WHITEFACE VICTORY AT BORGER BRINGS DALHART WOLVES HERE

Boys Attempt Hi-Jacking and Land In County Jail

W. F. HARLE FRUSTRATES PLANS

Signed Statement Tells Story of Attempt to Hold Up Vega Citizen Enroute to Hereford. Youth Is Slightly Wounded Before Being Captured.

W. F. Harle of Vega was held up at the point of a gun Monday afternoon while enroute to Hereford, and two youths are lodged in jail here as the result of it. A signed statement by one of them given the name of one as Norman Griffin, 15, of Cleveland, Ohio, and the other as Pat Chamlee. According to the statement, the boys accosted Harle for a ride and let them stand on the running board. One of them dropped his hat for an excuse to stop and the other pulled the gun on Harle at the range. Harle shoved him off the running board and drove down the road. Securing assistance, Harle came back with a shotgun and caught up with them in a field. When the boys showed fight with a gun, an automatic pistol, he shot and hit Pat Chamlee in the face, one pellet lodging in the corner of one eye and another grazing his ear. As Griffin's statement continues, he says he ran and hid under a barn or granary from which the boys were brought to town where they were turned over to Sheriff John B. Miller. Griffin made his statement to county Attorney John Coffey. Medical examination does not reveal how serious will be the wound in the corner of Chamlee's eye. It may heal readily and it may develop into a critical condition.

GRANDFATHER OF MRS. BESS TURRENTINE DIED TUESDAY

George W. Ridgeway was born December 12, 1841, died November 9, 1931. He was born in Andalus county, Missouri, and lived here until about middle age, farming during that time. He went to Alaska to search for gold and was there two years. He had many experiences, but found no gold. He moved to North Dakota and farmed for several years, moving to Colorado and from Colorado to Wildorado, Texas, in 1908, where he has resided since, except for about one year that he resided in California. To him and wife, Isabel, were born four sons, two of whom are deceased, W. W. Ridgeway living in Montana, and George W. in Austin, Colorado. His wife died 12 years ago at Wildorado. He leaves numerous grand children and great grand children. The only ones living in this county are Mrs. Bess Turrentine and children, of Hereford. Mr. and Mrs. George W. Ridgeway were charter members of the Methodist church, Audubon county, Missouri. They lived here and attended that church for many years and never changed their membership from it. The kind of religion Mr. Ridgeway had was to love his fellow man and to owe no man anything. He was always ready to lend a helping hand to his relatives and friends. He was raised an orphan and had never learned to depend on others. Five days before death he was very active, making his living and helping others at the age of 90 years. Many will miss his services. Funeral services were conducted at 3:00 p. m. Tuesday at the Wildorado Methodist church by E. F. Giesler of Hereford, and held in Palo Duro cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Kohler of Prich, Illinois, have been in Deaf Smith county the past week looking after land interests. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Weeden and W. M. Megert left Friday morning.

LOCAL RED CROSS ROLL CALL DRIVE BEGINS NOVEMBER 12

The membership Roll Call of the Deaf Smith County Red Cross Chapter will begin here today, November 12. E. B. Black, Roll Call chairman, has announced. Workers will visit people at their homes and places of business to extend a personal invitation to join the organization for the coming year, he explained, and called attention to the fact that the Red Cross Roll Call is an annual event occupying the time between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving, emphasized by presidential proclamation and governors' statements, and especially in the public focus because 1931 is the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Red Cross. Last year's Roll Call resulted in 213 members for our chapter here, and 4,075,640 in the United States

Armistice Day Program Attended by Packed House

A packed congregation attended the Armistice Day memorial services at the First Christian church yesterday. About 80 American Legion members and world war veterans attended in a body, marching from the court house before the services began at 11:00. Numbers on the program consisted of two songs by the congregation, "America" and "God Bless Our Native Land," a pageant by 12 pupils of the Central school in memory of the soldiers who are buried overseas, a vocal solo by Charles Ferguson, and the principal address of the day by Rev. M. J. Johnson, "Soul of the Nation."

Call Out Basket Ball Candidates

The first call for practice and candidates for the high school basketball team was made Monday morning of this week when the coaches asked for those interested to report. There is soon exceptionally good material in school that should give the Whitefaces one of the best teams of its history, according to word given out by the coaches. No schedule has been arranged for games with neighboring schools for the coming season, which will start soon after the close of football.

CASTRO COUNTY FARMER GIVEN LIFE SENTENCE

Frank Barrett of Castro county was given a 99 year sentence in the penitentiary by a jury in district court at Dismal last week, which heard him plead guilty to the slaying last spring of his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Nona Barrett. Barrett heard his sentence pronounced and stated at once that he would accept the sentence without appeal.

May Hale Is Buried Here This Afternoon

May Hale, who was killed in an automobile accident near Summerfield Oct. 31, and whose body had been held at the Black Funeral Home while efforts were made to locate her people, will be buried today at West Park cemetery. A brother, Willie Miller, and a sister, Mrs. Julian Wiley, both of Seneca, South Carolina, have sent word it would not be possible for them to get here for the funeral. May Hale, whose age has been estimated to be about 38, was killed early Saturday morning, October 31, when a model-T Ford in which she and a companion were traveling from Globe, Arizona to Oklahoma City, overturned at a curve near Summerfield.

Local Schools Needing Tax Money Now

A recent ruling of the Attorney General held that the law providing for the payment of taxes in two installments does not apply to independent school districts. The collector of taxes for the Hereford Independent district had already accepted part payment on four pieces of property and had sent out statements announcing that taxes might be paid in accordance with the law governing the payment of state and county taxes. This, of course, proved to be an error following the opinion of the Attorney General in which he also held that independent districts might set the date for payment of taxes to such districts.

The school board considered the question from every angle in a meeting held last Saturday and came to the conclusion that it would be unwise for the schools to delay the collection of the last installment until June 30, as is provided by the law governing the payment of state and county taxes. The school money must be practically all spent by May 20 each year. Much of the state apportionment and one-half of the vocational reimbursement is not paid until after the close of school. The board would, therefore, have difficulty in finding a person or bank willing to advance sufficient money to continue the operation of the schools. Besides, there will be no major crop movement that will bring in money in time for the second installment mentioned above.

The board voted to allow those who pay one-half of their school taxes on or before November 30, 1931, to pay the last half on or before March 31, 1932, without penalty or interest. In other words a tax payer may pay one-half of his school taxes in November and thus get an extension of two months from January 31 on the other half. If the first half is not paid by November 30, the entire amount must be paid on or before January 31, to save penalty and interest. If the people cannot arrange to pay their taxes on the dates given, the Board feels that the early closing of the schools will be seriously threatened. The schools will need money before the next pay day on November 29. Public spirited citizens who can pay all of their taxes early without sacrifice can render a real service to the schools and get the matter out of the way at the same time. Taxes for 1931 were really due October 1 though the final date for payment is January 31.

Market Prices Hold Steady

While not as optimistic as some might hope for, the price for grains and market produce in Hereford holds up well in comparison with other commodities. Wheat today is still at 46 cents a bushel, row crop grains at 50 cents per hundred, cream brings 23 cents for butterfat, turkeys are quoted at 15 cents for No. 1 birds, and eggs show up exceptionally well with a price of 21 cents a dozen.

While the Whitefaces outplayed the Eagles from Canyon Friday to win 7-0, the game was so filled with tense situations that the spectators were constantly filled with hope or dread, according to which side they favored, from the first whistle to the last gun. The game belonged to either team at any moment had a bad break occurred for or against the Whitefaces or the Eagles. After the Hereford touchdown in the third quarter it looked a

Commissioners Now Have Petition Under Advisement

The commissioners of Deaf Smith county received this week and have under advisement the petitions recently circulated relative to the continuance of the extension work program in this county. The petitions were not presented to the court at its regular meeting two weeks previous, but were held until more signatures could be secured, and were delivered to the court at its session Monday. The court will probably not be in session again until its regular meeting on the fourth Monday in this month, November 23. The petitions are the result of an agreement between the county commissioners and the directors of the Hereford chamber of commerce officials to have the latter secure signatures asking for reinstatement of extension service workers in Deaf Smith county, to determine whether a majority of the taxpaying residents desired the work to continue.

Amarillo Junior Hi Here Saturday

Arrangements were completed Tuesday for a football game of importance to be played at Whiteface field at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Hereford's second team, better known locally as the "gas house gang" will take the field against the Amarillo junior high school team. The gas house gang has played several games this year and are able to give an exceptionally good account of themselves. They are not just beginners in football but have several years experience behind them, and new Whiteface players to take the places of those who graduate, will come from the ranks of the Gas House.

Health Service Is Organized for New Work

A special meeting of the executive committee of the health service was held Thursday morning of last week at the office of the public health nurse, the purpose of which was to meet the nurse, Miss Grace Dean Buzzell, who succeeds Miss Nell Hall as county health nurse. Miss Buzzell began her duties Thursday. Miss Hagquist, state supervising nurse from Austin, was a visitor. The following members were added and have been asked to serve on certain committees: Judge Earl Wilson, chairman Five Point project in rural schools; C. H. Dillehay, chairman Five Point project, city schools; Rev. E. P. Giesler, education chairman; Dr. T. L. Morgan, medical director; Mrs. H. D. Reed, social welfare chairman.

It was voted to sponsor the Five Point project, which is a state wide program, the purpose of which is to build up an understanding of what each individual must do in order to maintain health, and a realization that health is not a mere negative or absence of disease, but a condition when every part of the body and mind functions abundantly, as a positive and priceless possession. Requirements for obtaining certificate of a bill of good health are: 1. Conscientious practice of health habits; 2. Cultivation of good health attitudes and citizenship; 3. Correction of physical defects, including satisfactory weight; 4. Immunization against smallpox and diphtheria, and 5. Obtainment of satisfactory grades in school work.

This project is carried on for three months, and Miss Buzzell expects to have it established in all rural schools soon as possible. To show the success of this program over the state last year, 1810 certificates were given by the state department of health in counties where nurses are in the field. Miss Buzzell also plans to organize game on ice, but the Bulldogs came back fighting toward the end of the third quarter with a force that swept everything before them.

Starting then with but two first downs Borger ran up a string of 11 in short order, making a touchdown and extra point, and laying the ball on the one foot line a second time only to lose on a fumble that the Whitefaces recovered, to go scampering down the field reeling off one first down after another until the gun stopped them 38 yards from the Borger goal.

Hereford's first score, which caught the Bulldogs flat-footed, was a touchdown made by Brunell Oilmer when Jack Pussell from his own 40 yard line dined a pass to him behind the Borger safety man for 30 yards and Oilmer went 30 more to the goal line. Habermacher kicked goal for the other point to make it 7.

Hereford's field goal came in the third quarter when the Whitefaces had driven within the Borger 10-yard line only to find those Bulldogs braced. An attempt to score with a pass was intercepted, but the punt following was low and downed by Hereford on Borger's 24-yard line. The Whitefaces again brought the ball within the 10-yard line to find the Bulldogs holding solidly. On the third play Habermacher placed-kicked an almost perfect goal for three points.

That seemed to be the Bulldogs for they surely did put up a beautiful scrap for the rest of the game, and just before the final gun, they were within one foot of a goal which would have made it just too bad for Hereford. Their one touchdown came as the result of straight football and a series of unbelievable breaks.

Hereford would throw them for losses, only to have the play called back and Hereford penalized. A long pass was intercepted by a Hereford player with his arms around the ball but it was awarded to a Borger player who had but one hand on the ball in a position it was impossible for him to have caught it. Another long Borger pass was juggled by Hereford players and bounced into a Borger player's arms to give the Bulldogs possession of the ball on Hereford's 5-yard line.

Terry, half back, and Harlow, full back, for Borger were forced to leave the game before its finish. Had they stayed in, no one doubts but that Borger would have won the game, as they both played the last half with an intensity that it seemed nothing could stop. Hereford players pretty well did Hereford citizens should read carefully the statement by the members of the school board printed elsewhere in the Brand this week. There isn't any foolishness about that—they mean just what they say. Hereford schools have been fortunate in being able to pay off their teachers, and by a little cooperation on the part of the citizenship they will continue to do so.

Those who are able will be doing the greatest possible service to their community to pay ALL of their taxes now. They are due, and will eventually be paid, so why not pay them NOW if the money is available.

Notice what the attorney general has ruled about splitting independent school taxes—that it is not being done; yet the Hereford school board has arranged for its tax payments to be split. This was done to be a convenience to the taxpayer and still get the money in before the close of the school term.

The best patriots in the United States these days are the folks who anticipate the needs of their community and respond to the very best of their ability.

There will be people who will not pay their 1930 taxes—the probability is that there will be more delinquent taxes than for the past several years—and for the sole reason it is absolutely impossible to have the money to pay them. They will pay them when they get the money, and times seem to be getting better right now.

It is of vital importance that those who have the money, even though they make considerable sacrifice to do so, should pay their taxes NOW.

Nineteen Years Ago In Hereford

(From Files of The Brand of November 15, 1912)

Rev. D. W. Hawkins, who at one time had been superintendent of the Hereford schools and later manager of the Brand, was visiting homefolks while enroute to the Methodist annual conference. Local members took occasion to have him preach the Sunday he spent in Hereford.

Mrs. J. L. Fuqua had been called to Eldorado, Oklahoma, by the illness and death of her father, C. H. Walker.

Mrs. A. B. Crump had packed her millinery stock and moved it to Shamrock, Texas, for a new location.

I am deeply indebted to Jack Horner of the Amarillo News-Globe and Vincent Lockhart of the Canyon school page, for their assistance in last Friday's Whiteface-Eagle football game, and the good time we three had together while the struggle lasted. It was the third consecutive year Vincent and I have worked the Canyon-Hereford games, and is a day we mutually look forward to each time for the fellowship we enjoy.

I think the Whitefaces were entitled to another touchdown Friday, because I said at the start we ought to win by that much, but really and truly 7 points looked very nice after we got them. You just have to admit that the boys conducted themselves admirably under the worst fire of penalties any Hereford team has faced for a long time, whether they deserved them or not was up to the officials. I couldn't find anything wrong with them for all the beefing I did.

The Whitefaces are getting better and better and they are entitled to go farther in the conference race.

E. B. Black is ready to see you about the Red Cross drive membership, perhaps he or his workers have seen you before you read this. Deaf Smith county has never failed to more than raise its quota. The mark of $200 set for this year should be exceeded.

Red Cross activities look after local situations now and those who give a dollar or more for membership this year will be providing help for their next door neighbor as well as sufferers in other regions.

Another week has gone by and we have nothing to report on activities leading to a highway bond issue. Deaf Smith county is apparently satisfied to let things drag along in the mud. One thing is certain, it will be a long time before such an emergency exists in the labor situation as it does now, that highways may be put down as cheaply as they can now, or that bond payments can be made more easily than they can during the coming ten years.

Card of Thanks.

In leaving the Abo filling station location I want to thank my many friends and patrons for the trade they have given me. I will remember for a long time the courtesies extended us while I was there, and assure you that should I again manage another station your patronage will be appreciated there as well.

Seen On the Screen at the Star

Manager J. C. Parker is keeping his promise of having the best pictures he can get at the Star, and the coming week's program is one of the most outstanding of all times.

Showing the musical comedy, "Flying High" for the last time today, tomorrow will witness a one-day only showing of "Touch-down," an extra super-special that was shown in the largest theatres of the country for the first time last week. It is brought at the suggestion of the mothers of the high school band and is sponsored by them as the best football picture shown this fall.

The seventh installment of "The Vanishing Legion" the thrilling serial story the Star is running, will be shown Friday night as well, and at Saturday's matinee and night shows also.

Saturday will bring a Kentucky racing story that will prove a satisfaction to Star patrons. It is named "Sporting Blood" and is packed with thrills as only a story of racing thoroughbreds can be.

The long expected "Daddy Long-Legs" will delight the theatre goers the first of next week, the first presentation being given as a mid-night matinee Sunday night at 11, and the play will be shown Monday and Tuesday nights, too.

Janet Gaynor, who is responsible for the great pleasure vast audiences have experienced from seeing this famous old story, appears at her best in "Daddy Long-Legs," Wednesday and Thursday of next week will bring Joan Crawford in "This Modern Age", a picture depicting the characterizations so aptly portrays. This will be a 1-Cent sale picture at the Star. Manager Parker usually having this feature each week on those nights, when two adults will be admitted for the price of one ticket, plus 1-cent, or two children may see the show for the price of one admission with 1 cent additional.

A scenic drive in the Davis Mountains near Fort Davis is under construction to extend approximately 75 miles.

F. P. POTTER BURIED SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Franklin Pleece Potter was born at Carmi, White county, Illinois, November 10, 1852, and passed to his eternal home November 6, 1931, having reached the ripe old age of 78 years, 11 months and 26 days.

In the fall of 1908, 23 years ago, he and his family came to Hereford, where, as in Illinois, he made a real contribution to the best life of the community in which he lived. Motivated by lofty Christian ideals, he won the respect and admiration of all who knew him. He gained an enviable reputation for his keen sense of fairness, his unquestioned integrity and his unflinching loyalty to the highest standards of personal life. In the church he was a tireless worker. Honored with various offices both in the church and Sunday school, he regarded these as positions of trust, meriting his very best endeavor.

About two years ago Mr. Potter suffered injuries from an automobile from which he never recovered. Since then he was greatly dependent upon his dear ones, who ministered gladly with loving heart and hand to his comfort and cheer.

Those who survive him are his faithful companion, Mrs. Albina Humphrey Potter, two daughters, Mrs. N. A. Kuykendall of Wichita Falls, and Mrs. John McLean of this city, and one sister, Mrs. Rebecca Troupe, of Indianapolis, Indiana.

"He hath rest from his labor, And his works do follow him."

HAZARDS OF THE GAS BUSINESS

No other public utility operation is as hazardous as the natural gas business.

The duration of the business is limited by nature, because the commodity in which the utility deals is supplied by nature alone. The supply is limited and is exhaustible, and when exhausted can never be recreated.

Artificial gas companies, electric light companies, railroad companies, telegraph and telephone companies create the basic elements of their service; their business is stable and their duration is not limited. But this is not true of a natural gas utility. When the supply of gas is exhausted, the equipment is worthless except for the price it will bring as junk.

It is vital to the progress and welfare of any community that its utility companies be extended a measure of co-operation which will permit them to give the excellent service which they desire to give—and which the citizens have a right to expect.

PAUL IN JERUSALEM

of the soldiers for the violence of 36. For the multitude of the people followed after, crying out, Away with him.

37. And as Paul was about to be brought into the castle, he saith unto the chief captain: May I say something unto thee? And he said, Dost thou know Greek?

38. Are thou not then the Egyptian, who before these days stirred up to sedition and let out into the wilderness the four thousand men of the Assassins?

39. But Paul said, I am a Jew, of Tarsus in Cilicia, a citizen of no mean city: and I beseech thee, give me leave to speak unto the people.

Golden Text: Thou shalt be a witness for him unto all men of what thou hast seen and heard.—Acts 22:15.

Time: A. D. 67.

Place: Jerusalem. Castle Antonia. The Hall of the Sanhedrin.

Lesson Connections.

The incidents of the last lesson, Acts 18, were not only followed by a great turning to Christ in Ephesus, but also by a violent outbreak of opposition led by Demetrius, a silversmith, whose traffic in images became less profitable (Acts 19:23-41). Already Paul had planned to leave Ephesus (Acts 19:21, 22) for another visit to the cities of Macedonia and Achaia and afterwards to Jerusalem. Accordingly, after the riot, he departed. Luke tells us of his itinerary. He passed through Macedonia giving the churches "much exhortation"; he spent three months in Greece (Achaia); his purpose to sail from there directly to Syria (Palestine) was thwarted by a plot of some Jews, and he went again through Macedonia and from there to Troas, where he remained a week; thence he made his way toward Jerusalem, which he hoped to reach by the day of Pentecost. He touched at several points, the most important of which were Miletus (where he met the Ephesian elders and made that wonderful address which is found in Acts 20:18-35), Tyre (where he stayed a week, the disciples begging him not to go to Jerusalem), and Caesarea.

Paul in Caesarea.
An incident which occurred at Caesarea shows with what spirit and expectation Paul went to Jerusalem. A certain prophet, Agabus, from Jerusalem, dramatically took Paul's girdle and bound his own feet and hands with it, explaining that the owner of the girdle would be so bound in Jerusalem and delivered to the Gentiles. Already there was a feeling among the disciples that it would be dangerous for Paul to go, and when Agabus spoke with such certainty, they besought the apostle with tears to change his plans. But he would not be persuaded. He answered "What do ye, weeping and breaking my heart? For I am ready not to be bound only, but also to die at Jerusalem for the name of the Lord Jesus."

A Welcome and a Warning.

It was quite a company that entered Jerusalem with Paul. Sopater, Aristarchus Secundus, Gaius, Timothy, Tychicus, Trophimus, Mamon and Luke are named, besides certain of disciples from Caesarea. They carried with them gifts from the Gentile churches for the poor saints there, a wonderful story of the triumphs of the gospel. The leaders, however, felt that Paul ought to be warned and prepared to meet the situation which would surely arise when his presence in Jerusalem was made known. Paul's Effort Toward Peace. Already the elders, greatly perturbed, had conceived a plan by which Paul, without argument, might prove to all that he had not done what had been reported. Four men of the church were under a vow which made it necessary for them to appear in the Temple for certain ceremonies of purification. And if Paul would join these brethren in their ceremonies and himself pay the expense of the offerings, he would show that he himself observed the law and could not therefore have taught against it. To this plan Paul consented. There was no reason why he should not. He had made no objection to Jewish Christians continuing in their customs, and saw no reason for rejecting them as long as they were not made an essential to salvation.

Accused by Jews from Asia.

All went well, at least inwardly, until some Jews from Asia saw him in the Temple. They immediately raised a cry, "Men of Israel, help!" as if some atrocious enemy of the nation had been found in the holy place. Holding on to Paul, they shouted forth their accusations. They were four: that he was an enemy of the Jews, speaking against them everywhere to everybody; that he taught against the law; and against the Temple; and that he had profaned the Temple by bringing Greeks into it, all four charges being false. Paul was dragged out of the Temple, and the doors were shut, worship was adjourned, until they could cool their anger in blood.

Saved by the Romans.

No doubt Paul would have been killed by the mob had it not been for the Roman soldiers. Garrisoned in the adjoining tower of Antonia, they were at hand for quick interference when tidings came up to the chief captain that "all Jerusalem was in confusion". Paul was taken from the crowd and bound with two chains, under the excusable impression that he was some desperado. So the Roman power saved Paul's life. He will appeal to that power again. "The part here played by the Roman authority is that which it performs throughout the Acts. It shields infant Christianity from Jewish assailants, like the wolf which, according to legend, suckled Romulus. The good and the bad features of Roman rule were both valuable for that purpose. Rome's military discipline, its justice, which though often tainted, was yet better than the partisan violence which it coerced, all helped to make it the defender of the first Christians. Strange that Rome should shelter and Jerusalem persecute!"—MacLaren.

Paul Addresses the Mob.

Speaking not in Greek but in Aramaic, the form of Hebrew which was the language of most of his hearers, the apostle emphatically declared that he was born and reared a Jew and zealous for the Jewish faith. Then he told how he was converted, adding Christianity to his Judaism, and finally he declared that his mission to the Gentiles had been undertaken at the direct command of Christ. The main interest of the speech, apart from its supreme value as an autobiography, consists in the manner in which it illustrates the fact and conciliatory attitude of the apostle. In this connection the following details may be mentioned: (1) The use of Aramaic. (2) The appeal to kinship in the speech. (3) The compliment to the zeal of his audience in Acts 22:3. (4) The reference to Ananias in verse 12, and the emphasis laid on his reputation among the Jews. (5) He carefully avoids the use of terms that would cause unnecessary offense, never speaks of "Christ", and, on the other hand, introduces conceptions which would appeal to a Jewish audience, such as "the Righteous One" and "the Way".

taken from the crowd and bound with two chains, under the excusable impression that he was some desperado. So the Roman power saved Paul's life. He will appeal to that power again. "The part here played by the Roman authority is that which it performs throughout the Acts. It shields infant Christianity from Jewish assailants, like the wolf which, according to legend, suckled Romulus. The good and the bad features of Roman rule were both valuable for that purpose. Rome's military discipline, its justice, which though often tainted, was yet better than the partisan violence which it coerced, all helped to make it the defender of the first Christians. Strange that Rome should shelter and Jerusalem persecute!"—MacLaren.

Paul's Roman Citizenship.

The tribune not understanding what Paul had been saying, thought it must have been something especially atrocious or it would not so have enraged the mob, and had him brought hastily into the castle that the truth might be drawn from him by the cruel process of scourging. But when Paul was tied securely and a brawny soldier was ready to lash his bare back with the loaded thong, the apostle quietly asked the centurion in charge of the scourging whether it was lawful to scourge a Roman uncondemned by a court. To do this would expose all concerned to severe penalties, and at once the tribune was sent for. He had himself bought his Roman citizenship with a great sum. The situation reminds us of that of Philipp, Acts 16:35-39.

He of Good Cheer.

That night Paul had one of the visions that were granted him from time to time when his lot seemed the most desperate. He saw the Lord standing by him, promising that, as he had given loyal testimony to him in Jerusalem, the great desire of his heart would be vouchsafed to him, and he would be permitted to hear the same witnesses in Rome, the heart of the Empire. A Jewish plot seemed likely to prevent this, for the Sanhedrin was to request Paul's presence again for a more careful trial (which was certainly needed), and on his way to the Hall of the Sanhedrin the apostle would be assassinated; but Paul had a nephew in the city, a wide-awake young man who had learned what villainy was on foot, and told first his uncle and then Colonel Lysias. The tribune acted with commendable promptness, sending Paul under a strong guard to Caesarea, on the seacoast northwest of Jerusalem, the Roman capital of Palestine, with a letter to the Roman governor Felix, stating all the circumstances, asking him to keep the prisoner safe and to judge the case when Paul's accusers should come from Jerusalem. Thus was Paul, by all these perils, advanced one step nearer to his missionary goal. Rome, then the central city of the world.

PAUL IN JERUSALEM

of the soldiers for the violence of 36. For the multitude of the people followed after, crying out, Away with him.

37. And as Paul was about to be brought into the castle, he saith unto the chief captain: May I say something unto thee? And he said, Dost thou know Greek?

38. Are thou not then the Egyptian, who before these days stirred up to sedition and let out into the wilderness the four thousand men of the Assassins?

39. But Paul said, I am a Jew, of Tarsus in Cilicia, a citizen of no mean city: and I beseech thee, give me leave to speak unto the people.

Golden Text: Thou shalt be a witness for him unto all men of what thou hast seen and heard.—Acts 22:15.

Time: A. D. 67.

Place: Jerusalem. Castle Antonia. The Hall of the Sanhedrin.

Lesson Connections.

The incidents of the last lesson, Acts 18, were not only followed by a great turning to Christ in Ephesus, but also by a violent outbreak of opposition led by Demetrius, a silversmith, whose traffic in images became less profitable (Acts 19:23-41). Already Paul had planned to leave Ephesus (Acts 19:21, 22) for another visit to the cities of Macedonia and Achaia and afterwards to Jerusalem. Accordingly, after the riot, he departed. Luke tells us of his itinerary. He passed through Macedonia giving the churches "much exhortation"; he spent three months in Greece (Achaia); his purpose to sail from there directly to Syria (Palestine) was thwarted by a plot of some Jews, and he went again through Macedonia and from there to Troas, where he remained a week; thence he made his way toward Jerusalem, which he hoped to reach by the day of Pentecost. He touched at several points, the most important of which were Miletus (where he met the Ephesian elders and made that wonderful address which is found in Acts 20:18-35), Tyre (where he stayed a week, the disciples begging him not to go to Jerusalem), and Caesarea.

Accused by Jews from Asia.

All went well, at least inwardly, until some Jews from Asia saw him in the Temple. They immediately raised a cry, "Men of Israel, help!" as if some atrocious enemy of the nation had been found in the holy place. Holding on to Paul, they shouted forth their accusations. They were four: that he was an enemy of the Jews, speaking against them everywhere to everybody; that he taught against the law; and against the Temple; and that he had profaned the Temple by bringing Greeks into it, all four charges being false. Paul was dragged out of the Temple, and the doors were shut, worship was adjourned, until they could cool their anger in blood.

Saved by the Romans.

No doubt Paul would have been killed by the mob had it not been for the Roman soldiers. Garrisoned in the adjoining tower of Antonia, they were at hand for quick interference when tidings came up to the chief captain that "all Jerusalem was in confusion". Paul was taken from the crowd and bound with two chains, under the excusable impression that he was some desperado. So the Roman power saved Paul's life. He will appeal to that power again. "The part here played by the Roman authority is that which it performs throughout the Acts. It shields infant Christianity from Jewish assailants, like the wolf which, according to legend, suckled Romulus. The good and the bad features of Roman rule were both valuable for that purpose. Rome's military discipline, its justice, which though often tainted, was yet better than the partisan violence which it coerced, all helped to make it the defender of the first Christians. Strange that Rome should shelter and Jerusalem persecute!"—MacLaren.

Paul Addresses the Mob.

Speaking not in Greek but in Aramaic, the form of Hebrew which was the language of most of his hearers, the apostle emphatically declared that he was born and reared a Jew and zealous for the Jewish faith. Then he told how he was converted, adding Christianity to his Judaism, and finally he declared that his mission to the Gentiles had been undertaken at the direct command of Christ. The main interest of the speech, apart from its supreme value as an autobiography, consists in the manner in which it illustrates the fact and conciliatory attitude of the apostle. In this connection the following details may be mentioned: (1) The use of Aramaic. (2) The appeal to kinship in the speech. (3) The compliment to the zeal of his audience in Acts 22:3. (4) The reference to Ananias in verse 12, and the emphasis laid on his reputation among the Jews. (5) He carefully avoids the use of terms that would cause unnecessary offense, never speaks of "Christ", and, on the other hand, introduces conceptions which would appeal to a Jewish audience, such as "the Righteous One" and "the Way".

vided up honors among themselves, first one then another performing valiantly. Russell, Chimer, Habermache Cloyd and Cartwright standing out as individual players, but many times their good work was accomplished by the others, who opened the way for them.

The Armistice Day victory will bring the championship of the west end of district 1 as the next game for the Whitefaces. They will face the Dalhart Wolves, a team that won the district championship last year and has most of its players back again this year. Since the Whitefaces went to Dalhart in 1929 to play, the Wolves are due to come here. The game will probably be played on Whiteface field Friday afternoon of next week, November 20.

As the comparative scores stand Dalhart has a slight advantage, but the Whitefaces playing as they did in the last half minute at Borger yesterday would be almost anybody up in knots it would take a long time to come out of.

Hereford's chances with Dalhart look decidedly better since Clovis beat Tucumcari 18-0 yesterday, while the best Dalhart, playing at home against Tucumcari could do was 19-7. When it is remembered that Portales beat Artesia who defeated Clovis, Farwell beat Portales and Hereford beat Farwell on its home grounds, the fans are entitled to feel much more confident regarding the Wolf-Whiteface game here next week.

Merchants Interest in Whiteface.

The business men of Hereford have shown that they are behind the team this season, both directly and indirectly.

It would be too numerous to mention all of those who have shown their appreciation for the games. All have contributed in some way. Some have shown extra backing by giving prizes to individual football players who played in the Canyon game.

Three business houses, Sprowls-Gronin, Cloyd's Market and Carl's Cafe, gave prizes to the players getting the most tackles in the Canyon game. Brunell Climer, having 12 tackles, was the recipient of these. Fox Mercantile Co. gave Jack Russell a prize for making the touchdown. James Cloyd recovered the first fumble and received $1 from the Furr Food Store. They all received mauls from each of the drug stores. Friday evening the football boys were guests of Carl's Cafe, favored with a delicious supper. With these and other favors, the football boys have been shown that they are being backed by their local people.

Before the season is over they may receive many other prizes from the Hereford merchants who are backing them.

Juniors.

The juniors have adopted a class yell: "Mush and sunflower seed; That's the stuff on which we feed. We're the hot stuff of creation. We're the Juniors' delegation."

In spite of our diet you'll know we'll always be there and ready to go.

MARY E. STANFORD.

Freshmen Mothers Organize.

The freshmen mothers under leadership of the freshman sponsor, Miss Wrenn, met Monday, October 26, and discussed plans toward organization. It is intended that by the cooperation of mothers and children the class will be aided in every possible way, socially and in regard to school work.

The topics discussed by those present was that of the freshman party to be held in the gymnasium at the high school, Friday, November 13. Each mother was given some part of the program to fulfill.

All of the freshmen mothers are urgently requested to attend the next meeting which is to be held soon.

Did You Know?

That Christine Fincher, a freshman, has been chosen to play in the All-State band at the State Teachers Convention in Amarillo Thanksgiving?

This is a secret: One of the freshmen mothers has offered her home for another party. Here's hoping.

Sophomore Party.

On Friday night the sophomores had a party in the gymnasium. The gymnasium was decorated in the class colors, black and white. Many interesting games were played after which refreshments were served.

Gas Housers.

The future football team is determined by this year's gas house football team. The majority of next year's team are these boys who are working this year under the coaching of Mr. White.

The gas house team gets very little publicity this year, probably on account of the Whitefaces success. Too little attention is given these boys. They are working as hard if not harder than the Whiteface team. These boys should be boosted and encouraged, because the success of next year's team is determined by the experience of this year's gas house team. Mr. White has a group of good football players, and they will probably have several more games this season.

Let's everyone get behind these boys and show them we are interested in them as our next year's football team.

Better Recitations.

The teachers report they are having better recitations in their classes these days. The fact is generally attributed to the new restrictions on the use of newspapers and magazines in the study hall. Well, we will all agree that a great temptation to keep us from studying has been removed.

Teachers Meeting.

On Monday, November 2, there was a meeting of the superintendents of schools of the Panhandle in Amarillo. Superintendent Dillehay and Mr. Carlyle, vice president of the board of education of this city, attended the meeting. There was a round-table discussion after a dinner at the Amarillo Hotel. The discussion included talks on the financial status of our schools taxes, and the teachers' meeting at Amarillo on Thanksgiving Day.

To the Faculty and Student Body of Hereford:

I take this means of thanking you for your fine cooperation during the revival meeting that it has been my pleasure to hold at the First Baptist church in your fair city. Especially do I wish to thank the different clubs that attended the services last Friday night in a body. I shall always think of you as being my friends, and I hope you will always think of me as such.

It was my privilege to see your fine football team play two games. The game last Friday was one of the best I have ever seen a high school play. I hope you will go on to a regional championship.

In closing, let me commend to you the churches and pastors of your fair city, who are striving to lift up a high standard for you, and let me urge you to refrain from following those who would lead you downward. Then I would commend you to Him who is the friend of all mankind, and who will be your greatest friend and helper if you will follow Him.

Cordially yours,
 C. Y. THOSSEY, Baptist State Evangelist.

DON'T CRY!

By Ptu-Kuky

The high school is proud of the fine music the band has been playing since the burglars stole La Verna's sax last week.

If Stoney were a stone wall in the Canyon-Hereford football game what was Habermacher?

Why does Robert Holland block traffic in the halls between periods?

Mr. Wilson went to church Friday night—don't laugh.

The Eagles, their wings did flop, the Whitefaces their tails did raise, they charged that Eagle crop, and homeward they did blaze.

True and False Test.

Does Climer love his girl?
 Buddy Collins had a date with G. T. Higgins was in Hereford.
 Libburn Ray and Terron Tynes are members of the junior class.
 Luetta had a date Friday night.
 Jiggs H. stopped laughing for a few seconds last week.

 Wilma Jo likes Canyon boys.
 Cow West won some money Friday.

James Cloyd has a dollar.
 Jack Russell's suit had a new press Friday.

J. C. McCullough never has any flats on Friday nights.

Each question counts 10—test your knowledge.

Nancy Conkwright: You may not believe it, but I said No to seven men during the summer.

Sally Skelton: No, I don't doubt it. What were they selling?

Betty Jones: How kind of you to bring me those flowers. They are so beautiful and fresh. Here is some dew (dew) on them yet.

Floyd: I hear Jack was kicked off the squad. Spaulding: What did he do? Floyd: He was told to tackle the dummy, and he tackled the coach.

Miss Carlisle: Quit spitting on the floor. Renford: What's the matter, does the floor leak?

Ardelle F. (rushing into police station): My sweetheart has disappeared. Here is his picture. His name is Sherman Morgan. Won't you please find him. Policeman (looking at picture): Why?

Mrs. Hutson: That boy it getting more like you every day. Mr. Hudson (weekly): What has he done now?

We have all been wondering why Elaine woke up crying the night of the senior party.

Believe it or not Hereford high school has a new class. It is between the senior and junior classes. Libburn Ray is president and Terron Tynes is sergeant-at-arms.

Why does Jack Cartwright run around so much in the last period study-hall?

Why are Florence Boardman, Betty Ruth Pickett and Mary Elizabeth complaining about something?

Why does Climer keep on hunting new recipes for biscuits?

Miss Wrenn: Give me a good definition of a policeman. Henry Gregg: A policeman is a man paid by the public to sleep out of doors.

Miss Campbell: How would this sentence be punctuated? The pretty girl turned the corner just as I saw her. Jack Dean: I'd make a dash after her.

Gym Class Defeats Jumbo.

The first period gym class basketball team played the Jumbo basketball team Wednesday afternoon in the local gym. The Jumbo team played a good game, but the local gym class came out ahead. The Jumbo team showed sportsmanship which is the main thing in athletics. The final score was 31-12.

Basketball season has not started yet, but these games will give those boys who intend to come out for basketball this year a chance to make better players.

This was the second game for the gym class this year. Last week they played Westway and beat them 39-10.

Foods Class Work.

The girls in the foods class, under the direction of Miss Parker, are fast stabilizing and bringing their weights up to standard.

This is accomplished by rigid following of a certain outline. The points they find hardest to do are those of drinking one quart of milk daily, sleeping nine or ten hours each night, drinking no coffee or tea, and drinking eight glasses of water daily.

However the results show that the effort is not spent in vain. In the two months the girls have been following the points of the outline they have standardized their weights greatly. Perhaps the greatest gain was that of 13 pounds in the two months. This gain brought the girls score of 60 per cent up to 100 per cent, 102 per cent being counted at perfect, because of the 17 points which they follow. Others in the class who have made gains added eleven, ten and nine pounds to their weights.

Besides the underweight girls there are those who are average and above average. The following of the points on the chart did not make them gain but merely kept them up to normal.

Moral: Girls, if you are underweight make a trip up to Miss Parker's foods class.

Basketball.

On Wednesday, November 4, the captains of the girls basketball teams of the different classes met and drew to see which teams would play against each other in the first games. It so happened that the sub-freshmen are to play the seniors, the juniors to play the freshmen, and the freshmen to play the juniors. There being five teams, it will necessitate two teams playing twice in the first elimination.

After these games are played there will be another drawing to decide which will be opposing teams in the final games, to be announced later.

Let's everybody turn out for these games and boost for his class!

FOOTBALL

ent to Berger. Those Bulldogs up there upset the dope that favored Panhandle to win last week and took the game 14-0.

First Quarter.
Hereford won the toss and chose to defend the south goal. Habermacher's kick-off was brought back by Canyon's 25. Pearson made 2 left guard, Wooten hit center for 4, Pearson went through right end for 2, and Hereford was penalized 5 yards to give Canyon first down. Wooten, Tucker and Pearson made but 3 yards in 45 any tries and Pearson's punt was down on Hereford's 34.

Russell went around left end for 1, and Habermacher circled the opposite end for 11 and a first down. Collins made 1 at left end, Habermacher hit center for 5, Russell took 3 at right end and Habermacher's crack at center was good for 1 yard more than enough for a first down. Russell lost a yard, Habermacher made it back, Climer cut back around left end for 2, before Stone punted out of bounds on the fourth play at Canyon's 35.

Pearson made 3, Tucker failed to gain, Wooten took 2 at center, and they punted to Hereford's 42. Russell lost 2, Stone's pass to Climer was incomplete, Russell lost a yard at left end and Stone punted to Canyon's 26.

Pearson made 3 at left tackle, Tucker was stopped at center for no gain, Canyon drew a 5 yard penalty. Pearson went through center for 3, then punted to Hereford's 47 yard line.

Russell made 1 at center as the quarter ended, to put the ball on the 49 yard marker.

Second Quarter.
Collins lost 1, Russell mare 3, and Canyon was penalized 30 for roughing, although the coach did not like it. Hereford fumbled and Canyon recovered.

Tucker, Pearson and Wooten made 6 yards in 3 tries and their punt went to Hereford's 21. Russell failed to gain and Hereford was penalized 5 yards to put the ball on Hereford's 15 yard line. The spectators thought it a penetration in Canyon's favor, but the ball was in Hereford's possession and did not count. Stone punted against the wind and the ball was downed just 12 yards away on the 27 yard line.

Pearson made 1 at right tackle, Habermacher intercepted his pass on the second play and made a good gain of 16 yards. The Whitefaces made a yard, were held for no gain, Collins lost 1 and Stone punted to Canyon's 44 yard line.

On the first play Pearson passed to Tucker for 18 yards and a first down. Wooten made 1 at center and Russell intercepted his pass on the next play. They failed to gain, Holland made 2 and Stone punted on the third down to Canyon's 46.

Wooten made 2 at right guard, Pearson's pass was incomplete, as a second attempt that drew a yard penalty, and a third pass the fourth down was good but lacked yards of being enough for a first down. It was Hereford's ball on their own 30.

Canyon recovered the Whiteface fumble on the first play, and their coach sent in a string of first team players he had been holding out. It was an attempt to score from the advantage gained by the break. With the ball on Hereford's 25-yard line, Pearson opened a passing attack. The first one was knocked down, Habermacher intercepted the second one to go from his 15 yard line to his 22.

Collins made 2 at right guard, Russell gained 2 at left guard, and Stone's punt was downed on Canyon's 44 as the gun-crack ended the half.

The only advantage gained was by Hereford, with 3 first downs to Canyon's 2.

Third Quarter.
Russell brought Wooten's kick-off back to his 34. Climer swung back around left end for 3 yards, which the Whitefaces lost on the next play. Holland hit for no gain, and Stone punted to Canyon's 46.

They fumbled on the first play and Hereford recovered on the 45. Russell hit right guard for 3, Habermacher made 1 through center, Russell lost 1, and Stone punted out of bounds on Canyon's 34.

Tucker made 3 around right end, Pearson flipped a pass for a first down, putting the ball on the 50 yard line. Another pass was good for a first down, but Canyon was offside, the play was called back and the Eagles given a 5 yard penalty. Their next pass was incomplete and Wilson went into the air to intercept their next heave and go 10 yards and start the drive that resulted in a touchdown and won the game.

With the ball on the 40 yard line, Russell circled right end for 2, then flipped a pass to Climer for 7 1/2 that lacked but little of being a first down. Of course, Habermacher hit for enough to make it good, and it was again first down and 10 to go. Collins hit center for 2, Russell shot a short pass directly into the line that was juggled and went into the arms of Stone, who plowed for a 5 yard gain. Russell made 2 at right guard and Habermacher was again called on to add the necessary yard for a first down and he did it.

Russell went through left guard for 4, Collins 1 at right guard, and Russell made it another first down by spitting the Canyon line to go to the 6 yard line. He lost a yard on the first play, Habermacher made it back on the next, and on the third play Russell sneaked through the Canyon squad with a trick play that got nearly to the goal before it was discovered. The Eagles hit him like a ton of brick, but the mischief was done; he wiggled and dragged his way with tacklers hanging on, to go over the line. Habermacher kicked a perfect placement to make the score 7-0.

Habermacher's kick-off was downed on the 35 yard line, a pass was incomplete and Canyon punted out of bounds with a beautiful kick that went to the Hereford 9 yard line. Habermacher broke loose around left end for 14 yards and a first down as the quarter ended.

Fourth Quarter.
A fumble of an attempted triple pass behind the line of scrimmage was fumbled but Habermacher recovered it. Stone punted on the next play and Canyon brought the ball for 23 to their 44.

Harden took 3 at left end, Pearson failed to gain, then passed for 5 yards and in at attempt to buck the line for the necessary 2 yards

Canyon failed and the Whitefaces received the ball on their own 32.

Russell failed to gain, Collins made 3 at right guard and Stone punted to Canyon's 32. Tucker lost 1 at left end, then made 5 at right end, Harden failed to gain and Collins brought their punt back to his 23 to their 44.

A pass was incomplete and Hereford was penalized 15 yards; Stone flipped a pass to Russell for enough to make back the penalty and a first down besides, Collins made 3 at right tackle and Habermacher circled right end for 11, but the umpire ruled the ball back and slapped 15 yards penalty on Hereford for using hands in offense.

Canyon knocked down a pass on the next play that if intercepted could have gone for a touchdown, or at least a big gain, Hereford drawing another 5 yard penalty. Another pass was incomplete, Russell was thrown for a loss on Canyon's 45 and Stone punted out of bounds on the 27 yard line.

With 2 minutes left to play, Turner took 2 at left end, Pearson's pass was incomplete, then he passed to Wooten for 7, and with but 1 yard to go for a first down, Pearson chose to punt to Collins who brought the ball back to his 44.

A pass was incomplete, Russell fumbled but recovered for no gain, while the Whitefaces were slapped with another 5 yard penalty. Stone shot a pass to Russell on Canyon's 47 yard line and Habermacher again performed valiantly by hitting center for about 2 feet needed for a first down, and he added another yard for good measure.

Russell took 3 at right end, and the prettiest play of the game, a perfectly executed triple pass behind the line was carried to the 10 yard line only to be ruled back by the referee because the last pass had been too near the line of scrimmage. Stone's pass was out of bounds and was brought back and on the next play he punted out. Jack Russell went into the air to intercept their pass and started down the field as the gun cracked for the finish. He was downed on Canyon's 30 yard line.

THIS MODERN AGE

Sleepy Little Salween

There is great charm in the little town of Salween of not more than 400 inhabitants so far from the many of railroads and modern truck lines, although there are of course a few modern dwellings. Salween was mentioned in the Domesday Book, that earliest record of our Saxons ancestors which William the Conqueror had compiled to show how rich was the land of his conquest. But the town, although greatly interesting to the historian, does not especially concern us until it was purchased by Lawrence Washington when he was twice mayor of Northampton. It has been conclusively proved by recent investigation that this Lawrence Washington was the direct ancestor of George Washington and that Salween minor by right of descent belonged to him. As a gift to celebrate the hundred year jubilee between the two great English-speaking nations it was purchased by the British peace conference committee in 1914, along with ten acres of land and handed over to the Salween Land Trust to be an active center of work for the furtherance of Anglo-American friendship.—Boston Herald.

Zakimo Women Put Up as Poker Game

Madame of the Canadian Arctic along the Thelon river while away in a more or less common form. It is a more or less common form for a man to gamble his wife or daughter, apart from foxes, flies and equipment.

Corp. H. G. Nichols, reporting to Royal Canadian Mounted Police headquarters at Ottawa, Canada, has this to say: "A native, Soodo-yahk, an ex-Delhi-Halibut, had lost by card playing to another native, Jambonah, of the Eskimo tribe. His tent, rifle, ammunition, his dog, possession, snow knife—all his worldly possessions. Upon making inquiries Jambonah produced a pack of cards and I discovered that the game played was drawn poker. I had these articles returned to the former owner and informed all natives that gambling was wrong and must therefore cease.

"It was at this inquiry that I heard of the more notorious gambling polygamy or polyandry existing among any other of the Eskimos. The exchanging of wives is a more or less common occurrence. The women apparently have no voice in the matter whatever, but merely obey the husband."

Remains

For fantastic rock formations on a wild coast, for the most beautiful castle ruins of Denmark, it is needful to journey by water to the rocky tale of Bornholm, south of Sweden, but belonging to Denmark. For centuries the island belonged to the archbishopric of Lund, and was the cause of many a battle with Danish kings, but since 1659 it has been part of Denmark. Whether you go to the little fishing village along the coast, or visit its larger towns such as Rønne, Sejersø, or Nexø, the fact being the birthplace of the novelist Hans Christian Andersen, it has fine ethnological and archaeological remains, beautiful forests and health resorts which stretch for miles. During the summer the gardens are ablaze with color—change.

Roman's Descent

The Roman empire originated after the battle of Actium, B. C. 31, and the decline begins with the death of Marcus Aurelius, 180 A. D. Tree Story

An excited foreign gentleman was awaiting the arrival of his three-born in one of our hospitals. He was so certain it was going to be a boy that he had invited all his friends to an elaborate banquet that evening and had, besides, sent the joyous news all over town. Then, when the nurse came to tell him that the arrival was a girl, his rage knew no bounds. Hysterically, he made several telephone calls, cancelling the feast.

Then, summoning the nurse, he announced: "I'm going to get into my automobile and go home. You tell the wife when she's ready to come home to take a street car"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Fish Need Protection

Because of the fact that they fish cannot protect themselves against their natural enemies, fish culturists have found that planting 100,000 fish-bait trout, raised in rearing ponds, gives results equal to planting 1,000,000 small fry directly in streams.

HUGE DROUGHT TASK MET BY RED CROSS

Relief Given to Distressed Helpes in Meeting Serious Situation, Chairman Payne Says.

"The year of the great drought," as these past twelve or more months will be known, to future generations, wrought great damage to millions. Not alone did the crops, which were buried in the summer in twenty-three states, in the summer of 1930, deprive several million persons of food, but the drought disaster continued in the summer of 1931 in the northwestern states and also brought other severe catastrophes in its wake, such as forest fires, and the great hay-pasture.

More than a year has elapsed since the American Red Cross, launched in August, 1930, its first move for relief of the drought-stricken farmers, and in that time more than 2,750,000 persons were given food, clothing, medical aid, shelter or other types of assistance. At no period during this year were there fewer than 70,000 persons being aided and, at the peak of the relief work on March 1, last, more than 2,000,000 persons were being helped.

Today, still as a result of the drought, the Red Cross is giving extended relief in parts of North Dakota, Washington and Montana, where resources of hundreds of families were wiped out by the summer, when a second and more severe spell of dry weather prolonged in that region.

This drought relief presented the greatest task that has ever been undertaken by the Red Cross as a peace-time activity. The Mississippi Valley food of 1931, while more plentiful, and calling for relief of a possible type, because houses and possessions were swept away, affected hardly one-fourth the number of people who suffered because of the drought.

In addition to the food program of drought relief still being operated on John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross, has given the following suggestion to disaster chairman: "We have a tremendous relief task in front of us and we are suffering and want from any cause and the fundamental need of the hour is not being met. Chapters may participate in the community plans for meeting the need."

Some type of general family type, whether for the drought or the winter, the unemployed or the veterans and his family, were offered on by more than 3,000 Judge Payne said.

The drought relief work of 1930-31, he added, "the relief work being extended following last summer's drought, principally in Kansas and North Dakota; the assistance which is being given to emergency men and their families; and the part which several hundred chapters are taking locally in their communities' relief measures in the activities of the Red Cross, the relief and food, which have and are meeting some of the emergency needs of the present situation."

RED CROSS RELIEF IN 79 DISASTERS IN YEAR

Forest Fires, Plagues, Storms, Earthquakes, as Well as Drought, Call for Help.

The forest fires which have raged in Idaho and other western sections this year have presented a serious disaster—one of a number, in addition to the enormous drought, which have been met by the American Red Cross relief forces.

Indigestion, falls and courage are combined in a story coming from the Priest River section in Idaho held by a volunteer Red Cross worker as follows:

"Recently a happy little household near the banks of Priest River in northern Idaho, Wanda Gibson, with a little girl lagging at his heels, is out leading frogs and adding to the advertising, mother is at home making preparations for another arrival. Then comes the fire demon, sweeping all in his path. While father fights to protect his little home, the stock announces its arrival.

"Mother and baby are huddled in a quilt and loaded on a truck for the run through the smoldering forest. Father drives the truck and the little boy sits at his mother's side, braving away the sparks which fall like rain upon the improvised shelter."

"To the Red Cross worker, the mother expressed her anxiety to return for the hills to rehabilitate the little household. All they possessed was lost in the forest fire. The Red Cross aided all of the families and in working to help them rebuild their homes.

Although severely-holy disasters called for Red Cross help and money during the year just closed, added from the drought, which required services of volunteer workers numbering more than 40,000, and a enough relief fund of $5,000,000 came from the national Red Cross treasury, help was given in 25 fires, 13 tornadoes, eight storms and eight floods, six forest fires, four earthquakes and four mine explosions, three typhoons and three epidemics, five earthquakes, and one each hurricane, mine cave-in and railroad accident.

Aside from a major catastrophe, such as the drought, when the public was asked to contribute funds for relief, Red Cross relief in these disasters was met from the organization's funds and from special local contributions. Part of each month, subscribed to Red Cross chapters at the roll call period from the American Day to Thanksgiving Day, goes toward this important work.

Aid for War Veterans

More than 480,000 ex-service men and their families were aided through 2,608 Red Cross chapters during the year ending June 30, 1931. Dependent families were aided by volunteer claims agents, hospitalization obtained and many other services given. Part of each organization during the American Red Cross annual roll call, American Day to Thanksgiving Day, goes toward supporting this vital work for veterans of the World War and other wars in which the United States has engaged.

Red Cross Life Savers

The right to wear the red and white insignia of the American Red Cross Life Saving service has been earned by 28,195 persons, who have been graduated in the organization's expert life saving classes.

Junior health clubs in schools, as well as to carry on the adult health clubs already organized, and devices to continue the program, which work has been so splendidly carried on by Miss Hall.

It was also suggested to conduct an educational program for ten minutes at each monthly meeting of the executive committee. It will deal with public health education in its many phases and organization. Miss Bussell extends a cordial invitation to citizens to meet her in her office Saturday mornings from 9 to 12. She will be glad to have members come at this time for weighing and measuring children and advice on care and feeding.

"I am favorably impressed with the splendidly equipped office, the enthusiasm of the health committee, and know the county has been carrying on such a splendid health program, and that I have a big duty to perform," said Miss Bussell.

Miss Haquette again expressed, as she has several times before, that Deet Smith county is outstanding in the successful work it has done in health service.

Miss Bussell comes from Ball county where she organized county health service. She is a graduate of a Massachusetts hospital, took public health training in Boston, and has taken special work at Columbia University, N. Y., at New York University, and Pennsylvania State College. She has had wide experience in public health nursing in several states in the North and South. She now makes her home with her sister and mother in New Brunswick, N. J.
