Red Cross Project Needs Volunteers

Annual plans for making and filling Red Cross ditty bags to be sent to our fighting men in Vietnam, are underway, according to Mrs. R. B. Hutson, and volunteers are desperately needed to make the bags.

Deadline for filling the bags has been moved up one month over previous years, it was pointed out, and this is the reason an urgent need for volunteers has been issued. Persons wishing to volunteer in helping to make the ditty bags are asked to call the Red Cross office at 364-3761 or Mrs. Hutson at 289-5326.

Baynham, Maisel To Speak Here

Craig Baynham, running back for the Dallas Cowboys, and John Maisel, a standout for Oklahoma State University a few years back, will be presented by the Baptist men of the First Baptist Church in a program Saturday, June 21 at the high school cafeteria.

Directed at the young men of the community and surrounding area, the program is scheduled to begin at 5 p. m. with an ice cream supper and conclude about 7:30 p. m. No admission will be charged.

Maisel, who received his degree at OSU in 1963, majoring in general business and minor in marketing and philosophy, is active in the Campus Crusade for Christ, Christian Business Mens Association and the Dallas Cancer Society. He and Baynham have worked with five Christians with Financial Service Corporations.

Baynham, also active in the Campus Crusade for Christ, was an active participant in the program during his college days at Georgia Tech.

Lockout Deadline At Holly

The Grain Millers local union membership has reportedly received a lockout deadline, set at 1 p. m. today, by the Holly Sugar Corporation of Colorado Springs involving its Hereford plant.

At presstime Wednesday, Joe D. Bowers, president of the Hereford local, was said to be in Denver discussing the matter with other union officials and was unavailable for additional information. However, an unofficial spokesman for the union said that Holly Sugar and the local cannot agree on new contract terms.

Their old contract reportedly expired in May and they have been working without a contract since that time. "It is not a disagreement over wages, but it has to do with seniority and the reduction of wages on some of the employees," the spokesman said.

If agreement cannot be reached by mid-Thursday, the spokesman said, the membership has been told that the Holly plant here will lock their doors against them.

Holly officials could not be reached for comment.

The local Red Cross chapter will furnish the material for the making of the ditty bags and their obligation this year is for 250 — the same number as was last year.

Mrs. Genevieve Miller, executive secretary of Red Cross, stated, that during the past four years, "volunteers have responded magnificently and we hope that they will do so again this year."

The deadline move-up was done so because of the difficulty in shipping and delivering of the ditty bags last year. The deadline, which has been set for September 15 for finishing and September 30 for mailing, will see to it that all specified packaging requirements are met.

Articles which may be included in the ditty bags are: pen-sized flashlights with batteries, plastic tooth brush holder, terry cloth wash cloths (other than white or red), plastic cigarette cases, comb, mailing size voice tapes (reels of three inch tapes by 150 feet in length) small tins of nuts or nonmelting candies (vacuum packed), wipe and shine packet of black shoe polish, pocket games such as cards, chess, pinochle, etc. (these must be small enough to put in pocket or small plastic bag), and wash and dries such as pre-moistened towelettes.

Also, adhesive bandages, (approximately one inch by three inches), C batteries (long life) for transistor radio, white cotton socks, metal mirrors, small packets of detergent or soap powder, bars of unscented hand soap, and items with advertising such as ball point pens, address books or cigarette cases are permissible to send.

Items, in addition to five of the other items, ditty bags need to be filled with include: a tin of candy, soap (a detergent, wash and dries or unscented soap) and white soap.

YES Jobs Needed

Forty-seven additional high school and college-aged students have signed here for the YES (Youth Employment Service) program this week, but there is still a lack of part-time jobs available for them to cover, according to Texas Employment Commission manager Lester Rape.

Rape reported that he has now centered his appeal to local housewives and businessmen to provide the necessary employment opportunities for these students.

Those who have such jobs that can be filled by the young people are asked to call the TEC office at 364-2776.

County Commissioners Set Tax Increase Meet Monday

After a study of the proposed tax increase following passage of the $500,000 hospital bond issue last month, Deaf Smith County Commissioners-Court decided to postpone the matter until Monday at 10 a. m. when Bob L. Davis of Columbia Securities Corp., Amarillo, could appear with them.

Davis, who acted as their advisor when the recent hospital bond election was called, reported at that time that the increase upon passage would be approximately 7 per cent.

Former County Judge Homer Henslee, who is figuring the 1969 county budget, was present with the commissioners Monday along with County Tax Consultant Vance Crume. Crume said that he will have the coming year's estimate prepared for Davis for the special meeting.

County tax board of equalization will meet at 10 a. m. June 26-27. These dates coincide with the city and school registration boards. They will meet together in County Commissioners Court.

In other court business during regular session Monday, the commissioner's reaffirmed the court's previous ruling that all dancing is prohibited in the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn on Sundays.

Holy Name Society of St. Joseph's Mission officers Ernesto Tijerina, president, Frank Torres, vice president, and Johnny Velasquez, secretary, appeared before the commissioners requesting use of the Bull Barn for their annual Mexican Fiesta on Sept. 14, 15 and 16. They explained that all proceeds collected are directed toward the benefit of their church, and that a dance is traditional for all three nights. However, Sept. 14 is a Sunday date and by acquiring outside Bull Barn property for this night necessitates a rental fee which must be subtracted from the total.

Commissioners explained that they must adhere to their previous ruling (pointing out that the Holy Name Society and the Riders Club are the only two organizations which have been permitted in the past to use the Bull Barn for dances on a city were told that these two dates could be booked (provided there is no prior conflict) for entertainment of another nature, if they desired.

Traditionally, commissioners agreed to their past policy of permitting the society to dance at the Bull Barn for two nights in September.

Three bids were received for a V-8 pickup truck trade-in for Precinct 4 by the commissioners. Low bid was accepted from the International dealer for $2,088 difference between a 1961 Ford half-ton pickup. The International is also a half-ton weight.

Other bids were Chevrolet, $2,106, and Ford, $2,115.

Justice of the Peace Court's report showed $5,910 in fines had been collected during the month of May, with fees of $234, sheriff's department $234, bringing the total to $6,378 for the county. A game warden's fine of $40 was also collected with $24.64 going to the state.

Jerry Don George Is New Principal At High School

By EARL MOSELEY
Staff Writer

Jerry Don George, who was originally slated to become administrative assistant in the local system, was approved as the new principal to replace G. W. Michael at Hereford High School by the Hereford Independent School District Board of Trustees at their regular meeting Tuesday night.

It was announced as a return to HHS for George, who started there as teacher and coach in 1958. He was transferred with the same status to Stanton Junior High where he later became assistant principal. Promoted to full principal with the opening of La Plata Junior High, he remained there until the end of the previous semester.

Having been appointed administrative assistant during the spring, George will cover this assignment from July 1 through August 1.

Michael, who had been HHS principal since mid-term 1964, will remain here throughout the current summer school program. He will then leave for Belton, where he has accepted a position as elementary school principal beginning in September.

Michael's wife Melba also resigned as sixth grade teacher at Bluebonnet Elementary School.

Other teachers whose resignations were accepted by the trustees at the Tuesday meeting were Olga Montgomery, Sheri Kerr, Tom Millegan, Mary Lou Smith, Billie Penn, Opal Jones; Donna Johnson, Wesley Washam, Mary Ann Payne, Carolyn DeLozier, Marian Davis, Albert W. Cupell, and Waymona Farmer.

However, trustees elected more teachers in number than those who had resigned. Listed were Estelle Pesina, Karen Kilgore, Ray E. Murphy, Rose Mary Ramaekers, Philip Barefield, Pruda Kay Sanders, Deanna French, Janis Bell, Terrell A. Bell, Keith Taylor, Karen Bagley, Tom Bowling, Rodney Gordon, Deborah McGuire, Johnnie Matthews, Kaye Matthews, Carolyn Kerbel, Mary Jo Hammon, and Patricia Montgomery.

Re-elected was Waymona Farmer. In other business which included official passage of the resolution honoring the late Lucille Park, a sixth grade teacher at Shirley Elementary School who died in May, superintendent Johnny Clark Jr. revealed that the addition of a Homemaking unit has been approved by the Texas Education Agency, now making a total of four such units here on a 10-month basis and one on a 12-month basis.

Previously, there were two units in the high school and one each at the two junior highs. The new one will go into the high school with the possibility that certain hours will be conducted for junior high students, depending upon enrollment number.

Report on the vocational technical administrative unit requested here is now being held in obedience by the TEA until the funds are available, according to Clark.

Clark also reported that the elementary school summer program had begun with 163 students Monday and had increased to 226 on Tuesday. He predicted that this program will continue to grow, on the basis that it has approximately 400 pre-enrolled.

SOCIAL STUDIES PILOTS

Reports were received from two teachers regarding their opinions of two pilot social studies programs which they have taught here during the past year.

Flo Dickinson of Stanton Junior High reported "in support of the Feston Inquiry System," saying that "in a recent issue of our school paper and also in some of the leading papers of the country, there was an article, well researched, which said that Columbus was not an Italian but was a Basque pirate. This illustrates a concept, accepted by the historian, that there are few unqualified facts in history."

Miss Dickinson continued, "Anyone reading much history knows that the values of the author will determine his conclusions. The Inquiry method helps to develop the student's ability to form these values and use them in expressing opinion. Facts are secondary.

"In Comparative Political Systems, the student learns how to evaluate the political system of any country by using specific concepts. These tools are more valuable to him than trying to memorize facts concerning the political systems of every country.

"Students do not remember facts. When the chief aim of social studies is to cram the student's head with facts, we are wasting time. When the chief aim is to give him tools to work with in forming opinions and evaluating data, we are giving him something useful, not only in social sciences but also in other areas of study.

"The inquiry method also teaches discrimination. The student soon learns to spot errors in judgment and opinionated statements unsupported by facts. They learn that some declarations of facts are nothing more than someone's ideas based on his frame of reference and is a fact only to him. They become less gullible and more discriminating in accepting ideas of others. They learn to give supporting hypotheses to back up their ideas.

"In short, they learn to think."

Billie Buck of Hereford High School reported on the Holl Social Studies Curriculum. "Since the history of Europe was passed.

George . . .

(Continued from Page 1) alone spans 24 centuries, it is impossible to study everything that happened to shape western society. Yet, this is what teachers of World History have been trying unsuccessfully to do for so long.

Mrs. Buck said, "In the Holt Social Studies Curriculum the most important elements in western history are covered. The course starts with a study of the development of the idea of equality in ancient Greece. It includes a study of change over a period of time in four areas of Western society — the economic system, politics, the social organization, and patterns of thought. The second semester is an examination of four countries — South Africa, China, India, and Brazil — analyzing in each case the traditional society, the impact of Western ideas and institutions, and one major contemporary problem, such as economic growth.

"Instead of 20 or 30 chapters written by one or two authors, our book has 67 readings. Each of these readings contains at least one piece of source material taken from a newspaper, magazine, book, government document, or other publication. Film strips, recordings, transparencies, handouts, and a set of picture cards have been provided for use with the chapters. These aids have been chosen with great care, so that students will not merely memorize facts and generalizations but will identify problems, develop hypotheses, and draw their own conclusions from factual evidence.

County . . .

(Continued from Page 1) The month of May also indicated that the county had 6 fires while the city numbered seven. Of these fires, five of them were concerned with automobiles — 4 within the city.

C. V. York of the Texas Highway Department called on the commissioners concerning future farm road construction in Precinct 1. Mrs. Henry Sears and Mrs. Juston McBride were also visitors — concerning drainage improvements at the Deaf Smith County Museum, already approved by the commissioners — prior to further discussion with City Manager Dudley Bayne before actual work begins.

Throughout this course, the student is challenged to think for himself and make decisions about the great events in history. In teaching the course this year I have found that students develop more interest in history 'outside' the classroom. This course has made them want to know more and research more on their own. I find very few important facts, dates or people missing from this course that are included in the traditional. The best possible way for me to evaluate this course would be, "Would I want this for my own children?" The answer is "Yes, definitely!"

Mrs. Buck continued, "Students need a body of knowledge, which will help them to live a better life in an affluent democratic society. This curriculum teaches students to walk through a museum intelligently, to look at a play with more than the outcome of the plot in mind, and to become well enough acquainted with key historical figures so that they can read history or fiction with a genuine understanding. What more could a teacher or parent desire from a history course?"

(Miss Dickinson and Mrs. Buck both appeared with other teachers early in the past semester for a report on their individual series. However, they reported that at that time they had not had sufficient time in teaching these methods to make a full report.)

TAX REPORT

School tax assessor-collector Orpha Click reported that collections "were very good this month" with $5.7 of the taxes collected. He also reported that the increase on the tax evaluations will also increase this year about $3 million, and another $3 million next year, over the previous budget estimate.

Click also reported that almost 100 per cent of the feedlot cattle is now on the tax rolls "and this has worked out real well" considering earlier problems concerning some misunderstandings over the state tax laws on this subject. He estimated that there are only a few less than 150,000 head in the lots now with an additional slightly-less-than 100,000 in pasture.

Certain lunchroom equipment has been approved for the schools by the state.

Much discussion, however, was centered upon the current legislation regarding the state public schools, including the teacher pay raise. Opinion is that there is still "a big question" whether Gov. Smith will or will not sign some of them into law.

Tax board of equalization for the schools has been set as June 26-27, on the same date as the county and city equalization boards.

Clark reported that the building program on the new elementary school and football stadium improvements is "on schedule."

A letter was received from Ross Bridewell, chairman of the North Texas National French contest, stating that "it is with a huge amount of personal pleasure that I commend to you the efforts of Mrs. Helen Rose, whose student, Sharon Reidhimer, was rated first in the Level 1-A competition of the 1969 National French contest."

The North Texas area includes all Texas schools with the exception of those located in metropolitan Houston.

Former Job Corps Student Returns

Otilia Cantu of Hereford, who has been a member of the Job Corps for the past six months at Moses Lake, Washington, has returned to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Cantu of 247 Catalpa, for the summer.

The Job Corps Center at Moses Lake is one of those which is being closed, Miss Cantu said. However, she will return to Pullman, Wash., in a new government program under the initials HEP.

Moses Lake is in central Washington. Her new location is near the Idaho stateline, in the southern part of the state.

Miss Cantu, who is 18 years old, voiced her objections to the closing of some of the Job Corps centers. "It is really taking away most of the opportunities for the boys and girls," she said.

Her clerk-typist course was almost completed when the closing came, she said. But she is to enter business school at Pullman.

At the Hereford office of the Texas Employment Commission where Miss Cantu originally signed up for the program, she reported that her birthplace is Mexico. "I was supposed to have become an U. S. citizen last week at Moses Lake," she said. "I will still become an U. S. citizen but now it will be in September."

She moved with her family to Bronte when she was five years old and came to Hereford in 1960. She has four brothers and two sisters.

Ted Swindle of TEC reported that she is another of the "real credits" for the government educational programs.

Miss Cantu said, "I believe the Job Corps has been better than public school for me — because I was getting somewhere."

Swindle believed that she will continue to progress later under HEP.

Recent Changes In Loan Program

Changes recently announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in the loan program for farm storage and drying equipment "tighten up" some of the provisions, "but farmers can still get loans," according to Frank J. Bezner, Chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee.

"The eligible farmer who wants on-farm storage or drying capacity equal to one year's production may apply for a loan at his county ASCS office at any time," said Mr. Bezner. "In general, a producer is eligible for a farm storage facility loan if he is eligible for price support on his grains or similar commodities."

The changes in the program were designed to limit Government expenditures as part of the national battle against inflation, according to the ASC Chairman. The program, which is administered by ASCS, uses Commodity Credit Corporation funds to help finance on-farm grain storage bins and dryers. Recent changes include:

(1) Reduction of the maximum amount for loans on dryers from 85 percent to 65 percent of net cost or $2500.00, whichever is less; (2) restriction of loans to conventional type storage structures and elimination of loans on oxygen-free and silo-type structures (3) no loans on foundations, electrical wiring and conditioning, handling and operating equipment; (4) elimination of loans for remodeling; (5) provision that storage needs be based on a farm's production for one year of eligible commodities; and (6) increase of the interest rate on loans from 34 cents to 50 cents for each $100 or fraction thereof for each calendar month, or from about 4 percent to about 6 percent a year. In view of the increase in interest rates, the service fee of $5.00 per storage facility loan has been eliminated.

ASC Chairman Bezner urged farmers who are considering installing or adding to on-farm storage to check with their county ASCS office for full details

Local Woman Visits Arizona

Mrs. Gladys Miller recently returned from a trip with her son Hershel Miller Jr. of Greeley, Colorado. Their first stop was at Tucumcari where they visited with friends. Upon leaving there they went on to Scottsdale, Arizona where Robert Miller, formerly of Hereford, now lives. While in Scottsdale they also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Grady Rogers, close friends and also former residents of Hereford.

Side trips took them to Show Low, Sedona, Phoenix, and other points in Arizona. Mrs. Miller and her grandson Jody Miller traveled on to Odesa to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jed Miller for a week. They returned last Sunday.

Robinson At Kansas City

Richard Robinson of Hereford is attending the annual Agricultural Leaders Conference at Farmland Industries School, Kansas City, Missouri.
 He is sponsored by Hereford Grain Corp.
 The conference has been organized by Farmland Industries, a wholesale cooperative which serves more than 2000 local cooperatives in the Midwest.
 During the week of July 7-11, Robinson and some 70 other agriculture instructors and extension agents will meet with agricultural specialists surveying the latest developments in agribusiness. The program also includes extensive tours of farmer-owned industrial facilities in the Kansas City area. The group will also have a chance to compare notes with other agricultural leaders who have similar jobs.
 Local cooperatives sponsor delegates to the conference to help further agricultural training in the community. This also gives cooperatives a chance to recognize outstanding work of local leaders in the field of agribusiness.
 Specialized presentations during the conference will include economics, grain handling and merchandising, agricultural equipment, fertilizers and equipment, petroleum products, animal health and nutrition, agricultural research and many other fields related to agriculture.
 The five-day conference will include participants from 14 Midwestern states.
 Saudi Arabia is larger than Alaska, with 617,760 square miles.

 The Easter Lions Club now boasts a membership of 65.

Knox Is Winner Of Trophy Shoot

Marion Knox captured the Hereford Gun Club trophy shoot held last Sunday, hitting 40 out of a possible 50 targets.
 Jack Ambold finished second with 39 of 50 and Jim Cramer, former holder of the trophy, and James Higgins tied for third place with 38 of 50. Higgins was the winner of the Crazy Quail Trophy as he hit six of 10 in a six-way shoot-off.
 David Henslee was the winner of the Teenage Trophy shoot, hitting 15 of 20 targets.
 The Quail Walk trophy will go up for grabs Sunday as Joe Lyons will defend his title. Time for the match will be 1 p. m. at the range east of the airport.

Buffalo Lake Is Stocked Tuesday

Paul Ferguson, refuge manager at Buffalo Lake, announced Tuesday that the lake had been restocked with 30,000 channel catfish fingerlings, four to six inches in length.
 These fish, from the federal fish hatchery at Santa Rosa, N. M., were added to the 1,100 channel cat and 2,400 crappie that were put in the lake May 16. Ferguson reported, the channel cat and crappie were placed in the lake by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department under the direction of a fishery biologist from the state department.
 The restocking of the lake followed the disposal of all fish in a recent kill.

Buffalo Lake is now being restocked with fish. According to Paul Ferguson, refuge manager at Buffalo, 30,000 channel catfish fingerlings, four to six inches in length have been placed in the lake this week. These fish, from the federal fish hatchery at Santa Rosa, N. M., were added to the 1,100 channel cat and 2,000 crappie that were put in the lake May 16. The channel cat and crappie were placed in the lake by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department under the direction of a fishery biologist from the state department.

So... there may be fishing again in Buffalo Lake before too many moons pass.

And speaking of fish, and particularly catfish, we were interested in a recent release from the Texas Wildlife Department's San Marcos fish hatchery. It concerns the male catfish, and the usurping of some of the big fellows family duties. And a shame it is.

Anyway, the male catfish will no longer have to "egg sit". The whole process has been automated. Until now it has been the practice of male catfish to herd the female toward the nest, fertilize the eggs and then chase the female from the area since females are notoriously cannibalistic toward their offspring.

The male would then tend the eggs during the seven-day incubation period, fanning the nest with his tail to keep the water agitated and the silt off the eggs. State hatchery personnel have recently begun using a machine which will do this better than the catfish, since male catfish have been known to shuck the whole thing and leave the eggs unattended.

Now, almost immediately after the eggs are laid and fertilized, according to the wildlife department, the male is driven from the nest and the eggs are removed. They are then placed in baskets which are in turn placed in a long trough where water is agitated by fans driven by an electric motor. Harmon Henderson, hatchery superintendent for the state wildlife department, says survival rate in the hatching through has been tremendous. The first hatch of eggs from a single channel catfish numbered approximately 30,000, all of them quite active.

And if American working trends continue we feel that this is going to be a boon to the fishing sport. With more leisure time for workmen throughout the nation, the fish population is going to have to be increased through this artificial method of "nesting" or else the poor male catfish must go on an overtime schedule. Fishermen are crowding the streams and lakes throughout the country at a rate not dreamed of a few years ago.

In fact, all phases of recreational activities are beginning to feel the effects of the 30 to 40 hour work week and the affluence of the American populace. Not only are more and more people seeking the lakes and streams for a few hours of recreation, but golf courses are becoming so crowded that many municipal courses in the larger cities have "starters" on the tee-box so that you don't get out of turn. If you're alone, they'll find others for you to play with so that only foursomes and fivesomes are playing the course on busy days. Flying is another sport that is catching on fast. Boating, hunting... almost everything... people have just more time to play and they have more money to spend for these activities.

Actually, it's great to have as much leisure time as we do in this nation to spend swimming, boating, hunting, golfing, etc. But there is a price to pay and we might as well be prepared for it. Lakes and streams are becoming overcrowded and pollution is becoming a problem. If we're going to continue enjoying these fine sports, and particularly the water sports, we need to continue our efforts to see that our fresh water streams and lakes remain pure and continue our efforts to bring additional fresh water into the area.

LET'S COOK SOMETHING

Viennese Sacher Torte

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
THE FAMOUS chocolate dessert, Sacher Torte, comes from Vienna. Haute-cuisine cooks often argue about how it should be made. Even in its native city, it is likely to be concocted in different ways.

In one version the torte is made entirely with flour. In another, ground almonds are substituted for some of the flour. Here then is the almond version, and mighty good it is. This is a rich dessert with robust chocolate flavor so small portions are in order.

If you sometimes ask friends to come for "coffee and dessert" about 8 o'clock in the evening, the Sacher Torte would be a fine offering on such an occasion.

SACHER TORTE

- Two-thirds butter
- 1 1/4 cups sugar
- 6 eggs, separated
- 4 squares (4 ounces) unsweetened chocolate, melted
- 1/2 cup finely grated blanched almonds
- 1 cup sifted flour
- 1 cup (about) apricot preserves
- One-third cup light corn syrup
- 3 ounces (3 squares) semi-sweet chocolate
- 2 teaspoons hot water
- Chopped pistachio nuts
- Using solid white shortening, grease bottom and sides of a 9-inch springform pan; sprinkle with flour; shake pan back and forth to coat with flour; shake out excess flour.
- In a large mixing bowl, cream butter with 1 cup of the sugar. In a small bowl, beat egg yolks until thick and lemon color; beat into butter-sugar mixture. Stir in melted unsweetened chocolate and grated almonds. Fold in flour. In a medium mixing bowl, with clean beater, beat egg whites until frothy; gradually beat in remaining 1/4 cup sugar, beating until soft peaks form when beater is slowly withdrawn. Fold into chocolate mixture. Turn into prepared pan. Bake in preheated 300-degree oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — 50 to 60 minutes. Cool thoroughly — overnight if you like — in pan. Cut into 2 layers. (Leave the bottom of the pan on the bottom layer.) Spread about 1/2 cup apricot preserves on top of bottom layer; stack second layer on top. Spread remaining preserves over top and sides. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

SACHER TORTE — A rich concoction that features chocolate-almond cake, apricot preserves, chocolate glaze and pistachio nuts.

Thinking Aloud

By BARBARA SWIMMER

This is a brand new town and a spankin' new job for me and I am enjoying both just 'bout as much as anyone could . . . enjoy . . . a brand new town and spankin' new job.

I have been in the news department with the Brand for about five months, covering everything from "hit and run accidents" to "Uncle George's visit with cousin Bertha's grandmother," and this new beginning in the society department is very refreshing.

I came here with my family from a wee town up north, lovingly called Sunray, (by someone) where I was the editor for the Sunray News. I wrote the whole kit an' kaboodle there . . . you should have read some of my sports stories . . . They were great . . . I also had a column with the ole familiar title, Thinking Aloud. I kept myself in hot water most of the time, (and my publisher too, I might add) because I thought aloud too much, but I sure had a ball. I was very proud of my little weekly paper there, and I was sorely saddened to read its obituary a couple of months ago.

Two Hereford FFA Members In Workshop

Steve Jones and Bently Coleman, Hereford High School Future Farmers of American members, will attend the seventh annual Farm Electrification Workshop at the Episcopal Church Conference Center, north of Amarillo, Monday through Wednesday.

One-hundred FFA members from the High Plains area are expected to attend the workshop sponsored by Southwestern Public Service Company. Thirteen hours of training in one of four subjects, farm wiring, electrical controls, motors and heating-lighting, will be offered to the participants.

The five top students at the workshop, two in wiring and one from each of the other subjects, will be awarded trips to the national FFA Convention for their accomplishments. Two alternates will also be selected in each section, in the event that the winner is unable to attend the convention.

Each participant who successfully completes the course for which he is enrolled will be given an FFA Farm and Home Electrification Medal.

(I kept telling everyone I was indispensable . . .)

Most of my columns, you will soon find out, are devoted to boys . . . little boys, middle sized boys and big boys, mainly because I have been so blessed with them. I have them running out of the woodwork at my house and we never have a dull moment. . . That is the understatement of the year . . . but we have all the fun.

Beginning as society editor last week, I was trying to make a good impression on the people of this fair city and I promised several people I would take pictures of various and sundry events. I guess my impression wasn't very lasting because I didn't make it. As per usual, Van son was acting like the monkey he is, and fell from a tree, breaking his left wing. We ended up in the Amarillo hospital with him before the weekend was over, but he is patched up now and back home recuperating. He's doing great, but it sure played havoc with his batting average.

An unknown author presents some searching thoughts concerning the boy of today who receives perhaps too much criticism and not enough patience and understanding from his elders. This boy is the future for us. Without him, good or bad, all would be added. Says the author about this youth:

"He is the person who is going to carry on what you have started."

"He is to sit right where you are sitting and attend, when you are gone, to those things you think are so important."

"You may adopt all of the policies you please, but how they will be carried out depends upon him."

"Even if you make leagues and treaties, he will have to manage them."

"He is going to sit at your place in the Senate and occupy your place on the Supreme Bench."

"He will assume control of your cities, states and nation."

"He is going to move in and take over prisons, churches, schools, universities and corporations."

"All your work is going to be judged and praised or condemned by him."

"Your reputation and your future are in his hands."

"All your work is for him, and the fate of the nation and of humanity is in his hands."

Thought I'd pass on a newy tidbit to you. All you busy mothers who haven't the time to make Dad a Father's Day cake, just run down to the Mall on Saturday and pick up one made and decorated by the Sweet and Fancy Decorating Club. They are holding a bake sale all day Saturday. I think I'll just do that . . .

Ed Coulson of Higgins says Congressional liberality brings to mind this ancient Chinese proverb: "There is plenty in the world to fulfill every man's need — but not enough to fulfill every man's greed."

Glady's Garden

By Gladys Howton Manjeot

GLAD'S GARDEN FRIENDS

FRIENDS
It is always most satisfying to have friends, and to make new friends. The gardener has many friends, and some of these are insects. Much has been written relative to enemies of the gardener, now let's learn something about our garden friends.

FIRST
Earthworms are perhaps some of our nicest garden friends. Many years ago I corresponded with many people in other parts of the USA. In the correspondence, I noted that on some of the stationary there were some facts about worm farms.

Livestock Team Sixth, At State

Rodney Brooks, Steve Olson, Tommy Bezner and Bill Cole, representing Hereford at the State 4-H Livestock Judging competition recently, took sixth place in competition against 23 other teams.

The team, competing against the 23 other teams from the 12 extension districts across the state, garnered a total of 1553 points out of a possible 1800. Olson was the high individual for the team getting 11th the contest.

The group was at College Station for two days before visiting Six Flags on their return trip.

Lura McCollum Dies Saturday

Mrs. Lura McCollum, who had made her home at 407 Lee with her sister, Mrs. Glenn Boardman, for the past year, passed away Saturday afternoon while visiting her daughter in Farmington, N.M. Burial was at Amarillo.

Mrs. McCollum, who was 66 years old, formerly lived at Amarillo. She was employed 16 years at Northwest Texas Hospital there and taught Sunday School classes for 21 years.

Announcements Are In

Graduating seniors who had their announcements laminated may pick them up at the high school office, it was reported.

The high school office is open each day until 4 p.m. and graduates are asked to pick their announcements up as soon as possible.

Many make lucrative incomes from this occupation, which is the raising of earthworms. One of the chief functions of the earthworm is that it creates the soil, improving the quality. When soil is properly aerated, it is much more friable. When this condition exists, it produces more. When digging or spading in the garden, if earthworms are found, be glad. Don't use them for fish bait but leave them to improve the soil.

SECOND:
Bees—both the honey bee and the wild bee. These render a vital service as plant pollinators. This is very important, because without pollination there will not be a yield.

In recent years, many farmers here have used bees for this purpose. My husband Art and I noticed several hives in a farm nearby the other day. Not only are bees good for plants, but the honey which they store is very edible.

There is an interesting bee farm on U S 66, going towards Oklahoma City, and it is worth while to take time to go by and make a tour of the farm. Locally a number of people have bees. Art has had many hives, in years past. Much pleasure and good was realized from them.

It is good to share the honey with friends, some was sold, and many used it for medicinal purposes. It is especially good for people who have allergies, or hay-fever. Since the honey is gathered from local growths then it tends to counteract the cause of allergies. One of his friends used the bees to sting him. He had arthritis very badly and would come over and sit on the hives and let the bees sting him for several minutes. This did relieve the pain, but I often wondered which was worse—the disease or the cure?

THIRD:
The praying mantis is a gardener's friend. It is a formidable looking creature, and when one first sees the mantis, the first reaction is to get rid of it, but Don't!

The praying mantis has a big appetite for Japanese beetles. They also feed on other harmful insects. They are difficult to see because they look like a twig themselves, as they are leggy, and are bright green in color and are usually about four inches in length. Their body structure is very light and airy, therefore to me they are interesting.

We do not have many of them in our gardens. The last few months I have observed several and am hopeful that they will multiply.

To one who is not a keen observer the praying mantis will not be noticed. Keep your eyes open and your observation keen.

FOURTH:
Lady beetles (to some lady bugs) consume impressive numbers of scale insects and mealy bugs. An adult lady beetle may account for close to 100 aphids per day in warm weather. These too are grown commercially and are sent to many parts of the country to help control aphids. Any time that you see them on your plants do not kill them. They are very easy to see as they have an attractive color, which is golden brown a bit orange, and tiny yellow spots on the back. They have the happy habit of appearing when the garden enemies appear.

In gathering cut flowers or vegetables these small garden friends will cling to the foliage or blossoms and will be brought into the house. Do not kill them, but instead take them back into the yard or place them on some of your house plants. I have had them to live on the house plants for some time.

FIFTH:

Classes Show Increase

Three additional applicants have signed for the auto mechanics course here since the announcement that the starting dates have changed, making a total of six, according to Texas Employment Commission manager Lester Rape.

But there are still no applicants registered to date for the farm equipment mechanics classes.

Auto mechanics is now schedules to start on July 7. Farm equipment mechanics is to begin one week later on July 14.

Both classes are to have 15 enrollees.

Although the dates have changed, Rape said that the qualifications for applicants have not. The applicant must be 18 years of age or older with at least an eighth grade education. In some cases, a training allowance is granted to the student. There is no charge for the courses.

Applicants have been urged to contact the TEC office here at Seventh and 25 Mile Ave

Dragon flies are more often seen flying over ponds or lakes. These are our patrolling friends. They eat insects which bite or sting while we try to fish or enjoy boating. They resemble bi-planes, and when the sunshine lightens their airy wings, they are colorful and interesting.

SIXTH:
Tachinid flies, which resemble giant houseflies, lay their eggs on other insects which causes them to die. Some of their species have proven most effective against the destructive gypsy moth and other sucking insects.

In spraying or dusting for insects, use care to hold off if you find many of the garden friends.

BIRDS are listed high on the list of our garden friends. They eat many insects. Recently, much attention has been given to the martins. Houses have been made and sold to attract them. The purpose for wanting them is that they eat great numbers of mosquitoes. Hope that in time they will stop in our locale.

Other birds eat insects. They aid in pollination of plants and they bring music to our gardens. One of our cherished bird friends is the mockingbird which comes each year and nests in our neighbor's tree. His songs, whether in the morning or at eventide or a moonlight serenade, is always enjoyed. Many nights he awakens me singing from his lofty height (the electric light pole), and I walk in the garden and we exchange whistles and chat at each other.

THIS AND THAT

The floribunda red roses and other plants are very pretty at The Seven Day Adventist Church on Park Avenue. Don't fail to see those blooming on the south side. Drive down Centre and get the full effect.

The pretty climbing Missouri wild rose, at the W. C. Hromas home on Sunset St., is a lovely sight. This came from the original rose which was planted by Mrs. John P. Blaton, and Mrs. Hromas has layered several plants for friends. It was Mrs. Slaton wish that the Missouri Wild climber be grown continually in Hereford. The clusters are large, the color (two tone) is very pretty, foliage rich and luxuriant. The Culpeppers, who bought the Slaton home, are enjoying the beauty of the Missouri wild rose (climber).

Have noted in many of the yards that there seems to be something wrong with many of the evergreens. Look yours over and see if they have a yellowish brown cast.

Red spiders and spruce mites make a fine web underneath the leaves or between the needles, and their sucking turns foliage or needles yellow or rusty brown. Examine closely and then start spraying.

Malathion and chlorobenzilate are recommended. Spray at least three times, in succession. Then follow up by spraying at least once a week until the color is returning. Between sprayings, in late evening take the water hose and attach the strongest spray you have and wash and spray hard and thoroughly, cleaning all effected parts. This will in time kill the red spiders.

If the plant or shrub has been damaged, trim off the effected parts before you start the spraying. It is also advised to feed to restore some of the strength to the plant.

Enjoyed working with cut roses last week. Make a number of arrangements. One of the choice roses was Duet. It is a good keeper, and color is very pretty. Mrs. Dull, my neighbor, shared with me. Also made a number of corsages for a friend and found that Pink Rosette worked up beautifully.

Dorothy Noland shared her Pink Rosettes with me. . . they too make very attractive arrangements. Oh! the joy one can have with gardening. . . and sharing. GLAD

"Mini-bikes" Are Violation Of Law

Local law enforcement agencies have issued a statement to the public, reminding them that the driving of "mini-bikes" on public streets or highways is in violation of state law.

State law provides that any motor drawn vehicle, which is driven on public streets or highways, must be registered and inspected, and due to the lack of safety features on the "mini-bikes," they do not meet the specified requirements. The law agencies explain that in order for the bikes to meet standard requirements, they must be equipped with all safety features a car or other vehicle must have to pass state inspection.

The bikes, due to the lack of several safety features, can only be ridden on private property, it was pointed out, and violation of this law can carry penalties of up to $200 on each count of no driver's license, no license tags or no safety sticker. It was also stated that each person driving the "mini-bikes" must have a valid state driver's license and that if that person has had as many as three tickets for no driver's license since August, 1968, and they are caught in violation of this law, the third ticket can carry a penalty of up to $500 or six months in jail, or both.

Owners of the bikes are reminded that the use of the "mini-bikes" on public streets or highways is unlawful and they should see to it that they are driven only on private property.

Letter To The Editor

Dear editor:
An open letter to the chamber of commerce:

The undersigned respectfully requests the answer to the following question and the official comment of the manager, the Honorable Bill Thompson.

Are the prices of clothing, footwear, and food in Hereford below, equal, or higher than in Amarillo or Lubbock? Our home-town is visited regularly by customers from Amarillo as well as Clovis and occasionally from the Lubbock area. Yet a portion of Hereford people do their trading in Amarillo, perhaps for the pleasure of getting out of town, visiting friends or relatives. However, we would appreciate knowing how the public thinks of Hereford as a trading center for an area extending 100 miles radius?
