Heavy Rainfall Reported Over County Districts

BIG SPRING TOTAL FALL 1.05 INCHES

Slight Damage To Newly Planted Crops

Rainfall totaling 1.05 inches fell in Big Spring in slightly over one-half of an hour late Saturday night, and from reports reaching here today from rural sections of Howard county and surrounding territory, heavy precipitation was reported over all of this section.

Saturday night's rainfall brought the total here for the past two weeks to 2.54 inches.

Every part of Howard county received lashing rains, accompanied by stiff winds and an occasional electrical storm. No material damage of any kind was reported.

All rural sections in this county reported heavy rains of short duration.

Cosmo

Between three-quarters and an inch fell at Cosmo and surrounding far territory. Vincent was visited by a drenching downpour that washed land in that section considerably.

Forman reported between one inch and one and a half of rainfall, with no damage.

One of the largest rains fell at Ackery where one and one-quarter inches fell. About three-quarters of an inch was reported west of Ackery.

Knott was visited by a good rain totaling approximately one inch. Between three-quarters and one inch fell at Stanton. It was reported there.

Garden City

Garden City, Glasscock county, reported the entire county received a rain totaling an inch or more.

All of Dawson county was drenched with a rain that ranged from between one-half to one inch.

So far as could be ascertained no damage resulted of any consequence from the severe wind storm that accompanied the rain here.

The tent of the Associated Chautauques, now here, was blown down and severely damaged. Trees had branches broken, and a few signs and fences were blown down.

The heavy downpour caused some damage to crops over the county, making it necessary for farmers to replant in cases where the crops were not up. Much land washing was reported.

Where crops were up, however, no damage is thought to have resulted.

WALLS HOLD

Retaining walls, recently erected by the city on Main Street to prevent damage to abutting property, received their first real test Saturday night and served their purpose. It was announced today by the city engineer.

The walls were erected about three months ago. They were placed back of the old curbing to create a waterway sufficient to spread water over the entire street and protect property which heretofore had been damaged in heavy rains.

The walls were built from Fifth to Eleventh Streets on Main, on the East side from Fifth to Sixth Streets, and on the West from Seventh to Eleventh Streets.

Water washed into the street after the heavy precipitation Saturday night almost reached the wall level at Fifth Street. It was reported, but no damage resulted.

LOMAX WILL HOLD BOND VOTE

A bond election to provide funds with which to construct a new school building will be held at Lomax Saturday, June 28. It was announced this morning in the county superintendent's office.

The amount of the bond issue is $5,000.

Funds derived will be used to erect a brick tile and concrete building, including a gymnasium. The Lomax school is located 18 miles southwest of Big Spring.

LAMAR BANK BANDITS TO DIE

State Supreme Court Rules Trio Must Pay Penalty

DENVER, Colo., June 9 (AP)—The state supreme court today decreed that the three Lamar, Colorado, bank bandits, Howard L. Royston, George J. Abshier and Ralph E. Fleagle, must hang for murder.

The trio, which made a foray into eastern Colorado from their ranch retreat in Western Kansas May 23, 1928, must pay with their lives for slaying A. N. Parrish, president of the First National bank of Lamar.

They are credited also with the slaying of three other men during the holdup and their escape back to the Fleagle horse ranch near Garden City, Kansas.

Abshier will be hanged during the week of July 19, as will Royston. Fleagle, whose confession to participation in the robbery led to the conviction of all three men, will go to the gallows the week of July 12th.

The supreme court held that Fleagle at the Colorado Springs meeting of peace officers and prosecutors when he confessed to participation in the robbery, had not been promised his life in return for the confession that implicated his confederates.

"It is practically conceded that Ralph was promised that the district attorney would not ask that the death penalty be inflicted," said the opinion, "and the record shows the district attorney kept this promise."

Jake Fleagle, brother of Ralph, and the fourth member of the bandit gang, which in addition to the Lamar "job" was credited with numerous other bank robberies in Kansas and Oklahoma over a period of years, is still being sought by peace officers. The last trace of him was in Mexico.

REVIVE CHI GANGLAND BATTLE

Gangster Shot, Body Found, Others Missing

CHICAGO, June 9 (AP)—Russell, alias Frank Thompson, often called "the armorer of gangland," drove into a New Milford filling station last night, weak from a bullet wound near the heart.

He would not talk, although physicians said the wound might cause his death. When Sheriff Harry Baldwin of Winnebago county asked who had shot him, Thompson's only answer was: "I won't talk. You ought to be smart enough to know I won't talk."

The attack upon Thompson, discovery of the body of Eugene (Red) McLaughlin—one of gangland's toughest characters—and the statement of officers that George (Bugs) Moran and several other important names in the gang world are missing and presumably slain, were week-end developments in the gang war revival.

Thompson was questioned at length during the early investigation of the Morgan gang massacre of Valentine's Day, 1929. Police said he supplied the machine gun used in the massacre as well as other gang attacks.

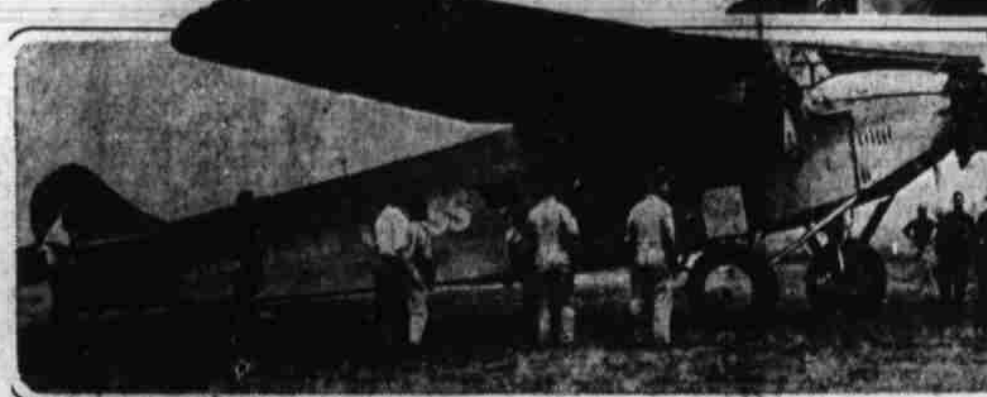

Driving into the filling station last night, Thompson stumbled out of the car and collapsed after the station attendant: "I am dying. Get a doctor."

The discovery of Eugene (Red) McLaughlin's body in the drainage canal Saturday was another instance of the effort gangster killers are making to dispose of the bodies of their victims. McLaughlin's body had been weighed with iron.

McLaughlin has been living at an address not far from the spot on Ashland Avenue where, only a short time ago, a man was shot.

EXPLOSION NEAR DAM KILLS 7

Blast Occurs In Hetch-Hetchy Tunnel System

OAKLAND, Calif., June 9 (AP)—Seven men are dead and one is in a hospital at Livermore, as the result of an explosion in the Hetch-Hetchy tunnel near Calaveras Dam in the Alameda county hills.

A shot of dynamite in the tunnel some time Sunday opened up a stream of water and evidently blew into a pocket of gas. The gas was not ignited at the time, but apparently seeped into the long passage and accumulated there.

Investigators believed a spark last night from an electric tram or a pick set off the gas.

The dead:

G. J. Piazza, 36, single, San Francisco.

Fred Flader, 28, single, Colorado.

P. J. Reck, 41, single, San Francisco.

HUNDREDS ATTEND CITY PARK OPENING SERVICE

Mayor J. B. Pickle, Tom Coffee And Mrs. B. Reagan Make Short Talks, As New City Park Is Officially Opened

Hundreds of people crowded the new City Park grounds yesterday afternoon to hear the dedication services of their new playground.

A bright sky and the rapid drying of the roads and grounds to the park brought out approximately 800 people according to city manager V. R. Smith.

They came early to hear the band and brought their children to wade in the new Kiwanis wading pool. Many brought lunches and spent the entire evening.

The Mayor's Talk

Mayor J. B. Pickle made the first talk and stressed the fact that this 160 acres of land belonged to the city and that the equipment now on the grounds had either been donated or was paid for.

Thus, he stated, the people of Big Spring and the country had a park of their own for which they owned not one cent.

Such things as the wading pool, the swings, see-saws, barbecue pits and benches are permanent as equipment and will be kept up by the city commission.

Benefit Of Citizens

Tom Coffee, who spoke in behalf of the citizens, expressed their appreciation for the park and to the people who have made it what it is. He made the point that this park was the one and only thing on which money spent would benefit all of the people.

Mrs. B. Reagan

Mrs. B. Reagan, who spoke in behalf of the women of the city and the Federation, their organization, told of the long struggle of the women for a park of this kind and of their relief and appreciation at its acquisition. She also made the point that an enterprise of this kind is one thing which creates a better, friendlier feeling among the citizens. She also called the attention of her audience to the fact that the park was already paid for and not representing a big debt as most city parks in other cities do.

Music

The audience took part in a singing led by Damon Dean and the band. The band, composed of members of the city band and the high school group, was led by O. Dubberly.

In Appreciation

The following is a list of the firms in Big Spring which donated large tables for the park: Cunningham & Phillips, Home Bakery, Texas Electric, W. R. King, Chevrolet agency, Southern Ice, R. & R. Theatre, and the B. S. Public Service Co.

TELLS DEMO BODY AFTER PARTY TEST

Resolution Requiring Pledge To Party Withdrawn

AUSTIN, June 9 (AP)—Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas today told the state democratic executive committee, meeting to certify candidates in the July 26 primary, that he would not support Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson of Austin, or John Putnam of Houston, candidates for governor, or R. L. Henry of Houston, candidate for United States senator, in the event they obtained the nominations to the respective offices they sought.

Love made his declaration before the committee after it had considered a resolution which would have required candidates for state offices to pledge themselves to "vote for and support" all of the nominees of the primary elections.

Withdrawn

J. C. Marshall of Quanah, who proposed the test for candidates, withdrew his proposed pledge after D. W. Wilcox, of Georgetown, chairman of the committee, had said he believed it would be "impracticable and impossible" for the proposed fealty declaration to be submitted to the various candidates in time to comply with the law directing certification of names of candidates to county chairmen.

He said also he "doubted the authority" of the chairman and secretary, under the supreme court holding in the Love case to withhold any candidates name from the ballots where he had complied with the law.

Certify Today

The committee recessed for lunch with the only remaining business formal certification of the candidates. It was apparent they would be certified without any fealty tests being applied to them.

The committee passively "passed up" proposals submitted by Henry and Putnam to submit on the July 26 primary ballots a referendum on repeal or modification of the prohibition amendment.

It is in effect barred negroes from participating in the primaries when it adopted resolutions by C. C. Renfro of Dallas, holding the proxy of T. O. Davis, of Center, inviting all "eligible and locally qualified white electors who declare their allegiance to the Democratic party," who would take the statutory pledge, to participate in the primaries.

The committee refused to act on a suggestion made twice by Clinton G. Brown of San Antonio, that a delegation of negroes from Bexar county, be permitted to appear before it to ask the right to participate as voters in the primaries.

Many Questions

Love's dramatic appearance before the committee came after Lieut. Governor Barry Miller of Dallas and Jim Young of Kaufman, candidates for governor, declared they stood ready and willing to subscribe to any pledge that might be promulgated.

Hardly had Love come to the speakers' stand, from the rear of the hall, than several committee members were on their feet asking permission to question him.

With Pinckney on one side and Renfro on the other, the leader within the Democratic ranks of the movement in Texas to bolt the nomination of former Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York for president in 1928, was put through a merciless examination.

He had just started to read a prepared statement of his attitude, when R. T. Craig of Athens, holding the proxy of Tom P. Faulk of Athens, stopped him to ask point blank:

"Will" Candidates

"Will you support Mrs. Ferguson for governor if she is the nominee of the July 26 primary?"

"I will not," Love answered.

"I do not want the votes of any men or women that might be obtained on some sort of expressed or implied misunderstanding," Love shouted.

Love said he would not vote for any candidate who favored "the destruction and nullification of the prohibition amendment. Answering questions, he named Henry and Putnam, in addition to Mrs. Ferguson, as candidates in the primary he would not support if they were nominated.

Answering Pinckney he said he had not declared that he would not support any candidate who had the backing of Tammany Hall.

Asked the specific question, he said he would vote for Young if

PIPE LINE LAW SOON IN EFFECT

Independents Worked
For New State
Statute

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, June 9.—The pipeline regulation and common purchase of oil law, sponsored by 200 independent operators before the legislature in a plea for preservation of their industry, is one of the major laws that will go into effect June 19.

Along with it the measure prison reform bill of the last legislative session, three new tax bills, three laws creating new courts, the measure cancelling Travis county's courthouse lease, an amendment of the Confederate pension law and approximately 25 other general statutes will become effective June 19. This includes all the "90-day bills" of the fifth called session.

Gov. Moody, in letting the pipeline regulation bill become a law said "Those who oppose any monopoly or trust in oil favor this bill. I am opposed to trust tendencies. The bill may not work any good, but I have not been shown where it will work any harm."

The three present oil proration orders covering the Howard-Glasscock, Pecos and Panhandle fields, continue in effect until after June 19. The railroad commission has announced that the regulatory power under the common purchase and pipeline law will be substituted for separate field-blanket proration orders when the new law becomes effective.

The law requires purchasers of oil to accept it rateable from oil producers, and requires pipelines to accept oil rateably from all producers who wish it transported. Firms holding themselves out for the business of storing oil are required to provide such facilities as may be determined necessary by the railroad commission.

Administration allegedly will be hampered by Gov. Moody's veto of the appropriation of fees for its administration; but the work will be taken in charge by the oil and gas division of the railroad commission.

The commission has indicated it will be limited largely to umpiring disputes brought to it on complaints.

The three new revenue-raising laws in effect this month are: Requiring all tank cars to be rendered safe for use by the county of the head office of the owning company.

A gross receipts tax of one per cent upon the sale of textbooks.

Gross receipts tax increased on public utilities to bring in an additional $1,000,000 a year. This tax is levied on privately-owned waterworks, gas, electric light, or power plant, and increases the tax in cities of 25,000 to 10,000 to one-half of one per cent; in cities of over 10,000 to one per cent.

The occupation tax on theaters and picture shows was broadened to include a tax on traveling and outdoor shows.

Laws creating new district courts for Corpus Christi, Dallas and Houston go into effect at this time.

The new court for the Panhandle section already is in operation.

Law authorizing the sale of the submerged lands in Lake Sabine to H. L. McKee, to permit construction of a causeway across the lake opening an important trade territory of Louisiana to Port Arthur, and providing for a recreation and amusement resort on islands to be created in the lake, will become effective among these 90-day bills.

The Confederate pension law was reformed to avoid the discrimination against the "younger widows" under 75 year of age that last year prevented 3000 such widows from receiving any pension payment whatever for two quarters.

Under another of these laws, persons entitled to poll tax exemptions may qualify for voting any time of the year up to the date of the election in which they may vote, instead of being limited to the month of January in which poll taxes are paid. The questions of difficulty in working out accurate lists of voters to be put in the hands of election officials have not yet been worked out.

Other 90-day laws, going into effect June 19, include:

Authorizing formation of corporations to engage in mineral royalty business.

Authorizing supreme court, instead of governor, to appoint its commission of appeals.

Revising methods of incorporating school districts.

Regulating the execution of teachers' contracts, providing for terms up to three years.

Changing barber law to bring in haircutters in beauty parlors, under requirement of state license.

Permitting cities under specified form of notice, to levy assessments for street improvements.

Forbidding injunctions to stop street improvement work.

Appropriating $575,000 for improvement to prison system.

Payment of taxes on land for 20 years shall constitute prima facie evidence of title, where adverse claimants have not paid taxes.

County officials failing promptly to remit highway funds must pay interest.

Authorizing large counties to levy 5 per cent for advertising purposes.

Reward for certain school consolidations, out of rural aid fund.

County judges and commissioners may take part of salaries from road and bridge funds.

Validating levee improvement bonds.

Land surveys in possession of T&P railway shall be made part of land office archives.

Providing for opening of neighborhood roads.

Three-year terms for school trustees in certain districts.

Court procedure providing for motions for new trial.

Cities may condemn property, providing method.

Traffic officers may wear grey or blue uniforms.

Authorizing sale of Brazoria county lands to S. E. Damon.

Highway commission or any county may condemn land for highway right of way or for gravel, stone or other road-building materials; this permits counties to execute the condemnation in order to meet state requirements for providing right of way, and in some instances, of gravel and materials.

Two laws go into effect Sept. 1. They are:

Appropriation of $400,000 to pay tuition of rural school pupils in high school outside their districts. Increasing control of game department over trapping of fur-bearing animals.

Another measure goes into effect, by its terms, next Jan. 1. It provides that all elected county superintendents of education shall have four-year terms.

Since the elections this year will be for two-year terms (the new law not yet being in effect) considerable uncertainty existed whether those elected this year will come under the law effective next January doubling the length of term.

OIL BRIEFS

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 9 (AP)—Three producers were completed in the South Oklahoma City field.

Trilo No. 1, Trosper-Hughes, SE NW SE 11-11-SW, total depth, 6,469 feet in sand, was estimated good for more than 5,000 barrels a day.

The 17th producer on Trosper Park property, was the third well to hit. The No. 17 well, SE SW NW 12-11-SW, which appeared to have a huge gas volume and around 15,000 barrels of oil was producing from the sand horizon. It is located in the extreme north end of the lease.

Three other wells were bailing for completion early Saturday with indications good for breaking of a record for this type of work during the day.

TULSA, Okla., June 9 (AP)—Although Oklahoma county had only 14 first reports last week as compared to 34 the previous week, it continued to lead the state in new work. Muskogee county was second and Marshall county third with seven.

Pottawatomie and Cotton counties had six each and Seminole, Hughes and Creek counties three each. The total for the state was 79, two less than the number for last week.

A preliminary conference of attorneys representing oil companies and royalty holders involved in the federal court suit filed at Muskogee, which attacks titles to oil lands in Seminole county, was held here late yesterday. Another conference will be held Tuesday to outline a definite course of defense. Representatives of oil purchasing units made it plain they had no intention of withdrawing royalty payments.

J. Monte Hayner, president of the Kansas-Oklahoma division of the Mid-Continent Royalty Owners Association, announced the organization was pledged to oppose the suit.

CORSICANA, Texas, June 9 (AP)—The Texas & Pacific Coal and Oil Company of Fort Worth completed the purchase of the major part of the bulk and filling stations of the Central Texas Refining Company. The purchase price was reported to be more than $200,000.

The purchase was made from R. L. Wheelock, receiver of the Central Texas Company.

SPUDDERS 6 GAMES AHEAD

Split Of Season Only
Sixteen Days In Distance

By GAYLE TALBOT JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer
Day by day, and in what might be termed a big way, the Wichita Falls Spudders sweep closer to a clinch on the first half of the Texas League flag race. Opening the current week, Carl Williams' torrid nine was six full games ahead of the pack, and the splitting date only 16 days distant.

There appears little reason to doubt the chase will be split incidentally. The magnates even have dispensed with the merry little game of hide-and-seek they usually play with their public. Not one of the eight owners has voiced opposition so far, and there might not be an opposing vote when they gather June 19 to settle the question.

Apparently not satisfied with just romping away from their colleagues, the Spudders have taken to rubbing it in. They went the limit yesterday in crushing the Waco Cubs 15 to 1 and 11 to 2 in a double bill, making it unannounced for the series. Larry Botten-court, the former all-American footballer, had the largest day of his career, busting two homers in each game and driving in a grand total of 11 runs during the afternoon.

In the face of the Spudders' phenomenal streak, the second-place Houston Buffs continued to do the best they knew how by taking their final from Shreveport, 4 to 3, but it proved inadequate. They found themselves a half-game further behind the leaders. George Payne made the victory possible when he relieved Young Allyn Stout in the ninth and stopped the Sports with the tying run on base.

Beaumont tightened its hold on fourth place by whipping the crippled Fort Worth Cats, 13 to 7, in their final. The Exporters scored all their runs in a rousing bombardment off Walkup and Egan in the first three innings, featured by Chick Shiver's homer with the bases loaded.

More than 2,000 fans saw the eighth-place Dallas Steers salvage their last game with the seventh-place San Antonio Indians, 6 to 1. Big George Murray was in great form, holding the Tribe to seven hits and blanking them after the initial frame.

Can you recommend to me three or four books which are useful for a parent who has to handle sex problems in boys and girls?

Take the following list, which I believe can be secured from the American Social Hygiene Association, 370 Seventh Avenue, New York City:

"Sex in Life," by Donald B. and Eunice B. Armstrong.
"The Mother's Reply," by Nellie M. Smith.
"Child Questions and Their Answers," by Helen W. Brown.
"Your Daughter's Mother," by Ruth Kimball Gardner.
Harrisburg, Pa.
To what in your opinion does Germany owe her remarkable economic recovery during the past ten years?

First: To the national will which in the midst of defeat was bravely gaining a better place for Germany in Europe and the world. The concerted economic action of her people as a whole exemplifies what one of their thinkers calls the "rationalization of industry."

Second: To the sterling character of President Hindenburg, who has frustrated the designs of monarchistic militarists by his fidelity to the Republic and his strict observance of the oath of his high office.

Third: To the historic career and services of the late Gustav Stresemann, who gave his life to his nation and to the establishment of international welfare. Philip Scheidemann's "Memoirs" cast clear light on Stresemann's sacrificial toll and on the triumph he won against fearful odds. Read for yourself the American edition of that book which is entitled, "The Making of New Germany."

It shows that the despised and hated Social Democrats saved the nation at its crisis. They bore the brunt of the struggle during the war. They were the best post war guides of a people deserted by their rulers and threatened by the anarchy of Bolshevism.

Ramsey MacDonald said when Stresemann died: "Many a story I could tell you. Many a picture could I point out to you of that quiet, steady heroic man standing abroad but at home, determined to play a perfectly straight game, determined to carry into practice the proverb that he who does not respect himself is respected by nobody else."

Surely the victors in that conflict (if there are any) can afford to be magnanimous. Americans of the right quality should aid their sister republic of Central Europe to weather the storm and to maintain a sane and competent democracy.

Norfolk, Va.

I am twenty-two years of age and in sound health, but there is one thing which causes me anxiety because so far I am ashamed of my thoughts, which frequently dwell on improper subjects. I read considerable and am careful to select only wholesome books. I do not mean that I am constantly thinking such thoughts, but the frequency with which they recur disturbs me. I live a clean life, yet all too frequently for my peace of mind these ugly images will creep back.

Does this indicate an abnormal condition, and can you suggest any means by which I may overcome it completely?

Once your "thoughts dwell on improper subjects" they do not need a second invitation to prolong their stay. Imagination can be the soul's actuating lamp. It can also be its destroying flame. Its diversified operations cover pretty much everything within the range of the human mind. When evil suggestions dominate it, even the physical organism is drawn into the vortex and becomes as clay in the hands of the potter.

So you are not dealing with anything vague or unreal. On the contrary you are fighting a stiff battle for self governance and one which can only be won by strenuous endeavor. No one is able to exclude completely evil suggestions and ideas. But all are able to resist them. We are not immune from foul temptations, but we can be masters and mistresses in our own house and refuse to entertain such objectionable guests in the chambers of the mind.

If you have a curiosity, intensified by ignorance, concerning sexual matters, study the physiology of reproduction in a scientific spirit and under the guidance of competent doctors. If you suffer from repressed desires for experience socially forbidden, get down to merciless self analysis and follow it up with wholehearted persistence for the best sex ideal.

You will say that your persistence proves them so. Commonly they fall below your confessed standards. This is where wholeheartedness comes in. Build up your resistance power as a drowning man struggles for his life and it will hold. Nothing can prevent the displacement of evil by good when God and yourself combine to say: "This must be."

Taking It Pretty Hard

by Fred Locher

"YESTERDAY Johnny fell and broke his arm.

"The wife was nearly frantic. She telephoned Dr. Smith, our family physician, but he was out. The only other doctor she could think of was out, too.

"Well, the boy was howling and she was almost in hysterics when I got home. I glanced through the yellow pages in the telephone directory and got in touch with a nearby physician immediately.

"Thirty minutes later Dr. Smith called up, but by then the arm had been set and Johnny was smiling through his tears."

"The 'yellow pages' are the Classified Telephone Directory. In them you can find 'where to buy' almost anything or everything—thus:

- (1) If you want your radio repaired, look under "radio business." You will find many radio repair companies listed.
- (2) If you want a refrigerator—a glance under "refrigerators" will give you numerous local dealers to choose from.

(3) Certain trade-marked articles, such as Seiberling tires, are listed. Look under "Seiberling" and you will find the Seiberling trade-mark and a list of local dealers.

In other words, the Classified Telephone Directory includes four classifications:

1. Businesses, professions
2. Services
3. Commodities
4. "Trade-marked" articles.

The idea behind this "Where-to-buy-L" directory is to tell you quickly, conveniently, clearly, where to find whatever you want. Its use will save you minutes. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

crop be seen going to the bad no farmer can afford to pass up the opportunity of trying for a crop of June corn.

At many, in fact, all farmers already engaged in dairying and other enterprises contemplating entering that promising industry will need to provide an adequate supply of feed to supplement their pastures. With other stock on the farm and the need of feed for fattening hogs for the year's supply, there is no likelihood of becoming overstocked on feed, one of the most important and valuable products of every live and progressive farmer.

If one is ever inclined to wonder how the states of the North grow and prosper, where not a stalk of cotton is produced, get hold of government statistics and learn therefrom that dairying and the milk industry is the channel through which they operate. The single state of New York has more dairy plants than there are towns and cities in Texas. Cheese plants and milk plants are thicker than school houses in Texas. Farmers and rural residents up there have something to sell every day, while the cotton farmer is lucky if he finds a favorable day and market in which to dispose of his cotton crop.

Texas can and must make cotton a surplus crop—devote more land and time to the production of food and feeds crops. If dairy cows take the place of cotton and walk the highway of prosperity through the dairy and milk channel.

HOW'S your HEALTH

Safe Swimming
Every single year scores of persons are drowned in the waters of the United States.

Only a very small percentage of that indescribable creature, the man who rocks the boat, and with him, those unfortunate who fall to throw the pest overboard the first instant he shows his insanity.

Then there are the good swimmers, who dive before they know the depth of the water, and those who forget that when they swim out they must leave enough strength to come back to shore.

There is the incredible optimist who is sure no accident can ever happen to him.

They usually fish him out half dead after he has waded out, beyond his height, has stepped into a hole or has been carried away by an undertow.

His optimism usually ends right there.

And finally, there is the person who is cautious in most things, but who doesn't realize the hazards of the water. Accidents happen to him when he changes seats in a rowboat, when he overloads his canoe, when he goes swimming immediately after a hearty meal or when he is overheated.

Everyone should know how to swim. The best time to learn is in childhood. The ability to swim a dozen strokes or even to float gives one confidence, which in turn, prevents panic—the most dangerous thing in a water accident.

"Bests Anything I Ever Heard Of"

THERE'S NO DOUBT ABOUT IT—ARGOTANE IS BEST MEDICINE GOING. SAYS SWEET-WATER LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEER

"When it comes to getting rid of bad stomach and liver trouble, Argotane beats anything I ever heard of," said Esber F. Rayburn, who lives at 706 1-2 E. Broadway, Sweetwater, Texas, and is a well known locomotive engineer.

"If there is anything that will make life miserable for a fellow," he continued, "it is a real bad case of stomach trouble. More than ten months ago my stomach went back on me, and I have had a mighty tough time of it every since. I lost my appetite to start with, and could hardly eat enough to keep my strength up so I would be able to do my work. I really dreaded for meal time, to come around, for what little I did eat would sour as soon as I ate it, and the gas would form, and would cause awful pains in the pit of my stomach. I had occasional headaches which I think was from biliousness and was constipated most all the time."

"I heard much about Argotane, and the good it seemed to be doing so many people, so I decided to try it and see what it would do for me. Well, sir, I honestly feel like a brand new man today and I have taken Argotane only a very short while. I am hungry all the time now, and eat three big meals every day and I never suffer from it one bit, and I note from that, my stomach is in good condition. In fact, I am feeling better in every way than I have felt in a long time. There is no doubt about it—Argotane is the best medicine going and I am glad to recommend it to everybody."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Big Spring at the Collins Bros. Drugs—Adv.

Murder at High Tide

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD — Movie short stories:

I. The casting director has been pestered for some time by a vaudeville ham whose picture possibilities were infinitesimal. "Looka here," a h. s. supplicant complained one day, "satcha got nothin' fer me? I been here every day fer a week and there seems to be lotsa pictures starting."

"And I can talk German and a little parley-woo, too. What'sa say?" "Sorry," replied the c. d. drily. "If I had anything in German or French, maybe. But all I've got today is a bit in—er—English. Sorry."

JUST AS WELL, MAYBE
II. A struggling young actor's friend at last had impounded a director into viewing a test of the lad.

In the projection room the two saw the ordinary few feet of film, picturing the youth in a scene with a girl.

The director afterwards had little to say of the boy, but seemed interested in the girl who had helped with the test.

"Who is she?" he asked. "Oh, just an extra. Nice kid. She came out here about six months ago. Hung on as long as she could and never got a break. Packed up and left a couple of days ago."

THE RETORT SENSIBLE
III. She was behind a lunch counter, serving pork and beans to a newspaper man. She was pretty, young, even beautiful, and had a certain class.

The man asked a very original question—everyone did: "Why don't you try for the movies?" "Naw," she flashed, "I'd rather eat."

And some short shorts: Joan Crawford's summer coat of tan and freckles is on—Harry Tierney has written an Agua Caliente themesong (unofficial, of course), called "Galloping Domino Blues."

Gypsies are becoming popular as screen bandits, desperadoes, outlaws. "Red" Grange, former football idol, is master of ceremonies at a local night club.

"The Royal Family" is to be filmed with Fredric March in the character of John.

enough to make him talkative and he boasted he had sent those two men there 25 years ago. He said something about that bank robbery and the phoenix—connecting them with le Balafré and Bec and another man names Jules Lacote.

"I questioned him. He wouldn't commit himself, but the little he did say made me feel that he was Jules Lacote and that his phoenix was the one the newspapers had mentioned. Dan's past had always been a mystery to me, but I knew he had come from France 25 years before. He must be Lacote."

"It was then that I thought of letting the convicts know where Dan was. There was only one way in which I could get to them the information they would need. I was sure they would get hold of their home town newspapers as time went on. I'm glad I did it. If you tell me one of those men shot Dan I shall feel I have accomplished something useful. That's all."

Mrs. Parados stopped as defiantly as she had begun.

"What are you going to do about it, M. Flique?" she demanded.

Flique spread his hands. "Have I not complimented madame?"

"You know what I mean!" she exclaimed. "Did those men kill my husband?"

Flique made her wait perhaps half a minute before he answered.

"Does madame speak seriously?" "What do you mean?"

Flique held up the pendant. "Has madame forgotten this?" "What do you mean?"

"That monsieur offered madame the unbearable humiliation and that she could not content herself to wait for Messieurs le Balafré and Bec, who might never come at all."

"You are crazy!" Mrs. Parados screamed.

"Madame is not herself. Is it because I am about to remind her that Friday, the day monsieur was killed, was the anniversary of their wedding and the birthday of madame? Is it because I remind her that this trifle which monsieur purchased for—35 cents, was it—was his gift to madame on that tender occasion?"

"No, no, no!" Mrs. Parados was beating upon the arms of her chair.

"I was the final humiliation. Madame could stand no more."

"You are lying! It isn't my pendant! I never saw it before!"

"A green stone is missing—yousee!" Flique held the pendant in front of Mrs. Parados' agonized eyes. "But that excellent Manning found it on the floor of madame's room—and madame—"

"You devil!"

"—and madame knocked it out of her hand."

Mrs. Parados covered her face and rocked back and forth in her chair.

"It was evening and madame went up to her room to dress. Flique continued relentlessly. "Am I not right? How it burned her hand, that trifle. She could not bear it."

"Flique—listen to me. I didn't do it!"

"The excellent Manning prepares her bath. Madame undresses and puts on her gown—her blue gown. The trifle still burns her hand and she thrusts it deep into her pocket."

"Yes, I did insert that advertisement. I hoped it would bring those men here. And I hoped they'd send a bullet into Dan's black heart. There! That's out. I'm glad."

"I suppose you want to know how I knew about Dan and those men and the phoenix. It was this way: "Dan was always bragging, especially after he'd been drinking. One evening, a few days after that escape from Devil's Island, he drank

PERMANENT WAVE SHOP IS LARGER

Housed in new and larger quarters on the ground floor of the Read Hotel, and equipped with beauty culture implements, the Permanent Wave Beauty Shoppe, and Beauty Culture School is enjoying a large patronage from Big Spring women.

Mrs. Bertha Johnson, owner and proprietor, indicated the rate of business has been decidedly increased since the move from the Ben Allen Barber Shop. The beauty parlor and school is now located at 209 East Second Street.

Mrs. Johnson is recognized as one of the most efficient, as well as courteous, operators in West Texas. Prior to opening her first business in Big Spring, she operated various shops in Midland over a period of four years.

After serving a year as instructor in the Sellers School of Beauty in Fort Worth, Mrs. Mickey Bruce came to Big Spring and joined the Permanent Wave Shoppe staff. She has had similar experience in Arizona. She is instructor in the Beauty Culture School.

Permanent wave and facial work are done by Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Jack Holloway, and Mrs. C. D. Davis. Mrs. Davis devotes her entire time to facial work. All three operators are recognized as experts in their lines.

Students in the school are not allowed to attend patrons of the shoppe, Mrs. Johnson declared. A mistaken idea is that the students work on the patrons upon entering the school. The two divisions of the school are distinctive, no direct connection existing between the two. Only trained operators are permitted to attend customers and students are given instruction in another compartment of the building.

RIX STORE PIONEER IN BIG SPRING

One of the oldest and best known firms in this section of West Texas is the Rix Furniture & Hardware company, which recently celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary. Harvey L. Rix, head of the firm, with his sons, Ralph, Lewis and Paul, have through the years developed its resources and improved its service to the public to cope with the changing demands of the times.

The Rix family, real pioneers of the Big Spring country, have seen the business grow with the city. W. W. and Jed, brothers of Harvey, with their sister, Miss Ruth Rix, have operated a large, flourishing business in Lubbock for several years. B. C. Rix, their father, is interested both here and in Lubbock.

Special home decoration service, diligent study of the furniture needs of each customer, courtesy to everyone whether in the store to buy one or five hundred dollars worth of merchandise are among the reasons why this firm has prospered.

A cooking school, under direction of Mrs. Inez Galloway of Wichita, Kansas, with Miss Mildred Phillips in charge, has been conducted for the women of this territory in the Rix store. Practical demonstrations of practical recipes were conducted in a model kitchen, with comfortable seating arrangements for the women. Much interest was shown in this school.

Besides the furniture business the House of Rix carries one of the most complete stocks of hardware in West Texas and has for many years, as an associated enterprise, operated the Rix Mortuary, one of the oldest undertaking establishments in this section.

EXPERTS SELECT SHARKEY TO WIN

Barbers Back In Command Of City League Leadership

THE WATER BUCKS

Cosden declared they liked their short visit to the pinnacle of the City League just fine, thank you. Had a very nice time while it lasted; the only trouble being it didn't last long enough. Just like Simms' winning streak—it went out like a second hand light globe in a boiler factory. Simms, by the way, did about everything possible for a batter to do Sunday afternoon. He walked them, he hit them with pitched balls, he gave up hits when he hit them, he struck them out, and to have a good day of it he socked Cotton Clover, the unimpaired umpire, with a pitched ball, by error of course, but all the same it sent the tow haired boy to his knees.

Dickinson, on the other five fingers, had things coming his way. A week's rest didn't do Richco's mound any harm. Supported by the best infield in the loop, Dick did a little lawn mowing, and the bladed machine was in Cosden's front yard. Only one run was earned off Dickinson. Errors after men were on the sacks counted for the other two.

Now lets peruse the progress made by Jess Vick, the lob ball artist who was painting a beautiful picture for the rambling razor welders Sunday. Vick gave up six hits, but none of the three runs ushered across the plate by the Barbers were earned. Errors again marred the day. The veteran hill-topper didn't throw a fast ball during the time he was in the sun. He lobbed them over and let them sink where they might. To be frank, the majority of them sailed slowly into the infield, or took a short one-stop flight to the outside garden.

Larrimore—diminutive southpaw of the Barbers—was hit by the Barbers. Although West made a couple of costly errors at second base, the Barbs slammed Larrimore's fast ball to the four corners of Mr. Gary et al's Dusty Diamond. Ganoway, Larrimore's successor struck out two of the four men that faced him.

The Barbers were in first place today, wishing for some sunshine so they could back in it. Baseball is funny. Cosden and Richco have spent lots of money on their ball teams, but the Barbers have fought their way to the top, having nothing to offer to players but love, affection, gratitude, and maybe a free shave once a week.

Purvis, the newly acquired short-stop of Cosden, went into a batting slump Sunday just as quickly as he went on an abating spree Friday. Friday Purvis got three doubles in four excursions, made three runs and stole three bases. Sunday he whiffed twice, popped out once, and grounded out a puny one once. The crown fits uneasily, or something like that.

The Barbers picked out a vulnerable spot in the Bankers' lineup Sunday and pounded the orbit to the same more than once. That was that little plot of ground between short and left field. P. Madison was out there with a charity horse in his pedal extremity and couldn't gallop across the sod like he should. And that is where the Barbers poled them plenty.

Incidentally Lois Madison had a short debate with Umpire Clover during the initial game. Madison ventured too far off third and McPeak threw him out to Thurman. That didn't improve Madison's feelings, so he came up walking and talking. Clover drew his ear-muffs out of his cap.

Clover worked the two games excellently. He has already earned the reputation of a hustler. He moves almost as much as the players, and when he calls "em he calls 'em. If he works like a little man maybe we'll give him a raise about the first of September.

This afternoon the Laundry and the Bankers will clash. The protest game which the Bankers had thrown out, will be played off, starting in the inning when the cause of the protest made its appearance. If time is nice and the moon white about it, a five inning game will follow the protest fray. The two teams are scheduled for a game today anyway.

Ganoway or Payne will be on the mound for the Bankers, and it is likely that Crouch will draw the assignment for the Laundry in the main fray. The Laundry, be it said, is in no too excellent a frame of mind. A couple or more buttons were missing off our shirt this week, and our collar had ruffles.

COSDEN 9, BANKERS LOSE

Dickinson And Vick Stand Out In Two Victories

With everything having come their way in Sunday afternoon's double bill affair, the Barbers were back in command of the City League today, having topped the Bankers 8 to 3, and Cosden having gone down in defeat at the hands of Richco, 8 to 3, in the nine inning nightcap.

With Jess Vick sailing a tantalizing lob ball across the slab, the Barbers galloped away with an easy victory. Larrimore, left hand hurler for the Bankers, having been clouted off the rubber and sent to the dugout. They got to Larrimore in two big innings. In the first an error by C. West to place C. Madison, a sacrifice by Patton, a two base clout by L. Madison, a triple by Hicks and a double by G. Chapman accounted for three runs.

Hit In Fifth

For two innings Larrimore blanked them, in the fourth he gave up to singles, but no scores, but in the fifth the wrecking crew again reached him for plenty of bingles.

Patton walked, L. Madison and Hicks singled, and another error by West allowed two to score, P. Madison having gone home on Hick's single. Chapman, who went to first on West's misplay, tallied on Hutchins' double.

The Bankers tallied in the second on Vick's error and Anthony's double, McPeak scoring. Again in the fifth they got one across when Anthony doubled and scored when Patton tried to throw P. Madison out at second. The third was gleamed in the sixth inning when McPeak singled, stole second, went to third post on a passed ball, and took advantage of Patton's second attempt to catch a runner—Barley—at second to tally.

Ganoway relieved Larrimore when one was away in the fifth and retired the Barbering boys with no hits and no runs.

Simms Pounded

Cosden went down into the mire of defeat when the Richardson Refinery and Coahoma aggregation displayed a beautiful defensive game with Dickinson hurling excellent ball, and pounded Simms hard on the offensive.

J. Moore started the scoring in the first when he was hit by one of Simms' fast ones. After stealing the second sack he tallied on Hoehn's double. Cosden tied the count in the first of the third when Martin went to first on Reid's error, and scored on West's double. That was as close as Cosden got to Richco all afternoon.

In the same inning, Richco tallied three off Simms. Walker started the rally with a single, tallying on Hoehn's single. Hoehn and Clark, who was walked by Simms, scored on Cramer's single.

Cosden trotted two homeward in the first of the sixth on a single by Martin, one by Baker and the same by Morton, combined with a juggle of the orbit by Dickinson. Martin tallied on Morton's single, and Baker went home on Dickinson's error.

Smith Hurts

In the same inning Richco tallied three when Simms blew completely. To start matters he hit Reid with a pitched ball. He struck out Dickinson, and walked Walker. He gave another free pass to J. Moore, and hit for the dugout, Slim Smith replacing him. Reid tallied on Morton's error, and Walker and J. Moore scored on Gillham's third error of the day.

One run was earned off Smith in the seventh when Cook singled and tallied on Reid's double.

SCHMELING UNDERDOG IN FRAY

Odds In Favor Of Sharkey To Cop Are 2 To 1

BY EDWARD J. NEAL, Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—The two-dollar seat boys who will rank and file of flatlanders, from the high powered experts down to the perch in the bleachers at the Yankee Stadium Thursday night, are hailing Jack Sharkey today as the next heavyweight champion of the world. And Max Schmeling, the German challenger, would not have it otherwise.

Three days before the fifteen-round battle in the big American League ball park, where possibly 70,000 of the faithful will gather to yell for their favorite and pay homage to the new king of the prize ring, the odds are climbing steadily in Sharkey's favor. He was "even money" when the match was made, then a 7 to 5 favorite, 8 to 3, and now he is becoming a 2 to 1 shot to beat back the bid of the hard-hitting young Teuton.

Teuton Sure

But strangely enough the underdog in a heavyweight title tilt always feels surest of victory. The records of the prize ring, going back into the earliest championship struggles of modern times, show few instances where the favorite came through to victory. John L. Sullivan, Jim Corbett, Bob Fitzsimmons, Jim Jeffries, Jack Johnson, Jess Willard, Jack Dempsey, all lost the title in bouts in which they were favorites.

Sharkey has gained the betting edge, although wagering has been light, because of his trained left hand, sharp right, boxing skill and experience. He punches well to the body where the German's ability to "take it" is unknown. He is the larger, stronger more polished of the two.

Any question of condition must seem to be answered in the Boston sailor's favor. He has trained slowly and evenly and is steadily approaching the 196 pounds he hopes to weigh Thursday night. He has restricted himself entirely to boxing both as his business and pastime.

Golf Crazy

Schmeling has been seriously hampered by fear of going stale, lack of excess weight to work against, and the necessity of keeping a fine edge, reached too early. The German puncher, too, seems to have gone slightly golf crazy and one day, when he should have been resting, shot 36 holes under a feverish sun. At times he acts as though he were training for the national open at Minneapolis. In three weeks he has brought his best scores for 18 holes from 130 strokes to 101.

Yet Sharkey has always had trouble with rushing, puncher fighters of Schmeling's type though he also has displayed marked ability to absorb punishment. Johnny Risko and Tom Heeney charged the Boston sailor out of one chance at the championship and the most aggressive warrior of them all, Jack Dempsey, knocked him out.

The fear of the Sharkey wagers rests in his mental instability. Jack has the "class" the boys rate so highly, but he also has the discouraging habit of tasing aside his boxing ability to fight the other fellow's fight in the heat of a close hard match.

typically even German temperament. He hits hard enough to take full and lasting advantage of one Sharkey mistake. He has everything to win and nothing to lose.

A former lightweight champion watched Sharkey lose his temper and swing wildly at a sparring partner in training the other day. He nodded wisely and made the sage remark:

"He'll do that just once with Schmeling, and they'll be telling him in the dressing room what happened."

Okla. Fire Destroys Five Business Sites

GRANDFIELD, Okla., June 9 (AP)—Fire today destroyed five business structures here with estimated damage of $80,000.

the Kaufman candidate were the nominee.

"Did you not state that Young was the Tammany candidate for governor?" Pickney asked.

Love replied:

"I said that Jim Young was being supported by the undercover men of Tammany Hall, who operated in this state on behalf of Governor Smith's presidential candidacy. I said that a letter from Chester W. Jurney, who was directing the Texas campaign for Tammany, written to Bob Henry at Houston, stated that the campaign in this state should be conducted under cover, and he named you and John Boyle of San Antonio as the two principal undercover men."

"Gambler"

Declaring that he believed the committee was helpless to keep Mrs. Ferguson's name off the ballots as a candidate, Love said the supreme court in its recent ruling upheld his attitude that he was not bound to support the nominees of a primary beyond his conscience.

He said he would support the nominees to the "utmost of my conscience."

"Well, then, why don't you place your morality above that of the gambler, who plays the game and takes his losses, and get out of the democratic party and seek favors at the hands of another?" Pickney asked.

Pickney's shaft plunged the committee meeting into a demonstration, as many of the spectators stood and cheered. It was several minutes before Senator Love could answer.

"I feel it all the more my duty to enter the primaries, and believe all who think as I do should do likewise, and try to save the democratic party from domination by those who would destroy the prohibition amendment," was his reply.

"If Mrs. Ferguson were the nominee of the party for governor would you again organize and oppose her election?" Renfro asked.

"I would do everything within my power to oppose the return of Fergusonism to the capitol," he answered.

"Have you resigned your membership in the Hoover Democratic Party of Texas?" he was asked.

"There never was any such organization in Texas; the men and women opposed to the wet candidacy of Alfred Smith and his Tammany affiliations simply went into the general election and rebuked him and if, in 1932, Smith is nominated for president by the democrats or one of his Tammanyites is selected as the standard bearer I will do the same thing again," Love replied.

down and his body spirited away. Police believe McLaughlin may have been that man.

Half a dozen gangsters, most of them well known, are missing and, perhaps, dead. Pat Roche, special investigator for the state's attorney, believes all have been taken on gangland's "one way ride."

George (Bugs) Moran himself is one of the number. Some detectives believe he is hiding; others believe he "got careless" and was slain.

Others who are presumed to have been executed and their bodies removed are: Leo Mongoven, Moran's bodyguard; Ted Newberry, a leader who quit the Moran fold; and disappeared; Ben Bennett, said to have come here representing a New York liquor syndicate; Harry Higgins, St. Paul racketeer; Robert Schmidt—Frisco Dutch—a pal of Red McLaughlin's.

BANDIT SLAIN

WILBURTON, Okla., June 9 (AP)—Shot through the neck by officers while attempting to rob the Tuskotoma bank yesterday, the body of a man identified as James C. Bartsley, was found later in an abandoned automobile 200 yards from the Latimer county jail here.

The gun battle occurred when three men attempted to open the screen door to the bank at Tuskotoma, thirty miles south of here. They were accosted by Jim Payne, Pushmataha county deputy sheriff, and Verdy Hicks, who opened fire when one of the robbers ordered them to throw up their hands.

An exchange of shots followed during which the robbers rushed to a car in which a woman awaited and made their escape.

Bartsley died while the bandit car was speeding toward Wilburton. Payne said a trail of blood to the automobile led him to believe another of the three men had been injured.

Both Payne and Hicks identified the dead man as one of those in the attempted robbery. The abandoned car was the one in which the escape was made, they said.

Working on the theory that the automobile had been abandoned when the gasoline supply became exhausted and that the woman and the other two men had fled westward in another car, officers today were carrying on an intensive

CAPTURE ROBBER

FORT WORTH, June 9 (AP)—Authorities here today were holding a man for questioning in connection with the robbery yesterday of Fred and Company, Fort Worth loan and jewelry shop, of between $10,000 and $20,000 in diamonds and $750 in cash.

The man was captured as he was leaving the place and the loot was recovered.

As the robber was emerging from the office of the loan company, C. W. Allen, an employee, entered by a hall door. They fought but the robber jerked free and fled. Allen followed and caught the man, holding him until a policeman arrived. Diamonds and cash were strewn along the course of the flight and fight.

At the police station, a man who gave his name as Russell L. Kuykendall, 28, Dallas, told two reporters of the planning and execution of the robbery. He said an automobile had been parked two blocks from the store and a few minutes more would have permitted a clear escape.

Good merchandise is like a good sound investment. It doesn't have the "alluring low price with a thousand to one chance of it being good" life's a poor investment. It has the enduring qualities of fineness and style sold by merchants that are pleased to present it with their LABEL to customers they know will return to their store, pleased with their former transactions.

Detective William Murphy, who said the youth made a gesture as if drawing a gun when commanded to put up his hands.

Murphy told his superiors that he was in Mingo's restaurant at 90 East 10th street about dawn yesterday when the nine entered. They ordered beer and sandwiches and retired to a rear room.

Shortly after Casey with three others came out and moved toward the door.

"Let's stick this place up," one of them remarked, drawing a pistol. Murphy said he drew a gun and fired two shots where he stood at the rear end of the bar and that Martin McKnight, 20 years old, fired five shots in return, one of which wounded Louis Bertoncelian, the bar tender, in the arm.

McKnight with two of his companions fled through the door and Murphy followed. He ordered Casey and the five remaining in the room to put up their hands. The detective said Casey reached toward his pocket and Murphy fired again, killing him. He was found to be unarmed.
