

Harrelsons, Mrs. Chagra found guilty

By MACK SISK

SAN ANTONIO, Texas
(AP) — A federal court jury convicted Charles V. Harrelson today of killing U.S.

District Judge John H. Wood Jr. here in 1979 for a $250,000 fee.
The jury also convicted Harrelson's wife, Jo Ann Starr Harrelson, of conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Jurors convicted Elizabeth Chagra, wife of the man who the government contended hired Harrelson, of conspiracy to murder a federal obstruct justice. None of the three defendants showed any emotion when the verdicts were read but several of the nine women jurors sobbed as they looked at the defendants. Harrelson turned to reporters as they were getting ready to take him away and said, "This is just a necessary step in the progression of things." Mrs. Chagra held her head up and even smiled at the jurors as the verdicts were read.

Charles Campion, representing Mrs. Harrelson, had red eyes when leaving the court room and said, "I wish we could have had a severance and separate trial for Jo Ann."

if they agreed with each of the six guilty verdicts. One juror, Patricia Schultz-Ormond, was trembling and weeping when she responded. Harrelson faces a mandatory life sentence for murder, up to life for the conspiracy to murder conviction, and up to five years for the conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Presiding Judge William S. Sessions set sentencing for 9 a.m. March 8 and informed each defendant he or she would have an opportunity to speak before final sentencing. Defense lawyers requested the jurors be polled and Sessions called each juror's name and each one stood and answered "yes" when asked

School board sets dental survey

By JERI CURTIS

Hereford seventh and eighth graders will be asked in February to participate in a dental survey studying the role of trace lithium in drinking water. The Hereford Schools board of trustees gave a second approval to the project in a meeting Monday night.

The first approval was made two years ago, however the Eastman Dental Center in, Rochester, N.Y., did not receive funds for the survey.

Examinations will be made with mirror and explorer by Dr. David Richardson of the dental school at the University of Texas-San Antonio. No treatment would be advised or given and the exams will take about a minute each. Individual consent forms will be issued.

Diane Rowton, Ann Warwick and Kenneth Helms gave the monthly curriculum report with demonstration on the use of two micro-computers. Mrs. Rowton uses them in her fundamental math classes for drills and practice and noted that their use is an important confidence builder to the students. Ms. Warwick teaches data processing and programming in the business department. She said the students are learning much more with hands on practice than with only a textbook. Helms said the ag department and working students are helped by having computers in school, because they are being used at work, also. John Walch, high school principal, said he may use the computers for National Honor Society calculations and will consider use later for attendance and monthly reports.

In the professional organization reports, Margaret Bell, Hereford Educators Association president, reported that each campus had chosen the teachers of the year and folders were being compiled so that teachers from another town could make the selection. Mrs. Bell said HEA had sent ballots to the state organization for presidential and directors election and would also hold a local referendum on disassociation

At present, they do not have any source of income or help and are two months behind on rent payments. The children are in great need of shoes and clothing.

This example of the less fortunate families in our community does not paint a bright picture for the Christmas season. It is for such situations as this that the Christmas Stocking Fund was formed in Hereford.

The anonymous group of men is taking names of needy families and a committee will screen the requests to make sure the families are truly in need of help.

Contributions to the Christmas Stocking Fund should be sent to The CSF, Hereford Brand, Box 673, or taken to the newspaper office. The newspaper is handling the monetary donations and accepting requests for needy families. Treasurer of the fund is Ben Childers.

Names of contributors, or donations, will be listed regularly in the newspaper. Those who wish to remain anonymous should so designate.

The total of the fund reached $2,485 Monday. The final total at Christmas-time last year was $7,480. All monies donated to the fund go to help the families—there are no administrative costs.

Tylenol suspect apprehended

NEW YORK (AP) — James Lewis, the Tylenol extortion suspect arrested after a librarian spotted him at a reading table, will be taken to Illinois to determine whether he was involved in the seven Tylenol murders, authorities say.

Lewis, 36, charged with trying to extort $1 million after the seven poisonings in Chicago, was arrested without incident Monday. An employee in the midtown annex of the New York Public Library called police and said, "There's a look-alike of Mr. Lewis here," said Kenneth Walton, deputy assistant director of the FBI.

Lewis was reading a listing of newspapers from around the United States when he was caught, Walton said. Authorities said they had been on the lookout for Lewis at libraries and newstands because of his penchant for writing to out-of-town newspapers, and agents had given pictures of Lewis to the library staff.

Illinois Attorney General Tyrone Fahner said Monday night that officials want to determine "if, in fact, he was responsible" for the poisonings. Fahner said Lewis is one of several suspects in the

Bull Barn repairs set

County fathers decided to spend almost $9,000 to repair the leaky roof at the Bull Barn Monday after opening four sealed bids received for the work.

The commissioners' court awarded the contract for the work to Maltzer International of Amarillo after that firm submitted a bid of $8,889.65 for the job of tightening or replacing loose screws on the barn's roof and coating it with a sealant to prevent it from leaking, a problem which has persisted in the past.

Other bids for the work came from Henderson Foundations, Inc. of Dimmitt, $15,940.92; Toby Turpin and Dan Brooks of Hereford, $17,976; and McDowell Insulation and Construction, $12,903.

In other action the court approved an inducement resolution on an application for $750,000 in industrial development bonds by Hereford Cattle Commission Co., Inc. That newly-formed business is planning to build a sale barn six miles east of town.

Three persons, Laura Walker, Lavon Nieman, and Avis White, were appointed to the county Child Welfare for three-year terms, and permission was granted to Elijo Garcia to cross a county road in Pet. 1 with a gas line.

Pct. 3 Commissioner Bruce Coleman was endorsed by the court for approval of his nomination to the State MH-MR Board of Directors. Coleman, a member of the Amarillo Area MH-MR board for nine years, has been nominated for the state post by the Texas Panhandle County Judges Chemical Abuse Service System, Inc.

Final action on the nomination of Coleman will be taken by the governor in early January.

Seven days of holidays were designated for county employees for 1983, with county workers getting Dec. 31 off for New Year's May 30 for Memorial Day; July 4 for Independence Day; Sept. 5 for Labor Day; Nov. 24-25 for

Bell changes coming Jan. 1

Changes are coming Jan. 1 for Southwestern Bell customers, but you may not notice unless you are getting a phone hooked up for the first time, or changing your present service.

Starting Jan. 1, Southwestern Bell will be restricted to providing new residential and business telephone instruments and equipment only from existing inventories, according to Gary Stevens, public relations official in Amarillo.

However, customers will still receive local phone service, access to long distance lines and a monthly bill from Bell just as they do today. "These changes do not alter Southwestern Bell's commitment to provide quality basic telephone service," pledged Stevens.

He explained that the equipment supply restrictions stem from a Federal Communications Commission ruling designed to foster competition in the telecommunications market requested by a customer, the customer will have to get it from another vendor.

The ruling restricting Southwestern Bell's equipment has no direct link with the recent settlement of the government's antitrust suit against Bell System, Stevens said.

Earthquake kills 600 in Yemen

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) — A strong earthquake that rocked North Yemen killed at least 600 people, injured more than 3,000 others and left thousands homeless, Arab diplomatic sources here said today.

The Yemeni state radio in an early morning newscast said the death toll from the quake late Monday included 250 pupils trapped under debris of their primary school. It said military rescue squads were digging corpses out of the rubble of homes and that the death toll was bound to rise.

The radio, monitored in Manama, said 85 villages sustained "enormous destruction."

The Saudi Press Agency reported from Sanaa, the North Yemeni capital, that 11 of the 85 villages were "totally devastated." The radio said the Dhamar province in central Yemen was one of the regions hardest hit by the 40-second tremor.

The U.S. Geological Survey's Earthquake Information Center at Golden, Colo., recorded the quake at 6.0 on the Richter scale of ground motion, capable of causing severe damage. It said preliminary findings put the epicenter in the Dhamar area near the southwest tip of Saudi Arabian peninsula.

Yemeni radio said the earthquake had a 4.0 reading on the scale with its epicenter at Maareb, the ancient capital of the Queen of Sheba and home of an ancient dam and temple. It said the quake "broke a major rift" in a huge mountain range near Maareb.

No information was immediately available on damage to the remains of the dam and temple.

Heist may have been inside job

NEW YORK (AP) — Two masked men who pulled off the largest cash heist in U.S. history by robbing at least $5.3 million from an armored car company left $20 million behind and may have been working an "inside job," police say.

The heist was aided by a flat roof on the Sentry Armored Car Courier Co. that opened like a can of beans, a lone guard, dogs that didn't bark and a security system that failed to sound the alarm, authorities said Monday.

"We are investigating the possibility it was an inside job," said Alice McGillion, a deputy police commissioner.

The loot stolen Sunday, including $1 million in weekend receipts from Yonkers Raceway, had been picked up by Sentry over the weekend from several clients.

New York police said company officials initially reported on Monday that $1 million had been taken, then revised the count to $5.3 million after "a very detailed count."

But FBI spokesman Edward Gerry said Monday that the company told the agency it was an $8 million theft.

A police investigator who asked not to be identified said the entire amount taken in the holdup was insured.

Sentry officials could not be reached for comment Monday; a secretary said company officers were not available to talk to reporters.

Brown new HSB vice president

Jeff Brown, formerly with Security National Bank of Amarillo, has been named as a vice president of Hereford State Bank, according to an announcement today by Craig Smith, HSB president.

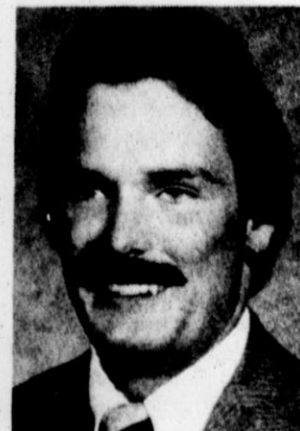

Brown, 28, assumed his duties at HSB Monday. He has a wide range of experience in retail commercial lending. A graduate of West Texas State University in 1976, Brown majored in finance and minored in accounting. He was awarded a scholarship as one of the top finance students.

He joined the First National Bank of Canyon upon graduation from college. Brown is a former director of the Bank Administration Institute. He moved to Security National in Amarillo when the bank opened in 1981.

Brown was active in several civic organizations in Amarillo and also worked with Kids, Inc. He was active in the Kiwanis Club in Canyon. A native of Canyon, his parents still reside there.

Brown will be moving his wife, Patti, to Hereford as soon as housing arrangements are completed.

Deeternut detests snow and could care less if there's a White Christmas or not. In fact, if she never sees another snowfall it will be too soon.

A creature of habit, this 12-year-old cat was born in Florida and just can't adjust to the Panhandle weather. But her owners, Bob and Jean Blair of 137 Greenwood, love the season changes.

Arriving in Hereford last August from Dumas, the Blairs had previously lived in Florida for 23 years following their wedding. Bob, who is from Chesapeake Bay at Crisfield, Md., spent much of his younger years traveling from that area to Florida so he could help his father grow tomato plants.

"It was while Bob was in Florida that he and I first met at a church revival. We have spent the last eight years residing in the Panhandle of Texas and Oklahoma," explains Jean.

"We love the weather here. It's especially nice having climate changes during the holidays. I had always lived in Florida and didn't see my first snow fall until I had been married for 10 years. I was about 30 then."

"The only unhappy member of the household is Deeternut. Once the cold weather hits, she doesn't venture outside again until the spring," says Jean.

The Blairs' families still reside in Florida and they try to go home to visit at least once a year. "It's amazing after having grown up in an area to return to find it's difficult to tolerate the climate there. It's beautiful but the humidity is around 90 percent and we are accustomed to the dry climate of this area now."

"It's disappointing to go back and see that the state has become so tourist-oriented. When I was young, I lived on the Gulf of Mexico and could swim anywhere. Now there are very few public beaches and they are extremely crowded."

Bob, who began working for Swift Independent as a mechanical laborer in 1949 after graduating from high school, was employed by the firm in Dumas as chief engineer of fabrication.

"My husband has been with the company for 33 years and still loves what he is doing," says Jean. "When he comes home in the evenings that's when I'm expected to sit and visit. If I didn't get all my housework done during the day, then it can just wait until the next day."

"It's hard for me to just sit and be idle, so I use the time in the evenings to crochet or knit. We have four grandchildren and it's become a Christmas tradition for me to make each one a stuffed toy and knit each a sweater."

Bob and Jean value their time together and enjoy camping and sailing. They purchased a sailboat over a year ago and hope to use it frequently this summer.

The couple are also active in their church. Bob is an inactive deacon at Avenue Baptist Church and they both teach in the junior high Sunday school department.

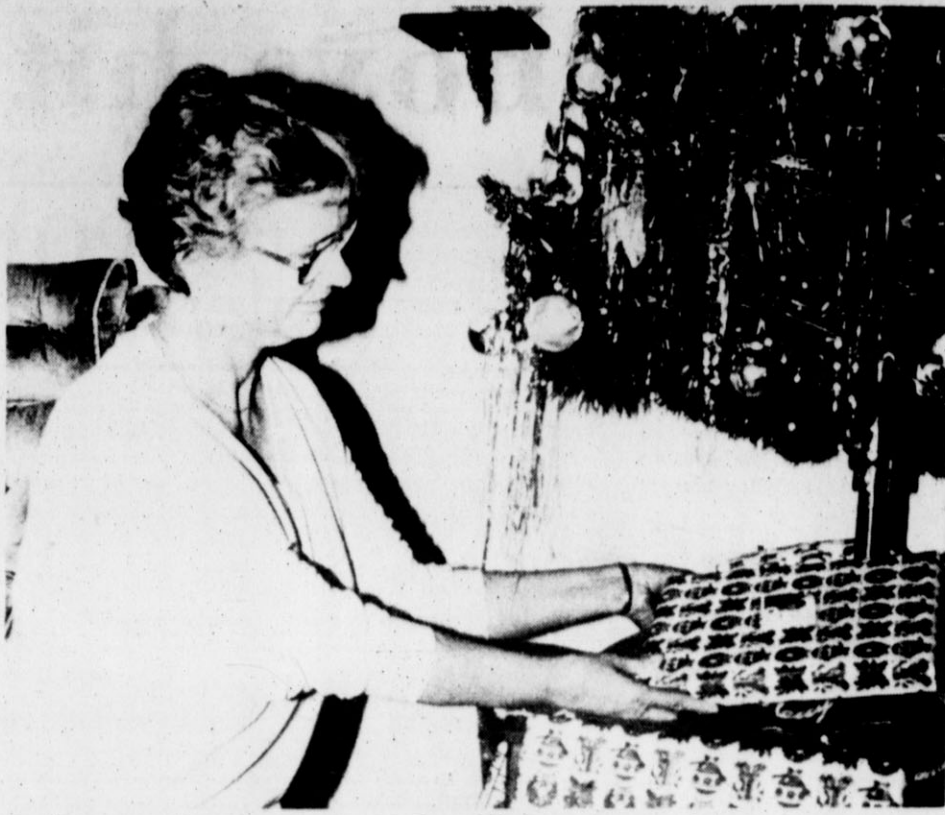

Keeping busy is a must for Jean but she explains that although she enjoys being actively involved, her first priority is her home life.

"At the present, I am active in the Women's Missionary Union at church and have joined Hereford CowBelles. I have also attended one of the Hereford Newcomers' luncheons," explains Jean.

"The first five years during our marriage, I worked full-time, but after the children were born, I didn't work again until they were older. And then, it was just part-time general office work."

The Blairs have four children. Their youngest daughter, Joanie, is attending TSTI in Waco where she is studying commercial art, and their other daughter, Cheryl Richardson, and two sons, Jon and Bill, and their families, all reside in Dumas.

The couple expect their children home for the Christmas holidays and Jean states, "It will be our first Christmas to be celebrated in Hereford and we are looking forward to it."

4-H boosts leadership

BY BRAD MORRISON
Assistant County Extension Agent

The best way to learn leadership is to lead. 4-H offers young people many opportunities to lead as well as to study leadership skills.

4-Hers suggest five steps that can be taken to be a good leader:

1. Study the qualities of recognized good leaders. Observe their actions and techniques of leadership.

2. Study yourself, picking out your weak and strong points. Capitalize on strengths and minimize weaknesses.

3. Develop yourself as a good follower. You will learn that someone who cannot obey, cannot command.

4. Learn as much as you can about groups in general and what "makes them tick." Make sure you really understand your group.

5. Follow a definite plan of training and improvement in leadership. Develop skills in communications, management and decision-making. Be prepared when the leadership opportunity comes.

Carl Linnaeus named the pitcher plant "nepenthe," which in Greek means "a freeing from, or oblivion from, grief." He felt it was so unusual that any botanist seeing it for the first time would at once forget all his past troubles — and be happy.

along. Effective leaders usually have a desire to achieve goals, to serve others and to leave things better than they found them.

However, leadership is a function, something that is done; it is not just a group of personality traits.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

Today's youth are toying with God's timeable and frankly I think it's a big mistake.

In the past, tradition dictated that at age 24, a child should be married and making monthly payments on everything in the house and a mother should have no more to think about than whether to eat the rum-dipped bonbons with the light chocolate or the dark chocolate.

Why am I bringing this up now, you ask? Because I have just torn through this city like a crazy lady from a "Dukes of Hazzard" caravan trying to get-my son on a plane.

It's not the first time we have tried to make a plane that left 20 minutes ago. He's late for his entire life.

When I was younger it didn't seem to matter that he showed up for dinner when we were having dessert, or that we were all in the car starting on our vacation and he was still looking for his shoes. We used to shake our heads and smile. "What's a mother for but to fret?"

Well, that was 10 years ago and the fretting has turned to frothing.

His rides to the airport have now become classics in bringing on hypertension.

The plane leaves at 7:05 p.m.

At 5:45, he comes home from handball and asks, "What's for dinner?"

At 6:00, he is drinking milk from a carton and watching "MASH."

At 6:15, he asks where the suitcase is. When he finds it, he dumps all my summer shorts and T-shirts onto the bed where they will remain.

At 6:30, he sets the washer dial on Maxi and throws in three pairs of shorts and two pairs of socks.

At 6:35, he stands in front of the refrigerator with the door open as he talks on the phone with a friend whom he has not seen since the handball game an hour ago.

At 6:56, he begins a shower that will not end until the 40-gallon water heater is emptied.

At 7:00 p.m., he grabs the socks and underwear from the washer, puts them in a plastic bag, jams them in his suitcase and says, "Will you whip it up, Mom? I've got to get to the airport in time to buy a ticket."

I'd love to unload...get him married!

Questions strong reaction

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 28-year-old male. I live in San Francisco and I'm straight. There is nothing about me that would suggest I might be receptive to a pass by a gay, but I get propositioned at least twice a week.

In the last two months I have decked three queens and put one in the hospital. I don't go around looking for fights, but when creeps come on to me I lose my temper.

I don't like violence, but it seems the only way to discourage some of the persistent ones. Any advice? — Definitely Not Interested

In this case I must. Your Mom should let you know in advance when she wants you to baby-sit. You should not be expected to cancel your plans unless it's an emergency and she simply cannot find anyone else.

CONFIDENTIAL to Still Shaking My Head in Laredo, Tex.: I suggest that you stop it. The rocks are falling out. You are uninformed, misinformed, ill-informed, too concerned about your "image" and not concerned enough about the rights and privileges of others.

ANSWERS

DEAR DEF: You say you don't like violence, yet you decked three guys and put one in the hospital when all you had to say was, "Not interested — move on."

All the experts on this subject say your strong reaction to a homosexual pass suggests that you are unsure of your own masculinity.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 30-year-old, yet no matter what I do I always feel guilty about everything I say or do when I am around my mother. The tension is so thick you could cut it with a knife. It could be an expensive dress that I bought, the way my kids behave, the dinner I serve or the condition of my house. When I do something she approves of, she will make some comment like, "Well, there is hope for you yet."

I love her and wish we could be friends. I am not a child anymore and would like to have an adult relationship and feel at ease in her presence. Is this ever possible between mother and daughter? — Tired Of Being On The Defensive In Pendleton, Ore.

DEAR PEN: Is your mother bossy? Does she try to run your life? Does she interfere? Is she critical? You don't mention any of these things — which makes me wonder if perhaps the problem is your feelings of insecurity and lack of self-esteem.

I suggest counseling. Find out why you are so defensive and where the tension is coming from. A good therapist will give you the courage to discuss your feelings with your mother. This could be the beginning of the adult relationship you long for.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 14-year-old girl with two younger brothers, six and eight. I need someone to be on my side and I hope you are the one.

I don't mind baby-sitting for my little brothers (no pay, which is OK), but I think Mom should tell me ahead of time before I make other plans. She says when she needs me to stay with the boys I must cancel my commitments because family comes first.

I feel Mom is not being fair to me. Am I right or wrong? — Somewhere In Mass.

DEAR SOMEWHERE: I hate to side with a parent, but

Schoolboy football season concludes this weekend

BY LES GILES
Sports Editor

When the 1982 schoolboy football concludes this weekend, only one championship game will match teams unbeaten, although no game will pit teams with perfect records.

In Class 2A, Eastland and East Bernard bring unbeaten season records into the championship clash. Eastland, however, is 14-0-1, while East Bernard is a perfect 14-0.

Last week's Harris Rating System poll correctly guessed seven of 10 games.

It missed the Converse Judson-Beaumont West Brook game in 5A, the McGregor-Littlefield contest in 3A and the Bremond-Union Hill clash in 1A.

West Brook, which will carry a 10-4-1 mark into its championship clash against Hurst Bell (14-0-1), was a 1 1/2-point underdog.

Littlefield, now 14-1 overall, was a six-point underdog against McGregor, while Union Hill (13-0) was a 3 1/2-point underdog against defending champ Bremond.

There'll be no repeat champion this year. Bremond saw that opportunity go by the wayside this past weekend.

Fort Bend Willowridge (in 4A), however, is in the championship game for the second year in a row. Last year, Brownwood came away with a 14-9 win.

This year's opponent will be Corsicana, a team which has allowed only six points in four playoff games. Corsicana (14-1 overall) had defeated Dallas Madison (37-0), Carthage (32-0), McKinney (49-6) and Cleburne (7-0).

Willowridge has been about as impressive, beating Austin Westlake (35-7), Jasper (34-7), Bay City (34-20), and New Braunfels (38-0).

Littlefield's road to the title game has been much rougher. The Wildcats have come from behind in four playoff games to get this far. They have won five playoffs by an average of 11 points.

Refugio has won much more impressively in the playoffs, downing five opponents by an average of 25 points. Refugio's closest call came in the quarterfinals when it defeated Sweeny, 18-7.

Only four of the teams in this weekend's championship games were ranked in the top 10 in their classes by Texas Football Magazine in its 1982 Summer Edition.

Both 5A finalists were unranked.

Hurst Bell, in fact, was 3-7 last year, and not even picked to win district. West Brook opened this fall.

In 4A, Willowridge was ranked 8th by Texas Football, after losing the title game last year.

Refugio was ranked 7th in 3A, after going 11-1 in 1981 and losing in the regional playoffs to Port Isabel.

In 2A, East Bernard and Eastland were ranked 1-2 by Texas Football, and that's how they're going to wind up, although not necessarily in that order.

East Bernard dropped down from 3A (it was 9-1 a year ago), while Eastland was 11-2 in '81, losing to state champ Pilot Point in the quarterfinals.

Both 1A finalists were unranked by Texas Football. Roscoe was 11-1 last year, losing in the bi-district playoffs, but wasn't picked to win its district this season. Union Hill came off a 9-1 season, and was picked to win its district in '82.

The "Game of the Decade" (Virginia-Georgetown) this past Saturday was good but probably not that good. There have been, and certainly will be better games this decade.

I don't think it matched the 1968 battle between UCLA and Houston, played in the Astrodome.

Both could make the Final Four at Albuquerque, but I wouldn't bet on it.

Virginia has not made it yet, with Ralph Sampson, while Georgetown is still a very young ball club (two freshman and three sophomores) which likely will improve as the season goes along.

For my money, I'd say Kentucky, right now, is the best college team in the country.

Hereford's boys, 2-7 at this stage of the season, haven't been blessed with a great amount of luck thus far.

Four of the seven losses have been by six points, or less.

After winning at the buzzer in the opening round of last weekend's Amarillo Invitational (a 74-73 thriller against Lubbock Coronado), the Herd lost by two points (85-83) to Palo Duro (the eventual tourney winner) and by five to Odessa Permian in the third place contest.

Hereford's girls face a big test tonight at Plainview. The Bulldog girls are 2-0 in district play, while Hereford is 2-1.

The boys' game will be a big one, too, for the Herd. Standing 0-1 at this point, two setbacks this early in the district race could put a team in some hot water.

Only two boys' teams boast winning records at this juncture (Palo Duro at 6-3 and Lubbock High at 7-4), and I doubt if either will make the post-season playoffs.

Five of the nine girls' teams have winning records at this point of the season.

Cowboys hit gusher, 37-7

SPORTS

Page 4—The Hereford Brand—Tuesday, Dec. 14, 1982

HOUSTON (AP) — Dallas Cowboys safety Michael Downs had only one worry about accepting an early Christmas gift from Houston Oiler rookie Gary Allen — he feared he might get caught from behind.

But Downs discovered Monday night that, at least on a football field, it is more blessed to receive than to give.

Downs scooped up Allen's fourth-quarter fumble and raced 86 yards for a touchdown to break the Oilers' backs and ease the Cowboys to a 37-7 victory that clinched a National Football League record 17th consecutive winning season.

The victory gave them a 5-1 record, putting the Cowboys in a tie with Washington for first place in the National Football League's National Conference standings. Houston is 1-5 in the AFC.

"I kind of thought about not getting caught," Downs confessed after his game breaker. "It's kind of embarrassing for them to run you down from behind. They were inside the 10-yard line and just for us to have possession of the ball was a plus for us."

The Cowboys already were in control of the game, leading 20-7, but Downs' big play stopped an Oiler offensive at the Dallas 7 and put the visitors in solid command of the game.

"It bounced perfectly for me," Downs said. "And I was just able to pick it up and run with it."

"I've never scored a touchdown in all my years of playing football. So for me to score a touchdown now is probably the best thing that could have happened to me. I've been a defensive player for as long as I've been playing."

Downs' cohort in the dissecting of the Oilers was quarterback Danny White, who hit three touchdown passes, two to Butch Johnson, and missed only six passes all night, completing 21 of 27 for 279 yards.

"I think we're in midseason form," White said. "I don't think there's any question about that. The last two weeks we've played very well in all phases of the football game and both games have really been won in the trenches."

"And to me that's a real key. When the offensive line is executing and we're getting protection for the passing game and running game, that's a sign to me that we're hitting on all cylinders."

White hit Butch Johnson with touchdown shots of 22 and 18 yards and Rafael Septien hit the first of three field goals to give the Cowboys a 17-7 halftime Septien hit a 36-yarder in the third quarter before Downs' big play.

"It was one of those gimmick plays," explained Oiler quarterback Archie Manning, whose most outstanding statistic was being sacked six times for 39 yards in losses by the Cowboy front four. "We faked to (Earl) Campbell in the line and gave it to Gary. It was just one of those things."

Johnson's primary competition in catching his 18-yard TD pass in the end zone was teammate Tony Hill, who went up for the ball but lost the battle to Johnson.

"It was pure luck that I caught it," Johnson said. "But I had to take advantage of every opportunity. When you only get the ball two times in a game, it's hard to get two touchdowns.

"What he (Coach Tom Landry) tried to do was pacify me. It's just like a little kid give him a toy and he'll be quiet a little while. So what the heck, I'll be quiet a little while."

The Oilers took the first quarter lead on Archie Manning's 54-yard touchdown pass to Mike Renfro, who got a step on cornerback Dennis Thurman and raced into the end zone.

Johnson's 22-yard TD reception and Septien's 22-yard field goal put Dallas ahead for good.

Septien added a 53-yard boot and White hit Timmy Newsome with a 46-yard TD pass play in the fourth quarter to complete the rout.

Kentucky still No. 2

Virginia retains top ranking

By The Associated Press

After strong performances over the weekend, the Virginia Cavaliers and Kentucky Wildcats continue to hold their ground as the nation's 1-2 teams in The Associated Press college basketball poll.

The Cavaliers held onto the No. 1 spot for the third straight week after a 68-63 victory over Georgetown Saturday night, pulling down 56 of the 61 first-place votes from a panel of the nation's sports writers and sportscasters.

The Cavaliers, 6-0, rolled up 1,215 points overall to 1,124 for Kentucky. The runner-up Wildcats, 5-0, received the remaining five first-place ballots after an impressive 76-57 triumph over Illinois.

Two teams appeared in the Top Twenty for the first time this season — Syracuse in the No. 16 spot and West Virginia at No. 20. The Orangemen, 6-0, profited from a 92-87 victory over Houston Saturday. West Virginia, 5-0, moved into the elite group after beating Ohio State 69-67 in double overtime.

Georgetown, 6-1, last week's No. 3 team, slipped into a tie for fifth place with Indiana, 6-0, with 896 points. The Hoosiers, 6-0, moved up

Edwards leads

LaPlata 9th girls to victory

Shelly Edwards tossed in 20 points and Stephanie Thomas added 16 as LaPlata's 9th grade girls raced past Stanton, 60-48, Monday in junior high basketball action.

LaPlata also won the 7th grade contest, 29-22, as Kamille Martin and Kim Edelman combined for 17 points.

Julie Garza and Bernice Ross each scored eight points as Stanton's 8th grade posted a 23-20 win. LaPlata was paced by Tonya Redwine, who scored five points, and Lana Kosub, who had four.

Sarah Alonzo led Stanton's 9th grade team with 17 points, while Erma Gonzales added 10 in a losing cause.

Stanton's 7th graders were paced by Carolyn Reves and Crystal Ball, as each tossed in six points.

one spot after beating Wyoming 78-65.

This week's No. 3 team, Memphis State, 6-0, polled 986 points after an 80-62 victory over East Tennessee State over the weekend. The Tigers were No. 4 last week.

ECLA, 4-0, moved up a spot with 950 points after beating San Jose State 94-71.

Iowa, 6-0, remained in the

No. 7 spot and Missouri, 6-0, stayed No. 8 after victories on Saturday. St. John's, 7-0, moved up three places to No. 9, and Alabama, 4-0, filled out the Top Ten.

The rest of the Second Ten was comprised of Tennessee,

Louisville, Arkansas, Houston, North Carolina State, Syracuse, North Carolina, Nevada-Las Vegas, Villanova and West Virginia.

Marquette, No. 16 last week, and Purdue, No. 20, were the dropouts in this week's poll.

New Officers

Rogers, vice-president; and Bertha Dettmann, president. Not pictured are Mildred Lewis, treasurer, and Fannie Townsend, reporter.

Nominees sought for education awards

Faculty members in the West Texas State University College of Education are seeking nominees for the second College of Education Awards Banquet.

Outstanding graduates of WTSU will be honored in nine academic areas during the banquet on March 5, 1983. Nominations for the awards will be accepted until Tuesday, Jan. 25.

Two Hereford educators were among the recipients of last year's first awards. Danny Dudley was cited for outstanding work in industrial education and technology, and Dorothy Szydoski was named an outstanding secondary education teacher.

Letters have been sent to educators at Panhandle area school districts asking for nominations for the awards, said Dr. Fred Rozendal, assistant professor of psychology in the College of Education.

Honors will be given to educators in the areas of library science, health, elementary and recreation, industrial education and technology psychology, elementary education, special education, administration, secondary education and counseling.

Committee members to select award recipients in each area have set criteria for the awards, said Rozendal. Inquiries and nominations may be addressed to faculty members in charge of the award areas.

They include elementary education, for the outstanding active elementary teacher, Dr. Louise Murphy, assistant professor of education; special education teacher or diagnostician, Dr. Jane Norris, assistant professor of education.

Also, outstanding administrator, including superintendent, principal, assistant principal or curriculum coordinator, Dr. Robert Splawn, professor of education and head of the Department of School Services; outstanding secondary education teacher, Dr. Ronnie Waide, professor of education; and the library science award to a library worker with a degree and cer-tification from WTSU, Elva Mae Deer, assistant professor of education.

Active and retired teachers, administrators and school board members will attend the banquet. Ticket information may be obtained from Dr. Jack Nance, associate professor of education.

Other recipients of last year's first awards were Jim Holmes of Panhandle, administration; Mary Tom Riley, Lubbock, counseling; Geneva Faubion, Amarillo, Gene Tatum, Amarillo, library science; Mary Lee Loving, Dumas, psychology; Frank Castelberry, WTSU recreation; and Mary E. Burcham, Kelton, special education.

Cultural Extension Club installs new officers

Using colored links to form a chain, Ruth Gandy installed new officers for the Cultural Extension Homemakers Club Friday at the Flame Room following a covered dish luncheon.

Installed were Bertha Dettmann, president; Jewel Rogers, vice-president; Vernis Parsons, secretary; Mildred Lewis, treasurer; Fannie Townsend, reporter; and Wilma Goettsch, council delegate.

A money corsage was presented to Winnie Wiseman, outgoing president, and gifts were exchanged.

Guests present were John Hunter, Tom Hargrave, George Pope, and Jeremy and Christina Conway.

Members attending were Elizabeth Conway, Carrie Mae Doak, Jewell Hargrave, Edith Hunter, Virginia Sumner, Winnie Wiseman, Nell Pope, and Mmes. Dettmann, Gandy, Parsons, Rogers, and Goettsch.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Ms. Conway on Jan. 4.

Hereford students chosen for society membership

Two West Texas State University students from Hereford have been selected as members of the Alpha Chi national honor society. They are Willa Bess Lawson and Richard Kendrick Jr.

Lawson is a junior computer information systems major and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reece Lawson.

Kendrick is a junior accounting major and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R.D. Kendrick. He has been on the dean's honor roll the past four semesters, and has received various scholarships.

Students eligible for membership in the Alpha Chi national honor society must be juniors or seniors enrolled at WTSU for at least nine semester credit hours and have a grade point average of 3.5 or better on a 4.0 scale.

Wedding vows exchanged

Mr. and Mrs. G.R. Smith of 205 Northwest Drive announce the marriage of their daughter, Carolyn Denise, to Terry L. Werner. The couple was married Saturday, Dec. 4, in Golden, Colo.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Werner of Anville, Penn., and is an agent for the Paul Revere Companies.

The bride is presently employed by Mademoiselle Health Spa as a counselor and instructor. She is a former employee of The Hereford Brand.

The couple resides in Denver, Colo.

Students may enter piano-organ festival

The fourth annual West Texas State University Piano and Organ Festival, sponsored by the Department of Music, will be Feb. 26, 1983.

The competition is open to all students in the 7th through 12th grades and the deadline for entries is Jan. 26.

Judges for the competition are Peter Klaisle, professor of piano at Highlands University, Las Vegas, N.M., and Dr. Jody Gibson, organist for the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Amarillo.

Mary Helen Demus, instructor in music at WTSU, is chairperson for the festival.

Each person will be required to play one solo and be critiqued by the judges," Demus said.

"Each person earning a superior or 1 rating will also receive a medal," she added.

The entry fee of $4 per person and applications may be obtained by writing the music department at WTSU.
