taylor, for when we are speaking of him as a writer it is best to use that name, since it is the one by which he is best known to the public, became an advertising salesman on the staff of the El Paso Times. He wrote numerous short poems for that periodical. One day his verse, "A Man's Man," was accepted by the Cosmopolitan. Overnight Ken Taylor became famous. A publishing house gathered all of his poems into a book and published it under the name of Taylor's Tales. Mr. Hoffman knew nothing of the action. He claims never to have read the book himself.

Two of Mr. Taylor's most recent poems were written in Big Spring. His last The Price, which has not yet been published, was inspired by the service at the First Baptist Church last Sunday evening.

He prefers humorous poems but declares he can write those with a moral better.

"Why is it?" he asked. "That we are always wanting to do the things we cannot? Instead of trying to be a poet, I am trying to be an insurance man, when I'm not that as a salesman I'm the best poet in the world."

Mr. Hoffman is a salesman for the Mutual Reserve Insurance Company. He has been in Big Spring for almost two weeks, coming directly from the city he has made immortal by his poems, El Paso.

But even before his insurance comes his family. One of his sons was quarantined on the El Paso High school ground last year. Another was on the reserves. Both are in the sophomore year in high school. A daughter will enter high school next year. He carries pictures of his family, alone and in groups, in his wallet.

"Best family in the world," he declared. "I hate to be away from them, but then a man must do a man's work."

And he left the writer wondering over the queerness of nature that has sent this genius into the West Texas plains as an insurance agent when he might have been reaping the benefit from the poems he undoubtedly can write. But after all, when one recalls the lines of his greatest work, it is evident why he was leaving the career he was suited best for to be—

A cog in the noble machine of life—
A warrior smashing through the strife—
A private soldier in a watlike bag—
Not just a genius, but a man's man—

Herald Patterns

A Dainty Frock for a Small Miss.

6758. Princess lines with soft godet folds are featured in this attractive style. The dress is sleeveless—and may be finished with or without the bertha collar, which supplies a sleeve formation over the top of the arm. Taffeta in a pretty shade of tomato red, or crepe de chine in orchid with frills of self material edging the collar, would be a pretty development for this design. Linen, or pongee is also suggested.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. To make the dress for a 10 year size will require 2 7/8 yards of 25 inch material. The plating (or full) on the collar will require 3 1/2 yards of material of 1 1/2 inch wide and cut crosswise. A wristband and neck bow of ribbon require 1 1/4 yard. Without collar 2 3/8 yards will be required. For collar of contrasting material 3/8 yard 27 inches wide is required cut lengthwise.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 15c in silver or stamps by The Herald.

ONA REAGAN PARSONS

"Pure Gold" by O. E. Rolvaag (Harper and Bros.)

If this were Mr. Rolvaag's first novel instead of his third, he would be regarded as a man of great promise. It is a strong story, powerfully told and unforgettable, but not a worthy successor to "Giants in the Earth."

No doubt the author has a fund of good fiction material at his disposal, for the field of the Americanized immigrant is a deep one; somehow I feel that surely he can tell better stories than this.

"Pure Gold" is the story of two miners. Old Blinn Marner, of our high school days, was not a greed-driven man, but a man who had become spiritually transmuted into his little ward's hair, then were Louis and Lizzie Houghlum. But they had no children and would adopt none. There was no spiritual side to their nature. Their pieces of gold were the only things they cared for in the end this money which they carried around with them perished with them.

The best part of the book is the author's description of their unfolding natures before their worship of gold. They called their gold pieces babies, and the paper money brats. If they could have, they would have turned all their savings into gold pieces, but after losing money in a bank failure and having their house searched by a mob of angry boys because they refused to subscribe to the liberty loan, they decided that the only safe way to carry their money was on their persons.

When they died, he a junior, she a cook, each had in their cunningly-concealed belt under their clothing more than thirty-five thousand dollars in pieces. But they were still working as hard as they had in their youth to save more thousand-dollar notes. The greed of gold had ruined their capacity to enjoy life. When their dirty clothes were torn off them the undiscovered money was burned, as useless as their death as it had been during their life.

You see how powerful a story it is—the terrible lust for gold. But it is a universal lust and belongs to a master to tell; not to a man whose speciality is one particular class of people.

The Texas Monthly

To one interested in Texas lore the February issue of "The Texas Monthly" is the most interesting number that has appeared. The first article, "Trailing Nine Million Longhorns" is somewhat along the line of Dobie's recent book, "A Vaquero of the Brush Country." It is told the start of many wealthy ranchmen, including the Slaughters, whose headquarters were once located not far from Big Spring.

An article that every Chamber of Commerce in the western part of the state should acquaint itself with, is "Ceramics in Texas." It indicates the extent of a vast unexploited industrial field.

"Five Texas Capitals" reveals a unique situation in Texas history. Many Texans have heard of only one, Austin, the present capital.

"Straying across the Rio Grande" is packed with adventure and humor. In fact this whole number is packed with adventure. If this were published in England, it would be eaten up. These stories reveal much of the glamorous, adventurous every-day experiences that are still part of Texas life and regarded by Texans as too commonplace to be interesting... how blue we really are!

The Kaleidoscope

There are most interesting long poems in this March issue than is customary. "The Pilot" by Julia Boynton Green sounds more like a man's composition than a woman's; it splendidly typifies the untamed western spirit.

The poem I want to quote this week, which was awarded the Monthly Beginner's prize, I quote not for its high poetical content but because it is an interesting piece of Texas folk-lore in rhyme. It is by Halle Whitaker and is called "Bluebonnets."

"In Indian lore the loveliest maid Of all the Astece tribe was laid A martyr upon the pyre, a bribe To the vengeful gods to save her tribe.

Bound to the altar, the legend said Her bluebird chaplet fell from her head; That wherever a wind-blown feather fell The bluebonnet springs in: the chaparral.

And her spirit walks in the Lone Star State When Springtime laughs and bluebirds mate; When Texas skies reflect the hue Of her carpeted plains of heavenly blue."

SAWDUST and SPLINTERS

VOL. 1 MARCH 9, 1930 NO. 5

Published in the interests of the people of Big Spring by Wm. Cameron & Co., Inc., G. B. Porter, Editor.

We're sorry for the month of March. Who owns a couple of shacks. This month he'll have to take his rent. And pay his income tax.

And March is marching right along.

We wanted some Irish jokes for our column this week in honor of St. Patrick's day but nobody sent us any so we're outa luck.

IMPROVEMENT

Why did you teach your wife to drive?

"To get her out of the back seat."

"The best thickens," said the old man as he sowed more grass seed.

But all joking aside, you're own an ideal Kitchen Cabinet.

LEAN FOLKS WHO WANT TO GET FAT CAN BUY IT AT Handy MEAT MARKET.

We don't believe there is any merchant foolish enough to mark his car in front of his own place of business very long, but it strikes us that many business men are not as careful of each other's interests as our own.

What do you say we try to keep our cars off the streets, and give our friends from the rural districts a chance to park.

WHY WE ALVERTISE

"How soon we are forgotten WHEN WE are dead," says a NEWSPAPER.

Yes and how soon WE are dead when we are FORGOTTEN.

But we'd like to suggest that both men and fat folks and those in between who want to get the best building materials can find it here.

The income tax may be burdensome on many people, but they can all get the satisfaction of growing about it.

Last week, we holered for help, promising any one that would tell us a good joke for our newspaper, that we would help them with their building problems, so a Big Spring lady phoned us the following one; and if she ever needs our help, we'll all do our best to let us know.

Mr. Crouser, train master for the west division of the T. & P., opened a car door the other day and there lay a tramp sleeping. Mr. Crouser woke him up and asked him what he was doing on the tramp's car.

"An empty steam," Mr. Crouser then asked him.

"Where are you going?" The gentleman of leisure replied.

"Back to sleep."

Scholastic Census Being Neglected By District Trustees

Although the rural school census opened March 1, numerous district trustee boards have not called at the offices of Pauline Cantrell, county superintendent, for supplies as required, according to a statement issued Friday morning.

Those who have not made provisions for taking the school census in their districts are requested to call at the superintendent's office in the county courthouse, secure blanks and instructions for enumerating the scholastics.

"The amount of state aid received during the next regular school term is based on the scholastic census and consequently it is important that all children of scholastic age be included," Miss Cantrell said. A total of 2,143 scholastics were enumerated during the last school census conducted in Howard county, exclusive of the Big Spring independent district, records reveal. Eighty-five scholastics, enumerated in the county school census were transferred to the Big Spring school district prior to the start of the present school term.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Eddy have had as guests Mrs. Cliff Moore and her daughter, Charlene, of Houston, as guests the last week. Mrs. Moore and daughter have left for Dallas to visit Mrs. Moore's mother, Mrs. Sarah Brunson, before returning home.

MEASURING AND TACKY PARTY

Last Friday evening the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Westfall was the scene of much excitement. The tall, short, tacksy and otherwise were present. The styles of bygone days were very prominently displayed. A program was rendered which was well arranged for the occasion. A number were given a chance to show what talent they possessed. Dink Cramer performed some very thrilling magical stunts while Norman Read was considered, as usual, the joke and story teller for the social affair. He was at his best and slipped over some new ones. A. W. Thompson furnished chewing gum for the crowd and also rendered a very pathetic vocal solo. Revs. Thorne, Watson, Harris and Echols distinguished their musical ability. Mrs. Dink Cramer and Vada Cramer sang a duet while Mrs. A. P. Hand gave a reading she had heard over the radio and really had failed to hear the title announced. La Verne Watson gave a reading dedicated to the preachers. "Take a Tater and Wait" Rev. Watson and Mrs. Ida Mae Oldham presided over the measuring rod. A prize was given for the tallest and tackiest persons. Rev. Thorne, Rev. Watson and Mrs. Harris were appointed judges as those in costumes staged a parade. Mrs. Norman Read was the winner and received a dainty sample bar of toilet soap. Rev. Watson was the tallest man by a margin over Mr. A. W. Thompson and received a toy police doll as a prize. A dainty plate lunch was served. The Missionary Society thanks each one for his presence and cooperation. The proceeds received will go into paragon furnishings.

Misses Whitehead, Porter, Shelton, Blanton and McGregor were Abilene visitors last week end. Louise Watson was the guest of Miss Oleta Ward at Centropoint last week-end.

SENIORS HAVE PICNIC The seniors of Coahoma high school went on a half-day picnic last Friday. They left the school building after assembly. The Juniors had planned to follow them but something very disastrous happened and they were compelled to stay at school the rest of the day. The wind, Paul Woodson of Coahoma was second, and R-Bar third. The 220-yard dash was won by DeShazo who came out about one inch ahead of King of R-Bar. Edwin Watson of Coahoma won the did not succeed in slipping off to follow them. "But wait until Junior day and we will see what is so funny as to have to attend school while a picnic is carried on," the junior replied. "And we will see that no senior is sticking around while the refreshments are being served or before. We are waiting for our day and it is not long off. We will get revenge," the junior spokesman warned.

The dignified seniors thought that it was very funny that the juniors COAHOMA WINS PRACTICE TRACK MEET

The Coahoma Bull Dogs came out in full blossom again last Saturday, when R-Bar came over and gave the Bull Dogs a hard workout. Though the sand and wind were blowing at about a sixty mile gale the track meet went on. The first event was the junior boys' and girls' indoor baseball and Coahoma lost both games to R-Bar. The next event was the hundred-yard dash for the senior boys. Raymond DeShazo came out with a time of ten seconds, running with pole vault at 8 feet and Hull of R-Bar was second at 7 feet. The 440-yard dash was won by Hodge Hall of Coahoma and Woodson of Coahoma was second. The exciting event of the day was the mile relay which was won by Coahoma. J. C. Robinson won the half mile by a lead of about 50 feet. High jump was carried off by Hodge Hall first, King of R-Bar second and DeShazo and Watson tying for third place; height 5 feet. The broad jump was carried off by Raymond DeShazo with Hodge Hall second, both of Coahoma. King of R-Bar was third. Distance was 16 feet 7 inches. The shot put and discus both were won by Coahoma. The junior boys lost in the hundred-yard dash to Miller of R-Bar. Porter won the fifty-yard dash for junior boys for Coahoma. The tennis and volley ball games were not played on account of the wind. The team will be in top shape for the track meet that will be held at Coahoma March 22.

COAHOMA GOES TO SNYDER The Coahoma Bulldogs will leave for Snyder either Friday night or Saturday morning to take part in the Scurry county track meet. The aim is to take off the majority of the events at this meet but will have to expend all effort possible. The Bulldogs are drilling diligently to get into good shape before Saturday and if they keep up the hard work-outs until then someone had better watch the Bulldogs when they get to Snyder for they are a bunch of fast workers and are going down to bring back a bunch of medals from Scurry county.

The Coahoma Bulldogs will receive letter sweaters in about a week. These sweaters are to be maroon and white with a large C

In the center and letter stripes on the left sleeve. The basketball boys have well earned a sweater for the good work they did during the basketball season by winning all of 19 games. Those who will receive a sweater are: Ben U. Conslander, coach; J. C. Robinson, J. W. Neel, Edwin Watson, Oland Riche, Raymond DeShazo, W. T. Hagler, Hodge Hall, and Bill McCloud.

Detroit Tigers Substantiate New Shortstop And Pitching Problems Are Solved Theory Of More Hits This Season

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor.
TAMPA, Fla., March 7 (AP)—The growing impression that the 1930 baseball season will see bigger and better benefits is not retarded in the slightest by an inspection of the climbing circus gathered under the banner of the Detroit Tigers.

Since the palmy days of Cobb and Crawford, Detroit has prided itself in maintaining a high calibre of fence-busting talent. More Tigers have been crowned American League batting champions than all the rest of the clubs in the circuit combined.

Old Reputation
It is not startling, therefore, to find the Tigers again answering the clarion call of the clout, for they led the league in batting last year despite finishing sixth. It is distinctly vital, however, to record that Manager Stanley Raymond Harris is in a fair way to solving the two main problems left over from 1929—shortstop and pitching. Moreover, and of equal importance to the club's fortunes, all signs of the internal strife that upset things last year have disappeared. Under the diplomatic leadership of Harris, the team has developed an aggressive and harmonious spirit.

Scoring of Schools Will Start Friday
The answer to Detroit's shortstop puzzle appears to have been discovered in Bill Rogell, back in the majors again and determined to make good after a fine season with St. Paul. Rogell was cast adrift after 1923 by the Red Sox. In practice he has gained the call of Albers and Wuestling, two of the candidates tried out in Harris' desperate search for a shortstopper last season. Rogell has fitted in nicely with the infield, which otherwise is fixed with capable Marty McManus at third, the great Charley Gehring at second base and hard-hitting Dale Alexander at first.

Improved Hurlers
The Tiger pitching staff bears the stamp of marked improvement. The four veterans upon whom Harris places most reliance are Earl Whitehill, brilliant southpaw, George Uhle, Owen Carroll and Vic Sorrell, all right-handers.

Pair Held On Charge Of Liquor Violation
Jean Dubuc, the old pitcher, and Roger Bresnahan, famous batter-mate of Mathewson, have taken over the development of new pitching talent with apparent success. They have turned out at least four bright prospects in Arthur Herzig, right-hander purchased from Oklahoma City; Elton Hogsett, Cherokee Indian, southpaw, obtained from Montreal; Morton Nelson, right-hander from the Missions of

Directions For Eradication Of Poultry Insect Pests Prescribed

Thousands of dollars can be saved by Howard county poultrymen if they but expend a little money, time and energy in the eradication of insect pests of poultry at this time before the spring brood of chicks is placed on the poultry premises, believes J. V. Bush, county agricultural agent.

In urging poultrymen to use the most effective methods in controlling parasites, he says: "Poultry requires careful and effective treatment for control of vermin, and there are many excellent powders, disinfectants, sprays and dips that are effective and of great value, and let me urge poultrymen to use approved methods for controlling external parasites, and do not try to achieve the same results by dosing poultry with medicine. Internal medication for external parasites is a waste of time and money at best, and at worst it may lead to serious injury to the health and well-being of poultry."

"For lice and mites, dip the birds in a solution made by adding 1 oz. of sodium fluoride to each gallon of luke warm water, at 2 p. m. on a warm day and spray the poultry house with the solution left. Or, string a little nicotine sulphate (black leaf 40) along the roost just before the fowls go to roost three times at intervals of two days. Do not dip baby chicks and use the nicotine sulphate sparingly under them at night."

"For the Blue Bug or Fowl Tick is easily controlled by spraying the poultry house well with pure carbolineum once every twelve months or spray the house well with equal parts by measure of kerosene and crude oil several times each year."

Election Result Believed Boon To Clean-Up Effort

In a communication from E. F. Robbins, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce civic committee, success for the clean up, paint up campaign now under way was declared to have been made more probable by bond issues late last week.

Mr. Robbins' letter follows: "The bond election is over and the people of our city have spoken their sentiment in piling up a tremendous majority for the water, sewer and viaduct bonds.

"The result of Friday's bond election proves to the world that the people of Big Spring are progressive and wide awake to the needs of our growing city, and we can say to future investors that Big Spring property or business ventures are directed at the proper town.

"Now that we are to have adequate water and sewer improvements, let's all get busy in our clean up and paint up campaign and have the best, the cleanest and the most beautiful city in the state. We can do it and will do it, if co-operation from every citizen is accorded the civic committees from all sections of Big Spring."

to the cemetery on arrival Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Sanford will be accompanied by a committee from the supreme court Chief Justice Hughes, and Justices McReynolds, Butler and Stone. Representative Fisher of Tennessee and Mrs. Fisher, a sister of the late justice, are expected to be in the party.

The chair in the supreme court which Mr. Sanford occupied has been draped in mourning.

Shortly before ten a. m. Justice Sanford had an infected tooth extracted by Dr. J. Borden Crane. The dentist later said his patient had evidenced no discomfort until he was affected by dizziness on preparing to leave.

Hearing a thud in an adjoining room, Dr. Crane found the justice limp on the floor and rubbing his forehead. Attendants administered to the stricken man while the dentist hurriedly summoned Dr. J. Lawn Thompson from a nearby office.

Several times Mr. Sanford was heard to murmur "twelve o'clock," as though thoughts of the court meeting were uppermost. Moments later he was able to inform the physicians that he previously had suffered similar attacks of nausea. Very soon, however, he lapsed into the final unconsciousness.

Dr. Thompson administered a stimulant and notified the justice's family of his grave condition. He had to return to another patient in his office, but sent an assistant, Dr. Ricard Martin, to aid the dying man. It was determined to remove him to his home immediately.

The home is near that of former Chief Justice Taft who died a few hours later. The two men were intimate friends.

Shortly after his arrival home, Justice Sanford died.

The Rix family has also established furniture houses in Tahoka and Lamesa, though these houses have been sold.

Associated with Harvey L. Rix in the Big Spring company are B. C. Rix as vice president of the corporation and two of Harvey L. Rix's sons, Ralph W. Rix and Lewis B. Rix, as treasurer and secretary, respectively. The Rix Mortuary is managed by Ralph W. and Paul A. Rix. Ralph and Harvey Rix are licensed embalmers while Paul expects to receive his embalmers' license in May. Harvey Rix has been engaged in some phase of embalming since he was 10 years old.

Officers

Officers in the Lubbock house are: J. A. Rix, W. W. Rix, brothers of the local business men, his father, B. C. Rix, and a sister, Miss Ruth Rix.

The Big Spring business house was incorporated in 1910 at $20,000, while at present it has a capitalization of $100,000. The Lubbock company has also been incorporated for a similar sum.

The Rix family is familiar with the early history of West Texas. B. C. Rix having moved to Colorado from Wisconsin in 1867. In 1878 the family moved to San Angelo then known as "Fort Concho." In making the trip back home for a visit, the family was forced to drive from San Angelo to Dodge City, Kansas, as no railroads had at that time penetrated this vast western country.

Dorrance Roderick of El Paso was a visitor in Big Spring Friday evening enroute home from Lubbock.

V. L. Reed of Roswell, N. M., was in the city on business Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Showalter left Saturday afternoon to spend the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morley of Midland.

One of the feature numbers of the association's March meeting was the musical concert rendered by the orchestra of Walter Deats, Jr. The group of young musicians offered a program that continued for 30 minutes and was generously enjoyed by those present. Members of the orchestra, are: Woodrow Campbell, trombone; Jake Pickle, baritone; Thomas Joe Williamson, solo trumpet; Chalmers York, clarinet; Leander McAllister, tenor saxophone; Gerald Liberty, drums; Mrs. Walter Deats, piano accompanist; and Walter Deats, Jr., saxophone.

Discussion of college entrance examinations and the county wide seventh grade examinations, concluded the business transacted by the association before adjournment Saturday afternoon. Approximately 35 teachers and others interested in rural school activity were present at the meeting in the county court-linked with that of Theodore Roosevelt. The two met in 1890 when Roosevelt came to Washington as a civil service commissioner and Taft was a solicitor-general under President Harrison.

It would be hard to imagine two more different types than the fiery, dashing Roosevelt and the staid, easy-going and smiling Taft, but there developed a historic friendship that sent Taft to the White House and, later, sent him down in probably the worst defeat a presidential candidate ever suffered when Roosevelt turned against him.

Roosevelt chose Taft as his successor and it was "Theodore's" command that got "Will" the Republican presidential nomination which resulted in an easy victory over Bryan in 1908.

Taft went to the White House to become president and Roosevelt went to Africa to hunt wild animals.

When Roosevelt finally came out of the jungle, friends were waiting to tell him Taft had not carried out his policies on conservation of natural resources. The Pinchot-Ballinger controversy and other events had shaken public confidence in that respect.

Returning to Washington, "Theodore" had a brief interview with "Will." It must have been rather pointed, for Roosevelt terminated the friendship abruptly.

The break between the former bosom friends widened and at Chicago in 1912 Roosevelt smashed Taft just as he had made him in 1908. Claiming that a hostile convention committee had "stolen" some of his delegates, Roosevelt bolted the Republican party and ran for president as a "Bull Moose."

Roosevelt did not win the presidency. He got only 88 electoral votes, whereas Woodrow Wilson received 435. Taft received but eight.

The enmity between the former friends continued until an act on Taft's part several years later renewed the old friendship.

Entering the dining room of a Chicago hotel one morning, Taft chanced to encounter Roosevelt at breakfast. Maybe the memories of bygone years overwhelmed him; at any rate, Taft strode to Roosevelt's table, extended his hand and said:

"Hello, Theodore!"

Roosevelt looked up, surprised. But he was man enough to meet one half-way. He shook hands warmly—and after a long heart-to-heart talk they became "Will" and "Theodore" to each other again—and just as good friends as before.

A few months later Roosevelt died suddenly and Taft hastened to Oyster Bay to attend the funeral. His one ray of consolation, according to those who knew him best, was that the breach with his friend of a lifetime had been healed before death parted them.

Taft was essentially human. In his desk, piled high with briefs, in the secluded private chambers of the chief justice of the United States, he kept a supply of apples for distribution when his little grandchildren called.

Until his weakened heart prevented several years ago, he walked daily the three miles from his Wyoming avenue residence to the capitol.

One morning Taft was plodding along when a painter on a nearby scaffold dropped his brush.

"Hey, hand me the brush, will you?" called the painter, not recognizing the gray-haired man in the black slouch hat.

"Sure," said Taft, handing it up.

"Thanks," said the painter.

"You're welcome," said the chief justice.

Unlike many great Americans, Taft did not rise from poverty but was born of a wealthy family in Cincinnati. His father, Judge Alphonse Taft, was attorney general in Grant's cabinet and also U. S. minister to Austria and Russia.

The romance that culminated in his marriage to Miss Helen Herron of Cincinnati in 1886 began when the two met while on a boat-sled ride. The ceremony followed on June 19, when he was 29.

Taft's inauguration was marred by some of the worst weather in the capital's history. On the night of March 3, 1909, a howling blizzard ripped into Washington and continued unabated on inauguration day.

His invariable good humor persisted despite the weather.

"I always said," he remarked, "that it would be a cold day when I was made president."

In the screeching wind and stinging snow Taft appeared on the temporary platform before the thousands massed in front of the capitol. But only for a moment. Choosing the more sensible—though less popular course—he retreated to the warmth and shelter of the Senate chamber and delivered his inaugural address there.

Again he emphasized the contrast between himself and his bosom friend, Roosevelt. For somehow one feels that even though the worst blizzard in all history was raging, "T. R." would have stood there on the stand and made his speech, an old slouch hat pulled far down over his eyes, a muffler knotted around his neck and with that characteristic gesture—his right fist pounding emphasis in his left palm.

For a time when Taft was in the White House he weighed 350 pounds, but by careful dieting and enforced exercise he got this down to 250 pounds. He continued to do much walking, horseback riding and play quite a bit of golf until his heart prevented.

Always a heavy eater, he consumed a 1-2 ounce steak for breakfast each morning, according to the later testimony of the house-keeper.

Though the expenses were paid out of his own pocket, he insisted on serving sandwiches and punch at White House receptions when as many as 2000 persons called. At state dinners, famous in his administration for their elaborate menus, there was always champagne in ample quantities, and an ample variety of other drinks for those who cared to partake.

But—and this is the strangest part of all—Taft himself was a teetotaler.

Pre-Easter Party At Casino Heads Week's Social Events

TABLES SET IN PRETTY ORDER

Presaging the coming Easter season and featured among the loveliest of the early spring parties, the "picnic bridge" given Thursday afternoon at the Casino with Mesdames Jack Hodges, W. D. McDonald, Gus Pickle and S. L. Baker as joint hostesses, attracted a great deal of attention in Big Spring society.

Twenty-eight quartet tables were set against the unusually effective Easter background of the ballroom. A giant white bunny rabbit surrounded with white and yellow foliage centered the main table and gave the keynote of the color scheme. The table was laid with ecru lace over yellow satin. Quartet tables were covered with yellow crepe covers. Tallies and score pads also bore out the frolicsome picnic idea and the Easter motif.

Refreshments were served novel in handmade white and yellow picnic baskets, and lemonade in paper cups in frilly yellow and white crepe paper coverings. Favors were in yellow and white wrapped in white crepe paper and tied with yellow ribbon. Mrs. Robert Parks won high score, a pair of yellow ornamental vases; Mrs. J. R. Copeland, second, a set of water glasses; Mrs. Victor Melinger, cut, a yellow ornamental pitcher while Miss Theresa Platocco was consoled for low with a hand-painted waste basket touched in golden tones.

Hostesses were dressed in yellow picnic dresses to correspond with the general holiday occasion and were assisted in serving by Miss Addie Lee. Guest List: Mesdames W. A. Earnest, H. S. SUSANNAH WESLEY CLASS HOLDS REGULAR MONTHLY SESSION AND DECIDES TO GIVE MEN PARTY

The regular monthly social session of the Susannah Wesley Sunday school class of the Methodist church Friday proved to be one of the feature entertainments in the week's social calendar. Mrs. N. W. McCleskey and her circle members were hostesses for the afternoon. The social was held in the church parlors.

The green St. Patrick idea was effectively carried out in all decorations, the church being prettily decorated in green potted plants and green lighted candles in Irish potato holders. Shamrocks were attractively utilized in the decorations.

Mrs. Bell President Mrs. J. T. Bell, president, presided over the brief business program session made up of a song "Ireland Must Be Heaven" by Mrs. Joe Faucett; prayer by Mrs. Charles Morris; story of St. Patrick by Mrs. Russell Manion; report of 206 visits in February to sick and newcomers.

A total of $1255 was taken up for orphans. Mrs. Russell Manion, Mrs. Bob Eubanks and Mrs. J. L. Rush were appointed the March visiting committee; Mrs. L. N. Garner and Mrs. J. S. Taylor made the flower committee for the church the present month. Mrs. J. B. Dalton's circle was awarded the Sunday school attendance prize for January and Mrs. C. E. Shive's circle for February. Each member was presented with an Irish Liasie which when unfolded proved to be kitchen utensil.

Will Believes Coolidges Enjoyed Their Grace Imitates Cal's New England Drawl California Trip Despite Silence

As of Old!

By WILL ROGERS LOS ANGELES, March 8.—Well, all I know is just what I read in the Cigarette ads. Calvin and Grace were in our midsts for quite a spell, and went back last week. I really believe he had a great time. He seemed in a mighty cheerful mood. He didn't have anything to say but he kinder smiled when he refused to say it. I really believe it kinder reminded him of old times, the crowds trying to get a glimpse of him, and all anxious to hear even a word from him.

The Weeklymen were shooting at him as of old. I was at a little quiet dinner party where he and Mrs. Coolidge were. I told him all my little jokes on the Disarmament Conference, (well not all of them) for there was so many that it would take a week. He knows about the difficulties of one of those things. He sent a bunch over in 26, and another in 27 to Geneva and the rememberers all they sunk was their expenses.

MRS. ELLIS HAS PARTY

Miss Ruby Burnett is Honor Guest At Party Thursday Night

One of the prettiest affairs of the past week's social events was the dinner party given by Mrs. Jack Ellis Thursday night at her home on Scurry Street, honoring the birthday anniversary of Miss Ruby Burnett. Covers were laid for seven with a pink color idea predominating in the three course menu.

The dining table daintily laid in Spanish lace over pink satin, centered with a bowl of exquisite pink rosebuds on a silver service and flanked with pink candles in silver candle sticks was a symphony of subdued tones and delicate beauty in the mellow gleam of candlelight and the soft glow of old silver.

After the dinner hour Miss Burnett was directed to a table in the living room where she found lovely gifts from the guests. Those present were Mesdames C. W. Deats, L. D. Davenport, Samuels of Oklahoma City, Joe Bonds of Dallas, Miss Helen Lane, the honoree and the hostess.

Mrs. Moore Has Party for Club

Mrs. J. C. Moore entertained the Three-Four Bridge club in her home on Eleventh street Wednesday afternoon with a delightful Saint Patrick's party. House decorations, cut flowers, crepe paper decorations, tallies and score pads bore out the green color note of the occasion. The delicious refreshment plate carried out the green color idea.

Mrs. J. A. Adams received guest high score award, a bottle of bath salts; Mrs. W. T. Strange, Jr. received high for club members, an attractive picture while high cut prize at the individual tables went to: Mesdames I. H. Hamlett, C. C. Carter, R. H. Jones and J. E. Kuykendall.

Additional guests to enjoy the delightful occasion were: Mesdames G. L. Rowsey, Karl H. Estes, T. S. Jenkins, V. W. Lataon, L. A. Talley and the hostess.

Mrs. E. P. Hewitt and Miss Elizabeth Owen of the Moselle Beauty shop have just returned from Dallas where they attended a course in beauty culture. Mrs. Hewitt took courses in finger waving, facials and permanent waving while Miss Owen specialized in hair cutting along the latest lines.

Honoring the ninth birthday anniversary of her daughter Anna Sue, Mrs. Dee Foster and her sister Mrs. Lovell Alford delightfully entertained with a junior party Friday afternoon at the Foster home on East Twelfth street.

Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Alford received the little guests showing them into the living room where they were entertained with various indoor games and contests. After the games little Miss Anna Sue gleefully unwrapped the packages containing lovely gifts from her little friends.

At the refreshment hour the children were invited into the dining room where a large pink and white birthday cake aglow with lighted candles was cut. Keen excitement was exhibited on the part of the youngsters as to who would be the lucky holders of the prize pieces. Fruit, candy, Dada cups and punch were served with the cake. The Wolcott Motor company, Ford dealers, announce the addition of G. M. Palmer on the sales force. Mr. Palmer has been with the Wentz Motor Sales for the last year.

H. L. Bohannon of the Hendrix-Wolcott Motor company spent Friday in Sweetwater transacting business.

J. O. Martin of the Ed S. Hughes Motor company of Abilene was a business visitor with the local branch and left Friday afternoon for home.

O. F. Bell has been added to the sales staff of the King Chevrolet Motor company. Mr. Bell has been associated in that capacity with the Webb Motor company here and has had many years of experience in automobile work.

Placing its used car business on the same level with new car sales activities is in a nutshell the secret of success for the Roberts Automobile Exchange of Syracuse, N. Y., the destiny of which is in the hands of Benjamin M. Roberts.

"The confidence which the purchaser has when he buys a used car has grown to such an extent," said Mr. Roberts, "that today the dealer in used cars, who hopes to acquire a growing business volume should put his used car business on the same level with the new car activities. Although we handle only used cars, we have made it a practice to offer the public only such vehicles as would enhance the appearance of any high-class motor car emporium."

This concern does not purchase cars that are worn out or in such a physical condition as to warrant their early relegation to the junk pile. In fact, only in rare instances is a car more than two years old placed on display in its up-to-date showroom on South Salina Street, one of the main business thoroughfares of Syracuse.

General Motor Truck Company today announces a complete line of trucks and commercial cars for 1930 which will be on exhibition throughout the country early in March. New factors of economy and profit to the truck owner are said to have been engineered into the new line, which is one of the most nearly complete ever offered.

The line consists of eleven basic models, thirty-three chassis and 118 different types, embracing the whole range of truck duty. Factors of economy are, first, the precise suitability of some models or type in the line for practically every kind of truck job. And second, is an unprecedented degree of standardization.

As a result of Pierce-Arrow's expansion during the past year, the country is now covered with a nationwide network of more than 500 authorized Pierce-Arrow service stations. They are located in practically every important city and town in the United States and Canada so that the tourist always is within convenient driving reach of them, according to F. J. Wells, general service manager of the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Company.

In a spectacular demonstration of power and roadability, Studebaker's Dynamic New Erskine has established a new stock car record of 10 minutes 41 seconds up the twisting seven mile course of Mount Baldy, near Pomona, California. In recognition of this feat, the Erskine has been awarded the Pomona Progress Bulletin Trophy for the fastest time up the mountain by a strictly stock automobile.

The Erskine which made the run was a five-passenger stock model sedan equipped with optional gear ratio available to any purchaser. It was driven by Ralph Hepburn, veteran of many a speedway classic. The car was taken from the salesroom floor of the Paul C. Hoffman Co., Studebaker-Erskine distributors in Los Angeles by George Stephenson and William Claus, members of the technical committee of the American Automobile Association and certified a stock model in every respect. The A. A. A. also timed and supervised the entire run.

The actual distance of the Mount Baldy course is seven and one-tenth miles. It necessitates a climb of more than 2500 feet in which sharp turns and stiff grades are frequent. Toward the top 4700 feet above sea level—ice was encountered which made fast driving dangerous. The Erskine's speedy ascent shattered by 36 seconds the fastest time ever made by any other stock car over the course.

The Mount Baldy climb recalls the record breaking dash of a Studebaker President Roadster up Pikes Peak last Labor day. At Pikes Peak, although the distance is several miles greater, the hazardous turns and steep grades approximate those found on Mount Baldy. Both runs were timed and supervised by officials of the A. A. A. and recorded on certificates of performance issued by the association.

DETROIT, Mich., March 9.—New low prices on the Plymouth car, which represents reductions of $60 to $70 on all body styles, effective midnight today, are announced by officials of Chrysler Motors.

These low prices, which are made possible by a new merchandising and distributing plan, are: Coupe, $590; 3-window 4-door Sedan, $625; Roadster (with rumble seat), $610; De Luxe Coupe (with rumble seat), $625; 2-door Sedan, $610; De Luxe Sedan, $675; and Touring, $625; all F. O. B. Detroit.

These new low prices make Plymouth one of the lowest-priced cars in the world. The new method of distribution of Chrysler Motors lowest-priced car, which is now being put into effect, will in the near future make available Plymouth sales and service facilities at more than 10,000 Chrysler, Dodge and DeSoto distributors and dealer establishments throughout the United States and Canada.

The improved Plymouth offers to the public a full-size motor car with a wheel internal-expanding weatherproof hydraulic brakes, 35-horsepower high-compression engine with full-force feed lubrication, ventilated crankcase and rubber mountings; low-swing, balanced chassis with 5-inch frame; long semi-elliptic springs with self-adjusting spring shackles; and the scientific engineering and precision workmanship characteristic of Chrysler Standardized Quality, the only car in the lowest-price field offering these features.

Committees Named By Realty Board

Routine business and the appointment of two committees took up the business hour of the Big Spring Real Estate Board Thursday evening in the chamber of commerce offices.

A committee headed by R. L. Cook and including Ira L. Hurst, Ebb Hatch and Joy Stripling, was named to promote the beautification of the scenic drive. V. H. Fiedler, Joy Stripling and Mr. Cook were made a committee to locate playgrounds for school children. Committees were instructed to submit their reports at a later meeting.

UVALDE FIELD GETS BEST GASSET YET DEVELOPED
UVALDE, Tex., March 8 (AP)—The Uvalde oil field today had its largest gas well, the A. W. West well No. 3 having blown in yesterday making an estimated fifty million cubic feet of gas. It came in at a depth of 816 feet on the West ranch 12 miles south of Uvalde. The well was an offset of Uvalde No. 4, which was making nearly 35 million feet of gas.

Meriwether - Smith Well Underreaming

Work of underreaming casing in Meriwether Oil Company's No. 1 Smith, semi-wildcat oil test in southern Howard county, progressed during the week at a satisfactory rate. The company has approximately 300 feet of hole to underream before setting casing on bottom at 2,275 feet.

No. 1 Smith is located 150 feet from the south line and 2,490 feet from the west line of section 45, block 33, township 2 south, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey, and is between the old Harding producer and the test being drilled by F. H. E. Oil Company on the D. B. Cox farm in extreme northern Glasscock county.

SAN ANGELO WOMAN DECLARES ARGOTANE (ARGOTANE) IS WORTH ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD; HAD SUFFERED FOUR YEARS

Five hundred dollars wouldn't buy the good that two bottles of Argotane (Argotane) have done for me and I just think it's worth its weight in gold," said Mrs. L. A. Thomas, of 103 W. 7th Street, San Angelo.

"I was told repeatedly that my troubles could not be cured. In fact, I have had an operation for appendicitis and I had to have the second one for adhesions, but still I suffered. Even the noise of a passing car would upset my nervous system. My stomach was in such a bad condition that I could not even digest an egg, and this had gone on for four years until I was on the verge of a nervous breakdown.

"I kept reading in the paper about so many people who had trouble similar to mine that had used Argotane (Argotane) and it proved to be the very thing in their case and I decided to try it.

"I have taken two bottles altogether and have gained wonderfully in weight and I haven't had a nervous spell since. I can eat anything I want and am building up every day. I just can't say too much in praise of Argotane (Argotane)."

Does Your CAR Have the following Symptoms?

- Hard to start of a morning
- Pops too much with smoke from exhaust
- Sluggish in its getaway
- A knock somewhere
- Gets hot too easily

IF IT DOES, Here's The Remedy—

Fill the tank with Texaco Gasoline, have the crank case thoroughly drained and refilled with Texaco Gold-ene Motor Oil (being careful not to run it over five or six hundred miles before repeating the dose, which requires four to eight quarts). Also keep the rear in good shape by applying Texaco Thurbon Oil every four or six months after first application. This should put your car in first class condition, but if it doesn't my advice would be for you to consult a good mechanic and then if no results—buy a new car. But before you go to all this trouble—try our remedy which is better and cheaper.

TWIN-IGNITION MEANS— Greater Power, Greater Smoothness, Extraordinary Economy

BECAUSE two different motor cars are alike in price, it does not follow that they are also alike in quality, value or performance. There is always a best, and if you are looking for it, drive a Nash Twin-Ignition Eight or Six. They are the only cars in their price field which offer the superiority of Twin-Ignition performance. Twin-Ignition (two spark plugs, two simultaneous sparks, per cylinder, instead of one) produces smoother, more thorough combustion and consequently a smoother, more vigorous flow of power. You can feel the difference. You will know immediately what you have been missing, driving a car with single ignition. Other "400" features of superior performance and value are Bijur centralized chassis lubrication; lifetime-lubricated springs, encased in steel spring covers; built-in, automatic radiator shuttles; and Duplate non-shatterable plate glass in all windows, doors and windshields (no extra cost in the Twin-Ignition Eight—optional at slight extra cost in the Twin-Ignition Six and Single Six).

E LINE RUNS DECREASED 102, 820 BARRELS LAST MONTH

Schermerhorn Oil Company Occupies First Place Among Producers In February And Is Pushing Moody-Superior For Total Peak

The line companies serving the Glasscock county oil have succeeded in reducing production through their agreement to accept certain stipulations of oil from producing during any given month. The gross pipe line runs for the month of February from 815,735 barrels in January to 712,915 barrels during the month of February. The total loss is 102,820 barrels of the most severe reduction during the past six months.

The total amount of oil run from 15 leases during the past 15 months now stands at 15,343,443 barrels as compared with 13,471,471 barrels in February, 1929. One reason for the reduced production during February was the fact that the producers had only 28 days in which to deliver oil.

Schermerhorn Oil Company led the list of producers with 93,459 barrels in February, 1929. The company is gradually building up on the leader and at the end of February had produced 1,552,575 barrels of oil. The company is producing with six wells and is pushing Moody-Superior in the market with the number of wells, February, pipe line and their total production for the past 15 1/2 months.

Ward Oil Company, 58,603 barrels in February, 1929. The company is producing with four wells and is pushing Moody-Superior in the market with the number of wells, February, pipe line and their total production for the past 15 1/2 months.

GAINES WILDCAT TO PLUG

No. 1 Ralph Filling With Sulphur Water at 4,730 Louisiana Oil & Refining Co. and Cranfill & Reynolds' No. 1 Ralph in Gaines county will measure up at 4,730 feet in lime, and plug and abandon, as the result of striking sulphur water at that depth. The test made fifteen 35-foot bailers of water in four hours and the water was rising at the rate of 100 feet hourly. The hole was caving badly.

No. 1 Ralph is 1,320 feet from the south and west lines of section 7, block A-28, public school land. It has an elevation of 3,475 feet, topped the anhydrite at 1,560, topped the salt at 1,675, had the base of the salt at 2,815, topped the brown lime at 3,017 and topped the grey lime at 4,150. It had showings of oil at 4,351 feet, 4,450 feet and 4,415, and a showing of gas at 4,545.

Basin Oil Stock Has Slight Gain

Crude oil stocks in twelve counties in the West Texas Permian Basin increased 1,399,516 barrels from Jan. 20 to Feb. 20, the total being 38,762,799 barrels. While on its face this would indicate that production, though continuing to drop, still is in excess of the demand, the reduced prices probably are an incentive to purchasing companies to store oil awaiting a more favorable market.

No storage was reported, under construction on Feb. 20, as there still was room in tanks already built for 15,735,201 barrels of oil, stocks and room in each county on Feb. 20 follows:

County	Stock	Room
Crane	7,520,410	1,826,590
Crockett	6,153	48,817
Howard	1,214,875	453,125

Totals	38,762,799	15,735,201

15,794 barrels in February, 1,136,319 barrels total.

Taylor-Link Company, two wells, 1,008 barrels in February, 84,159 barrels total.

Ward Oil Company, four wells, 58,603 barrels in February, 485,211 barrels total.

Sinclair Talks Curtailment Of Crude Business

NEW YORK, March 8 (AP)—The Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corp. has "not only curtailed its drilling operations and production of crude oil, but has also greatly reduced its refinery runs," Harry F. Sinclair, chairman, said today in telling of his company's contribution toward crude oil conservation.

"In former years," Mr. Sinclair said, "we normally built up large stocks of gasoline during the winter months. Today, as a result of the reduction of refinery operations put into effect several months ago, our storage supply of gasoline is only what is necessary to meet day to day requirements. In other words, anticipating present conditions, we have for months put into practical application the policy of curtailment now advocated by the federal conservation board."

Gulf And Humble Stake Locations In Ector Field

Two new locations that will force a third well were reported from Ector county's new pool 14 miles west of Odessa. Landreth Production Company's No. T-1 University, which was junked as a gas well, was scheduled to run 6 5/8 inch casing late last week as the only other important development.

Gulf Production Company staked location for its No. G-1 Kloh, Rumsey and Abrams 330 feet north and 440 feet east of the southwest corner of section 6, Humble, Penn and Atlantic staked a south offset to G-1 Kloh which will be known as Humble et al's No. D-7 Kloh, Rumsey and Abrams. The well is located 330 feet south and 440 feet east of the northwest corner of section 7, block 44, township 3 south, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey. This location will call for a west offset by Skelly and Amerada for their No. 2 University, 330 feet south and 440 feet west of the northeast corner of section 1, block 35. These locations increase the number of drilling tests and locations in the field to 27.

VAN ZANDT COUNTY'S OIL FIELD TO GET LINE

DALLAS, Tex., March 8 (AP)—Prospects were favorable today for the Van Zandt county oil field to see its first railroad line in operation by early summer, after railway and chamber of commerce officials were notified yesterday that the Cotton Belt Railway had advised the Interstate Commerce Commission it favored precedence of the Texas Short-Line Railway's application for a line from Grand Salina to Van, 11 miles, over its own application for a line from Chandler to Van, 17 miles. The Cotton Belt conceded the Van Zandt county area badly needed a rail line and the shorter one could be built more quickly.

Bee County Oil Field's Largest Producer Added

HOUSTON, March 8 (AP)—The second producer in the new Bee county oil field near Pettus, the Union Producing Company's No. 5 Ray, came in today flowing, reports said, 1,900 barrels from seven feet of sand topped at 3,932 feet. It is a northeast offset to the discovery well.

Navarro County Test Has Small Shallow Showing

CORSICANA, Mar. 8.—The new oil test well being drilled by J. Meers, well known Texas geologist, and the Navarro Oil Operators of Dallas, at location on the W. N. Matthews farm, about three miles northeast of Dawson, western Navarro County, is reported making nice progress with no difficulties and indications favorable of a successful test. The well was spudded in on February 18. First oil showings were discovered at 124 feet in sand at contact of Wolf City Beds and Taylor Marl proper.

Depth of the well is now reported passing 500 feet in Taylor Marl carrying 10-inch hole. Contact of Taylor Marl and Austin chalk is expected at about 825 and the well

French. Why Lord half the Town met them at the Station. You know its remarkable the hold that little fellow has on he people. They sure do believe in him. They know that he don't do anything when in there. But he does nothing just at the time when the people want nothing done. You never caught him messing with any Tariff he knew that was loaded with ill will, and chances, no matter which way you raised it you hit somebody. They would never have got an extra session of Congress out of him. He knew that was Dynamite to any President. It's bad enough to let em meet when the law says they have to meet, much less gathering them in at other times. Of course Mr. Hoover was forced into it, but he shouldn't have listened to Borah and that Gang before election. He had it won if he had promised nothing. That's one thing nobody ever heard Mr. Coolidge promise anything. He is perhaps the greatest Politician of our generation. He has forgot more Politicians than those other birds back there know. He knows a lot of human psychology too. He would go to work right now for some big company, but he is afraid it would be held against him in the future, that is that he had been connected with "Big business." You see there is very few businesses that dont have business with the Government, and he is afraid that it would be that they hired him to help get something about their income tax fixed, or something of that sort. So he is just laying off, AND YOU WATCH HIM. You are going to hear a lot more of him. I have already invited him to be my Guest at my ranch when he is Ex President the NEXT time. (Copyright 1930, By the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

A SURE TEST FOR OIL

THAT fellow up there probably has -TP- Oil in his engine. -TP- was developed for airplanes first and was such a success that they had to make it for automobiles. An oil that stands up in one of those high-speed airplane motors has an easy time lubricating an automobile engine. The engine has an easy time, too.

-TP- Oils are the latest development in scientific lubrication. They are produced from pure, paraffine-base crude by a process for which patents are pending. This process has marked advantages over other methods. It preserves all the lubricating bodies of the crude oil just as they occur in nature. There is positively no blending of light and heavy oils to produce various grades. It removes all the paraffine wax.

In terms of performance this means perfect lubrication at all times, smoother, more efficient operation for your engine, longer life, reduced repair bills, and more mileage. It means easy starting in winter with the same grade of oil that you use in summer—the one best suited to lubricate your engine.

It is wise economy to pay 45c a quart for -TP- Oil.

Marilyn Miller in "Sally" Presented at Ritz Theatre

Seven Days' Leave Stars Gary Cooper

"Seven Days Leave" opening at the Ritz theatre next Friday will strike a new note in cinema entertainment.

Here is a play, a daring play. For it has not the slightest hint of boy-and-girl love in it anywhere. But not alone for this courageous omission of an hitherto pet formula of moviedom are its producers deserving of praise. "Seven Days Leave" is worthy of the current movie season's biggest laurel tiara for the season that it is one of the most poignantly human pieces of audible screen production ever projected to the eyes and ears of American audiences.

Based on the successful stage play, "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals" by Sir James M. Barrie, "Seven Days Leave" gains considerable substance by its transition to the celluloid medium. Its scope, of course, is widened. But in addition to this there is a certain flavor of indescribable forcefulness about it that could not possibly exist in a stage production anywhere. Perhaps this is just that old Barrie whimsy percolating through, much as it did in "Peter Pan." Suffice it to say that one must see and hear this picture to assimilate the full flavor of its dramatic substance.

Gary Cooper is starred as the soldier-hero, the lanky Canadian of the "Black Watch," who is adopted as her son by a pathetic Scotch charwoman of London. He plays the part admirably, and of course looks every inch the hero that he has come to be in the eyes of movie audiences everywhere.

In sum, if your budget allows you to see but one picture this season, spend the allotment on "Seven Days Leave." If it allows you to see two pictures, go twice, to see "Seven Days Leave."

'Cameo Kirby' To Be Shown Here

The days of hoop skirts, starched multiple petticoats and Mary Ann slippers are brought back to colorful existence in "Cameo Kirby," Fox Movietone romantic musical drama, which will be seen and heard soon at the Queen theatre next Friday and Saturday.

"Cameo Kirby," from the famous play by Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson, recreates again the romantic days of 1850 along the lower Mississippi River, and is hailed as the best by far of any costume play yet produced.

J. Harold Murray and Norma Terris, the co-stars, are recent recruits from the Broadway musical stage, and have ample opportunity to display their vocal talents. A number of songs were written especially for this production by a great coterie of famous song writers, headed by Walter Donaldson and Edgar Leslie. They wrote all the music for "Whoopee," and many other Broadway shows.

Others prominent in the cast include Douglas Gilmore, Myrna Loy, Stepin Fetchit, Robert Edeson, Mimi Daumery, John Hyams, George MacFarlane and Charles Morton.

"Cameo Kirby" was directed by Irving Cummings.

All-Color Production Provokes Reviewer to Superlatives; Star Is Great Dancer, Singer, Actress

By The Herald Reviewer
You'll not wonder what's become of Sally when you see the girl who thrilled Broadway for months in the original stage production of that play at the Ritz theater for three days beginning this afternoon.

From the darkness of a Ritz box The Reviewer yesterday morning gorged himself upon the beauties of Marilyn Miller - her dancing toes (she dances every way there is to dance), her warm, laughing voice, her enticing smile.

It is almost inconceivable to an humble reviewer that so much beauty and ability could be found in one little girl. For Marilyn Miller not only is one of our generation's greatest dancers but one of the stage's finest singers and actresses - not to speak of her personal beauty and charm.

When Miss Miller was asked whom she wished for her leading man in the screen production of "Sally," she said "Alexander Gray." So he was hired for the part before the First National-Vitaphone officials had even seen him. Mr. Gray, you see, was Marilyn's leading man in the original stage production.

This would be a "four star" production without technicolor. But it is in technicolor—all of it. And what color! There are no gaudy clashes of color. In this picture the art has been brought to its most splendid plane; it is eminently beautiful.

Remember that homely fellow who thrilled you with his dancing and provoked many a laugh in "On With the Show?" That fellow named Joe E. Brown. Well, Joe is back with us in "Sally." And so is Ford Sterling.

Some idea of the thoroughness with which this picture was prepared is gained by the fact that the largest stage ever used in Hollywood—135 feet wide, 50 feet from footlights to the top of the proscenium arch and 110 feet from the curtain to the back wall—had to be built. On this huge platform 160 chorus girls, show girls and members of the Albertina Rasch ballet worked, with a Vitaphone orchestra of 110, under the direction of Leo Forgerstein, in the pit.

"Look For The Silver Lining" and "A Wild, Wild Rose," sung by Miss Miller and her cast in the original stage version of "Sally" are retained while new, snappy and up-to-date musical numbers have been provided by the First National Vitaphone staff song writers.

Not the least of the attractions in this picture, especially for the ladies, are the costumes worn by Miss Miller. She's the sort of girl who "looks good in anything" and she wears most everything; first she's a little waitress whose thoughts are more of becoming a great dancer than of providing her customers food when they want it.

Bebe Daniels Goes "Rio Rita" One Better

As all who saw and heard it know, "Rio Rita" with Bebe Daniels as the leading player, was one of the greatest pictures the industry has ever produced. Miss Daniels will appear at the Ritz Wednesday and Thursday in "Love Comes Along" with Lloyd Hughes and Ned Parks. And she is declared to be more charming than ever in this, another R. U. triumph.

Robb Seeks Pre-View Presentation At Ritz of "The Vagabond King"

Efforts are being made by J. Y. Robb, manager of the R & R Ritz theatre, to obtain for that playhouse a pre-view performance of "The Vagabond King," termed "the outstanding eye-and-ear treat of the season, which opened in Dallas Thursday."

This picture, taken from "If I Were King," by Huntly McCarthy and "The Vagabond King" by William H. Post, Brian Hooker and Rudolph Friml, stars Dennis King and Jeanette McDonald.

Miss McDonald's first screen performance, with Maurice X. Chevalier in "The Love Parade," had its West Texas premiere at the Ritz last New Year's eve.

"Onward, onward swords against the foe! Forward, forward the lily banners go!" That majestic strain lives again, this time upon the silver screen that boys and girls adore. The thundering throb of "Song of the Vagabonds" in the glorious golden voice of Dennis King, is the feature of Paramount's all-color musical romance.

Sunday School Classes Enjoy Weiner Roast

The Young Men's Sunday school class of the First Baptist church entertained the Ruth class of the same church with a weiner roast at the new wells south of town Friday night. The crowd assembled at the church and drove to the wells.

Wood was gathered and a large fire was built. Green sticks were cut for the roasting and when the weiners were hot and dripping and the marshmallows a golden brown the crowd was called to the delicious spread.

One of the most pleasing features of the entertainment was a game of answering echoes in which the ladies repaired to one hill and the gentlemen to another. The men sang and the ladies answered their echo with various songs. Returning to the campfire games were enjoyed and especially the yodeling of Billy Bass after which the crowd sang religious hymn and went home.

Those present at this delightful affair were: Mr. and Mrs. R. C.
